MONTREAL, Sept. 21.—The Laurier government and reciprocity suffered an overwhelming defeat in the Canadian elections held today. By a veritable political landslide the Liberal majority of 43 was swept away, and the Conservative party secured one of the heaviest majorities, upwards of 50, that any Canadian party ever has had. Seven cabinet ministers who had served with Premier Laurier, were among the defeated candidates.

R. L. Borden, K. C., the Conservative chieftain, is elected by 200 majority, the county revising the earlier aspect of the city returns.

The Liberals lost ground practically in every province of the Dominion. Where they won, their majorities were small. Where the Conservatives won, their majorities were tremendous. Ontario, the leading province of Canada, declared almost unanimously against the administration and reciprocity.

Borden's Majority More Than Ample.

R. L. Borden, leader of the Conservative party, shortly will become the prime minister of Canada. He will be supported in parliament by a working majority of members far more than ample for his purposes.

The government defeat means that the Fielding-Knox reciprocity agreement ratified by the American congress in extra session will not be introduced when the twelfth parliament assembles next month, and that a revised basis of trade with the United States looking to closer commercial relations will not be possible in the immediate future. The Conservatives are committed to a policy of trade expansion within the empire and a closed door against the United States.

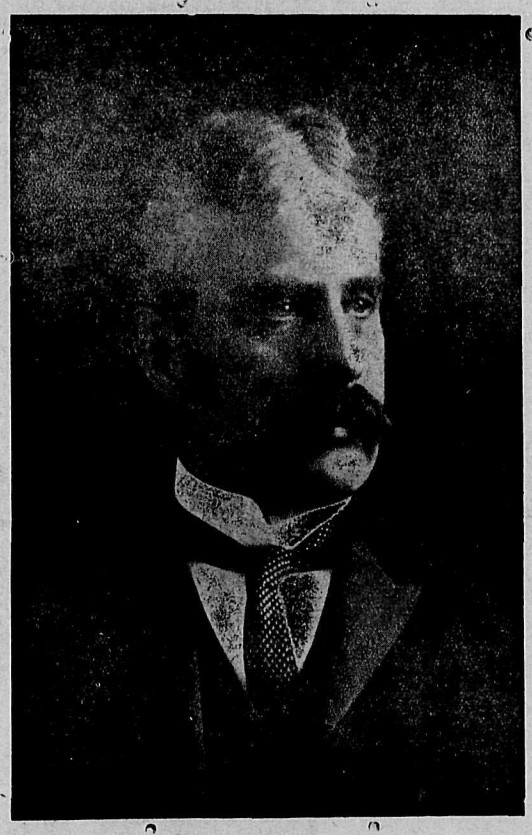
Although re-elected in two constituencies in Quebec, the defeat of the Liberal party also means the retirement from public life of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who for nearly two decades has directed the destiny of the Dominion. Several times during the bitter campaign which preceded todays election the venerable premier said that defeat of his party at the polls meant the end of his career, that he would never consent to lead a minority in opposition to a Conservative government.

A Liberal membership of 53 from Quebec was cut down to 36, which, taken alone, seriously threatened the supremacy of the party. But it was in Ontario that the Conservatives won their greatest victories. Spurred on by appeals to patriotism and the cry that reciprocity was the entering wedge for annexation, the Conservatives swept nearly everything before them. That province, which in the last parliament was represented by 35 Liberals and 51 Conservatives, will send the delegation to the next parliament composed of 13 Liberals and 75 Conservatives.

Laurier's Valedictory.

"There is no doubt that we have been decisively defeated," declared Sir Wilfrid Laurier this evening at Quebec to a group of friends who had gathered with him to hear the returns.

"I gladly lay down the premiership, a burden which I have carried for 15 years. I believed that in making the reciprocity arrangement we had done something which would be greatly to the benefit of the people of Canada. The electors have declared otherwise, and I bow to their decision. I regret that we have been unable to carry reciprocity, which I still believe would have promoted the material advancement of Canada and would have promoted the growing friendship between the United States and Great Britain. The country has spoken, we must bow to the inevitable, and I cheerfully do so."



THE VICTOR

The landslide was not expected by either side. The Liberals were confident that they would be returned by the people with an increased majority, for they believed that reciprocity would be most acceptable to the Canadian electors, while the Conservatives claimed that they would get a majority, they did not expect that it would be so large or that the general verdict of the country would be given so decisively against the government. They feared that the reciprocity agreement would prove popular with the farmers of Ontario, and the farmers and fishermen of the maritime provinces, and while confident that they would win the cities, they were dubious as to the result in the rural constituencies. However, in Ontario especially, the agricultural vote went almost solidly against reciprocity, and in the maritime provinces it did not prove to be the popular issue expected. The farmers and fishermen of the east do not appear to have placed the high value upon the American market which was anticipated.

Eight Ministers Slain.

While Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the prime minister, was safe in two countries, the Conservatives made a great harvest of ministerial heads. Thirteen members of the Laurier cabinet sought re-election and seven of them were defeated. Minister of Finance Fielding and Minister of Customs Paterson, who made the reciprocity bargain with the United States, failed to win their elections. Sir Frederick Borden, minister of militia; MacKenzie King, minister of labor; Sidney Fisher, minister of agriculture; George P. Graham, minister of railways, and William Templeman, minister of inland revenue, also went down to defeat. The province of Quebec rejected one minister, British Columbia one, Nova Scotia two and Ontario three.

A. B. Aylesworth, minister of justice, did not seek re-election, as he decided to retire from public life, and Sir Richard Cartwright, minister of trade and commerce, who is a member of the Canadian senate, was not required to go before the electors. Jacques Bureau, solicitor general, who is regarded as a semi-member of the administration, was also defeated.

Although the majority of seats won by the Conservatives was more than half a hundred, the popular majority against the government and reciprocity is even more overwhelming. Where Liberal seats were retained or won from the opposition it was generally by exceedingly small margin.

The Conservatives elected everywhere were returned by larger majorities than have ever been given before in a Canadian election. The election results indicate that the Canadian electors were moved by sentiment as much as by material consideration. It has been an axiom in Canada's politics that no party could succeed without a majority in the province of Quebec, but the results of today's voting have destroyed this theory, for the government though defeated, retained a majority in Quebec. Many who believed that the Conservatives would win expected the majority to be comparatively small, and the result would be that the French Nationalist group of the opposition would hold the balance of power and that Henri Bourassa, their leader, would seek election in some constituency within a short time and make his appearance in parliament to direct them. If this had been the case they would have occupied the post which the Irish party has some times had in the British parliament, and might have made the position of prime minister an exceedingly difficult one. The splendid majority of the followers obtained by R. L. Borden will make him practically independent of the French group, for he has a working majority without them. The effect of this will be to minimize greatly the Nationalist party which Mr. Bourassa has been creating for eight years past. The great Conservative following sent to Mr. Borden by the province of Ontario makes it certain that this province will dominate Canadian affairs for some time to come.

