SCHMITZ' SUCCESSOR

Supervisor Gallagher Only Temporarily Holding Mayor's Office.

Schmitz Disputes Legality of Supervisors' Action in Appointing Gallagher, Is Still Prepared to Perform Duties.

San Francisco, June 18.—Supervisor K. L. Gallagher, who was yesterday, by the board of supervisors ,appointed acting mayor in place of mayor Schmitz, who is confined in the county jail awaiting sentence for the crime of extortion, will be, by the bribery graft prosecution, retained in that office until Schmitz has perfected his appeal from last week's conviction.

This statement was made this evening to the Associated Press by district attorney Langdon.

He further said: "The members of the prosecution have not even discussed with each other the name of any man to succeed Gallagher as emergency mayor for the remainder of this year. We have not gone that far as yet. We are yet proceeding carefully and with due regard to the seriousness of the situation. I am not ready yet to answer with a detailed plan of the question, 'will we sweep out of office the entire Schmitz administration,' but I will say this: We have shaped up and are filling in the body of a policy whose one and only object is prompt and effectual relief for the public and we shall permit nothing to interfere with the carrying forward of that policy. We do not fear any counter moves by the mayor's counsel. We are fully advised of the law and have entire confidence in the legality of the step we have already caused to be taken —the appointment of an acting mayor —and the legality of the further steps we propose taking when Mr. Schmitz has perfected his appeal."

Mayor Schmitz, this afternoon, at the close of a long conference with his attorneys, addressed to the board of supervisors a letter rebuking that body for its action of yesterday. In this letter he declared himself able and willing to perform the duties of the mayoralty, commanded the board to forward to him all matters requiring review by the mayor and warned the board that any recognition of Gallagher as acting mayor will result in trouble for the city.

Supervisor Gallagher made no attempt today to take possession of the mayor's office at Post and Franklin streets. A police sergeant was "on the door" all day and his instructions were to see that no one encroached on the premises.

Gallagher says he has had no use for the office at Post and Franklin streets. He says that for the present the mayor's office is wherever he happens to be.

VANCOUVER WILL COME

DRAWING CARD FOR DOMINION DAY CELEBRATION.

A SPLENDID PROGRAM IS NOW NEARLY COMPLETED.

The Vancouver lacrosse team will play Nelson in this city on July 1 and 2. This cheering announcement was made by Harry Wright at the meeting of the Dominion Day celebration committee in the court house last evening. Mr. Wright added that the local team would be in great shape and would put up a better fight with the Vancouvers than the All-Canadian team did yesterday when the Vancouvers beat them by 5 to 2. The lacrosse games will be pulled off on both afternoons and a big gate is looked for on both occasions.

The expenditure will be greater this year than former celebrations but the committee have nearly arranged a very excellent program and they expect prompt support in carrying it out.

After long discussion appropriations were agreed upon last night for practically all the events including children's sports and caledonian games, water sports, firemen's races, fireworks, launch races, trap shooting, junior baseball, football cricket, lawn tennis, log rolling, decorations and music.

The committee specially urge citizens to decorate their residences and particularly all places of business. Bunting in plenty should be everywhere in evidence, from a cold business point of view, and store windows should be dressed for the occasion.

The meeting adjourned until Friday evening at 8 o'clock, when a report is looked for from each subcommittee and when a full draft program will be made.

EDMONTON LUMBERMEN HIT

Sudden Rise of Saskatchewan River Takes Away Logs

Edmonton, June 18—One of the greatest disasters ever experienced by lumbermen of the city of Edmonton occurred Saturday night caused by the sudden rise of the Saskatchewan river, which swept away thousands of logs and several rafts of lumber. This morning the muddy, brown waters of the river were alive with logs and floating debris. The heaviest losers are D. R. Fraser and Company and the Edmonton Lumber Co.

A large pocket boom of the Edmonton Lumber company was carried completely away as was also a portion of the pocket boom of D. R. Fraser and company, lower down in the river. There is a small portion of the Fraser boom left containing about 5000 logs. It is estimated that more than 100,000 logs were carried away with the flood last night. The river rose 12 feet from 6 o'clock Saturday evening until 1 o'clock yesterday morning. Logs were lying at various points along the river bank for a distance of 60 to 100 miles. The owners say the logs have been piled within the high water zone during the winter and all those will be carried away. One of the rafts which went adrift was caught and anchored about 18 miles up the river at the Big island channel. The firms owning the logs have issued notices that all logs bearing their respective marks will be claimed. Advices have been wired to Prince Bros., of Battleford to catch logs coming down.

WAS A LONDON BURGLAR

CRIMINAL RECORD OF WINNIPEG OFFENDER RECENTLY SENTENCED.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND CLERGYMAN, DRUNKARD AND BIGAMIST.

Winnipeg, June 18.—The criminal record of the man named Hawkins, alias Stephens, alias Jones, convicted here of shop breaking and burglary recently, and sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary, was received from England yesterday and shows, despite the plea he put up in court that he had never before been guilty of offense, that he had been convicted several times of similar offenses in London, England.

The inquest on the man Edwards, who was refused admission to the general hospital on June 10 and who died without recovering consciousness from a fractured skull, revealed the fact that he was an ordained clergyman of the Church of England, whose real name is Edward Marthlew. He had been drinking heavily for some time and sustained his injuries while intoxicated.

Its reported that he committed bigamy, having married a woman owning a farm near Winnipeg while having a wife living in England, but this was not disclosed at the inquest where a verdict of accidental death was returned.

The Angelican synod of Rupert's Land, which has met annually in Winnipeg since 1867, opened today. Inaugural services were held last evening, a large number of delegates being present and the sermon being preached by Rev. D. Pensler of Brandon.

B. C. FRUIT CROP

W. J. Brandrith Says it Will not be up to the Mark This Year

Vancouver, June 18—The fruit crop of British Columbia this year will not be up to the mark by a long way. There is not an average crop even in apples which are the best crop of fruits, taking the province as a whole—lower mainland, upper country and Vancouver island. This statement was made today by W. J. Brandrith, a prominent fruitgrower and a government official. In the latter capacity he has recently been on a tour of the country, and has returned with a comprehensive view of the situation.

"Early frosts and continued droughts in the spring have had their result," said Mr. Brandrith. "Twelve weeks, with scarcely any rain did for the crop in the best fruit growing section of Vancouver island. Of cherries, plums and other small fruits there is scarcely more than a quarter crop. Chilliwack perhaps has a half crop."

"What about the Okanagan?"

"Early frosts did the damage there too. Apples will be hardly an average crop. About pears it is yet too early to make anything like an exact estimate."

In the foregoing review of the fruit crop outlook by Mr. Brandrith no reference is made to the Kootenay districts. So far no reports of injury to Kootenay fruit crops by frosts have been received and it is probably correct to say that in this respect the Kootenay districts were immune.

RUSSIAN SAPPERS MUTINY

Forced to Surrender by Loyal Battalions After Exchange of Shots

Kiev, June 19—Last night the 31st battalion of sappers, 450 strong, mutinied. They killed the commander of the third company and began firing volleys at random. Five loyal battalions were summoned to quell the mutiny and called upon the mutineers to surrender. They replied with shots, wounding four of the loyal soldiers. The loyal battalions fired and the mutineers fled. Two hundred and fifty-eight were arrested. The others escaped.

DENY SOFT IMPEACHMENT

London, June 18—The earl of Munster, when asked today regarding the report that he was engaged to Mrs. Potter Palmer of Chicago, replied: "The report is absolutely untrue."

All the afternoon papers here printed despatches from Chicago reporting the engagement, with photographs and biographies of the parties. "I do not know the earl of Munster and I am much annoyed by the unauthorized report," said Mrs. Potter Palmer today.

