REPORT ON POWER PLANT

Council Hears Report of Engineer on Flume Question—Laid Over for Public Works Board

The city council in regular session last night heard without a blush the report of J. P. Forde to the fire, water and light committee on the question of the present lighting station and the trouble that is being had at the present time with the power house situation. The people of Revelstoke think they have had enough trouble over their electric lights without having to have any further worry over them. As far as is possible the report of Mr. Forde explains the entire situation so far as the advisability of the city for the present lighting is concerned and as far as to what must be the future of the city's actions in regard to the power plant. Mr. Forde's letter reads as below, and after a long discussion was referred to the fire, water and light committee :—

CHAS. F. LINDMARK, ESQ., Mayor,
City of Revelstoke.

SIR : With reference to the present condition of the dam at the City's power plant on the Illecillewaet river:

The damage to the flume was all caused by the high water running over the crib at the north end of the dam and carrying driftwood and rocks against the flume. This is a condition which is liable to occur again during the summer, and I would recommend that a timber and rock crib be built between the gate house and the solid rock to prevent such a thing happening again. The flume should be repaired in a temporary manner, so as to furnish water to the power house until such time as a permanent dam and flume can be installed, which will be a necessary undertaking in a very short time, and, as the upper end of the flume does not carry water under pressure, an open box which could be covered in the winter time, would serve to repair the break and would be much cheaper than a permanent structure. If the crib referred to above is built the temporary flume would be sufficient now. To be brief, I would not recommend the expenditure of any more money than can be possibly avoided on the present dam and flume. As you are well aware the dam is not strong enough to withstand any extraordinary strain, to which it is liable to be subjected at any time, particularly since the cribwork built a few years ago to strengthen it, has been carried out, and I am of the opinion that had the water not found relief by making a channel for itself around the gate house, there is a large possibility that the dam would have been carried away. In addition to this, even a superficial examination of the flume shows that its life is about spent and if the dam is continued in its present location, the renewal of the flume will have to be undertaken in a very short time. I would therefore recommend maintaining the present dam and flume only until such time as there can be installed a permanent system.

With regard to the form which the permanent system should take:—The site which was neglected, between the present dam and the power house is an ideal dam site, and at that point there should be built a masonry structure high enough to give the necessary pressure to operate your plant at extreme low water, allowing for a natural increase in the demand for power and light for a number of years to come. This, of course, will be provided with the necessary head gate, sluice gate and spillway, and from the dam the water should be conveyed to the power house in a continuation of the present stave flume, or, preferably, in a stave flume with a diameter of at least two feet more than the present stave flume. This will allow a considerable margin for space taken up by ice forming on the inside of the flume. However, one reason why I recommend the stave flume is because I do not think you will experience nearly as much trouble from ice in the stave flume as in the present box flume.

The question of moving the power house to the proposed new dam site, is one which I consider a little premature just now, as it will serve its purpose fully as well in its present location, and, without going into figures, I may say that the cost of moving the power house and plant and the necessary additional cost of the dam to obtain the required head would be much greater than the cost of installation and maintenance of the proposed 10 foot stave flume. I therefore cannot see the advantage to be gained by moving the power house.

In this connection, I would remind you that it would be advisable to take steps to protect the present stave flume from the weather, as in its present neglected state, it will soon reach a point where it will be beyond repair.

If it is considered advisable to go into the question of the permanent work recommended above, you should have your engineer make a detailed survey of all the ground between the present dam and the power house, with necessary profiles, etc. His plans to clearly indicate the nature of the ground on both sides of the river, and the nature of the foundations likely to be encountered in river bed to enable the designer of the proposed new plant to estimate as closely as possible.

I might add that the auxiliary plant, while a valuable asset and useful in case of emergency, should be required to a much less extent if the proposed new sceeme is carried into effect than under present conditions, thus effecting a considerable saving, both in fuel and wages.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Yours respectfully,
J. P. FORDE.

Revelstoke, B. C., June 10, 1909.

Sam Piscatellie was awarded the contract for the hauling of the material for the sewer contract work with the stipulation that he was to be held responsible for breakages occurring in the transit of goods.

