PASSENGER SAW TITANIC SINK

epositions of Officers to Be Taken in Canada

FFICER SAYS HE SWORE AT ISMAY

anger of Lowering Loaded Lifeboats--Rescued Drowning Passengers

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Harold Lowe, fifth officer of the Titanic, day told the senate investigating mmittee his part in the struggle of e survivors for life following the tastrophe. His testimony developed at, with a volunteer crew, he rescued ur men from the water, saved a nking collapsible lifeboat by towing astern of his, and took off 20 men d one woman from the bottom of an verturned boat. Every one of those nder his charge he landed safely on e Carpathia.

Played the Man.

From first to last Lowe's story owed that he played the man. Ordered away in charge of lifeboat No. 4, he packed it to its capacity on the op deck, and fearing that some might ttempt to jump into it while it was escending, kept up a fusillade from is revolver. Once afloat, he took harge of a flotilla of small craft hich eventually were picked up by he rescue ship without the loss of a ife.

Competing in interest with the day's estimony was the interchange of telerams between Senator Smith, chairman of the committee, and the acting remier of Canada, George E. Foster.

Saw Titanic Sink.

The latter told of the docking of the teamer Mount Temple at St. John, ith passengers aboard who claimed o have seen the Titanic sink. It was elieved that the Mount Temple was he ship that was only five miles from he Titanic when she sank.

Senator Smith has requested that he depositions of the officers and rew be sent to him. In addition, he ccepted the offer of Dr. F. C. Quitzman of Toronto to appear before the ommitt. Dr. Quitzman was one of he passengers who said they saw the itanic sink.

Acting Premier Foster's telegram, ated today, gave the version of Capain Moore of the Mount Temple and dded : "Under these circumstances does not seem necessary to detain he boat, due to sail on Friday evening. considered necessary, a commission ill be appointed to take the captain's vidence. He will no doubt be examned later by the British commission."

In reply Senator Smith dispatched he following: "Telegram received. I ill greatly appreciate it if deposition f captain of the vessel Mount Temple, hich is scheduled to sail from St. ohn, N. B., Friday, could be taken by ommissioners, as suggested by you nd forwarded to me at Washington, elative to the movement of his ship n Sunday evening, April 14, stating elative positions to the Titanic and arpathia, together with a detailed reort of all wireless messages sent and eceived."

The committee also received a telegram signed J. H. Moore, master of he Mount Temple; A. H. Sargent, hief officer; H. Heald, second offier, and J. D. Urrant, Marconi operator, dated at West St. John, N. B., oday, practically repeating the inormation contained in the premier's essage and adding that the Mount emple did not see the Titanic's ghts.

The names of the passengers who laimed they saw the lights of the itanic, the message said, were not nown.

Swore at Ismay

J. Bruce Ismay, chief official of the eamship line which owned the illated Titanic was ordered away from he of the ship's lifeboats while it as being lowered because in his exatement he was interfering with the hip's officers. Language too objecionable to be repeated aloud in the enate inquiry into the Titanic disaster as used by Harold G. Lowe, the fifth fficer of the ship. Lowe dramatically cited to the senate investigation ommittee how he not knowing he was iking to the head of the company hich employed him had told Ismay to Get to h—l out of here so that I can ork."

Was Pottering Around

While Lowe and other sailors were ying to lower the lifeboats on the arboard side of the Titanic, Lowe clared Ismay was not trying to get to the boat but that he was very uch excited and was interfering with e proper lowering of the boat. "This an," (Ismay) said Mr. Lowe "was eatly excited. He was pottering ound while we lowered the boats nd I swore at him to get back." He so testified that he never would have nown the man was Ismay if he Lowe) had not met a man on the arpathia who told him what he had done, and asked him why he "swore at Ismay."

"Then you said this to Mr. Ismay," not mentioning the objectionable word but showing it to the witness. "Why did you say it?" "Because he, in his anxiety to get the boat lowered was interfering with our work. He was interfering with me and I wanted him to get back so that we could work. He was not trying to get into the boat. Finally I turned to him and said: 'If you will get to hell out of here we can get this boat away.'"

"Did he step back?" "Yes."

"Did Mr. Ismay make any reply?" "No ,he did not."

"How many men were in the boat?" "I am not sure, sir, but I should say about ten."

"How many men were put into the boat for the purpose of manning her?" "Five."

"Were there any male passengers?" "I think so, because we could find no more women."

In response to questions Lowe said the gear on the davits worked perfectly and the launching of the lifeboat was altogether successful. There was no trouble he said. "That's why I spoke as I did to Mr. Ismay," explained the witness.

Senator Smith asked Lowe if in his opinion, the lifeboat before it was lowered was loaded to its proper capacity. Lowe tried to avoid a direct answer. He complained that the chairman was pulling him up. Senator Smith insisted upon an answer. "Yes, sir," said Lowe finally. "I think it was properly loaded for lowering."

"What is the official quota for such a lifeboat?" "It is 65."

"You mean that it can carry 65 adults, and say a boy or girl?" Then you wish the committee to understand that a lifeboat under British regulations could not be lowered with safety with new tackle and equipment containing more than 50 people. "The dangers are if you overcrowd the boat it will buckle up from the two ends," said Lowe. "The 65 is a floating capacity. If you load from the deck to lower, I should not like to put more than 50 in a boat."

"If Officer Lightholder said that boats on the port side were not loaded with more than 35 people because of safety, those boats were not loaded to their full capacity, were they?" "Well, that is a matter of personal judgment. Some men might think differently about what would be safe."

Danger in Rescuing

Senator Smith then referred to Third Officer Pittman's testimony in which he said there were 35 persons in lifeboat No. 5. That being the case he asked why Pittman could not have gone to the rescue of the drowning, whose cries he heard plainly but did not heed. "Wouldn't he have been able to accommodate 30 more people safely in that lifeboat?" demanded the senator. "No sir," said Lowe. "Had he attempted to rescue those in the water he would have endangered the lives of those with him. I want to say a word about that danger," Lowe said. "I heard Major Peuchen say on the stand that the sailors could not row. Sailors and boatmen are different. Many sailors may be at sea for years and not go into a rowboat. They are different callings. That is the reason that a great many sailors could not row." Lowe said he was not in a position to order who should go into the boats.

"But you were in a position to tell Mr. Ismay to go to hell?" "Yes, because he was interfering. He was in-

MANY THOUSANDS NOW HOMELESS

Devastation Wrought by Rampant Mississippi—Fertile Tract Submerged.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

DELTA POINT, La., April 24.—Over the erstwhile fertile fields of Madison parish, from Delhi to Mounds, a distance of 40 miles, an Associated Press representative yesterday travelled in a motor boat and from early morning until tonight a solid sheet of water as far as the eye could see in every direction lay before him.

From Delhi to Delta Point, opposite Vicksburk, only one town, Thomastown, was out of water. The water stands from 5 to 15 feet deep over thousands of acres of fertile farm lands of more than half a dozen parishes of northeastern Louisiana. At Tallulah water is from four to six feet deep in every business house. Perhaps a conservative estimate would place the number of homeless persons in northeastern Louisiana alone at 17,000, but in another week twice that number will be forced from their homes. By that time the waters will have begun their return to the Mississippi through the Red river.

BRITISH COLUMBIA WILL BENEFIT MOST

San Francisco Magnate Talks of Panama Canal

SOUTHERN BUSINESS MEN PLAN VISIT

Millionaire Californians to See Province--Surpasses Switzerland

"The Panama canal means more to British Columbia than to any other part of the Pacific coast.

"I think that the chain of lakes you have here in the Kootenay are destined to take the place of Switzerland with the American travelling public. You have all that they have in Switzerland, but you have it on a thousand times larger scale.

"Your province is just being born—and it is being born very rapidly. Your resources of the interior are so varied that it seems to me that you ought to have a section most surely destined to a perpetual prosperity."

In these three statements W. H. Hathaway, a San Francisco financier, who is here in connection with some legal business, last night expressed his opinion of British Columbia, which he has visited frequently during the past 10 years and in which he has large interests. Mr. Hathaway is a member of the Flying Legion, an organization of prominent business men in the Golden Gate city, which will this summer visit British Columbia, and is a leading member of the executive of the great world's fair which in 1915 will mark San Francisco's celebration of the opening of the Panama canal.

Fifty Millionaires Coming.

The Flying Legion, for whose visit to this province this summer Mr. Hathaway has been making arrangements at Victoria and Vancouver, is made up of prominent business men from such bodies as the chamber of commerce, the city council, the Manufacturers' and Producers' association and the World's Fair association. The calibre of the men who make the excursions for which it was organized may be gauged by the fact that among the 138 who visited Seattle two years ago 47 were millionaires. Special trains and special boats, luxuriously furnished, will convey the party to the coast about the end of July.

Means Much Publicity.

With the party will travel representatives of the Associated Press and the Hearst News Service and a member of the San Francisco publicity staff, so that the impressions of the California magnates and descriptions of the sections visited will be telegraphed to the press of the continent daily during the trip.

"The Flying Legion is making an effort to show the rest of the west what San Francisco in general is doing for the west," said Mr. Hathaway. "We believe, for instance, that the Panama canal will be for the benefit of the whole Pacific coast and we are endeavoring to get the different sections together, to combine in a movement to boost not one city or district but the whole of the west. That is the spirit of the new San Francisco. Before the 'quake we were self-centred and allowed the outsider to visit us, but now we have awakened to the necessity for San Franciscans getting out and visiting the other great cities on the coast. We are working for one great cohesive effort that will carry the Pacific coast as a whole to greater prosperity. We realize now that the success of British Columbia is to the advantage of California, the success of Vancouver means prosperity for San Francisco.

"I have been instrumental in sending many people to your beautiful chain of lakes in Kootenay," continued Mr. Hathaway, "and they have all returned and thanked me. People who have been tired of travel, wearied with the old routes, have come to Kootenay and of their return have sent their friends to Kootenay."

Short Coast Line Significant.

