FORT GEORGE HERALD

VOLUME 1, NO. 62

SOUTH FORT GEORGE, B.C., OCTOBER 14, 1911

Don't put off your Fort George trip. You may get left. The best time to travel is now.

CURRENT COMMENT

The following is taken from the Edmonton Bulletin, Frank Oliver's paper, the day following the big battle at the polls. Its frankness makes it good reading:

A DEFEAT TO BE PROUD OF.

The "interests" have won. Precisely how sweeping is their victory is not yet known, but enough is known to make certain that reciprocity has been rejected in a manner which leaves no room for doubt or misunderstanding, and that the government who staked their lives on its endorsement have suffered a decisive defeat.

But making all allowance for the part played by the protected interests in determining the verdict, the verdict from the polls is none the less clear declaration for high tariff. There is nothing to be gained in denying or shirking the fact. The people had the issue put squarely to them; reduction or no reduction. They have declared for no reduction; therefore for the tariff as it stands, or for a higher one. The government who succeed to power will do so, therefore, with a clear mandate from the people to continue the tariff at its present level, and with a perfect right to raise it if or where they deem this necessary, wise or expedient. Having won on the ground that the tariff should not be reduced, this is the only logical interpretation to put upon the decision of the voters.

This pronouncement from the polls is the absolute justification of the government for having failed in past years to proceed more swiftly along the way of tariff reduction than they have. For years the government have been criticized by their foes—and sometimes by their friends—for not reducing the tariff in radical enough fashion. The event establishes that they have been willing to go farther along that road than the present temper of the people would approve, and therefore, that in proceeding slowly they were proceeding in the only way possible. The necessary assumption is that had they proceeded more quickly they would have the sooner met the fate that overtook them on Thursday, and that the public would not have received the very substantial measure of tariff relief the government were able to give by proceeding at a pace which some thought too slow.

The national policy was established years ago on the cry that there should be reciprocity in tariffs between this country and the United States. Never before, since the Laurier government came into power, was it possible to establish reciprocity in tariffs by a tariff reduction. Hitherto the only way reciprocity in tariffs could be brought about was by increasing the Canadian tariff to the level of that of the Republic. To have radically reduced the Canadian tariff without securing a larger reduction in the United States tariff in return, would have been to create, not reciprocity in tariffs, but a greater divergence in the tariffs, and a divergence which, according to popular opinion as expressed on Thursday, would be considered unfavorable.

Next to winning in a good cause, the best thing possible to a government, is to be defeated in a good cause. That after fifteen years of administration the Laurier ministry went out of office not through ineptitude, but through allegiance to a basic principle of their political faith is something of which Liberals should be proud and from which they should gather confidence for the future fight. It has not been a common fault of Canadian governments to die for their principles. Rather the fashion has been to forget their principles and to linger on into years of impotence until dismissed from office by a disgusted electorate. Such was the fate of the Conservative government which fell in 1896. That government went down not only because of what it had done or proposed to do, but because it had lost the power or the inclination to do anything to justify its existence.

Such, fortunately, has not been the course of the Laurier government. They adopted a course which they thought to be in the public interest and for the public good, a course thoroughly consistent with Liberal principles and which seemed to be dictated by public demand. When it became apparent that the existing parliament would not approve the measure they submitted the issue to the people, and staked their tenure of office upon the verdict. The verdict is in the negative and they pay the penalty of having gone beyond and ahead of public opinion. A nobler defeat no Liberal could desire and no government could have. Every government must some day leave office, and how could it do so better than in attempting to carry into force a measure which its members and supporters think would result in bettered conditions of the people, whose business is entrusted to its care? To go down in such a fight is infinitely preferable to winning with no issue at stake and no cause to advance.

A Montreal dispatch of Sept. 26 says that snow fell in that city that day, and that it was considered exceptionally early.

This fact should serve to point out to residents of Fort George that there are other sections of this Dominion where early snow appears. Here in South Fort George we have had a three-days' chinook that has dried up the water in the Fraser river and sent the flannels into the discard. Still, withal, we are displeased because the G. T. P. railway is not here with its steel. Ungrateful world!

