CURTAIN DROPS ON METEORIC CAREER

Dr. Beattie Nesbitt Dies Yesterday in Toronto

DEATH QUASHES PROSECUTION

President of Defunct Farmers Bank and Member of Legislature

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

TORONTO, Jan. 31.—Dr. William Beattie Nesbitt succumbed late this afternoon after six months' illness. He died at his home, 71 Grosvenor street, with Dr. Graham Chambers and Dr. Walter McKeown, Mrs. Nesbitt and her daughter at the bedside. Dr. Nesbitt was 46 years old. His death has been expected for the past week from heart and Bright's disease, which wasted the one-time genial doctor to a shadow of his former self. At noon today he became unconscious and at 3.30 he passed quietly away.

Meteoric Career.

The city of Toronto has had her due share of meteoric careers, but it is very doubtful whether the last quarter of a century can show a stranger combination than Dr. Nesbitt, one-time member of the provincial legislature, candidate for local majoralty honors and president of the defunct Farmers' bank. William Beattie Nesbitt, B.A., M.D., was born on a farm up in Oxford county some 45 years ago. At the age of 19, after completing a preparatory education at Picketing, he came to Toronto and enrolled as an art student in the university of Toronto. He studied medicine at Toronto and John Hopkins universities. During the early 90's, Dr. Nesbitt's political aspirations commenced to assume definite form. With the assistance of Richard Armstrong, a well known barrister, he formed a Conservative association, whose club on King street became a great rallying point for the young element of the party. The organization of the Young Conservative association followed and in a keen election for the mayoralty Richard Armstrong defeated J. Caster Hopkins, president of the Empire club. During his first session in parliament which was coincident with the retiring term of the Sir George Ross regime, Dr. Nesbitt was, as usual, very aggressive and his speeches following the election of Sir James Whitney's government indicated beyond question that he felt he was entitled to a portfolio in the new cabinet.

First Real Defeat.

He was appointed to the vacant registrarship of West Toronto. As was inevitable this sinecure rapidly became irksome to the man whose blood was fired with a never sated lust for public life and even before handing over his resignation he began to dabble once more in provincial and municipal politics. Then putting all the energies and artifices in his possession to the mayoralty contest of 1908-9 he met his first real defeat—a defeat which marked the commencement of steady reversals.

During all these years he had been dipping into a diversity of business ventures, in the majority of which he, as well as his friends, became losers. As a promoter and organizer he had some ability, but here his effectiveness ended. When it came to the actual operation of any manufacturing plant which his genius had organized, his usefulness was at an end. Strangely enough, very few of the doctor's friends who lost money by backing his business schemes bear him any illwill. The first industry with which Dr. Nesbitt was intimately associated was the C. H. Hubbard Dental Manufacturing company, which his father-in-law had founded and built up very successfully. Another scheme which went to the wall was the establishment of a linen mill, the first of its kind in Canada, in the town of Bracebridge. The company was reorganized after the doctor dropped out and the mill was reopened with bright prospects. His latest venture was the Farmers' bank and the Keeley mine which ended so disastrously for him and so many others and which led to criminal charges against him, his flight to Chicago, his arrest there and his return for trial here. The case was only yesterday adjourned until next month on account of the doctor's illness.

Death Quashes Conviction.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

TORONTO, Jan. 31.—Basing his application on various grounds, H. H. Dewart, K.C., moved to Osgoode Hall this afternoon before Justice Middleton to quash the conviction of Dr. Beattie Nesbitt. W. G. Thurston, K.C., appeared for the crown. His lordship reserved judgment.

This motion was made an hour before Dr. Nesbitt's death.

Indictments Quashed.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

TORONTO, Jan 31.—An hour before Dr. Nesbitt died, Judge Middleton quashed the five indictments on which he was to have been tried, his lordship deciding that the charges of making fraudulent returns to the government as president of the Farmers' bank upon which Dr. Nesbitt was extradited were not cited in the criminal code.

Railway Surveyors at Columbia Gardens on Second Survey of New Line

(Special to The Daily News.)

COLUMBIA GARDENS, Jan. 31.—The surveyors who are surveying for the new C. P. R. line which is to go through this section of the country are now camped about a mile below Columbia Gardens station. They expect to survey along the east bank of the Columbia and will be stationed here abobut three weeks. Nearly a year has elapsed since they came into this section of the survey, having worked from Trail, B. C., through the Gardens, up the Pend d'Oreille and out through the Metaline country. They are now on their way back to Trail on the re-survey.

R. Wagner and A. Beaumont were Trail visitors.

EARL BEAUCHAMP AS GOVERNOR-GENERAL

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

New York, Jan. 31.—A London cable to the Herald says: "It is rumored that Earl Beauchamp, one of the few Liberal peers, will succeed the Duke of Connaught as governor-general of Canada.

William Lygan, seventh Earl Beauchamp, who is spoken of as the Duke of Connaught's successor, was born on Feb. 20, 1872, and succeeded his father in 1891. He married in 1902 Lady Lettice Grosvenor, daughter of the late Earl Grosvenor, and sister of the second Duke of Westminster. He has two sons and four daughters. He was mayor of Worcester in 1895 and governor of New South Wales from 1899 to 1900. He was lord steward of the household of King Edward.

VOTES FOR WOMEN ON PUTTING GREENS

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

Birmingham, Eng., Jan. 31.—The militant suffragettes of Birmingham today turned their attention to the destruction of the putting greens on the golf course. In some cases the greens were torn up while on others the words "votes for women" were burned into the grass with strong acids. All the greens must be re-turfed.

HOUSE RESUMES NAVAL DEBATE

Only One Speech from Government Benches

NEW WESTMINSTER HARBOR BOARD

Government Wants Lower Insurance Rates for St. Lawrence

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

OTTAWA, Jan. 31.—After an adjournment of a fortnight the debate of the government naval proposal was resumed in the commons today. Speeches were made by E. B. Devlin, W. F. Maclean, Hon. Dr. Boland and O. Turgeon, who did not finish. Apart from Mr. Maclean, no speeches were made from the government benches, and it is understood that no more ministerialists will be heard from on the resolution stage. Liberals say that they have 25 speakers ready to go on, so that the prospects are that it will take several days of steady talking before a discussion of the bill proper is reached. In his speech today Mr. Maclean expressed the hope that the two sides would come together on the contribution, but declared himself to be in favor of a Canadian navy as a permanent policy. Dr. Boland spoke at length to prove that there is no emergency. He objected to the proposal that Canada should seek a vote in imperial affairs. He said that this policy involved the political entity of the Dominion and would result in friction and the ultimate disruption of the British empire.

Mr. Devlin and Mr. Turgeon followed the customary lines of the opposition speakers. The house rose at 11 o'clock.

Internal Elevators

W. A. Buchanan of Medicine Hat read a despatch from Fort William to the effect that it is the intention of the government to go in for a system of internal elevators with the government in the work of providing them.

Hon. George E. Foster said that he had noticed the article. The writer had shown a good deal of ingenuity in extending any information he might have had. The government has reached no conclusion in the matter and up to the present time it might be said that there is nothing to report.

W. E. Knowles of Moose Jaw again inquired as to possible amendments to the Grain act. Mr. Foster said there would be a few but it was not propose dto extend the list of places at which sample markets would be established. He could not say what action would be taken in regard to the establishment of different boards of survey, but provision would be made for the inspection of grain at milling points when it is considered advisable.

Rates on Grain

W. F. Maclean called the attention of Mr. Foster to the enormous increase in the ocean freight rates on grain. He wanted to know if the government proposed any relief in the way of subvention.

Mr. Foster replied that the matter had been brought to his attention by the Toronto board of trade which has established the fact that rates have been increased considerably. Whether the rates are unreasonable it was impossible for him to say.

Canadian Lloyds

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux asked if the government had received the Montreal board of trade resolution dealing with the diversion of grain traffic to the United States owing to the high insurance rate on the St. Lawrence. He understood that Mr. Foster had recently stated that the government would be willing to assist in the establishment of a Canadian Lloyds. Mr. Lemieux asked if any action had yet been taken.

Mr. Foster in reply said that the question of insurance rates to Canadian ports compared with rates to American ports had for the last year engaged the attention of Hon. J. D. Hazen and himself. This was a very difficult question but he could say that they had succeeded in securing a great deal of information. The government he said, is thoroughly in sympathy with any measure which may be taken to secure a more reasonable insurance rate for the St. Lawrence route. At the same time it is up to the shipping and exporting interests to take the first step toward some practical methods. Any such effort would be certain of the help and sympathy of the government, but to what extent, he was not prepared to say.

