ROYALHONORS

Accorded in Quebec by the Prince of Wales

BIRTHDAY OF DOMINION

FIRST DAY OF THE CELEBRATION OF THE TERCENTENARY IS DEVOTED ESPECIALLY TO THE MEMORY OF CHAMPLAIN—THE ILLUMINATIONS.

QUEBEC, uJly 23—The prince held an investiture at the citadel at 2:30 this afternoon, when he bestowed royal honors on prominent Canadians in connection with the tercentenary. They included a knighthood for mayor Barneau, and C.M.G. for city clerk Chouinard, Col. Hanbury Williams, and members of the Battlefield commission.

Bugle calls, playing bands, tramping of troops and the rattle of arms awoke the citizens early this morning. It was the gathering of the 14,000 troops in the city, with the naval contingents on the Plains of Abraham for the rehearsal of the great review by the prince of Wales tomorrow. Afterwards the military paraded through the streets of the city.

At 10:30 the prince of Wales, in the uniform of an admiral of the fleet, drove to the King's wharf to return the naval visits. Big crowds, greatly augmented by this morning's arrivals, cheered him enthusiastically.

This afternoon was especially devoted to honoring Champlain. At two o'clock the fac-simile of the ship in which Champlain crossed the Atlantic, the Bon de Dieu, sailed up the river in view of many thousands of people and the representatives of Champlain and his crew, in old fashioned dress, disembarked at Finlay market wharf.

At the waterside they entered the "Obition de Quebec," a replacia of the first building Champlain constructed in Canada and within 100 yards of the original site. Awaiting here was a great historical procession, one of the big features of the celebration. Headed by watchmen, relics of the middle ages, and heralds at arms, there were 14 pictures. These pictures went through the principal streets, which were lined by the troops. They proceeded to Champlain's monument. Meanwhile the prince of Wales and a brilliant company assembled amid the roar of a royal salute by the citadel and warship guns.

In the presence of many thousands, mayor Garneau read an address to the prince, a fac-simile of which was handed to him in a golden casket.

A. Delard Turgeon, who by the special request of sir Wilfrid Laurier, spoke on behalf of the dominion of Canada, delivered a brilliant oration, redolent with panegyric and appreciation. It was devoted to the French Canadians' love of their native land, to a review of their past and to an optimistic forecast of the future and closed with an exordium on the charms and beauties of the dominion.

The prince made a charming speech in reply and formally declared the cele*bration offficially opened. Tonight a* state dinner was given by the governor general in honor of the prince.

The illumination of the fleet tonight and the most wonderful fireworks display ever seen in Canada on the heights of Levis, concluded the day's festivities.

In welcoming the prince yesterday on behalf of the dominion, sir Wilfrid Laurier said in part: "Canadians are deeply sensible of the honor which his royal highness has done in making a special visit for the purpose of gracing the oc*casion of the tercentenary celebration.* We rejoice to welcome in the person of your royal highness, the representative of our beloved sovereign, whose neverfailing interest in all that pertains to the welfare of this country, has had no small share in stimulating those feelings of devoted attachment towards his majesty's person and government, which animates his majesty's Canadian subjects from one end of the dominion to the other. We regret that circumstances did not permit us to have greeted her royal highness the princess of Wales, whose gracious and winning personality has endeared her to all Canadians."

Concluding, sir Wilfrid said: "We trust that your royal highness may enjoy your all too brief stay amongst us and that on your return, you will convey to the king the assurances of our unswerving loyalty and devotion and of our united resolve to do our part to promote the interests of the great empire to which we are all proud to belong."

SELF CONFESSED

Cold Blooded Murderer Tells of His Awful Crime

NEW YORK, July 23.—August Eberhard, self-confessed murderer of his aunt, Mrs. Ottilie Eberhard, a widow who he lured to a lonely spot in New Jersey a few days ago and shot to death, was captured near Paterson, N. J., today and is a prisoner in the Hackensack jail. He says he was drawn back to the scene of his crime by a force he could not resist after having travelled many hundred miles. Eberhard told the police that he was in love with a New York woman, that he needed money to marry her, so knowing that his aunt had $2,500, he plotted to kill her and steal the money. Eberhard says he also intended to kill his pretty cousin, to whom he was engaged so that nothing would stand in the way of his marriage to the New York girl. The police have the name of the girl mentioned by Eberhard.

Hollow eyed, cheeks drawn, and with the look of a hunted animal on his face, Eberhard was found lying on the lawn of a residence just outside of Paterson. There was a wound on his right leg which he said had been inflicted by Italians who had attacked him and robbed him but which he afterwards confessed was inflicted by himself to make the police believe he had been wounded on the night his aunt was killed.

Eberhard did not confess to the police when he was placed under arrest. He expressed surprise that he should be suspected of the crime and told an ingenious story to account for his disappearance after the shooting of his aunt. He finally broke down and confessed.

SLOCAN CITY

Assessment Work Being Done—Personal Mention

(Special to The Daily News.)

SLOCAN, July 23.—Charles Barber and William Hicks are having an assessment done on their property, the Transfer, situated near the Calumet and Hecla.

Assessment work is being done on the Hoodoo, John D., and Gorky, all in the vicinity of the Howard Fraction.

Percy Jones, who severely cut his foot with an axe, while working on a tie contract with W. Clough, is improving rapidly.

The little son of Thomas Armstrong, while playing with powder here, today, was burned about the face and hands.

Mrs. Robert Abbie and children, of Nakusp, are visiting Mrs. D. St. Denis.

Mrs. Beck and children of Nelson are visiting friends here.

Mrs. Campbell and children, who have been spending the past six weeks with Mrs. J. A. Anderson, left today for their home in Carnduff.

The local Odd Fellows held memorial services last Sunday.

AT HENLEY

How Canadian Rowing Men Are Progressing for Regatta

HENLEY, July 23.—The Argonaut four rowed the full course today in 8:08 under unfavorable conditions. Bowler rowed a full course in 10:29 and rowed very well. Scholes worked with the pair over the course a copule of times, but no time was taken. He weighs 168 pounds. The Canadians are in good health.

The Cambridge and Leander crews were out rowing sprints today. The Argonauts will row a trial over the regular Henley distance on Friday night, paced by Sullivan, Towns and Collen in a treble. The course has been very slow the last few days and tht Canadians seem to be the only ones who are not afraid of the heavy course.

The Cambridge, Leanders and Argonauts rowed two minute sprints yesterday. There was not three feet difference between the boats.

BAD BUSINESS

One of the most severe electrical storms ever experienced here swept over the city about 2 o'clock this morning. At 2:52 light and power was shut off at the substation and remained off for some 14 minutes. The lights were turned on again for a few moments and then darkness reigned once more.

Later on electrical superintendent Brown notified the Daily News that a puncture had been made at the Bonnington plant and that until he had personally inspected the break he could not say when power could be supplied.

Mr. Brown and two other men subsequently got horses and rode down to Bonnington and about 6 a. m. word was sent to The Daily News saying: "Impossible to give you power now. May be able to do so by 2 o'clock today."

The Daily News then made arrangements to fall back on the water system and managed to get a paper on the street during the morning. At the time of going to press no further word had been received from Bonnington.

It was sincerely hoped that under the city's own management, a regular service could be relied upon, but it seems not. The closing down of the system as was done this morning means a heavy loss to this newspaper and to all who count on receiving a steady supply of power. There should be an official statement forthcoming today explaining very fully what happened this morning whereby the power was turned off indefinitely. If a break down is to be ex*pected every time a thunderstorm comes* along, then it will be useless to rely on the city's system unless a second unit is installed and possibly not then. There should certainly be a prompt investigation.

CANADIAN YACHTS WIN

THEY CLINCHED PRIZE MONEY IN UNIVERSITY CLASSES

ZORAYA AND AGGIE FIRST IN THEIR CLASSES

PUT-IN-BAY, Ohio, July 23.—In today's sailing race of the inter-lake yacht association the boats were favored with a 15 mile breeze.

The Canadians boats clinched the prize money in the universal classes.

The Canadian boats Zoraya and Aggie were first and second respectively in class "A" with the Shark of Toledo third. Time 1:31.

In class "B" the Canadian boat Crusader was first.

The Aboc of Buffalo was the first in class "D" race with the time allowance. The Enright of Toledo was second. Time 2:01.

In the 21-foot class, first place was taken by the Spray of Chicago, with the Cleveland of Cleveland second.

The Hayseed of Lakewood for the third time won the first place in the 18-foot class with Bonito of Sandusky third. Time 1:36.

In the 16-foot class Zella II of Toledo, for the second time took first place. Hoorah of Lakewood was second.

The Detroit cut boat again led the cats at the finish. Second and third places were taken by the Toledo boats. Distance, 4½ miles. Time 1:13.

ARE SENT DOWN

Eight Cadets at West Point Sent Home For Hazing

WEST POINT, July 23.—Eight cadets in the U. S. military academy today were sent to their homes as a result of hazing members of the fourth class.

The cadets who have been placed under suspension, will have their cases passed upon by the secretary of war, and have been ordered to await the secretary's action at their homes. Precedent in such cases sets the penalty at dismissal. Just what *the incident was which has caused the sus*pensions cannot be learned here. The academy authorities refuse to give out any information regarding it. The incident was given publicity by one of the accused cadets after leaving West Point.

CANADIAN IS FIRST

Robert Kerr, of Hamilton, Captures the 200 Metre Race and With It Wears the Laurel Crown of the Field Sports of the Olympiad—Great and Greater Britain Are Easily in the Lead of All Competitors of a World Arrayed Against

Kerr Wins

PROVINCIAL LIBRARY.

LONDON, July 23—Robt. Kerr, Hamilton, Canada, won the 200 metre flat race today.

A recent description of the winner, published in an Ontario paper, says of him: Bobby Kerr of Hamilton, Canada's premier sprinter, is one of Canada's athletic gentlemen. He is a classy boy from the roof of his hat down and here in Canada we believe him to be as good as the best of them. Kerr has been timed 10 flat a dozen times last summer for the 100 yards. Kerr has been timed 9 4-5 several times, both in Toronto and Hamilton and is good for 10 flat any time he is pressed. He was a slow starter last season and won all the races from 50 yards up, and this season he has been working at the barrier and now he kicks off with the sound of the gun. He did 5 2-5 for the 50 yards indoors at Riverdale arena last winter. Kerr is a grand handicap runner and frequently has to concede 12 yards in 100. He wins all over the country and probably has more prizes than any man of the younger brigade in the country. Kerr is 23 years of age and weighs about 144 pounds. He is a very stylish runner.

LONDON, July 23 — The unfortunate series of disputes in connection with the Olympic games culminated today in an occurrence which threatened to wreck the Olympic meetings.

The trouble was over the final heat of the 400 metre flat race, for which Lieut. Wyndham Halswell, United Kingdom; J. C. Carpenter, Cornell university; J. B. Taylor, Irish-American A.C., and C. W. Robbins, Cambridge, Mass., qualified.

With the exception of Taylor, the men got off quickly, and Robbins sprinted in front taking the pole from Carpenter who was just behind with Halswell trailing along beside him. Their spurt for the final hundred yards was just beginning when suddenly a number of officials rushed on to the track, the tape across the finish was torn down and the race was declared void. The official announcement was that Carpenter had fouled Halswell on the turn. An uproar followed. Officials of the amateur A.C. ran along the edges of the track shouting "foul." The runners, with the exception of Taylor continued the race to the finish Carpenter passing the post first, Robbins second and Halswell third. Taylor, who was in the rear, was dragged off the track by one of the excited officials who shouted all the while that it was no race. The uproar continued for nearly half an hour and as the people poured out of the stands, the arguments were taken up at the aisles and gateways by excited thousands and the race is still the subject of the bitterest wrangling everywhere.