Mr. Finley of Moyie conducted the service, delivering an able address upon the "Brotherhood of Man," from Acts 17:26. The school house was well filled and the service impressive throughout.

INCRIMINATING LETTERS ARE INTRODUCED

Expose Plan to Deceive Second Mrs. Orchard as to Husband's Whereabouts, in Which Haywood Is Alleged to Have Participated---Defense Seek to Show That Orchard Had Long Been Nursing Personal Spite Against Ex-Governor Steunenberg and Which Alone Prompted His Murder.

(Special to The Daily News)

Boise, Idaho, June 18.—Today the trial of the Haywood case was resumed and the proceedings proved highly interesting. Harry Orchard was again on the stand, being called in continuation of the cross examination for the purpose of laying the foundation for impeachment and being then put in re-direct examination by the state. The principal feature of the redirect examination was the bringing out of a letter from Haywood to Mrs. Orchard and a number of letters from Orchard to his wife. In these letters Orchard represented to his wife he was in San Francisco, dating the letters from there. In the first he stated he would send her money by Paddy Malone, and instructing her to answer to headquarters and enclose her letter in a large envelope, and saying headquarters would forward it to him.

In the second, also dated at San Francisco, he said he would go to Alaska or return to Colorado. The third letter dated, Nome, Alaska, and left the day of the month out, sending it to Alaska by Marion Moore to be mailed there, he said was to deceive his wife as he feared she would inform on him if she knew he was in Denver as she did not wish to have him chasing around the country. Orchard testified he talked with Pettibone about writing Mrs. Orchard that he was in Alaska, and a letter was introduced from Haywood to her stating the last they knew of her husband he was in Alaska.

The first witness called was Casper P. Nicholas, the sheriff of Canyon county, at the time of the murder of former governor Steunenberg and in whose custody Harry Orchard was placed after his arrest. He testified to a letter being received by Harry Orchard while in the county jail just after his arrest. Nicholas produced a copy of the letter, a copy made by himself, before the letter was handed to Orchard. It was as follows:

"Dear Tom: I have received yours and sent that to Jack. I hope to hear from you as to your movements and that you will be successful."

Harry Orchard was then re-called. E. F. Richardson at once began to cross examine and it became evident that the defense proposed to bring a number of witnesses to prove that Orchard had for years nursed a vengeful spite against Steunenberg and had repeatedly made threats against him.

"Do you know Max Malich of Denver," asked Richardson.

"Yes sir."

"Did you in June or July of 1905 say to Max Malich, you and he being alone, that you were going to kill Steunenberg even if you had to swing for it?"

"No sir; I never had any such conversation."

Senator Borah asked Richardson if he could not place the time closer than June or July, 1905.

"No man can fix the exact day of such an occasion," said Richardson, hotly.

"We will have Max Malich here and he may fix that for you, but it is not likely that he can give you the day of the conversation."

"Did you say that Steunenberg was mean, and that had it not been for Steunenberg you would have been a millionaire, because you owned one sixteenth share of the Hercules mine and that Steunenberg had driven you out of the state?"

"No sir, I never said any such thing."

Orchard said he had known of lieutenant Eugene Engly, a Cripple Creek lawyer.

"Did you go to his office in June, 1904, and at that office state to him that by means of the Couer d'Alene strike you had lost some valuable property, and that Steunenberg was to blame for it and you were going to get him sooner or later."

"No sir, I never did."

Orchard denied that he had told Lottie Day in a room at the Belmont rooming house in the spring or summer of 1905 that he would kill Steunenberg if he had to swing for it. Orchard said he had never known of "Kid" Waters. He had never visited his house.

"Do you know Dr. J. T. McGee?"

"Yes; I know him."

Orchard was asked if he had told the doctor in a hospital at Wallace that he was a spotter working not for the Theil agency but for the "other outfit."

Orchard denied the conversation. Orchard denied that in September, 1905, he had told D. C. Coates in his office at Wallace that the more he saw of the prosperity of his former pals the more he hated governor Steunenberg, that he would "get even with the former governor yet."

Richardson gave notice that there were two more witnesses he desired to use in laying foundation for impeachment, who were not yet in town. He reserved the right to recall the witness.

Mr. Hawley here began the re-direct examination. His first question was as to when Orchard had sold his interest in the Hercules mine. Orchard replied, "It was February or March, 1897."

After selling out his business in Burke Orchard said he had no property interests in the Couer d'Alene. He said he had no property there at the time of the blowing up of the Bunker Hill and Sullivan mill.

"The last time I saw Max Milach," said Orchard, "was late in 1905. I never personally knew Eugene Engly and I never had any business dealings with him in 1902. I think I was once in his office. A man named Jimmie Latimer was with me. I went as witness for Latimer in some case he was interested in."

Orchard said the Day woman, referred to by Richardson, worked at the Belmont in 1904. He did not know whether she was there in the spring and summer of 1905. Orchard said he had "heard by hearsay of 'Kid' Waters; he had read of him in the papers. He had never known any one personally by that name."

Hawley took up the matter of the letter received by Orchard in the jail at Caldwell, and asked, "who wrote that letter?"

"Mr. Pettibone."

Hawley then asked to be allowed to place the copy in evidence and Richardson strongly objected.

The court asked to see the letter and it was handed to him to read. He read it over and promptly overruled the objection by Richardson. Hawley handed to Orchard the copy sheriff Nichols had made of the telegram received by Orchard in the county jail at Caldwell. Telegram dated from Spokane and signed "M." It was received four or five days before Fred Miller reached Caldwell.

"After he got there did he say he sent the telegram?" An objection by Richardson was sustained by the court.

It read: "Attorney Fred Miller will start for Caldwell in the morning." It was admitted in evidence. Then followed the introduction of letters.

"Where you in April, 1905?" asked Hawley.

Orchard said he was in Colorado. He thought he was in Denver at that time. Orchard said he had told Haywood about sending some letters to his wife at Cripple Creek. "Haywood told me she had written to me and wanted to know where I was. I said I would write some letters and date them San Francisco, and I asked him to write to her and tell her I was in San Francisco."

Here both attorneys for the defense sprang to their feet to object to the examination.

"That is not re-direct examination," shouted Darrow.

"It is re-direct," said Borah. "It is something you people went into very thoroughly, this matter of Orchard's correspondence with his wife."

"If it is not re-direct," said the court, "the state will be allowed to re-open the direct examination on this point."

Darrow sprang to his feet to support his objection with argument, but was interrupted by the court.

"Gentlemen, the objection is overruled."

The defense took an exception. Orchard testified he wrote the letters in Pettibone's store. He told Haywood and Pettibone about them. He said further he turned the letters over to Pat Maloney to deliver. After many objections these letters were all admitted.

They are in part as follows: The first letter—San Francisco, April 1, 1905. My dear wife: I am ashamed to write to you; I have not written in so long, but I got no answer to the last letter I wrote and supposed you didn't get it. Now dear, the reason I have not written lately you no doubt know. I do not care for any charges they may make against me for they are without foundation, but I don't propose to let them bring me up before a kangaroo court and treat me as they have hundreds of others.

"P. S. Paddy will hand you this and when you write me address Harry Orchard, San Francisco, California, general delivery, but put it in a big envelope and give it to Paddy and he will send it to headquarters and they will send it to me. Be sure to do this."

Second letter:

"San Francisco, California, April 17.—My dear wife: I received your letter or rather your roast. Well, if you felt as you write, I don't know as I will be up there very soon. It is true, I have not done as I might of but I have no excuses to make; you have had enough to live on I think; I have been sick, I am working now. I will be for some time. I am either going to Alaska or will come to Colorado. I do not know what to say dear. I love you just as well as ever but I do not think you do me. No, I did not read any letters you got from Mrs. A. I told her to write to you and thought you got $100 as I made arrangements for. I remain as ever, your husband."