Naval Debate Resumed

The debate on the government's naval resolution was then resumed by E. B. Devlin, Liberal member for Wright. He said that when the debate was suspended a fortnight ago those in favor of the resolution were endeavoring to persuade the house that an emergency exists. They seemed to think that Great Britain is in danger. The debate is now resumed at a time when the waters of international politics are as calm as a millpond in summer; at a time when Great Britain and Germany are working together to preserve the peace of Europe. It was lucky for Mr. Borden that such a situation exists because he would now use the money for the development of the country and for

FIRST DIVISION OF SESSION

Motion Ruled Out of Order and Parker Williams Appeals to House.

(Special to The Daily News.)

VICTORIA, B. C., Jan. 31.—A pretty demonstration of politics as the game is played, constituted the interest focussing feature of today's legislative proceedings. The moves were by Parker Williams and the prime minister, honors resting with the latter, although Mr. Williams through the episode is richer in knowledge of the fine points of the game. It was in connection with his resolution proposing an investigation of conditions relating to the Extension and Cumberland colliery strike that the cross play of fineness developed. The motion was seemingly made with expectation that it would be ruled out of order for a parliamentarian of Mr. Williams' experience could scarcely be ignorant of the fact that it is beyond the prerogative of any private member to initiate action involving an expediture of public funds and that commissions of inquiry are not conducted without price and that its rejection might subsequently be presented to the communities concerned as a grievance against the government especially if record of the matter found no place on the journals of parliament. Speaker Eberts read the resolution with notable care. "I should like the introducer to permit this resolution to stand over," remarked the speaker at length, "I am not altogether sure it is in order and would like time to look into it."

Mr. Williams objected to postponement of action over three days.

"I do not want to do so if the resolution is in any sense permissable," the speaker said, "but if the honorable gentleman presses me for an immediate decision I must rule the resolution out of order. It so seemed to me at first glance but I had hoped to give it the benefit of any possible doubt."

"If the object the member for Newcastle has in view is to secure discussion on the strike situation at Extension and Cumberland, suggested Sir Richard McBride, "I can assure him there is no desire on the part of the government to defeat any proposals of that sort he may bring forward. At the same time it is necessary that we observe the rules of the house and it is well known that resolutions leading up to an expenditure of public money may not be introduced by a private member without authority from the government to do so."

Mr. Williams stated that "rather than have this course adopted he would prefer that the matter should stand over until Monday," but did so under protest. The protest was promptly resented by the speaker. "If that is the line of action the honorable member adopts," said he, "I will give my ruling immediately. It is that the resolution is out of order."

"On what grounds," asked Mr. Williams.

"On the ground that it necessarily involves the expenditure of public money and therefore could only originate with the crown," said the speaker.

"Have I no right of appeal?" pursued Mr. Williams.

"You have, of course, the right of appeal to the house from my ruling," said Hon. Mr. Eberts.

"I then take that course," said Mr. Williams.

The speaker promptly read the resolution and formally repeated his ruling thereupon and his reason therefor and stated that from this ruling an appeal was made to the house and put the usual question "Shall the chair be sustained." The chair was sustained by virtually the whole house, only Mr. Williams and his colleague, Mr. Place, voting negatively. "Names," demanded Mr. Williams energetically, "Names." "The names," requested the prime minister quietly, where at Mr. Williams smiled, and the first division of the session was formally recorded.

It will be recalled that the prime minister offered to assist his numerically handicapped opponents in securing record of divisions if Mr. Williams would withdraw his resolution of a few days ago which proposed to amend the house rules, and his resolution was voted down. The premier's magnanimity was therefore unexpected and somewhat upset the Socialist leader's tactical line of action.

The bill providing for correction of clerical errors in the Bulkley valley official map passed second reading, went through committee and was reported without amendments, the report adopted and the bill set for final reading on Monday. Just prior to the rising of the house the minister of lands introduced by message a bill redefining the boundaries of Strathcona park, this measure aiming at the inclusion of contiguous lands necessary to entry and development of the park and not heretofore provided for in reserve legislation.

KILLED WARDER CONVICT IS HANGED

Farewell Letter From Mother Not Delivered—No Spectators Permitted at Execution

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., Jan. 31.—Joseph Smith, convict, walked steadily to the scaffold this morning at 8:30 and met death practically without flinching. He was convicted for his share in the killing of Guard Joynson in the penitentiary last summer. Instructions had been received from Ottawa to exclude outsiders, and there were no spectators save officials and the coroner's jurymen. Smith was 31 years old and his parents live in England. A farewell letter from his mother received last night, was not given to the unfortunate man, for the officials feared it would unnerve him. A year ago Smith was sent up for 10 years. He threw ammonia in the face of a Vancouver shopkeeper and then robbed him.

BIG LAW SUIT LOST BY ALBERTA

Privy Council Gives Judgment for Royal Bank

SIX MILLION DOLLARS INVOLVED

Conservatives Assert Judgment Means Defeat of Sifton Government

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Jan. 31.—Six million dollars are involved in the privy council judgment in which the Royal bank wins the suit against the Province of Alberta, the province to pay the costs. The judicial committee of the privy council gave judgment today in the celebrated Great Waterways case requiring the province of Alberta to pay all costs.

The Sifton government passed a statute in 1910 confiscating the proceeds of bonds amounting to $6,000,000 then standing in the Royal bank. The privy council declares this statute ultra vires and gives judgment on all points for the bank. It will be remembered that the money which formed the subject of this litigation was obtained from the sale of bonds of the Alberta & Great Waterways Railway company, being the guarantee of the province of Alberta. Subsequently when A. L. Sifton retired from the chief justiceship and became premier of Alberta he obtained the passage of an act by the legislature confiscating this money to the general revenue of the fund of the province, thereby effectually preventing the carrying out of the railway enterprise for which the money was obtained. The Royal bank having been advised that this money was the property of the bondholders refused to honor the check of the government on presentation, whereupon the action just decided was instituted demanding the payment of the amount to the government. The judgment of the privy council justifies the bank in the position which it took in regard to the legislation, the action of the bank in taking the stand which it did for the protection of foreign investors is consequently upheld.

Opinions at Edmonton.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

EDMONTON, Alta., Jan. 31.—Opinions on the judgment of the privy council sustaining the Royal bank in the suit against it by the province for $6,000,000 proceeds of sales of the Alberta and Great Waterways bonds deposited in that bank are varied largely by political views of those interviewed. Liberals claim that it merely makes it necessary to safeguard the English bond holders which the government can do, while Conservatives assert that the judgment means ultimate defeat of the administration which they contend should resign at once. Premier Sifton stated: "I have read with interest the report of the decision of the privy council in regard to the appeal of the Royal bank. I was very much surprised at the ground given by the court for their decision, as the bond holders were not in any respect parties to the action and it was generally admitted by everyone that their rights were amply secured by the legislation. Action that may be taken in regard to the matter will be a question for further consideration."

Rutherford Not Surprised.

Ex-Premier Rutherford, during whose administration the Alberta and Great Waterways legislation was passed, said: "I am not surprised at the findings. I voted against the legislation passed by Mr. Sifton, believing it was bad."

Attorney General Cross, who is regarded as father of the Alberta and Great Waterways act, declined to discuss the decision.

Credit Impaired.

A. F. Ewing, a prominent Conservative of this city and twice an opponent of Mr. Cross, said: "Without perusing the full text of the agreement it is difficult to deal with certain phases of the case. It is quite clear, however, that the act, appropriating the Alberta and Great Waterways monies has been declared ultra vires. The first and most important result is the most unfortunate position in which the province is placed. Not only will the direct monetary loss be great, but the credit and prestige of the province will be seriously impaired. Worse, perhaps, than either of these, the whole transaction is thrown back into the melting pot and is in the same state of confusion as when the Rutherford government resigned, as far as any settlement is concerned, the province is probably in a worse position than it was in 1910. Side by side with this, a most extraordinary political situation has developed. In 1910 the then government passed an act and entered into certain agreements which investigation proved to be so honeycombed with bad faith that the government responsible for the act was forced to resign. Another government took office for the express purpose of rescuing the province from the unfortunate position in which its predecessor had left it. It decided on a radical policy of repealing the act and appropriating the money. Now after two years the court of last resort has decided that this policy is illegal and void."

Hon. J. R. Boyle, member of the Sifton government and one of the leaders in unseating the Rutherford government, stated this afternoon: "I would not care to say anything with regard to the Alberta and Great Waterways until I have seen the text of the decision. While it is stated that the decision is against the province I am not in a position to say to what extent it is against the province and can not therefore intelligently discuss the matter."

Bond Holders Get Money.

