Hundreds Dead in Bush Fires That Sweep Over Ontario Mining Region

Prosperous Towns Surrounding Porcupine Lake Now Heaps of Ruins--Streets Strewn with Dead--Entrapped Miners Die in Shafts--Prospectors Perish in Bush--Awful Velocity of Devastating Flames

TORONTO, July 12.—It is estimated tonight that from 300 to 400 lives were lost in the Porcupine disaster.

Hundreds Missing.

TORONTO, July 12.—"As a re- of the forest fires that are sweeping unchecked northern Ontario at least 50 lives are lost and many have been injured. Hundreds are missing and it is feared scores of these will be included in the fatalities.

"Fifteen men were drowned at South Porcupine when they were driven into the lake by a dense cloud of smoke and rolling waves of fire.

"Two men were burned to death at Eldorado mine, and another met a similar fate at the United Porcupine mines.

Town Mass of Flames.

"A train consisting of 600 women and children was rushed out of Cochrane this morning from the south as the wall of flames advanced toward the village. The town of 2,500 inhabitants was soon a mass of fire and is entirely destroyed. South Porcupine and Pottsville are charred ruins.

Surrounded by Fire.

"Golden City was surrounded by flames for hours and is still in danger, although only the suburbs have burned. Part of Tisdale has been wiped out, the fire only being controlled by dynamiting a dozen houses in the middle of the town. Two special trains have been sent to bring the 400 people who are facing starvation or death by fire in Tisdale district.

"Communication with the striken districts is exceedingly difficult. The flames swept down on South Porcupine and Pottsville almost without warning.

Rush for Lake.

"The alarm came just in time for the people to rush for the lake, but they were forced to abandon all their belongings. Gasoline boats, rowboats and even hastily improvised rafts were utilized to get the refugees, many of whom were women and children, across the lake to Golden City. They are all, with other survivors of the fires in the north, at present fighting back the fire, which scorched the outskirts of that place. There are only a few days' provisions left in Golden City. The laborers employed on the Ontario government's new railroad from Golden City west reported there today after a desperate fight with the flames, in which many were badly burned. They lost everything but the clothes they wore. The town of Kelson was abandoned today after a fight lasting since Sunday."

Several Hundreds Dead.

A special from Cobalt says: The loss of life in the Porcupine district from yesterday's fire will reach several hundred, while the property loss will reach $1,000,000. In four hours, commencing at noon yesterday, the fire raged from the Standard mines through to the shores of Porcupine lake, eating up South Porcupine, Pottsville and part of Golden City, as well as many small buildings.

Miners Entrapped.

While part of the loss of life occurred near Porcupine lake, the greatest havoc will be around the main mines, notably West Dome and Big Dome. Here the entrapped miners, cut off by flames, took to the shafts, where they perished.

Strewn With Dead.

At Preston and East Dome shelter was sought in an untimbered shaft, and there was no life lost. The streets of South Porcupine are strewn with dead human beings, horses, dogs and cattle, while along the main road charred corpses lie at intervals. The names and number of dead can only roughly be estimated, but a large number of prospectors in the bush must have perished in the flames, driven by a 60-mile gale. It is known that of the staff of 300 men at the Dome but a few were saved, while at the West Dome but three out of 84 employees are now known to be alive. Along the highway between West Dome and South Porcupine, over a comparatively open section, there are six charred bodies. In the ruins of the town of South Porcupine there lie the bodies of William Cohr and his clerk, Mr. Smith, Capt. George Dunbar and Tom Geddes. Early yesterday dense clouds of smoke could be seen in the southwest but the fire was apparently remote.

Mines Destroyed.

A blaze broke out in Lakeview, Porcupine townsite, but this excited little notice because of the frequency of bush fires. As noon approached the thick clouds of smoke reached the zenith, marking the approach of the fire, and the sun was obscured. At 2.30 the fire had covered an area 25 miles in length and over two miles in width and had reached the base line of Tisdale, destroying the Standard and Imperial mines in Delor, Philadelphia, Inshaw and the Eldorado and United in southern Whitney. At 1.15 p.m., the seriousness of the situation was realized in South Porcupine. The fire call was sounded on the Dome mine whistle and with repeated blasts from other whistles. The sky was black with smoke and residents began to pack their valuable and light baggage for a hurried departure.

Beginning of End.

Soon the flames reached the Foley and O'Brien, having enveloped the Preston, East Dome, West Dome, North Dome and what remained of the Dome extension after last Sunday's fire. In half an hour the outlying shacks of the town had been reached. This was the beginning of the end. It became apparent that the town and possibly all the inhabitants were doomed, for the width of the fire was sufficient to sweep the whole town and reached both sides of Porcupine lake. The fire reached the buildings of the town and the roar was heard for miles. In 20 minutes South Porcupine was completely in flames, and in three hours there were but corpses and smouldering embers where the most flourishing town of the camp had stood.

Panic and Chaos.

Men, women and children crowded to the waterfront. Launches, canoes, scows and boats were pressed into commission and the women and children put in them and sent to Pottsville and Golden City, both safe at that time. Panic and chaos prevailed. The men fought with each other for their families, and Police Officer Murray with Jack Gardner had to stand off the panic stricken foreigners, who rushed for each boat as it came in. Men were hurled into the water and many rushed in as the only place of safety. Thirty launches and as many canoes soon had the women landed in safety on the other side of the lake.

Aiding the Homeless.

NORTH BAY, July 12.—A thousand persons lined the station platform tonight when the train came in with the refugees from Cochrane and several survivors from Porcupine. Most of the passengers were women and children, rendered homeless by the fierce fire which swept down on Cochrane yesterday. North Bay ladies furnished refreshments for the travellers, while, in accordance with the instructions of the C.P.R. officials, railway agents issued free transportation to the refugees to all points where they wished to go. Many were without funds. Three men from Porcupine, enroute to Bracebridge, were each damaged from head to feet from burns received. Their clothes hung in shreds and one wore an old dressing gown. They were J. Ladinn, Joseph H. Flynn and Gilbert Gibbs, all of Bracebridge.

Thrilling Story.

J. Ladinn's story was very thrilling. The fire was seen coming miles away and travelling very fast, but the men thought it would pass. Instead, the wind veered and the flames leaped down on the mine buildings and in an instant the bunkhouse, cookery, office, storehouse and two blacksmith shops were a mass of flames. Six men, who were working with a Colorado mine operator named Dwyer, sought refugee from the advancing flames there. Cornered like rats the men rushed from one place to another with clothes burning and finally decided to try to rush through the flames to higher ground. Seven men started but only three passed through the fire gaining a rocky eminence, burned and blistered, but safe. When the fire had passed and the heat became less intense, the two Flynns and Gibbs rushed back and

NEAPOLITANO CASE TO BE SETTLED THIS WEEK

OTTAWA, July 12.—The Neapolitano capital case will be dealt with this week by the cabinet council, it is understood, probably at Friday's sitting. Owing to the great interest taken in this case the recommendation of the minister of justice will be considered by a full meeting of the council. Recent capital cases have been dealt with by a bare quorum of the council.

TELEPHONE LINE TO BE DISCUSSED

Board of Trade Will Take Matter up Tonight—Many Other Important Questions on Tapis

Every merchant in the city is expected to be present at this evening's meeting of the board of trade when a remonstrance will be made against the British Columbia Telephone Co. for failing to complete the line between Nelson and Proctor as it was understood they gave an undertaking to do.

It was pointed out last night by some of those interested in the matter that the completion of this line, which will connect the majority of the ranchers on the north side of the West Arm with the city, is of the first importance to every merchant who wishes to obtain the business of that section.

Another question which will be brought up will be the position which the board is to take in reference to the meeting of the board of railway commissioners which is to be held shortly in Vancouver when the case of Vancouver for better freight rates between the coast and inland points on the C.P.R. will be brought up in connection with some data which the company has been ordered to prepare. The Nelson board has already taken action in this matter, having made a request to be heard at the sitting so that local interests may not be prejudicially affected.

The coal strike in the Crow's Nest and Alberta will also be discussed and the monthly report of the publicity committee will be presented to the board.

ARCHBISHOP OF MONTREAL RECEIVED BY POPE

RUSH WORK ON KETTLE VALLEY

Contract Awarded for Forty More Miles on Main Line—Establish Construction Camps

(Special to The Daily News.)

VANCOUVER, B.C., July 12—The Kettle Valley Lines have just awarded to the L. M. Rice Co. of Vancouver, the contract for the construction of 40 miles of main line from Bull creek to Summit, near the headwaters of the west fork of the Kettle river. The same firm has just completed grading the section from Midway in the Boundary district, to Bull creek and 20 miles of track has also been laid. The distance from Summit to Penticton is only 35 miles. A member of Rice & Co. stated that work on the new work will be rushed without delay. The next six weeks will be devoted to establishing construction camps and shipping in grading outfits. The section connecting with the C.P.R. at Merritt in the Nicola valley and extendng south to the headwaters of the Coldwater river, on Hope summit, a distance of 40 miles is under construction. The track has been laid for over 20 miles.

MEETING CORDIAL

BERLIN, July 12—The strictest secrecy is being maintianed with reference to a meeting this afternoon between Jules Cambon, the French ambassador and Baron von Kiderlen Waechter, the German secretary of state for foreign affairs. The meeting lasted for more than an hour and it is understood that the interview was most cordial. The French ambassador has received definite instructions from Paris and negotiations have begun on the Moroccan dispute but a considerable period will elapse before an agreement is made.

