PUBLICITY BUILDING TO BE ERECTED

Board of Trade Discusses Several Matters with C.P.R. Advertising Agent---Scenic Railway to Victoria Park

A publicity building at the C.P.R. station, an aerial railway up Mount Revelstoke and a general visit to Victoria park, in which members of the Board will partake with W. T. Robson, advertising agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, were among the matters discussed at a special meeting of the Board of Trade with Mr. Robson last evening.

Mr. Robson explained the advertising methods of his company, laying great stress on the value of pictures and lantern slides. He said he had been delighted with Revelstoke and its progress, and the company was anxious to help the town as the success of one meant the success of the other.

W. M. Lawrence, who presided, asked Mr. Robson what he thought of the scheme he had mentioned of having a place at the station where they could distribute literature and give information to travellers.

Mr. Robson thought the idea an excellent one, and suggested an artistic booth finished in bark like the forestry building at the A.Y.P. exposition.

Mayor Lindmark said that a year ago Mr. Busteed and Mr. Kilpatrick had agreed to give them a site for such a building in a convenient place on the platform, and it should be utilized. The trouble was that travellers landed here and did not know what to do with themselves as there was no one to take care of them, though there was plenty to be seen if they were only directed to it. If anything were to be done this season the building should be erected within the next two weeks.

Mr. Robson agreed that no time should be lost, and suggested that a four page booklet should be prepared setting forth the advantages of the district, so that it could be distributed at the booth.

President Lawrence named Messrs. Lindmark, Foote and Hagar a committee to see to the building of the booth.

Mr. Robson said the company intended to advertise this section much more than they had formerly done as they were anxious to divert traffic through the Arrow and Kootenay lakes country as much as possible.

The president asked whether any company had yet been formed in connection with the aerial railway scheme for Mount Revelstoke.

Mayor Lindmark said no, but a number of people were interested in it and were ready to put capital into it. Some of the people interested had gone to look at similar lines in the States to see how they worked. If the C.P.R. could be got to assist the project it would make it easier.

Mr. Robson said he thought the company would assist, though he could only speak informally. It would certainly be a unique attraction, different from anything else in Canada. The line at Mount Royal, Montreal, had proved a paying proposition, and he did not see why it might not pay here. He believed also that big game hunting and fishing should prove attactions in Revelstoke. Any number of fishing enthusiasts had asked him where would be a good place to stop for fish.

"Revelstoke," said A. H. Allen, and facts were given bearing this out.

Mr. Robson said he had to leave that night for Field, but would be back in about a week.

It was decided that on Mr. Robson's return the City Council and the Board of Trade should accompany him in a body in a trip up Mount Revelstoke. Votes of thanks were tendered him for his information, and Sir Thos. Shaughnessy is also to be thanked for his promptness in sending him.

Mr. Hume, advertising manager for the Vancouver World, was present and laid before the Board a proposition for advertising the city in a special edition they were to issue in connection with the Seattle Fair. The World was the only paper with its special building on the Fair grounds, and every visitor to the building registered and left their name and home address on a book. When the special edition was brought out in September a copy would be sent to every address on the book, and they would have at least 30,000 names. Their proposal was that if any district took a page of advertising, they would give in return one-third of a page of illustrated write-up free. Their price would be $200 a page, but possibly half a page at $100 might do for Revelstoke. He pointed out that the Board of Trade in Nelson had taken a whole page, and they had about three pages of private advertising besides, so that Nelson was entitled to a page of write-up. If the Revelstoke Council would order half a page of advertising they would try to make up the full page from the merchants.

Mr. Hume's proposal was heartily endorsed and the Board recommended that the Council take $100 worth of advertising in the special edition referred to.

HAGGEN TRIAL AT KAMLOOPS

Judge Forin Decides that Case Falls Within Jnrisdiction of Yale

The case of E. A. Haggen, charged with obtaining money by false pretences from the Mundy Lumber Company, is by the latest decision to be heard at Kamloops in the county of Yale, where the offence is alleged to have been committed.

When the case came up for hearing before Judge Forin in the County Court here on Thursday morning, W. A. Macdonald, K.C., of Vancouver, appeared for the Crown, assisted by G. S. McCarter representing the private prosecution, while Messrs. C. E. Gillan and W. I. Briggs appeared for the accused.

