HON. ROBT. DUNSMUIR

THE HON. ROBERT DUNSMUIR PRESIDENT OF THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL AND ONE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA'S MOST NOTED MEN PASSES AWAY.

Great Sorrow Expressed at His Death.

A telegram reached this city last evening conveying the brief announcement, "DUNSMUIR IS DEAD," and in a very short time knots of men could everywhere be seen on the streets discussing the sad event, and expressions of sorrow, even from those who had differed from him materially in very many ways during his life, were sufficient to show the grief which they unfeignedly felt. His enterprise, and the progressive spirit which he had shown, his genial qualities of heart and mind were dwelt upon, and all were of the same opinion that in his death the country had suffered an almost irreparable loss. But Death spares none, and he lays his icy hand upon all, sooner or later, and his summons none may dispute. Mr. Dunsmuir has been, perhaps, the most prominent figure in the various branches of political and commercial life for a number of years, during which, by his farsightedness and his excellent abilities as a business man he had accumulated a large fortune and was known far and wide as the millionaire of British Columbia. Of course, a man in his position must naturally expect to have enemies, but it is said of him that his hand was ever open, and his ear never deaf to the calls of the needy and distressed; and how many are there who could attest to his quiet, unostentatious giving, of which the world never heard, and only the recipients could appreciate the large heartedness, the melting charity of the generous giver. And, now this man, whose name will be ever inseparably connected with the history, growth and material prosperity of this Province, is no more. The Angel of Death called him, and he passed to the realms of the great Unknown. Let us then, at this time, mourn with those who are called upon to mourn the loss of a father, husband, a friend, a high-minded, pure and honorable gentleman, and a man who was a fast and ever faithful friend of the country of his adoption. We append the following short sketch of the late gentleman's life:

Mr. Dunsmuir was born in Kilmarnock, Scotland, in 1824 and came to this province in 1851. He was in the employ of the Hudson's Bay Co. and being a practical miner he prospected for coal for that company. He was for some little time at Fort Rupert, but as coal was said to be found at Nanaimo he came here and began mining operations opposite Hirst Bro's store on Commercial street, where the Nanaimo Hotel now stands. After superintending the opening up of several other mines in the vicinity of this city, he located, the celebrated Wellington mines in which as every one on the Pacific Coast knows he was extremely successful, the mines proved valuable, and were mainly through his endeavors brought to a high state of efficiency, and the operation of these properties throughout has been distinguished by that practical skill and knowledge so necessary to affairs of this kind.

In 1882 Mr. Dunsmuir was elected to the Legislative Assembly for the district of Nanaimo, and was re-elected in 1886, when he was made President of the Executive Council, which office he held until his death.

The death of the Hon. Robert Dunsmuir will prove a sad loss to the province. His enterprising mind and master hand will be missed in many enterprises which were for the advancement and upbuilding of the province, and we sincerely mourn that he should have been called away at a comparatively early age.

Our sketch of his life is necessarily short and imperfect, but we may say that we as heartily and sincerely join in the sorrow expressed for his death as those who have called him friend for long, long years. And now that an eventful life is closed and a life's labor done, we can truly say, REQUIESCAT IN PACE.

Emperor William, doubtful as to what English feeling may be towards him on his visit to London in July, has inspired the semi-official declaration that the Emperor's supposed dislike to the English is a mistake, and that, after Germany, he loves England most.

"You poor little boy! On the streets in rags such a day as this! Have you no home?" "Yes'm, I live in that house on the other side of the street." "You have no mother, have you, little child?" "Yes'm, she and forty other women are in there now making embroidered night gowns for the Zulus."

A mania of suicide is prevalent in Pittsburg. In the past week nine attempts at self-destruction have been made.

It is stated that the Sultan has discovered a plot to depose him and place his brother's heir upon the throne.

CANADIAN NEWS.

Sir Charles Tupper and Lady Tupper left Winnipeg for this province on Thursday, and will probably arrive at Vancouver on Sunday next.

After the routine in the House Wednesday Sir Richard Cartwright moved, on going into supply, a resolution condemning the terms on which the four million loan, which was secured by the Government in England, at a nominal rate of 3½ per cent., but actually costing the country more than double that sum. Foster replied, defending his department. It was Sir Charles Tupper who seconded the loan.

The main line of the Welland canal will be open April 10th, the old canal branch May 1st, for the season.

