REVELSTOKE DISTRICT ROAD AND TRAIL WORK UNDERWAY

Much Repair Work Being Done—Big Bend Mining road Extended—Opening up of Trails to Mining Properties—New Bridge for Montana Creek

Much roadwork throughout the Province, including the Revelstoke district, has been done so far this year and more is under way. A great deal of the work in this district has been taken up with repairs to the various roads already completed and in the opening up of trails to the different mining properties.

There has been a great deal of construction work done on the Big Bend road, and it is expected that before fall the road will be extended to a point 14 miles from Revelstoke.

Four miles of new roads are being built south of Revelstoke to the various 40 acre sub-divisions, which will give the settlers splendid facilities to develop their properties.

A new trail 3½ miles in length, which is at present under construction and which leads to the Benair group of mines in the Camborne district, will prove a boon to development work. These properties have recently been taken over by Mr. Darragh, who is awaiting the completion of the trail to take in stamping machinery.

Much bridge work is contemplated for the fall, among which will be a new bridge over Montana Slough, 4 miles south of Revelstoke. Much river bank protection work has been done and the balance will be completed this fall along the Illecillewaet river.

In accordance with the policy of Hon. Lorne Campbell, Minister of Mines, aiming to give all the assistance possible to prospectors, the department of Public Works has made a speciality of cleaning out and making new trails to the different mining properties. This entails considerable work, as many of the trails have not been used in some instances for many years.

Considerable repair work has been done on the Trout Lake road, and a diversion will be made to eliminate the part of the steep hill near Burton City. Two miles of the Greeley Creek road is also being reconstructed.

ANOTHER TREAT IN REVELSTOKE

'In Sunny France' to be Staged Here in aid of Red Cross—Has Met With Great success in Other Cities

Another treat is in store for the public of Revelstoke when, next Thursday and Friday nights, under the auspices of the Red Cross society, entertainments will be staged, under the direction of Wilson Macdonald. Mr. Macdonald has been staging this production, "In Sunny France," in many of Canada's cities, and has been the means of the raising of many hundreds of dollars for Red Cross work. The Kamloops Red Cross Guild cleared $178.00 on the entertainment given in that town.

There will be seventy Revelstoke ladies and children in the cast, and rehearsing is going on steadily from early morning until late at night. Miss Phyllis Parker of Salmon Arm, who has already appeared in eight of Mr. Macdonald's plays, will take a leading role.

The Kelowna press has the following to say with reference to an entertainment given in that city.

"In spite of the disaster which for the last sixteen months or so has overwhelmed pert of northern France, it is almost impossible to think of that country without picturing it as a land of mirth and sunshine, as a country in which music and dance enter into the lives of the people, bred by pleasure and beauty of environment. It was no doubt partly owing to this that everyone in Kelowna looked forward last week to seeing Mr. Wilson Macdonald's musical comedy "In Sunny France," the fascinating title alone conjuring up an evening of light and mirthful pleasure. Certainly no one was disappointed, and from the large audiences which crowded the Opera House on both Wednesday and Thursday evenings nothing but the warmest admiration was to be heard. Indeed, the play is most appropriate to the title, sparkling songs, simple yet graceful dances witty dialogues, came tumbling one after another from the artists in such profusion that the audience might be said to have exhibited 'one long smile' which lasted right through the performance.

"When it is remembered that every song, every dance, every note of the dialogue, is the product of the brain of Wilson Macdonald, some slight idea is gained of the creative and varied genius of this gifted and painstaking man who can come into town a complete stranger and can, in two to three weeks, train sixty children and adults in song and dance so that their presence upon the stage is a delight to even the severest critic."

Grand Forks council has refused the request of the hotelmen for a reduction in the license fee. The aldermen's salaries have been cut $50.