The retirement from house life of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, now nearing his 70th birthday, soon will be announced, and Liberal members of parliament meeting will be called upon to choose his successor. The defeat of so many leading cabinet ministers makes it dif-

EIGHT MINISTERS ARE VANQUISHED

One of the most remarkable and significant features of yesterday's landslide for the Conservative party was the fact that no less than eight of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's cabinet were among the vanquished.

CONSERVATIVES SWEEP ONTARIO

OTTAWA, Sept. 21.—The defeat of the Liberal party in Ontario is decisive. Returns indicate out of 85 contested seats the Conservatives have carried 69. The defeat of so many ministers is most significant and Ontario has given an emphatic protest against reciprocity.

Hon. Clifford Sifton appears to have been most correct in his prediction. Every place he spoke at turned out to be wins for the Conservatives.

The vote shows beyond doubt that there is no reciprocity sentiment in Ontario. The presence of American citizens on the platform with Sir Wilfrid Laurier was resented most emphatically.

HOW PARTIES WERE IN LAST HOUSE

SILENT VOTE WON ELECTION

Premier McBride Says That Victory Means That Canada Has Forever Done With Reciprocity.

VICTORIA, B.C., Sept. 21.—Hon. Richard McBride, premier of British Columbia, tonight in an interview said:

"The result of today's election has proven what many independent critics have expected within the past few weeks, that the great silent vote in Canada would be against reciprocity. This, of course, must be looked upon as proof positive that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has absolutely lost the pulse of the Canadian people.

"The great victory which Mr. Borden has achieved means that Canada is forever done with reciprocity, and that she is more than ever prepared to continue along the line of cultivating the home and imperial markets first, last and all the time. No one can venture to deny that with the splendid pronouncement that the independent electorate of Canada has made, our American cousins more than ever will have the sincerest regard and deepest respect for their Canadian neighbors.

"Mr. Borden may be expected to give the people of Canada a more energetic government than that which has just been dismissed, as well as to strengthen the assurance that more than ever have we reason to feel satisfied with the great future that lies before the Canadian people. While we have pronounced ourselves a nation within the empire, at the same time we have the right to say that we have set the seal upon our fixed determination to be in the end the very nerve centre and mainstay of the imperial structure."

"As a Canadian I would express the hope that Sir Wilfrid Laurier may be induced to continue in public life and to give that service as leader of the opposition in the Canadian parliament which his long experience and ability easily command."

Detailed figures for Yale-Cariboo were not available but Martin Burrell was re-elected by an estimated majority of 1,500 over Dr. K. C. McDonald, Liberal. Johnson, Socialist will probably lose his deposit..

Wins in Eight Ridings

Returns from the nine provincial ridings of Kootenay last night gave A. S. Goodeve a majority of 813 over Dr. King and it is expected that when the complete returns are received the Conservative candidate will have a plurality of at least 1,000 as the polls yet to be heard from are in the majority of cases in ranching districts where the sentiment is overwhelmingly against reciprocity.

Mr. Goodeve has a majority in eight of the nine ridings, Fernie giv- Dr. King a majority of 144 votes. Complete returns were received from Fernie, Rossland city, Nelson city, Revelstoke and Cranbrook.

There were many surprises in the polling, but the greatest of these was in Cranbrook, Dr. King's home riding, where he was beaten by 227 votes. Cranbrook city gave Mr. Goodeve a majority of 160. The majority for the Conservative candidate in Nelson was 85. Mr. Goodeve carried Rossland by 36 and Trail by 15 ballots.

The Revelstoke polling places were not heard from in detail but a late bulletin gave Mr. Goodeve a majority of 250 over the Liberal candidate.

Mr Goodeve Carries Nelson

There was little excitement in Nelson during polling hours which passed off without incident, both parties devoting themselves to strenuous efforts to bring out every possible vote. When the announcement was made about 5:30 that Mr. Goodeve had carried the city there was a burst of cheering and from that time onwards the evening was one of successive triumphs for the Conservatives.

About 8 o'clock it was known that Mr. Goodeve had won and the victory was hailed with round after round of cheers as the news spread from point to point.

When it was announced that the Conservatives had a safe majority in the house and the oronto Globe had conceded that the Liberals were defeated scenes of the wildest excitement ensued. The Conservative committee rooms were the centre of interest although there were also large crowds at the Hume and Madden hotels where the returns were conveyed by special wires.

Cheer Union Jack

Cheering, waving their hats and singing patriotic songs the crowd received the news, while R. G. Joy who was on the platform at the committee rooms produced a Union Jack with the words: "That is what did it." Renewed cheering and the singing of "Rule Britannia," followed.

The city band was called out and headed by prominent members of the Conservative party, escorted by torchbearers, the streets were paraded. As the procession passed along the main thoroughfares a large crowd lined the streets which echoed and re-echoed with vociferous cheering.

Honor The Daily News

Coming to a stop in front of The Daily News office cheers were given for the paper and for the part which it had taken in the election. From an upper window W. G. Foster acknowledged the compliment. The Daily News believed he said, that the stand it had taken had been in the best interests of Canada, British Columbia and the Kootenays and now that the campaign was over he hoped that both parties would unite in their efforts to further the interests of Nelson and the Kootenays.

Disgusted at Crushing Blow Administered to His Continental Aspirations by Canadian People.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Sept. 21—President Taft at the banquet tonight said: "I have just been informed that reciprocity has failed to carry in Canada. For me it is a great disappointment.

"I had hoped that it would be put through to prove the correctness of my judgment that it would be a good thing for both countries.

"It takes two to make a bargain, and if Canada declines we can still go on doing business at the old stand."

PARIS, Sept. 21.—The interview the French ambassador to Germany, M *Cambon, had with the German minis*ter of foreign affairs, Herr Von Kiderlen-Waechter, yesterday confirmed the French impression of the conciliatory disposition of the German government and heightened the prospects of early arrangements regarding Morocco.

MANUAL TRAINING AT FRUIT FAIR

Eight School Boys Will Give Demonstrations of Practical Carpentering.

One of the most interesting features of the fair this year will be the exhibits of manual training and domestic science by the school children. There will be eight boys at individual benches in a 12x16 section, who will give continuous demonstrations of practical carpentering. Exhibits will also be shown of drawing and writing as taught in the public school, and members of the domestic science class will give demonstrations in sewing. F. Goldfinch, master of domestic science, and Miss Cowap, who has charge of the domestic science classes, will supervise the demonstrations.

Entries in all classes are deluging the secretary, and his staff is kept busy getting them all properly recorded. At the fair grounds workmen are rushing the different improvements to completion and getting everything in order for the opening which is now only four days off.

COMMUNICATIONS

FRED SMITH BEFORE THE ELECTION

To the Editor of The Daily News.

Sir: In an editorial of the 10th inst you asked the question, "Where is the Honorable Mr. Templeman?'

