Coal Operators are Defiant Toward Strikers.

WILL MAKE NO SURRENDER

QUESTION MITCHELL'S ABILITY TO HOLD OUT.

The Latter Makes a Plea For Arbitration and Hints at What a General Suspension Would Mean.

Wilkesbarre, June 23.—The independent operators and superintendents were interviewed today on president Mitchell's address to the public. None of the officials seen would allow their names to be used. There is no one in the region who is authorized to make a statement or give an opinion for the big coal companies. Such official statements or interviews can only come from presidents of the big companies in New York of Philadelphia. In the opinion of most of them here the address is cleverly written and will appeal to those persons who are not familiar with the conditions.

One superintendent, whose views are similar to the others, said: "That the miner does not get paid for all the coal he mines is not true. The miner is paid for 2400 pound tons, and he has to send to the surface on an average of 2700 to 3000 pounds of coal, slate and other impurities to get the ton of pure coal. Only about 10 per cent of the coal production is paid for by weight. The other 90 per cent being paid by measure. Attention should be called to the fact that Mr. Mitchell in speaking of last year's prosperity in coal mining quoted only the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western annual report. That company had an exceptionally good year because of peculiar conditions about its mines. The reports of other companies tell an entirely different story."

The miners' union will make an attempt to shut down the eleven washeries between Pittown and Carbondale that have resumed operations since the strike was began. There were no developments in the bituminous phase of the coal strike today. News from the west as to how the miners there stand is eagerly awaited. There is still much speculation as to what step the national convention will do. One of the district officers here said today he was of the opinion, if the supply of soft coal could be quite curtailed to a certain point, the proposition to call a general strike will not be pressed.

New York, June 23.—President H. M Oliphant, of the Deleware & Hudson Company, today made the following comment on the statement of president Mitchell's: "Mitchell's statement is misleading and unreliable as to facts and figures. If Mitchell proposes to call out the bituminous miners, and paralyize the entire industries of the country, he will find that he has taken upon his shoulders a job bigger than he is able to cope with. There will be no arbitration, that is certain. We will operate our mines again, with the men that are on strike now. They will be only too glad to come back, as no strike leader will be able to keep them out." Mr. Oliphant declined to enter into any detailed denial of the assertions made by president Mitchell.

The statement of president Mitchell, to which reference is made, was given to the press on Monday morning. It is a complete review of the situation in the anthracite districts and occupies about two columns of closely printed matter. Concerning the grievances of the miners president Mitchell says:

"For more than 25 years the anthracite coal mine workers of Pennsylvania have chafed and groaned under the most intolerable and inhuman conditions of employment imaginable. Their average annual earnings have been less than those of any other class of workmen in the United States, notwithstanding that their work is more hazardous and the cost of living greater than in any other important American industry. The total number of persons employed in and around the anthracite coal mines is 147,500. They are employed never to exceed 200 days in any one year and they receive as compensation for their services an average of $1.42 for a 10 hour working day. It will thus be noted that they earn annually less than $300. Such pay may supply a living on a par with some classes of European laborers, but who will say that it is sufficient to support American citizens or enable parents to educate and properly maintain their families? True it is that a 10 per cent increase in wages was granted by the coal operators as a strike concession two years ago, but it is also true that a large portion of this 10 per cent was paid back to the companies to buy the suppression of an old powder grievance. Moreover, according to reliable commercial agencies, the cost of living has increased, particularly in the purchase of foodstuffs, from 30 to 40 per cent, so that the purchasing power of a miner's earnings is less now than before the strike of 1900."

The statement ridicules as absurd the offer of president Baer, the recognized spokesman of the coal trust, to submit the books of the coal companies to prove that wages could not be increased, and says:

"Eighty-five or 90 per cent of all coal produced in the anthracite regions is from mines owned and operated by the various coal carrying railroads; the freight charges for delivering a ton of anthracite coal are three times as great as those of other roads for hauling a ton of bituminous coal one mile, and as a consequence the coal departments, which are actually earning enormous profits on a legitimate business, may and do appear to be losing money, for the reason that their railroad departments consume the profits of the coal departments by charging the coal departments exorbitant freight rates. Thus they rob Peter to pay Paul."

The statement concludes with the following offer to arbitrate:

"Conscious of the great responsibility resting upon us, apprehensive of the danger threatening our commercial supremacy should the coal miners of the entire United States become participants in this struggle, we repeat our proposal to arbitrate all questions in dispute, and if our premises are wrong, if our position is untenable, if our demands can not be sustained by facts and figures, we will again return to the mines, take up our tools of industry and await the day when we shall have a more righteous cause to claim the approval of the American people."

Wilkesbarre, June 23.—If the National Convention of Coal Miners of the United States, called for July 17th, at Indianapolis, declares for a strike, over 360,000 men will be called out, and as 95 per cent are organized, a suspension of work at mines producing over 212,000,000 tons yearly will ensue.

The states in which strikes exist today are Pennsylvania (anthracite), West Virginia, Virginia, and Michigan. Here are employed 178,498 workers, producing $7,869,626 tons of coal.

The states in which unions are organized having contracts with the operators and in which sympathetic strikes may occur are Pennsylvania (bituminous), Illinois, Ohio, Alabama, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Tennessee, and Missouri. In these states 184,035 men are employed, and 124,961,050 tons of coal are produced.

Those states and territories where unions are not organized, but where the men will be asked to join in a general movement, are Maryland, New Mexico, Colorado, Washington, Montana, Indian Territory, Arkansas, and Texas. Here are 77,336 men, producing 62,626,442 tons.

A general summary gives the following result:

Total number of mine workers, 440,769; total daily wage, $701,000; total yearly wage (230 days), $161,924,000; coal mined each year (tons), 275,157,118; value of coal mined, $306,500,000; amount invested in mines, $2,557,500,000.

KING'S GREAT DINNER PARTY

THE SOVEREIGNS OF THE WORLD WERE REPRESENTED.

CHAMBERLAIN ENTERTAINS THE COLONIAL PREMIERS.

London, June 23.—King Edward and queen Alexandra gave a grand dinner party tonight at Buckingham palace to royal personages who practically represented the sovereigns of the monarchies of the world. The list of their majesties guests was headed by the czarwitch of Russia, who arrived in London this evening, and included an imposing array of princes and princesses, and all the members of the British royal family.

Buckingham palace was beautifully decorated and the bands of Grenadiers and Coldstream Guards discoursed throughout the evening. The dinner was followed by a brilliant reception which was attended by the members of the suites of all the foreign potentates now in London.

A full and strictly private rehearsal of the coronation ceremonials, to be held in Westminster abbey, took place there this afternoon, in which everybody, with the exception of the royal personages and the participants in musical and religious features of the function, rehearsed their respective duties. The archbishop of Canterbury, Rev. Frederick Temple, and the lord chancellor, the earl of Halsbury, were among those who were drilled into their parts under the superintendency of the duke of Norfolk, the earl marshal.