"Railway travelling in Cuba," said a gentleman recently returned from there, "is a nuisance. It is slow in the extreme and as inconvenient as possible. The first-class cars are not as good as the second class in England. They are wretched affairs, with common wooden benches and no attempt at ornamentation. There is no upholstering of any kind. The only difference between the first and second-class cars is that the seats of the former are made of cane and also the backs of the seats."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

POLICE COURT.

Before J. P. Planta, Esq., S.M., M. Pate, Esq. J. P.

Albion Muzeto, on remand, was charged with assaulting Dominick Buzinio with intent to do grevious bodily harm.

Mr. E. C. Goulding appeared for the defendant.

Constable Stephenson asked for a further remand, as the complainant was as yet unable, owing to his injuries, to appear.

Mr. Goulding objected to further remand, as the prisoner had been detained for some time in gaol, and further there was no evidence of or certificate of any medical man before the Court to show that the complainant was not in a condition to attend the Court.

The Court remanded the case until Monday next, when the case would be proceeded with unless medical evidence or a certificate from the medical gentleman attending the prosecutor that he was unable to attend was produced.

Mr. Goulding also gave notice that if the case was further adjourned on Monday next he would apply for bail for the defendant.

CURRENT TOPICS.

Hamilton Times: As we expected, the result of the Enfield election for the Imperial Parliament was the return of the Tory candidate by a majority of 500 less than in 1886. As the constituency is a Tory preserve, the Liberals could only fight to bring down the majority, and that they have done in a way to show, as in the Kennington contest, where they won a brilliant victory, that in a general election the Tories will scarcely be able to hold any seat in the district of London where their present majority does not run into four figures.

Montreal Herald: Senator Read has introduced a bill in the Senate making it a criminal effence for any person to carry a pistol or an air gun without reasonable cause to fear an assault or other injury to his person, family or property, or without having a ticket of exemption signed by a stipendiary magistrate or two justices of the peace. Infraction of the statute is to be punished by fine or imprisonment. That some law of this nature is necessary will be generally admitted, but it does not go far enough. Some legal restrictions should be placed on the sale of such weapons as revolvers, as we suggested in the Herald the other day.

Montreal Witness: We have nothing to say in defence of the appointment of partisan journalists to the highest positions in the gift of the successful party. The system is corrupt and demoralizing, making servility to party the great stepping stone to prominence and filling public positions with those who have no training for them. Still worse, however, is the senate's reason for rejecting one of these partisans nominated by the president, namely that he had ventured to criticise the senate. The decision amounts to a decree: Know all men by these presents that whosoever dares to express opinions derogatory to the dignity of the senate need never expect to obtain any position controlled by that house.

Miss Marie Devoe (at the cookin school)—"Do you mean to say, chief, that we must put our bare hands into the dough?" Prof. Tartopomes—"Sairtainly M'm'selle." Miss Marie Devoe—"Perhaps that is why I failed with my bread last time. My gloves seemed rather in the way."

A teacher in a western town who asked one of her pupils to procure a grammar received the following note from the girl's mother: "I do not desire that Mattie shall ingage in grammar as I prefer her to ingage in more youseful studies and can learn her to speak and write proper myself. I have gone through two grammars and can't say as they did me no good—I prefer Mattie to ingage in German and drawing and vokal music on the piano."—Ex.

The steamer Isabel, Capt. Revely, arrived from Vancouver last night with several passengers. The Captain reported a rough passage.

Don't Hug in a Boat.

A young man named Perkins, of Tacoma, says the Seattle, W. T., Times, accompanied by a young lady from the same town, came over to Seattle yesterday to see the sights of the city. They rode out on the cable line to Lake Washington. The beauty of the city and the lake induced them to try a sail. A boat was hired and they were soon sailing along over the waters at a pleasing rate.

After a time the mere delights of boating palled upon them and White began exercising his nautical skill by hugging his girl instead of the shore. His arm tacked around her waist and he commenced to steer by the magnetic attraction of her eyes. Boats passed them, and many a smile was had at their expense, but they cared not.

Finally they sailed away from the maddening crowd, when old Boreas concluded to take a hand in the matter. He sent a sharp gust of wind along. The boat was not well trimmed and over it went. A moment later the young man had rescued his lady friend from the water and seated her upon the bottom of the boat.