CRIPPEN SOLICITOR IS SUSPENDED

King and Queen Conclude Visit to Ireland—Royal Message to the Irish People

KINGSTOWN, Ireland, July 12—King George and Queen Mary concluded their visit to Ireland today and with the Prince of Wales and Princess Mary sailed on the royal yacht Victoria and Albert for Holyhead. The investiture of the Prince of Wales will take place at Carnarvon tomorrow.

Royal Message

The King in a message to the Irish people says:

"I cannot leave Ireland without giving expression to the feelings of joy and affection inspired by the wonderful reception which the people of Dublin have given the Queen and myself."

The King declares that the spontaneous and universal loyalty has greatly touched their hearts and will not be forgotten. He promises to pay another visit at no distant date and will then visit other parts of the country. His majesty concludes:

"Our best wishes will ever be for increased prosperity for your ancient capital and contentment and happiness for our Irish people."

Dublin gave their majesties a memorable send-off. As they passed through the streets there were cries from the crowd of "come back soon."

Newton Suspended

LONDON, July 12—A sequel to the notorious Crippen case was presented in a judgment delivered this morning suspending for one year Newton, the solicitor for Crippen, and condemning him to pay costs of the enquiry instituted by the law society into his alleged breach of professional etiquette in connection with this case.

Contingent Well Treated

LONDON, July 12—Discussing reports of alleged dissatisfaction on the part of the Canadian coronation contingent over their share in the various processions, a high military authority states that any such dissatisfaction is entirely unwarranted and points out that on the actual coronation day the Canadians were posted at Buckingham Palace, thus being the first to give their sovereign the salute on starting his journey. The Foot Guards were dislodged from their usual position in order to give the Canadians this unique honor. Added to this there was actually a representative overseas escort in the procession itself, while on the second day's royal progress through London Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. Sydney Fisher rode in the van of the procession, surrounded by the overseas military. These facts, declares the correspondent of the Canadian Associated Press, effectually dispose of any complaint that contempt was shown for the colonials.

VILLAGES LAID IN RUINS BY FIRE

Twenty Seven Families Homeless in Quebec

TIMBER LOSS OF MANY THOUSANDS

South Waterloo Wiped Out—Michigan Village in Imminent Danger.

ST. JEROME, Que., July 12.—The most disastrous fire in the history of this town occurred this afternoon, breaking out at 3 o'clock between two sheds, the property of Mr. Beaulieu. A strong breeze and a long spell of hot weather, which had rendered the wooden buildings, which form the greater part of the town, dry as tinder, rendered the blaze almost uncontrollable, and before it was subdued it had destroyed the entire business section of the town, laying waste an area of over three acres. The damage is estimated at over $150,000. Twenty-seven families have been rendered homeless.

Village Wiped Out.

BRIDEFORD, Me., July 12—Fire practically wiped out the village of South Waterboro late today. The hotel, railroad station, all of the stores in the village and more than two score dwellings are in ruins and the fire is still raging in the woods and threatens Goodwins Mills, a village near South Waterboro. Estimates of the loss in South Waterboro places the figures at upwards of $100,000, while the timber loss already sustained is many thousands more.

Driven From Homes.

Thirty families, nearly half of the population of the village, were driven from their homes. The fire started in a barn on the western edge of the village and, driven by a strong wind, ate its way through the very heart of the village, which was without fire protection.

Working Frantically.

CALUMET, Mich., July 12.—With Riordan's pulp mills and wood yards burned to the ground, and a score of nearby houses and structures in flames and the whole village menaced, the residents of this place are working frantically in an effort to save the town. A fierce bush fire, driven by a high wind, is sweeping down upon the place.

MYSTERIOUS ATTACK CAUSES SENSATION

Sentinels of Lisbon Castle Surprised But Scout Assailants—Garrison of City Reinforced.

LISBON, July 12.—A mysterious and daring, though unsuccessful, attempt was made to penetrate the St. George's castle, a strongly fortified fortress on the top of the hill in the centre of the city, tonight. The sentinels in the castle were surprised by a large body of men who fired revolvers. The whole garrison quickly turned out and charged with fixed bayonets. The invaders quickly turned and disappeared in the darkness. The attack has caused a sensation and the garrison of the city has been reinforced.

ASSETS EXCEED LIABILITIES

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 12—Representatives of Minneapolis and Chicago banks and Chicago commercial paper houses were appointed today at a conference in the office of F. H. Peavey & Co., to form a committee that will adopt a working plan to represent the creditors of the company and take care of their interests. There is a possibility this committee will take over the assets of the company to protect the home company against creditors of the Peavey Grain Co., the insolvent Chicago subsidiary. The committee is composed only of representatives of concerns to which F. H. Peavey & Co. are indebted. It is said that the assets of the company are far in excess of the liabilities.

INFANTS FALL TO DEATH'S SCYTHE

Terrible Mortality from Heat in City of Montreal

ONTARIO FRUIT CROP RUINED

Land Parched and Crop Withers for Lack of Moisture. Cooler in Quebec

MONTREAL, July 12.—The appreciable fall in the temperature is withholding the hand of death from many suffering children in the city. The officials of the health department were given pleasant evidence of the fact when there were fewer registrations of death. Up to noon 97 per cent. of the deaths which had been reported since July 1 were those of infants, the total figures being: Total deaths, 473; infants, 454. For the first eight days of the month 432 deaths were reported, including 324 children under five years, or just 75 per cent. of the total. Since Saturday there have been 171 additional deaths registered at the city hall and of this number no fewer than 130 were young children, bringing up the infant mortality to the disquieting proportion of 96.12 per cent. of the total death rate for July as far as the month has advanced.

Fruit Crop Ruined.

TORONTO, Ont., July 12.—Yesterday's showers did little to revive the parched land. A heavy shower passed along the south shore of the lake over the Grimsby district. It laid the dust but did not help the berries and small fruits, and damaged the cherries which had matured to normal size. Along the north shore the heat still prevails, and the fruit is withering for want of moisture. Raspberies will be a poor crop, currants and gooseberries are burned on the bushes. California table cherries bring 50 cents for a small box in the stores, while the native grown goes begging at $1 for a six quart basket.

FREIGHT TRAIN CAPTURED BY ARMY OF TRAMPS

JAMESTOWN, N.D., July 12—About 75 tramps captured a Northern Pacific freight train at Oakes yesterday and refused either to pay their fare or leave the train. The crew was unable to put the men off and the train came into Jamestown late yesterday carrying 100 men. They immediately scattered in all directions. Some claim to be harvest hands, who have been in the harvest fields of Kansas, Oklahoma and Nebraska and finding no work of any kind in South Dakota have come on to North Dakota. Harvest here is still distant and the men are without employment.

William Templeman, minister of mines in the Dominion government and Dr. Clarke, M.P. for Red Deer, Alta, addressed a meeting in the opera house tonight under the auspices of the Liberal association with A. Fisher as chairman. A fair sized crowd was present. Mr. Templeman dealt in a general way with the current issues but did not evoke much enthusiasm. Dr. Clarke followed with a rather lengthy speech which was well received.

WANTS EXPLANATION

PARIS, July 12—France has asked the French charge d'affaires at Madrid to request the Spanish government to furnish explanations of the mistreatment of two French merchants by the Spanish troops at Alcazar, Morocco.

FROZEN TO DEATH AS RESULT OF STRIKE

WINNIPEG, July 12.—"Not only will great inconvenience to the people at large, and great hindrance to business and detriment to industries be caused by the present coal strike, which cannot but bring about a shortage of coal this winter, throughout the Canadian west, but there will be people frozen to death," said F. W. Peters, assistant to the second vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway company.

LANDS RESERVED FOR PRE-EMPTION

Important Change in Government's Land Policy.

OUTLYING LANDS TO BE SOLD BY AUCTION

Surveyed Accessible Land for Pre-emptor Only—Auction Replaces Private Sale.

(Special to The Daily News.)

VANCOUVER, B.C., July 12—A series of important and significant provincial government notices appear in today's impression of the British Columbia Gazette, important in that they may be said to mark the inauguration of a new system of administration in the lands department under which will be reserved exclusively for the pre-emptor all surveyed crown lands, as these are surveyed under the system now adopted of surveying and classifying as raddily as possible all public lands rendered accessible by assured facilities of communication by rail or steamer lines. Included in today's official advertisements are also several other reserve announcements of perhaps less direct importance in themselves but deeply interesting in that they attest governmental approval of the principle of disposing of saleable crown lands by auction and to the highest bidder instead of by private sale at prescribed prices, the system heretofore obtaining in this province.

The major portion of the reservation notices first above referred to are applicable to approximately 150,000 acres chiefly along and contiguous to the Stuart river, which lands hereafter may be acquired by pre-emption only. Not only does the pre-emptor thus obtain an exclusive privilege of entering upon and taking possession of these desirable virgin lands, which speculative investors are debarred from buying and trafficking in, but as these lands have been surveyed under government auspices they now may be aquired by the pre-emptor without the inconvenience of the formality of staking and advertising. All that will now be necessary will be for the home staking settler to apply at the government office for a record of a chosen pre-emption, which is then marked off on the official records, comply with the conditions attaching to pre-emptions, and enter upon the land to cultivate it and reap its profits.

Stimulate Colonization

The result should be and doubtless will be an immediate and important stimulation of colonization ,a quickening of agricultural industrialism and an early augmentation of the farm products output of British Columbia with a corresponding reduction of the provincial importation of foodstuffs making British Columbia's present dependence upon the foreign producer for the necessaries of life.