Third letter:

"Cape Nome, Alaska, August 5, 1905—Mrs. Harry Orchard Independence, Colorado: Well, Dollie, I will not call you my wife as you are ashamed of your name. Well, I am not ashamed of it, and I think I am sorry you are, but cannot help it. I am going to make a fortune, I think. Just came in from the interior for an outfit for the winter and hope to get all the money I want and if I do, although you do not care for me, I will not forget you if I am lucky, which I hope to be. Hoping this will find you well as I am myself, I will close with best wishes. Yours respectfully,

"HARRY ORCHARD."

Haywood's letter:

"Denver, Colorado, November 17, 1905. —Mrs. H. Orchard: Dear madam and sister—I have not heard a word since I saw you. The last information I got was from Alaska. I think Fairfield was the name of the place. I see that awful conditions prevail among the law and order element. Yours verytruly,

"WM. D. HAYWOOD."

Orchard testified to talks he had with Adams in the penitentiary about the latter's confession, after very sharp objection by the defense. Adams saw an attorney some days before he saw McParland and after he saw McParland he talked to me about making a confession. Here the defense fought hard to prevent the testimony from coming out. The admissability of the conversation was resisted by Richardson, who claimed that this was an effort on the part of the state to introduce 'Adams' confession, under the guise of a conversation.

Senator Borah said the state was not seeking to introduce this as the evidence of a conspirator. He said they desired to get a voluntary statement by Adams to Orchard. If it should turn out that this was a confession the state was entitled to know what Adams said when not under any compulsion of any kind. Adams as a co-conspirator with Haywood had made a confession and had repudiated it, stating that it was made under duress.

Judge Wood ruled that the state could show what Adams said about a confession, but could not go into the confession itself.

"After the conversation did you and Adams continue to occupy the same cell, and did he occupy it with you after the conversation with McParland" asked Hawley.

"Yes, sir; he did."

On cross-examination, Orchard said it was not until four or five days before he went off the stand last week that he had seen the letters written to his wife since he had sent them. He had never seen the letters but once until they were placed in his hands in the court room. He denied that he had seen the letters during a consultation with attorneys in Hawley's office on Sunday. Regarding the letters he had written himself and had sent to his wife by Paddy Maloney, Orchard said he had talked to Pettibone and also to Haywood about the letters then.

"Why?"

"Because I had heard that she had said that if she found out where I was, she would tell the authorities, that she would rather see me in jail than not know where I was. I wrote the letters so she would think I was in San Francisco."

Orchard said he had had several talks with the federation officials regarding what course he was to pursue should he ever be arrested. "I can't remember just when it was, but I had been engaged in doing some work for Moyer, Pettibone and Haywood. They told me if I got into trouble of any kind and was arrested not to wire or write to them, but they would attend to sending an attorney to my assistance as quickly as possible."

Regarding Orchard's talk with detective Scott after the Vindicator explosion, Orchard said: "I went to Scott because he had sent for me. I had seen him a few days before about the train wrecking plot. I did not dare stay away because I was afraid I was under suspicion by him and went to sort of protect myself. I did not want him to suspect me."

The next witness called by the state was Ed. Boyce of Wallace. The witness said he had lived here since 1887. He had been at one time a member of the executive board of the Western Federation of Miners. In 1896, 1897, 1898, 1899, 1900, 1901 and to May, 1902, he was president of the Western Federation of Miners. He said he had been succeeded by Charles H. Moyer. The Federation was organized May 15, 1903. Boyce testified that the Miners' Magazine was made the official organ of the federation in 1901.

Borah offered several articles from that publication in evidence and pending their examination by the defense the court adjourned until tomorrow.

DONNAN CASE DISMISSED

GRAND FORKS' CITY SOLICITOR RECOMMENDS THIS COURSE

POPULAR SYMPATHY ENTIRELY WITH MISS BELLA DONNAN

(Special to The Daily News)

Grand Forks, June 18—The adjourned enquiry into the death of Emma Donnan of this city, who died shortly after being struck by a stick thrown by her sister, was continued today.

The attorney general recently pointed out that any prosecution which was undertaken must be by the city up to the time of the commitment for trial. At last night's council meeting a resolution was passed authorizing the city solicitor to act for the city and giving him full power to use his own discretion in the matter. Here, where the circumstances are fully known, the matter is regarded as an accident of a distressing character and the Donnan family, in general, and Miss Bella Donnan, who threw the stick, in particular, have received the deep sympathy of the community.

After reading the depositions and after full consideration of the circumstances, Mr. Miller recommended the dismissal of the case and magistrate Cochrane accordingly dismissed it.

LEMIEUX ACT EFFECTIVE

SECRETARY OF FREIGHT HANDLERS' UNION FINED.

ACTION PUT IMMEDIATE STOP TO INTIMIDATION.

Winnipeg, June 18.—During the strike of the freight handlers in the C. R. R. sheds at Fort William last week, the new trades disputes investigation act was put in force by secretary Austin, was arrested and charged under the act with inciting certain employees of the C. P. R. to refrain from working and to go on strike. Austin stood outside of the company's property and asked one of the employees not to go to work. He was arrested and brought before magistrate Palling and pleaded guilty. The magistrate fined him $50 and costs an dintimated to him and other men in the court room that he had the power to fine him anywhere from fifty to one thousand dollars and costs. The other agitators took warning from this conviction and allowed anyone who wished to go to work in the sheds. The company wish to make it clear that though the strike is officially at an end as the men who went out have been replaced, they will continue to prosecute if intimidation should go on.

GETS PROFESSORSHIP

Despite Unorthodox Views on Book of Genesis.

Montreal, June 18.—At the Presbyterian general assembly Rev. Dr. Sedgwick in an unexpected moment made a remark touching on higher criticism and at once the body of clergy and elders was plunged into the depths of Biblical myth and inspiration and German schools of thought.

Rev. Dr. Sedgwick opposed the recommendation to an appointment of Rev. Alex. Gordon to the professorship of Old Testament literature and exegesis of the Presbyterian college. "I question whether his views are such as should be bolstered up by the general assembly of Canada," declared Dr. Sedgwick, who picked up a copy of a magazine from the moderator's desk containing an article by Rev. Gordon on the Religious Value of the First Chapter of Genesis. "The views expressed in that article so startled me that I felt in conscience bound to refuse my acquiescence to Mr. Gordon's admission. He declares Genesis a mass of legend. I cannot in conscience countenance such teaching as that. He calls the whole thing a fairy tale. Is this an individual you wish to teach the children of the Presbyterian assembly?"

The voice of the assembly in answer was somewhat uncertain. Rev. Dr. Turnbull of Toronto supported Dr. Sedgwick in his contention on the ground that the appointment of Rev. Mr. Gordon would place the seal of the assembly's approval on the over-critical teachings of German theologians. He therefore moved an amendment that Rev. Gordon's application be referred back to the committee for the receiving of other applications for the position.

Dr. Baird of Hamilton pitched into Dr. Sedgwick for interpreting the aforesaid magazine article. Rev. W. J. Dey of Simcoe, differed from Dr. Baird and though a graduate of Montreal Presbyterian college, told the assembly he could not vote for Rev. Mr. Gordon. J. K. Macdonald of Toronto declared that the laity of the Presbyterian church were becoming very much alive to the question of critical teachings in the colleges. "I have seen the outcome of critical teachings in our mission fields in most distressing features," said Mr. Macdonald.

Principal Patrick of Manitoba college wanted to know if the general assembly was going to constitute itself a judge of orthodoxy. "Rev. Mr. Gordon's views are taught in every Presbyterian college in Canada with one exception," was principal Patrick's retort.

