SHARES IN GREAT DEMAND

PLENTY OF MONEY AVAILABLE TO DEVELOP THE EVA.

NELSON MEN UNDERWRITE THE FORFEITED STOCK.

An informal meeting of the directors of the Calumet & British Columbia Gold Mines, Limited, was held in the offices of the Mines Exchange last evening, for the purpose of talking over the affairs of the company which was organized in this city some time ago for the purpose of developing the Eva group of claims in the Lardeau.

Associated with a number of the leading citizens of Nelson in the underwriting of the stock of this flotation were a number of men from Hancock, Michigan, and from other points in the copper district. There were all told 100,000 shares of the stock underwritten at par, constituting one-fifth of the entire stock of the company, and the men from the copper district had the big end of it, with the right to take 55,000 shares, as against 45,000 which had been taken up in Canadian points, principally in this city.

The arrangement made for the underwriting of the stock was that the underwriters should receive a bonus in shares. It was stipulated that the purchased portion of the underwritten stock should be issued as it was paid up but the bonus portion of the stock should not be issued until all the treasury stock should be taken off the market. The terms of payment were made very easy for the Michigan men, in that the 5 per cent payment, which in other cases was exacted upon the acceptance of the stock, was deferred until they had an opportunity of inspecting the property. It was for the exercise of this right of inspection that the recent excursion from Hancock, and other points in Michigan, was organized, the excursionists including fifteen of the men who had agreed to underwrite the 55,000 shares of stock, as well as a number of local men interested in the Northwestern Development Syndicate, which is developing the Camborne group in the same neighborhood.

The party visited the property, but when it came to the making of the first payment upon the underwritten stock there was more or less haggling on the part of some of the Michiganders. Upon their return to Nelson from the property they were notified that there was to be a meeting in connection with the flotation, but only two out of the fifteen who had underwritten the stock put in an appearance. The local men had an inkling that a hitch was coming, and they resolved to hold the Michiganders to the strict performance of their agreement. They notified them that the payment upon the stock was due, and that it should be made forthwith, or the stock would be forfeited. A number of quibbles were raised with respect to the manner in which the flotation was being carried on, and a request was made for another two weeks in which to receive the report of an engineer on the property, but they met with the one response. It was a case of pay up or get out of the deal, and failing to pay up the Michiganders got out.

There were all sorts of versions of the affair on the streets, and although there was more or less knocking going on, there was very little said in disparagement of the property. The Nelson men who have been identified with the Eva since the property was first taken over from the locators, at once set themselves at work to recover the ground they had lost through the failure of the Michigan men to carry out their agreement. Their work apparently was not difficult, for at the meeting last evening it was announced that 48,400 of the shares relinquished had already been underwritten, and though the terms were practically the same, they are more advantageous to the Calumet & British Columbia in that the payments are a little heavier. The rapid manner in which these underwriters' shares have been taken up is ample assurance that the placing of the entire amount will be but a matter of a day or so, and so far from the withdrawal of the Michigan men having jeopardized the flotation, it was announced last evening that the position of the company was better than it had ever been.

At their meeting last evening, the directors, after threshing the matter out thoroughly, decided to proceed with their original programme, and to place a block of 100,000 shares of treasury on the market at $1.00.

With respect to the policy of development to be undertaken, it was decided to have a 20-stamp mill taken in to the property over the snow this winter. As to the showings on the Eva, it is a story too familiar to Nelsonites to require another telling, it being sufficient to say that the work recently performed has still further enhanced the property's value, and that it is now looked upon as one of the biggest mining propositions in the province. A depth of over 300 feet has been attained upon the vein, and the latest report received upon it by the company gave the ore tonnage blocked out at 34,266 tons, of an estimated aggregate value of $324,-108. This ore is comparatively easy to work, and being free-milling, is estimated to give a very handsome profit per ton upon mining and milling operations.

The meeting last evening was attended by nearly all of the local men who have places on the Calumet & B. C. directorate, and though at the time annoyed over the hitch with the Michigan men, with its consequent disarrangement of their plans, they now profess themselves as pleased with the opportunity which it presented in permitting other local men to replace the Michiganders as the underwriters of the company's stock.

A DOUBLE KILLING.

Rochester Man First Shoots His Wife and Then Himself.

Rochester, New York, Nov. 1.—At Leroy today Moses Welson shot his wife and himself, inflicting wounds which are said to be mortal. Wilson fired three shots at his wife. The first bullet struck a ring on the woman's hand and glanced off, but she fell to the floor. Wilson walked up and fired two bullets down through her head. He then sent two bullets through his own head. The couple have not lived together recently. Wilson is said to have been under the influence of liquor when the crime was committed.

THE SLOCAN RICH IN ZINC

THOMAS JONES, OF IOLA, PLEASED WITH WHAT HE HAS SEEN.

BYRON WHITE THINKS SLOCAN WILL FORGE RAPIDLY AHEAD.

Thomas Jones, of Iola, Kansas, arrived in the city last evening, and was met here by Byron White, of Spokane, and S. S. Fowler, of the London & B. C. Goldfields. Mr. Jones has just returned from the Slocan, where he has been inspecting a number of the mines in which the ore contains enough zinc to make treatment profitable. A trial carload of 120 tons, picked from several properties, is at Kaslo, and will reach Nelson today, and Mr. Jones will accompany it to the works at Iola. Speaking of the properties in the Slocan which would be most benefited by the sale of the zinc in their ores, he said that a couple of days ago he went through the Slocan Star, and although he had been in the zinc purchasing business for a large number of years, he had never before seen such a large quantity of high grade zinc ore exposed in any mine he had visited. The Payne, Ivanhoe, Bosun and Wakefield had also a large amount. Speaking of the treatment necessary for the ore before it would be shipped, he said it practically amounted to a partial roasting, followed by running it through a magnetic separator. The action of the heat oxidized the iron in the ore and rendered it magnetic, and the separator extracted this, raising the value from a zinc standpoint. Mr. Jones was greatly pleased with the appearance of the mines he had visited, and believes that a couple of years will see marvellous changes in the Slocan. The last property he had visited was the old Blue Bell mine, on Kootenay lake. In this mine, he said, there was an immense amount of zinc ore also, but he was doubtful if it was high enough in grade to permit of shipping to the Kansas smelters. If, eventually, however, a zinc smelter was put in in the Kootenays, he thought the mine would be found a profitable one.

Byron White, of Spokane, reached Nelson yesterday on his way to the Slocan Star mine, where he will spend three or four days. Mr. White when asked regarding the sale of Slocan ores containing zinc to the Kansas smelters, said that it was, of course, a very good move. In itself, he said, alone, it was important, but the consequences if the ore could be treated profitably for its zinc contents alone, would be even more so. Personally, he believed, and had good grounds for saying so, that within a year if the treatment was satisfactory, there would be zinc smelters on this side of the line, and the effects of this on the Slocan especially would be almost magical. A variety of values in the ore sometimes proved to be a good thing, and this was evidently going to prove one of those instances. With a large number of the Slocan properties that are now idle being worked at a good profit, the district would forge rapidly ahead. As to where the ore would be treated before shipping to Kansas, Mr. White said that in the case of the large shippers this would be done at the mine itself.

READY FOR THE FOURTH.

Both Great Parties in Connecticut and Maryland Confident.

