President, S. W. HULL, Superintendent Iron Mask Mine

Vice-President, JOHN FITZWILLIAM, Foreman War Eagle and Centre Star Mines

Treasurer, R. W. HARTLEY, Merchant; Secretary, H. W. C. JACKSON

Directors:—S. J. Brails, miner; E. J. Balfour, master mechanic War Eagle and Centre Star Mines; J. S. Clute, Barrister and Solicitor.

Managing Director, S. W. HULL.

The Bonanza Mine.

The company owns the Bonanza No. 3 a full-sized mineral claim, on St. Thomas mountain, three and a half miles from Gladstone on the main trail from Rossland.

The claim is traversed by several ledges of free milling gold ore. On the central or discovery ledge a tunnel has been driven fifty feet, in ore all the way, which has an average value of $15 per ton. The face, which is at a depth of thirty-five feet, shows nearly two feet of $22 ore.

A force of miners will be put to work in this tunnel on Monday with the intention of continuing it right through the claim (1,500 feet), as by this means the ledge will be explored and tonnage developed most rapidly. Every two feet of drifting will add at least one foot of depth.

'Treasury Shares.

Of the 600,000 shares in the treasury, the directors have been authorized to sell 100,000 shares as follows:

40,000 Shares at 3c. and 60,000 Shares at 5c.

At the first shareholders' meeting held on October 18, those present subscribed for 22,000 shares at 3 cents, leaving out of the first block

Only 18,000 Shares at 3 c.

THE CAMPAIGN

"My advice to workingmen is this: If you want power in this country; if you want to make yourself felt; if you do not want your children to wait long years before they have the bread on the table they ought to have, the opportunities in life they ought to have; if you do not want to wait yourselves, write on your banner so that every political trimmer can read it, 'We never forget.' If you launch the arrow of sarcasm at labor, we never forget; if there is a division in Congress, and you throw your vote in the wrong scale, we never forget. You may go down on your knees and say, 'I am sorry I did the act,' and we will say, 'It will avail you in heaven, but on this side of the grave, NEVER.'"—Phillips.

To the Electors of Yale-Cariboo:

In requesting your support to my candidacy for the Dominion House of Commons, it is due to you that I give public expression to my views on the several planks of the platform of the Independent Labor Party:

1. Compulsory education has become a recognized necessity in most countries and as such has my hearty endorsement

2. Legal work day, 8 hours.

Modern invention has so enormously increased the productive power of man that his wants can be supplied with a fraction of the time and effort heretofore necessary for that purpose. Labor as well as capital should benefit by these changed conditions. The 8-hour law is a step in that direction and I shall heartily enforce any legislation looking to that end.

3. Government inspection of industries.

Under modern economic conditions the management of industrial concerns figure on results, not the methods by which they are to be obtained. An oversupplied labor market enables them to impose on employes any conditions they may deem necessary. Protest as a rule means dismissal from service and probable want to their little ones. In throwing the strong arm of the law about these children of misfortune you are simply following the teachings of the meek and lowly Jesus, who said suffer the little ones to come unto me, for of such is the kingdom of heaven.

4. Abolition of contract system.

The abuses that have grown up under the contract system as outlined in the first issue of the Dominion Labor Gazette should convince even the hide-bound partizan of the necessity of the enactment of such a law.

5. Public ownership of franchises.

Our experience in the control of the postal department, public schools, public highways, municipal lighting plants and waterworks is sufficient ground for the extension of the same system to railroads, telegraph, telephone, and express business. The experience of people in New Zealand, Australia, Germany and elsewhere has demonstrated that these functions can be performed by the government with a very great advantage to the people and I most heartily endorse legislation looking to that end.

5. Prohibition of Asiatic emigration and educational test.

The presence here in large numbers of this non-assimilating race robs Canadian labor of its birthright. Every Mongol landing puon our shores lessens rather than increases our population. The white laborer which he replaces would as a rule marry and settle among us, increasing the population by at least three. This means to the merchant less mouths to feed, and less backs to clothe, to the doctor less demand for his services, to the transportation companies less traffic, to the dentist less teeth to fill, to the mechanic less buildings to erect, to the real estate dealer less demand for property including less force for the same, to the farmer less sale for produce, to the newspaper man less papers to be sold, to the preacher smaller congregations, and to the bootblack fewer shoes to shine. Their presence works injury to all branches of the economic system. I oppose their coming here on the same grounds I would oppose the taking of more passengers into an open boat already loaded to the sinking line in mid-Pacific. Every Chinaman occupying a position in domestic services interferes with the natural laws as applying to the industrial body, robing our women of employment naturally belonging to them to the extent that for every Chinaman so employed some one's sister or daughter is driven to prostitution, evolving a race problem destined to breed seas of blood and that will some day mantle the Canadian cheek with a blush for his country's shame.

