NEW BRIDGE COMPLETED

Substantial Span Across Illecillewaet River—Wing Dam Constructed—Roads Brought to City Limits.

The recent completion of the bridge over the Illecillewaet river and the work of extending and improving the roads leading out of the city in the direction of Arrowhead indicate in some degree the work that is being done by the government in this part of the province for the convenience of settlers and as an invitation to prospective settlers. The new bridge is 185 feet in length over all and is three spans, with a Howe truss span 123 feet in length and two shorter approaching spans. It was erected under the supervision of Edward Trimble, now bridge inspector, at a cost of $5,800 and is a substantial structure in every respect. The building of this bridge at this time, while not imperative, was considered advisable as there was some doubt of the stability of the old bridge a mile farther up the stream. The new piece of workmanship is complete with the exception of the application of the coats of paint with which it will be adorned at an early date.

The timbers for the bridge were shipped in from the mills of Robertson & Hackett, of Vancouver.

About two miles and a half of good road on both sides of the Illecillewaet river have been made during the fall and spring, affording employment to about thirty men including the bridge work. It is the intention of the government to extend the road some five or six miles farther in the direction of Arrowhead during the coming autumn.

In addition to the extension of the road it is the purpose of the government to build mattresses along the shores of the Illecillewaet river from the bridge to the Columbia at every point where there is apparent danger of erosion. This will be done after high water.

A wing dam 100 feet in length has just been completed at the old bridge, the cost being $800. There was danger that at this point the current would erode the embankments so as to endanger the abutment of the bridge. This has been a together averted. The span of the old bridge has had an overhauling and new gill plates have been put on the stringer joints. A bridge across the slough has also been built, the length of which is 123 feet.

The government road work nearest the city has brought the improvements to the city limits and the City Council is calling for tenders for the opening and grading of its street ends to connect with these.

Altogether a considerable sum has been spent in making improvement under government supervision in the immediate district and a part of the appropriation for the whole show practical results.

COLUMBIA BRIDGE

Machinery on Hand and Timbers Arriving

W. G. Gillett, of Gillett & McDonald, contractors for the Columbia river bridge, arrived in the city from Nelson on Monday night and is assisting in the supervision of the work on the new structure that is to be. An engine for the pile driver has been secured from Arrowhead, piles are on hand and timbers from the mills in carload shipments daily.

It is the intention of the contractors to push the work forward as rapidly as circumstances will permit and it is their expectation that the work of driving piles will be completed before high water.

When this work is finished a larger force of men will be employed and the superstructure will be put in place, the whole work being completed by early autumn.

Wild Goose Chase.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—Bringing back a hard luck story, but no gold, Captain James Brown who claims that he is the only man in the world who knows where to find the Cocos Island cache of $60,000,000, has returned from the Antipodes. Brown left Sydney March 5th in a twenty-five ton schooner, with a crew of four, to search for the treasure. The boat was wrecked and he and his crew rescued by a French ship.

PROVINCIAL PARAGRAPHS

Happenings Throughout Week in B. C.

By an almost unanimous vote the ratepayers of Fernie approved of the issuance of debentures to the amount of $50,000 for the purchase of C. N. P. E. L. & P. Co. plant, and the completion of an electric light system and $100,000 for the purchase of the present waterworks system and extension thereof. Contracts will be let at once for the completion of this work and it is expected that both systems will be in operation by August 1st.

The body of Henry Richard Brown, a Cariboo hunter, was found lying in the snow a mile and a half from his home with a gun shot wound entering at the side of his breast and leaving the body at the neck. As the dead man's snowshoes were on his feet an accidental death is certain to explain the case.

John Houston's paper, the Evening Bulletin, published at Prince Rupert, asserts that there are seventeen blind pigs openly operating in that town.

A man named Ryan struck a companion named Ward with an axe at the Cassiar cannery last week in a dispute over who should build a camp fire. The assaulter took to the woods and has not been caught.

The authorities of the city of North Vancouver have determined to put a stop to professional baseball playing on Sunday within the limits of the ambitious city. On recent Sundays as many as 3,000 people congregated on the grounds and over the bleachers to witness the games and the residents complained of annoyance and nuisance. The acting Attorney-General has given authority for prosecution under the Lord's Day Act and a test case will be made.