New Haven, Connecticut, Nov. 1.—With the state committees of both great parties expressing confidence of success at the polls next Tuesday, the campaign in Connecticut virtually came to a close tonight, when final rallies were held. During the past week there has been a marked interest on the part of voters. At the headquarters of the republican committee in Hartford the belief was expressed that owing to the many lively local and county contests throughout the state, the total vote will be considerably larger than that cast at the election of 1898, and will more nearly approach the figures of the presidential year of 1900. Five congressmen and a full state ticket, including members of the general assembly which will also choose a successor to United States senator O. H. Platt, will be elected. The prohibitionists, socialist and socialist-labor parties have taken the field, besides the two great parties. The confidence of republican managers in a general victory is most pronounced.

Baltimore, Maryland, Nov. 1.—The campaign in Maryland closed tonight with republican and democratic managers expressing confidence in the outcome. The election will be for congressmen only. A non-partisan estimate would probably give the democrats two and the republicans three, with one in doubt, but with the chances, as to the latter, in favor of the republicans.

JOHNSON'S OHIO CAMPAIGN

INDICATIONS ARE THAT IT IS GOING AGAINST HIM.

SPLIT IN DEMOCRATIC RANKS RESULT IN DEFEAT.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 1.—The canvas in Ohio, for the minor state offices and congressmen, closed tonight with less rallying than usual on the Saturday previous to elections, the most notable exceptions being in Cleveland, where senator Hanna and mayor Johnson have been speaking all this week, and at Columbus, where senator Foraker addressed a large meeting.

Mayor Johnson is a candidate to succeed Hanna as United States senator before the legislature that is to be elected next November. The result next Tuesday will have much bearing on that contest.

This campaign has been the most personal contest ever waged in Ohio. If the condition of the canvassing shall continue in the balloting, Hanna will win. The republicans have no factional fighting, and Johnson has openly denounced some democratic leaders, including county chairman John R. McLean, one of the congressional candidates. In this city, the home of J. R. McLean, where Johnson denounced him, both personally and as editor of the Enquirer, bets are offered that Hamilton county, the McLean stronghold, will give a republican plurality of over 15,000.

J. F. HEMENWAY BANQUETED.

He Leaves Phoenix to Accept a Position in Prescott ,Arizona.

Phoenix, Nov. 1.—J. F. Hemenway, who has been for the last five years connected with the Granby mines, in this camp, will leave Monday with his wife for Prescott, Arizona, where he has accepted a responsible position as financial agent for a New York syndicate, now operating two groups of copper claims in that section, one of which is close to the famous United Verde mine, owned by senator Clark, of Montana.

Last Sunday morning a delegation of 25 employees of the Granby mines waited upon Mr. Hemenway, and presented him with an illuminated address and a purse of gold, as a token of the regard in which he was held by the employees of the company. This pleasing ceremony was followed Tuesday evening by a presentation by King Edward lodge, A. F. & A. M., of a fine solid gold locket and chain to Mr. Hemenway, he having been one of the charter members of the lodge, and an active worker in it for a number of years.

Wednesday evening a banquet and smoking concert was tendered to Mr. Hemenway by the citizens and residents generally of Phoenix, at which there was a large attendance.

Mr. Hemenway came to Phoenix in July, 1897, and had full charge of the Old Ironsides mine for a number of months, and was financial agent of the Miner-Graves syndicate here for a number of years. He has seen the Granby properties grow under his eyes from where the development consisted of a single 55-foot shaft to the present state, where there are over three miles of underground workings in the mines of the company, and they are capable of shipping 1,500 tons of ore daily. The immediate cause of Mr. Hemenway's leaving is his wife's health, and both of them will take the best wishes of a host of friends in the Boundary.

ORIENTAL NEWS.

Yokohama Suffering from Black Plague Outbreak.

Victoria, Nov. 1.—Mail advices from Yokohama report that the Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner was badly damaged by gales encountered on her voyage there from Yokohama. The starboard cabins were flooded by seas which swept on board, and a two year old child, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Smyth, missionaries, bound to Hong Kong, had a narrow escape from being washed overboard.

Plague has broken out in Yokohama. The authorities are taking drastic measures to prevent the spreading of the disease. Advices from Canton state that owing to the Peking government having been informed that the proscribed reformer, Kang Yu Wai, is the chief author and instigator of the Kungsi rebellion, and that he is reported to be fully occupied in organizing a similar great rising in Luang Tung and Yun Kuei provinces, secret orders have been issued to the viceroys and governors of the Luang Tung and Yun Kuei provinces to use every endeavor to capture Kang Yu Wai, who is believed to be at present in Canton.

PROPHESY SUCCESS.

Political Forces in New York State Ready for the Fight.

New York ,Nov. 1.—With the leaders of each party confident of success and predicting majorities of 40,000 or 50,000 for their respective tickets, the state campaign for the election next Tuesday was brought to a close tonight. The gubernatorial candidates of the two parties chose the battle ground of King county for their speeches tonight, while ex-senator Hill was in Buffalo making a final effort to capture Erie county for the democrats. Conservative men in both of the leading parties predicted that success would be won with a majority possibly as small as 10,000 and all predictions are based on widely different estimates of the majority the democratic ticket will bring up to the Bronx and the majority which the republican ticket will bring down to it from up the state. Governor Odell himself today predicted the success of the republican state ticket by 50,000, while chairman Dunn, of the republican state committee, clung to his prediction of 37,600 for the ticket.

While governor Odell and colonel Dunn were thus expressing their confidence, Bird S. Coler, the democratic nominee for governor, and chairman Campbell, of the democratic state committee, were making some statements for their party in the state. "I have received reports of the most encouraging character from up state," said Mr. Coler, "and I am absolutely certain of my election." Chairman Campbell said: "The outlook is encouraging." There was no doubt in his mind that Mr. Coler would be elected by a handsome majority.

In Wall Street today the betting was 2 to 1 on Odell, and many firms placed amounts ranging from $1,000 to $5,000. There was a great deal of money to bet at 10 to 6, but the democrats asked better odds.

ROSSLAND'S ORE SHIPMENTS

HAVE ALREADY EXCEEDED TOTAL FOR LAST YEAR.

OPERATIONS HAVE BEEN RESUMED ON THE HOMESTAKE.

Rossland, Nov. 1.—With this week the Rossland camp commences to pile up tonnage in excess of the aggregate for last year. The record for 1901 has been reached and passed and the output for the balance of the present year will represent the gain in tonnage over last year.

Locally conditions have not altered appreciably. The Le Roi continues its output at about the figures that have ruled for some weeks and still employs from 350 to 360 men. The War Eagle and Centre Star mines are steadily increasing their output, this week's shipments being 3,400 tons. It is expected that a maximum of 3,600 tons weekly will be reached by the two mines, and that this will be the standard for the balance of the year.

Operations have been resumed at the Homestake mine, a well known property located in the south belt of the camp, which has not yet produced a large and regular shipper. The management is very confident as to the future of the property, and will push development actively.

Details of the present week's shipping operations are as follows: Le Roi, 3,584 tons; Le Roi, No. 2, 360; Centre Star, 2,070; War Eagle, 1,350; Velvet, 90; Total for the week, 7,454 tons. Total for year to date, 280,825 tons.

CIVILIZATION IN THE U. S.

A Negro Burned at the Stake in the Presence of 4,000 People.

Memphis, Tennessee, Nov. 1.—A special from Sardis, Mississippi, says: Reports brought to this city from Darling, Mississippi are to the effect that a mob of 4000 persons last night burned a negro for the double murder of E. O. Jackson and a mill owner named Rosell. The negro confessed to the crime just before he was burned, and implicated a white man who lived near Bridgeport. A posse was formed at once and the capture of the man was effected last night. He is being held in custody near the scene of the tragedy, and there is a strong probability of his being lynched.