7. Abolition of child labor.

An economic system that drives the child from the cradle to the factory to compete with its own father is certainly the legitimate child of an industrial system having greed as its basic principlee. Legislation along lines opposed to this will receive my hearty support.

8. Abolition of the $250 deposit.

Under conditions where all are amenable to the law and assume the responsibility of defending the country's flag and institutions all should be entitled alike to aspire to the highest position in the gift of their countrymen without being taxed for the privilege of so doing. I would repeal that law.

9. Compulsory arbitration.

Compulsory arbitration as applied in New Zealand looms up on the horizon of progress not as a dream, but as a practical method of reconciling the conflicting interests of labor and capital, and is destined, I think, in the near future (if applied) to prevent those periodical industrial wars and lend a security to all branches of business such as is impossible under existing conditions and as such receives my hearty approval.

10. All election days to be made public holidays.

I would also favor the passage of a law making the exercise of the franchise compulsory for the following reasons: First—Money can and does purchase the votes of the drunkard, the sewer hog and criminal, the vote of the intelligent but indiffrent citizen would counterbalance this evil, and I believe it is as much the duty of every citizen to poll his vote as it is to pay his taxes. In making this a compulsory duty you are simply compelling him to do that by the ballot which he is already compelled to do by the bullet—defend the institutions of his country.

12. Abolition of the Senate.

I look upon the upper house as a useless and extremely annoying political luxury, as a stumbling block to progressive legislation, as a home for political imbeciles, who seem to have resolved themselves into a political inquisition, who pounce upon every progressive measure that passes the lower house, brand it as heresy and proceed to pronounce the sentence of political damnation upon all accordingly, and if any little effort I can make can assist in exterminating that aristocracy in politics I can assure you it will be exercised with the greatest of pleasure.

Trusting that my ideas on the several subjects will meet your views, and that I will receive your support, I remain,

CHRIS FOLEY.

From the Committee Rooms.

James Devine, who is in charge of the local committee rooms, reports that he has received reports from nearly every part of the constituency during the last few days, and that his correspondents one and all report the electors enthusiastic at the prospect of an opportunity of voting for a bona fide labor candidate for the commons. There is no doubt the sentiment in favor of independence of both parties is growing and there is little doubt that the candidate of the Labor Party will be triumphantly elected.

Reports From Ymir.

A letter received at this office last night from Ymir, states that Mr. Foley had received an enthusiastic reception at that place. The meeting was large, and at its conclusion a large branch of the Independent Labor Party was organized. The sentiment has set in strongly in favor of the Labor candidate, and it now looks as if he would have an easy time securing a majority of the votes cast in that camp.

Nelson.

The Labor candidate, Chris Foley, was present at a grand rally of the labor forces here Tuesday night. The large rooms were crowded, and the voters were very enthusiastic. A big public demonstration will be held here soon.

The Slocan.

Reports from the Slocan indicate that Mr. Foley is having a veritable triumphal tour in that district. Everywhere, he is met by large and enthusiastic crowds. His Sandon meeting was a record breaker.

Mr. Foley's Itinerary.

It is not definitely known where Mr. Foley will be in the next few days, but from word received from him and his party it is probable that the coming week will be spent in East Kootenay.

Important Notice.

There will be a meeting of the general executive committee of the Independent Labor Party next Monday evening, at 8 o'clock, in the secretary's office. Important business to be attended to.

SATURDAY, OCT. 20, 1900.

