M'GOLDRICK OBJECTS

Thinks the Council Wants Strings on Bonus Voted by the People

Mayor Homilton States the City's Side of the Question and Says There is No Need of Trouble

The letter from Mr. McGoldrick to mayor Hamilton refusing to comply with the suggestions sought to be inserted in the agreement between himself and the city over the sawmill bonus matter, which appeared in yesterday's issue of The Daily News, fairly divided public attention locally yesterday with the war in the far east.

The McGoldrick syndicate's view of the matter, and an explanatory statement from his worship mayor Hamilton are appended:

J. P. McGoldrick, George A. Lemmers, and Alex Johnson, of the McGoldrick Lumber syndicate, who has been negotiating for the construction of a sawmill in this city, left last evening for Minneapolis, via Revelstoke. They stated before their departure hat they had not the least fault to find with the people of Nelson. In their dealings with them they had only met with the best of treatment. They declared, however, that they did not propose to be tied up in their operations by a clique in the council, and a minority of the council at that. They simply wanted a site near the city and were willing to pay for it. The parties owning the site raised the price and they did not blame them for that. The land was theirs and they had a perfect right to ask what they pleased for it. They asked the city to make up the difference between what the land is worth and what they would have to pay for it. The city agreed to make up the difference, and passed a by-law, giving them $5,000 bonus, which was approved by the ratepayers.

They stated further that the council, or at least a minority of the council, asks them not to start a store. It might come to pass that the syndicate would desire to erect a storehouse and put in supplies for the mill. If the agreement was signed they could not even do this. They were further requested not to start a boarding house. It might be necessary to have a boarding house under certain circumstanes. It might be necessary at a logging camp or elsewhere. They did not propose to be tied up for the sake of the subsidy. There were two or three other locations which would suit them very well and one of these might be finally selected. They were not going into the store or boarding house business, however.

A dispatch was shown from the mayor of Kaslo asking if the syndicate would conisder the propostion of locating the sawmill there and stating that a representative of the city, G. O. Buchanan, would meet them today.

The members of the syndicate did not care to discuss what they would do with the proposition from Kaslo. They had arranged to go east last evening and hence did not care to remain over in order to meet the representative of that city.

Mayor Hamilton was seen last night and he stated in connection with the matter: "I was very much surprised at Mr. McGoldrick's letter and I fail to understand what he is complaining about. When the draft agreement came up before the council several of the aldermen thought that some clauses should be inserted that were not in it, and a motion carried to that effect. It was openly stated on behalf of Mr. McGoldrick, by those who canvassed in favor of the by-law that no attempt would be made to employ Chinese labor or to run company stores in connection with the new mill. If the contrary had been understood at the time of the voting, I don't think the by-law would have carried. Alderman Selous stated that it was distinctly understood by Mr. McGoldrick that he was to be handed the bonds and place them on the market himself. As to the cost of submitting the vote, about $200, it was stated at the council that it was usual for the person getting the bonus to pay. I had only to carry out the wishes of the council in the matter, and on Tuesday evening I called on Mr. McGoldrick and explained the matter to him. We talked over the situation and I gathered from Mr. McGoldrick that there was no objection to the changes suggested. He asked me, however, to write him an official letter, suggesting what was wanted so that the matter could be put on a businesss basis, and I accordingly had the suggestions made and embodied in a letter as requested. That is the position of offairs, and why Mr, McGoldrick should change front and assume that we don't want to treat him fairly is something I cannot understand. I understand that Mr. McGoldrick now says he did not make a verbal arrangement to accept the bonds as alderman Selous understood, and in that case we will have to arrange for the cash. The payment of the cost of submitting the vote is a small matter one way or the other, and would not be allowed to stand in the way of effecting a settlement if the sawmill man objects to following the usual custom here. I do not understand that Mr. McGoldrick intends to employ Chinamen or to open a company store, and if he does not, I should think he would have no objection to having it so stated in the agreement. I wrote the letter complained of after discussing the matter with Mr. McGoldrick and at his request, and if he objected to any of the suggestions made, he could at least have said so, and consulted with us in the matter. It may be necessary for me to call a special meeting of the council as I do not care to settle such a question on my own authority."

THEY WENT TO PIECES

SLOCUM LIFE PRESERVERS WERE ROTTEN AND USELESS.

A WOMAN WHO TRUSTED TO ONE WAS DROWNED NEAR SHORE.

New York, June 23.—Assistant district attorney Garvin, who has been the examining attorney at the coroner's inquest into the General Slocum disaster, said today that he believed the inquest would be completed before Monday night. His work was nearly done, he said, and he believed that when captain VanShaick and the chief pilot of the excursion boat had given their evidence, sufficient facts would be on hand to enable the jury to fix the responsibility for the disaster, and to render their formal verdict.

When the inquest was resumed today Martin Craght, of Brooklyn, a deckhand on the Slocum, said he was on the hurricane deck when he saw the fire. No one gave any notice of the fire. He pulled down some life preservers and jumped overboard. He said he did not see the captain until he reached the shore. He knew of no attempt to lower a life boat nor did he hear any fire alarm.

Policeman James Collins said he and another policeman picked up 16 dead bodies. He saw many life preservers floating and a lot of floating cork, but none of the preservers picked up were good life preservers.

A. C. Ferrill, a policeman, who was with Collins, took the stand to corroborate Collins' statement. Captain VanSchaick was brougt in. He was carried in on a stretcher by four hospital orderlies, accompanied by a doctor and escorted by two policemen. Although the physicians who accompanied captain VanSchaick said that he was well enough to testify today, and the captain expressed a willingness to undergo an examination, it was decided not to call him and he was taken back to the hospital.

The Slocum could have been beached at the foot of 131st street in from three to five minutes, according to the testimony of John Van Gilder, superintendent of the New York, New Haven & Hartford lighter service. Van Gilder said he went over the course taken by the Slocum last Sunday accompanied by the coroner, and assistant pilot Weaver, of the Slocum. Weaver believed that 131st street was the proper place to have run the burning Slocum on the beach. The point could have been reached by slightly changing the course, the flood tide would have helped, and the winds would have carried the flames outward. Asked what was the reputation of captan VanSchaick as a commander, the witness said it was first class. He had no doubt the captain had done what he thought best under the circumstances, and that if he was wrong, it was an error of judgment.

Captain Edward Vanwart, senior pilot of the Slocum, said he was in the pilot house with his assistant, Weaver, and captain VanSchaick, when a voice called up through the tube that the boat was on fire. "What did the captain say?" asked Mr. Garvin.

"He told us to beach her on North Brother island." He said it was about half a minute from the time of the warning that the boat was on fire before the captain gave the order to beach her.

"Did any of them have life preservers on?" asked Mr. Garvin.

"Four or five of the corpses had. I have one that I picked up. It is full of powdered cork, and is sea rotten. I pulled it to pice with my finger nail," said the witness. He promised to send the life preserver referred to, to the district attorney's office.

Much of the testimony offered at the afternoon session of the inquest had to do with the condition of the life preservers. Almost without exception the stories of the witnesse were to the effect that they were of little value. Many instances were given where the straps attached to the life belts broke easily when subjected to strain and where the canvas covering was torn and the filling of granulated cork released. Numerous witnesses testified that quantities of the granulated cork were seen floating on the surface of the water in the vicinity of the burning steamer, while the work of rescue was going on.

Joseph F. Caffney, chief engineer of North Brother Island, told of seeing a small boy float safely to shore with the aid of the life belts. A moment later he saw a woman floating on a life preserver and then the life preserver parted and floated away from her and she sank. He did not see her again.

Paul Liebenew, who lost six members of his family by the burning of the Slocum, was on the steamer. "When I discovered the boat was afire," he said, "I tried to get down some life preservers. They would not come. The wires were fast and would not give, and the preservers crumbled like so many soda crackers."

Counsel for the Knickerbocker Steamboat Co., captain Wade, said he thought the Slocum was beached with good judgment and that considering her great length, the captain did the best he could after the fire was discovered. In asking an adjournment until Monday, Mr. Garvin said he hoped to complete his case during that day and may do so, the jury to hear the evidence during the afternoon. Coroner Berry acceded to the request and declared the court adjourned until Monday.

The canvass to determine as nearly as possible the exact number of persons who lost their lives in the General Slocum disaster will be even more thorough than at first intended. Not only will every home in the Greater City, which is thought to have been directly affected by the disaster, be visited by the special detail of patrolmen appointed by the police commissioner, but the investigation will be extended to other cities and towns in this state and Pennsylvania, from whence have come reports of persons believed to have gone on the ill-fated boat and who are missing. Such instances will be investigated. It is estimated that a week or more will be required to complete the canvass and get the final list of dead, missing and saved. Last night's searching for bodies of victims was more barren of results and had less events than has been the case during any night since the burning of the steamer. The alertness and vigilance of the searchers was unrelaxed, but only one body was taken from the river during the night.