The rehearsal lasted for two hours and for the coronation was rehearsed in full in the church house adjoining the abbey. The crowds were so great tonight in Trafalgar square, and in the various thoroughfares leading from this point, that the omnibuses found it impossible almost to proceed. The congested traffic above was practically repeated in the various underground routes, and the travel resources of the two penny tube and the steam underground lines were heavily taxed. Passengers on these lines had to wait long before they were able to board the overcrowded trains.

Joseph Chamberlain, colonial secretary, and Mrs. Chamberlain, received the colonial premiers and other distinguished visitors from Great Britain's colonies at their London residence this evening.

London, June 24.—Outward and visible signs that London is on the eve of the coronation are abundant. The decorators have done their work so thoroughly that the facades of many buildings are completely hidden beneath the masses of flags and bunting. The inrush of visitors during the past twenty-four hours has caused the leading thoroughfares to present a congested appearance. Detachments of military are cluttering hither and thither; bands are to be heard here, there and everywhere, and visiting royalties, including princes, grand dukes and those of inferior rank, are to be encountered at every turn. The slump predicted by the pessimists has failed to materialize. Evidently they had not calculated on the rush of visitors from the provinces, paying more attention to the visitors from foreign parts. The latter began to arrive several weeks ago, but the king's royal subects in all parts of the United Kindgom arb only now putting in their appearance, but they are coming with a rush that threatns to upset all of the early calculations. Railroad officials, police authorities and others who are in a position to give reliable estimates all agree that London today is entertaining the largest crowd in its history.

The king and queen interrupted their work of preparation for the coronation yesterday long enough to take part in a little gathering in celebration of the eighth birthday of little Edward of York. The British public is only just beginning to look upon the little prince in the light of a future king. The coronation has served to draw attention to the importance of the little fellow's place in the machine of state.

According to present plans Prince Edward will be a sailor, like his father, and within a few years he will go upon the training ship Britania to get his first taste of sea life. His present education consists of a few short lessons daily, given by Mlle. Briolu, for many years companion to the late Duchess of Teck. The king is said to be strongly opposed to "stuffing children with too much knowledge." His recollection is keen of how unpleasant it was to be a "walking dictionary" at twenty.

SUMMONED FOR CONTEMPT

EDITOR McADAMS WANTED BY THE FULL COURT.

EXCEPTION TAKEN TO REMARKS ON COLLOM'S PULL.

Victoria, June 28.—(Special to The Daily News.)—W. McAdams, editor of the Sandon Paystreak, has been summoned by the Full Court to appear before it in Victoria on July 2nd, on a charge of contempt of court. This arises out of a statement made in the Paystreak that J. F. Clark of Rossland, was unable to get his case for a commission, against J. Frank Collom, for the sale of the Arlington mines, before the courts, owing to Collom's pull.

GOODEVE IS WELL PLEASED

EASTERN MANUFACTURERS WILL ASSIST KOOTENAY.

THOROUGHLY AROUSED ON THE TARIFF ISSUE.

A. S. Goodeve, who has been at Toronto attending the session of the Boards of Trade, was a passenger on the train last evening over the Crow's Nest. Mr. Goodeve continued on to Rossland the same evening, but was seen en route by a representative of The Daily News, to whom he expressed himself as well pleased, so far, with the results of his mission.

"The trouble was," Mr. Goodeve stated, "the eastern people did not understand the situation at all, and the first question was as to how any change of tariff could be of material benefit to the people of the Kootenays. When the matter was fully explained to them they were strongly in favor of the tariff reform asked for. As an example of this, of the large number of resolutions that came up for discussion, ours was the only one that was passed unanimously, that is, outside the routine resolutions. The manufacturers of paint who were at the meeting were especially enthusiastic, and those from Winnipeg promised to send a delegation to Ottawa if it is required, to back the Kootenays up in their demand, which they for the first time understood.

"What I especially explained was the action of the smelter trust in the United States, in its effect now, and probable effect in the future on the lead and paint industry for Canada. When shown how the matter affected not only British Columbia, but also the whole dominion, the keenest interest was displayed throughout, and not only at the meeting, but afterwards and personally, a large number of the most influential manufacturers and merchants present enquired particularly regarding many of the details of the matter in hand, and promised their support in every way possible."

CUBA'S RACE PROBLEM.

Blacks Insist Upon an Even Break With the Whites.

Havana, June 23.—At a meeting of the colored inhabitants of Cuba, held here today, the participants voted to petition the Cuban congress to annul the existing military orders which make distinctions against the blacks. They denied any intention of rising, and said they were not conspiring, but simply claiming their rights legally and with dignity. They declared the country belonged to them, equally with the whites, and expressed a desire to live in peace. Those present asserted that the black and white races were on an equal footing in Cuba. As a result, of the recent clamor raised by the blacks for office they have been offered eighty places on the police force, and twelve positions as letter carriers.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Middleton, New York, June 23.—Joseph P. Conkling, a machinist, shot his wife dead this afternoon and then put a bullet through his own brain. He threatened his youngest daughter, but she escaped from the house. The couple had just had a quarrel and Mrs. Conkling was preparing to leave the house when she was killed. Conkling had been in poor health.

CANADIANS DISGRUNTLED

Find They Are Small Factors in the Show.

CABBIES HARPOONING THEM

THIRTY GUINEAS TO DRIVE TO THE CORONATION.

Provincial Premier and His Wife Are Bumped Around Most Unceremoniously by Hilarious Natives.

Montreal, June 23.—The Star's London correspondent cables: "Premier Laurier spent Sunday quietly at the Hotel Cecil. He had a bad passage, and was confined to his cabin almost throughout the voyage. He still looks pale, but says he expects to be quite himself before Thursday. He is keeping in quiet as far as possible. Lady Laurier is also unwell.

"Today sir Wilfrid and had an interview with lord Strathcona, at the hotel. In the course of a conversation with the Star's special correspondent, this afternoon, the premier expressed the greatest pleasure on his return to England, especially in this era of peace, the news of which rejoiced all Canada. In discussing the war he said the British troops behaved splendidly, as they always do. It was a faulty generalship and not the soldiers conduct which caused the reverses of the war.

"Sir Wilfrid refused to discuss coronation affairs in any way, thus offering a marked contrast in his reticence to premier Seddon, of New Zealand, and some of the other premiers.

"The military tattoo so gradiloquently announced to take place at Alexandra palace on Sunday night, as London's welcome to the colonial troops, proved a miserable failure. The Canadian troops, including Strathcona's Horse, made an excellent personal showing, as did the Indians and Australians, but the palace authorities so mismanaged the whole affair, in failing entirely to provide for the regulation of the crowds that the military dare not hold the tattoo.

The colonials are very angry. One Canadian premier, who was buffeted about the crowd with his wife, said this morning: 'I can understand all that has happened in South Africa. It is disgraceful.' In conclusion, he quoted a few short, sharp Canadian protests which he thinks likely to serve to wake up the war office.

The Canadian ministers and the provincial premiers are suffering from Londoners' extortionate demands. They are paying as high as thirty guineas per carriage to take them to Westminster abbey on Thursday."