If the electors would only read the campaign literature supplied by both the Liberal and Conservative parties, and become convinced of the truth of what they read, how they could vote for either old party candidates passes our comprehension. The Liberals have proved conclusively, and any reasonable man must accept the proof, that the Conservatives during their long lease of power, were guilty of every kind of outrage on the rights of the people, and that the party gave the best of Canada's domain to the railway corporations. It is an undoubted fact. Both Liberals and Labor men can prove it. How then can the elector vote to return the Conservatives to power? Along comes another batch of printed matter. It was prepared by Conservatives and proves to be a fearful arraignment of the Liberal government and party, and proves fully that the Liberals are the greatest racals unhung, and that the last five years have been five years of misrule; every official act is shown up in its true light, and the Liberal party is convicted of heaping great wrongs upon a helpless people. Conservatives and Labor people can prove every assertion. How can any elector vote to retain in power such a government, such a party. Taking things as they are, there is nothing left for the honest elector who sincerely desires to see his country prosper and protect his own interests to do but to vote to turn both sets of rascals out, and to bring about the election of the candidate of a new, clean party, the Independent Labor Party.

The Nelson Miner reads Candidate Chris Foley a lecture, and expresses the hope that he will not be severe in his condemnation of the conservative party, and winds up by claiming that everything good Labor ever received was given by the Conservatives, and that the Conservative party has always been Labor's true friend. Mr. Foley cannot censure the Conservatives too severely. There are too many instances to be pointed to where that party has proved to be the friend of oppression, wrong and greed, and too few to be pointed to where it has not proved a foe to Labor. Come again, Mr. Miner. For every instance you can show Conservative friendship for labor, the World will tell the electors of a dozen instances where that party has shown its enemity to labor's interests.

The Rossland Miner exerts itself in a whole column of editorial to show why Ralph Smith should be elected in Nanaimo, and it was a whole column filled with good reasons, too, with which the World heartily agrees. But why is the Miner so deathly silent regarding the candidacy of another labor man nearer home. Does the Miner favor Mr. Smith's election because he is supported by the Liberal party? It appears so, for every reason advanced by the Miner for the election of the gentleman in Nanaimo, applies as well in favor of the election of Mr. Foley, but in the latter case there is a Liberal candidate in the race.

Do you know that every time you send a dollar east for goods you take one dollar away from our home merchants, and that dollar eventually comes out of the pockets of some Rossland worker? The workers themselves may compel Rossland merchants to employ cheap labor to enable them to compete with eastern sweat shops and department stores. If your dollar goes east, it goes to help bring this about.

We present today Mr. Foley's address to the electors of Yale-Cariboo. We ask the voters of this constituency to study it carefully, as well as the platform of the Independent Labor Party; then compare it with the platforms of the two old parties, and his squarely expressed opinions on subjects of vital importance to them with the meaningless utterances of Messrs. Galliher and MacNeill.

The reports of the work being done by the Independent Labor Party in other parts of the district should spur Rossland workers to renewed efforts. Rossland must not allow any town in the constituency to cast a bigger vote for the Labor candidate than she does. Work, and work hard and long, or the Slocan will beat you.

This week we reprint a chapter from John Lord Peck's great book, "The Kingdom of the Unselfish. This is a great socialistic work, and should be read by every advanced thinker. It can only be secured in cloth, for one dollar per copy. It may be ordered through Linton Bros., the local news dealers.

We wonder if there will be any scabs found in the ranks of organized labor on election day. How about you, brother?

THE MINERS' UNION.

Sick Benefits Voted—Special General Meeting.

There was a good attendance at Wednesday night's meeting of the Miners' Union, with President O'Brien in the chair. A special feature of the meeting was a couple of addresses under "good and welfare."

After the routine business was finished a class of nine candidates was initiated.

Several brothers were reported sick, all improving.

As an indication of what good work the union is doing as a financial and fraternal society it might be mentioned that the union voted $239 in sick benefits.

Before the meeting closed Brother J. Horrobin made a rousing speech on the duties of the members to the union, while Brother Devine followed in an address on the importance to organized labor of a united support of the Labor candidate for the Commons.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

J. C. Pyatt, a well-known member of the Miners' Union, who has been suffering from rheumatism for several weeks left for St. Leon Hot Springs this morning, for a course of baths.

Subscriptions to the Rossland Co-operative Association may be made to the secretary-treasurer of the new store, corner of Spokane street and First avenue. The secetary will be at his office in the new store all day and in the evenings.

President O'Brien has been hustling subscriptions for the Miners' Magazine, the last few days, and yesterday sent in a long list of names of people who will read the magazine for the next year.

An operator named Peters came in from the coast the other night and joined the local printers. He is now punching keys on one of the Miner's Merganthalers.

