Recipe for a World

Take one man, one woman and a garden. Add an apple and a good fresh snake. Stir gently until the pot begins to boil, then drain off the apple and keep adding children. Simmer on a slow fire, then put on ice. Alternate between the two extremes, giving the whole a good sound basting when needed, turning slowly in a proper space. Keep adding time until the mass is of the consistency of a mud pie covered with ants. Multiply the inhabitants and garnish with villages, towns, cities and empires. Now introduce a little theology and enough Devil sauce to spice. Keep adding Battle, Murder and Sudden Death, and a good layer of Cant. Put plenty of salt in the water and sprinkle with bad society. When your world is finished, throw it in the fire and begin all over again. It's a good game to pass away the ages with.

We have nice lot of cheese, MacLaren's in jars, 15c., 35c., 55c. and $1.10. Stilton and Canadian at C. B. Hume & Co's.

SUPREME COURT

Light Docket at the Revelstoke Spring Assizes

The spring assizes were held at the court house on the 11th inst., Mr. Justice Irving presiding. There was only one criminal case on the docket that of Rex versus McKay. The defendant was charged with burglary in November 1906, and was tried at the last assizes when the jury disagreed. The evidence was all taken down in writing and shewn to the accused who claimed to be deaf and dumb. The accused had not spoken all the time he was in the Kamloops gaol awaiting trial, except on one occasion when, as Dr. Burris of Kamloops stated in the witness box, that the prisoner had uttered several oaths when going under the influence of the anaesthetic. The judge then asked if it were possible for a deaf mute to speak while under any exciting influences or an anaesthetic. Dr. Burris affirmed that it was possible. The jury acquitted the accused, recommending that he be placed in some institution where his physical condition could be looked after. Theo J. Wadman was foreman of the jury.

J. M. Scott appeared for the Crown.

Lund v. Lund.—This case was a petition for a declaration of nullity of marriage. Decree granted. J. M Scott appeared for the petitioner.

Wharton v. Wharton.—Petition for divorce on the ground of adultery. The Judge held that the corroborative evidence was not sufficient. J. M. Scott appeared for the petitioner.

A rather amusing incident occurred when Peter Rasmus Peterson appeared before the tribunal seeking justice and asked permission to address the court which was graciously granted. Mr. Peterson "wanted to know if when I am taking a horse to the pound I can be intercepted on the public highway and have that horse taken from me?" The Judge wished to know whether it was Mr. Peterson's horse or the other fellow's, when he was told it was the other fellow's The judge suggested that as he was only there to try cases and not to give opinions that Mr. Peterson had better consult a lawyer, whereupon Mr. Peterson assured the court with finality that it was no use consulting any lawyers in this town, that it was justice he was after.

Realistic Pictures

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 12.—With a roar that would have done credit to a Comanche, J. H. Burkhard, a policeman, drew his revolver at a moving picture exhibition here on Saturday night and literally riddled the canvas in which a series of moving pictures called The Cowboy and the School Marm were being portrayed. The hall was crowded with women and children and a panic was narrowly averted. The pictures were so realistsc, the melodrama so thrilling, it is said, that the audience had frequently broken into applause, an unusual thing at a moving picture show. The realism so affected the policeman as he saw the heroine in the hands of the outlaws that he sprang to his feet, drew a revolver from his pocket and bang, bang, bang, blazed away at the girl's oppressors. Children shrieked, women fainted, and men paled. A fellow policeman quieted the officer and placed him under arrest.

ANOTHER HOLD-UP

A Great Northern Railway Train Robbed.—Express Messenger Knocked Senseless and $10,000 of Cash Rifled.

SEATTLE, May 12.—J. E. Perrine, express messenger on the Great Northern train which left Seattle at 8:10 this morning for Vancouver was beaten into insensibility by men who entered the express car, presumably in Seattle. The messenger did not recover consciousness until after the train was backed to Ballard, five miles out, where the injured man was given medical attention.