CAME UP IN THE HOUSE

LEADER OF OPPOSITION SPEAKS ON DUNDONALD INCIDENT

WHAT HE SAID WAS AN ATTACK ON FISHER, WHO WILL REPLY

[Special to The Daily News.]

Ottawa, June 23—Mr. Borden, leader of the opposition, in the house today brought up the lord Dundonald affair, on motion tto go into supply. He made a long, dull speech, reiterating all the documents in the case which have already been published. He asked whether we were to have non-partisan militia or not and proceeded to endeavor to show how Mr. Fisher had introduced politices into the organization of the Thirteenth Scottish Light Dragoons. His attack was directly against Fisher and he concluded with a resolution directed against Fisher's interference, which, it was said, brought about the loss of the services of lord Dundonald.

Mr. Fisher will reply tomorrow, and will show from Dundonald's own statement that this was not correct, and that it was a mere incident in the affair.

Mr. Borden will also make a speech which will show that every report which Dundonald was asking to have published was marked "Private." It was also the subject of the correspondence between Mr. Borden and lord Dundonald, and the latter knew well that it was a private document.

Mr. Borden today pressed upon the government the getting of the claims of sealers, whose vessels were seized in the Behring sea, settled by Russia. Premier Laurier aid he would make a statement tomorrow.

NOTABLE VISITORS

Party of Mining Men Inspect the Hunter V. Mine

[Special to The Daily News.]

Ymir, June 23—The following gentlemen paid a visit to the Hunter V. mine today: James Ashworth and D. G. Ashworth of England; professor Beard of Scranton, Pa.; W. F. Robertson, provincial mineralogist, of Victoria; William Fernle, J. Laing-Stocks, James Johnstone, S. S. Fowler and Norman Carmichael. Their visit was purely for the purpose of inspection.

P. J. Gleazer left last evening for Revelstoke and will be away a few days. It is reported he will not return alone.

Owing to the whistle on last night's train blowing off near Beaver, the train was a couple of hours late. Before the repairs could be made the engine had to "die" so that the plug could be put into place to prevent the steam escaping.

A fight last Sunday at Salmo beween two lady residents resulted in one having a badly scratched face and the other having her fingers badly chewed up.

FOR AMERICA'S CUP

Anticipated That There Will be Two Challenges for it.

New York, June 23—Gossip among yachtsmen here is to the effect that two challenges may be expected from England in the near future, and that there will be a race for the America's cup next year, if the New York club will accept. Two British yachtsmen are ready to build boats and they are now at work on the plans. One challenge is expected through the Royal Clyd yacht club and another through the Royal Ulster yacht club, sir Thomas Lipton representing the latter already had so many chances of lifting the famous trophy, that it is likely that the Clyde challenge will be accepted.

PROGRESS OF THE WAR

Japanese Evidently Intend to Take the Town of Kai Chou

The Desire is to Detain as Many Russians as Possible in Northern Part of Liao Tung Peninsula

St. Petersburg, June 23.—General Kouropatkin's latest official despatch does not carry the military situation further than the advices the Associated Press have already indicated save that it shows the Japanese to be active north of Feng Wang Cheng. The movement in this direction is interpreted both as a threat to detain as many Russians as possible in the northern part of the Liao Tung peninsula and as a protection of the Japanese flank against a counter move on the part of general Kouropatkin in case the opposing armies should become seriously engaged in the vicinity of Hai Cheng.

Emperor Nicholas has received the following despatch from general Kouropatkin under date of June 21: "A Japanese army from Kai Chou is gradually advancing northward. General Kuroki's advance from Siuyen has been suspended, evidenly to affect an alignment of the two armies. The strength of the enemy's vanguard is approximately a division and several squadrons of cavalry and the Siuyen force of nine squadrons. supported by a strong column of infantry toward the south. The enemy's position on June 19 and 21 extended within seven miles southward to Senu Chen along a line from the sea to the mountains, and difficult district east of the railway. The enemy's advance lines are being strongly held by cavalry and a screen of infantry. The passes and defiles in the mountains east of the railway are also vigilantly guarded. A movement of strong Japanese mounted patrols, with infantry supports, was noted on June 20, from 5 in the afternoon onwards. We had no losses in the firing which ensued, while the Japanese had several killed and wounded.

"An increase in the Japanese forces has been noted south of Van Fia Pudze, and near the villages of Manzia Pudze, Vaedia Pudze and Khakaiei. Reinforcements are also reaching the Japanese at the fathest point of the road between Siuyen and Tanchi, via Paiahnaou and Siakhotan. The Japanese are erecting field fortifications on the road from Siuyen to Kai Chou. The enemy's outposts have occupied the pass between Chang Rabei and Pai Chang on the northern road, nine and a half miles east of Siakhotan and the Chapan pass, seven and a half miles south of Siakhotan.

"On June 19 two Cossacks were wounded by Chinese ruffians. The Japanese have fortfied Kuan Dian Sian, mounting eighteen guns with a strong screen. The enemy has occupied the village of Sapan Hai, 25 miles northeast of Siamatsze and is firmly entrenched."

INSPECTED THE SHORE.

Japanese Flotilla Draw the Fire of Port Arthur Forts.

Chicago, June 23.—A special to the Daily News from Che Foo says: "A reconnaissance of the approaches to Port Arthur was made yesterday by a Japanese flotilla of three destroyers and four torpedo boats, which ran in from the east about noon and cruised along the whole bluff, coming out past the Laothieshan promontory. As the flotilla steamed along it was heavily engaged with the forts, but apparently suffered no damage, although a signal mast of one of the torpedo boats was knocked out of shape as if struck by a shell. The operation was backed at some distance by two cruisers, one of which appeared to be the Yakuma, while an auxilliary cruiser, an old San Francisco liner, the Nippon, or a sister ship, acted as sea scout in the rear. Shortly afterwards a heavy fire began on the land side, lasting intermittently until dusk."

ATTACKED THE OUTPOSTS.

The Russians Were Repulsed With Considerable Loss.

General Kuroki's Headquarters in the Field, Via Fusan, June 23.—The Russians from Samimuk attacked the Japanese outposts in force yesterday, apparently for the purpose of testing their strength. The Russian force consisted of two regiments of cavalry, one infantry and one battery of artillery. The enemy were defeated and retreated toward Shintaling. They are supposed to have sustained considerable loss. On the Japanese side major Kubota was killed and nine men were wounded.

THE USUAL STORY.

The Japanese Advance and the Russians Retire Slowly.

St. Petersburg, June 23.—The general staff has received the following despatch from lieutenant general Saksharoff under date of June 22: "At 8 o'clock on the morning of June 21, the Japanese vanguard resumed its advance against our outposts four miles south of Senu Chen, and further on in the direction of Kai Chou. At noon a Japanese column, consisting of nine squadrons of cavalry, a battery of artillery and a considerable number of infantry was observed advancing in the direction of Senu Chen. Other strong columns of the enemy appeared and the Japanese occupied Senuchen towards evening with over a division of infantry, a brigade of cavalry and 32 guns. According to information received from our scouts and the inhabitants, the enemy, over a division strong, is concentrated southward of Chapon pass."

A BATTLE EXPECTED.

General Kouropatkin's Speech to Troops Thought to Mean Something.

St. Petersburg, June 23.—The expectation of a great battle has been intensified by general Kouropatkin's speech to general Stalkenberg's corps on Monday at Kai Chou, when the commander in chief said he would see the troops again soon; that they must battle the Japanese promptly and that they were not going home until this had been done. The general is understood to have meant that he would return from Liao Yang with a large force and give battle. It is pointed out that he can afford to leave a comparatively small garrison at Liao Yang in view of the absence of any direct advance from Feng Wang Cheng, and the concentration of the Japanese forces south. In the opinion of many conservative military men, general Kouropatkin's massing of an army at Kai Chou does not necessarily mean that he is giving battle merely to check the Japanese advance and defer the occupation of New Chwang, the possession of which would be of great advantage to the Japanese during the rainy season, affording the enemy housing accommodation and enabling them to land supplies, and harass the Russians. The occupation of Siung Yo Shan by a Japanese detachment indicates that the connection between the enemy's armies is practically assured. Siung Yo Shan is half way between general Oku's and general Kuroki's positions at Senuchen and Siuyen respectively. In the opinion of the general staff the Siung Yo Shan detachment is an outpost of the Siuyen army, or another force recently landed at Ching Tai Tcze. The information of the war office accounts for the position of 12 Japanese divisions.