As you appear to be a stranger in British Columbia, for your information I would advise that at the last general election Mr. Templeman assumed in the contest in Victoria, that his opponents were honorable men and that they would use only fair and honorable means to defeat him; on this assumption he toured the province and assisted candidates in other constituencies. On his return to Victoria, however, he found to his surprise that the Tory party there were of the same breed as everywhere else in Canada and their methods were the same; he was defeated by the means of the forged telegram.

This time the honorable gentleman is wisely staying at home and will watch the nefarious schemes of your party to defeat him, at close range.

You will know to your sorrow where the Hon. Mr. Templeman is on the night of September 21.

If you really are sincere in some of your editorials there are numerous other surprises in store for you on the night of September 21.

It is no exaggeration to say that the Tory party as at present constituted in the federal arena is lacking in both measures and men; both of these are essential where victories are to be won.

Laurier and Liberalism would win anyway, but with reciprocity added the victory is an absolute cinch.

FRED H. SMITH.

Spokane, Wash, Sept. 10.

To the Editor of The Daily News:

Sir—I just noticed that in reporting last night's meeting at Nelson you attribute to me the statement, "that it was necessary to wear a pig tail, wooden shoes or a turban to get a job at the Otis Staples Lumber Co." Your reporter was entirely in error in attributing that statement to me. I did not mention the Otis Staples Lumber Co. at any time during my address and I am sure your reporter on reflection will agree. I know quite well that many industrial concerns in Kootenay employ orientals, in fact I think all but the King Lumber Co. do so—still it would be unfair to single out one one particular concern for attack and I did not do so. I am writing you in justice to the Otis Staples Lumber Co. and would be obliged if you would insert this correction.

Cranbrook, Sept. 18.

GOSSIP FROM A MOUNTAIN GARDEN.

By Its Mistress.

This has been a day of quiet rain and I have spent most of its hours sorting bulbs in the packing shed. It is a curious coincidence that my verse in the Shakespeare birthday book should be that well-known one:

"There is a tide in the affairs of men
And we must take the current when it serves
Or lose our venture."

Curious because I believe procrastination is my besetting sin, and it is a most inconvenient one when the sinner happens to be a gardener. For instance, my bulbs, which were dry and "heeled in" some time in May and should have been lifted the first of August were forgotten until last week, and to my horror when I finally started to dig them I found the roots had started and such a time as I have had! They were all grown together in clumps of 25 or 30 and I've had to carefully separate the bulbs without breaking the brittle white roots too badly and plant right away wherever I can find a little vacant space. And alas- for my carefully thought out border, with its "drifts" of daffodils. This border is just now full of asters and hardy chrysanthemums and I cannot disturb them without sacrificing a month's bloom. So I shall have to wait another year before I can have just the sort of border I want. However, I hope the bulbs will bloom all right and they should make a great show planted, as perforce I must in great patches under the apple trees. It is astonishing how these bulbs increase. I don't seem to have bought very many in the last few years, but I find I have many thousands now, the big baskets the Chinese use for carrying vegetables being filled three times. It is wonderful what long roots these bulbs have already, and I am going to try to turn defeat into victory by planting some of the biggest daffodils with good roots in boxes for the house. I believe I can have them in bloom for Christmas. It is worth trying anyway, and it stands to reason that with their root growth already made they could be forced in a much shorter time.

I am also putting in some new bulbs of paper white narcissus for Christmas bloom. These are exceedingly easy to force, taking only about eight weeks, and their fragrant clusters of white waxlike flowers last for several weeks. There is a new sort offered this year a yellow paper white, which I am eager to try, as it will be a novelty to have a yellow narcissus in bloom at Christmas. But I feel pretty sure that these bulbs I spoke of will be in bloom then, and would advise anyone having a few extra daffodils in the garden to try the experiment of putting a few in pots without breaking the roots. Leave them out in the garden covered with earth until about the middle of October and then bring into the house to a warm window and I believe you will have daffodils for Christmas.

I have been setting out small seedlings of perennials, such as aubretia, rock cress and wallflowers, of which I sowed the seed the first week in August. Some cuttings of roses and yellow alysium taken the same time are nicely rooted and were set out before the rain. I keep my box of sand busy all the time and have it filled now with cuttings of the wild dragon's tongue which I hope will root. This is the time to make cuttings of such things as currants, gooseberries and woody shrubs. These should have about eight or 10 inches of this season's well ripened wood cut near a joint, and the ends inserted about five inches in damp sand. They will soon form a callous, and can be left in a cellar in the sand or planted out with some slight protection for the winter, and they will grow away fine and strong when the spring comes. This is a good way to propagate from any specially good variety of bush fruits. I have not tried it but I don't see why one could not root cuttings of the hardy hydrangea, which is just now so beautiful. I have heard many visitors to Nelson say they had never seen anywhere such magnificent tresses of bloom on this shrub, and looking at some of the trees in Nelson gardens one can quite believe it. They seem to flourish exceptionally well in this climate and are certainly a big acquisition, being about the only shrub that blooms at this time. They should be well cut back after blooming, this being one of the shrubs that should not be pruned in the spring.

Have you noticed the beautiful color of the berries? There is one quite tall bush in the orchard and the contrast of its bloomy blue clusters with a bright red crab apple just behind is exquisite. Another touch of vivid color is supplied by the honeysuckle, which grows over the top of a trellis and is aglow with its scarlet fruit. This variety the Belgica is particularly valuable because it has such bright berries and the ends of the vine are always in bloom from the time of the big display of blossom right up to frost.

EDGEWOOD ITEMS

(Special to The Daily News.)

On Monday work on the road leading to the falls was commenced under the superintendency of L. C. Morrison. A wash away, the result of the heavy rains three months ago is being repaired.

Last week J. Bangs shipped ten tons of hay to Hunter Bros., Rossland. On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Martin of the same city accompanied by their daughter arrived to spend a holiday on his ranch in Fire Valley.

Axel Johnson and party returned from a successful hunting trip Saturday. They got six deer and plenty of blue grouse. W. Brodie of Nelson had bad luck, injuring his knee and being prevented thereby for three days from still further adding to their bag. This week Bert Conway and W. Biden, representing Wilson Bros., Victoria, have gone out to the same country to see if they can beat their record.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Craven of Sheffield, England, who are making a tour through Canada, came in on Saturday. The former purchased 20 acres from J. W. Ford some time ago and came in to inspect his holdings. He returns home for Christmas but intends spending a portion of each year here. While in the east they visited their son who has a fruit ranch at Winona, near Hamilton.

A. D. Ford of London, England, who is a partner in the Edgewood townsite and subdivision, arrived last week. He too is enthusiastic about this country, but does not intend to settle as he must be back in England before Christmas to look after the firm's interests at that end.

J. P. Lovesey of Pincher Creek, Alta. is here for a few days. He has a horse ranch there.

Work commenced this week on the bridge at Apple Grove. Jake Serson, provincial bridge superintendent, is in charge, and Murdock McLean is here also with him, making the necessary arrangements.