George G. O'Connor, prominent Liberal leader, said: "The decision in its present form is not in favor of the Royal bank or the Alberta and Great Waterways railway or even the construction company. It is simply a decision that the bond holders are entitled to the money and all the government needs to do is to take up the bonds which I understand are redeemable shortly. The bond holders are entitled to the money and apparently the Royal bank is not entitled to the lien. The judgment is favorable to the province I think, in this respect at least, that it clears the air of any claim by the Royal bank or the construction company. I don't look upon it as an adverse decision to the government at all.

"It was necessary to go to the privy council in order to ascertain the rights of the bank and of the construction company. It is now quite open to the province to go to the bond holders and make arrangements to obtain the money. All that can be said to be lost to the province as a result of the decisions are the cost of the action, inasmuch as it was agreed between counsel that there should be no costs to either party ,even that element of victory for the bank insignificant as it is, disappears."

WANT MEMBERS TO JOIN MARCH

Suffragettes Anxious to Exhibit Representatives of Woman Suffrage States—Members are Worried.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Members of congress from the 10 states permitting woman suffrage may be drafted as marchers by the suffragettes for the parade on the afternoon before inauguration day, and those who have heard of the idea are unmistakably scared. The suffragettes believe it would be nice to show off the legislators they helped to elect, but the score of senators and more than 100 representatives do not take that view.

"They would not dare refuse if we asked them," said a suffragette who may be called mildly militant. "Of course, it would be intimidation, but all the same it would give an opportunity for us to see where our representatives stand."

The plan was discussed at suffragette headquarters, and it did not take long for the news to spread. Members of congress who depend on men only for votes freely "joshed" their colleagues who are threatened with invitations to do a little hiking.

CANNOT FORCE RAILWAY TO COMPLETE ITS LINE

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

OTTAWA, Jan. 31.—"As matters stand townsites can be opened anywhere and lands sold on the prophecies of the future so far as railway development, station location and other facilities are concerned or anything else." Thus succinctly does Chairman Drayton of the railway commission comment on the booming of the western townsites, as in one case that where the Merriam, Saskatchewan, board of trade has applied to the board in regard to the delay of the Canadian Northern railway in completing its line from Edam to Merriam. In the judgment in the case it is noted that land was sold at Merriam by the Canadian Northern railway on the strength of the statement that steel would be carried to it. Now the settlers who took up land and raised their wheat cannot market it. Though anxious to do everything possible in the case, the board has no jurisdiction, as Chairman Drayton states, in the judgment. The board can refuse permission for the opening of a line, the building of a station or bridge, etc., or issue an order for failure to operate when completed and approved, but it cannot under present regulations force a railway to complete its line.

IS STARTLING, SAYS CHANCELLOR

Regeneration of Rural Life Task of Liberals

GREAT EMPIRE WILL HANG ITS HEAD

Condition of Agricultural Laborers Miserable, Says Lloyd George

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Jan. 21.—"The foremost task of Liberalism in the near future is the regeneration of rural life and the emancipation of the land of this country from the paralyzing grip of a rusty, effete and unprofitable system."

David Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer, made this momentous declaration tonight at the annual meeting of the National Liberal club. The land question has been Mr. Lloyd George's hobby and the Conservatives have accused him of being ambitous to introduce the Henry George System of taxation in Great Britain. Recently they had been asserting that the cabinet has sidetracked his scheme, but tonight's speech by the chancellor indicates that the government soon will grapple with perhaps the greatest attempt in its extensive plan of social reform. The unofficial committee Lloyd George selected to investigate the relations between the landlords and the tenants has been bitterly attacked by the Conservative party because its probings were in secret.

Condition of Laborers.

Lloyd George said in his speech tonight that the result achieved by the commission had been startling. Speaking of the agricultural laborers, the chancellor said: "When these reports are published they will prove conclusively that there are hundreds of thousands if not millions of men, women and children living under conditions with regard to the wages, housing and the rest of the labor conditions which ought to make this great empire hang its head with shame. They will prove by unchallengeable facts that this rich country does not provide decent houses, for the laborers engaged in an occupation which is vital to our very existence."

Lloyd George also denounced what he called the land monopoly of towns.

EXTENSION OF INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY IN ONTARIO.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

OTTAWA, Jan. 31.—Extension of the Intercolonial railway in Ontario is involved in a scheme of the Central Railway of Canada which was explained at a well-attended meeting of senators and members this morning. The proposed line is from St. Rosalie to Montreal and thence to Midland, with a branch to Goderich. It was explained by the promoters that the government road is to be given running rights over the projected line. The bill was up last year and a very interesting feature was a claim that by reason of having acquired old charters, including the ancient Carillon & Grenville road, the company is entitled, to 650,000 acres of land in Ontario and a similar tract in Quebec, all to be located in the Ottawa valley. The Ontario government strenuously opposed a revival of these promotions and the bill was withdrawn.

SPEAKER' DECISION RESCINDED BY SENATE.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

OTTAWA, Jan. 31.—There was an unusual occurrence in the senate this afternoon when a ruling by Speaker Landry was appealed from and rescinded by a majority vote. Senator Power moved that the minister of justice be asked if a report from the clerk and the recommendation of the speaker must precede the appointment of charwomen, sessional messengers, typewriters and other temporary employees of the senate. Senator Thompson moved an amendment that the question be struck out and that the senate affirm the correctness of an opinion from the justice department given in 1910, which intimated that such recommendations were necessary. The speaker said the amendment sought to override a ruling he gave some time ago. He further declared Senator Thompson's amendment was out of order. Senator Thompson appealed from the ruling, which the senate decided not to sustain.

ELOPED FROM ENGLAND; WILL BE DEPORTED

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

TORONTO, Jan. 31.—O. G. King, who hails from Edinburgh, Scotland, will leave for that city as soon as the immigration authorities have decided to deport him. King came to Toronto with a woman whom he claimed as his wife. Lately the local police were asked to serve papers on him of notice of divorce proceedings against him in Edinburgh started by his wife, who claims that he deserted her and left her penniless. The Toronto police investigated, with the result that they have recommended deportation. In the papers the police have, it is alleged that the man absconded with $1900.

Active Preparations to Resume Hostilities

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Jan. 31.—The Balkan allies and the Turks are making active preparations to resume hostilities in southeastern Europe. The delegates of the allies to the peace conference here are saying farewell and packing their baggage preparatory to departing from London. A news agency despatch received here today from Constantinople reported that the Turkish delegates had been ordered home but the command has not yet been received here. It seems that only the good offices of the powers can avert a further resort to arms but thus far these apparently have failed.

Even at this late hour each side to the dispute is accusing the other of bluffing. The Turks declare that in their note to the powers on Thursday the allies were given greater concessions as a basis for resuming the peace negotiations than they had expected to be made them at the commencement of the conference. The allies practically admit this, but they say what would have been acceptable even a fortnight ago can not now be entertained and that the Turkish game obviously was to lead them by the nose for months counting on the allies' financial exhaustion and hoping that complications will arise to favor Turkey. Dr. Daneff, head of the Bulgarian delegation, said today that the feelings of the Balkan population must be considered. Excitement among them, he declared, had reached the highest degree against their "fraudulent treatment" by a handful of Young Turk conspirators, who had attempted to play with the decision of Europe and the honor, prestige and lives of the Balkan people.

Wednesday, January 22, was the 12th anniversary of the death of Queen Victoria and on that day the royal mausoleum was visited by their majesties and most of the members of the royal family, and man of the general public who were admitted by tickets during the afternoon.

Death of a Peer

The death has occurred of the Duke of Abercorn, one of the three members of the British peerage, who had the distinction of being a peer in each of the three kingdoms of England, Scotland and Ireland. He was the holder of seventeen titles, including the French dukedom of Chatelherault. He sat in the house of commons as leader of the North of Ireland Unionists for 20 years, while known as the Marquis of Hamilton, and on succeeding his father in 1885 to the dukedom took his seat in the house of lords. He occupied many of the most important positions in the royal household and was one of King Edward's most intimate friends, both before and after his accession. The chairmanship of the Chartered Company of South Africa was the greatest of his business enterprises, during which he did much with Cecil Rhodes to foster the great imperialistic policy. The duke died in his 75th year at his London residence and is succeeded by his eldest son, the Marquis of Hamilton, M. P., for the city of Londonderry.

National Memorial

A committee, the first four members of which are Lord Haldane of Cloan, the Marquis of Lansdowne, Lord Roberts, V. C., and Admiral Lord Beresford, at once stamps it as connected with a cause of national interest. Such a committee has just been appointed with the lord mayor of London, Baron Rothschild and Lord Revelstoke as hon. treasurers to raise a suitable national memorial to the late field marshal, Sir George White, "the man who kept the flag flying at Ladysmith, South Africa." The late field marshal was on the active list of the British army for the long period of 59 years, and took leading parts in the seven campaigns from the Indian Mutiny to the last South African war. A memorial to one of England's great soldiers who had fought in many lands will probably be supported by Britishers in all parts of the empire.

