JOHNSON WINS

Jeffries Took Count Twice Before Knocked Out

Old Champion Could Not Regain Form

Johnson Had Things His Own Way

RENO, July 4—Jack Johnson is still the world's heavyweight champion. He knocked out Jim Jeffries in the 15th round today. The fight was one-sided from the start the negro blocked the old champion's blows at every stage of the game and punished him severely in the last five rounds of the fighting.

Took Count Twice.

At the beginning of the thirteenth round the experts at the ringside passed out the verdict that if Jeffries would simply stay and not fight he might stay the limit. As they came up for the fifteenth round Johnson went at his man savagely. He sent Jeff to the floor the first time with a rain of lefts and rights to the jaw and Jeff took the count of eight twice.

The Final Blow.

Each time Jeffries fell outside the lower rope on the platform. As soon as he got up the second time he staggered for a foothold, Johnson sprang at him like a tiger and with right and left swings to the jaw, sent him through the lower ropes of the east side of the ring, where he lay until counted out.

Asks for Gloves.

As Jeffries was helped to his corner he said: "I am not a good fighter any longer. I could not come back, boys—I could not come back. Ask Johnson if he will give me his gloves."

As Jeffries hung through the ropes after the last knock down a hundred of his friends rushed forward. "Please don't let the old man be knocked out. Stop it" they called.

Jeffries was not counted out. As the timekeeper's hand moved up and down the towel was brought into the ring from Jeff's corner. Whether counted out or not, it will probably be recorded as a knockout.

Dazed and Incoherent.

At the end of the fifteenth round Referee Tex Rickards raised the black arm of Johnson and the great crowd filed out glum and silent. Jeffries was dragged to his corner bleeding from nose and mouth and a dozen cuts on the face. He had a black closed eye and swollen features and he held his head in his hands, dazed and incoherent. Johnson walked out of the ring without a mark on his body except a slight cut on his lip which was the reopening of a wound received in training.

Not Championship Fight.

Ring experts agree that it was not even a championship fight. Jeffries had a chance in the second round perhaps, but after the sixth it was plain that he was weakening and outclassed at every point. After the eleventh round it was hopeless. It was the greatest demonstration the ring has ever seen of the failure of a fighter to "come back" after years of retirement. The youth and science of the black man made Jeffries look like a green man. The great Jeffries was like a log. The reviled Johnson was like a black panther beautiful in his alertness and defensive attack.

Jeffries a Joke.

Jeffries fought by inches, it seemed, showing his gameness and his great fighting heart in every round but he was only a shell of his old self. The old power to take a terrible beating and bear it until he landed the knockout blow was gone. After the third round Johnson treated his opponent almost as a joke. He smiled and blocked playfully warding off the bearlike rushes of Jeffries with a marvellous science.

On the Square.

Out of the sea of opinions and arguments that bolstered this fight and made it the talk of the world these pinnacles of fact have been cast up. The fight was on the square. Of the latter there was no doubt after the first round. There was no evidence of the alleged "yellow streak" in Johnson. Johnson proved himself so absolutely Jeffries' master that experts such as Corbett, the Australian sporting writer and ring expert, declared that Tommy Burns had put up a better fight against Johnson and that the black man was only playing.

Swift and Terrible.

The end was swift and terrible. It looked as though Johnson had been holding himself under cover all the rest of the time and now that he had measured Jeffries in all his weakness had determined to stop it quick. Jeffries had lost the power of defence, a series of right and left uppercuts delivered at will sent him staggering to the ropes. He turned and fought back by instinct and because he was dying hard.

The Final Round.

With the exception of a few fast rounds the fight was Johnson's. Jeffries did not have the punch. Jeffries

ROAD WORK PUSHED IN WANETA DISTRICT

Railway Required to Return Undesirables to Point of Starting—Clover Harvest

(Special to The Daily News.)

WANETA, July 4—J. R. Kennedy held church service last Monday evening at Fred Adie's ranch and on Tuesday at William Reith's.

Under George M. Benney, district superintendent, road work in the valley is being pushed rapidly forward by the local foremen, T. J. Duncan, A. E. Churches and W. J. White, the main valley road being greatly improved.

Owing to the fact that undesirables who were refused admission by the local immigration officer frequently found their way in on foot under cover of the night, the Dominion government some time ago requested the Great Northern railway company to give such undesirables free transportation to some point further from the boundary line than Northport. This request was, however, disregarded and the chief of immigration at Ottawa has now explicitly ordered that all persons refused entrance to the Dominion shall be returned free by the railway company to the point from which they started.

M. Chabenau killed the other day a range calf under six months old which weighed dressed 329 pounds, conclusive proof that there is first rate hillside grazing in this valley.

Cutting of Clover

The cutting of clover has been interrupted by the otherwise welcome rains. Timothy will be ready for the mower in about ten days.

Besides Early Rose and Polar Star local ranchers have Eureka and '06 potatoes ready for digging.

The Service or Saskatoon berry is now ripe here. It may not be generally known that one of the very nicest preserves can be made of this berry, if an equal quantity of rhubarb be added.

Mrs. Adie has brought her youngest son down from Nelson for the holidays.

J. P. Vroom, Dominion immigration officer, was in Nelson on official business last week.

Several local residents went down to Columbia Gardens on Dominion day and had a good time at the big picnic.

JULY BRINGS OUT TARDY FISHERMEN

Pool Was Populous on Sunday—Good Fish Caught in Canyon With Grasshoppers.

The "July" anglers, who held back until the mid-summer months opens, with trout fishing at its height, are now getting out their rods. One of the signs of the times was the great number of persons at the Pool at Slocan Junction on Sunday, 12 boats being out, while, for the first time, bank fishing was indulged in. In fact, a score of anglers were casting from the banks of the Pool and the canyon. Over 30 persons were on the 11 o'clock train going west, and by far the larger number were bound for the various waters of the Kootenay river.

The advent of the grasshopper brings the larger fish within measurable distance. A. M. Johnson landed a four-pounder, and two two-pounders, from the bank of the canyon. The grasshopper lured several good fish.

On the lower half of the Pool, the trout were consistently taking the fly till after 9 o'clock. The water is still dropping steadily.

STARTLING TALES FROM NICARAGUA

WASHINGTON, July 4—Dr. Madriz has issued a decree, levying another forced loan of 2,000,000 pesos, 700,000 being required of Granda and 200,000 of Leon, the metropolis of Nicaragua and Dr. Madriz's home city.

Jose De Olivares, U. S. consul at Managua, who sends this information to the state department, adds that it is being declared at Managua that the Madriz forces on Monday defeated the Estrada forces near Nandino and that General Talavara was killed. He says the censored press continues its bitter attacks on the United States, openly advocating the seizure and summary killing of all Americans unless the United States forces are withdrawn.

Mr. Moffatt, consul at Bluefields, reports that the Estrada troops under General Duron defeated the Madriz troops on Monday, at Pearl Lagoon, taking one hundred and fifty prisoners. Mr. Moffatt also reports that in capturing Prinzapulca from the Estrada faction on June 18 the Venus bombarded the town from the outside bar.

Information has reached the state department that Zelaya is backing up Madriz with his personal fortune, which is reported to be about $9,000,000 and that he furnished the money for the Venus. It is known positively at the state department that Zelaya has a confidential agent in New York who is said to be attempting to subsidize two American papers. It is reported to the department that Gen. Medina, the man who, at Zelaya's order, had Cannon and Groce shot is in jail at Managua to serve as a scapegoat in case some one has to be punished for the death of the two Americans.

WING OF CZAR'S SUMMER PALACE AT PETERHOF BURNED

ST. PETERSBURG, July 4—One entire wing of the Czar's summer palace at Peterhof was destroyed by fire today entailing a loss of several hundred thousand dollars. The wing included the palace theatre and several other buildings. The royal family is on a cruise and did not learn of the fire until late today.

RICH SHOWING

Fine Ledge of Ore Found on Devlin Lode

Laid Bare by Stripping Operations

Messrs. Wells and Devlin Will Develop

One of the biggest surface showings ever uncovered in the Sheep creek camp has come to light on the Devlin Lode mineral claim, owned by George P. Wells and John G. Devlin, of Nelson, in the shape of a ledge 14 feet wide, the samples of which give an average assay of $8.80 a ton. A pay-streak two feet wide, in the vein, assays $103 in gold. The ledge is described as a strong fissure vein.

The Devlin Lode and Florence claims were staked two years ago by Mr. Devlin, and he and Mr. Wells have held it since, the work done on it being confined to stripping. Six men will be put to work at once, to carry forward development work.

The Devlin Lode mineral claim lies west of the Clyde-Belt group, and north of the Columbus group, both of which it adjoins.

Probably Nugget Vein.

This latest strike on Sheep creek is interesting in view of the fact that it is a strong and large surface showing adjacent to and having the same indications as the veins on the Mother Lode and Nugget mines. The claims upon which the new strike was found adjoin the Clyde-Belt group, upon which extensive development work is now being prosecuted, and the new strike has been traced into the latter claims.

HENLEY REGATTA OPENS

HENLEY, July 4—The Henley regatta opened today in brilliant weather and there was a great assemblage of spectators. Cosgrove the Toronto sculler rowed his first heat with Edye of the Auriel rowing club in a light breeze up stream. Edye led for the most part of the course and beat Cosgrove easily by a length in 9 minutes 11 seconds.

FATAL ACCIDENT IN COAL CREEK MINE

Motor Driver Killed by Striking Head Against Displaced Timber—Native of Fernie

(Special to The Daily News.)

FERNIE, July 4—Chris. Dingsdale, 22 years of age, employed as motor driver in No. 2 mine Coal Creek was instantly killed at 2 o'clock this morning. He had brought one trip of loaded coal cars out of the mine and was returning for another. Since his last trip some of the timbers in the tunnel had become misplaced and it is thought that his head came in contact with one of them, knocking him off in front of his motor which passed over him. The injuries to his head and body were such that death must have been instantaneous. The body was brought to Scott's undertaking parlors in Fernie and a coroner's jury viewed the remains this morning at 11 o'clock and then adjourned to tomorrow evening. The young man's parents reside here but the father is at present in Nanaimo and has been notified of the sad event.

PULLMANS A LUXURY.

