MAY SOON BE ENDED

Stock Yards Strike May be Over in Twenty-Four Hours

Through the Medium of a Middleman the Way is Being Paved for an Amicable Settlement of Differences

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Indications tonight are that the stock yards strike, begun two months ago, may be called off within 24 hours. Through the medium of the middle man, negotiations were begun today in an effort to secure an understanding with the packers on which the striking unions can rely as a basis for abandoning the strike tomorrow afternoon. It wsa admitted tonight by secretary Tracey, of the allied trades council of unions, that a message opening such negotiations had been delivered today to a representative of the packing firms by W. E. Skinner, general agent of the Union Stock Yards & Transit company, acting as middleman. According to the plans to night, an answer is to be submitted tomorrow by the packers in time for it to be reported at a special meeting of the allied trades council. This meeting has been called for the forenoon. Special meetings of all the local unions involved in the strike have been called for tomorrow. If the packers give encouraging assurances to the strikers, messengers will be sent to the gatherings of the local bodies. The unions, it is said, will then vote on discontinuing the strike and their referendum vote will be reported at once to the meeting of the allied trades council.

CROWN PRINCE ENGAGED.

Emperor William Orders Three-Fold Hurrahs Over the Event.

Altoona, Prussia, Sept. 5.—Details of the announcement of the engagement of the crown prince Frederick William, to the duchess Cecilia, sister of the reigning grand duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin show that the emperor while dining with the notable people of Schleswig-Holstein last night received a telegram from the crown prince, who was at Gelsansande, the home of the duchess Cecilia, and her mother. His majesty thereupon arose, raised his glass and said that the engagement of his royal highness and the duchess had just taken place, and called for a three-fold hurrah for the couple. The banquetters greeted the announcement with tremendous cheers.

The crown prince had, as it transpired, visited the duchess and her mother at their lodge at Mueritz on the Baltic, and while resting there over a cup of tea, he asked her to marry him. Upon receiving the consent of the duchess, the crown prince called for telegraph blanks and immediately wired to the emperor and empress.

FUTURE OF KOREA.

Thought Japan Will Establish a Protectorate Over It.

London, Sept. 5.—No official representation will be made by the British government in regard to Korean-Japanese agreement, the text of which was cabled to the Associated Press from Tokio last night, but the authorities are taking a lively interest in the extent of the intervention of Japan in the affairs of the Hermit Kingdom. Under the Anglo-Japanese alliance, both powers agreed to respect the independence and integrity of Korea and the agreement between Korea and Japan is regarded as an infringement on Korean independence. But it had been expected that if Japan was successful in the wor, she would establish a protectorate over Korea.

The Russian embassy found out that at the beginning of the war the Russian government declared it would not regard the acts of Japan in Korea as binding agreements and therefore they would not receive the recognition of the Russian government, a fact, which, it is stated in Japanese diplomatic circles, does not concern Japan.

YMIR HAPPENINGS

[Special to The Daily News]

Ymir, September 5—Thomas Kellogg and Richard Schrum left here Friday on a hunting trip to Hidden creek, returning yesterday evening with 17 grouse, 3 fool hens and a large bear.

The Nelson & Fort Sheppard bridge gang, working in the vicinity of Erie, played baseball with Salmo yesterday and beat them, the score being 19 to 6.

Nellie Brown, late of Nelson, proceeded Saturday evening to purchase all the champagne available in Ymir, the result being that she ran foul of provincial constable Fraser and she is now summoned to appear tomorrow morning and explain matters before the magistrate.

CHURCH DEDICATED

[Special to The Daily News]

Ymir, September 5—Labor day will be long remembered with a great deal of pleasure by Ymir Catholics and their friends who witnessed the beautiful dedication service of their pretty church building by Rev. J. Althoff of Nelson, who, accompanied by about 30 Nelsonites, came in on the morning's train.

The church was handsomely decorated with flowers and banners and promptly at 10:30 the service commenced. The reverend father welcoming all present and particularly thanking the Nelson people who came down with him to assist in the service, after which he explained the object of the service and its symbolic connection. All present were then asked to leave the building and gather around the outer door while Father Althoff accompanied by three acolytes, went around the outside of the building and sprinkled it with holy water. Then they entered the church accompanied by the congregation, while the Nelson Catholic choir sang "The Litany of the Saints." During the service Thomas Scanlan-sang "O Salutarius" at the offertory.

KNIGHTS TEMPLARS CONCLAVE

San Francisco, Calif., Sept. 5.—The Knights Templars today witnessed the annual parade of workingmen. Thousands of men and many women were in line. Over 400 Knights Templars' commanders arrived today. The earl of Euston and party, representing the grand priory of Great Britain and the British dependencies, reached this city today and were met here by a mounted escort, consistig of the mounted officers of the grand encampment of the United States, members of several commanderies, and also many individual friends. After marching to their headquarters in the Palace hotel the visitors were tendered a reception.

HAD A PLEASANT TIME

OVER 100 PERSONS AND 17 LAUNCHES VISITED COMMODORE BUSK

THE BOATS PRESENTED A PRETTY SIGHT WHEN THEY CAME IN

Over 100 persons in 17 launches attended the demonstration of the Kootenay Launch club in force yesterday to commodore C. W. Busk's ranch, on the north shore of the arm, 13 miles east of the city. A large number of ladies were present.

The fleet formed an imposing array as it steamed out at 11 a.m. The launches were all gaily decorated with flags and bunting on the trip out and with lanterns and search lights on the trip home. The weather was delightful, a perfect picnic day, just warm enough, with a pleasant breeze.

The fleet was composed of the following cruisers and commanders:

Cigarette, captain G. Togo Thurman; Mums, captain C. Broadwood; Orynthia, captains Curran and Bard; Mermaid, captain S. S. Taylor; Ingold, admiral Schermerhorn; Ethel, captain Morrison; Three Sisters, captain George Hunter; Ha G Magh, captain J. H. Matheson; Faughaballa, captain J. J. Malone and rear-admiral McPhee; Shamrock, captain A. D. Emory; Anona, captain Carl Larson; Klondike, captain Pete Nelson; Gracie, captain Bruce Heathcote; Wilma, captain Dr. Stoddart; Black Pup, captain George Hale; Fern, captain E. C. Traves; Star, powder ship.