PERSONAL ABUSE, AND MISREPRESENTION MAIN FEATURES OF LIBERAL PROGRAMME

Will Protest Against Methods of Campaining used by Mr.Macdonald and Mr. Brewster—Make Repeated Misrepresentions of Facts and Ommissions of Half the Truth—Attempt to Mislead Audiences

After carefully reading the speeches of the Liberal Leaders, delivered during the present campaign, and also the editorials in the Victoria Times The Week has come to the conclusion that the Liberal party has been unfairly criticized. It has been charged by the Conservative press and the Conservative speakers with having no programme and no policy. This is an unjust accusation. No one can follow the campaign with an impartial mind without arriving at the conclusion that the Liberal party as represented by its leaders and its press has a very definite policy, and a very specific programme. When one finds a single principle running through all its utterances and finds that principle asserted and re-asserted on every occasion, over-shadowing every other topic, it must be concluded that this principle is an obsession with those who so constantly set it forth. Its prominence and its frequent reiteration demonstrates to a certainty that it looms bigger in their minds than any other plank in their platform, or any other phase of their policy. In his address at Anyox on Monday last Mr. Brewster in so many words said that the Premier was a liar. In his speech at Terrace on Saturday, Mr. Brewster put it to his audience that the Premier was a liar, asking the question, according to the Times report: "Can you believe any statement of Mr. Bowser's?" It surely has come to a pretty pass if a man who has risen to the highest position in the Province and has always held a reputation for honesty and truthfulness is to be branded by the leader of the Liberal party as a man who cannot make one true statement. Mr. M. A. Macdonald followed in his leader's footsteps and actually had the assurance to state that when the Vancouver "plugging" case was thoroughly investigated it would be found that the money which was paid to J. D. Scott, and which he disbursed, "came from Bowserite circles." Mr. Macdonald made this statement in spite of the fact that he had testified under oath before the Committee of the House that he himself was chairman of the Liberal committee which had hired and paid J. T. Scott, and that under Scott's supervision, that committee had maintained and paid a spy in the Committee Rooms of the Conservative Association. Further Mr. Brewster and Mr. Macdonald, in spite of the proved activities of the Liberal machine in Vancouver, raised a great hullabaloo at both these meetings about "smashing the machine." It was an "iniquity," and it had to be "smashed," but neither Mr. Brewster nor Mr. Macdonald had the fairness to point out that the organization which is called "the Machine" is exactly the same in both political parties. It is based on the system of primaries; it has the same Ward Committees, Executive, Chairmen and Secretary; it has the same system of delegation to the Central Executive and to nominating Conventions. In fact its constitution is absolutely identical. If it is a bad system and should be "smashed," the treatment is required just as much, to say the least of it, in the Liberal as in the Conservative party. Then a little further on Mr. Brewster declared: "The curse of this country is the patronage system. We cannot have a patronage system rampant and have a healthy or honest condition in politics. So intimately is patronage interwoven with Bowserism that I have known them to attempt to rob the Church. If I am chosen to form a Government I will not stop till the whole accursed system is wiped out." Again, if Mr. Brewster had not intended to mislead his audience, why did he not inform them that at the last session of Parliament, Sir George Foster speaking on behalf of the Conservative Government, offered on the floor of the House to meet Sir Wilfrid Laurier half way in the abolition of patronage, and that Sir Wilfred made no response whatever. Why did he not have the fairness to tell his audience that in December, 1914, the late Mr. Duncan Ross, appearing before three distribution Commissioners as the representative of the Victoria Liberal Association, replying to a question from Mr. Justice Morrison declared that the Liberal party was not opposed to the principle of patronage, he admitted that it had to be recognized (vide report in Victoria Daily Times). Now these personal attacks and these repeated misrepresentations of fact and omissions of half the truth on the part both of Mr. Brewster and Mr. Macdonald, clearly indicate a concerted plan and the deliberate selection from among the various weapons which may lie in the Liberal armoury of that of personal abuse, vituperation and misrepresentation, as the main features of the Liberal Programme and the Liberal policy. They spend most of their time in talking on these topics. They do so in an "ad captandum" style which excludes evidence and argument, and which is intended to impress the man who does not pause to think or to investigate for himself. The Victoria Times is a worthy mouthpiece for the same policy. Whenever it touches a political subject it follows the same lines, which was never better illustrated than in the case of the new Finance Minister, Hon. Alexander Stewart, a man whom all Victorians respect, and who whatever his political views, has an unblemished record in public and private life. Up to a week ago he was all that was noble and worthy, even in the eyes of the Times. Today he could hardly be spoken of in more opprobrious terms if he were a scoundrel or a pickpocket. In its editorial announcing his acceptance of an honorable and important office, it compared him with men who had made public office a bye-word and a reproach throughout Canada; and it had the execrable taste to declare that it ought to apologise not to Mr. Stewart, but to the others for doing so. The Week is not going to follow the lead of the Colonist, and protest against this method of campaigning; the Times has a perfect right to select its own methods, and the longer it continues to indulge in the method which it has followed for the last thirteen years, the more certain it is that men who have any self-respect left will refuse to follow a lead which is as contemptible as it is obviously dishonest.

