HOME RULE BY DEGREES

Nature of Measure to Be Introduced in Parliament on May 7.

Establishes a Partly Elective and Partly Nominative Irish Counsel for Administrative Purposes Only.

London, April 25.—Discussions are still going on between the government and John Redmond, chairman of the Irish parliamentary party in the house of commons, respecting the Irish bill, which will be introduced in the house May 7th. That there are wide differences of opinion between the government officials and the Irish nationalists on the terms of the measure is not denied, but they have agreed that the bill shall be introduced on the date determined upon by the secretary for Ireland, Mr. Birrell, and what the nationalists are unable to get from the government they will endeavor to obtain by amendments which will be prepared during the debate upon the bill. Some of the members of the cabinet, who favor home rule, were willing to concede many of the demands of the Irish party but the majority favored a measure far short of what Mr. Redmond and his followers asked. There have been many conferences on the subject some of which were stormy, and for a time it was feared the introduction of the bill would have to be postponed, but the negotiations have now reached a stage at which it is possible to present the measure of the house. While the negotiations were going on those participating in them were reticent as to the provisions of the bill, but it can be stated broadly that it establishes an Irish council, partly elective and partly nominative, which shall administer the domestic affairs of Ireland, exclusive of the army and navy, but it will have little or no legislative powers. This is far from what the nationalists desire, and in the discussions Mr. Redmond strove for a greater measure of home rule and will carry the fight into the house of commons without, however, declining to accept what is offered as a sop to the nationalists who have abstained in participating in all the entertainments to the colonial premiers, even that given by the members of the house of commons, and are arranging a dinner to the premiers on May 6th, the eve of the introduction of the Irish bill. This will be made the occasion for a great home rule demonstration, all the premiers being pronounced advocates of the self government of Ireland.

TOO MANY BROKEN RAILS

SIGNIFICANT REPORT OF NEW YORK RAILWAY COMMISSION

CHIEF FAULT APPEARS TO BE WITH 80 AND 100 POUND RAILS

Albany, April 25—The broken rails removed from the tracks of the railroads of New York state during the months of January, February and March just past were many more than in the corresponding three months of either of the past two years, according to a bulletin issued tonight by the state railroad commission, which has just completed an investigation of the breakage of rails on the tracks of the principal railroads of the state. The report says:

"The unusually large number reported during the last winter caused the investigation. The board found that during the three months ending March 31, 19.7, there was a total of 3014 breakages on th principal steam lines of the state; during the corresponding months of 1906 the total was 26 and during the corresponding months of 1906 there was a total of 1231."

The commissioners' report in detail has been presented to the Canadian railway association, which is now holding its convention in Chicago and it has been requested that the matter be taken up for discussion and action by the various railroad managers. It is probable that the convention will go into the causes of the greatly increasing number of breakages and that the matter will be discussed and a conference arranged with rail manufacturers with a view to discovering if the alarming number of breakages is due to the method of manufacture or the metal composition.

One of the comission's tables of analysis shows that while the breakages in 1905 and 06 were chiefly in 80 pound rails, the largest number in the quarter just passed was in the 100 pound rails. Another table gives the figures as to the date when the removed rails were rolled, and apparently shows that the heaviest breakage totals was in rails rolled since 1899, and especially those rolled in 1904, 1905, and 1902. This table shows also that some rails are in use, especially on branch lines, which were manufactured as long ago as 1873.

FARM LABORER KILLED

Thrown From Wagon on to Frozen Ground Breaking His Skull.

Carman, Man., April 25.—Charles Hugo, aged 40, was killed in a runaway this morning on the farm of Joseph Russell, at Barnsley. He had been working for Russell one month, and was sitting on the wagon gear, another man driving the team, which got frightened at the noise made by the wagon on the frozen ground and ran away, throwing Hugo on his head on the frozen ground and breaking his skull. He lived only 15 minutes, not regaining consciousness. Hugo came from Hampton Court, England, last September and worked in the Union bank in Winnipeg until a month ago, when he came out to work and learn farming with Russell.

SCHOOL PURPOSE LOANS

Victoria, April 25.—(Special)—Dr. Hall's amendment to the the Municipal Clauses Act, which would exclude money borrowed for school purposes from the general borrowing power of a municipal council, was merged in a general amendment to the Municipal Clauses Act. In this shape it passed the legislature and cities will be enabled to borrow money for school purposes over and above the limitations for general purposes.

BAD FOR FRUIT GROWERS

NIAGARA PENINSULA HARD HIT BY COLD WEATHER

FRUIT TREES AND VINES ARE VERY BACKWARD

St. Catherines, April 25—This has been a very disappointing month to the fruit growers of the Niagara peninsula owing to the remarkably cold weather. Fruit trees, vines, e.c., are not in as good condition today as a month ago, when the prospects seemed to be the very brightest. Fruit trees, owing to the unseasonable weather are very backward. Cold winds during the past month killed the wheat. Hundreds of acres of wheat will have to be plowed around here, according to a prominent farmer. The weather has been so dry of late that grass is decidedly backward and farmers are seriously handicapped by lack of pasture for their cattle. This has caused butted prices to be phenomenally high for this time of year.

Tomato growers predict that the tomato crop will be short this year, too, on account of the cold weather. This April there has been little or no sunshine, with the result that thousands of little plants died in the hotbeds and when plants are set out about the middle of May there will be considerable of a shortage of the usual acreage.

SOO RIVER IS OPEN

Windsor, April 25—The Soo river is now open and the fleet of 100 steamers which had been held, some of them for ten days, arrived last night. It is expected that the whole fleet will have reached th canal today. In anticipation of a big demand from the imprisoned fleet, the Soo merchants have prepared an extra heavy supply of provisions of all kinds. The ice jam at White Fish, reported last night, has been broken and no further obstruction to navigation is now anticipated.

TORONTO'S LATEST STRIKE

Toronto, April 25—Two hundred picture frame workers and gilders went out on strike today because of the refusal of their employers to grant them a nine hour day and an increase in pay. The bosses refused to meet the men and come to an agreement. The Bobban Co., Matthews Bros., the Reliance Co., the Woltz Co., Fisher Bros. and the Mackenzie Co., are the firms affected. Over 200 men are out.

TO ATTEND DAIRY CONRGESS

Ottawa, April 25—J. A. Ruddick, chief of the dairy division of the department of agriculture, has been appointed Canadian delegate to the third international congress of the international dairy federation which meets this yer in September at the Hague. The federation includes all the dairy countries of Europe and both Canada and the United States will be represented by delegates.

AFTER "SILENT" SMITH'S GOLD

New York, April 25—Among the passengers on the Hamburg-American liner Deutchland today from Hamburg, Southampton and Cherbourg, were sir George Cooper and lady Cooper. Lady Cooper is a sister of the late James Henry "Silent" Smith, and is supposed to have been left a large share of his fortune. She comes here to be present at the settlement of the estate.

I. C. R. CAR SHORTAGE

Moncton, April 25—An investiagtion by the traffic manager of the Intercolonial railroad into the shortage of freight cars has disclosed the fact that several thousand cars of the government road have been lost and the government has sent out tracers and is endeavoring to have the cars returned.

TORONTO UNIVERSITY'S PRESIDENT

Toronto, April 25—After considering 80 names and spending months in consultation, the governors of Toronto university have finally decided upon Robert A. Falconer, M.A., for president. The appointment was made at the regular meeting of the board this afternoon and was unanimous.

LESSON OF RUSSO-JAP WAR

Berlin, April 25—Emperor William has ordered that the field guns, gun carriages and ammunition wagons of the German artillery be painted a dull grey. The change is based upon the experience of the Russo-Japanese war.

MEN WILL RETURN TO WORK AT ONCE

Respond to Appeals of Their Leaders and Efforts of Mackenzie King, Who Gave Assurance That Work of Conciliation Board Should Be Expedited.

Premier of Alberta Promises That Eight Hour From Bank to Bank Law Shall Be Enacted at Next Session of Legislature.

(Special to The Daily News)

Fernie, April 26.—(1.30 a.m.)—After a closed meeting lasting from 8.30 to 1 o'clock this morning, during which vice-president Lewis, the president and other district board officers talked earnestly to the men and exhorted them to return to work pending the investigation, it was finelly decided that they would do so on the personal assurance of Mackenzie King, deputy minister of labor, that the work of the commission will be expedited as much as possible.