FROM TWO SIDES.

The Japanese Forces Evidently Intend To Attack Kai Chou.

Liao Yang, June 22.—(Delayed in transmission).—According to reports received at the Russian headquarters, the Japanese intend to attack Kai Chou or Ta Tackekiao from two sides. Their armies continue to advance from the south and east. The leading detachments of general Oku's army have occupied Senuchen, and Japanese scouts have appeared in the vicinity of Kai Chou. Constant skirmishes are in progress between them and the Cossacks, who are observing the movements of the enemy. Gen. Kuroki's army has appeared on the road leading westward from Siuyen and the neighboring valleys. The success of the Japanese plan would mean that Korea would lose its value as a base, New Chwang then being available for this purpose. The movements of the Japanese troops are facilitated by the cessation of the rains and hot weather having set in, which has dried the roads. Another Cossack detachment has fallen into an ambush of Japanese infantry, losing a number of men wounded.

IS AN ABLE OFFICER.

Field Marshal Oyama is to Take Command of Japanese.

New York, June 23.—Field marshal marquis Oyama left Shimonoeski yesterday and will land at Taku Shan in a few days, cables the Tokio correspondent of the World. Until his arrival at the scene of the fighting, generals Kuroki, Oku and Nodzu will make no serious forward movement. In view of general Kouropatkin's concentrations at Liao Yang, general Kuroki has been ordered to modify his original plan and instead of marching northward, to reinforce the army of Nodzu and Oku.

BATTLE OF FUTURE.

Issue in Future Encounters Will Depend on the Artillery.

St. Petersburg, June 23.—A leading Russian military expert, reviewing the lessons of the battle of Vafangow, attributes the Japanese success to superior artillery and prophesies that the issue of future battles will be favorable to the side which places the most guns on the field. A superiority of one-third being sufficient to assure victory. He declares that general Stalkenberg's mission was to test the strength of the Japanese forces, and that the lessons learned at Vafangow are not likely to be lost on general Kouropatkin.

FROM LAND AND SEA.

Said a Determined Attack Was Made on Port Arthur June 22nd.

Che Foo, June 23.—It is reported here that the Japanese made a determined attack upon Port Arthur from land and sea yesterday, June 22, and also during the night. Two steamers just arrived passed Port Arthur at 1 o'clock this morning, some distance off shore. The captains, both reliable men, say they did not hear any firing at that hour.

MAKING NO SORTIES.

Stoessel Thinks Port Arthur Garrison Can Defend Itself.

New York, June 23.—Accounts received from Chinese sources indicate that success has hitherto not attended the Russians' strenuous efforts to clear the entrance of Port Arthur, says a Tokio cable to the Times. The Novik's recent passage out was accomplished with the help of tugs. The destroyers alone are able to leave the harbor and are occupied in removing mines. Thirty new forts, armed with guns from the ships, have been erected in order to strengthen the land defences. There is nothing to indicate an intention on the part of the Russians to make a sortie with the squadron. Apparently general Stoessel is relying altogether on his capacity to resist a Japanese assault, and if he fails he will blow up the remains of the squadron. Meanwhile, owing to the system pursued in Tokio, of withholding intelligence of all preliminary movements until the attainment of the immediate objective, there is no news of the Japanese operations.

RUSIAN FORCE FACES KUROKI

General Kuroki's Headquarters in the Field, Via Fusan, June 22.—(Delayed in transmission).—The Russians are still occupying the towns on the main road in front of general Kuroki's army, with a considerable force of men, but during the past few days there has been no encounter of importance. Now the heavy rains have ceased and the country is drying up quickly.

APPOINTED SUPREME COMMANDER

Tokio, June 23.—The marquis Oyama, formerly marshal and chief of the general staff, has been appointed to the supreme command of the imperial army in the field.

About one hundred delegates and visitors are in attendance. Today's proceedings were devoted to the reception of reports on the year's work.

Among the Nelson Masons in attendance at the meeting are John A. Turner, W. A. Jowett, Fred Irvine, E. A. Crease, George Johnstone, C. H. Crandon and J. A. Dewar.

SHOULD BE PUNISHED.

A Clerk Disfranchises One Thousand Montreal Hebrews.

Montreal, June 23.—Great indignation has been caused among the Jewish residents of Montreal through the discovery that about one thousand of their number have been disfranchised through the action of a clerk in the assessor's office, who struck off their names because they had a foreign sound. The matter, it is alleged, was kept a profound secret until after the board of revisers had adjourned. As it does not meet again for two years there are no way of getting their names restored to the list during that time, even though the dominion election will take place during the interval. S. W. Jacobs, who represents a large number of the parties involved, says that steps will be taken to find the author of the outrage and to see that he is punished according to the provisions of the law he has violated.

STATUS OF MINTO CUP.

Montreal Shamrocks Need Not Meet the Brantford Team.

Montreal, June 23.—The trustees of the Minto cup have decided that the Shamrock lacrosse club of this city need not meet the Brantford team's challenge. The ground taken is that the cup was donated for contests between amateur teams and goes from the possession of the holder to the winner of the championship in the league in which it is represented. Therefore, the Brantford team might win the cup, and then it could pass into the possession of some other team in the C.L.A league, many of which contain professional players, whom those in the other leagues could not meet.

WINNERS OF MEDALS.

Kingston, June 23.—The closing exercises of the Royal Military college were held today. The governor general's gold medal was won by F. H. Peters, of London, Ont., the silver medal by E. F. Dawson, of Charlottetown, P.E.I., and the bronze medal by A. A. Putnam, of Halifax. The other maritime province graduate was E. S. Hill, of St. Stephen, N.B.

CARMEN ACCEPT TERMS.

Toronto, June 23.—A mass meeting of street railroad men was held early this morning and adopted by two thirds vote the agreement reached by the committee with the company, by which the men are given an increase in wages of from two to three cents per hour. The agreement is to continue for three years.

GARIBALDI IS BUSY.

Rome, June 23.—General Ricciotti Garibaldi is continuing what he calls his preparations against Austria. He writes that there are already in existence 900 companies which are capable of providing 36,000 volunteers with arms. Garibaldi's assertion is looked upon as exaggerated.

DEAD FROM INJURIES.

Winnipeg, June 23.—P. Williams, a C. N.R. brakeman, was injured at Fort Francis today, and died in the general hospital here tonight.

REPUBLICAN TICKET

Party's Standard Bearers in Campaign Roosevelt and Fairbanks

Nominations Made Amid Much Enthusiasm and Without a Dissenting Voice Being Raised

Chicago, June 23—The swift sure current of public opinion for the second time in the history of republican conventions today resulted in the selection of a national ticket without a dissenting voice. The order was Roosevelt for president and Charles W. Fairbanks for vice-president, and each received every vote in the convention. Regardless of the fact that the nomination of the one had been assured for months and the other for days, the announcement of the choice was accompanied by a resounding demonstration, attesting the universal popularity of the candidates. The cheering was led by figures known throughout the length and breadth of the land and echoed by a mighty throng of enthusiastic men and radiant women, assembled in the coliseum to witness the crowning feature as well as the close of the national convention that marks the semi-centinnial of the republican party in the United States. No less than ten thousand men and women participated in the ratification of the party program and the consequent roars of cheering and hand-clapping was deafening.

When former governor Black of New York made his speech and nominated Theodore Roosevelt to succeed himself as president, the delegates in the convention proved that there was no absence of enthusiasm in their ranks when occasion justified the exhibition of that quality. For 25 minutes the great throng told of its appreciation of the convention's choice for president. The name of Roosevelt came from every throat.

When senator Fairbanks had been nominated for vice-president there was no diminution in the demonstration. Voices were hoarse, but the noise for the choice was just as unanimous as it was on filling the first place on the ticket.

Chicago, June 23—The nomination of candidates in a national convention is the feature that appeals most strongly to the public and the number of visitors this morning gave ample evidence of that fact. Half an hour before the time set for the opening the convention there was as many visitors in the galleries as witnessed the entire opening sessions Tuesday. Not only since the opening of the convention have all the visitor's seats been filled, but the manner in which the crowd poured in through the entrances today gave evidence that by the time the gavel fell every seat would be occupied and the standing room jammed to the limit. The delegates and alternates were not as prompt as the spectators in their arrival and the orchestra rendered about one half its day's program while waiting for the convention to open.

A few moments before the assembling there was a hurried conference by the managers whch resulted in an agreement that Alabama, which being the first state on the roll, would yield to New York to nominate Roosevelt. It was also agreed that Alabama, which was the first state to instruct for Fairbanks, would yield to the idea to place the senator's name in nomination for vice-president. At 10:30 a.m. chairman Cannon called the convention to order, the galleries being completely filled for the first time and tiers of people standing in rear isles.