"That the Grand Trunk Pacific will, with the completion of the lowest-graded transcontinental on the North American continent, handle a hundred million bushels of grain annually by rail to Prince Rupert for shipment to Europe by a fleet to be specially built for this purpose," was the statement made by General Manager Chamberlin of the G. T. P., at Montreal, recently. Just fancy what a hundred million bushels mean at $1 per. And all this passing through the portals of South Fort George.

Speaking before the Canadian Club of Victoria on the 28th ult., Charles Beresford condemned the policy of the British naval administration in abandoning Esquimalt as a naval base. He also criticised the Declaration of London and said that the opening of the Panama Canal would evolve some of the greatest problems that could be conceived which the English speaking nations would find a difficulty in solving.

Wants a Winter Job

Following is a wire received from Calgary under date October 8. The sender is evidently in want of a job, and should be a reminder to the $400-beaver-coat real estate men who intend to go to Calgary for the winter with prize-packages, that times are not what they should be. The wire follows:

Calgary, Oct. 8, 1911.
To The Herald
South Fort George, B.C.:
Can man earn a living at Fort George this winter. Wire.

F. A. HOLDEN.

If Mr. Holden refers to George J. Hammond's "Fort George" we most unhesitatingly say that no man can earn a living there this winter or the next six winters for the simple fact that the townsite is a "paper" townsite with no other occupants than those directly or indirectly associated with the company's venture.

To make the matter clearer and to allow of no disquietude or uneasiness in the mind of the Calgary man, we mention the result of the recent vote polled at the so-called "Fort George." It was:

Liberals 4
Conservatives 2

A grand total of six votes, which not even the "subsidized" press of Hammond is in a position to contradict.

This amply illustrates the non-existence of a marketable mart for labor.

If Mr. Holden means South Fort George then it is different, for here the creative aroma of enterprise has nestled itself into the making of a town that grows slowly but surely, pending the location of the G. T. P. on the reservation, and which will be, owing to nature's lavishness of situation, part and parcel of the big inland city.

There is no doubt whatever about this.

Mr. Holden conveys no inkling in his wire as to his capacity for work. Nor does he specify his vocation. If he is a carpenter we would not advise him to come this winter.

If he loves pastoral life and the "romantic" in trapping, no section of the rounded sphere possesses a more remunerative field. A wealth of freedom and a purse of gold await such a spirit. If the wirer inclines to theology, and is willing to labor in vineyard, then this is his Mecca, for South Fort George is erecting two fane by voluntary subscription, and by time snow flies the buildings will have been completed. We need missionaries! And we need them badly. We can forego mail boats and "picture-moving" shows, eat beans with a knife, but warm places of worship we must have.

No, Mr. Holden, don't come this winter. You may come next April, however, with the assurance of not only earning a living but of making a competence.

R. M. Burns writes from Vancouver, that he has disposed of his half interest in the stock of the old Northern Hotel, consumed by fire last July, to Mr. Albert Johnson, and that he will be here in February next and that he will be here in February next to locate. He will winter in Vancouver.

Man with Gun Goes Hunting Trouble and Finds it

The office of Hamilton & White's livery and dray business on Second street Monday afternoon looked like a slaughter house, with clotted blood half an inch thick on the floor to the left of the entrance and the front door bespattered with it.

The cause of it was the silly and unnecessary practice of carrying a gun.

It appears that Wm. McEwan, who conducts a second-hand store in the Burns block on Fourth street, went into the office, and after seating himself on the couch at the entrance, while Mr. White was occupied at the desk, asked for a rig and stated that he wanted a clean one, with good cushions, rug and a whip, and he would do the driving; but did not state where he wanted to go.

Mr. White informed him that he could have the rig, but it had been a custom to allow no rigs out without a driver.

"Don't you think I can drive?" retorted McEwan.

"I do not dispute you," answered White, "but we have found it profitable to allow out no rig without a driver."

This apparently did not suit McEwan, for he is reported to have said "that everybody has it in for me in this town."

"I don't think so," returned White. "I gave you oats and hay for your stock in the spring and did not press you for payment. That doesn't look like having it in for you."

The lie was passed, and White, who still was at the desk with his back to McEwan, turned around, and as he did so, noticed McEwan pull out a 32 gun from his inside vest pocket.

Quick as a flash White pinned his wrist and before McEwan could cover White with the weapon, White gave his assailant a staggering blow between the eyes that sent him back to the couch, and in the scramble White took the gun away from McEwan and gave him a trouncing the marks of which he will carry through life.