Of the 150,000 acres here especially referred to as included in the pre-emption reserves just decided upon, virtually all are in the Stuart and the Nechaco river valleys, their general classification being as desirable mixed farming lands, but lightly timbered and therefore inexpensively cleared, with excellent soil, well watered and assured of economical facilities of transportation and communication by the Grand Trunk Pacific and Canadian Northern construction and by the marvellous navigable waterway system of the upper Fraser and its more important tributaries. All the surveyed land in townships 16 and 17, range 5, Coast, lying to the northward of the Nechaco river and containing some 20,000 acres are also placed under reserve exclusively for pre-emption. Another tract of approximately 70,000 acres of similar land in the same territory is today gazetted as under absolute reserve, closed to pre-emptors and would be purchasers alike, being set aside for university endowment purposes. The government is proceeding steadily and systematically in full accordance with the spirit and intent of the university endowment lands legislation with the selection of its retained percentage of public domain for educational purposes, these lands not yet being administered in any respect whatever.

Roughly, an additional quarter million acres are thus placed under reserve today along the Stuart river and in the valleys and on the plateaux to the north of the Stuart and of the Nechaco rivers, these being lands surveyed last season chiefly by Messrs. Green Bros. & Burden, Mr. Devereaux and J. H. Gray.

Another of today's published notices emanating in the department of lands, deals with the reservation from sale or pre-emption of all vacant and unalienated crown lands in the vicinity of the townsite of Lillooet, the withdrawal of these particular lands from entry by the pre-emptor being with the object of providing for their sale by public auction at some future date should development conditions and occasion justify.

GOSSIP FROM A MOUNTAIN GARDEN.

By Its Mistress.

The cool hush of a real summer evening rests on the garden and sitting here breathing in long breaths of the mingled fragrance of honeysuckle and roses, sweet briar and syringa, I am reminded of a little verse I read today:

Long summer days are my desire;
Red suns that drop as globes of fire
Behind the sloped fields white with weed,
Warm winds that waft the wandering seed
With silvery plume, now low, now higher;
Pale clematis that o'er the brier
Runs with frail feet that never tire,
Beside rough roads; your gifts I need
Long summer days.

It began to seem almost as if really truly summer would never come. The roses were here, the strawberries and cherries and still coy summer lingered, clouds lowered and cold winds blew until even the roses began to look discouraged. But today everything is as it should be and everything from the birds to hop toads seem to enjoy the change. Have you noticed how many birds there are about this year. Never in all my 14 years' residence in British Columbia have I seen so many birds and they are quite tame, paying very little attention to anyone, but going about their affairs in the most business-like way, whether it is clearing the plum trees of aphis, filling their little insides with cherries, or pulling threads from the gunny sacks to assist in their building operations. From my seat on the veranda I have a good view of a plum tree, the tips of whose branches have been covered with aphis and it is amusing to see the birds balancing themselves as they turn and twist to get the insects from beneath the curled up leaves. I am not versed in bird lore but I am sure the good they do far outweighs the loss of a few cherries and I don't see how any one can have the heart to shoot them. I wish our editor would publish a list of birds that are protected in Canada, for I believe people unknowingly shoot their good friends in the robins and other birds. The cat bird is singing his heart out in the top of the birch tree. Like Browning's thrush "He sings each song twice over, lest you should think he never could recapture, the first, fine careless rapture."

Have you ever heard him singing in the middle of the night? I have never heard a nightingale, but if its song is any sweeter than the liquid trills and gurgles of the cat bird when one hears it amid the deep silence of the night, I shall hope to hear it before I die... Other feathered visitors to the garden this summer were a grouse and her little family of five. It was funny to see her send her little ones into hiding and then entice them away between the rows of potatoes. They simply vanished, being almost the color of the earth, one could scarcely see them move.

And now what's new in the garden this week? Perhaps the delphiniums or hardy larkspurs are the biggest feature just now. This has been an unusual year inasmuch as the flowers have all come into bloom a bit out of their season. Other years my Shasta daisies, bridal rose and larkspurs have all bloomed together, but this year the larkspurs are away ahead in the race and only a very rare Shasta is out yet. It is remarkable how many shades of blue are found in the larkspurs. From one packet of seed sowed several years ago I have plants of almost every shade of blue, from the very darkest pure blue to the very palest, with some shades verging on purple which, however, I do not care for. The improved sorts have wonderfully formed bloom, the individual flowers having sometimes a white heart of exquisite shape and sometimes a tawny black heart, exactly like a bee. My plants are about nine feet high now and the tall blue spikes are very lovely seen against a background of green bank. I am planning some groups for my new border, of larkspurs in the background, with tall white foxgloves, white and pale pink Canterbury bells in front and some Shasta daisies for the extreme foreground. I discovered a very pretty phlox this week among some late ones. It must have been a stray root for it never bloomed before but is worth taking care of, being so early. The color is a very pale flesh with pink eye and would be lovely planted with the above mentioned group.

The larkspurs are best raised from seed though they can be raised from separated roots, but one can always be sure of healthier stock from seed. Kelway is the great specialist in delphiniums and a packet of seed from Kelway's hybrids will give you a wonderful variety. I think my plants need moving for several of them have "come blind" this year, that is they grow to the blooming size and the blossoms remain green, the plants getting stunted and miserable looking. I'm getting rather anxious about them for there has been a disease among the delphiniums according to the garden magazines and it may be this which is causing mine to behave badly.

The shrubbery has several specimens of dentzia in bloom now. A beautiful form of this with cluster of very double white bell shaped blossoms, with just a tint of pink on the outside of the outer petals is just in perfection. I think the variety is "Pride of Rochester," and it is certainly a gem. My sweet briar is also full of bloom now and makes such a pretty group with some pink foxgloves, against a background of laburnum. I couldn't be happy without a sweet briar to remind me of my old home. Another sweet little rose will be familiar to many as the monthly rose. It is bright scarlet with a touch of pink towards the centre and is never without blossoms. At home we always grew it indoors but here it is quite hardy and has braved the last four winters without the least protection. My little bush came as a slip from a plant that had belonged to some member of the family since I was a child and is doubly prized for old sakes' sake.

TO WED A FRENCH NOBLE.

PARIS, July 12.—Another important Franco-American matrimonial alliance is to be culminated here tomorrow, when Miss Agnes Lawrence, the daughter of John Lawrence of New York, is to become the bride of the Viscount de Merlemant. The religious ceremony is to be performed at the church of St. Pierre de Challot. The bride-to-be, who has resided in Paris for some years, is a sister of Mrs. Douglas Campbell and a niece of the late John La Farge, the artist. Viscount de Merlemant belongs to one of the oldest and wealthiest families of France. He is wealthy in his own right and among his possessions are two remarkable and beautiful chateaux.

BISLEY CAMP, July 12.—The following are the Canadian riflemen here unattached to the official Canadian team, but who will shoot in the open events, and one or another of them may repeat the feat of Sergt. Blackburn of Winnipeg a couple of years ago, when as an unattached man he carried off the money for the meeting: Major Hart McHarg, Col. Stuart, Col.-Sergt. Hunter, Pte. Wardman, of Vancouver; Capt. Wolfenden, British Columbia; Capt. Dover, Truro, N.S.; Staff Sergt. Richardson, Victoria, B.C.; Sergt. White and Sergt. Cliff, Toronto; Lieut. A. M. Blackburn and Sergt. Forbes A. Clark, Winnipeg, and Sergt, Peter Armstrong.

A number of Canadians got into the money class yesterday in the various sweepstakes and minor events, which serve as useful training in sizing up conditions.

The Canadian Cadets won the Lee Challenge cup, presented by the South Middlesex Rifle club.

BENEDICTS BEAT SINGLE CRICKETERS

Butler and Wilkinson Pull Team Out of Hole With Four Down for Nine Runs.

By a masterly exhibition of batting, when the Single bowlers seemed to have matters all their own way, A. Wilkinson and A. C. Butler of the Married eleven yesterday afternoon pulled their team out of the fire, the Benedicts winning by six wickets, or 41 runs with seven wickets down.

The Singles, against the bowling of Butler and Wilkinson only knocked up 45, of which Bryson and Agnew were responsible for 15 and 13 respectively. The only feature of the innings was a magnificent left handed catch by McFarland in the slips which gave James his quietus.

With Williamson and Mawdsley caught napping by Beeson's googlies, McFarland run out through a foolish misunderstanding and Bennett bowled by Clark, and only nine runs on the board, the Married team opened their innings none too auspiciously. But with Butler and Wilkinson in a different complexion came over the game. Before they were separated they increased the total to 78, Butler making the winning run with a clean cut past point. Wilkinson was unconquered at the call of time. Both men played a magnificent game, Butler going out after runs and Wilkinson being content with holding his end up and picking off the less dangerous ones.

The fielding by both sides was none too good but the bumpiness of the grounds makes the career of the ball somewhat bewildering.

CONNECTICUT GOLF TOURNEY.

HARTFORD, Conn., July 12.—The annual championship tournament of the Connecticut State Golf association was begun at the Hartford Golf club today and will continue until Saturday.

BASE STEALING REVIVED BY COBB AND COLLINS

It is in the base stealing department that the biggest difference between the old-time ball players and the present generation is found. A comparison between the figures of 20 years ago and now shows a remarkable falling off.