Perrine was leaning over a pile of parcels which had tumbled into a heap when he was attacked from behind by two men in the uniform of brakesmen. Turning to grapple with his assailants he was struck a crushing blow by his own revolver, which had been grabbed by one of the bandits. He was knocked senseless and did not recover from his dazed condition until the train had passed Balland. Crawling to the signal cord he stopped the train and the conductor went forward to find what was the matter The latter found Perrine in a pool of blood and the floor of the express car littered with packages which had been ransacked by the robbers.

The train was then backed into Balland and the injured messenger given medical attention.

The robbers looted the express car of all that was valuable, breaking open the strong box and taking all the cash that was inside. According to express company officials this sum was not more than $1,500, but another estimate places the amount of the booty at nearly $10,000. The train left Seattle at 8:10 this morning and was crowded with passengers who did not know anything of the occurrence until the train backed into Seattle. It is supposed that the robbers had confederates on the train keeping watch on the conductor and train crew.

The car was a combination mail and express car, but according to the U. S. postal authorities only one of the registered mail sacks was taken.

Bill Miner Not the Man

TOTEM POLE SQUARE, SEATTLE.—Having had it pointed out to me that there is a suspicion that I had something to do with the bungling holdup on the train between here and your city I wish you to state that I had nothing to do with it. I feel that I am on parole, and I have not handed out anything but advice since I have been here. There is no one here that I would go cahoots in in a hold-up anyway. Besides you can get money here without taking any risks. Business is business and I want to be left alone. You can tell the provincial bulls that I can prove an alibi in this case and tell them not to go stirring up the Yankee marshals to look me up I always worked in the open and never bashed a man's head to get the cash from the Adam's express strong box in my life.

Yours truly,
BILL MINER.

VAST TIE CONSUMPTION

$50,000 Spent Annually—Saving by Preserving—Depleting the Forests — 600,000 Acres Used Up Each Year.

Railroads of Western Canada are consuming vast quantities of material at present. C. E. Ussher, assistant passenger traffic manager of the C.P.R. Winnipeg, estimates the annual expenditure on ties, etc., at about fifty million dollars. Mr. Ussher states that in the construction of new track and for renewals, the steam and street railways used, in 1906, over one hundred million cross-ties. The average price paid was 48 cents per tie. Approximately three-fourths of the ties were hewed, and one-fourth sawed.

Oak, the chief wood used for ties, furnished more than 44 per cent., nearly one-half of the whole number, while the southern pines, which rank second, contribute about one-sixth. Douglas fir and cedar, the next two, with approximately equal quantities, supply less than one fifteenth apiece. Chestnut, cypress, western pine, tamarac, hemlock and redwood are all of importance, but no one of them furnishes more than a small proportion.

Oak and southern pine stand highest in both total and average value; the average value of each is 61 cents. Chestnut ranks next, followed by cedar. Hemlock, at 28 cents, is the cheapest tie reported.

More than three-fourths of all ties are hewed; and with every wood from which ties are made, except Douglas fir and western pine, the number of hewed ties is greater than the number sawed.

About ten times as many Douglas fir ties are sawed as are hewed. Of the oak ties a little over one-sixth, and of the southern pine ties, less than one-third are sawed. In contrast to the southern pines is the western pine, of which more than one-half ties are sawed. In general, when lumber has a relatively low value, the proportion of sawed ties increases, because the market for ties is always active, while that for lumber is frequently sluggish. All western species are effected by this condition, for stumpage is abundant and its value relatively low.

Ten per cent of the ties purchased were treated with preservatives either before they were purchased or at the treating plant of the railroad company. At least ten railroad companies are operating their own plants for the preservation of their construction material.

Of the many forms in which wood is used, ties are fourth in cost, sawed lumber being first, firewood second, and shingles and laths third. It has been calculated that the amount of wood used each year in ties is equivalent to the product of 600,000 acres of forest and that to maintain every tie in the track, two trees must be growing.

With nearly 300,000 miles of railroad trackage, and approximately 2,800 ties to the mile, there are over 800,000,000 ties constantly subject to wear and decay.