Referring to the Panama canal Mr. Hathaway declared that British Columbia was situated in a position which made the advantages to be gained by the canal unique. "It will place you right at the doors of Great Britain," he said. "Proportionately, British Columbia will benefit more than the American Pacific coast, for the reason that we have 1,700 miles of coast line dotted with cities, while Canada has a much shorter coast and only two or three cities. Consequently the trade of the Dominion will be concentrated and both the coast cities and the interior must gain a great deal more, proportionately, than will the coast and interior south of the boundary. That the railways realize what the canal will mean is shown by the millions they are spending on rushing lines through the province."

The relatively small amount of land available for cultivation and the tremendous resources of the country make Kootenay ideal for agricultural pursuits, as a ready market will always be available and there will be no danger of overproduction, Mr. Hathaway believes.

With a business associate, G. Earle Kelly, Mr. Hathaway is a guest at the Strathcona.

FROM MOUNT TEMPLE SAW TITANIC SINK

(Special to The Daily News.)

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Word that the sinking of the Titanic was observed from the steamer Mount Temple, which landed at St. Johns last Friday, was received by Chairman Smith of the senate investigation committee today from Dr. Quitmann, who says he saw the catastrophe and indicated his willingness to appear before the committee. This announcement was made during the recess today of the investigating committee. The premier of Canada is in communication with the committee with a view to clearing up this phase of the disaster.

WILL LEND MONEY TO SETTLERS

Canadian Pacific Colonization Department to Give Financial Aid to Purchasers of Farms

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

MONTREAL, April 24.—One of the first results of the creation of the natural resources department of the Canadian Pacific railroad is announced today in the adoption of a far reaching scheme for the colonization of the company's lands in Saskatchewan and Alberta. The most striking innovation in this scheme is that the C.P.R. will loan to each selected colonist a sum of $2,000 for a period of 10 years at 6 per cent per annum for use in the development of his farm.

The conditions drawn up are that applicants shall be married men, actually engaged in farming on a rented farm. These will be required to own, free of debt, sufficient furniture, horses, cows and other livestock to enable them to go into immediate occupation of their farms in western Canada. Thus, it will be seen that the scheme has largely been drawn up to meet the requirement of farmers now renting land in the middle states of America.

The applicants will be required to have sufficient capital to make their first payment of one-tenth on the land purchased and to cover the cost of upkeep of their families for one year. They will also be required to personally visit the west and select their own farms.

The full amount of the $2,000 is to be added to the purchase price of the farm and repaid annually in instalments on principal and interest. The amount of the loan has to be extended on the following improvements: The erection of a house from one of the standard plans of houses erected by the company on its ready-made farms; the erection of a barn from one of the standard plans; the fencing of the farm; the provision of a well and pump; and the cultivation and cropping of at least 50 acres.

CAPTAIN SMITH'S FIRST SHIP SAILED OUT OF WINDSOR

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

HALIFAX, April 24.—An interesting coincidence in connection with the loss of the Titanic has come to light here in a communication received from Windsor to the effect that Captain Smith, the commander, began his career in a ship sailing out of Windsor. This ship was later lost in the ice off Cape Race, near where the Titanic met her fate. She was the Princess Royal. Captain Smith joined her in 1854, sailing before the mast. Several seafaring men of Windsor remember Captain Smith very well.

OLYMPIC'S CREW GOES ON STRIKE

Big Steamer Unable to Leave Southampton

BOATS TOO FEW FOR CREW'S SAFETY

Firemen and Engine Room Workers First to Quit--Passengers Uneasy

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

SOUTHMAPTON, April 24—When the White Star liner Olympic, sister ship of the Titanic was ready to sail from here yesterday for New York, 300 firemen and engine room workers quit, declaring that the collapsible boats on the Olympic were unseaworthy. The Olympic is lying off Ryde, Isle of Wight, with 1,400 passengers on board and no possibility of sailing before noon today, even if then. There were reports that some of the passengers had refused to sail but for the present they all remain aboard the steamer. It was also reported soon after the strike was inaugurated that the company had succeeded in getting men to take the strikers' places, but this proved to be inaccurate.

Crew Will Not Sail

As a mater of fact, the difficulty has extended to the crew which now declines to sail with the "blackleg" firemen who were brought aboard and the British Seafarers' union is supporting the men in this decision. Pickets are patrolling the docks to prevent the recruiting of "blacklegs."

In an endeavor to have the strikers return to work, Commander Clark, chief of the immigration office in Southampton, offered to demonstrate in the Cowes Roads that the boats on the Olympic were absolutely safe. The men refused to listen to this proposal but later it is learned, they declared that they would have been ready to sail if the company had agreed to demonstrate the seaworthiness of the boats at this port. This in turn, the company declined to do.

The grievance of the firemen was not mentioned until the liner was ready to cast off. Then they demanded wooden lifeboats instead of the collapsible boats which the company had provided hastily, because they were unable to secure enough new wooden boats in accordance with the instructions recently issued. The men alleged that many of the collapsibles had been rejected by the board of trade inspector. Capt. Clarke, who is acting board of trade inspector at Southampton, in an interview, said that he personally inspected these boats and tested some of them in the water and has not condemned a single one. Moreover, he added, they have all been inspected and passed by the admiralty.

Cowardly Attack

An official statement issued by the White Star line points out that no notice of the men's intention was given until the last moment, and declares that the company can only interpret their action as attributable to malicious persecution on the part of the men's leaders, and the statement continues: "The company feels that it is a cruel and cowardly attack."

The White Star office at Southampton last night expressed strong hopes of their ability to secure a full crew this morning but the situation is complicated by the fact that the deck-hands have espoused the firemen's cause and announced their decision not to sail with "blackleg" firemen.

According to one report the strikers were misled into thinking that some of the collapsible boats had been rejected by the board of trade and it is thought possible that the misunderstanding will be cleared up today. Among the passengers aboard the vessel is the Duke of Sutherland, who is on his way to visit his Canadian estates.

Called for Volunteers

The officials of the White Star line called for volunteers for the stokehold of the Olympic from the crowds of men gathered on the quay. About a score responded and went on board the Olympic, which soon afterwards cast off her moorings and proceeded to midstream. The strikers then formed up and left the dock in procession. The Olympic is now anchored off Ryde, Isle of Wight, awaiting a further batch of firemen, the previous report that she had a full complement thus being shown incorrect.

Commander Clark says that there are 44 lifeboats on the Olympic including the collapsibles and that their total seating capacity is 2,500 which is largely in excess of the total of the passengers and crew. While he considered wooden boats superior he was satisfied with all the boats on board.

One of the leading stokers of the Olympic said: "What we demand is that every one of the lifeboats shall be a wooden one. Personally I did not care as I am unmarried but many of the men have wives and families and their lives are as valuable as those of the first class passengers."

The crew of the Olympic was kept closely at boat drill since the arrival here of the liner and the men are now expert in the management of the collapsible boats.

LABOR CONDITIONS MOST SATISFACTORY

Not One Arbitration Board Sitting in Canada—May Day Will Pass Quietly.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

OTTAWA, April 24.—The department of labor reports that labor conditions throughout Canada are exceptionally satisfactory for this time of year and May day promises to pass without a single disturbance. At the present there is not an arbitration board sitting or application in for one. One board was at work in Winnipeg to settle a dispute between the Canadian Pacific railway and their freight clerks and freight handlers. The report of the board has not yet been received, but unofficially the department has learned that the difficulties have been adjusted and the men have gone back to work. All the troubles between railways and their employees in Canada at the present time promise to be settled without recourse to even an arbitration board.

PERMANENCY BIG FACTOR IN MINING

Old Unstable Conditions Have Passed Away

GOODEVE SEES ROSY FUTURE

Kootenay on Eve of Period of Unequalled Prosperity, He Declares

"The outlook for Kootenay generally is better than at any time during the past seven years. This is due to the fact that capital is realizing the good profits that are to be made from judicial investment in mining, the higher price of metals, lead, copper and silver especially affecting this district, and many mines which when the slump took place in the price of those metals were compelled to close down or work without any profits at the present time are in a position to provide good returns on the capital invested."

In these words A. S. Goodeve, recently appointed a member of the board of railway commissioners, at the Strathcona last night prefaced a statement in which he expressed in glowing terms his opinion that Kootenay is on the eve of an era of prosperity, both for its residents and for those who invest capital, such as but a few of the greatest optimists hoped to witness.

For years Mr. Goodeve as a private citizen and as member in the Dominion house for Kootenay riding, has expressed publicly and privately his faith in this section of the province and his belief that the wave of rapid development which has passed over other sections of Canada was closely approaching and in the betterment of conditions, the coming into bearing of scores of orchards, the development of great tracts of fruit lands at high and low altitudes and the vastly increased immigration he sees the vindication of his optimism.

New Era in Slocan.

"The Slocan district has taken on a new lease of life and there is activity in every direction," he said. "The taking over of the K. & S. railway by the C. P. R. and the extension of the line will be a very material factor in adding the development of this great mining district.

"The continued success of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting company's operations in the Rossland district and the opening up of two new properties in the South Belt, both of which have every appearance of having permanent ore bodies, have created an entirely new condition of affairs there.

Industry Is Now Permanent.

"One of the notable features is that whereas in the past mining centres such as Rossland were looked upon as being of a transient nature, with no permanent homes established, this condition has entirely changed and people now realize that there is a permanent future to the mining industry, and knowing that there is no place in Canada with a climate equal to that of Kootenay they are establishing permanent homes.

"A greater contentment and prosperity among all classes, the business men as well as the workingmen, has consequently arisen with the result that the community is better satisfied.

"Another important factor is the development of the fruit growing industry in the higher altitudes on the upper benches along the lakes and rivers, where hitherto the land was considered worthless.

Eastern Capital Sees Opportunity.

"The feeling in the east toward British Columbia," said Mr. Goodeve, "is very much more favorable than a few years ago. Formerly the impression seemed to be that everything was based purely on speculation, but now eastern capital is realizing that British Columbia offers splendid, permanent investments with assured returns for the capital at stake.

