SIEGE WAS PROLONGED

Mannarino's Ammunition Finally Runs Short

More Than 100 Shots Exchanged Between the Italian Bandit and His Capturers

After holding up a force of police and specials for nearly 24 hours, Paul Mannarino, was finally captured at 3 o'clock on Friday afternoon by constables Young and Wilson and brought in last night to this city where he will have to answer a charge of attempted murder which may be amended to a graver crime if his victim, James Mannarino, succumbs to his injuries.

The prisoner made a desperate fight to evade capture. He expended some 80 rounds of Winchester ammunition and it is only his bad shooting that led to the escape of the force which surrounded him, from loss or injury.

According to a statement made by the wounded man, James Mannarino, who is the uncle of the prisoner, there had been bad feeling between his nephew and himself for some time and on Monday last a concrete proposal was made to halve the ranch which the two had held together in common for four years. James Mannarino proposed to divide equally the $700, which was a cash profit, and which was in the house occupied by the two men, to sell the cattle owned by the two men, to divide the proceeds of the sale and to assume the value of the ranch, outside of these items, at $2000, the elder to give the younger man $1000 in addition to the other sums. This dispute went on until Thursday afternoon last, either man, apparently, afraid to trust to the straight dealing of the other. Paul Mannarino found the cash and secreted it in small rolls of bills thrust between the crevices of the boards lining the shack and hidden from view by the cheese cloth covering the sides of the apartment.

On Thursday evening both men came down from the ranch together and went to Sirdar, about 2 1-3 miles away to the south of them, along the edge of the lake. The ranch is situated in a little basin or bench surmounting a steep bluff rising from the railway track running on past Kootenay landing to Kuskanook. Above this rises another steep bluff, forming a portion of the hill side. The shack in which the two men lived is situated at the lowest point of the basin with cleared land on every side leading upwards from it. After finishing their business at Sirdar the two men walked towards home, taking a wagon road which led along the hillside to the bench. They had barely started when Paul informed his uncle that he had discovered a cache of black powder on the hill side above the trail. The time was then about 7 o'clock in the evening and it was very nearly dusk. James Mannarino agreed that it would be a good thing to commandeer the cache and take it up to the ranch for use in getting rid of some of the stumps still encumbering the clearing around the shack. With that, Paul led the way up the hillside from the wagon road and presently manouevred so as to get his uncle in front of him. Hardly had this been accomplished when, just as the older man was stooping to peer for the powder, his nephew fired right into his back with a .41 Colt. James Mannarino fell flat upon his face and his nephew stepped up behind him saying that he would finish him, according to the story of the uncle. Paul stooped forward and placing the muzzle of the revolver against his uncle's head pulled the trigger. Presuming that this had given the quietus to his relative Paul stepped off down the hill and coming back on the road went up to the ranch, thinking, in all probability that it would be weeks or months before the body was found, if it ever was in such a deserted and infrequented spot, off the trails.

But James Mannarino had played possum. The first wound was real enough and if he had not been stooping would probably have killed him outright. The second wound was not vital. The blaze of the powder had scorched off all the hair close to the scalp behind and above the right ear and in the same direction the bullet had sped its way cutting the scalp and raising a ridge along the side of the skull. As soon as he heard his nephew's footsteps die out, the uncle rose and crawled down the hillside to the railway where he was found by some section hands who had been at work up the little used track towards Kuskanook. These men hoisted the man aboard their truck and brought him into Sirdar where his wounds were roughly bandaged by P. D. Hope, at the Sirdar hotel. A message was sent immediately to constable Wilson, at Creston, eight miles away, who came hurrying to the scene. The elder Mannarino on Wilson's arrival was sensible enough and warned him as to the danger attendant on his nephew's arrest, as he was well armed, with plenty of ammunition. Constable Wilson accompanied by three specials, who lent valuable assistance, Charles Hull, Charles Qualfe and Robert Reid went up to the ranch. But this time it was getting late at night but on Wilson's arrival, which was not attended by noise, Paul Mannarino was still awake and about. Constable Wilson stole up to the window and looking in saw Paul Mannarino sitting with his head in his hands. Instantly Wilson poked his rifle through the window, breaking it in the process, and shouted to Mannarino to hold up his hands. Mannarino leaped to his feet and at once flung up his hands. But in a moment he made a further leap into an inner room, seized his rifle and discharged it point blank at the constable, the bullet narrowly missing him. Wilson fired in return but missing his man, fell back. Mannarino ran to the window and discharged his repeater several times but without effect. Wilson and his men took cover around the house, shots being exchanged all through the night. If anybody rose to his feet it was the signal for a bullet and when the morning brought light the specials lay close indeed. A coat hung on a stump was riddled with bullets.

Early in the morning P .D. Hope, E. Stewart and Herbert Hitchcock came up, relieving Robert Reid and shortly before noon constable Young arrived from Nelson and the seven men disposed themselves in a circle around the building, waiting for the arrival of chief Bullock-Webster before taking final action. But in the meantime the chief had hurried to the Sirdar hotel and realizing that the only hope of convicting Paul Mannarino in the event of his uncle's death, was his uncle's statement, accompanied the elder Mannarino to Cranbrook, obtaining from him a deposition as to the circumstances. It was found on medical examination that the first bullet had entered the body at an angle, striking the shoulder blade and is thought to be hidden between the scapula and the ribs. Hopes are therefore entertained of the recovery of the victim, but so far the bullet is still lodged within the body.

About 3 o'clock in the afternoon the younger Mannarino discovered that he was short of ammunition and about the time that the discovery was made the besiegers had made up their minds to take an enfilading position and fire through the hut in such a manner that the bullets would traverse the entire length of the floor, guessing—which proved to be the case—that the prisoner had established his headquarters under the bed. But Mannarino saw the game was up. His besiegers had stood their ground all through the day and night without food or shelter amid blinding snow squalls sweeping down the lake and he gave up in face of so much determination, and presently coming outside the hut said he would surrender. Fearing treachery Young advanced on the man, bidding Wilson to keep him covered and to fire if he dropped his hands. The desperado was thus secured.

