WINS PRIZES AT KAMLOOPS

Revelstoke Representative Wins First in Doubles and Second in Singles

J. D. Sibbald, Jr., returned on Monday from Kamloops where he had been playing in the Kamloops tennis tournament. He brought home with him a pearl stick pin, the first prize in the men's doubles and a shaving glass, the second prize in the men's singles.

In the men's doubles Mr. Sibbald's partner was R. H. Fortune of Salmon Arm. In the finals they met Styer and Lusk and won 6-4, 7-5, 6-3.

In the finals of the men's singles for the Roper cup Mr. Sibbald played against F. Temple Cornwall of Kamloops, Mr. Cornwall winning 6-3, 6-1, 1-6, 8-6.

The visitors to the tournament were hospitably entertained by the Kamloops club, dances were given in their honor and no effort to make their visit pleasant was ommitted. On his return Mr. Sibbald motored with Mr. Fortune from Kamloops to Salmon Arm making the rest of the journey by train.

Call for Fifty Thousand More Troops

The return of Sir Robert Borden and Sir Sam Hughes, it is believed at Ottawa, will be signalled for a call for 50,000 additional men for overseas service. The Dominion Premier and Minister of Militia have been at the front, have seen the conditions noted the deeds and conferred with the British government, and it is the opinion of those who are in a position to know here that as a result of these conferences with Lord Kitchener and other British leaders Canada will be called upon to furnish additional reinforcements to the extent of at least 50,000 men. The call for twelve new battalions, which are to be sent to England immediately, indicated the demand for men and that the Imperial authorities have made known to the Dominion government a new offensive movement this fall, which will make heavy demands for reinforcements.

While it is not thought that any definite arrangements have been made as to what part Canada will play in this movement, it is believed that another division will be authorized. This would give Canada three full divisions at the front, with a reinforcement base in England. The first division has been in France eyer since February under the command of Gen. Alderson. The second division is in England, and is expected to cross the channel any day now. It is commanded by Gen. Turner. If a third division is formed it will give Canada a full army corps.

Including the ten thousand men on garrison duty in Canada, the Dominion has now under arms approximately 150,000 men. When the twelve new battalions reach England there will be roughly 100,000 men under arms in Europe, 50,000 in training in Canada, 10,000 men in Bermuda, 500 men at St. Lucia British West Indies, a medical corp at Cairo, consisting of three stationary hospitals and 10,000 in Canada, garrisoning Halifax, Quebec, Esquimalt and guarding Canadian elevators, patrolling the western boundary and on duty at internment camps. With the additional 50,000 reinforcements Canada will have within a couple of months a splendidly equipped and trained army of over 200,000. If there is a call for reinforcements, the military authorities anticipate no difficulty in getting the men. They state recruiting during the last few weeks has been brisker than for months. In fact, not since the outbreak of war has there been such enthusiasm and such a deluge of men willing to don khaki. With harvesting over and winter approaching and many industries of certain lines somewhat slack it is believed that any number of men will be available.

Blairmore council has turned down the request of the town hotels for a reduction in the water rates.

Austro-German overtures for a separate peace with Russia were begun at the end of March, according to the London 'Star,' which quotes telegrams it says were taken from an Italian green book, said to have been published a few days ago.

DANCE CLUB IN AID OF PATRIOTIC FUND

Commencing on Friday, Sept. 10, the Patriotic Dance club will hold fortnightly dances in the Masonic assembly rooms, First street, dancing to commence at 9 o'clock. The Revelstoke city band will be in attendance. Capt. R. H. Sawyer and Robt. Gordon compose the committee in charge of arrangements. The dances will last until midnight only, and a charge of fifty cents each for ladies and gentlemen will make it easy to to combine patriotism with pleasure.

Through the kindness of the members of the City band and the Masonic hall committee, a goodly proportion of the receipts will go to the Canadian Patriotic fund, even should the attendance on any night not be large. This effort deserves the full support of the public, for the Canadian Patriotic fund now needs all the assistance it can get in its enormous task, and its requirements are increasing monthly.

Cattle and Crop Inspected by Visitors

A visit to the ranch of Rev. J. C. Calder was made on Thursday afternoon by a party consisting of J. B. Harkin, Commissioner of Dominion parks, Mayor W. A. Foote, A. McRae, A. B. McCleneghan, F. B. Wells, W. J. Coulthard, Capt. Palmer and Lieut. Swinford. An inspection of Mr. Calder's herd of thoroughbred Ayrshire cattle and of a remarkably heavy crop of corn was made. The corn will be harvested about Sept. 16 and on Sept. 9 the construction of a silo for converting the corn into winter feed will be commenced under the supervision of an expert from the provincial department of agriculture.