TORONTO, July 4—According to the arguments of railway officials, the companies are losing money in the operation of sleeping cars which they class as a luxury and say should be paid for as such by the travelling public. As to the latter argument, Chairman Mabee of the Dominion railway board, disagreed. Sleep was a necessity, he said. The board spent several hours hearing reasons why the price of upper berths in sleeping cars should not be made cheaper than lower berths.

The railways contended sleeping cars cost a great deal more than day coaches, were heavier and cost more to haul, carried fewer passengers and was therefore less remunerative and that to make a reduction in the rates would lead to undesirable passengers. Representatives of the various railway companies produced figures which attempted to show that sleeping cars were operated at a net loss.

WILL BURY HATCHET.

BERLIN, July 4—The Vissische Zeitung, publishes information, said to have originated in Philadelphia to the effect that the German and Irish elements in the United States, have decided after long years of mutual antipathy to bury the hatchet. As a sign that bygones shall be bygones, it is added, it has been decided that the American, German and Irish flags shall be hoisted along side one another on St. Patrick's day, and on days when the Germans are celebrating their national holidays.

CHARGE AGAINST IMMIGRANT DISMISSED

Miner at Arlington Mine Found to Have Lawfully Come to Canada —Home at Northport.

Before W. H. Bullock-Webster, stipendiary magistrate last evening, in the court house, Santo Crocco, a miner at the Arlington mine, Erie, was charged with being an undesirable immigrant who had been rejected and refused entrance into Canada and who was unlawfully found in Canada. W. B. Farris appeared for the Dominion government authorities and conducted the prosecution, while the accused was defended by Fred C. Moffatt.

After calling Constable Ellis to prove the arrest of the accused at Erie, Mr. Farris called J. P. Vroom, immigration agent at Waneta, who swore that he had rejected Crocco three times at Waneta. To Mr. Moffatt Mr. Vroom said that on May 14 he rejected Crocco because he was from Italy and had no ticket from that country to Canada. He denied that Crocco said he was an American citizen. Also because Crocco had not $25 in his possession and only a train ticket on him. Having rejected the man three times, he did not think it necessary to deal with him again in detail and he refused him a few days after May 14. Although at that time he had $25 in his possession.

Home at Northport.

Mr. Moffatt called the accused who said he came to Canada in 1882 and to B. C. in November, 1907. He had worked at the Arlington mine from November, 1907 to January, 1910, going down to visit his wife at Northport every couple of months. He knew Mr. Vroom and had showed him his American naturalization papers but he had only $7 with him on May $14 when he was not allowed to come on to Erie. He returned to Northport and got $27 and then came back on the 16th but Mr. Vroom would not let him come on. He had gone back and come in by Rossland after satisfying inspector Wood at Patterson that he was properly qualified.

Mr. Moffatt argued that the mere rejection by an immigration inspector because the applicant had not the necessary $25 was not final and that Crocco was legally in Canada having admittedly come lawfully through the port of entry at Patterson.

Mr. Farris said that a prima facie case had been made out and the applicant having been rejected he had to apply to the minister at Ottawa for relief. He could not be rejected at one point, and then lawfully come in at another.

Lawfully Admitted.

The magistrate said he could not overlook the fact that the accused had apparently come into Canada lawfully by way of Rossland. The Crown had not contradicted the story told by the accused but practically admitted this portion of it and he dismissed the charge, setting the accused at liberty.

PRESENTATION TO FATHER TAVERNIER

Parishoners Give Gold Watch to Departing Priest—Advent of Automobiles Improves Roads.

(Special to The Daily News.)

FERNIE, July 4—The horse races which had to be postponed on Dominion day owing to darkness were run off on Saturday and attracted a large crowd of spectators. There is still a big crowd of visitors in town who will remain for a few days to take in the beauties of the surrounding country and incidentally to try the fishing.

The Rev. Father Tavernier who has been transferred to another parish, was last night presented with a handsome and valuable gold watch by his parishioners. It was suitably engraved with his name and the date of the presentation. The Reverend Father has labored faithfully here for over five years and is esteemed and loved by members of all denominations and his loss will be keenly regretted.

Automobiles Improve Roads.

The advent of automobiles into the town has had the beneficial effect of greatly improving the roads, the authorities having had all debris and stones removed. The government road is now practically open from Michel to Morrissey and it will soon be possible to go through to the territories.

Elias Rogers, president of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal company, arrived in town yesterday and will remain here for several days.

John Hanbury, the lumber baron spent Saturday in Fernie and expressed himself as agreeably surprised with the marvellous growth and prosperity of the coal town. He left on the evening train for Elko where he has large interests and will leave for the coast in a few days making his headquarters at Vancouver.

The wrecked passenger train was the west-bound Twentieth Century Limited on the Big Four which on account of a wreck at Sharon, Pa., had been routed over the C. H. & D. north of Middleton. The passenger train collided head on with a northbound freight train at 1:30 p. m.

BEGINS WORK

Construction of Kootenay Central Line

Work Will Commence Near Galloway

Large Force Will Rush Construction

(Special to The Daily News.)

MOYIE, July 4—That active work on the construction of the Kootenay Central railway will commence in a few days at a point near Galloway is a statement made here on reliable authority. If present plans are carried out a large force of men will be employed and the work pushed through with as little delay as possible.

Weekly Launch Races

So keen was the interest in the aquatic sports held here on Dominion day that arrangements are under way to hold weekly launch races on Moyie lake and to have competitions for a cup which will be subscribed for locally The name of each consecutive winner of the trophy will be engraved on the cup from time to time and it is expected that not only will keen friendly rivalry prevail but that considerable interest will be taken in the events by residents here.

Harry Bishop, Archie Bishop, Angus McGill and Robert McTavish of Nelson were on yesterday's eastbound train en route to the Calgary fair.

Ray Crisler, George Morrow and P. C. McWha, members of the Moyie baseball team, left yesterday for Fort Hill where they will appear in the line up of the Creston team in its game with Fort Hill during the Independence day celebration at that town.

Fred Baker returned Sunday from Frank, Alta., where he spent the few days previous inspecting his farm property which he says is fast increasing in value, in common with all other property in that district. According to Mr. Baker there is a big influx of settlers into that section of Alberta this summer, many of whom are from the Dakotas.

American residents of Moyie after joining in the Dominion day celebration here, paid due respect to Independence day with decorations and the customary fireworks.

PRESENT PORTRAIT TO STRATHCONA

LONDON, July 4—At the annual meeting today of the Hudson Bay company Lord Strathcona said that reports indicated the continued increase in fur bearing animals in Canada though the shortage of rabbits for food was against hunters. He referred to the prospective increase in the price of agricultural land.

Henry Clarke, protested against changes in the board and said it looked as if the company was to be exploited by the stock exchange. The annual report was adopted. The meeting decided to present Lord Strathcona with a portrait in oil.

ADMIRE COLLEGE GIRL

Duchess of Marlborough Speaks of Englishmen's Fear of Wives

LONDON, July 4—At a meeting in aid of the Bedford college for women held at Sanderland house which was lent for the occasion by the Duchess of Marlborough, the duchess in the course of a witty speech, spoke of the splendid type of college bred women which America produces.

Men, she said, had not found that college bred girls made less devoted wives and mothers than others. If women were tactful enough not always to worst their husbands in argument and to keep a superabundance of knowledge up their sleeves, there seemed to be little opposition on the husband's part to his wife being well educated. It was difficult to comprehend why there should be such a deep rooted objection on the part of Englishmen to the higher education of their wives. There must be some secret fear that, hard as they found it to understand women now, it would be absolutely beyond their ken should she be highly educated.

CALGARY MAN WINS

KOKANEE RESCUES MAROONED PICNICERS

Rough Weather Forces Kaslo Picnic Parties to Spend Night Across Lake.

(Special to The Daily News.)

KASLO, July 4—On Friday, owing to very rough weather several picnic parties were compelled to spend the night across the lake and many were totally unprepared for such an extended outing and looked worn out and tired on their return to Kaslo yesterday morning. Capt. McKinnon of the steamer Kokanee, on his return from Lardo, seeing signals across the lake went to see what was wanted and brought back H. Guyerbeil and family who had taken advantage of the fine morning and were unable to make the return trip in their own launch.

Mortality Among Chickens.

Skunks and hawks have been carrying away quite a number of chickens during the last few days.

Had Rough Trip.

D. P. Kane of Kaslo, who visited Nelson in his launch on Friday experienced a very rough trip home and had it not been dark Dave does not think he would have risked it, but arrived safely about midnight and now claims he can face anything in his flyer.

On Sunday morning there was a heavy wind and the lake was very rough, but it calmed down later and some good catches of trout were brought in during the evening.

I. T. MacIntosh of Fernie, late customs collector of Kaslo, came in on Friday evening to spend the week end, and have another enjoyable day's fishing around his old haunts. Mac was always a great fisherman and says although he prefers being at Fernie, he misses the lake and trout breakfasts.

Hughie MacDonald and Bert Blackwell left for Calgary on the Kokanee. After being in Kaslo for upwards of 12 years and will be missed by a number of friends in and around town.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodland left for their new home in Revelstoke after spending an enjoyable honeymoon with Mrs Woodland of Kaslo.

MUST PAY UP

Water and Light Service to Cease

Fire Chief Guthrie Resigns Office

Debenture Loan for Sidewalk Work

Pay your water and electric light rates in arrears before Aug. 1 or the service will positively be shut off.

This in substance was the ultimatum declared by a unanimous vote of the council last evening upon looking over a list of debtors to the city in arrears for water and electric light rates, electric supplies, scavenging and license fees aggregating $21,015. The council was in no temper to delay further action. The list of arrears proved interesting to the aldermen and numerous comments and questions were brought out thereby.

According to the list presented the water rate arrears to June 30, totalled $9500; electric light rates to May 31, $8900; electric light supplies to May 31, $1400; scavenging to May 31, $935, and license fees due January 15, $310.

Business Proposition

"The city's business should be conducted in the same manner as a business man conducts his business," was the comment of Mayor Selous. Ald. Rutherford finally moved the passage of a resolution stating that, whereas, the amount of arrears due the city on water rates amounts to $9500 to June 30, and, whereas the amount of arrears due the city for electric light rates totals $8900 to May 31, therefore be it resolved that the city clerk be and hereby is directed to notify each and every person or company so in arrears that unless the same be paid not later than July 31, the water and electric light will positively be shut off. Added to this penalty will be included a charge of $1 for turning off the current or water. Ald. Wells seconded the motion and it was unanimously carried.