A search of the hut discovered the money hidden as already described, a rifle without ammunition, two new boxes having been fired away, a revolver with three shells discharged, and a shot gun. Paul Mannarino was taken down to Sirdar and formally charged, being remanded for eight days, and then brought in to Nelson where he was lodged in the provincial gaol. The prisoner is a small, dark man, but does not seem to be in the least demented.

SESSION TO BE SHORT

PROROGATION EXPECTED ABOUT APRIL 22

NELSON APPOINTMENTS NOT YET ARRANGED

(Special to The Daily News)

Victoria, March 23—In the presence if 3000 wildly enthusaistic spectators, a great soccer championship match, Island vs. Mainland, took place at Oak Bay this afternoon. The match resulted in a draw, each side scoring three goals. It was a splendid exhibition, in which the Mainland players showed the most skill.

According to a good authority the situation here, regarding the vacancy at Nelson, created by the promotion of R. A. Renwick from gold commissioner to the office of deputy commissioner of lands and works, has about reached this stage. H. Wright, ex-M.L.A. for Ymir, has the first refusal, with J. A. Kirkpatrick as the second choice. Mr. Wright, however, is not anxious to return to Nelson and would prefer living at Victoria. It is proposed to create a new gold commissionership for the island and this may provide a berth at Victoria. With Mr. Wright provided for, Mr. Kirkpatrick would have the refusal of the Nelson vacancy and in case of his not accepting the position, C. A. Blackwood, mining recorder, and at present acting gold commissioner, would be promoted as a matter of course. It is clear that the vacancy cannot be filled permanently until the question of the new office is disposed of.

The vacancy of the provincial goal wardenship, remains unfilled. Devitt of Trail and Jarvis of Nelson are about the only two mentioned seriously for the position, but no conclusion has been announced.

Interviewd this evening, premier McBride stated that all government measures would be down by the Wednesday after the Easter recess; that night sessions would then be commenced and every effort made to complete the work of the session as soon as possible. The idea is that prorogation should take place on April 22.

THIS IS SERIOUS.

New York, March 23.—In the appelate division of the supreme court yesterday, a judgment convicting the Waldorf Astoria Hotel company of violating section 13 of the forest, fish and game laws, was affirmed. The offence charged was having English pheasants in the company's possession contrary to the statutes. It was conceded that the pheasants were dead, and were killed in the state of New Jersey, but the law provides that it shall apply to any animal, bird or fish, coming from without the state just the same as though taken within the state. In the trial before justice Greenbaum, the company was fined $4.47.

AMERICAN PROPOSALS

To Settle All Questions in Dispute With the Dominion

Secretary Root's Suggestion is Causing Much Comment in England--Coming of Canada's Premier

London, March 23.—The despatches from Washington containing secretary of state Root's proposals for a settlement of the questions in dispute between the United States and Canada, are the subject of considerable comment here.

With the exception of that in regard to the tariff, the suggestions have been favorably received, although it is admitted that Canada is the best judge of how the various questions should be settled.

It is officially pointed out that, contrary to the statement made in the despatches, an agreement in principle has not been reached with respect to sealing. It is true that Canada had agreed to accept a monetary recompense for the loss of this industry, but other considerations must be discussed. In this connection it is expected that ambassador Bryce's conferences at Ottawa will further the negotiations, but that Great Britain does not expect an immediate arrangement is shown by the fact that preparations have been made to discuss the whole question with premier Laurier of Canada, who is coming to London in April in order to attend the colonial conference.

The presence here of the premier of Newfoundland, sir R. Bond, will also be taken advantage of in an endeavor to reconcile the views of the imperial and colonial authorities in the matter of the Newfoundland fisheries dispute.

NELSON'S NEWS OF THE DAY

As will be seen by the advertisement calling for tenders, in this issue, J. Fred Hume proposes to make considerable additions and alterations to the Hume hotel.

At the regular weekly shoot of the Nelson gun club yesterday afternoon the following scores were made: At 50 birds, Goepel, 41; Ink, 36; Blake, 29; Mawdsley, 25. Blackwood shot 26 out of 41 and Young 13 out of 25.

This is temperance Sunday at the Methodist church. Temperance sermons will be preached both morning and evening. The Sunday school lesson, based on a study of Isaiah 28:7:13, is named "The Woes of Drunkenness."

President Starkey of the board of trade is in receipt of the full text of the resolutions passed at the board of trades convention at Greenwood. These are now being forwarded officially to the dominion and provincial legislatures.

Nearly all the maple trees which were planted last summer at the instance of the city council for the beautifying of the streets seem to have weathered the winter well enough and should make a fair growth this season.

The storm which threatened last night passed off with a heavy snowfall of 2 1-2 inches, all to melt again within the day. The barometer has now gone up again and Nelson people may now bid farewell to one of the longest winters of recent years.

The resolutions passed at the recent Greenwood convention with regard to fake advertising, notably in Manitoba and eastern papers, with regard to fruit lands, a resolution mentioning no names, has already borne fruit and more than one culprit has hastened to fit the cap over his own head, with due promises of immediate amendment.

The automatic appliance for the governor at the city power plant was shipped from Milwaukee on Friday last and should arrive here, if shipped by express, some time next week. After its arrival it will take about two or three weeks to have it set up and running satisfactorily to the municipal authorities, who will then be in a position to definitely take over the plant.