"British Columbia is sharing with the other provinces much more fully than heretofore in the benefits of the large immigration. Great as has been the immigration in the past few years this year will undoubtedly be a record breaker not only in the number of new settlers but in the class of immigrants we are receiving. Champ Clark's reference to the class of American immigrants coming to this country has, unintentionally by him, been of enormous benefit to Canada and will no doubt be an important factor in increasing the influx from the south.

"Looking at conditions from every standpoint unquestionably the future of British Columbia is today brighter than at any previous time in her history," concluded Mr. Goodeve.

Mr. Goodeve will leave on the Coast boat this morning for Ocean Falls and will be accompanied as far as Victoria by Mrs. Goodeve and his sons, Stewart and Charlie. He expects his family to join him at the capital about midsummer.

Justin McCarthy, Historian, Is Dead

LONDON, April 24—Justin McCarthy, novelist and historian, and for many years a member of parliament, died tonight at Folkstone. He had been ill throughout the winter and spring. His daughter has acted as his nurse and friends had hoped that he would live to see the fruition of home rule.

Born in 1830 Justin McCarthy was one of the most prolific writers of the time. He was an ardent home ruler and for 25 years a political writer for, one of the London daily papers. He was of the Irish party in the house of commons before the rejection of Mr. Parnell by the majority, then Mr. McCarthy was by them elected chairman. He became attached to the staff of a Liverpool paper in 1853 and entered the reporters' gallery of the house in 1860 for the Morning Star.

After resigning as chief editor of that paper in 1868 he toured the United States for nearly three years and since then has more than once revisited America. His publications included "A History of Our Times," completed in 1905; "A History of the Four Georges and William IV," "Life of Pope Leo III," "The Story of Mr. Gladstone's Life," "Modern England" and "Reminiscences," together with a large number of novels.

Captain Denies Titanic's Lights Were Seen

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

ST. JOHN, N.B., April 24—The rumor that the steamer Mount Temple was within five miles of the Titanic when she sank and without heeding the signals of distress, steamed away, leaving 1,600 souls to perish, is indignantly denied by Capt. Moore, who was in command of the vessel. His statement is as follows:

"We received a wireless message after midnight on Sunday from the Titanic stating that she had struck an iceberg and to come at once. We turned about at 12:30 and steamed back to the position given us, arriving there at 4:30 a.m. We encountered so much ice, however, that we stopped until daylight. We cruised about, but could not see any sign of the ship. About 6 a.m., on the other side of an immense field of ice, studded thickly with bergs, we saw the Carpathia. We also saw the California, which was to the northward of us, steaming west, then coming down to southward and she met us. She did not communicate anything. At 8:46 a.m. we received a general message that the Carpathia had picked up 20 boats. We asked if they wanted assistance but got no reply. Shortly after we received another general message stating 'nothing more can be done; no need to stand by.' We then left the scene and proceeded on our way."

Got Boats Ready

Capt. Moore said that as soon as he turned about, he called all hands on deck and immediately put them to work getting boats ready to be lowered, allotting ropes and accommodation ladders in readiness for service. He placed men in crews and had one sailor hoisted to the very top of the mast, instructing him to keep a sharp lookout. When he turned his ship and rushed back among the immense field of ice he was doing so at a great cost for he had on board 1,461 passengers besides his crew. Nevertheless he at once answered the call for help. Capt. Moore said that when he turned away from the scene to continue his course the steamers Carpathia, California, Birma, Frankfurt and a tramp were in the vicinity.

"Furthermore," he said, "what do the people who were on board my steamer know what I was doing or where I was going? How could they tell in what direction I was sailing? It was past midnight and they were below. The statement is absurd. Leaving humanity out of the question, do you not think that I would have liked to have been the lucky one to pick up those people."

The rifle association held their weekly shoot on Saturday afternoon last, the following members being present : C. W. Patterson, A. B. Ritchie, G. B. Webster, J. S. Smith, L. S. Hawes, E. H. Grubbe, A. H. Sanderson, Rev. C. W. Webber, R. Blumenauer. Highest scores were made by A. H. Sanderson and E. H. Grubbe.

The Newmarket hotel, which has been for so many years in charge of Henry Tege, has been sold to Andrew Jacobson of the St. James hotel here, who intends closing up the latter hotel, except the rooms, and making the Newmarket an up to date place in the way of new kitchen, baths, etc., and many other improvements of lesser importance.

G. C. McDonald, superintendent of the Western Lumber & Pole company of Spokane, accompanied by P. J. Gallagher of Nelson, spent Saturday and Sunday in town. During their stay they examined the supply of cut poles at the Silverton Lumber & Pole company's limits and Bogart's ranch, across the lake.

Saturday afternoon Provincial Constable Forrester of Three Forks, who is keeping an eye on the district generally in Constable R. J. Sutherland's absence, arrested S. McDonald in Silverton on a vagrancy charge, and an unknown man who came in with McDonald from Ashcroft robbed Dan Colchin of the Van Roi mine of $240 Saturday morning and escaped. McDonald is the man who was tried recently in Nelson on a holdup charge and acquitted. Meantime the police are working hard to get the unknown.

Rev. Mr. McCann, who has had charge of the Anglican churches in the Slocan district for the past year, has resigned to take charge of a parish near Edmonton. He leaves for his new home early next month.

THREE THOUSAND TREES ARRIVE AT EDGEWOOD

Twenty-fourth of May Will Be Celebrated by Picnic and Sports —New Curate.

EDGEWOOD, B. C., April 24.—Everyone is busy in Edgewood stumping, plowing and planting.

R. Hughes is busy burning off the streets which he slashed during the winter.

The youth of Edgewood are now practicing football in preparation for the association match to be held here May 24. A picnic is already being planned for that date, which is destined to excel that of last year, at which approximately 150 were present. A program is already being arranged for football match, roll-rolling and chopping contests, as well as the usual sports. A public meeting is shortly to be held to discuss arrangements and perfect details.

Work on the new church lots recently donated by Messrs. Ford, has started. Rev. Phillimore was here from Nakusp and put in a hard day's work superintending the clearing. A small building is shortly to be erected as the nucleus of the future vicarage. Steps are being taken to secure a curate from the old country to take up residence here. Several bishops and other dignitaries of the church in England are interesting themselves in Edgewood and its future in this connection.

J. W. Ford has spent several days in Nelson during the week arranging for outside help in connection with clearing operations in progress on the Edgewood estate. Local contractors who usually undertake this work are too busy on their own ranches to undertake this work so that outside aid has become necessary.

There is a splendid opening at Edgewood at the present time for a permanent resident contractor to undertake clearing operations on a commercial scale.

Grant Davis has lately extended his garden; the plowing and fencing is now completed. The soil here is very suitable to the production of potatoes, which fact is a very important one, as it permits of an early return from the land pending the growth of fruit trees.

Over 3,000 fruit trees have arrived at the Edgewood wharf this year for local planting. These have been temporarily set in nursery rows pending the permanent planting of the orchards.

Many persons took advantage of the delightful weather on Sunday to enjoy boating on the lake.

Mr. Bangs left Tuesday morning on a business visit to Rossland.

John Thomson of Nelson is erecting a blacksmith's shop on the townsite. This will prove a great convenience to Edgewood.

Rev. Phillimore celebrated holy communion in the hall on Sunday at 8 a. m. Morning service was held at Mr. Jordan's home, in Fire Valley, while evensong and sermon took place at Edgewood at 7:30. At each service appropriate hymns and prayers were sung and offered up for those bereaved in the late disaster on the Atlantic. At the close of the evening service "Nearer My God to Thee" was sung.

LARDO NOTES

(Special to The Daily News.)

LARDO, B. C., April 24.—C. A. Van Hemert of Lethbridge was in town on Friday. Mr. Van Hemert has just put through a deal for a block of land directly behind the Goldhill townsite. The buying syndicate is intending to subdivide the land into five and ten acre blocks and put it on the market.

John Noihl came to town on Friday after a very successful trapping season in the upper Duncan.

Charles Hansen, proprietor of the Commercial hotel at Poplar Creek, passed through on his way to Nelson on Friday.

Arthur Cody was a visitor in town on Friday and reports things looking good in the Poplar country.

Three new settlers, with their families arrived on Friday to settle on the Bagworth land.

George McLean and crew are fixing up the pontoon and slip at Lardo.

CRAWFORD BAY NEWS

(Special to The Daily News.)

CRAWFORD BAY, B. C., April 24.—W. C. Sandercock of Nelson has just installed the Pitner lighting system in the public hall here. It has so far given good satisfaction and is an improvement on the oil lamps.

Life is very strenuous for the ranchers at present, which accounted for the poor attendance at a "Cinderella" dance called for Saturday evening. There is so much plowing being done this spring that teams are at a premium and it is impossible to get them unless arrangements are made weeks ahead. There is also a considerable amount of fresh clearing going on, and more contemplated in the immediate future. Among the latter Fraser & Robertson are advertising for a contractor to clear five to ten acres. I. McGregor has nearly completed the six acres for R. O. Davis, W. F. Mawdsley has three men finishing off the clearing started last fall on the remaining lots belonging to Mr. Lawson, D. Dales is letting a contract for several acres on his newly acquired lot, and W. B. Strathearn of Kaslo was also in here lately on a similar errand.

W. W. Mooney, with R. Bayliss and H. Murray, completed E. J. Uhthoff's new residence last week and the latter has now moved in.

Rev. C. Reed of Balfour held roster celebration here last week, afterward spending the day visiting as many of his parishioners in the settlement as time would permit.

Commander and Miss Harrison returned here last week from the old country, where they have been spending the winter.

Colonel Goodwin arrived here on Friday evening, having transferred from the Kuskanook to the Moyie, while Mrs. and Miss Goodwin went on to Nelson and are expected up here tomorrow.

Word has been received from England that H. E. Croasdaile, with his wife and daughter, will be coming out again shortly and will take up their residence at Caribou ranch, Gray creek.