ROYAL PARTY IN REVELSTOKE

Weather Perfect — Presention —Duke Plants Post—Tea at old Internment Camp

Space in this issue does not allow a detailed account of the visit of His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught and party, the following is a brief account of what transpired while the Royal party were in the city.

Notwithstanding the fact that the weather yesterday forenoon was very threatening, the afternoon was perfect. Promptly at 2.10 p.m. the Royal train drew into the depot and was met by the committee in charge of the Royal visit. After a presentation of flowers by the ladies of Revelstoke the party entered the waiting automobiles and were taken up the automobile road to the end of construction, where His Royal Highness placed a post (elevation 3921 feet). The party then started down the hill and stopped at the road camp (old internment camp) and were entertained by the men working on the road, tea being served. The table was beautifully decorated with wild flowers gathered by the men. C. A. Procunier had charge of the arrangements.

Presentations were made by the various local organizations, a full account of which will appear in a future issue.

After the presentations the party returned to the depot, where the Duke inspected the cadets and the boy scouts, one of the scouts presenting him with a basket of mountain trout.

NO SQUATTERS SETTLED ON BEND ROAD

Are all Bona-fide Settlers—Park Boundary Will be run as close to City Limits as Possible

A meeting of considerable interest to the public of Revelstoke was held in the City Hall on Thursday night to consider the South and West boundaries of the Revelstoke National Park.

P. C. B. Hervey, Superintendent of Dominion Parks, represented the Dominion Government Parks Branch; T. J. Wadman, Dominion Land Agent represented the land department; A. B. McCleneghan, A. McRae and C. R. Macdonald represented the Board of Trade, and His Worship Mayor H. F. McKinnon, Aldermen J. G. Barber and F. H. Bourne represented the City of Revelstoke.

His Worship Mayor H. F. McKinnon occupied the chair and stated the object of the meeting and called on those present for their views.

A. B. McCleneghan, President of the Board of Trade, stated that the Board considered the boundary of the Park should be extended to the city limits and that after discussion a letter was written to Mr. Harkin, Parks Commissioner, Ottawa, resulting in Mr. Harvey's visit to Revelstoke. The Board of Trade were quite willing to fall in line with the views of the city council in this respect, as part of the automobile road was not included in the Park and he thought it should be.

Mr. Hervey then addressed the meeting, stating that Mr. Harkin was anxious to extend the park boundaries and asked the representatives of the city and Board of Trade to define the boundary they wished to have, which he would bring up before the commissioner. In the event of the boundary being extended it would embrace all the vacant land except that occupied by homestead or patent.

Mayor McKinnon asked Mr. Hervey if, in the event of the park boundary coming to city limits it would be possible for the city at a future date to extend its boundary in that direction, but was informed that it would not be possible. The Mayor further explained that one of his reasons for wishing the boundary of the Park brought down was to conserve game birds, as partridges, grouse, etc., hatched on the low benches of the mountain long before the snow left the higher benches.