At the Strathcona some improvements have already been made. A comfortable smoking room has been added on the dining room flat, where guests may enjoy the orchestra after dinner. Additional bedrooms and a ladies' dressing room have been fitted up and afternoon tea is served at 4 o'clock daily. The spacious verandah to the north of the building is to be continued around the dining room on the west side and French windows will open out from the dining room on to the verandah, something that will be appreciated by all the guests of the house.

The city has a man down at the power plant cleaning up around the site. Nothing so far has been done toward whitewashing the inside or putting up the suggested electric sign. H. Bullis recommends a letter about 18 inches high, with 4-candle power lights, averaging 10 lights to each letter. Thus the legend "City Power Plant" would take 140 lamps and could then be seen clearly from the other side of the river. The cost of such a sign would be merely the cost of the lamps, as the horsepower involved is merely 3 1-2.

STRIKE IS DELAYED.

The Daily News was in error yesterday when it stated that, as a result of the passage of the Lemieux labor bill, which is now law, employers and employees between whom strained relations exist must "arbitrate" their differences. The bill does not provide for arbitration; it only compels publicity. Before a strike can be declared, the parties affected must submit to an investigation of their cases before an independent tribunal, the chief duty of which is to make public the actual facts which are vital to the issue. If after this publicity, the parties wish to fight each other, they are at liberty to do so. But it is expected that the weight of public opinion will compel either one side or the other to yield.

As the new law will apply to the coal operators and miners now in conference at Calgary, it will make an immediate strike an impossibility. Unless the conferees agree, an investigation must follow. But after that a strike or lockout may be called if both parties continue of the same mind.

The various sawmills in Nelson and the nearby districts are starting in to work and in the course of the next two or three weeks all will be running in full swing. There is a dearth of men of experience, who will therefore find no difficulty in obtaining positions.

The junior baseball club has already commenced this season and have collected $27.75 to date, which has been partly expended in providing a portion of the necessary impedimenta. More money will have to be collected. As the youngsters have secured Arthur Perrier as their manager they feel assured in advance of a successful season and mean to practice assiduously in order to win a place on the intermediate team for some of their members.

The services during holy week at St. Saviour's church will be as follows: Monday, Festival of the Annunciation; holy communion, 10:30 a.m.; evensong and address, 5 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, holy communion, 10:30 a.m.; evensong and address, 5 p.m. Good Friday, Matins, ante-communion and sermon, 10:30 a.m.; children's service, 3 p.m.; evensong and address, 8 p.m. Easter eve, baptismal service, 3 p.m.

SNOWSHOE MINE.

Great Progress Being Made at This Boundary Property—Improvements

(Special to The Daily News)

Phoenix, March 23.—One of the mines of the Boundary that is steadily making progress is the Snowshoe in this camp, now being operated under lease by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co., of Canada, Ltd., with considerable success. Under the management of Charles Biesel, the mine, now that the fuel supply at the smelters is in practically a normal condition again, is shipping something like 300 tons of ore per day, which rate is likely to be increased in the near future. This ore is sent to the company's smelter at Trail and also to the British Columbia Copper Co.'s smelter at Greenwood, the latter under contract to treat, it is said, some 75,000 tons.

Since beginning operations at the Snowshoe, the leasing comany has made preparations for heavy shipments, which are now being completed, and in a few weeks, the mine should be able to materially increase the weekly output. One of these improvements is the substitution of electricity for steam for motive power at that property. An addition has been erected to the compressor building and the rope drive ordered. In addition to this, the second half of the compressor has also been ordered, which will give three times the amount of drilling capacity. A 100 h.p. motor will furnish the needed power, which will be taken from the lines of the South Kootenay Power Co., a branch of which from the Phoenix substation passes close to the Snowshoe mine. A few weeks should see most of this machinery installed and at work when needed.

In addition to the above, the management has decided to use electricity for motive power in the tunnel level, whence the ore is being taken out now. A Jeffrey electric locomotive will arrive at the mine in a short time for this purpose, being similar to those ordered for the company's Centre Star and St. Eugene mines. This will greatly facilitate the handling of the increased shipments of ore expected to be sent out, and the Snowshoe mine will then be in position to maintain steady shipments for a considerable period.

TO AVOID FRICTION.

London, March 23.—Wm. O'Brien nationalist member of the house of commons for Cork, has announced his intention of absenting himself from the present session of parliament in order to avoid further friction with the Irish party which has now virtually accepted the government's proposal for Irish self-isolation. Thus there is no longer any serious divergence Mr. O'Brien explains, between himself and the party. It is understood further that Mr. O'Brien and his friends have decided to drop all pending litigation with the followers of John Redmond.

WEEK'S ORE SHIPMENTS

Total Output the Largest for Any One Week This Year

Spitzee Group in the Heart of Rossland Camp Optioned by the Le Roi Mining Company

The ore shipments and smelter receipts for the several districts of southeastern British Columbia for the past week, show well above the average for this year so far. Th railways are now able to haul laway the ore from the mines to the several smelters and the fuel problem has apparently been solved satisfactorliy. The total output for the week is unusually large and a gradual further increase may be expcted.

The enlargements of the Boundary smelters now going on have been dealt with at length in these columns during the past week.

The bonding of the Spitzee group situated in the heart of Rossland, by the Le Roi compay, as announced yesterday is worthy of more than passing mention.

Appended will be found the ore shipments and smelter receipts in detail for the past week and year to date in tons:

BOND SPITZEE GROUP

Le Roi Mining Company Takes an Option on Property in Heart of Rossland

Rossland, March 23—The Le Roi Mining company has taken a long time option on the properties of the Spitzee Mines, Ltd. These properties consist of the Spitzee, Fool Hen, Darby and Nelson No. 2. There is an area of 110 acres in the claims. A. J. McMillan, managing director of the Le Roi company, said in regard to the deal today: "It is quite true the Le Roi company has taken an option on the Spitzee group of properties. Negotiations have been going on for some months, but were only concluded today. The Spitzee, as all Rosslanders know, has shipped a few thousand tons of ore containing good values, but like many others, the company owning the Spitzee has been hampered for want of funds and has only worked its property at intervals. As the Spitzee is situated some little distance from other working mines in Rossland its success would mean much, not only for those immediately interested, but for the community as a whole. If there is a mine in the Spitzee we hope to ascertain that fact within a few months, as it is our intention to put men on at once and proceed with development."