T. G. Procter was in here last week for the purpose of arranging the site for the new hotel.

MAGNETIC SOUTH POLE IS WILL O' THE WISP

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, April 24.—The Australian mail today brought details from Hobart, Tasmania, of the news brought there on March 12 by the ship Aurora, which took Dr. Douglas Mawson's Antarctic expedition to Adelie Land. Among other things, the expedition has proved that Clarie Land, which was reported to have been discovered by Durville in 1838, did not exist. The expedition found Termination Land, which was originally discovered by Wilkes. Numerous islands were also discovered along the great ice barrier. Dr. Mawson sent back by the Aurora a letter in which he describes the southern magnetic pole as a force centre which, like a will o' the wisp, is dancing around daily within a circular area, the diameter of which is variable and uncertain. It may be a few miles, or more than 30. The whole area it has travelled is 240 miles in 69 years.

Moors Poured Boiling Oil Onto Floor of Wireless Building—Died in Hospital.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

TANGIER, April 24.—The story printed today to the effect that the French radiographers at Fez were not killed by the Moors, but that they were killed by a comrade, who afterward committed suicide, is confirmed. The four men had one revolver between them, but plenty of ammunition. They put up a brilliant fight and had killed 15 of the Moors when the latter climbed on the roof of the wireless building. They bored a hole through the room and began pouring blazing oil on the floor below. Seeing that their capture was inevitable and knowing the horrible fate in store for them, the wireless men resolved to die. They drew lots to see which one should use the gun on his comrades and then turned the revolver on himself. The wound did not prove fatal immediately and after the mutiny had been put down Rebour was found by the troops and taken to the hospital. He was just able to finish his story at the hospital where he died.

Soccer Association Draws Up Schedule

Four soccer football teams entered the newly formed Nelson and District Association Football league at a meeting last night in the board of trade rooms and a schedule of games for the coming season was drawn up. The teams are:

City, Canadian Pacific railway, Rocky Mountain Rangers, and Nelson Lodge of Order of Moose.

A fifth team may enter, namely, the Scottish clans, and will be allowed to do so in the near future. This is the first year in which there have been more than two teams in the league. Last year only the city team, with two branches, was connected with the league, but now the C. P. R. the R. M. R. and the Moose have organized.

The schedule as drawn up provides for games on a four team basis at present, and there will be 18 matches in the season's play. Two matches will be played each week, likely on Monday and Thursday evenings. This has not been definitely decided as the playgrounds committee has not yet met.

Registration papers were distributed among the representatives last night to be signed by each player to do away with the illegal transferring of players.

An invitation has been received from Kaslo by the city team to send men to play against them on May 24. This invitation was turned over to the league last night and accepted by them. A representative team will be sent up and is expected to give good account of itself.

Nets have been ordered from H. R. Cramer and the boys will get down to practising at once.

The schedule drawn up for the league games is:

May 13 City vs. R. M. R.
May 16 Moose vs. C. P. R.
May 20 C. P. R. vs. City.
May 20 C. P. R. vs. City.
May 31 R. M. R. vs. Moose.
June 3 C. P. R. vs. R. M. R.
June 6 City vs Moose.
June 10 R. M. R. vs. City.
June 13 C. P. R. vs. Moose.
June 17 City vs. C. P. R.
June 20 Moose vs. R. M. R.
June 24 R. M. R. vs. C. P. R.
June 27 Moose vs. City.
July 4 City vs. R. M. R.

July 11 C. P. R. vs. City.
July 15 R. M. R. vs. Moose.
July 18 C. P. R. vs. R. M. R.
July 22 City vs Moose.

The first named team is the home team.

H. H. Currie, president of the league was in the chair and the representatives from affiliated teams were T. Nute, City; P. Haydon, C. P. R.; J. Hollins, R. M. R.; and M. Stevenson, Moose.

BARNSLEY WINS BY SINGLE GOAL

Only Score of Game—West Bromwich Albion Had Better of First Half

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, April 24—Nearly 50,000 people attended the final at Sheffield today between Barnsley and West Bromwich Albion, the former winning after extra time by the score of 1-0. Tufnell scored the winning and only goal of the game. West Bromwich Albion had the advantage of a stiff wind in winning the toss. Nevertheless when they opened the attack Shearman made a lot of ground on the wing, batting in a dangerous center which drew Goalkeeper Cooper out. Instantly Barnsley got going, Moore racing terrifically on the extreme left. Some confused tussles in midfield led to another Albion advance when Cooper endangered the goal by leaving it to make a weak clearance

FIRE LOSSES

Although cries of conservation fill the air, there is one tremendous economic loss, which apparently is on the increase, that is, the loss from fire. Now and again a terrible conflagration attracts general attention, and emphasizes the the need for unremitting vigilance even in the midst of so-called "fire-proof" surroundings. But the impression made upon any but the direct sufferers is very feeble, complain the underwriters, and so they have tabulated the returns and attempted to convert them into images which cannot fail to startle the popular mind.

In thirty-five years, calculates the Financial Chronicle, the total fire loss throughout the United States amounts to the staggering total of $5,250,000,000. If the mind can grasp this sum, representing absolute loss, refuge would naturally be sought in the reflection that the bulk of this amount must have accrued in the earlier years of this period, and the annual losses may have gradually but noticeably receded in recent years. The very opposite is true. While the average annual loss for the thirty-five years equals $150,000,000, the average for the past eight years has risen to nearly $300,000,000, or double the general run for the whole period. Only once in the past eight years has the fire loss of the United States fallen below $250,000,000. This bill exceeds the cost of the army and navy, or the outlay for pensions, about which such a hue and cry is made.

A still more vivid spectacle is presented for our amazement and due edification. Let one imagine an avenue from New York to Chicago filled on both sides with buildings set as closely as they now stand. Now imagine a roaring wall of flame sweeping along those hundreds of miles, leaving nothing but desolation in its wake. All this represents but one year's fire loss in the United States. And Canada probably fares no better proportionately. Whatever be the explanation, no doubt partly because more expensive buildings are the rule on this side, the fire insurance companies calculate that the per capita loss on this side of the Atlantic is ten times as great as in Europe.

Comparisons such as these prove that we are a long way from having gained control of the fire demon. A quarter of a billion dollars a year is a big annual toll for this scientific age, and for a shrewd business nation to pay.

EDITORIAL NOTE

During the recent provincial elections The Daily News reprinted an article from the Vancouver Sun, the new paper established in support of the Liberal party, reflecting upon L. D. Taylor, who was at the time Liberal candidate in Rossland. In fairness to all concerned The Daily News desires to state that the article in question was published in good faith but that statements contained therein were given publicity solely and entirely upon the authority of the Sun. Mr. Taylor in the campaign put up a strong fight and showed himself a good loser.

What the Press Is Saying

The Chinese Way.

They have a most decided method of settling insurrections in China, where it is reported that in Nanking 150 rebels were tied up in the public square and promptly executed. This, of course, can do nothing but promote true loyalty to the republic—St. Thomas Journal.

Immigration and National Wealth.

If happiness is the summum bonum of national endeavor, the question is being asked whether immigration does not play as important a part in the achievement of that end as even education. The social and ethnological and the economic results appear as the most practical subjects of thought suggested by tremendous immigration, and in the order in which they are named.—Victoria Times.

The Canny Scot.

In the flood at Galt hundreds of people were rescued in boats and were charged 10 cents a head for the accommodation. The Scotch are a practical people. They knew that if they were in mortal peril they could expect to be rescued without charge. The peril not being mortal, they knew that they should pay for being rescued. But, again, the peril not being nearly mortal, they knew they should not be charged more than 10 cents each.—Toronto Star.

Cold Storage

A woman doesn't consider the wearing of diamonds vulgar—unless she hasn't any.

Nothing pleases a woman more than to have a man coax her to do something she really wants to do.

"Have those Baltimore hotels put up prices for the Democratic convention?"

"I don't find it so. I have engaged a billiard table to sleep on at 40 cents an hour. Those are regular billiard rates."—Washington Herald.

Cheerful Undertaker—"Beautiful day for the funeral, sir; just enough breeze to stir the plumes. Now, jump in, sir, please."—Sketch.

This Date in History.

The name of America was first given to the new world 405 years ago today, April 25, 1507, by a group of savants, the heads of the Vestien college, in St. Die, province of Vosges, France. The house where the meeting was held is still standing and is visited by many tourists from both North and South America. Mathis Ringemann, a poet and scholar of German nationality but a native of France, was the first to suggest the name of "America," in a book entitled "Introducto Cosmographice." He urged that, as Amerigo Vespuce had discovered the mainland, while Columbus had only visited neighboring islands, the greater credit should go to the former, and with this view the St. Die scholars agreed.

The Human Procession

Still a youngster, with the best part of his life before him, is Guglielmo Marconi, the wizard of the wireless, for he was born in Bologna, Italy, 38 years ago today, April 25, 1874. While his father was Italian, the mother of him was Irish, the second wife of Joseph Marconi, a well-to-do citizen of Bologna. Guglielmo, which is the Italian for William, was given an excellent education by private tutors and at Leghorn and the University of Bologna. He early became interested in chemical and electrical problems, and by the time he was 15 his family were convinced that little Willie was a genius —a conviction they have had no reason to change.

One day Signor Marconi, while a student at the University of Bologna, cast a pebble, or heaved a rock, into a mill-pond, lake, or other body of water. Little waves widened in circles all around, as little waves have ever had a habit of doing. But the phenomenon set Guglielmo thinking. If one flings a sound into the air, he mused, will there not be waves in the atmosphere corresponding to the waves on the water? He surmised that there might be, and so erected a pole, with a Morse key on top of it, in his father's vineyard. A similar pole, 10 miles away, caught the passage, and then and there the impossible was accomplished and wireless telegraphy became an accomplished fact.

Marconi was then 21. At 24 he sent a message across the English channel, and the world gazed with amazement. At 27 he flung a message across the Atlantic. Now the miracle of yesterday has become the commonplace of today. The accomplishment of the Italian-Irish inventor during the last decade would fill several volumes.