He climbed upon it himself and scanned the horizon for a sail, but none was to be seen, and for an hour they sat with their feet hanging over into the water waiting to be rescued. The man, with all the inconsistency of his sex, had lost all desire to hug the girl and would have given a twenty if he could have hugged the shore. Another sailing party came along, noticed their plight and went to the rescue. The boat was righted and Mr. Perkins and his companion sailed back to safety and the boat house.

Some railroad man has given to the world what he knows on this subject in the following: A sleeper is the one who sleeps. A sleeper is that in which the sleeper sleeps. A sleeper is that on which the sleeper runs while the sleeper sleeps. Therefore, while the sleeper sleeps in the sleeper the sleeper carries the sleeper over the sleeper under the sleeper until the sleeper which carries the sleeper jumps the sleeper and wakes the sleeper in the sleeper by striking the sleeper under the sleeper, on the sleeper, and there is no longer any sleeper sleeping in the sleeper on the sleeper."

A case of unhappy marital relations, between two Italian families, residing at Wellington, occupied the attention of the court for some time. The evidence produced was not of the most flattering kind to any of the parties concerned and it is not reproduced. The case was adjourned.

E. C. Daniels, who in 1870 robbed a Boston bank, of which he was the trusted cashier, of $86,000, died a vagrant in St. Luke's hospital, New York, a few days ago.

Father Matthew warned a man against the use of inconclusive arguments—arguments which, to use a strictly temperance metaphor, will not hold water. He said he was once addressing an audience of Irish car-drivers, and told them they might learn a lesson from the brute creation.

"If," said he, "I were to set before one of your horses a bucket of water and a bucket of whiskey, you know which the wise beast would take."

Whereupon one of those quick-witted carmen replied—

"Well, father, if I were to place a truss of hay and a sirloin of beef, you know which the wise beast would choose. But does it follow that the hay is best for me?

A WARNING.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing Consumption and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all is dangerous, and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without attention is dangerous and may lose you life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nose is obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup, It will give you immediate relief.

OUR CLIMATE AND PROSPECTS.

There are climates and climates. People who live in the cold countries of the East only believe what our climate can afford, when they once visit the Pacific Province, the "Garden of the Dominion." Those of us who were fortunate enough to be born amid the snow and sleet, the freezing cold of the eastern provinces, and who have not forgotten the rigorous frost and the freezing blasts that swept down from the Arctic regions, and which, after all, were bracing and caused the blood to tingle in the cheeks of those who braved the biting blasts of their eastern homes, can remember the comforts and discomforts of their native climate. Then there are those who have lived amidst the snow-clad peaks of the Rockies of the neighboring republic; those who were accustomed to see the thermometer drop down to 50 or 60 degrees below zero, and with their spinal marrows fairly frozen, would long for a climate less rigorous and where the frosts of an implacable winter would not penetrate. Such is our climate. Who that has come from the chilling East does not appreciate the change from the cold blasts of the Atlantic to the balmy zephyrs of the Pacific? Eastern tourists who, from time to time, visit this province over our grand transcontinental route; those who came from the eastern and interior portion of the United States, are all unanimous in their commendation of the equable temperature of our climate, the magnificent scenery of our country and its grand resources. It cannot be doubted by the most skeptical that as far as our future prospects are concerned that they are rich with promise. A climate unrivalled; one which, taken all in all, no other country can boast of; no extremes of hot or cold; a pure, healthful atmosphere; great natural advantages; rich mineral, fishing, agricultural and lumber resources; who can doubt, who dare doubt of the great and glorious future awaiting this province, which up to a few years ago was comparatively unknown to the great number of people, and which, if they indirectly heard of it pictured it as barren, inhospitable, and only as the home of the untutored savage. But time changes, the star of empire pursues its way steadily, and to-day we find, that far from being unknown we are attracting attention from the world. And why should we not? Is it undeserved? Have we not advantages to offer the immigrant, the artisan, the laborer, that no other country on this continent can offer? Are not our resources greater, is not our province more magnificent, grander in all things which tend to the material prosperity of any of the other provinces of this broad Dominion. We believe so, and we know that the citizens of our common country are such as develop and make countries rich and prosperous. They have faith and courage, indomitable energy, perseverance under all difficulties, which is often unknown in older countries. Who that has studied in however an imperfect manner, the conditions and natural resources of the province can doubt its future. Its steady progress amid many difficulties is sufficient to convince the most skeptical. The growth of the Province at large mens the advancement of our cities, for they must share in the general tide of advancement, setting in on all sides of us. But as we have often pointed out before we want to be in a position to take advantage of the opportunities, presenting themselves in order to forge ahead and take our proper position amongst other progressive cities on this coast. We want unanimity of opinion, united action, faith in our future, our capabilities, and resources and if we have these we will not be left behind in the race, which is before us.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

