

EXPERIMENTAL FARM

TO BE ESTABLISHED IN THE DISTRICT
— MAN ON THE WAY TO SELECT
SITE—A WEEKLY MAIL

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
OTTAWA, SEPT. 30.

D. H. Rattenbury,
President of the Fort George District
Liberal Association.

Dear Sir: Re the establishment of an experimental farm in your district, I am pleased to state that the matter has been under consideration for some time by the government. The question has progressed so far that the department has selected a representative to visit South Fort George and proceed in the selection of a site for an experimental farm. He will leave Ottawa by the time you receive this letter.

SYDNEY FISHER,
Minister of Agriculture.

The above is good news. The establishment of an experimental farm at some central point in the vicinity of the geographical centre of the province will do more to place before intending settlers the merits of northern British Columbia, than all the colonization companies' literature ever printed. The position of the Nechaco, the Buckley, and the valleys to the west of these points, were unknown to even the works department at Victoria a few years ago. The government was too poor to even survey the country. The consequence was that settlers could not get the desired information, and being unwilling to meet the great expense in visiting the district and doing exploratory work for the province, these rich valleys were terra incognita to all but a few trappers and wiry prospectors. With the anticipated construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway there came an army of land seekers—not settlers—who took advantage of the magnanimous land act of our province, in which thousands upon thousands of acres of land were staked. This land has in no manner being made to demonstrate its possibilities. Apart from the irregular cultivation of soil around the numerous Hudson's Bay posts which, by the way, has amply proven the prolific nature of the soil, nothing else is known. With the establishment of a Dominion experimental farm in the upper reaches of the Fraser, in the Nechaco valley, incalculable good will be accomplished to the district in the dissemination of accurate information to the outside world.

Another yard of good news the President of the Liberal association received was the granting of a weekly mail service for the winter. The extension of the government wire from Blackwater Crossing to South Fort George will be taken up immediately and we hope the government will not find it necessary to anchor its office in a corporation shamble in the woods—Central Fort George—but bring it to South Fort George, on the Fraser river, where the business for the district is done and will continue to be done until it becomes part of the Grand Trunk Pacific townsite, when the latter is placed on the market.

Every boat brings a piece of machinery for the gradually perfecting Herald office, and by the time the snow flies the cutest and most perfect abode in which to turn out a great family journal, will be a feat accomplished. This week we received a substitute for our gasoline engine—a steam boiler and engine. This may appear strange to the uninitiated. But this is explained in the statement that it is easier by far to get whisky and beer way-billed on the boats than it is gasoline, and as the management have been brought up as Christians, through a long chain of generations, without the slightest inclination toward piracy and smuggling, we don't feel inclined to even deceive the river captains at this period of our existence, by having gasoline labelled coaloil or any other liquid. It is cheaper to use wood and water than gasoline. Hence the change. Next week we expect the typesetting machine. Once this arrives the size of the Herald will be enlarged to a 7-column paper.

The first outward mail—winter schedule—will leave here the first Monday in November—the 6th—and weekly thereafter. A. G. Hamilton has the contract. The first few trips will be made with packhorses. Last winter South Fort George had a monthly mail, supplemented with a private one paid for by the citizens.

A BANKING INCIDENT

Two men from "the other side" came into town last May. One was an Englishman, the other a United States man. The man from England was a contractor located at Spokane. His friend came from Minneapolis, and followed "promoting" as an auxiliary to grafting western plums to eastern pocketbooks. Both were dear friends of short acquaintance. One was the investor in the nude; the other the promoter in the purple. One had cautious money; the other a spendthrift's wallet. Both landed at the foot of Hamilton avenue and made their way to the newspaper office. "Where is the bank located?" yelled the promoter. He was informed. "Come on, Clark, I'll show you how a bank is broken," he said to his friend. "Go easy, old chap," ventured Clark. "You forget they are British banks over here." "Tut, nothing in a name," said the promoter, and they struck out in a northwesterly direction. The overworked bank officials were just striking their morning gait when the two entered. The bank was crowded. They sat down and rested on Georgian mission furniture, the promoter making a mental inventory of the institution, while the stockily-built Clark puffed away at a bull-dog. "Gentlemen, what can I do for you this morning," came a deep bass from the bank manager. This brought the nervous wreck to his feet. He stumbled on rising and Clark assisted the bank-smasher to the foot of the throne. His voice was weak, and appeared inaudible contrasted with the manager's. "I want a small cheque cashed," said the promoter, elbowing Clark as if to rivet his attention to the word small. The denomination of the cheque ran into six figures. There was a stillness and a twinkle of delight in the manager's eye as he scanned the paper, and that stillness was only broken when the promoter was asked, "How do you wish it? In 2's, 5's, 10's, or of a higher valuation?" The promoter and bank-smasher threw up both hands and fainted, and was only revived by the ardent patting of his friend with the exclamation "Be British and play the game." "Mix 'em, mix 'em well," was the next order from frenzied finance. The blue-eyed teller never ruffled a curl in the task, and as the order was being filled, with the usual exchange of compliments, a Brazilian parrot in the living rooms of the bank was heard to sing: "Put on your slippers, you're in for the night; shake up the furnace and turn down the light; THEY ARE COMING PRETTY SOFT FOR YOU!" The duo left. On the following day a new account was opened at the bank. Clark enjoyed the experience very much and never tires relating the incident to bankers and other friends in Spokane.