The Weather

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

TORONTO, April 24—The eastern storm has entirely disappeared and indications are that an important disturbance will develop over the northwestern states and move toward the great lakes. The weather continues warm in the western provinces and cool from Ontario eastward, and scattered showers have occurred in both Ontario and Quebec.

ZBYSZCO THROWS SIEGFRIED

WINNIPEG, April 24.—Zbyszko, the Polish wrestler, had no difficulty in taking the first two falls from Paul Seigfried, the German Oak, in their match tonight at the Walker theatre. The match was only an exhibition affair and was to go two out of three, catch as catch can. Zbyszko took the first fall with a half-Nelson and crotch hold in 31 minutes, and the second with a head held in six minutes. The bout was fast at nearly all stages and the large crowd in attendance was in good humor.

VANCOUVER, B.C., April 24—In his Curtis biplane William Stark made four flights here today, once with a passenger, for the first time in western Canada. J. T. Stark's wife made the second ascent. Stark is a Vancouver man. His previous flights, some 200 in number, have been made in practice in San Francisco. These were his first public exhibitions.

BLOW OPEN SAFE AND FIRE ON PURSUERS

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

FORT SMITH, Ark., April 24.—After two hours' running fight with a posse of citizens, four robbers who had blown open the vault in the bank of Midland, a town 30 miles south of here, escaped with their plunder, which amounted to about $8,000. Citizens of Midland were awakened early today by noise of blasts. They organized pursuit but the robbers had too much of a start and escaped.

ACME OF EMOTIONALISM

Admiral Chadwich closed his remarks with sympathy for Mr. Ismay, criticism of whom he declared to be "the acme of emotionalism."

The case was appealed.

STRIKE SITUATION IS NOW WELL IN HAND

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

VICTORIA, B. C., April 24.—Reports from Superintendent Colin S. Campbell to Attorney-General Bowser indicate that the strike situation along the Canadian Northern Pacific mainland construction line is now exceedingly well in hand and undesirables are being dealt with successfully. There are at present about 60 men under arrest, 30 or 40 of these being at Kamloops, the majority charged with intimidation, while quite a number have already been committed for trial. One of the ringleaders of the Industrial Workers of World organization, in the person of Collins, was arrested at Yale a few minutes after he had announced from an upturned soap box that any interference with him on the part of the police would mean work for an undertaker. Mr. Campbell is now rounding *up all the malcontents in the Yale dis*trict, giving them to understand that they have but two alternatives, to go to work or quit the scene. Meanwhile the police force is being brought into an effective system, and the tracks and grades of the railways are bing constantly patrolled by armed officers, who make everyone appearing on the scene give a clear and satisfactory account of his movements and intentions.

terfering with me personally and I wanted him to get away so I could do something."

"And did he?" Yes, and I did something."

"What was the drill for at Southampton?" asked the chairman. "It was for the board of trade."

"There were eight men to a boat then. Where were these men when the emergency arose? They were all oarsmen. Where were they when you were loading lifeboat No. 7?" "You must remember, sir, we were in harbor and we had the pick of the men. At the time of the collision the men went down with the bosun to clear away the gangway doors to make way for the loading."

Discipline Excellent

"Did that take the skilled men. Anyone could have done that and yet the skilled men were sent below when they were needed for the loading and lowering of the lifeboats. Is that the impression you want to leave with this committee?"

The witness protested against the interpretation of his statement. He said the discipline was excellent. Only one boat, a collapsible, overturned. All remainder of the 19 boats, he said, were scientifically handled. "It takes from eight to ten men to make a lifeboat ready," said Lowe. I don't know how many men were at the other boats and you must remember there was a crowd down at the gangway doors."

Senator Smith asked the number of the crew and the witness said so far as he knew there were 903 of them.

"And with 903 men aboard you did not have enough men to man 20 lifeboats properly."

The witness demurred and the chairman showed his disapproval going to the extent of criticizing the officer's refusal to make direct replies. "You mean present at the boats?" said Lowe finally. "No there were not."

Senator Smith then sought to discover whether any men, women or children had been refused admission to the boats or were put out of the boats after they had gotten in. The officer said no one was refused and declared the only confusion was by the passengers interfering with the lowering gear. Everything was quiet and orderly aboard he said.

"With everything quiet and orderly, who selected the people to get into these boats?" There was no such thing as selection. First we took the women and children, then others as they came. There was a procession at both ends of the boat, in little knots they were, little crowds."

"As you passed the women into the boats what did you say?" "I simply shouted women and children first, men stand back."

"Was there any discrimination as to class?" "None whatever."

"How about stewardesses?" "It made no difference, women and children, that was all."

Lowe said that First Officer Murdock gave the order for the lowering of lifeboats 3 and 5. Murdock was in charge.

"Was Mr. Ismay there?" "Yes, he was. He was right alongside of me. I did not know it was Mr. Ismay then, but I know it now. It was the same man who I ordered not to interfere in lowering No. 5. But he took hold and was helping afterwards. I could see his face in the glare of the rockets and he aided in lowering boat No. 3."

Senator Smith sought vainly to learn the number of women in boat No. 3. The witness said he thought the men and women were about equal but he knew none of their names. He finally ventured the belief that the boat contained about 40 persons.

"Why were there not more in the boat?" "We could not find more. They seemed not to care to get into the boats." The witness said that everyone was free to wander wherever they pleased and that there was no effort made by the officers or the crew either to restrain or direct the passengers.

"Did you see any women there?" "Certainly I saw women, but I did not have time to go and drag them away. They did not respond to our calls."

Rowed Back to Wreck

Lowe told of tieing five lifeboats together, transferring passengers from his boat and then called for volunteers to row back to the wreck. "We rowed back and around the wreck and we picked up four men who were struggling in the water. Three of them survived but the fourth, a Mr. Hoyt of New York, died shortly after we took him out of the water. I did not know the names of the others. There were a number of bodies floating around, but I did not see a single female corpse."

"What time was this?" "It was just breaking day and it was light enough for me to get a good look around."

The witness said he then sighted the Carpathia and set out for her because, his was the fastest boat. He was afraid, he said that the Carpathia might miss them.

"oYu said a moment ago that you had waited before returning to the wreck until things had quieted down. What did you mean by quieted down?" "Until the cries ceased."

"The cries of the drowning?" "Yes, sir. We did not dare go into the struggling mass. It would have sunk us. We remained on the edge of the scene and would have taken everyone on board that we could but it would have been suicide to have gone in."

"How long did it require for things to get quieted down?" asked the senator. "I mean for the cries and screams of the drowning people to cease?" "About an hour and a half."

"If any persons had asked you to take them in, you would?" "Certainly, I was watching for everybody, anybody," said Lowe, "but to have gone into the drowning mass would have been useless. All would have been lost."

"How many persons were in your boat when you went alongside the Carpathia?" "About 45. I took them off a sinking collapsible boat. I left the Lowe said were up to their ankles in water and would have sunk in three minutes. He made no effort to fix the identity of the dead for he said he was there "not to save bodies" but to save life. Then he made for the Carpathia and unloaded his boat.

"What did you do then?" "Nothing, sir," returned the witness sharply. "What was there to do?"

Senator Smith wanted to know about the shooting on the Titanic while she was sinking. Lowe said he had fired three shots into the water to scare away some immigrants on one of the decks, who, he feared, were about to swamp a loaded boat by jumping into it. He was certain the shots struck no one. Lowe was then temporarily excused.

Second Officer's Evidence

C. H. Lightholder, second officer of the Titanic took the stand after the recess. Lightholder said he could not testify to the value of searchlights in finding icebergs, though he thought one might help. The White Star was the only line of which he knew that kept six lookouts on each ship. Senator Burton asked witness to relate his conversations with Ismay on the Carpathia. Lightholder said he and his brother officers talked over the sailing of the Cedric and had agreed it would have been a "jolly good idea if they could catch the vessel. It would result in keeping the men together and let everyone get home."

"Mr. Ismay, when the weather thickened, remarked to me," said Lightholder, "that it was hardly possible that we could catch the boat. He asked me if I thought it desirable that he send a wireless to hold the Cedric and I said 'most certainly.' The telegram was sent. We were all agreed that it would be the best course and we all advised it." The witness declared that when the telegram came from New York saying that the Cedric would not be held, he urged Mr. Ismay to insist upon the Cedric being held.

"I will say that at that time Mr. Ismay was in no mental condition to transact business," said Lightholder. "He seemed to be possessed with the idea that he ought to have gone down with the ship because there were women who went down. I tried my best to get that idea out of his head but could not. I tlod him that there was more for him to do on earth and that he should not let the idea possess him that he had done wrong in not staying back to drown. The doctor on the Carpathia had trouble with Mr. Ismay on the same ground and I am sure the doctor will verify my statements."

"I was told on the Carpathia that Chief Officer Wild who was working at the forward collapsible boat told Mr. Ismay there were no more women to go. Ismay still stood back and Wild, who was a powerful man, bundled him into the collapsible boat."

"Who told you this powerful officer, Mr. Wild, ordered Mr. Ismay into the boat?" "I don't know."

Senator Smith said that in previous testimony the witness had said he had not spoken to Mr. Ismay. This Lightholder denied, The chairman plied him with questions. "That is all in my previous testimony," said the officer, "you can find it there."

"I know we can find it there," retorted Senator Smith. "Your memory, however, seems to be better today than it was last week. I would like to test it out. The senator then tried to discover how long it took to get out the lifeboats and kept after the witness who became impatient under the grueling. "We did all we could" he replied explosively. "I consider the men acted well and quickly. The circumstances ought to be taken into consideration. We were not at a boat drill; we were saving human lives."

Question of Telegrams

Senator Smith asked Lightholder why, when he testified in New York he did not tell about the sending of the telegrams from the Carpathia urging that the Cedric be held. "I did not say anything about it then because there had been nothing said about the telegrams at that time. After that there was considerable discussion about it in the papers. I considered myself largely responsible for the sending of the telegram. I urged it." "How did you know it was sent?" said it was sent and showed me the answer."