McEwan has been confined to bed for four days, being unable to appear at court on account of his injuries.

The weapon was given to the constable.

A strange coincidence is that fifteen minutes before the occurrence McEwan was heard to say: "I'll show some of these people," and the butt of the loaded pistol was seen in his inside vest pocket.

McEwan came in over the Blackwater road early last spring with several wagon loads of furniture and other household articles which he has been gradually disposing of.

This case comes up for trial to-night.

Washington Banker Thinks District Has Bright Future

"Never saw anything like it in all my travels," were the remarks of M. C. Gray, from Pullman, Wash., who, in company with J. H. Anderson, a banker, from the same town, alighted from a horse at the mouth of the Salmon river on Tuesday, and proceeded to look over their land holdings there.

Both gentlemen are owners of the Fraser City townsite at the mouth of the Salmon and the trip was made specially from Washington for the purpose of passing upon the suitability of the townsite and also to see for themselves the nature of the soil of the adjoining sections and the country as a whole.

"It is simply marvellous and the wonder is that the land had not been taken up decades ago. If such land was anywhere within a cannon shot of the state of Washington people would be up in the night stampeding for it.

"Yes, I'm satisfied with it, and now that we have seen it, we will proceed to develop it," were the remarks of Mr. Gray. "We will send in in the spring a number of Swedish families, who will be given employment clearing the land and likewise afforded an opportunity to settle on land in the district. With these families will come the latest appliances in the way of machinery for stumping and clearing the land.

"And I have never seen a more ideal Indian summer than this, and the second of October," concluded Mr. Gray, while seated in his shirt sleeves in front of the Northern.

The party of two left for Quesnel by canoe Wednesday, accompanied by R. Jorgenson. A stop was made a short distance below the Fort George canyon for the purpose of inspecting half a dozen sections in that neighborhood. Should this prove satisfactory colonists will also be placed on this tract.

Local and Provincial

J. W. Stewart, of Messrs. Foley, Welch & Stewart, left Edmonton October 8 on a trip of inspection of the G. T. P. railway between Yellowhead Pass, Fort George and through the Bulkley valley on to Hazelton. He is accompanied by B. B. Kelliher, chief engineer of the railway.

The Fort George Trading & Lumber Co. have closed down their boarding house and mill. It is not likely a resumption will take place before next April, as an unlimited amount of dry lumber is on hand.

Miss D. Dickson, a niece of Mrs. Albert Johnson, of the Northern hotel, is visiting South Fort George, and will remain some time.

J. N. Cran, banker and general relief man in the B. N. A. service, is at Quesnel, relieving Mr. Chester at the latter place. Mr. Cran partook of his Christmas dinner here last winter, and speaking to the writer on his way up from Ashcroft ten days ago, said he had not had a meal like it since he left.

R. Riggs is timekeeper for the rock-blasters at the canyon.

J. B. Daniell is confined to his room with tonsilitis.

F. G. D. Durnford, attached to the lands patent office, department of the interior, Ottawa, who has been in the district for the past three months, left on the last boat for Ottawa. Mr. Durnford has been handling the surrender of the reservation from the Indians, but with what success is only conjecture, for the government agent, like all government men, would say nothing on the subject.

R. C. Randall's two ponies were shipped to Quesnel for the winter by last week's boat. Both horses were in such gorgeous condition, as the result of the succulent peavine, with which the district is so favored, that much difficulty was encountered in loading the horses onto the boat.

J. Monro is expected back from his vacation on the coast the end of the month. It is just possible he will return by way of the Blackwater road.

W. Luke, one of the founders of the Club pool room, is conducting a grocery store in Fairview, Vancouver. He is doing well there, but says he may return here once the no-time-limit railway is in running order.

Among the passengers on the outgoing B. X. last week were Mrs. Downing and Miss Taylor, both of whom will spend the winter on the coast and return in the spring.

W. L. Collins, of the H. B. Co., Quesnel, was in South Fort George last week taking big orders in wet goods and incidentally looking over his 140-acre tract of land opposite the reservation on the east side of the Fraser. Mr. Collins takes exception to the statement that Quesnel is "knocking" Fort George. He says the knocking family was decapitated on September 21, and buried on the day following.