At the conclusion of the opening prayer chairman Cannon announced that on the 6th of July at Jackson, Mich., there will be celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of the birth of the republican party.

Chairman Cannon at once announced that the next order of business would be a roll call of the states for the nomination of the president of the United States.

The clerk called "Alabama," and immediately Oscar B. Huntley of that state mounted the chair and announced that Alabama requested the privilege of yielding its place in the roll to the state of New York. Instantly the convention was in an uproar. The New York delegation was on its feet like one man, waving its flags and shouting.

Ex-governor Black of New York, immediately started for the platform and nominated president Roosevelt and at the conclusion of his nominating speech the greatest demonstration of the convention broke out continuing for fully 20 minutes.

When the noise had ceased, chairman Cannon called the convention to order to allow senator Beveridge of Indiana to second the nomination.

The clerk began calling the roll by states at 11 o'clock. When Alabama responded with her entire vote for Roosevelt there was a cheer. As the states followed in alphabetical order and each response was ended with the words "Theodore Roosevelt," the cheers were repeated, and when finally chairman Cannon announced the nomination of Roosevelt, a demonstration followed.

The roll call for the nomination of vice-president was begun. Senator Dolliver of Iowa, nominated senator Fairbanks of Indiana and senator Depew of New York, seconded the nomination.

The nomination of Fairbanks was made unanimous.

The formal notification of president Roosevelt of his nomination will be held on July 27 at Oyster Bay. Speaker Cannon will be chairman of the notification committee. The notification of senator Fairbanks will occur a week later at Indianapolis. Former secretary of war Root will be chairman of the vice-presidential nomination committee.

THE SAWMILL BONUS.

It is regrettable that a misunderstanding has arisen between the city council and the McGoldrick syndicate over the terms of the $5,000 bonus which was to be given to the latter in consideration of the erection and maintenance of a sawmill with a capacity of 100,000 feet per day just outside of the city limits. After the by-lay providing for the payment of the bonus had been adopted the city council sought to have certain conditions added to in the agreement with the syndicate. These conditions are as follows:

That you should pay the costs of submitting the by-law to the people.

That you should covenant in the agreement that no Chinamen shall be employed at the mill.

That you should also covenant that no store will be run by the company or in conjunction with the mill.

That you take city bonds for $5,000 in payment of the bonus as voted.

The McGoldrick syndicate in a letter addressed to the mayor refused to agree to these conditions, declaring the matter closed and giving their reasons for not caring to sign such an agreement. Among other things they declared that they do not care to have the council run their business, as they will have a board of directors for that purpose.

The city should have had the matters above set forth included in the by-law ordinance when it was adopted, and to ask for them now, reveals that they forgot them when the by-law was drafted. This shows gross carelessness on the part of those who prepared the by-law. As the clause relating to the syndicate paying the cost of the by-law election was not in the original by-law it should not be insisted on now. Neither should the syndicate be compelled to take the bonds of the city instead of cash as this was not a portion of the original agreement.

On the other hand, the clause relating to the employment of Chinese should be signed by the syndicate as it was stated by the canvassers in favor of the bonus that the mill would not give employment to Chinese. The members of the syndicate should also be willing to sign the agreement not to run a store. If the McGoldrick syndicate is to employ Chinese to the exclusion of Caucasians, and is determined to run stores to compete with the merchants of the city, it would be out of the question for the merchants and workers of this city to give them a bonus in order to build up opposition to themselves. These two sections of the agreement, we believe should be acceded to by the syndicate.

That a large majority of the ratepayers of the city are favorable to the granting of the bonus is shown by the result of the election for the by-law, held on June 2nd, when there were 182 votes cast for the by-law and only 31 against it. It is evident, too, that the hitch in the matter is due to a minority of the council, which the vote shows, only represents a very small portion of the sentiment of the community.

It is hoped that the disagreement may be patched up. The members of the syndicate have only good words to say of the city and its citizens, but they say they do most seriously object to a minority of the council endeavoring to defeat what to them seems to be the expressed will of the people. We believe, however, that if they will agree not to employ Chinese or to run a store, that an amicable adjustment of the matter can be arrived at.

VISIONS BECOME REALITIES.

The late Cecil Rhodes was a dreamer as well as an intensely practical man, and the visions which he had were principally as to the present and future greatness of the British empire. In his mind's eye he saw the empire the dominating power in the affairs of the world and wielding its power humanely and for the good, the advencement and the betterment of mankind. The British people have shown that they are the best colonizers in the world and that they are able to govern men of different races in a manner which makes the governed loyal to the flag and friends of those by whom they were governed.

One day Rhodes had a vision that South Africa should all be under the government of the British empire and during his lifetime that vision became a reality, although it cost much blood and treasure to secure that end, but today the union jack floats triumphantly over the fairest, the richest and the most fruitful part of the Dark Continent.

Rhodes saw that a railroad running through the centre of the Africa from Capetown to Cairo would tie together the possessions of the British on that continent as well as give the empire sovereignty over the country which is not now under British rule along the proposed line. Yesterday the despatches announced that the first thousand miles of this railway running from Capetown to Victoria Falls on the Zambesi river had been completed and was open for traffic. In a short time, possibly within the next ten years, the dream of Rhodes of a Cape-to-Cairo railroad, with all that it means in the way of dominion over vast areas of the Dark Continent, will have been realized.

One other scheme of Rhodes for adding to the greatness of the empire was a union of all the Anglo-Saxon peoples. This meant the consolidation of the British empire and the United States, thus creating a power which would indeed carry out his plan for a dominating power which could police the entire world and shape the destiny of mankind so that there would be no slavery, no oppression, no tyranny, anywhere on the Creator's footstool. Will it ever come to pass that this grand vision of the departed sage and prophet of South Africa will become a concrete reality?

SUIT AGAINST PLATT.

James Donovan Wants to Collect Three Millions From Him.

Chicago, June 23.—James Donovan, surviving partner of the firm of Donovan & Co., has brought suit against Thomas C. Platt, of New York, and J. Platt Underwood, of Chicago, for $3,000,000. The suit grows out of alleged frauds in connection with the cutting of timber on land in Michigan. As soon as the papers in the case against senator Platt were filed in court, the plaintiff and a deputy sheriff started in a cab for the Coliseum intent upon serving a summons on Platt on the floor of the national republican convention.

SOLOMON JOHNS

ONE-SIDED LAND DEAL

M'BRIDE EXCHANGES GOOD LAND FOR SOIL OF POOR QUALITY

ONE OF PRINCIPALS IN DEAL WENT TO SCHOOL WITH "DICK"

[Special to The Daily News.]

Vancouver, June 23—The latest exploit of the McBride government has been to exchange a thousand acres more or less of valuable land on the route of the V. W. and Y. railroad, about midway between Vancouver and New Westminster, for the same amount of land of doubtful value on the Coquitlam river.

The transaction, which it is understood has been completed, was between the government and one Pohlson, who owns some of the Coquitlam land and represents a number of people who own the balance. The Coquitlam land is partly swamps and partly benches of doubtful fertility, while the land given in exchange is in the Boundary country, near Burnaby lake, and is traversed not only by the V. W. and Y., but also by the power line of the B. C. Electric railway company, which extends from the water power house in the mountains to Vancouver. This latter feature is one of no small importance to the value of the land in question, when it is remembered that the project of the syndicate is generally conceeded to be the laying out of a townsite on this property.

The people of Burnaby, in which municipality the land lies, do not appear to have been consulted regarding the matter, through their representative F. Carter-Cotton, is now a mmber of the government, and the farmers are grumbling at the arrangement. They say they wanted the land sold to settlers and not given to speculators.

Many people here are wanting to know how it is that the government could do this with any decency, when they were at the same time contending that there was little accessible land in the province for settlers, and also why, if the land is sufficiently valuable to tempt this syndicate, it was not put up at auction or in some other manner made to replenish the depleted provincial treasury. They also desire to know where Mr. Pohlson got his pull, but it is said that some of those interested went to school with McBride and "Dickie" is no the man to forget his old friends.

The government, of course, claim that the land on the Coquitlam is suitable for a farm to be used as an adjunct to the Westminster insane asylum, from which it is distant about seven miles, and they also claim that while they have given Mr. Pohlson and his friends the land in Burnaby, they have retained the timber, which they will sell. Regarding this piece of information it is pretty well known that all the timber worth having on the land has already been alienated from the crown, and all the McBride government will make out of it will build very few roads.