Matthew H. Halpin immediately entered a protest claiming the race for Carpenter who had done the distance according to unofficial watches in the remarkable time of 48 2-5. A committee meeting of the amateur athletic associ*ation was called and the judges who* rendered the decision and Halswell, were called to state their case. Neither any member of the American committee nor any of the three United States runners, however, was called on to make a statement and the committee later rendered tthe following decision: "The judges decide the race void and order the same to be run again on Saturday afternoon. Carpenter is disqualified." When they heard the decision the members of the United States committee met and passed a resolution ordering the men not to run on Saturday.

Jas. T. Sullivan, the American commissioner, said this evening: "Carpenter ran well out at the first bend and coming to the second bend leading to the straight where he ran wide as he had perfect right to do." Halswell, instead of taking advantage of this chance, and getting in to the post, remained in his old position. Never in my life have I witnessed a scene that struck me as being so unsportsmanlike and unfair, as that in which the officials participated. When Carpentter started to leave Halswell behind, the officials cried "foul" in unison and raised thteir hands and hats while the announcer ran around also yelling "foul."

Furthermore they did the unsportsmanlike act of running up the track in an endeavor to stop Carpenter coming through and meanly broke the tape so as not to give him that honor. They practically declared it no race without authority. There was but one man in the arena who had authority to do that and he was the referee. The referee did not do so."

The formal announcement of the United States committee is as follows: "We have decided to protest the decision as unfair and because the officials declared 'no race' without consideration.

Carpenter, whose team mates say, would be the last one to resort to fouling to win medals, thus described the race. "As we approached the last bend, Robbins had the pole and was leading by a yard. I made my effort there and I certainly ran wide, as I have done every time I have been on the track. Halswell had lots of room to pass me on either side. It is ridiculous to talk of a break, of a team "boring," or pocketting, as good a man as Halswell is in a quarter mile. No team could do it. We had nothing of the kind in view; we just raced him off his feet and he could not stand the pace."

F. Leroy Holmes, of Chicago, had an unpleasant experience with the spectators this afternoon. He was giving a splendid exhibition in the standing high jump when without any cause whatever the spectators commenced to say "boo." This got so bad that the referee had to call out that if the disturbance did not stop the jumping would be postponed. This threat served to bring about quiet, after Holmes had been made to feel very uncomfortable.

It is an undeniable fact that the United States athletes have not been popular in England since the famous Cornell rowing episode. The public mind has been charged with the belief that American amateurs are tainted with professionalism. The Americans knowing this have done their utmost to win.

In the standing high jump, Ray Ewry, N. Y. A. C., won the final, topping the bar at 5 feet 2 inches.

Kelly, United Kingdom won the final in the catch-as-catch-can wrestling heavyweight over 161 pounds.

Francis Epsee's team took first honors in fencing.

The United Kingdom took seven heats *in the 110 metres hurdlee event and Bel*gium and Norway one each.

Longboat, the Canadian Indian runner, in the Marathon, is under protest made by the United States committee and the amateur athletic federation of Canada who desire to protect their own registered athletes in America.

The following is the official account of the accident: "It was distinctly understood by the runners before they went to their marks that in the event of any boring ,the race was to be run half an *hour later. The draw for positions re*sulted in Carpenter getting the inside position. Then came Halswell, Taylor and Robbins on the outside. Carpenter started off in the lead at a great pace, with Robbins second, Halswell third and Taylor fourth. To the middle of the bend the positions were the same. Halswell drew up, according to the umpire stationed at the spot, and led for as near as could be judged, half a second. Carpenter then ran wide, elbowing Halswell on to the outside of the track. Then Robbins crossed to the inside. A signal was given by the umpire when Halswell was fouled and all the men, with the exception of Carpenter, who ran right out, partially pulled up, as the worsted man had been broken and there could be no race. Taylor ran perfectly fair throughout. The judges themselves then inspected the footmarks which showed with perfect clearness that what happened was unquestionably such as to bear out the umpire's signal and to prove that a foul had been committed."

Robert Kerr of Hamilton, Canada, won the 200 metre flat race. Cloughen, Irish-American A.C., was second and C. J. Cartmell, university of Pennsylvania third. Time for the winner 22 2-5 seconds. Cloughen led Cartmell by a foot. Hawkins, United Kingdom, was fourth.

The four men in this event got away to a splendid start. Kerr finally showed in the front and although Cloughen ran a magnificent spurt at the half way and pulled up inch by inch, he was unable to catch the speedy Canadian, who breasted the tape nine inches ahead of him.

In the first section of the standing high jump at the stadium this morning, Tsicitaras, Greece, won with a jump of 5 feet 1 inch. Adams, United States, was second with 4 feet 10 inches and Dupont, Belgium, third. In this event the best eight in all sections come together in the final.

In the second section of the standing high jump, Ray C. Ewry, New York A. C., cleared 5 feet 1 inch and J. A. Biller, Brooklyn Central Y. M. C. A., 4 feet 11 inches.

The third section of the high jump was won by Holmes, Chicago, with 5 feet. F. C. Irons, Chicago and Gallwitz, Germany, each made 4 feet 9 inches.

In the fourth section in the standing high jump, Motte, France, was first with 4 feet 9 inches, L. Robertson, Irish-American A. C., did not qualify for the final.

The final of the standing high jump was won by Ray C. Ewry, New York A. C., with 5 feet 4 inches.

J. A. Biller, Brooklyn Y. M. C. A., and Tsiolitaras, Greece, tied for second place with 5 feet 1 inch.

H. LeRoy Holmes, Chicago, was fourth with 5 feet flat and will be given a certificate of merit.

The first heat of the 110 metre hurdle race was won by Healy, United Kingdom, time 15 4-5 seconds.

The second heat, J. C. Garrels, Chicago A. A., won, time 16 1-5 seconds.

The third heat of the 110 metre hurdle was won by Groenings, United Kingdom, time 16 2-5 seconds.

Fourth heat, Kieleye, United Kingdom, won easily.

Fifth heat, W. M. Rand, Harvard University, won, time 15 4-5 seconds.

Sixth heat, Waites, United Kingdom, won, time 17 3-5 seconds.

Seventh heat, Knydat, United Kingdom, won easily.

Halbert, Belgium, won the eight heat of the 110 metre hurdles easily.

Ahearn, United Kingdom, won the ninth heat in a walkover.

Tenth heat, F. C. Smith, Multinoma A. C., won, time 15 4-5 seconds.

*Eleventh heat, Hussey, United King*dom, won, time 16 4-5 seconds.

Twelfth heat, Kinahap, United Kingdom, won, time 16 4-5 seconds.

Thirteenth heat, L. V. Howe, Yale, won, time 15 4-5 seconds.

Fourteenth, and last heat, A. J. Shaw, Dartmouth, won.

In the final of the 400 metre flat race, J. C. Carpenter, Cornell came in first.

A sensation was created when the officials declared it was no race. This decision was reached on the ground that Carpenter had "bored" Halswell, the English runner. Boring is the English term for "pocketing."

A. C. Robbins, Harvard, was second.

Halswell was third and J. B. Taylor, Irish-American, was fourth.

Matthew P. Halpin, manager of the American team, says the Americans won't run the race over.

As soon as the decision of the officials was made known the grand stands were in an uproar, the Englishmen cheering the announcement and the Americans hooting.

The "Boring" is alleged to have occurred at the corner into the stretch. To the spectators, it seemed impossibele. They could not see how Carpenter, who had the post, could avoid coming out a little as the men had started to sprint.

The judges decision in the matter of the final of the 400 metre flat is as follows:

"The judges decide the race is void and they order the same to be run over in strings on Saturday afternoon. Carpenter is disqualified."

The final of the catch-as-catch-can heavyweight to 161 pounds wrestling was won by O'Kelly, United Kingdom, who defeated Gunderson, Norway.

The first heat of the semi-finals of the 1500 metre swim was won by Taylor, United Kingdom, Beaurepaire, Australia, second; time 22 minutes 54 seconds; both men qualified for finals.

*The second heat was won by Batters*by, United Kingdom, in 22 minutes 22 seconds; Scheff, Austria, second.

Stambrey, Sweden, won the first heat of the high diving semi-finals, with 72.3 points. The second heat was won by Johannel, Sweden, with 70 points. Geo. W. Gaidizak ,Chicago, third, with 61.3 points.

As the Olympic games draw toward a close, interest in them increases and fine weather, although late in coming, is now smiling upon the great international con*test for athletic supremacy, and with the* assistance of cheaper seats is bringing out crowds of spectators to the stadium.

Yesterday was to the meeting what Derby day is to the Epsom racing week, the final of the 100 metre sprint, in the eyes of the general public, being considered the most important event of the meeting. Those who follow athletics, however, were just as keenly interested in the finals of the two races which were run today. The first of these was the 200 metre flat race, in which Kerr of Canada, ran against Cartmell, Cloughen, and Hawkins. The Americans have feared Kerr more than the Englishmen, but after two hard runs yesterday it was thought he might have gone stale.

The other final on which the eyes of the experts were turned was the 400 metre flat race, in which Carpenter, Taylor and Robbins, United States, met Halswell, a lieutenant in the British army, and described as the greatest mile runner the United Kingdom has had in years.

The Graeco-Roman wrestling, lightweights to 147 pounds, and the catch-as-catch-can matches between heavyweights up to 161 pounds, going on at mats at either end of the arena, kept the adherents of that form of sport entranced all day long. The only American entered in these events was Lee Talbot, and he was defeated in the first bout at catch-as-catch-can by O'Reilly, United Kingdom.

The tribute the Americans at the stadium paid to Walker, the young South African, who yesterday won the 100 metre dash, appears to have appealed strongly to English sportsmanship and is likely to do much to dispel the soreness caused by the American protests earlier in the games. Most of the morning papers describe yesterday's demonstration in complimentary terms.

The Standard says: "The Americans took a leading part in the ovation given Walker. They showered congratulations upon him and the young men who were massed in the grandstand, carrying the flag of their country, went out of their way to praise their conqueror.

(Special to The Daily News.)

*LONDON, July 23.—The greatest in*dignation is felt in Canada's action, through Leslie Boyd, in protesting Longboat. It is the unanimous opinion that in making the protest Boyd is playing into the hands of Sullivan and that the Indian has been wounded in the house of his friends.

Boyd declares in his letter to the Olympic council that Longboat being under disqualificaation by the Amateur Athletic Federation of Canada for competing in unregistered meetings in Canada, he formally protests against Longboat competing in the Marathon for the purpose of protecting hereafter in America all athletes registered in the federation who compete in the race.

Longboat was seen to night by a Canadian Associated Press representative at Windsor tonight. He looked fit to run the race of his life. He bruised his leg and his feet are somewhat blistered, but in his fast trial run this morning he found that neither inconvenienced him. Longboat is full of confidence. He said tonight: "I am going to do my utmost to win tomorrow. Whoever beats me will have to go. I never felt better." Longboat added that he preferred rain, as he could stand a greater strain than any of the white men. There is ,however, every indication that the day will be scorching. Crocker is still of the opinion that Simpson is a better man than Longboat. Everyone is enthusiastic about the course, which is declared to be the best in the world.

The Britishers pin their faith on Duncan, Beale, Lord or Price. The last named has done the 25 miles in 2 hours and 35 minutes. Duncan did 22 miles in 2 hours and 12 seconds.

The Olympic council disqualified Carpenter and ordered the 400 metre race to be run on Saturday in Strings. The doctors state that Halswell's chest is bruised and sore where Carpenter elbowed him.

ACTIVITY IN TROUT LAKE

GOOD STRIKES MADE UPON THE RUSTY AXE CLAIM

MANY PROPERTIES ARE OPERATING THIS SUMMER

J. C. Murray of Trout Lake recently in the city as a delegate to the conservative convention says that matters mining are rapidly reviving in Trout Lake district and that there is a good deal of active work in progress.

