LIGHT AND AIRY.

Mr. Blizzard, from the northwest,
From the land of the Dakotas,
From the land of the Missouri,
From the wild and howling prairies,
Where the snow is piled like mountains,
And the lakes are frozen solid—
Now and then comes strolling southward;
Comes across the Mississippi,
Makes a bee line for Chicago,
Paralyzes all he finds there;
Then he scoots for Indiana—
Mr. Blizzard, of the northwest—
Scoots across the Hoosier counties,
Filling all the air with snowflakes,
Freezing every ear he touches,
Till he strikes our Cincinnati—
Strikes her hard and strikes her often,
Says the town is to his liking
And he'd like to make a visit.
So he blusters up our thoroughfares,
Whistles shrilly down our alleys,
And he has no kind of manners.
For he goes where he's not wanted.
Pushes into private places,
Pinching ears and slapping faces,
Blowing skirts with impoliteness,
Taking liberties unheard of
Does this saucy Mr. Blizzard.
He should go back to the northwest,
To the land of the Dakotas,
To the land of the Missouri,
We don't like him and don't want him,
And request him to skedaddle.

Patti—How did you do in Bristol?

Sims Reeves—Very well, indeed; but I should have done better but for the opposition.

Patti—What was against you then?

Sims Reeves—Jem Smith. (A pause.) When are you going to Manchester?

Patti—Next week.

Sims Reeves—I thought you were to be there this week?

Patti—So I was, but I altered the date.

Sims Reeves—Why?

Fearful Experience on a Railway Train, Passengers Driven From

THE CARS BY VILLIANS AND

Robbed of Their Personal Effects—A Million Dollars Worth of Damage Done by Floods—Subscriptions for the Relief of Sufferers.

THIEVES AND OUTLAWS EAT FOOD SENT TO SUFFERERS.

Harrisburg, June 3.—The following telegram has been received by the Manager of the Postal Lines Telegraph Company from Adjutant-General Hastings: "Better inform Governor Beaver this morning's reports give the number lost at Johnstown at between 12,000 and 15,000. The greatest disorder prevails. The place is infested with thieves and vandals, who are robbing the dead and appropriating everything they can lay their hands on. These people are eating almost everything in the shape of provisions sent here for the flood sufferers." During the past 24 hours the Susquehanna River here has fallen six feet and all danger to the Cumberland Valley Railroad bridge has passed. The loss in the city is estimated at $50,000.

TROOPS NOT WANTED.

Harrisburg, June 3.—Adjutant-General Hastings wired late this afternoon that troops will not be needed at Johnstown as disorder is not as great as indicated by report this morning.

BURYING THE DEAD.

Greensburg, Pa., June 3.—A force of 150 men left here this afternoon to dig trenches and bury the unidentified dead lying at Nineveh. The Commissioners of Westmoreland, Cambria and Indiana Counties have purchased a tract of land near Nineveh for a cemetery for the unknown dead.

MORE DEATHS BY DROWNING.

Elmira, N. Y., June 3.—This city is in a bad shape to-day. The streets of the populous Fifth Ward which contains nearly a quarter of the inhabitants of the city, are almost impassable on account of the wreckage with which they are strewn. Riverside Park is wholly devastated. Bradstreet's agent estimates the damage done on this place alone to be not less than $50,000. Reports coming from the country show a terrible state of affairs, and a loss of 12 lives at Toga, R. A., is reported.

GENEROUS AID.

Brooklyn, June 3.—Mayor Chapin has opened a Johnstown Relief Fund. The theatres, newspapers, and clubs are doing good work in a similar direction.

NEW YORK SUBSCRIBES LIBERALLY.

New York, June 3.—The Mayor has received a large amount of money for the Johnstown sufferers. Among others were editor Joseph Pulitzer, $2,000; J. E. King, President of the Erie Railroad, $1,000, and various other amounts from $250 to $1. Two hundred and fifty of the leading bankers, brokers, merchants and lawyers have been invited to attend a meeting for the purpose of forming a committee to receive subscriptions for the sufferers.

BOOT AND SHOE CONVENTION.

Boston, June 3.—The first Annual Convention of the International Boot and Shoe Workers' Union was opened this morning. Eighty Delegates were present, representing 47 Unions organized since its birth on February 23rd, 1889, embracing 14 states and Canada.

PRESIDENTIAL APPOINTMENTS.

Washington, D.C., June 3.—The President to-day appointed Chas. L. Knapp, of New York, Consul-General of the United States at Montreal, and Alex. J. Reed, of Wisconsin, United States Consul at Dublin.

FURTHER LARGE SUMS SUBSCRIBED.

New York, June 3.—About 200 leading citizens met at the City Hall to-day and formed a Johnstown Relief Committee with Mayor Grant as Chairman. The Committee appointed an Executive Committee headed by General Sherman. An address to the citizens was drawn and about $60,000 was subscribed on the spot.

THE STOCK EXCHANGE RAISED

Fifteen thousand dollars, the Produce Exchange $10,000, and the Mail and Express $7,500. In a short time these amounts will be largely increased. The other exchanges are also raising large sums. Many theatres are arranging benefit performances. The Police and Fire Departments have authorized firemen and police to circulate subscription lists. The newspapers have all opened funds.

$1,000,000 DAMAGE BY FLOODS.

Washington, June 3.—The flood here has subsided. The loss of property along the wharves in Washington and Georgetown and in the business portion of this city which was submerged will probably reach a million dollars.

PRIZE FIGHT FOR $1800.

Boston, June 3.—Capt. Cook to-day received a telegram from Secretery Fulda of the California Club, offering a purse of $1800 for a contest between Johnny Griffen and Tommy Warren to a finish. Capt. Cook wired back Griffen's acceptance.

CAR-LOADS OF COFFINS.

Pittsburg, June 3.—There have been between 4,000 and 5,000 coffins sent, or ordered to be sent, to Johnstown from here. Of these 2,200 were sent this morning. At noon an order was given for 2,000 more. The statement that there is a coffin famine is untrue. Two carloads of caskets were shipped from Cincinnati and sent to Johnstown to-day.

PENNSYLVANIA R. R. GIVES $30,000.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 3.—Pennsylvania railroad officials to-day contributed $30,000 for the relief of the flood sufferers.

FEARFUL EXPERIENCE OF A PASSENGER TRAIN.