In 1886 in the National league three men stole more than 50 bases. Harry Stovey led the American association with 96 steals. In 1887 Stovey broke all records by stealing 143 bases. Arlie Latham was a close second with 142. In the National league Johnny Ward led with 110 steals, the late Jimmy Fogarty being second with 102. In 1888 Stovey made a record that will hardly be touched. He stole 156 bases. Five other American association players stole more that 100 bases. Dummy Hoy led the National league with 82 steals.

Billy Hamilton came to the front as the American association's best base runner in 1889. He put 117 steals to his credit, leading Stovey by two. Fogarty did the best work in the National, stealing 99 bases. Twenty-nine men in the two leagues went over the 50 mark.

Since the advent of Ty Cobb and Eddie Collins, base running has had a revival, but the two American league stars are the only players who show anything like the old-timers. In 1909 Cobb led with 76 steals; Collins was second with 67. Last year Collins attained his ambition and beat out Cobb, stealing 81 bases to 65 for the Tiger.

NO DEAD HEATS IN UMPIRE'S DECISIONS

Good umpires are rare. In the whole country there are not more than 10 first rate ones. The combination of the keen eye, nimble brain and cold nerve is not a common one.

The umpire is the chain lightning of baseball. His decisions are rendered in the fifth part of a second; he renders them, knowing that he must stand by them afterwards, no matter what happens. Every man inside the fence, whether blinded by prejudice or loyalty to the home team, sees the same things and therefore feels he has a right to his own opinion; but the umpire is the one man who is paid to know what he sees.

The prize-fight referee sometimes has to decide which boxer won a hard battle. He has had time in which to review the situation; the whole moving picture of the fight stretches backward in his memory. Should the choice prove a difficult one there is always the comfortable middle ground—the draw decision, in which neither man loses or wins. The baseball umpire can render no draw decisions. The man is safe or he is out.

When two race horses come nodding down to the wire and two noses flash by the post so close together that a finger breadth means thousands of dollars to the backers, the race tracks judge may fall back on the dead heat. The baseball umpire has no dead heats. Watching foot and ball he must know which one was first. He can confer with no one. Right or wrong, the judgment must be made in the twinkling of an eye.

MACK SYSTEM REAL IDEAL.

There is, perhaps, no club in the country better fortified with utility men than the Athletics, and it is this fact which gives Mack's team a great advantage over his rivals.

A mishap to one of the regular infielders would, of course, weaken the Athletics, but not so much as it would some other teams, for Mack has men on the bench who can plug up most any hole that is apt to occur. Incidentally, most of these bench warmers, excepting Capt. Davis, of course, are constantly developing, and may in due time become regulars.

The Mack system of running a ball team is ideal. He signs his youngsters at figures that make it possible for him to carry them several years without bankrupting his treasury, and incidentaly places them in a position where there is an incentive for them to strive for advancement. When all is said and done, Connie Mack is really in a class by himself as a baseball man. Not only is he an expert on the game and the handling of ballplayers, but combined with these qualifications is a splendid business head, which has done much to make him a success in the game.

TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL MEETS IN CALGARY

The twenty-seventh annual session of the trades and labor council will convene in Paget hall, Calgary, beginning at 10 o'clock Monday morning, September 11, and will continue in session from day to day until the business of the convention is completed.

This meeting promises to be one of exceptional interest to organized labor bodies of Canada, because of the many important matters that will come before it for consideration. Each year has witnessed a wonderful growth in the intricacy and difficulty of the problems to be dealt with by the congress, and the Calgary convention will be easily first in this respect. Among the subjects to be discussed are the following:

1. Dominion and provincial legislation.
2. The immigration laws.
3. The eight-hour bill.
4. Payment of wages on railways, fortnightly.
5. The Winnipeg street railway strike.
6. The western coal miners' difficulty, as well as the strike in Nova Scotia.
7. The work of the provincial federations, notably that of British Columbia.
8. Abolition of Chinese tax and substitution of agreement or understanding, as with Japan.
9. "Imperial" labor exchanges.
10. The arrest of McNamara.
11. Non-observance of municipal fair wage clauses.
12. The attempt upon the part of Russia to secure the surrender of Federenko.
13. The judgment of the United States supreme court in the Gompers' case.

In addition to these there are many other matters of vital and every day interest to the workers. It is of the utmost importance, therefore, that every affiliated ody should be well represented.

CANADA INVITED TO GOOD ROADS MEET

Is Fourth International and Will Meet in Chicago Next September—Cost of Marketing

An announcement of the fourth international good roads congress and exposition has just been received by W. S. Riblet, America consular agent, Nelson. With the issuance of the announcement comes also an invitation to Great Britain and Canada to participate. Delegates from London and Ottawa will be in atendance.

The congress will be held on Sept. 18 to October next, conjointly with the first international municipal exposition and congress in Chicago. It is under the auspices of the National Good Roads association of which the British consular general at Chicago, Horace D. Nugent, is an honorary secretary. In the confident belief that a general discussion of the road and street problem from every point of view by delegates from different sections of the United States and from all other nations will prove in the highest degree helpful, the association desires to interest every municipal officer on the continent and all persons interested in the cause of good streets and roads in the meeting, which is called for the last of September.

The appointment of delegates is invited by the officials of every county, state and city, and by agricultural, automobile, commercial, educational, good roads, industrial, labor, transportation and women's organizations in such numbers as each may determine. The names of such delegates should be forwarded to the headquarters of the congress, Hotel LaSalle, Chicago, as soon as appointed. Information in regard to the congress and exhibition will be gladly furnished interested parties if application is made to the American consular agent at Nelson.

In calling this congress the association says: The production of permanent public streets and roads is one of the most important problems of the century, affecting the material and social well being of all classes and conditions of people. The development of the motor vehicle has done much to bring about such changed conditions as to demand the best thought and experience of road experts and to focus public attention on the need for better roads.

When the agricultural production of the American continent alone is over a hundred billion of dollars, and it costs more to take this product from the farm to the railway station than from such station to the American and the European markets, and when the saving in cost of moving this product of agriculture over good highways instead of bad, would have built a million miles of good roads the incalculable waste of bad roads is shown to be of such enormous proportions as to demand immediate reformation and the wisest and best statesmanship.

Great as is the loss to transportation, mercantile, industrial and farming interests, incomparably greater is the loss to women and children and social life, a matter as important as civilization itself.

The truth of the declaration of Charles Summers 50 years ago "that the two greatest forces for the advancement of civilization are the "school teacher and good roads," is emphasized by the experience of the intervening years, and points to the wisdom of a union of all the elements of all nations in aggressive action for permanent roads and streets.

EMPEROR FRANCIS JOSEPH LIVES SPARTAN LIFE

VIENNA, July 12.—In spite of his great age and the uncertainty of his health, the Emperor Francis Joseph declines to give up any of the state duties he has performed for more than 60 years. After his arrival at Schoenbrunn from Geodoelloe, where he was so unwell that his condition inspired anxiety, he crowded so much into every day that the doctors found it necessary to intervene and order absolute rest.

It was for this reason that the emperor was ordered to the Villa Hermes, in the Lainz Tiergarten. The doctors and the court dignitaries were alarmed to find that the aged monarch was rising at four o'clock in the morning, and after a bath and a light meal, was working in his private room until one o'clock in the afternoon. After luncheon he insisted on reciving ministers and signing all state papers, important and trivial alike.

Then followed a succession of audiences. The aged ruler is most punctilious about receiving, and insists on seeing every application for an audience. His doctors thought that by ordering him to Lainz, which is about an hour's drive from Schoenbrunn, the emperor would be saved a great deal of fatigue.

His majesty is benefitting from the bracing air of Lainz. He will stay at the Villa Hermes for several weeks, and will only go to Schoenbrunn for important audiences. It is understood that he made this a condition on his leaving the castle. The doctors readily granted the concession. Even now the emperor is anxious about the work from which he has been relieved, and is constantly making inquires as to whether it is being performed.

REMOVING FOOD TAXES.

Liberal Premier of Spain Introduces Radical Reform.

MADRID, July 11.—Senor Canalejas, the Liberal Spanish premier, and his government, have achieved a notable victory for the people in the abolition of the food taxes, a reform which is secured by the double vote of the Chamber and the Senate in spite of the strenuous opposition of the Conservative party led by Senor Carlos Prast and Senor Rodriquez San Pedro, who made a remarkable speech in the Senate, and up to the last hoped to thwart the efforts of the Liberal cabinet.

The new law provides that in the provincial capitals and towns of similar rank the octroi duties on food shall be abolished, and also the special salt and alcohol taxes. This reform is not to be applied all at once, but is to be brought about gradually. The municipalities for this purpose are divided into several classes. In certain provincial capitals the law will not become completely effective before 1913 or 1914, and in a few cases not until 1916. During the intervening period the food taxes are to be gradually reduced until they are finally abolished. This delay is regarded as indispensable in order to give the local administrations time to adjust their finances by means of a more direct tax. The state will come to the assistance of the municipalities and enable them to secure such additional revenue as may be necessary.

Those who have opposed the abolition of the food taxes maintain that the government's plan will result in a total loss to the treasury of $160,800,000 a year. The government, however, is prepared to meet this huge deficit by substituting for the food taxes a tax on houses and rents. This proposal, in its turn, will be hotly discussed. It is certainly not received with much enthusiasm. The tax on hunger, it is said, is only removed in order that shelter may be taxed, the right of a family to a roof over its head. This, it is urged, will merely be an exchange. "An exchange for the better," say the Liberals. "For the worse," reply the Conservatives.