ARE we going to have any celebration on the twenty-fourth of May? If so, it is time we were making our preparations to properly observe the day. Victoria is making extensive preparation, and an immense crowd of strangers is expected to visit the Capital city at that time. If we do not have sports of some kind, no doubt a large number of our citizens will go elsewhere. We have ample facilities for out door sports of all kinds; we have some of the best all round athletes in British Columbia; we have excellent boating facilities and we ought to take advantage of them. We hope the public meeting which is to be held, will be in favor of having a home celebration. Nanaimo ought to be able to present a pretty good programme of sports, and one that would be a credit to our city. Let us get a "move on," and see what can be done.

AN exchange says that a few days ago Andrew Carnegie presented to his workmen at Braddock, Pa., a splendid library, fully equipped, costing over $100,000, and in his speech to them commended their loyalty in accepting the steady scales of wages, which is one form of co-operative effort.

It may be taken for granted that this present was not the expression of a wholly disinterested benevolence. Mr. Carnegie doubtless understands that the use of this library by his workmen will help his business. The Fairbanks Brothers, in Saint Johnsbury, Vt, built and equipped a large and beautiful free library for that town, some twenty years ago, and in filling it with books had special reference to the cultivation and improvement of the mechanical and scientific skill of their workmen.

One result has been that these workmen have invented improvements in the scales they manufactuee and in the machinery for making them. The library has thus proved a good investment as an auxilliary to their manufacturing plant. It derogates nothing from Mr. Carnegie's beneyolence to think that he intended to secure some such a return for his gift. The library at St. Johnsbury has been a sort of an academy of science in which the workmen have had opportunities for intellectual improvement, and the shops have given an opportunity to apply their knowledge to the profit of their employers as well as themselves.

TEMPERANCE AT WELLINGTON.

The I.O.G.T. entertainment there on Wednesday evening was one of the largest and perhaps most representative audiences that ever assembled in Wellington. The popular and efficient Lodge Deputy, Mr. Robert Scott, presided as chairman. The meeting was called to order at 7:30. The hymn "Draw Me Nearer," was sung by the choir, under the proficient leadership of Mr. William Evans. The entire audience joined heartily in the singing. Prayer was offered by the Rev. F. Chamberlain. Music was then furnished by the Wellington Brass Band; and their playing was such as has rarely been our good fortune to listen to, reflecting great credit upon their able leader, and every member of the band. The chairman said that though an address might be expected of him, however great his inclination in this direction, he had been so much otherwise engaged that he had been unable to make the necessary preparation—so he would only read a short extract in connection with the work. This was well received.

Rev. Chamberlain briefly addressed the audience in substance as follows: He was more than happy to see so many present, and would accept it as a sure sign of renewed activity in the temperance cause. He then proceeded to show the evils resulting from strong drink, relating several touching incidents of homes and families that had been wrecked and ruined by it. He asked how it was that so many young men who had left their homes in the East, sober and industrious, had since become dissipated and worthless. He urged them to connect themselves with some temperance organization, so as to have placed about them a moral and restraining influence. The speaker then showed the relation between the church and the temperance cause, which he claimed was closely allied. He wished the Good Templars God speed in their great work. He thanked the audience for their close attention, and closed by saying that he would have spoken much longer but that he was unwilling to trespass upon the time of the lecturer, whom he deemed so amply able to treat the subject. A solo, "The Gipsy Boy" was well rendered and equally as well received by the audience. The recitation, by Mrs. Cavalsky, was happily executed in her inimitable way, and was loudly encored by the audience. Her second appearance only added to her first reception. "How well do I Remember," was very creditably sung by Miss McNull, and she may rest assured that it will be "quite well remembered." Mr. McLeod threw his whole soul into his recitation, and in a manner that was well appreciated by the audience. "We will Crown Them with Roses so Fair," was well sung by Miss Wilkerson, and she may rest assured that if not crowned with "roses so fair" she at least crowned herself with the thanks and best wishes of her hearers. The band then played, after which the speaker of the evening was introduced. Mr. Porter's presence upon the platform was greeted with applause. The following is a short synopisis of his remarks;