The men at first did not seem to want to accept the terms but were finally persuaded to do so.

Following is the agreement they have accepted:

"W. L. Mackenzie King, Deputy Minister of Labor, Fernie.

"Dear Sir: We beg to inform you that we hereby agree to reinstate to their respective places immediately all employes who have suspended work since April 1 and agree that work shall be carried on under the prices, wages and conditions of employment that were in existence in and around the various mines previous to April 1st, 1907, and continue to work under these conditions until an investigation has been made by the board of conciliation and investigation, appointed under the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act as to the merits of the dispute between the several companies comprising the Western Coal Operators association and the employes of the said companies. Yours truly, The Western Coal Operators' Association.

(Sgd.) "G. G. S. LINDSEY, "President."

Vice-president Lewis goes to Michel in the morning and president Sherman and he will go on to Coleman. Delegates are also being despatched to Canmore and Bankhead and all the mines will be working again by Monday next.

(Special to The Daily News)

Fernie, April 25.—(11.50 a.m.)—The conference is all over. The board of investigation will sit soon. No agreement has been reached. The conference met at 10 o'clock, when the operators presented a counter proposal to that of the men and then retired from 11 to 11.45 to give the men an opportunity to discuss the proposition in private. On their return they were told it was not accepted and they immediately left the room. Now it is up to the government to act under the conciliation bill.

Hon. W. H. Cushing will meet the district board of the miners at 1.30 p.m. and discuss the situation. A mass meeting of the miners will be held later.

Mackenzie King and the miners' representatives are now in consultation. The miners say it was an impossible proposition that was made by the operators.

It is throught stringent methods will be adopted by the government.

(Special to The Daily News)

Fernie, April 25.—(3.35 p.m.)—Minister of mines Cushing, of Alberta, met the officers of the district board and vice president Lewis at 1.30 today.

President Sherman addressed Cushing, saying that in the agreement rejected in the morning, it was proposed to increase the hours of labor in the mines of Alberta, with 5 per cent increase in wages in some cases. This was not a fair deal and the men cannot consider anything tending to increase hours of labor. The miners prefer having an eight hour day established in Alberta, the same as in B. C., and if this was passed by the government it would remove the standing bone of contention, and he asked Cushing to give his views on the subject. Cushing said he would have felt better able to speak if he had been at the convention of the last few days. Regarding the action of the government in this particular matter, which first came before the government after last session and was only discussed in caucus outside the house, when it was decided the act should be introduced into the house, but they found it could not be got through, so left it for next session. The government was in earnest about the matter but had not sufficient evidence to know haw the B. C. Act was working to enable them to legislate. This was the only reason that it was not passed through. They intend to pass it next session.

District board member Patterson asked if the miners could take this as a promise made by the government.

Cushing replied that he would wire the premier and if what he said were sanctioned, they could do so. Cushing has already sent the wire.

Mention was also made of election promises to this effect.

Cushing said this was the first time he had heard of them. Sherman said he had them in writing from speaker Fisher. Patterson had them verbally from Fisher and premier Rutherford. Vice-president Galvin said the member for Lethbridge riding told ham he was preparing legislation to put Galvin and Sherman out of business and also said he did not think they would get the Eight-Hour Day Act passed.

Vice-president Lewis, of the international organization, said Cushing had done all he could and had gone the limit, when he promised to telegraph the premier, and the miners could rest the case in his hands entirely. It was the duty of the miners to give the commission all the information possible; if they did not do so they cannot blame that body if they fail in their duty.

President Sherman said, personally, he was more than satisfied with the position taken by Cushing. If he had had assurances before from a member of the party in the same position as Cushing he might not have been so antagonistic to the government. On behalf of the miners he was more than thankful for his plain statement, and thought if more public men would endeavor to get in touch with the masses and help out, things now appearing very difficult for legislation would be found easy. In the agreement just turned down there was a clause saying the men should not benefit by legislation passed by this or any other government.

A committee of two miners then waited on the operators to see if there could be any more negotiations and were told that the operators were preparing a statement to hand them in a few hours.

(Special to The Daily News)

Fernie, April 25.—(8.50 p.m.)—A public mass meeting of miners was held at 4 p.m.. The opera house was filled to overflowing with citizens and miners and their wives.

Alderman Tuttle addressed the men on the serious question before the meeting and referred to the present situation as a strike, correcting himself amid amusement. He also referred to the boards of trade representatives here, and assured them that they were not, as had been reported, prying into matters that did not concern them, but were entirely welcome and appreciated. He was sure the trouble would be settled satisfactorily.

Hon. W. H. Cushing was the next speaker. He asked the men to play fair, though he thought there was no need to, as they seemed the fairest-minded men he had ever seen. Referring to the eight hour bill, he said that legislation was sometimes made too hastily and in the interests of lawyers. There were 132 acts passed last session and the Eight Hour bill was not lost. He then proceeded to explain the position of the Alberta government regarding the bill, repeating what he had told to the executive board earlier in the day, he also said that the bill had been withdrawn by the member who introduced it, who said it was withdrawn at the request of the miners. This he had since learned was hardly correct, but anyway, he would repeat the promise made to the executive board as to the passing of the Act next session.

"If you men come together with fair minds," he said, "and discuss the differences fairly, there is no need for trouble."

He pointed out the seriousness of the situation through this difference of opinion between the miners and employers and said that if coal were not mined again soon thousands of others, employed in other industries, would be thrown out of employment, and the industries would shut down while thousands of dollars would be lost. He asked in conclusion that they all get back to work as early as possible.

Cushing received great applause from the men.

Deputy minister of labor, Mackenzie King, was the next speaker. He defined the mining labor movement and told of the formation of the department of labor at Otawa, which was formed to give the working class representation in the government. One of the first steps of the department was to gather statistical information as to rates of wages and conditions and hours of labor, so that by looking back a few years, one could see just how the cost of living and wages had increased or decreased. Another step was to draw up the Conciliation Act, as a possible device to stop strikes and lockouts, which are not what the men desire, but to settle matters amicably.

Out of any 100 cases in dispute, most could be settled if personal feeling and jealousy were eliminated. If labor and capital work together with mutual confidence good results would follow. Get at the facts and justice will be given.

His speech all through was practically a plea to the men to use their good sense and go back to work pending a settlement. He talked long and pleadingly and made a decided impression, the men applauding loudly when he was through. He also assured the men that despite the notice put up by the companies to effect a reduction in wages, as the board of conciliation had already been applied for the law says the company cannot reduce wages until after the board has made its finding. He asked the men to reserve judgment of the new Act for the time being and see if, when given a fair trial, it does not work satisfactorily. He appealed to the men's sense of right and honor, and urged them to deal square all the time. "Try and keep the vision of the brotherhood of man before you and keep your faith in your fellow men pure," he concluded, "and the labor trouble will solve itself."

Several question were asked by the miners during his speech and at one time vice-president Lewis was compelled to stand up and strongly censure the interruptors.

President Sherman also addressed the men and said, with all due respect to the new law, he had very grave doubts as to whether the dominion could make a law compelling men to work after a contract his expired and they wanted to quit. The new law was all right but if the men laid information against the companies they would be blacklisted and never allowed to work in the district again. They would have to leave. This had occurred before and would again. "Every man who gave evidence in court would have to be prepared to hit the track, and you know it boys," he said, amid shouts of approval. His speech all through was fiery, and held the men. Concluding, he assured the public on behalf of the organization, that everything possible would be done to bring about a settlement honorably, but that nothing would be done in a dishonorable manner even to get the public coal. The room rang with applause after Sherman sat down, and again when international vice-president Lewis rose. He gave a strong union speech, during which he said that the working men and women of Canada and the United States were united in a common cause, and on behalf of the States' workers he assured the mine workers that they were interested in their success. "All we want is justice and we will stand or fall together," he shouted, "and your representatives will look after your interests and try and secure justice by arbitration."