The railroads report that in the form of ties, cedar lasts eleven years, cypress ten years, and redwood nine years. Their woods, however, lack the desired weight and hardness, and, what is more important, they are not available in the region of the trunk lines of the central and eastern states.

When it is considered then, that the service of the longest lived tie timbers in general use—chestnut, white oak, tamarac, spruce and Douglas fir—is but seven years, while with some, as the black oaks, it is but four years, whereas a treated tie with equipment to lessen wear will last fifteen years, it is apparent how much the railroads can save if preservative treatment of ties is universally adopted. The saving in the drain upon the forests is of even greater mome .

Tore Down Wrong Bridge

GRAND FORKS, B. C., May 12:—After securing permission from the city of Grand Forks to destroy the north pier, at the old First street bridge, the Yale Columbia Lumber company put men to work, and when the job was finished it was ascertained that they had destroyed the wrong pier, being the south pier, and not the one intended to have been removed. The workman who removed the wrong pier says that he received orders from some of the aldermen to do the work. By the removal of the wrong pier, damage to the extent of $35000 was done, and the prospect for a new bridge at the foot of First street is delayed.

LACK OF INTEREST.

In a recent issue we called the attention of the intelligent public to the advisability of pushing the clock on one hour, and thereby giving a longer evening to those who under the present system have little or no time to devote to recreation and to various pastimes and to do any work that may be required to be done on their premises. We are now spending the best hours of the day in bed or else waiting for the day's work to begin, when we could very well and to better advantage rise one hour earlier and have the hour put on to our leisure time after our regular day's work is done, and put this period of time to a more profitable use than in passing it lying in bed. We feel that the majority of right thinking people would welcome the change, which would be especially applicable to those who spend all day in stores and offices, and to whom a longer evening would be a boon. It seems a hard and difficult matter to try and instil any new idea or change into the Revelstoke public who are content to ramble along in the same old groove, without going out of their way to bring about any reforms that may be of direct or indirect benefit to the community at large. Although we as citizens generally really do profess a progressive policy as regards our city, yet we rarely put our theories into practice, and invariably let the matter dwindle away and die a natural death, sooner than go out of our way to effect the change. If only our people would get together in the true sense of the word and honestly and thoroughly work for the interests and progress of Revelstoke, we would see ourselves assume a far more important position than we can now command.

"O wad some power the giftie gi'e us.
To see oorsel's as ithers see us."

BEWARE OF THE KNOCKER

Beware of the people who are constantly belittling others, finding flaws and defects in their characters or slyly insinuating that they are not quite what they ought to be. Such persons are dangerous to the community and are not to be trusted. A disparaging mind is a limited nutty, unhealthy mind. It can neither see nor acknowledge good in others. It is a jealous mind, it is positively painful to it to hear others spoken well of, praised or commended for any virtue or good point. If it cannot deny the existence of the alleged good it will seek to mininize it by a malicious "if" or "but", or try in some other way to throw a doubt on the character of the person praised. Complaint should be favored by suggestion. It is better to hint an improvement than merely rail at an evil. Before condemning a man, his method or his work, it is good to be prepared to show how either may be enhanced. Inefficiency is not always a sign of ignorance, apathy or carelessness nor does it necessarily betray the absence of any desire to do better. There are few really unmitigated evils. The smaller communities have a harder task to run smoothly than the larger, and this fact should be remembered. that when intercourse and relationship in ordinary business life are so closely interwoven with the majority of those units which go to make up the whole, it is not beholden to anyone to cast aspersions on his neighbor and otherwise disturb the public harmony.

INTERIOR FRUIT GROWING.