ST. JOHN EN FETE

Celebrates the Discoveries of Champlain and DeMonts

St. John, N. B., June 23—St. John was en fete today in celebration of the three hundredth anniversary of the discovery of the American continent by the French explorers, Champlain and DeMonts. The tercentenary is being celebrated all this week at Calais, Me., and at various points in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. Preparations for the celebration here have been going on for months past and the result is one of the biggest affairs ever seen here. The celebration is under the general direction of the Historical society of New Brunswick.

The various features of today's program included a regatta in the forenoon and the formal opening of the new Carnegie library in the afternoon. In the library has been placed a handsome memorial tablet to Champlain.

Tomorrow will be the big day of the celebration when warships will be in the harbor representing the navies of the United States, Great Britain and France. There will be a naval and military parade and in the evening a general illumination of the harbor.

ONE HUNDRED ACTS PROMISED

One hundred new and startling acts is shows advertise this season and as they showe advertise this season and as they have in the past fully fulfilled their promises, we can readily believe the assertions. Norris and Rowe are the most progressive and liberal managers before the public today and the reason is not difficult to find. They are young, energetic and above all ambitious, and it takes these qualities to make the modern showman of large ideas. The public profits by this ambition for each succeeding season witnesses a public getting more and more for its money's worth and at no increased cost of admission. This season a complete new train of 20 cars is utilized to carry the vast army of acrobats, jugglers, equilibrists, riders, dens of cages of rare wild animals, the trained elephants, ponies, horses and all the material that goes to make up the modern big circus. Norris and Rowe will give two exhibitions here on Tuesday, June 28th.

OHIO CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

Akron, June 23—It is estimated that nearly 2000 delegates and visitors are in Akron for the annual convention of the Christian Endeavor, which will be in session during the next three days. Ohio is one of the banner states of the organization and the conventions are always well attended. The prsent gathering, however, promises to establish a new attendance record.

A big welcoming demonstration ushered in the convention this evening. The opening address was delivered by Charles Frederick Goss of Cincinnati. Booker T. Washington will deliver the address tomorrow night and Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman will be heard on Sunday.

ROXBURGHE'S SISTER WEDS

London, June 23—One of the most fashionable weddings of the season took place today when lady Isabel Innes-Ker, the third sister of the duke of Roxburghe, was married to Guy Wilson, son of Charles Wilson of Tranby Croft, and brother of Muriel Wilson. The bridal couple were the recipients of many wedding presents of great value, including a handsome gift from king Edward and queen Alexandra, and a magnificent parure of diamonds from the younger duchess of Roxburghe, formerly Miss May Goelet of New York.

A certificate of improvements was granted to W. J. Hughes, Cyril Archibald, Fred Bradley, Neil McLennan and Mary J. Hughes on the Independence claim.

BENEFIT FOR CLEMENT SCOTT

London, June 23—The theatrical benefit at his majesty's theatre this afternoon for Clement Scott, the dean of English critics, proved to be one of the most notable events since that given some years ago for the late Nellie Farren. Nearly every actor and actress of note in London took part, including sir Henry Irving, Arthur Bourchier, George Alexander, Mrs. Patrick Campbell, Mrs. Langtry, and Beerbohn Tree. Mr. Tree appeared in a new and entertaining monologue specially written for the occasion.

School Girls

Mothers of young girls at this period of life, or the girl herself, are earnestly invited to write Mrs. Pinkham for advice: all such letters are strictly confidential; she has guided in a motherly way thousands of young women; her advice is free and cheerfully given.

School days are danger days for American girls. Often physical collapse follows, and it takes years to recover the lost vitality. Sometimes it is never recovered. Perhaps they are not over-careful about keeping their feet dry; through carelessness in this respect the monthly sickness is usually rendered very severe. Then begin ailments which should be removed at once, or they will produce constant suffering. Headache, faintness, slight vertigo, pains in the back and loins, irregularity, loss of sleep and appetite, a tendency to avoid the society of others, are symptoms all indicating that the organs that make her a woman need immediate attention.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

has helped many a young girl over this critical period. With it they have gone through their trials with courage and safety. With its proper use the young girl is safe from the peculiar dangers of school years and prepared for healthy womanhood.

A Young Chicago Girl "Studied Too Hard."

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to thank you for the help and benefit I have received through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. When I was about 17 years old I suddenly seemed to lose my usual good health and vitality. Father said I studied too hard, but the doctor thought different and prescribed tonics, which I took by the quart without relief. Reading one day in the paper of Mrs. Pinkham's great cures, and finding the symptoms described answered mine, I decided I would give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. I did not say a word to the doctor; I bought it myself, and took it according to directions regularly for two months, and I found that I gradually improved, and that all pains left me, and I was my old self once more." — LILLIE E. SINCLAIR, 17 E. 22d St., Chicago, Ill.

"Miss Pratt Unable to Attend School."

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to tell all young women how much Lydia E. Pinkham's wonderful Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was completely run down, unable to attend school, and did not care for any kind of society, but now I feel like a new person, and have gained seven pounds of flesh in three months. I recommend it to all young women who suffer from female weakness." — MISS ALMA PRATT, Holly, Mich.

Thousands of such testimonials prove that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the one sure remedy to be relied upon at this important period in a young girl's life. Look for the bottle with Lydia E. Pinkham's face on it, and accept no other.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness.
Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass.

A FEW WORDS ON SAMPLING

Any one or two single pieces will very seldom give a correct average of your ore, neither will it do to break a rock and send one half to one assayer and the other half to another, and expect them to agree, as the values are never evenly disseminated, hence a variation; the better way is to take what you consider to be a fair representation of the parcel, of a number of pieces (the more the better) and break them all down to the size of corn or smaller, then thoroughly mix and take your sample from it.

Synopsis of Regulations for Disposal of Minerals on Dominion Lands in Manitoba, the Northwest Territories and the Yukon Territory.

Placer Mining.—Manitoba and the N. W. T., excepting the Yukon Territory.—Placer mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee, $5, renewable yearly. On the North Saskatchewan River claims are either bar or bench, the former being 100 feet long and extending between high and low water mark. The latter includes bar diggings, but extends back to the base of the hill or bank, but not exceeding 1,000 feet. Where steam power is used, claims 200 feet wide may be obtained.

Dredging in the rivers of Manitoba and the N. W. T., excepting the Yukon Territory.—A free miner may obtain only two leases of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable in the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee's right is confined to the submerged beds or bars of the river below low water mark, and subject to the rights of all persons who have, or who may receive entries for bar diggings or bench claims, except on the Saskatchewan River, where the lessee may dredge to high water mark on each alternate leasehold.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles, but where a person or company has obtained more than one lease one dredge for each fifteen miles or fraction is sufficient. Rental $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of two and a half per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—Persons of eighteen years and over and joint stock companies holding free miner's certificates may obtain entry for a mining location.

A free miner's certificate is granted for one or more years, not exceeding five, upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company, according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 1500x1500 feet by marking out the same with two legal posts, bearing location notices, one at each end of the line of the lode or vein.

The claim shall be recorded within fifteen days if located within ten miles of a mining recorder's office, one additional day allowed for every additional ten miles or fraction. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid, the locator may, upon having a survey made, and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1.00 an acre.

Permission may be granted by the Minister of the Interior to locate claims containing iron and mica, also copper, in the Yukon Territory, of an area not exceeding 160 acres.

The patent for a mining location shall provide for the payment of a Royalty of 2 1-2 per cent of the sales of the products

Dredging in the Yukon Territory.—Six leases of five miles each may be granted to a free miners for a term of twenty years, also renewable.

The lessee's right is confined to the submerged beds or bars in the river below low water mark, that boundary to be fixed by its position on the 1st day of August in the year of the date of the lease.

The lessee shall have one dredge in operation within two years from the date of the lease, and one dredge for each five miles within six years from such date. Rental, $100 per mile for first year and $10 per mile for each subsequent year. Royalty, same as placer mining.

Placer Mining in the Yukon Territory.—Creek, gulch, river and hill claims shall not exceed 250 feet in length, measured on the base line or general direction of the creek or gulch, the width being from 1,000 to 2,000 feet. All other placer claims shall be 250 feet square.

Claims are marked by two legal posts, one at each end, bearing notices. Entry must be obtained within ten days, if the claim is within ten miles of a mining recorder's office. One extra day is allowed for each additional ten miles or fraction.

The person or company staking a claim must hold a free miner's certificate.

The discoverer of a new mine is entitled to a claim 1,000 feet in length, and if the party consists of two, 1,500 feet altogether, on the output of which no royalty shall be charged, the rest of the party ordinary claims only.

Entry fee, $10. Royalty at the rate of two and one-half per cent on the value of the gold shipped from the Yukon Territory to be paid to the Comptroller.