DOMINION COPPER CO.

Putting in New Compressor to Aid Development of Sunset Group

The Dominion Copper company will presently install a 40-drill air compressor, built by the Allis-Chalmers people. The compressor has been shipped from the east and should arrive some time in April. It is intended for the better dvelopment of the Sunset group of properties. It is to be erected on the site which is being prepared for it at the back of the boarding house, half way between the Sunset proper and the Crown Silver, one of the group, a pipe line running either way to connect either mine with the machinery.

The drill has a capacity of 937 cubic feet per minute and has with it an induction motor of 125 horse power of the type known as A.N. With its assembly the Dominion Copper company will be in a better position than ever to make a cut in the costs of mining, which heretofore assumed rather larger proportions than they should.

CRESCENT MINING CO.

New Property to be Started Half Way Between Greenwood and Phoenix

New machinery in the shape of a new electric air drill compressor, pumps and other appurtenances to the complete development of a property have been ordered by the Crescent Mining company, which is operating the Crscent claim, situated a few miles out of Greenwood in the direction of Phoenix. The property is under the managership of A. M. Whiteside of Greenwood and is principally owned by Mr. Dickason, the Chicago millionaire, who spent many weeks of last summer on Kootenay lake in the C.P.R. houseboat.

There is already an electric hoist at the mine and with the new machinery mining can be undertaken on a more extensive ad economical basis. Still at the mine is situated some two miles from the railway there will yet have to be established a more expeditious method of transportation than that by wagon road. The new drill is of a capacity of 798 cubic feet per minute and will be driven by a 125 h.p. induction motor.

WRECKED IN THE NORTH.

Seattle, March 23.—A despatch to the Post-Intelligencer from Valdez, Alaska, says: The steamer Hortland arrived here at midnight with the passengers and mail from the steamer Northwestern, which was wrecked Tuesday morning on a rock near Beatsoni wharf, Latouche island. The vessel was leaving the bay en route to Valdez when a flurry of wind caught her and threw her upon the rocks. She went on easily and captain Tribridge thought no damage was done, but as the tide lowered she settled on the rocks, which punched holes in the forward compartment. The forward bulkhead, the engine room and forward compartment are still dry, though there is 17 feet of water in the forward hold. The officers of the steamship Northwestern state that it will cost $50,000 to float the vessel from the rocks where she is imprisoned.

Since the closing of the rink season the agricultural hall has been broken into by youthful hoodlums who have miraculously escaped the attention of the police. The managers of the hall are extremely wroth as much damage has been effected and are inclined to either blame the police or the extraordinary leniency which has hitherto been the fortune of the culprits when caught.

A success artistically and laugh producing from the start, is the remarkable and pleasing record accorded "My Wife's Family," a three act musical farce comedy written by Hall Stephens and Harry Linton, which was brought out last season. Built for laughing purposes only, it accomplished its end, with the result that return dates were played at many of the large cities by special request of managers and the theatre going public. The attraction will be seen tomorrow evening at Shermans' opera house.

ROUMANIA IN REVOLT

Peasants' Rising Causing Authorities Great Anxiety

Places Taken by Assault, Pillaged and Devastated--Demand Expulsion of All the Jews

Vienna, March 23.—According to a telegram received here today from Czernowitz, on the Roumanian border, Herpole and Budeati have been captured by peasants, who took the places by assault and pillaged and devastated them.

The attack on Misaleni, Roumania continues, the peasants uninterruptedly assaulting the town. The troops, it is added, have thus far been unable to drive back the peasants, and many have been killed or wounded on both sides.

A letter has reached the Israelite alliance from Porullaeli, Roumania, stating that every Jewish building there has been destroyed and that a great many Jews and their wives and children have been injured. The peasants who attacked the place were incited by speeches delivered by a teacher belonging to one of the public schools, who urged the expulsion of all Jews from the farms and residences occupied by them. Cacona, Bosia and Paprikani in Roumania, are reported to have been completely destroyed by a band of 2000 peasants. Only buildings where the inhabitants placed crucifixes between lighted candles in the windows were spared.

Czernowitz, Austria, March 23.—Merchants who have arrived here from Jassy, Roumania, say that the devastation wrought by the peasants is far more widespread than reported. For six days Jassy has been beseiged by thousands of raiders. Every morning the commander of the troops tries in vain to negotiate for a settlement with the besiegers but the latter will not budge until forced to do so by the arrival of additional troops. The residents of Jassy fear that unless outside regiments are quickly brought in, the local soldiers may join the peasants. From Panciu district, Fokshanu, comes a report that the banks there have been pillaged. Numbers of the Jews fled to Marashostlo but only to be driven out, many of them women and children, being obliged to flee, half dressed.

Bucharest, March 23.—A deputation of land owners headed by prine Ghika was received in audience by king Charles today and received assurance that no efforts would be spared to end the peasant troubles. The king promised to devote his most earnest attention to restoring order in Mondavia. He held politics responsible for the whole trouble, and said the country was better governed 30 years ago than it was today. The present administration did not answer to the needs of the times. The politicians, his majesty declared, must forthwith set to work and solve the agrarian and semitic questions.

King Charles today refused to receive in audience a delegation of students from Jassy university, who desired to urge him to support the peasants in the present movement. The delegates, incensed at his majesty's refusal, got out a number of pamphlets, inciting the population to assist the revolted peasantry. These are now being widely distributed in Bucharest.