Judge Forin in opening said that since last sitting the question of his jurisdiction in the matter had been brought to his notice, and he found that on the bondsmen's papers the accused was bound over to appear for trial in the county of Yale, the word "Kootenay," on the printed form having been scored out and "Yale" written above it.

Mr. Gillan contended that to his knowledge the paper was made out for Kootenay when signed by the bondsmen, and he believed that the bondsmen, Mr. Wells and Mr. Abrahamson were under the same impression.

Mr. Macdonald quoted authorities to show that it was quite within the power of two justices of the peace to remand a case to another county than that in which they sat if they thought fit, since a justice of the peace was appointed for the whole province.

Judge Forin asked that Mr. Foster, one of the justices be called so that he could ascertain whether the change from Kootenay to Yale had been made in the papers before or after it was signed.

Mr. Foster being called swore positively that he made the change either before or at the time of the signing of the paper by the bondsmen, and called their attention to it. Immediately it was signed he handed it over to Constable Kington, and did not see it again for several days afterward.

Constable Kington confirmed this statement, and added that he had stated that he was ready to take the accused to Kamloops on the night of the preliminary hearing if the bonds were not signed for.

Mr. Haggen said he had been present, and was ready to swear that no mention had been made of the case being changed to Kamloops.

Fred Fraser, speaking from the audience, said no change was made in his nearing.

Mr. Gillan said that Mr. Wells took the same stand, and he had also heard from Mr. Abrahamson, and he said no change from Kootenay to Yale had been made.

Judge Forin said there was a strange conflict of testimony here. Counsel for the accused were evidently acting quite under the impression that the case wae to be tried in Kootenay and for that reason he had called a special sitting of the Court last Wednesday, but in face of Mr. Foster's direct statement that he changed it at the time the bond was executed and drew the attention of the sureties to it he must accept the Magistrate's statement. He must take it that while they discussed Kootenay the Magistrate struck out Kootenay and put in Yale. It was evident that Mr. Gillan and Mr. Briggs and the others were in error as none of them saw the bond at the time. He must accept the strong statement of the Magistrate as conclusive and send the case for trial to another county.

Mr. Gillan then claimed the right for trial in Kootenay under Section 577 of the criminal code, but the judge stood by his position that since two justices of the peace had committed the accused for trial in another county it was beyond his jurisdiction. He offered to adjourn the court till the afternoon to give Mr. Gillan a chance to hunt up any authorities to the contrary.

Mr. Gillan continued his argument for some time, but the judge stood by his decision and remanded the case to Kamloops.

SLIPSHOD METHODS

There seems to be a slipshod way of transacting certain public business in Revelstoke that in our opinion calls for some comment. We refer more particularly now to the Board of Police Commissioners. It was understood that there was to have been a meeting of this body last Tuesday evening, but Commissioner Trimble was the only one on hand and nothing could be done. It is generally known that the verbal resignation of Chief of Police Bain has been in for a month or more, but as yet no successor has been appointed, and the Chief is kept hanging on in an unenviable position uncertain at what day his duties may terminate.

Such a drifting method of conducting public business is to be deplored in any town, and must inevitably tend to laxity and inefficiency. The meetings of the Board of Police Commissioners ought not to be left to the whim of the mayor or a ny other individual. A stated time should be set for them, whether monthly, or otherwise, and if any one member absented himself from two or three meetings successively, without special leave of absence, he should be declared disqualified and his place on the Board taken by someone who would attend to the public interests better. It might be argued that the mayor could not be disqualified in this way for one, as he holds the chairmanship by virtue of his office. That may be true, but two is a quorum of the Board and if the mayor were not present they could carry on the business without him. While special meetings might be called in any case of emergency it certainly seems to us that there should be regular meetings on fixed dates. This would give the chief of police an opportunity to get his reports in shape, and it would also give people who had any grievances against the force or the Board a chance to ventilate them when the other side might also be heard. We believe that the intention of the provincial government in creating the police board was that it should be a representative and democratic body, and not an oligarchy, much less an autocracy. The drifting, easy-going method that is followed by the Board of Police Commissioners here, would never be tolerated by the management of any large business house, and surely the public affairs of Revelstoke are worth attention as close as that given to any private concern.