The steamer Revelstoke, specially chartered by the Revelstoke board of trade, left Edgewood Sunday, Sept. 10 for that city and took up 50 visitors from various points on the Arrow lakes, returning the following Wednesday. The two days fair was a big success, though the exhibition suffered from from inadequate housing; the horse and trotting races were excellent, many coming in from Vancouver and Victoria shows, and an innovation was the betting machines. Lower Arrow lake scooped the majority of the prizes, F. G. Fauquier winning 33, L. Funch 9 and Robert Shields 7 prizes. Edgewood held her own. Wilfred Jowett won 1st prize for a young Pekin drake and second for a young duck of the same variety besides second prize for a plate of Wagener apples. W. Calder carried off first prize for a sheaf of oats. The board of trade gave an enjoyable smoker in the Selkirk hall on Tuesday night and there was also a ball in the opera house with the city band in attendance. The whole affair will tend to cement the good feeling aroused a few weeks ago between the citizens of Revelstokes and their neighbors to the south, when they made their trip down the lakes boosting the fair.

Dr. L. Heaton, lay reader, held service Sunday afternoon in Fire valley and in the evening at Edgewood.

Mrs. F. W. Jordan and family returned to Nakusp last week. They spent the summer on their ranch in Fire Valley. F. W. Jordan also found relaxation from business by passing several week ends here.

Ike Miller of Vancouver, and J. Eves of Spokane, were up on the Kettle river last week inspecting land. J. Kelly and C. Schwartzenhauer of Deer Park were showing them round.

PRESENTATION TO CIVIC OFFICIAL OF ROSSLAND

(Special to The Daily News.)

ROSSLAND, Sept. 21.—On Tuesday evening a presentation was made by the city officials to J. A. McLeod, city assessor, on the occasion of his marriage. To know of and use a food that will feed and restore brain and nerves before slight nervous troubles end in complete nervous prostration or brain fag is wise, for unless proper food is supplied daily it is unreasonable to expect the nervous system to answer the demands made upon it.

There is a food, Grape-Nuts, for the particular purpose of restoring weakened nerves or fagged brain to health and strength.

A business man of Baltimore who made the trial says:

"Two years ago my health had become so seriously impaired it was impossible for me to attend to business At the least exertion my nerves would give way and the condition of my system allowed me little or no rest or sleep at night. Stomach trouble soon followed and I could take no solid food. I tried the best medicines and tonics but they all failed.

"Finally Grape-Nuts food was recommended and after using it for 10 days I began to feel its good results and at the end of three months I was again a well man—nerves restored to their normal condition, strength renewed and I was able to do any amount of both mental and physical work without feeling unduly fatigued.

"I know Grape Nuts built up my brain and nerves and still keep them strong and vigorous just exactly as food builds up muscles or fat, for instance, and I am glad to have learned this valuable lesson." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Trial 10 days proves things when Grape-Nuts food is used. "There's a reason."

DEFENDS CHRISTIAN SCIENCE HEALING

Senator From California Tells of His Transition from Scoffer to Believer—Health Restored

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21—A remarkable defence of Christian Science and a personal history of his family's experiences in that faith, including his own transition from scoffer to devout believer, was made in the senate by Senator Works of California.

His speech was in reply to one by Senator Owen, whose bill for a department of public health has met opposition from many Christian Scientists and supporters of various schools of medicine. Mr. Works denounced the movement for a national department of health as an attempt by the American Medical association to control medical activities.

Senator Works said that 10 years ago he had ridiculed the power to heal that was claimed to rest in Christian Science. For years he said he had suffered from a complication of diseases. He decided that death was approaching and since everything else had failed he determined to try Christian Science. Steadily he improved under the treatment, he said, and finally was completely restored to health.

The senator said his wife after years of suffering as an invalid and confronted with the prospect of an operation, was healed in three treatments through Christian Science. His son he said after the drink habit had "taken complete possession of him," decided after one of his long spells of drinking to submit to Christian Science treatment.

"He has not taken a drink from that day to this," said the senator, "and in the seven years there has been no recurrence of the desire and torture of the appetite."

BURNSTAD'S WILD WEST SHOW AT THE FAIR

Press comment from Bismarck, N.D., says of one of the free attractions for the fair: "Spectators in the grand stand yesterday saw some of the best races that have ever been pulled off in the state, fast time being made in all the events. The Roman chariot and standing races are the most spectacular exhibitions that were ever seen on the Missouri slope, being the special feature of the Burnstad ranch riders. In the chariot race are entered two teams with four horses abreast on each chariot, affording opportunity for some daredevil driving on the turns of the course. The winning team made the half mile in the fast time of 0:57 on Tuesday and expect to better that before the end of the four days. The standing race is another thrilling exhibition, each man standing with one foot on the back of one horse and one foot on the back of its running mate."

RICH PRIZES FOR SPOKANE SHOW

Five Hundred Dollars in Gold and Cup For Boxes of Apples.

SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 21—Thirty-nine hundred dollars, of a total of $20,000 in premiums and trophies, is offered as prizes in carload contests on pack, variety and decorative features at the fourth National Apple show in Spokane, Nov. 23 to 30. The chief prize, $500 in gold and the International Apple Shippers' association's trophy cup, is for the best packed 630 boxes or 210 barrels of apples grown in one orchard and exhibited by the owner, lessee or agent of the land. Prizes of $300 to firsts and $100 to seconds are announced in each of the following carload competitions:

Spitzenberg, Winesap, Jonathan, McIntosh Red, Rome Beauty, Wagener, Yellow Newtown, any standard variety not mentioned in the foregoing and mixed carload of commercial varieties, each variety to consist of not less than 50 boxes.

Quality, color, size, uniformity, condition and pack will be considered by the judges in scoring the exhibits for awards.

A special prize of $200 will be awarded to the exhibitor of the most artistically decorated carload display.

This arrangement makes possible the winning of $1,000 by a single carload entry, without forcing the grower into competition under a handicap against varieties scoring higher on quality.

Best general collective display of apples grown on irrigated land and exhibited by a commercial club, union association, county or district; $100 for first, $50 for second. Best general display produced on non-irrigated land; $100 for first $50 for second.

Most unique and attractive display, not of commercial value, open to any association, district, lodge, society or union of five or more persons, $200 for first $100 for second. Best individual display in the same class; $200 for first, $100 for second. Fifty dollars each to five entries ranking next to winners.

Ten-box classes, 15 contests on standard varieties; $25.00 to firsts, $15.00 to seconds, with added prizes for pack.

Five-box class, five distinct varieties, one in each box; $50.00 for first, $25.00 for second.

Single box classes, 30 contests on standard varieties $10 for firsts, $5.00 for seconds, with added premiums on pack.

Best barrel or three boxes from the groups of states: Eastern and New England, middle western, southern and northwestern, also any province, district or territory outside of the United States; $40.00 for firsts, $20.00 for seconds.