Sardis, Mississippi, Nov. 1.—A negro, name unknown, has been burned at the stake, and two white men implicated by the negro in his dying confession are being held by a posse pending an investigation into the murder of E. C. Jackson, and a mill owner named Rosell, at Darling, Mississippi, Wednesday night. The negro was burned at Darling last night by a mob composed of 4,000 persons from both races. Just before the lighting of the funeral pyre the captured negro confessed that he had committed the double murder with the assistance of two white men. The motive was robbery, and a considerable sum was secured, which the negro stated was divided among the three. After the burning, a posse went is search of the two whote men, and soon captured them.

Later it was learned that the two white men were released by the mob, an alibi having been proven by each man. No further trouble is expected tonight.

NEW CRUISER COMMISSIONED.

Will Relieve the Phaeton on the North Pacific Station.

Victoria, Nov. 1.—H. M. S. Flora will be commissioned at Plymouth on November 11th for the North Pacific station, and will sail for Esquimalt at the close of the month. She is a second-class cruiser, and comes to relieve the second-class cruised Phaeton, now on duty at Panama. The Phaeton's commission expires early next year, as does also that of H. M. S. Amphion, and it is likely that H. M. S. Phaeton will return to Esquimalt. H. M. S. Flora will probably meet her in southern waters and relieve her. H. M. S. Amphion, which has just undergone costly repairs at Esquimalt, will remain at Esquimalt for another commission. H. M. S. Flora is a steel-hulled, sheathed, twin-screw cruiser, with a displacement of 4,360 tons. She is 320 feet long, 49.6 beam and has a draught of 19.2 feet. She has 7,000 nominal horse power, while H. M. S. Phaeton has but 5,000. She was launched at Pembroke in 1893, and cost £241,818. She carries 320 men.

LOOKING UP INFORMATION

WILL COMMENCE TAKING EVIDENCE IN TWO WEEKS.

STATE TROOPS RELIEVED IN THE ANTHRACITE DISTRICTS.

Scranton, Nov. 1.—The arbitration commission, which is engaged in settling the differences between the anthracite coal operators and the mine workers, decided today, while on their tour of the Wyoming Valley, to adjourn next Thursday until Friday, November 14th, when the taking of testimony will begin in this city. The first four days of next week will be taken up in inspecting the mines and mining towns from Hazelton south to the end of the hard coal fields. All of this territory, being in districts Nos. 7 and 9, of the United Mine Workers of America, is under the jurisdiction of president Thomas Duffy, and John Fahey of the union, who will accompany the commission.

Tamaqua, Nov. 1.—Brigadier-general Schall, in command of the troops now in the anthracite region, issued an order today relieving the thirteenth regiment, the second city troops and the governor's troops, from duty. The first city troop, the Sheridan troop, the first regiment, sixteenth regiment, and a battalion of the sixth regiment, will be kept in the field in anticipation of a possible outbreak in the lower Luzerne region and the Panther creek valley, where much dissatisfaction is being manifested among the mine employees.

New York, Nov. 1.—Chairman Martin D. K. Napp, and commissioner J. D. Yeomans, of the interstate commerce commission, held a brief session here today and heard a statement of the charges lawyer Clarence D. Shearn said he desired to make against the anthracite coal carrying roads. The lawyer asserted that the roads were violating the interstate commerce laws, and that he represented a number of prominent citizens of New York, Boston, Washington and other cities in the matter. The roads were charging from two and a half to three times as much for hauling anthracite as soft coal. He said he was prepared to prove the existence, between the roads, of an agreement to regulate the tonnage, this practically being an agreement for equitable division of profits. It was agreed that Mr. Shearn shall present his formal petition to the commission in Washington next Monday. The coal companies will be then notified and will be given 15 days in which to answer.

COLOMBIA'S LITTLE WAR.

Government Troops Allowed to Use Isthmian Railway.

Colon, Nov. 1.—Nearly 1,500 Colombian troops boarded a train at Colon this afternoon, and it was rumored that they were to leave the cars at Abernilla station. Several hundred insurgents are reported to be at San Pablo, about half way across the Isthmus, and in surrounding hills. A large number of rebels also have been seen, off and on, at all stations between Abernilla and Culebra. For the first time since the United States forces undertook to maintain free transit across the isthmus, the train which left here this afternoon with government troops did not fly the American flag, nor were any American marines aboard it. The troops were armed and carried a large supply of ammunition. They travelled in open cars. Nearly 1,000 troops left Panama also, this afternoon, for some station along the railroad. Rear admiral Casey evidently sanctions the transportation of troops, as it is considered impossible to end the strife on the isthmus if skirmishing along the railroad line is not allowed. News of fighting may be received at any moment. There is much speculation here regarding the insurgent general Herrera's course of action, in view of the new policy of the government.

A TEMPERANCE COUNTRY.

Lady Henry Somerset Pays a Tribute to Canadian People.

Toronto, Nov. 1.—Lady Henry Somerset delivered an address to a crowded audience in the Metropolitan church last night. After referring to the patriotic course of Canada in all relations with the mother country, lady Somerset said Canada's task as a temperance people was easy. Canada, she said, at present had nothing like and probably could not realize the destitution and squalor of English cities resulting from alcohol. Miss Willard's work was greatly praised by lady Somerset, and she also paid a fitting tribute to general Booth and the Salvation Army.

FRENCH COAL STRIKE.

No New Developments in the Situation.

Paris, Nov. 1.—The negotiations between the strikers and the coal mine owners were continued today without decisive results. Small disorders occurred in the mining districts, but the troops easily maintained peace. M. Basly, the socialist deputy, has telegraphed to premier Combes, asking him to arrange for arbitration without any further delay. The miners' congress began a session here today, but it is not connected with the strike, although the speeches will probably drift into a strike discussion.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

Liverpool, Nov. 1.—A coroner's jury today returned a verdict of murder against McKeevre, the slayer of John Kensit, the anti-ritualistic crusader. John Kensit was injured on September 25th by being struck with a chisel, which was thrown at him after he had addressed a meeting at Birkenhead. Mr. Kensit was brought here and placed in a hospital, where he died from pneumonia.

THINK IT IS GOLD.

Rumored Discovery of Precious Metal in West Indies.

Kingston, Jamaica, Nov. 1.—The newspapers here assert that an American syndicate is concluding negotiations for the purchase of property in Jamaica in order to work gold and copper deposits which have been located in payable quantities. The price asked for the property is $200,000.

OLD COMPANY TO RESUME

LONDONDERRY COMPANY REBUILD ON LARGE SCALE.

WILL MEAN EMPLOYMENT FOR A LARGE NUMBER OF MEN.

Truro, N. S., Nov. 1.—A great stir has been created here and all over the county, and everyone is happy over the arrival at Acadia Mines, of Messrs. T. J. and J. J. Drummond, of Montreal, together with George Beatty, and E. G. Clarke of the same city in the interests of the Londonderry iron works. The new company, the Londonderry Iron & Mining company, that owns and will operate most extensively these works, has a capital of $1,000,000, and is composed of the following: Messrs. Drummond, Montreal; Edgar McDougall, Montreal; colonel Henshaw, Montreal; J. T. McCall, Montreal; C. W. Breza, Chicago.