J. A. Corewell, a provincial land surveyor and mining engineer, of Grand Forks, with a party of eleven men, arrived here from Grand Canyon by canoe on Sunday last. Mr. Corewell has been engaged on the survey of the available agricultural land situated within the boundaries of the Fraser river reserve, which extends from the Grand Canyon to Tete Jaune Cache for a mile and a half on either side of the Fraser river. This reserve contains some of the finest land in the district. Although the reserve is absolute, several squatters have located on choice quarter sections in the hope that the government will recognize their rights when plans for the dispensation of the area have been adopted by the lands department.

For eight months of the present year homestead entries in western Canada numbered 36,916, as compared with the 24,396 entries for the corresponding period of 1909. In each of the prairie provinces there is an increase as compared with the corresponding months of last year, Manitoba having 2042 entries as against 1673 in 1909; Saskatchewan 20,692, as against 12,587, and Alberta 14,013, as against 9933.

The new shuffle in the provincial cabinet has resulted in Price Ellison taking the portfolio of minister of finance and agriculture. The new minister for the lands department is W. R. Ross, K. C., of Fernie.

Six surveyors left Barkerville ten days ago for Willow river, where they will be engaged on the survey of the railroad line from Barkerville to the Fraser river.

FIRST HOTEL IN NORTH

OPENS ITS DOORS TO THE TRAVELING
PUBLIC—IS A CREDIT TO SOUTH
FORT GEORGE

In March and April of this year the Hamilton land and the Thapage pre-emption were placed on the market, after being subdivided into lots, as the registered townsite of South Fort George. Those events may be chronicled in the history of the city of future years as the commencement of her era. The Bank of B.N.A. Inspector, with a corps of assistants, arrived here on April 13, and a branch was immediately opened. Other business houses and institutions followed. The sawmill sawed, the banks banked, and people came to see the foundations of a city, the bright future of which had been noised abroad by the voice of John Houston's Tribune crying in the wilderness.

From the bush-covered river bench the present 8-months'-old city has arisen by the united efforts of individual interests. The growth has been spasmodic and absurdly irregular, considering the primal requirements of the traveling public from such a place as this, but nevertheless the progressiveness and optimism of the pioneers has accomplished a splendid result in the period.

The accommodation of the public, on whose interest the future of a town depends, is usually the first consideration in a pioneer city. Different here.

During the past eight months South Fort George has thriven, absolutely devoid of any hostelry where the travelers may obtain meals and a bed under the same roof. No greater tribute could be paid to this place than a recital of her growth under such deplorable circumstances.

Pleasant is the task of chronicling the passing of the hotelless epoch into the oblivion of the past. On Monday last, for the first time in history, the doors of a modern hotel were thrown open for the accommodation of the public of South Fort George. Al. Johnson and Michael Burns, the proprietors of the splendid Hotel Northern, are to be congratulated on their progressive initiative, as much as on the excellence of their establishment.

The Hotel Northern is a 3-story frame building. The first story is divided into a large lobby, dining-room and bar-room, and there are forty large airy bedrooms on the second and third floors. The lower floor is being decorated in the Mission style, which presents a most attractive appearance.

The addition of this hotel to the public conveniences of South Fort George adds most materially to the prospects of the Hub City, as the problem of accommodation has remained without solution to the detriment of the place too long.

The license to sell intoxicating liquors has not yet reached the proprietors, and the bar is at present out of action. 'Twill not be long, however, before the beverages compounded by Joe Seagram, Hiram Walker, John Dewar and other benefactors of the human race, are being appreciated here.