THE NEW FERNIE

Hurrah for Fernie! A year ago last Sunday the fire came swooping down from the woods around it and folded the little coal city in its embrace and whirled it off the face of the earth. It was a town one day and a smoking desolation the next, with a few isolated dwellings in the outskirts left looking down sadly upon it. The structures of the past years lay in ashes and wreckage around the feet of the builders. It was enough to strike dismay into any heart. But there was true Saxon stuff in those Fernie men. They looked around and saw that the mines, the coke ovens, the land and the river were still there. They knew what these had given in the past, and while the smoke was still ascending from the ashes the hammer of the builder was heard again.

A year has passed since that day of desolation, a day that taught its lesson by drawing all hearts out in sympathy toward the homeless people of the stricken city, and in that year a new city has arisen. The trite old allegory of the Phoenix rising with renewed life from its ashes, has been illustrated again. According to the Fernie Free Press, since the day of the fire the population of Fernie has increased by over 1,000. Since that time 1400 residences have been built at a cost of over $1,000,000. Fireproof buildings costing three qnarters of a million have been erected in the business section, and $300,000 worth of such buildings are under contract now. The old frame court house has been replaced by a stately fireproof structure at a cost of nearly $100,000. Its public buildings, its business blocks, its streets and houses are better and more permanently built than they were before. The fire swept away the temporary shacks and rickety structures of pioneer days, and out of their ashes has blossomed a clean, well built and up-to-date city that is a credit to the province of British Columbia. All honor to its plucky citizens who have wrought this good out of the evil that befell them.

TENNYSON'S CENTENARY

Yesterday was the hundredth anniversary of the birth of Alfred Tennyson, by many considered third among the English poets, and the greatest lyric poet in the English language. It is safe to say that he has left no successor. Browning and Swinburne have their admirers, but their style is too abstruse for the average reader, and the sphere of their influence is in so far hampered and crippled. With one or two notable exceptions Kipling is a mere jingoistic versifier, and beside the organ strains of the great laureate who preceded him the babbling strings of Austin's lute sound feeble and effete. In his own time Tennyson had only one rival in winning the affection and admiration of the general public, and that was the American Longfellow, and he himself was the first to acknowledge Tennyson's supreme mastery in the art of poetry.

While Tennyson had no peer in his superb manipulation of language, he will be remembered and honored chiefly because he made it the vehicle for the conveyance of noble thoughts. The man himself with his magnificent presence, his splendid culture and lofty ideals, seemed fitted by Nature to be a leader of men, and even the gruff Carlyle acknowledged his taciturn charm and mastery. It was a mastery, however, that did not shine in social assemblies. He lived retired, apart, fighting like his own King Arthur the war of sense with soul and winning his way ever towards higher ideals. He wrought out his thoughts in musical language which will wield its influence for good as long as the English tongue is spoken on the earth. A warm lover of his couutry, he could yet see the good in others. The man who addressed to America the words,

Strong mother of a lion line
Be proud of those strong sons of thine
That wrenched their rights from thee.

was no hidebound patriot. He loved his own country as "the land which freemen till, which sober suited Freedom chose," and not in a spirit of vainglory because of its conquests over other nations. He was an ardent loyalist, but his loyalty was infused with a love of popular liberty, and his chief praise for Victoria was that her throne was "based upon her people's will." He hated the wrongs and oppressions of his time, but warned against rash reforms, and bade the rulers shun "raw haste," which he styled "half sister of delay." His verse breathed patriotism of the highest order, but it was a patriotism consistent with popular progress, a patriotism that turned to scorn with lips Divine the falsehood of extremes."

It is safe to say that no preacher of the nineteenth century had a greater influence on the religious thought of his period than Tennyson. He lived in a time when science was making inroads into old superstitions and undermining old beliefs. He was open to the truth and new light as it came to him, and he stood always for the spirit rather than the letter for religion. He was the first preacher of the larger hope with his, "yet we trust that somehow good will be the final goal of ill," or his faith, "that not one soul shall be destroyed or cast as rubbish to the void, when God shall make his pile complete." He wrote: "There lives more faith in honest doubt believe me than in half the creeds," and yet he warns the doubter to "leave thou thy sister when she prays, her early heaven, her happy views." He preached enlightenment with moderation, he enlarged the hopes and subdued the fears of thousands of thoughtful men and women.