Chief Guthrie Resigns

Donald Guthrie, chief of the fire brigade, has resigned.

City Clerk Wasson read the communication from the late chief in which he resigned his office to become effective at the discretion of the council but stated no reasons. On motion of Ald. Rutherford the resignation was accepted to take effect not before Aug. 1.

The matter of securing a competent successor for the position of fire chief brought forth considerable discussion as to the ways and means. Mayor Selous stated that his experience had shown that the advertising of such a vacant position brought a deluge of applications with recommendations which were generally not worth the paper they were written upon.

Alderman Wells questioned the ability of the council to secure the services of a man having the desired qualifications who would accept the salary provided. It was found that the bylaw in force governing the fire chief's salary provided for the payment of $115 per month for three years, after which the amount is increased each year $5 per month until the limit of $120 per month is reached.

City Clerk Wasson was instructed to advertise for applications for the position and to write direct to Chief Carlisle of Vancouver as well as the Victoria fire chief. The time limit set for receiving applications was fixed at July 25th.

Want Total Abstainer

Ald. McDonald wanted the advertisement to state that the applicant must be a total abstainer and fahored a motion to that effect. There being no seconder to the motion Ald. Rutherford moved that the advertisement for a new fire chief state "total abstainer preferred." This was seconded by Ald. Mackenzie and carried, Ald. McDonald alone voting "no."

Debenture Loan

A bylaw was introduced and given the first and second readings on motions which provides for the assessment, levy and collection of the cost of the construction of the side walk on the south side of Vernon street between Josephine and Hall streets and to provide for a debenture loan to cover the cost thereof. It was stated that the cost to the city had been $1316.

New Sidewalk Ordered

Upon the motion of Ald. McDonald, seconded by Ald. Carrie the council ordered a new sidewalk laid on Baker street at the Great Northern corner.

Mrs. D. H. Ahlin wrote to the council requesting a reduction in her water bill based upon the fact that neighbors at the east end of Victoria street up to Chief of Police Young's home obtain their supply from the half inch pipe supplying Mrs. Ahlin and that the supply is inadequate. City Engineer G. C. Mackay was ordered to investigate the matter and report to the next meeting of the council as to the cost of laying an inch supply pipe to each of the residences involved.

The finance committee's report on the public works payroll for two weeks amounting to $327.25 was adopted.

STORY OF BATTLE TOLD BY ROUNDS

Langford and Sharkey Challenge the Winner—Negro has Best of Fight From Beginning

JEFFRIES CAMP, RENO, July 4—Jeffries rose at 8:15 and said that he was feeling fine. He ate a big breakfast and was to be formally examined by Doctors Morrison and Hashire in conformity with the state law. The doctors made no statement but drove at once to the Johnson camp. All is quiet about the camp. Jeffries is lounging about the cottage apparently in good humor.

When the doctors departed, Jeffries went out on the lawn. He went outside and was shaven, his hair was cropped still closer. A big crowd of people leaned against the front fence staring at the fighter. Jeffries seemed in rare good humor jesting with those about him.

Heat Intense.

RINGSIDE ARENA, RENO 4—At 1 o'clock the arena was nearly filled. The heat was intense as the midday sun poured its rays into the crater like structure. Odds still stand at 10 to 6.

Johnson in Perfect Condition.

JOHNSON CAMP, RENO July 4—Johnson remained in bed until 8:45 o'clock. At that time Doctors Morrison and Hashire, whose duty is to examine him officially on his physical condition went to his room. They have not yet announced their verdict. The negro attaches of the camp are raising a purse to send down town to wager. A rumor that the odds are likely to go to 10 to 4 has caused great excitement in the camp. After the examination the physicians came down stairs and announced that Johnson was in absolutely perfect physical condition. The big man came down with them and entering the automobile was driven toward Reno. He said he wanted to take a little air and see the crowds in town. Tex Rickards is momentarily expected here for a conference with Johnson at which will be determined the fighters time of departure for the ring.

Johnson Starts.

RENO, July 4—Johnson and his attendants started for the arena at 1 o'clock in an automobile.

Neither fighter had arrived at the arena at 1:30 p. m. Ringside betting favors Jeffries at 10 to 6. Official pool seller Corbett walked about the arena looking for Johnson money.

Many Women Spectators.

RENO, July 4—Old fight attendants vowed that never before has a prize fight in this country had as many women spectators as this. In addition to the 75 or 100 in the long booth on the rim of the crater every section was dotted with them from the cheapest seats in the upper tiers to $50 places.

Johnson Arrives.

RINGSIDE, July 4—Johnson arrived at the arena at 1:32 p. m.

Purse Announced.

RINGSIDE, July 4—Tex Rickard announces that the men are fighting for a purse of $121,000, 60 per cent. to the winner and 40 per cent. to the loser. Rickard stated that he had given a bonus of $10,000 to each man. This had already been rumored but never confirmed. The money, according to Rickard is all in the hands of the stakeholder.

Visitors Pour In.

RENO, July 4—Incoming trains still pour in and the seat sale will not be less than $5,000.

Clears the Ring.

RINGSIDE, July 4—At 1:55 Announcer Jordan cleared the ring of photographers and hangers on.

Jeffries Arrives.

RINGSIDE, July 4—Jeffries arrived at the arena at 2 o'clock. Billy Muldoon entered the ring and after making a neat speech extolling the "one free state" in the union, evidently meaning Nevada, suggested that the entire assemblage stand up and with heart and soul give three cheers for Nevada and the governor of the state. The response to those remarks was spontaneous and the vast assemblage rose to a man and aired its lungs in three rousing salvos for the "one free state."

Johnson's Ultimatum.

It is reported the new purse division was brought about by Johnson's refusal to enter the ring until it was agreed to.

Cheer Rickard.

At 2:03 Tex Rickard was introduced as the gamest sport of the world by Billy Jordan. Jordan reviewed Rickard's connection with the prize fight game. "All the credit you can give," he continued, "belongs to this great sport, Tex Rickard. I call for three cheers for "our Tex." The crowd responded with a will.

More Celebrities.

Tim Sullivan, stake holder, was next presented as the "famous stake holder, Hon. Tim Sullivan of New York." Rickard and Sullivan, standing together in the center of the ring were photographed. John L. Sullivan then clambered through the ropes and set spectators wild. Jordan introduced him as the "great and only big hearted John L. Sullivan."

Fitz Makes His Bow.

Responding to repeated calls, Bob Fitzsimmons, the ex-world's champion jumped into the ring. Tom Sharkey also responding to the crowd's importunities stalked into the ring and was presented. Frank Gotch, world's champion wrestler was the next to be introduced. Hugh McIntosh the Australian fight promotor also went through the mill and then Jack Gleason followed.

Crowd Grows Impatient.

After more introductions of champions and ex-champion fighters, the crowd began to yell for the biz fellows to appear.

Langford Will Challenge Negro.

Sam Langford, the crack middleweight, was presented and announced he would challenge Johnson for $10,000 win or lose.

Johnson Appears.

Johnson entered the ring at 2:28 p. m. Johnson was followed by his retinue of seconds. Johnson entered from the northeast corner. Johnson's seconds are Billy Delaney, Al Kaufman, Prof. Burns, Geo. Cotton, "Doc" Furey, Dave Mills and Harry Foley. Johnson's timekeeper is Stanley Ketchel.

Jeffries Appears.

Jeffries entered the ring from the southeast at 2:31 p. m.

Sharkey Challenges Winner.

Tom Sharkey challenged the winner.

Time Called.

The ring was then cleared and time for the "battle of the century" was called at 2:44 p. m.

Johnson gave Jeffries the southeast corner. Jeffries' entry into the arena was the signal for a tremendous outburst of enthusiasm. Jeff's seconds are Jim Corbett, Abe Attell, Joe Choynoski, Bob Armstrong, Eugene Vancourt, Farmer Burns, Roger Cornell and Sam Berger. Jeff's timekeeper is Bill Gallagher. "I don't care what corner you put me in it's all the same to me," said Jeffries as he sat in his chair, attired in ordinary street costume and chewing gum while Abe Attell wound cotton bandages about his hands.

Crowd Favors Jeff.

At 2:55 p. m. Johnson was presented as the heavyweight champion of the world. Johnson was clad in blue trunks with the American flag entwined. A very weak reception was tendered the champion. While Johnson was stripped and ready in his corner the Jeffries people were putting on his bandages.

At 2:57 p. m. Jeffries' seconds were still winding the surgical bandages around the undefeated champion's wrist.

Gloves Are Donned.

At 2:58 Jeffries stripped. He wore purple trunks and the American flag. Jack Johnson clapped and cheered Jeffries with the rest of the crowd as the big white was introduced as the great and only undefeated champion of the world, James J. Jeffries. Jeffries folded his arms behind him and gazed over the vast assemblage which cheered again and again. Both men looked fit to fight any number of rounds. At 2:40 the men donned their gloves and Jordan is clearing the ring. Johnson's golden smile was much in evidence as he sat in his corner. Tex Rickard referee, and Charlie White, alternate referee, were then introduced.

The Fight Begins.

The men refused to shake hands. Johnson smiled and Jeffries calmly chewed gum. After a long opening session of sparring Johnson shot his left to the face and they clinched Johnson pushed Jeffries back. Johnson swung his left to the jaw and as Jeffries roughed it at close quarters, the big black shot his left again to the face. The men locked arms and in the break Jeffries clouted his man twice with two short arm lefts to the face and the crowd yelled: "Why don't you laugh?" shouted Corbett at Johnson and the latter winked and smiled back at the former champion.

First Round.

The men continued in a locked embrace and as the gong terminated the round Johnson playfully tapped Jeffries on the shoulder and went to his corner smiling. Jeffries then told his seconds to let him alone he would fight his own battle. It was a tame round.

Round Two.

Johnson came up chattering like a magpie but Jeffries only smiled. "He wants to fight a little bit Jim" yelled Corbett. "You bet I do Mistah Corbett," retorted the champion. As Jeffries held on Johnson clouted him with a wicked right to the jaw. As the men separated from a clinch Jeffries swung his right to the stomach to which Johnson retaliated with two ripping left uppercuts to the jaw. The men closed together Jeffries leaning against the champion with the sheer weight of his shoulders. It was a case of strength against cleverness with the nubian having the better of it. Johnson and Corbett "kidded" each other incessantly during the minute's respite between the second and third rounds.