Fifty largest apples in pyramid, judged by weight; $75.00 for first, $25.00 for second.

Five largest apples, circumference to determine award; $25.00 for first, $15.00 for second.

Largest single apple, $20.00 for first, $10.00 for second.

Plates of apples, 400 contests; $2.00 for firsts. These competitions are open to all varieties.

Cups, gold and silver banners will be awarded for first and second prizes for the best exhibit by a manufacturer or distributor of the most practical and economical new appliance for use in planting, cultivating, picking, or marketing apples.

Nursery stock, orchard implements, spraying machines and materials and other articles will be distributed as added prizes.

The management of the show announces that the competitive commercial entries will be scored by a board of judges, consisting of experts of recognized ability. The premiums on decorative and feature displays will be awarded by special judges.

"The coming show, for which the railroads in the northwest have made a special rate of one and one-third fare for the round trip from numerous points in the United States and Canada, will be the largest, most attractive and interesting from an educational viewpoint in the history of apple expositions," said Julius A. Zittel, vice president of the organization. "The exhibition and the accompanying street carnivals and harvest celebrations will cost more than $60.000, of which about $45,000 has been pledged by the people of Spokane.

"The institution is not a money-making enterprise in any sense of the term; in fact, we will do well if we can keep the expense inside the appropriation. Evry contest is free and open to the world, not a penny being charged either for entry fees or for the space occupied by exhibitors. The chief aim is to exploit the industry by encouraging the growing of wholesome fruit and popularizing the apple as a healthful food product, also assisting the growers in solving orchard and market problems.

"We shall have this year in connection with the exposition, a series of growers conventions, country life meetings and tests of orchard appliances, also a free packing school and demonstrations by experts in the various uses of the apple as an article of daily food. Other features, including band concerts and amusement program by the Arabian Order of Mystic Enakops, will be of the highest class, and taken in all the show will be well worth the money, time and efforts expended to make it in every way the most unique and distinctive in this age of educational expositions."

You must try them on to appreciate their becomingness. Then is the time you will note with pleasure their moderate price. Our millinery display is now complete. Come in and make your choice. WOMAN LAWYER WANTS TO PRACTICE

Law Society Opposes Application by New Brunswick Portia—May Mean Special Legislation

(Special to The Daily News.)
VANCOUVER, B.C., Sept. 21—British Columbia will have its first woman lawyer if Mr. Justice Morrison so decides. Formal application was made yesterday to allow Miss Belle French to practice. She is now with a local law firm. Application was opposed by L. G. McPhillips for the law society, contending that she must apply to the legislature for a special act as in Ontario and New Brunswick.
Miss French is a member of the New Brunswick bar, obtaining that right there by a special act. The application was adjourned for a week to submit a written argument.

CRANBROOK, B. C., Sept. 21.—The second day of Cranbrook's big fall fair was the best of the two, everything passing off excellently. FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 22

YESTERDAY'S RESULT

The result of yesterday's elections demonstrates beyond all shadow of a doubt that the people of Canada desire to have nothing whatever to do with reciprocity. They believe that they have reached a position where they can work out their own destiny as a part of the British Empire. At the same time the result should not be taken as an evidence of hostility to the people of the great republic to the south, but merely as an indication that in trade matters, as in all others, they desire to be independent of any entangling alliances which might in any way affect their relations with the mother country.

The victory cannot be taken properly as a victory for Conservatives, although it undoubtedly is for Mr. R. L. Borden and the Conservative party. This is something which should be borne in mind in considering the result. The thanks of the Conservative party are due to the many Independents and Liberals who supported them in what they considered a crisis in Canada's history.

It is not necessary to go into the result, further than to point out that in all but two provinces, Manitoba and Alberta, the government lost strength. In the former the standing remains unchanged, while in the latter they appear to have made one or two gains. This indicates that the feeling against reciprocity was general throughout Canada and shows that Sir Wilfrid Laurier made the one great mistake of an otherwise singularly successful political career. For once he misjudged Canadian sentiment, with the result that today he is a defeated leader. To him in the hour of his defeat the sympathy of Canadians will go out, irrespective of politics.

MR. BORDEN

Upon Mr. R. L. Borden as a result of yesterday's election a serious duty has devolved. He will naturally be called upon within a few days to form a government and in the capacity of premier to direct Canada's destiny. That he will not fail in his task no one who knows the man will for a moment doubt. Mr. Borden is a man of fine parts, honest and with a full sense of the great responsibility of the position which he will shortly be called upon to assume.

He not only appealed to the people of Canada to defeat reciprocity, but he also submitted to them a progressive policy which he can be counted upon to carry out. If he does this there need be no doubt but the lease of power accorded to him yesterday will be a lengthy one and that Canada will benefit as a result of his being in office.

A PERSONAL WORD

Now that the elections are over The Daily News has no desire to rub things in, but it considers that it is due to itself to say a word or two. During the campaign The Daily News and what it said was one of the chief topics of discussion on the platform by advocates of reciprocity in this constituency. Two speakers imported from the coast for the occasion devoted their remarks particularly to The Daily News.

Yesterday's result is a fairly good answer to whatever attacks have been made upon The Daily News. Throughout the campaign the desire of the Daily News was to be fair in its comments and to avoid anything of a personal nature and in both of these it believes that it succeeded reasonably well. In any case it hopes that no hard feeling will be allowed to rankle on account of anything which may have occurred and that it and those whom it has opposed will find themselves able to join hands to advance the interests of Kootenay, of British Columbia and of Canada.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Now to make the Nelson fruit fair a success.

Canada's commercial independence is assured.

Mr. Martin Burrell's remarkable victory in Yale-Cariboo is a tribute to his worth. The people of the neighboring constituency have honored themselves in honoring him.

The Daily News desires to thank the victors in yesterday's contest for their serenade last evening. The Daily News opposed reciprocity upon principle and asks for no special thanks for anything which it may have been able to contribute to the result, but it is satisfactory to know one's efforts are appreciated.

In connection with the letter of Mr. Macdonald of Cranbrook which appears in this morning's issue, The Daily News desires to say that its reporter holds to the statement that he correctly reported Mr. Macdonald's remarks upon this matter. The Daily News has no desire to place Mr. Macdonald in a false light but it feels called upon to make this explanation.

Mr. A. S. Goodeve is to be congratulated on his magnificent victory, which is even more sweeping than that of 1908, when he won by 936 majority with three men in the field. This time he is likely to have a still larger majority in a straight fight. This is attributable largely to the fact that many Liberals throughout the constituency placed country before party and voted for him. To all such Mr. Goodeve owes a special debt of gratitude.

Ten Years Ago.

Manitoba had two delegates at the Trades and Labor congress at Brantford, Ont., last week, and British Columbia had four, two of whom were from Nelson, namely, C. J. Clayton and James Matthews.