After passing the accounts the council adjourned. There were present the Mayor, Ald. Wells, Kimberley, Pradolini and McDonald.

Marriage Bells.

DONALDSON-AINSLIE

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ainslie was the scene of a very happy event on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when their fair daughter Josie Frances was given in marriage to Mr. Andrew Ross Donaldson, the well known C.P.R. locomotive engineer, in presence of a gathering of friends from Vernon and this city. Rev. Mr. Hall performed the ceremony, and the bride was given away by her father. Miss Burget was bridesmaid, and Mr. Murray Donaldson, brother of the bridegroom, supported him. The bride was attired in a pretty blue travelling costume, and hat to match. After the ceremony the wedding breakfast was served in the dining room, which was beautifully decorated with flowers. The health of the bride and bridegroom was proposed by the Rev. Mr. Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Donaldson, accompanied by some others of the company, left on train No. 97 for several of the Coast cities. After spending their honeymoon our young friends expect to return to Revelstoke where they intend to make their home. The young couple were the recipients of many beautiful and valuable wedding presents. Mr. and Mrs. Donaldson are both popular young people of the city and their many friends will join with the MAIL-HERALD in wishing them a long and happy married life.

HOWE-WILSON

On Wednesday evening at 5 o'clock, a pleasing ceremony was performed by Rev. T. W. Hall, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McMahon on 2nd St., when Miss Margaret, Delcus, Cannon Wilson of Winnipeg, was joined in marriage with Mr. Albert Gibson Howe, of Phoenix. The ceremony was witnessed by the mother and brother of the bride, besides a few special friends. The wedding breakfast was all that could be desired. The young couple left on the South bound train for Phoenix, where they expect to make their home.

JOHNSON-ERICKSON

A quite marriage took place in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Anderson, on 1st St., on Saturday afternoon, May 29th. The contracting parties were Mr. Otto Johnson, and Miss Ida Erickson, both of Malakwa. Only a few friends of the young couple witnessed the event. Mr. and Mr. Johnston left on No. 97 for Malakwa where Mr. Johnston has his new home. Rev. T. W. Hall performed the ceremony.

THE BYLAWS DEFEATED

People Think Debt of City is Big Enough—Public Criticism of School Trustees. — Another By-Law Probable.

Both the money by-laws submitted to the people yesterday went down to defeat. One was for the authorization of the issuance of debentures for $40,000 for "school purposes," the meaning of that phrase being indicated in the published by-laws which stated that the object was the erection of new school buildings and the purchase of Block LII. The other was for the expenditure of $9,000 for the purchase of street improving machinery. It is the popular impression that the defeat of the second by-law was due to the unpopularity of the first, and for the unpopularity of the first no one can be held responsible but the school trustees. Much indigation was expressed by those visiting the polls yesterday and voting on both the by laws that the trustees had not called a public meeting and taken the people into their confidence in the matter of the proposed school expenditure.

It is too late now for anyone to regret excepting those who have to regret over the defeat of the bylaw but it may be of general interest to state the facts as to how the vote went. The interest as manifested in the voting strength of the city was a surprise to both the returning officers and to those who anxiously afterward inquired the results. While the number of votes polled by no means represents the voting power of the city it is a fair average vote on money bylaws as compared with other cities.

For the school bylaw there were 197 votes cast favorably with a vote of 142 against.

The people are not stingy and never will be, and they will contribute to the last cent in the matter of taxation, but they ought to be informed as to how their money is to be expended before they will again vote for a money by-law.

As far as the road making machinery concerned, there will be nothing but general regret expressed at the fact that the by-law failed to pass. If the city of Revelstoke fifteen years ago had taken up the question of street making intelligently there never would have been the ever recurring problems of street repairs that have to be faced by the City Council to-day. To save or not to save seems to be the problem before the elector and the bunch decided to save.

It is a pity, however, that the money for the street improving machinery was not voted for, as that is one of the imperative necessities if we are ever to have the sort of streets that should dignify the city.