Round Three.

Both came up slowly. Come on Jim, shouted Johnson saying which the champion hooked his left to the stomach with much force. Johnson then jabbed his left twice to the face and as they closed in breast to breast Johnson whipped a left uppercut to the jaw and neatly blocked the boilermaker's onslaught. As the men circled about the ring Johnson kept up a constant cross fire of conversation. The men separated and Johnson jabbed thrice with left to face and whipped a short arm right to the face. A long clinch followed during which the black missed a wicked right uppercut. Jeffries rushed but Johnson blocked him neatly with a vicious right swing and again patted his antagonist on the shoulder. As the round ended Johnson on points had a good advantage but there was not much power behind his swings.

Round Four.

Jeffries got in a right to the mouth and the blood started flowing from the colored man's lips. First blood for Jeffries, yelled the crowd. Johnson shot a hard left to the mouth and almost rushed Jeffries against the ropes. That golden smile had not faded from Johnson's face at this stage. Jeffries forced the champion against the ropes and a half dozen short arm punches found their mark in rapid succession. In response, Johnson shot a right to jaw and the round ended.

Round Five.

Johnson as usual came up with a volley of words. Jeff paid no attention to this, but rushed in close and they wrestled for a spell. At close quarters Jeffries shot two rights to the body to which Johnson responded with a left uppercut, cutting Jeffries' lip a bit. Johnson a moment later drove his right to the jaw and then followed it with two left uppercuts to the same place. Johnson jarred the white with a straight left to the mouth and they eased up in a clinch. Both men were bleeding at the mouth. Suddenly Jeffries set the black's head back a foot with a straight left to the mouth and Johnson looked a bit serious as he took his seat, not, without giving the boilermaker the customary round of love taps. No serious damage done.

Round Six.

"I'm going to mix with him now," said Jeffries to his seconds. Three lefts radiated from the champion's shoulder catching Jeffries on the face in each instance and the blood seeped from Jeffries' left cheek bone. Both men fought cautiously. A ringside fan asked Johnson if he would like a drink. "Too much on hand now," quickly rejoined the champion and he ripped in three left uppercuts to the white's jaw. Jeffries waded in but was met with a nasty left uppercut that closed his right eye tight. Johnson followed this with two similar punches and the blood spouted from the retired champion's nose as he took his seat when the bell ended the round. Jeffries' seconds worked heroically on his damaged optic. Johnson's round.

Round Seven.

Jeffries came with a ferocious frown and they closed in. A long sparring followed without a blow being struck, Johnson meanwhile carefully priming himself for an opening. Although Jeffries' eye was badly bruised he never lost his poise. Johnson laughed sarcastically as Jeffries swayed a right swing at close quarters. With the men locked in an embrace Johnson jolted his man three times over the damaged right eye and followed this with a right uppercut to the jaw. Jeffries stopped Johnson's bickerings with a straight right to the jaw. Johnson countered with left and right to the sore face. The bell clanged with the honors on Johnson's side and Jeffries looked badly cut as he took his corner.

Round Eight.

Jeff rushed in and the black drove a left to the mouth and shortly after shot in two straight lefts to the face that carried considerable force behind them. "Hello Jimmy," shouted the black. "Did you see that one." As they closed in without damage, Jeffries shouted "Break away Johnson," but Johnson did not break and laughed as Jeffries missed a serious left swing. Earlier Jeffries at close range had worked in two rights to the body that failed to faze the negro. Jeffries pushed his man about the ring and the bell rang closing a rather featureless round.

Round Nine.

Johnson kept up a constant conversation in his corner before coming up to the scratch in this round. He hooked his left to Jeffries' face with great force and continued to hurl tersely framed sentences at Jim Corbett. Johnson hooked another left to the jaw that carried with it a world of power. After Jeffries had butted with his head Johnson flung his left to the stomach and they went into a friendly clinch. Jeffries crouched low and Johnson drove a wicked left full tilt in the stomach. The round ended in Johnson's favor and with Jeffries' face bleeding from several places.

Round Ten.

Not much life marked the coming to the centre of the ring. Johnson shot two lefts to the head and followed this with a short arm right to the ear. A long clinch mixed with wrestling followed. Jeffries swung his right around the body. The men confined themselves mostly to in-fighting and short streaks of wrestling, Johnson always on the alert to land a punch. Johnson whipped two lefts to the jaw and a right uppercut to the jaw made Jeffries yell "Oh" audibly. Johnson peppered away with his left and clearly outboxed his sturdy opponent. It was Johnson's round. Delaney asked Rickard to watch the gloves when the men were holding to see that they were not broken.

Round Eleven.

the crowd by making a rally, landing his right to the jaw and a hard left to the body that brought the crowd to its feet. Johnson, however, had a good advantage.

Round Twelve.

The men clinched after the black had missed a hard left for the jaw remaining in this position half a minute. As Jeffries rushed in Johnson met him with a straight left and a right uppercut to the jaw. With the men breast to breast, the black swung hard with left at the body and face, all the time keeping up a conversation with Corbett. Johnson cleverly blocked blows intended for the body and sent home a straight right to the sore mouth, starting the blood afresh. The negro shot a straight left to the face and then sent his man's head back a foot with similar blows. Jeffries went to his corner spitting blood and with the honors against him. Jeffries' seconds were ominously quiet at this stage. On the other hand the Johnson corner fairly hummed with life and bustle.

Round Thirteen.

Dealing out severe punishment with every lap the round ended with Corbett advising Jeffries to cover up and stay away. Jeffries started rather blankly into the middle of the ring and appeared to be in bad shape.

Round Fourteen.

Jeffries was met with straight left as he got up and a moment later another spiteful jab went to the mouth. Johnson placed his stomach within Jeffries' reach and tauntingly cried: "Ain't that a nice belly Jim why don't you hit it!" Jim did not. They closed in, Corbett importuning his man to beware of the dangerous uppercuts. Jeffries' right eye was almost totally closed at this stage. Johnson sent in some rapid fire of left jabs to the mouth and the big white shook his head. "I'm as clever as you are Jim," shouted Johnson to Corbett and immediately an exchange of repartee followed. The round ended tamely but Johnson had all the honors and Jeffries' seconds looked blue.

Round Fifteen.

A clinch opened the round and then Johnson rushed his man to the ropes, flooring him. Johnson knocked Jeffries out in the 15th round and the white man was counted out as he hung over the ropes, his seconds and the crowd rushing into the ring before the time keeper could count him out.

RENO COLLECTS WEIRD THRONG

Rising Sun Discovers Strange Scenes—Telegraph Companies Prepare for Big Business

RENO, July 4—When the sun that lifted its rays above the sage brush hills enclosing this ordinarily beautiful valley, sets in the west there will have passed into comparative oblivion one of two mighty men, James J. Jeffries or John Arthur Johnson. Its first rays shot into barrack-like places where men of home and family were lying in row after row. It glinted through shutters into strange bedrooms where men were sleeping three in a bed and on the floors. It rent aside curtains of smoke and saw red-eyed men grouped at green tables and standing round spinning wheels and on each of these tables it met its rival, the gold of earth in heaps. It saw a great bare structure of pine boards with a white rope ring in the centre waiting. In the streets, already stirring with the restless life and automobiles already whirling along the country roads out of the southwest came a cool wind and the clear sky gave promise of a perfect day for what may be the last great heavyweight prize fight in the United States. Here between the fire of eastern reformers and the deep sea of the Pacific coast politics, the pugilists are gathered in thier last stand. Never before in the history of the prize fight have so many fighting celebrities and sporting characters met in one street. If announcer Billy Jordan has to introduce all these men this afternoon, he will loose his voice long before Jeffries and Johnson make their bows to the public. The morning of the fight brings no change in the details that will make up the setting of the stage. To down the rumor that he would not act as referee, Tex Rickard offered this morning to bet one thousand dollars that he would officiate.

Night Peaceful.

The night passed peacefully at both camps and early this morning the trainers and handlers were busy completing their arrangements to appear at the ring side promptly and to go out of town tomorrow.

The gong for the first round is scheduled to ring at 1:30 p. m. Pacific coast time, but with the introductions and the fuss of the moving picture machine, it probably will be half an hour later before the fight is called. It is probable that the arena, seating 17,000 will be completely filled. Early in the morning long lines of purchasers were at the ticket office. There should be no difficulty over the seating arrangements and no scrapping has been carried on.

Food and Lodging Scarce.

The doors of the main restaurants were guarded by husky waiters who let a few hungry patrons sift in at intervals. Once inside it was a case of take what they could get to eat, the menu cards were ornaments, the hundreds of men who came in on the late specials last night waited until they were weary for a place to sleep. Some gave it up as a bad job and remained up all night.

Weird Throng.

It was a weird throng that started on its way to the arena as the clock moved toward noon. In the crowd were pugilists and sports and betting men, men who write of the doings of the fighters more writers than ever reported a fight before, women and boys, thieves and gamblers, beggars and detectives and all the casual riff-raff that follows big sporting events, they were burned by one fever, sped by one desire.

Jeff Still Favorite.

During the morning many automobile parties started for the two camps on the edge of the city, seeking a last tip. The pool rooms were busy taking bets. During the early hours the odds remained the same as last night, Jeffries was the favorite at ten to six and a half. They pulled it down to six at one time but a bet of $1000 was made by H. H. Frase of Chicago who will manage Jeffries round the world tour.

George Considine of New York bet $5,000 on Jeffries at odds of ten to six and a half and announced that he had more at the same price. The larger betting is looked for at the ringside of odds in favor of Johnson. E. E. Smith, of New York said he would bet $20 000 on Jeffries later. The latest news from the camps is that both men will wait until the last minute before motoring to the ringside. They will dress at their camps, even to putting the bandages on their hands. Both rose early and went out for a short spin on the road to limber up.

Johnson has not made his final plans, but Jeffries decided to have all his trainers except "Red" Cornell and "Farmer" Burns precede him to his quarters at the arena. Cornell and Burns will remain at the camp to give him a final rub. On the way to the arena Jeffries will take his wife to a newspaper office, where she will wait until the fate of her husband has been decided, going the returns, round by round. Mrs. Jeffries hates prize fights. She is sure, however, that her husband will win.