Altoona, Pa., June 3.—The second section of the Day Express and the mail which survived the flood but was afterwards destroyed by fire at Conemagh, had a remarkable experience according to the further particulars just received. Nine freight cars loaded with iron were washed in front of the locomotive beside a frame house, which served as a shield and divided the waters. The train after being moved down four car lengths, was stopped by two other cars which were at right angles to the track; the other end being forced in the mud. The cook took up his station on the top of the car and with an axe prepared through for the rescue of the occupants who had climbed to the top upper berths and there awaited their doom. The water however began to subside, and later on they were driven from their car by rough men and robbed of their personal effects; the villains permitted the stoves which remained in the car to burn the carriages.

TRAIN WRECKED.

A report is in circulation that two of the palace coaches of the Limited Express were wrecked, caught fire and were totally destroyed by fire at Conemaugh. Whether the passengers were killed or escaped it is impossible to ascertain.

The Robertson-Colonist Libel Suit.

(Before Mr. Justice Crease and a Jury.)

This was an action brought by Capt. H. I. and Mrs. Robertson, of Moresby Island, to recover $25,000 from the Colonist proprietors for an alleged libel contained in an article appearing in the Colonist of February 22d. The gist of the article referred to was to the effect that Captain and Mrs. Robertson, owing to some misunderstanding with two of their servants, a Chinese man and woman, had been the cause of the pair leaving the house on a raft in very rough weather. Twenty-five thousand dollars were asked for by Capt. Robertson. The jury after an absence of an hour returned the verdict that the article complained of constituted a libel, but that the plaintiff had sustained no damage. The question of costs was reserved.

THIS AND THAT.

An old bachelor, who was quite a wit, lived alone in a very uncomfortable-looking place, and his apartments were always in great disorder. "Why don't you get married?" said a friend one day. "Then you would have some one to fix up things here, and make it look homelike." "The fact is, I've never thought of it," said he, "but it does look reasonable that a better half would make better quarters."

Mr. Depew—there is only one, and we need not mention his front name—made a speech at Yale yesterday, in which he explained that the reason why the class of 1853 was so famous was that "one-half of its members went into journalism and praised the other half." That explains why "the other half" became famous, but does he not see how it reflects upon it to have it said that it depended for fame on puffs, while the journalistic half has won its fame by brains?

Very Small in the Boy's Eyes—The small boy is a terror when he has an inquiring mind. Such a boy strolled into the editor's room the other day, and at once proceeded to down the patient man at the desk. "Are you on the paper?" asked the boy. "Yes." "What do you do?" "Write for it." "Write all the time?" "Yes." "Don't do anything else?" "No." "Just wait for somebody else to do something and then write about it?" "Yes." "Um?" ejaculated the small boy with a look of deep disgust as he walked off. The toiler at the desk did not laugh. Never before had he felt so small and mean. He had been made to see himself from a new and original point of view.

Stylish prints, embroidered dresses, handsome new French dress goods, watered plushes just received at Arthur Bullock's.

PARNELL — SEVERE STORMS IN England—Numerous Accidents to Life and Property—The Samoan Conference Attracting Attention—Commissioners Preparing to Leave.

THE NEWS IN LONDON.

London, June 3.—The Americans at present sojourning in London, as well as those permanently residing there, have already begun organized efforts to collect funds to relieve the distress which, it is felt here, must be inevitable among the surviving sufferers by the Pennsylvania floods. Although the fearful devastation caused by the flood, the terrible loss of life, and destruction of property have been very fully nothing has come over in the shape of an appeal for assistance, and so Englishmen are left entirely to conjecture as to the nature and extent of the needs of those whose lives have been spared by the terrible visitation. Of course it is surmised that these needs must be urgent and necessarily very great, but in the absence of definite information on the subject, the Americans who are raising funds so far have been kept to themselves. The sympathies of Englishmen are, however, deeply interested, and nothing is needed now but an accurate and reliable statement from America.

CABLED TO THE LONDON PAPERS,

OF WHAT FUNDS ARE REQUIRED

to insure the collection of very large sums for the relief of the suffers, and when this information is supplied, every city, village and hamlet in the United Kingdom will respond generously and promptly. Relief Committees have been organized in every London hotel where Americans reside, and these have already in their hands several thousands of pounds which will be cabled over at once.

THE LORD MAYOR OF LONDON

will probably organize a National Relief Fund as soon as the necessity for such a course becomes manifest.

HAILSTONES AS LARGE AS WALNUTS IN LANCASHIRE.

Unusually heavy storms and floods are reported from Lancashire and elsewhere, in some cases attended by loss of life. In Bilston and Millenhall, in Staffordshire, hailstones fell the size of walnuts, smashing windows and ruining crops, for many miles.

BERLIN PRESS SAVAGE.

A howl goes up from the Editors of Berlin to-day which may or may not reach the ears of the Bismarckians, but in either event they probably will not allow it to disturb the serenity of their sleep. The Berlin Press is more than usually interested in the proceedings of the Samoan Conference, sitting a stone's throw from their Editorial dens, but so far as any information they could get about its deliberations are concerned they might as well have been thousands of miles away.

PARNELL'S PRIVATE LETTERS.

London, June 3.—The Times Counsel, assisted by Counsel for Mr. Parnell, have begun an inspection of private letters of Mr. Parnell which the latter recently handed to the Times Counsel. The correspondence covers a period of six years, and comprises 5,000 letters.

SEVERE STORMS IN ENGLAND.

London, June 3.—Midland Counties have been visited by severe thunder storms, and the rain and lightning have done much damage. The lower portions of Liverpool are flooded and traffic interrupted. The Bank at Preston was struck by lightning. Numerous accidents to life and property are reported.

CORK ELECTION.

Dublin, June 3.—In the Parliamentary elections to-day in the South East Division of Cork, John Monagh was elected without opposition to fill the vacancy caused by the retiring of John Hooper.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Vancouver Coal Mining and Land Co., limited, hereby give notice that any person found cutting or removing timber from their land, without obtaining permission at the Company's Office will be prosecuted.—S. M. Robins, Superintendent.

A WARNING.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all is dangerous, and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without attention is dangerous and may lose ... ute. As soon as you feel that ... wrong with your Throat, Lungs ... Nose, ... obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief;

THE DECEASED WIFE'S SISTER QUESTION.