THREE MEN KILLED.

Fatal Cave-in at the New Seagirt Rifle Range.

Seagirt, New Jersey, June 23.—The partially completed rifle range caved in to-day, catching three men, and crushing them to death instantly. Gen. Bird W. Spencer, the inspector general of rifle practice of New Jersey, and his assistant, Lieut.-Col. Richard B. Reading, who had only the moment before stepped in to talk to the men, while on an inspection of the work, had most miraculous escapes from the same fate. The men who were killed were Anson Hale, John B. Marshall and Jacob Schibley, residents of Manasqua, New Jersey. All three are married. Hale leaves a family of eight, and Schibley two children. Last winter the legislature of New Jersey appropriated $7,000 to rebuild in concrete the butts of the rifle range. The quartermaster-general was put in charge of the work. It had been completed with the exception of the framework in the 600-yard pit. It was here the men were working. Col. Olcott says the accident will not interfere with the holding of the interstate contests in August and September.

SURPLUS OF SUGAR.

Washington, June 23.—It is to be expected that the visible supply of sugar in the world on August 31st, the end of the European season, 1903, will show an enormously overstocked market, says consul Diderick, at Bremen, Germany, in a report dated May 26th, which was made public at the state department today. The average shortage in this year's sowing of beets, the consul says, is about 17 per cent., but this decrease he declares, would not bring about such a diminution in the production of sugar as to relieve the present glutted market, and especially if the United States and the cane growing countries increased their production.

McFADDEN KNOCKED OUT.

London, June 23.—Kid McFadden, of San Francisco, was knocked out by Ben Jordan, the English pugilist, in the 15th round, at the National Sporting club here to-night. The contest was held in connection with the coronation tournament, and the fighters afforded the members of the club an opportunity to witness a fine struggle. Jordan, the Englishman, started in a pronounced favorite. There was plenty of severe hitting, and it was anybody's fight up to the tenth round, when Jordan shone prominently with a series of visits on McFadden's body. In the twelfth round McFadden knocked the Englishman down, but the latter rose, apparently unhurt. After this Jordan indulged in some tremendous hitting, and fifteen seconds before the close of the fifteenth round he knocked out McFadden with a fine cross landed on the point of the jaw. McFadden was still unconscious at the end of the full count.

TROUBLE BREWING IN DUBLIN.

Dublin, June 23.—On account of the fear of serious disturbances of the peace on coronation day, the lord mayor of Dublin, T. C. Harrington, has advised the Unionists to jubilate in a manner which will not offend anyone. He also urges the Nationalists to extend freedom, in the fullest sense, to those with whom they differ. Hand bills have been circulated here urging the children to Dublin not to attend the coronation entertainment to be given for them.

INVASION OF AMERICANS

WILL BUY MILLIONS OF ACRES IN THE NORTHWEST.

GREATEST LAND SPECULATION IN CANADA'S HISTORY.

Winnipeg, June 23.—While king Edward is being crowned, Uncle Sam's kings of finance will be in jubilation in Winnipeg on coronation day preparatory to going northwestward to buy up millions of his Canadian domains. They come from New York and Chicago, and at the head of the contingent are J. Eckles, former comptroller of the currency, and now president of the Commercial National bank, Chicago, John C. Welling, vice-president of the Illinois Central railway, Governor Van Sant, of Minnesota, Governor Cummings, of Iowa, Col. A. D. Davidson and other "Cecil Rhodes" of the American west. Fred. Heubach, a Winnipeg financier, is chaperoning the party. The trip will be northwestward to Prince Albert, where hard wheat grows sixty bushels to the acre.

IRREGULARITIES IN DAWSON

COLLECTOR DAVIS SUSPENDED AND RESIGNS.

CHARGED WITH TAKING MONEY FROM ALASKA COMPANY.

Victoria, June 23.—(Special to The Daily News.)—A Dawson special says: D. W. Davis, collector of customs at Dawson, has been suspended for irregularities in the customs department. After his suspension he resigned. A. A. Cook, formerly of Vancouver, in the same department, has also resigned. It is charged that Davis received a large sum of money from the Alaska Exploration company.

It is probable that criminal proceedings may be instituted against the officers of the company.

Inspector McMichael discovered the frauds shortly after his arrival.

E. S. Bushby, formerly at Skagway, has been temporarily appointed to fill the vacancy.

The claim against the company, with penalties, will reach $50,000 or more. The evidence secured by inspector McMichael is said to be very clear. Other charges may be made.

QUESTIONABLE TRADING.

New York Exchange to Enquire into Manipulation of Railroad Stocks.

New York, June 23.—Three or more stock exchange houses have become involved in a dispute growing out of the transactions in the bonds of the united railroads of San Francisco, which are traded in on the curb. The governors of the exchange have been requested to adjudicate the matter, and will probably make known their decision on Wednesday. The bonds of the United roalroad were very active at 6 1-4 points advance today, and rumors of trouble came soon after the close. Brown Bros. & Co., bankers of this city, and head of the syndicate which underwrote $20,000,000 of these bonds, admitted that one-quarter of this amount had been sold by them for account of certificate holders to San Francisco interests. The bonds are traded in "when and as issued," and because of certain reservations in the subscription agreement, the terms of which Brown Bros. & Co. refuse to disclose, it has been made possible to effect a squeeze against the short interest. It is this peculiar situation which has caused the matter to be brought before the stock exchange.

KING ALBERT'S FUNERAL.

Dresden, Saxony, June 23.—The funeral of king Albert, of Saxony, who died on June 19th, which took place this evening, was most impressive. The Catholic church, where the funeral service was held, was draped in black, and the nave of the church was occupied by members of the diplomatic corps here. The extraordinary missions to Dresden, to attend the king's funeral, which included Andrew D. White and the marquis DeNoales, respectively the American and French ambassadors to Germany, ministers, members of the diet, deputations of foreign officers, etc. The royal mourners arrived at the church in a long procession; they included king George and the princes of Saxony, emperor William of Germany, and emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, the grand duke of Baden and others. The widow queen Karole, and the empress of Germany, together with the Saxony princess, occupied two pews in the church. Dr. Brendler, the court chaplain, delivered the funeral oration. At the conclusion of the services, the royal coffin was lowered into a vault beneath the church. As this was done volleys of cannon and musketry were fired outside the building. Emperor William and emperor Francis Joseph left Dresden late to-night.

MORGAN'S MERGER.

Bremen, June 23.—An extraordinary meeting of the shareholders of the North German Lloyd line steamers held here today unanimously adopted certain alterations in the articles of association devised to meet the new conditions created by the fact that the German company has joined the American steamship combine. Herr Plath, president, reiterated that the company's contract with the Morgan group was purely a commercial one, and that under it the North German Lloyd line would be better enabled to utilize its resources.

BOXERS MURDER CONVERTS.

Pekin, June 23.—An American missionary named Cartwright has telegraphed to Pekin from Chin Tu Fu, in the province of Suchwan, saying that a Methodist chapel there has been destroyed, and ten Chinese converts have been killed by the Boxers. Mr. Cartwright says also that the Boxer movement is spreading in that region.