Continuing, M. Lewis said: "If there is a law enacted, I believe in enforcing that law to the letter. If it be not so done, there will be an awful rumpus and it will be the quickest way to have it repealed. We, in the States, are interested in you as we believe you are in us. There is no boundary line between us, so far as wage and labor interests are concerned. Workingmen and business men of Fernie, I know you are anxious to know the outcome of the negotiations now going on. You can rest assured that your representatives will do the best they can to protect your interests and I want to add that if they cannot secure what you ought to have embodied in your wage agreement by negotiations in conference, by intelligent discussion with your employers, for whom I have the greatest respect as men—if a disagreement must come then, of course, it will be up to us to advise the men to comply with the law and to see whether the law has any merit or not. Until I see it put into practice and some tangible results procede from it, I advise everyone of you men to study the law carefully and form your own opinions."

The meeting all through tended to show that the attitude of the men to stand by their leaders is determined and they will probably see the matter through. The miners meet again at 8.30 to get the statement of the operators in reply to the miners' proposition.

At a closed meeting of the miners held tonight at which the men were addressed by Sherman and Lewis, Lewis made a strong appeal for the men to stay by the U. M. W. of A. which, he said, wanted them for the principle of unionism and not for money. He also assured them that it was not a political organization and could not be used by any one who had personal or political aspirations. The men applauded Lewis loudly.

Following is the text of Cushing's telegram to premier Rutherford and of the premier's reply, promising an eight hour day law:

"Position here serious. Have promised miners our government will pass eight hour bank to bank act at next legislature; do you approve. "CUSHING."

"Edmonton.—Your telegram received. I approve of your promise to miners. RUTHERFORD."

NOT TO BE ENFORCED

(Special to The Daily News)

Phoenix, April 25.—The C. P. R. has raised the embargo on both incoming and outgoing freight at this point, but is not hauling ore except from the Snowshoe and Mother Lode mines to the B. C. Copper smelter, Greenwood.

NOT TO BE ENFORCED.

Victoria, April 25.—(Special)—The attorney general this afternoon announced in the house that after giving the question of the Lord's Day Act enforcement serious consideration and conferring with his colleagues, he had decided that he would not give assent to any prosecutions under the Act.

NIPPED IN THE BUD

Korean Uprising Headed off by Prompt Action of Japanese

Tokio, April 25—Another threatened rising in Korea is believed to have been nipped in the bud by the prompt action of the Japanese administration. The plans for the proposed outbreak were reported to have been of a comprehensive character, but owing to the timely discovery of the conspiracy, enabling the authorities to arrest the ringleaders and take steps to overawe their followers, all danger is now believed to be averted.

CLOSE OF LEGISLATURE

SPEAKER RULED AGAINST OLIVER'S POINT OF ORDER.

DUNSMUIR RESERVES ASSENT TO IMMIGRATION BILL.

(Special to The Daily News)

Press Gallery, Legislative Assembly, Victoria, April 25.—It was a short sitting of the legislature this afternoon. Mr. Speaker ruled the point of order on the Land Act taken by Oliver, not well taken. This was that the amendment introduced by Mackay to release the crown's quarter interest in lands sold at Hastings townsite and Point Grey, was beyond the scope of the act as brought down. The bill therefore passed third reading and prorogation quickly followed.

Lieutenant governor Dunsmuir gave assent to all the bills passed, except that regulating immigration into the province, which is a close copy of the Natal Act. To this he reserved assent. No reasons are assigned, but it is noteworthy that in 1898, the same course was followed by Hon. Edgar Dewdney when lieutenant governor, on a similar bill.

MISSIONARY CONFERENCE

Shanghai, April 25—The opening of the Protestant missionary conference today, celebrating the centenary of the landing of Robert Morrison, the English missionary at Canton, was marked by the assemblage of 1000 persons, the largest body of missionaries and visitors ever witnessed in the far east. Rev. Arthur A. Smith of the Pang Shuang mission of the American board of commissioners of foreign missions and Rev. J. C. Gibson of the English Presbyterian mission at Swatou, acted as chairman in the afternoon and evening respectively. About 2000 persons were present at the evening reception when viceroy Tuang Fang of Nankin was represented by Tatton Wong, who welcomed the members of the conference and assured them of his friendliness to missionaires.

PRINCE EITEL HURT

Berlin, April 25—Prince Eitel Frederick, emperor William's second son, fell from his horse during a cavalry drill yesterday on the Drobeitz grounds, near Potsdam. Alarming reports were spread here this morning regading his condition. Later, however, a telephone message from Potsdam said that the first reports of the accident were exaggerated and that there was no cause to fear serious results.

PEASANTS WANT EDUCATION

St. Petersburg, April 25—The emperor will receive tomorrow 20 peasant deputies belonging to the right party and to the moderates, who will present him with an address expressing their desire to work in harmony with the emperor and their hope of a speedy introduction of a system of general education.

RAILWAY CONSTRUCTION DELAYS

Toronto, April 25.—Railway trouble in the west will prevent Mackenzie & Mann from doing any construction work on the new Toronto-Ottawa line this year. It is possible, however, that the Parry Sound-Sudbury line will be completed during 1907 and admit of service between Toronto and Sudbury.

MAY INCREASE ITS CAPITAL

Toronto, April 25—The Ontario government will consent to the increase of capital applied for by the Toronto Electric railway company, from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000.

MORAL REFORM IN SENATE

Ottawa, April 25—The senate today decided to close its bar. Next session the restaurant will be run by a salaried official instead of a caterer as at present.

C. P. R. TRAFFIC RECEIPTS

Montreal, April 25—C. P. R. traffic receipts for the week ending April 21, 1907 were $1,367,000, and for the same week last year they were $1,275,000.

FOR MUNICIPAL STREET RAILWAY

Calgary, April 25—The bylaw to raise $250,000 was endorsed by the ratepayers today, for the purpose of constructing a municipal street railway.

THIRD PEACE CONFERENCE

Another Effort to Conserve Peace of the Central American Republics.

Coming Conference Is to Be Held in Nicaragua and Is Expected to prove of Lasting Benefit.

Washington, April 25.—The new conference to be held in Nicaragua under the terms of the last agreement will be the third of a series of such gatherings of the republics of Central America, each and all to conserve the peace of that section of the world. The first conference was held at Corinto in 1905 and resulted in the adoption of a scheme for the settlement of issues between the little republics which, if it had been adhered to, would have put an end for all time to the frequent wars that have ravaged that section.

But within a year after the conclusion of the Corinto agreement, friction again developed and actual war between two of the republics was prevented only by the active intervention of the United States through secretary of state Root. This took the form of a proposal to both sides which could not be resisted, that another conference be held. This took place on board the U. S. warship Marblehead about a year ago. The outcome was another agreement to which four of the republics were parties, to preserve the peace on well defined principles looking to the arbitration of any threatening issues. Nicaragua did not adhere to that arrangement, taking the grounds that it was unnecessary because she had already subscribed to the Corinto convention. So in the course of another year trouble again developed, this time between Nicaragua and Honduras over a boundary question. Incidentally Salvador was dragged into the war that followed. It is the expectation of the officials here, that as a result of the Corinto conference about to be held, there will be no further disturbances in Central America at least for many years to come. The news of the signature of the agreement for the new conference Tuesday was received here with the greatest satisfaction by the Mexican ambassador, Mr. Creel, who has been particularly active in bringing this to a conclusion and indeed by the whole Central American diplomacy contingent who called at the state department to express their gratification at the outcome.

MISCONDUCT OF GUELPH CITIZENS CAUSES NEWSBOY'S ARREST

CHARGED WITH VIOLATION OF THE LORD'S DAY ACT.

Guelph, Ont., April 25.—Newsboy Battye, of the Canada Railway News company, appeared today before police magistrate Swanderson, charged with violation of the Lord's Day Act, in that he sold copies of the Sunday World while the westbound Grand Trunk train was passing through Guelph on Sunday, the 14th instant. These papers were sold to citizens of Guelph, who boarded the train, purchased the paper and then got off.

Mr. Haverson, K.C., for the defence, contended that under the Lord's Day Act, the railways can run passenger trains, and the supplying of newspapers came within this exception to the Act in the same way as meals and light confections supplied on the train. The news agent could not distinguish between passengers and those who entered the trai nto obtain papers.

He admitted that foreign papers could not be supplied.