The question of the "Deceased Wife's Sister" has been much discussed of late years and has, some of our readers may think, become somewhat hackneyed. As it is a matter, however, of more or less interest to all, we think the extremely able and lengthy letter of the Bishop of Bath and Wells, setting forth the reasons against the proposed bill for legalizing such marriages, and recently published in the Times, will be not unwelcome reading for our subscribers. So far as we know, the feeling of the laity generally is, both in the Colonies and the Mother Country, in favor of the legalizing of such marriages; yet we are quite willing to hear the other side, though for ourselves we confess our mind in the question has long been made up. Of this we may be sure, that every forcible argument which can be brought forward, has been adduced by the Lord Bishop, so that if they do not prevail upon us to alter our views on this burning question, we may feel quite satisfied that we have as it were heard the ablest counsel who has held a brief for the other side.

Sir,—As I may not have an opportunity of speaking on the subject in the House of Lords next Thursday, I venture to ask you to allow me to state in your columns some of the views which I think ought to influence the House to reject the Bill for legalizing marriage with a deceased wife's sister.

Much appears to me to depend upon the spirit in which we approach the subject. A more grave and momentous matter for legislation than the alteration of the marriage law of a country I cannot imagine. The marriage law lies at the very foundation of human society. It finds a place in the Bible prior to the fall of man. Many centuries before the Mosaic law was given, coeval with the creation of man, at the very fountain head of our race, the word of God fixed the marriage law in its fundamental conditions. A moment's reflection shows us the wisdom of this pre-eminence given in Scripture to the relations of man and woman. For the family is the feature which distinguishes the human society and affects it in its most vital interests; and the family, with all its sanctity and all its power to elevate and purify and civilize mankind, is absolutely dependent upon the marriage law. No nation with a corrupt marriage law ever rose, or ever can rise, to a high standard of civilization. Disturb the marriage law and you disturb and weaken all the relations of man with man. Witness all countries where polygamy prevails and all nations where the marriage tie has in practice been loosened and despised. These considerations require that we should approach the whole subject of the marriage laws with reverential caution.

Another preliminary consideration of great weight in approaching the question of legalising marriage with a deceased wife's sister is the impossibility of stopping there. You have now a definite principle upon which your law is based. Relationship by consaguinity or affinity within a defined limit is a bar to marriage. But once break through that principle and allow marriage with a sister-in-law, and how can you forbid marriage with a brother's or uncle's widow, or with a mother-in-law, or a step-mother? And, not only so, but experience teaches the sad lesson that any relaxation of the law of marriage has a certain tendency to lead to other and worse relaxations. Let any one read the history of the Herod family in Josephus or elsewhere, or turn his attention to the state of marriage among the Romans in the time of the twelve Cæsars, and surely the loathsome record of incest, and adultery, and divorce, with all their train of shame and misery, will make him hesitate before he begins to pull down the fences which guard and protect the sanctity of matrimony.

But these are only preliminary considerations which do not decide the question whether marriage with a wife's sister is permissible by the laws of God, or is conducive to the welfare of mankind. To decide this we must turn to Holy Scripture first, and then get what light we can from our own reason.

Now, as regards Holy Scripture, I do not think we Christians must expect any direct precept on the subject. The Levitical law in its details does not apply to to the Christian Church; but we can gather the spirit of the Divine law from its application to the Jews. Now, one of the causes of the extirpation of the nations of Canaan was their incestuous marriages, by which their land was defiled; and in the enumeration of those incestuous unions in the 18th and 20th chapters of Leviticus we find no distinction between relationship by blood and relationship by affinity. The uncle's wife is an aunt, as much as father or mother's sister. The wife's relations are the same as the husband's (Levit. xviii., 17), and so on. It seems, therefore, inevitable to conclude that the wife's sister is in the same relation to the husband as his own sister. And this has been the sentiment of the Christian Church throughout all ages, and the law of our land has been conformed to it ever since we have been a nation.

And surely our own reason will confirm the conclusion which we gather from Holy Scripture. The introduction of suspicion, and jealousy, and intrigue into the closest family circles cannot be for the welfare or happiness of society. Either a dangerous licence or galling restrictions of the freedom of brotherly and sisterly intercourse must be the consequence of the "abolition of sisters-in-law," to the great detriment of the family.

But it is said that in the interests of the poor it is expedient to legalize such marriages, because the sister-in-law is the person to whom the poor widower naturally turns to take care of his motherless children. Can any one consider this argument for one minute without seeing its utter hollowness. If the poor man's sister-in-law is felt by him, and by her, and by the public opinion of his class to be his sister, and not a possible bride, she will be able, as blamelessly and safely as if she was his sister by consanguinity, to go to his house and supply the place of the deceased mother to his children, But if the sister-in-law is a possible and probable bride, what will happen? If she is a virtuous woman she will refuse to place herself in a position of suspicion and danger, and so the legalizing marriage with the wife's sister will have deprived the widower and his children of help at the time of need. If she is not a virtuous woman, or is a weak woman, she will go with the almost certainty of becoming his concubine till the time comes when he thinks it decent to marry. In this case the change of law will have directly promoted immorality.

It seems to me, therefore, that every consideration should induce us, whether as patriots or as Christians, to set our faces resolutely against the proposed change in the marriage law. And I earnestly hope the House of Lords will reject the Bill by such a decisive majority as will check for a long time the pernicious agitation of the question.

I remain, your faithful servant,
ARTHUR C. BATH. & WELL.

THE VERY LATEST BRITISH COLONY.

