Dear Dr Clemens: -

Further to my letter of yesterday's date: on second thought the information I require is not all contained in the one leather bound book I referred to therein. It is in two small books, one of which lists the companies engaged in the industry; what their annual packs were; and who their successors were, if any. The other book cites the annual packs of each individual canning district on the Pacific Coast from the year packing operations began, and what species were packed. I particularly desire this data insofar as the Fraser River and Puget Sound districts are concerned.

Regretting having to trouble you with this matter, and with kindest regards,

Yours faithfully,