This has been a late spring in British Columbia as well as thru'out the Dominion as a whole but this slowness is a blessing in disguise as in a late spring there is always less danger of an ill-timed frost nipping the buds. Everything points to a bumper for the fruit growers of British Columbia and people have shown their appreciation of the fact by setting to work in real earnest to get their orchards into shape this year. Never before has there been so much energy put into the work of spring cleaning. Throughout the whole interior farmers are busy in their orchards, pruning, spraying and getting things into shape. Revelstoke has not been behind in this respect, which shows that our fruitgrowers have confidence in their crops or they would not be going to such expense and trouble And not only does it promise well for the crop but that the market also shows signs of being better than usual. The fruit crop of the province will be handled this year to the best advantage by the Fruit & Produce Exchange which is now in direct touch with all the leading fruit producing sections of B. C. and has the confidence of practically the whole of the shippers and growers. There has always been a strong demand for B. C. fruit, but it seems that the demand is now stronger than ever. This means, of course, a new impetus to the industry of the Interior which has now assumed large proportions although there is always room for improvement. We on our part have the utmost confidence in our own particular district, as to its future success as a fruitgrowing centre.

A CHARACTER MARKET

It would be nonsense of course to talk about not wanting money, for we all do want a certain amount of it to pay our bills. The desirable amount is not small either, for current bills tend to be high. If there is a reaction and some change for the better it may be traceable to the circumstance that the value of dollars has been cheapened relatively to some other valuable things. Is not character looking up a little these days as compared with apparent affluence? Do not folks who can afford to be a little squeamish about how they make their livings, and about the degree of extortion that they practice, and the size and grossness of their imposition on the community, think rather better of themselves of late, as compared with other folk whose appetites are so voracious as to outlaw all such scruples. Is there not just a grain of growing prejudice in favor of money that is earned, as compared with money that is got by stealth and dexterity? Really it looks as though we might see a bull market for character. We have had bull markets for pretty much everything else with a good deal of subsequent deterioration in values. If anyone is long of righteousness and has been acquiring lines of moderation and clean living and honest industry, we earnestly counsel him to retain his holdings, for it really looks as though the market for such things might be considerably strong.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Editor MAIL-HERALD.

Dear Sir, I am glad to be amongst the citizens of Revelstoke again, after nearly a months absence on our journey along the C. P. R. to Winnipeg.

I hope Mr. Editor that you will find a little free space in your paper to print my impressions of towns in the east in comparison with our Revelstoke. Winnipeg, with its large population, all possible in twentieth century luxury and inventions, amusements and comforts, has a very sore point—and that is the unemployed question. The streets are crowded with men of all nationalities seeking work. One feels much better in small Revelstoke. even with its unpaved streets, without street cars and cabs, etc.

The weather I experienced while there was too cold and windy for one living close to the Pacific coast and under the protection of such boon companions as Mt. Begbie and Mt. McKenzie. But the Manitobans informed me that in July it will be nice and warm.

The scenery along the line from here to Banff, with Glacier, Mt. Stephen, Laggan and other points, makes us forget our daily depressions and worries and often hardships.

The last Sunday of my holidays I enjoyed in Portage la Prairie, and walking around the streets, I compared this town with Revelstoke, and decided to write this letter. Portage la Prairie is an up-to-date town of near'y seven thousand population and a very important railway centre with the C. P. R., C. N. R, Great Northern and G. T. P. depots, from where fifteen passenger trains are daily carrying travellers to all parts of the Dominion and into the United States. But for all that I am glad to be a citizen of Revelstoke. Our Y. M. C. A. with its advantages helps to broaden our minds enlarge our ideas and tendencies, and is really an achievment of present times. Not one town of even double population that I visited can be compared with our own. We should not spare work to keep our Y. M. C. A. in its present position, but redouble our energies and benevolence to support such an institution. Portage has not a Y. M. C. A. or any such accommodation open for the benefit of the public.

I am afraid Mr. Editor that I shall be taking up too much space in your paper, therefore I conclude with best wishes to the success of the town and the MAIL-HERALD.

Yours truly,
S. A. CARR.

READY FOR DEFENCE

5000 C.P.R. Mechanics Amalgamate in Eastern Canada

MONTREAL, May 12—A general committee representing the C.P.R. mechanics which has been in session here for the last eight or nine days has succeeded in uniting the organizations, which is to be known as the Federation of Railway Employees, taking in some 5,000 men. The principal demands of the federation will be a nine hour day. This has been in operation for some time in the west, but the men in the east have had to work ten hours. This move of the men is expected to counter that of the railway.