FOR THE STANLEY CUP

WANDERERS DEFEAT THISTLES IN FIRST GAME.

FINAL MATCH TO BE PLAYED MONDAY NIGHT.

Winnipeg, March 23.—Tonight the Wanderers of Montreal won the first of the two games to be played with Kenora for the possession of the Stanley cup at the Arena rink, defeating the Thistles, holders of the trophy, by a score of 7 to 2.

The ice was soft, favoring the visitors, and the brilliant, dashing, individual play of the Thistles was lacking. This accounted for their defeat, although the score against them was larger than their supporters had any idea would be the result.

Referee Kean was very strict and while there was rough play at times, the condition of the ice may be blamed.

The second match takes place on Monday, the total goals in the two matches to count.

A welcome home social will be given to captain and Mrs. Johnstone and Lieut. Wright, on Monday, March 25, in the Salvation army barracks. A good program has been arranged by the local corps. Everybody cordially welcome.

A private letter received from Kaslo last night stated that C. W. McAnn, though still alive, was in an exceedingly critical condition. He is kept under opiates, without which his pain would be unbearable. He revives at times but is getting weaker each day.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A reader of The Daily News yesterday pointed out what he considered a weak point in Mr. Helliwell's contention that the government should dispose of its Point Grey holdings near Vancouver on terms which would enable it to retire the whole of its public debt at maturity. He urged that were the government to alienate the property in question at the present time it would virtually defeat its own purpose; for it would lose all the immense profit it would make were it to hold the land for the thirty years the debentures and inscribed stock of the province have yet to run and then sell it at high prices which might be expected to prevail at that time. This objection may hold good with regard to the disposal of crown lands so favorably situated as are those on the outskirts of a large and growing city like Vancouver; but the counter-objection that the government would have no right to withhold such land land from settlement for so long a time for the sake of taking advantage of the fluctuation of the real estate market might be fairly advanced against it. However, we understand that Mr. Helliwell contends not so much for the application of his financial principle to the administration of the particular lands at Point Grey, as for the general rule underlying the suggestion he makes. His fundamental proposition is that the province today is meeting its current expenses by depleting its capital of natural assets; and that this is as unnecessary as it is unwise since, under a judicious administration of its resources, it might meet all these charges out of its interest account. It is true that where crown lands are alienated in order to provide for the construction of permanent public works, the province does not impair its capital, since it merely transfers capital of one kind into capital of another. But it is a vastly different thing where, in order to carry on its administrative and educational work, it depletes its store of assets. We believe, as Mr. Helliwell believes, that a scientifically accurate financial plan could be worked out whereby the province could, by renting its assets, place itself in the position of a permanent creditor, and thereby make it possible to meet all current charges out of a natural income fund.

The twice deferred debate on better terms is to come up in the legislature on Monday. On his handling of this question will depend to a great extent the verdict the public will soon render on premier McBride—whether he is an honest statesman striving impartially and loyally to further the interests of his province, or a crafty politician endeavoring to lay trains for the next federal election by making of better terms a party issue.

Commenting on the establishment of a Canadian Club at Victoria, B. C., which, by the way, is the second one in British Columbia, the Toronto News says that it offers "interesting evidence of the fact that the Pacific province occasionally relaxes from its pursuit of the pine tree, the salmon and the ore car." There is a little pardonable sarcasm in the News' statement. It is true that the west is devoted heart and soul to business; but it occasionally takes time to interest itself in matters of a higher character intellectually, though not so remunerative financially. The remarkable extension of the Canadian club movement is one of the most significant tendencies in the development of our national life and the formation of our national spirit. While social organizations under the names of Canadian cubs had existed in different cities, these were on bases quite different from that of the present Canadian Clubs, and generally their life was unimportant and short. The real Canadian Club movement dates back to December, 1892, when independent attempts were made to establish national clubs in Montreal, Hamilton and Toronto. In Montreal and Toronto these organizations were short-lived, but in Hamilton the effort was more successful, and for some time the Hamilton club was the leading national organization of the province. But today the Canadian Club movement has spread over the whole dominion. There are now Canadian Clubs at Halifax and St. John, on the Atlantic coast, and at Vancouver and Victoria, on the Pacific. At almost every important centre of growth and thought a Canadian Club has been formed, or is in process of organization.

The many anxious persons watching hourly during the past week for news from Calgary which would indicate authoritatively whether or not there is to be a strike in the coal fields, felt a great wave of relief on learning that the Lemieux labor bill, designed to prevent industrial conflicts, has received the assent of the governor-general to become law. As it goes into effect at once, it will materially alter the situation confronting the Calgary conference. Before the miners and operators can decide to commence a fight for supremacy, they must submit their cases to investigation before a tribunal the purpose of which will be to give the facts the widest publicity. Then, should the opposing parties continue in the same mind, they will be at liberty to fight if they wish; but it is generally believed that the publicity given the dispute will so reveal the justice of the claims of one side and the injustice of the other that it will arouse an intense popular sentiment which will exert a salutary influence and compel the side in the wrong to yield as gracefully as possible. We believe that the good sense of the miners and operators will lead them to see the criminal foolishness of precipitating a labor war which cannot but end in disaster for the commercial and mining interests of the province; but it is re-assuring to know that, even should their good judgment fail, there still remains a powerful influence making for peace.

House Work

Need Not Wear Her Out

The drudgery of house work seems never ending to tired-out, dispirited women who suffer from female complaints or irregularities. Inflammation and ulceration of the womb and ovaries cause fearful bearing down pains which are aggravated by much standing on the feet, and lifting necessary in house work.