An official report has just been published concerning the most recent addition to the British Empire. With much useful information concerning New Guinea and its resources, this report of Mr. MUSGRAVE'S contains statements as to the salubrity of the climate which we have every reason to believe are unfounded, or at least highly colored and far too sanguine in their nature. Granting that the soil is of the richest, that gold is found in the streams, that rare and costly trees grow in the forests, and with one exception—that "only man is vile," yet that one exception means so much, that as we have occasion to know whereof we speak, we feel it our duty in the public interest to controvert the opinion expressed in this latest official report as to the climate of this splendid island. Mr. MUSGRAVE who discusses the sanitary condition of British New Guinea with some minuteness and with an evident attempt at impartiality, points out that though a dreadful mortality has taken place among the Polynesian missionaries who were imported with their wives and families to carry on the work of introducing Christianity among the natives, during the last 20 years—yet thinks that it was owing to exceptional and peculiar circumstances that this abnormal mortality took place among the native teachers. Our experience shews us that, exceptional circumstances notwithstanding, when a tropical climate proves deadly to natives of the tropics, it is perfectly intolerable to white men. Our reason for bringing this matter forward so prominently, is that only the other day an old resident and gold-miner of British Columbia, expressed to us his intention of going to New Guinea, as he had lately seen some very glowing accounts of that as yet terra incognita. In the report to which we refer, Mr. MUSGRAVE states the "climate of New Guinea has been much maligned; that it is no worse than that of Northern Queensland, and that there is no reason why the country should not be colonized by natives of Great Britain." It is this particular assertion to which we take exception. In the first place the climate of Northern Queensland is not such as to encourage British immigration. We have ourselves seen the thermometer stand more than once at from 115 to 120 in the shade even at Cookstown. This fact needs no comment for those who know anything about the tropics. The few white men to be found managing the sugar plantations of the vast district surrounding the Gulf of Capricorn, have a wasted, played out appearance—spiritless in manner, with lack-lustre eyes and sallow cheeks. Fevers and rheumatism abound, or did so when we there. We had provided ourselves with Timor ponies and a party of Kanakas and much "trade," i. e. glass beads, knives, carpenters' tools, and brightly woven fabrics; but before the expedition could cross Torres Straits—which separates Australia from New Guinea—three of our small party were prostrated with rheumatic or low fever, and had to return to Brisbane. No ultimate good is ever achieved by false statements as to the advantages of any new country—indeed harm is far more likely to result. It is with the full consciousness of this fact before us that we have endeavored to place the facts of the case before the public, believing that if we are the means of preventing even one person from leaving British Columbia for New Guinea, we shall be amply recompensed.

THE GREAT RUSH.—Owing to the immense number of purchasers visiting MR. BULLOCK'S establishment on Saturday anxious to take advantage of his disposal of is stock at cost, he and his clerks were unable to attend to a great number of customers. He regrets that so many went away unserved, and if possible he would advise some of his friends to shop in the morning when hey could be better waited upon.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

IN THESE days of patent medicines there is nothing so very startling in the following account given by a paper published in Calcutta, as to the treatment to which the Guikwar of Baroda subjects himself. It appears that pulverized diamonds are in some parts of India reputed to be the least powerful, but the most active and infallible of all poisons, yet rubies reduced to powder are considered to be rather beneficial to the health than otherwise. At least we judge that such is the opinion of the powerful Indian Prince who we read is now engaged in repairing his constitution, and with this view is in the habit of eating rubies in the form of a fine powder sprinkled over cakes. His Highness, it is stated, entertains a very high opinion of the medicinal qualities of rubies taken in this form, and expends a considerable portion of his income in buying these gems for conversion into physic. He also seems to take other precious stones, not as pills, but as powders, to assist in the restoration of his health, and has engaged a large number of native cooks who have strict orders to leave no stone unpowdered which when mixed with confectionery may be eaten with advantage. It is to be hoped that the Guikwar's cooks do not abuse the confidence reposed in them by appropriating the gems to their own use; but the temptation must be one which no British cook could withstand, and it would be hardly prudent, we fear, for any wealthy invalid even in this country, who adopts a jewel diet in imitation of the unfortunate Hindoo "Highness," to allow the pulverization process to be carried on in the kitchen.

WE do not class ourselves among the "fire-eaters" who for some two years or so have advocated a war of reprisal upon U. S. shipping in Behring Sea. But we are unable to disguise from ourselves the fact that there must always be more or less danger of an explosion, when we provide powder, the match being already on the spot, and only requiring ignition. We hope that this question as to whether Behring Sea is to be an American preserve, or open to all comers will be settled as soon as possible, this being essentially one of those matters as to the settlement of which, if "'twere well 'twere well done, then 'twere well 'twere well done quickly." Diplomatic correspondence usually drags its weary length over long months in affairs of the kind to which we refer; in the meantime all the materials for breeding trouble between two great nations will have been gathered as it were into a heap, and if by any mischance the light should be applied, it is not easy to foretell the end.

IT is officially announced that Sir Hercules Robinson will return to South Africa after a short leave of absence, as Governor of Cape Colony for at least three years. This announcement will be a very gratifying one to those who have the welfare of the Empire at heart. Sir Hercules is eminently fitted by nature to preside over such conflicting elements as prevail at the present time in South Africa. With the tact and eloquence of Lord Dufferin, though perhaps without the extreme ability of the late Viceroy of India, he is the beau ideal of a Colonial governor. When in New South Wales, he was extremely popular, partly on account of his love for horses and racing besides most other sports, whilst he never for a moment forgot the graver responsibilities which rested upon his shoulders. We have frequently seen him drive through the streets of Sydney (N.S.W.), one hand firmly guiding his team of four thoroughbreds, while the other held his hat, as he bowed to the cheering passers-by. His career in New Zealand was also such as to give him almost unexampled popularity; hence it is eminently satisfactory to see in these troublous times men such as the present High Commissioner of South Africa retained in posts of exceptional responsibility.

BILL NYE GOES SHOPPING.

He Says He Likes to Shop Better in Boston Than in Gotham.

I always go and visit the Old South church when in Boston, because I like to see the old and pleasant cannon balls with which disagreeable people were killed when they acted improperly. I also like to attend a church where I can criticise things without hurting any one's feelings. After I visit the old church I like to go around over the Hub and buy things. I hate to contrast any city with my own town, but a nervous person with a shrinking nature can do better, and enjoy it better while shopping in Boston than in New York. The Boston merchant evidently bought his goods for the purpose of selling them to the consumer, while the New York merchant appears to have purchased them more for the wild excitement of looking at them himself.

I always have my feelings hurt when I shop in New York. In the first place, I am enraged before I get to the store by 967,236 people who knock me over and get on the elevated trains before the passengers can get off. Then I go to a store and wait near a stack of wet umbrellas until several total strangers, with a haughty air, jostle me against the wall.

I next speak to a floor walker, who plays that he owns the store, and is allowed to draw that instead of a salary. He looks at me askance, as if he feared that I might be Nellie Bly. He goes over to confer with a heavy set saleslady, to inquire of her, evidently, whether I am there with sinister motives, and while I tremble at the thought that I am about to be searched for said motives, another man, who plays that he owns the store afternoons, comes along and asks me what I want there.