Of Tennyson's mastery of the melody of language there is no time to speak or quote examples here. It is acknowledged by all. But at this tims when a century has passed since its birth, it is well that we should stand for a while in the presence of this great man. In the past the wreath has always been for the warrior's brow, but let us hope that we are entering on an age when we shall have laurels to spare for those who have given us loftier ideals and nobler thoughts. England had her Alfred the Great of old, but we believe that her future historians will say that she had an Alfred still greater in the nineteenth century.

Hon. Richard McBride — Premier of British Columbia.

The flour and lard used in any sodas may be good, but that is not all that is wanted in a satisfying biscuit—it is not all that Foley's Sodas give.
Good flavor is essential. In securing the good flavor of Foley's Sodas we recognize the importance of a perfectly-operating yeast. We take no chances with our yeast. We could buy it from outside makers at less cost, but we do not do so—all the yeast used in Foley's Sodas is made in our own Factory and by securing perfect working of that yeast, we get the delightful flavor for which Foley's Sodas are famous.

The Best of All Breakfast Foods

There's a reason behind all fads and fancies. We required light breakfast foods and the market was flooded with health foods (so-called.) But—the best breakfast food in the world is "Zephyr Cream" Soda Biscuits crushed in cream or fresh, sweet milk.

Christie's "Zephyr Cream" Sodas

have more original goodness than all other sodas manufactured on this continent. More than that, the original goodness of Christie's Biscuits is lasting. The flavor does not vary.

All big biscuit makers buy a good brand of flour. We buy all good brands. Then we blend the best brands, sift and test the blend until we find a dough that will sustain the Christie reputation.

Expensive! Yes—but we know no other way of starting to make biscuits up to our own high standards.

Every ingredient entering into our "bakes" is the purest and best we can buy.

Our "Zephyr Cream" Sodas crushed in cream, or fresh milk, certainly do make an excellent light breakfast. You test them.

Robin Hood Flour
The Flour that is Different

If you do you will find that the cost of ROBIN HOOD is smallest after all.

The bigger loaf is one difference.

Easier assimilation of the bread is another difference.

The sweeter flavor is a third difference.

There are other points of difference. Any one of them worth the extra cost.

The Saskatchewan Flour Mills Co., Ltd.

Your money back if Purity Flour does not prove entirely satisfactory in the baking.

DON'T simply buy flour from the dollar and cent side of it. Buy high-quality flour. That means PURITY FLOUR. The first little extra cost is more than made up by the extra number of loaves of bread it makes—by the superiority of the bread and pastry in sweetness of flavor and nourishing qualities. Buying Purity Flour is a safe investment. You get large returns, not only on account of Purity's ability to produce more, but because Purity contains the greater nutriment and the vim of a strong hard wheat flour. Food made from Purity Flour gives the consumer health, snap and force, which cannot be gained from the use of the weaker soft wheat flour.

You can buy as little as a 7 pound cotton bag or in 14, 24, 49, and 98 pound sacks. Also in barrels and half-barrels

Put a little "Sunshine" in your home

An old-fashioned, ill-working furnace is a non-producer.

It consumes the coal, but through leaks and cracks wastes the heat.

It is not economy to have such a furnace in your own home, or in your tenant's home.

If you are thinking of building you should be interested in Sunshine Furnace. It adds 100 per cent. to home comforts.

As soon as you let the contract for your house decide on your furnace. The "Sunshine" man will be pleased to tell you just how the rooms ought to be laid out with an eye to securing greatest heat from the smallest consumption of coal.

If you want to experiment with the question don't specify "Sunshine."

If you want to settle the question specify "Sunshine."

PROVINCIAL PARAGRAPHS

Items of Interest of Happenings Throughout British Columbia

Attorney-general Bowser has returned from a four months' trip to the old country. He looks well and thoroughly enjoyed his holiday. He looks for a largely increased immigration from the British Isles as a result of the B. C. fruit exhibits, and a judicial settlement of outstanding differences between the Dominion and the province within the next year.

It is stated that O. H. Nelson, formerly city editor of the Victoria Times will establish an independent weekly in Prince Rupert.

The name of the Keremeos Trumpet has been changed to the Chronicle. Editor Brown celebrated the first anniversary of the establishment of his paper with a very creditable illustrated edition, describing the big ditch which has been completed by the Keremeos Land Company.