When the vote was taken Rev. Mr. Turnbull's amendment was rejected and the report received, thereby approving the appointment of Rev. Mr. Gordon.

FIREDAMP EXPLOSION

Costs Seven Miners Their Lives in Johnson Coal Mine at Priceburg.

Two Explosions, First Unimportant, Second Caused by Ignition of Firedamp After First Explosion, Very Disastrous.

Scranton, Pa., June 18.—Seven men were killed outright and two others seriously injured in two explosions of mine gas in the Johnson mine at Priceburg late today.

The first explosion, which occurred about 3 o'clock, was caused by the carelessness of a door tender, who by leaving the door open, allowed gas to accumulate in the workings. One man was injured as a result of this explosion.

The second explosion, which resulted in the death of seven men and the injuring of another, resulted from the ignition of the deadly firedamp, which accumulated after the first explosion.

About 1,500 men work in the mine. No account was kept of those who had come out before the explosion and it is impossible to determine, until the rescuers return, if the death list is complete.

DEMAND FOR TIMBER.

Last week's Provincial Gazette is two or three pages larger than that issued a week ago. The additional space was found necessary principally for the purpose of permitting the insertion of a large number of new applications for timber licenses. A similar increase is noticeable in the applications for the pre-emption of public agricultural lands. Judging from the nature of the notices an influx of settlers to the fertile valleys of the interior is assured.

DEPUTY SHERIFFS IN TROUBLE

(Special to The Daily News)

Boise, Idaho, June 18.—Bob Meldrum and P. H. Barthell, deputy sheriffs from Telluride, Colorado, were arrested and fined in the police court today for assaulting a witness for the state, named Frye from Silver City. Meldrum was carrying a gun. He may be prosecuted for that also. Barthell pleaded guilty and paid $50 and costs while Meldrum stood trial and on conviction was fined $100.

FUTURE OF THE WEST.

Hon. R. P. Roblin, premier of Manitoba, has been paying a visit to his old home in Picton, Ontario. To the crowds that assembled to welcome him, he expressed opinions as to the future of the west that cannot be justified by the facts. He said, in the course of a long address:

"Without any doubt whetever, it is only a matter of five, certainly not more than ten years, with the same ratio of immigration that has characterized the last five years, when the foreign-born citizens of western Canada can, if they choose, take all matters of government absolutely into their own hands.

"A man's loyalty and his patriotism, under ordinary conditions, are largely made by the financial and material benefits that the country in which he lives provides. Now the people are flocking to western Canada today from foreign countries because of the rich and inviting promises of our broad and fertile prairies.

"The western Canadian farmer has no preference, gets no consideration in the markets of the United Kingdom, as against the products of foreign countries, and the intelligent men of this class will naturally ask, and they are already beginning to enquire, what purpose, what object, is being served by a continuation of the relations that exist between Canada and the United Kingdom, if we cannot get any consideration that a foreigner cannot get?

"They are beginning to argue that if Canada had the power to make an absolute and independent treaty of her own, without regard to British interests, trade matters—matters of commerce and finance—could be developed along channels and in lines that at present appear to be blocked.

"The United Kingdom appears to be as indifferent to interests of the colonies and her own interests today as she was when Grenville put his offensive and obnoxious stamp duties upon the British statute. And the errors and mistakes that were made at that time, and were so costly, may be repeated; because the conditions in Canada today, to say nothing about the future, are not so favorable as they were at that time for British connection by virtue of the mixed population."

This is a decidedly dark picture for the tory premier of Manitoba to draw and an analysis of immigration returns shows that the premier had no grounds for his conclusions.

The facts are that the Anglo-Saxon immigration is increasing at a much more rapid rate than immigration from other European sources and as compared with the United States, Canada is getting a far larger proportion of her new citizens from the countries considered most desirable as sources of supply.

For the last fiscal period, ending March 31, the British immigration totalled 55,791, an increase of 18,170 over the same period of 1905-06, while continental immigration totalled 34,217, an increase of 14,001. The increase in English immigration was 37 per cent and in Scotch immigration, 84 per cent. Since 1901-02, the ratio of increase in English immigration, year by year, has been as follows: 1901-02, 39 per cent; 1902-03, 148 per cent; 1903-04, 13 per cent; 1904-05, 38 per cent; 1905-06, 36 per cent; 1906-07, 37 per cent. Scotch immigration has increased as follows: 1901-02, 93 per cent 1902-03, 147 per cent; 1903-04, 50 per cent; 1904-05, 11 per cent; 1905-06, 35 per cent; 1906-07, 84 per cent.

At present by far the greatest proportion of immigrants coming to Canada is from the mother country and if present ratio of increase is kept up there need be no fear that Canada's foreign born population will ever dominate affairs in this country.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Vancouver World takes an entirely sane view of the action of the imperial government in amending the dominion government resolutions re provincial subsidies. It says: "This is a triumph for the premier, but it is also a triumph for the leader of the opposition, for had it not been that the premier was able to show that he spoke the mind of all political parties in British Columbia, that the province was a unit in the demand, he would possibly have failed to impress the colonial office with the justice of his request. There is, therefore, no reason why all parties should not work together to influence eastern public opinion and so bring about the general recognition that British Columbia has not been fairly dealt with which must precede the granting of the concession asked. We trust that neither an undue desire on the one side to make political capital out of what is not a political but a provincial victory, nor on the other a belittling of what has been accomplished, will prevent the utmost advantage being taken of the modification of the proposed amendment to the terms of confederation which the colonial office has seen fit to make."

Winnipeg Tribune: It was fondly hoped by all who desire to see a healthy opposition at Ottawa that sad experience would have taught the conservative party a lesson that would make it impossible longer to neglect reform.

For several years the opposition has been but a pitiable farce, utterly incompetent to criticize the government effectively, utterly incompetent to keep the government in check, and frequently forced to assume the defensive in an attempt to justify the corrupt manipulations of some of its most conspicuous members.

The miserable showing of the late session was thought to be the climax. It was generally admitted that the opposition would have to purify and strengthen itself in the house, by throwing out the objectionable element and substituting new men with spotless reputations and a few ideas. It was freely predicted that this reform would be made, that the parliamentary opposition would be thoroughly overhauled and made to serve a useful purpose.

The cynicism that marks the selection of Hon. Geo. E. Foster as the conservative candidate for North Toronto is disgusting and maes the outlook almost hopeless. Foster, the manipulator of trust funds; Foster, the wire-puller with railways, who secures enormous blocks of railway lands at bargain-counter prices, merely because of his position as a member of parliament and the second in command of the party; Foster, the partner and defender of Fowler et al; Foster, the man who has done more than any other to discredit the present opposition! What a choice!

OBJECTS TO CREASE

Prsioner Thinks He'd Sooner be Tried by His Honor the County Judge

William Burrell, charged with obtaining money by false pretenses, was up before W. E. Wasson, J.P., in the provincial police court yesterday afternoon. The accused was first charged with obtaining $5 by false pretenses from C. F. Olson, hotelkeeper at Ainsworth, he having cashed a check for $5 there on the bank of Commerce in this city. Olson testified to the transaction and manager Buchan stated that the accused had no account at the bank here. Burrell was committed for trial. A second charge was then preferred of obtaining $2 from Mrs. McKinnon, hotelkeeper at Ainsworth. The evidence given was similar to that offered in the first case and the accused was committed to stand his trial on this charge also.

After the enquiry was over, Burrell asked when he could get tried. He was told at the fall assizes, by judge and jury or by police magistrate Crease or the county court judge.

"Who is the police magistrate?" asked Burrell. He was told, and he replied: "I've heard of Crease; I'll be tried by the county court judge. I don't fancy Crease."