The representatives of the company, who have arrived at Acadia Mines, Londonderry, are to take charge and oversee the very extensive repairs, enlargements and rebuilding of the iron working establishment that has been going to decay and was finally wiped out by fire a few weeks ago. The works will be at once rebuilt with even greater capacity than the old Londonderry iron company, and operated under the name of the Londonderry Iron & Mining company.

The blast furnaces will be repaired and their capacity increased to about 40,000 tons of pig iron a year. The iron foundry and pipe shops are to be built to have a capacity of about 80,000 tons of castings per year—this being larger than in the most flourishing days of the old historic Londonderry Iron company.

The old residents, who moved away to Sydney, and elsewhere, as the works went down and were swept away by fire, are returning in great numbers, and thus far have all found employment. The new company will mine their own ore on the Londonderry properties, and will operate all branches of iron foundries, blast furnaces and pipe shops.

The company expect to be producing pig iron and turning our pipes early in the new year.

SATISFIED AS TO FEASIBILITY.

Marconi Reaches Nova Scotia and Will Resume Experiments.

Sydney, N. S., Nov. 1.—Signor Marconi, who reached here yesterday on the Italian steamer Carlo Alberto, says he is well satisfied with the tests made thus far, but beyond that he declined to make any statement regarding wireless telegraphy. It is learned, however, that comunication was established with Poldhu station at Cornwall, England, while crossing the Atlantic and the success of Marconi's system at great distance is assured.

FUNERAL OF WILLIAM EDWARDS.

Camp McKinney, Oct. 31.—The remains of the late William Edwards, who was burned in his cabin in the early hours of last Wednesday morning, were buried here today, numbers of old timers from all around the district attending to pay a last token of respect to the old pioneer. From the position of the body and the portions of unburned blanket found about it, Edwards must have been in bed when death overtook him. It was his habit to burn candles in wood holders, so it is thought that he fell asleep leaving a candle burning and that when the flame reached the wood it set it alight and the burning grease spreading over the table started that, too. It is quite likely that the unfortunate man was suffocated before the fire burned part of his limbs and his head off Near where the door had been was found the charred skull of his dog, but the fire had quite consumed the animal's body.

A. G. DAVIS INJURED.

Midway, Oct. 31.—A. G. Davis, a Greenwood livery stable keeper, formerly in charge of work on the Rambler mineral claim, near Eholt, met with an accident here this afternoon. He was hitching up a lively team when they started off and he was knocked down and the buggy wheels passed over him. He was bruised and shaken but Dr. Spankie did not find any bones broken when he examined him. He is resting quietly in bed, complaining of pain internally, but it is thought he will be about in a day or two.

Mrs. Kirkland, senior, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Kirkland, of Ladner, near the mouth of the Fraser river, left Midway today on their return having spent a vacation as the guests of Mr. W. H. Norris, J. P., here.

CANADIAN EXPANSION.

Toronto, Nov. 1.—The council of the board of trade yesterday, on a suggestion from the Windsor board of trade, discussed the advisability of the confederation of Canada with Newfoundland and Jamaica.

LABELLE WILL HANG.

Victoria, Nov. 1.—(Special to The Daily News.)—A Dawson special says that Labelle has been found guilty of the murder of Bouthilette, and has been sentenced to hang January 10th.

JAMES F. TICHENOR DEAD

FOR SIX YEARS WAS IDENTIFIED WITH THE BOUNDARY.

FILLED OFFICE OF PRESIDENT OF B. C. COPPER COMPANY.

Greenwood, Nov. 1.—(Special to The Daily News.)—A telegram received from New York advises the death there, after a lingering illness, of Mr. James F. Tichenor, president of the British Columbia Copper Company, Limited, owning the Mother Lode mine near Greenwood, and the smelting works at that town, these together regularly employing about two hundred men. The late Mr. Tichenor had, for more than six years, been closely identified with the development of the mineral resources of the Boundary district of British Columbia, and, during a shorter period, with its smelting industry. He was a prominent member of the New York syndicate, known as the Boundary Mines Company, that in 1896 bonded the Mother Lode and No. 7 mineral claims, and afterwards bought them and opened them up until, their permanence seeming assured, separate companies were organized in New York to acquire and operate them, respectively. He had also been for many years actively connected with mines in several parts of the United States in which he was interested monetarily.

Mr. Tichenor was a man about fifty years of age, above the ordinary stature, and prior to his last illness, usually seemed to be in robust health. He was enterprising and progressive and did not spare himself where the welfare of the companies he was a director of was concerned. His death is a distinct loss to the Boundary country, since he was one of the comparatively few who, realising the enormous potentialities of its abundant mineral resources, had great and persistent confidence in its eventually proving, under ordinarily favorable conditions, a remunerative field for the free investment of capital in its mining and smelting industries. And he demonstrated his faith in the district by putting much of his own money into the B. C. Copper Company's enterprises as well as by inducing many personal friends to do likewise.

APPROVED OF CONFERENCE.

Lord Rosebery Criticizes British Government's Course.

Edinburgh, Nov. 1.—Lord Rosebery, speaking at a crowded meeting here today, welcomed the suggestion of a conference between the liberal leaders. He said he was willing to promote to the utmost in his power the success of such a proposal. He, however, reiterated his abnegation of home rule and said that he did not see any prospect of the liberals coming into power in the near future. He believed that, as a matter of policy, the government might give the Boers more money, and he declared that if he had been premier he would have made lord Kitchener secretary of state for war.

Lord Rosebery further said it was the duty of liberals to remove any possible belief from the minds of the Irish that any independent parliament, or anything leading up thereto, could be entertained by Great Britain. He was willing to admit that it would be well if there could be developed from the basis of local bodies a scheme applicable to England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales which would relieve parliament of business relating to purely domestic concerns.

Mr. Redmond's recent announcement, that in future the settlement of the Irish land problem must take precedence over home rule, said lord Rosebery, had quite changed the character of the Irish question. A hopeful sign, he added, was that Ireland seemed to have progressed towards the idea of a conference between landlords and tennants.

TWO FOOTBALL MATCHES.

Yale Ties With West Point, and Princeton Wins From Cornell.

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 1.—The largest crowd ever in attendance at a football game here witnessed the battle today between Yale and the military academy. Four special trains and three boats came loaded with spectators. New Haven alone furnished four or five hundred of the crowd. The weather could not have been finer for the sports and the spacious field bore a gala aspect. The score between the teams was the same as last year, six to six, both touchdowns being made in the first half. The game was intensely exciting from start to finish.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 1.—In the presence of 7,000 persons, Princeton won a splendid victory today over the Cornell eleven by the score of ten to nothing. The ten points were made by Dewitt, of the Princeton guard, who sent the ball over the bar in the first half, from the thirty-five yard line and again in the second half from the fifteen yard line. Both teams hammered and smashed at the others defence until they found it useless and then in the punting matches that followed Dewitt's wonderful kicks of from fifty to seventy yards gave Princeton her opportunity. It was by far the most brilliant game that has ever been played on Princeton's field this or any previous season.

GREENWOOD LOCAL NEWS.

TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION LABEL NELSON NO. 420

ABOUT KOOTENAY PRINTERS.

The canvasser of a Toronto printing house has issued a circular letter to the business men of Nelson, and, presumably, similar letters have been sent to the business men of other towns in Kootenay.

This letter contains the following gems:

I intend visiting your good town along about the first of November, but owing to the fact that your city clerk imposes a licence upon me for doing business in your city, I will not be able to take orders from you. I mean by this that all I can do is to check up your stock and see what you require. I will, however, be able to show you samples . . but cannot solicit or take orders at the time of my call. . . You can, howevr, address your orders to me at Vancouver.