F. W. Peters, assistant to the second vice-president of the C.P.R. during his recent visit to Nelson, stated that it was the intention of his company to build a first-class tourist hotel on Kootenay lake at some point between Nelson and Procter, or at Balfour on the main lake. The hotel would be of the same class as those established on the main line, and should be ready for occupation next year.

F. W. Peters, stated while in Nelson recently, that the C.P.R. intended to commence and advertise the resources of the Kootenay district, and a district passenger agency would be re-established in Nelson. He promised also that the question of settlers rates on Kootenay lake and an improved service between Lethbridge and Kootenay Landing would be considered.

Prince Rupert is to have a fall fair this year.

It is quite likely that Prince Rupert will be incorporated as a city next spring.

The C P.R. has surveyors out looking ror a route through the Coquihal a pass. The object is said to be to secure an alternative route connecting the main line with Okanagan and Similkameen. The route would begin at Ruby Creek, cross the Fraser, and follow the Coquihalla over Hope mountains, thence across country to Penticton and along Okanagan lake to the landing where it would connect with the Sicamous branch.

That is not easy to build bridge piers that will stand the wash and scour of the Columbia river is shown by the fact that during the present week the south end pier of the C. P. R. bridge over the Columbia was almost washed out. There is no particular need for alarm in this, as the company has promptly attended to it and had it fixed up temporarily with stone and rock till a new pier can be built in. So many bridges have suffered in the swift mountain streams around Revelstoke during the present year that it seems as if some special means of defending the piers will have to be adopted.

MINING NOTES

A Vancouver syndicate has 108 square miles of coal lands staked on the Copper river.

A six inch seam of free milling gold is reported to have been struck on the volcanic mountain, North Fork.

About a dozen men have been put to work on the Apex property at Olalla, owned by the Colonial Gold Mining Company.

James Cronin has returned from the north. He has made arrangements to work the Dibble mine on the Babine range next winter.

New machinery is being put in the Monarch mine at Field. It is said that there are 10,000 tons of lead ore in sight, worth an average value of $25 to the ton.

The B. C. Copper company has been organizing its forcas during the past week, and although a large number of men have been started to work, the company is still in need of more experienced miners. Most of the former shift bosses and other officials have taken their old positions. Cars are being loaded at Mother Lode, but no shipments had been made up to a few days since. None of the furnaces at the smelter have been blown in as yet.

J. J. Marks returned recently to Hedley from a trip east, where he reports he has placed most if not all of the treasury stock of the Golden Zone company at par, which is the lowest that any has been sold. He reports much more attention paid to Camp Hedley on the outside than ever before and expects to see mining capital look this way from now on. Another piece of information that Mr. Marks had to communicate was to the effect that the deal for Nickel Plate had been consummated. This, he claimed, was no mistake as he had it from each of two parties whom he named and both these should be in a po ition to know.

Victoria Exhibition

Five days' horse racing, in which will compete some of the most celebrated runners and trotters of the Pacific Northwest; a daily ascension of the modern airship, which will cavort above the grounds just to show that man has almost solved the problem of aviation; a horse show, in which will be entered the finest equines of British Columbia and the nearby States; an illuminated portrayal of the bombardment of Alexandria, to say nothing of a comprehensive display of pure bred stock of agricultural products and of industrial ware, are some of the features that will mark Victoria's exhibition to be held from the 20th to the 25th of September. The fair, in a word, gives promise of being the finest in every respect yet held in the Canadian norshwest. The entries in all classes will outnumber those of the past while the entertainment program will provide thrilling interest and uninterrupted round of fun from the opening day to the closing evening. Thousands are expected to attend and preparations are being made for their reception and welcome. Cheap rates for people anu for exhibits from as far east as Winnipeg will be inaugurated.

THE SHEEP CREEK BEAR

Scares Woman Into Swoon and Chases Child —Systematic Hunt Arranged

The Sheep Creek Valley bear with which Mrs. Gill and her children had the encounter a few weeks since, has again been in evidence. A few days since, Mrs. Beach, in company with a little girl, was going over the trail, down the valley, when she was suddenly confronted by the big she bear, which stood erect, clawing the air in front of Mrs. Beach in a threatening manner. Mrs. Beach simply went to the ground in fear and lost consciousness for some minutes. When she recovered the bear was gone. So was the child. But both, fortunately, and owing to the bear's solicitude for the safety of her cubs, escaped.