Dramatic Touch.

When the fight starts it will be a battle between the two principals.

Jeffries' seconds will be James J. Corbett, who was champion until whipped by Fitzsimmons. Johnson's chief second will be Billy Delaney. Delaney trained and fathered both Corbett and Jeffries when they were young fellows. He is Jeffries' enemy now, and Johnson depends upon him to tell him the weak points in his opponent and to advise him just when to sail in. To fight experts this presents one of the most dramatic touches that could be imagined. It will be a test of the best ring generalship this age has produced. Besides Delaney in Johnson's corner, will be Al Kauffman, Prof. Burns and Stanley Ketchell, middleweight champion of the world, who will be time-keeper for Johnson.

Enormous Reports.

It is appalling to think of the number of words that will be written about the fight before another sun rises. Not only every move but almost every thought of the men in the ring will be chronicled. In cold figures the telegraph companies estimate 750,000 words of press matter will go out over the wires if Johnson wins; if Jeffries wins it will be much less. They estimate about 300,000. A force of 100 telegraph operators have been gathered in this little desert city. They have been brought from as far east as Chicago. A carload of modern equipment was sent out from the east. Tourist sleepers were provided for the accommodation of these men. Extra precautions have been taken along the wires to safeguard the wires and the company has increased its force in all the principal offices and repeater stations from coast to coast. One wire official said that outside the San Francisco disaster of 1906, no greater volume of matter has been handled in the history of telegraphy. Yet the half has not been told. There are incidents that go to make up the real life of a gathering of this sort that no eye can see and no pen can tell.

Negro Reminiscent.

On the eve of the big fight, Jack Johnson and his party of friends sat yesterday afternoon and talked jokingly of his career. "Tonight I am thinking of the hard road I have travelled since I left home when I was 12 years old. I ran away a kid, stowed away on a cotton steamer and landed in New York. I did not have a nickel. As the ship docked, I went on deck and, standing in the centre of a crowd of passengers with my longest face and saddest eyes, wondered what a worthless colored boy without a friend was going to do in that great place. I walked to the rail and told everybody to keep away from me. My old cap I had allowed to fall on the deck. As I turned around, about to try my bluff at the fatal plunge, a woman threw a dollar in my cap. A shower of money followed and the first meal in the big city was chicken.

"Since that time I have travelled over most of the world; I have had my ups and downs, but my ambition has been realized. I have taken my old mother out of that Galveston shanty where I lived from a baby and I have put her in the best house I could find in Chicago. She has everything she wants and I am happy."

Four Leaf Clovers.

The women of Jeffries household have been finding four leaf clovers, and the men have been bringing in old horse shoes, but in the fighter's mind the best indication of good luck that has come to him was in the shape of a yellow dog. While members of the family were at the dinner table last night waiting for Jeffries and Frank Gotch to come in, a yellow dog came in and crawled under Jeffries' chair. Attempts to drive the visitor away were useless. As Jeffries returned a juicy steak had been placed for him. As he spied the dog he said: "There is my yellow dog with good luck for me. We will make him the mascot. He is welcome to stay." Cutting the steak in two, Jeffries gave half of his steak to his friend.

First Sale of Lots in the Salmon Rapids Townsite

situate at the junction of the South Fork with the Salmon river, eight miles south of Salmo, and five miles north of the Pend O'Reille river at the International boundary. Here are the points which insure the future of the town.

1. It is the centre of what will undoubtedly be the largest and most remunerative fruit raising district in the province, as the elevation is lower and the climate milder than any other fruit district in the Kootenays. Over 10,000 acres of fruit land with the finest soil in the province have already been taken up for settlement.

2. Over 1,500,000,000 feet of timber are held by various large lumber concerns in the immediate vicinity and the contour of the country makes it necessary that all this timber must be cut at Salmo Rapids.

3. The Idaho & Washington Northern railway is to be extended northwards from Metaline, 11 miles south of the boundary and will reach the town shortly, when the lumbering industry will immediately be established on a large scale and provide a big pay roll for the town.

4. There are a number of valuable mining properties being worked within a short distance of the town.

5. There is now a good wagon road to Salmo and another is under construction to connect with the Pend O'Reille road to Waneta. The latter will be part of the automobile road which the Hon. Minister of Public Works has guaranteed will be built in two years through from the Coast to Alberta. It forms the main street through Salmon Rapids.

The townsite is level as a billiard table and the streets are all cleared. Here is a town in the making which will shortly rival Creston where lots have recently sold at ten times their original price. For a short time lots are offered at $75, and upwards, but this opportunity will not last long. The moral is to get in early.

Forty Thousand on Jeff.

NEW YORK, July 4—There has been no betting in the real sense of the word said Norman Selby whose ring name is Kid McCoy. "Only a few wagers here and there of small amounts that's all." The heaviest wager reported in the east was made at Atlantic City where a party of New York men placed $40,000 on Jeffries against $25,000 on Johnson. Betting here today what there was of it was 10 to 6 on Jeff.

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good," it is probably better FOR HIM—it pays better. But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in Plain English; or, Medicine Simplified, 1008 pages, over 700 illustrations, newly revised up-to-date Edition, paper-bound, sent for 31 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only. Cloth-bound, 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

KOOTENAY FRUIT BROUGHT HIGHER PRICE.

The fact that the only shipment, as we understand, sent from this locality by refrigerator car this season was reported from Calgary as "selling readily though at higher prices" than other strawberries on the market at the same time, is very conclusive testimony to the quality of the fruit grown here.

There are several other lessons to be learned. The value of growing the best quality of fruit,—a quality that will sell in preference to other fruit even though the other is cheaper,—is one point. Not only will the good quality bring a higher price while the cost of ... is the same as for inferior grades, it is also easier to sell. The value of the refrigerator method of shipment and of such increased production and general co-operation as will facilitate the collection of car load lots, are other points to which attention may profitably be given.

THE MANITOBA ELECTIONS.

Nominations were held yesterday in Manitoba and next Monday will see the end of an exceptionally bitter contest in a province where political battles have always been fought without gloves.

The issues between the two parties seem to have been lost sight of, if one may judge from the Winnipeg press, in a number of scandals. At the outset the Roblin government had a public ownership record and a good railway record for its strong cards, while the Liberals went one better with a still more advanced platform, which included among other things, the introduction of the referendum as a check upon improper legislation.

Instead of fighting the battle upon their platform, however, the Liberals with doubtful judgment endeavored to improve their chances by introducing scandal. Mr. Roblin was accused of being a partner in a company which had a contract with the government. The government party retaliated by accusing one prominent Liberal of offering a judgeship for sale at $10,000 and by making several other serious charges. The general upshot appears to be that the attention of the electors has been diverted from issues of policy to scandals, and that the governments side has put the opposition decidedly upon the defensive.

Under these circumstances it is probable that the government will be returned to power. Its majority may be reduced. The Liberals at the outset intended to win and hoped to do so. They had made elaborate preparations and put forth their full strength with assistance from Ottawa which they have not always enjoyed. Had they stuck to issues instead of going in for a scandal campaign they might have succeeded. Even as it is they will probably elect more members than at the last election which was allowed to go almost by default, with the result that the government made the meanest approach to a clean sweep in a province that is so evenly divided and so keenly interested in public policies.

THE PRIZE FIGHT.

Now that Mr. Jeffries has been "knocked out" by Mr. Johnson, the press of the continent will have nothing better to devote its space to than affairs of the rest of mankind and similarly unimportant subjects. Mr. Jack London will return to the business of writing mere novels, and the telegraph companies will send ordinary news. Fitzsimmons, Corbett, Sullivan and the rest will disband. "The captains and the kings depart."

To add anything to what has already been said of this particular encounter is, we feel, a task far beyond our powers. Much the same thing may be said of the discussion on the merits of prizefighting in general.

Almost the only question suggested that has not already been copiously answered is, from what race will the next holder of the "proud title" spring?

England was once the home of the prize ring. George Borrow has an Homeric chapter on the bruisers of old, which a shy Quakeress once started Augustine Birrel by quoting with enthusiasm. From the Englishman the belt passed to the Irish American,—to Sullivan, Corbett and Jeffries with the Australian Fitzsimmons as an interlude. Burns, a French-Canadian-German-American seems not to have been regarded as quite in the same class and was under the middle weight limit. Then came the negro.

The Irish American, like the Anglo-Saxon seems to have abandoned the prize ring so far as the rising generation is concerned. It may be left to the negro and the first or second generation of immigrants from southern and eastern Europe,—unless a desire to restore the lost laurels to the white man may stir up some representatives of the races which for so many years held it against all comers.

H. HARMSWORTH IS FINANCIAL GENIUS

A special cable to the New York Times says: To Americans the most interesting among the King's birthday honors will probably be the baronetcy conferred upon Harold Harmsworth, who is almost as well known here as is Lord Northcliffe.

Of all the amazingly successful Harmsworth brothers—sons of the late Alfred Harmsworth, barrister of the Middle Temple—Harold is said to be the greatest financial genius. Although he differs politically from his eldest brother, Lord Northcliffe Harold Harmsworth is closely associated with him in business and is a familiar figure at Carmelite House, London, the home of The Daily Mail and of a large number of other Harmsworth publications, which altogether number between 70 and 80 and provide employment for something like 15,000 persons. Harold Harmsworth indeed, is said to be practically the chief financial director of these various undertakings and it is also said that his personal fortune is at least as great as if not greater than that of Lord Northcliffe.

In this connection it may be interesting to mention that another of the Harmsworth directors, Kennedy Jones, who is also a millionaire, is said to be slated for a baronetcy, and afterwards for a peerage, when the Unionist party regains power.

JOHNSON'S FIGHTS WITH THE BIG ONES

Choynski for a Starter—Jack Jeffries—angford—Burns—Minor Affairs.

Johnson's name spread all over the black belt, and there was no darkey in the south who dared meet him. Posner then sent a round-trip ticket to Philadelphia, where there was a burly negro known as "Klondyke" cutting a wide swarth in the pugilistic circles. "Klondyke" went to Galveston and fought Johnson. The battle was a gruelling one and lasting 20 rounds, but Johnson got the decision.

Posner then was forced to look for white men as opponents for Johnson. He thought so much of Johnson's ability that he decided to see if he could match him with Joe Choynski. The white man thought the negro novice would be easy money and quickly agreed to a match. When Johnson was asked how he would like to fight Choynski he simply said, "Fine!"