There were several casualties but no fatalities on the way out. Acting under rear-admiral McPhee's instructions, communicated to the fleet by the officer in person, semaphore fashion, the fleet performed several complicated evolutions after leaving this port and before reaching Fort Busk but the gentle art of towing was practically almost universal. B. Coming to grief, A would come alongside, heave over a tow line and carry the former along while B was making repairs, and a little later B. would perform the same kindly office for A. Admiral Togo Thurman, who had a number of machinery troubles at the start, characteristically refused all assistance and eventually, not only took another cruiser in tow, but it becoming necessary to beach the latter, Togo rescued the crew and carried them into Fort Busk, fighting a rear guard action for the last half of the trip out.

Captain Gilker's Arthur B. was under repairs in the dry dock and captain Gilker sailed with captain Matheson. The mayor of Nelson and Mrs. Hamilton were among the invited guests.

One cruiser was obliged to turn back after reaching Roberts' ranch, but all the provisions and other ammunition were safely transferred to the flagship and brought into Fort Busk.

Commander Molly McGuire, retired list, royal marines, joined the party from the Molly Gibson landing.

Photographer-in-chief Lane took several pictures of the fleet and the assembled guests at the luncheon tables, they will form interesting souvenirs of one of the most successful outings ever held from this city.

The special correspondent of The Daily News was posted on the Cigarette.

Commodore Busk met his guests on their arrival and a most enjoyable afternoon was spent at the ranch. Luncheon and supper were served in the grove and and abundance of delicacies were available.

The commodore presented special flags of merit to Dr. Morrison, J. H. Matheson and I. C. Schemerhorn, won at the recent regatta.

In assisting to beach a disabled cruiser Togo Thurman's vessel struck a sunken Russian mine off Nine-Mile point but escaped with slight injuries.

The flagship Flirt, commodore Busk, gaily decorated was at anchor in Fort Busk harbor and the fleet on its arrival circled around the Flirt.

A start for home was made about 7 p.m., illuminated boats making a very pretty sight. When anchored powder ship Star was encountered when she was left in the morning a sharp fight with fireworks was most successfully carried out with great spectacular effect. The party reached home about 9 p.m., delighted with their outing.

Commodore Busk in the Flirt led the fleet home and when the powder ship, 2 1-2 miles east of the city was reached, a halt was made and a general illumination of the powder ship and all the fleet took place, together with a lavish display of fireworks. After the fleet had manoeuvred about for 30 minutes the powder ship was taken in tow by the Flirt and accompanied by the whole fleet, steamed for the city. The sight was an extremely pretty one, all the launches being decorated with colored and Chinese lanterns and burning colored fires.

CENSOR'S OFFICE REMOVED.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 4—An Associated Press correspondent sends a private despatch that the censor's office has been removed from Mukden to Harbin which would account for the delay in press despatches.

RUSSIANS AND JAPS ARE RACING FOR MUKDEN

A Strong Japanese Flanking Cclumn Trying to Get Between the Russians and Mukden--It is Said That Mukden is to be Evacuated, and if This is True, It Means That Russians Will Give up All of Southern Manchuria

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—1.15 (p.m.)—The war situation to date is: The whole Russian army, or at least the main portion of it, is already above Yentai station and is pushing on toward Mukden. The whole of field marshal Oyama's army has crossed the Taitse river and part of it is hanging on to Kouropatkin's flank. A strong flanking column on the east is pushing rapidly north in the effort to head off the Russians. Against this column Kouropatkin has sent out a strong cavalry division toward Sin Min Tin, 30 miles west of Mukden, to meet any interference that may be attempted from the direction of Yin Kow or New Chwang. Oyama's advance is reported to be engaging the Russian rear, but it is not expected to develop anything more serious than a series of rear guard actions tending to harass Kouropatkin's retreat. The Japanese have thrown a strong flanking column across the Taitse at Benitzu, about 30 miles northeast of Liao Yang, which is hurrying to the northeast and endeavoring to get in between the Russia narmy and Mukden. It is against this movement that Kouropatkin has despatched lieutenant general Rennenkampff, with a strong Cossack division, which, it is believed, is already blocking the eastern high road.

Kouropatkin has three roads over which he is marching toward Mukden, besides the double tracked railway. The latter is chiefly used in the transportation of goods of which there is a great amount. The soldiers are marching in light order and most of the wounded have already been despatched north by rail.

General Kouropatkin, in a telegram to the general staff, filed at 1 p.m. September 5, north of Yentai, says the Japanese on Sunday engaged his rear guard south of Yentai, the fight continuing until Monday. The telegram details the precautions taken to checkmate the Japanese flankers.

Kouropatkin estimates his losses up to this, including September 4, at 16,000. This is considered to be a conservative figure. The losses to the Japanese probably will be double this number owing to their position as attackers.

Kouropatkin says nothing regarding the loss of guns, but it is probable that some of the heavier emplaced guns at Liao Yang had to be abandoned. There is no truth either in the report that Kouropatkin has been wounded or that lieutenant general Linevitch is moving to his support.

EVACUATION OF MUKDEN.

It Means the Russian Abandonment of Southern Manchuria.

St. Petersburg, Sept 6.—(3.30 a.m.)—It is impossible at this hour to obtain any statement from the authorities regarding the reported preparations for the abandonment of Mukden. This is the first intimation that such a course is contemplated. If it turns out to be true, it means the abandonment of the whole of southern Manchuria and the winding up of the present campaign. In fact, should Mukden be evacuated, there would be no point for the wintering of an army of a quarter of a million with as many wounded south of Harbin. The evacuation of Mukden would give Oyama commodious winter quarters and the practical control of two lines of railway. The Kin Chou-Sin Min Tin lines, tapping rich Chinese territory, stops a little short of Mukden, with which it is connected by a good wagon road. The report of the prospective evacuation of Mukden, if well founded would indicate that the crippling effect of the Liao Yang fight on Kouropatkin's army is more serious than has as yet been intimated.

REPORTS ON BATTLE.

When They are Digested They Will Be Published

Tokio, Sept. 5.—A mass of official reports on the battle of Liao Yang reached the imperial headquarters today, but they will not be given out until it is possible to put them in order and make from them a concise and detailed story. In the meantime, the headquarters is refraining from giving anything to the public. It is generally known that Kouropatkin succeeded, by means of a desperate rear guard action and strong and well handled flank movements, in withdrawing the great bulk of the Russian army, and that he cut bridges to hamper the Japanese pursuit.