Last week a decided simulus was given to mining by the uncovering on the Rusty Axe claim on Haskins creek of a ledge, two feet wide, of high grade silver lead ore, running about $100 to the ton. The government has undertaken to cut a trail to the property in order to facilitate operations.

The Silver Cup is steadily shipping and the management are pleased to be able to report that the rich values which were found at the surface have not gone out with depth. Indeed the reverse is the case, the deeper the workings the better the ore.

The True Blesue is getting out ore and storing it awaiting the falling of snow in order to run on the results of the summer work.

Similar operations are in progress at the Noble Five where a vein of galena ore, eighteen inches wide, averaging $150 to the ton, is being successfully exploited.

Andy Daney is opening up the Baltimore and Brooklyn on the north fork of the Lardo river and has now come upon some nice ore in the face of the drift. Another gang of men are working at the Cromwell from which great things are expected. Altogether Mr. Murray thinks that the optimistic views of the people of his district are entirely justifiable.

Clement Reversed

VANCOUVER, July 23—Local advices state that the privy council has reversed Mr. justice Clement's decision denying the right of the British Columbia courts to grant divorce decrees.

SYMPATHY FOR TILAK

TWENTY THOUSAND MILLMEN GO ON STRIKE

INDIANA NATIVES ARE GREATLY WROUGHT UP

*BOMBAY, July 23.—In order to demon*strate their sympathy for Tilak, the nationalist leader, who was yesterday sentenced to deportation for six years on the charge of sedition, 20,000 mill hands went on strike today and all the Hindu shops are closed.

The natives are greatly wrought up and rioting is expected.

Tilak was the editor of a newspaper which published virulent attacks on British rule.

FIGHTING RESUMED

Revolutionists Capture Three Lines of Trenches at Tabriz

ST. PETERSBURG, July 23.—A special despatch received here from Tabriz, Persia, says fighting was resumed in that city today. The revolutionists captured three lines of trenches and earth*works that had been thrown up around* the residence of the governor, who is in virtual capitivity.

IRISH OAKS

Richard Croker's Filly Defeats the Favorite, American Girl

CURRAGH, July 23.—Richard Croker's filly, Queen of Peace, yesterday won the Irish Oaks at the Curragh meeting, beating the favorite America Girl.

WANT LUMBER

Big Orders Placed With a Local Company

BUILD MANY ELEVATORS

NORTHWEST GROWING SO RAPIDLY THAT BUILDINGS BY THE SCORE ARE NOW REQUISITE—REVIVAL IN LUMBER INDUSTRY IS NOW TO COME.

There is little doubt that the time of sluggishness on the part of the lumbering industry, with which it has been afflicted since the time of the bad harvest of last year in the northwest, a quietude accentuated by the financial crisis of the late fall of 1907, is last approaching its end. Indeed things in the northwest are already beginning to move. The lumber stocks are generally depleted and orders must begin to pour in from the farmers and their agents for the building of residences and barns within the next few weeks, especially as it seems now to be assured that the crops on the prairies this season will be a bumper record.

This may be guaged in another way by orders coming into Nelson. Within the last ten days secretary W. A. Poole of the Yale-Columbia Lumber company has shipped to Nutana, a distributing point on the Grand Trunk Pacific, east of Re*gina, upwards of 15 carloads of lumber* for the building of elevators for the storing of the harvest grain. More are following immediately. This shipment is only part of an order of 55 cars of lumber placed with the Yale-Columbia Lumber company of this city and with its associates in business, the Bowman Lumber company and the Elk River Lumber company of Fernie.

Nor is this all. The 55 cars mentioned will build about 11 elevators. But 11 elevators will by no means fill the re*quirements of the district around Nutana* so great is the recent growth. More than twice that number will be erected immediately and in that district alone there will be constructed this summer from 20 to 24 elevators. The orders will come to the companies mentioned and will keep them going for some time.

But if so many elevators are requisite for the needs of one district, what about the barns and the houses to be built for the farmers who are growing the grain? Hence this order must not be considered *as an isolated case but merely as a pre*cursor of a heavy demand which is bound to come in just as soon as the grain is harvested. And the revival of the lumbering industry, following a successful fruit crop and accompanied by a revival in mining will set the Kootenay on its feet more firmly than it has ever stood before.

DESPERATE CHARACTERS

Breaking up of a Band of Bandits at Boston—Several Killed

BOSTON, July 23.—After three deadly battles between three desperadoes and the police and citizens, one of the bandits was riddled with bullets and killed today, while a second, believed to be wounded, is being searched for in the cemetery in which the fight occurred. A third was taken last evening on the South station. All three were members of the band that has been terrorizing the Jamaica Plains district.

The band left behind it over its trail of a mile and a half, three dead and eleven wounded, and was composed of the most desperate characters that have appeared in the streets of Boston for several years. All are believed to be foreigners.

INTERNATIONAL REGATTA

Great Racing at Winnipeg Commences Today—Rivalry Is Very Keen

WINNIPEG, July 23.—The big International regatta opens here tomorrow. Rivalry in all the events is very keen, the closing day of the regatta barring accidents, will see the fastest and most closely contested race that have ever been pulled on the Red river. The Minnesota crews from Duluth, Minneapolis and St. Paul are here and are practicing daily on the course. Kenora and Fort William crews are also here and with the Winnipeg crews who have entered, will no doubt make a splendid showing against their American rivals.

SUMMER TRAMPS

Severely Attack a Citizen and Get Away From the Police

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., July 23.—In a hand to hand battle with a gang of tramps, whom the police were attempting to arrest, Charles Kane, who has been called upon by the police to assist them, was so severely beaten that he died a few minutes later. The tramps escaped but are being pursued.

BAD BUSINESS

Citizens who were congratulating themselves on the recent taking over of the municipal power plant by the city authorities must have sustained a severe shock this morning when they found the power off and no very definite idea obtainable of when it would be turned on again.

With The Daily News, for instance, the loss and annoyance sustained by the breakdown is very serious. The summer is only half over. May we expect what happened early this morning to happen again when the next thunder storm comes along? What guarantee can the city officials give us that we can depend upon anything like a regular service?

All the users of city power were up in arms this morning and there is a strong feeling that something should be done to make a repetition of today's breakdown most unlikely.

Above all things, citizens will look to mayor Taylor to institute a prompt and thorough investigation into the cause of this morning's breakdown and also if it could reasonably have been prevented. Nothing but a very plain statement of all facts, after a searching enquiry, will be acceptable; there has already been enough trouble over the new power system and power users look to the mayor to take up the question of a steady supply of power without further loss of time.

If anyone is to blame the fact should be ascertained and acted upon at once.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Canada welcomes the prince of Wales for his own sake. If he has not shown matchless strength, he has at least exhibited many of the qualities of a man and a prince. He has moved about among the people, great and small, and has steadily increased the circle of his friends. Canada also welcomes the prince for his father's sake. King Edward VII. has always had and retained the unswerving fidelity and admiration of the people in this portion of his dominions. To them he is the first Gentleman and Diplomat of Europe, the strong individuality which has led the empire on to its greatest victories in peaceful diplomacy, the sovereign of a world-wide empire who has never unsheathed his sword. And perhaps above all, Canada welcomes the prince for the sake of a memory—a memory of that beloved grandmother who for so many years possessed the respect, esteem, affection and love of millions of the black and white citizens of that world-encircling empire. On her grandson will be lavished much of the affection which she engendered in the hearts of all classes of Canadian citizens.

Canada is now celebrating its 300th birthday, and the celebration is an event in the world's history. The scene is the ancient capital, the city of Quebec, where on July 3, 1608, Samuel de Champlain landed, built a habitation, and founded the first settlement on the St. Lawrence. About the name of Champlain gathers all of the opening chapter of Canada's history. For more than a quarter of a century he gave himself up with whole-souled devotion to the difficult and discouraging task of planting and fostering a colony in a distant land to the glory and honor of his country. The year of 1908 will be further memorable by the setting apart of the historic battlefields of Quebec, to be transformed into a park, and preserved for all time, a national heirloom. The Quebec battlefields were the scenes of the close of the long struggle between the two great races in North America, and the turning point in the destiny of Canada. To Quebec today all roads run, for from Britain and throughout the empire, from France, from the United States, and all parts of Canada visitors by thousands have thronged to witnessed the wonderful pageants recalling the great deeds and heroic men and women in Canada's early history.

CANADIANS AT BISLEY

MANY WINNERS IN DIFFERENT SHOOTING MATCHES

QUALIFIED IN SECOND STAGE OF KING'S PRIZE

BISLEY, July 23—In the all-comers aggregate yesterday and in the aggregate of scores in the Graphic, Daily Graphic, Daily Telegraph and Alexandra contests Sergt. Morris was sixth, winning £5; lieutenant Sclater was 24th winning £2; Lieut. Mortimer was 31st, winning £2. Morris' total was 166 and the other two 163. The next highest Canadian was Crowe with 161.

Sergt. Morris has a nice lead in the grand aggregate matches so far shot and stands more than a good chance of winning the prize offered by lord Strathcona for the highest score made by a member of the Canadian team. For the Canadian club, given to the next highest man several members of the team have good chances.

In the Stock Exchange prizes, Capt. Crowe, who was 130th, and Sergt. Brown, 169th, each won £1.

In the second stage of the Barlow, Sergt Morris was 71st, winning £1.

In the Secretary of State contest, shot today, Canadian prize winners were: Pte. Steele, 20th, £3; Lieut. Mortimer, 31st, £2; Lieut. Elmit, 64th, £2; Lieut. Col. Spearing, 69th, £2.

The St. George's challenge vase was shot for today. The first prize is the vase, Dragon cup, gold cross and £30. The match is competed in two stages, at 500 and 600 yards, seven shots at each range. The weather was fine but the light was bad and a tricky wind was blowing.

The Imperial Tobacco trophy, valued at £52 10s, was also shot for today. The distance is 1000 yards, ten shots each. In this competition the Canadians with a few exceptions fared poorly.

The following Canadians are qualified in the second stage of the King's prize competition tomorrow: Brown, Eastcott, Freeborn, MacInnes, Jones, Leach, Morris, Pope, Smith Steele Utton and Bayles.

MAIL ORDER HOUSES

Indictments Preferred Against Twenty-Nine Concerns for Fraud

CHICAGO, July 23.—The federal grand jury today adjourned after having returned indictments against 29 mail order houses whose alleged illegal profits are said to have been between four and five millions of dollars. The charge is using the mails to defraud.

The jury also returned 28 indictments in the crusade against the "white slave" traffic and 10 indictments against the Illinois Central and Rock Island roads for issuing passes to fruit shippers.

STATISTICS OF INDUSTRY

GREAT IMPROVEMENT UPON LAST YEAR'S FIGURES

IMMIGRATION RETURNS AS TO THE NORTHWEST

(Special to The Daily News.)

OTTAWA, July 23.—The statistics of the labor department show a distinct improvement in industrial conditions during June. There were 13 trade disputes recorded, as compared with 16 during the preceding month and 40 during June, 1907. Thirty firm and 506 employees were involved and the loss of working days was 32,522, as compared with 130,155 in May of last year.

The figures issued by the interior department show that in the last five months 10,502 homesteads entries were taken out in western Canada, an increase of 922 over the corresponding period last year.

The respective nationalties represented were: Americans 736, British 394 and Ontarians came next with 333.

The railway commission does not propose to give a ruling regarding passengers' right to sit in the front of open cars, but instead, has addressed a circular letter to all traction companies, requesting them to forbid motormen talking to passengers. Since the accident on the Ottawa-Britannia line in which over a score were injured ladies and children are not permitted to sit in the front seats of capital cars.