The magistrate considered the case of sufficient importance to reserve the case for the opinion of the court of appeals.

County crown attorney Peterson did not oppose this.

PLUCKY YOUNG CHINAMAN

Victoria, April 24—Breaking through a wooden wall, a brave young Chinaman, Leon Loo, elder son of Loo Gee Wing, a wealthy Chinese property owner, residing on Fisguard street, at great risk to his life, saved his mother, brother and cousin from a horrible death by fire which broke out about 4 o'clock this morning.

IS NOT TO BE ENFORCED.

Attorney-general Fulton has at last come to a decision in the matter of the enforcement of the Lord's Day Act. He has decided that he will not give his assent to any prosecutions under the law. That means that the new Lord's Day Act will be a dead letter in this province.

We believe that the attorney-general's decision will meet with very general approval throughout British Columbia. The Sabbath is well observed in this province and no additional legislation was needed, so far as this province is concerned, to secure its proper observance, whatever the case may be in other provinces.

THE LATE SESSION.

The legislature was prorogued yesterday afternoon by lieutenant-governor Dunsmuir, who gave his assent to all the bills passed, with the exception of Bowser's immigration bill.

The past session cannot be said to have been a particularly profitable one, very little legislation of real value to the country stands to its credit. It will, however, be noteworthy for two striking instances of unconstitutional procedure on the part of the government of the day. The first in connection with the expenditure of public monies without the consent of parliament, and the second in conection with the setting aside of the statute law of the province in regard to the sale of crown lands. The most remarkable feature of these incidents is the manner in which every one of the government supporters voted approval of their leaders' unconstitutional practices. It is certainly a striking evidence of partisan blindness. It might reasonably have been expected that so verbose an advocate of constitutionalism as A. E. McPhillips would have raised some protest, but even he voted blindly in approval of a course that he would be the first to denounce on the part of his political opponents. In the legislature of 1898-1900, the halls resounded repeatedly with the vigorous denunciations of A. E. McPhillips, when dealing with measures proposed by the Semlin government, which he claimed were unconstitutional. This champion of parliamentary rights and constitutional practice was dumb throughout the past session in face of the most flagrant instances of unconstitutionalism in the history of British Columbia's legislature.

At least it can be conceded that one of the closing acts of the government this session was praiseworthy. We refer to attorney-general Fulton's decision not to assent to prosecutions under the Lord's Day Act.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The London Times commenting editorially upon ambassador Bryce's visit to Canada and sir Wilfrid Laurier's speech on the occasion of the Canadian club banquet, says: "The most striking feature in sir Wilfrid Laurier's speech was his emphatic reiteration of the preferential doctrine, which must gain all the more significance from the circumstances in which it is made. It is uttered on the eve of the colonial conference, and is the first subject on which the Canadian premier chooses to address his ambassador guest. Canada, as we know, laid no proposals of her own before the conference, and till within a few days ago it was doubtful whether her premier would attend it. Sir Wilfrid Laurier's singularly outspoken endorsement of preference at the Ottawa banquet shows that it was no want of imperial interest which restrained his government. Mr. Bryce must have been rather taken aback by this affirmation of a policy which his late colleagues have rejected, and he did not introduce the subject in his reply. Sir Wilfrid Laurier stated the guiding motive in Canada's commercial policy with a clearness and frankness which could not have been surpassed. Twenty-five years ago, he said, Canada would have given her right arm to secure reciprocity, but this was now a thing of the past. On this subject there would be "no more pilgrimages to Washington." Instead Canada had chosen to look towards the Mother Country, and, discouraging as the response must have seemed to her, we still confidently hope that she will not look in vain. It is part of the irony of politics that now, when Canada has abandoned her former efforts for reciprocity with the United States, there should be a stronger feeling among the Americans in favor of such a policy than there has ever been before. The Americans feel, no doubt, that the commercial development of Canada is itself an argument for reciprocity. The amount of American capital invested in the dominion, and the close connection of American and Canadian industrial concerns would lead them in this direction. In the long run, they may think, Canada will not be able to resist the temptation of securing the largest market by reciprocity or even by free trade. We shall see. For the present, we believe, the Canadians, while ready for the removal of all sources of political friction and for cultivating the most friendly relations with their American neighbors, have no desire for commercial absorption. Nor is the commercial motive the only one in the matter. Broad considerations of imperial policy are turning towards the Motherland. They have seen, it may be, further and clearer into the future than the majority of our own statesmen, and it is to be hoped that we shall not refuse to follow them in the path they have chosen towards the consolidation of the empire.

NOT WORTH THE CANDLE

NEW ZEALAND WOMEN'S VIEW OF THE BALLOT

WARNING TO INTREPID BRITISH "SUFFRAGETTES"

The intrepid women "suffragettes" of England, who brave the perils of disordered hair and millinery and endure fine and imprisonment for the privilege of assailing the burly guardians of the house of commons, are told by one of their sisters in New Zealand that the game is not worth the candle. She has the ballot and is frankly disappointed in it. Writers in the United States have often remarked that the woman suffrage states in the west are not very different politically from the man ruled commonwealths of the east and report that many women who were eager to vote when the experiment was new, are now tired of it and have turned to other diversions. The New Zealand woman voter who writes anonymously in the London Public Opinion, expresses herself in a tone of disappointment. The ballot has added little to the practical advantages and privileges of the tender sex, says this writes. Thus:

"We in this colony brought the women's franchise into power some 12 years ago and it has now had a fair trial. Many of us hoped great things of it, many of us feared it and now the great majority of us have settled down to the fact that beyond being a just, liberal, wise enactment, it has not brought about the changes expected of it. It certainly has not 'set the Thames on fire'; to many minds it has fallen far short of its capacity for good. It has placed women on a true footing, has removed a soreness of heart arising from injustice and has shown the world in general and ourselves in particular, that women are as capable of voting squarely as men are."

It may be, of course, that the negative results of the movement are to be attributed to the fact that women have not put their privileges to the test with sufficient earnestness. They have obtained the suffrage and are weary of it. To quote:

"In New Zealand the enfranchisement of women has been a disappointment, or, to put it more fairly, it has not yet found its feet. We are not doing justice to the franchise; already we have allowed it to die down into a fact of not very vital importance, and we are forgetting the value of the power we have put in our women's hands. Rightly used it would prove a sure and trusty weapon of offence and defence in the cause of women's true rights. Not thsoe coveted, fancied rights of women, which aim at the theft of a natural inheritance, but those priceless rights, the crown of a woman's heritage. Ruskin told us long ago that a true woman must be a 'bread-giver.' So she must; but a giver of bread that is real life to men. The real object of a woman's being is so regal and magnificent that if the franchise is going to teach her how to improve it, let her have it by all means."

The privileges which women in New Zealand enjoy above women in less favored lands were given by laws which male legislators formulated. In the following words the writer sketches the advantages the women of New Zealand now possess but which they would have obtained whether they were voters or not:

"What has the ballot done for women in New Zealand? After we have admitted that they are fully entitled to it and that they are wise and self-contained enough to merit it, what have they gained by it? They have a vote, the power to vote for or against the country's welfare. They in New Zealand have many advantages, but the franchise did not win them. Today women are not responsible for their husband's debts, they can hold property in their own right, they can compete in university examinations and enter the professions. They are protected from cruelty, must be maintained by their husbands, athletic sports are open to them and great freedom of life is theirs. But the franchise won none of these rights for them and men have not tried to prevent them from having them. The things men try to keep from women generally are those things they honestly think will injure their womanly side."

Women in New Zealand have indeed shown themselves utterly indifferent in moving for the very things the franchise should have been made instrumental in obtaining. Women have not used their votes in this way. To quote further:

"So far they have not taken up the questions of vital importance to their sex, to bring about any improvement, more than do women in England. They have not brought about a wise educational system for girls, although the state school system of the present day disregards the sex of its pupils and trains them as inferior commercial machines; they have not righted the divorce laws; they have not legislated for the assistance and protection of helpless and poverty stricken mothers of young children; they have not agitated for the care of the youthful inhabitants of the gutter; they have not used their power to bring in some simple, true form of religious instruction in schools and they have not solved the comparatively simple question of the domestic servant—simple if it were made an honorable profession, for which state training is necessary. They have made no material difference in the welfare of their sex.