See the bargains Harper & Merthur are offering in blankets and comforters. Now is the time and the New Store is the place to purchase these things for the winter.

Writing tabs, half price, at Wallace's.

Cigars and Cigars.

When you ask for a cigar why don't you insist on a good one? Nine cases out of ten you will be offered a cheap, scab made cigar unless you name the kind wanted. They all cost you the same money, good or bad. Now why not get a good one. Ask for the best Crown Giant or W. B. You will then be encouraging a home industry, too. Think of this the next time you ask for "a cigar."

We Know

Of no other way to indorse our clothing than to put our name and trade mark on it. It's just as if we said "We warrant this garment to be all wool, sewed with silk, made of better materials, and in better style than you can get anywhere else at the same price." Taylor & McQuarrie.

ROSSLAND BONANZA COMPANY.

The Shareholders Last Evening Decided to Resume Work.

The first meeting of the shareholders of the Rossland Bonanza Gold Mining and Milling Company, Limited, was held in the company's office last evening, all but four of the shareholders being present. The officers and directors elected were as follows: President, S. W. Hall; superintendent of the Iron Mask mine; vice president, John Fitzwilliams, foreman of War Eagle and Centre Star mines; treasurer, W. Hartley, cigar merchant; secretary, H. W. G. Jackson; directors in addition to the above, E. J. Balfour, master mechanic of War Eagle and Centre Star mines; S. J. Brailo, one of the original owners of the property, and J. S. Clute, barrister and solicitor. Mr. S. W. Hall was also appointed managing director.

It was decided to pool all the promoters' stock (400,000 shares) and of the remaining 600,000 shares of treasury stock the directors were authorized to sell 100,000 shares as follows: 40 000 at 3 cents, and the balance at 5 cents. Of the 40,000 shares, 22,000 shares were taken by the shareholders present at the meeting, and the managing director was instructed to start work on the property not later than next Monday, it being the intention of the company to keep five men at work right through the winter.

The company's property consists of the Bonanza No. 3 mineral claim on St. Thomas mountain in the Trail Creek division three and a half miles from Gladstone on the main trail from Rossland. The claim, which is a full one, contains several ledges of free milling gold ore, but the work so far done has been confined to the central or discovery ledge. Here a tunnel has been driven fifty feet on the vein, beginning at a point close to the side line and within a few feet of Iron Creek. These workings show an average width of nearly two feet of ore of an average value of $15 per ton. In the face there is two feet of clean quartz running $22 to the ton. This is at a depth of 35 feet from the surface. By driving along the vein, depth is gained very rapidly, and when the tunnel is in 400 feet further there will be nearly 400 feet of backs. By spring it is hoped to have the property ready for equipment with a 10 or a 20-stamp mill.

NOTICE.

To all Local Unions of the Western Labor Union, Greeting:

This is to notify you that the resignation of Brother M. J. Geiger as secretary-treasurer of the Western Labor Union has been accepted by the president and the executive board.

Brother Clarence Smith of Wallace, Idaho, has been appointed to the position and has entered upon the duties of the office. All communications and orders for supplies will hereafter be addressed to Clarence Smith, Box 1063, Butte, Montana, and all remittances should be made payable to his order.

Fraternally submitted,
DANIEL McDONALD,
President.
CLARENCE SMITH,

PLATFORM.

Of the Independent Labor Party of British Columbia.

Following is the platform adopted by the Nelson convention of the Independent Labor party of British Columbia on which Candidate Chris Foley squarely stands:

1. Free compulsory education.
2. Legal working day of eight hours.
3. Government inspection of all industries.
4. Abolition of contract system on all public works.
5. Public ownership of all franchises.
6. Prohibition of Asiatic immigration and the regulation of all immigration by an educational test as to immigrant's fitness, and the abolition of all special inducements and privileges to foreign immigrants to settle in the Dominion.
7. Abolition of child labor under 12.
8. Abolition of the $250 deposit required of all candidates for the Dominion house.
9. Compulsory arbitration of all labor disputes.
10. Prohibition of prison labor in competition with free labor.
11. All election days to be made public holidays.
12. Abolition of Dominion senate.