Under the provincial laws it will not be possible to submit another by-law on the school question within six months.

Judging from the comments made on the streets, the proper course for the ratepayers to pursue is to call a meeting and thresh out the whole matter as to whether or not there is necessary the expenditure of $40,000 in order to provide for the educational accommodation of the children who go to school in the city. Publicity is everything. Be public.

As to whether there shall be bought at the expense of the municipality machinery of the kind required to make streets in the city is a question which must be determined by the people who have to decide what sort of streets we shall have in the city. Most of them know that they are not satisfied with what we have now, but whether to trust the council with what we shall have is a question. The ratepayers evidently thought so by the vote of yesterday.

MILL COMPANY WILL REBUILD

Mundy Lumber Company Will Have New Premises

J. D. Sibbald returned yesterday from a visit to Three Valley where he had gone to investigate the losses of the Mundy Lumber Company in the fire which consumed its mill this week. He states that the mill buildings will be reconstructed on plans as large if not larger than before and that it is expected by September to have the new mill in a position to resume its business on as large if not a larger scale than before the fire.

Incidentally Mr. Sibbald tells the story of the heroic efforts of the mill staff to save the buildings when the fire broke out. The local equipment was called into full requisition at the first alarm and though it was noon when the alarm was given in a few minutes all the men employed by the firm were on the ground to do battle with the flames. The salvage of the yards and lumber is due to their timely response and heroic efforts to stay the fire.

DAWN OF IMPERIALISM.

The meeting of the imperial press conference which took place in London this week would seem to indicate that there has been a dawn of what may be termed true imperialism. Nothing more important to the interests of empire could be imagined than such a meeting of the members of the Fourth estate from all the parts of the British empire. Many of the journalists visiting London to attend the conference had not been extensive travellers before and their observations as reflected in their speeches after discovering what the word empire means are interesting to the extreme. Just how thoroughly their appreciation of the subject of imperialism was impressed upon them may be judged by a remark made by Lord Roseberry who was the orator of the occasion and who made one of his rare illuminating speeches. He said parliament should vote supplies for two years and pack itself up in three or four warships and take a trip and find out something about the Empire. Dealing with the question of the defence of empire a burning question at the present time Sir Hugh Graham touched off the situation with reference to Canada's part in probably the wisest manner that could be imagined when he said. "For long years, Canada, under both political parties, has been depending on the Mother Land for protection. Both political parties in Great Britain have been too indulgent, too paternal, to ask us to pay our share, and we have been too mean to offer it; but a change is impending. Inspired by the pluck of New Zealand, Australia and other colonies ever in the van. Canada has agreed to send delegates to discuss the problems with the British Government, and it must be gratifying to the whole of the British world that the Commonwealth, dominions, colonies, and dependencies have offered hearty co-operation. This movement originated with the Press, was supported by the people, and is now espoused by both political parties." Such an assembly with the expression of such views—views from every part of the empire and from every part significant of the dawn of a new imperialism cannot fail in its early and ultimate results to bring about a new era in the solidarity and solidification of the empire.

The city of Cranbrook has already got ready for its Fall fair and the prize list for the events of the occasion has been issued. The city of Revelstoke or whoever is responsible for the management of the annual fair here seems to be sleeping as no intimation has been made that anybody is getting busy with the organization work. Whatever may be said for or against the holding of local and naturally limited annual fairs they can never succeed by neglect and to make them creditable close application to the work of organization is a necessity. While the hare was sleeping the tortoise walked into the goal and had the horse laugh on the other fellow's bet. Why should one city be ready for a Fall fail while another is simply guessing?

SAY VOT VAS DAT.

Prince Rupert Has Its Excitements.

John Houston's paper The Empire gets off the following:

Just before the big blast went off at 11.45 this morning, an old gentlemen strolled down the middle of Rupert road. He was a stranger. His face was ruddy, and his beard shaped like a spade. Presently he had the road to himself, and while others stood in doorways, or disappeared, he came to a stop and gazed thoughtfully at the sky. Several onlookers yelled at him, but it didn't occur to him that he was the object of attention. He just stood looking skyward, and as he gazed, a full blown smile came to illuminate his fatherly countenance. Then crashed the blast. He spun around and that smile faded away like breath from off a razor. Rocks came clattering on the roofs, and some that flew further he was obliged to dodge. Then, when the last had hit the roadway, he ran under the eaves of the nearest building, and with strong foreign accent, asked of those assembled there, "Say vot vas dat?"