Among the arrivals on the steamer Chilco Monday were Mrs. W. Tompkins and Mrs. J. Long, both of whom are on their way to Giscombe Portage, where they will reside on their pre-emptions. The former comes from McLeod, Alta., and the latter from Ashcroft, the home of the mealy potato. Mr. Tompkins, who is at Giscombe, is so pleased with his land, that he sent for his family, and also located Mrs. Long on a quarter-section adjoining his pre-emption. Both women expect to go up-river Monday on the Chilco.

The death of Carl H. Dunlevy, at Vancouver, is announced. Deceased was a native of Soda creek, and a son of the pioneer who founded the famous ranch at point, known widely as the Dunlevy. The young man, with associates, had in contemplation this spring the erection of an hotel at the corner of Third and Hamilton, and was the first to advertise in the Tribune for a liquor license for South Fort George.

The Mercantile Trust Co., Ltd., representative, E. Reed, who has been stationed here all summer, left Wednesday morning for Vancouver, by way of Blackwater Crossing. The company's horses will winter near Quesnel.

Word was received here yesterday from Ottawa to the effect that a license for the establishment of a brewery at Quesnel had been granted.

Mrs. Florence Sutton has been appointed mining recorder at Ashcroft.

Every company in the province that uses the words "Grand Trunk" in its title will be called to account by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Co. A large number of firms have already made use of this style, and an interesting point arises as to the right and power of the railway company to restrain them from retaining the title. The companies named in the application are The Grand Trunk Lumber Co., the Grand Trunk Investment Co., the Grand Trunk Coal Co. and the Grand Trunk Transfer Co.

CITY AND DISTRICT

Pete Landry, a member of the firm of Gore & McGregor, the well-known provincial land surveyors, was in town last week. Mr. Landry comes from the Willow river, from whence he journeyed in the dark. Pete commends this stunt to those who wish to save time in the hours when the sun shines. All that is necessary for the success of such an achievement is one candle, one empty tomato can or X-rays. He has left again for the scene of his activities.

D. H. Rattenbury left on the Chilco Wednesday for Kelowna, where he goes to close up business matters, prior to removing permanently to Fort George next spring.

The eighteen pre-emptors at Giscombe Portage are petitioning for a postoffice. The nearest postoffice is at South Fort George, a distance of 41 miles. They should have it.

The home of the phonograph, and a landmark in South Fort George—Gore and McGregor's old offices on Second street—have been moved to the rear of the Mercantile-Gore & McGregor block, on Third and Thapage. Contractor Bronger did the work expeditiously and economically.

Two enlargements in the business community on Second street, completed this week, are Ewing's butcher shop and F. Tiemeyer's bakery. The bakery and eating room were inadequate to accommodate the increasing volume of trade done at this home-like place, the consequence of which was the enlargement of both arms of the institution. With such coffee, buns and the attention given, it is no idle statement to prophesy that by next spring it will be necessary to utilize the entire lot for extensions.

Central Fort George has no barber shop. They don't need one. The lambs are all shorn in the Winch building, Vancouver, before they come north.

The Chilco arrived from Quesnel Monday night, with six passengers and twenty-seven tons of freight. She left for down-river on Wednesday. The boat carried mail both ways. The nature of the freight was mostly food-stuffs, with no wetables worth making a noise over.

William Forrest Cooke, the uncertified Liberal member for New Cariboo to Ottawa, is in Vancouver. He will be back when the Blackwater trail holds out hardened inducements.

John Bronger has shipped all his hens to the Mud river training quarters for the winter. The birds are natives and were hatched out in August. There is money in poultry, and the industry will be developed along scientific lines next season.

Miss Brady left this afternoon for the Chilco Gardens—the Indian for Mud river—to visit with her parents. The South Fort George school principal will be back Sunday evening.

A farewell dinner was given Saturday evening to the habitues and friends of the two popular young ladies who have conducted the South Fort George restaurant—locally known as the two B.'s—Blonde & Brunette—for the past five months. The closing is due to the Misses Pierce and Taylor having taken over the management of the dining-room of the new Northern hotel, which opened its doors Monday. Sixteen guests sat down to the prettily arranged table, which had its compass points running east and west. After ample justice had been done to the table, the toast, The Ladies, was attacked with such fervor by champions Kennedy and O'Flaherty, that the impressions left on such hardened bachelors like P. Landry and J. Monroe would lead one to the belief that Women's Rights will be a live issue in B.C. at no distant day. Songs followed and only modulated when wires of regret were read from J. Williamson, of the Hudson's Bay Post, and others from Quesnel. The dreamy waltz and the hilarious two-step, with He's A Jolly Good Fellow, brought the evening to a close.