A Record

In all probability before the present year comes to an end there will be by far the largest number of battleships in course of construction ever known in Great Britain. There were at the commencement of 1913, 12 British battleships being built. Mr. Churchill is pledged to lay down six more during the year and if the three from Canada and one from the Malay States are added, a total of 22 firstclass battleships all in course of construction is found to exist. In addition, six firstclass ships are being built in Great Britain for foreign powers.

Invention Revolutionized Traffic

Probably few people who have made use of or enjoyed the pneumatic tyre either on motor car, carriage or bicycle, have ever heard of the name of its inventor. In the days of the solid and cushion rubber tyres R. T. McCredy, an Irish cyclist, invented and used, but did not patent his air cushion tyre, and what only 30 to 40 years ago seemed to effect the comfort of a few cyclists has been the cause of the adoption of all motor road traction and without its use the aeroplane could not make a safe landing after a flight. A few days ago McCredy celebrated his silver wedding at Dublin, a numerously attended gathering from all parts of Great Britain honored the inventor. Lord Northcliffe presided and in presenting him with handsome and valuable souvenirs of the occasion said it was very difficult to realize what Mr. McCredy's invention had done for the happiness and benefit of people throughout the world.

Underground Railway 50 Years Old

It is difficult to realize that only a few days over 50 years ago there was no such thing in the world as an underground railway line. It was on January 10, 1863, that the first section of London's Underground railway, extending from Paddington to Farringdon street city was opened for public service, and proved that what had previously been considered insurmountable difficulties had become ordinary engineering feats. The arrangements were somewhat primitive, the first-class carriages had roofs and were lighted with oil lamps and the third-class carriages consisted of pen trucks with boards for seats. In 1863: steam driven trains every ten minutes. Fares, 1st class, 12 cents; 3d class, six cents. Passengers in first 12 months, 9,500,000. In 1913: Electric driven and lighted trains, 30 each way per hour. Fares 1st class, four cents, 3d class, 2 cents. Number of passengers carried in 12 months of 1912, 101,000,000. The Metropolitan railway was also the first railway company to light their trains by gas lamps, to adopt the block system of signalling and, what will seem more surprising to many of the younger travelers they were the first company to allow smoking on any trains, for which they first set apart two or three compartments in each train, up till about 1870 smoking was strictly prohibited in all railway stations and platforms and in all trains.

General News Items

There are just over 500 vessels which are registered as belonging to the port of Cardiff in South Wales and from figures just issued for the year 1912, owing to the extraordinary demand and high freight rates the ship owners have been making large fortunes, it is stated that the 500 vessels have cleared a profit of nearly $25,000,000 in the 12 months.

Rev. J. H. Ellis, formerly rector of Stockton, a village in Wiltshire, has left his fortune of $600,000 (subject to his wife's interest for her life), to be divided between the Bishop of London fund, the St. Alban's fund, the East London Church fund and the University of Cambridge.

The most coveted war decoration, the Victoria Cross, to be found in the possession of men in almost every walk of life, but the funeral of a taxicab driver, V. C., has a peculiar sound about it. Private Hitch, who won his V. C. for his service in the heroic defence of Bork's Drift in the Zulu war in 1870, when 100 men of the gallant 24th (now known as the 24th South Wales Borderers) successfully opposed 4000 Zulus. He died a few days ago and was accorded full military honors at his funeral, which took place at Chiswick, a large number of taxicabs were driven in the funeral procession as a mark of respect to the heroic driver.

A remarkable price has recently been paid for a miniature black Pomeranian dog, which was the property of Mrs. Bowler of Purley, Surrey. It had won six championships in England and was takin all the best prizes in this season's American shows. The dog weighed three pounds and was sold for $5,000, which works out at just about $1.50 per ounce.

Football

A football tour that will be handed down as the greatest in the history of Rugby football has just been brought to a close, the final game being played at Twickenham near London in the presence of nearly 50,000 spectators, against the combined strength of the whole of England, and resulted in a win for the South African team by one try and two penalty goals—9 points, to England, 1 try—3 points. "The Springboks" have, since they arrived in England from South Africa, played 26 of the strongest combinations that could be formed in England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales, and have won 23 and lost three of the matches. The points scored by the Springboks in the 26 matches totalled up to 403, while only 96 were scored against them. They won all four of what are known as the International *games with teams representing Eng*land, Scotland, Ireland and Wales, and the three teams that were fortunate enough to beat them were London, Newport and Swansea and on these three games the margin of points in their favor amounted only to 11.

NEGRO MARRIES WHITE CHILD

Minister Ought to be Tarred and Feathered—Georgia Representative Denounces Law

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—In a speech which received the close attention of the house yesterday, Mr. Rodenberry of Georgia, deplored intermarriage between the white and negro races and denounced the white minister who recently married a Chicago negro, 42 years of age, to a white girl of 16 years. The Georgia member said that such occurrences sometimes tempt men too much. Waving a copy of the marriage certificate in this case he shouted: "My God! that the laws of any civilized state should permit a bestial brute to have sanctioned by law his wedlock to such a child."

Mr. Rodenberry who recently stirred the house with a denunciation of the marriage between Jack Johnson and a white woman, today said that another case even more "disgraceful had come under his notice." He referred to the marriage at Niles, Mich., of George F. Thompson, a negro, and Helen E. Hanson, a white girl both of Chicago. The ceremony he said, had been performed by Charles Ager, "a minister of the gospel—a white minister at that—who incidentally ought to be tarred and feathered and sent into exile.

"This girl is the only daughter of a widow, who conducted a grocery store," the Georgian said. "According to the newspapers, she helped her mother around the store when not attending school. She wears her hair done in a braid, and also wears short dresses."

Mr. Rodenberry declared the reported manner in which the negro had "bought the child candy," finally persuading her to go with him to the home of a negro friend, where she was kept all night.

"She took with her the doll the negro had bought," exclaimed Mr. Rodenberry with clenched fists." Think of it! A 42-year-old negro can take a child of this age to a negro home, keep her all night, then wed her—to escape the violence of the brave men of the city." The negro, he said, was arrested after the marriage and the girl was now apparently in a dying condition, while Thompson was held for abduction.

Hinting strongly at more summary punishment, the Georgia member said: "You may understand it, gentlemen, but it passes my comprehension that the black brute who abducted this child, bound her in wedlock, and after outraging her, left her dying in a negro home, could ever find lodgment in a mere jail or confinement in police barracks. As abhorrent as mob law is, men who are human can be tempted beyond endurance.

"I appeal for the laws of the state to prevent this danger and outrage Let the people of the States pray their legislators to prevent our weak, helpless women from becoming victims of such brutality and repulsive legal marriages, which cannot but impair our civilization and lead finally to violence and vengeance which lovers of law and order must deplore.

"If the state does not act," he concluded, "I suggest to this house that it will be well to pass my bill making illegal such intermarriage."

ARBITRARY POWER FOR COMMITTEE

Proposal That Members of Unions Should Not be Consulted Before Ordering Strike

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Jan. 31.—The Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants, the General Railway Workers union, the Pointsmen and Signalmen's society ,have put forward a scheme. They *propose to set up an executive com*mittee of 24 members in whose hands absolute power will be vested. This council will not only be entitled to declare a general railway strike, but will be permitted to call out all railway employes without first taking a ballot of them or consulting them in any way. The scheme in effect will give the executive life and death powers over the whole trade and commerce and social life of the country, and deliver the rank and file into the hands of a labor boss. It is possible that the railway men, in appreciating this fact, will refuse to ratify the scheme which has been submitted to conferences of the three unions concerned. This scheme, to all intents and purposes, will nullify the whole existing procedure for discussing hours of work, wages and conditions of development generally under the conciliation boards which were established in 1907 and whose work was indorsed by the royal commission which was appointed after the strike of 1911.

FIREMEN ARE IMPLICATED IN ARSON TRUST

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—Several firemen today were implicated as members of the arson trust by an informer who was interrogated at the states attorney's office. This is the first suggestion of collaboration between firemen and members of the ring. According to the information firemen were pad to designate the location of fires so that the work of the public fire insurance adjusters who worked in conjunction with "torch bearers" and other members of the trust, might be expedited.

It is said that several firemen will be called to the states attorney's office within the next few days and be interrogated.