Alberta. Calgary Exhibit

A large number of entries in various departments have been received at the Alberta Provincial Exhibition offices from Hamilton, Ontario. This is one evidence of the wide interest which is being taken in the big exhibition to be held at Calgary from July 5th to 10th. Many easterners, who, upon hearing of the wonderful success of the Dominion Exhibition at Calgary in 1908, regretted that they did not come west for that event, have made up their minds to embrace the excellent opportunity which the Alberta Provincial Exhibition will afford them for becoming acquainted with the many advantages of life in Western Canada, and bumper crowds are expected to be in Calgary during exhibition week for the purpose of anticipating in Alberta's annual holiday.

Naturalization

A Vancouver paper says the greatest avalanche of applications for naturalization in the history of the county court of Vancouver rolled in upon Judge Grant Monday. They numbered over 350. Of these about 70 succeeded, being in the form prescribed by the act. The others were given until June 26th to substitute the affidavits of "natural born" instead of "naturalized" Canadians or British subjects required with the application. Practically all of these came from Vancouver's German and Italian colonies.

They present for the theatre-goer's entertainment the popular musical comedy "The Merry Widow." Reserved seats on sale at Macdonald's. Those looking forward to a real evening of fun and amusement should not miss this attraction. Some of the features with Deloy's comedians are: Miss Myrtle Deloy, female baritone, Spaulding Bros., Parisian novelty acrobats, St. Julian, dancer and novelty athlete, and Deloy's Big Beauty Chorus." The production is under the direction of Eddie Deloy, which is a guarantee of real merit.

TRAGEDY AT NIAGARA FALLS

Thrilling Story of Attempted Rescue of Suicide

Niagara Falls news items contain a story of a tragic suicide at the famous resort on June 7. The despatches say.

A thrilling tragedy occurred here yesterday, when the young wife of Aaron Cohen, of Buffalo, suddenly stepped from her husband's side, and, without warning, cast herself into the swirling river between the Second and Third Sister islands within a short distance of the cataract. Cohen instantly plunged into the raging waters and succeeded in catching hold of his wife. Then followed a terrific struggle against the strong current. Finally the man bumped into a tree stump that had become lodged in the stream, and, holding the body of his wife in one hand, he held on to the stump with the other and cried for help.

Word was sent to the police, and Policeman James Martin hurried to the river bank, bringing ropes. Two or three other men joined the officer. Several times the rope was thrown to Cohen, but always it eluded his grasp. After his strength had been exhausted, Cohen succeeded in catching the rope, but was unable to fasten it about his waist The couple were not more than twenty feet from the shore, but so swift is the current at this point, that the would-be rescuers did not dare to attempt to enter the water to render aid.

Finally, with Cohen holding to the rope, the men began to pull him and his wife ashore. When nearing the shore Cohen lost hold of his wife's body and it was carried down stream. It was later rescued from where it had lodged against a rock. Life was extinct.

When brought to shore, Cohen was unable to speak from exhaustion. After resting for some minutes he managed to gasp out: "My wife is dead. Please go and get her body; she died in my arms."

Cohen says that he believes worry over the fact that she was unable to nurse her infant, caused his wife's desire for death.

Irrigation Congress

SPOKANE, Wash., June 9.—Regarding the importance of the work of the National Irrigation Congress, which will have its 17th session in Spokane on August 9th and 14th, R. Insinger, chairman of the board of control, says:

"The National Reclamation Act was passed in 1902. At that time there were in the government's name in the 16 States affected, 600,000,000 acres of arid land, of which it was estimated possible to reclaim sufficient to support 50,000,000 people. By 1911 the reclamation service will have reclaimed nearly 2,000,000 acres at an estimated cost of $70,000,000. There are 40,000,000 acres of arid lands susceptible to reclamation by irrigation. The construction cost of the reclamation works is returned to the government for the sale of land, the proceeds to be again used in furthering irrigation development. Irrigation is now making a garden spot and an empire of the great American desert and the work of the irrigation congress is yet in its infancy."