But let no woman despair of relief from this torture. That famous tonic reconstructor of diseased or disordered female organism, has cured more than five hundred thousand American Women, and it will cure you. When monthly periods are painful or irregular, when backaches and headaches drive out all ambition, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will bring back health, strength, and happiness.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

It Made Me a Well Woman

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than doctors or medicines. I suffered for four months with suppression of monthly periods. Headaches were a daily occurrence. Pains in my back and limbs made it hard for me to attend to my domestic duties.

The medicines I had taken did not help me, and I was in misery and despair until one day I read an account of your Vegetable Compound, and decided to try it, and I thank God that I did so, for it not only regulated my monthly periods, but made me a well woman.

DO NOT CROWD THE SEASON

The first warm days of spring bring with them a desire to get out and enjoy the exhilirating air and sunshine. Children that have been housed up all winter are brought out and you wonder where they all came from. The heavy winter clothing is thrown aside and many shed their flannels. Then a cold wave comes and people say that grip is epidemic. Colds at this season are even more dangerous than in midwinter, as there is much more danger of pneumonia. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, however, and you will have nothing to fear. It always cures, and we have never known a cold to result in pneumonia when it was used. It is pleasant and safe to take. Children like it. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

STOCKS FOR THE WEEK

APPROXIMATE QUOTATIONS FOR THE PAST SIX DAYS

(Reported by B. B. Mighton & Co.)

Tradings in stocks on the local market for the last week showed some improvement both in prices and activity. This condition was also apparent on the eastern exchanges and in Spokane, and indicates a gain in prices with greater activity almost at once.

Alberta Coal and Coke though weak at the opening strengthened somewhat and towards the close was stronger than for several weeks. American Boy sold to an extent, but was in better demand than for some months. B. C. Copper was weak at the opening, but during each day's business strengthened and towards the close was higher and in better demand than for two weeks. Cariboo-McKinney if changed at all was slightly lower with but little business offered. Consolidated Smelters was in no demand, and almost unchanged. Dominion Copper, like other stocks handled on the curb, sold very low comparatively speaking, with but little change throughout the week's tradings, but perhaps strengthened at the close.

Granby maintained its price better than the other coppers of this district, but was not dealt in on the western markets. Giant of Rossland was perhaps in more demand than any other stock, at higher prices tha have been in evidence for several years with a number of sales recorded. International Coal like other stocks of the coal companies operating in the Crow's Nest Pass, was weak and erratic, owing to the unsettled conditions in these mines and until an agreement between the operators and miners in that district can be reached, no great change can be looked for.

Nicola Valley Coal and Coke caused a great many inquiries with a few sales recorded. Nicola Coal Mines Ltd., was removed from the Spokane board during the week and was in no demand and very weak. Rambler-Cariboo was almost unchanged. Sullivan dropped a point or so, with but few sales reported. Sullivan Bonds were in demand but with no business recorded at the current bid price. White Bear was very active and advanced several points with every indication of a greater advance within the near future, in consequence of the report of this company commencing shipments again almost at once. Western Oil was uninteresting and unchanged.

	Asked	Bid
American Boy	$ .1¾	$ .1¾
Alberta Coal and Coke	.35	.31
Breckenridge-Lund Coal	.57	.56
B. C. Copper	8.25	8.12
Belcher	.45	.43
Con. Smelters	140.00	130.00

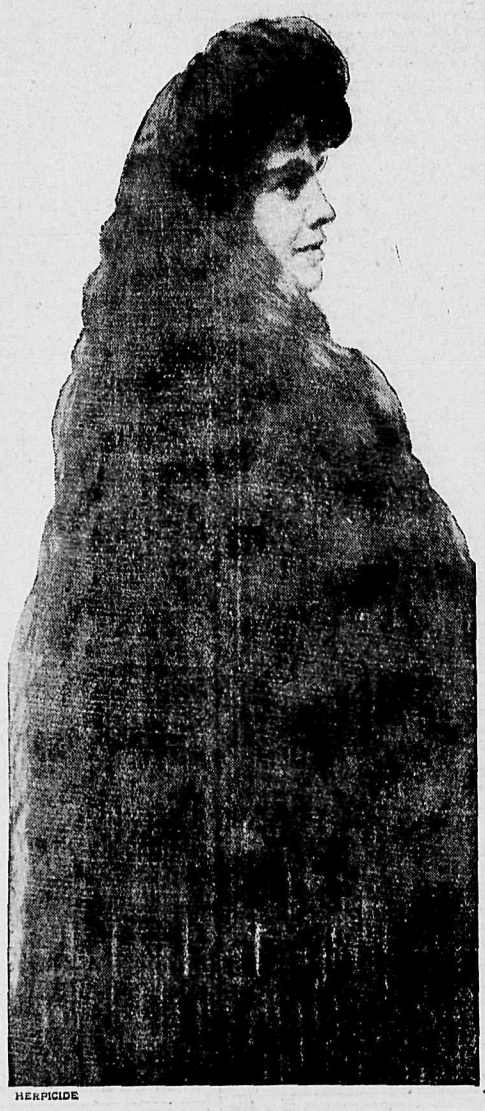
Newbro's Herpicide



HERPICIDE

Miss Madeline Clutter

BENEFITED

Miss Clutter's Hair

Read Her Letter About It:

"I herewith enclose you one of my latest photographs, which will show you what Newbro's Herpicide has done for my hair. Since using your remedy my hair is much longer than it was, and it has that lustre to it that one's hair always has when the scalp is in a healthy condition."

(Sgd.) "MISS MADELINE CLUTTER."
3953 Michigan Avenue,
Flat 210. Chicago, Illinois.

The immense popularity of Newbro's Herpicide, particularly among the better class, is due to the fact that it never disappoints. It does all and more than is claimed for it.

Its delightful fragrance, perfect clearness and freedom from grease or oil, appeal to the discriminating, and its cleansing, refreshing and health-giving effect upon the scalp is immediately apparent.

Herpicide makes the hair light and fluffy and gives it a silken gloss.