SUFFRAGETTE WANTS TO INTERVIEW KING

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Jan. 31.—A remarkable feature of the case heard at Lambeth yesterday against a suffragette was a statement by the defendant. She declared her intention of attempting to have an interview with the King. The woman broke windows at Lambeth palace, the residence of the Archbishop of Canterbury, but the archbishop refused to appear against her, saying it would only assist her to gain notoriety.

LION AND LEOPARD IN BALL ROOM

Princess Makes Sensational Entrance —Drives Roman Chariot onto Floor Guests Prepare to Flee

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Jan. 31.—A despatch to the Daily News from Rome says: A great sensation was caused at yesterdays' skating ball at one of principal hotels here when the Princess Albert Radziwill, a prominent society leader, formerly Miss Dorothy Deacon of New York, entered the crowded ball room seated in an ancient Roman chariot, decorated with flowers and illuminated with electricity. She was drawn by a team of prancing horses which the princess drove with one hand, while with the other she led a lion and a leopard chained together.

"Despite the attendance of a lion tamer armed with a whip and a revolver, the wild beasts were very restive and caused the frightened horses to shy several times, while the amazed and alarmed guests crowded around in the doorways ready to seek safety in flight.

"After a great deal of difficulty the princess managed to drive the chariot into the centre of the ball room. The tamer kept the beasts under control, but the guests were required not to applaud is the beasts get out of hand through a panic. With equal difficulty the princess left the ball room with her dangerous escort."

ROLLS IN SNOW TO EXTINGUISH FLAMES

(Special to The Daily News.)

CRANBROOK, B. C., Jan. 31.—While filling the tank of the type setting machine in the Prospector office at 11.30 tonight the gasoline caught fire from the burning generator below the machines. T. Turpin received severe finger burns, and he only extinguished the fire on his clothes by rolling in the snow. The fact that the fire hall was only a couple of hundred yards away and the type-setting machine sitting at a large window just off the street, thus affording the firemen an excellent chance to work, is no doubt what saved the building and plant.

The tin which the operator was filling the smaller tank contained several gallons of gasoline and had this exploded the entire contents and building, and most likely the group of frame buildings of which the Prospector is the centre would without a doubt have been destroyed. As it is the damage will not exceed $50 and the publication of their Saturday paper will not be delayed.

Fire Chief Foster has had six calls this month, which is a quarter of the calls he had all last year. This morning his services were required at a chimney fire at the residence of J. L. Walker.

REGINA MURDER TRIAL WILL BE SENSATIONAL

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

REGINA, Sask., Jan. 31.—No trial of recent years has excited greater local interest than that which will open tomorrow in the supreme court before Chief Justice Haultain, when Mrs. Amy Warwick, aged 22 years, will stand trial on the charge of complicity in the murder of her husband, whose battered body was found in the stable of his farm one day last fall. The trial is expected to largely hinge upon the admissibility of the evidence given at the coroner's inquest, when Mrs. Warwick confessed to having conspired with the man Price, to marry Warwick, that she might get his property after he had been put out of the way by Price. Price committed suicide when the investigation into the death of Warwick was first instituted. CASTRO GIVEN WEEK OF FREEDOM

Drives to Hotel, Has Drink and Goes to Bed—Found Real Judge.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—The right to go and come a free man through the streets of New York was the possession of Gen. Cipriano Castro, but instead of exercising the privilege he went to bed. Released under $500 bail pending argument on a writ of habeas corpus from his month of confinement at Ellis Island, Castro made for an uptown hotel, engaged a luxurious suite of rooms and shut himself in. He sent out word that he was "having some lemonade" and intended to retire immediately. The little general, whose announced purpose in coming to this country was to "see the sights," scarcely looked out of the window of the taxicab which drove him to his hotel. The only object of interest that he took notice of was the Washington arch.

"May George Washington's mantle descend upon us," said Castro in Spanish as his cab whizzed under the arch.

General Castro's week of freedom was granted by Judge Holt after it had been agreed to postpone argument on the writ for one week.

"Justice has prevailed," said Castro when he was told that Judge Holt would release him on bail. "I was looking for a real judge who would give me justice and at last found one."

With smiles wreathing his bearded face the general, attired in a fur coat, silk hat and doeskin gloves, posed for photographers as soon as he reached Broadway a free man.

"This is an event upon which I can congratulate myself," he said. "Some people tried to sow discord between this country and Venezuela, but they have failed. When the Latin American republics learn that I have found a just judge in the United States it will be a matter of satisfaction to every one of them."

He referred to his release as a "triumph of liberty."

"The statue of Liberty will burn brighter after this," he said. "I wish happiness to the United States and I wish happiness to Venezuela. I wish them both to be united in bonds of equity, justice and mutual prosperity."

Castro did not think the United States should fortify the Panama canal.

OBJECTS TO AMALGAMATION OF TRUST COMPANIES

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

OTTAWA, Jan. 31.—When the bill to incorporate the Canada Permanent Trusts company was being considered this morning in the banking and commerce committee, David Henderson, member for Halton, took objection to a clause of the bill, permitting amalgamation with another company and was assured that the matter which he feared was all right. This, however, did not satisfy him.

"They do things in such a loose way," he said, "you should not follow the high-handed Sir James Whitney plan without any regard to personal interest. Up in Toronto they rob the people."

"You don't mean to say that Sir James Whitney would do such a thing?" asked an astonished member.

"Yes, they do things in a high-handed way. I speak from personal knowledge," retorted Mr. Henderson.

"There is nothing to compel one company to take over another," explained a member, this being the point under discussion.

"That may be the Toronto regulation," replied Mr. Henderson. "The trouble is they do not do it. It is hard for a private individual to fight a government. It is almost impossible. What do you say, Mr. Minister?" addressing Hon. W. T. White.

Mr. White explained that when one company purchased another the con*sent of both companies should be re* quired. The law demanded that there should be a meeting of the shareholders of both companies. This did not satisfy Mr. Henderson.

"I quite agree," he said, "with what you say should be done, but they ignore all that in Toronto. There should be some clause in the act to put a man in jail if he does such a thing."

What Salt Do You Use?

Few of us realize how much salt we eat. Food without Salt would not keep us alive—in fact we would quickly starve to death on food that contained no salt. The fact that we put salt on all meats and vegetables—in bread, cake and pastry—soups and sauces—butter and cheese—goes to show the importance of using an absolutely pure Salt.

Salt in its natural state is impure. By our method of treating brine, and by evaporation, we are able to remove this impurity, the most dangerous ingredients being gypsum, sulphite of lime or plaster of paris.

WINDSOR SALT

is made in the most modern Plant in America, equipped with the latest special machinery for refining to the highest degree of Purity. There's nothing in it but salt—just PURE CLEAN SALT.

BIG GAME HUNTER HAD THRILLING ADVENTURES

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—D. L. Gillespie, a contractor of Victoria, B. C., a passenger on the Hamburg-American liner President Lincoln arriving yesterday from Hamburg, spent 18 months hunting big game in Africa. With him was his cousin, Miss Amy Spiller and her friend, Miss Ruth Lecrom, both of London. They are going big game hunting in the Canadian Rockies. Mr. Gillespie's most thrilling adventure in Africa, he said, was being chased by a zebra, which ran him up a tree. A native armed with a club rescued him. A lion, he thought he had killed, suddenly came to life, and with a sweep of its paw, knocked down the contractor and chewed away on Gillespie's shoulder until the bullet the hunter had put into it did its work.

BANK ACT BEFORE PARLIAMENT.

Canada has reason to congratulate herself upon the independent tone with which the house of commons discusses the Bank act, says the Ottawa Journal. Although the amendments proposed to the present act are put forward by the minister of finance, Conservative members were to the fore with considerable criticism. There was also a wealth of suggestion and much knowledge of finance was shown by all those who participated in the debate, or rather discussion.

Mr. W. F. Maclean, M.P., of South York, deserves much credit for the vigorous spirit which he injected into the discussion, and also Mr. S. Sharpe, of Ontario South. Both these members, especially the latter, are usually supporters of the government's measures. It is apparent also, that the lines are not being too tightly drawn in the Conservative party in power when there develops so openly an attitude of conscientious criticism among its followers in the house as was apparent in this debate.

Some of the suggestions made were as follows: Prohibition of bank mergers except by act of parliament, establishment of small banks to do local business, government inspection of banks, prohibition of the interlocking of directorates, establishment of a national bank to control note issue, appointment of a monetary commission to investigate the banking problem with another revision to follow that report, the making of the management of the post office savings banks more elastic in order to secure more public deposits and the establishment of some guarantee of deposits.