The printers throughout the Kootenay district are doing all they can to steal our busines away from us. We therefore appeal to you for support in the matter.

The printers of Kootenay have thousands of dollars invested in this province. They employ all told a large number of men, and pay a higher rate of wages than is paid in any other calling in the district. These men are charged with attempting to steal business from a Toronto house whose interests in this province amount to no more than the profit upon the few orders they can secure from business men too short sighted to see the injury they directly do their town by sending their work east.

It is true that in certain lines of commercial printing the Kootenay printers cannot produce the work at as low a rate as the Toronto houses. The reason for this is the comparatively limited demand for that class of work, and the higher wage scale in force in this district, though granted the valume of work the wage scale would not cut much figure; high priced labor being as a general rule the cheapest in the long run. But whilst this is so, we have no hesitation in saying that if the business men of Kootenay would stand by the home printers in a very short time all kinds of printing could be produced locally at as low a price as it can be secured in Toronto. We know whereof we speak in this matter. Today we are turning out from this office the finest class of printing, ruling, and bookbinding at prices that have taken the work from eastern houses. This cannot as yet be done in all lines, but as the volume of business increases, and new and improved machinery can be profitably employed we shall be able to meet Toronto competition at every point, and that, too, without reducing the wage scale, which, as stated above, is the highest in the province.

It may be that some of our readers will think a matter of this kind should not be dealt with in the editorial columns of a newspaper. It is to be regretted that occasion should arise for so doing, and, generally speaking, it is a subject better left to the men at the business end, but after all it is a matter of some public concern. Whenever there is a suggestion of the possibility of establishing in the town a new industry that will have a good payroll, there is no lack of those who advocate all kinds of concessions to secure it. Now a printing office conducted on a big scale is an industry that relatively means more to a community than most other industries, for the reason that by far the greater proportion of the earnings is paid out weekly in wages ,and there are no underpaid men in the printing trade, save, perhaps, the proprietors, who don't count.

The printers ask no concessions. All they ask is that they be given a chance to do the work. They give value for any money they earn, and at the same time help very materially in the upbuilding of the town in which they carry on business. In this connection it may not be out of place to point out that Kootenay printers use a higher quality of material in their work than the cheap Toronto houses. Any traveller for the wholesale paper houses will certify to the truth of the statement that Kootenay printers carry the highest quality of stock of any printers in the dominion.

There is a great outcry today against the people who send to eastern departmental stores for their drygoods and groceries, and the outcry is justifiable. But we fail to see any greater lack of local patriotism upon the part of the man who patronises eastern departmental stores than upon the part of the business man who sends east for printing that can be as well done right in his own town.

QUALIFICATIONS OF TEACHERS.

In a series of articles now appearing in a Winnipeg contemporary the subject of education is being treated from a critical point of view, and while much of what is written has a special interest for the teacher rather than for the general public, the articles contain much that may be read with advantage by most of us. The training of teachers comes in for its share of criticism, and attention is called to the fact that the existing regulations are not conducive to the protection of efficient instructors and the resultant work done in the schools does not come up to the proper standard of excellence.

As the system in vogue in this province is very much on a par with that existing in Manitoba, it wll not be out of place to briefly refer to one or two of the arguments used by the writer of these papers. It is claimed that the ten weeks' training at the normal school exacted of teachers is insufficient to prepare them for the work if they have taken up teaching as a life work, and that the ease with which certificates are thus obtained, the certificates holding good for three years, has attracted many young men and women to take to teaching merely as a stepping stone to some other calling, in this way filling the market with a class of teachers who are not competent in that they are not properly trained.

While there does not seem to be the same thing going on in this province to any appreciable extent, it certainly does seem a reasonable enough contention that the period of training should be extended to a much greater length. Less than three months is most assuredly not sufficient time in which to learn how to teach even the elementary branches of the course. What is required in order to achieve the best results in our schools is a well trained, well educated, permanent body of teachers, and by well educated there is something more meant than the mere ability to gain a certain percentage of marks at a written examination upon certain prescribed subjects. All that is embraced in the term well educated is not to be found within the covers of text books. No profession needs more careful preparation than that of teaching. Children are largely imitative in their habits, and the mannerisms of a teacher who may be lacking in some of the traits which should enter into the composition of those who teach the young idea, are just as likely to be copied as those of the more refined and better educated instructors.

MUNICIPAL TELEPHONES.

We are somewhat disposed in this part of the world to find fault and make loud our complaint if royal and other commissions do not get through their work and present their reports within a few weeks or months. They do not make so much fuss over these things in Great Britain, commissions and select committees take their time over whatever inquiry they may have on hand, and when in the fulness of time they are ready, they make a report which generally covers every bit of ground and puts an end to any doubt as to just what condition the subject of their investigation is really in. One of these select committees has recently reported. It was appointed four years ago, in 1898, to enquire whether the telephone service is, or is not, calculated to become of such general benefit as to justify its being undertaken by municipalities, and to recommend the conditions under which this should be done. The committee unanimously declare that the privately owned system now in use is not of general benefit either to the United Kingdom at large or even in those limited portions of it where exchanges exist. Secondly, the committee considers it is unlikely that the service will become a general benefit so long as the present arrangements continue, and they point out the superiority of the service in those countries where public ownership obtains. The rates are higher in England and the accommodations worse. The national telephone has paid 5 per cent on the actual investment. The report advises those municipalities that can afford it to compete with the private monopoly.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Matsqui dyke promises to be an endless source of trouble and expense to the province. Enormous sume have already been spent on this piece of work. It has been tinkered with, built, rebuilt and repaired so often that one wonders whether it will ever be a really complete job. Even now there are fears that it is being undermined by the river, and the farmers, who have depended upon the protection presumably afforded by it, are anxious to again have repairs made and to have the entire work examined by experts. The indications are that, much as has been spent on the dyke, much more will yet be required to make it reliable as a protection from the river. Is this because the government engineers are not competent to handle a piece of work of this description? Surely there are men to be had who are capable of doing the work properly, even if the public works department at Victoria has so far failed to secure their services.

According to Clew's report, the export trade of the United States has fallen off very materially during the past year. On the other hand the imports have increased at a tremendous rate, thus somewhat disconcerting those who have asserted so loudly and confidently that the United States would never lose the trade balance which so many consider an essential to a satisfactory condition of trade. It is partly to this disturbance of self assurance that the growing feeling in favor of arranging some measure of reciprocity with Canada is due. The same feeling may have its share of influence with respect to the proposed reciprocity treaty betwen the United States and Newfoundland, a treaty that a few weeks ago was looked upon as most unlikely of being entertained by the administration at Washington. The dominion government have withdrawn their former opposition to the treaty but this action is owing, it is stated, to the giving of guarantees that no exclusive privileges that would operate to the disadvantage of Canada will be granted to the United States. On the contrary, any privileges conceded to the latter will also be extended to Canada and the rest of the empire. There will therefore be less, perhaps, of an advantage to the United States than may appear at first sight.