I tell him that I am a simple minded man, more or less picked on both at home and abroad; that I would spend an enormous amount of money in New York if I had a chance; that today I had contemplated buying or trading for a full set of two heavy No. 10 English hose with double soles and a striking resemblance to each other. Nobody could be any more explicit than that without being offensive. I just tell a man what I want right at the start, and then if there should be any delay it is his fault.

He looks at me sorrowfully and begins to feel in his pocket for something. I say, "Put up your gold. Get out with your dross. I am not poor or crased by suffering. I am only waiting to present a letter of introduction to the sock lady if I can obtain an audience with her. I would be satisfied with even a very small audience with her." He tells me where the office is, and I go there. She waits a long time before I seem to catch her eye. She looks through me, and so on across the store to a given point. She then says:

"Well?" "Socks!"

"Yes?" "Yes!"

"What kind, please?" "English hose, double sole, unbleached, No. 10, two of a kind."

"For yourself?" "Yes, exclusively for myself."

"Well, the men's hose is on second floor facing the other street."

I then go to a hotel, register, get a room, ring for a messenger and send him for the boss.—Bill Nye in New York World.

Louis XV mantillas, fastened behind at the waist, and coming down in front in two long lappets, either square or rounded, are the rage.

White mohair, brocaded with flowers, is chosen for polonaises, to be worn over skirts of plain mohair, trimmed with gold or silver braiding or galloon.

To convert a simple gown into a dainty negligee one has but to supplement a full front and graceful Watteau back to achieve a very acme of classical elegance.

A perfect army of pearl, drab, brown, dark blue and regulation black Derby hats are on the tapis of masculine style, and they are nothing if not natty in shape—the hats, I mean, not the masculines!

Solid colored wool gowns show a single row of gros grain or velvet ribbon, one and one half inches wide, outlining the edges of the draperies in simulation of the selvage border, which is one of many current caprices.

Daintily wrought white satin waistcoats are the latest fad of fashion for gentlemen's evening dress, and many fair fingers are busied in embroidering all sorts of flossy devices upon vests for lovers, husbands, fathers, brothers or lucky "Cousin Toms."

Ladies addicted to sports find the "Double Ve" waist the most comfortable and shapely under bodice ever invented. Tennis, boating, yachting or other summer diversions, are indulged with the utmost delight by ladies who give regulation "stays" the go by in its favor.

Rich, heavy stuffs, full of textile character are in favor for the plain, straight empire dresses. Handsome brocbes, richly brocaded satin stripes, shot silks, either in taffetas or Bengaline, and other materials of similar caliber, vie with each other in the formation of the classical frocks.

Some exquisite costumes of flower stripes silk in directoire style, are shown in New York. They are made with a straight undraped polonaise tied at the waist front with ribbons, and embellished with revers or long, deep shawl collars. Below the polonaise the skirt hangs perfectly plain.

A charming theatre wrap is of light terra cotta plush, with lining of light silk striped with pale rose color and sky blue. The silk form folds on the shoulders and lines the hood. A ribbon attached to the inside of the waist holds the gathers in place, and a silver clasp fastens the cloak on the bosom.

Bud green has swelled the list of eccentric greens brought to light by the opening of the season's sample books. This is simply the old cabbage green, but of course it "takes better under a more fanciful appellation than it would be likely to under its ancient cognomen, which demonstrates the fact that there is a great deal in a name after all.

It is thought that the next Methodist general conference will appoint five new bishops, besides filling the places of the late Bishops Simpson and Harris. Dr. Thorburn is urged as missionary bishop for India.

The Methodists having successfully crossed the million dollar line, have now pledged $1,200,000 for mission work during the coming year. They believe in setting their mark higher, and then nobly striving to reach it.

Eighteen young men of Mountain Home, Ark., swore off from the tobacco habit on the first of the present year. Whoever returns to the habit is to be ducked in a pond of water.

An odd combination of wares is offered by a shop in the Italian city of Bari, on the Adriatic. A sign informs would be customers that within can be obtained: "Leeches, bread sold in slices or loaves, and tuition in mathematics."

With the mercury at 37 degs. below at Eagle Rock, Idaho, a locomotive taking water from a tank, the flow of which could not be stopped, was frozen instantly in a bed of ice extending three car lengths and to the tops of the rails.

A good woman in Deer Isle, Me., crocheted a baby's sacque for a church fair. The sacque was raffled off, and she took a share and won. She offered it to the fair again if they'd give her a chance. She won again. If the fair had kept on she would, too.

John Sellers, an old farmer of New Philadelphia, O., who died the other day, had a remarkable crop of hair and a very long beard. This was because he had never shaved or had his hair cut, thinking, as he said, that it was interfering with the provisions of nature for a man to cut or even trim his hair.

J. W. Bucks, of Nixon, counted out $1,200 to pay a man he owed, then left the money on the desk, where a candle was burning, and stepped into another room to get a rubber ring to put on his pocketbook. When he returned he found that the candle had fallen over and every note was burned to a cinder.

The largest private library in this country is owned by H. H Bancroft, the historian, and is in his San Francisco home. It consists of 50,000 volumes and is valued at $300,000.

Dr. Thomas W. Evans, the dentist, has received from Queen Victoria a jubilee medal of gold as a token of her appreciation of his work on the instruments for Emperor Frederick's throat.

Gen. Gresham is said to be one of the worst dressed men in public life. His lack of friendship with the tailor is made, however, less apparent by his handsome face and commanding figure.

Don Pedro, beside being a wise and liberal monarch, an accomplished musician and an experienced traveler, has been a profound student of languages, and is well versed in Hebrew, Arabic and Sanskrit.

Samuel J. Randall has a bright young son who wears glasses and is said to look just like his father. He is called "Little Sam Randall," and is described by a correspondent as being "as fat as butter and as sharp as a tack."

The Duke of Rutland, accompanied by the duchess, is likely to visit America this summer. The duchess is a popular magazine writer in London, and until her husband's recent accession to the dukedom her signature was frequently at the end of long articles in The London Queen on social topics for women. One object of the American journey is, it is believed, to enable the duchess to widen her sphere of observation into feminine life in large cities.

During his confinement Mutsu translated Mills' "Political Economy" into his native tongue.

NECKWEAR NOTES.

Sets of pure white linen, with simulated hemstitching, are simple and stylish.