It is apparent that the amendments to the Bank act will be exhaustively discussed in committee, and changes are not improbable. As the attitude of members of parliament no doubt reflects the attitude of their constituents it is likely that bank failures in recent times, and the increasing industrial activity have awakened more attention than formerly to financial legislation, which fact the government should keep in view.

This Day in Canadian History

After every other man concerned in the rebellion of 1837 had been allowed to return home, William Lyon Mackenzie still remained an outlawed exile in the United States, because, it was said, the English ministry believed that "the origin of the rebellion was due to him." But he had a good friend in England in Joseph Hume, an untiring laborer in many directions, and an untiring foe to special privileges. Writing to Mackenzie in 1848 Hume stated that though he had "condemned the attempt at revolution," he could not forget Mackenzie's endeavors to put an end quietly and in a constitutional way to the misrule and consequent discontent in Upper Canada. Therefore, he had six times applied to the British ministers to grant a general amnesty to all political offenders in Canada, and at last had obtained a promise that any resolution from the Canadian government on Mackenzie's behalf would be received favorably. Finally, urged by Hume and others, the Canadian government originated a measure for the complete amnesty desired. This passed unanimously through both houses, and received the assent of Lord Elgin, representing the Queen, on Feb. 1, 1849. On Mackenzie's arrival in Toronto, however, there was a Tory riot.

COMMUNICATION

FROM THE MINISTERS

To the Editor of the Daily News:

Dear Sir: The members of the Ministerial association ask the favor of space to make the following statement.

While accepting with regret the decision of the majority of voters as expressed in the recent election, we would emphasize the fact that this decision must be regarded not as the definite settlement of a moral issue, but simply as the present expression of a local public opinion.

To those electors who supported the principle of law enforcement we would express our appreciation, assuring them that the moral issue will not be lost sight of, but that it will be forwarded by all reasonable and legitimate means.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA'S EXAMPLE

To the Editor of The Daily News:

Sir: Naturally as an agriculturist I am very glad to see in your issue of the 25th that an attempt is being made to impress on the government the necessity of a central distributing agency for the marketing of the produce of the province.

The British Columbia government might with advantage take a leaf from the methods employed by the South Australian government in this connection. The latter not only settles the settler on his land and gives him exceptional advantages in moving his belongings, but undertakes to irrigate his land—sends experts to advise him, arranging, if desired, for labor, places his produce in cold storage, ships it to the best market, sells it for him, and after deducting all necessary expenses, which are far less than if the settler tried to do these things himself, hands him the usrplus profits. It goes farther, if a settler desires to acquire more land or additional money to develop what he already has, the government lends him the money to do so at four per cent. Now, if the South Australian government can do these things, there is no reason in the world why the British Columbia government should not do the same. At present we are at sixes and sevens, and owing to heavy freights and unfair competition, the agriculturist is in a bad way.

I personally, and no doubt, many others, have suffered heavy losses this past year owing to my inability to market my produce and it behooves the British Columbia government to seriously consider its responsibilities towards the agriculturists of this province, as the individual who makes two cars of corn grow, where one grew before, deserves every support.

a permanent naval policy. The emergency which the government had tried to prove exists had evidently been tied to the tail of a kite and had blown out of sight. As for the Liberals, they believe that there is no emergency. It was absurd to think that the German people, numbering 65,000,000, could defeat the British people, numbering 400,000,000. The duty of Canadians is not to vote a contribution but to defend our own people and our own territory. Mr. Devlin went on to argue that Canadians are quite capable of building and maintaining their own navy.

Favors Conscription

W. F. Maclean of South York combatted the proposal of some westerners for a referendum on the subject of the navy, claiming that there was no constitutional provision for it and that the safety of the national was in keeping of parliament. He did not regard the naval policy as a temporary policy, but as absolutely permanent.

"What kind of a permanent policy?" asked Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux.

"A permanent policy is this: It is a confession for the first time of the people of Canada as to their responsibility to take part in the defence of empire and to contribute to that end. It is the beginning of a permanent policy that will be continued from this time. I absolutely believe in the Canadian navy because it is essential for the country. I believe we can build and man a navy and that Canada is to be one of the greatest shipbuilding countries on the continent. I voted for the policy of the late government and I have not changed my mind. I wish to see the beginning of a great navy. I would go further and say that I am in favor of national conscription because if you believe in the defence of your country you must be prepared to man your ships. I would undertake the responsibility of organizing your Canada youth so that they will go to the defence of their country in the navy and there will be no trouble about it. It has to be done in the right way and would involve spending no money for training schools and may involve some kind of conscription."

Mr. Maclean urged that the building of the Panama canal made still greater the need of Canada having sea power. The value of the present vote was not that it was $35,000,000, or that it represented three dreadnoughts, but that it was a declaration of faith before the world that Canada was with the motherland. He appealed to the opposition to get together with the government, make the vote unanimous and show that the people of Canada were prepared to give their money and ships and men in defence of the empire and their own country.

Hon. Dr. Beland, continuing the debate, said that it was reported that the government did not propose to put up any more speakers. It was understood that the government had gone through a weak spell recently, but this was the first intimation that it was paralyzed. Mr. Maclean had asked the house to become one opinion. Well, the house was all of one opinion at one time. The Liberals are still of that opinion ,and it was only necessary for the Conservatives to make another change in order to make it unanimous.

New Westminster Harbor.

In committee on J. D. Taylor's bill to incorporate the New Westminster harbor measures the promoter of the bill pointed out that it is planned to transfer the control and management of the harbor council to the new board. He said that it was planned to spend large sums of money on the harbor to make it capable of accommodating not only the traffic of today, but what the future years will bring, and on this the minister of marine made a statement. He said that the law concerning foreshores is that in those harbors that were public harbors at confederation the foreshore rights are vested in the crown through the governor-general, but in those harbors created since confederation the foreshore rights are vested in the crown through the provinces. It was not clear, however, as to what might be regarded as a public harbor at confederation, whether one which was then used by ships or one that was then capable of being used by ships if improved. As to New Westminster, it was clearly a public harbor at confederation and its foreshore rights were vested in the crown as represented by parliament. Under the common law those who have foreshore rights are those who have the riparian rights. He said that the custom is to grant foreshore rights only on joint report and recommendation of the minister of marine and the minister of public works. The practice had been in the case of municipalities to give the foreshore rights at a nominal figure, but where they were sought by private parties to rent them and for the governor in council to fix the rental. Each case was considered on its own merits, and the practice that was being pursued at present was not to give claims, but instead leases of 21 years with two possible renewals of 21 years each, but the rentals could be re-arranged on the occasion of the renewals, and if there was dispute the exchequer court settled it. He said that there were many applications before the department for foreshore rights, many of these rights having greatly enhanced in value during past years. The department was endeavoring to have them all dealt with as quickly as possible.

Forestry Column

A letter has been received at the Forest branch from a noted professor in the University of Edinburgh, Scotland, who is desirous of having a full set of photographs and lantern slides to illustrate a course of lectures in forest administration in the principal countries of the world. The young men in Europe who are going into forestry work are becoming deeply interested in the development of forest policy in Canada, and in particular in British Columbia, which contains half the timber in the whole Dominion. There is no doubt that within a short time this province will be the principal source of timber within the empire, and as protective and other measures are advanced the system of administration will partake of the thoroughness seen in India, where since, the inauguration of the forest service by Sir Dietrich Brandis, a marvellous system has made tree crop production an advanced science. There was expended in India last year about $5,000,000, but this was returned with $3,000,000 profit. The expenditure in British Columbia last year on provincial forests was about $280,000, or one eighteenth of the amount spent in India, while the returns to the crown were $2,800,000. British Columbia's forests are likely to produce $6,500,000 annual revenue, according to Mr. Benedict of the forest branch.

The realization of the importance of British Columbia forests to the British Empire is spreading through all the homeland and the colonies, and augurs well for future prosperity of this province.

One of the principal matters which will engage the attention of the Canadian Forestry association which will hold its annual meeting in Ottawa on February 5, will be the proposal of Thomas Southworth of Toronto to extend the educational and publicity functions of the association along new lines. Mr. Southworth suggests certain changes in financial arrangements which will allow an additional $2000 to be expended annually. Mr. Southworth, who was one of the founders of the association and president in 1909, and has always striven earnestly to advance its interests. He believes that the time has come for a very rapid advance in matters of forest conservation. He states that Ontario offers immense field for the educational influence of the association, to aid in the prevention of such fires as the Porcupine fire of two years ago, which utterly devastated the new mining community, and caused loss of life.

Whatever the change made in the activities of the association they will be for the immediate extension of the good influence which it has wielded for the twelve years of its existence.