No free miner shall receive a grant of more than one mining claim on each separate river, creek or gulch, but the same miner may hold any number of claims by purchase, and free miners may work their claims in partnership by filing notice and paying fee of $2. A claim may be abandoned, and another obtained on the same creek, gulch or river, by giving notice and paying a fee.

Work must be done on a claim each year to the value of at least $200.

A certificate that work has been done must be obtained each year; if not, the claim shall be deemed to be abandoned, and open to occupation and entry by a free miner.

The boundaries of a claim may be defined absolutely by having a survey made and publishing notices in the Yukon Official Gazette.

Petroleum.—All unappropriated Dominion lands in Manitoba, the Northwest Territories and within the Yukon Territory are open to prospecting for petroleum, and the Minister may reserve for an individual or company having machinery on the land to be prospected, an area of 640 acres. Should the prospector discover oil in paying quantities, and satisfactorily establish such discovery, an area not exceeding 640 acres, including the oil well and such other land as may be determined, will be sold to the discoverer at the rate of $1.00 an acre, subject to royalty at such rate as may be specified by order-in-council.

THE GREATEST FENCER

FIERCE COMBAT BETWEEN JEAN LOUIS AND GIACOMO FERRARI

In FORTY MINUTES THE FORMER HAD CONQUERED THIRTEEN.

"The greatest personage in the annals of fencing, Jean-Louis, has been the hero of fights so wonderful that were they not known to be authentic historical facts they might be thought exaggerated, even if read in one of Dumas' famous novels," says Toupie Lowther, in the National Review. "This remarkable man was a mulatto. Born in the eighties of the eighteenth century, he entered the French army at the age of eight as enfant de troupe, and did not leave it till he was well over 50. In 1814 the most astonishing combat of modern days took place. Jean-Louis was then about 29 years of age. He had taken part in more than 30 engagements in Egypt, Italy, Prussia and Russia, and at the time of which I write found himself in Spain.

"It was the year which proved so disastrous for Napoleon. Jean-Louis' regiment had just arrived at Madrid, and was made up, like many others, of men of various nationalities. The first thing Napoleon did after the victory was to oblige his late enemy for five or six years under his flag. It thus happened that for five or six years there were Italians, Dutch, Saxons, Bavarians and Poles, who all fought for the French empire. As long as the conqueror was successful, the foreign legions accepted the servitude Napoleon imposed upon them; but the day his luck turned they were all possessed with one idea, which was to throw off the yoke and rid themselves of this terrible tyrant. In 1813, after his Russian campaign, Napoleon's glorious prestige had begun to be impaired, and discontent was very apparent in the ranks. When the news of the disaster of 1812-13 reached Spain the foreign legions no longer concealed their hatred of their French victors.

"What had long been threatening happened. One night a quarrel sprang up between some Italian and French soldiers, which ended in each calling friends to their aid, with the result that in a short time there was a regular engagement of 100 a side. Many men were wounded, and the combatants were separated only by means of a bayonet charge. The leaders of each side were arrested, and it was decided in order to make an example of them to the army, that each side should produce 15 men, who should fight until they were put hors de combat. Jean-Louis, as the principal fencing master of his regiment, was chosen to fight Giacomo Ferrari, a fencing master of great renown in his own country. Ferrari was a most redoubtable adversary for any man to encounter. Over six feet in height, possessed of great strength, he was a man of incontestable courage.

"These 30 men were to fight in the presence of 10,000 witnesses. To the sound of the roll of drums two men march on to the fighting ground, which has been specially chosen on account of its slight natural elevation. One of these men is Giacomo Ferrari; the other is Jean-Louis. They are accompanied by their two seconds. A deathlike silence has succeeded to the murmur of curiosity which greeted their arrival. Then a voice is heard to break the silence, the command 'En garde!' is given. The two masters join swords. In the first instant Ferrari attempts to rush Jean-Louis, but in vain. Every attack is met with a parry. He retires a little and tries what patience will do. He feints, makes a pretence to attack, retires again, while Jean-Louis, very calm, remains on the defensive. Suddenly the Italian, with one of those savage yells common to fencers of his country, makes a little bound to one side, followed by an attack in the lower line, delivered with lightning-like rapidity. This is a Florentine ruse, which has often proved successful to him before, but at the same time a cry of rage, rather than of pain is heard. Jean-Louis, with indescribable swiftness, has parried and riposted. His sword penetrates Ferrari's shoulder. 'It is nothing,' cries Ferrari, 'I am not hurt.' They continue to fight, and Jean-Louis, in his turn, attacks, and almost instantly pierces his opponent in the breast. Ferarri's sword drops from his hand. He falls heavily to the ground and is picked up dead. Jean-Louis wipes his blade, and, with the point on the ground, waits.

"His task has only just begun. Fourteen adversaries are there waiting eagerly for their opportunity to avenge their champion, whom they had till then thought invincible. After two minutes' rest, Jean-Louis is ready. The second adversary stands before him. Their swords join. There is a sinster clash of steel. Jean-Louis lunges; a cry is heard; then a sigh. Jean-Louis has got back to standing position, and has another dead body before him. The third adversary comes forward, and has to be held back in order to prevent him from springing at the Frenchman before he has finished his short rest. The order to commence is given. The Italian has followed the mulatto's play attentively, and thinks he has grasped his feints, surprises and modes of attack; but the result of his observation does not avail him much, as after a few passes Jean-Louis' blade disappears into his body, and he is carried away dying. Ten more adversaries come forward, one after another, and the ten share the same fate as the first three. The thirteenth adversary is carried away insensible; and cheers in which sounds of something like terror can be heard rend the air.

"There is no precedent in the history of duelling for this remarkable number of victories attained by one man, and in the incredibly short time of barely 40 minutes."

INSPECTOR SMITH TALKS

FRUIT MUST BE PACKED AND MARKED TO COMPLY WITH LAW

ORCHARDS WILL PRODUCE AN AVERAGE YIELD THIS YEAR.

Maxwell Smith, dominion fruit inspector with headquarters at Vancouver, and whose territory includes British Columbia and Alberta,, is in the city on an official visit. Tonight he leaves for Rossland and from there he goes to the Okanagan valley. Mr. Smith's duties are in the direction of the commercial interests of the fruit trade. His present visit is with the object of impressing those engaged in fruit growing with the necessity of grading and marking all of their fruit packages, including those imported from foreign countries, strictly in accordance with the terms of the Dominion Fruit Marks Act. The essential provisions of this act require that all close packages of fruit offered for sale shall have the name and adress of the packer, the name of the variety of fruit which the package contains and a designation of the grade, whether No. 1, No. 2, or No. 3. And all packages, whether open or closed must have the same quality and variety of fruit in the body of the package as that displayed on the faced or shown surface.

In speaking about the condition of the fruit crop in British Columbia, Mr. Smith said: "I find the fruit crop generally promises a good average yield, strawberries, apples and cheeries being particularly good. The plum crop, and especially Italian prunes, may be light, but I am much pleased to note in the vicinity of Nelson that the plum crop is a good average, as it likewise is on Vancouver island.

"So far as exports are concerned there is not the slightest doubt that there will be more fruit shipped from the province this year than last. The fruit industry will in time be one of the most important in the province. Already the importation of foreign fruit is steadily decreasing, as the flavor and quality of B. C. fruit become better known.

"Through the courtesy of Mr. Newling, secretary of the Kootenay Fruit Growers association, in securing a gasoline launch, I was enabled to visit a number of the orchards in this vicinity during my brief stay. I found everything looking first rate, and hope to see a good display of Kootenay fruits at the Dominion exhibition in Winnipeg next month.

"One thing I regret to see is the dishonesty manifested by a number of strawberry growers in failing to properly fill their boxes. Out of a number of boxes weighed this morning I found very few to contain the regulation pound of fruit. Most of them weighed less than three-quarters of a pound and some only half a pound."

MANY TREES PLANTED

A LIST OF THOSE WHO HAVE PUT OUT FRUIT

SOON THERE SHOULD BE LARGE CROPS HARVESTED

Nothing shows the progress that is being made in fruit growing in the vicinity of Nelson more than a trip in one of the steamers running from here along the arm of the lake. Where only two years ago there was unbroken timber or scrub along the shore for miles, are now scores of ranches partially cleared and planted, and the more fortunate owners who started in earlier have already orchards loaded with fruit, which will later bring good prices both locally and in towns along the Crow's Nest.

Messrs. Broadwood, Shannon, Munro, J. Thompson and Heddle, have each made good progress with ranches which they have acquired along the Arm and many newcomers are now hard at work preparing for fall planting of trees.