Figured percale sets share favor with the tinted varieties on the tapis for traveling and country wear.

In ladies' lingerie, white or colored, the plain collar with cape attachment, closed with or without points, and with cuffs to match, is de rigueur.

Beautiful hand embroidery and needlework sets for visiting and church services take, in a measure, the place of ruches for the melting months.

In many instances plastrons are outlined by jabots of rich lace; in others, they are marvels of the modiste, in which no end of ribbons and other dainty devices are brought to bear.

Plain or fluted bands of silk en suite, or in harmonious contrast, have taken the place of lisse in fashionable toilets. Sometimes a string of beads outlines the neck band, even when the corsage and plastron are elaborate.

Lingerie for little folks is subject to the same diversity which characterizes the collars and cuffs of older people. The broad directoire small cape seems best to suit the sailor and Norfolk styles of boys' costumes; yet the dainty vest suit, which calls for the regulation Piccadilly with four in hand scarf tie, brings out the touch of nature rendering the world akin.—Cloak, Suit and Ladies' Wear Review.

TEA TABLE TALK.

A little brass letter weighing arrangement on the library table is having a wide sale and enables one to get the postage on letters just right.

Pocket pin cushions of stamped leather, with initial letter of surname on either side in silver emanate, it is said, from the Women's Exchange.

Enough women to fill a hall have yet to learn that turning down visiting cards is obsolete, and only an evidence of exceeding, "waybackism."

There is nothing quite so conducive to out and out, downright, real ugliness as a tobogan suit on a girl of the period. "A fright" is no name for it.

The lamp and table combined is not only ornamental but useful, and the inventor is to be congratulated upon filling to the top a "long felt want."

Just why men should wear cloth gaiters in winter is something in the line of a riddle, excepting, of course, they are all out of any but low cut shoes.

Lace trimmed table cloths and napkins are properly voted vulgar. "Our best people" cling to plain, heavy white damask, and they know they're right.

During Lent small personal ornaments of an ecclesiastical character, a leading jeweler says, will be fashionable here, as they were in Paris a year ago.

Etchings were never in such great demand as now. Society appears to have gone mad over them, and talks, too, about them, as if it were really crazy.

Men who have gold or silver mounted pistols usually shoot themselves somewhere when endeavoring to fire off the unnecessarily elegant weapons.

The newest Parisian Derby hat has a lower crown and wider brim than the one in vogue here. It is almost heavy enough to make little Frenchmen totter.

Hired girls do not take kindly to the new electric clock operated by a wire from milady's bed room, and regard it as a wicked invention of the enemy.

A reward of $75 for a pet cat that has gone astray, or has been purloined, to help line a circular for servant girls, indicates they are still in fashionable favor.

Those fancy straw Bar Harbor baskets are extensively used for German favors, and the girl who has the most can effectively hang them on an Alpine tripod.

Men who resort to manicures for dainty finger nails are the ones who, in the event of a fire, would escape themselves and forget to rescue women and children.

Some fur bonnets are seen, but are not to be admired for more than an hour at one sitting. Women who wear them probably do not mind being conspicuous.

A large fairy lamp in the center of the table, and smaller ones at each plate, is a dinner party fashion that is productive of pretty and brilliant results.

At the formal dinner party where caterers are employed no carving is done at the table by the host, and everything is passed. This on the authority of a fashion paper.

The amount of money represented by carriage furs and robes this winter makes an anti-povertyite go out of sight and weep as a whangdoodle mourning over the kidnapping of her young.

Valentines are very elaborate and costly, and take the forms of souvenirs that are practical, useful and everlasting. This year's display already made would delight the heart of a wooden girl.

The light weight champions of America are thicker than holly berries before a cold winter. There are only five of them, as follows: Jack McAuliffe, Billy Dacey, W. Myers, Mike Daly and Harry Gilmore. And Daly, who holds the belt, has seen the least service of any of the five.

L. E. Myers writes from Australia that he is doing well and footracing is so popular in that country that a sprinter, if he feels so inclined, can run twice a week in handicaps. Myers concludes his letter by stating that Australia knocks the spots out of England or America as a foot and horse racing center.

A white squirrel was caught by Andy Fleming, of Hartwell, Ga., recently. He accidentally set his ax on it and broke its back. White squirrels are rarely seen. They are entirely white with pink eyes.

A Maine man, who owns a big and shaggy and black Newfoundland dog, cut off the dog's hair carefully, had it carded and spun, and got two and a quarter pounds of jet black yarn as soft as lamb's wool.

A Salina, Kan., man walked a quarter of a mile to get a gun to kill a jack rabbit which he saw in the road, and after he had fired a heavy charge at it he found that the rabbit was already frozen to death.

Capt. Benjamin B. Dixon, of Portsmouth, Va., went out hunting ducks, and after killing thirty discovered a shoal of porpoises that went in with the tide and got left on the ebb. He attacked them and killed five. The ducks and the porpoises brought him $19.

Near Iberville, La., a bear was seen in a turnip patch helping himself to vegetables. On being driven out he took to the railroad track and met an approaching locomotive, to which he would not yield the right of way. The result was what he might have expected if he had had more sense.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's CHLORODYNE.

THE ORIGINAL and ONLY GENUINE

Advice to invalids—If you wish to obtain quiet refreshing sleep, free from headache, relief from pain and anguish, to calm and assuage the weary achings of protracted disease, invigorate the nervous media, and regulate the circulating systems of the body, you will provide yourself with that marvellous remedy discovered by Dr. J. Collis Browne (late Army Medical Staff), to which he gave the name of CHLORODYNE, and which is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma.

CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation and Spasms.

CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c. &c.

From Symes & Co., Pharmaceutical Chemists Medical Hall, Simla, January 5th, 1880: To J. T. Davenport, Esq., 33 Great Russell Street, Bloomsbury, London, Dear Sir:—We embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the wide-spread reputation this justly esteemed medicine, Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne, has earned for itself, not only in Hindostan, but all over the East. As a remedy of general utility, we much question whether a better is imported into the country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. The other brands, we are happy to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and judging from their sale we fancy their sojurn there will be but evanescent. We could multiply instances infinitum of the extraordinary efficacy of Dr. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne in Diarrhœa, and 2nd Dysentery Spasms, Cramps, Neuralgia, the Vomiting of Pregnancy, and as general Sedative, that have occurred under our personal observation during many years. In Choleraic Diarrhœa, and even if the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its controlling power. We have never used any other form of this medicine than Collis Browne's, from a firm conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of the opinion that the substitution of any other than Collis Browne's, is A DELIBERATE BREACH OF FAITH ON THE PART OF THE CHEMIST TO PRESCRIBE AND PATIENT ALIKE. We are sir, faithfully yours, Symes & Co., Members of the Pharm. Society of Great Britain, His Excellancy the Viceroy's Chemists.