"The power to do this lies in the hands of the enfranchised women; yet they are 'idle, openly idle, in the lea of the forespent line'."

A WOMAN TELLS HOW TO RELIEVE RHEUMATIC PAINS

I have been a sufferer from the dreadful disease, rheumatism, for a number of years. I have tried many medicines but never got much relief from any of them until two years ago, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I found relief before I had used all of one bottle, but kept on applying it and soon felt like a different woman. Through my advice many of my friends have tried it and can tell you how wonderfully it has worked.—Mrs. Sarah A. Cole, 140 S. New St., Dover, Del. Chamberlain's Pain Balm is a liniment. The relief from pain which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. It makes sleep possible. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

WOULD NOT STOP SINGING

So "Pedlar" Palmer, Pugilist, Pounded Offender to Death

London, April 25—"Pedlar" Palmer, the English pugilist, who with another man, was arrested yesterday on suspicion of having caused the death of an unknown man whose body was found in a railroad carriage after the Epsom races, was this morning charged with murder at the Croyden police court. After a passenger on the train had testified that he saw Palmer strike the deceased several blows because he refused to stop singing, the prisoner was remanded.

STAR vs. WHITE APPEAL

(Special Correspondence)

Victoria, April 22.—Mr. Bodwell concluded his address to the full court in Star vs. White today. He was followed by R. S. Lennie for a couple of hours, in the same interest and then Mr. Davis commenced his reply and had about half concluded it when the adjournment took place.

Much of Mr. Bodwell's address was directed to the legal aspect of the case, and Mr. Lennie in his brief review of some of the special points mentioned, brought out little that has not been touched on already. Like his leader, Mr. Lennie, dwelt strongly on the fact that the full court must be convinced that the learned trial judge, chief justice Hunter, was clearly in error in his finding before reversing his judgment. He was interrupted by M. Davis remarking that the judgment had been set aside and a rather warm argument ensued in which Mr. Bodwell was drawn, the ending of which was practically a statement of the full court, that as the judgment of the chief justice had been given upon partial testimony, the view of the full court being that he should have ordered the new work to be done, and heard the evidence as to the result, the judgment pronounced had been set aside and consequently the case was being heard afresh without reference to the facts ascertained by the trial judge.

When Mr. Davis commenced his reply he seized on this last aspect of the cast and repeated the assertion made at the opening of the hearing, that the burden of satisfying the court that they had the right to trespass on the Rabbit Paw and Heber fraction claims, was upon the defendants, and counsel declared that Mr. Bodwell was clearly in error in arguing that the burden or any onus was on the plaintiffs to show that the judgment of the chief justice was wrong. Apparently Davis' understanding of the position of affairs is the one held by a majority of the full court.

The rest of Mr. Davis' reply today was directed to correcting what he said were mistakes of oposing counsel in analyzing Sizer's testimony and arriving at wrong conclusions. There was a good deal of cross-firing between counsel this afternoon, beyond what has been stated, the day passed without special incident.

When the court opened this morning, the commencement of the third week of the trial Mr. Bodwell for the defendants continued his analysis of the evidence, taking up first some statements made by his own expert Mr. Bochmer where he spoke of no evidences of striation on level 5 showing movement at that point where it is claimed the vein is cut off by the fissure. Mr. Atwater, it was claimed, had sworn to seeing striation, but he only referred to the upturned points of the slates where the vein is shown cut off; no other evidence of striation was referred to, and there was no connection with what the two witnesses were talking about. Mr. Davis had claimed Mr. Bochmer had admitted a fault but Mr. Bodwell showed that Mr. Bochmer denied a fault specifically and added that the vein might, at one point, have slipped into the parallel strata of slates. Any fault which did not destroy the continuity of the vein, the apex of which was followed along the surface would not destroy the extra lateral rights of the defendants. The big barren stretch in the No. 5 level upon which is shown to exist above and below. If that is looked into it is shown by the evidence of professor Parks that ore is found in one level and not in the next and so on, that being a characteristic of Slocan ore shoots, the ore coming in and out of the various levels and this is shown to be actually the case in these mine workings, if all the levels are considered. So that a barren stretch along any one level has no special significance so far as this action is concerned.

Turning to the booming out theory of which so much was heard at the first trial and so little at the present one, counsel proceeded to show the inconsistency of the plaintiffs' witnesses. They had originally claimed that when the Star vein came up against the black fissure and was cut off by it, the ends of the Star vein were boomed or spread out for a distance of 280 feet. Eighty feet of this was admittedly in place and then came a barren stretch of 40 feet and cut out the drag theory, and Mr. Sizer promptly advanced a new theory as to the balance of the ore found. He "found" a new vein, an independent vein and called it No. 2 vein. Part of the ore boomed out was drag ore from the Star vein, part of the ore was No. 2 vein, and the rest was drag ore from No. 2 vein. The defendants say the ore body is all the Slocan Star vein, with possibly "a horse" causing the branching off and the barren spot. Counsel read extracts from Sizer's evidence at the first trial showing a lengthy argument between the witness and the chief justice and the "explanations" given by the witness, which Mr. Bodwell said were wholly inconsistent and unsatisfactory. According to the view of the chief justice the witness expressed at least three different and distinct opinions of this ore occurrence after the turn in the 5th level. Counsel declared that each one of Mr. Sizer's theories was more wildly impossible than the others. That was the way it struck the trial judge. The statements made to the chief justice on the ground during the inspection, and his statements made in court previously, and after the inspection are so conflicting and inconsistent as to render them valueless, and they must be rejected. The admitted gological conditions unite in contradicting all of the contentions advanced by Mr. Sizer to help out his theory. The finding of the learned trial judge on the points involved, was referred to by reading extracts from the judgment of the chief justice which contains the now well known phrase that Mr. Sizer's contention was "ingenuity born of despair."

Mr. Bodwell closed by again summing up the surface showing and tracing the apex line clear across the two claims as shown in the model. The apex line shown is the only apex line shown in all the territory under review. There is no other apex line anywhere shown or even suggested. There was no question of cross veins as considered by the statute and the "general course" of the Star vein was the same if taken in the Slocan Star claim and the Silversmith claim, singly, or if taken, as the defendants have shown here on the surface, the two claims taken together, so this point raised by Mr. Taylor falls to the ground.

Mr. justice Martin expressed grave doubt as to the meaning of the statutory term "general course" of a vein, and expressed the opinion that the point

Synopsis of Canadian Homestead Regulations

ANY available Dominion Lands within the Railway belt in British Columbia, may be homesteaded by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year for three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased), of the homesteader resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for, the requirements as to residence may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead entry, the requirements as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Six months' notice in writing should be given to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of intention to apply for patent.

Coal lands may be purchased at $10 an acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of 10 cents per ton of 2000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Crippled With Rheumatism

CURED BY GIN PILLS

Mr. Derraugh certainly did have a hard time of it, winter before last. Caught cold, and it settled in his kidneys. First thing he knew, he was in bed with Rheumatism. He nearly went mad, the pain was so intense. The doctors gave him the usual treatment—and pretty nearly burnt his legs off with liniments and blisters—but the Rheumatism went right on aching.

Then a friend stepped in and said, "Why don't you try GIN PILLS?" After a great deal of persuasion, Mr. Derraugh did try GIN PILLS. You never such a happy man in your life, after he had taken two boxes. Pain all gone—stiffness and lameness completely left—that ache in back and hips disappeared—and he was well in no time. That was two years ago and he has been in perfect health ever since.

Contracted a severe cold, Rheumatism followed and the sharp pains took me so often and were so severe that I had to take to bed. For several months I could get no relief, until I started to take "Gin Pills." In five days I was up and around the house. My pains are gone and I have not had a return of the old trouble since. I wish also to say that "Gin Pills" gave me the first painless passage of urine I have had in two years.

ROBT. DERRAUGH, Winnipeg.

How about you? Haven't you suffered enough without going all over it again this winter? Get Gin Pills now—and cure yourself at home. Mention this paper and we will send you a free sample to try. The Bole Drug Co., Winnipeg. Only 50c. a box—6 boxes for $2.50. 87 was an extremely important one. At the moment he was inclined to accept Mr. Taylor's contention that the court must be confined to the consideration of the general course in one claim at a time.

