Vancouver, B.C.

Dear Mr. McMillan;-

In acknowledging receipt of your letter of the 17th inst., I fully agree that for the information asked for in yours of the 11th inst., there was nothing "for which we would be justified in making any payment." This, however, is beside the question as my reply to your request neither suggested or implied that payment was expected.

My previous letter stated I am not prepared to accede to your company's request for information. This was intended to apply to the future as well as in the present instance.

Yours faithfully,

Henry Doyle