Critical interest centers in the operation of the Japanese right wing, which occurred late Friday night and early Saturday morning. General Kuroki then swung to the westward, his movement being designed to flank the remainder of the Russians left at Liao Yang itself. It is believed here that general Kouropatkin is bound to lose many prisoners to the Japanese. It is possible, however, that the topographical difficulties and the overwhelming opposition of the Russians may check this movement on the part of general Kuroki.

Among the Japanese officers reported killed in the battle of Liao Yang are lieutenant Tearouche, a son of lieutenant general Tearouche, minister of war, and lieutenants Fukushima and Muratta, both sons of Japanese generals. Official figures of the Japanese losses and a list of troops captured are expected to reach Tokio tomorrow. It is believed here that general Kouropatkin's next stand will be made at Mukden, although there is defensible ground south of there.

The forces of Kouropatkin and Oyama are racing for Mukden. This much stands out in the news of Monday and it is indicated in a report forwarded by Kouropatkin, who says that his retreat is being conducted in perfect order, though the Japanese on Sunday repeatedly attacked his rear guard and continued the attack until Monday. The result of the race is in doubt. The united Russian forces are now north of Yentai, a station on the railway about 10 miles northeast of Liao Yang. They are pushing on to Mukden, to which the bulk of the Japanese forces are marching direct after having swarmed across the Taitse river. A strong Japanese flanking column is about 30 miles northeast of Liao Yang and is trying to get between the Russian forces and Mukden. With this race in progress there comes a brief despatch from Mukden saying that preparations for the evacuation of that place are proceeding. This report, if well founded, as pointed out in the St. Petersburg despatches, would mean the abandonment of the whole of southern Manchuria and the winding up of the present campaign. Advices from Port Arthur by way of Che Foo bring the fighting there up to September 2, and say that the Japanese losses were very heavy.

Field marshal Yamagata, chief of the general staff, and lieutenant general Tieruchi, were the hosts at a banquet given tonight in honor of the Liao Yang victory. The guests included the imperial princess, the members of the cabinet, and the elder statesmen, the staff officers of the army and navy departments and chiefs of bureaus.

Tokio is illuminated tonight, and the principal streets of the city, where a series of lantern processions are taking place, are thronged with people.

RUSSIAN RETREAT CUT OFF.

Despatch Comes From Sin Min Tin to The Daily Mail.

London, Sept. 5.—The Daily Mail this morning prints a despatch from Sin Min Tin, dated September 5th, giving a report that general Kouropatkin's retreat has been cut off. The despatch goes on to say that the Russian troops had advanced in strong force to the southeast of Mukden as far as Ta Ping hill to oppose any possible attack in the direction of their advance. A Chinese official who arrived from Mukden Sunday says that the Russian troops are leaving for the north, that there are 18,000 men 10 miles to the east of the city, that the officers and men have become dispirited and much sickness prevails.

RETIRING IN GOOD ORDER.

Attempts to Harass Russian Rear Were Insignificant.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 5.—Under date of September 5th, general Kouropatkin telegraphed the emperor as follows:

"The retreat of our troops from Liao Yang on the right bank of the Taitse river on the night of September 4th was carried out in good order. The enemy's insignificant attempts at pursuit were stopped by our rear guard.

"During September 4, the Japanese strengthened their forces operating against our left flank, extending their line from the Yentai mines northward. The Japanese also, on September 4, crossed from Liao Yang and its environs."

SIEGE OF LIAO YANG.

A. P. Man Tells of Some of the Stirring Incidents.

Yentai, Sept. 3.—(Delayed in transmission by the censor until Sept. 5.)—A Russian correspondent of the Associated Press, who has just arrived here from Liao Yang, gives some details of the final assault on that place. He says:

"At the time of the Japanes bombardment of the railroad station the ambulances were packed in the rear of the station from which it was impossible to remove them.

"A shrapnel shell which burst over the station wounded two nurses, one of whom has since died. The hottest fighting was on August 30 and 31, when the repeated assaults of the enemy were repulsed.

"The 34th and 35th regimets of the 9th division, and the 23rd regiment of the eastern division were particularly hard pressed and were several times reinforced.

"Many of the Japanese wounded fell into the Russian trenches and could not possibly be removed when the retreat commenced, and had to be abandoned.

"There was a lull in the fighting on August 31. General Marzovosky, who was on the fighting line the whole time, sat down with a Cossack picket in the shelter of the trees for a cup of tea. The Japanese artillery suddenly swept the woods with their fire, and a shell burst, wounding the general and tearing off his orderly's arm."

REAR GUARD ANNIHILATED.

Kouropatkin's Main Army in Danger of Being Surrounded.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 5.—It is reported at a late hour that general Kouropatkin's rear guard has been almost annihilated and that the main Russian army is in imminent danger of being surrounded.

ANOTHER GENERAL ASSAULT

For Four Days the Japanese Hammer At Port Arthur.

Che Foo, Sept. 4.—The second general assault on Port Arthur assumed crushing proportions on August 27, and continued until the morning of August 31. The Japanese retired everywhere except from Palichwang, which they have apparently firmly secured. This information comes from a Chinese messenger sent to Port Arthur by the Associated Press, and confirms the previous fragmentary advices. The messenger adds that Itzshan was re-attacked on August 30 with great fury but the Japanese were unable to secure a position. Another Chinaman who departed from Port Arthur on September 2, says a firece assault was made on the left flank at 3 o'clock on the morning of the same day. The assault lasted until 6 a.m. when the Japanese retired and the bombardment was then recommenced. The Japanese firing was chiefly from Suishiying and Palichwang and of the Russian from Antszshan. The Japanese losses, according to Russian estimates, were 8000 during the four days from August 27 to 31. The Russian losses are placed at 3000. During the assault the shells of the field guns and rifle bullets fell in the city. The Russian ships in the harbor participated occasionally in the firing.

BESIEGED ARE ACTIVE.

Have Mounted Two Large Naval Guns And Are Using Them.

London, Sept. 5.—The Che Foo correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, says the Russians have mounted two 12-inch naval guns on Pa Rapoloschte mountain close to the city of Port Arthur, from which they are shelling the Japanese positions. The correspondent says that the eighth Japanese division, under lieutenant general Tatema, the eminent strategist, have arrived at Dalny to reinforce the besiegers.

EMPEROR GOING TO THE FRONT

Report to That Effect Revived at St. Petersburg.

St. Petersburg, Sept 5.—The report that the emperor will go to the front is again revived and seems to have a foundation. It is known that the imperial train has been fitted out for a long journey.