KITCHENER AND FRENCH.

Capetown, June 23.—Lord Kitchener and General French sailed for England today on the steamer Orotava.

NO RESULTS ARE EXPECTED

COLONIAL PREMIERS WILL NOT MAKE ANY SUGGESTIONS.

HAVE NO HOPE IN CHAMBERLAIN'S TRADE PROJECT.

London, June 23.—A bitter surprise awaits the colonial secretary, Joseph Chamberlain, in connection with his approaching conference with the colonial premiers, who are now in London for the purpose of attending the coronation of king Edward. For months the government has been urging parliament not to express any kind of opinion upon the feasibility of preferential trade with the colonies, and when introducing measures tending to such an end it has warded off discussion on the ground that it would not be fair to do or say anything until the colonial premiers had had a chance to announce their views upon the subject. Unfortunately for the government the premiers had already come to a decision that they would refuse to make any suggestions until the imperial government puts forward its own intentions. That is exactly what the cabinet not only does not want to do, but cannot do. Hence a perfectly tame and futile ending may be safely prophesied for the much-advertised conference with the colonial premiers.

One of the latter said to a representative of the Associated Press: "We have no voice in the fiscal policy of Great Britain, and have not always complete control of our own. Obviously it is the duty of the mother and governing country to make propositions to us, instead of our making propositios to it. We might sit for months and arrive at no conclusion satisfactory to all of the colonies, and in the end find that the deliberations were filed away in some pgeon hole in Downing street. Lord Salisbury has publicly stated his disbelief in the practicability of colonial preference, and Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, the chancellor of the exchequer, has openly declared his hostility to the idea. So, what is the good of our having a mock debate for the sake of holding up Mr. Chamberlain's hands into the empty air?"

The only end likely to be achieved at this really notable meeting is one which is particularly interesting in the United States and Canada. The Associated Press learns that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian premier; Sir Robert Bond, the premier of Newfoundland, and Mr. Chamberlain intend to thresh out their long-standing differences of opinion, and on all sides there is hopefulness that a conclusion will be reached regarding the Bond-Blaine convention. Newfoundland is determined to have the matter settled, and regarding the questions now pending between the United States and Canada the prospect of a satisfactory agreement appears bright, though such matters as the Alaskan boundary and the remeeting of the joint high commission are involved.

Another noteworthy item in connection with the conference is that a proposition will be brought forward for the confederation of Newfoundland and Canada. Newfoundland will not consent to losing her individuality as the oldest colony, especially in view of her present satisfactory financial condition, though Canada's offer to include the island in the dominion would mean a reduction of 20 per cent. of the taxation now necessarily imposed on the Newfoundlanders. Sir Robert Bond believes that the same end can be better achieved through reciprocity with the United States, which is much more important to Newfoundland than imperial trade preference.

COMPROMISE IS REACHED

Toronto's Strike Lasted But Three Days.

VICTORY FOR ARBITRATION

MEN SECURED INCREASE BUT FAIL ON RECOGNITION.

Vote to Be Taken Under Board of Trade Auspices Upon the Scale Demanded By the Men.

Toronto, June 23.—The street railway strike is ended. It was finally declared off at 4 o'clock this afternoon, and cars were once more run, so that for the first time since Friday the public has had the benefit of the service.

The settlement is a compromise. It was effected through the offices of the arbitration committee of the board of trade. The wage scale offered by the company is accepted until July 1st. It is graded according to the terms of service, from 17 cents per hour for the first year, to 21 cents per hour, for men ten years in the company's employ. The second year men get 18 cents, third, fourth and fifth year 19 cents, and from five to ten years 20 cents.

Between now and July 1st the employees are to hold a meeting under the auspices of the board of trade, and vote by ballot for either a continuation of the new scale, or the scale demanded by the men, which is 18 cents for the first year, and 20 cents afterwards. After the men vote the company will adopt. The company does not object to men organizing, but refuses to recognize any union or receive grievance committees from it. Any employee shall have the right of appeal in person to the general manager, and bring with him witnesses, etc.

The company agrees to clean cars on Sunday. This increase the men will gain, being equal to a full working day.

The men voted acceptance of the compromise and at once returned to work. The full service will be on in the morning. The police on duty at the barns were relieved, and the militia placed in charge to prevent trouble. The men had a parade tonight in honor of the settlement.

KNIGHTS OF ST. JOHN.

Rochester, June 23.—Every part of the United States and Canada is represented at the twenty-fourth annual international convention of the Knights of St. John, which opened here today to continue until Friday. Large delegations are here from Toronto and other cities of the dominion. California, Colorado and New Mexico have sent commanderies to enter the competitive drills for the world's championship. Detroit, Erie, Buffalo, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Syracuse and other cities of the east and middle west are represented by delegations numbering several hundred each.

The gathering was formally opened this morning with a mass, celebrated in St. Patrick's Cathedral, and an address delivered by Rt. Rev. Bishop McQuaid. Conspicuous among those in attendance were the supreme president of the order, Henry J. Fries, of Erie; supreme second vice-president, Thomas McFarland of Philadelphia; supreme secretary, M. J. Kane, of Buffalo; supreme treasurer, John B. Todenbier, of Detroit, and adjutant-general, T. H. Lienesch, of Dayton, O.

JEFFERSONVILLE'S CENTENIAL.

Jeffersonville, Indiana, June 23.—This city kept holiday today in celebration of its 100th birthday. The preparations for the event, which have been in progress for nearly a year, were completed last evening and when the citizens were awakened at day break this morning by the firing of cannon, the ringing of bells and the screeching of whistles, they found the city decked in gala colors. During the early morning hours visitors poured in from all quarters and long before the centennial parade had started down town the streets were crowded as seldom before. The parade was the most notable demonstration of its kind ever seen here. There were more than a dozen divisions, comprising the fire and police departments, state militia, secret and patriotic orders, fraternal organizations and hundreds of private conveyances elaborately decorated with flags and flowers.

The parade was followed by formal exercises of an historical nature. There was a programme of music and speeches by honorable Frank B. Burke, the honorable John Griffiths of Indianapolis and colonel James Gigwin of Louisville.

WINNIPEG FOOTBALL TEAM.

Winnipeg, June 23.—The Shamrock football team of this city, the Manitoba champions, who leave on Friday on their eastern trip, were given a benefit match this evening. They played against the All-Winnipegs and won easily, 6 goals to one.

CHEAP LABOR.

As an exponent of British Columbia affairs the B. C. Review, a weekly journal published in London as "a weekly chronicle of the growth of Canadian enterprise," has never attained a high rank and its views on some of the topics of current interest in this province are strangely out of tune with local feeling. Commenting some time ago on the action taken in Atlin to discourage the employment of cheap Japanese labor in the mines there, the Review hazards the opinion that "by preventing this (the employment of Japanese) the companies will have to employ white workmen at a far higher scale of wages, which will prevent them opening up their properties economically, as they would otherwise have been enabled to do, and in the event of the result being discouraging, the work would doubtless close down to the detriment of the whole district."