The prisoner will come up before judge Forin tomorrow for plea and election and presumably he will elect for speedy trial before his honor the county court judge.

The average man cannot afford to employ a physician for every slight ailment or injury that may occur in his family, nor can he afford to neglect them, as so slight an injury as the scratch of a pin has been known to cause the loss of a limb. SURVEY OF COUNTRY FROM THE MOIST TO THE DRY BELT.

EXCEPTIONAL VALUE OF CLIMATIC CONDITIONS OF KOOTENAY.

A journey along the valley of the lower Kootenay river, west from this city, upon the Canadian Pacific to Robson, thence by steamer to Fire valley, the oldest portion of the Arrow lake country, situated towards the head of the lower lake, on the opposite shore from Burton valley, between 60 and 70 miles from Nelson, thence on horseback over the divide separating the Kootenay from the Okanagan country, from the moist to the dry belt, a journey of some 160 miles, taking the traveler from the thickly clothed foot hills, benches and valley bottoms winding about the slopes of the boldly outlined metalliferous mountains of the country of the Columbia and the Kootenay rivers, to the gently rising hills covered with bunch grass and to the wide clay bottoms of the Okanagan, impinging upon the dry belt of central and southern British Columbia, discloses the fact that there are acres upon acres of land, now surrendered to the conifers and to alder and beech and cottonwood, which can and will be transformed into fruit land of the very best description in all of broad Canada.

There is far more land available than is generally dreamt of at present. Cultivation is at present almost wholly directed to the lake frontage and to the lower benches almost immediately behind. Nor is the cultivation of the apple, pear, plum, cherry and peach alone possible. There is much of the valley bottom which is excellent grazing country and the upland pasturage, especially to the east of the Gold range, the divide between Kootenay and the Okanagan, will yet be noted as the home of the successful stock raiser.

There is a peculiarity in the climatic conditions of the Kootenay country which is not generally known and that is the narrowness of the geographical range of its temperate conditions. Last winter Nelson, advantageously situated, had a warmer temperature than any other part of Canada, even of British Columbia with the exception of Victoria, surrounded by the warm Japan current. Its minimum temperature was three degrees below zero, a record possessed by no other district in the Dominion, with the exception of Victoria, already noted. But this meteorolcgical condition prevails only within a comparatively narrow district, measuring from the east to the west, although it stretches north from the international boundary line to the big bend of the Columbia, far to the north. Its breadth may be said to be from the mountains immediately east of the Kootenay lake to the watershed west of the Arrow lakes, flowing north to south for 100 miles. East of the mountains, Cranbrook last winter registered a temperature close to 50 below zero. West of the mountains 48 below was recorded at Vernon, at the head of Okanagan lake. The causes of this peculiarity, a peculiarity which has much to do with the success of West Kootenay as a fruit raising country, for the absence of severe and late and early frosts has to be taken into account in successful agriculture every bit as much as the presence of the right kind of soil, are not far to seek.

A glance at a good map will show two openings to the south and west of this narrow strip of country, barely 100 miles in extreme breadth. These are the valleys of the Columbia and the Kootenay rivers. The latter, rising in East Kootenay flows to the south and bends back into Canada. At the point of turning the watershed to the southwest is low and no considerable elevations lie between it and the Pacific ocean. The Columbia river flows down directly south through West Kootenay to the Pacific. Along these natural funnels the southwest wind, coming from the Japan current on the coast, sweep over the country in the winter. It is known as the Chinook. Because of it the Nelson records, kept over years, show that a period of three weeks frost, even in midwinter, counting as frost even 32 degrees above zero, has occurred but two or three times in the whole of that time, the usual continuous frost period seldom exceeding five or six days, when milder weather again prevails. In the prairie country, east of the Rocky fountains, the Chinook is known as a mischievous wind but only because its warm breath is chilled as it has passed over the mountains of West and East Kootenay into the northwest. To the east and to the west of the West Kootenay district an examination of the chart will show that there are no such continuous openings to the south leading directly to the ocean, and the severity of the temperature is in consequence much greater than is the case in the districts immediately subsidary to the capital o fthe Kootenays

Yet another thermal condition is worth noting, especially to fruit raisers along the Columbia itself. That is this that as warm air is lighter than cold it will flow above it even if in the same current. Hence the temperature along the banks of the Columbia is often colder than is the case on the benches above. At Robson, at the confluence of the Columbia and Kootenay rivers, the heighth above se alevel being 1348 feet, the temperature last winter dropped to seven degrees below zero at its lowest whereas at Rossland, 3400 feet above sea level, the temperature, despite its far greater altitude, only sank to 12 below at its worst. Nelson, at 1760 feet ,had only three degrees below zero at its lowest.

But the Japan current has a double effect. It not only moderates the climate in the winter but also in the same manner does so in the summer. When the land, heated by the sun's rays during the warm months, heats the air, the colder air from the ocean pours in to replace it according to the well known meteorological law. Hence the summer heat does not approach that of the country to the west and to the east, nor is there, therefore, present that tendency to dry up vegitation causing the necessity of irrigation in the fruitful Okanagan valley. This is further ameliorated by the presence of snow on the higher mountain ranges, piercing into the continuous snow level. The sun's heat gives rise to continual evaporation from these snow beds and glaciers and the cooler wind from the south coming into contact with it causes precipitation. Hence the south wind brings the rain in the summer as well as in winter. Hence there is no month in the year when rain does not fall and irrigation is unnecessary.

Here again the soil helps out. The benches and valleys of the Kootenay country are usually of a deep gravel and though the surface may dry out between summer showers yet the roots can always find moisture below the surface and the older the tree the more is this the case. Thus irrigation, enhancing the size but impairing the quality of the fruit, is never needed for its harvest.

Climbing from the shores of the Columbia up the slopes o fthe divide into the Okanagan yet another significant indication is broadly marked everywhere by mother nature; on the first slope at every turn can be seen hazel, cherry, plum, and apple growing wild upon the mountain slopes, the undergrowth is choked by a profusion of wild berries. Descending on the other side into the grassy uplands of the Okanagan, these are infinitely more rare, often conspicuous by their absence but wild clover and vetch, forming th ebest of all kinds of feed for horses and cattle, are to be observed in profusion. In the Kootenay, taking as an extreme instance the slope up Trail creek to Rossland, wild cherries, plums and apples are to be seen all along the old Dewdney trail, while the ground is carpeted with the wild strawberry and the bush thick with black and red raspberries. Where such fruit will grow there can exist no doubt as to the possibility of growing the domestic varieties of the same species. Thus nature herself informs the observant as to the eminent suitability of the, Kootenay for fruit.

COUNCIL'S LITTLE WAR WITH THE SCHOOL TRUSTEES

FULL TEXT OF CORRESPONDENCE REFERED TO

The mayor and the city council are apparently very much in earnest over the action of the school trustees in quietly ignoring the special committee of the council with whom the trustees were only too willing to work in unison until the $60,000 debenture bylaw was carried, but with whom they now appear to think they can get along without.

When his worship read in the daily press that the trustees had selected a plan from those supplied by competitors, and had instructed the successful architect to go ahead with the full plans and specifications, he instructed the city clerk to send Dr. Arthur the following letter:

E. C. ARTHUR, M.D., Secretary Board of School Trustees.

Dear Sir—I am directed by his worship, mayor Gillett to enclose a resolution passed by the city council at the request of the board of school trustees on March 25th last and to ask if it is so, as reported in the daily press, that the board of school trustees has accepted plans for the new school building and if so was it the intention of the board of school trustees to ignore the committee of the city council appointed at their request to confer with the board in all matters relative to the new school?

I have the honor to be, sir, your obedient servant,

W. E. WASSON, City Clerk.

June 10.