BODIES IN HEAPS.

Che Foo, Sept. 5.—Advices from Port Arthur say that following the terrific bombardment of the city for five days, ending September 1, heaps of Japanese bodies were removed by the Chinese under orders given by the Port Arthur authorities.

ARE MARCHING ON MUKDEN.

St. Peterburg, Sept. 5.—It is officially stated that the United Russian forces are now north of Yentai, except a detachment left at that place to cover their retreat. The Japanese swarmed across the Taitse river near its junction with the Pensi. The bulk of the Japanese forces is marching direct on Mukden.

RUSSIANS LOST 200 GUNS.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 5.—It is reported here, but not confirmed that general Kouropatkin was obliged to abandon 200 guns at Liao Yang. Some of them, it is added, were damaged in fighting and the rest were disabled by order of the Russian commander in chief.

OYAMA PURSUING RUSSIANS.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 5.—Field marshal Oyama's whole army is across the Taitse river and is pursuing general Kouropatkin's forces.

BALTIC SQUADRON TO SAIL.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—It is reported that the Baltic squadron will sail a week from date by way of the Mediterranean, but that it will not proceed to the far east if Port Arthur falls.

MUKDEN TO BE EVACUATED.

Mukden, Sept. 5.—Preparations for the evacuation of Mukden are proceeding. The Japanese advance is within 30 miles.

PLEHVE'S SUCCESSOR.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 5.—Senator Ptanoff, a member of the council of the empire, has been appointed minister of the interior, and chief of police in succession to the late M. Plehve.

SUCCESSION OF NIGHT ATTACKS.

London, Sept. 6.—The correspondent of the Times with general Kuroki on the Taitse river, in a despatch dated September 3, says: "Kuroki's flanking movement has progressed by a succession of desparate night attacks. He is now within five miles of the railway and ten miles north of Liao Yang. The Russians are holding their position tenaciously."

CONDITION OF CZAREVITCH.

Vessel Not in as Bad Condition as Expected.

Tsing Tau, Sept. 4.—A correspondent of the Associated Press, accompanied by several Italian naval officers, made an inspection today of the dismantled Russian battleship Czarevitch, which was in the naval fight with admiral Togo's fleet off Port Arthur on August 10, after which she sought refuge at this port. At first sight the Czarevitch seemed a total wreck, but on further examination this appearance was found to be due to the immense quantity of debris which had not been cleared away.

The smoke stacks of the battleship are riddled. In one of them is a hole 17 feet by 12. The bridge of the battleship is completely wrecked. The large guns were struck repeatedly, but they were not damaged. The Japanese projectiles made two holes below the Czarevitch's water line, but these were easily stopped up. The finely panelled woodwork in the officers' quarters was badly splintered. No fires started on board the Russian battleship during the engagement. The general opinion of those who made a close inspection was that the Czarevitch was far from incapacitated, and that she was capable of inflicting heavy damage upon the enemy had she remained in the fight. She had plenty of ammunition and coal on board. Her electrical steering gear was shot away, but the hand and steam gears, with power for the latter, were not damaged.

Russian naval officers when questioned regarding the reported court-martial of rear-admiral prince Ouktomsky for having disobeyed the order not to return to Port Arthur, said that the last order he signalled in the battle of August 10, was "Remember the order of the emperor, do not return to Port Arthur."

CREWS OF DISARMED VESSELS

They Will Remain at the Asiatic Russian Consulate.

Shanghai, Sept. 5.—The crews of the Russian cruiser Askold and the torpedo boat destroyer Grozovol, which took refuge here after the naval battle off Port Arthur on August 10th, and subsequently were dismantled will remain in China until the close of the war. They will be sent to Tien Tsin, Che Foo, Hankow, Shanghai and Foo Chow, the treaty ports, where there are Russian consulates. It has now been learned that the Askold had an unusual supply of ammunition on board when she came to this port. The amount was 280 rounds for each of her large guns and a plentiful supply for her small guns.

AFFECTED RUSSIAN FOURS.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 5.—General Kouropatkin's defeat caused a decline of a quarter of a point in Russian fours.

AN EXCITING RACE.

London, Sept. 6.—The race of general Kouropatkin for Mukden enthralls the British press and public. The best opinion inclines to the belief that Kouropatkin will get through with a respectable remnant of his army, thus robbing the Japanese of the complete fruits of their victory, but it is realized that the Russians will not be out of the woods for several days. The latest reports is that general Kouropatkin is once more in danger of being cut off, and it is believed here to be likely that this report will be repeated several times before the issue of the sanguinary struggle is decided.

ALEXIEFF THE SCAPEGOAT.

Berlin, Sept. 6.—Colonel Getaakte, the correspondent of the Tageblatt, writing from Liao Yang under date of August 9, writes in the bitterest terms of viceroy Alexieff. He says that the arrival of imperatively needed troops had been suspended for three weeks, by which general Kouropatkin had been deprived of at least 75,000 men which might have turned the scale in his favor.

BRITISH SHIP ASHORE.

San Francisco, Sept. 5.—The British ship Drumberton, which went ashore on point San Pedro on Saturday night, remains on the rocks, and will be a total loss. The coast steamer Maggie, which ran into the breakers south of Golden Gate last night, is firmly embedded in the sand and little hope of saving her is entertained.

WIN IF THEY LOSE

The gate receipts of the Jeffries-Munroe fight at San Francisco were $21,800 of which Jeffries received $9,156 and Munroe $6,104, the remainder going to the promoters of the contest. Munroe's training expenses probably did not exceed $2,104. In that case he made a clean profit on the fight of $4000. Championship pugilism is one of the games, therefore, so arranged that even the loser of the fight wins a considerable sum of money. Four thousand dollars is more money than Mr. Munroe could save at his trade of mining if he followed it closely for a good many years.

NON-UNION MEN PARADE.

Cripple Creek, Colo., Sept. 5.—Labor day was observed here with a parade of 3,000 independent workmen. It was the first time in the history of the camp that the union men failed to parade and probably the first observance of labor day by strictly non-union men in America. Banners reading: "They cannot come back." "Cripple Creek is still in America." and "We don't hire salaried agitators," were carried. Army officials, the fire companies and the local militia participated.