In the Choynski battle Johnson met his first defeat, and the only knockout of his long career. Choynski's ring generalship and cleverness were too much for the comparative novice, and the white man dropped the black in the third round for the full count of the doleful decimal. In more wars than one, however, Johnson's defeat was fortunate. The men were arrested, and while in the jail spent the time boxing. Choynski was a great teacher and Johnson was an apt pupil. There is no doubt that Johnson learned a lot from Choynski, which helped him greatly in his future ring appearances.

His Second Fighting Year.

The second fighting year of his career, 1902, was a big one for Johnson, as far as fights engaged in was concerned. He was the principal in 14 contests, not losing one and having four draws. This was the year in which he met Jack Jeffries, a brother of the man he faced today, playing with him for four rounds before he dropped him for the full count.

One of Johnson's hardest fights was with George Gardiner, the middleweight champion of New England, fresh from several decisive victories and a big favorite over the Galveston black. Those who went to see the clever Bay State boy add another scalp to his belt were surprised, for Johnson set the pace all the way and won on the hit. Considering the name Gardiner had at the time, the battle brought Johnson more before the public than all the rest of his battles.

After that contest Johnson defeated Fred Russell and Denver Ed Martin. Then he went after Sam McVey, the negro who was at present cutting a wide swarth in Paris pugilistic circles. The bout went the full 20 rounds, but Johnson had a clever victory on points. The next day he issued a challenge to Jeffries, asserting he was the champion's logical opponent. Jeff evaded him however saying he had drawn the color line after meeting Hank Griffin in 1901.

That Hart Fiasco.

Johnson won all his battles in 1903, beating the rugged McVey twice on points. On April 23, 1904, he met McVey again and put a crimp in Sam's championship aspirations by knocking him out in the twentieth round. He also won from Frank Childs of Chicago in six rounds, and stopped Denver Ed Martin in two rounds. On March 28, 1905, the Hart fiasco took place, Johnson clearly demonstrating his superiority, but having the decision rendered against him. Johnson made Hart look like a plugged nickel and the Kentuckian stayed the limit only through Johnson's generosity. The cards were stacked for Hart to win, and the referee made his decision accordingly.

Johnson went steadily onward after the Hart battle, and but for his color undoubtedly would have won the world's championship long before he did. The only man who made any showing against him was Joe Jeannette. The pair fought several battles, but those who saw the battles had no doubt that Johnson was master all the time, and toyed with Jeannette as he pleased. Johnson beat Langford in 15 rounds at Chelsea on April 26, 1906, and that bout showed his class, for angford is one of the most dangerous men that ever crawled through the ropes. Langford is a larger edition of Joe Walcott, with whom Corbett dodged a meeting.

Johnson's victories over Burns, Kaufmen and Ketchell still are fresh in the minds of ring followers. He toyed with all three of them. Johnson was born in Galveston, Tex., on March 31, 1875.

ROSSLAND AMERICANS HAVE SANE CELEBRATION OF FOURTH

ROSSLAND, July 4—There was no particular demonstration held in Rossland by American citizens, indeed had it not been for the excitement attendant upon receipt of fight telegrams from Reno one could not have noticed anything out of the common. Yesthful Americans made lots of fun with their fireworks on Columbia avenue. These were harmless if somewhat noisy, so nobody was hurt and the Fourth passed off sanely here.

WIRE WOUNDS.

My mare, a very valuable one, was badly bruised and cut by being caught in a wire fence. Some of the wounds would not heal, although I tried many different medicines. Dr. Bell advised me to use MINARD'S LINIMENT, diluted at first, then stronger as the sores began to look better, until, after three weeks the sores have healed, and best of all, the hair is growing well, and is NOT WHITE, as is most always the case in horse wounds.

Heed the Warning

Is it to your advantage to consult me about your eyes? I am in a position to refer you to hundreds of men, women and children whom I have successfully fitted where others have failed. Is this a strong statement? Will you say he is a hot air artist? Do you believe in British justice? Will you condemn a man without giving him an opportunity to prove his innocence? I can back up every word. I will give you the names of people who will tell you they have been fitted with spectacles three or four times, and have only derived benefit after I have fitted them. Am I doing all this advertising for my benefit or for yours? I am doing all I can to help the suffering, and can assure everyone that will give me the opportunity that I am working to help you, or I would not make the assertion that if you have no money you can get the same treatment as the man or woman with money. Does this appear to you like a graft or a fake or like a man who is trying to make himself popular?

Remember the date. On the 1st of each month, if you call at my office, I will test your eyes, supply you with spectacles, and if you can not pay for them we will cheerfully give them to you. Do not overlook the fact that procrastination pays no dividends, so if there is anything the matter with your eyes have them attended to at once.

Have a look at our novelty window this week. Any article from the assortment for $3.00.

could not reach the black. Again he was lacking speed, it was like hitting a punching bag. The Jeffries crouch was in evidence at times, but during the rest of the fight he fought standing straight and working with some of his old aggressiveness. The fifteenth round started with a clinch after Jeffries had failed to land on the body. Johnson then tore loose and before the spectators were prepared for the finish he had sent Jeffries down with lightning-like left and right blows to the jaw. Jeffries slipped and fell half way through the ropes. Those under him saw that he had lost his sense of surroundings. His time had come. He was feeling the way he had caused others to feel in the days of his youth and power.

Don't Hit Him.

Johnson came over and stood over his adversary ready for a left hook if Jeffries regained his feet. Jim Corbett, who stood in Jeffries' corner during the fight telling Johnson what a fool he was and how he was in for the beating of his life, ran forward with both of his arms outstretched crying: "Oh don't Jack, don't hit him." Jeffries painfully raised himself to his feet. His jaw had dropped. His eyes were nearly shut and his face was covered with blood. With trembling limbs and shielding arms he tried a defense but could not. Johnson landed a terrific right smash on the jaw followed by two left hooks, he went down again.

Was All Over.

Jeffries' physician and other friends jumped into the ring. "Stop it," they cried, "don't put the old fellow out." Sam Berger, Jeffries' manager ran along the ring calling to Bob Armstrong: "Bring that towel, you know what I mean and don't let him get hit."

From Johnson's corner his seconds were calling to him to quit. Then the referee stopped the timekeeper and it was all over.

Too Old.

Then soothing liquids were applied to the fallen champion's bruised face but his heart was something that could not be reached. As soon as he had regained his sense of persons and of the rapid fire events that had pushed him into oblivion he took his head in his hands and groaned, "I was too old to come back," he said. Corbett and Choynski and his brother Jack and the others were ready to cry, but they united in trying to cheer the defeated man.

"It's all off with you Jim," said Corbett but you did the best you could. Cheer up we will go fishing tomorrow said Frank Gotch, the wrestling champion.

Ring Stampeded.

In an instant after the crowd realized that the fight was over the ring was stampeded by a wild throng. The shortened men were hit variously but in the great mass of spectators there was feeling of personal loss. Hope had lived in the minds and breasts until the last minute and now the idol had crumbled and the black man stood peerless. They could not help admire him and there was little animosity shown him. For the most part people were silent readjusting things in their minds. Hundreds swallowed the bitter pill of heavy financial loss.

DRY GOODS MEN ARE ANGERED BY TARIFF

NEW YORK, July 4—Frederick B. Shipley, chairman of the Wholesale Dry Goods association, which contains 132 wholesalers and importers in this city, and is affiliated with the 28,000 merchants throughout the country today outlined the crusade the association is to make against the re-election of senators and representatives who voted for the present textile tariff.

Chairman Shipley declared that the present tariff, the passage of which was vainly combatted by the committee of the association in Washington places the control of cotton textiles for the entire country in the control of the manufacturers who are able to fix arbitrarily prices not only for the wholesalers and retailers of the United States, but also for the importers.

"It means that the Americans have to pay at least one-third more for their cotton goods than is paid in Europe," said Mr. Shipley.

"Both President Taft and Senator Aldrich have been quoted as saying that the new tariff was in general a decrease in rates and that it was beneficial in this way. Our committee has examined every item and in more than 200 cases of cotton goods alone I can show that the tariff has been raised all the way from 10 to 96 3-10 per cent."

YOUNG INDIAN MURDERED.

Jury Investigates Gruesome Case at Lac du Bonnet.

LAC DU BONNET, July 4—The jury empanelled to investigate the death of Albert Kent, the young Indian, whose body was found last week in the Winnipeg river, returned an open verdict. The circumstances, however, seem to indicate that the case is one of murder. Wakemenz, the lad who accompanied Kent is considered innocent.

A suspicious circumstance of the inquest was that each of the seven Indians examined told exactly the same story, their evidence failing to vary on even the slightest detail. In view of the fact that Kent was lost almost eight months ago this conformity is considered to be somewhat suspicious. The provincial constable who paddled 70 miles in a canoe to White Dog to get the witnesses, also states that the Indians appeared none too anxious to come to the inquest. The appearance of the body too is very suspicious. There is a hole in the back of the skull five inches in diameter and the jaw bone is badly broken. It does not seem probable that the injuries to the skull were done by floating ice in the spring, as has been suggested, the forehead of the skull being perfectly free from injury.

Boy's Evidence.

Wakemenz stated that Kent and he left the former's camp at White Dog in canoe early last November for the camp of a neighboring Indian. On the way Kent caught sight of a moose and went after it into the woods. This was the last he ever saw of him. At night he returned to the camp at White Dog, informing Kent's relatives of what had happened. They waited several days, expecting him to return, but when he failed to show up a search party was organized which failed to find the missing man.

Another Indian, who said that he was paddling down the river about half a mile behind Kents canoe on the day of the occurrence, corroborated the boy's evidence. The search party could do little, it being impossible to track Kent on account of the muskegs.

The dead man's sister and mother were also examined, the latter volunteering the information that her son was subject to crazy spells, and that when under the influence of these spells he was liable to get lost in the woods.

Jury's Verdict.

After being out half an hour they returned their verdict as follows:

"We find that Albert Kent met his death some time between the fall of 1909 and June 25, 1910. The exact date could not be fixed by the evidence presented to us. The appearance of the body would indicate that his death was the result of violence, but there has been no direct evidence to show the cause of death of the said Albert Kent."