The Canadian banking system is receiving the favorable attention of American financiers. At the recent bankers' convention in New York, Mr. Forgan, president of the First National bank, of Chicago, pointed out the great economy in cash reserves that is possible under the branch system of Canada, as compared with the American system of independent banks. He showed that the Bank of Montreal, with a capital of $12,000,000, carries on its business with a cash reserve of only 15 per cent, while a half dozen national banks of the United States, taken at random, having a capital of $8,750,000, hold 41 per cent of cash reserve. In other words, the Bank of Montreal is able to invest 85 per cent of its total resources, while the six American banks can invest only 59 per cent. The reason for this, as Mr. Forgan shows, is that the Canadian bank, with its 48 branches, can do its entire domestic exchange and collection business within itself, and has no occasion to deposit any of its funds with other domestic banks. The difference between investing 85 per cent of its resources and 59 per cent, he said, was equal to a 5 per cent dividend on the capital of the Bank of Montreal.

D. A. Stewart, the member for Lisgar, Manitoba, has been confirmed in his seat. The trial of the election protest lasted a long time, a very bitter fight being put up by R. L. Richardson, who formerly sat for that constituency, and who was unseated for corrupt practices, to have his successor put out upon similar grounds. A long list of charges was preferred against Mr. Stewart, covering every imaginable breach of the election law, but the decision of chief justice Killam dismissing the petition, disposed of them all.

NEW YORK FASHION LETTER

New York, Nov. 1.—The old saying that there is nothing new under the sun must be relegated to the list of obsolete phrases—at least as far as the fashions of the coming winter are concerned—for everything in the gorgeous array of the season's advance fashions now on exhibit in Gotham's ultra-smart shops is new.

Indeed there is novelty for everyone, and with the novelty are combined exquisite taste and beauty. For two or three seasons there have been efforts exerted to put pastel tints and the "fade" shades in the forefront of popularity, but these efforts have met with comparative little success until this year. Now it is decided that not only will the pale tints be a la mode, but white—a new "shade" known as chalk-white—is to be the quintessence of smartness.

Of course this style has its strong points and its weak ones. Arguments advanced against its adaptability to unfavorable atmospheric conditions are convincingly offset by Dame Fashion's disciples with the reponse that it is "delightfully cleanable" and "shows absolutely no trace of having come under the influence of the cleaner's art.'

One of the favorite wraps of mid-winter is the graceful, loose paletot of chalk-white cloth with a lustrous finish. This design is comfortable and voluminous and lends itself admirably to the rich treatment and luxurious materials which distinguish the wraps of this season.

For smartnes and originality there is certainly nothing to excel these white cloaks. They show the latest designs in trimming including fancy stitchings, embroideries, appliques, and the like, and the immaculate background of the material afford excellent opportunity of showing off the rich materials employed in the process of ornamentation.

Women who do not take well to the idea of white gowns could not do better than duplicate their effect in more desirable colors. For instance take one of the mid-winter frocks in white wool crepe. The skirt is tucked transversely, from belt to hem and the groups of tucks are alternated with bands of Russian lace through which gleams the silken lining. At the bottom there are three simple round-and-round tucks and these are piped with the narrowest satin bands, presumably for the sake of contrast, for they could hardly improve the beauty of the gown.

The blouse is tucked and outlines a loose Eton effect. It is appliqued with cream colored Ruslan lace and finished with a yoke of dotted chiffon. There is the faintest suspicion of a black satin girdle where the jacket ends. The sleeves fit tight to the elbow, branching out voluminously from this point and narowing again at the wrist where they are gathered into graduated bands of the lace.

The novel feature of these sleeves is an applique of the Russian lace which almost covers the puffed portion, or the top part at least, being widest at the elbow and growing narrow near the wrist-band to fit in with the proportions of the cuff.

Such a gown could not be otherwise but bewitching, no matter what the color selected so long as the material was soft and pliable. In blue, Italian red, dull green or biege, trimmed with the same lace, or an imitation of Russian, the effect would be striking and pretty.

Winter for the New York woman of fashion is simply a synonym for a continual round of gaieties, for there are morning musicales, afternoon calls, drives, matinees and receptions, evening dinners, dances, theatres and balls, and it requires more than mere ambition and an elongated purse to keep up with the "rush" as they say in the much-criticized "smart set."

Light colors in conjunction with fur are used for many of the three-quarter coats worn at some of these fashionable affairs. But even here there is something white, for the smartest of these coats are supplemented with raised applications in white cloth, the "fruit" designs, such as bunches of grapes, cherries, etc., being at the moment a very special and a very fashionable fancy. There was a time when these rich embroideries and heavy effects were regarded as elegancies to be worn only by married women, but this year every one is youthful as provided for by Madame la Mode, and there is very little indeed that is too "handsome" for the debutante of today.

Already novelties are arriving for the horse show which will soon take place. A specially striking gown is made of creme India silk of heavy quality elaborately embroidered in shaded yellow topazes made over a flame-colored chiffon skirt.

The waist is embroidered at the yoke and top of the sleeves and has a canary colored satin belt. Over this gown, which is intended for an evening affair, will be worn a cont of white silk. The silk coat is edged with ermine and the long lace stoles which hang down either side of the front are caught in at intervals by brooches of paste set in old filigrees. Nothing more extravagantly rich or more beautiful could be imagined.

Muffs and boas come in for a large share of attention this winter. Fur effects will not be popular for in-door wear, unless ermine effects are selected. The in-door muff may seem a paradox, but it is not. It is really one of the requisites of a fashionable evening outfit. In fact so fashionable have they become that the guest of a box party who cares to go without her muff has some other striking novelty to compensate for its ommission. Large flower muffs are new and exceedingly dainty. There is no danger of their ever becoming common, because of their cost, hence their great favor with fashion's elite. Crushed and withered roses of all colors are employed with velvet foliage representing leaves in all stages of development and decay. For evening nothing is daintier or more desirable than a blush-pink rose, and embedded in masses of chiffon or lace or marabout feathers, it is a possession to be prized by women.

While almost anyone with natural taste and a talent for "manipulating" things to make ends meet can reproduce fashion's fancies at moderate cost, the woman who would have things as they appear in the shops must needs have a fortune to satisfy her wishes. The inventors of modes are wise in their own generation, but wickedly disconcerting to others, inasmuch as the constant struggle to look smart in garments of even quite comparatively youthful age is as constantly marred by the insiduous introduction of up-to-date details which no process of disintegration or overhauling in older possessions can conceal from the initiated.

There are all sorts of belts, collars, jabots and cascades of chiffon or lace to smarten a bodice when the vulnerable spots begin to show signs of wear, but it is scarcely possible to convert a last season's frock into one of this year's modes.

Among the novelties in applique effects rings are popular, these are nothing more or less than the tiny brass circles—or any size preferred, for that matter—used so much in fancy work, covered with silk threads to match the color of the gown and sewed on in groups to outline fancy designs, or to break the monotony of a solid lace trimming. They are also stitched down both sides of the opening of bodices and ribbons laced through in carselet design.

MAUDE GRIFFIN.

CHARLES T. YERKES.

The Man Who Humbled Millionaire Pierpont Morgan.

Charles T. Yerkes was born in Philadelphia in 1837. His father was a Quaker. After leaving school he worked for a year in a commission house as an apprentice clerk. His energy won for him a present of $50. In 1858 he opened an office as a stock broker, and later became a banker. He made money.

Then he was involved in a scheme to sell the city bonds of Philadelphia on wind. The scheme collapsed and Yerkes went to prison. A board of pardons released him. After his pardon Mr. Yerkes insisted that other charges against him should be tried, and in October, 1872, he went into the court, and his general acquittal promptly followed. In September, 1873, the Philadelphia city council passed an ordinance releasing Mr. Yerkes from all claims of indebtedness.