Industrial accidents happened to 400 people in the dominion during June. Of this number 137 ended fatally. Agriculture and the railway service head the list with 28 fatalities each.

PRINCE RUPERT NOTES

Active Preparations for the Opening of the Town

(Special to The Daily News.)

PRINCE RUPERT, July 23.—The work of surveying the townsite of Prince Rupert goes merrily on, about a dozen engineers and men being employed. It is now stated that after the survey is completed at least three streets will be graded this fall, even before the lots are placed on the market. As a further indication of the opening of the townsite this fall both of the large hotels owned by the Grand Trunk Pacific railway are now being furnished and thoroughly equipped for business. All the furniture for these hotels arrived here during the past few days and is now being installed, giving work to many idle men.

John McPherson, a resident of Prince Rupert, has been appointed a fish warden for this district, as it has been reported that dynamite and spears have been used in the capturing of fish in these parts.

Ross & Carlson's contract for the big cut on the railway at Prince Rupert was this week enlarged so as to take in the whole bluff, which entails much more work than was first contemplated. This means the handling of several hundred thousand yards of rock.

Portable buildings made in Vancouver for the post office here, as well as for other government buildings, have arrived and will be erected immediately on an ideal building location about half way between the Vickersville and Knoxville suburbs. These buildings were accompanied by a staff of carpenters to attend to their erection. There is great indignation here over the bringing in of these outside men, especially when there are so many idle carpenters in and about Prince Rupert.

Strange Things Done in the Name of Justice—A Boy and a Dog

This desperate youthful criminal was sent to the protectory.

Strange things are done in the name of the law. When a gang of young hoodlums armed with base ball bats dirve quiet passengers from a car, or when college students riot in a theatre or destroy fences to build their class bon fire, a small fine or a reprimand is deemed sufficient punishment. The face of justice takes on an expression of smug satisfaction, for the quality of mercy is not strained. But sometimes the crime is so heinous that justice veils its face. Apparently such was the offense of little Henry Hariff.

"Well, anyhow," he said, as he was being led away, "when I get out I'll find dat dog if he's alive." And so the boy went to a home which the community sets apart for the reformation of juvenile delinquents, his only ofense the love of a despised dog. Henry has learned early how the world regards those who take the part of the under dog. And the father who has taught him this lesson and the law which has administered it can complacently contemplate their vindication of parental duty.

Best in Years

WINNIPEG, July 23.—The Canadian Northern crop report handed out this morning shows the crop in all parts of the province advancing at a great rate. Weather and crop conditions were never better. Taking everything into consideration the outlook for an early harvest is good with prospects of the best yield in years.

AN ECONOMICAL TEA

Blue Ribbon

Tea selling at 25c or 30c a pound is not really cheap, but is extravagantly dear.

Because so much of it is usually required that the cost per cup is actually more than if a good tea like Blue Ribbon were used.

A pound of Blue Ribbon Tea will make 250 cups of good rich tea, so, even at 50c a pound you would get four or five cups for one cent.

Not a very dear drink, is it?

And as for flavor, there is simply no comparison between Blue Ribbon and the "cheap" teas.

Just try a pound, and see.

THE CHICKEN FARMER

SPROUTED OATS FOR FEEDING POULTRY

HINTS FOR MAKING MONEY ON SMALL RANCHES

Several United States poultry journals are advocating the feeding of sprouted oats to poultry. The following is from the Commercial Poultry.

Hens will lay as well and perhaps better when kept in confinement than when on free run, if all their requirements are met; but if they are restricted to one or two kinds of grain, with no meat, grit, dust bath, shells, or exercise, and poor water, their production will be small. Green foods must be supplied them and this can be served in the form of sprouted grains, which are highly esteemed as an egg-producing food.

More than 20 years ago the value of sprouted grain was recognized by a few and the process of preparing it published in the agricultural and poultry papers; but owing to the work involved it never became popular. Some years ago the Reliable Poultry Journal published an account of the method employed in Ireland—how they sprouted oats in boxes for the growing stock. This method was hooted at by some of our leading poultry keepers who are now feeding sprouted grain to hens in confinement and some even assert that it can be made the principal feed. That it does solve the question of green feed and makes it possible to keep poultry in more limited quarters than ever before, there can be no [illegible]

Some place great stress on the cheapness of this feed, as a bushel of grain, especially oats, when sprouted, will increase in bulk and make four bushels; thus a bushel of oats costing 60 cents will make four bushels of feed, the cost being but 15 cents per bushel. It is not however, a cheap food; it requires considerable labor to prepare. The increase is not as great as where the grain is sown in the ground, neither is there as much space required; but the labor to sprout a single bushel of oats is as great as to sow and harvest the same.

Grain can be sprouted in almost any place where it will not freeze. The warmer the place the better. In winter a warm cellar workroom can be used; and in summer, if no better place affords, it can be done out of doors. It is best to have racks for this purpose. A frame of 1x3 inch stuff, set edgewise is first made. To this frame securely nail lath, placing them from 1-8 to 1-4 inch apart. This makes a box 4x4 feet three inches deep, with a slatted bottom and a partition in the middle. The center partition is only for the purpose of strengthening the lath. The lath should be soaked in water over night so they will not split when being nailed. The number of racks required will, of course, depend upon the number of fowls to be fed.

Place the grain to be sprouted in a tub and cover it with water (warm water is best) and allow it to soak for 24 hours. Pour off the water and let them drain for half a day, then cover the racks with old bran sacking, single thickness and spread the grain upon them to the depth of about two inches. If space is limited racks can be placed one upon another; and if out of doors a cover should be made for them that will turn rain. Night and morning the grain is taken down and sprinkled with hot water, the hotter the better, using a hand sprinkling pot or spray pump. The racks can then be replaced. It does not matter if the water in the upper racks drains down into those beneath, as it will run off in time. In from ten days to two weeks, depending upon the temperature, they will be ready to feed. When in proper condition for feeding the sod will be three or four inches thick and the growth of green food on top of this will be four to six inches long. When feeding, give a block about a foot square to 50 hens Each rack holds about a bushel of grain before sprouting and will make 16 feeds for 50 hens. It will answer the purpose of one green feed and grain food. With a block of this feed in the morning, corn and wheat at night, and a mash meal, grit, shells and beef scrap in hoppers where the hens can supply any deficiency a good, simple and inexpensive ration is served.

The Rural New Yorker publishes the following: A recent issue of the Rural New York gave Mr. Cosgrove's method of supplying hens with green food in winter. We get an ample supply at a minimum cost from sprouted oats. A furnace in the cellar or other warm place is necessary for the operation in winter, we expect to continue it this summer out of doors. The oats are placed in a water tight vessel and covered with warm water and allowed to stand 24 hours when they are emptied into a box that will allow the water to drain off freely. Oats are left in this box and wetted twice a day with warm water until the oats have sprouts a quarter of an inch long, when they are spread in boxes about one inch deep. The sprinkling is continued until the oats are as long as you desire. We usually use them when four or five inches long. The hen will eat the roots as well as the tops. With a temperature of 60 degrees, ten days will bring the result; so after the first start this green food can be provided for each day. Chicks will eat the oats when a week old and leave all other food alone. As the fowls all prefer the oats to green clippings of fresh cut lawn gress, I shall continue the feeding of sprouted oa's a l summer. S nce using this method of getting green food I learn that this information is being sold as a secret for $5. As we were using this method before we heard of our friend with the $5 secret, we feel free to offer it to our readers, having obtained the idea from the Chinese in San Francisco in 1870. The green color can be given to the oats by one day's exposure to the light. They grow as freely in the dark and the boxes can be stacked over each other if short of room. I believe this to be the cheapest green food that can be given in the winter.

There is perhaps no one thing that will have so bad a general effect upon young chicks as dampness. Not only will it tend to cause disease and death among the weaker ones, but is also apt to stunt the stronger chickens in their growth and aids in the increase of lice and mites.

The position of the coops or broods should be well considered, to make sure that they are not in a wet or damp spot. Ground with a slope is the best, so that the water from steady rains or heavy showers will be readily carried off. It is also a good plan to dig a small trench close to each coop or brooder, thus allowing the water to be carried off more readily in sudden heavy downpours.

Small platforms made the right size to fit in the bottoms of the coops protect the chicks from the damp ground during wet spells of weather. The platforms are easily made from thin pieces of board nailed on cross pieces. Care must be taken to keep them clean. These platforms while being of benefit, will not answer all purposes, however, for if the place where the coops are situated is naturally wet, trouble will follow.

Sod is the best place on which to locate coops or brooders, sandy soil is also a good place if it has not been disturbed to any depth. When the hens and chicks are out on bright, sunny days after rains, it is a good plan to turn the coops on their sides or backs so as to let the sun have full possession and thoroughly dry out any dampness that may be present.

THE PRINCE AT QUEBEC

FURTHER ACCOUNT OF THE BIG RECEPTION

CROWD WENT WILD WHEN LORD ROBERTS APPEARED

QUEBEC, July 23.—Amidst the most gorgeous state ceremonies, the prince of Wales arrived at Quebec yesterday afternoon and at last the Tercentenary has reached its zenith, the reception of the prince being one of the most interesting events that has happened in Canada. There were representatives of many nations, and in full state array, generals, admirals, dukes and hundreds of the most distinguished citizens of Canada and the United States as well as of Great Britain and France, to add eclat to the scene. It was most gorgeous in its splendor.

Prominent among the groups were sir Wilfrid Laurier and his cabinet, all attired in their Windsor uniforms or as privy councillors, while the premier wore his insignia as a knight of St. Michael and St. George. Immediately to the right of the government party were the representatives of the Ontario government headed by premier Whitney, who was accompanied by R. L. Borden. To the left of the government seats, were representatives from various nations and a number of officers of navies and armies, all resplendent in gold lace uniforms and cocked hats. Opposite were the troops of the 43rd D.C.O.R., of which regiment the prince is honorary colonel, which had the position of guard of honor to the prince. In the quadrangle, thus created, was a raised dais under a canopy, where the formal functions took place.

The Indomitable, the famous new British cruiser which has set the world guessing, was sighted steaming swiftly up the channel at 2:30 and immediately the ships and citadel fired a full salute of 21 guns. Then a new series of cannonading started as the admirals, the governor general and other officials made formal calls upon the prince.

The demands of the state entry being ended, the decks were prepared for the great event of the day, the landing of the prince and his progress to the citadel. In the centre of the row of seats arranged for the occasion was sir Wilfrid Laurier in his state uniform, surrounded by dignitaries of state and church. On the premier's left sat the lord bishop of Quebec and on his right Hon. R. W. Scott, as the senior privy councillor of the dominion. The other members of the cabinet present were Hon. Fielding, Templeman, Brodeur, Lemieux, Oliver, sir Frederick Borden, speaker Durand of the senate and speaker Sutherland of the commons. In the section set aside for distinguished guests were lieutenant governors sir Louise Jette of Quebec, F. Bulyea of Alberta and D. C. Fraser of Nova Scotia, the latter distinguishable as much by his giant bulk as the fact that he appeared in ordinary afternoon attire instead of Windsor uniform.

The duke of Norfolk accompanied sir Charles Fitzpatrick and appeared in brilliant uniform, wearing the blue ribbon of a Knight of the Garter. With them were the visitors of the French ships and a number of the aristocratic visitors who are spending the tercentenary season here. Suddenly the troops came to the general salute and the bands struck up the national anthem.

A whisper passed that the prince was landing, but it proved to be the governor general returning from his official visit. A moment later general Otter came up from the riverfront accompanied by a small man wearing a general's uniform covered with medals and other insignia, and a roar went up from the crowd when they recognized the veteran lord Roberts, lord Grey, colonel Denison, A. D. C., captain Newton, A. D. C., sir Charles Coste and colonel Shore of the 19th Indian Lancers

A few minutes later a tremendous cannonade came from the harbor announced that the prince had left his flagship, every warship booming out 21 guns while the Union Jack was hoisted to the masts of all vessels.