Want Western Paper

A Methodist paper for the West was the suggestion hailing from Winnipeg at the recent Manitoba Methodist conference, and the Conference Committee report was accepted, stating that Alberta thinks the time is not yet. The Christian Guardian and its editor, Dr. Creighton, received votes of confidence, but strong opinions were expressed in favor of the request of the conference last year that a western editor should be appointed.

WHERE OUR MONEY GOES.

Express Companies Declaring Heavy Dividends.

Interesting figures as to the profits made by express companies were given before the railway commission by W. S. Buell, of Brockville, solicitor for the commission.

F. H. Chrysler, solicitor of the Dominion Express Company, wanted the figures discussed in camera, but Chairman Mabee said all proceedings must be public.

The Canadian Express Company was incorporated under letters patent in 1865. Only $27,000 was paid in as capital. In 1892 it was taken over by the Grand Trunk Railway, which paid $660,000 to the shareholders, although the equipment was then valued at only $60,000 The equipment is now valued at $212,719-15, although no fresh capital has been subscribed since the original $37,500 The earnings for the past seven years average yearly, including receipts from all sources $217,729, or 100 per cent. yearly on the value equipment.

The Dominion Express Company was incorporated in 1882. Only $25,-500 was paid in as capital. The C. P. R. transferred land grant bonds from the government to the express company. In a short time the bonds paid off all liabilities and the directors got back the $25,500 invested. The equipment is now valued at $592,239. The average net profits for five years on the property was $529,230, or 92 per cent.

The Canadian Northern Express Company was incorporated in 1902. The stock then issued was $300,000, of which the vendors, Wm. Mackenzie, R. W. McKenzie, D. D Mann and Z. A. Lasch retained all but $5,000: The property is valued at $308,393. Last year the net profits were $57,402.

The Grand Trunk Pacific Express Company started business on October 27th, 1908. The net profit for two months was $725.

The express companies have completed arguments against a reduction in rates.

NAVIGATING THE AIR

Plans for Daily Airships in French Aerial Service

A Paris despatch announces that plans have been perfected whereby the French aerial league for lines of dirigible baloons to connect Paris with Nancy, Lyons, Rouen and Pau. It is planned to put five dirigibles in this service, all of which will be capable of maintaining a speed of thirty miles an hour. A daily service will be inaugurated in September, and one of the machines has already been constructed

Wants Death Penalty

The Governor General was severely criticised for patronizing the Woodbine races by Rev. Dr. Chown, addressing the Montreal Methodist conference Dr. Chown denounced the betting evil, and said that next session if the government failed to introduce a prohibitory bill, a private member would, they having a promise to that effect already. Dr. Chown also commented on the white slave traffic, and said the penalty should be death. He should like to see a law passed making adultery a crime. The speaker was very optimistic regarding the growth of temperance sentiment in Canada, and was thankful for the prohibition of liquor from military camps.

Carpenters' Strike

EDMONTON, June 15.—As a result of the indifference of the Builders' Exchange, 400 union carpenters went on strike here today. The ultimatum from the carpenters on Saturday was that a minimum wage of $3 75, or approximately five cents an hour increase be granted The strike will break in on the best building year the city has had for some time.

OUTLOOK FOR FRUIT

Maxwell Smith Makes Report After Inspection

W. Mexwell Smith, Dominion fruit inspector, has just returned from a tour through the province, says the Vancouver News. He has made a careful inspection of all fruit growing districts except the Okanagan, on which he is already in receipt of detailed reports. He summed up his conclusions as follows:

The apple crop will be good all through the province. Pears will be light, plums and prunes promise well, peaches will be very light owing to the severe winter, strawberries will not be quite a half crop, cherries are in doubt, raspberries and blackberries promise a full crop.