C. R. Macdonald stated that both himself and Mr. Horobin were willing to be taken into the Park but on being informed by Mr. Hervey that he would have to be governed by Park regulations, withdrew his offer.

A. McRae in addressing the meeting said that the land along the Big Bend road, and the Columbia River Canyon, should be included in the Park, and further stated that the residents in that district were squatters and not bona-fide settlers, and that all they wanted was to try and get all they could out of it.

He also strongly objected to a timber berth being included in the Park but was overruled by the majority. His reason for wanting the park boundary close to the town was, he stated, to stop "pot hunters."

Mr. Wadman objected to a number of Mr. McRae's statements and informed him that there were no squatters along the big bend, but all were bona-fide settlers. He also objected to Mr. McRae's wish to include the land along the river and the canyon in the park, giving as his reason that many citizens of Revelstoke might require cordwood and at present could get a permit from his department to cut green timber, and as the Dominion Park regulations prohibited the cutting of green wood, it might work a hardship on the residents of Revelstoke. Mr. Wadman also stated that it was his opinion that it was advisable not to put too much land in the park boundary, because, as far as homesteaders were concerned, he would not favor putting any of them under park regulations. Mr. Wadman's views were endorsed by the meeting.

The boundary of the Park was agreed to and a plan will be forwarded to Ottawa by both Mr. Wadman and Mr. Hervey.

Creamery Asks for Assistance

The regular meeting of the City Council was held in the council chamber on Wednesday night.

A delegation representing the Revelstoke Creamery Association, consisting of A. J. Macdonell and A. Mc Rae, asked the council to provide free water, light and power for the creamery for one year. The delegation explained that the creamery was a great asset to the city and stated that as a creamery is supposed to have about 400 cows to pay, and that at present there were only 100 cows, it was going to be very hard to get along without this assistance. The Mayor informed the delegation that the council would take it up.

A letter from J. M. McKay, Superintinterdent Canadian Pacific Railway, with reference to street crossings was filed.

A letter was read from A. B. McCleneghan, President of the Board of Trade, asking that a committee from the council meet the Board of Trade. Mr. T. J. Wadman, Dominion Lands agent and Mr. Hervey, Superintendent of Park on Thursday night to consider the park boundaries. A committee was appointed.

A request from the Board of Trade was received asking for a grant of $35.00 to help defray expenses in connection with the visit of H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught.

A letter was read from J. B. Harkin, Commissioner of Dominion Parks stating that he did not consider conditions favorable for an internment camp.

One Change In Ticket

Vancouver. — The Conservative convention on Thursday night renominated the same ticket of candidates with one exception. F. W. Welsh, who has gone to England, was dropped and Dr. G. A. McGuire added. The ticket stands today: Premier Bowser 219, Dr. G. A. McGuire 177, H. B. MacGown 176, T. Duke 162, Chas. E. Tisdall 158, Walter Leek 133.

THE SOLDIER'S VOTE

The Review is still greatly excited over the question of the soldiers' vote but it seems to us that the statutory provisions for taking the soldiers' vote in England, Canada and Bermuda ought to be sufficient to guarantee a fair election. That was the intention when the measure was before the Legislature. Mr. Brewster and Mr. Macdonald were there to propose further safeguards if they could think of any. It is well known that they were opposed to the soldiers' franchise, but since they failed to block the legislation, it was open to them to suggest improvements.

Nor is it yet too late. After what happened last February it does not make much difference what the Liberal organ says, but we again suggest that if Mr. Brewster has any definite propositions to make for better safeguards in England he should submit them. The Attorney-General does not propose that any strangers shall be carted into the British camp to plug votes in the soldiers' names. He does not intend that personators shall be hired at ten dollars per head to vote five to ten times for government supporters. He has no man on his salary list going about under several aliases, carrying bogus lists of voters prepared by party employees.