Mr. Calder has received a postcard Corp. W. Shuttlewood of the Base hospital staff in which he says: "I have passed thousands of acres of corn but have seen no crops looking as well as yours. Even at the government farm at Aggassiz the corn was far shorter."

Major Arnold Grant Kemball, C.B. has been given the rank of lieutenant-colonel and will command the 54th Kootenay battalion in succession to Lieut.-Col. W. M. REVELSTOKE Y.M.C.A. IS WELL REPRESENTED AT FRONT

The following list of names of those members of the Y.M.C.A., who have enlisted for active service shows how well the local members of the Y.M.C.A. have responded to the call of the empire. A number of these are at present in the training camp at Vernon and the south of England. While a large percentage have seen active service in the trenches since the beginning of the war. One of the past active workers was killed in the early part of the year, in the person of John Boyle, who was only eighteen years of age. He took great interest in the Sunday afternoon meetings, being violinist in the orchestra.

Wounded Soldier Will Return to Front

Private Sharp of the overseas draft from the Vernon camp arrived in the city last night. He enlisted in Cranbrook and was in the fight at Hill 60 where he was wounded in the leg. He also took pneumonia and was invalided home. He will return to the front with the next draft from the Vernon camp.

The will of the late E. C. Walker, of Walkerville, Ont., filed for probate in Essex County Surrogate Court, disposes of an estate of $4,126,000, and is said to be the largest in volume and value ever probated in Ontario.

TELEPHONE LINE TO CAMP IN OPERATION

The military guards at the alien internment camp are expecting the arrival of the first detachment of aliens from Vernon by every train. The arrival of the aliens was expected on Monday and again yesterday. One hundred will come from Vernon and 125 from Brandon.

Everything at the camp is ready for the reception of the aliens. Tents for the military guard were taken up the mountain yesterday and the troops are now under canvas. The bunk houses erected for the accommodation of the aliens were used by the troops until last night.

Capt. Rose of Kelowna arrived in the city last night and will relieve Capt. Wain as camp commandant. Capt. Wain will remain until the end of the week when he will return to Kamloops. Lieut. A. Grant has been appointed camp adjutant.

Guards are mounted and the military routine of the camp is in full operation. The sound of the bugle as guards are changed can be heard distinctly in the city.

Under the supervision of F. E. Maunder, park superintendent, a telephone to the camp has been erected and is now in operation.

The army service corps, under the command of Lieut. Swinford, has been busily engaged in transporting supplies to the camp on the mountain. The building next to H. Manning's store is being renovated and will be used as quarters for the corps.

Agricultural Buildings as Aliens' Winter Camp

An inspection of the Agricultural society's buildings and grounds, with the object of ascertaining whether they would be suitable for housing aliens during the winter months was made on Thursday afternoon by Capt. Palmer and Lieut. Swinford, who were accompanied by J. B. Harkin, Commissioner of Dominion parks, Mayor W. A. Foote, A. McRae, A. B. McCleneghan, W. J. Coulthard and F. B. Wells. That the buildings with some adaptation could be converted into convenient barracks for both aliens and military guards was the general opinion.

Kelowna Responds to Call of Empire

Capt. Rose of Kelowna who arrived in the city last night to take command of the alien internment camp in the Revelstoke park in civil life is the editor of the Kelowna Record. Kelowna and district have responded freely to the call of duty since the outbreak of the war, says Capt. Rose. Over 500 residents of the city and district, or over 10 per cent. of the population, have joined the colors in some branch of the service. One consequence is that business conditions in Kelowna are somewhat quiet at the present time. The fruit crop is heavy and the price of apples good and the returns from the fruit crop will be satisfactory. Kelowna's apples are noted for their fine quality, and command a ready market, says Capt. Rose.

Gives Eloquent Address on Canadian Ideals

Taking as her subject "Canadian Ideals," Mrs. Nellie McClung, the well known Canadian authoress and temperance advocate, gave an eloquent address in Masonic hall on Monday evening under the auspices of the Women's Canadian Club.

The address, which was mainly a fervent appeal in favor of prohibition of the liquor trade, scintillated with humor and was listened to with deep attention by a large audience which frequently applauded the sentiments of the speaker.