The woman and the child came upon the bear just as it was emerging from the woods. The child, who was a little ahead of Mrs. Beach, uttered the most terrifying screams, and started to run, with the bear after her. After going about fifty feet, the cries of the cubs, who were still in the thicket, attracted the attention of the mother bear, and she gave up the chase and turned back to them. Then she continued on her journey and left the prostrate woman undisturbed. A systematic hunt for the bear is to be undertaken by the men of the valley. —Rossland Miner.

Appellate Court

Attorney-General Bowser who has just returned from a four months' trip to the old country, announces that the new provincial appeal court will be established and working by the first week in November. This naturally arouses some curiosity as to who will fill the bench. It is generally conceded that the position of Chief Justice will fall to J. A. Macdonald, the present Opposition leader in the local house. It is also intimated that Justices Martin and Clement, both good authorities on constitutional law may be removed from the Supreme Court bench and placed in the new Court. For the fourth position the names of Charles Wilson, D. G. Macdonell, and J. H. Senkler have all been mentioned. It seems probable that if Mr. Wilson were chosen, one at least of the latter would go on the Supreme court bench. It is also said that E. P. Davis, K.C., has been approached but it is not thought that he would be willing to abandon his lucrative practice for any position other than that of chief justice of the appellate court.

A number of Doukhobors near Swan River, Sask., were reported as parading in the nude last week. One old woman died and was left by the roadside while the deluded procession passed on.

Wing Chung says the strawberry season now over, has, in spite of want of warm weather, been on the whole a most successful one with him. He has sent different shipments to Calgary and other points, and finds that the Revelstoke berry is highly prized wherever it is known

Hon. Charles Murphy, secretary of state, has returned to Ottawa after his trip through the west. He enjoyed it thoroughly. He said he found very little interest in the question of Imperial defence, one man remarking to him, "We want box cars more than Dreadnoughts."

Rev. Wigle Hamilton, pastor of Zion church, Winnipeg, on Wednesday evening gave an interesting lecture in the Methodist church "On Horseback Through Palestine." He had ridden through the Holy land in equestrian fashion and described the different scenes very vividly. He admitted that Jerusalem was on some respects a disappointing and wretched looking city. Modern improvements such as street cars and electric lights were unknown, and the streets were unlighted. The people emulated the good old proverb about early to bed and early to rise, as they went to bed at dark and got up at daylight, but did not seem to be any healthier, wealthier or wiser than the general run of people. He found evidence of the truth of Bible prophecies in fragments of cities whose overthrow had been foretold long ago.

A poster for the Revelstoke Fall Fair, which has just been turned out from the presses of the MAIL-HERALD, is arousing many admiring remarks. It is 36x46 in size, and is printed in well balanced colors of blue, red and brown. The bright lithographs of salvers of fruit set off the upper edges, the centre contains a picture of two jockeys steeplechasing, and the lettering is brought out prominently in bright colors throughout. Nothing better could be produced by the presses in metropolitan cities, and it proves there is no need to go outside Revelstoke for excellence in this class of work.

YOUNG MAN FOUND DEAD

Body of Harcourt Poole Found Lying in Very Shallow Water Near Wigwam

The body of Harcourt Poole, a young man well known in the city, was found lying in a stream near Wigwam by some C P.R. trainmen at about ten o'clock on Wednesday morning last. Life was found to be extinct, and the body was removed to Howson's undertaking rooms in this city, from which place the funeral was held yesterday afternoon.

Harcourt Poole was a man about 24 or 25 years of age. He had worked at different occupations around town. For some time he drove the bus for Mr. Caley at the City hotel. On Sunday morning he left to walk out to Muivahill's ranch near Greenslide. He seems to have stopped there for a day or two, and then to have struck out for Arrowhead and that was the last seen of him. The body when found was quite fresh and had apparently only been in the water for a short time Dr Hamilton, after inquiry, attributed death to heart failure, and did not consider an inquest necessary. It is thought that he may have been leaning over the water and have been seized by an attack and fallen in. It was quite shallow and under normal circumstances he would have struggled out.

Poole's parents live at Lacombe, Alberta. They were communicated with, but a telegram was received from his father saying that their house was quarantined for diphtheria and none of them could come. He asked to have the funeral here.