CHURCH AND POLITICS

Important Resolutions Passed at Methodist Conference.

In connection with the annual meeting of the Methodist churches of the West Kootenay district, which was in session at Nelson last week, the following very important resolution was, by unanimous vote, sent on to the annual conference, which meets in Vancouver next week:

"That having regard to social and political conditions, we believe there is a great need for a very emphatic statement concerning the relations of the Methodist church and the people the church represents to these great and fundamental questions.

(a) In relation to political life and conditions, we believe the laxness and indifference of the majority of Christian people to the great political issues is most serious. It is a question whether the responsibility for much of the political corruption may not be placed upon those who seem most to deplore their existence, because of their failure to bring to bear upon the political representatives the influence of their personal interest and activity.

(b) In relation to social questions we believe that very much of the social unrest that prevails today is alien to the church of God and is serious in its tendencies. Further, that social and economic movements are largely out of sympathy with the church's activities. We believe that much of this might be corrected, would the church at large and Christian people in general take a more active and intelligent interest in these questions.

Therefore, be it resolved. That the conference be requested to issue a circular to onr congregations, over the signature of its officials, urging our people to actively interest themselves in the politics of the country; emphasizing the sacredness of the ballot; the constant need of giving to the representatives their active support without reference to party; urging active participation in the great issues of the observance of the Sabbath; local option: advising our people to carefully study the questions of the issues involved in the great social and economic movements.

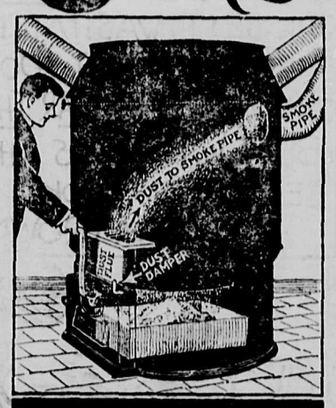
"Sunshine" Furnace



Where Shaking is Respectable

A Draft off furnace dome, with no other assistance, is powerless to overcome the dust nuisance in shaking time. Only surplus dust rises of itself above the fire. Great bulk descends into ash-pit, and unless legitimate outlet is therein provided, dust will escape through ash-door slits and into operator's face.

In "Sunshine" Furnace the legitimate dust outlet is provided. It's a great big dust-pipe running straight from ash-pit to dome, thence to chimney. When big pipe damper is opened, all dust in ash-pit ascends to dome; then, when direct drafts are opened, all dust passes up chimney.

Always the clean and quick dust route in "Sunshine" Furnace — via grate, to pan, to dust-pipe, to dome, to chimney, to open air.

Write to us for "Sunshine" testimonials received from your own townspeople.

SOUTH KOOTENAY

Prosperous Outlook in Commerce and Industries.

E. A. Haggen, who returned this week from a business trip to South Kooteney and the Crow's Nest Pass, informs us that business conditions are good and matters in a generally prosperous condition in that section of the country. Numbers of new buildings are being erected at Nelson, Cranbrook, Fernie and Hosmer. Now that the Great Northern Railway is heavily interested in the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., the C. P. R. have taken in hand the active development of their coal fields at Hosmer, which town they intend to place on a basis second to none in the Pass. Already there are 1,500 people there and the town is building up rapidly. The mine equipment will be amongst the best in Canada. The mines are developing well. One thousand coke ovens are under construction to provide fuel for the smelters.

The Great Northern Railway have built between Kalispel and Fernie on an even up grade to the mines one of the finest road beds on the continent and it is a sight to behold the great trains of from 60 to 100 cars of coal and coke which this system daily hauls down the grade. The formation of the extension of the system to Michel has been completed and this road will soon be opened. It is said to be the company's intention to extend the road to Calgary and give that city its first competing line.

The lumber business is active in the south. With three or four minor exceptions all the mills are running and full supplies of logs are available. Several of the mills are building logging railways and summer logging will form an important industry in the near future. So high an authority on lumbering as Otis Staples, of Wycliffe, told Mr. Haggen he was satisfied the logging railway would in the end prove the most economical means of handling logs between the bush and the mills.