The formal greetings took place at the water's edge and as the procession moved back the bands played "God Save the King," their music being punctured by the sharp crack of the cannons from the lofty cliffs above.

Immediately the national anthem was over, sir Wilfrid Laurier, who seemed to be in high spirits, waved his plumed hat in the air and called for three cheers for the prince, which were given with a will.

The prince then proceeded to the dais and took up a position in front of the raised seat of honor. His royal highness was looking in excellent health, but it was noticed that he seemed to be rather nervous as though anxious that the business was over. The presentation of addresses followed, after which the prince was conducted in state to the citadel.

CARDINAL GIBBONS IS 74

THE GRAND OLD MAN OF ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH

MANY CONGRATULATIONS ON HIS BIRTHDAY

BALTIMORE, July 23—Cardinal Gibbons, the "grand old man" of the Roman Catholic church in America, is 74 years of age today. Friends, colleagues and admirers of the primate of the American heirarchy all over the world sent messages of congratulation.

The cardinal was born in Louisiana, July 23, 1834. In his infancy he was taken to Ireland where he received his early education. Returning to America he graduated from St. Charles' university and on June 30, 1861, was ordained a priest. He made rapid advancement and in 1868 was consecrated bishop and vicar apostolic of North Carolina. In 1877 he succeeded to the see of Baltimore. In 1886 he received the crowning honor of his life, and tribute was paid to the American church by his elevation to the college of cardinals.

With all his learning and attainments cardinal Gibbons is one of the most modest of men and is dearly beloved by the priests under his charge and thoroughly admired and esteemed by citizens of every creed. The personal habits of the cardinal are of the simplest character. His daily life is one of incessant activity, and viewing his age and slight frame, the wonder is how he can accomplish so much. He is an early riser, getting up about 5:30 in the summer and not later than 6 in the winter. He usually says the 7 o'clock mass, celebrating almost every day, even when he is at the seaside in the warm weather. After his mass he spends a short time in thanksgiving and then goes to breakfast. Afterwards he reads his newspapers, and he never neglects the baseball column, and then he attends to his correspondence. When this is accomplished he gives an hour or two to his literary work. Notwithstanding his frequent interruptions the cardinal manages to accomplish a great deal.

Visitors begin dropping in soon after 9 o'clock. The ecclesiastical business of the archdeacon is sometimes enormous. There are priests to see about their affairs, some belonging to the city, others to the country. Secular callers also come in great numbers, and on some mornings every parlor in his residence contains three or four. The cardinal is businesslike and swift in the despatch of affairs—always cordial and smiling, but showing to the dullest that he has not much time to spare. He passes from one parlor to another, dressed in his dark soutane, and upon his head the little scarlet skull cap—the iron grey hair, the pale intellectual face and the penetrating glance beneath. His eminence seldom forgets any one whom he has met, although he does not always remember names. As soon as he appears in the doorway the visitor rises and goes to him, and if a Catholic, kisses the large amethyst ring, slightly bending the knee. This obesiance is not, as some Protestants imagine, an act of idolatry, but merely signifies assent to the cardinal's spiritual authority and obedience to Rome. It is the etiquette, and, like everything else in the Catholic church has come down through ages.

The visitor's business is now related. The cardinal is quick of apprehension, listens courteously, occasionally asking questions, and in a few minutes the matter, whatever it may be, is settled, and his eminence passes to the next caller. In this way a dozen or more persons will be seen in a very short time and many things disposed of and difficulties cleared up.

On a fine morning the cardinal will sometimes take a walk down the street to the Catholic bookstores, where he looks over the latest new books and magazines, and then to the Mirror office, where he gets such newspapers as he desires to examine. He returns home in time for dinner which is served not long after noon, and a little later he will lie down for a while, especially if he has had a fatiguing morning. At 3 o'clock visitors begin to come again, and he is kept busy in one way or another until towards evening, when he goes out for his constitutional. This evening walk is a Roman custom followed by nearly all ecclesiastics. The cardinal is generally accompanied by someone—sometimes by a student of the seminary, again by a visiting prelate or a priest—and as he goes through the crowded street, with his black hat, under which the red skull cap barely shows, and the long frock coat, thousands recognize the beloved man. It may be truly said that everybody knows the cardinal. He is as great a favorite with the majority of Protestants as with the members of his own faith. A number of Protestant clergymen are among his personal friends and it is seldom that any public man of note visits Baltimore without calling at the archiepiscopal residence to pay his respects to the head of the Catholic church in America.

The cardinal's home routine is frequently interrupted by the necessity to travel. He is obliged to visit churches to administer confirmation; in June he attends many commencements and he goes upon long journeys to take part in jubilees and important church functions. It is wonderful how much he contrives to get through. He is a man of intense activity, as may be conjectured by anyone who will observe him, for instance, in a railway station waiting for the departure of his train, he does not sit down and study the crowd, but he is moving about constantly, recognizing acquaintances, chatting, incessantly in motion. Wherever he may be, the cardinal is seldom out of bed after 10 o'clock and the regularity of his habits is the secret of his ability to accomplish so much and his good health. While he is not robust, he is wiry and has an immense capacity for labor. He is an extremely moderate eater, and on Sundays often sings the high mass, which obliges him to fast until nearly 2 o'clock. His voice is not sonorous, but it is sweet and penetrating and easily fills the cathedral. He is fond of music and encourages congregational singing.

As a preacher he is always learned and interesting and often eloquent. His sermons he writes out in advance, but he is also a good extempore orator. Having been so long accustomed to figuring in public affairs and conducting the great functions of the church, he is never flurried or nervous, but when he rises to make an address is composed and fluent. The marvel is that his sermons should be so good as they are, since he is subjected to so many interruptions and can scarcely call an hour his own.

Cardinal Gibbons is one of the most democratic of men—plain, unostentatious and distinguished for good sense in all things he does. Although wise and shrewd he is free from the smallest shadow of dissimulation. He hates double dealing in all its forms. He is extremely charitable and his income does not meet the demands upon it. By no manner of means is he a rich man, and the public would be surprised to know how much he is obliged to spent in charity. Many are the things he "pays out of his own pocket," as the expression is, because he cannot refuse and of which few know but himself.

Deer Park Townsite Lots

A Good Investment at Small Cost

The Deer Park Townsite is acknowledged to be the prettiest location on the Arrow Lakes, and on account of its easy accessibility from Nelson and Rossland, and its well known fishing resources, will shortly prove to be one of the leading summer resorts of the Kootenays.

While several of these lots have already been sold this summer, there are still quite a number on the market, and for the next few weeks they can be purchased very cheaply and on easy terms. It will pay you to secure one of these if only for a speculation at the present prices.

What the Critics Say of the Geo. B. Howard Company

News-Advertiser, Vancouver.: "Mrs. Temple's Telegram," which the Geo. B. Howard company is presenting at the Lyric this week, is a comedy that has enjoyed record runs in most of the large cities of the world. It was played in New York four years ago and was such an instantaneous success that it ran for more than 400 nights in that city. In London it ran for a similar length of time and in Chicago and Boston it has held the boards for 150 night in each city. At the present time it is being played in Australia and in South Africa. That is only the second time that it has been seen in this city, and the first time that it has ever been played here by a stock company.

Geo. Howard's production is equal to any of those seen in New York and other large cities, and to say that it is enjoyed is amply evidenced by the crowded houses that fill this popular place at the evening performances. "Mrs. Temple's Te.g am" will be the opening bill at the opera hous next Monday night.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Would Have Saved Him $100.00

"In 1902 I had a very severe attack of diarrhoea" says R. N. Farrar of Cat Island, La. "For several weeks I was unable to do anything. On March, 18, 1907, I had a similar attack, and took Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy which gave me prompt relief. I consider it one of the best medicines of its kind in the world, and had I used it in 1902 I believe it would have saved me a hundred dollar doctor's bill." Sold by all druggists and dealers.

THE KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

MILLION DOLLAR CONVENTION IN BOSTON

LARGEST FRATERNAL GATHERING HELD IN THE HUB

BOSTON, July 23—Boston is now preparing for a million dollar convention, the 25th biennial session of the Knights of Pythias, which will be held here early in August. One hundred Pythians and other visitors will be entertained, making it the largest gathering that any fraternal organization has ever held in the Hub. The local committee is daily in receipt of telegrams and letters asking that accommodation be reserved for large delegations and these come from every part of Canada and the United States.

As features of the conclave, there will be two grand parades, which will make even staid Boston sit up and take notice. The first, a military parade will take place on the afternoon of Tuesday, Aug. 4. About 15,000 of the uniform rank will be in line under command of major general Arthur L. Stobbert of St. Paul. On the following day about 20,000 men of the subordinate lodges will march under command of chief marshal George E. Wragg.

The personnel of the parade will include large delegations from all parts of the United States, numbering representatives from lodges in Canada, Hawaii, Cuba and perhaps China. Interest in the affair and in the competition for the prizes that will be offered is something unprecedented.

To say that the convention and the parades will represent the expenditure of a million dollars would be falling far short of the mark by a considerable figure. The committee of the grand lodge of Massachusetts, which is the host, will alone spend more than $70,000. In addition the 32 lodges of Boston will each spend $500 to $1500 for entertainment and display. Some lodges, individuals included, will spend $5000 in this way. The competition of prizes extends to Seattle.

The uniform rank parade will be entirely military and the value of the prizes will total $11,000. In the lodge parade on Wednesday there will be a gorgeous display of floats. One of the most interesting companies will be the Pythian Sisters, who have promised at least seven floats.

It will take at least three hours for the parade Wednesday, the longest, to pass one point.

Many of the lodges will appear in uniform dress of different designs; living flags and emblems of the order will also be presented in the parade to add to the splendor and spectacular effect. From outside the state will come 1800 from Rhode Island, and 2000 from Connecticut. Business men are designing decorations for their establishments along the line of march, some promising that they will surpass the best of the old home week displays. From a grand stand on the Common, the parade will be reviewed by governor Guild, mayor Hibbard and supreme chancellor Judge Charles Barnes of Illinois.

The meeting is the occasion of the biennial assembly of the Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias. They will encamp at Franklin park in 4000 tents which have been ordered for the occasion. The competition for the $11,000 in prizes is by efficiency drill as well as showing at inspection and at the field there will be interesting cavalry and infantry movements.

In the business meeting of the convention which opens Aug. 4, it is expected that complete harmony will prevail, Chancellor Barnes will preside. A Massachusetts man, Dr. Sidney Woodworth, of Fitchburg, will be a strong man for the supreme vice-chancellorship.

On the evening of the opening day there will take place a reception to the supreme lodge, at which speaker John N. Cole of the legislature, will preside. The governor mayor and officers of the order are expected to make addresses On Aug. 6 will occur a reception and ball to the uniform rank in Mechanics' hall.

One of the most interesting features for those within the order will be exemplification of the first and third ranks in Mechanics' hall on the evening of Aug. 7, by Peter Woodland lodge of Lynn The great hall will probably be filled by Pythians who will want to see this team of 100 or more men work with its fabulously elaborate paraphernalia.

During the stay of the knights there will be a never ending program of sightseeing trips, ocean excursions and shore dinners. The reception of the host of visitors is in charge of a committee of 25.

RIVAL CARIBOO PLACERS

HYDRAULIC MACHINERY UPON HALL CREEK

LARGE MODERN PLANT TO BE NOW ERECTED

Operations are now about to be started on a considerable scale on the placer properties on Hall creek, about ten miles south of Nelson. These properties, which ten years ago were the source of great activity and which have produced thousands of dollars as the result of operations by individual miners working without the aid of machinery of any description, have been for the last two or three years undergoing a thoroughly exhaustive series of tests directed towards ascertaining the best methods of recovery of the gold from the extensive gravel beds, which are situated about the junction of Hall creek and Salmon river.