Says Mr. Southworth: "The association should arouse the opinion in Canada which will make such laws as have been passed fully operative, and create a sentiment in favor of new legislation on the matter of fire protection. To my mind there is no point as important, and I trust that the public will strongly support the association in its efforts to promote more judicious care of our forest resources."

Among those who will attend are the most prominent lumbermen, legislators and financial men in the country. John Hendry, of Vancouver, the president of the association, has not yet been able to determine whether press of business affairs will allow him to take the long trip to Ottawa.

In the call of the meeting James Lawler, the energetic secretary, observes:

"There are indications that conditions never were more favorable for renewed activity, and that the association can do more than ever in promoting the interest to which it has set itself."

FRANCE WATCHES MURDER TRIAL

Wife Accused of Having Caused Assassination of Husband—Supposed Murderers of Good Family.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

PARIS, Jan. 31.—Mme. Clerc was put on trial yesterday at Versailles charged with the murder of her husband, August Clerc, a designer of ornaments. The woman is accused of having caused the assassination of M. Clerc. The case caused a great sensation throughout France last June, and the trial, owing partly to the eminence of counsel, is expected to prove a criminal cause celebre. There was a great throng in court when proceedings opened and the interest appears scarcely less than was manifested by the public in the Steinhal case.

Henri Robert is defending Mme. Clerc, and to that fact the woman's friends pin their hope of her acquittal on account of the same good fortune having befallen half a dozen other alleged murderers whom he defended.

Clerc was shot as he and his wife were about to enter their villa at Sevres on their return from the theatre. The bullet came from the bushes near the house. Suspicion fell on two acquaintances of Mme. Clerc named Parrat and Nollett and they were arrested. The police then developed the charge that these two men had shot M. Clerc following instruction from his wife. It is alleged that she had been heard to express the wish that she might be freed of her husband on account of brutality and avarice. A further motive, the police alleged is that Mme. Clerc coveted $5000 which her husband had accumulated by his parsimony.

Mme. Clerc, who is 46, is the daughter of a French army officer. She conducts a girls' school and she lets rooms to lodgers. Parrat was a lodger. He went there to stay, it is said, two days before the shooting. The police charge that Mme. Clerc supplied the money for the pistol and that Nollett bought the weapon and turned it over to Parrat, who is accused of the actual shooting. It is charged that Mme. Clerc purposely delayed summoning help to her husband in order to make sure of his death. No doctor was called until four hours after the shooting. He was summoned by a neighbor, who also brought a policeman. The last-named man asserts that he found Clerc unattended and near death with six bullet holes in his intestines. Clerc, according to the police commissioner, was too far gone to talk, but could still manage to handle a pencil and write: "I have enemies in my household. Make inquiry. This is a premeditated murder by someone near me. My wife saw someone run away, but said nothing."

The writing ended abruptly, the pencil falling from Clerc's hand as heart failure seized him. Parrat and Nollett are of good families, but the police allege are idle and dissolute, the former having been in an insane asylum.

RATTLING WINDOWS AND FIRE BALLS

Every little while a general sudden and brief rattling of loose things about houses—windows, doors, shutters and the like—is noticed in certain regions, when there is no wind to account for it. Often the phenomenon is attributed to very slight earthquake shocks, but it will frequently be found after such occurrences that the most delicate seismographs have recorded no earth tremors. W. F. Denning has suggested a curious explanation in the Westminster Gazette, which has at least one advantage, viz.: it cannot be disproved. These rattlings, he thinks, are caused by the explosion of fireballs high up in the atmosphere. In the recent case in the neighborhood of Sunninghill, in England, which occurred on November 19, Mr. Denning sees corroboration of his theory in the fact that "the period from November 19 to 23 is well known astronomically for its abundance of detonating fire balls."

WHAT A REAL TONIC WILL DO

Strikes at the Root of Disease and Gives New Health

If you look in your dictionary you will find the word "tonic" defined as "a medicine that increases the strength and vigor of the system." That tells why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a real tonic. Thousands of men and women are ailing today, not sick in bed, but without strength and ambition, utterly tired out after a day's work. No one organ seems to be at fault, yet the whole system is lacking in health. They do not sleep well and are always tired and nervous, many have headaches, backaches and stomach trouble. All these people need the tonic help of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The beneficial influence of this medicine reaches the whole system. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do more than relieve the symptoms, they actually remove the cause of the trouble. The case of Mrs. J. H. Sharpe, London, Ont., is one in proof of the above statements. Mrs. Sharpe says: 'I was so run down and weak that life was a burden. The least exertion would exhaust me so greatly that I could hardly breathe. If going up stairs, I would have to rest several minutes when I reached the top. My heart would palpitate until I felt as if it would choke me. I was extremely nervous, in fact a complete wreck, and would sometimes have to remain in bed for a couple of days or more at a time. I found no help from medicine until I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and my experience with them was that they made a complete cure. I gained in weight and my friends tell me I look younger than I did ten years ago—I know I certainly feel younger. I feel sure that what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me they will do to other women if given a fair chance."

If you are at all unwell do not fail to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and you will find new health and strength. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Ruby Apples

½ cup Welch's Grape Juice, ½ cup water, 1 cup granulated sugar 8 tart apples, 15 almonds.

Cook sugar and water three minutes; add grape juice and cook two minutes. Use a saucepan not very large around, that syrup may come up well around the apples. Divide syrup, using two dishes. Put in apples (pared and cored), four in each dish. Simmer gently, turning frequently that they may be evenly colored. When just tender, remove from fire (if overcooked they lose their shape). Arrange apples in rather deep serving dish and pour syrup around.

Blanch the almonds and cut into small strips, lengthwise. Thrust them into sides of apples, allowing them to protrude about one-quarter inch. When cool, syrup will form a jelly. The gleaming white almond tips against the ruby red apples lend a pleasing touch to this rich, delicious and wholesome dessert. A "cup" of whipped cream may be added if desired.

PREPARATIONS TO RESUME HOSTILITIES

Adrianople, Dr. Daneff said, was inadmissible. The Italians, he declared, made concessions to the papacy after they had taken possession of Rome. In case Adrianople was vanquished, who would try to impose conditions, he asked. In addition Dr. Daneff continued, the vatican was the residence of the pope and contained the tombs of the apostles and former popes, while Adrianople with the exception of its mosques had nothing absolutely vital to the Mussulmans. Dr. Daneff repeated that nothing could stop a reopening of war except the unconditional surrender of Adrianople and the Aegean islands.

The Servian delegates today bade farewell to Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign minister. Slogan Novakovitch, head of the delegation, told Sir Edward that he considered a renewal of the war inevitable as the Bulgarians would not be satisfied with anything short of the surrender of Adrianople.

M. Novakovitch said to the Associated Press that he did not believe any interference with the allies was possible.

War on Monday.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Jan. 31.—War will be resumed at seven o'clock on Monday evening. Such, at any rate, was the last word of the Balkan allies last night. Turkey's attempt at compromise as detailed in her reply to the powers has proved unacceptable and a denunciation has been made. That the operation of the allies is meant to be in deadly earnest is evident from the announcement that no foreign military attaches or war correspondents will be allowed in the field. On the other hand, it is reported that the Turkish army seems in no fit condition to offer serious resistance.

A Constantinople dispatch via Paris states that 42 officers have been killed or wounded and 170 wounded in riots resulting from the Young Turks murder of Nazim Pasha. The ambassadors conference in London meets today (Friday) to consider Turkey's reply, but little is hoped for in a way of prevention of hostilities. The powers task is the even more responsible one of checking any tendency of the war area to spread, a process which, if once begun, might easily involve all Europe.

Another serious aspect of the situation is the jealousy existing between Bulgaria and Greece. King George of Greece has established himself at Saloniki which Greece intends to retain at all costs.

GREATEST LIVING ATHLETE SECURED BY GIANTS

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—James Thorpe, called by the King of Sweden "the greatest living athlete," recently declared a professional, accepted a contract today to play baseball with the New York National league club. He will report to Manager McGraw on February 16 and will go to Marlin to train with the rest of the team. This announcement was made at the office of the club this afternoon. John B. Foster, secretary of the club, issued this statement today: "I received a telegram this afternoon from Thorpe saying that he accepted the contract we offered him. The telegram added that Thorpe would come to New York with the contract and would formally sign it tomorrow afternoon."

Mr. Foster declined to say what salary had been offered the Indian. It is understood, however, that Thorpe will be paid approximately $7,500 a year.

INVESTMENT POSSIBILITIES OF PORT EDWARD—PRINCE RUPERT'S INDUSTRIAL ANNEX.