Thirty-Seventh Annual Session of Trades' Union Congress

An Important Resolution for the Combining of Trades Unions for Political Purposes to Come Up

Leeds, Eng., Sept. 5.—The 37th annual session of the trades' union congress opened in the town hall here today under the presidency of Richard Bell, M. P., general secretary of the Amalgamated Society of railway servants, and chairman of the parliamentary committee of the trades' union congress.

Nearly 500 delegates, representing a million and a half working people, were present.

Politicians are much interested in the decision of the congress on a resolution regarding parliamentary representation which will be introduced by the Boiler Makers' and Iron Shipbuilders' union as follows:

"That this congress is strongly of the opinion that the time has arrived for all trade unionists to be represented at the trades union congress and upon the labor representation committee in order that the forces of trade unionism can become more closely combined for political action to remedy the injustices labor is now suffering from."

EXTENSION OF RIGHTS

Ukase Disposes of Two Burning Questions in Russia.

St. Petersburg, September 5—The imperial ukase extending the rights to the residents to engage in industrial pursuits to the higher classes of educated Jews, meets with favor both in the pro and anti-Jewish press.

The Novosti, as spokesman of the Jews, hails it, together with the speech of prince John Obolensky, governor general of Finland, declaring that it is the purpose of Russia not to destroy Finnish rights, as meeting in a tranquillizing spirit two burning questions, the treatment of the Jews and the frontier problem. It says the ukase ends the intricate and vexatious restrictions against the Jews introduced by general Ignatieff, when minister of interior in 1882, and concludes with expressing the hope that it will be followed by the removal of the restrictions which have cut off the Jews from higher education.

The Novoe Vremya, anti-Jewish in calling attention to the opening words of the ukase, "Having found it just to introduce certain changes prior to a general revision of the laws affecting the Jews," says is shows the privileges now shown are but the commencement of the removal of various restrictions on the Jewish race, and impresses the hope that the Jews in their turn, will demonstrate their ability to assimilate themselves with the native population and not use the privileges conferred upon them as a means of oppressing the common people, adding: "Persons who enjoy authority among the Jews should exert all their influence in converting their co-religionists into worthy citizens."

BATTLING NELSON WINS.

After 20 Rounds of Fierce Fighting He Whips Herrera.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 5.—After 20 rounds of fierce fighting "Battling" Nelson of Chicago, before 10,000 persons today got the decision over Aurelio Herrera, of California. Nelson carried the fight to Herrera almost without cessation throughout the 20 rounds. Herrera scored the only knockdown of the fight, sending Nelson to the floor, with a hard right on the jaw, and Nelson took the count to nine. The capacity of Nelson to take punishment was marvelous. The men fought for a purse of $3,500.

LABOR DAY AT PHOENIX.

[Special to The Daily News]

Phoenix, Sept. 5.—This year's Labor Day celebration took the form of a picnic, given by the Phoenix Trades and Labor Council, for the benefit of Wm. Hall a well known miner, who on the 7th of May last was caught in an ore slide of the glory hole of the Knob Hill mine, and who lost a leg as a result. A labor parade was held, the procsesion going to the picnic grounds where a succession of events of various kinds was held.

LEOPOLD'S SHORT VISIT.

Dover, Eng., Sept. 5.—King Leopold quietly landed here tonight. After a short walk, accompanied only by a sister, his majesty went on board the Belgium royal yacht Albert, which then sailed for Ostend.

BEAT THE RECORD.

St. Louis, Sept. 5.—In the swimming tournament held today in the pool of the United States Life Saving corps, A. E. Rausch, of Germany, beat the world's record of 28:05 3-5 for the mile, held by Charles Ruberl, of New York. His time was 27 mins. 18 1-5 sec. He won the race by 75 yards.

VANCOUVER WON.

RAILWAYS ON THE CARPET.

At present three railway branches are being constructed in Kootenay and Yale. One is from Morrissey to Fernie, a second from Phoenix to Grand Forks, and a third from Curlew to Midway. All of these are destined to play an important part in the development of the sections through which they are being built, although they are all constructed for the purpose of competing to a certain extent with the Canadian Pacific railway. At Phoenix the Great Northern will compete with the C. P. R. for the haulage of the ores of that camp, and at Fernie the Great Northern will edeavor to secure the transportation of some of the coal and coke of which the C.P.R. has hitherto had a monopoly.

Several important railway projects are on the carpet and in several instances the promise is made that they will be built next year. One of these is the Kootenay Central, which is now being surveyed. This road will run from near Elko on the Crow's Nest railway in a northeasterly direction up the Kootenay valley as for as Canal flat and thence it will follow the valley of the Columbia to a point near Golden on the main line of the C. P. R.. It will furnish transportation to an important mining section including the Bull river, Wild Horse, Tracy, Dibble, Wasa, Findley and Sheep creeks as well as to the important mines of the Windermere district. There is considerable valuable fruit, garden and grazing land in the Kootenay valley as well as plenty of fine timber such as fir and tamarack. Already the population in the valley is large, and there are several important towns along the line of the proposed railway, such as Wilmer, Canterbury, Peterborough and Windermere, besides some smaller settlements such as Wasa, Galena, Carbonate and Brewers.

The surveys for a road that is to be extended up the north fork of the Kettle river will be finished this year and construction is promised early in the spring. This road will open to transportation a splendid mining country. At Providence camp, which is on the line of the road, the gold-copper ledges are said to be larger and richer than any that have yet been developed in the province.

Then there is the road which is to be built from the Crow's ..est line to tap the oil and coal lands in the Flathead valley, for which it is said arrangements are now being made. This road will tap a country which has many resources, and doubtless would be a paying venture within a reasonable time after it is constructed.

There has been considerable talk of late of the C. P. R. extending its road west from Midway on to a junction with the main line at or near Hope. The company recently caused a representative to make a reconnaissance of the country. It is thought by many that the presence of a large party of leading C. P.R. officials in this section at present has something to do with the matter of this extension, and that a definite conclusion will be arrived at as a result of their visit.

Should some of these railway projects materialize, and there is no doubt that some of them will, the Kootenays and Yale will be the theatre of considerable activity in railroad construction next year. Roads are essential to the development of the sections which they will tap and the sooner the roads are finished the better for all concerned.

THE POPLAR CAMP.