At most of the mills the stocks are low, though there are four or five yards that carry between ten million and twenty million feet of lumber.

A grievance the lumbermen generally express is as regards the title to provincial timber licenses. As these stand they are valueless for purposes of financial securities. Asked as to the remedy required, several leading lumbermen expressed the opinion that if the stumpage were made a fixed quantity and the licenses renewable as long as the holder paid the annual license fee, with say thirty days grace in which to renew each year, this difficulty would be surmounted and the lumber industry placed on a much more stable footing.

Mining is looking up in the Slocan. The Standard, Vancouver and Hewitt, behind Silverton, never looked better, the Ottawa, out from Slocan City, has developed a large body of ore at depth and the Arlington, its near neighbour, is a steady shipper. The Westmount, in the same locality, recently made a shipment that returned 405 ozs. of silver per ton. The Nugget on Sheep Creek, in which A. H. Gracey, M. E., and W. B. Pool are interested, has shipped several carloads of ore which ran over $100 in gold to the ton.

The occupation of land for fruit growing around Nelson, Slocan, New Denver, Creston and Cranbrook is proceeding a pace. At New Denver a young orchard was recently sold for $600 per acre, and at Creston Mr. Wiggen has earned fame and advertised the fruit growing resources of that section by the announcement that last season his strawberry crop realised $1,000 per acre. Incredulous as it may seem the statement is vouched for by many.

Mr. Haggen heard several people advocate the construction of the extension of the C. P. R. Marysville branch up the St. Mary's Valley through the low pass there to and around the head of the lake to connect with the Lardeau Railway. With the construction of the remaining link between Gerrard and Arrowhead, it is pointed out passengers could be landed from Crow's Nest points to the main line at Revelstoke in one day, and thus bring the traffic direct through British Columbia instead of driving in south over the Great Northern as is done to a large extent by the present circuitous route. St. Mary's Valley is notably rich in silver-lead and copper ores, and such a railway would develop an important mineral section.

She Could Stand

The following is typical in some degree of the present new popular pastime in Revelstoke.

"A young woman entered a crowded car with a pair of roller skates slung over her arm. An elderly gentleman arose to give her his seat. "Thank you very much," she said "but I've been skating all the afternoon, and I'm tired of sitting down."

A mammoth petition got up in London, England, against the recent licensing bills, seven miles long and three-quarters of a ton in weight with nearly 700,000 signatures on it, was presented last week to the House of Commons.

The provincial government has promised the local Hospital Board that a sum of $4,000 will be included in the estimates for 1909 for the purpose of aiding in the work of enlarging the hospital building. The directors, who are contemplating the expenditure of $13,000 for a new wing will no doubt see their way clear to commence work at an early date.

Russel Coleman Camplin left his home at 250 Clinton St., Toronto, Ont., on May 26, 1905, for Calgary. He wrote a letter to his parents from there stating that he was going to Revelstoke. A second letter was received from Comaplix where he said he had been engaged to work in the Bowman Lumber Company's camp there. He attended church one Sunday in the schoolhouse which was the last time he has been heard of. His parents have written several letters to Revelstoke and Comaplix, but all have been returned. The Bowman Lumber Company at Comaplix state that they have never heard of any one of the name of Camplin in their employ. The mining man is 20 years old, 5 ft. 9½ in. in height, well built and broad, light brown hair, and determined features, in good health, dressed in a black serge suit when last seen. His whereabouts are anxiously looked for by his parents.

Sporting Notes

The Y. M. C. A. athletic meet which will take place on the 25th, bids fair to be a great success.

Entries are coming in fast and the association boys are figuring on a day's good sport.

Salmon Arm football team will be here and they claim to have a strong team. The game should be fast as the Y.M.C.A. team is putting in some good consistent practice and with some new additions which they have just secured, a strong line-up is assured. A feature of the day's sport will be a walking race, the distance being two miles. The race will start at the post office, then along First street to McKenzie avenue, up the avenue to the recreation grounds and finish on the track. This is a novelty here, but quite a number of entries are already in and a good race is assured.