Mr. Bowser desires to have the votes of the soldiers honestly polled and accurately recorded. If Mr. Brewster seriously believes that more safeguards are needed we are sure that he will find the Attorney-General ready to go over the whole matter with him. Also it may be hoped that the Liberal leader will exercise his authority, as he failed to do in February, to keep the officers of his party from plotting a plugging campaign

WELCOME AND FAREWELL

It was with unfeigned pleasure, and with the deepest feelings of loyalty and respect that Revelstoke welcomed His Royal Highness the Governor-General and the members of his family during their visit yesterday. On every hand public expression of deep-rooted feeling and affectionate regard was evident.

This will in all probability be the last time he will ever appear in this city, as his term of office will shortly expire, and the regret with which his departure from Canada will be greeted will be united with a fervent wish for a long period of continued usefulness to the Empire which he has served so well.

The Duke of Connaught, apart from the tremendously important position which he holds as Commander-in-Chief of the Canadian forces, has special claims upon the esteem and respect of all our people. Son of Victoria, the well-beloved, brother of the late King Edward, and uncle of the present Sovereign, he is in a very marked and peculiar sense the representative of the Throne. As Governor-General, he is the embodiment of the tie that links our political life to that of the Motherland. But he is also welcomed for himself. His life of long and distinguished service to the Empire entitles him to the unqualified respect of all who have any appreciation of what such service means, and it was to a man as well as a Prince that the citizens of Revelstoke opened their hearts this week.

ROYAL YEAST
MAKES PERFECT BREAD

B.C. FEDERATIONIST AND M. A. MACDONALD

The following is an extract from the B.C. Federationist, Vancouver, and needs no further explanation.

"At the liberal meeting held in the Empress theatre in this city recently, Macdonald took occasion to vent his spleen upon Gosden, by bawling him out for fair, for having dared to assert that he (Macdonald) had paid an election debt. He denounced Gosden as a liar and several other kinds of animal unfit for human association. He viciously pawed the air in his efforts to convince his audience that his own conscience was clear and his reputation above besmirch, even at the hands of the likes of the wicked Gosden. In fact he did all that an unscrupulous shyster lawyer could do to make out a case for his client and his zeal was evidently not lessened by the fact that he was, himself, the client. We believe he has followed the same tactics in other meetings held at various places since. Presumably he will continue so to do during the present campaign, so that by the time the court sits upon the Gosden case, all possible juries will have been so thoroughly prejudiced against Gosden as to render his conviction assured. Macdonald being a lawyer, fully understands what he is doing. He cannot help but know that he is violating all the principles of decency in thus taking advantage of a political opportunity to judge and condemn some one else in order to clear his own skirts and bolster up his shaky political fortunes. But the things that the politician of the petty type will stoop to in order to gain his ends are not always possible of classification among things that are decent."

FROM THE SANCTUMS

The Hon. "Charlie" Mitchell, who handles Premier Sifton's tax collections, has been having a dream, in which he saw the Liberals returned to power in the Dominion. It must be admitted that the Hon. "Charlie" has SOME powers of perception. The Provincial Treasurer may be pardoned for the visions of last election in Medicine Hat, when he perceived not only his own election, but a brand new courthouse and telephone building for the Hat, and the excuse may be that his own fond wishes overcame his political judgment. But how in the world are we to explain visionary powers that lead on to the return of Laurier as premier, when not a single Liberal member from Western Canada will follow his Quebec-made policy?—Calgary News Telegram.

LIBERALS WILL SUPPORT GOVERNMENT.

Some Liberals in Vancouver who are antagonistic to the Liberal machine gang which was responsible for the plugging, have succeeded in finding John T. Scott and bringing about his arrest in Seattle. The internecine warfare in the Vancouver Liberal camp is not the least interesting feature of the political situation. No matter what course the majority of the party leaders may follow, the great majority of the Liberal rank and file will not attempt to condone or defend the personation conspiracy. But the Vancouver Liberal machine gang has a grip on the control of the opposition organization that shows no signs of relaxing. That is one reason why so many Liberals and independents have determined to support the government on Sept. 14.—Nelson Daily News.