Mr. Bodwell ,continuing, said that no cross veins existing, the general course of the vein being confined to one or included in the two claims made no difference. The general course in each claim and in the combined claims was identical.

After the midday adjournment Mr. Bodwell touched on the legal aspect of the case, quoting American authorities in support of his contention for the defendants and answering propositions of law suggested by the court on extra lateral rights.

Mr. Bodwell concluded at 2.30 and Mr. Lennie continued on behalf of the defendants, taking up the apex line throughout and applying the law to the line proved, claimed the tresspass into the Rabbit Paw and Heber Fraction, complained of by the plaintiffs, was justified as found by the learned chief justice in his judment at the trial. The apex line of the Star vein, before it enters the Silversmith claim, crosses over the southwest corner of the Jennie, a claim lying immediately north of the Slocan Star vein, and Mr. Taylor based his argument that extra lateral rights could not be followed here, or in the Windsor lying still further north, through which the Apex line curves as it goes up into the Silversmith. Mr. Lennie quoted B. C. statutes of 1891 and applied the American authorities. Counsel gave the dates of the locations of the various claims as shown on the plans and models showing that at the time the locator followed what he then believed, when no litigation was thought of, was the apex line of the Slocan Star vein. Describing No. 5 level Mr. Lennie explained what work was finished before litigation started, and what has been done since, explaining what stress should be laid upon certain parts of the evidence referred to by counsel, with these explained facts in view.

Lennie pressed the point of Harris' original contention that the Star vein continued right along across the porphyry mass and not being shut off by so-called black fissure and said that Mr. Sizer founded the black fissure theory after one day's inspection of No. 5 level, and thereupon all the plaintiffs' contention was changed around to fit in with the Sizer theory and Mr. Sizer, through many contradictions, has striven to maintain and account for his cut off theory ever since.

The judgment of the chief justice contemplated that if the new work were ordered and done it would not help matters. Mr. Bodwell had maintained that when opposing the doing of new work. The defendants' position now was the same. The extension north and south of the black fissure if it is admittedly proved by the new work, demonstrates nothing that has any bearing on the case. It does not prove the faulting of the vein by the fissure. Elmendorf always declared that the extension of the fissure would not prove the independence of the fissure to his satisfaction. It was possible to show a fissure going on there, but not the plaintiffs' black fissure, and it was no evidence of faulting under any circumstances, and this latter point was the main point in the mind of Mr. Elmendorf at the time. Elmendorf's attitude before the new work was done and now, when the work has been done was perfectly consistent and extracts were read by counsel to prove this from Mr. Elmendorf's evidence Elmendorf told the court that if a fissure was found extending a thousand feet to the south it would prove nothing because there was continuity of ore along the Slocan Star vein to the north Counsel commented at length on the visits of the chief justice to the mine what the plaintiffs declared he would see there and what his lordship actually found when he went there, as stated in his judgment. The full court must find that the chief justice did not understand what he saw, if they upset his lordship's judgment. All efforts to trap Mr. Elmendorf into an inconsistent position was p emised o nfalse conditions and the expert's answers must be so understood on cross-examination. Summing up for the defendants, Mr. Lennie said the chief justice was in a position after twice inspecting the mine workings to ascertain which set of experts were correct, which set were telling the truth, and which were misleading the court.

Mr. justice Martin—No judgment of the court exists. The full court decided that the judgment of the chief justice was obtained upon the wrong refusal to admit proper evidence and that judgment is done away with.

Mr. justice Irving concurred in this view.

Mr. Bodwell argued that the reasons for the judgment were not done away with.

Mr. justice Martin said the refusal of the trial judge to admit the evidence does away with the judgment.

Mr. Davis argued this and declared the onus of proving the case was now on the defendants, whereas Mr. Bodwell now contends that he has judgment behind him and it is for Mr. Davis to satisfy the court that the judgment given is wrong.

Mr. Lennie said the fullest effect should be given to the inspections had by the chief justice, and then concluded.

Mr. Davis then commenced his reply by saying that the burden of proof to justify the defendants trespassing on the plaintiffs' property was of course on the defendants. Now the case was before the court on entirely different material, the judgment was gone under the order allowing the new work to be done, to give fresh evidence, and to rehear the whole case. The chief justice thought the plaintiffs' contention was a myth, and nothing could change that.

Mr. Bodwell—The learned trial judge hesitated about ordering the new work only that it might affect a court of appeal. It could not help him.

After protesting against interruption, Mr. Davis said it was clear that the learned trial judge had come to the conclusion that the plaintiffs had nothing in their contention; it was a myth; the plaintiffs' experts were not to be relied on, but the chief justice had never advanced the theory that the work asked for, and done subsequent to the judgment, would not prove the case one way or the other. Mr. Elmendorf convinced the judge as to what he, the judge, saw when he visited the mine. The chief justice explains all this in his judgment. The hanging wall of the Slocan Star at the turn, that was the pointed out to the judge on the spot, and so stated in the judgment, is found not to exist by the new work; that in place there is 28 ft. fissure there. The chief justice was, of course, misled by what Elmendorf told him was there. Being thus misled the judge would not believe anything said by Sizer from start to finish. Mr. Elmendorf managed so shrewdly to mislead the chief justice that his lordship came to a wrong conclusion.

Mr. Bodwell objected, counsel's address was not in reply.

Mr. Davis justified his contention and added that the judge visited the mine to see if Sizer was right and was convinced by what Elmendorf showed him that Sizer's evidence was false, and that he (Sizer) manufactured evidence as he went along to fit the case.

The defendants have laid little stress on the new work and what it decided. When first mentioned to the court it was generally agreed that the new work would materially assist the court in arriving at a conclusion. If it did not conclusively prove who was right it would come very near to that, at least. Now it is claimed that what is proved amounts to nothing although it proves Mr. Elmendorf wrong and Mr. Sizer right in their respective main contentions. It was originally thought by everyone at the first trial that the continuation of the black fissure if it were proved, would prove the existence of a fault fissure. Mr. Sizer was held to have seen things in the ground that did not exist and failed to see things that did exist, but the new work thrusts this view, not on Sizer, but on Elmendorf. And Elmendorf is the witness followed by the chief justice. Taking up a conflict of evidence between Sizer and Elmendorf where it was claimed at the present hearing that Elmendorf was still misleading the court, counsel declared Elmendorf clearly wrong and Sizer completely consistent and right when all the evidence was looked into. This was specially the case where Sizer was declared to have sworn to black fissure and Oscar White swore that he drilled in there and found four feet of porphyry. The explanation is, and the explanation that should have been made at the time but which was suppressed, is that between the times mentioned by Sizer and Oscar White, the black fissure wall had fallen away leaving the porphyry standing. That was the condition, the real condition; but it was given as an instance of the methods adopted to discredit Sizer by any and all means.

Mr. Bodwell challenged the correctness of what was meant by the evidence.

Mr. Davis said it was correct and went along with his argument to demonstrate he was correct. During the interval referred to six feet of the black fissure had fallen away exposing the solid porphyry wall referred to. That was the whole explanation.

Mr. Sizer had said he believed the Silversmith vein was possibly the other end of the faulted Slocan Star vein, but whether it was or not in no way concerned the plaintiffs or their contention and the argument built on this view could not apepal to the court. As a fact there was no evidence to show where the other end of the Star vein had gone to

Mr. Davis then intimated that he had a good deal more to say and it being 5 o'clock the court adjourned until to-morrow, when the hearing will terminate.

JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION

REPARATIONS FOR OPENING CEREMONIES TODAY

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT WILL BE THE STAR PERFORMER

Norfolk, April 25—The day before the opening of the Jamestown tercentennial exposition on Hampton roads, finds the management of the big enterprise straining every energy to put the grounds and buildings in presentable shape for the inaugural ceremonies.

Several thousand laborers were engaged today in clearing the streets which are to be traversed tomorrow by the president and his party and the military roganizations that will participate in the land parade. Notwithstanding the rush of work being carried forward today the exposition will be far from complete. Temporary railroad tracks, debris of all sorts, and unfinished sidewalks are the rule throughout the grounds, while most of the buildings are marred by an enclosure of scaffolding. Many of the buildings will not be opened tomorrow, the management having determined that progress can only be made by excluding the public during the time the workmen are still engaged in their labors.