After his pardon Yerkes went west. Divorced from his first wife, he soon married an extremely beautiful and fascinating woman. He dealt in Chicago gas, Chicago street railways and Dakota towns. His Philadelphia friends backed him financially. Deals in townsites and law-makers were as profitable as his railroad holdings.

Office toil and home life are kept apart by Yerkes. He will talk until 2 a. m. with a picture dealer and throw him out of his office at 11a. m. Business is forgotten when he pulls down the top of his desk.

Novel reading he thinks a waste of time. Books of science and history are his favorites.

Chicago blustered until 1898. Then the second largest city in the United States presented an extraordinary spectacle. Frequently were heard threats of lynching against "gang" aldermen if they sold out the city streets to the $100,000,000 street railway comination

Mayor Harrison was quoted as saying, "I will not be surprised to see some hanging done in the streets of Chicago, and I shall not send in a riot call when it starts." But the mayor became more conciliatory and discouraged the threats of personal violence. Newspapers, too, which had worked a year to arouse the people to a realization of the methods of the street-railway ring, tried to calm the storm.

Public indignation, however, was so intense that little encouragement was needed to precipitate a raid on the council chamber and on the homes of the principal owners of street-railway stock.

Current public opinion was: "If the aldermen sell out, hang 'em. It found expression not only in words, but in the general wearing of little slip-knots supposed to represent hangmen's nooses.

No one was hanged. In 1891 Mr. Yerkes sold out his railroad interests in Chicago for millions and millions. He came to live in New York. His house, at Fifth avenue and Sixty-eighth street is a palace fit for regal hospitality. Yet Mr. and Mrs. Yerkes do not go into society.

A FAMOUS OLD LAND MARK

FORD'S THEATRE WHERE LINCOLN MET HIS DEATH

LATER THE SCENE OF A TERRIBLE LOSS OF LIFE.

Ford's theatre, the scene of the assassination of president Lincoln, aside from the interest it inspires because of that event, has quite a history, first as the site of the First Baptist church, for which it was purchased in 1833, and as Ford's theatre from December 1861 till the date of the tragic event of April 14th, 1865. The Baptists first located at the corner of Nineteenth and I streets, and in 1833 built a house of worship on Tenth street, on the theatre site. The pastor was the Rev. Obadiah Brown, a clerk in the postoffice department, and the principal clerk for some years; and among his members was Amos Kendall, who filled various responsible offices, among them that of postmaster-general; Isaac Clarke, father of Dr. John W. Clarke, of the district government; Dr. Joseph Borrows, Lambert Tree and J. W. Reynolds.

Dr. Brown filled the pastorate till 1850, when Rev. S. P. Hill was called to the pulpit and served till the church was sold. He went with the congregation to the church on Thirteenth street, on the present site of the builders' exchange. In 1861 the Tenth street building was purchased by John T. Ford and converted into a playhouse, the building being reconstructed and adapted for that purpose.

Under the name of Ford's Atheneum the building was opened in December, 1861, and while on the bills the designations theatre and opera house were used, the simple name of "Ford's" was sufficient to locate the building. During the war such talent as Edwin Forrest, John McCullough, John Sleeper Clarke, Stuart Robson, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Bishop, Mr. and Miss Couldock and Caroline and Peter Richings trod the boards. December 30th, 1862, during the engagement of the Richings, the building was destroyed by fire totally, and the members of the company lost all their stage property.

In August following, the house having been rebuilt and fitted up, the drama had another start here, the spectacular "Naiad Queen" occupying the stage. Miss Maggie Mitchell and other star performers drew the largest audiences.

The tragedy of April 14th, 1865, of course, ended the career of the structure as a place of amusement. The military took possession and held it until after the trial of the associates of Booth. It was subsequently purchased by the government, and the army medical museum was located there, as well as the record and pension division of the surgeon-general's office.

It is a coincidence that it was in the alley in the rear through which Booth escaped that his body was brought after being removed from the arsenal for delivery to the family, and that one of the specimens in the museum was a portion of Booth's spinal column, showing the course of the ball which killed him. It was also here that the body of Guiteau, the man who killed president Garfield, was dissected.

June 19th, 1893, another terrible event took place, in which "old Ford's theatre" was a central figure. While the government clerks in the office were at work in the morning the floors gave way and a large portion of the building was wrecked, many of those in the structure falling and being covered by the debris. There were 22 persons killed and many were injured, a number of them for life.

ANOTHER MURDERER SENTENCED.

Labelle is to Hang at Dawson on January the 10th.

Winnipeg, Nov. 1.—The Free Press has the following special from Dawson, Yukon, under date of October 31: After a sensational trial lasting five days, the prisoner Labelle was found guilty of the murder of Bouthillette, of St. Francis, Que., and was sentenced to be hanged on January 10th next. The trial has excited the greatest interest, the court room being crowded all week. The crown presented an overwhelming mass of evidence, which was very conclusive. F. E. Hagel, K. C., had a splendid case for the defense. The crown prosecutor Fred T. Congdon, made a masterly address to the jury, occupying one hour. His review was listened to with breathless attention. Justice Craig's address lasted thirty-six minutes. He charged strongly against the prisoner. The jury was out three and a half hours.

Extract From a Letter From Mrs. Townsend, Secretary of the W. C. T. U.

Headquarters Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Dear Mrs. Cowan:

I am decidedly in favor of Colonial Remedy. I know of so many cases where it has effected a cure and brought happiness where only misery existed, that I would not be worthy of the name woman did I not heartily endorse it. I have been closely connected with Dr. Brown in his work with it. Hundreds of letters from wives, mothers and sisters, as well as from the parties themselves, testify to its efficacy, and inhuman is the person who would try to stop the good being done by refusing the sanction of our official titles. The W. C. T. U. is in the field to fight the liquor power with any honorable weapon that will win the day, and this surely is an honorable one, since it cures the poor deluded victim and brings hope and reason again to his debased nature. When I find anyone so narrow as to fight a good I always answer them as the Lord did the disciples when the came and told Him that others were casting out devils and they forbade it, as they did it not in His name, and He reproved them and said, "Not so, for they that be for us are not against us." I cannot remember the chapter in Matthew, but you can find it, and I consider that an unanswerable argument.

With kind regards, I remain, respectfully,

MRS. A. M. TOWNSEND,
Secretary Woman's Christian Temperance Union, Detroit, Mich.

NELSON'S NEWS OF THE DAY

John Cholditch & Company, of this city, have been appointed the agents for Kootenay for R. P. Rithet & Company, of Victoria.

Captain West came in with the tug Halys on Friday night, bringing in a barge of firewood. He reports that a large cougar was shot by a rancher near Queen's Bay, south of Balfour, a week ago.

The Oddfellows of the city are arranging to hold a banquet and reception on Monday evening at Fraternity hall, in honor of the official visit of the grand master of the order, A. Graham, who arrived in Nelson Saturday evening.

A rancher from down the lake came in last evening with two thoroughbred white Wyandotte chickens which had apparently died from poisoning, along with his whole flock of nearly 50 birds, to have the cause of death ascertained by an analyst.

M. Monahan came in yesterday from the Maple Leaf, near Forty-Nine creek, where he and three other men have completed the erection of cabins on the property, preparatory to work being carried on during the winter. Work has been commenced on the driving of a tunnel on the lead.

The few sportsmen from the city who have visited the flats at Kootenay Landing during the week report that the ducks are still very scarce, the weather as yet not having been cold enough to bring them in. The Indians are bringing in a few to sell, but so far the white sportsmen have had very little luck.