Every country, said Mrs. McClung, had its own characteristics and Canada was no exception. It was at present in process of formation and because of this a tremendous responsibility rests upon Canadians as a people, just as the first family that arrived in a community set the pace for generations yet unborn.

When the war in Europe is over the people in that land will cast longing eyes on Canada, her fertile valleys and wide prairies and Canada will rise to the occasion and open her arms to them, and this will be "the land of the second chance, the land of beginning again." If Canadians could look ahead one hundred years they would be filled with awe at the responsibilty in making ideals for Canada.

The speaker then mentioned the prejudice that still lurked in some men's minds regarding woman as a speaker or voter. She believed that if the German woman had a say in the government of that country there would have been no war. This great war of machine guns, slaying innocent women and children was like the liquor traffic which also makes innocent people suffer, she said.

Mrs. McClung spoke of the interest which women had in the prohibition of liquor selling. The argument that prohibition meant loss of revenue she declared to be both false and mean and she attacked the argument that prohibition meant curtailment of personal liberty, saying that there was no such thing as personal liberty at the present stage of civilization. The adoption of prohibition would doubtless mean some loss of employment, the speaker admitted, but so had the invention of the sewing machine. Alberta had gone 'dry,' and Mrs. McClung urged her hearers to help to make British Columbia "dry," so that no liquor could be imported into Alberta from the neighboring province.

The chair was taken by Mrs. H. N. Coursier, president of the Women's Canadian Club, who introduced the speaker in a brief and appropriate address and also explained the objects of the club.

Before commencing the address on her main theme Mrs. McClung recited humorously some lines of poetry of her own composition which caused much amusement. A handsome bouquet of roses was presented to the speaker by Mrs. S. G. Robbins.

The farmers of the United States are, according to the department of agriculture, harvesting the greatest wheat crop ever grown in any one country, and which may reach a billion bushels. The department experts last week estimated the crop at 966,000,000 bushels, basing their calculations on the condition of the crop on August 1. Bumper harvests of other cereals and food crops are indicated.

A GOOD APPOINTMENT

The appointment of Col. Kemball, C. B., to the command of the fifty-fourth battalion will meet with general approval. On the surrender of the command of the battalion by Lieut.-Col. W. M. Davis, who will organize a regiment of pioneers in eastern Canada, Col. Kemball became the senior officer of the battalion. He is well qualified to assume command. He saw much service in India, where before retiring, he commanded a Gurka regiment, and at Vernon he has done good service as second in command of the 54th battalion, and has won the confidence and esteem of all ranks. The government has reconized his qualifications and ability by appointing him to the command of the battalion. Col. Kemball, whose home is near Kaslo, is in every respect a worthy representative of Kootenay and under his command the Kootenay battalion may be relied upon to give a good account of itself, both in face of the Germans and during the trying days of preparation for the goal to which every member of the battalion looks forward.

TRAINING FOR PEACE

Much has been said of the transformation that war has wrought in Great Britain and France, and to a greater or less extent in all the other belligerent nations. Under our own eyes there has been wrought an equally wonderful transformation in the young men who have volunteered for active service. It has made men out of boys, it has brought back to the vigor of youth men who were on the verge of middle age, and in all of them it has inculcated or intensified habits that go to the making of character. Most of us must have seen pallid striplings after six months military training transformed into bronzed, athletic men, who apart from the hazards of war would seem to have added years to their natural expectancy of life. The outer transformation is more apparent than the inward one, but is not more marked. Scores of thousands of young Canadians have been brought for the first time since childhood, perhaps, under discipline. They have been trained to obey. They have been taught that neatness, order and cleanliness, prompt and cheerful obedience are qualities essential in a soldier, and when the war is over and they lay off their uniforms they will not also put aside the habits that have been formed in them, but will carry them into civil life, where they will be found not less valuable than in the army.

Those who have been taught to obey, says the Toronto Mail and Empire, have mastered the first lesson for the higher duty of commanding others and we shall be very much surprised if some of the officers who come scatheless through this war, when they resume their places in the civilian population, will not develop into leaders of commerce and industry. Officers and men alike will have undergone an invaluable discipline. They will have learned to deny themselves, to meet misfortune and disaster cheerfully and confidently, to persevere in the face of seemingly hopeless obstacles, to accept defeat without losing heart, and to achieve victory without boasting. So while our soldiers are preparing themselves for war they are also preparing themselves for peace, and they will find that the training and suffering which they are now undergoing, and which they must continue to undergo as long as the war shall last, are assets which they will turn to their own account and to the account of the country not less in time of peace than in time of war.