Eternal Vigilance Is the Price of Liberty

The Conservative senate during the last session of parliamment attempted by one blow to wipe labor organizations out of existence by practically making it a criminal offence to go on strike, and they might have succeeded but for the vigilance of Arthur W. Puttee, the labor member from Winnipeg. This must convince every thinking labor unionist that the very existence of their organizations depends upon their being represented in parliament. You now have a chance to elect your own representative, but perhaps you prefer a lawyer. You know how lawyers love labor organizations. They have big hearts that go out in sympathy to the men who work long hours for little pay. Send them to parliament and they will fix you out (good and plenty) as they have been fixing you for years.

Working men are slowly but surely awakening to the fact that after all they are the whole show. They till the soil, operate the factories and mines, build and operate the railroads and telegraphs. In fact do everything but make their own laws. This they give to a pack of lawyers, professional tricksters and skinners. Whenever one class gives the making of their laws to another class they may rest assured they will get the hot end of the poker. New Zealand, the happiest little colony on earth was until the working people took it in hand a poverty stricken country. Now under their wise direction it is pointed to as an example of progress the world over. A country where millionaires and paupers are alike unknown. Where no person works more than eight hours a day and where the government guarantees every man work at living wages and insures him against want in his old age.

If you want these things why not ask for them. Remember it is better to vote for what you want and not get it than to vote for what you do not want and get it.

Boys, honor the union card. Foley has it in his pocket. There are no scabs in the Independent Labor Party. They are all voting with the old parties.

C. P. R. Wage Slave.

An Australian Platform.

The Odelaide Herald publishes the following platform, adopted by the Trades Unionists of Victoria:

1. One adult one vote.
2. The referendum to be applied to the settlement of vexed public questions.
3. Progressive tax on land values, town and country, without exemptions, exclusive of improvement.
4. The establishment of a state bank.
5. The disestablishment of a department of labor.
6. The establishment by laws of courts of conciliation and compulsory arbitration for the settlement of disputes between employers and employes.
7. The maintenance and perfection of the policy of protection, the adoption of the eight hours system, a trades union wage in all protected industries and the abolition of all revenue duties.
8. The establishment of a Pension Fund for aged persons.
9. The sustaining of village settlements and the creation of a body of small landholders in contra-distinction to large ones.
10. Provision for enfranchisement of seamen and others following migratory occupations.
11. A cumulative tax on all incomes over £200 per year.
12. That with the view of preventing undesirable aliens being brought into the colony by sea and land, a poll tax of £100 be imposed on Chinese and other Asiatics.
13. No further alienation of land.
14. Reform of the Upper House on the electoral basis of the Legislative Assembly, with single electorates.

"LIFE IS A FRAUD."

From "The Kingdom of the Unselfish," by John Lord Peck.

That "Life is a fraud" is a feeling so common one can meet with it almost any day, and thoughtful people generally discuss the question, "Is life worth living," just as they might have done in the dark ages or the days of the Roman decline, when anarchy, vice, crime and civil war were almost perpetual everywhere. Though our age is supposed to be the happiest the world has seen, pessimistic philosophy has sprung up among thinkers more strongly than ever before; everyone seems conscious of misery caused by universal selfishness, yet everyone insists that it is absolutely necessary for him or her to be selfish in order to live. "It is the competitive life," writes someone, 'That crucifies humanity.'"