"Did you know then the senate was going to hold an inquiry?" "Most certainly not or the telegram would never have been sent. Our whole idea was to keep the witnesses together for such an investigation which we knew would be made in England." Lightholder said it was on open question as to whether the explosions heard on the Titanic were bursting boilers or bursting bulkheads.

Senator Fletcher wanted to know had the Titanic been going slower if her danger would have been less. Lightholder said she would have been slower on her helm and had more time in which to turn. He said the ship was travelling the usual westbound track.

"Do you know if all the passengers were aroused and told the ship was sinking?" "Not that I can state accurately but from my knowledge of the pursers and the conditions at the time I am sure that all were aroused. A few minutes before the ship sank Purser McElroy and Assistants Barker and Simpson came to me and we shook hands. 'Good-bye, old man,' they said, and I answered 'good-bye'."

"Did any of them survive?" "No all were lost."

Saw Two Women

Lightholder said that Shemmings, a lampman who was waiting to testify before the committee, walked the length of the ship just before she sank and had seen only two women.

"How do you account for the 1,600 people who could not be found. Where were they when the boats left?" That I cannot fathom. I did not go aft."

Saw Lights

Lightholder said a vessel of the Titanic's tonnage going at 21 knots an hour could be stopped in a minute and a half or a distance of a quarter of a mile. Senator Smith asked if Lightholder had seen the lights of the mysterious vessel ahead. "I saw a light," he answered. "It was two points off the starboard bow.

"Did you know what the lights were?" "No."

Helm Hard Over

Robert Hichens, quartermaster in charge of the lifeboat which took off Major Peuchen and others, next took the witness stand and testified that when the collision occurred he was at the Titanic's wheel. He said the officers had been warned to be on the lookout for small ice and that he had been ordered to have the heaters started in the chart room. The first he knew of the collision was when the order came down from the bridge "berg ahead." The first officer rushed over to give the order "Hard a starboard" and the second officer returned "helm hard over, sir," but by that time we were into the berg. We could hear the grinding of it. The skipper, Captain Smith, came rushing out, asking what was the matter. "I motioned Murdock to close the emergency doors. The ship had a list of five degrees to starboard within five minutes. I stayed at the wheel until 12:23.

In Charge of Boat

"About that time one of the officers said 'we'll get out the boats,' and I was put in charge of No. 6 and ordered to pull away toward a distant light. I had 38 women, one seaman, myself, an Italian lad, and the major. I told them we would have to pull away from the ship as she was going down by the head. Everybody had to row and I even asked the women. We started for the light which we expected was on a cod banker.

"There were several other boats around; one that had four or six men, came up and I borrowed one of the firemen from it. We never got any nearer the light. Then we tied our boats together and stayed there until we saw the Carpathia coming. The sea was getting chopy and the women were getting nervous. I relieved one at an oar and told her to take the tiller. A Mrs. Myer got mad at me and accused me of wrapping myself in all the blankets, drinking all the whiskey and using bad language, which I deny. I saw all the women taken on the Carpathia and was the last to leave my boat."

Senator Smith wanted to know if Hichens had any trouble in the boat with Major Peuchen. He replied that the major had tried to take command. It had been testified that Hichens had refused to go back and pick up other survivors. None of the women in the boat had asked him to go back he said.

"Major Peuchen said yesterday that when you were asked to go back after some who were drowning, you replied 'we're not going back after those stiffs'?" "Yes, I saw that in the newspapers this morning. It's a lie, sir. I never used that word since I was born."

Was Mile Away

"You want the committee to understand you did not refuse to go to the rescue of those in the water?" "I could not under the conditions. I was a mile away from the cries we heard and we had no compass. I instructed the men to row away from the Titanic when she was sinking because I was afraid of the suction. Before she sank we were all pulling for that light. The ship was still afloat when we stopped and the light disappeared about 18 minutes later. After it disappeared we heard cries of distress. Some of the women said they were cries of people in one boat signalling others."

Hichens is the witness who was taken from the Celtic in New York on a subpoena issued by the committee.

"When does the Celtic sail," asked Senator Bourne. "Tomorrow."

"Were you going with her, and would you have gone if you had not got an order to come here?" "I had no order to come until today. I knew I might be wanted and was waiting."

Lady's Remarks Unkind

Hichens made a statement regarding Mrs. Meyers' charges. "A woman who had a flask of whiskey gave me a teaspoonful," he said, "and another woman gave me half a wet blanket to wrap around my head. That was all. I think the lady's remarks very unkind."

Hichens was released and may return to England tomorrow with the promise that he will come back if the committee wants him. The other Eng-

EDITOR ARRESTED CHARGED WITH KILLING WOMAN

Hoofprints Fitted Those Left in Vicinity of Murder—Says Political Dodge.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NOWATA, Okla., April 24.—Because the hoof of his horse exactly matched a plaster cast of the hoofprint of the horse driven to the spot where Mrs. Irene Cohen was murdered recently, H. O. Jeffries, editor of the Nowata Advertiser, was arrested charged with killing the woman.

Detectives who swore to the complaint, charged that the cast was taken of the hoofprints about the spot where Mrs. Cohen's body was found, shows the shoes were of the regulation racing variety. Jeffries' horse, they allege, is the only one in the vicinity of Nowata wearing such shoes. Mrs. Cohen, who was a solicitor for the Advertiser, disappeared from her home several weeks ago. The following day her body was found in a pasture. Jeffries, it is alleged, visited Mrs. Cohen late upon the night she disappeared. When first arrested the editor treated the matter as a joke and declared it to be an attempt to prevent his confirmation as postmaster here. He was appointed to the office several weeks ago, but his confirmation has been held up.

PAYING CLAIMS FOR INSURANCE

Five Million Dollars Probable Insurance to Be Found in England—No Delay.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, April 24.—The London insurance market is promptly settling the Titanic claims. Some underwriters at Lloyd's and some companies have already paid their losses, there being nothing to delay the settlement of the claims, as there is no prospect of salvage. The Times says that, not to mention the insurance on the general cargo, securities, jewelry and personal belongings, the best part of £1,000,000 ($5,000,000) is now being found in the British insurance markets, assisted by the continent and the United States.

It is generally assumed that the Titanic's owners are insured to the extent of £500,000 ($2,500,000) to £750,000 ($3,750,000). The Royal Exchange Assurance company, one of the companies most heavily hit, retained insurance on the Titanic to the extent of £76,000 ($380,000), of which £14,000 ($70,000) was on bonds. Most of the other companies disclaim any deep financial interest, the loss apparently being fairly evenly distributed.

Lloyd's underwriters are probably less deeply concerned in proportion to their premium incomes than some of the companies. The exact figures are never likely to be known, according to the estimate of a leading member of that body on the average loss on the hull of the liner represents not more than 5 per cent of the premium income.

The Liverpool, London & Globe Insurance company issued a policy on Mr. Stead's life for £2,000 ($10,000).

SCHOOLED IN THE ANCIENT CHIVALRY OF THE SEA

Tribute of Punch to Heroes of Titanic Catastrophe—Tears for the Dead.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, April 24.—Under a drawing by Bernard Partridge, depicting Britannia and a tragic female figure representing America standing on the verge of the sea, gripping hands in sympathy, Punch publishes the following two verses by its editor, Owen Seaman:

"Dedicated to the memory of the brave men who went down in the Titanic.

"Tears for the dead, who shall not come again,
Homeward to any shore on any side;
Tears for the dead, but through that bitter rain
Breaks like an April sun the smile of pride.
What courage yielded place to others' need;
Patient of discipline's supreme decree,
Well may we guess, who know that gallant breed
Schooled in the ancient chivalry of the sea.

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES ARE GREATEST LOSERS

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, April 24.—Heavily as the loss of the Titanic will fall on marine insurance companies, Syren & Shipping, a nautical journal, believes the loss of the life insurance companies will be greater and run into several millions. The lives of some of the great financial magnates who have gone were of such importance to the vast interests under their control that their deaths would be immediately followed by a fall in stocks. To provide against this, short term insurance was taken on their lives at nominal rates. One company alone has been hit for three quarters of a million sterling ($3,750,000).

JUDGE AFFECTED BY TITANIC TRAGEDY

Plaintiffs Should Not Demand Committal of Any Woman—Suffragette, Need Not Pay Debt.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, April 24.—Judge Rintoul of the city of London court today refused the application of a typewriter firm for the committal to jail of a suffragete named Fowler because she had not complied with an order to pay a debt which she owed the firm. The judge refused to grant the order on the ground of sex. In doing so Judge Rintoul said that after the great chivalry shown by the men towards the women on the Titanic he did not think the plaintiffs should demand the committal of any woman. As for himself he could not help them. All that he could do if she refused to pay the debt was to say she was dishonest and let it go at that.

WAIT FOR EVIDENCE, IS ATTITUDE OF ENGLAND

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, April 24.—England's attention is largely centered at present on the prospects of such results from the home inquiry into the Titanic disaster as will make another catastrophe well nigh impossible. Incidentally, the course and methods of the inquiry at Washington come in for sharp criticism. In an editorial headed, "Wait for the Evidence," the Daily Mail says: "Now that the government has appointed a court of inquiry the public will await with calmness its verdict on the foundering of the Titanic. In the first rush of emotion it is natural that there should be a disposition to anticipate the judgmen of experts and apportion the blame for so devastating a calamity. We owe it to ourselves as well as to the men who met death with heroic courage and coolness, that the investigation shall be not only thorough, but also impartial. We feel bound to deprecate the attempt that appears to be made on the other side of the ocean to fix the blame on any individual. To adopt a course of this kind is to defeat the real purpose of the inquiry, as has already been pointed out in the United States senate. It is not a victim we are seeking, though if the culpability be brought home to any person or corporation, they must bear the condemnation and punishment. It is a system that is to blame.