The Le Roi management are making a desperate effort to resume work before the arrival of Director Frecheville.

This Date in History.

Prince Miguel of Braganza, who is of interest to the people of this continent through his marriage to Miss Anita Stewart of New York, two years ago, was born at Richenau, Lower Austria, on Sept. 22, 1878. He is the eldest son of Prince Miguel Marie Charles, of Braganza, known as the Pretender to the Portugese throne, who has long claimed the sovereignty of Portugual through his father, the late King Miguel 1, Duke of Braganzo, who reigned over the country for six years. The mother of the younger Miguel was Princess Elizabeth of Thurn and Taxis. He is related by marriage with the royal house of Bavaria, and is widely known in European court society, but owing to his spendthrift habits he has never enjoyed popularity, even among those who ardently supported the claims of his father to the throne of Portugal.

Big Majority for Burrell

In Grand Forks and other portions of Yale-Cariboo the greatest enthusiasm was displayed when it became known that Martin Burrell had been re-elected by a majority which will probably run in the neighborhood of 1,500.

Torchlight processions and demonstrations of pleasure at the Conservative victory took place on all hands.

Greenwood and Grand Forks ridings gave Mr. Burrell large majorities and while detailed returns were not received from the other ridings it is conceded that they will show even greater majorities than the Boundary district.

Wild Enthusiasm in Cranbrook.

(Special to The Daily News.)

CRANBROOK, B. C., Sept. 21.—Cranbrook city is wild with delight over the results tonight. Nearly 1,000 people gathered in the Royal hotel, where the returns were announced from a special wire. Cheer after cheer went up as the various results were announced and when the flash came in giving the Conservatives 95 and the Liberals 57 pandemonium broke loose. Notwithstanding the large majority given Dr. King by the Socialists in the pass, he was defeated and the Conservatives are arranging for a torchlight procession and will have the band out to celebrate the victory.

Excitement in Rossland

ROSSLAND, B.C., Sept. 21—Polling in Rossland passed off very quietly until the returns came in. Then the town let itself loose. The great landslide aroused the inhabitants to the highest pitch of excitement.

When the news came to hand of A. S. Goodeve's return a band paraded the street and the rejoicing was kept up to a late hour. Everything was very orderly though somewhat boisterous. The Liberal supporters took their defeat like good sportsmen.

WESTMINSTER MAY PLAY

VANCOUVER, B.C., Sept. 21.—It is practically certain now that Vancouver and the Tecumsehs will play the Minto cup games on September 30 and October 7. Westminster may arrange independent exhibition games on other dates.

HALF OF CABINET BURIED IN LANDSLIDE

ficult to foresee upon whom the choice will fall. Mr. Fielding, Mr. Graham and Mr. Fisher had been spoken of as possible successors to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, but they all have been beaten. The result of the election works so complete a disorganization of the Liberals that the Conservatives probably will remain in office for many years before their chances can be seriously challenged.

Cabinet Timber.

Among those who may gain places as ministers in the new administration are: H. B. Ames of St. Antoine, Judge Dogherty of Montreal, George Perley of Argenteuil, Premier Hazen of New Brunswick, George E. Foster, who had been with the former Conservative government; Thomas Crothers of West Elgin, W. S. Middleboro of East Grey, A. S. Goodeve of British Columbia, and Robert Rogers, now minister of public works in the Manitoba provincial government. Dr. Thomas Sproule of East Grey not unlikely will be chosen as speaker of the incoming house of commons.

Amongst the most disappointed men is Sir Frederick Borden, minister of militia, who has been minister of the crown ever since the Laurier government took office. He has suffered the humiliation of having been defeated by a 21-year-old college student. He also loses the chance of going to London as Canadian commissioner in succession to Lord Strathcona, for which place he was mentioned prominently. Hon. Sidney Fisher, minister of agriculture, is somewhat in a similar situation. He was defeated by a young lawyer who barely has passed his majority.

Clements Winner

(Special to The Daily News.)

VANCOUVER, B.C., Sept. 21—Clements probably winner over Duncan Ross, making seven straight Conservatives from British Columbia. No returns yet received from upper Vancouver island which is sure to give a big majority for Clements, offsetting Ross' majority in Prince Aupert. In the small places up the coast on the Gulf islands heard from at this hour Clements has 154 to Ross' 27.

People's Candidate Wins

Over Five Million Voters Register Their Approval of His Platform

Votes Cost on Average Over $5.00 Apiece

CONTRARY to all precedent, but rightly, the voters themselves paid for these Five Million votes.

Each man, by laying down $5.00 or upwards, voted his approval of the shaving system developed and perfected by King C. Gillette, and declared his intention of following this system with the Gillette Safety Razor which he received in exchange for his cash.

The principles of personal cleanliness and comfort, made possible by the quick, efficient little Gillette Safety Razor, were first laid down by King C. Gillette in 1904. When the last General Elections were held, in 1908, over Two Million had subscribed to them. Since then they have been adopted and practised by Three Million more clear-headed voters—practical men whose time is worth money.

The Gillette Safety Razor has freed Gillette's constituents, the world over, from dependence on the barber-shop—has conserved their time—preserved their tempers—and, for them, has transformed shaving from an irksome task into a pleasant incident in the morning toilet.

METHODS OF FOREST FIRE PROTECTION

An excellent idea of the work that is being accomplished by the provincial government in the matter of taking steps to preserve the magnificent heritage of British Columbia's forests was given in the course of a most enthusiastic convention representing the government, the railroad interests and the lumbering interests of the province, in the court house at Cranbrook last month. The meeting was the result of the work of the Hon. W. R. Ross, minister of lands, and was an important step in his practical and scientific campaign for the preservation of the timber of the province. A striking address by Mr. Ross himself, an address by Mr. J. S. Dennis, head of the land department of the C. P. R. and speeches by Mr. Otis Staples, of the Mountain Lumbermen's association, who acted as chairman of the convention, marked the progress of the meeting.

As a result of the getting together of these big interests a committee of nine was appointed which is now hard at work drawing up a working plan of co-operation among the lumbermen, railways and government. It is likely that a campaign of education will be launched to hammer home to the public at large the great necessity for caring for our wonderful forests. The committee consists of representatives of each of the interests as follows: For the government, Mr. M. A. Grainger, secretary; and Messrs. W. H. McGregor and George Watson. For the C. P. R., Messrs. E. Mallandaine, James Hart and W. J. Uren. For the Mountain Lumbermen's association, Mr. P. Lund of Wardner, chairman; Mr. C. McNab of Waldo, and Mr. A. K. Leitch of Jeffray.

The courthouse where the convention was held was crowded when Mr. Staples called upon the Hon. Mr. Ross, Mr. Ross was greeted with loud applause from the lumbermen and railway men present, attesting the popularity and esteem in which he is held by the largest interests affected by his department. Mr. Ross said:

Hon. W. R. Ross's Address.