The news that the Fifty-fourth battalion is to go forward as a unit will afford much pleasure to the members of the battalion and will give general satisfaction in Kootenay. The people of Kootenay take deep interest and no little pride in the battalion which bears the name of Kootenay and there would have been general regret if military exigencies had necessitated the loss of its identity.

So far from modern inventions making wood less necessary they increase the demands upon our forests. This is brought out in a bulletin of the Dominion Forestry branch on poles and cross-ties which has just been prepared by the branch and is now in the hands of the printer. With the extension of telegraph and telephone lines thousands of poles are used and each mile of railway means the need of thousands more cross-ties. The demand for these two commodities is very irregular in Canada as the bulletin indicates and explains. The different kinds of wood employed where grown and where used are described. The bulletin will be issued shortly and anyone interested may secure a copy free, or information in the meantime upon any special point, by writing the Director of Forestry, Ottawa.

FROM THE SANCTUMS

EVEN LIBERALS COMMEND

Victoria Times (Liberal) :—The news of the distinction conferred upon Canada's Minister of Militia by the King was favorably received throughout the Dominion, where Sir Sam has widespread personal popularity.

FORTITUDE

Pall Mall Gazette—Fortitude is an active as well as passive virtue. If we have it, we shall cease all the recrimination for the past and press forward to the mark of our high calling—the deliverance of Europe. We shall realize that affairs, temporarily, at any rate, are not in accordance with our hopes; we shall provide men, and shells, ever more shells, and we shall complete the organization of our resources without delay. Moreover, we shall not stickle by the method by which our requirements are met, but we shall obey the directions of our responsible leaders with soldierly promptitude and in soldierly silence.

EFFORTS BRING RESULTS

Kamloops Standard—The efforts of R. F. Green, M. P., on behalf of the zinc industry of British Columbia and the protection of the empire against the foreign control of an essential material for munition making have resulted in the decision of the federal government to assure by the bonus plan a sufficient price for the refined metal to permit the operation at a fair profit of plants for the treatment of the ore. It is stated that the shell commission has guaranteed to pay during the war a price for zinc which would cover the cost of installation of the equipment providing that the war is not over before July 31, 1917. If the war should end before that time the bonus would become operative to the extent of increasing the price received for Canadian zinc up to the figure necessary to pay for plant and a small profit. The bonus plan has given stability to the lead mining industry of British Columbia and there is no reason for doubt as to its achieving its purpose in the case of zinc.

AT THE THEATRES

It is seldom that two such pictures as "The Lily of Poverty Flat" and "The Quest" are shown in the same theatre in one week. Not only are both pictures exceptional offerings from a general standpoint, but, although the stories are entirely different, both pictures are remarkable for their scenic beauty. The former for today and tomorrow shows the beauty spots of California and the latter, for Friday and Saturday, the natural splendors of the island of Santa Cruz. Both are booked for the Rex. An extra attraction for Thursday night is a repetition of the chorus and dance, "You're Some Girl," as given at the Red Cross Soiree on Monday of last week.

Mary Fuller, in A Witch of Salem Town in 2 parts, is the feature at the Empress theatre tonight. Also will be seen the following: In Father's Footsteps, An Angel of the Camp, Nothing Ever Happens Right, comedy, and Universal Weekly showing war scenes, Boy Scouts of Canada, the Australian cruiser that sank the Emden, and many others. On Thursday Jess L. Lasky presents Edgar Selwyn's famous Broadway success The Country Boy, in 5 acts, with Marshal Neilan, another fine Paramount feature. Amateur night, three acts, also Scottish dances by one of the finest little dancers in British Columbia. Drawing for free tickets for children. On Friday When Brains are needed, a detective drama Fate's Alibi, Warren Kerrigan in the Silent Witness, 2 parts. Billy Reeves' first appearance, Counting Out the Count, a great comedy. On Saturday Pauline Bush and Wm. Clifford When Love is Love. When Cupid Crossed the Bay, comedy, Her Brother and Broardsy Feature Checkers. On Sunday evening the Musical Eckhardts will put on a sacred concert, a percentage of which will go to the Prisoners of War fund. Monday, The Black Box. Tuesday, The Governor's Lady, 5 reels, with Edith Mathison. Coming, The Harmony Saxophone Quartette with actual war pictures. Shrapnel used in the present war will be on view in the theatre lobby.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The following prices f.o.b. Ford, Ont., effective Aug. 2, 1915

FORD RUNABOUT	$480.00
FORD TOURING CAR	$530.00
FORD TOWN CAR	$780.00

No speedometer included in this year's equipment, otherwise cars fully equipped.