The same line of argument, varied to suit the case, has been used time and time again in favor of employing Chinese and Japanese in every field of labor in British Columbia. Experience is a better teacher than theory and the experience of many years has shown that the so-called cheap labor is dear at any price. There are other things to consider besides the cheap development of a mine or any other property. The development of the country as a whole calls for the first consideration of everyone honestly devoted to the welfare of the province. It has been conclusively proved that the presence here of Chinese and Japanese has retarded progress in that they have kept out of employment white men who, with their friends and families, would have been instrumental in building up, not one trade or calling alone, but the country as a whole.

It is quite true that it is highly desirable to develop any enterprise in the most economical manner possible, but here common prudence is called for and the concern that blindly puts to work a large force of unskilled men to open up a property about whose value there is a considerable amount of doubt, is taking the best method of inviting the very failure it is so desirous of avoiding. If our resources are too lacking in the elements of success to warrant the employment of wage earners of our own race, and at a fair rate of pay, they are not worth developing at all. It is not, as the Review hints, a case of regarding the restrictions against Oriental labor as a triumph for the workman, but a case of filling the country with a class that will be a benefit to it in every sense. The cost of labor may seem high to those not conversant with the conditions, but until the cost of living becomes less tran at present there can be no change. The laborer is worthy of his hire.

THE SUPPLEMENTARIES.

The supplementary estimates were presented to the house on Friday last, providing for an additional expenditure of $114,476.50 for tre year ending June 30th, 1903, and for the present fiscal year, which ends with the close of this month, of $26,592.10, making a total of $141,048.60. The main estimates provided for an expenditure of $2,486,127.31 and adding to this the amount of the supplementaries as given above, the total estimated expenditure for the ensuing fiscal year stands at $2,627,175.91, against an estimated income of $2,222,-568.65, a difference of $404,607. Included in the supplementaries is an item of $15,000 to cover interest on the odd half-million of the new loan which was omitted in the main estimates, and a further sum of $5,000 as sinking fund for the same purpose. Attention was called to this omission some weeks ago in these columns while considering the question of provincial finances and the current expenditures. If the expenditures were confined to the amounts specified in the estimates, there would be something like a reliable guide in arriving at an opinion as to the future state of the financial question, but, unfortunately, the unending overdrafts and the frequent calls for loans render this almost impossible.

The supplementary estimates which were put through during the last hours of the recent session contain an appropriation of $2,500 for the "South Fork and Kaslo creek" wagon road.

By a bill now before the United States senate it is proposed to materially amend the mining laws of the United States, by abolishing extra-lateral rights. The proposal is generally endorsed, and when the senate is through with the bill the United States will have a mining law essentially the same as British Columbia's much abused Mineral Act.

William Whyte, assistant to president Shaughnessy, of the Canadian Pacific, is to have a new position. Report has it that at the annual meeting of the company, to be held on Monday next, a division will be made of the company's land department, and a new company created for the purpose of administering the lands. This company is to have a capital of $100,000,000 and Mr. Whyte is named as the president of it.

The Provincial Progressive party will commence its campaign of organization of the labor forces of the province this evening, when Chris Foley, of Rossland, the president of the new party, will deliver an address in Vancouver. Last evening the people of the Terminal City were given an opportunity to hear Eugene V. Debs, the celebrated labor-socialist, who will speak in Nelson on Sunday next.

The number of spoiled ballots that have cropped up in the recounts in Ontario in connection with the recent elections have awakened the press to the necessity of providing means for the protection of the ballots of intelligent voters. There are all kinds of safeguards thrown around those who have not sufficient intelligence to place a cross opposite the name of the candidate for whom they wish to vote, but nothing to protect the man of intelligence from having his ballot spoiled by acts of omission or commission on the part of hair-brained officials who are charged with the conduct of the election.

The Victoria correspondent of The Daily News wires to the effect that William McAdams, editor of the Sandon Paystreak, is to be summoned before the full court to answer to a charge of contempt. This is where frank treatment of questions not infrequently leads to. "Billy" is probably not alone in his contempt, but he is the only one who has had the temerity to get his contempt off his chest, and tell his readers in a few chaste sentences just what he thought of the be-wigged wisdom of the bench.

The proceedings which have been taken against several of the disaffected street car conductors of Toronto, charging them with systematic robbery of the company's fare boxes, have come at a bad time, since it is almost sure to detract from the sympathy which would naturally follow the men in their attempt to secure better wages. From the evidence that has been given, so far, it is apparent the company was suspicious that it was not getting all the cars earned, and a Pinkerton detective was employed to work on the case. He wormed himself into the confidence of the men suspected and soon found out that a number of the conductors were getting at the contents of the fare boxes by means of a piece of thin steel, by the use of which it was possible to extract silver, as well as paper tickets. The arrest of several of the conductors followed, and their trials are now being proceeded with. One of the accused, before his arrest, is credited with having made the statement that the takings of the dishonest conductors would aggregate over $500 per day.

PRINTERS' INK PHILOSOPHY.

Advertising is simply telling people where they can get some desirable article.

Only the business man of long experience is able to realize how prone people are to procrastinate, especially in the matter of making purchases. Their attention must be called again and again to their own obvious needs, and they must be spurred up to buy now what they have resolved but have neglected to buy. One important part of the purpose of advertising is to remind people that they need certain things.

Advertising is another means of saving a customer's time in selecting a place to buy. The average man hates to buy things. He will wear his shabby shoes a week or two before he sets out to buy a new pair, and the selection of a suit of clothes is a dreaded enterprise. He hates to take upon himself the burden of deciding which are the best shoes and the best clothing store. If he sees certain ones advertised he is more than prone to favor them, for advertising is practically a guarantee of honest worth nowadays. He knows that merchants do not use newspaper space for amusement. So when the soles of his shoes get thin, or the lapels of his coat grow limp, he will, more than likely, go to the place where advertised articles are sold, buying in all confidence. And results usually convince him that he did the wisest thing possible.

CAUSE OF FALLING HAIR.

Dandruff, Which is a Germ Disease—Kill the Germ.

Falling hair is caused by dandruff, which is a germ disease. The germ in burrowing into the root of the hair where it destroys the vitality of the hair, causing the hair to fall out, digs up the cuticle in little scales, called dandruff or scurf. You can't stop the falling hair without curing the dandruff, and you can't cure the dandruff without killing the dandruff germ. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Newbro's Herpicide is the only hair preparation that kills the dandruff germ. Herpicide is also a delightful hair dressing.

SIR WILFRID INTERVIEWED

DOMINION ANXIOUS TO SETTLE BOUNDARY DISPUTE.

ATTITUDE OF UNITED STATES IS UNREASONABLE.