"A few days ago at the Irrigation congress held at Calgary, I had the pleasure of listening to an address by Mr. Dennis in which he touched upon the question of forest fire protection, and in conversation afterwards the suggestion was made that if a meeting could be arranged between the lumbermen operating along the Crow's Nest Pass, the representatives of the Canadian Pacific railway, and the government officials, we might be able to arrive at some satisfactory method of co-operation in the preventation of forest fires.

"I immediately placed myself in touch with Mr. Anstie, of the Mountain lumbermen's association and today's meeting between the lumbermen, railway and government interest is the encouraging result.

"My great wish to have had some other interests represented, for example the men who own land and are clearing land, but this representation I was unable to secure, in the time at my disposal. However, bearing these other interests carefully in mind I hope that all classes in this section of the province will be benefited by the movement initiated today.

"Now, Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, the first thing we have to do is to congratulate ourselves on our own progress. Up to only a few years ago we used to let the forests burn. Now there are private associations for the suppression of forest fires, all over the west and all the various governments, provincial, Dominion, state and federal have organized or are busy organizing public services for the same end. The government of British Columbia in particular has placed itself in a very prominent position by its large expenditure for forest protection.

"In some ways the fire danger is getting greater every year. More railways, settlers, lumbermen, campers. The work that is going on is causing more firetraps every day.

Becoming More Careful.

"In other ways the fire danger is getting less, because our people as a whole are becoming more careful. In particular the dreadful experiences of last summer have produced a noticeable change in feeling. All classes suffered. The lesson was well driven home and there is a general feeling today that we must all co-operate against the coming enemy. The railways for example had a bad record in the past; yet now I must congratulate them on the great improvement they have shown this present year. Taking a general view of the whole matter I think we can congratulate the province of British Colmubia upon the fact that a friendly meeting, such as this today, between railways, lumbermen and a representative of the people should have become possible.

"That brings us to the point. If we are going to get the best results from this conference, don't let our discussions be too cautious. I want to see all reasonable ideas and schemes bearing on the subject brought up for debate, even if in the end most of them have to be discarded. Only one idea in a hundred is worth anything, and only by discussing and analysing the whole hundred we will hit on the sound and practical scheme of work that we are after.

"As a personal explanation let me say that for my own part I am not here today to enunciate any policy on behalf of the government. I want you to keep that carefully in mind, gentlemen, in following my remarks. I am here as you are all here, to help on the cause of co-operation; and I am here to listen to your views. I want suggestions because I am charged with the duty of caring for the property of the whole province. As minister of lands I take that work and that responsibility most seriously.

Heavy End of the Log.

"The government of British Columbia has had to do what no other government has done. It had to jump in last year and shoulder the responsibility for fire protection on a very large scale spending some $187,000. It has had to vote $150,000 to do the same thing this year—to meet the existing emergency; and in many ways it has done, and done willingly, more than any government in any other state or province on this continent. Various lumbermen and railway companies have been putting on patrolmen and fighting fires, but the government has had to hoist the heavy end of the log. We have had to do this in a hurry and you may be able to point out defects in our work. But at least you will admit that we have realized the emergency and shown our willingness to meet it and done our best under difficult circumstances, and that there has never been so willing and so efficient a fire protection service in the province as the service of today. But even so I am not satisfied that our system is the best for all concerned and I do not doubt but that many lumbermen and others who are here today may suggest improvements.

"The time has now come to lay permanent plans for the future. Obviously we cannot go on forever with makeshift arrangements. When all is said and done it is perfectly obvious that the province needs a fire preventative system on a far more elaborate, effective and therefore costly scale than it has had so far. I want to see British Columbia take first place among the provinces and states of the continent by the workmanlike way in which it handles the fire danger. That's only sound business.

Comprehensive Scheme Needed.

"Now here is a fine subject for discussion today: How can we all, government, lumbermen and railways, how can we co-operate to establish the system that we need? The money must be raised, the work must be organized. How are we to share up the expense? How is the work to be done, and who is to do it? It will do us all good to have these questions argued up and down and analysed from every point of view—without prejudice to each of our respective positions in the matter. Let us consider all sorts of schemes. There are the voluntary associations of Idaho and Washington—lumbermen, railways and the state co-operating and paying to a common fund in proportion to their acreage, one or two cents an acre. There are the Ontario and Quebec methods and the various state arrangements in force across the line. There are lots of methods to choose from. Furthermore we must not hold ourselves down to mere imitation of other people's ideas. We are a progressive people, we are already in the forefront in the matter of forest protection and we will naturally strike out new and vigorous methods of our own.

Problem of Slashings.

"Now one of the problems that confront us is the extreme difficult one of the disposal of slashings—a problem that has already agitated the legislatures of Idaho, Washington Oregon and California.

There is no doubt that as these legislatures have decided an old slashing is a public nuisance. An old slashing is a standing danger to surrounding property, the watching of it adds enormously to the cost of patrol, and when fire gets in to it there is an appalling wage bill to pay for fire fighting. We are all sinners together in this matter—lumbermen, railways and even the government with its road construction. The whole problem is just to what extent is is practicable as a financial matter to abate the nuisance.

Burning of Debris.

"This spring the government spent some few thousand dollars in some very successful experiments in the burning of old slash, because we figured it would cost less to do this than to keep on patrolling these dangerous places, and we have been compelled in self defense to burn on other occasions during the past few months. Then again the railways have really cleared up their rights of way in most places.

"Evidently it is up to the government to see that public roads are fire breaks—not fire traps, and we will do that, and we will try to grapple as best we can with legacies of trouble that the past has left us. But I want to put the point to the railway companies that they are responsible for fire traps alongside but off their right of way where debris has been caused by themselves. A hundred foot right of way may be well cleaned but in places where it is fringed with fire traps the danger is very great, and there are many places of this description in the province.

Then there are fire traps near the right of way that have been created and are being created not by companies but by the hewing of ties and the cutting of timber. There should certainly be some prevention of the creation of debris in the danger zone alongside railways.

Logging Debris.

"Then from you lumbermen I want to hear arguments concerning the disposal of slash. How can we prevent more firetraps piling up in the province year by year? Which will be the cheaper for the lumbermen and all concerned, destroying the slash each year or paying for the patrol work and the fire fighting that the slash may cause year after year? Let us hear your views. You will admit that it would not be fair for the government to be saddled with all the expense involved in destroying slashings where the profitable end of the operation has gone to the private owner.

"With regard to the setting of fires by locomotives, I think we are all agreed that nothing but the burning of oil will really meet the situation satisfactorily. But with regard to the many and serious troubles that we have had with railway companies and the feeling that has too often been generated in the past, I wish to say this that Mr. Dennis for the C. P. R. is here today and he is here to say, "Let us all co-operate. This province is the leader among the provinces in many ways at present. My ambition is to see British Columbia take the lead in modern forest legislation and to establish a new record, for the fire. I believe that this can be done most effectively by energetic and honest co-operation of the interests affected and I can assure you that all that a government can do by careful and thorough legislation by the establishment of a really efficient fire prevention.