Among those who have cleared and planted trees are the following: Emory and Walley 1500, R. Shields 200, C. W. West, 10 acres cleared, 400 trees; G. W. Taylor, 22 acres of fruit trees and contract let for the clearing of 40 acres more to be planted this fall; J. McDonald, 5 acres of bearing fruit trees; Appleton Bros.., 1200; R. Maguire, 14 acres cleared, 400 trees; F. Rooks, 10 acres cleared, 200 trees, one acres of small fruit; G. Adamson, 250; J. D. Hornsberger, 25 acres cleared, 1350; G. Greenwood, 400; J. Attjoe, clearing 40 acre tract; W. W. West's ranch, 20 aces cleared, 700 trees, 5 acres berries; Chinese ranch, 1500 trees, 5 acres berries; J. McCoy, 4 acres small fruits, clearing; J. Hislop, 10 acres cleared, partially planted; J. Roberts, 600 trees; C. W. Busk, 15 acres fruit trees, 4 acres small fruits; A. C. Gray, 450 trees, 10 acres cleared; J. Bradley, 250 trees; Smith and Sewall, 1000 trees, 7 acres small fruits; G. Bagley, 2 acres small fruits, 10 acres cleared; H. Williams, 7 acres cleared, 400 trees; C. Beggs, 250 trees, 10 acres cleared, one acres small fruits; J. Harris, 200 trees; F. Fletcher, 10 acres cleared; T. G. Procter, 400 trees, 2 acres small fruits; J. D. Ford, 12 acres cleared, 900 fruit trees; J. Boyd, 2 acres small fruit; Byers and Chipman, 12 acres cleared, 850 trees; F. A. Brewer, 200 trees, 6 acres cleared.

This list is not by any means complete, as strawberry patches were so numerous and of such varying sizes that space forbids any attempt at a detailed description of this most important asset of the ranchers along the Arm. By next season the list will be probably tripled, and it will not be long before Nelson will take the position of a fruit growing centre as well as a mining and commercial city. Besides the numerous ranchers on the Arm west of the city there are a large number east of the city, while on the main lake there are now over a score.

At Creston and vicinity there are about fifty ranchers, most of whom are industriously clearing and planting. The tremendously rapid growth of the industry shows the necessity of the ranchers forming a shipper's association to handle the questions which have confronted each fruit growing section in its inception, and which are likely soon to crop up here, after the local markets are supplied. The association already formed at Nelson is doing excellent work, but there will be room for others to handle the different kinds of fruits.

Three years ago there was not enough strawberries raised along the Arm to supply a town half the size of Nelson alone, while now the shipments from the various ranches amount to over two tons per day, and this is likely to be still greater when the season is fully on. In a few years more the supply of other fruits will be as great in proportion, and there is no reason why the Kootenay fruit should not supply every town from Nelson to Winnipeg. Along the line from Kootenay Landing to Creston it is amusing to see the packhorses wending their way along the trails to flag stations from some mountain ranch each loaded with four crates of fragrant strawberries. The driver is often some old prospector who, wise enough to see the opening in the new line, has utilized some natural clearing near his cabin to raise the swift growing fruit.

A. C. GARDE'S REPORT

TUNNEL NUMBER EIGHT IN THE PAYNE MINE.

THE OUTLOOK FOR KOOTENAY'S BIGGEST DIVIDEND PAYER.

The annual report of manager A. C. Garde, of the Payne mine, recently submitted to the shareholders of the company at their meeting in Montreal, contains some interesting information concerning the present position and the future prospects for the property, which up to date leads all the mines in British Columbia from a dividend standpoint.

The most interesting development at present in progress centers around tunnel No. 8, and if the results attained this year on this level and below it are what Mr. Garde hopes for, and confidently expects a return to the dividend basis may be looked for.

Mr. Garde's report goes very fully into all the details of the mine and it is only possible to give a few extracts therefrom.

Speaking of tunnel No. 8, the one already mentioned, the manager says:

The total length of tunnel No. 8 from portal to present working faces, including all crosscuts and drifts, is now 2,128 feet, of which 375 feet has been driven during the past year. All development work has been centered on advancing the east and west drifts, and upraising on the vein which was discovered and mentioned in my report of last year.

West Drift.—Here the vein has been followed without showing any disturbance for a distance of 242 feet, including the 61 feet driven last year. For the first half of this distance a body of first class concentrating ore has been traversed, the grade of which is very similar to the ore extracts from stopes in No. 6 and 7. The other half of the drift towards the face shows a large vein of spathic iron, in which some zinc and occasionally galena is found. Within the past couple of months four upraises, viz.: Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 4 west, have been started with the object of developing a new block called "F" as shown on the maps, and making connection with level No. 7. The first raise was started 35 feet from the main crosscut. The other three have been located 45 feet apart further towards the west face.

Upraise No. 2 west, which was started ahead of the others, is now 60 feet above the tunnel and is penetrating an exceptionally fine body of ore. The average width of the vein here is four feet. On the footwall a streak of galena of high grade, carring silver values of several hundred ounces to the ton is found. This feature, which is due to the presence of gray copper, gray antimony and other rare silver ores, has heretofore never been met with in any other portion of the mine, or at least not to such an extent. The balance of the four foot vein it made up of afirst class concentrating ore consisting of galena, zinc and spathic iron.

Upraise No. 1 west, which is 30 feet above the tunnel, shows similar conditions at No. 2, but with less galena. As height is gained the high grade ore is gradually coming in, indicating that this new shoot of ore is one of extent and permanency.

Upraise No. 3 west, is only up a short distance, and there the same indications prevail.

Upraise No. 4 west, was started at a very recent date, and is cutting through a thirteen foot vein, also appearing to improve as it advances. I have little dout that when the three last mentioned raises have been carried to the same height as No. 2, the showing of ore will be equally good.

East Drift.—The total distance of this drift is 222 feet, of which 162 feet was driven this year. The vein has been followed for a distance of 141 feet to a point marked "B." Here the main fault of the Payne vein was encountered, but considerably further towards northeast than in any of the upper tunnels, a feature which favors tunnel No. 8 as well as any other future levels, as it offers possibilities for increased ore zone.

Upraise No. 1 east, which is 75 feet from the main crosscut, was carried to a height of 30 feet, and here a small porphyry dike dipping off at an angle of 45 degrees appeared to interefer with the vein. This feature may, however, be overcome by future developments. The grade of ore found in this upraise, as well as the east drift, is very good, particularly in the floor of drift. I have, therefore, cut out a station and started a two compartment winze 108 feet from crosscut. This winze which is showing up well, has only been sunk 12 feet, but the intention is to proceed with the sinking at an early date and open up levels Nos. 9, 10 and 11, and the necessary pumping and hoisting machinery is now on hand. In order to handle the heavy flow of water, a 100 gallon duplex electric sinking pump has been provided, while the hoist that was used in sinking the main shaft between No. 5 and No. 8 is made available by the installation of a new electric hoist at station in No. 5.

The total distance between tunnels No. 8 and No. 7 on the dip of the vein is 125 feet, thus representing a considerable section of ground. Although I am not at the present moment in a position to furnish an accurate estimate of the quantity of ore in sight; I can with certainty state that it will prove a most valuable ore reserve, and I beg to emphasize that the vein in the floor is quite up to the quality and quantity found in the roof. This has strengthened the opinion I expressed in my last year's report regarding the future of the mine, and I consider same to be a great deal more favorable than at any time during my three years of management.

Galena Concentrates.—In reference to the concentrator, I beg to state that a total of 64,548 tons, or 206 tons per 24 hours has been milled, against 40,028 tons, or 161 tons per 24 hours last year, showing increased capacity of 45 tons per 24 hours. Of the above total, 5,086 tons was concentrating ore extracted from blocks "B," "D," and "E." in levels Nos. 5, 6, and 7, while the balance consisted of old dumps and fillings.

Last year the concentrates averaged 60 per cent lead with 103.8 ounces silver, while this year the average has been 68.8 per cent lead with 129 ounces silver. This is an improvement of considerable importance, when considering that the mill tailings assayed less than 1-2 of 1 per cent lead and one ounce silver.

The average price per ounce of silver was 56 1-2 cents, or 7 1-2 cents higher than the previous year's average. On the other hand the average price of lead dropped from $1.63 to $1.48 per cwt.

Of very material benefit has been the bounty of 75 cents per cwt of lead granted by the dominion government since July 1st, 1903.

Zinc Concentrates.—A total of 1.106 tons of zinc, plus 140 tons of an iron by-product was produced during the year, amounting to a a total value of $13,479. Seven hundred tons of this represented separated zinc-blende, and 600 tons of same together with 256 tons of 43 per cent concentrates were sold. The balance of 350 tons plus 350 tons carried over from last year (not considered in above statement) remains on hand. The new zinc plant, which was expected to have been in operation by July 1st, was unfortunately delayed four months, which was due to losing the first magnetic separator in the Kansas City floods. This feature, which caused a considerable loss, obliged us to sack and store the raw 40 per cent zinc product on the premises until the plant was completed in November.