COMMISSION REPORTS ON CONTRACTS

Sir Sam Hughes Absolutely Exonerated from all Suspicion of Wrong Doing—Companys With Which Fuse Contracts Were Placed Were not "Mushroom Concerns"

The long-expected report of the Duff-Meredith Commission, which investigated the affairs of the Canadian Shell Committee, with special reference to fuse contracts, has at last been delivered to the Prime Minister It is a rather voluminous document; apparently draws few very closely defined conclusions, and until the opportunity has been presented of studying it in its entirety it is impossible to secure the full significance of the deductions which have been made by the commissioners, even in those cases where they have chosen to express judicial opinions.

One of the exceptions to the general rule followed throughout the report is, however, found in the case of Major-General Hughes, who is exonerated from all suspicion of wrongdoing; while, seemingly, what little criticism which the commission has to offer in the awarding of contracts is directed more toward Col. Carnegie than to the Shell Committee, and even that official is excused to a great extent because of the extent of the duties placed upon his shoulders and the fact that "he was a very busy man."

As was natural to expect, Col. Allison comes in for considerable criticism; yet, while casting doubt on his veracity, even in his case the outline of the report upon which this comment is based reflects no such scathing denunciation as might have been expected after casually following the evidence at the inquiry, the conclusion of the commissioners being that aside from the fact that Allison occupied a somewhat peculiar relation to the Shell Committee, his connection with the business of that committee so far as it concerned those companies in which Allison was shown to be interested was of a kind not infrequently found under rather identical circumstances.

One thing which this report does set out is that the companies with which the majority of the fuse contracts were placed were no "mushroom concerns," special mention being made in this respect of the American Ammunition company and the International Arms and Fuse company.

Altogether the Meredith-Duff report places no such serious and shady complexion upon the transactions of the Shell Committee as the charges of Mr. Kyte in parliament implied. It completely absolves Sir Sam Hughes, finds no grounds for believing that the Shell Committee acted in anything but an honest, honorable capacity, and fails to substantiate the accusations of the Liberals that there was "grafting" in connection with the awarding of fuse contracts.

Messrs. Carvell and Kyte have failed utterly to make good their charges, and in no one place, so far as an outline of the report indicates, is there any indication that the commissioners could find evidence to give the actual transactions any such dishonest color as was sought to convey when the charges were made.

One thing that will please Canadians in general is that Sir Sam Hughes has been declared absolutely blameless. The people had too much confidence in the integrity of the minister in the first place to believe that he would be found guilty of wrongdoing, and that he has been completely exonerated will be particularly pleasing to those who have never lost faith in his intentional honesty. If the fact of "being a very busy man" excuses Col. Carnegie from all blame, surely, after Sam Hughes has been declared guiltless of wrongdoing by the commission, that same reason will also clear the minister from the charge which might be made that he neglected to take precautions to prevent wrongdoing.

A Mark of Appreciation

The following telegram has been received by the President of the Board of Trade:

"I am directed by their Royal Highnesses The Duke and Duchess of Connaught and the Princess Patricia to express to you and the ladies and gentlemen who kindly arranged the ever pleasant drive up Revelstoke mountain on Friday for their Royal Highnesses appreciation and enjoyment of the beautiful drive and the impromptu tea at the top. Their Royal Highnesses will take away with them from Canada a lively recollection of the beauties of Revelstoke and the hospitality of its inhabitants.

Frivolities is Much Enjoyed

One of the most enjoyable and successful concerts ever given in Revelstoke was that given for the benefit of the local Red Cross Society and put on by the Vancouver Juvenile Frivolities, under the direction of Mrs. (Hon. Capt.) Henshaw and Miss Mollison in the Empress theatre on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Henshaw and Miss Mollison are both well known in our city and their names connected with any enterprise is always a guarantee of excellence and success.