Extraordinarily long hair is a gift of Nature that relatively few possess, but not many would complain if they could save Nature's head covering in its original beauty and luxuriance.

The dandruff germ is the greatest enemy of abundant hair. This is on account of the highly contagious nature of dandruff, which makes it almost impossible to escape the disease without the occasional use of a germ destroying solution.

Newbro's Herpicide is the ORIGINAL remedy that "kills the dandruff germ." It promptly eradicates dandruff, stops falling hair and, (except in chronic baldness) restores the hair to its former health and activity. Herpicide stops itching of the scalp almost instantly.

Two Sizes, 50c and $1.00 at Drug Stores. Send 10c in stamps to The HERPICIDE CO., Dept. L., Windsor, Ont., for a sample. Guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30, 1906. Serial No. 915.

NOTE.—If any druggist suggests a substitute walk out of his store and send the advertised price direct to us. We will immediately express the Herpicide direct to your door, all charges paid. The Herpicide Co., Windsor, Ont.

OF INTEREST TO MINERS

PETROLEUM

The earliest record we have of petroleum is that mentioned by Pliny in the year 77 A.D., who called it "bitumen liquidum candidum"; this apparently being a liquid similar to the naptha of the present day, and came from the neighborhood of the Caspian sea. At the present time one of the largest oil fields known is worked in the same district, that of Baku at the eastern end of the Caucasus, where the greater part of the oil of Europe comes from. There are many other district in which petroleum is obtained, but the chief one, and in fact the most important one in the world, is the Pennsylvania oil field. This covering the western part of that state, with parts of New York and Ohio. Long prior to the English coming to America, oil was known to exist in these fields by the Indians, but it was not until many years later that it was worked for its illuminating power.

One of the first oil springs known, that of Caba in Alleghany county, New York, commonly known as the Seneca oil spring, was described by professor Silliman in 1833 as a "dirty pool about 18 feet across, covered with a film of oil, which was skimmed off from time to time for medicinal purposes." The so-called "Seneca oil" sold at the time in the shops (and from which he often distilled naptha for preserving potassium), he observed was not from this spring, (around which the Seneca Indians then had a reserve of a square mile), but, as he was told from Oil creek, Verango county, Pennsylvania, about 100 miles from Pittsburg. Seneca lake has oil on its surface in some parts, and it is said to have given the name to the oil; but whether this is the true source or whether it came from its being collected and sold by the Seneca Indians, is not clear. It was also in 1833 that a well was sunk in Ohio about 30 miles north of Marietta. When this reached a depth of 475 feet, it discharged at intervals of from two to four days, for three or six hours each time, throwing out from 40 to 60 gallons at each eruption. In 1840 a "spouting" well was found in Kentucky, this was run across while prospecting for salt. When a depth of 200 feet was obtained a fountain of pure oil was struck which was thrown up more than 12 feet above the earths' surface, emitting according to estimate 75 gallons per minute. It continued to flow for several days successively but then failed, and efforts to bring it into action again, or find another, were not successful. The first mention of petroleum in Canada was in 1844, when it was found at Enniskillen; but it was not until 1857 that wells were sunk to obtain it on a larger scale.

The first operations on the great Pennsylvania oil fields, began in 1859, at Oil creek, Venango county. The parties concerned were boring for salt, but at a depth of 75 feet, they came across "petroleum," and "let out the first fountain of oil of that now famous region." Since that time development in western Pennsylvania has been wonderfully rapid, and at the present the production of oil from this region amounts to about fifty million barrels yearly.

The first operation in sinking a petroleum well in America is the erection of a "derrick." This is a timber structure pyramidal in form, consisting of four uprights held in position by ties and braces. It is usually about 70 feet in height, and 20 feet square at the base, though these figures alter considerably with the depth of the wells and the length of the "tools." Shallow wells naturally require a smaller derrick than wells of a greater depth. The machinery for sinking is very simple. It is worked by an engine, most frequently run by natural gas, usually from 10 to 15 horse power. This operates a band wheel, which drives up and down a rod which is attached to a beam. This beam is attached to a pillar set solidly in the ground. At the far end of the beam is a windlass over which a cable runs. As the machinery works this cable is brought up and down dropping the tools and drills upon the rock, and gradually boring through it. From this short description it would appear to be a tedious process, but in actual practice this is not so. An average rate of sinking is 140 feet per month.

When it is known that sufficient depth has been obtained by boring to be in the oil bearing strata, and no oil is obtained, the well is "torpedoed." This is done by lowering a tin case containing nitro-glycerine, to which is connected a fulminating cap. These shells carry from 20 to 80 quarts of nitro-glycerine and are exploded by dropping cast iron weights upon them. Previous to doing this the holes are partially filled with water. Little or no sound is heard, but a slight quiver of the ground is often perceptible. A few moments after the explosion, however, the fluid in the well is shot into the air with great violence, forming a magnificent fountain, and small pieces of rock are also thrown out. The torpedo and exploding weight are blown into small fragments. The foregoing is a brief summary of the ways and means of obtaining the oil on this continent. Petroleum is found in many other parts of the world where cruder methods for its extraction are in use. The following is a short description of the methods employed in Japan: The excavating is usually done by two men, one working about three hours in the morning and the other the same length of time in the afternoon. The one who is not digging works a large blowing machine which sends fresh air to the bottom of the shaft. The rock and earth excavated is drawn to the surface by men and boys, the rock being placed in a basket to which is attached a rope; the rope, which runs up over a pulley, is attached to a man's waist, and when the basket is full, he and the boys run down a hill, pulling the rope with them, thus hoisting the basket. The man working below always has a rope around his body so that in case he is overcome by the gases he can be hoisted up. By this means wells are easily sunk to the depth of 600 to 900 feet. Though this method is crude, it is found considerably cheaper than importing expensive machinery, which cannot be hauled about in the country as there are no roads. It has been estimated that the cost of sinking a well by these means at Echigo, Japan, to the depth of 900 feet, (3½ feet square) was about one thousand dollars. This is a little more than one-third the cost of boring a hole that depth in Canada or the states. The dug well also has the advantage that it can be cleaned out or repaired, while a drilled hole obviously cannot.