"The British court of inquiry may be trusted to discharge its important and difficult task with knowledge and fair play. Its president, Lord Mersey, had a wide experience as judge of the admiralty division and will have the assistance of experts who will not be likely to make the mistake of taking watertight compartments for safes, in which passengers in danger of shipwreck may seek refuge."

ROCKS NOT CAUSE OF DISASTER TO TITANIC

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

WASHINGTON, April 24.—With the Virgin Rocks fully 250 miles north of where the Titanic foundered, navy hydrographers express their opinion that it is exceedingly improbable that the liner struck those or any other semi-submerged rocks. While no soundings have ever been made in the immediate vicinity of the position where the Titanic went down, they explain that soundings further northward show a steady decline of the sea bottom toward the ship's position. It is declared at the hydrographic offices that as the water where the Titanic struck is approximately two miles deep it would take a formation with an enormous base to bring the apex anywhere near the surface, and soundings at a ten-knot distance would show a rise in the ocean's bottom. The nearest soundings made south of the point where the disaster occurred are 60 miles away and these show 2,100 fathoms.

IMMENSE CROWD ASSEMBLES TO DO HONOR TO STRAUS

Crowd so Great That Meeting in Memory of Titanic Victim Is Postponed.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, April 24.—The vast outpouring of residents of the east side, who wished to pay tribute to Isidor Straus, victim, with his wife, of the Titanic disaster, defeated the purpose for which the thousands had assembled, and it became necessary to postpone a lecture on his career arranged for last night Fully 40,000 people, according to the police estimate, crowded into the street surrounding the Educational Alliance building on East Broadway, where the meeting was scheduled to be held. So great was the crush that the police did not allow the doors to be opened for fear persons would be trampled in the rush to the hall. Crowds began gathering at 3 o'clock this afternoon and by evening had grown to such dimensions that the police on guard were swept off their feet. It was necessary to call out the reserves from three precincts to disperse the crowds after it had been decided to postpone the meeting indefinitely. While the crush was at its worst a railing guarding an area way in front of the building broke, and a near-panic resulted when the report spread that many persons had been swept into the area and injured. Ambulances were summoned, but the doctors found little to do. In the excitement scores of children became separated from their parents.

IDENTIFIES HER CHILDREN

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NICE, France, April 24.—Mme. Navratil, who yesterday announced her belief that the two waifs saved from the Titanic are her children, is more confident than ever after reading the latest despatches from New York. She describes the children as follows :

Michael, called Lolo for short, aged 4 years, curly chestnut hair, rather large for his age and speaks with difficulty; Edmond, called Momo, 2 years old, fair hair with one quite large white lock, big black eyes, fair complexion, large and strong for his age.

Mme. Navratil's husband, who is a prosperous tailor, took the children from her cousin, to whom they had been confided pending divorce proceedings. A few days later the mother received a letter from Navratil from Austria informing her that he had taken the children to his own country. Navratil was formerly a resident of Pressburg. Mme. Navratil learned that her husband had gone to England. He had often spoken of going to America and starting a dressmaking establishment.

INQUIRY MUST BE WITHOUT HASTE OR PREJUDICE

Radiant Glory of Titanic's End Shed on East and West Alike—Holy Silence.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, April 24.—An unpleasant impression has been created by the cabled reports of the methods of the senate investigation committee, and many Englishmen who, at first expressed hearty approval of the prompt action taken by the senate, now declare that no useful purpose can be served by the inquiry if it is conducted along the lines indicated by the New York despatches. The Pall Mall Gazette said yesterday: "The committee of the United States senate has behaved toward J. Bruce Ismay as Polyphemus behaved toward Odysseus. These hasty blows, struck in wrath and agony, will fail of result. Stern inquiry there will be, but it will only be effective in proportion to the absence of either haste or prejudice. We know the grievous losses our American brethren have suffered of their bravest and best, and we realize that the horror of the thing was brought more closely home to them, eye-witnesses as they were of the arrival of the Carpathia with its dismal freight, than to us on this side of the Atlantic.

"We take pride and pleasure in repeating what we said before that the radiant glory of the Titanic's end is shed over east and west alike, equally upon both branches of the brotherhood, but we plead with the American press and people to pay the truest honor it is in their power to pay to the memory of the dead, and not to break the holy silence which enshrouds them by any procedure inconsistent with the strictest fairness and dignity."

All the papers point out the necessity that the investigators be aided by each other.

MEMORIAL SERVICES FOR VICTIMS OF DISASTER

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, April 24.—Memorial services for the victims of the Titanic disaster were held by St. George's society in Trinity church yesterday. Officials of the White Star line, survivors of the disaster and many notables, including Lord Eustace Percy, secretary of the British embassy at Washington; W. Cortenay Bennett, consul general, and Mr. Broderick, vice consul at New York, attended. The services were under the auspices of Henry W. Bucknall, president of St. George's society, and he was assisted by L. B. Sanderson, past president.

There were present all the vicars and curates of the nine chapels of Trinity parish. In front of the church above the entrance hung two large British and American flags, entwined with black and purple. The pulpit was similarly draped. There was no sermon or eulogy, the regular funeral service of the church being held.

A memorial service for W. T. Stead was held in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church last evening, at which Mornay Williams presented a tribute to the life work of Mr. Stead. It was announced several weeks ago that Mr. Stead was to deliver an address in the church last night, but his death prevented. The service was concluded with the singing of "Nearer My God To Thee."

AVIATOR DROWNED

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, via Glace Bay, April 24.—There is little doubt that D. L. Allen, the aviator who ascended at Chester last Friday for a flight to Holyhead, has met the same fate as that of Cecil Grace, who was lost in the North sea in December, 1910, and of Lieut. Bague, who was lost while flying from Nice to Corsica. Allen has not been heard from anywhere since he went up at Chester. He is believed to have fallen into the Irish sea.

A Hermit for Five Years

WHAT would make the greatest impression on a man who had been shut away from human intercourse and denied the use of newspapers for five years—what would most forcibly attract his attention—on regaining the society of his fellowmen?

"Well," you say, "he is fairly certain to be interested in learning whether there's been a change of Government."

True, and probably he will show mild excitement if you can tell him there's been a big war in Europe. But it won't be until you get down to a recital of things that come closer to him, personally, that you'll bring him to his feet with eager questioning.

Tell him a mighty empire has fallen, and—so long as it isn't his empire—a drop curtain of highly embroidered indifference will mask his face.

But tell him the automobile has been so simplified that he can now buy one for the price of a horse and buggy, and he'll promptly bombard you with questions.

A revolution in China may be a world event, but it wouldn't mean as much to him as the perfecting of a shaving apparatus that would do away with the necessity of purchasing new blades or honing old ones.

If you had been a hermit for the past five years, the news of an earthquake in San Francisco wouldn't really mean so much to you as the information that you can now hear any famous opera singer in your own home at a cost of a few cents per hour.

Which is only another way of saying that the phonograph is of more personal interest than an earthquake.

You see how it is: Newspapers carry a "news of merchandise" that is just as interesting, just as vital, as the "news of events" which the editors gather for us.

And, since this "news of merchandise" finds its only expression in the form of Advertising, must we not admit that the Advertising columns are quite as worthy of our serious attention as the scariest "scare head" or the most ponderous editorial?

Shut your eyes to Advertising—and you shut out the news of commercial progress and development—the news of things that make life worth the living.

Advice regarding your advertising problems is available through any recognized Canadian advertising agency, or the Secretary of the Canadian Press Association, Room 503 Lumsden Bldg., Toronto. Enquiry involves no obligation on your part—so write if interested.

Prevents Baldness—Banishes Dandruff—Stops Falling Hair and Itching Scalp

PARISIAN SAGE is a family hair tonic and dressing that will do much good in every home.

The man who uses PARISIAN SAGE if only occasionally will never grow bald. Baldness is caused by dandruff germs which dig down into the roots of the hair, devour its nourishment and cause the root to die and the hair to fall and thin out.

PARISIAN SAGE is a scientific hair remedy that not only kills the dandruff germs, but gives the hair root just the same nourishment that nature gives it.

PARISIAN SAGE first kills the germs, then nourishes the weakened hair root and causes a growth of healthy hair.

This same nourishment (PARISIAN SAGE) causes the hair to grow vigorous, which means that the hair becomes full of life and lustre, and grows radiant and beautiful.

Thousands are wasting time, losing hair and growing bald because they are using superficial tonics. While they may clean the scalp and make it feel refreshed, they do not get to the root of the hair, where the real destroyer of hair, the pernicious dandruff germs, thrives and multiplies.

MONEY BACK DANDRUFF REMOVER

Try PARISIAN SAGE for all hair trouble; it means death to the germs; life to the hair. It is pleasant to use and so harmless that it can be used by every member of the family from the oldest to the little tot.

Get a 50-cent bottle today, and if you are not satisfied that it is just as good as claimed, your money back without any quibbling. Sold by Poole Drug Company, Nelson, B. C., and druggists everywhere. Girl with Auburn hair on every carton and bottle!

C. P. R. BLOWS OFF LID

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

MONTREAL, April 24.—Application has been made to the Montreal stock exchange to list three of the tramway and allied securities, namely: Montreal Tramway debentures, Montreal Tramway & Power common, and Canadian Power bonds.

C.P.R. stock blew the lid off in London today, touching 261¼, equal to 255¼ on this side. This is another new high mark. The rise, which was one of the now familiar overnight efforts of the Wall street manipulators, was not fully followed by the market here. C.P.R. opened sagging in New York and sold as high as 251¾, but soon lost about a point.

Grand Trunk shares have been booming in London lately, the third preferred today selling to 61¾, against 58⅜ on Monday. Hudson's Bay in London jumped 3¼ today. A large pool is said to be operating in Grand Trunk.

Power was again a conspicuous feature of the local list this morning, selling up to 204¾. Steel failed to respond to the news from London regarding the favorable terms of the issue, while Richelieu does not appear to get excited over the new merger plans. It has a firm tone, however, as the Niagara deal is well liked.