R. T. Heselwood of Kelowna, who has made a careful inspection of the orchards of the Okanagan valley declares that the peach crop in that district this year will be satisfactory. The trees affected by frost were those which had an early flow of sap and not more than 5 per cent. of the whole are damaged.

The Presbyterian Synod of British Columbia which has just closed its annual session at Victoria has memorialized the Provincial and Dominion governments to enact laws prohibiting betting on races. It has also petitioned the attorney-general to enforce the provisions of the Lord's Day Act in British Columbia.

An organization has been formed by the workmen of Prince Rupert, taking in all the trades of that place, namely, miners, carpenters, blacksmiths, tinmiths, barbers, cooks, cooks' helpers, waiters, rockmen, electricians, bricklayers, masons, stone-masons, stone-cutters, painters and unskilled labor, longshoremen, transfer men. The organization will be known as the Prince Rupert Workmen's Association, and has been organized as follows: B. F. Dunseth, president; J. R. Beatty, vice-president; P. Daly, financial secretary; W. J. Blanchfield, warden; John Houston, treasurer. The object of the association is stated to be to secure for its members a fair rate of wages, the non-employment of Asiatics at Prince Rupert and the establishments of workable agreements with those that employ workmen. The association is said to have a membership of 300.

Still Bagging Game

Nairobi, British East Africa, May 11.—From ex-President Roosevelt's camp, near Machakoe, word was brought down to-day that the luck of the party continues and that 15 varieties of game, including a bull rhinoceros, have been bagged on the last expedition. The rhinoceros was charging Mr. Roosevelt when the hunter fired. The distance was 14 paces and the animal fell dead. Naturalists of the party are kept busy preparing the trophies which are brought in daily. Forty-five skins have already been prepared for the Smithsonian Institute at Washington.

Hospital Board

There was a good attendance at the meeting of the Hospital Board which was held on Monday night. The chief matter under discussion was the proposed new wing for Queen Victoria Hospital, it being resolved that on receipt of the revised plans, tenders will be called for and the building proceeded with at an early date. It is expected that the tenders will be called for within two weeks. Other routine matters with the passing of accounts occupied the time of the meeting.

LONDON, May 11.—Chartering a fine steam launch which they aggressively labelled "Dreadnaught" and putting a band on board, a party of suffragettes steamed up the river this afternoon until they reached a point opposite the House of Parliament. Here the boat stopped and the women attracted the attention of the members on the terraces by singing the Marseillaise, then suddenly there was fired from the launch a broadside of rockets. These burst above the terraces and a regular snowstorm of handbills fluttered upon the watching members.

Drifting Right Way

MONTREAL, May 12.—Sir Edward Clouston, vice-president and general manager of the Bank of Montreal, has made the interesting announcement that a number of British capitalists and investors will come over to the Dominion this summer for the purpose of seeing the country. Sir Edward expressed the opinion that a recent budget which places a burden on investors will result in diverting a great deal of capital to Canada. Care, however, would have to be taken against projects of doubtful merit, as such would do great injury to Canada.

ANOMALOUS RELATIONS

Very justly the Mayor remarked in a special meeting of the city council that the public of British Columbia, particularly the rate payers of the cities, need education respecting the anomalous relations existing between civic councils and trustee boards in the matter of responsibility and authority for spending peoples' money. The question arose in consideration of the memorial of the local board of trustees for the submission of a bylaw to raise $40,000 for school purposes several of the aldermen asking if the council had not the power to revise the figures and submit a bylaw for a smaller amount. It was pointed out that the council had no such power.

Under the school regulations enacted by the present government the school trustees have practically carte blanche with the money of the ratepayers so long as the latter do not themselves object. The trustees may fix salaries at any sum they wish; employ any number of teachers commendable to their judgment and in all matters connected with the ordinary expenses of carrying on the schools may send their estimates to the city council without fear that—by right or authority—these will be revised. The council has no recourse but to include them in its own estimates for the year under the proper heads. Only in matters affecting the spending of money for permanent improvement or the purchase of additional property for school purposes must the trustees go to higher powers for authorization and then it is not to the city council but to the people they must go. The request to the council for the submission of a bylaw is only because the trustees have no initial right to do this, it being the function and duty of the council. The council has however, no option when the submission of a bylaw is requested. It is not even the duty of the aldermen, as such, to criticize proposals of trustees though as ratepayers they have the same right as others. It is the prerogative and duty of the trustees to explain their proposals to the ratepayers and justify their undertakings with the same explicitness that is asked of the mayor and aldermen when handling the money of the people.