Some exception has been taken to an article which appeared in this column in Sunday morning's issue, in relation to Poplar creek, in which it was held that a special effort should be made to produce something tangible in the way of bullion. There was nothing in the paragraph that should have been construed into a reflection on the merits of the camp. A number of individuals and a few companies are doing some work there, but the concrete results so far have not been large, principally because of the lack of capital. One company, which started operations with the intention of pushing them on a large scale has been so hampered by claim jumpers and adverses that it has not been able to carry out its plans as quickly as it otherwise would were it not for the vexatious litigation, which has, besides being bothersome, been costly. The courts, however, have decided in favor of the company. It is certain that this company would have had its properties pretty well developed and a stamp mill in operation had it not been for the action of the men who filed adverses. The adverses have been like a double-edged sword in their action on the interests of the camp, as they have not only delayed the operations of the leading company in Poplar, but they have also prevented capital from investing in the camp, as those who have money do not desire to purchase lawsuits, no matter how valuable properties may be. The claim jumping has been a veritable old-man-of-the-mountains on the shoulders of the camp's progress.

The Daily News has been a faithful friend of the Poplar camp and has never neglected an opportunity to say a good word for it. It believes it is a rich and permanent one. A depth of about 150 feet has been reached and the ledges are found to be as rich at that distance in the ground as they were on the surface.

The paragraph of Sunday was intended to spur those interested in the camp to make some sort of an effort, either concerted or individually, to produce bullion. There is considerable ore of high grade on the dumps there which only needs to be put through a mill in order to demonstate its value. The people there should endeavor to have such a mill erected, even if it is only of five or ten stamps at the start. With such a mill the possibilities of the ores of the different mines could be demonstrated. Once this was done there would be but little trouble, we believe, in getting all the capital necessary for the exploitation of the many meritorious properties there.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Jane Addams, the Chicago high priestess of philanthropy, whose temple is Hull house, has written an article for a current magazine on unions, their present status and their ultimate mission. She discovers that as much morality is to be found in labor unions as is usually found in business circles and organizations, and forsees an evolution to a much higher plane in the future than that upon which they are at present functioning.

It is astonishing, says the Toronto World, how a man degenerates when he leaves your party, and how he improves when he leaves the other party, or shuffles off this mortal coil.

The Sault industry now claims to be capable of providing steel rails at the rate of 500 tons per day, and an order in council was issued on Saturday bringing into effect the steel rail duty of $7 per ton. This duty does not apply to rails already purchased abroad, providing they are brought in before the end of November and laid on the track before the end of February. Several large Canadian orders for rails are said to have been given out in the United States during the last few days.—Star.

COMPRESSOR ORDERED

The Silver Dollar is to be Provided With Machinery

J. A. Darragh, manager of the Elwood Timworkers' Gold Mining Company, who recently returned from Rossland where he went for the purpose of purchasing a compressor plant for the Silver Dollar group, and states that the plant he had in view was not up to expectations, so he ordered instead, from the Rand Drill Co, one half of a ten drill compressor, with necessary equipment and accessories, says the Camborne Miner. The plant will be installed on its arrival here.

The surface work that is being conducted on the Silver Dollar is meeting with success, as a few days ago a fine lead of steel galena 20 inches in width was uncovered on the surface. It is estimated that another 50 feet will bring the drift under the galena showing; the drift is already in about 75 feet from the crosscut tunnel and bunches of galena are becoming frequent in the face. Surface work will be continued and different leads on the property will be uncovered and crosscut and other exploratory work done.

CRAWFORD CREEK IRON MINES

A Deal is Said to be in Progress to Dispose of Them

About 100 pounds of the specular hematite iron ore from the Robinson & McMillan group at Crawford bay, was brought into town yesterday for the purpose of being exhibited at the fall fruit fair. The samples are large and excellent in quality and will no doubt be of great interest to the visitors. Mr. McMillan was seen by a reporter of The Daily News yesterday and he said: "You can say that we are developing steadily. We are running two crosscuts on two ledges, one of which is 12 feet wide and the other 10 feet of solid ore. A deal is in progress and no doubt within a very short time we shall be able to tell you of the iron mines of Crawford bay having been taken over by a strong syndicate."

SLOCAN CITY CELEBRATION.

Labor Day Festivities Successful and Well Attended.

The celebration yesterday at Slocan City was a pronounced success, large delegations being in attendance from neighboring towns. The program of sports was finely arranged and each event was well carried out. About 120 Nelson people attended and thoroughly enjoyed themselves. They say they were most hospitably treated.

The Nelson junior baseball team played with the Slocan juniors and the result was a victory for the Nelson boys by a score of 8 to 0. The line up of the Slocan team was as follows:

The Nelson team lined up in the following order: Bard, catcher; Jackson, pitcher; Cummins, 1st base; Weir, short stop; Swartz, center field; McCandlish, right field; McKay, 3rd base; Sturgeon, left field. The Nelson boys say they were treated like princes.

The Rossland intermediate baseball team won the $100 cup from the Slocan City seniors, score, 8 to 6.

The 100-yard and 220-yard dash, and also the hurdle race, were won by Renwick of Slocan?

Stopers of Nelson won the shot putting contest with 32 feet 8 inches.

The high jump was won by B. Hicks, of Slocan City, and the pole vault by Renwick.

The Nelson girls won the basket ball game from Slocan, score 19 to 5.

RMONS ON LABOR DAY

TERESTING DISCOURSE DELIVERED BY REV. W. W. BAER

W G. MORTON WALKER DESCANTS ON LIFE AND LABOR

large congregation assembled at the odist church on Sunday evening last ear Rev. W. W. Baer's sermon on the ject of "Labor." It has been Mr. 's custom to speak on labor problems t not regularly each year on the Sunevening preceding labor day. This he chose his double text from III 19 and Jer. XXII 13: "In the t of thy face shalt thou eat bread thou return to the ground," and "Woe him that buildeth his house by unteousness and his chambers by wrong; useth his neighbor's service without ge, and giveth him nought (or not ugh) for his work.'

ere," said the speaker, "is the case ed from both sides. The law is na- s in the first case and moral in the nd. The one makes a curse of labor, the other makes it a curse to defraud of the products of his labor. One was ten by Moses, a description of the nnings of human conditions. The other Jeremiah who had opportunities to obe the product of the centuries in hu- relationships. One of them, Jereh, every toiling, slaving servant will laud; the other, Moses makes him want say something emphatic. Some years a new phrase was coined, "The dig- of labor."

he tanned face, garlanded with mirth; has the kingliest smile on earth;
swart brow, diamonded with sweat lath never need of coronet"

Sounds well in a poem but the majority not feel that way about it. True there dignity in being a producer. A producer n compared with a drone or parasite simply and grandly a king. But the ority would fain have the conditions production changed; they would like perspiration element eliminated. And other thing they desire to see changed, that nine men should be producers order that one man may be a drone. ful only for procreation, revelling in ury and extravagance. This never can ve again the approval of the moral conusness of man.