On Monday night lacrosse was played between the Y.M.C.A. and City teams on the former's grounds. The game, though the first of the season, was strenuous and fast. The Y.M.C.A. led off with the first goal, but shortly afterward the City team scored and in a few minutes added two more goals to their score and at this juncture seemed to have the the game well in hand. However, when the team changed ends the Y.M's. seemed to wake up and quickly equalled the score of their opponents and from then on it was anyone's game—but another goal shot by the Y. M.'s. just a minute or so before finishing gave them the game.

Baseball to-night.

Have you seen the Pink Domino cards around town. Keep the 25th evening open and see the play. It's all right.

Cricket

The second match in the first round for the cup was played on Saturday, and in both batting and bowling departments of the game some good form was witnessed.

The result was another win for the Maple Leaf team, who, in very decisive fashion, secured two points over the Shamrock team.

Both in bowling and batting they were the better team on the day's play as will be seen by the score sheet.

Brooks, playing his first match this season, took five wickets for 12 runs, and Quinn again proving his efficiency as a bowler by taking 5 for 14.

A fine stand was made by Brooker and Millard, who each scored 30, and the biggest hit yet made on the ground, is to Brooker's credit, who lifted a swift ball from Shaw clean over the bank on to the outfit cars.

B. OF L. ENGINEERS

Installation of Mt. Begbie Lodge Ladies Auxiliary

One of the most popular movements that have taken place in social and fraternal circles in Revelstoke, was brought to a definite issue on Thursday last when a ladies lodge auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers of Revelstoke was instituted. Mrs. Glassford of Calgary and Mrs. J. J. Bigger of Spokane, deputies from the Grand Lodge were the two organizers, the installation being carried out in the Selkirk hall on Thursday. About ten charter members were present who were obligated the impressive and beautiful ritual of the order being read. The first officers of the new lodge which is called Mt. Begbie lodge No. 442 of the Grand International Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers were elected as follows:

Past President, Mrs. McCall.
President, Mrs. L. Patrick.
Vice-President, Mrs. A. Kenward.
Secretary, Mrs. F. H. Corson.
Treasurer, Mrs. W. Coughlin.
Insurance Sec., Mrs. Creelman.
Chaplain, Mrs. C. C. Brown.
Guide, Mrs. J. Gould.
Sentinel, Mrs. D. R. McKenzie.
Musician, Mrs. E. A. Mackinrot.
Marshalls, Crescent, Mrs. R. Trimble.
Star, Mrs. W. Armstrong.
Pillars, Sobriety, Mrs. J. Henderson.
Truth, Mrs. M. Scott.
Justice, Mrs. J. Johnstone.
Morality, Mrs. W. Donaldson.

The new lodge starts on its career of usefulness under the most auspicious circumstances, all its members being enthusiastic and interested in the work of the order which has become such an extensive and valuable organization to the general railroad fraternity.

On Wednesday last Mrs. Bigger and Mrs. Glassford were entertained by the engineers and their wives at an "at home" at the residence of Mrs. A. Kenward, a pleasant sociable time being spent. Mrs. Glassford, while in the city, was the guest of Mrs. Kenward, and during her visit to Revelstoke was presented with a handsome biscuit jar at an "at home" at the residence of Mrs Patrick, before leaving for Calgary. Mrs. Bigger who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. Henderson, left for Laggan for a few days' trip, and on her return was presented with a handsome fountain pen at an "at home" given by Mrs. C. C. Brown on Saturday latt. The new lodge will meet twice in the month, on the second and last Fridays. The colors are very striking, being a combination of white, red, blue, and purple, the emblematical flower being the pink carnation.

This latest addition to the fraternal organizations of Revelstoke will without doubt take its place side by side with the others in the carrying out of the principles and standards of the order and aiding the brother lodge to the extent of its ability.