CAUTION.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was, undoubtedly, the inventor of Chlorodyne; that the story of the defendant, Freeman, was deliberately untrue, which, he regretted to say, had been sworn to.—See "The Times," July 13, 1884.

Sold in bottles at 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each. None is genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.

Caution—Beware of Piracy, and Imitations.

NANAIMO :-: COURIER

TUESDAY, JUNE 4, 1889.

BIRTH.

In this city on the 22nd of May, the wife of Mr. G. H. Blakeway, of the Nanaimo Pharmacy, of a daughter.

DIED.

In this city on the 3rd inst Lousia, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Striethorst, aged 1 year and 7 months.

The funeral took place at 4:30 yesterday afternoon.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Stepped on a Broken Bottle.

H. McDonald, a young lad, cut his foot badly yesterday by stepping on a broken bottle while bathing near Forman & Campbell's boathouse.

Milton Street.

The chaingang, under the supervision of Mr. Beveridge, has nearly completed Milton Street as far as the railway crossing on the Comox road. This street is a wide one, and doubtless soon we shall see several new residences on it.

Under the Influence.

A fisherman from the river, who was slightly under the influence of the powerful sun, made things lively on Skinner street yesterday afternoon by dancing and singing, much to the amusement of several youngsters who gathered around him.

License Commissioner.

Alderman Hilberi was appointed last night to sit on the Licensing Commission as a representative of the City Council. The appointment of Ald. Hilbert, as a perfectly independent man, will doubtless receive the approbation of the majority of the citizens. We ourselves heartily congratulate him.

Nanaimo Assizes.

The Nanaimo Spring Assizes open today at 11 o'clock. Ah Sam, charged with larceny, will be defended by Mr. McElmen, Mr. Eberts (Victoria) will appear for the Crown. Mr. Paulus Æmilius Irving will appeyr for the Crown in the other cases to be tried. Two West Coast Indians will be charged with murder.

The Lansdowne Brewery.

J. L. Cawthorne, of the Lansdowne Brewery, called at the COURIER office yesterday and left half a dozen of the best bottled beer it has ever been our good fortune to sample. The Lansdowne Brewery is undergoing several repairs, and the beer manufactured there will doubtless sustain its reputation against any in the province.

Hotel Change.

Messrs. Osterhout & Kennedy have, we are informed, sold out their interest in the Central Hotel of this city to Geo. L. Howe and W. C. Halleck. We presume that Mr. W. C. Halleck will assume the management, as Mr. Howe, we understand, has various interests on the Sound which may require his presence. Mr. Halleck has been known in Nanaimo long and favorably, and is deservedly and widely respected. We wish to express our pleasure at once more seeing him a fixture in the town, and hope that he will obtain the success he merits.

Horse Race.

We are informed that a race has been made between W. Haslam's horse "Dexter" and T. Kilpatrick's black horse that won the scrub race on the 25th of May. The race is to be run on the 28th inst., and is for $150 a side; distance one mile and repeat, each horse to carry 140 pounds. The winning post will be at the Dewdrop Inn, which will necessitate the start taking place near the cut on the Victoria road.

The race between "Dexter" and L. Gabriel's "Molly" will not be run as the owner of "Molly" withdrew and forfeited the money put up.

Cricket.

There was some talk in the early part of the spring about the formation of a Nanaimo cricket club. We have heard nothing about the matter of late, though it seems a pity that such a grand game should be unable to take root among us. If a suitable ground could be obtained we prophesy that it would speedily become the favorite rendezvous of the youth of the town; cricket in many respects having advantages not possessed by football. If some of our local athletes would take the matter in hand with the determination to send the scheme along, the want of a suitable ground would, we think, not be long an insuperable difficulty.

Nanaimo Sawmill.

We visited Haslem & Lees' sawmill yesterday and were surprised to see the amount of lumber cut and stacked by this enterprising firm. Mr. Haslem showed us where he was constructing a new dam, with a sliding gate, for the purpose of keeping afloat the logs necessary for immediate use.

The firm has lately built a house for the storage of doors and window sashes. Under the eaves of the building are placed several feet of hose and ladders, to be used in case of fire. The hose is simply laid around the building, and not, as in ordinary cases, coiled. This plan was adopted because the hydrant, which is the property of the company, is close at hand.

The machinery was not working on the occasion of our visit owing to some repairs being made in the steam pipes.

The Nanaimo Brewery.

We visited Alderman Mahrer yesterday in his Brewery retreat and discovered that the worthy Alderman instead of occupying the whole of his time compounding fluid to allay the undying thirst of his customers, was equally interested in raising chickens, ducks, and peafowl.

Ald. Mahrer introduced us, with all due ceremony, to one of the finest peacocks it has ever been our lot to see. The bird seemed conscious of the attention paid to him and strutted proudly over the potato beds and young ducks with that mixture of pride and contempt that only a peacock can assume. Our next visit was to the bird's mate, which is sitting on several eggs in the garden and is watched with great solicitude by the Alderman and his help, bulletins being sent in whenever she abandons her nest for exercise.

We also looked into the cool cellars, which are being refitted, but of that we won't say much as the weather is warm and several have been there before and sampled the Alderman's beer as drawn from the wood.

Good Advice.

Don't insult a poor man, his muscle may be well developed.
Don't fret. The world will move as usual after you are gone.
Don't say "I told you so." Two to one you never said a word about it.
Don't throw dust in your teacher's eyes. It would injure the pupil.
Don't write long obituaries. Save some of your kind words for those living.
Don't imagine, even if you are an invalid, that everything is weakening. We have known butter strong.
Don't fret over financial difficulties. Only bide your time and real sorrow is sure to come.
Don't worry about another man's business. A little selfishness is sometimes commendable.

OUR CITY FATHERS.

The usual weekly meeting of the City Council took place last evening.