The features of the opening day will be the naval pageant in Jamestown roads. President Roosevelt on the yacht Mayflower will review the ships of the nations now at anchor and the spectacle will be witnessed by thousands of people from the shore. Pleasure craft and excursion steamers by the score will frame the anchorage grounds of the fleet and the water show is expected to surpass anything ever seen in this country.

PROVINCIAL SUBSIDIES

(Special to The Daily News)

Ottawa, April 25.—On the provincial subsidy resolutions coming before the house today giving effect to the request of the provincial conference of last fall, Northrup, conservative, of Hastings, protested against the extra allowance of $100,000 for British Columbia, on the ground that the amount was not in accordance with the views of British Columbia's representative at the conference. He said it was unfair to force on the Pacific province something she did not accept as satisfactory. The matter should stand till premier McBride had an opportunity of making his views known in London.

Dr. Sproule, also protested against British Columbia's wishes being ignored

IN STRICT CONFIDENCE.

Women Obtain Mrs. Pinkham's Advice and Help.

She Has Guided Thousands to Health.—How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Mrs. Fred Seydel.

It is a great satisfaction for a woman to feel that she can write to another telling her the most private and confidential details about her illness, and know that her letter will be seen by a woman only, a woman full of sympathy for her sick sisters, and above all, a woman who has had more experience in treating female ills than any living person.

Over one hundred thousand cases of female diseases come before Mrs. Pinkham every year, some personally, others by mail, and this has been going on for twenty years, day after day.

Surely women are wise in seeking advice from a woman of such experience, especially when it is absolutely free.

Mrs. Pinkham never violates the confidence of women, and every testimonial letter published is done so with the written consent or request of the writer, in order that other sick women may be benefited as they have been.

Mrs. Fred Seydel, of 413 North 54th Street, West Philadelphia, Pa., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Over a year ago I wrote you a letter asking advice, as I had female ills and could not carry a child to maturity. I received your kind letter of instructions and followed your advice. I am not only a well woman in consequence, but have a beautiful baby girl. I wish every suffering woman in the land would write you for advice, as you have done so much for me."

Just as surely as Mrs. Seydel was cured, will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure every woman suffering from any form of female ills.

No other medicine in all the world has such a record of cures of female troubles as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Therefore no prudent woman will accept any substitute which a druggist may offer.

If you are sick, write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice. It is free and always helpful.

Beware of imitations and substitutes accept none but the genuine "Baby's Own."

What a mistake to use coarse Salt for cooking! Fine, pungent WINDSOR SALT adds such a daintiness to the food! 139

Diet Corsets

It is safe to assert that a woman's wardrobe is singularly incomplete without them, as they are really distinctive models.

Prices range from $1.00 to $6.00.

A RUNAWAY.

A badly sprained ankle, a damaged wagon, a scratched team of horses and a spilled load of lumber were the result of a runaway yesterday morning at the mountain station, which might have resulted far more seriously.

A team and wagon, belonging to F. Jeffers and in charge of A. Allen, had just finished loading some lumber from the Porto Rico siding and started down the steep hill towards town, the teamster not noticing that one of the horses had worked himself free of the bridle, irritated by flies. The team bolted as soon as the weight told on the grade, and Allen, realizing the impossibility of stopping them, jumped for his life. Alighting upon a boulder he was rolled under the wheels, which, jumping passed over, the teamster escaping with a badly sprained ankle. At the sharp next sharp curve, at the city reservoir, the whole load was spilled, ripping off the seat, which luckily the driver had already vacated, and a little further down the hill the horses fell with the wagon on top. Fortunately the spot was soft and the animals suffered little injury.

NELSON'S NEWS OF THE DAY

The Knights of Pythias meet tonight in Castle hall at 8:30. A full attendance is requested.

Residents on the hill, east of Stanley street are wanting further extensions of the sewerage system.

W. A. Macdonald, K.C., will act as the crown prosecutor at the sittings of the supreme court hree next week.

The water in the lake is rising very slowly, the melting of the snow being greatly retarded by the cold nights.

The funeral of the remains of Harry Heywood will take place at 2 o'clock this afternoon from St. Saviour's church.

The marble works are becoming customers of the city power plant, the electric wires being strung yesterday by the municipality.

Two drunks were brought up for sentence yesterday morning, the one being fined and the other let off with a warning, it being his first known offence.

SLOCAN NEWS NOTES

(Special to The Daily News)

Slocan, April 25—The West Virginia owners of the Howard Fraction mine, situated on the north fork of Lemon creek, are trying to let a contract for a 1000 foot tunnel on the property.

The sales of Slocan fruit and timber lands continue. A tract of 236 acres on Slocan river, owned by R. C. Allen of Slocan, was recently sold by W. H. Brandon of Silverton, to Winnipeg parties.

An error occurring in the Slocam notes of April 20, should be corrected. Your correspondent was erroneously informed as to the Anderson property. The Anderson ranch is still for sale.

A pleasant At Home was given by the Rebekahs of the local I.O.O.F last Friday evening. Cards and a guessing contest were the amusements. D. S. McVannel and Miss Mary Birmish were the winners in the contest. Dainty refreshments were served, about 50 people being present.

Mrs. W. H. Brandon of Silverton was the guest of Slocan friends this week.

HALIFAX CIVIC ELECTIONS

Halifax, April 25—The civic elections which took place today were devoid of exceptional interest. The most notable feature was the re-election of mayor McIlreith by acclamation for a third term. In four of the six wards aldermen were elected by acclamation as follows: Ward 2, J. A. Chisholm; ward 3, P. J. McManus; ward 5, P. F. Martin; ward 6, G. A. McKenzie. In the other two wards the contest attracted little interest and A. Whitman and G. Hoben were elected.

CANADA'S ALPINE CLUB

GROWING IN POPULARITY — NEW MEMBERS FROM ALL PARTS

AMONG THEM THE FATHER OF PHOTOGRAPHIC SURVEYING

Winnipeg, April 25—The Alpine club of Canada, started a little more than a year ago in this city, grows apace. The secretary has just sent out another ballot with the names of 26 applicants for membership. The furtherest comes from Cape Town, South Africa. For honorary membership there appears the distinguished name of colonel Laussedat of Yazeure, in the center of France. He is a member of the institute of France and of the geological society of Paris. He is also director of the Conservatoire Nationale des Arts et Metiers, but he is most interesting to Canadians as being the father of the science of photographic surveying, which is the only method that has so far been applied to the Rocky Mountains of Canada. Those who have seen the maps prepared on this system which appear in several blue books and in Mr. Wheeler's delightful book "The Selkirk Range," will appreciate how excellent this method is

SPOKANE FALL FAIR

Special Prize of $1500 Offered for Best District Display

(Special to The Daily News)

Spokane, April 25—Official announcement is made by Robert H. Cosgrove, secretary of the Spokane Interstate fair association, that a prize of $1500 will be awarded for the best district or county agricultural display to include green fruit, shelled grain sheaf wheat, sheaf grasses, seeds, vegetables and any other agricultural products, no portion of the display to be entered for individual prizes.

"This prize," he added, "is intended to be given to exhibits showing comprehensive display of agricultural resources of the district which they represent. The exhibits will be scored as follows: Green fruits, 30 per cent; shelled grain, 20 per cent; sheaf grains and grasses, 20 per cent; vegetables, 20 per cent; other products, 10 per cent. The money will be divided as follows: To the district scoring highest, 1st $200; 2nd, $150; 3rd, $100; 4th, $75; 5th, $50. The following additional prizes will be paid for taste, design and arrangement: 1st, $100; 2nd, $75; 3rd, $50; 4th, $30 and 5th, $20. The rest of the amount, or $650, is to be divided pro rata among the exhibits scoring 60 points or more, except that in no case is the pro rata amount given to any single exhibit to be more than $75, nor shall any pro rata amount be added where other prizes aggregate $270 or more.

"It may be of interest to know also that the general prizes on fruits have been increased about $500 over last year. We expect exhibits larger and better than ever from various parts of eastern Washington, northern Idaho, northeastern Oregon and southeastern British Columbia."