The G. T. P. railway have in contemplation the erection of a fourteen story hotel building at Prince Rupert to cost one million and a half. It is a replica of the one to be built at Winnipeg.

James Cowie writes from Reno, Nevada, for The Herald. He dislikes the place very much, and says there are too many high-heeled boots and an over supply of lawyers. He purposes leaving there in the spring.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Brown, accompanied by Miss M. Brown, of New York, who have been in the district for the past two months visiting with their son Charles, of the firm of Close & Brown, left on last week's boat for Pasadena, California, where they will spend the major portion of the winter proceeding to their home in the east. Mr. and Mrs. Brown have been more than favorably impressed with the district, and Mr. Brown's only regret is that he is not a young man again, to take advantage of the big things he sees in store for this section of Cariboo. He intends visiting the district again next summer, as he says no more ideal and romantic trip can be had anywhere (possibly with the one exception of a summer in the hills of Scotland) than can be had from Ashcroft to South Fort George.

The G. T. P. is building three modern turbine steamers for their triangular run in winter from Seattle, Vancouver to Prince Rupert. The boats will be in commission next summer.

J. A. Fraser, M. P. P., believes in hitting the political iron while the bar is hot, for in company with E. S. Peters, sheriff, left a short time ago for Fraser Lake, on a tour of "acquaintance." They will stop at all settlements on the route, and may possibly extend their trip to Stuart Lake and return by way of South Fort George. They expect to be absent about three weeks. Sheriff Peters will take notes during the trip, which will be published on their return.

The firemen's benefit dance, given in the Fort George opera house Thursday evening was, as is customary on such state occasions, well attended, and a considerable sum will be added to the fund for fire protection. The dance further marks the approach of winter and the forerunner of many such enjoyable functions. A pleasing feature of last evening's dance was the rendering of two solos by Mrs. George McLaughlin in a manner so satisfying that it leads us on to wonder when vaudeville and opera will be our good fortune to see and hear. Some 35 couples attended and among the number were Mr. and Mrs. Blair, Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. MacHaffie, Mr. and Mrs. McElroy, Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin, Mr. and Mrs. Forest, Mr. and Mrs. Tiemeyer, Mr. and Mrs. Gross, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Enemark, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Roberty, Miss Pierce, the Misses Brady, Miss Gross, Miss Dickson, Miss McGaughey, Messrs. O. B. N. Wilkie, M. C. Wiggins, M. Burch, H. Seaman, Dr. Lazier, Sankspiel, Angel, Crole, Andy Bichell, Walter Gregg, J. Campbell, J. Senior, J. Kerr, W. Cooke, Rowatt, Ferguson, Crosier, F. O'Flaherty, Adams, Davis, C. Brown, John Bronger, G. Hamilton, D. Brewster, Howison, Germyn, Abbott, Butler, Shearer and Phelan.

The music was up to its well-known standard and the midnight lunch left nothing to be desired by the inner man.

BACF FROM THE PEACE.

L. C. Gunn, late of the G. T. P. survey corps, arrived here this week from an extended trip into the Peace river valley, accompanied by Anton Oleson, the well-known cruiser from the Nechako.

Messrs. Gunn and Oleson represented large vested interests in the Peace river lands, the personnel of their principals including William S. Listikow, of Winnipeg, and Alfred Engen, of Saskatoon.

Mr. Gunn reports favorably upon the Peace river valley and its marvellous waterway system. He points out that unless a route is opened to the head of the navigable portion of the waterways stretching between Summit lake and the mouth of the Parsnip river, that the whole trade of the big valley will pass out of the province's bounds to be deviated, as at present, via Edson. Mr. Gunn has been in the east since leaving the Peace river. He says that Fort George is a subject of discussion in all the eastern cities. In Moosejaw, Mr. Gunn informs us, they are selling a "Fort St. James" townsite, like hot-cakes. It was news to us that there was a townsite at Fort St. James, but we find, on investigation, that a tract has been subdivided close to the outlet of the lake into Stuart river. The advertising shows several railroads running through the spot, and prosperous industries at high-pressure hard-by.

The Herald cannot warn the poor suckers in Moosejaw to beware of the ex-Natural Resources crook, by name Patrick Fitzmaurice, who is peddling this imitation townsite to the people of a distant city.

Yet, we extend to them our sincere sympathy.