Present—His Worship Mayor Bate and Aldermen Nightingale, Webb, Abrams, Peck, Baker, Mahrer and Hilbert.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted,

COMMUNICATIONS.

A request signed by the Secretary was sent in by the Nanaimo Fire Department for a new hose cart, as they wish to keep one on Haliburton street.

The communication was received and filed.

A letter was received from Colin McDonald, saying that about six months ago, before he completed building his house, he had called the attention of the City Clerk to the filth and rubbish on his frontage. Nothing had been done and the nuisance might prove injurious to his family.

The City Clerk stated that he did not promise to have it abated, but wrote a letter in Mr. McDonald's presence directing the neighbors not to deposit ashes there, and they stopped doing so.

Ald. Nightingale said it was a nuisance and something ought to be done.

The letter was received and filed.

BILLS.

J. H. Frost, for making sidewalk, $15,
D. Smith, for making out the Assessment Roll, $80.

Referred to Finance Committee to be paid.

Two tenders were received for the clearing of Stewart street; one from Jos. and John Hunter, offering to clear 1980 feet long by 100 feet wide for the sum of $950.

Another tender was received from H. Campion and J. Bullock offering to complete the piece of road, according to specifications, for the distance of 2,000 feet, by 100 feet wide, for the sum of $750.

Referred to Street Committee.

Ald. Nightingale said there was a piece of cribbing to be done near the land to be handed over to the Tanning Company, and he thought the Company would subscribe half the cost.

Ald. Abrams said he would answer for the Tanning Company subscribing half the cost of the cribbing.

A tender was then read from Gartley offering to cut and deliver round cedar logs for five cents a foot and to build them up for $40, or to complete the job for $145.

Ald. Webb moved that the tender be accepted; Ald. Nightingale seconded it.

Ald. Peck—How much money has been expended on Mill Street?

Ald. Nightingale—Can't say exactly; but the work is drawing to a close.

Ald. Peck hoped so.

REPORT OF STREET COMMITTEE.

McDonald's gang was working part of last week on Mill Street and the remainder of the week was grading for a sidewalk on Albert Street. Baker and his men have been making a fill on Nicol street near Dixon Street.

The communication was received and filed.

Ald. Mahrer—I gave notice that I would move that an Alderman be appointed to the Board of License Commissioners. I propose Ald. Hilbert.

Ald. Webb—What are the duties of the Alderman appointed?

The Mayor—The Alderman has to sit as one of the Bench.

Ald. Abrams—I second Ald. Mahrer's motion. I wish to state that I heard that Ald. Hilbert was only intending to vote for one license. I don't think it is true but wish to mention it right here. I have every confidence in Ald. Hilbert.

Ald. Hilbert said he was under the impression that better men could have been found, and under the circumstances he must decline the election. I have said nothing to anyone about the matter

Ald. Abrams said he didn't wish Ald. Hilbert to resign as he reposed the utmost confidence in his integrity.

Ald. Baker proposed Ald. Nightingale.
Ald. Peck seconded the motion.

Ald. Baker said he considered that Ald. Nightingale had the best right to the position, as he had worked well and faithfully for the good of the city for some time.

Ald. Hilbert on being requested to stand, by his proposer, withdrew his resignation and said he would abide the issue of the contest.

Ald. Peck—Before the voting commences, I object to Ald. Mahrer voting.

The voting was done by a show of hands and Coun. Hilbert was elected.

Ald. Nightingale said he wished to thank his proposer and seconder for the kind words they had said regarding him, and he would endeavor, to the best of his ability, to do his duty. He had always striven to make the public money go as far as possible, and had invariably had the interests of the city at heart.

Ald. Peck said he again objected to Ald. Mahrer voting.

Ald. Webb said he would like the City Council to put up horse troughs as water was very scarce round the city.

The Mayor didn't think it was the duty of the City Council to provide water for other people's horses. The water, pipes and troughs will have to be provided.

Ald. Baker—We had two formerly and they didn't cost much.

Ald. Abrams—We have now to deal with the Water Works, and it is probable that people who are not paying for their water will use that in the trough.

Ald. Peck wished to know if the water in the dams would not play out.

Ald. Nightingale said that was not very probable, but at the same time we may have to pay for the water we give away. The scheme is a good one, but we want every dollar we have to use on the streets.

Ald. Abrams moved that the matter be referred to the Street Committee.

Motion carried.

Ald Hilbert—I have been up Franklyn Street and am satisfied there is plenty of drainage for the stagnant water that is lying in front of the Chinese wash house? I move that a man be put to work to clean out the drain.

Ald. Baker—If you call upon the Street Committee to clean out that drain you may as well call upon the City Council to clean out the drains all over the city. What we want is a system of sewerage throughout the City. What right have we to run filth from the front of a Chinese house to the door of a white man's house.

Ald. Hilbert said he referred to clean water, which he thought might better be allowed to run off and evaporate.

Ald. Webb said he believed there were some more seats needed in the Institute Hall.

The City Clerk said there were sufficient for ordinary purposes, and other entertainments supplied extra chairs. It is often difficult to find room for them.

Ald. Nightingale said that with regard to the hose cart it would be well to find out the cost of one before proceeding in the matter. No doubt it is wanted on Haliburton Street. He moved that the Firewardens find out the cost and communicate it to the Council, as a hose cart was wanted on Haliburton Street badly.

Motion carried.

Ald. Abrams—Has the City Council taken any action in the matter of obtaining legal advice and transferring the land to the Tanning Company? I move that Mr. McElmen be requested to revise the matter if he will do it as reasonably as any other lawyer.

Motion carried.

Ald. Mahrer—The Water Works Company is about to put in a main on Nicol Street. I think if the city would put in a few hydrants the Water Works would supply us with water for nothing.

The City Clerk—The last hydrants cost $54 each.

Ald. Mahrer—I think we can procure them in Victoria just a cheap and as good as anywhere else. We ought to find out what size and sort of hydrant they prefer to use. I move that the City Clerk be instructed to write to the Foundry in Victoria to ascertain the price of 3 and 4-inch hydrants.

Motion carried.

The Assessment Appeal By-law was read a third time and passed.

The Contagious Disease Amendment By-law was read a third time and passed.

Ald. Peck moved that the By-law be referred to a legal adviser for examination. Carried.

The Mayor—If the City Council intends making any amendments to the Revenue By-law, the time is drawing on now.

The meeting then adjourned.