Premier Laurier, previous to his sailing for England, gave an interesting interview to the representative of the New York Herald touching upon the relations between the Dominion of Canada and the United States, as well as matters which are likey to come up for consideration at the approaching conference of colonial premiers in connection with the coronation, as well as the necessity for immediate action on the part of the United States and Canada for the settlement of the Alaskan boundary dispute. In the course of his interview Sir Wilfrid says:

"The most important question just now, as affecting the relations and friendly feeling existing between Canada and the United States, is the Alaska boundary question. This situation is full of danger, and all that is required to precipitate a disgraceful conflict is the discovery of gold in the disputed territory," said Sir Wilfrid. "That so extremely important an issue," he continued, "should have been left open so long, is not creditable to either government. When the joint high commission adjourned sine die the Alaska boundary question was referred back by each side to its respective government, and from that day to this nothing has been accomplished looking towards a settlement of the old dispute. We are most desirous that it should be settled on its merits to insure continued friendship, to avoid local and sectional conflict and to remove the cause of serious international irritation."

Asked whether he had any hope of again drawing attention to the Alaska question while in England, Sir Wilfrid replied that he would endeavor to obtain for it the serious consideration of lord Lansdowne and United States ambassador Choate. "We are perfectly willing to submit the question to arbitration," he added, "but so long, of course, as the United States maintains that there is nothing to arbitrate the menace of open conflict on the disputed grounds must continue to exist.

"When, during the sessions of the joint high commission, arbitration was first suggested, it was feared that there could be no agreement as to how the court should be composed. The war with Spain had just been closed, and inasmuch as most of the governments of Europe were thought to have been hostile to the United States in that conflict, the American commissioners feared impartial treatment at the hands of representatives in the arbitration tribunal of European governments.

"At the same time the British members of the joint high commission were no less apprehensive regarding the possible presence in the court of representatives of South African governments, on account of the influence upon them of an application of the Monroe doctrine. But the attitude of the United States government now is that there is nothing to arbitrate. It appears to me there cannot be a question if there are not two sides to it, two points of view. Here is a most serious question. The Canadian government is prepared to accept the decision of an international arbitration court, and it is for such a solution, ultimately, that we hope."

The Canadian premier had been asked to state his opinion of what the outcome of the conference of premiers at London would be.

"The main subject to be discussed by the colonial premiers at London," he answered, "is altogether too delicate to talk about off-hand. There seeme to be a tendency here and elsewhere to exaggerate the importance of the suggested trade arrangement between Great Britain and her colonies. There is in England, no doubt, a party of considerable strength, that favors free trade within the British empire. But it must be remembered that the colonies raise their revenues through their customs tariffs; and colonial expenses are necessarily large. To admit all the products of England and the sister colonies into Canada free would entail a revolution in the system of taxation.

"Until the colonial premiers have met and expressed their views, no one can tell how much there is that may be regarded as feasible in the ideas of the imperial federationists. The English government itself has made known that it has no intention of giving any definite pledge regarding preferential relations with the colonies until the ministers have heard the opinions of the colonial premiers on the subject. The grain tax levied by the home government may be a small beginning, but it is too soon yet to so consider it, and the chancellor of the exchequer has denied that it is intended to be a prelude to preferential duties, and also that it is an entering wedge of protectionism.

"So it must be quite plain that a discussion now of the probable or possible outcome of the conference of premiers would be premature. There appears to be in some quarters a disposition to involve questions of defence, which are purely military, with those of revenue and customs, which are purely political, and this may make it more difficult to reach a practical conclusion."

HILL'S TRIBUTE TO CANADA

HE ESTIMATES ITS RESOURCES AT THEIR PROPER VALUE.

AMONG THE FIRST TO FOLLOW NEW DEVELOPMENTS.

In the large mind of the Canadian-born but long Americanized J. J. Hill the resources and the enterprise of his native country are estimated at their proper value. They are weighty elements, always taken account of in the vast problems he is working out. Many other eminent Americans of keen insight and clever foresight are impressed with the progress of Canada, but Mr. Hill alone treats conditions here as factors immediately to be reckoned with, and shapes his plans accordingly.

His readier appreciation of Canada may be less the result of superior natural discernment than of his better point of vantage. The fact that he was born and brought up in this country is undoubtedly in his favor. Other things being equal, his judgment of Canada's possibilities ought to outrun that of men who never lived here. But his main advantage lies in the fact that he is a railway king in the great section of the United States bordering on our west. The Great Northern, the Northern Pacific, the Burlington and subsidiary lines are under his sway. His big system feels the competition of the two systems on our side of the boundary—the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian Northern. His position and his relations to this country have brought our energies and resources naturally within the scope of his study. That he covets the Canadian Pacific and his designs upon it is not improbable. With that road included in his merger, he would have a tremendous sweep of traffic over the west. For all debatable traffic he has been an aggressive competitor of Canadian roads. He cut rates to detach transcontinental trade from the C. P. R., and made specially low bids for the Yukon traffic when that was at its height. He pushed lines into British Columbia, and manoeuvred to extend his system into the Kettle river country. The opening of the Crow's Nest Pass coal fields attracted his enterprise and capital to that quarter, and not only did he invest in these properties, but also in obtaining the right to tap them with a line of his railway. He is now building a fleet of enormous vessels to engage in the Pacific trade in competition with the C. P. R. Pacific line. One of these vessels is to be launched this autumn, another early next year. In an address delivered recently at the annual dinner of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association in Chicago, he said, referring to the lumber of the Pacific coast: "To enable us to keep pace with the enormous demand for this lumber was the moving cause of our building the largest ships in the world, through which we will be prepared this fall to meet not only the rates of other transcontinental lines, both in the United States and Canada, but we will meet the rates made by steamer from the Atlantic ports via the Suez canal."

This ex-Canadian is also struck with the necessity of having something done to prevent the rush of American settlers to our Northwest. "For the first time," he said, "thousands of our farmers from states like Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota are seeking homes in the Canadian Northwest, owing to the cheap lands offered in that country, and to the difficulty of securing such lands in the United States." To stop this exodus he proposes a large scheme of government irrigation for the reclamation of desert lands in the American west. Naturally he does not like to see traffic makers trooping in thousands from his sphere of railway influence to territory traversed by the C. P. R. We should not be surprised, however, if it would turn out that he is in one of the big American syndicates that are buying land in the Canadian west. It is said that he has prospectors in our Labrador iron fields. It is evident that Mr. Hill believes Canada to be a country of marvellous capacities, and that he is convinced its progress will be very swift.

The committee that has in hand the celebration for the youngsters on coronation day are dickering with the band of Slocan to provide music. The arrangements for the day so far include the children's sports in the morning, under the direction of Charles A. Waterman, the lacrosse match in the afternoon, the benefit for the lacrosse boys in the evening in the opera house, and a grand display of fire-works at 10 o'clock in the evening. In the course of the day all of the children will be presented with a neat coronation medal.