Mr. Chairman, G[illegible] Templars, Ladies and Gentlemen: When I look over this vast assembly I feel like saying, hurrah for Wellington! He believed that it was customary with speakers to take a drink before speaking so they would pardon him for the same. Pointing to the glass of water he said that it was better than any ten year old hundred proof Canadian or Kentucky rye whiskey on the continent. God gave it, nature brewed it, it was the elixir of life—life for time, life for eternity. It was as pure and undefiled as the sun is of heaven from which it sprung. No ghostly echo of the dissipated dead, from deepest well, breathed the blasting curse of damnation upon it. The key note of his discourse this evening would be "total abstinence for the individual; prohibition for the province, and long life for the Good Templars." After discussing numerous arguments that had been made in favor of drink, he spoke of the moderate drinker. "I used to be a moderate drinker myself—that is I didn't take more than twenty-five or thirty drinks a day—my 'eye opener,' my 'appetizer,' my 'night-cap' and frequent 'bracers.' It is quite lucky for me that I was not working in your mines when I was a moderate drinker, for there would have been an explosion sure." All drunkards were once moderate drinkers. Man was drunker with one drink than none at all. He refered to the beaver that was placed upon Canada's flag, and likened the results of moderate drink to it. The habit of moderate drink was more insiduous in its approach than all other enemies—the tiger growls before it pounces upon its victim, the eagle gives its scream; the viper its hiss—but this habit came unwarned in the guise of a friend. Drunkenness was the "Grand Trunk Railway" to hell, and moderate drinking the last flag station. Men objected to signing the temperance pledge, that did not hesitate to pledge all of thetr property for drink. It was safer for young men to pledge themselves to temperance, then it was to their best girl, for it would never flirt with them. He objected to drink because there was no necessity for it, for the injury that resulted from it, and the example that was set to others by drinking it. He was in favor of prohibition, because he found that 8 per cent of the criminals, 7 per cent of the inmates of poor houses and 5 per cent of the lunatics were made so by whiskey. He claimed that the making, handling, and drinking of whiskey directly cost the American people two billion five hundred million dollars in the year 1888. He said no man should be licensed to aide in this "wholesale hell" of destruction. No man had a right to kill his fellow man, even if the victim was ready and willing to die. That we had a perfect right to snatch the weapon from a man's head who was going to take away his own life with it. He did not question the motive of the tavern keepers but for himself he would rather be an exile and outcast, he would rather have a grave of oblivion, and an epitaph of forgetfulness than have it said that he had even aided in polluting or poisoning his fellow creatures.

He asked the votaries of drink to advocate their doctrines to their wives and children. The wife had the same right to a drink that the husband had. He said that Infidels had no right to object to prohibition, because it was advocated by Christians, for their greatest leader had said that alcohol was God's worst enemy and the Devil's best friend. Some men drank because it was fashionable; he supposed that the same men would want to go to hell if the practise ever became fashionable—and he could assure them that it would if they persisted in drinking. He said that strong drink required of its followers their money, mind and soul. He knew of but one thing in or under the world that required so much, and that was Beelzebub, the prince of devils. He spoke of temperance from a Scriptural standpoint, and asserted that had the wine been of an intoxicating nature that was made at the marriage in Cana by Christ, some of the moderate drinkers would only have to have been there to have been gloriously drunk.

The speaker then made an appeal to the ladies enlisted in the great work, for in them he hailed the coming saviour and redeemer of a drunken world. After a glowing tribute to the order of Good Templars, he said he would thank them for their extreme kindness by "standing the treat." He wanted everybody to "take something;" and he wanted that something to be the temperance pledge. The speaker was several times interrupted with applause and when he resumed his seat the audience demonstrated their appreciation by hearty applause. After the lecture, Messrs. John, Jones, John Huse, and John Thomas, the "three Johns" sung "Fair Flora Decks," and in a manner in which the "three Johns" only can sing it. The trio, was lustily encored, until they again appeared upon the stage. Their second appearance also received the unqualified appreciation of their hearers, "Live the Great Triumvirate Still." The "Milwaukee Fire," was well and sweetly sung by Misses Tiller and Wilks. The former also deserves especial mention for her efficient services as organist for the occasion. The chairman then thanked the people for their presence; the partakers in the entertainment for their kindness and said that in the history of a long life, he was unable to recall the time when he had spent so pleasant an evening and where everybody seemed so well satisfied. He hoped that the good work would go on, and extended a cordial invitation to everybody to join the order at their next regular meeting. His remarks met with a hearty response by the audience. The committee composed of Mr. Bateman (chairman), Mr. McAllister, J. S. Wilkes, Thos. Beedle and Mr. Joseph, deserve unstinted praise for their untiring efforts to make the entertainment a success. Their labors were amply rewarded and their expectations fully realized.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's

CHLORODYNE.