Nine leases of 80 acres each have recently been consolidated and are now held by the B. C. Hydraulic Placer company. On one of these leases a small experimental plant, costing some $2000 has been erected and has sufficient to show that the ground can be worked on a very remunerative scale by the adoption of modern hydraulic machinery. This combines an extremely low cost of operation with a very large output.

The exhaustive tests of the last few years indicates a minimum value of 25 cents in gold for the cubic yard, exclusive of the values found in the black sand of which there is an unusually large proportion found with the gravel.

By the sale of a large block of stock now consummated, the company is in a position today to install a modern plant capable of handling several thousand cubic yards of gravel daily. Preliminary operation in connection with the installation of such a plant are now in progress.

The control of the property is held by Nelson men, who have been quietly developing the property on a small scale since 1906 and who are now confident that with adequate facilities for handling a large output the property will rival any of the better known Cariboo placer mines.

CRANBROOK THIEVES

Lost Jewelry Recovered in Portland From Youthful Married Couple

PORTLAND, July 23.—Arthur H. Clute and his pretty wife, Lillian, both stylishly dressed and bearing the appearance of refinement, are under arrest accused of stealing diamonds, valued at $1,000 from Jacob Fleischman, a jeweler, whose place of business is in Cranbrook, B. C. They were found in a neat little flat.

In the presence of the police at the station, Mrs. Clute reached down in her bosom and brought forth a number of jewels, and handed them to her attorney. Clute followed suit by taking a ring from his finger and giving it to the same attorney. Then the prisoners turned to a policeman, it is said, and declared that that was the alleged stolen property.

It is charged that while the couple was in Cranbrook Mrs. Clute ordered a tray of jewels sent to her home on approval, saying she would make selections and notify the jeweler. This was on April 10, since which time Fleischman has never seen the jewels or the Clutes.

COAST RATE WAR

Twenty-Five Cent Fare From Seattle to Vancouver via C. P. R.

A drastic move has been made in the rate war by the C. P. R., the fare from Seattle to Vancouver being cut to 25 cents. Mr. Simmerman, the local agent of the Inland Navigation company, was informed by president Joshua Green that the 25 cent rate from Seattle to Vancouver would not be met at present as the Iroquois is giving good service at $2 round trip, while the round trip fare on the C. P. R. steamers is still $3.

The C. P. R. rates now stand at $2.50 to Victoria, 25 cents Victoria to Seattle and 25 cents Seattle to Vancouver.

The next move of the Inland Navigation company will be watched with interest, for if the cut rate made by the C. P. R. does not have the desired effect, it is understood that the Princess Victoria may be put on the direct run as well as the Princess Royal. This would cover the missing leg from Vancouver to Seattle and make a twenty-five cent fare either way between the two cities. The 25 cent rate, which has gone into effect from Seattle to Vancouver only and not from Vancouver to Seattle.

It is expected that in a few days the Inland Navigation company will declare war on the C. P. R. on the Vancouver-Victoria route by placing a steamer on this run, and arrangements are said to be practically completed for a suitable steamer.

Over Thirty-Five Years.

In 1872 there was a great deal of diarrhoea, disentery and cholery infantum. It was at this time that Chamberlain's Colic, Chlorea and Diarrhoea Remedy was first brought into use. It proved more successful than any other remedy or treatment, and has for thirty-five years maintained that record From a small beginning its sale and use has extended to every part of the Unitdd-States and to many foreign countries. Nine druggists out of ten will recommend it when their opinion is asked, although they have other medicines that pay them a greater profit. It can always be depended upon, even in the most severe and dangerous cases. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

NELSON NEWS OF THE DAY

There will be a general meeting of the Nelson boat club next week.

A benefit ball will be given in the Queen's hotel on Tuesday evening next in aid of a widow with six children to support.

It is not generally realized the amount of work which is being carried out at the Trail smelter. A recent instance of this was the placing of an order for 20 tons of castings with the Nelson Iron Works.

Charles Houston, formerly well known as a hotelkeeper in Rossland, but who has recently returned from a mining expedition in South Africa and New Zealand, has reached Vancouver to spend the summer holidays.

The final meeting of the celebration committee will be held in the old court house this evening at 8:30 o'clock, city time. There will be a report of receipts and expenditures in detail. The general public are invited to be present.

A drunk was arraigned before acting police magistrate W. H. Bullock-Webster yesterday afternoon for creating a disturbance on Baker street. As the prisoner pleaded guilty and promised to get out of town at once and go to work he was let go with a severe caution.

Another fire occurring yesterday morning upon the Granite road, a provincial constable was sent to the spot immediately to see that it was instantly put out. This was done without delay. Ranchers cannot too clearly understand that it is a punishable offence to set a fire in the summer months.

Some weeks ago a boom of logs broke at Kootenay landing and the company concerned, knowing the logs would drift through the outlet caught them at Procter. A rancher caught some of the logs also and refused to give them up to the agent of the company without salvage being paid. Negotiations through the counsel of the parties concerned, R. S. Lennie and W. A. Macdonald, K. C., ended in a charge being laid yesterday morning by Mr. Lennie before stipendiary magistrate W. H. Bullock-Webster under section 354 of the criminal code. Mr. Webster showed that there was no lien on saw logs on the lake or even where stranded on the beach. In this Mr. Macdonald concurred and the court allowed the charge to be withdrawn.

Miss Kathlen Noah has returned and has established her hairdressing parlors in the K. W. C. block, room 47. Call and see her. 78-3t

NEW INSTITUTION

Academy of Nobodies Founded in the French Capital

PARIS, July 23.—"The Academy of Nobodies" is the newest Parisian institution. Despite the apparent inclusiveness of its name, the new organization promises to be exceedingly exclusive. Only those who have no ambitions, aptitudes, pretensions, titles, honors or dignities of any kind will be instantly expelled. The newspapers are having a great deal of fun with the new academy, but so far there has been no great rush for membership.

CANADIAN BANKS

No Graft in Management But Poor Investments Are Made

"If a great corporation like a bank could not be managed from top to bottom without what is commonly called graft, that is without gifts and perquisites, then the ruin of such an institution could not be long delayed. A more unjust statement about the great banking establishments of this country could not, in my opinion, be made."

Such was the expression of his views on a recent newspaper statement given to the World yesterday by Byron E. Walker of the Bank of Commerce. The statement was to the effect that graft was as common in business and banking circles as it was at Ottawa in politics.

"As far as humanly possible, no one is advanced in the Bank of Commerce, nor has been for a quarter of a century, except for one reason, and that is merit," said Mr. Walker, who is himself a living example of the system by which, without influence or favor, the office boy may reach the highest position.

"Teach the boy at the bottom," is one of the maxims of the system. When the lad enters he begins to learn that honesty and integrity apply to cents as to millions. No official in the Bank of Commerce grafts even a postage stamp for his letters. His account is rendered him for his private letters and telegrams and one of the first duties of an office boy is to take charge of the stamp desk. He learns there the value of accuracy and faithfulness in small things, and that everyone in the service, from the president down, is amenable to the regulations. Not only is honesty inculcated, but discipline and system and loyalty.

The quality recognized in Canadians in the United States and most highly honored in those holding high executive positions there is that they will do their work for the stipend given, and are not looking for something else on the side. Nothing must be allowed to influence a banker in dealing with a customer and what is true of banking is true of other lines of business. Promotion by merit follows as a corollary and it is said that in this respect the Bank of Commerce may be pointed to as an example of the Canadian principle working with perfect success.

The Canadian banking law was mainly put on our statute book to provide banking facilities for Canada and Canadians. It was not quite intended that our banks should do the financing of foreign concerns, although it does not in any way prohibit it. In regard to the two banks now being liquidated, namely, the Sovereign Bank and the Ontario Bank, it should not be forgotten that both of these concerns made their losses outside of Canada. The Sovereign Bank undertook to finance an electric road between Chicago and Milwaukee, and, af all places, to finance a railroad in Alaska. Three millions of its money is locked up in these two enterprises. The manager of the Ontario Bank used the funds of that institution for speculation in the New York stock market, and as a consequence the shareholders are to be called ou the double liability clause.

It seems to us that there are enough of straight Canadian propositions of substantial worth to more than use all the money that the Canadian banks can raise, and that not only would it be patriotic, although that is not a banking word, but certainly it would be on the line of prudence to keep our money in our own country until we get a great deal richer than we are today.

The Cream of Kootenay Lake

A Nifty Assortment

We are authorized by Mr. S. S. Taylor of this City to place upon the market for immediate sale some 56 acres of beautiful lake frontage situated on the North Shore of Kootenay Lake about 3½ miles from Nelson. Having a fine sandy beach and being beautifully treed (it is at natural park), it has several years been a favorite camping grounds for Nelsonites and is today without question the swellest piece of natural lake frontage that Kootenay Lake can boast of.

Mr. Taylor has recently had this property subdivided into 14 blocks; 9 of which are camping lots containing about 1-3 of an acre each and the balance, 5 in number, containing an average of about 10 acres each and the balance, 5 in number, containing an average of about 10 acres each, are offered as fruit farms and they are certainly choice. Intelligent buyers can see at a glance that at the price here quoted these lots are bargains. This is property that Nelsonites should snap up as Kootenay Lake frontage close to Nelson at these reasonable prices is fast disappearing off the market.

We offer you the following 9 camping lots, each with fine sandy beach frontage. Prices as follows:

Lot 1	$200.00
Lot 2	$225.00
Lot 3	$225.00
Lot 4	$225.00
Lot 5	$225.00
Lot 6	$225.00
Lot 7	$200.00
Lot 8	$175.00
Lot 9	$150.00

Terms ¼ cash, the balance 8, 16 and 24 months, at 7 per cent interest.

5 FRUIT FARMS, EACH WITH LAKE FRONTAGE AND DESCRIBED AS FOLLOWS:

Block B. being an improved farm and containing 10 acres with the following improvements:

5½ acres cleared and about 4 acres all ploughed and rooted; cedar post fencing and some barb wire in place, the balance on property ready for use; 1 log house with shingled roof; 1 temporary barn; several tent floors; 1 cooking -shack; a mountain stream turned and running through the farm; wagon road; about 4 acres underbrushed and slashed; some vegetables planted; a quantity of fertilizer; 600 strawberry plants; 1 plow, 1 harrow 1 grindstone 1 wheelbarrow.

There is quite a long list of chattells passing with this tract, containing implements, tools, harness, wharf, house furnishings, etc.; also about 37 cords of good dry wood, cut and piled.

The following fruit trees and small fruits are planted in good shape:

THE PREMIER'S TRIP

DELIGHTED AT WHAT HE FOUND IN THE INTERIOR

PROSPERITY AND CONFIDENCE EVERYWHERE IN EVIDENCE

VICTORIA, July 23.—After a most interesting and useful trip to the interior of the province, premier McBride has returned, accompanied by the Hon. Dr. Young and Mrs. Young. The chief commissioner, who had started with the party, left there at Windermere, having other business to occupy his attention before coming home.

The premier was perfectly delighted with what he saw, during his absence, of the continued progress and prosperity of the province, and seaks in the most hopeful tone of the various districts through which he passed. Beginning at Nicola on Monday, July 6, the itinerary included in succession Spence's Bridge, Ashcroft, Kamloops, New Denver and Silverton in the Slocan, Revelstoke, Field, Golden, Spillamacheen, Wilmer and Windermere, at all of which places large aduiences gathered to hear the ministers speak of the affairs of the province. During his visits the premier and his colleagues gathered a quantity of the most useful information that cannot fail to be beneficial later on in dealing with the many important matters that come before them from time to time in connection with the administration of the province.