It sometimes happens under the present system that the council is blamed for increases in taxation for which they are in no direct way responsible. The average taxpayer, on receiving his notice of assessment looks hurriedly over the items till he reaches the total and notes, by comparison, the raise in the rate on the dollar of assessment. He rarely analyses his account to see to what specific department of civic outlay the increase must be attributed. While he may have been in perfect accord with a heavy expenditure by the trustees and would on second or third thought sanction such again, it is the council and not the trustees whom he holds responsible for the addition to the load of his civic financial burdens.

The suggestion has frequently been made that the law be changed so as to place the trustees in the same relation to the people in the matter of civic finances as the council and giving the former power to submit its own bylaws with the sequent responsibility of these. We do not think that such a change will appear expedient. It would involve the opening of separate offices by the trustees; the employment of an accounting staff and other things which would materially increase the cost of administration. Moreover, the separation of the financial functions of trustees and council might confuse the ratepayer and cause him to lose sight of the trend of expenditure as a whole. Under the existing system the council and city treasurer act as an auditing and checking commission for the trustees and the whole financial machinery of the city passes under one review and made public in the treasurer's annual statement.

With a thorough understanding of the powers of the trustees and the limitations of the council and an ever present recollection of these we see no need for confusion to arise. It should also be remembered that a bylaw submitted at the request of the trustees is not necessarily a council's money bylaw nor does its submission indicate responsibility for it on the part of the council.

We do not wish to be understood as intimating that any member of the present council is opposed to the submission of the proposed bylaw as no such intimation has been made. We desire only to point out that the trustees have power under the Act to require the council to place a bylaw before the people. The latter are the final arbiters when money is to be spent.

THE BRITISH BUDGET

The wealthy aristocracy of England received a rude jolt during the last two weeks on the announcement being made of the increased taxation and succession duties proposed under the new budget. So radical are some of these that the epithet of "Socialistic" has been applied to the government and indeed, if they are carried out the levy upon the aristocratic spendthrift may well cause consternation. The empowering of the state to appropriate 27 per cent of the entire property of a millionaire in the event of his death invokes gruesome nightmares both for the ultra wealthy and their prospective heirs. Income taxes, stock exchange tax increase, a new tax on land values and an increase of 20 per cent on all increases in land values; an automobile tax of $200 with other luxuries in proportion makes a formidable array of assessments which not only grousches the wealthy but must bring the smile of partial contentment to the extremist who desires the extinction of the capitalist class.

The immediate effect of the announced increase in taxation has been, in a few instances, to cause the possessors of rich art and other treasures to dispose of these because of the heavy succession duties that will be entailed. The Duke of Norfolk accepted an American offer for the Holbein masterpiece on this account and it is rumored that many of the richest men in England will do the same. To sell art treasures so as to spend the cash during life would seem to be one of the ways of evading a state obligation.

A much more likely and sensible outcome of the new levy will probably be the looking to foreign countries for investments which can be made in the names of scions and offspring and the directing of large sums of hitherto unexploited capital into channels where it may do some good as in the development of colonial resources. The London bankers and others who float Government and other foreign loans state that the new tax on such transactions covers the entire margin between profit and loss and that such deals will hereafter go through Paris and New York.

So far as Canada is concerned a very slight revival in speculative and investing activities would give a boom to the country. That rich and enriching opportunities are awaiting investors need scarcely be pointed out, and, if as announced, it is the determination of English capitalists to use a large part of their money in developing some of these, the only care that need be exercised is to protect them from the clutches of wildcaters and unscrupulous stock brokers of the irresponsible type with which the country was a few years ago so numerously cursed. With this proviso the drifting of English capital to any part of the American continent cannot but improve industrial and commercial conditions in the whole.