RAILWAY CONSTRUCTION

It is satisfactory to learn that work on the construction of the all-rail line connecting the Kootenays and the coast is pushed forward with the dispatch, which dispatches show is being exhibited. The completion of this line will mean much not only to the whole interior but also to the coast.

But this line will not by an means satisfy the needs of the Kootenays in the matter of transportation facilities. The country needs more railways and must have them, and that with the least possible delay. If the roads at present in the territory will not supply them, an effort should be made to get other lines to do so. This should not be very difficult to arrange for there are two railways, the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Canadian Northern, building lines into Southern Alberta. In their own interests these railways will have to connect these Southern Alberta lines with the coast and to accomplish this it will be necessary for them to build through the Kootenays. Might not something be done to hasten this work? This is a question which deserves earnest consideration by the people of the Kootenays.

MR. TEMPLEMAN'S DENIAL

According to telegraphic advices Hon. William Templeman, speaking at Cranbrook on Tuesday evening, repudiated the charge which he made in the Nelson opera house the previous evening that at the last Dominion general election the Conservative candidate for Victoria had thought it not beneath him to forge the name of Mr. R. L. Borden to a telegram bearing on the question of Asiatic exclusion. At Cranbrook Mr. Templeman denied that he had made such a statement here, admitting at the same time that the Conservative candidate in question had known nothing whatever of this forgery at the time of the election.

Unfortunately for Mr. Templeman, however, his speech in this city was taken in shorthand, and the report of his speech, transcribed from the notes so taken, which appeared in Tuesday morning's issue of The Daily News was not added to or tampered with in any way, shape or form. His remarks were reported as fully and as accurately as it was possible to reproduce them. This shorthand report of Mr. Templeman's speech shows that he said, after charging that the public feeling had been unnecessarily inflamed on the question of Asiatic exclusion:

> I think I am one of the victims of it, when in the city of Victoria the Conservative candidate thought it not beneath hm to forge the name of R. L. Borden to a telegram saying he was in favor of the total exclusion of Orientals which R. L. Borden denounced in the house of commons as a false statement.

Could anything be cleared or more definite?

If Mr. Templeman had made an accidental slip of the tongue in regard to this matter, he owed it to the people of Nelson to make a public correction and the columns of The Daily News were open to him for this purpose, as they are to anyone else under such circumstances. But Mr. Templeman has not done so. Instead he goes to another town and denies that he made such a statement. This denial might go all right with some people were it not for the shorthand report of his speech, which shows exactly what he did say.

EDITORIAL NOTE

A man who should know the facts has written The Daily News to say that Hon. William Templeman referring to the recent sale of the Foster ranch near this city quoted a price which was about $200 higher than the figure obtained. Thus is another of Mr. Templeman's statements disproved.

Minard's Liniment Co., Limited.

Gentlemen—Last August my horse was badly cut in 11 places by a barbed wire fence. Three of the cuts (small ones) healed soon, but the ithers became foul and rotten, and though I tried many kinds of medicine they had no beneficial result. At last a doctor advised me to use MINARD'S LINIMENT and in four weeks' time every sore was healed and the hair has grown over each one in fine condition. The liniment is certainly wonderful in its wirking.

Defeat That Summer Tired Feeling

There is no reason why you should not feel just as brisk and vigorous in the summer as at any other time. Yet most people do not and they believe that it is just the natural effect of the warm weather. It is not. It is because the digestion is weak and the system has been allowed to run down and no effort made to keep it in good running order. When the hot weather comes be very careful what you eat so as not to upset your stomach and take

Duffy's Pure Malt Whisky

It is a gentle and invigorating stimulant and tonic that influences for good every important organ of the body and brings restful sleep. It is a form of food already digested and when taken just before a meal stimulates the mucous surfaces and little glands of the stomach to a healthy action, causing a sufficient flow of the gastric juice to digest the food, and it prompts perfect assimilation. It also excites the flow of saliva for the digestion of starchy foods, preventing fermentation in the stomach and bowels.

All liquor dealers or direct $1.50 a large bottle. Medical booklet and doctor's advice sent free on request.

DEBATE CONTINUES ON RECIPROCITY

Free List Amendment Defeated—Will Introduce Wool Tariff Amendments at Once.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 12.—Senator Bailey's free list amendment to the Canadian reciprocity bill was defeated in the senate by a large majority. So evident was the margin against it that Senator Bailey did not ask for a roll call.

Pursuing the policy of forcing the opponents of reciprocity to proceed without delay, Senator Penrose urged Senator Bailey to introduce his wool tariff amendments at once. The latter did so and the senate adjourned with the amendment pending. It is a modification of the wool tariff bill recently passed by the house, and places all duties on raw and manufactured wool at a general average of 30 per cent.

Consideration of the reciprocity bill is expected to move with rapidity from now on. The wool amendment will probably be disposed of tomorrow, and Senators Lafollette and Bristow are ready with their amendments and their speeches against the bill.

"Semi-Democrats," "borrowed Democrats," and like terms were applied to the Republican senators supporting the bill by Senator Heyburn of Idaho, in a speech against the measure. He declared that when the vote on the bill is taken all real Republicans in the senate will be opposed to it, while the semi-Democrats" will vote for it along with the "fee-simple Democrates."

"How can we educate the leader of the party back to Republican principles?" asked Senator Nelson of Minnesota.

"Who is the leader of the Republican party?" asked Senator Heyburn.

Senator Bailey declared that the Republicans were in a state of mutiny and did not know their leader.

Mr. Heyburn declared that the reciprocity bill came to congress "wrapped in the flag of the pirate."

Mr. Heyburn declared that he opposed the amendments to the bill as well as the bill itself, because every amendment is a splinter off the Republican flagstaff of protective policy.

"That can't be," interjected Senator Clapp, 'the flagstaff has been broken and the flag pulled down."

"I'll bet you 7,000,000 Republican votes that is not true," said Senator Heyburn. He added that he believed the Republicans ultimately would come together again on protective principles.

Asked by Senator Bailey as to how he would classify the insurgents, Mr. Heyburn said they were "Mavericks," waiting to be branded.

Senator Lafollette's long promised wool and cotton tariff revision amendment to the Canadian reciprocity bill, proposing a duty reduction, which he calculated would save the consumers $169,000,000 annually on cotton and $172,000 on woolens, will be introduced tomorrow. In a statement explanatory of the amendment made public tonight Mr. Lafollette said that against this enormous saving to the consumers the loss of revenue to the government under the two schedules would approximate $30,000,000.

"The change of the woolen schedule as a whole," said Mr. Lafollette, "would represent a reduction from an average ad valorem of 61.74 per cent under the present law to 38.24 per cent, or a reduction of 23½ per cent ad valorem, and over 38 per cent below the present rate. The average ad valorem rate on cotton goods, including artificial silk, is to be reduced under the proposed amendments from 55.59 per cent under the present act to 29.45 per cent, representing a reduction of over 26 per cent ad valorem, and 37 per cent below the present rate. Mr. Lafollette declared that the duties proposed were still greater than necessary to protect American manufacturers from European competition. However, as this is a temporary measure he preferred, he said, to err on the safe side and make sure "that no legitimate American industry can possibly be injured by any of the proposed changes."

HUNDREDS DEAD IN BUSH FIRE

found the bodies of their companions, burned and blackened, lifeless on the ground. The dead men were the manager of the mine Andrew Yuill of Wilton avenue, Toronto; Joe Fletcher, Toronto; Frank Flynn, Bracebridge, and Dwyer Theamen. Frank Flynn was a brother of the two Flynns who escaped, and Yuill was his brother-in-law.

Tornado of Fire.

The fire swept down in a tornado of wind which nothing could withstand, and the flames rose 200 feet in the air and roared like a million devils. The fire travelled 12 miles in less than four hours and, despite five acres of clearings of the United property, jumped the gap and licked up the buildings. Flynn met a man who said he counted 45 dead bodies of men and eight dead horses on the two miles of road, and they voiced the belief that the dead would number hundreds.

Fifty Coffins.

Fifty coffins were sent into Porcupine but it is believed that many more will be needed. Scores must be suffering from burns and heat prostration. A. S. Wright, master mechanic on the Transcontinental railway, came out with his wife and children and told the story of the fire there.

Heroic Rescues.

The wind was blowing a gale and the fire swept down so quickly that there was no time to do anything but run for safety. Box cars were run into the town on the contractor's spur and the women and children hustled to safety. Wright returned for an old lady after getting his own family out and had to carry her. Passing a building an explosion wrecked it and threw his heavy burden to the ground. The heat was intense and he had to dig a hole in the sand to get his breath, keeping his face close to the ground. His face was burned severely but he managed to get the old lady to safety. Men worked hard rescuing children who ran to and fro frantic from the fire and flying pieces of wood and shingles wrenches from roofs by the gale. All the children were saved.

One Man Shot.

Specials constables were sworn in and efforts made to keep whiskey from thirsty ones. This was only partly successful, and one man was shot by a constable for persisting in an attempt to get to the liquor. The guard's bullet passed through his cheek and the wound was not serious. Martin Roche, jeweler, took out most of his stock and placed it in a canoe on Commado lake, hiring a man to watch it. The watchman was repeatedly driven from his post by the flames but tied his canoe to the bank and returned when he could. The stock was intact.

Pathetic Incident

Mrs. Esbew who came out from Cochrane this morning was taken from the train at Englehart where she gave birth to a child. The sad feature is that her husband was suffocated in a well during the fire, but she was kept in ignorance of his death.