Remarks of Engineer

The engineer says: The location of your coal property is ideal, giving you shipping facilities over three railways and being within a short distance of three large smelters in addition to many prosperous and growing towns and mining camps. Your coal is a high grade bituminous. It is an excellent steam coal and nothing better could be found for domestic purposes as it is clean and free from noxious odors. In my opnion you have a body of coal of several million tons proven by the work already completed. Respectfully submitted,

Mining Engineer

TO MARK GRAVE OF INDIAN CHIEF

SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 21—Arrangements have been completed by the Indian department to honor the memory of Chief Sarsarpkin, at one time accepted as hereditary head of the Okanogan Indians on the west side of the Okanogan river, in north central Washington, by marking his grave at Loomis, Wash., with an enormous boulder, the ceremonies taking place in October. Judge William C. Brown of Okanogan has been selected by the government officials to deliver the principal address. The boulder will bear the chieftain's name and the copper plate rivited to its side is to be inscribed with a quotation from "Hiawatha." Sarsarpkin was one of the four chieftains who accompanied General Miles to Washington, D. C., in 1884, when the various treaties were signed. The others were Chiefs Joseph, Tonasket and Lott. Sarsarpkin, who was killed by an unruly horse near Loomis in 1890, was the owner of four sections of land in the Sinlahekin valley, where each member of his tribe also was allotted 640 acres by the terms of the treaty with the government.

ORGANIZED TARIFF OF CHINA

Sir Robert Hart Has Passed Away—Received Highest Honors From Chinese Government.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—Sir Robert Hart, director general of the customs of China from 1901 to 1908, and inspector general since, died today. Sir Robert had been living in England since his retirement from the Chinese service because of ill health.

Sir Robert Hart, who was an Irishman by birth, has been in the Chinese maritime customs service since 1859. He was born in 1835. He was the most potent link between China and the western world. He created its customs service; he gave China a comprehensive tariff, and was behind practically every commercial treaty that China made prior to 1908, when he returned to England because of ill health. Soon after his return he retired from the Chinese service.

He was secretary to the commission which met in Canton in 1858. He entered the Chinese customs service as deputy commissioner next year. After being advanced to the post of inspector general of customs in 1863 he reorganized the service on modern lines. Chinese and Malay pirates at that time made Chinese waters unsafe for commerce. Hart equipped a large fleet of steamers to hunt the pirates down. He established lighthouses and later a postal service.

In recognition of his innumerable services he received the greatest honors in the gift of the Chinese government.

RESERVE POLICE FORCE

LONDON, Sept. 21—The home office has issued a circular to the chief constables in the kingdom, instructing them how the volunteer police force, which is to be raised in each of the large centres of population, shall be organized. It will consist of a registered police reserve in two bodies, the first reserve consisting of men who have undergone police or military training, and who could be attached temporarily to the regulars with uniforms and pay, and the second consisting of men registered as raw recruits who will be constables. Mr. Churchill suggests that this scheme would, to a great extent, obviate the necessity of calling out the troops. He further proposes that in times of strikes it might be legitimate to enroll strikers as special constables, because strike disorders, he points out, are for the most part prompted by "hooligans" and the strikers themselves, most likely would be anxious to suppress disorders that would bring discredit to their cause.

YAMEN BURNED AND LOOTED

PEKIN, Sept. 21—The French legation has received a dispatch from Suifu that the prefect's yamen at that place has been attacked and burned by the rebels. Many persons were killed.

The Chinese foreign board has received reports of an attack on the yamen at Kiating-fu but details are lacking. The board also has been advised that the yamens have been looted in five towns in the neighborhood of Cheng-fu. A message from General Chao Erh Feng, commander of the troops in the besieged capital, says that he will dispatch troops to the disturbed districts as soon as it can be arranged. He is evidently awaiting reinforcements. The Chinese government is pleased that the Hong-kong authorities have not permitted the holding of a meeting there by those who are opposed to the railway loans.

AT THE THEATRES

Lovers of music and fun have a treat in store for them when that nifty song show, "The Sunny Side of Broadway," with that funny commedian, Max Bloom, comes to the Nelson opera house on Tuesday, Sept. 26, for a return engagement. The support is strong, the costumes beautiful, and the novelties and the electrical effects, including "The Pazaza Plant" number are unsurpassed by any production of this kind. Mr. Bloom is known here, having scored a big personal success in "A Winning Miss," and local theatregoers will be pleased to learn of his return in his greatest success, "The Sunny Side of Broadway."

CALIFORNIA WOMEN FIGHT FOR VOTE

Two Weeks From Now Election in Golden State Will Decide Question —Determined Campaign.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 21.—On October 10 only a trifle more than two weeks hence, the voters of California, for the second time in the history of the state, will decide by their vote whether women shall have the right to vote. The last time women's suffrage was submitted to the ballot in this state it was defeated by only 9,000 votes. Times have chaged greatly since then and the advocates of women's rights are not only more hopeful of success than ever before, but quite confident that California will win the honor of becoming the sixth state in the union to grant suffrage to women.

Never was a political campaign in this state fought with greater determination than the one now drawing to a close. The women of California realized the importance of a victory at this time and, inspired and encouraged by the success of the women in other western states, entered upon this campaign with tremendous energy and determination. When the legislature decided to submit a constitutional amendment giving women the right to vote to a referendum vote on October 10, it did not find the women of the state unprepared.

The energetic, business-like and effective manner in which the women of this state have conducted their campaign has been a revelation to such men even who have made politics a business for many years and have grown gray in it. There was no uncertainty about the methods employed and everything was thoroughly up-to-date. The women throughout the state were thoroughly organized and everywhere meetings were held, speeches made and literature distributed. In many places house-to-house canvasses were made by special committees of women and all men favorable to the movement were enlisted in the campaign.

The opposition, which includes many distinguished and powerful men, like General Harrison Gray Otis, former United States Senator Frank P. Flint, Oscar P. Lawler, former assistant United States attorney general in the department of the interior; former United States Senator Cornelius Cole, President Benjamin Ide Wheeler of the university of California, and many others, has by no means been idle and is still carrying on its campaign in all parts of the state, counteracting the efforts of the suffragists with great shrewdness and ability. The outcome is still doubtful, but the women are confident of success.

ONE KILLED, SCORE INJURED.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 21.—One man was killed and a score were injured in a railroad collision with a Santa Fe passenger train at Schofield, 10 miles east of Kansas City, at 1 o'clock this morning. The dead man is J. H. Durham, Jefferson City, Mo., a Missouri Pacific employee.

It is believed none of the injured will die.

TWO DIE IN FREIGHT WRECK NEAR NORTH BAY

NORTH BAY, Ont., Sept. 21.—Two men in charge of stock on a west-bound freight were killed in Chapleau yards today. One freight train backed into the stock train standing at a siding and smashed up several cars.