At the police court yesterday an Italian named Bonesco Caruso was charged with having attempted to stab a fellow countryman named Boniqo Nero. It appeared that the day before the accused had lurched in passing the complainant, who shoved him away, Caruso being drunk. The latter went on, but came back twenty minutes later, and snatching an open pocket knife which Nero held in his hands, attempted to stab him with it. Nero stopped him in time, although his clothing was cut down the side, and a man named Patrick O'Rooke, who was standing by, seized Caruso and disarmed him. In court the prisoner pleaded that he had been drunk, and did not know what he was doing. He was sentenced to three months' imprisonment.

At the opera house last evening a large audience assembled to hear the Clara Mathes company present Nell Gwynne. The company is undoubtedly one of the best that has appeared at Nelson, and the audience was well pleased. The leading parts were remarkably well taken, Miss Mathes, as the bright and sparkling Nell Gwynne being especially good. Of the rest of the company, their support left little to be desired, and the company should draw good houses during their stay here. The specialties between the acts were well received.

At the regular meeting of the city council last evening, nothing of importance came up for discussion during the regular session, but at 9 o'clock the council resolved itself into a committee of the whole to discuss matters pertaining to economy in civic administration. This latter, it is believed, included the consideration of the cutting of civic salaries, and also some reduction in the city staff.

After the reading of the minutes the report of the chief of police, regarding certain matters, was read. In it he stated that $470 had been collected for dog taxes, with fifteen more people to hear from.

A motion was passed that all stray dogs in the city should be seized and destroyed, the city to bear all necessary expenses in connection with such action.

The city engineer was instructed to see that the roadway on Baker street, from Josephine to Stanley was swept clean for the children's races on coronation day.

TREATING THE KIDS.

Youngsters of Kaslo Will Have Plenty of Entertainment.

Kaslo, June 23.—(Special to The Daily News.)—Active preparations are being made for coronation day festivities in Kaslo. The children are being especially favored. Not only have private citizens arranged for a special children's fete in the Auditorium on the afternoon of the 26th, but the recently organized Aerie of Eagles are offering to provide a free excursion to Fry creek, including ice cream, strawberries and refreshments to all the youngsters of Kaslo who can go.

A special union coronation service will be held in the church of England in the morning and the Fourth company, R. M. R., have advertised a military ball for the evening.

N. R. Angus, the lately appointed manager of the Great Britain, is in town and reports that the snow, which is still deep around the workings, will retard for the present the anticipated development.

LOST HIS NOSE.

Cornishman Had It Cut Off at the Arlington Mine.

Ymir, June 23.—(Special to The Daily News.)—A stabbing affray occurred at the Arlington mine, near Erie, last night. The parties concerned were two Cornishmen, named Rouss and Hancock, who appear to have been in the habit of chaffing each other to a great extent for some time. On Saturday night while in the washing room connected with the Arlington, they got to scuffling when Hancock, it is alleged, drew his knife and viciously attacked the other man. Rouss was stabbed principally about the head and face, one slash completely severing the fleshy part of the nose from his face.

The injured man bled to a dangerous extent before the arrival of Dr. Duncan, from Ymir.

Hancock succeeded in getting away directly after the fight, and took to the woods. Special constables were sent out after him and he was arrested near Waneta, early Sunday morning, and taken up to Nelson on the evening train, which also brought up the victim for treatment at the Ymir hospital.

The hand car crew which pumped Dr. Duncan and constable Forrester down to Erie on the above matter had a little side adventure in the shape of a large bear, which had possession of the track half way between Ymir and Salmo. Some old timers who were in the crew, state that the animal was a silver tip and the largest ever seen in this vicinity.

MINING AROUND YMIR.

Foghorn Is Developing Some High-Grade Gold Ore.

Ymir, June 23.—(Special to The Daily News.)—Con Wolffe, president of the Golden Monarch Mining & Milling Company, reports that the developments on the Foghorn mine are satisfactory. So far only the first vein has been tapped, the crosscut tunnel intersecting it at a point about 400 feet below the surface. Drifting is now being prosecuted along this vein, the surface indications leading to the belief that the richer part of the chute will be encountered in the course of about 100 feet of drifting. Although the drift has so far only been run 20 feet, the ore is high-grade, running $32 per ton, of which $29 is in gold. Meantime the cross-cut tunnel is being continued on to intersect the second vein which, on the surface, is the more important of the two.

Neil Cochrane of Rossland, is in town and has inspected the Big Four group for the British Lion syndicate. This property will be actively developed during the present year, and Mr. Cochrane is laying out the work.

Sam Coulter has finished his 100-foot contract on the Summit mine. The showing of ore now obtained is very satisfactory and the Summit-Ymir Company are about to let out a further contract.

LARDO EXTENSION.

F. C. Elliott, the Trout Lake barrister, arrived in Nelson yesterday over the Lardo branch. He says the merchants of Nelson and the people of Trout Lake have every reason to feel grateful to the men in charge of the Lardo construction for the facilities which they afford for travel over the branch, and in this respect Nelson has been no small gainer since the retail traders of Trout Lake have been enabled to purchase their spring stocks in Nelson instead of at the coast, as formerly. Mr. Elliott says it is expected that the road will be taken over by the operating department by the middle of July, as the surfacing is now completed to within four miles of Gerrard, the present terminus at the lower end of Trout lake. This will mean for the present a lake transfer of 16 miles. No ore has been moved over the line so far, but a start will probably be made this week. The company has taken a large scow up to Gerrard, which it is proposed to operate on the lake pending the completion of the lake section. This was cut into sections to facilitate the handling of it on the cars. The scow will be put together and a start made in the moving of the ore stored at the head of the lake will be commenced at once.

Island of Heligoand, Germany, June 23.—The English schooner yacht Dicely, owned by Cecil Quentin, which left Dover at noon, June 21st, in the race for this point for the emperor's cup arrived first, at 6:40 p. m., but she failed to save her time allowance. The Vol Au Vent reached this island at 7:09. The Dicely allows the Vol Au Vent 5 1-2 hours, and the Leander, which also started in the race 3 1-2 hours.

Kingston, June 23.—The Cameron line steamer Paloma arrived here today from Hayti. She reports that intense excitement prevails in that republic and that feeling is growing with the approach of the elections. Serious fighting is considered certain to occur in spite of the efforts of the provisional government to maintain peace.

PIPESTONE ELEVATOR DESTROYED.

Winnipeg, June 23.—At ten o'clock fire broke out in the engine room of the Northern Elevator Company's elevator at Pipestone, and at 10:30 it was in ruins, about 5000 bushels of wheat being stored at that time. The buyer in charge had steam up, and was just in the act of loading some cars when the discovery was made, he having barely time to escape.

LAVAL UNIVERSITY.

Montreal, June 23.—Archbishops, bishops and well known educators of the Roman Catholic church are taking part in a grand commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of Laval university. The celebration began today with appropriate services of a religius character and will be continued tomorrow, when a programme of historical exercises will be carried out. Prominent among the participants are Archbishop Bruchesi, of Montreal, Archbishop Duhamel, of Ottawa, and Bishops Emard of Valleyfield, Larocque of Sherbrooke, and Decelles of St. Hyancinthe.

OLD BROKER'S TROUBLES.