THE ORIGINAL and ONLY GENUINE.

Advice to invalids—If you wish to obtain quiet refreshing sleep, free from headache, relief from pain and anguish, to calm and assuage the weary achings of protracted disease, invigorate the nervous media, and regulate the circulating systems of the body, you will provide yourself with that marvellous remedy discovered by Dr. J. Collis Browne (late Army Medical Staff), to which he gave the name of CHLORODYNE, and which is admitted by the profession to be the most wonderful and valuable remedy ever discovered.

CHLORODYNE is the best remedy known for Coughs, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma.

CHLORODYNE acts like a charm in Diarrhœa, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery.

CHLORODYNE effectually cuts short all attacks of Epilepsy, Hysteria, Palpitation and Spasms.

CHLORODYNE is the only palliative in Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Cancer, Toothache, Meningitis, &c., &c.

From Symes & Co., Pharmaceutical Chemists Medical Hall, Simla, January 5th, 1880: To J. T. Davenport, Esq., 33 Great Russell Street, Bloomsbury, London, Dear Sir:—We embrace this opportunity of congratulating you upon the wide-spread reputation this justly esteemed medicine, Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne, has earned for itself, not only in Hindostan, but all over the East. As a remedy of general utility, we much question whether a better is imported into the country, and we shall be glad to hear of its finding a place in every Anglo-Indian home. The other brands, we are happy to say, are now relegated to the native bazaars, and judging from their sale, we fancy their sojurn there will be but evanescent. We could multiply instances infinitum of the extraordinary efficacy of Dr. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne in Diarrhœa and 2nd Dysentery Spasms, Cramps, Neuralgia, the Vomiting of Pregnancy, and as general Sedative, that have occurred under our personal observation during many years. In Choleraic Diarrhœa, and even in the more terrible forms of Cholera itself, we have witnessed its controlling power. We have never used any other form of this medicine than Collis Browne's, from a firm conviction that it is decidedly the best, and also from a sense of duty we owe to the profession and the public, as we are of the opinion that the substitution of any other than Collis Browne's, is A DELIBERATE BREACH OF FAITH ON THE PART OF THE CHEMIST TO PRESCRIBE AND PATIENT ALIKE. We are sir, faithfully yours, Symes & Co., Members of the Pharm. Society of Great Britain, His Excellancy the Viceroy's Chemists.

CAUTION.—Vice-Chancellor Sir [illegible] Page Wood stated that Dr. J. Collis Browne was, undoubtedly, the inventor of Chlorodyne; that the story of the defendant, Freeman, was deliberately untrue, which, he regretted to say, had been sworn to.—See "The Times," July 13, 1864.

Sold in bottles at 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., and 11s. each. None is genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle.

Caution—Beware of Piracy and Imitations.

NANAIMO :-: COURIER

SATURDAY, APRIL 13th, 1889.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

NEW FASHIONS.—The coming fashions for parasols will be sticks of forty-five inches in length. There will, however, be no change in the sticks for lemonade.

GENERAL MOURNING.—Out of respect to the memory of the late Hon. Robert Dunsmuir the business places of the city to-day will be closed and the day will be observed as one of general mourning for the deceased throughout the city.

A NEW CONNECTION.—Mr. Speer, the obliging telephone operator, informed us that a telephone connection had been made with Messrs. Haslam & Lees' saw mill yesterday. If there is anything good going these people seem to catch on and stick.

CARS IN MOURNING.—The train leaving Nanaimo to-day will be draped in mourning, owing to the death of the Hon. Robt. Dunsmuir, President of the road. Mr. J Hilbert carried out the wishes of the company in this respect with his usual good taste.