Previous to the inquest the jury went out to the scene of the finding, two and a half miles from the point, the trip being made in two gasoline boats and two canoes. During the trip what almost proved to be a fatal accident occurred when the chief cook of the Gunn company, who was a juryman, fell off the launch. He was rescued with difficulty.

The party from Winnipeg were well quartered, H. Beeby of the Gunn company looking after the arrangements.

IRRIGATIONISTS AT KAMLOOPS

Arrangements Well Under Way for Big Convention Next Month.

The subject of irrigation has become one of the utmost importance in the west. In both the Dominion and the United States the subject has been specialized and year by year—profiting by experience in practical irrigation, laying out and operating irrigation projects and the enacting of legislation dealing with water rights and privileges, marked progress is being made. To keep western Canada in touch with that progress and to be a factor in the making of it, the Western Canada Irrigation association was organized, and on the 3rd, 4th and 5th of August the annual convention of the association will be held, the place of meeting being Kamloops, B.C.

Annual.

The immense irrigation works carried on by the C.P.R. in Alberta, the several large irrigation projects in operation and in progress in this province, reclaiming great tracts of semi-arid lands, and the many other extensive tracts still awaiting reclamation by irrigation, cannot but provide much food for thought on the part of those interested in the development of the west. In view of the importance of the subjects that come within the range of objects of the Western Canada Irrigation association, it is highly desirable, nay it is imperative, that the attendance at these annual conventions should be representative of every part of the west where irrigation is or should be practised. The basis of representation is such that every city, town and district in the three provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and British Columbia may send delegates, and it is urged that steps be taken immediately to send as large a number of delegates as possible, so that the convention will be a thoroughly representative one.

Secretaries.

The general secretary of the association is John T. Hall, Brandon, Man., and the local secretary at Kamloops is Thomas Galloway, either of whom will be pleased to furnish any information desired as to the convention. Special rates have been arranged for with all the transportation companies. Arrangements are being made for accommodating at Kamloops the delegates attending, and their comfort and welfare will be well looked after by the local committee on arrangements.

Addresses by Experts.

Arrangements are being made to have the recognized experts in irrigation and allied subjects address the convention, and every opportunity will be given for the interchange of ideas and discussions thereon that will lead to their very best development.

Constitution.

The basis of representation at the convention is as follows: The governor-general, members of the Dominion cabinet, the senate and the house of commons, the Dominion commissioner of irrigation, superintendent of forestry, the district, and superintendent of Dominion experimental farms, five representatives of the Canadian Society of Engineers, two representatives from each Canadian railway and one from each agricultural paper in Canada.

From the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia: The lieutenant-governors, the members of the legislatures, the deputy ministers of provincial cabinets, provincial irrigation commissioners, three each for all irrigation and irrigation colonization companies, two each for all agricultural, forestry and live stock associations, five each for all cities, appointed by the mayor, two each for boards of trade or similar organizations, two each for all towns, villages or rural municipalities, to be appointed by the mayor, reeve or overseers; two each for all Canadian clubs, to be appointed by the president, the superintendent or representative appointed by him, for each experimental or demonstration farm, three representatives from other irrigation associations to be appointed by their presidents.

Resolutions.

It is especially requested that anyone having a resolution to bring before the convention for discussion, mail a copy of the same to the executive committee secretary, John T. Hall, Brandon, by July 20, so that it may be printed for convenience at the convention. And also that intending delegates will notify Thomas Galloway, Kamloops, B.C., local secretary, of their intention to be present, in order that the necessary accommodation may be arranged.

Railway Arrangements.

Be particular to observe the following: A list of delegates should be sent in as early as possible, and urge upon them the necessity of having a single fare ticket, and at the same time securing a standard certificate from the agent as a delegate to this convention. If they come over more than one line of railway they should get a certificate from each railway company when purchasing the single fare ticket. Delegates should register and hand in certificates to the secretary immediately on arrival in Kamloops, in order to get reduced fare home.

MATRIMONIAL

A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday morning at the home of Mrs. J. D. Kennedy, when their eldest daughter, Ella May, was united in marriage to Joseph Arthur, son of J. D. Woodland, both of this city, by Rev. Mr. Melvin. The wedding march (Mendelssohn's) was played by Miss Christobel Pardee. The bride was given away by her father. Her dress was of white silk mull over hite taffeta silk and she carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid, Miss Isabel Woodland, sister of the groom, was gowned in white silk mull over pink silk, and carried a shower bouquet of pink and white carnations. The groomsman was J. S. Hosley.

The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl and amethyst necklace, to the bridesmaid a pearl pendant, to the groomsman a set of cuff-links, to the organist a pearl crescent.

After the ceremony the company sat down to a dainty breakfast in a beautifully decorated room. The presents were costly and numerous, testifying to the esteem in which the young couple were held. Mr. and Mrs. Woodland left on the south train for Spokane and Kootenay points. The bride's travelling suit was green chiffon panama cloth, with a large picture hat. On their return they will make their home in Revelstoke.—Revelstoke Herald.

JEFFRIES ONCE FEARED BIG NEGRO

Delaney Says White Man Refused to Meet Johnson Even When in His Prime.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 4.—Jeffries once was afraid to fight Jack Johnson is the charge of Billy Delaney, the "maker of champions," who produced Jim Corbett and Jeffries, and who will be behind Jack Johnson today. Delaney predicts the defeat of the white man. It is true that Delaney's prediction is tinged with the bitterness of a long standing animosity toward Jeffries, but those who know the veteran trainer well declare that his statement is made in accordance with his firm belief.

"I never thought the fight would take place," said Delaney today, as he was preparing to leave for Reno. "I never thought Jeffries would fight Johnson, and even after the match was made in New York I bet that Jim would find a convenient hole through which he could escape. When Jeffries was fighting and at his best, Johnson used to follow him about the country and hurl challenges at him. Jeffries refused to meet him because the challenger was a negro, yet Jeffries had fought Bob Armstrong, Peter Jackson and Hank Griffin.

"Sporting writers have termed Johnson a coward, but I know that Johnson loves a fight and has never side-stepped one yet. Johnson is an improved fighter over the time when he was challenging Jeffries. He will be the heaviest man Jeffries has ever faced. Corbett, Fitzsimmons and Sharkey were small men alongside Johnson.

"I will give Jeffries the credit of being the best heavyweight of his time. In spite of the fact that Jim was a coward out of the ring and hated to defend his title worse than going on an operating table. After the gong rang he feared no man. Before the bell no fighter suffered more from stage fright.

"It has been whispered that Jeffries will take an offensive stand and carry the fight to Johnson. In all my experience I could never get Jeffries to box on the aggressive. Until he was punched he liked to loaf. Look at his record and you will see why I am inclined to scoff at the idea that he will rush into the milling.

"Johnson is a better boxer than Corbett. He is less nervous and less energetic than Corbett was but he works with ease. He wastes fewer punches and he has more fighting brains. Should Jeffries crowd him Johnson will retreat until he recovered."

PASSENGER STEAMER RAMMED BY OIL TANK STEAMER

Docks at New York With Six Foot Hole in Side—Passengers Hurry Ashore.

NEW YORK, July 4—With a six-foot hole in her side the steamer Baltic docked today while her passengers hurried ashore and congratulated themselves on their escape from what might have been a mid-sea disaster. The big Baltic, in the black of the night last Thursday jammed into the oil tank steamer Standard bound from Philadelphia to Copenhagen. The shock of the impact roused the sleeping passengers, who hurried to the decks in apprehension. As the Baltic lay rolling in a swelling sea and the water washed into the jagged wound in her bow Captain Ransom and his officer Kenaries went among the passengers and quieted them. No help was asked for by the oil tank steamer which drifted off and disappeared in the mist. Some of the passengers of the Baltic thought the oil tank steamer was making water. Repairs were made and a patch was placed on the Baltic's bow. After a delay of more than two hours, the Baltic steamed away on her course for New York.

A seaman was reported missing after the accident and it was thought that he was knocked overboard.

IDEAL SCENE FOR BIG FIGHT

Jeffries-Johnson Fight Staged in Natural Mountain Amphitheatre—History of Hardy Citizens

Over under the shadow of Mount Rose, in a verdant oasis of the great sage brush desert of Nevada, lies a little city which might appear from a birdseye view to be slumbering among the bright meadows on the Truckee. But Reno is not slumbering, and never is; though at the present moment she holds the boards more completely than has been her fortune in some time.

The truth is that Reno is one of the livest, most wide-awake towns of the entire world, pro rata with her population, and it is a dull season indeed which does not see her commanding the attention of at least most of the United States. Whether or not Reno fully appreciates the value of the press agent, she gets the lion's share of his efforts.

From this particular point of view there could not have been picked a better staging for the Jeffries-Johnson fight than Reno. Never was there a city so amply supplied with sentimental setting for the greatest prize fight in the history of the squared circle as is Nevada's metropolis—no, not even Bohemian old San Francisco herself.

Always Live With Stories.

From her earliest settlement Reno has been the home of "crackerjack good stories," as the newspaper man would say. The Indians had not been pacified thoroughly when the Comstock rush opened the eyes of the world as big as saucers, and Reno became a wonderland of Western nabobs, a veritable hog-wallow of wealth. After the decline of the great mother lode Reno dropped into a period of business lassitude, but she continued to supply her correspondents with plenty of live copy for the press of the country in the shape of remarkable stories which were fittingly shrouded in the atmosphere of the Western desert. Then along came the second great Nevada rush, when the forbidding alkali lands of the Never-Never country to the south opened up their treasure stores and made a Tex Rickard possible. Again Reno's staff correspondents began to mold the wires with stories. And now that the normal has settled like a blanket over the mining industry of the state, those Eastern divorces who love the smell of printer's ink have come to the rescue of Reno's press staff.

Town for the Strong.

This much must be said for Reno: It is no place for mollycoddles. Here is the last rendezvous of the old-time Western type of man, strong of body, bold and blunt of speech, and square as a die, however unpolished. It is the last stand of the wide-open gambling house, with its dense air, its rattle and clang of music, its turbulent sea of humanity, restless with the ever ebbing and flowing tide of emotions and passions. It is a town where a man is supposed to be on the level as long as he acts that way, but Heaven help him if he doesn't.

Scenically, Reno is as picturesque a town as a Swiss village. It is situated in a natural amphitheater, way up among the clouds, with a rim of mountains all around, about whose hoary heads the thunder may peal and down whose seamed faces the lightning may glance in midsummer, while the valley of the Truckee below is sweltering with the thermometer at a point which would kill every living soul in New York.