CURED OF RHEUMATISM

Mr. Wm. Henry of Chattanooga, Tenn., had rheumatism in his left arm. "The strength seemed to have gone out of the muscles so that it was useless for work," he says. "I applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm and warmed the arm in flannel at night, and to my relief I found that the pain gradually left me and the strength returned. In three weeks the rheumatism disappeared and has not since returned." If troubled with rheumatism try a few applications of Pain Balm. You are certain to be pleased with the relief which it affords. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

IMPROVING THEIR PLANT

Increased Output by the Yale-Columbia Lumber Company

The Yale-Columbia Lumber company has been quietly executing throughout the past winter several improvements in their mills. Locally there has been incurred an expenditure of about $6000, which has been devoted to a general repairing of the works, adding new machinery in the way of planes, a new engine, which, however, has not yet arrived, and in general increasing the capacity of the mill. This now is in a position to turn out, when all the improvements are installed, from 40,000 to 45,000 feet in a ten hour shift.

The other mills of the company, Robson and Cascade, have also been improved, the aggregate of which is about $10,000. The mill at Robson will start sawing on Monday and will be worked night and day, the night shift not going on, however, until May 1. The capacity of this mill under the new conditions will be about 80,000 to 90,000 feet with the double shift.

The mill at Cascade will start sawing on Tuesday next, the night shift going on about May 5 or 6. The capacity, working night and day will be from 100,000 to 115,000 feet. Thus the total capacity of the company is at present not less than 225,000 feet daily and even at this rate the company does not expect to be able to fill all their orders.

GREATEST DIPLOMAT OF ALL

King Edward Establishes Entente Cordiale With Spain

New York, April 25—A despatch from Madrid says: "The Correspondencia de la Espana says it is has diplomatic authority for stating that the effect of the meeting of king Alfonso and king Edward at Cartagena was the perfection of a far-reaching understanding for the purposes of war and peace. It would have been considered in the last century according to this paper, an alliance, but in modern diplomatic language, it is an entente cordiale. Everything concerning Morocco was ratified, everything in reference to the general European situation was discussed and the basis was formulated of an agreement which is now in the hands of the diplomats.

FOT FAST ATLANTIC LINE

ENGLISH PROMOTERS HOPEFUL OF SUCCESSFUL OUTCOME

PROMINENT MONTREAL MEN ASKED TO ACT AS DIRECTORS

Montreal, April 25.—A communication received in this city from London, England, is taken to indicate that the promoters of the proposed fast Atlantic steamship line between Blacksod bay, Ireland, and Halifax, N. S., are determined to carry out their project. The communication states that the promoters here had several long interviews with sir Wilfrid Laurier and other Canadian statesmen now in England and that the premier and his colleagues evinced much interest in the undertaking.

An interesting announcement in connection with the scheme is the proposal by the English promoters that four Montreal business men should be appointed on the board and that on the approval of lord Strathcona, sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the C. P. R., sir George Drummond, president of the Bank of Montreal; Mr. Robert Reford, president of the Robert Reford Steamship Agency, and Mr. E. Bickerdike, M. P., vice-president of the Hochelaga bank, have been named and these gentlemen are now being communicated with, requesting them to act as members of the board of management.

Sir Thomas Trowbridge, who is working hard to bring about the establishment of the new fast line, spoke hopefully to sir Wilfrid regarding a subsidy of $500,000 by the British government, following the proposed grant of $1,000,000 towards the undertaking by the Canadian authorities.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy was asked today if he had been invited to join the board of management of the proposed fast steamship line between Blacksod Bay and Halifax, and he replied that no such request had reached him, nor did he think it likely to be made, because the promoters knew that he considered the scheme quite impracticable as a commercial steamship enterprise. Neither he nor the Canadian Pacific Railway company would have anything whatever to do with it.

MINES IN GOOD SHAPE

Napoleon Now Able to Ship a Larger Output to Greenwood

Alexander Sharp, manager of the First Thought mine, in which the P. Burns company is interested, is in the city for a few days. Mr. Sharp says the property is looking well, well enough to have justified the building of a 2 1-2 mile tramway which has been in successful operation for the past two months. The First Thought is shipping to the Northport smelter. Next to this mine is the Napaleon which has just finished the installation of a three-quarter mile tramway to facilitate its shipments to the B. C. Copper company's smelter at Greenwood, to which concern it belongs. The property will now be able to ship some 150 or more tons daily over the new tramway, whereas formerly barely one third of this amount was possible even in favorable weather. The Napoleon supplies a flux which is wanted by the B. C. reduction works at Greenwood for its extra sulphur.

A Sensational Incident

Well-known Resident had Eczema 25 Years

Obliged to wear Gloves Day and Night

Zam-Buk Has Worked Complete Cure When 4 Doctors Failed.

Zam-Buk, the great herbal balm, has just worked such a sensational cure in Montreal that it has set the whole city talking. Mr. T. M. Marsh, of 101 Delorimier avenue, is the grateful subject of this cure. He says:

"For 25 years I had eczema in my hands. It started in red blotches, which itched and burned so that I felt that I could almost scratch the parts away. Then aref the itching came the pain and the soreness. Great open wounds formed and set up terrible agony. I went to a doctor when first the trouble started. He did me no good and I tried another. He also failed and I tried a third, and then a fourth. My case baffled them all and I paid my money for no good. The eczema continued and I never believed I could be cured. For the past two years the pain and irritation were so bad that I was obliged to wear gloves day and night.

"Zam-Buk was brought to my attention and I tried a little and it did me good. I bought another box and it did still more good. I tried another and to my intense delight this herbal balm did what I had been hoping for for 25 years—it cured me. My hands are now healed and I have put away the gloves which for two years had been indispensible day and night. I have been well known in Montreal and eastern Ontario for over 30 years and my case is one which hundreds of people know of."

Zam-Buk cures all skin diseases—eczema, scalp wounds, ulcers, ringworms, poisoned wounds, barber's itch, pustules, face blemishes due to blood poison. It heals cuts and lacerations, stops bleeding, cures piles, cases fistula, reduces large veins. It cures burns and scalds and it is an excellent "first aid" remedy. It is highly antiseptic. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. a box, or from Zam—Buk Co., Toronto, for same price, 6 boxes for $2.50.

Free sample—Send one cent stamp and we will forward you free trial box of Zam-Buk.

NELSON'S NEWS OF THE DAY

Messrs. Hill and Kerr have completed their stumping contract on J. J. Campbell's ranch at 7-Mile and will shortly begin stumping at Bonnington.

Dr. I. McW. Bourke and Mrs. H. W. Bourke are on a visit to their cousins, Crozier and Cecil Bourke at 13-Mile. The visitors are passing through Canada on their way from the Straits Settlements to England.

So scarce are angle worms in the vicinity of Nelson that even many old timers have never seen any since locating here. A fine specimen may now be seen in the Baker street window of the Nelson Hardware company, which C. Miller of Hoover street turned up while digging his garden.

Two crews of the hardier men of the boat club are regularly practicing every morning and evening and are training faithfully withal. Trainer DesBrisay is confident of getting together an even better four than that of last year, but would like to have at least four fours practicing.

The regular monthly meeting of the school board, adjourned from last Thursday, when no quorum developed, was held last evening, with Dr. Arthur, A. D. Emory and W. Swannell present. The only busines stransacted by the meeting was the passing of the accounts, the school building question not being touched.

The special committee appointed by the board of trade to secure signatures to a petition to the postmaster general for the placing of letter boxes in the outlying and suburban districts of the city, have prepared blank petitions and copies of the same have been placed at the Hill Mines smelter, the C.P.R. work shops and the Imperial, Commerce and Montreal banks, and at Jiseckowicz' store in Fairview. All citizens who favor the movement are requested to take advantage of the opportunity thus offered to sign the said petition at any one of the places mentioned above.

R. J. M. Powers of Carberry, Man., a well known cattle and horse breeder, has purchased the Eagle Head ranch, formerly owned by Dr. Clayton. Mr. Powers purposes coming out to live on the place and is shipping a carload of settlers' effects at once. The deal was put through by Toye and company.