Baltimore, June 23.—John K. Messersmith, a cotton broker who had been on trial in the criminal court, charged with having obtained $25,000 by false pretenses from the Merchants' National Bank, by the alteration of an old bill of lading, was covicted today. Sentence was suspended upon motion for a new trail. Bail was fixed at $10,000 and the prisoner was released. For many years Messersmith was one of the leading cotton brokers of Baltimore.

CELEBRATION AT ST. JOHNS.

St. Johns, June 23.—The French cruiser Isley, the flagship of the French squadron in Newfoundland waters, with commodore Monterand on board, arrived here this morning to participate in the festivities to be held during the coronation of king Edward. The British gunboat Thistle and the British ship Columbine have also reached this port. The flagship of the British vessels on this station, the crusier Charybdis, is already here. The French cruiser d'Estrees and the British sloop Alert report here tomorrow, they will also take part in the festivities.

CELEBRATION AT QUEBEC.

Quebec, June 23.—The celebration of St. Jean Baptiste fete and Laval anniversary began today by open air mass on Dufferin terrace. A Cablegram was received from the pope in which the holy father thanks and blesses from the bottom of his heart the French-Canadians assembled at Quebec to celebrate their national fete. The blessing was pronounced by Mgr. Falconio, papal delegate to Canada, in the presence of an immense concourse.

ARRESTING RINGLEADERS

Patterson, June 23.—It is estimated that 20 per cent of the employees of the silk mills, for whom looms were ready, today stayed away from work. No general strike has been ordered and none is likely for a day or so, if at all. Detectives arrested tonight Frank Schnider, of this city. He is charged with having shot patrolman Charles Robinson during the fight about the Danford mill on Wednesday night last. Schnider is a dyer's helper. He denies absolutely that he fired the shot. The requisition papers for McQueen, who was arrested today in New York, have been prepared and will probably be placed before governor Murphy in the morning.

San Francisso, June 23.—S. B. Howard president of the Trans-Alaska Consolidated Railway Company, which is preparing to build across Alaska from Cooks Inlet to Nome, has arrived here. He has been in New York since February last, where he and F. Tillmann, Jr., of the Trans-Alaska Company have been financiering the railroad enterprise, Mr. Tillmann having been in Berlin part of the time, where he has large financial connections. In San Francisco Mr. Tillmann is of the firm of Tillmann & Bendel, extensive wholesale grocer. He is president of the Trans-Alaska Company and of the consolidated railroad.

Mr. Howard said that there was little for publication regarding the Alaska railroad enterprise, more than to say that it was progressing very favorably, with every certainty of commencing construction in the near future. Work would have been commenced ere this but for the fact that the projectors, after consultation with those undertaking the financial backing of the road, determined to change the original plans for a light equipment and cheaper line, to one more substantial, and consequently involved more expense and more time. The system comtemplates about 650 miles of main line, with 50 more miles of branches, and will cost approximately $20,000 per mile.

The first sections to be constructed, Mr. Howard says, will be the fifty mile branch on the northern end, from the sea near Nome, to Council City in the interior, where all reports agree there is in sight a tremendous development in mining. A commencement will be made at this or Illamna bay, the first section to extend from the bay to Illamna lake over the range. On this section there is a small tunnel to be built. On both sections it is hoped to get work started this season, but on the lower section work can be continued all winter.

Mr. Howard said that all financial and large business interests in New York are keenly alive to the importance of Alaska development, and for railroad development there especially. Mr. Howard is thoroughly conversant with all matters relating to the northern country, having been a pioneer developer there. His family resides in Portland.

ALASKA'S TELEGRAPH.

Washington, June 23.—Gen. Greely today entered into a contract with the Marconi Wireless Telegraph company for the erection of two wireless telegraph stations, connecting Fort Gibbon, Alaska, with Bates Rapids, on the Tanana, a distance of 165 miles in an air line. The company undertakes to have the stations in working order by October 1st next. Gen. Greeley already has an overland wire from Nome city to Fort Gibbon, and with other existing lines on the Alaska, this wireless system will complete a circuit from Behring sea down to the south coast.

The company's undertaking is to supply a system that shall work every day without interruption, else the government will not be under any expense.

LONELY LITTLE COLONY.

The death, in his ninety-fifth year, of Thomas Watson, the "governor" of the small island of Tristan d'Achuna, in the South Atlantic ocean, directs attention to a little community which is practically severed from communication with the rest of the world.

Tristan d'Achuna was discovered by the Portuguese in 1506, and formal possession was taken of this small speck in the ocean in 1817 by a company of British artillery, for the purpose of keeping a watch on Napoleon, at that time a prisoner in St. Helena. On the death of Napoleon the soldiers were withdrawn, with the exception of corporal Glass and two companies, who, with some whaling men, were the founders of the present settlement. The colony flourished, and in 1887 the population was ninety-seven. Property is held in common, and there is no strong drink, and no crime, while the inhabitants are healthy and long lived. The oldest inhabitant acts as governor. A ship of war pays the island an annual visit and brings the only mail that ever reaches the inhabitants. The settlement is in a fertile part of the island, and is called New Edinburgh. The population has been for some years almost stationary, and is kept down by migrations to the Cape.

Watson went to the island from the Cape sixty-five years ago, and never afterwards left the island.

SULLIVAN DISTINGUISHED.

The once mighty John L. has wrecked his company again. While playing at Waterbury, Connecticut, the other night in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," he used his whip in such a vivid manner that the negroes under him rebelled. When John was asked about it he said: "These colored men have no sense of the true art of acting. The nearer you get to the real thing in acting, the more of an artist you are."

The result was a strike, a wrecked company and a miscellaneous collection of stage settings, loaded for shipment to New York. The freight was not paid and the railroad company dumped the scenery and trunks on the tracks and left them there.

The negroes carried off all they could and pawned them about the town. Detectives were called and rounded up Uncle Tom, William Fairfax, William Camel and George Harris, who were locked up in Waterbury.

Sullivan has returned to New York and now declares that he will quit the stage.

TO TROT FOR NEWSBOYS.

Providing suitable arrangements for the use of the Tristate fair grounds can be made, the Toledo Newsboys' association will have a great field day, with Cresceus as the star attraction, between now and the Fourth of July. Mr. Ketcham, owner of Cresceus, is taking a lively interest in the newsboys and the work done among them by president John E. Gunckel. Some time ago, he suggested the idea of giving them an outing at his fine stock farm west of Toledo, but later he changed his plans and proposed to give an exhibition of Cresceus and all other horses in his stables, any time before the Fourth of July. Mr. Ketcham's splendid offer was accepted.—Toledo Blade.

RUBBING IT IN.

It is proposed that England shall offset the Frederick the Great statue by sending us a statue of that eminent Briton, William Waldorf Astor. But this will not do, as William, however much he may have striven for a peerage is not a monarch. The only match for the Frederick statue is one of that English sovereign George III. True, the people of New York pulled down a statue of that benevolent king in 1775, but that was a very long time ago.—Pittsburg Dispatch.