A NEW BOILER.—A large boiler was hauled up to Haslem & Lees' sawmill yesterday. Six horses and three drivers were employed to transport it. Evidently by their improvements, this firm expects a boom in lumber soon, and is determined to be prepared for it.

A NEW MINISTER.—It is rumored in Ottawa that Mr. Colby, who voted against the disallowance question, will succeed Hon. J. A. Chaplean as Secretary of State, the latter taking the position of Minister of Railways. Why should not British Columbia be remembered in the new deal?

CHANGE OF ROUTE.—The steamer Isabel Capt. Revely, will next Monday, change her sailing card. In future she will leave Victoria at midday for Nanaimo, and will leave Nanaimo on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 9 a. m. for Comox; returning the following day. She will leave Nanaimo on Saturdays at 7 a. m. for Victoria. See advertisement.

TOOK A TUMBLE.—Peck's sidewalk on the Long Bridge, got tired of being reviled as an eyesore, and as the municipal authorities did not seem likely to remove it, concluded to retire into the mud and ooze of the gulch, which it accordingly did yesterday, much to the amusement of the spectators. Some other equally ancient affairs in the city will be very likely to give the c. c. an equally pointed hint before long.

THE COAST SURVEY.—The United States Coast Survey steamer C. P. Patterson sailed from San Francisco yesterday for Alaska. She will touch at Port Townsend to take on board there 10,000 feet of lumber, which is to be used for building signal stations to assist officers in their triangulations. The Patterson will also stop at Departure Bay, where she will take 180 tons of coal. Work will be commenced at Cape Fanshaw, where the survey was discontinued in 1887.

LATEST FROM THE SEALERS—Mr. A. Frank, who arrived from the West Coast recently, confirms previous reports to the effect that the majority of the sealers have done well so far this year. Up to the day he left Clayoquot, the catch of the various schooners was reported as follows: The Aurora, 209; the Ariel, 209; the Mary Taylor, 246; the Juanita, about 40; the Kate, 246; the Sierra, 30; the Adele, 120; the Viva, 434; the There, 272; the Wanderer, 60; the Sapphire, about 540; the Black Diamond, about 170; the Annie C. Moore, 220.

A NEW LUMBER MILL—It is understood on good authority that the Victoria Lumber and Manufacturing Company have purchased two acres of land on the peninsula, nearly opposite the long bridge, and that they will, in the near future, erect thereon a large saw mill and lumber yard. The mill will be built on the most approved pattern, and will have a large cutting capacity. Mr. Peabody, of the Victoria company, negotiated the purchase of the property. The company will not erect their mills this season, but work will be begun during the summer, and it is stated the mills will be in active operation by the beginning of the winter. We heartily welcome such enterprises to our midst, and can assure the enterprising promoters that they can find no more suitable place in the province for the establishment of such an industry.

MRS. LANGTRY AS A SINGER—In a recent interview Mrs. Langtry said: "I will tell something funny that happened to me at my first profesional appearance, which was in January, 1882. I was to play Blanche Hay, and, if you remember, she has a song in the second act. I do not sing, consequently I had some one behind the screen to sing for me, while I played the accompaniment and imitated all the movements. The first night it was a great success, so much so that Clement Scott insisted that I was doing all the singing, but the second night the singer had either got intoxicated with her own melody, or had looked too often on the wine when it was red, for long after the time for her to stop, she kept on singing, and though she was conducted off the stage, the audience could still hear her warbling away as she was taken out of the stage door."

WINNIPEG WHITE CAPS.—Monday last here were two separate squads of men looking for "Professor" Ernest, says the Winnipeg Sun. One numbered about thirty-five, the other twenty. The smaller crowd found him before the tar and feathers were ready. He begged and pleaded so for mercy that they had to substitute axle grease, syrup, paregoric, etc. The party gave him a grand dose of feathers and the foregoing ingredients. They then showed him his way out of the city, having promised never to turn up in Winnipeg again. Should he return he will be treated to even a worse handling than he was subjected to before. The boys who took part in the affair were bound to rid the city of the professor. It is not known who the "White Caps" were, as they were disguised. It is said the professor has created disturbances in more families than one.

HONEST.—A party of fishermen went yesterday to the Nanaimo river. They called in at the COURIER office to say they caught nothing, but had a good time.

CHANGE OF SAILING.—Attention is directed to the change in the arrival and departure of the steamer Isabel, between this port, Comox and Victoria.