We see the selfish spirit very plainly in the prevalent indifference regarding human welfare, and even human life. Everyone has all he can do in looking out for himself. No man feels it his duty to pay much attention to any wrong or suffering going on about him. He may give something if asked for a contribution, but is not disposed to take any trouble. His nearest neighbor is no more to him than the most distant stranger. Railroad explosions, accidents of every kind may kill their victims by the score or hundred, yet seldom is any effective precaution against them adopted and they continue year after year. It is the same in regard to crime. An innocent man may be murdered by a gang of roughs and no one ever be punished for it. A young immigrant woman sets out alone to find her friends in the city and is never heard from again. A little girl is murdered and her mangled body thrown into the marsh within sight of a house where people live and the police do not so much as find a clue that is worth tracing. A man's life is of small account, a woman's less, and her virtue scarcely anything, while the body of a poor man's child may be thrown to the dogs. No appropriate effort is made in either case to bring the guilty to justice. Had the general public possessed any more than the mere rudiments of a conscience, any proper human feeling, a thousand detectives if necessary would have been put upon the search of the lost and for the criminals, and no lawyers' tricks or stupid generosity of the law itself would have been permitted to let the villians escape. As it is the law is so made and construed by the lawyer class that criminals often escape from it more easily than innocent persons and thousands of them infest society preying upon it with little danger to themselves and constant benefit to the lawyers. Each individual leaves everything but his own immediate concern to be looked after by somebody else. He votes once a year perhaps for the officials who are to do everything that is just and right and that is as much trouble as he can afford to take. "Everyone for himself and the devil take the hindermost," once a witty proverb of occasional application has now become so universally applicable it is quoted only as a serious expression of truth. "It is time he was dead when he cannot support himself,' is an expression I have heard regarding an old man from one not so hard hearted as the average of people, and it went without protest from a half a dozen others to whom it was addressed. No doubt it seemed to them entirely in harmony with the actual state of things. In this country we have had that sentiment instilled into us from childhood, because everything in our earlier condition has suggested and encouraged it. Our new soil and other resources with boundless opportunity for everyone to take his own way in making a fortune has developed that sentiment and its corresponding action, craft and cheating come to be gloried in by men of no conscience as proofs of a superior intelligence to discover and take advantage of some particular ignorance or weakness is to them a wonderful thing, while the public opinion of this business community does not condemn them for thus glorying in their shame. The end of the process is now beginning to appear in speculating combinations of all sorts, for exploiting not the working man only but the professional class and the rich as well. Indeed all who have wants to be supplied. Every man is opposed to his neighbor, or more than one. All are constantly baffling each other's efforts, up time and energy in preventing another from getting something wanted for self. Besides the waste of time and strength there is a constant wear and tear upon the physical system from the friction and discord, the irritation, disappointment, defeat and loss endurable. Still worse there is a hardening effect upon the moral sensibilities, making one unfeeling, rough, abstinate, cruel and revengeful. Much kindness and good nature, it is true, exist in spite of this, for whatever honest and natural trait there is in conscience is friendship. But the conflicts of interests and antagonism of feeling is what every one experiences in some degree. Jealously, the fear that some one else may get a desired something often causes men to defeat their own selfish interest. In extreme cases renders them unsocial, miserly and base.

All Union Labor Out.

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 18.—As a result of a walk-out of the employes in the six big cotton mills of Alamance county on the 3rd instant, because of dissatisfaction regarding certain superintendents, all operatives belonging to the Textile Workers' Union were discharged and notified to vacate the houses of the companies. Notice has been given at each mill that the operative who belongs to a labor union will not be employed, but each mill will be run by non-union labor only.

WAS FULL OF MERIT.

An Interesting Entertainment Under the Auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society.

A performance full of merit was given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church at the Miners' Union hall last evening. A fair audience was in attendance. The drills were really excellent, and this was especially the case with the rainbow drill. Mrs. J. M. Fitzpatrick and Mrs. G. Y. Fallis, who drilled the performers, are to be congratulated on the effectiveness of their work. The intention is to repeat the performance. Following is the program as rendered:

Kindergarten Song—Thirty-six little girls and boys, ages from four to six years.
Recitation—"The Youthful Orator".... ....Charlie Plewman.
Duet—"The Two Dolls"..... ....Olive Juliff and Hazel Pascoe.
Recitation—"A Fishin' "....Mac Cooper.
Parasol Drill—Thirty young girls, ages eight to twelve years.
Recitation—"Autumn"....Ruth Schofield.
Recitation—"Little Boy Blue," Field.. ....Percy Plewman.
Doll Drill—Thirty-six little girls, all about six years old.
Recitation—"Lettin' the Old Cat Die".. ....Alma Beverly.
Piano Solo—"La Petite Valce"..... ....Nettie Lingle.
Tamborine Drill—Twenty-four young ladies, twelve to eighteen years old.
Rainbow Drill—Seven young ladies in costume.
Song—"I'm a Gypsy Girl"..... ....Laura Jewell.
Recitation—"Tommy".. ..George Griffith.
Fairy Chorus—"We Come From Fairyland." In costume with wands.
Recitation—"Our Hired Girl"..... ....Oliver Robbs.
Song—"Picananny Lullaby"..Olive Juliff.
Flag Drill—Twenty-four boys.
Duet—"The Quarrel".... ....Fannie Graham and W. Herring.
Goodbye Song—Contributed by Miss Swan, Kindergarten teacher
Chorus—"The Land of the Maple Leaf."