"Pink Dominoes"

The Revelstoke theatre going public will be treated with something particularly interesting and amusing in the way of high class comedy on Monday, May 25th, the Victoria Day holiday. The amateur dramatic club have always been noted for the excellence of their choice of plays and also for the style of productions which have invariably pleased their patrons and the people at large. The amateurs have much pleasure in staging on this occasion the celebrated high class comedy "Pink Dominoes," a play bristling with humor, and full of comical situations. The piece is bright and breezy and keeps the attention of the audience on the thread of the story from beginning to end. The club has consented to produce the play as a benefit for the Y.M.C.A. and the public will now be afforded an opportunity of winding up their holiday by witnessing as clever a comedy as has been put on in Revelstoke. The patronage of the public is particulary invited on this occasion.

Unjust Attack

Eastern papers have been "rightly" scoring a pamphlet, says the Commercial recently issued by a big trust company that warns British investors against Canadian municipal securities. One Eastern Canada authority says that from internal evidence the company in question apparently is on terms of intimate association with the syndicate of Canadian financers and companies that have been engaged in diverting Canadian capital for their own private advantage from the home enterprises where it ought to be employed, to South America, Mexico and other foreign parts." That this is the case can hardly be doubted when it is seen that the object of the pamphlet is to boost these same foreign undertakings at the expense of the credit of Canadian municipalities. The ground for this direct attack on the cities and towns of the Dominion is their alleged inclination to waste large sums on ill-considered enterprises and the ease and readiness with which their powers are extended, presumably by the provincial legislature.

The Toronto World says in regard to the matter that this ring of financiers who have been exploiting the public service of Mexico and other distant countries is to all intents and purposes identical with the ring that has been for years out after the public services and public domain of Canada and her provinces. An aroused public opinion, however, is presenting strong and increasing opposition to the notion that the great and growing urban communities of the Dominion are to be utilized as happy hunting grounds for would-be multi-millionaires who see in them vast opportunities for private profit. It is because the people are determined to have public services and utilities run for the common good and because parliament and the legislators are becoming more responsive to popular sentiment, that these same financiers have set themselves to decry the credit of Canadian municipalities. But they will not succeed. The British public and British investors are not ignorant of the devious stock manoeuvres and methods of public service corporations and of those who control them.

If attacks on the credit of Canadian municipalities are to continue, the "World" goes on to say, it will become necessary for them to act in self defence. They have no reason to fear a full disclosure of the facts and circumstances and they can confidently count on a thoroughly sympathetic hearing from the investing public of Great Britain.

Lardeau Mines

SPOKANE, May 12.—That the Lardeau mining district of British Columbia is full of promise and merely awaits better methods of ore treatment is the opinion of Mr. A. M. Dewey, who has just returned from a tour of inspection of a number of properties there in which he is interested. Mr. Dewey was accompanied by J. P. Elsom, of Louisville, a chemist, who took samples of several ores for future treatment. Speaking of his trip, Mr. Dewey said yesterday:—

"My trip in British Columbia resulted in some surprises to myself, although I was prepared to find the Lardeau district promising. I took with me Mr. Elsom who sampled several properties and who believes them rich in gold, silver and lead, although he has as yet made no assays. While in the Lardeau we located a deposit of commercial graphite near Upper Arrow Lake and also saw samples of a deposit of asbestos from Mount Martin. This asbestos possesses fibres from seven to sixteen inches, which is said to be an extraordinary length, the fibres being about eight or nine. We also found a 26-foot ledge of onyx in place, that looks as if it were of commercial value.

"In the mining districts there has been considerable trouble with the treatment of the gold-bearing rock, and it was the opinion of Mr. Elsom that the various camps could be advantageously worked only by the introduction of several methods. The best results so far as I know show but 60 per cent. of the gold saved, and this is only on one property. At present there are about twenty stamps in use there and also one or two small cyanide plants. Some of the ore has been concentrated and sent to the smelters, but with all the methods no satisfactory results have been attained.

"A number of eastern men, with whom another Spokane man and myself are associated, have made preliminary arrangements to form a syndicate and take over some of these properties with the view to making the reduction more economical."