SPYING OUT THE LAND

A carload of Winnipeg business men, part of the contingent that is now touring the west passed thru Revelstoke on Saturday night on their way to the coast spying out the land and incidentally enlisting the sympathies and getting the promises of co-operation and dollars to help exploit Winnipeg's dream of a World's Fair for 1912. The "Selkirk Centennial" is the patriotic memorial upon which the sentimental considerations of the occasion will be founded. As for the rest, it is a business matter and is being treated as such. Revelstoke, as usual, had the indulgence of twenty minutes of the time of the shrewd and alert men who constitute the party, while the train halted for a change of engines. The Council will hear later by circular letter for its interest in the gigantic undertaking.

The announcement which comes by cable from Australia that after the completion of his present tour of inspection and his return to England, General Lord Kitchener is to be made Director General of the British Army will be received with a feeling of satisfaction by all who have even a smattering knowledge of his distinguished career and unusual personality. A hero; a thorough soldier; a diplomat; a man of undaunted courage; cautious and now thoroughly familiar with the entire extent of forces and resources at the command of the British War department no one could be found to more fittingly fill the chair of director general and none whose head more deserves the crown.

Alphonse Verville, M.P., labor leader in Quebec, has again withdrawn his bill for an eight hour day on all government works from the House of Commons. He evidently yielded to the alleged force of the argument that an eight hour day on Government would cause confusion and discontent within the ranks of the workmen in the Provinces who have to work nine hours, and overlooked the argument eloquently pleaded that an eight hour day on federal works might afford an inspiring example to other employers of labor. It is difficult to resist the suspicion that labor leaders, when once they reach the cushioned seats and resonant halls of the House of Commons are amenable to influences which have not played upon them when on the hustings or in the councils of their fellows. Some of them apparently do not need to reach parliament before stringing the reins on which they rode into brief authority.

Why Christie's Biscuits are the best

GOOD BISCUITS are made by more than one or two manufacturers, and can be baked from any one of a few excellent brands of flour, but the Christie way is different.

The best millers in Canada ship us samples of their flour twice a year, or oftener. We test the samples and select the best brands for our purpose.

We blend the brands which we have proved best—keep on blending and testing by actual baking until we get a dough good enough to sustain, or better, the Christie reputation.

Every ounce of raw material is carefully analysed before it can pass into the mixing room.

The best sugar, pure, fresh creamery butter, new sweet milk and delicious cream—these pure ingredients mixed with our blend of flour, in the Christie scientific way, yields that delightful, appetising crispness and delicate flavor which has made avored above all other table dainties from ocean to ocean. Yes, Christie's are the best biscuits money can buy, yet they cost no more than just ordinary biscuits.

THE PHOENIX TUNNEL

How the Hole is Being Bored Under Mineral Hills

A remarkable machine is being used in boring the tunnel from Greenwood to tap the deep ore veins under the mountain between that city and Phoenix. It is called the Sigafos tunnelling machine and is described as follows:

The machine is 20 feet long, 8 feet in diameter and weighs 58,000 pounds. It consists of two frame heads, connected by a hollow 6 inch centre shaft and eight brace rods. There are ten pulverizing stamps, so arranged as to pulverize the whole breast of an 8-foot tunnel. The machine leaves no core. All the material is crushed fine enough to be flushed out by the streams of water which are constantly fed through pipes to the cutting face.

Each stamp consists of a 4 inch shaft, upon the front end of which is the stamp head. The total weight of the stamp-head and shaft is 1,720 pounds.

A revolving cam engages the tappet and draws the stamp back, compressing a powerful spring upon the stamp shaft, which springs back when released and produces a rotating grinding blow, varying from 200 to 4,000 lbs. Each stamp delivers from 80 to 200 blows a minute, varying with the speed of the machine.

Electric power is used to operate the device. The rate at which the machine advances is about 125 feet a day through the hardest rock, with correspondingly greater speed in softer varieties. With this machine and two men the work of 100 men can be done, and done far better than by the old method of drilling and blasting.