Let us go back to the beginning of ings. It must have occurred to you that first text was a remarkable sentence. remarkable punishment. What was the me? Mr. Baer here pictured a man and fe, comfortably circumstanced in Eden, coming curious, wanting a particular it, forbidden them, taking it with the suit above. He said "This simple statent of the case never appealed to your ason." He then criticised the barren ecological theories respecting it and asked Did you ever think enough about it to ek a rational solution?" You must remember that Moses is representing, pictorially, occurrences which took place thousands of years before his time, and to juvenile intellects of the race. There is nothing so hard to understand as a picture, especially a child's picture, and for proof as to the general application of this law he stated the difficulty in deciphering hieroglyphics, suggesting that we paint the picture over again in the language of modern art.

He then portrayed the Edenic couple, comfortably situated but discontented or rather, ambitious, wanting to advance in knowledge, experience and achievement, faster than they were commanded and by methods that were prohibited. The only command so far given them was "be fruitful, multiply and replenish the earth; dress the garden and keep it." They did not wait to do this and see what sort of social organization would result from their obedience but immediately plunged into conditions that in their very nature involved a curse. So it happens that the world has never known what sort of social conditions and economic relationships would have resulted had they obeyed. To get things some other way than God's way produced the conditions and made the Creator say what is in my text. It was not a penalty, it was a revelation. It was as though the Creator had said "Adam, see what you have done." And this was, is and ever will be the economic aspect of the fall of man. There, was the beginning of the labor troubles. They are not new and the injustice, tyranny, monopolistic power, greed, avarice and everything that results in robbing the toiler, is in spirit as old as the human race, because men want to get something in a different way than God ordained. It is a conflict in which the strongest and shrewdest has always won and will always win, no matter which side wins.

So great had the evil become that as early as Jeremiah's time, he hurled anathemas at evil doers, for you must know there is now and then a preacher bold enough to do his duty. That struggle has continued, increasing and intensifying today the biggest war that angels ever wept over is the war of greed. On both sides struggle for possession, with pride for their allies, sometimes with right on one side and sometimes on the other. Fancy, just a few weeks ago when the strike in the packing houses had been settled a purse-proud packer told some reporters that the issue was in favor of the packers, and the leader of the strike, equally proud and equally vain, and foolish, immediately reopened the strike. No man can stop it, said the preacher, because God is not counted in by either side. Man has taken the bit in his teeth and is with a blind fury, galloping on. The chariot will smash, whole systems of economics will be demolished, tumbling to chaos, and then there will be a reconstruction. That is man's way, but it is not God's.

If Adam had only waited; obeyed, till problems in social economy had arisen; heard God say: "As ye would that others should do unto you, do ye even so unto them." If society had started on these lines and continued should we be ahead today? What misery, what tears, what famine, torture, slow death, violent death, what holocaust of human hopes and lives might have been averted. Millenium will come. Then will be love, not strife.

Now it is the sulphurous gas, volcano, lava, firemist, hurricane and the path of the destroyer. Yes! Revolution will come and blood will flow. That is man's way. Only this my friends, let us fight for righteousness, for justice.

Selfishness is but postponing the day of peace. Hate and malice are the devil's motives and unless we are his children we must have none of them.

LIFE AND LABOR

In the Baptist church on Sunday evening pastor G Morton Walker delivered a sermon suitable to labor day. The title being "Life and Labor."

Labor was not limited to manual work, to the state of being an employee, but included all exertion of energy with purpose, manual, mental, moral and spiritual, for self, for others and for God. Every man has a right to the opportunity of meeting the necessities of his lot, to that which tended to the highest development of his nature and to the conditions requisite to the carrying out of the christian purposes of life.

There were three classes which seemed to be exceptions to the rule that labor is essential to life—the unwilling, the unfit and the unemployed. The scriptures set forth that those unwilling to work should not eat. True life is impossible to such, and existence is only possible when they are parasites upon the labor of others. The unfit should be cared for by individuals or the state. The unemployed have the right to the opportunity of labor, and it is the duty of the christian church to emphasize the Christian conception of manhood, transcending all economic conditions.

The relation of labor to life is shown by the example of God, the Creator and sustainer of the universe; by the example of Christ; by the clamor of needs, the structure of the body capable of work and of atrophy, by the requisite for character formation and by the conditions of eternal life—the work of belief and of act.

Life is essential to labor and eternal life is a pre-requisite to the higher kinds of labor—spiritual work. Besides, only the regenerate can attain to the best in any sphere of labor. The elevating idea in the daily round of labor is to get away from slavery and drudgery, to transcend even enterprises and achievement into the glorious experience of being workers together with God, energied by his spirit, and inspired by the love, life, and sacrifice of the worker of salvation.

EXPERT ON MINEROLOGY

PROF. WALKER HAS MADE A FINE COLLECTIN OF MINERALS

WILL BE USED BY HIS CLASS IN TORONTO UNIVERSITY

T. L. Walker, M. A., professor of mintralogy in Toronto university, who has been making a tour of this district, leaves for the east this morning, intending to visit Moyie and Fernie en route.

Professor Walker has made a large collection of ore specimens representing the minerals of all southern British Columbia for purposes of examination and study by his classes in Toronto university. He reports that the university will send out parties of students in the summer as this section of British Columbia, owing to the extent and variety of its mineral products, presents the best field for study of mineralogy in Canada, and offers also exceptional advantages for the study of geology. Toronto university has made rapid strides lately. The inclusion of Trinity university with its medical college, into the confederation, has made the medical school at Toronto first in Canada and third on the continent in point of numbers. The university now includes three formerly independent colleges, the original university college, Victoria and Trinity. These still retain separate faculties in most of the subjects of the Arts course, especially in the langauges, literature and philosophy. One department of science serves them all, and one school of practical science receives students from all. The Toronto science schools are also first in Canada in the number of students and now in point of accommodation and equipment. For the latter a long struggle with the Ontario government was necessary to secure adequate financial support.

Canada is now well supplied with very thorough and efficient schools of science as McGill university at Montreal and Queen's university at Kingston are also thoroughly equipped and doing valuable work. All recognize the importance of practical field work as a part of the science curriculum, and the summer sessions are almost entirely devoted to work by the students themselves under the direction of members of the faculties in districts where mining developments are being carried on, and excellent results are being obtained.