On behalf of the school trustees, Dr. Arthur sent the council the following reply, which the council considers "entirely avoids the issue raised by his worship." The Mayor and Aldermen of the City of Nelson:

Gentlemen—In answer to a letter dated June 10th, I am directed by the school board to say that in making selection of plans for the new school building, the members of the board had no wish or intention to ignore the committee of the council.

From Monday, June 3rd, when the plans were received, a daily attempt was made to get a meeting of the board to examine the plans, but owing to other engagements or illness, it was not until the evening of Friday, the 7th inst. that all the members of the board had seen the plans. It was then found that every member of the board had fixed upon plan No. 4 as the most suitable for the proposed building. As some of the members would be out of town on Saturday and as it was considered very important, owing to the near approach of the summer holidays, that complete plans and specifications should be obtained at the earliest possible date, it was decided, in view of the unanimity of choice of the members of the board, to daopt plan No. 4, at that meeting and to notify the architect the next day to proceed at once to prepare detailed plans and specifications. All the plans are still in town and may be seen by all members of the council, who desire to examine them.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen, your obedient servant,

E. C. ARTHUR, Sec. School Board.

Nelson, June 14th, 1907.

No doubt when the council's committee asked to have a voice and a vote in all matters the question could very easily have been arranged if the board of trustees cared to do so, but the board wanted everything its own way and slipped over the mayor's suggestion when it was made The trustees then ignored the council's committee, held a meeting without notice to the committee and agreed on the plans and in reply to the mayor's protest, tell the council that the plans are "still in the city and can be seen by any members of the council who desire to examine them."

The mayor now says that the debentures are not yet sold and that under existing conditions, they may not be disposed of and it rather looks as if the trustees will still require the services of the council's committee.

Burton City and Fire Valley Fruit and Farm Lands are the best sellers now.

15 months ago I purchased from original locators about 5000 acres of Fruit Lands near Burton City. Since then I have been getting the titles and having them subdivided into 10, 15 and 20 acre blocks. One month ago I began to advertise them and have disposed of nine 15 acre blocks and twenty-one 20 ac. blocks, averaging more than one block per day.

The reasons why Burton City lands sell so readily are as follows:

1—The land has a good surface loam with a clay subsoil.

2—It is free from stones.

3—It is nearly level and has a gentle slope, none of it being more than 100 feet above the lake.

4—The public know I can furnish a good title at once.

5—They know I have had a wide experience in fruit lands and am prepared to prove any statements mentioned here.

6—Because I am a practical fruit grower, having over 2500 fruit trees on my home farm, and buyers get the benefit of my experience.

7—I am also prepared to clear land, plant it and care for it until such time as my customers are prepared to take it over.

PROGRESS OF THE NEGRO

BOOKER T. WASHINGTON WRITES OF LIVINGSTONE COLLEGE

TELLS NEW YORK INDEPENDENT OF WORK OF THIS INSTITUTION

I wish very much that a large proportion of the American people, especially that element that is inclined to grow despondent now and then regarding the future relations of the two races in the southern states, might have been present last week at Livingstone college during the celebration of the 25th anniversary of the college.

Livingstone college is in a large degree the creation of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion church. This special religious denomination has a large church membership of 530,000 mainly in the southern states, the largest membership being in North Carolina and Alabama; 3250 church organizations;; about 3000 ministers; together with church and school property to the value of about $2,000,000.

Twenty-five years ago this church which had its origin during the days of slavery, put on foot an effort to establish a college at Salisbury, N.C. The leading spirits in establishing this college were the present senior bishop, Rt. Rev. J. W. Hood, and the late Dr. Joseph C. Price, who became its first president and who did the most to make the college known to the outside world. Dr. Price remained its president until he died, a few years ago. He was among the most eloquent and prominent members of our race in this country. Beginning with practically nothing in the way of a plant 25 years ago, very largely through the efforts of the colored people comprising this special church organization, a property in grounds and buildings has been created at Livingston to the value of $100,000.

But the special point in connection with this celebration which I think would interest the readers of the Independent is in relation to the spirit of the occasion during the time I was present. In the first place even more interesting to me than the college itself was the cleanliness and general order that pervaded the entire atmosphere. Surrounding the college there are a number of neat, beautiful and cultured houses owned by the professors and colored people who have moved into that community for the purpose of educating their children. The general appearance of the cottages inside and outside would do credit to the civilization of almost any people in any country.

On the day that I happened to be present, I should say that there was a gathering of 3000 people on the grounds. There were present, I think, seven or eight bishops of this church, headed by Rt. Rev. J. W. Hood and Rt. Rev. A. Walters, hundreds of ministers and teachers and people representing every walk in life among the colored people. There were present in the same audience at least 500 of the leading white people, men and women, of Salisbury and of the state of North Carolina; the governor himself was present to represent the state on Friday. Many of the most prominent white people sat upon the same platform with the president of the college and the bishops and other prominent negroes. The mayor and his wife were present at every session of the exercises. Notwithstanding that the mayor is a democrat, I was told that he received practically every colored vote cast in the municipal elections on account of his fairness toward the colored race.

During the days that this celebration lasted $8000 were secured in cash and promises for the benefit of the college. Some very interesting lessons were learned in connection with the securing of this sum. It was given in amounts ranging from 25 cents to $1000. The man who gave the $1000 would not permit his name to be known, but it has now became an open secret that this generous amount was contributed by Dr. W. H. Goler, the president of the college, a negro. When the hour came for subscriptions it was both interesting and encouraging to see a colored bishop get up and announce his subscription of $50, a colored woman stand and announce a subscription of $10, and then the next second to see the mayor of Salisbury announcing his subscription for a generous amount, a white banker in Salisbury arising in his place and announcing a subscription of $50, a merchant of Salisbury announcing a subscription of $25, and so on to the end. The white people seemed just as anxious that as large a sum of money be secured for the college as was true of the colored people. They seemed just as proud of the success of the college as was true of the large colored audience present. Taking it all in all it was one of the finest demonstrations of the ability of the two races to live together in peace and harmony I have witnessed in a good while in the south.

This occasion also impressed itself on me in another direction. One can find few finer object lessons in the way of self help on the part of the negro than is presented in Livingston college. The colored people themselves from the African Methodist Episcopal church spend annually about $14,297 out of their hard earnings and poverty in maintaining this college.

May I add, in closing, that there are two unfinished buildings upon the grounds. In each case the buildings are sorely needed. One is to replace a building destroyed by fire some years ago, upon which practically no insurance was secured. Another is an entirely new building to fill a long felt want. A few thousnad dollars would complete each one of these buildings and I believe that there are enough people in America, especially in view of the fact that these people have raised $8000 to help themselves, who would like to contribute enough money to complete these much needed buildings and let the college go on doing its work for the upbuilding of the race and the unification of all the people in the south.

No man could have witnessed the exercises in connection with th's anniversary without being impressed, first, with the efforts of the colored people to help themselves, and, secondly, with the willingness of a large element of the best white people in that region to help the race toward a higher and better life.

SHAUGHNESSY IN WINNIPEG.

Thinking Out Appropriate Name for New C. P. R. Flyer.

Winnipeg, June 18.—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the C. P. R., arrived here today to look into western developments of the system and important business matters affecting the company's interests in the prairie provinces. The biggest thing occupying the officials of the company at the present is the new transcontinental flyer. Everything is now settled with regard to the new fast tri-weekly through service to the Pacific coast except the naming of the new train. The idea is to adopt some name which will be descriptive of the character of the service and the geographical features it embodies. It is intended to have everything that has yet been introduced in the way of transcontinental travel both as regards comfort and luxury of travel. The journey to Vancouver is to be made in 87 1-2 hours. The days on which the fast trains will run during the summer are Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays as it is considered these are the days that steamboat connections are most likely to be made.