Surrounded by Flames

A large number of injured are coming out from Porcupine on special trains tonight and will be cared for at various hospitals in the north country, the Dome mine running a special of their own with wounded to Copper Cliff hospital. The fires are still burning and the passengers report that Matheson is surrounded by flames and will have a hard time escaping.

The Warren Lumber Co. at Sellwood burned out today with heavy loss, much timber being destroyed. Insurance of $90,000 came into effect only yesterday.

Elk Lake Gone

It is reported that Elk Lake is wiped out by fire. Particulars are unobtainable and unconfirmed.

GEOLOGISTS MAKE WONDERFUL 'FIND'

Unearth Remains Dating Back to Exceedingly Remote Period—Prehistoric Ancestors.

Valuable discoveries have been made by the recent expedition sent out by the Carnegie institute into eastern Turkestan. Dispatched primarily for the purpose of geological research, the explorers came upon a wealth of archaeological remains dating back to a period compared with which the advent of Christ is modern history.

The general tendency of the evidence accumulated by explorers, is to point to the highlands of central Asia, and especially eastern Turkestan, as the region from which many migrations drifted over the Europe-Asia continent in the earliest geologist ages.

A chance exploration of one of these made by a Russian general, revealed the fact that the kurgans were made up of superimposed remains of settlements extending from the earliest period of the neolithic culture, some 15,000 or 20,000 years before the Christian era to a copper culture which terminated about B. C. 2,000

The lowest strata revealed many more important facts as to the beginnings of Neolithic culture. The inhabitants lived in huts constructed of adobe or sun-dried bricks or wood, and slightly elevated above the plain to avoid the intense heat radiating from the ground at night, which rendered sleep difficult.

Our Prehistoric Ancestors.

The habitants lived by hunting the wild animals of the region—the horse, the long horned ox, wild sheep, the bear, the gazelle, and some kinds of small deer. No trace of domestic animals was found, all the remains being those of animals slain in the chase. One important discovery made was that of a breed of wild horses closely resembling te well-known Projoalskys horse, but certainly not earlier.

While subsisting on the spoils of the chase, these primitive people had acquired the arts of agriculture and cultivated wheat and barley, specimens of the straw and ears of which were found in the rude hand-made pottery which they fabricated. So, also, the mortars and milling stones with which they crushed or ground the grain.

No weapons, arrows or spear heads were found, and it is probable that they used wooden spears and daggers, clubs, etc., like the modern Polynesian savages. Flint scrapers, awles and bone needles were found, which showed that they made themselves clothes of the skins of the wild animals.

Primitive Settlement.

This first rude primitive settlement, which from the depth of the deposit, of debris must have lasted over 1,000 years, was finally destroyed by fire and the site for a town abandoned.

A second settlement was founded some considerable period later, and here we get evidence of much progress in civilization. The new occupants had domesticated the ox, long and short-horned sheep, the pig and the horse. The wanderers brought back with them—after their abandonment of the site important additions to the domestic animals, namely, the camel, the goat and the sheep dog, which seems to indicate that they had wandered eastward to what are now the Indian and Chinese empires.

A little later, we find that the metals copper and lead, begin to appear, and the presence of turquoise and lapis lazuli beads indicates intercourse with regions where these precious stones might be obtained.

Here, then, the Pompelly expedition proves the existence of an important and very ancient center of culture in Turkestan in the early Neolithic age. It is to be hoped that the work so lavishly subsidized by Mr. Carnegie will be continued, for there must be other mounds than the two already explored which contain valuable materials for the reconstruction of the beginnings of civilization. No traces of writing were as yet found. Still it is to this region that we must look for the beginnings of the two oldest systems in the world—the cuniform script of Babylonia and the pictorial Chinese. Central Asia is vindicating its title to be called, as Sir Henry Rawlinson said, "the Mount of Nations."

Sometime when at loss for a sandwich filling, chop pecan nuts and celery very fine, mix with mayonaise dressing and spread between thinly sliced white bread.

ARRAIGN TOMMY GIFFORD BUT NOTHING IS DONE

Delegates at Special Meeting Talk of Uplifting National Game but Balk at Fining Player

(Special to The Daily News.)

VANCOUVER, B.C., July 12—Delegates to the special meeting of the British Columbia Lacrosse association held at New Westminster, listened to a strong arraignment of Tommy Gifford for his unsportsmanlike conduct in the game here Dominion day in the official report of Ditchburn and Cusak, referees on the holiday. They talked for over two hours on the necessity of uplifting the game by barring players who would do such things and then adjourned without accomplishing anything whatever.

The Westminster delegates admitted that their hands were tied and that they could not vote in favor of any resolution to bar Tommy Gifford out of the game. The Vancouver delegates came right back and declared that they would not think of depriving Westminster of a valuable player at this stage of the Minto cup series for they did not want the mug if they did not win it from the best team Westminster could produce. A motion to fine Gifford $50 was lost.

WINS POWDER TROPHY

WINNIPEG, July 12—The Robin Hood Powder trophy representing the international championship, was won today by E. A. Nashold of Fargo, N.D., at the annual shoot of the Fort Garry Gun club. Numerous noted shots competed. The veteran champion made 48 out of a possible 50, under adverse conditions.

RESTORING THE GARDEN OF EDEN

Dispatches from the east say that Sir William Willcocks, who, in the interest of the Turkish government, has spent about three years surveying in Mesopotamia, has discovered, he thinks, the locality of the Garden of Eden, namely, in the district between Babylon and Bagdad.

In the time of our first parents this region must have been a fertile paradise, but now, like many other places, it has seen better days—in fact, it is almost a desert.

But that does not suit the purpose of the Turkish government, which, as we all know, has now opened up an era of all round reform, and it is going to do for Mesopotamia—i.e., the "region between the two rivers," Tigris and Euphrates—what the Anglo-Egyptian government has already done for the country of the lower Nile. The late Sir John Aird was the contractor who built the vast barrage at Assouan, so as to suffuse the arid regions around with the fertilising waters of the Nile; and Sir John Jackson is the man who is to perform corresponding feats on the Euphrates, under a job-contract, which will run into 20,000,000 sterling. And may he live to get every penny of his money from the Sultan's treasury!

Already at Work.

Already, what soldiers term an "advance party of about 3,000 men is engaged on rough preliminary work—laying out the camp, so to speak—and the executive staff of the enterprize is now being selected by Sir John Jackson, assisted by his first-in-command of the constructive army of Mesopotamia. This is Mr. Arthur Noel Whitley, another Yorkshireman, who has just reached London from South America, where he was second in command of another great Jackson enterprise—the construction of a railway 300 miles long across the Andes, from Arica, in Chili, to La Paz, the capital of Bolivia. Heredity in human character and accomplishment is well illustrated by the fact that Mr. Arthur Whitley is a son of Mr. John Whitley, whose powers as an organizer and administrator were successfully evinced by his four national exhibitions at Earl's court, and by his subsequent creation of Le Touquet and Hardelot, the new Anglo-French pleasure resorts south of Boulogne. His only son, Arthur, was educated at Harrow and the Royal Agricultural college, Cirencester, where he carried everything before him in the shape of scholarships and prizes. For several years he acted as inspector in all parts of the kingdom to the board of agriculture, and he was invited to join Sir John Jackson's firm, for which he did supervisory work in the making of a harbor at Bruntisland, on the Forth, as well as the new Devonport docks and other great undertakings.

Increase Value.

Having thus variously exercised his 'prentice hand, Mr. Arthur Whitley is now about to address himself to what his friends are sure will prove his masterpiece. He is going to put the spade in at Hindia, the Assuan of the Euphrates: but that will be only one of three great barrages on this ancient river and the Tigris. At first a district of 600, 000 acres will be irrigated, at a cost of £1,500,000, after which the value of the land, now practically nil, will then be at least £10,000,000. When entirely irrigated, Sir William Willcocks, its surveyor, estimates that this resuscitated Garden of Eden will have acquired a value of £38,000,000. And then we can all emigrate and secure small holdings among the scenes where Adam succumbed to the subtle wiles of Eve, unless, indeed, we discover on the eve of our departure for the origin at once of evil and our race, that we have been anticipated by the Germans, who are well known to be casting a covetous eye towards Asia Minor as a field of colonization.

If a poison for flies which is harmless to domestic animals is made by mixing together a teaspoonful each of black pepper and sugar with either butter or cream. Spread this on a plate, and leave it in any room where flies are troublesome. It is wise, also, to wash over the panes of windows and the shelves of larders and pantries with a weak solution of carbolic acid.

Remove grass stains with cream of tartar and water or alcohol; the latter never stains the most delicate color.

To lessen the odor of wet paint, put bowls of hot water in the rooms. The water has the effect of absorving the paint odors.

A most effective trimming for a dress can be secured by selecting a pattern of lace with a decided floral figure, and painting the flowers and leaves with oil paints or deys. These colors will not fade when laundered if pressed with a hot iron immediately after being painted. Paint the outline of the design in a tone slightly darker than the rest.

Stately Scenes at Historic Carnarvon Castle Today

Ancient Pile in Gala Attire for Investiture of Prince of Wales--Great Naval Review to Follow Ceremony

CARNARVON, Wales, July 12.—Amid pomp and splendor second only to the coronation of King George and Queen Mary, Prince Edward, the 17 year old son of the British sovereigns will be formally invested by his father tomorrow as Prince of Wales. Twenty five thousand dollars has been donated by the British people to defray the cost of the insignia and other items, and the King himself, together with the British government, has given almost twice as much to insure the pageants success. Thousands are now gathered in Carnarvon, and a conservative estimate places the number of guests at tomorrows' ceremonies at 150,000.