The machine bores a perfectly round smooth 8-foot tunnel. There is no blasting, no powder or fuse requisite, no disturbance of surrounding formations. The tunnel is also ventilated by the water, which is driven in under pressure and releases its air at the breast. Not only this, but the machine pulverizes the rock, ore, etc., and delivers it back through the pipe, mixed with water, all prepared for amalgamation or concentration. The stamp-mill is, therefore, where this machine is used, a thing unknown in the past.

In operation the machine constantly rotates, thus bringing the stampheads into contact with all parts of the breast.

The whole operation is automatic. Two men to watch the machine and the motor, repair possible damage and regulate the feed, can do the work of 100 men with the old-style methods. The Sigafos tunnel borer is, on the whole, one of the big epoch makers in the advance of man's conquests over nature.

Coldblooded But Legal

Bill Miner, Shorty Day and other hold-up men, who take their lives in their own hands when they rob a train, are merely amateur robbers when compared with some of the courts and some of the legal fraternity and the latter are in no danger of having the penitentiary gates yawning for them, remarks the Rossland Miner.

The Toronto Globe says that an estate of $50,000 has been wound up in Hamilton, Ont., and the law costs were $40,000. "No doubt," adds the Globe, "the legal principles involved and followed are adjusted to a nicety, and everything was from a professional standpoint, above criticism. But the public, who judge by results, will say the circumstance points to the needs of law reform."

Relieving widows and orphans of their valuables seems to be a comparatively easy and perfectly safe transaction when an estate gets into the probate department of some courts. The Hamilton case should be investigated by the criminal authorities of Ontario in the hope that the parties who took four-fifths of the estate might be landed in the penitentiary—Ex.

Inter-Provincial Conference

It is not improbable, says the Toronto Globe, that another inter-provincial conference may be held in Canada this year, probably in the early autumn.

While no official arrangements have been announced, it will be recalled that some months ago a dispatch was published from the west intimating that British Columbia purposed making a bid for the entertaining of the Provincial Premiers, and it is regarded as not unlikely that the meeting will be held in the capital of the far western province. Many matters of importance are likely to be dealt with at the conference, the outstanding business being a united definition as to the jurisdiction of the provinces. The reference in the prorogation speech of Ontario's Lieut.-Governor to the desirability of securing "a permanent understanding" is believed to be in contemplation of some such united inter-provincial action.

Watch for our Friday and Saturday bargains in boys' clothing.

PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION

Alberta Preparing for Big Event Next July

The province of Alberta is making unusual efforts to place its forthcoming provincial exhibition at Calgary in the very forefront rank of provincial shows. The exhibition is to be held at Calgary from July 5 to 10 inclusive and the citizens of Calgary are putting their shoulders to the wheel in their usually energetic manner. In their endeavors to make the Fair as widespread in its influence as possible and in order to make its features as educative respecting the resources of the country as possible, the co-operation of Revelstoke and other British Columbia cities is being sought.

Last year the Revelstoke portion of the Dominion Exposition at Calgary was one of the most attractive of the sectional displays and did much to place the products of the city and district in the full glare of big advertisement.

The material advantages of co-operation with Alberta in the matter of an exhibit can scarcely be reckoned as it is from the country tributary to the city over the hills that much of the market for B.C. fruit may be expected. While the big Seattle exposition will no doubt attract a large number of visitors from the interior of British Columbia, this will in no way detract from the interest that will be maintained in the provincial shows. Let the city play its part wisely in the forthcoming display.

The Copper Handbook

[A REVIEW]

Volume VIII (1908) of the Copper Handbook, published by Horace J. Stevens, who has reached the position of a foremost authority on all questions dealing with the mining, refining and marketing of copper, has reached this office. To those who are familiar with Mr. Stevens' former publications under this title it will be sufficient to say that the present volume is in every way a masterpiece on the subject matters treated. It is much larger than previous editions and is as fully up to date in its treatment of the various mines as any of its predecessors notwithstanding the considerable additional matter that had to be reviewed.