Canadian Cottons common was steady at 22½. Penman's took a spurt and sold up to 58. Converters sold up to 42 this afternoon, while Cement was strong and sold at 92. Quebec Railway bonds, which have been weak for some time past, sold down to 71½. The passing of the dividend on the common was rather looked upon as a favorable point, but there is apparently some rather pressing liquidation.

Penman's took another spurt and sold up to 60, being in great demand.

The Grand Trunk railway system traffic earnings from April 15 to 21, 1912, were 1939,632, and in 1911 $873,156, an increase of $66,476. C.P.R. increase this week was $643,000.

ON WALL STREET

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, April 24.—The enthusiasm engendered in the stock market yesterday by the more favorable turn in the threatened railroad strike seemed to exhaust itself today. Sober consideration of the situation evidently convinced the more conservative element of the speculative community that willingness by arbitrate does not necessarily imply a speedy or absolute adjustment of the difficulties. Regarding steel and iron conditions a recognized trade authority points to the heavy buying of pig iron during the past week as a favorable sign, but this is largely neutralized by the admission that orders in the past fortnight have been below expectations. United States Steel was under steady pressure during the day's session. Reading retained its leadership, dealings exceeding those in Steel, but the course of this stock also suggested profit taking. Union Pacific was another one of the leaders to display heaviness. Of all standard issues, New York Central was strongest, selling at a new high record for the movement.

MARCONI MAKES SPURT

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, April 24.—Money was dearer and discount rates firm today. The large carryover and the general settlement arranged at slightly earlier rates for new business caused a good tone and a cheerful feeling on the stock exchange, with home rails and Canadian issues leading in point of strength. Shi- shares and Marconi issues spurted in the afternoon, while gilt-edged securities ruled dull, the underwriters taking in 85 per cent of the $15,000,000 loan. Oil shares were active and mining stocks weak. In the American department prices jumped early under the lead of C.P.R., and at noon the market was ¼ to 1½ over the New York closing yesterday. Prices varied little during the afternoon and closed steady around the noon level.

BRITISH COMMONS WATCHING SENATE INVESTIGATION

Members Declare That British Subjects Are Not Receiving Honorable Treatment.

(Western Associated Press.)

LONDON, April 24.—Renewed interest in the senate's inquiry into the loss of the Titanic and the status of the senatorial court was evinced by several members of the house of commons today and many questions were asked of Francis Dyke Acland, parliamentary under secretary for foreign affairs.

Mr. Acland replied on behalf of the foreign office: "I am not aware of the precise grounds on which the United States senate inquiry is being held. I understand the object is to determine the responsibility for the wreck. As far as I am aware there has never been previously a foreign inquiry into the loss of a British vessel on the high seas."

Roland Munro Ferguson, a Scottish member, expressed fears lest the witnesses necessary to the British inquiry into the Titanic disaster might be detained, but Mr. Acland dissented, saying:

"I feel sure that we can trust that the United States and the American people do not desire to detain persons whose attendance might be desired at an inquiry in this country. Mr. Lee, the member for Hampshire, suggested that instructions should be sent to the British ambassador at Washington to protect British subjects summoned by the senate committee 'who apparently have no one to defend their rights.'

Mr. Acland said he did not doubt that if protection were desired by British witnesses instructions would be sent, "but we hope that case may not arise."

Alexander MacCallum Scott, another Scotch member, asked re the senate committee: "Is it not a political committee conducted by people who are not experts in the matter?" to which Mr. Acland replied:

"I do not think it is our place to investigate that. It appears the committee of the senate has power to summon witnesses and to administer oaths and we have not thought we were entitled to go further than that in the matter."

No Complaint Received.

Mr. Scott then said: "Are you aware that those called before the senate committee are not receiving fair and honorable treatment? Will you take steps to obtain fair and honorable treatment for British subjects?"

Mr. Acland replied: "No such complaint has been received by us. Surely in this matter we must trust, as I think we are right in doing, to the good sense of the American people and we do not desire to interfere without absolute necessity."

The catachesim closed with a suggestion from William O'Brien that as many American citizens had lost their lives in the disaster the interest was as great in the United States as in Great Britain.

Women Perished.

Sidney Buxton, president of the board of trade, announced that the number of women and children who had perished in the Titanic catastrophe was 156.

Herbert L. Samuel, postmaster general, stated that he had called for a report of all the wireless dispatches that had been received by ships and wireless stations in connection with the Titanic disaster.

IOWA FOR TAFT

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., April 24—Iowa Republicans today declared their allegiance to President Taft. In doing so they directly rejected Senator Cummins, old time progressive leader of the state, and by inference showed *their opposition to the third term can*didacy of the former president.

When the final vote was taken it showed that the Taft slate had 761 delegates, while Cummins' delegates could only muster 720, a clear majority for the Taft supporters. As a re*sult President Taft will have the four* delegates at large and already has the delegates from the third, first, second, fifth, sixth, eighth and ninth districts, giving him 16 votes from the state to 10 for Cummins.

(Special to The Daily News.)

A very capable manager has been obtained in Mr. Ed*wards of Calgary.* Work on the irrigation system will be started almost at once.

For those settlers who do not possess horses of their own there is some difficulty in getting plowing done, owing to the great scarcity of teams in this neighborhood to be hired for this purpose.

Mr. Middleton is expected to arrive shortly to superintend the planting of the experimental orchard on Colonel Pine's land.

A good many of the settlers intend planting fruit trees this spring and are busy preparing for them.

The Adolph Lumber company opened their new hall and store recently with a subscription dance, the proceeds of which were devoted to the schoolhouse. The hall is an exceedingly fine one and the guests enjoyed a pleasant evening. The dance was well supported with visitors from Waldo and Elko.

URGES MAY FIRST FOR ARBOR DAY

Plans for Annual Cleanup Will Be Made at Public Meeting This Evening.

That Arbor day should be set for May 1 is the suggestion that will be brought up for discussion before the Nelson Improvement association at the public meeting in the board of trade rooms at 8 o'clock this evening by the president, W. R. Jarvis.

"May day would not in my opinion be too early for the annual cleaning up of the city, which is becoming more necessary from day to day," said Mr. Jarvis last night. "The declaring of Arbor day as a public holiday is of course a matter for the mayor, but I think it would be advisable for the association to make a recommendation as to the most suitable date."

At the meeting this evening the chairmen of the eight ward committees are expected to report upon improvements needed in their districts and to make suggestions concerning the organization of the forces for the Arbor day cleanup. The chairmen of the wards are: Ward 1, Harry Bird; ward 2, J. H. Holmes; ward 3, Hugh W. Robertson; ward 4, W. J. Devitt; ward 5, Charles F. McHardy; ward 6, E. Grizzelle is being asked to take the place of George Horstead, who is unable to act; ward 7, Ald. Houston; ward 8, William Rutherford.

It is expected that many members of the committees in addition to the chairmen will be present. The meeting will be public and will be glad to receive suggestions from any citizen. The officers are particularly anxious that there should be a large attendance of ladies, as it is felt that they can do much toward the beautification of the city.

One member of the Nelson Improvement association was in sore trouble yesterday, all as the result of an attempt to improve his property by preparing his garden for growing flowers. It appears that he paid $1.50 for a load of manure with which he proposed to fertilize the land, and the manure was thrown down near the garden. The next day the scavenging department came along and with an equally strong desire to beautify the city carted the stuff away. And the next day the man who lost his manure received a bill for $1 from the city scavenging department. The worst of the matter is, from the citizen's point of view, that his friends treat it as a joke.

Treby-Heale; Roman ladder pyra*mids, selected group; duet, "Miserere," Mr. and Mrs. Treby-Heale; vaulting horse exhibition, selected group; song, "Robin Adair," Nelson Glee quartet; gymnastic dancing, high school class; "The Dance of the Hobos," young men's class.

The entertainment will conclude with a burlesque on "The First Nelson Fair," introducing "Eugene Dowsan," the strong man, the wonderful tumbling group, and other laughable items.

A popular idea used to prevail that all teas were pretty much alike, but "Salada" Tea is proving a pleasant surprise to particular tea drinkers.

MUSKERRY WANTS SEARCHING INQUIRY

Attention of Board of Trade Was Called to Insufficiency of Boats on Liners.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, April 24.—Severe criticisms of the marine department of the board of trade were made by Lord Muskerry at the meeting of the Imperial Merchants' Service guild this afternoon. Lord Muskerry declared that the measures urged by the guild met with bitter opposition and he hoped that the great disaster to the Titanic would lead the public to insist on a full and searching inquiry by an independent committee into the methods pursued by the marine department.

Lord Muskerry stated explicitly that although the advisory committee had presented a report to the board of trade last July calling attention to the insufficiency of boats on ocean-going liners, "not a single thing had been done or any notice taken until the news came that the Titanic had struck an iceberg. Then the marine department wrote to each member of the committee saying that it agreed with their proposals. They, however, might go further, and that meant that the marine department desired to throw the blame on other shoulders."

Lord Muskerry hoped that the advisory committee would insist on a reform of the marine department and on the appointment of a man possessing professional knowledge of the sea as its chief.

Sir Ernest Shackleton emphasized the importance of having a committee consisting of unbiased practical men. He continued: "We do not want men like the archbishop of Canterbury on this job."

Sir Ernest Shackleton evidently referred to the fact that the archbishop of Canterbury is a member of the board of trade.

GERMANY TO STUDY SAFETY OF LINERS

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

BERLIN, April 24.—A conference of government officials and representatives of the shipping companies and maritime societies in order to study the problem of insuring the safety of steamers and to obtain material on which international regulation of the *question can be based has been con*voked here at the personal instance of the German emperor. The sessions were opened this afternoon at the ministry of the interior. The most important points on the program are an increase in the number of lifeboats and the regulations concerning wire*less telegraphy and watertight com*partments. The emperor is displaying the liveliest personal interest in the subject and is in constant communication with the officials. He has ordered the minister of the interior and the president of the maritime association to report to him in person the result of the deliberations.