An Interesting People.

Reno's people are as picturesque as are their surroundings. There is Jim May, owner of the biggest gambling house in the world outside the Prince of Monaco's citadel overlooking the sea; big-fisted, open-hearted Jim May, who plays in thousands and laughs at Fate. There is Tex Rickard, who risked his own gambling house on one flip of the cards on the faro bank. There is Al Meyers, who dropped $30,000 in one night's sitting at the roulette wheel, and walked out into the early morning sunshine with a laugh. There is Nat C. Goodwin, the actor-sportsman husband of Edna Goodrich, who claims a residence in Reno, and who closed his show in San Francisco to attend the first Gans-Nelson fight at Goldfield.

Nevada's officials are also largely men of a broad Western type. Don Dickerson, the governor, who assured the promoters there would be no official objection to the fight, is a Californian, and an old time newspaper man, though still a young man in years, and withal probably the best governor the sage brush state ever had. United States Senator George Nixon went to Nevada from California as a Southern Pacific train dispatcher, and today is one of the wealthiest men in America, although his hair was not yet begun to gray. Attorney General "Dick" Steddard is a product of the state, and is a self-made man with a national reputation in his profession. Charlie Ferrell, the sheriff at Reno, who said there wasn't a chance to get him to stop the fight, is a man who has chased bandits and escaped convicts alone through the desert and has brought his birds home to roost.

It is only necessary to understand Reno people to know why the promoters turned naturally and with confidence to this city after Governor J. N. Gillett of California had issued his now famous ukase. It is but necessary understand Reno to know why I have said that here is an ideal setting for this battle of giants.

Yet the impression must not be gained that Reno is a lawless and Godless country, a haven of bad men, and as some tenderfoot has said within the past fortnight, "a paradise of iniquity."

Setting is Ideal.

The truth is that with all her gambling homes and saloons that never close, Reno has very little crime, a praiseworthy lack of those shocking deeds which occur constantly in so-called "better ordered" communities, and practically no drunkenness on the street. There are many, many fine people in Reno and they are as unmolested as though they lived in a great convent.

Reno has plenty of good schools, and a university which has one of the best, if not the leading mining school in the country. She has excellent street car lines, and high-class pleasure resorts. Some of the hotels and apartment houses of Reno are as good as will be found anywhere. The stores are up-to-date, and the people are generally well dressed.

Fight Will Be Orderly.

Reno will be able to handle the big fight, and handle it well. There will be less disorder than at a big intercollegiate football game, and incidentally less bloodshed in the contest. This fight, which has aroused such an uproar of disapproval, will be no different from any other of the ring contests which have been held in the country during half a century, and which have resulted in neither fatalities nor in the maiming of the combatants.

It is probable that Reno is destined to become the future home of the big prize fights. It is not particularly inaccessible from San Francisco, being a ride of about 13 hours. During the Goldfield rush and the southern boom, Reno accommodated a transient population equal to her fixed population, about 15,000 to 20,000. If Reno cannot house her visitors she will build for them. That is Reno's way.

A prize fight may not be the most elevating spectacle in the world, any more than it is the most brutal. It may be that this sport of brave men is "on its last legs." It is probable that even Nevada will not long permit the continuance of the game within her borders. But while fights are held in Reno the people of that city will not overlook the fact that money is to be spent by fight crowds, and that these despised contests have a decided publicity value.

Reno may not stand in the eyes of the world for the principles of metaphysics. Perhaps her prize fight publicity will prove a roorback. That is something which time will tell. But anyhow, he who lived long in Reno is sure to form a multitude of strong friendships among manly men, who stand, as does their sturdy little mountain city, for good fellowship, clean, open dealing, and frank honesty. He will go away, some day, perhaps, but he will carry the image of Reno always in his heart, and he will be willing at any time to go back to the old town, with its commercial row, so dingy by day, so glittering by night; with its crooked river, always clear, cold, and pure; with its rugged citizens, shy on effete polish, but long on American-made chivalry.

STOMACH AGONY.

Abolish the Cause, and Misery and Distress of Indigestion will Vanish.

Can indigestion be cured? Hundreds of thousands of people who suffer from belching of gas; biliousness, sour stomach, fullness, nausea, shortness of breath, foul breath, nervousness and other distressing symptoms, are asking themselves that question daily.

And if these same doubting dyspeptics could only read the thousands of sincere letters from people who once suffered as badly as they do now, but who have been quickly and permanently cured by the use of Mi-o-na, the mighty dyspepsia remedy that cures by removing the cause, they would go to the Poole Drug company this very day and get a large box of Mi-o-na tablets, and start themselves on the right road to health at once.

The price of Mi-o-na tablets is only 50 cents, and the Poole Drug company guarantees them to cure indigestion, or money back.

Thin or lean or scrawney people will find in Mi-o-na a maker of flesh and blood, because it causes the stomach to extract more nutritious matter from the food, which quickly enriches the blood.

NELSON NEWS OF THE DAY

(Additional local news notes on page 7.)

"Trial by Jury" was given a full rehearsal at the opera house last evening.

The next practice of "Trial by Jury" will take place on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the parish hall.

Miss Hilma Lindberg left yesterday for Slingsman, Alta., where she will reside for the future, travelling via Banff.

Misses Laura and Beulah Wade left Monday morning for Toronto, via the Great Lakes. They will visit Victoria, Seattle and Vancouver before they return.

Alex Laith, secretary treasurer of the Wood, Vallance Hardware Company, Ltd., with his bride, arrived on the coast train last evening. A goodly number of their friends were at the station to welcome them home.

Mrs. D. P. Chapman and Miss Klavenss of Tacoma are visiting their sister, Mrs. John W. Falls, of Carbonate street. It is possible that the attractiveness of the Kootenay may tempt them to prolong their visit until the close of the summer season.

Dr. Clayton, well known in the Kootenays for a number of years, returned from Prince Rupert last week to close out his interests here. Dr. Clayton is full of enthusiasm for the northern city and has determined to cast in his lot with its future. His reports that it has now a population of 4,000, and he is prepared to stake all that he has upon his faith in its success.

The greatest religious gathering ever held in America was the world's sixth Sunday School association, held in Washington, D.C., May 19-24. Rev. J. W. Williamson, general secretary of the Sunday School association, was a delegate, and will tell the story of the wonderful meetings in the Methodist church tonight at 8 o'clock. This is an intensely interesting story and all Christian people should hear it.

A run by the Harriers club of the Y.M.C.A. was held yesterday along the Fairview road. Two packs of five each covered a distance of six to eight miles. The fast pack's time was 45 minutes and the slow pack 50 minutes. A meeting of the Harriers' club committee was held at the Y.M.C.A. rooms last evening but adjourned to Monday next at 8 o'clock p.m., with business on hand unfinished. The next Harriers' run will take place Thursday afternoon.

AT THE THEATRES.

The increasing popularity of the Arcade might very easily be accounted for by a visit. However good the general pictures shown, all eyes and attention are centered on the film of the evening. That the beautiful, changeable little actress, Miss Lawrence, takes the title role in the "Imp" film bespeaks that appreciation. Her smiling countenance at one time, the sad sympathetic yearning at another, and all with sweet perfect grace, stamps anything in which she is seen as a success. Last night Miss Lawrence appeared in "A Bachelor's Love." The Biograph's Gratitude" is also an Imp film. Other subjects are: "Bad Bargain" and "An English Boxing Bout," the contest being between Willie Lewis and Costello. This is one for the sports. The same program will be repeated this evening.

The following are the subjects which were shown at the Gem last evening: "The Call," "An Easy Job," "The Talisman," "Judgment." This program will be repeated tonight.

The program at the Empire theatre this evening is a good one. It includes: "The Death of the Duke De Enchin," an interesting historical episode of 1804. The picture was taken at the exact place of the occurrence. Others are: "Dick's a Winner." "Tabby's Finish," and a most interesting industrial picture, showing "The Production of Copper."

REPORT RECEIVED WITH INCREDULITY

"Johnson wins in the 15th round by a clean knockout!"

Silence, evidencing a sort of dumb incredulity, greeted this announcement made yesterday afternoon at the Hume hotel, Semaphore Cigar Store and the C.P.R. telegraph office. Reports up to that time had shown only three rounds fought and the crowds of anxious fight fans were evidently unprepared to believe the report could possibly be true. Nothing in the three rounds reported was significant enough to warrant such an unexpected result. Sentiment, evinced by the betting odds, had received a severe jolt. "Stung," said one man who was the first to catch his breath. "I don't believe it," announced another Jeffries supporter.

Confirmation Awaited

Many of the interested people waited for further reports to confirm the bulletins before leaving the dickers but as the intervening rounds came in, showing that the former idol of the squared arena had been shattered the losers, who seemed to be of the vast majority, good naturedly departed sadder but wiser men. "That ends the game so far as heavyweights are concerned," was the comment of one man. There was no cheering of the result, indicating that Johnson's victory was not particularly popular in Nelson.

MOYIE CITIZENS SUBSCRIBED HANDSOMELY TO CELEBRATION

(Special to The Daily News.)

MOYIE, July 4.—With the subscription list toward the Dominion Day celebration here which closed a few days ago, Moyie established a record. Bigger totals are commonly swashed by public subscription, but in the distribution list above referred to has probably outranked and previous list ever put in circulation in Kootenay, to say the least. The list is decorated with the list of over 300 persons, all of whom are residents here. The amounts donated vary from 50 cents to $25, and about $85 was raised in this manner in about two days. As will be seen, the average donation is well above $2, which fact itself speaks well for the generosity of the citizens of this small mining town.

On Moyie Lake.

The shores of Moyie lake provide most ideal camping grounds during the summer months and one advantage is being taken of this opportunity afforded residents here to spend the summer months enjoyably. Most Moyie people are at present camping, amongst them being a party composed of: Mr. and Mrs. A. Ferries, Miss Ferries and Miss Lottie Ferries; that of Ray Crisler, Miss Crisler and Thomas Evans; that of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Dimnik, and that of Mrs. D. B. Taylor and her sister, Miss Dudley of Fernie.

The annual school election will be held here on Saturday next. Successors to L. A. Horne, trustee, and James Roberts, auditor, will be chosen.