To those unfamiliar with the former volumes it may be said that the Copper Handbook is a complete compendium on every subject associated with even the thought of copper beginning with the history of that metal and dealing exhaustively with its chemistry, geology, mineralogy, mining, milling and concentration, substitutes for and the uses of. Following these is a comprehensive description of the copper deposits of the various countries where the metal is found while following this is an alphabetical list of the copper mines of the world with a complete statement of the present condition and commercial status of each. This list, as may be surmised, is of great length, but in no part does it give evidence of careless work or unauthoritative statement. This chapter takes up 1,185 pages of the book and deals with some 6,757 properties.

It has been completely re-written since the earlier editions. The book is a valuable addition to any library, but more especially to those desiring technical information of the sort afforded. The selling price of the volume is $5, in a strong buckram binding and their selling plan is unique as the book is sent to anyone ordering it from any part of the world without a penny in advance, the publisher even prepaying postal charges. The purchaser is allowed a week for inspection of the volume, after which its return, if unsatisfactory is accepted in full payment of the same. Otherwise a remittance of $5 covers the cost. Anyone interested in copper or in copper shares will find the volume invaluable as an inspection of its contents will conclusively demonstrate. The address of the publisher is 558 Sheldon Building, Houghton, Mich., U.S.A.

Seattle Caterers Enter Combine to Play Fair

SEATTLE, Wash., May 12.—Visitors at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, which opens at Seattle June 1 and closes October 16, will be able to dine to their satisfaction at the city's leading cafes and restaurants at normal prices. To leave no doubt as to the working out of this commendable spirit on the part of Seattle's caterers they recently met and voted as a body an agreement binding all restaurants, cafes, grill and hotel men to maintain the present prices throughout the exposition time, and no member of the organization to which the caterers belong will be allowed to take advantage of the opportunity to reap additional profits as has been done, despite protests, in previous exposition cities.

To the hired help must be given much of the credit for the continuance of low prices. Waiters, cooks and helpers of all kinds have entered into an agreement that the present scale of wages shall not be tampered with during the Fair.

Satisfied With Budget

During the budget debate in the House of Commons Mr. Lloyd-George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said the Government had every reason to be satisfied with the reception of the budget. Commercial centres did not seem to be affected by it. Even ex-Premier Balfour, the acutest Parliamentary critic of the present generation, did not say a word against three-fourths of the proposals. The Chancellor cites foreign instances in justification of high taxes and licenses especially in the United States, while New York State, he said, specially taxed land values. He declared that the budget proposals would result in 1910 in a substantial surplus, which would be appropriated to pay the inevitably largely increased naval bill.

INSPECTION OF MILITARYCol. Holmes Well Pleased With Corps of R.M.R.

The annual inspection of the members composing "E" Co. R.M.R. was held in the Drill Hall on Monday night. Col. Holmes putting the men through their paces and pronouncing the result highly complimentary to the company.

Thirty-four out of the forty members constituting the company were in attendance with their uniforms spotlessly brushed and their weapons in good condition. His Worship Mayor Lindmark was present to witness the inspection as an evidence of his keen interest and encouragement of the men.

Col. Holmes, after the more serious business was over, congratulated the members of the company on their efficiency and while he was not desirous of throwing bouquets needlessly, expressed himself as highly satisfied with the results of the evening's work.

He was pleased to see the mayor of the city take a lively interest in the welfare of the company. The men themselves consider that the inspection of last Monday was the best from every point of view yet held in the city.

An announcement was made by Col. Holmes which was of great interest to the officers of the company to the effect that a military school is to be held in Revelstoke in a little over a month. At this school the officers will take full instruction in the course provided by the military department for this work. The officers of the local company are Capt. Smith, First Lieut. Hart, 2nd Lieut. Grant, Junior Subaltern Sawyer.

Police Court

A neighbors' feud was aired in the police court on Tuesday morning a couple of families on First street becoming involved into the quarrels of their respective children. Fred Fleetman was charged with trespassing on his neighbor's property and with using offensive language. The respective stories as told to the court showed that there had been bad blood between the houses for some time, though in a sense the matter of the complaint was trivial enough. The majesty of the law was upheld by the imposition of a fine of $1.00 and costs the defendant being told that he had violated the criminal code by resisting citation from his neighbor's house. The offensive language was denied. W. W. Foster, Police Magistrate, warned the parties in the case that such squabbles should be settled out of court and if necessary the intervention of the chief of police could always be secured.