The program was enjoyed from start to finish and each little performer was an artist in his or her own particular line.

Mrs. Henshaw's address on Canadian Red Cross and Hospital work in France was a thoroughly enjoyed feature of the evening. Her pictures were excellent and brought home to all the nobleness of the work being done and the great necessity for renewed effort on the part of those at home. Every one will learn with pleasure that Mrs Henshaw has promised to return some time in August and deliver her lecture on the war, illustrated with her wonderful collection of war pictures.

Too much credit cannot be given Miss Mollison, who had the training of the children in hand with such finished results. Her vocal contributions to the program were enjoyed and greatly appreciated, particularly her rendering of "O Dry Those Tears," and the old Scotch favorite, "Caller Herrin'."

The two little tots, Phyllis Keith and Lawrence Salmon, won their way without effort into the hearts of all present. Miss Marjorie Stevens was a wonder with the violin. Her finish and technique were marvellous in a violinist of such youth. When the full rich tones of Patricia Salmon first broke on a delighted audience it was hard to realize that the singer was only a very tiny girl and not a finished artist with years of training and study behind her. Every Scotchman present loved Marjorie Keith and even those without a drop of Scotland's blood willingly accorded he the applause she so surely merited. And Norman Stevens was born for the footlights. He gives promise of more than sustaining the reputation of those of his relatives who are universal favorites in the realm of the stage.

During the evening a collection wa taken in aid of the Vancouver Returned Soldiers' Club and almost fifty-nine dollars realized. The proceeds of the evening were over on hundred and sixty-seven dollars.

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE.

Somewhere in France a wood of oaken greenness
Sheltered a soil that knew no tears but rain;
A place apart from man and all his meanness,
A verdured monastery in the plain.
And there one day, while frightened singers wondered,
Came bursting shell and red and fiery lance;
A storm of steel across the forest thundered
And left a shattered wood somewhere in France.

Somewhere in France the marching columns battled,
And scarlet dew made crimson every flower;
The cannon wheeled, the barking rifles rattled,
The wood of oak was murdered in an hour.
With martial airs and flowing pulses tingled—
The bugles blare, the leaping lines advance—
And German blood with blood of Frenchman mingled
Within an oaken wood somewhere in France.

Somewhere in France some time we only hope for
The sin shall end, the sacrifice shall cease,
And men shall see the thing we only grope for—
A Franco-German brotherhood of peace.
The oak shall lift its head in all its splendor,
On petals white the golden summer dance,
And passing zephyrs sing a requiem tender
O'er Franco-German graves somewhere in France.

—American Lumberman.

Mr. J. W. Bengough, Canada's foremost cartoonist and lecturer, will speak in the Methodist church on Sunday evening, and on Monday evening will address a public meeting in one of the theatres. His remarkable powers as a cartoonist, which he utilizes to the utmost in the chalk and charcoal sketches he makes before the audience, always assure him an enthusiastic reception. As entertainer as well as a convincing speaker he ranks high.

On Saturday morning last Mr. H. P. Christie, government agent at Ashcroft, received word from the War Office to the effect that his son, Lieut. H. R. M. Christie of the Scottish Rifles had been killed in action. The deceased soldier was the head of the firm of Christie, Dawson & Heywood of Kamloops, and his many friends here will receive the news of his death as somewhat of a shock. "Reg." was so thoroughly vital that it is difficult for those who knew him most intimately to realize that he has made the last great sacrifice, although it is very easy to realize that if any danger threatened he would be in the thick of it. The sympathy of all goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Christie, who have given their first-born to the cause of humanity, with what little consolation can be derived from the thought that he doubtless met his death as a soldier and a gentleman would wish. The late Lieut. Christie was well known and had many friends in Revelstoke. Several years ago he surveyed a great number of timber limits in the Big Bend.