The first train will leave Windsor station at 12 p. m. Tuesday, July 2 and will reach Vancouver on Saturday, July 6 at 7 p. m.

A GREATFUL MOTHER'S MESSAGE

ZAM-BUK CURED HER CHILD OF ECZEMA WHEN ALL ELSE FAILED

In gratitude for the benefit her child received from the use of Zam-Buk, the great herbal balm, Mrs. R. Gentleman of 1090 St. James street, Montreal, gave the following details for publication. She says: "My little daughter, Lydia, two years, was troubled with eczema on her body and face for six months. During that time we tried several advertised remedies, but the disease had too well hold of the child for these to overcome, and finally we were obliged ot consult a doctor. He treated the little one for some time and gave the little one for some time and gave us prescriptions for various salves and medicines. We tried them and tried them well, but the child got no better. When she got warm the itching was terrible, and then the pain made her cry and be very restless. One day someone advised me to try Zam-Buk. We obtained a supply and it was really wonderful how the Zam-Buk cooled the sores and gave almost instant relief. It stopped the itching, healed the sores and in six weeks from the first application, the child's skin was as smooth as when born."

Zam-Buk is compounded from rich, healing, herbal essences, and is an ideal natural combination of power and purity, usitable for the delicate skins of infants.

For summer skin troubles, sore feet, insect stings, chafing sores, bruises, ulcers, acbsesses, skin eruptions, scalp ore, Zam-Buk is unequalled. It also cures piles. All druggists and stores at 50 cents a box or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price, six boxes for $2.50.

COLIC AND DIARRHOEA

Pains in the stomach, colic and diarrhoea are quickly relieved by the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

One of the novelty features of Nelson's Dominion day celebration will be a log rolling contest for a purse of $125; entries to be in the hands of the committee not later than June 28. There must be five competitors to ensure a contest.

Dave Proudfoot has returned from the coast. He saw the New Westminster vs. All-Ontario lacrosse match, which ended in 9-0 in favor of the coast players, and he has a poor opinion of the team that will cross the Pacific. "They are afraid of the ball," he said, "and have a lot to learn about the game."

BOATS

MULLINS' STEEL ROWBOATS ARE new in Nelson, but they are rapidly winning the reputation they have long held in the states. Elegance, ease, indistructibility when combined are a sufficient reason for popularity. Call and see the boat that was taken 24 miles in one day with one pair of oars. Occupant came back smiling, but damp, as it rained all the way. A splendid boat, but a rotten day was the verdict. Hurt and Co. have these boats for sale or for hire.

THIS IS THE LAST DAY

We want you to join our Vancouver Syndicate before it is too late. We not only want you—WE NEED YOU. We have actually secured over $80,000 to apply on the purchase of the quadruple Pender-Homer street corner in the heart of Vancouver; and pending deals, if closed, will raise this total much neare the figure we require, $104,000. But the time left to find the remaining shares is very short. Our option

EXPIRES AT MIDNIGHT

TO-NIGHT

By that time we must place at least $10,000 to get over the crest and hold control of the property. Will you help? We believe it will pay you to do so, and a good many other business men who have invested their money believe the same thing.

This is how we figure it out. It will require 1-4 of the total purchase price, or $26,000, to meet the cash payment. After that, nothing will be required for a year. But before a year is up the property will easily have advanced in value $50,000. Shrewd Vancouver valuators think this is a conservative estimate. Before jumping at the conclusion that it is too optimistic, bear in mind the fact that the double corner just opposite is held at $75,000. Our property has twice the area, and is situated on the more popular side of the street. So it is easy to see that the $104,000 asked for the 4 lots we have under option is a low figure and that the property should be worth at least $150,000 before a year is out. If it is, and is sold at that figure, every investor will get

$3 OUT FOR EVERY

$1.00 HE PUTS IN

Of course, this is figuring on the actual cash put up, not on the deferred payments which he never has to meet. If you can get $2 profit for every $1 you invest, and get your $1 back beside, is it not good business.

Call and see us some time today. We will explain ad lib. You can handle a $1000 share all right, for it only means a payment of $250. We prefer to see the shares go in blocks of $5000, but just now we are not too independent to refuse the smaller offers. We want your help to make this deal a success.

TROUBLE OVER LICENSE

GRAND FORKS' COMMISSIONERS CANCEL TWO

LATER DECIDE TO RESTORE ONE ON CONDITIONS

(Special to The Daily News)

Grand Forks, June 18—A very pretty hornet's nest has been stirred up locally by the recent action of the board of license commissioners in refusing to renew the licenses of the Grand Forks hotel and the Square hotel. The matter came up first last week, when at the regular meeting of the board of license commissioners the question of renewals came up for consideration. The license inspector's reports were read, and in the case of four differnet hotels adverse comment was made on sanitary conditions. Two of these, the Victoria saloon and the Granby hotel, were granted renewals on condition of putting their places in sanitary condition. The Grand Forks hotel had the requisite number of rooms required by law, the house had been run satisfactorily, but the building was pronounced out of shape and the sanitary condition bad. The report on the Square was much more unfavorable, the requisite number of rooms not being in existence and the building being declared unsafe. The commissioners, who are the mayor, alderman P. T. McCallum and Robt. McIntosh, decided not to renew the licenses of these two places, and adjourned the meeting until yesterday.

At the adjourned meeting last night A. C. Sutton, barrister, appeared on behalf of the two licensees and urged a reconsideration of the case by the commissioners. Mr. Sutton pointed out that in the way of taxation, water and light expenditure and license fees, these two places paid in over $2000 of revenue to the city which would be lost if the commissioners persisted in cancellation. His client of hte Grand Forks hotel had purchased the hotel for $3200 a short time ago and had since spent $800 in cash on improvements. All they asked was to be put on the same footing that the Granby and Victoria were, viz., given a chance to put the places in good shape. The Grand Forks hotel had held a license for 13 years without a break and he could not believe that the commissioners seriously contemplated thus putting it out of business. If the commissioners would reopen the matter he would undertake that his client would make any repairs necessary to meet the views of hte inspector or commissioners. Mr. Sutton's able and temperate plea was somewhat marred at this point by F. Hartinger, the proprietor of the Grand Forks hotel, getting up and delivering a stormy speech of denunciation. Hartinger is a German with a limited command of the English language. His excitement and passion carried him away to an extent that rendered his whole speech unintelligible and the mayor's call for order was only listened to when the speaker was out of breath. A further discussion was carried on and finally a motion to adjourn sine die, by commissioner McCallum, seconded by McIntosh, was carried. Although this was generally regarded as the proverbial six months' hoist, and tantamount to a refusal by the commissioners to reconsider the matter, there are those who believe it will be again opened up. Meanwhile the whole subject is the groundwork for endless discussion throughout the city, and the merits and demerits of the case are being threshed out with vigor and asperity which characterize discussions when liquor questions are up for settlement.

LATER—It is understood that the mayor and license inspector have personaly investigated Hartinger's premises and case generally and that recommendations may be made for a renewal if Hartinger makes the necessary improvements.

NELSON'S NEWS OF THE DAY

Born, in this city on Sunday, June 16, to the wife of P. L. McDonald, Cedar street, a daughter.

Mrs. Hall, wife of Dr. G. A. B. Hall, M.P.P., has returned from an extended visit to the coast.

Shoppers are reminded that the weekly half holiday tomorrow means the closing of the retail stores at noon.

Rev. F. H. Graham has purchased the residence of John A. Turner at the corner of Josephine and Silica streets.

C. Burt of Pither and Leiser, has returned from a successful business trip through the northwest and reports good times all along the Crow line.

Ladies wanting a picnic in the country are reminded that they can go out to Procter by the morning boat tomorrow and return with the 20,000 club excursion in the evening.