Riot of Color.

As evidence that this money has been put to good use, Carnarvon castle today decorated with a lavish profusion and has brought herds of admiring visitors to its historical walls. The old courtyard, where many such ceremonies have been performed since Edward the second was born at the castle 600 years ago, is a riot of color, swarming with visitors and brightly dressed functionaries.

The ravages of time upon this ancient pile of masonry have been repaired. The colors of the royal household and the British empire are flying from all its towers and battlements, and even the ivy-grown walls have been rendered gay by gaudy shields, bearing the coats-of-arms of the reigning houses of England since the Roman empire evacuated the land.

Inside the old building no less startling chances have taken place. The dark and dingy rooms have been rejuvenated with countless coats of paint; the ancient hangings have been replaced by tapestries and curtains in exact replica of those removed and leaded windows, that have let in the storms of Wales for centuries, have been repaired. Eagle tower has been converted into a magnificent reception room for the king and queen, and here a guard of honor, which will greet the king and queen on their arrival at the castle, is stationed. Chamberlain's tower has been no less lavishly fitted for the reception of the young prince, who, aided by the chancellor of the exchequer, appointed constable of the tower, and the gentlemen of the prince's suite, will here prepare for the ceremony that will complete the official triumvirate of the reigning house of England.

Sea of Stands.

The courtyard and roads leading up to Carnarvon castle are covered with a sea of wooden stands drapped in gay bunting that effectually hides from view the green fields and pastures. These seats, it is estimated, will contain more than 12,000 spectators when the king and queen pass betwen them on their way to the royal castle. Aside from the fortunate 12,000 perhaps 20,000 more will catch a glimpse of the ceremony from places of vantage on the walls and in the gateways.

Half past two in the afternoon is the hour set for the investiture of the prince, but there will be plenty seen in the morning, for at about 10.00 a.m. the king and queen will leave the royal yacht at Holyhead and entrain for Griffith's crossing station. Here they will be met by the royal guards and the royal retinue, and proceed in gorgeous procession to Castle square, where they will be received by the mayor and corporation, who will present an address of welcome.

Two Processions.

The king and queen will then proceed to the watergate where the two main processions will be formed—that of the Prince of Wales and that of the king and queen. From the watergate the king and queen will enter the ancient courtyard of the castle itself, and proceed in procession to the royal platform, upon which a rich green pile *carpet has been laid. Upon this plat*form, is the royal dais, covered with a beautiful Persian carpet of intricate design. Above the dais is a green and white striped canopy, with front decorated by the royal arms. Under this canopy will be two ancient chairs used for centuries past as seats for hundreds of English sovereigns who have invested the heir apparent as Prince of Wales. Upon these the king and queen will take their seats and send for the prince, who will also arrive in procession. Then the ceremony of investiture will begin.

The ceremony of investiture chosen for the present Prince of Wales is about 300 years old, and smacks of the Stuart rather than the Pantagenet regime. According to this ceremonial the prince, upon arrival before his royal parents, will make low obiesance three times, and after the third time, when he has come near to the king, he will kneel down upon a rich pillow while his letters patent are read. Then the king, reading the words of investment, will put the robes upon him, grid on his sword and invest him with rod and ring, set the cap and coronet of office upon his head. After this, the letters patent will be again read and delivered by the king, who, in turn, will hand it to the prince, amid a fanfare of drums and trumpets. After this a religious ceremony will be conducted by the Bishop of Bangor and by a representative minister of the non-conformist churches. The king and queen will then proceed to Queen Eleanor's gateway and there present the prince to the people. This will be the culminating point of the ceremony.

After the prince's presentation, the royal household, together with the long list of England's nobility who will attend the ceremony, will attend a naval review in Carnarvon bay, which, except for the absence of the foreign battleships will be fully as impressive as the royal review at Spithead. Three warships will act as an escort to the royal yacht, on which the queen will likely stay at Holyhead for the week end.

"ORGANIZATION IS EMPIRE'S NEED"

Properly Organized Empire Need Not Fear Germany, Says Sir Donald Mann.

Sir Donald Mann, railroad builder, and man of might, has returned from the coronation of King George the fifth a staunch imperialist.

"What did you think of all that pride, pomp and circumstance?" asked The Star. "Did it strike you as a man of straight business in a big young country, as a whole lot of tommy-rot, or do you think such ceremonious splendor has its place in the scheme of things?"

Sir Donald, dressed in a cool white suit and a low collar, sat back in the *breeze of the electric fan, and ponder*ed. Then a boy brought in a box of cigars. Sir Donald opened it without speaking. He lit one and passed the box.

Finally he exhaled a comfortable cloud and made reply.

"I thought it was tommy-rot, just as you say, at first," he answered. He paused a breath to enjoy his cigar. "Afterwards I rather liked it," he added.

Sir Donald left Toronto five weeks ago. He saw the king in his golden crown and all the attendant festivities at the Abbey, having with Lady Mann, a seat in the historic and for the nonce exclusive edifice. He spent two and a half hours in the taxi cab on the way owing to the crowded streets. They were held up for a full hour on one corner. Lady Mann and others of the party left the cab and proceeded to the Abbey on foot. Sir Donald stayed calmly aboard, however, and smoked three cigars before he arrived. He says he was never in such a gorgeous crowd in his life.

Organization the One Need.

"To one who is not used to such scenes," said sir Donald, reflectively, "the effect is wonderful. But many Londoners went out of the city to get away from it all. You see, Londoners in the last 25 years have had two jubilees, two royal funerals and two coronations. Some of them also went home to their country estates or their home places to share in the festivities there. But I tell you, nowhere else in the world could you see such a pageant. Troops from all parts of the empire—Say, Germany would be no greater menace to the British empire than Belgium if we were organized. Organization is all we need."

"How did the troops from the different parts of the empire compare?" asked The Star.

*"The Indian troops and the Cana*dians got the most applause. They were all fine sturdy men, however. The Sikhs and Indians impressed me. Their turbans make them look even taller, strong able men, not the slim, thin, wiry kind of men that we think East India can only produce—big, hard, muscular fellows."

Move From This Side.

Sir Donald went on to discuss the development of the imperial idea.

If we are to have any change in the political organization of the empire, any such reorganization will have to come from the rim. The old country is stuck in its own ways—self-centered. Imperialism will have to come from ourselves."

Talking about imperial defence, Sir Donald made a characteristic observation.

"A nation is no good unless it can fight," he said, with the same inflection he would have used with regard to a man. "There is no question but that the over-seas dominions need a strong navy and a strong militia. And our system ought to be the same as throughout the empire, so that officers could take charge in the order of their seniority, no matter where they were, or where it was that war broke out. If we had a naval unit, and it was used as an addition to a British squadron, the senior officer would take command, no matter if he were Canadian of British. That's my idea of organization."

Toronto West Represented.

Sir Donald reports that there were 8,000 Canadians at the coronation, *1,500 having come from British Colum*bia. Toronto was the city most in evidence there, of all the cities of the British dominions beyond the seas.

There were not so many Americans as expected, so there was plenty of hotel accommodation in London. Many people stayed in the country and motored into town.

Referring to the draining of population in the northern highlands by the line of higher wages in Canada, Sir Donald said that he believed many of them would yet go back to live in Scotland. 'After they have made their fortunes," he explained.

"A lady in a village in the north of Scotland was telling me she wanted a carpenter to do some work, and she couldn't get one for love or money.

"There wasn't such a man left in the district—they had all come to Canada."

For bridesmaids lace caps are in vogue. They drop over the hair in soft pleated frills and are trimmed with rows of silk and mousseline flowers.

Little coats or jackets of changeable taffetas are worn with voile or mull frocks. They show the high line and the pleated frill at the lower edge.

Many of the new parasols are in bordered effects—pongee silks with bands of Persian or Dresden satins or perhaps a border of plain colored taffeta.

Foulards are combined with plain silks very extensively. Rarely do we see a silk dress of entirely one kind of material. It is indeed a season of remnants.

BELIEVE DAMAGE TO OATS HAS BEEN UNDERESTIMATED

WINNIPEG, July 12.—There was little change in the wheat situation today, news being of a very mixed character. The Chicago market opened a little weaker than yesterday's close, but strengthened toward the close, the Winnipeg option market opening slightly lower in each month, but prices strengthened toward the close.

October opened at 92¾ and during the session fell to 92¾ split, but gathered strength as time approached and at the close was 93½. December opened ¼ split under yesterday's close and the same dry rot set in as in October, but the bulls set to work and at the close the price was 92¾, or ¾c rise over Tuesday. July was fairly active all the morning. Opening at 96⅞, it dropped to 96⅜, but soon picked up and closed 97⅛.

Oats were very active all the morning, the general idea being that the damage on the other side had been underestimated. This idea also gave wheat some strength. July oats were highest at the close, when 38½ was bid. October was also at its highest when the bell rang, the price being 40½ split, or ⅜c higher. December oats were quoted for the first time at 40⅝. There was a fair demand for all grades of cash wheat. On the American side Minneapolis July and September gained ⅞c each on the day's trading, and December closed ¼c higher.

In the Chicago option market the month closed ⅛c higher in each case. The weather map of the west showed generally fine with moderate temperature.

