Dear Mother.

Mildred tells me she has sent you a cable this a.m. that you Rec'd & I sent through the Royal Red Cross—!! Jack he has jumped up about it, & his more or less luck as books gets it & this are many.

who should have it if not I should -

The pleasure has been later forth by Buckhead not receiving hers at the same time, for I know she was recommended ahead of me - but for reasons unknown she didn't. I imagine Saucers thought it wise to wait until she was at the office - for I feel sure she will have one in it.

Of course the music part of it all is I should probably have a glimpse inside Buckingham Palace.

A great many of my girls have got it but I feel awfully badly for or two who worked if anything harder & more faithfully

I had most of us drunk. That I'll stay in the Outlook.
However Shall Wash
the Cods head & am thankful even if I don't deserve it.
Please don't say much about it & this note is just between ourselves.
Kindred Spirits is making the most of the opportunity to thank me with attentions - She must have Spots me.
Forgive Leslie but wanted words immediately. Always Love from L.