The Fraser river valley has come through the winter as well as any other district, but the strawberries will be no better there than elsewhere.

Development this year promises to be on a more extended scale than ever before, and there will be a large increase in the fruitgrowing acreage. Many fruit trees have not yet matured so that this year the season is not likely to show much increase in actual produce over last, especially as the peach, strawberry and pear crops have suffered much from the severe winter. Interest in the fruit industry throughout the province continues to increase, promising a very large addition to the acreage in the near future.

Mr. Smith found in the Boundary, Kootenay and other interior points a few cases of illegal packages which had been imported and not branded with the word "short" as required by the provisions of the Dominion fruit regulations. These packages were not up to standard size and therefore would give purchasers short weight. Such packages have to be branded with the word "short."

Archbishop Dead

Most Rev. Joseph Thomas Duhamel, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Ottawa, died suddenly on the evening of June 5 of angina pectoris, at Castleman, Russell county, where he had gone to administer confirmation. The deceased prelate was a prominent churchman, and it was generally understood that he was soon to be created a Cardinal, and devoted his entire time to the administration of his See. He took no part in politics, and seldom appeared at any social function.

Made No Contracts

MONTREAL, June 12.—Mr. Arthur Coate, one of the directors of the shipbuilding firm of Hawthorn, Leshe & Coate, of Newcastle-on-Tyne, who is now in Montreal, gives an emphatic denial to the story published in some New York papers as coming from Montreal, that the Canadian Government had made contracts with the firm to build a number of warships for a Canadian navy.

The belief that an editor knows everything is widespread, but one small boy discovered the limitations of the editorial mind. Here is the anecdote as we get it from a contemporary:

"Father," asked the small boy of an editor, "is Jupiter inhabitated?"

"I don't know, my son," was the truthful answer.

Presently he was interrupted again.

"Father, are there any sea serpents?"

"I don't know, my son."

The little fellow was manifestly cast down, but presently rallied and again approached the source of information

"Father, what does the north pole look like?"

But, alas! again the answer: "I don't know, my son"

At last, in desperation, he inquired, with withering emphasis, "Father, how did you get to be an editor."

A large number of river or lumber drivers are in the city at the present time. To judge from the conversations of these daring men it is as much a hazard where to get work or where to take chances on staking their lives. There would seem to be little offering locally in the matter of driving log booms down the river.

An arrangement has been entered into by the merchants of the business section of the city for the sprinkling of the streets during the summer months, commonly known as the hot weather. Each of these will pay a proportionate share of the cost, and the sprinkling will be made in the hours of the morning most convenient for the work.

Work on the sluices designed to carry the water from the to-be diverted streams passing through the city is going steadily on About forty men are at work on the trenches and they are placing the sluice troughs where they belong. Apparently no one is fretting very much about the water records which were supposed at one time to hold up the sewer work proposed by the city.

Moses Webley, a fifteen-year-old boy, of Ladysmith, met with instant death on Wednesday afternoon, while at work in the Extension mines. It seems that the lad was tending a trap door and attempted to cut in after the usual five car trip had passed, evidently forgetting the recent additfon of four cars to the trip. As a result he was knocked to the rails and dragged along the track to a horrible death.

The city engineer and his workmen are having all kinds of trouble with the power plant, and a frequent question asked in the homes of rooming citizens is: "Where was Moses when the light went out?" The washout of some forty feet of flume was a serious enough matter at first, but the city workmen hurried lumber and men to the ground to replace the washed out part of the ditch. The high water prevented action for a time, but it was hoped on Wednesday night that there would be no further difficulty from this source. The water rose again, however, and the trouble was resumed. At last accounts there is every prospect that the flume will be resumed and the lights in the city burning as brilliantly as ever.

Tenders are now being called for the construction of the wing, the tenders to be in by the 24th inst.