In the Nicola district the evidences of progress since the advent of railway communication were very marked, and the premier took advantage of the opportunity to make a short visit to the coal mines in the vicinity. Time only permitted the party to see the main workings of the Nicola Coal company's property and also to note what was being done by the Diamond Vale people.

Both here and at Ashcroft, the following night, the ministers had an opportunity of speaking with a great many people in addition to the gatherings they addressed, and it was particularly gratifying to the premier to see the hopeful tone prevailing.

At Kamloops, where a banquet was given to the visitors, the same evidences of development were to be see on all sides. An interesting feature here was a trip to the sanatorium at Tranquille, Dr. Young being naturally particularly anxious to see the place. The party was entertained to lunch there, and then inspected the grounds and the methods employed in the good work for which the sanatorium was established. The premier expressed himself as exceedingly pleased with what he saw, and at the comprehensive scheme being carried out to utilize the farm to the best advantage and along the most modern lines. The Kamloops people showed themselves to be most hospitable in entertaining the visitors, and in the evening there was a banquet in honor of the members of the cabinet present.

The following day was spent in the Slocan, and upon arriving at Rosebery, on Slocan lake, the party was met by a fleet of 12 motor launches, among which the party was divided, the whole going in procession to Silverton, where speeches were made by Mr. McBride and the ministers. At Silverton they were greeted by a salute of miners' artillery, consisting of a number of shots of dynamite. From there they went to New Denver, where there was a banquet and a meeting. The New Denverites more than upheld the reputation of the Slocan for lavish hospitality, and the people throughout the district showed their appreciation of local conditions. J. H. Schofield, M. P. P., met the party at New Denver, Thomas Taylor, M. P. P., being also with them.

The next night, Friday, found the party at Revelstoke, whither Mr. Taylor accompanied them. They were met at this place by the board of trade and a meeting was held that night. On Saturday they were at Field, where they were joined by Harry Parson, M. P. P., for Columbia. Here an excellent and well attended meeting was held, at which all the ministers spoke, including Mr. McBride.

Next day a trip was taken along the line to inspect the stupendous work being undertaken by the C. P. R. in the Kicking Horse canyon, where immense tunnels are being driven through solid rock to lower the grades and avoid excessive curves. Big Jim Macdonald was in charge of the work, and the ministers were particularly glad to note that none but white labor was being employed, there not being an Oriental on the job.

On Monday the ministers arrived at Golden, where they were tendered a very nice reception in the hospital grounds by the ladies of the city. Dr. Young inspected the hospital, after which tea was served. Then the party took a short run down the Columbia on the steamer Isabel, which had been placed at the disposal of the board of trade for that purpose by Mr. McCormick, the manager of the Columbia River Lumber company.

Early on Tuesday morning the party boarded the steamer Ptarmigan, with Captain Armstrong in charge, and started down the river to Windermere. They stopped en route at Mr. Foster's place, near Wilmer, for dinner, prior to which they received a pleasant greeting from the inhabitants. At Spillamacheen a short stop was also made and a few words of informal address delivered.

On Wednesday Windermere was left behind in Hyde Baker's motor, which had very kindly been placed at the disposal of the party, and they were all loud in praise of what they saw during the 90-mile ride to Cranbrook. The road runs through a beautiful and rich valley, teeming with natural resources of every description, and in addtion to the excellent wagon road, a railroad is in course of construction, which is assude in advance of ample local freight.

On Thursday the party left Cranbrook, reaching Spokane the next day, and coming directly home.

KILLING WEEDS

Experiments by Spraying in North Dakota Are Successful

The experiment station of North Dakota has issued a bulletin on weed control by means of chemical sprays.

Experiments in spraying to eradicate weeds in grain fields have been conducted at that station from season to season for the past ten years. The results obtained show that the general use of this method of combating certain weeds will save the farmers of the country millions of dollars annually. It is now expected that spraying will supplant other methods of keeping weeds in check, but that is will supplement these methods and prove available in fighting many of the most pernicious weeds which come up in fields of grain. The possibility of success in killing weeds in a grain field by the use of a chemical spray, which does not injure the grain, will not surprise those who are familiar with the use of spraying compounds to destroy various forms of fungi, which are plants of a low order. Only by experiment is it possible to learn what weeds can be killed by a spray which will not injure the growing grain stalk among which the weeds are growing.

The best time to do the work is while the weeds are young, succulent and making a rapid growth. Those which develop slowly under dry conditions are much harder to kill.

Mustard or charlock can be readily killed by spraying with solutions of either iron sulphate or copper sulphate. It requires about 52 gallons of spraying liquid per acre. To make the liquid, use from 75 to 100 pounds of iron sulphate for each 52 gallons of water, or 12 to 15 pounds of copper sulphate. Common salt can be used with fair success, dissolving one third of a barrel in 52 gallons of water, but there is some danger that it will injure the grain.

King-head or greater ragweed can be controlled in the same way, but should be sprayed while quite young. The same sprays are to be used, but at the greatest strength mentioned.

The Canada thistle can be checked in growth in grain fields by spraying, but is best fought by frequent sprayings without regard to the grain. The most effective spray for this weed is sodium arsenite at the rate of 1½ to 2 pounds to each 52 gallons of water, but owing to the extremely poisonous nature of this spray, a solution of common salt is recommended. If the object is to kill the thistles without regard to what they may be growing among, use half a barrel of salt to 52 gallons of water.

Spray as often as the plants get a few inches above the ground, and if shoots appear the second season operate on them again in the same way, and usually the pest will be fully eradicated. When scattered through grain fields it is advised that the first spraying be done with a spray of one-third barrel of salt to each 52 gallons of water at the time when the plants are about ten inches high. Spray a week later with a spray of 15 pounds of copper sulphate to each 52 gallons of water. After the grain has been harvested spray again.

The sow thistle is becoming very troublesome. It spreads by underground roots like the Canada thistle, but cannot be killed by spraying.

Weeds which can be controlled by the sprays that kill mustard are false flax, shepherd's purse, pepper grass, corn cockle, chickweed, bindweed, plantain, rough pigweed and cocklebur.

Weeds of a grassy nature cannot be so controlled because a spray strong enough to kill them would also kill the grain or grass among which they are growing. Frenchweed pink cockle, lambs quarter and hare's ear mustard are weeds that cannot be controlled by spraying.

DECEIVED THE COUNTRY

THE REAL COST OF THE GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC

OTTAWA POLITICIANS' ESTIMATE AND RIGHT AMOUNT

(Toronto Mail-Empire.)

That the cuontry has been grossly deceived on the subject of the cost of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway, as planned by the Ottawa politicians, is now admitted. The liability we were to assume was represented to be but $13,000,000, whereas, according to the acknowledgement of the minister of railways, the sum we will have to provide is no less than $192,920,000! Finance minister Fielding misinformed the country to the tune of $180,000,000 on this point. But the lying about the cost was not the only deceit practised by the Ottawa gentlemen with reference to this matter.

When the proposition to build in the far north came down to parliament sir Wilfrid Laurier was asked three times if any other scheme had been submitted by the Grand Trunk Railway company. On each occasion the right hon. gentleman replied in the negative. When he was asked for the last time if the Grand Trunk had not made a proposal, he intimated in a furious tone, and, as he said, "without equivocation," that no project had been laid before him by the company. One year later, finance minister Fielding, in order to reply to a point that had been raised, astonished parliament by reading the proposition the Grand Trunk had made to the government. What the Grand Trunk sought was the right to build "a first class line of railway from the northern terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific railway, at or near North Bay, through to the Pacific coast." The company asked the usual subsidy, which is $6400 per mile, and which would have amounted to $15,360,000. This offer of the Grand Trunk was deliberately suppressed until parliament had been committed to the $192,000,000 folly. Not until the more extensive plan had been riveted upon the country was the moderate and business-like proposal of the Grand Trunk allowed to leak out. One of the features of the Grand Trunk proposition was the offer to use the Intercolonial railway as part of the new transcontinental. The company wrote thus:

"In order to provide for connection with the Atlantic seaboard all the year round, your petitioners will be prepared to enter into an arrangement with the government for an interchange of traffic, or other satisfactory agreement with the Intercolonial railway at Montreal, or to consider such other proposal as the government may submit."

The offer to give traffic to the government railway was rejected. The government determined, instead of accepting this plan, to build a new line to parallel the Intercolonial, and to be leased by the Grand Trunk Pacific. Now, the argument in favor of this course was the shortening of the route. Sir Wilfrid Laurier said in parliament:

"We believe we can abridge the distance between Moncton and Levis by from 120 to 140 miles."

This statement turns out to be false. The distance between Quebec and Moncton by the Intercolonial is 493 miles, or two miles longer than the present route, unless the "pusher grade" is adopted at two places, in which event there will be a reduction of 33 miles. So that we are building 495 miles of railway, at an expense of $63,000 a mile, in order to get a second line that will be either two miles longer, or 33 miles shorter, instead of the 120 or 140 miles shorter of which sir Wilfrid Laurier spoke.

With respect to nearly every phase of this Grand Trunk Pacific scheme the country has been misled. But the colossal deceit is that regarding the cost. Thousands of people, no doubt, believed sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Fielding when these gentlemen stated that the liability would be no more than $13,000,000. The admission that the price will be $192,000,000, or about three times what we paid for the Canadian Pacific, is a surprise to these citizens, and, in fact, to the entire country.

PURSUED BY BEARS

Fly in Ointment of Fruitvale's Flourishing Settlement

(Special to The Daily News.)

FRUITVALE, July 23.—For a new place just opened up this year and cropped for the first time, Fruitvale seems to possess great possibilities. As a demonstration of what can be done here the settlers have decided to hold a fair this fall on the 29 September. At a meeting held last night in the school house by a committee appointed for the purpose, a program was drawn up which provides for entries in all kinds of vegetables, poultry, fancy work for ladies and children, butter making, etc. Arrangements are also being made to have a series of sporting events during the day. Further developments will be published later.

A splendid rain is falling today, which is very refreshing after the recent heat.

Some good catches of trout are daily being made. Up to date R. J. Bush and two sons have captured nearly 250 of the speckled beauties.

The recent hot weather seems to have made the bears around here very aggressive. Several residents have been pursued by them but fortunately with no fatal results. Parties have been out hunting them but they seem to be invisible when one has a gun.

Cucumbers, cauliflower, cabbage and other good things are in the market in plenty and of fine size and appearance.

Messrs. F. L. and G. Hammond of the local land company report great changes since last here, sales of land being made daily. The roads are being put in splendid shape.

Steady Increase in All Lines of Business in the States

NEW YORK, July 23. That there is a gradual steady increase in progress in all lines of business was the opinion expressed by the president of the various subsidiary companies of the United States steel corporation at a meeting here today, according to a statement given out by president W. E. Cory of the parent company after the meeting.

Mr. Corey said the reports of the steel men present were uniformly favorable. He said that about 66 per cent. of the finishing capacity of the various plants controlled by the United States steel corporation were now in operation and that additional capac-

PORT HOPE, July 23—Thomas Heyden, plow manufacturer, and Port Hope's oldest business man is dead, aged 83 years. He was the oldest Oddfellow in Canada.

NIAGARA FALLS, July 23—Charles Learn, 11 years old, was drowned in the old water works reservoir yesterday while bathing. The body has been recovered.

HAMILTON, July 23—The two men drowned at the beach yesterday were Alex. Wilson 60 years of age and Peter Sauve, 45 years of age, both of Chippewa. Both leave large families.

WINNIPEG July 23—Word has been received here that lord Roberts will visit western Canada going as far as Banff. He would like to visit Vancouver and Victoria if time would permit. Preparations are under way here to give him a fitting reception.