THE CHINESE MUST GO.—A Chinaman was seen being pursued down the street by a pack of dogs who seemed to enjoy the fun, which the Celestial didn't, if one may judge by his shouts for help.

MAL DE MER.—The Gulf does not often get very rough, but yesterday the passengers on board the various steamers plying between Nanaimo and local points owned up that the cabin fare did not suffer much and that the fishes enjoyed a benefit.

A SPECIAL TRAIN—A special train left Wellington and Nanaimo last night for Victoria, conveying Mr. and Mrs. Bryden and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey to the death bed of their esteemed relative, the Hon. Robert Dunsmuir.

WILL SURVIVE.—There are a great many "smart Alex's" in this town, no doubt, and there are a great many "mossbacks," but after all despite the presence of both classes the town will survive the "wreck of matter," which our local contemporary thinks imminent.

OUR TELEGRAPHIC REPORT.—The night operator who receives the COURIER'S press report was taken ill at Departure Bay, whither he had gone on business connected with the death of the Hon. R. Dunsmuir, last evening; consequently we were unable to receive the report in time for publication.

THE PUBLIC MEETING.—There should be a good attendance at the public meeting in the council chamber on Monday evening at 8:30 p. m., to devise ways and means for the proper celebration of the Queen's birthday. Let everybody attend. We ought to be to the front, for are we not as loyal as "they make them?"

AN INDIAN FIGHT.—Last night on the Nanaimo Indian Reserve some braves who had been sampling a brand of firewater which, to say the least, was not conducive to peace and good order on the reservation, indulged in a free fight. Hair pulling and considerable of the Indian vocabulary were indulged in, but the combatants, after the expenditure of a considerable amount of energy, separated without doing serious bodily harm to each other.

GAELIC SERVICE.—Rev. Donald Fraser, the esteemed pastor of the Pandora street Presbyterian church, Victoria, will deliver a sermon in Gaelic, the language dear to the Highland heart, in the Presbyterian church, this city, at 3 o'clock p. m. to-morrow (Sunday). Mr. Fraser who is an eloquent divine and an able preacher, will also conduct the ordinary English services at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. on the same day.

A HORNBY ISLAND EPISODE—A gentleman who resides on Hornby Island, and whose veracity cannot be doubted, told a COURIER representative last evening of an occurrence which he recently heard of there. Hornby Island is not of very great extent, but there are some very fine ranches, and those who have settled there are generally prosperous, happy and consequently contented. But there are always untoward events happening, and a prominent rancher, newly married, realized the truth of the above statement to the fullest extent. His rest was broken; the slumbers of the night were disturbed by unearthly noises, which aroused him from his couch, but the cause could not be ascertained. At length in sheer desperation he resolved to investigate, if it took him a week to do so. A six-shooter and a Winchester rifle in the hands of a determined man are formidable weapons. He waited and watched for three consecutive nights, when to his disgust and utter consternation, he discovered that the cause of his sleepless nights and anxious days, was the action of the tide, sighing amid the cavities of the rocks which lined the shore of his island home. Evidently the young man's sleep must have been light, or such trifles would not have had any effect upon his somnolent condition. It is vouched for that his slumbers were of sweetest before he was married. Is there any significance in this worthy of note.

Our Five-Year-Old.

Merry and restless all the time,
Sweet as a wild rose in its prime;
Pure as the lilly of the vale
Blooming in sweetness, fair and pale;
Bright as the sun's rays just at noon,
Lovelier than the sweetest tune—
As a bud's petals sweet unfold,
So do thy days, our five-year-old.
Winsome thy ways, and sweet thy smile,
Thy voice's melodies beguile;
On every day throughout the year
Thy laugh rings out, full, sweet and clear;
Our hearts in unison respond,
And love meets love in kisses fond;
What witchery our hearts doth hold—
Why love we so our five-year old?

Search ye all o'er the earth's broad face,
Where find a form so full of grace,
Where find a face more nobly fair,
Or mind which lovlier jewels wear?
The graces and the virtues meet,
And find within thy soul their seat,
Ah! surely wealth of love untold
Is fitly thine, our five-year old?

And as the years fly on apace,
When fills thy past an empty space,
Oh, may thy future bring to thee
God's wealth of love divinely free,
And lead the home where joys ne'er fade!
God grant to thee and us, dear maid,
At last to enter the gates of gold
All together, our five-year-old!