This morning saw a slight reaction in S. A. warrants, although they continue very strong. Three presents and one future were sold at 780, the closing price being 780-790. Great West Perm. was sold at 120½ and Northern Mortgage at 115. Lucky Jim was offered at 21.

COTTON CROP EXPECTATIONS BOOM SOUTHERN RAILWAYS

NEW YORK, July 12.—Operations on the stock exchange today were of the half-hearted character of midsummer. At the opening and at midday the market advanced but in both cases recessions followed and net changes of the standard stocks were unimportant. C. P. R. and a few inactive industrials declined a point or more. Southern railway was an active feature of the market. On the execution of a number of large buying orders it rose to 33⅝, its highest price of the year, and within a fraction of the top figures of last year. Atlantic Coast line and Louisville & Nashville, which is controlled by the former, Illinois Central and Kansas City Southern all made good gains, buying of these stocks being stimulated by expectations of a record breaking cotton crop. Speculative interest centered largely in United States Steel. That stock was sold heavily in the early part of the session but seemed to be well absorbed. Particular attention was directed to United States Steel because of circumstantial rumors that the corporation is interested largely in the outcome of the present local subway problem. Estimates of the earnings of the United States Steel corporation for the quarter just ended are complicated not only by the reduction in prices, but by the ore movement from the great lakes and the heavy import business. Conservative estimates, however, call for an increase of about $5,000,000 over the last quarter's total of $23,519,000. The reviews of the iron trade forecast better conditions for the remainder of the year. The bond market was firm with marked strength in American Tobacco 6's. Total sales, par value, $3,287,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

POTATOES HIGH

WINNIPEG, Man., July 12.—Potatoes of last year's vintage are just $2.40 a bushel. This year's product is rated at $3.50. The city is now importing. The new crop in many places is spoiled by rain and worms.

EXHIBITION OPENS IN WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG, July 12.—The annual Canadian Industrial exhibition was opened today, and a large crowd was present to witness the inaugural ceremonies. The exhibitions will continue until July 22. Every department of the big show is well filled with interesting exhibits. In connection with the exhibition there is to be held an automobile and horse show. A seven-day speed program will be inaugurated tomorrow.

LONDON, July 12.—At St. Margaret's church, Westminster, Hon. A large reception followed the wedding ceremonies. The bride and bridegroom received 1,000 presents, including many from members of the Royal family.

NO DISTURBANCE AT HULL CELEBRATION

Orangemen Give Cheers for Chief of Police—Onlookers Chiefly Women and Children

OTTAWA, July 12—Led by Chief of Police Chevalier about 1,000 men from Pontiac and Wright counties, Montreal, Kingston and Ottawa, walked safely through the streets of Hull today. The celebration was held under the auspices of the Hull lodge and was the first ever held in the city. Chief of Police Chevalier was determined to preserve order. He stationed regular members of the force and special constables at danger points and told the people on no account to interfere with the procession.

As the great majority of Hull's male population were at work the majority of the onlookers were women and children and they for the most part viewed the procession good naturedly. There was one little scrap between an Orangeman and a French-Canadian who had been drinking and they were both arrested promptly. On excitable Orangewoman pulled down a French flag. The innate courtesy of the French Canadians prevented any counter move against a woman and the incident passed off in a general smile. When the parade arrived safely at the park where the usual speeches were made the Orangemen gave hearty cheers for Hull's chief of police.

WOMEN ON JURIES PRESENTS PROBLEMS

Officials Puzzled Over Possible Eventualities—Women May Claim Exemption From Jury Service.

SPOKANE, Wash., July 12.—What to do with women who will be called to serve as jurors with men when the Spokane county superior court convenes next September, is one of the vexing problems confronting the five members of the bench, headed by Judge Henry L. Kennan. The various clubs in Spokane have given out statements that their members are ready and willing to do jury duty. The judges hope a modern Solomon or Portia will come forward to unravel the tangles presented by these possible situations:

If 12 women are selected to try a case and six disagree from the other six.

If four women decide they are right in a civil case and six men jurors hold opposite views.

If a mixed jury of men and women are kept together in a felony case until all are agreed upon a verdict.

If six men and six women are locked in a room to determine the guilt or innocence of a person charged with a capital crime?

Relating to the service of jurors in the superior court the law adopted by the legislature of 1911, says:

"Any woman desiring to be excused from jury service may claim exemption by signing a written or printed notice thereto and returning same to the sheriff before the date of appearance, and if exemption is claimed by reason of sex, no fee shall be allowed for her appearance."

The law provides that the jury sworn to try the issues in felony cases shall be kept together and in custody of the officers of the court except during the actual progress of the trial, thus putting it squarely up to the judges to solve the problem or allowing the question to solve itself, if the women who desire to serve as jurors can not settle it themselves.

Velvet of all colors, especially black, bids fair to hold place as trimming even through the hot season. Nothing more effectively tones down such vivid colorings as are now fashionable.

A fashionable idea for linen and voile frocks is to place a 12 or 16-inch colored band around the bottom of the skirt, and then introduce a touch of the color in the waist.

Girls evening frocks are of light summer silks, lawn, organdie, Swiss, etc., with Val. lace and often a touch of velvet, especially of King's blue, Copenhagen blue, coral pink or cerise.

SMITH IS GIVEN CHANCE TO REFORM

Magistrate Treats Thief Leniently Following Restitution of Stolen Money —Can go to Work

"You are liable to ten years in the penitentiary for this crime of theft as you have been convicted before. The fact that you have served a previous sentence for a similar offence more or less indicates that you have embarked on a career of crime. If you go on in this way it can only end in one thing, a long term in the penitentiary.

"You have, however, endeavored to make restitution to Mr. Palethorpe and I am going to give you an opportunity to prove that you do not intend to continue in your present tracks. I will put you to the test and as Mr. McKim has, I understand, offered to take you back to work, I will sentence you to one day in jail with a fine of $50 in addition and in default of payment six months in the provincial jail."

This was the sentence inflicted yesterday afternoon by W. H. Bullock-Webster on Horace Smith, who on Tuesday pleaded guilty to stealing some money from G. C. Palethorpe and was remanded for sentence.

COLONIZER PARTY SEES WEST ARM

Are Guests of Board of Trade—Three Will Probably Locate in This District

Greatly attracted by the fertility of soil indicated by the many flourishing ranches and by the wonderful scenery of the west arm the Colonizer party returned last night after a day spent at J. T. Bealby's ranch, Sunshine Bay and Balfour, being the guests of the board of trade. They were accompanied by W. F. Roberts, chairman of the publicity committee, W. G. Foster and H. H. Currie, publicity commissioner.

The party went up the lake in the Elford Boat company's Miss Lively and made their first stop at J. T. Bealby's where they were shown over that well known ranch and initiated into some of the mysteries of successful fruit growing by its owner.

The next stop was at Sunshine Bay the visitors being taken over some dozen ranches in that fruit growing centre. Here one of the party, F. H. Robinson of London, was surprised to meet a relative in the person of Mrs. Murray. Mr. Robinson indicated on his way back to Nelson after the party had made an inspection of the new tourist hotel at Balfour that he would most probably locate on the west arm. Two others of the homeseekers will also likely purchase ranches in this district.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

When the steak is brought from the market remove it immediately from the paper in which it is wrapped. Many an experienced housekeeper has spoiled a fine steak by leaving it in the paper until it tastes of the wrapper.

Before blacking my stove I rub soap on my hands, as if washing them, letting the soap dry in. When washing my hands after the work is done, the blacking and the soap come off together easily, leaving no stain on the hands.

I know a woman who always keeps a small piece of whet stone in her machine drawer for sharpening needles, when they become blunted. It is a great scheme and saves a lot of needles, as I have proved to my own satisfaction.

I have learned to use a gravy boat in canning and jelly-making. The neck is just wide and shallow enough to fit well into all sizes of jars and glasses, and the long handle makes it possible to dip into boiling fruit and not burn one's fingers.

When making any kind of wash dresses, those for children especially, it is a good plan to baste a piece of the material on the inside of the dress and let it be washed with it. Then when the patch has to be put on will be the very same color as the dress.

Our doors refused to catch when they were closed, and at a slight jar they would spring open after we did get them shut. Finally we sent for a locksmith, and he put a few drops of kerosene on each catch, then worked them back and forth a few times.

Here is a suggestion for easily ironing a bonnet with a drawstring in it: Clip the string of tape at one side and fasten a small safety-pin in it. Smooth out the fullness, letting the pin and string slip back in the casing. When ironed take hold of the pin and run it out.

An excellent treatment for shoes that have been rainsoaked is to rub vaseline well into the leather when nearly dry. This will do wonders toward removing the bad effects of the wetting, and prevent the shoes from cracking or becoming hard and uncomfortable to the feet.

Give This to Rheumatics!

Those victims of dread rheumatism who feel their case is hopeless should not despair if they have never tried this successful formula. A well-known physician asserts that this particular formula has more actual cures to its credit than all the ordinary patent medicines on the market. To be assured of results have a druggist mix it, who will use only the true and pure ingredients:

Iodide of Potassium	2 drams
Sodium Salicylate	4 drams
Wine of Colchicum	½ oz
Comp. Ess. Cardiol	1 oz
Comp. Fld. Balmwort	1 oz
Comp. Syrup Sarsaparilla	5 ozs

Mix and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one at bedtime. After the first week gradually increase the dose to two teaspoonfuls. Should the druggist not have all the ingredients in stock he can easily obtain them for you from the wholesale house.