Modern ideas of university functions have won their way in all the Canadian universities and encouragement or original and independent research are everywhere afforded, especially in the rich fields of science. The universities are all crowded now to the limit of their accommodation; and there is ample opportunity for selection of course and thoroughness in all branches. The colleges have long since ceased to be only training schools for the learned professions; there is hardly a calling now that requires special knowledge and training for which the universities do not provide a means of preparation.

On being told that a movement was on foot to found a university in British Columbia, professor Walker remarked that it was an excellent idea, but would require very generous provincial endowment to put it on an equal footing with the eastern universities.

Professor Walker expressed great surprise that so many apparently very rich mines in Bitish Columbia had done so little in development. He added that it created a very bad impression outside to have companies claiming to have fabulous values in sight making desperate efforts to sell a few thousand dollars' worth of stock.

Professor spent several years in India studying geology and mineralogy of the mountain districts and has travelled within a few miles of the Thibetan frontier.

WILL VISIT THE TERRITORIES

J. R. F. Rowley of Reisterer & Co., left this morning on the Crow boat for an extended trip to his old stamping ground in the territories. It is a good many years since Mr. Rowley punched his first yoke of oxen on the plains south of Qu'Appelle river, and strange as it may seem, he was a good plowman, too, winning the first prize at the first plowing match ever held in eastern Assinaboia. There are some of Mr. Rowley's old friends left down on the "bald head," along the Qu'Appelle river and on the edge of the Moose and Wood mountains, but 20 years makes a great difference in the west and although Grenfel is now a good sized town Mr. Rowley will no doubt miss a large number of faces which were associated with the place in the old days.

PREDICTS GOOD TIMES

Money Spent on G. T. P. Alone Will Make Them

A. S. C. Taylor of Toronto, was in town yesterday. Mr. Taylor in speaking of the west, said: "The business men of the east are looking for an enormous development of western trade during the next five years. While they have taken great interest in this year's development in Manitoba, the Northwest and British Columbia, they are looking for the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific and other railways to do much for the extention of trade in the near future. During the construction of the C.P.R. there were ten years of prosperity in Canada and the expenditure of money on railway construction alone was productive of better times. There is no doubt that at present Canada is prosperous and there is no doubt that she will be still more prosperous during the course of the next few years."

MARRIES AUSTRIAN BARON

Newport, September 5—Newport society was much interested today in the only international wedding of the season, that of baron Bachofen von Echt of Austria, and Miss Alice H. M. Pfizer, which was solemnized at Linden Gate, the villa of the bride's parents. The affair was a very exclusive one, the guests being limited to the relatives and a few intimate friends of the contracting parties. Miss Anna Maud Harrison was the maid of honor, and the best man was Lawrence La Tourette Driggs.

To be a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband should be a woman's constant study. If she would be all that she may, she must guard well against the signs of ill health. Mrs. Brown tells her story for the benefit of all wives and mothers.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will make every mother well, strong, healthy and happy. I dragged through nine years of miserable existence, worn out with pain and weariness. I then noticed a statement of a woman troubled as I was; and the wonderful results she had had from your Vegetable Compound, and decided to try what it would do for me, and used it for three months. At the end of that time, I was a different woman, the neighbors remarked it, and my husband fell in love with me all over again. It seemed like a new existence. I had been suffering with inflammation and falling of the womb, but your medicine cured that, and built up my entire system, till I was indeed like a new woman.—Sincerely yours, MRS. CHAS. F. WILL NOT TALK POLITICS

Heart is Here to Hunt and Fish and Enjoy Himself

W. R. Hearst was seen by a reporter of The Daily News on Sunday afternoon. He said that he came to Canada to avoid talking about the election in the states and that he wanted to avoid talking politics but that he did want to fish and was leaving for Bonnington in the morning.

Mr. Hearst spent all day yesterday fishing at Bonnington and had not returned last night. He is delighted with Nelson and its environments. When he came here he intended to stay only one day; now he has spent two days and has chartered the C.P.R. house-boat for a trip to Procter after he returns from Bonnington. His present trip is purely as a holiday and he says he has found an ideal country for that purpose. His immediate plans are indefinite, he is in no hurry to leave Nelson.

TO EVERY MAN HIS WORK

Rev. J. T. Ferguson Speaks on the Labor Problem

On Sunday evening Rev. J. T. Ferguson took as his text "To Every Man His Work." He emphasized the fact that there is a task for every man and individual responsibility for its performance. The idea of stewardship should be kept prominent. Man is not a machine, but a spiritual being, and the humbiest has a duty to himself and to the world to make the most of his talents. Nor is it permissible for anyone to shirk his duty on the ground that it can be done equally well by some one else, or that he has no special gifts. There is work divinely appointed for every man; he can find it if he seeks it humbly and earnestly, and will find his gifts proportionate to his task.

The preacher declared that the special evil of this age was the deadening of individual responsibility in corporate bodies both of employers and employees.

He said: "It is a hideous thing that in our time the deadening thought should have fallen upon multitudes that the conditions of their labor reduce them to the level of a kind of human machinery. When that thought takes possession of a man, his work cannot be high-hearted and hopeful as it should be. From that thought men must be rescued for the sake of the world and its future."

The means of rescue, the preacher believed, would be found in inculcating the spirit of sacrifice in both classes. The employer owes a duty to his employees as sure as they owe a duty to him. An employer of labor should consider himself in the position of a steward, the head of the household of servants of which he is one, and responsible for the welfare of each so far as he could effect it.

A special meeting of the Nelson Aerie No. 22, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will be held in their hall on Tuesday evening, September 7th at 8 o'clock sharp. The P. D. G. W. P. of B.C., B. S. Parsons, will pay an official visit to the aerie. All officers and members of the aerie and of sister aeries are requested to attend. By order of the W. P.

Rich Cut Glass

Within the last few years Cut Glass has ceased to be a luxury and has become one of the necessities in household equipment.

This fact must be apparent to you. If it is not, consider for a moment that common glassware no longer meets the requirements of the cultured home; that Cut Glass is now made at prices which place it on the table of the thrifty artizan as well as the man of wealth; that it has a beauty which is necessary to the comfort of prosperous people; and that it possesses sanitary qualifications not possessed by any other kind of table service.

These are facts and they support our statement.