Some adjustments in connection with the roasting and separating machinery had to be made at the start, but it is now in good running order, and the raw zinc ores after magnetic separation are brought up to a shipping grade of 53 per cent, carrying from 10 to 12 ounces in silver. A favorable contract for the entire output up to January 1st, 1905, has been entered into with European smelters, and bulk shipments to Antwerp are being made at a freight rate of $13 per ton. In the course of the ensuing year I expect to produce a still higher grade of zinc, also to increase the capacity and reduce the cost of separation, and to show a very material profit on the investment of the plant. London price of spelter, which has remained steady for some time at £22 per ton is favorable, and generally speaking, the future for zinc is most encouraging. The earning power of the mine has been materially increased by the production of this valuable by-product.

Iron By-Product.—In connection with the zinc plant an iron by-product is obtained from the magnetic separating machine, and for which a market has been found with local lead smelters. This product has all the qualities of an excellent flux. It contains about 7 ounces of silver, beside 50 per cent of combined iron and managanese. It is being produced at the rate of about two tons per day, and nets approximately $3 per ton.

At this time of writing most of the past adversities have been overcome, and I am pleased to state that during the past two months mine development work has been carried on vigorously as well as successfully in tunnel No. 8, tending to offset other disappointments met with.

The bounty granted for five years to the lead miners by the Dominion government, which at your present rate of production equals a yearly bonus of $12,000—will offset the low prices of lead. It is to be hoped that the government will grant still further assistance to the miners by a bonus on the production of zinc in a similar manner, to off set the high cost of transportation of zinc ores to the markets in foreign countries.

With the present prospects for opening up valuable ore bodies in tunnel No. 8, together with an efficient plant for handling and treating all silver-lead and zinc ores mined, the outlook for your property to regain its footing within the near future can reasonably be expressed as very good.

NELSON'S NEWS OF THE DAY

John Keen of Kaslo and Phil Hickey of Sandon are at the Strathcona.

Joseph Martin, K. C., who has been in the city for the past month in connection with the big damage trial in wihch he was one of the counsel for the defendants, has returned to the coast.

G. G. S. Lindsey, K. C., of Toronto, who has been in consultation with the counsel during the trial of the damage cases against the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, of which he is managing director, leaves on a visit to Fernie this morning and will return here next week previous to going to Toronto.

The sittings of the supreme court will be resumed at the court house tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, when one of the adverse actions of Hanna vs. Morgan and Rutherford vs. Morgan will be commenced before a jury. Mr. justice Martin has already announced that contrary to his usual practice he will sit all day Saturday.

Fred Bosquet is meeting with great success in organizing the great Calathumpian parade for the first day of the coming celebration. All the business houses have agreed to join in the turn out and are making active preparations for the affair. Mr. Bosquet wishes it plainly understood that the parade is open to all comers and that in awarding the prizes neither fear, favor or affection will be shown.

The local fire brigade are in training for the hose reel competitions and races on Dominion day, and they say they will give all competing teams a great run for first place. Chief Steele is managing the local team and he is well satisfied with the way his men are sticking at their work. "The Nelson amateurs will be in good shape by Dominion day," said the chief. "We want to make a record and we think we will."

E. M. Morgan, the able superintendent of the Swede group for the Great Northern Mines, Limited, is in the city for the purpose of attending the adverse actions against the Lucky Jack, reports that the Swede group is developing in a most satisfactory manner. A big 12-foot lead has been crosscut and is strongly mineralized throughout. Besides arsenical iron carrying gold, there is considerable free gold. Mr. Morgan showed a fine specimen of nugget gold which came from the ledge.

A large and appreciative audience greeted the children of St. Joseph's school at the concert given in the opera house last night. Each boy and girl took his or her part well, which speaks highly for the training given them by the sisters of the school. Special mention might be made of the recitation, "Boys Make Men," by ten little boys, and the Fan Drill by nine small girls. The sisters very much regret the absence of Burnedine Bosquet, who would have been a prominent figure on the program.

All public interest in the Russo-Japanese war or the possible failure of the McGoldrick millmen to build their new plant at One-Mile Point was temporarily suspended yesterday afternoon by a local incident which occurred on Baker street about 5 o'clock. The initial cause of this particular explosion, like that in the Coal Creek mines two years ago, is a matter of mystery, although there are some local experts who are willing to theorize on the matter. What happened later was a difference of opinion between two sons of old Scotia and the method adopted of solving the difficulty afforded immense amusement to a crowd of spectators at the time and to many others later on. It is said the police magistrate is to be called upon to finaly settle matters but possibly the affair will be adjusted without bothering his worship.

As this is the last Friday in June the teachers and pupils of the public school finish their school work for the term and begin a seven weeks' vacation, as the fall term commences on August 15th. Some members of the staff are at once leaving the city. J. W. Baird leaves for a trip to his home in Ontario, while Miss K. Scanlan and Miss Thom intend visiting the St. Louis exposition and other places in the states. They start east on the Moyie on Saturday morning. Regular work will be concluded at the high school also, but as departmental examinations do not begin until July 4th, some work will be taken with the intending candidates during the greater part of next week.

BASKET BALL GAME

The Seniors and Juniors Meet Again and the Former Win

Those present at the public school grounds last evening were well satisfied with the entertainment served up to them by the Basket Ball Girls. The seniors and juniors again appeared on the field and this time they showed a decided improvement in their play as compared with other occasions. Unfortunately the new posts have not yet appeared and the unfavorable condition of those at present in use spoiled many a well meant and well aimed throw at the basket. The passing and general team work was done very well and at times the play was quite brilliant. The team lined up as follows:

Seniors		Juniors
P. Annable	centre	N. Annable
L. Ellis	R. forward	E. Ellis
M. Swartz	L. forward	E. Ritchie
I. Rammelmeyer	R. back	A. Swannell
G. Graves	L. back	E. Wilkinson

In the first half the seniors played to a slight advantage as they defended the east goal, but though many trials were made for the basket it was 12 minutes before the first goal was scored by Lulu Ellis and nothing was added to the score in the first half. In the second half the juniors kept it down pretty well, but occasionally it was carried back and in one of these rushes Mable Swartz put it in the net for the seniors in five minutes. The seniors made no more tallies and as the juniors could not find the basket, the score at the finish was 4 to 0 in favor of the seniors.

It may have been that the fine, new ball presented to the seniors by A. Perrier which appeared for the first time, had something to do with the good play during the game.

COMMENTS ON TICKET

London Papers Treat Nominations as Foregone Conclusion

London, June 23—Few of the morning papers comment on the nomination of Theodor Roosevelt and senator Fairbanks at Chicago, but all of them print long accounts of the proceedings. The editorials treat the result as a foregone conclusion.

The morning Post says that if senator Fairbanks adds little to the strength of the party ticket he cannot be said to detract from it. The selection of Mr. Fairbanks, the paper says, as a running mate to Mr. Roosevelt, when he preferred another, may be regarded, not as a revolt against Roosevelt, but as a hint from the delegates of the state of New York that the president is not all-powerful. The other newspapers, if they comment at all upon the result of the convention, make only the most casual remarks of it.

AFTER THT CAPTIVES

Party Leave Tangier En Route for Raisuli's Lair

London, June 23—The Tangier correspondent of the Daily Telegraph describes the departure of the party with the ransom for the release Messrs. Perdicaris and Varley early yesterday morning. The party was headed by the sheriff of Mazum, who was escorted by a squad of the sultan's soldiers. The party was followed by 43 prisoners belonging to Raisuli's tribe, who were unshackled. As the party crossed the Roman bridge and passed the home of Pedicaris, which is still guarded by American marines, Mrs. Varley wished the party God speed. On the road to Fez an additional armed escort joined the column. The sultan is credited with the intention of punishing Raisuli without waiting for a request to do so by the two powers concerned in the case of Messrs. Perdicaris and Varley.

TRAIN WRECK IN SPAIN

Thirty Persons Were Killed and Coaches Burned

Madrid, June 23—Thirty persons were killed last night in a train wreck in the province of Teruel, one of the most mountainous in Spain. Th train was derailed on a bridge over the Jilica river and the coaches burned.

The train took fire and the engine fell into the river, dragging a number of rocks behind it. A terrible storm was raging at the time and the wind fanned the flames. Some of the coaches were caught on the projecting parts of the bridge and hung in mid air and by the light of the burning bridge passengers could be seen jumping into the river. Relief trains have been sent from Teruel, the capital of the province. The victims were mostly gendarmes. In addition to the large death list it is feared that many were injured.