One of the prettiest gardens in Revelstoke is that of John Sanderson in the lower town. The garden is a rendevouz for citizens who go there to gather flowers from the blooming trees. And the spot is one of delight for children who bivouac within its confines. A particularly attractive tree at the present time is a fine honeysuckle which with extended arms covering a wide space dispenses both its beauty and its fragrance to the breeze. Mr. Sanderson is an oldtimer, one of the first residents of the city and has the distinction of being a "Fortyniner" having struck Cariboo and gold about that time.

Social and Personal

Rev. Dean Paget of Calgary is in the city the guest of his brother Mr. C B. Paget.

S. Hillman returned on Thursday from Calgary, where he had gone for two weeks visit.

Mrs. J. B. Cressman left yesterday for a four month's visit to friends in Detroit and Toronto.

H. Cunningham Morris returned from attending the Anglican Synod at Nelson on Friday. The familiar "honk honk" is a resumed sound on the street.

Norman Fraser who has been chief train despatcher at Revelstoke for the last two years has been transferred to Moosejaw. He left for his new appointment on Thursday morning.

G. W. Bridges of the staff of the Imperial Bank has been promoted to the position of chief accountant of the same banks branch at Edmonton. The appointment takes effect forthwith. Mr. Bridges is very popular not only with his bank associates but by those who know him generally. A singular coincidence in the appointment is the fact that he began his banking career in Edmonton ten years ago and is now returning to the original field of labor.

"A Message From Mars."

"A Message from Mars," the comedy written by Richard Ganthony, and which has been one of the most successful plays that has been seen, both in England and the United States, for the last decade, will be presented here at the Opera House tonight, June 12, with a company of competent players, some of whom were in the cast during the time the company was on view for three years in London and in New York for two years. The author has created, it is said, a comedy that is so novel that it is almost impossible to give it, in limited space, a fully comprehensive description. The first act portrays a man of extreme selfishness who never thinks of the interest of others; he always wants his own way. He is too selfish to perform a service of two minutes, even for his sweetheart. In the midst of his superabundance of selfishness, while sitting in his study, he is visited by a messenger from the planet Mars. While this is done the stage is wrapped in darkness, quick and impressive noises fill the theatre, and when the scene is lighted again, the back wall of the study is gone, and a man in a strange garb stands forth in the full light of the stage. This is the messenger from Mars, who explains the superior virtue of the inhabitants of that planet.

Boston Grand Opera

Mr. W. Cranston, who is probably the best known theatrical manager in Western Canada, will arrive in the city in a few days in advance of the Boston Grand Opera Company, which will present Gonoud's famous opera, "Faust." Mr. Cranston has been connected with all the best operatic companies that have ever visited here, and has too good a reputation to associate himself with anything but the best.

The Boston Grand Opera Company comes from Boston, Mass., and are en route to an engagement at the Music Pavilion of the Alaska Yukon Exhibition. Many artists, whose names are familiar to those who keep in touch with things operatic, are in its cast of principals, and, wherever they have sung, nothing but the most flattering notices have been received of their excellent work. The company will appear at the Opera House on Monday night, June 28th.

"Peck's Bad Boy"

Among the subject to be presented in the new programme for Monday and Tuesday at the Edison Parlor Theatre will be big comedy "Peck's Bad Boy." As nearly everyone has read the story of 'Peck's Bad Boy" it will be of special interest to many to see it put on in motion pictures. The balance of the programme will be fully up to the standard

Close Call from Dynamite

ALGIERS, June 11—The crew of the German steamer Ava has arrived here following their escape from the Ava, which was blown to pieces by a dynamite explosion. Fire broke out at night on the German steamer and as dynamite formed a greater part of the cargo, the crew made haste to launch the lifeboats and pull away from the vessel. They were none too soon, for within fifteen minutes after it had been abandoned, a terrific explosion took place, which tore the vessel to pieces, covering the water with wreckage.

Black Hand Again

CHICAGO, June 11.—Because she did not comply with a demand to place $500 in a secluded spot near her home, Dr. Jennie A. Beardsley, about 40 years of age, was stabbed twice and seriously injured by alleged members of the Black Hand society. Since the receipt of letters Dr. Beardsley has worn a steel ribbed corset, which fact alone saved her life.