There can be no assurance given against an advance in these prices at any time. We guarantee, however, that there will be no reduction in these prices prior to Aug. 1, 1916.

Profit-Sharing With Retail Buyers

On August 1, 1914 we made the announcement that if we could make and sell at retail 30,000 Ford cars between August 1, 1914 and August 1, 1915 we would share profits with the retail purchasers. We have sold only 18,774 Ford cars in the time specified and, therefore, are unable to share our profits with those who purchased Ford cars between the above dates.

Our plan to profit-share with retail purchasers of Ford cars during 1914-1915 was not successful due to conditions which we could not possibly foresee at the time we made our annnouncement last August. The war and the consequent unsettled conditions of business seriously affected our sales and increased our manufacturing costs so that during the last year we did not earn a profit not required for the normal expansion of our business both in a manufacturing and service way.

However we still have confidence in our profit sharing plan, but a realization of the uncertainty of conditions generally makes it advisable to defer any announcement of future profit-sharing until a later date.

We are, however, positive we cannot reduce costs for several months, and therefore can offer no profit-sharing for cars delivered during August, September and October, 1915.

Germans Made Study of Machine Guns

Discussing machine guns The Army and Navy Gazette says:

"Some enthusiastic statistician has estimated that on the German front, from the channel to the borders of Switzerland, we and our allies now are confronted by some 400,000 machine guns of different models. This means that there is rather more than one machine gun for every forty men, taking the enemy's number in the west at one and a half million, or one machine gun for every twenty-five yards of front. We have no means of knowing whether this estimate is or is not substantially correct, but we do know that Germany entered upon this war with a more correct idea than any of her opponents then possessed of the possibilities of those guns under certain conditions of warfare, with a very much larger number of them per thousand bayonets than either the British or the French had, and with an enormous reserve in Germany gradually transferred to advanced bases at convenient places along the front.

"In the April number of the Cornhill there was a very illuminating article on "German machine guns in the trenches," and in the introduction to this, contributed by Lord Sydenham, he enumerated several surprises which the enemy had prepared for our undoing, and while pointing out how many of these had failed in whole or in part to produce the moral and material results which had been hoped for, he was compelled to admit that in the handling and tactics of machine guns, however, the Germans had been under no delusion and had elevated these weapons almost into a new arm. They have employed these guns in very large numbers and with great effect, and since the German retreat ceased on the Aisne and the long protracted phase of trench warfare began, machine guns have been so used to inflict upon us a very heavy loss and to bring to a standstill some of our most carefully prepared and boldly executed attacks.

STUDY OF SUBJECT

"Since the cessation of the war in the far east the Germans have made a special study equally of the mechanics and of the tactics of the machine gun; they introduced a very light model of the weapon; and they intrusted the handling of it to experts. They have used it for high-class sniping, both by day and by night; they have employed machine guns to enfilade their first line trenches, so as to "wipe out" any attack which may overwhelm its defenders; they have used them in concealment in rear and with great boldness well to the front in the firing lines; while in the offensive-defensive the guns have been used to produce the fire effect of large reinforcements at critical moments. In fact, as has been truthfully observed, the Germans use their machine guns, not merely as a weapon of opportunity, but as one that creates its opportunities, and, perhaps, it is not overstating the case to say that, while we hold our trenches with infantry, the Germans hold theirs with guns and maxims, so that while their ordinary daily wastage is less, comparitively, than ours, they are able to transfer their infantry without excessive risk, and to reinforce threatened or weakened sections of their line.

"We have of late greatly augmented the number of machine guns with our troops and are supplying better and lighter models; we are doing much at home and in the field itself to increase the mechanical and tactical skill of our machine gunners; and though we may not be able, and probably, do not intend, to increase the number of these weapons up to one per every forty men, we may remember that the machine gun is after all a weapon rather of defence than offence, and that from the time when the present siege warfare comes to an end, much of the war value of the machine gun will have fallen away from it."