Anxious relatives in the east are enquiring as to the whereabouts of Jud Conklin Keve of Ohio, who was last heard of at the Royal hotel here. Mrs. Roberts of the Royal will send on any information sent her.

The meeting of the board of trade called for tomorrow evening to receive the report of the auditor, has been postponed owing to the moonlight excursion of the 20,000 club on the Kuskanook coming off the same evening.

At the mining recorder's office on June 18, certificates of work were issued to J. A. Sullivan on the Sullivan Iron and the Kitchener, the latter to apply on the former. P. Lorsch and J. A. Tiyo recorded the location of the Marie.

Any family having sleeping accommodation that will be available on July 1st and 2nd, will confer a favor on the celebration committee by notifying the secretary, George Horstead, as soon as possible.

According to the coast papers, Miss Jessie Marcia Blakemore will wed Richard Halse Ley, formerly assayer at the Hall Mines smelter, in Christ church cathedral, Victoria on July 9. It was stated yesterday that Mr. Ley will go to the Blue Bell mine later on this summer.

An evidence of the good times at present prevailing is found in the universal "house cleaning" and refitting among the business houses of the city. Among others the proprietors of the Nelson house are remodelling the interior of the bar and treating it to a coat of paint and new paper.

John Gardnerr Boyd and Mrs. Minnie M. Sevhatt of Trail, were married yesterday at the Grand Central hotel, Nelson by Rev. J. T. Ferguson.

Nelson lodge No. 69, I.O.G.T., will meet in the K. of P. hall, Vernon street, at 8 o'clock this evening. A full attendance is requested.

A. D. Emory is making the first strawberry shipment of the season today from his fruit ranch at Willow Point. The berries are large and firm, and a good yield is expected.

The storekeeper who gets the most business is the one whose store and all its contents are the best known. There is no getting away from the fact; hence the necessity for advertising. The daily newspaper is the surest medium of attracting people to your place of business.

The 20,000 club announces the first of a series of steamer trips on the lake for tomorrow evening, when the palace steamer Kuskanook will leave the city wharf at 7:30 for Procter. The Nelson city band and orchestra will accompany the party and will supply dance music at the Outlet hotel. The steamer will leave for the city at 11 p.m. Ladies and children will have the privilege of going on the morning boat and returning with the excursion party.

The extensive improvements and additions to the Royal hotel are nearing completion and Mrs. Roberts expects to have shortly as modern a stopping place as there is in the city. The west half of the building has been raised to the same level as the other portion and an addition of 22 bedrooms has been made. The house will be recarpeted and refurnished throughout and the dining room will be qual to the best in appointment and service.

A. S. Lang, rancher of the Pend d'Oreille valley, was in the city yesterday on a land deal. Mr. Lang holds about 1000 acres of valley lands and he has a high opinion of het section. Three or four hundred head of cattle have wintered out very well and are now in good condition. The ranchers find a ready market for their cattle, pork and dairy produce at Erie, Salmo and Ymir, and also sell a good deal to Trail and Rossland. The valley is about three weeks earlier than Nelson. Strawberries have opened 10 days ago. A good deal of fruit tree planting has been done and there have been several recent sales of property. Th valley contains about 5000 acres of available ranch land nd there is plenty of open bunch grass country for cattle. Capital is wanted to develop the valley and men with money are doubly welcome.

QUEBEC VILLAGE BURNED.

Montreal, June 18.—About half the villageof St. Phillips la Prairie ,about 20 miles from Montreal, was wiped out by fire this morning. The loss is estimated at about $50,000. The postoffice, bank, and May's store, in the same building, were destroyed as well as eight residences and a number of barns. Pictures of the virgin Mary, the child Jesus and other holy pictures, four in number, were taken from the parish church and hung on the side of a house near the fire and in the direction of which the wind threatened to shift. The wind settled down to southwest, however, and the fire burned itself out on the edge of a ravine. Had the wind shifted to the east the entire village would have been wiped out.

EDGEWOOD ITEMS

(Special to The Daily News)

Edgewood, June 18—Strawberries and currants are ripening fast, occasional showers helping the growth considerably.

Mrs. D. J. McEwen of Calgary is on a visit to W. A. Calder.

NELSON'S NEWS OF THE DAY

Rancher J. P. Redding of Crawford bay yesterday shipped a crate of strawberries to the Grand Central hotel.

The statement credited to Rev. J. T. Ferguson before the council meeting on Monday night that 600 persons frequented the library and free reading room, should be understood to apply to four or five months. Mr. Ferguson says that the number for a year would probably be about 1200.

A quiet wedding was celebrated in the Baptist church last evening at which the bride was Miss Mabel Gilmour of Victoria, who was attended by her sister, Miss Edith Gilmour. The wedding party sat down to a specially prepared dinner in the drawing room of the Strathcona last night and later on the newly married pair left on the Kuskanook for Toronto.

At a meeting of the executive of the 20,000 club, held yesterday, J. M. Lay was appointed the club's representative on the special committee, representing the 20,000 club, the board of trade and the fruit-growers' association, to take charge of the Winnipeg exhibit. It was agreed to allow this committee the services of secretary Ebbutt in the preparation of the exhibit.

Geo. Horstead and Dave Proudfoot have returned from attending the I.O.O.F. grand lodge meeting at Nanaimo, admittedly the most successful grand lodge meeting ever held by the order in the west. One of the chief transactions was the reduction of representatives in grand lodge from one for every 50 members to one for every 100, with a maximum of two from any one lodge. The Rebekah branch of the order was granted a grand assembly, which in future will deal with all Rebekah business in place of the grand lodge. Thomas Embleton of Rossland was elected grand master and New Westminster fixed as the next place of meeting. The local delegates visited all the coast cities and enjoyed their trip immemnsely.

The Young Men's Protective association held one of their secret conferences last evening at the home of Roy Sharp. Two members were initiated into the mysteries of the order and a third was about to go through when five inquisitive young ladies invaded the sanctum and broke up the meeting. Past master Carl Larson read the intruders a lecture and they departed promising to refrain from ever intruding again.

A man appeared at the provincial police office yesterday and asked for the "chief licence commissioner." Constable Young reported that the chief license inspector was out. "Well, I want a license," said the caller; "can I get it right away?" "Well, not exactly," said Mr. Young; "you will have to apply in the regular way, advertise you know, give references and all that and tell us where your place is." Seeing a look of astonishment on the caller's face, Mr. Young added; "That's necessary to get a liquor license." When the caller got his breath, he said emphatically "I don't want a liquor license at all; I only want to get married," and he was directed to the court house, where the particular licenses he required was granted.

OVER THE DIVIDE

Death of James A. Kelley at His Fairview Residence Last Night

James A. Kelley, the well known nurseryman, passed away at 10:25 last night at his residence in Fairview.

Mr. Kelley presided over a meeting of the Ymir license board, of which he was chairman, last Saturday afternoon and on Sunday he was taken ill and was unable to leave his bed. He had been suffering from diabetes for some time and his death was not altogether unexpected. Dr. Rose was in attendance and he said the dying man suffered no pain, but he remained unconscious from some time on Monday until the end came last evening.

The deceased was born near Coburg, Ont. 57 years ago and for some time was in the hotel business at Coburg, later moving to Brighton and later still to Muskoka. He filled the office of reeve and was always very prominent in political matters, being a consistent life long conservative in both provincial and dominion politics. Eight years ago he gave up the hotel business and coming west settled down in Fairview as a nurseryman. He brought his politics with him to the west and remained to the end a staunch tory. He leaves a widow and two sons, Charles and Harry. The former came up from Spokane when told of his father's illness, but Harry was out on the road and could not be communicated with in time.

The funeral arrangements will be announced later.