TORONTO, July 23—Rev. Joseph Herbert Starr, father of Rev. J. E. Starr of Berkley street, Methodist church, died this afternoon in his 78th year. He was born in Halifax and preached in many Methodist churches in Ontario. He leaves six sons.

OTTAWA, July 23 — The chartered banks' statement for June shows that the total deposits have increased by twelve and a half millions over the preceding month, but decreased by 20 millions as compared with the same month a year ago. Total liabilities increased by $15,952,657, and the total assets by $17,406,933 over May. Overdue drafts, $8,558,944, represents an increase of $737,547 over May.

VICTORIA, July 23—The result of yesterday's shoot in the provincial matches were as follows:

Vancouver Corporation trophy — Macdougall, first; Capt. Hart McHarg, second; Sergt Carr, third; H. Chamberlain, fourth; Sergt. S. J. Perry, fifth.

Lieutenant governor's trophy — Macdougall, first; Sergt. Carr, second; Lieut. Cunningham, third; Col.-Sergt. Caven, fourth; Sergt. Sloan, fifth.

Eight first grand aggregate, giving them places on the Ottawa team—Sloan, Macdougall, Sunningham, Richardson, Caven, McHarg, Studd, Chamberlain.

Laurie bugle team match—Victoria, first; Westminster, second; Vancouver, third.

St. Charles challenge shield—Victoria, first; Westminster, second, Victoria, third.

WINNIPEG, July 23—By a peculiar error in the telegraph despatch from Quebec yesterday, the victim of the drowning accident was announced as Sergt. John L. Stevens of Winnipeg, a well known confectioner of Portage avenue and the story was thus published in the Winnipeg papers, occasioning much distress to the latter's friends. It was not until a private message had been received that the correct information was available. Stevens is also at Quebec with the contingent. Private Stephenson, the man drowned, was formerly of Calgary and came to this city six months ago and took a position as billing clerk in the C.P.R. freight sheds. He is 22 years of age and his parents still live in Calgary. The body will be sent to Calgary for interment.

NEW WESTMINSTER, July 23—Exasperated at the inefficient service given by the B. C. Telephone company to its patrons in this city in the official and civic department in particular, mayor Keary has ordered every instrument to be removed from the city within 30 days. The service admittedly is the worst of any city of its size on the coast and although improvements have been promised time and again, the situation remains the same.

The body of an unknown man was found floating in the North Arm of the Fraser river yesterday afternoon.

The proposal to have Tommy Burns give a boxing bout here in September has created considerable excitement locally, opinion being divided as to the advisability of the proceeding. Church goers are strongly against the proposal and will use every effort to stop further arrangements.

How the Black Hands Got Away From Fernie Gaol

(Special to The Daily News.)

FERNIE, July 23 — Consternation reigned in police circles this morning when it was discovered that five prisoners who were in the city gaol awaiting trial in the Black Hand case, had made their escape. An investigation of the premises revealed the fact that the prisoners had obtained their liberty by climbing the high fence surrounding the building. Accomplices on the outside had apparently removed the hinges on the door of the chute and made all arrangements to assist the men in their escape and probably had money and other necessaries ready for them. The escape took place shortly after 6 o'clock in the morning, the men being seen passing down the C.P.R. tracks towards Elko at that time. They were observed later crossing a small footbridge across the Elk river at Cokato, but after that all trace of them was lost. Their absence was not discovered for over an hour and thus they had a good start on the police who were sent in pursuit of the fugitives. Up to a late hour tonight the search had been without results, although it is hardly possible that they can evade the officers for any length of time as all points of egress from the Pass are being guarded. It is rumored that two Italians carrying fire arms went down to Morrissey Junction by train yesterday and it is feared that this may have been a part of the plan to arm the prisoners after their escape.

The fire brigade was called out at 5 o'clock this afternoon to fight a bush fire that was burning fiercely near the Great Northern depot, and as there was a high wind at the time it was feared it might spread to some nearby houses. After 25 minutes hard work the blaze was extinguished.

A miner, working in No. 2 mine, Coal Creek, had his leg broken this morning by some falling timber. The mine train brought the unfortunate man to the Fernie hospital for treatment.

A baby, five or six weeks old, is in the isolation hospital suffering from smallpox, while the parents, a prominent lawyer and his wife, are quarantined in a spacious tent near the hospital. The child is doing remarkably well.

RAILWAY FREIGHTS ENQUIRY

Sitting Probably to Be Held in the City of Nelson

The freight rates committee of the board of trade recently received notification that an enquiry was to be held at Winnlueg and on their behalf the secretary wrote pointing out that the same difficulties exist in regard to an enquiry at Winnipeg as to one at Ottawa, and asking that an enquiry be held in the Kootenay district itself, so as to save expense and to obtain complete evidence.

A further letter has just been received from the board of railway commissioners stating that a meeting will be fixed by the board to hear the matter of rates to Kootenay district at the earliest date possible and that as soon as a definite date is fixed, the time and place of the sitting will be advised to the secretary of the board of trade. Presumably the sitting will be held in Nelson.

NELSON NEWS OF THE DAY

Hosmer's new weekly, The Hosmer Times, will make its initial appearance in the near future.

At last week's Sunday school services at Harrop both Hindus and Indians were in attendance.

The school trustees are pushing the work on the new building and the foundation walls are now well above the ground.

The water has now so far receded that within a few days the wharf will be dry to the end, thus giving an increased accommodation for the steamers.

Good progress is being made with the building of the Methodist church, the basement is finished and a good portion of the walls of the first story erected.

The names of the winners in Ridgway's missing word competition will be found in the advertising columns of this issue of The Daily News.

A socialist orator on the street is of the opinion that the council has not the power to prevent free speech on the street corners and proposes to put the question to the test.

It is understood that after the rescue of the marooned on Wednesday night last that even the ladies on board the Moyie joined in that well known song of praise—"We're here because—"

W. C. Martin was over yesterday for the purpose of buying a span of horses. He purchased from George Ferguson, paying $600, what he declares to be the finest team ever seen in the Kootenay.

John Burns is clearing away the stone at the back of the lots on the opera house block and using it for the new school. This will give an opportunity at a later date for the opening up of this lane.

The temperature yesterday varied between 79 and 60 degrees. There was a mild rain in the morning, the precipitation being recorded at .08 inch and at 11 at night a sharp thunderstorm occurred.

At the St. Saviour's church, Nelson, B. C., on Thursday, July 23, 1908, by the rector, Rev. F. H. Graham, Peder Vold, of Revelstoke, B. C., was married to Miss Emilie Petersen of Larwik, Norway.

Judge Wilson held chambers yesterday morning granting an application for letters of probate made by W. H. Bullock-Webster on behalf of F. K. Hurry in the estate of Jennie May Hurry, deceased.

In the case of Rex vs. Fern where the prisoner was arraigned before judge Wilson yesterday morning for obtaining goods under false pretences and elected for speedy trial, the day of trial was set for Tuesday next.

There are now quite a colony of campers on the site of the old tramway park and what with the visiting launches in the evening and impromptu socials got up by the summer girl quite a happy time is being had.

The ladies of the Altar Guild of St. Saviour's church, imbued with the spirit of progress, are declaring that their fete of next Thursday will be the record for any of their garden parties in Nelson. In this they are saying much.

J. J. Atherton, editor and proprietor of the Slocan Mining Review of New Denver, will shortly begin the publication of a weekly newspaper at Creston. Mr. Atherton will not abandon his present enterprise.

The temperature at Grand Forks during the last few days reached 104 degrees, Fahrenheit, Greenwood touched 108 and reports from the Similkameen state an even higher temperature. All that Nelson could contribute was 89 degrees and Nelson people have been heard to remark that the weather has been warm.

The church union of Kaslo held their Sunday school picnic to Procter yesterday. The steamer Moyie was chartered for the affair and left Kaslo at 9 a. m. The picnic was largely attended and nothing was lacking in the way of good sports. After a most enjoyable day's outing the party returned to Kaslo at 7 p. m.

Tom Peck, the wellknown and popular C. P. R. conductor, got back last night fro man eight weeks' trip to the east. Mr. Peck's visit was mainly in the nature of a holiday but he was also charged with the duty of representing this division in a meeting of the O. R. C., which of course was duly fulfilled.

A. A. Richardson, loss adjuster for the insurance companies in the recent big fire at Grand Forks, who has been adjusting a loss in East Kootenay, passed through the city yesterday on his way back to Grand Forks to conculde his labors there. Mr. Richardson says there were 35 distinct losses in Grand Forks and the loss to the insurance companies will reach about $75,000. The actual total loss is not known yet.

The Eagles have arranged to hold their picnic to Procter on August 5. There will be three trips made by the steamer leaving Nelson at 9 a. m., 2 p. m. and 7:15 p. m. Those attending will have the privilege of returning by any of the C. P. R. boats. A string band will accompany the excursion and the committee in charge are sparing no pains to make the affair as attractive as possible. The proceeds of the excursion will be devoted to the building fund for the new Eagle hall on Baker street.

PERSONALS

J. P. Bell came in last night from Erie.

Mrs. Tees leaves this morning for Duluth.

J. S. Murray returned to Trout Lake last evening.

The Rev. Robert Lennie, father of R. S. Lennie of this city, arrived last night on his way back from a trip to Scotland to the coast.

John R. Stussi, fromerly a Rossland pioneer and well known mining and business man of Tacoma, paid a visit to this city yesterday.

Mrs. Manhart left last night for a two months' trip to Los Angeles to visit her son Harley. She will also stop over at Vancouver where she has another son, Ernest, and take in Seattle and Portland to see other friends.

MARATHON RACE TODAY

TOM LONGBOAT IS THE CHOICE OF THE PUBLIC

CANADIAN INDIAN RUNNER IS IN GREAT FORM

LONDON, July 23.—Final practice runs were engaged in today by the more than three score and ten athletes, representing the pick of the best long distance runners of seventeen nations, who will tomorrow contest for international honors in the Olympic Marathon run.

Wide differences of opinion exist among experts as to the probable winner of the great event. Sporting authorities declare that the United States has small chance of winning first place. Tom Longboat, the Canadian Indian, is looked upon favorably by many who have seen the red man in action. John Svanberg, of Sweden, has shown up well in the preliminary practice. Appleby, of England; Muller, of Germany, and Pietri, of Italy, have many supporters.

The Marathon was originally scheduled for Saturday, but was moved forward to Friday by the Olympic authorities. It was feared that if the race was held on Saturday, a half-holiday, the throng of spectators lining the course would be so great as to seriously impede the progress of the runners. As it is, the crowds at tomorrow's run will probably be the greatest that ever witnessed such an event.

Arrangements for policing the course have been made and every precaution has been taken to secure a fair field and no favor for all of the entrants. The course extends from Windsor Great Park, the starting point, to the Olympic stadium on the Franco-British exhibition grounds at Shepherd's Bush, a total distance of 26 1-3 miles.

From Windsor Great Park the course leads along High street, thence across the Thames river bridge into Eton past the college of the same name and its playgrounds and along Windsor road until the High street slough is reached. Then the road for London will be taken for several hundred yards, when the runners wil turn into Uxbridge road, over the Great Western railroad and through George Green until the Long Branch is crossed. After this the canal will be crossed and several other small twists made when the runners will enter Windsor street and later High street, Uxbridge. At this stage of the run more of the numerous twists and turns occur and Ickenham Village is reached.

When this village has become a thing of the past Ruislip Village will be the next town to have the honor of the presence of the runners for a very short while. Then come Eastcote, Harrow and Sudbury in order. By this time the runners will have completed about 20 miles of the run and will then be on practically the last stretch. More twists and turns of the smaller distances are in order until the exhibition grounds are reached. A special entrance will be made to these for the runners and the course through the grouds will be roped off. At the Clock Tower, Harlesden, all vehicular traffic will have to leave the contestants and take another route to the stadium.