SPORTING NOTES

Last night the Businessmen defeated the Intermediates in a rather slow game of ball. This is the first win this season for the Businessmen but they have two more games to play. The Intermediate team was badly crippled in this game owing to some of the players not being able to turn out. The Scots Greys now lead in the schedule, having lost two games while the Intermediates stand in second place having lost three games. The Greys meet the Rovers on the 10th and a good game is expected.

On Wednesday next the senior baseball team are going to Armstrong to play the Armstrong team.

Next Wednesday night the Beavers play the Stars in the junior league.

The senior baseball schedule, as revised to date, stands:

Greys vs Rovers, August 10th.

Businessmen vs. Intermediates, Aug. 17th.

These games will start at 6:15 sharp and all players should endeavor to be out on time.

HEAD SHAVING DEARER

Barbers and Doctors Raise Ire of San Francisco's Chinamen

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1.—Barbers in Chinatown have raised the price for shaving heads from 25 to 35 cents and the Chinese herb doctors have increased their fees from 25 to 50 cents. The result is almost a revolution in the Celestial quarter, as a Chinese cannot shave his own head and every Chinaman regards herbtaking at regular intervals as a guard against sickness. Several scores of barber shops are scattered through Chinatown and all do a flourishing business, as the Celestial head must be shaved every day to keep up proper appearances.

The barbers also clean the ears and trim the eye brows. The barbers declare that the high prices of food and the excessive rents compel them to make an advance in the time-honored price of "two bits." The herb doctors claim that they have been underpaid for years and they cite the fees of the white doctors as proof that at 50 cents their prescriptions are very cheap.

The dead walls of Chinatown are flaming with red posters today attacking the barbers and doctors for advancing their prices, but these lampoons have had no effect.

THE FORESTRY COMMISSION

Will Sit in Vancouver on August 23rd, and Then Come West

The Forestry commission recently appointed by the Provincial government will hold four sessions in Vancouver beginning on Monday, August 23. On Friday and Saturday of that week the commission will sit in New Westminster, after which they will make an extended tour of the interior, and hold sittings at Kamloops, Vernon, Revelstoke, Fernie and Cranbrook. This is the announcement of A. C. Flumerfelt, one of the members of the Commission.

Mr. A S. Goodeve, M.P., the third member of the commission is expected to arrive from Nelson early next week. Hon. Frederick Fulton, commissioner of Crown lands, the chairman will, it is understood, at the opening session at Victoria fully announce the plan and scope of this important enquiry. How best to conserve British Columbia's area of merchantable timber, the largest in the world, and the question of making perpetual the timber licenses which now have a life of 21 years, renewable from year to year, a proposal advocated by many lumbermen, are the vital questions with which the commission will deal in all its sessions.

These will be completed in ample time for the commissioners to prepare their report on which the government will act on its legislation on the timber question.

A SEWER CAVE-IN

Two Men Narrowly Escape Death on Thursday Afternoon

Two workmen narrowly escaped death in the city sewer between Second and Third street, near Campbell avenue, on Thursday afternoon. They were digging in very sandy soil, when the cribbing suddenly caved in and the sand poured down on them burying one of the men, Robertson, to the shoulders, while the other man, Isaac Johnson, was pinned by the legs against the woodwork. T. F. Sinclair and a large gang of men were working near at the time and immediately rushed to the assistance of the men. Shortly afterwards Mayor Lindmark came along and energetically superintended operations till both men were released, while W. A. Foote did good work in the dangerous position down in the sewer.

The sewer had to be partly cribbed again before the men could go to work to dig out their half buried comrades, and the work of the rescuers was itself full of peril as the earth was liable to cave in and bury them at any moment. Johnson, who is a Swede newly on the job, was first released and fainted as he was being taken out. He was immediately removed to the hospital in the ambulance. It took about another hour to get Robertson out. He bore up pluckily in his position and never whimpered. He was quite conscious when removed and in this condition was also taken to the hospital. They were attended by Drs. Hamilton and McLean, who report that Johnson's legs where he was pinned between the timbers are somewhat bruised, while Robertson has a fractured hip.

For Robertson especially a great deal of sympathy is felt, as his injury may result in permanent lameness. He was the pipe-layer and an excellent man at his job. He was standing up to receive a pipe when the cave-in came. Had he been stooping he would probably have been buried completely. It is the third time he has been in accidents of the kind, having been caught in cave-ins twice at Kamloops before.