CORRESPONDENCE.

S. H., New Denver, B. C.—The term "link" is one used by surveyors to indicate the measurement of 7.92 inches. It is a one-hundredth part of a chain; and there are 80 chains to the mile. In other words a link is one-eight thousandth part of a mile, which contains 63,360 inches.

Some few weeks back a correspondent who gave his initials "W," sent a sample of rock to this office which contained cinnabar, supposed to have been found in the Nelson district. If he will communicate with this office, we will put him in touch with parties who are looking for this class of mineral, and who have written us about the article.

W. H., Creston, B. C.—Your pieces of ore are chiefly composed of zinc blende, tetrahedrite and stephanite. In all probability they will be extremely rich in silver. This would be shipped as a silver ore, so it would not be advisable to assay it for zinc. You had better have it assayed for copper and silver; for which the fee will be $2.00.

L. H. S., Kaslo, B. C.—It would be absolutely impossible to tell you the silver contents of your ore without having an assay made upon it. This we shall be pleased to have done for you upon receipt of the necessary fee, which will be one dollar.

ELECTIONS IN QUEBEC

WILL PROBABLY BE HELD EARLY NEXT FALL

PREMIER GOUIN IS GOING TO ENGLAND IN MEANTIME

Montreal, March 23—It now looks as if the general provicial elections in Quebec would be held in the fall and that Hon. Lomer Gouin's trip to the old country will have something to do with the amendments to the B.N.A. act, which the imperial parliament will soon be called upon to ratify It is considered certain that premier Gouin will not delay long in going to the people, as with Quebec's $100,000 new subsidy the time would be ripe for an appeal to the electors. This would make a telling progam, including the putting of the primary schools on a better financial basis. Premier Gouin has identified himself so much with provincial subsidies that his foreign trip is causing no surprise.

NOTICE

TO CONTRACTORS AND THE PUBLIC

At a meeting of the Nelson Federal Labor Union held on March 4, it was decided that after April 1st, 1907, they would accept not less than $3 per day of nine hours for excavating; $3.50 for carpenters' helpers, and $4 per day of eight hours for mortar mixers and hod carriers, except for work which has been contracted for prior to March 7th, 1907.

As the cost of living has considerably increased since the present standard of wages was established, the union believes that the public will readily endorse this action.

NEW YORK FASHION LETTER

New York, March 23—Once again we are discussing hats and with Easter near at hand the stores are displaying gorgeous specimens of millinery, each hat seeming more gaudy and flimsy than another. With the cold weather which we are still having these airy confections seem to be premature, being better suited to the warm days of July than the chilly winds of March. But in this age of rush and hurry we force the seasons and think it quite the proper thing to do, and if Easter comes and finds us still wearing our winter hats we feel quite behind the times, even if our substantial felts and velvets are more in keeping with the weather than that which fashion dictates. What quantities of flowers will adorn our headgear during the coming summer. Such varieties and such combinations were surely never before heard of. Colors which I have always supposed fought to the death when placed within shooting distance are now massed together, and presto, change, the art of the milliner and the decree of fashion have made them beautiful. They are arranged in heaps or seem to be shown promiscuously on the hat, and some of them in their efforts to fall off hang coquettishly over the brim, and are most bewitching as they fall over the hair or behind the ear of a dainty maiden who wears the hat. The hats this spring seem to resemble to a certain extent the hats of our grandmothers' days. Perhaps some of us have seen them among the dainty gowns and wraps which were worn many years ago and have been kept until now. We see them in old photographs and smile at the odd effect, but the hat of today, or of tomorrow, though resembling those of long ago, present an entirely different appearance when tilted rakishly at an absurd angle over a Marcel-wave coiffure, and seem to have an air of style, which are lacking in the old photographs. But I suppose our grandmothers when they were young and gay, thought they had just the prettiest hats that could be created. Of course they were stylish, but it seems hard to imagine it when one considers the portraits of these days. We can imagine perhaps, how our photos will look 50 years from now.

The light filmy frock has been so firmly established as an all year round commodity that the investment in such appears in a different light entirely. The muslin or mull that has heretofore been regarded in the light of transient summer usefulness and its cost weighed in the consideration of this, is now scrutinized and mediated upon in view of its possible suitability to general demands. For housewear the muslin gown recognizes no season as incompatible with its adoption. Small wonder, then, the new showing of mulls and organdies is unprecedented. Crystaline, a combination of silk and cotton comes in some beautiful tones and one or two costume lengths in black and white designs are indecribably lovely. These with some alluring blush organdies, constitute a fine array.

Is there a more thoroughly distressing situation for those who have any regard for sartorial niceties than to get into a light dressy frock and suddenly realize that the spring sunshine which has dazzled us into the belief that every lurking breeze and chill of winter has gone, is an arch deceiver, and to have pneumonia and ills of similar ilk dare us to sally forth without a wrap? The distress comes in when we haven't got a wrap—that is one with any suggestion of suitability. We may have a fur lined opera cloak, the coat of an Eton suit, and perhaps a waterproof, and we spend a bad quarter of an hour weighing their relative merits. Is there a woman who has not?

NELSON BRANCH

The local branch of Messrs. Allis-Chalmers-Bullock in view of their increasing business in this and surrounding districts have been making extensive improvements in their office building.

There is a good deal of activity just now with regard to the timber lands at the northern end of Kootenay lake and it is likely that there will be several limits opened there this season.