Wild roses blossoming in November is something not unusual in Nelson, and this year there are more than usually handsome specimens to be seen in many of the gardens of the city. G. Nunn, manager for A. Macdonald & Co., yesterday had on exhibition a bunch of roses and carnations picked that morning from his gardens that would be hard to beat in the east in September.

The first rehearsal of the Nelson amateur dramatic club is to be held on Monday evening, the play selected being a comedy entitled "Caste." It is expected that it will be presented at the opera house about the last week in November, and a number of other plays will be given during the winter. The secretary reports that the membership of the club has increased very rapidly, and that the prospects for giving a series of successful performances are very good.

Hallowe'en passed off rather quieter than usual in the city, few pranks being played beyond the removing of some gates. An amusing incident in connection with the night occurred at an up town residence, where the wife, to prevent the gate being carried away, had it taken into the house for safe keeping. The husband not knowing of this, missed it when he came home, and searched the neighborhood before going into the house, when he fell over the gate in the hallway.

The provincial educational department have decided to shorten the hours in which school will be in session during the winter months, and have notified the principals and teachers of the Nelson schools to put the new schedule in force commencing Monday next. Instead of opening at 9 a. m., the doors will not be opened till 9.30, and the hour for dismissal will be 3 o'clock, instead of 3.30 as heretofore. The afternoon recess has been done away with, but the time allotted to teaching has been shortened by three-quarters of an hour. The change is satisfactory to the teachers of the junior grades, but is not so much appreciated by those of the upper ones, as this is the short session and there are a large number of subjects that have to be covered before the Christmas holidays.

A. Street, who has been engaged in putting in a compressor plant at the Nettie L. mine for the past month, is in the city, having come in from Trout lake Saturday. Fifty men are now at work on the Nettie L. and the ore shipments are being kept up steadily. The new compressor which has just been installed, will be started to work within the next week or ten days, as soon as the tramway, which is also being put in, is completed. The tramway is not to be used for handling ore but for bringing up wood for the compressor and supplies for the mine. The Nettie L. is 2,000 feet above the town of Ferguson, and is a short distance above the timber line. The ore will still be hauled by wagon and sleigh, as that method of transportation is found to be most satisfactory there, but the saving in expenses effected by the tram will be considerable. There has been but little snow at the mine so far, the first snow of any consequence having fallen last Thursday.

PERSONALS

D. Arnot, a leading merchant of Slocan City, arrived in Nelson last evening on a business visit.

F. J. and Mrs. Painton, who left Nelson for the Okanagan last spring, have returned to the city and taken up their residence on Silica street.

T. R. French, who has several men at work on the Gladys, on Morning mountain, came in yesterday for supplies. The Gladys belongs to Stanley brothers, of Nelson, and has had considerable work done on it since its location.

A SHACKER'S LAMENT.

He Thinks Alderman Selous' Bylaw Entirely Uncalled For.

The Editor, The Daily News,—Next Monday's meeting of the city council will probably be watched with more interest by the "common people" of Nelson than the proceedings of that august body usually are; and, while I am in no wise hopeful of influencing the deliberations of mayor Fletcher and his confreres, I desire to express an opinion concerning the bylaws to be introduced by alderman Selous, in his zeal for the public good. Rather should I say I desire to express an opinion concerning one of the projosed bylaws, since I will leave the matter of the city washing where it properly belongs, in the hands of the city housewives. They will undoubtedly "get after" Mr. Selous in proper fashion if he succeeds in limiting their freedom to wash, air and dry the household linen according to their own sweet will. Already they are voicing their indignation in no uncertain tones that a mere bachelor man, accustomed to drying his socks over a "Queen stove," should interfere in affairs so peculiarly their own. The matter that more closely concerns me, and many others similarly circumstanced, relates to the shackers, as Mr. Selous discourteously terms those who make their homes on the foreshore of the west arm, forgetting the days, not yet forgotten by the oldest inhabitants, when he, too, dwelt in a shack situated back of the Madden hotel, a shack built, presumably, with the earnings of an honest pick and shovel. Not all of us have so successfully gambled in the people's natural inheritance, the land, as to be promoted to an upper storey lodging in a government building, and we think our homes, as dear to us as those of richer people, are worthy of some consideration at the hands of the city fathers. As for the shacks being a menace to public health, Mr. Selous ought to know better. We are so situated that nature's great purifiers, sun and air, cast their wholesome influence ever about us, and the proof is yet to be offered that any more sickness, or as much prevails in our quarters than in other districts of the city. If Mr. Selous wants us to be perfectly healthy he should devote his classic mind to the abattoir, with its stinking abomination of rotting entrails and disease-breeding filth. That might well be moved into the upper mountain air to the betterment of the city generally. However, we presume that Mr. Selous fears to fracture his wooden skull by bumping into such an iron combination as the C. P. R. and Paddy Burns. As another outlet for his burning genius I would suggest a movement towards a bylaw regulating rents, so that a house with "modern conveniences" might not be out of the reach of ordinary wage-workers. The end in view at present would be thereby served, since nobody lives in a shack from preference. How is it, by the way, that Mr. Selous is invariably the promoter of schemes that are detrimental to the interests of the citizens. A previous worthy effort of his brought about the sale for taxes, of town lots and pre-emptions, resulting in the enrichment of the government by the munificent sum of four hundred dollars or thereabouts while as many thousands were filched from the pockets of would-be home-makers, to say nothing of years of toil and effort sacrificed to gratify one man's ambition to shine in civic affairs. The question arises, can any man desirous of holding office, afford to thus incur the dislike of a people whose suffrage he seeks. The next election will tell. Thanking you, sir, for the space you have allowed me, I remain

A SHACKER.

The new month opens with plenty of Pabst Beer in town. If you prefer Pabst ask for it. Thorpe & Co. are wholesale agents for it.

LARDEAU MINES.

W. B. Poole arrived in Nelson last evening to attend the meeting of the directors of the Calumet & British Columbia Goldfields. He states that work is going along steadily on the Oyster-Criterion, which he is having opened up. A force of thirty men is employed and a tramway and mill will be installed in the spring. The work under way at present consists of driving tunnels and drifting on the lead. While a crosscut was being made last week a very rich lead of ore was encountered, two feet in width, in which the rock carries a large quantity of free gold. Mr. Poole said that the property had been purchased because it was on an extension of the Eva lead, and the development that had been done on it so far had proved its richness. He believed from the first that the Eva would make a great mine, and had seen nothing in the development, with which he was thoroughly familiar, to cause him to change his opinion.

Regarding the Ferguson camp he said that the Great Western mine was one which was rapidly coming to the front there. Donald Forbes, the new manager, was an extremely energetic and able man, and under his superintendence everything was being made to hum. A new five drill compressor had been installed and was greatly facilitating the work. The company had made all preparations to work this property on a large scale during the coming winter.

The tramway on the Silver Cup was nearly completed and also the Nettie L. and both these properties are getting out large quantities of ore.

A rich strike was made by J. Cummerford, on what is believed to be an extension of the Nettie L. lead, where ore carrying 5,000 ounces of silver besides values in copper and gold was encountered Many of the other properties are also working as many men as can be advantageously employed.

A new winter cordial that is having a good sale is lemon squash. It makes a nice drink with whiskey, or whiskey and soda. Thorpe & Co. are introducing it. Try a "Lithia and Lemon Squash" if you wish a good soft drink.