Interesting information often develops from unexpected sources. A discussion arose the other day in a local hotel as to which western Canadian city had paid to investors in its real estate the highest percentage of profits. Saskatoon, Winnipeg, Vancouver, Calgary and other well known centres of wonderful growth and development were referred to, and the argument was waxing warm when a man from Prince Rupert broke in:

"I'm no authority on the values of western Canadian real estate in general," he said, "but I will say this: that if any other city pays as handsome profits as Prince Rupert has paid, I want to get an early tip on its location. I've been in Rupert pretty well ever since it began, and the way values have risen then and the way they are still rising would surprise the world if the world only knew. I know that I am really very conservative when I tell you that the average percentage of increase on the money invested in Prince Rupert since the city began is well over 300 per cent.

"Now, I'm giving you facts of which I know and which I can prove if necessary. At the Grand Trunk sale of Rupert lots in Section Two in November, 1911, a little syndicate bought lots to the extent of $8,000, paying only $2,000 cash of the deal. About a year later, after refusing many other offers, the syndicate let go and cleaned up just exactly 350 per cent. profit.

"Here's another one (here the Rupert man pulled forth a notebook), but don't you get the idea that these are isolated cases. They are just ordinary ones, but I quote them because I happen to know that the facts are right. Here's a deal in Section Six. In the first place—in those lucky early days—lots one and two in block 28 were sold to a Mr. G. I. Wilson for $450. The same lots were sold in November, 1912, for just $16,000 cash.

"Lots 18 and 19 in Block 34 were bought in September, 1911, by a Victoria man for $14,500. He had paid only $5,000 on the deal when in August, 1912, the lots were sold for $32,000.

"Lots 15 and 16 in Block 10 were bought at the original sale by a Mr. J. C. McLennan for $5,000. He paid in cash only $1,250 when the lots were sold in December last for $58,000."

The Rupert man's actual instances set the group talking of the Pacific terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific railroad, and it was generally agreed that, with rich and fertile empire of northern interior valleys to back it the facilities offered by a great transcontinental railroad, with the easiest grade known to serve it, and the incentive that the opening of the Panama canal will give to Pacific coast business to encourage it, Prince Rupert will, unquestionably, develop into a great sea port in a comparatively short space of time. There is every reason, say those who have visited the Grand Trunk Pacific terminus, to expect wonderful progress in Prince Rupert. Money will be made there because there will be an enormous demand for sites. The fact is that Prince Rupert will not be able to supply the demand for manufacturing and industrial sites because of the restrictions of the townsite. It is also known that owing to the requirements existing even at present it is impossible for intending manufacturers and others to acquire by lease or otherwise, water front locations in Prince Rupert harbor. It is this state of affairs that ensures the success of the splendid industrial annex that is now being developed adjacent to Prince Rupert Port Edward.

Port Edward supplies the water front sites and general industrial facilities that Prince Rupert cannot supply. Port Edward has one of the finest natural harbors on the coast. It has been laid out by expert engineers of wide experience, whose whole object was to provide for an industrial townsite that would, at the same time be desirable as a place of residence. They have succeeded remarkably well. The Prince Rupert Hydro-Electric Co., which controls the waterpowers tributary to Prince Rupert, has already chosen Port Edward as the industrial centre for Prince Rupert, and it is now establishing a temporary power plant at a cost of $182,000 which will provide power for Rupert and Port Edward until the waterpower is harnessed. Applications have already been received by the syndicate controlling Port Edward from other concerns anxious to secure sites at Port Edward. The industrial townsite is about 15 minutes by train from Prince Rupert and the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific runs through the town site along the waterfront. Satisfactory contracts have been made with the railway company, assuring the industrial centre of all service needed.

NEW YORK MOVEMENT HALTING AND IRREGULAR

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—There was no trace today of the bullish enthusiasm of yesterday in the stock market speculation and although a fair degree of strength developed in the fore part of the session the movement was on the whole halting and irregular. Reading, Union Pacific and Steel were marked up a point or more, but the list failed to hold its advantage. During the afternoon prices sagged back again, and changes on the day among the important stocks were small. American Can stock, which has been the chief feature, was active during the early part of the day, and the common rose to 46⅞, within a fraction of the high record of last fall. The unofficial announcement of a plan for paying off the accrued dividends of nearly 33 per cent in preferred stock through the issue of $15,000,000 15-year five per cent debenture bonds was followed by a sharp break, which bore down the common to 45 and the preferred from 129 to 124½. After the Can stocks touched the low points they became quiet and interest was on a much smaller scale.

MONTREAL MARKET IS DULL AND LISTLESS

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

MONTREAL, Jan. 31.—Spanish River and Montreal Power were the strong features among the active stocks here today, the former resuming its forward movement from 70¼ at the close Thursday, to a new high level of 71⅞, selling at its highest in the final dealings of the day and scoring a net gain of 1¾ points. Power, ex dividend 2¼, was in demand at both sessions. After opening at 236½, the equivalent of a decline of ⅞, the price rose to 237½ in the afternoon, at that showing the equivalent of a ¾ gain. In the closing minutes the price fell back to 237, leaving a recovery of ¼ for the dividend. Apart from these issues the market was inclined to dullness, but prices as a whole held firm. Brazilian sold for cash in the early trading at 10½, a new high for the movement, and was fairly active later between 99¾ and 99, ex-dividend. The close at 99½ represented no change for the day, when allowance is made for the dividend. Canadian Pacific railway continued dull, with the price in the final dealings unchanged from Thursday, at 241. Richelieu was on the soft side, selling at 117, but with no evidence of interest of any kind. Detroit was quiet around 80 in the morning and eased off to 79¾ in the afternoon. Ottawa Power sold level with its high record of 192, reported the previous day. Bell sold ¾ higher at 155½. Apart from Montreal Power, Brazilian and Spanish River, the market, after its mild outburst of the previous day, fell back into a dull and listless mood. Total business 2,883 shares, 123 mining shares, 1,102 rights and $7,500 bonds.

LONDON MORE CHEERFUL

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Jan. 31.—Reports that Turkey will make further concessions to the allies assisted the cheerful tone developed on the stock exchange today. The continent helped the markets and caused some improvement in the foreign rails and Kaffirs, while home rails advanced smartly on favorable dividend reports. Nigerian tin shares were again the featuring at higher prices. The demand for low priced shares broadened, but they reacted at the finish. American securities opened steady at prices unchanged to 1/8 higher. Later the list eased off under the lead of Canadian Pacific railway and values fell below parity. Trading was limited during the afternoon and the market closed dull. The demand for money slackened and discount rates were easier.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 31.—Trading on the wheat market was quiet and the volume of business in options light. With higher Liverpool cables prices opened ¼c to ⅜c advance and foreign fluctuations were within narrow limits. Nearing the close there was a decided advance, caused by shorts covering and speculative bullish sentiment. The gain for the day was ½c for May and ⅝c for July. American markets were ⅛c to ⅜c higher at the opening and showed stronger generally during the entire session, Minneapolis opened ¼c higher and closed ⅝c higher for both May and July. September opened at 87⅛c and closed 88¾c. Chicago opened ⅛c to ⅜c higher and closed ½c to ⅝c advanced. The cash demand was fair, exporters buying off grades, and oats for opening navigation. BRISK BUSINESS EXPECTED IN SPRING

Colder Weather Has Stimulated Movement of Merchandise—Conditions Favorable in West

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Dispatches to Dun's Review of Trade from branch offices of R. G. Dun & Co., in the leading centres in the Dominion of Canada, are generally favorable and state that the demand for certain commodities has been stimulated by lower temperatures. Montreal reports practically unchanged conditions, except that some lines have been benefitted by colder weather. Dry goods merchants are fairly busy and good spring orders are coming in for paints, oils and glass. There is a liberal movement of hardware and the demand for leather is steady, while the hide market is active and strong.

More seasonable weather has helped sorting up business in heavy dry goods at Toronto and retail trade has been quite active. There is a good inquiry for hardware. Groceries are selling freely and the outlook in the building trade is bright. Leather is firm at the recent advance and hides are steady, although the quotations are not very good. Hamilton reports that wholesale and retail trade continue fair, while manufacturers and busy and labor well employed.

In the far west and northwest conditions are still favorable, for while mild weather has retarded the movement of some lines it has stimulated them in others. Winnipeg reports a steady demand for staple articles, with sales of hardware large. At Saskatoon the outlook continues bright and dealers are preparing for an active spring and especially in implements. While trade is now rather quiet at Regina the general conditions there are sound and indications are for the future good. Calgary reports that milder weather has caused a resumption of building and everything points to a much larger spring trade than last year.

Gross earnings of all Canadian railways reporting to date for three weeks of January show a gain of 32.3 per cent, as compared with the earnings for the same period last year. Commercial failures 28, against 44 last week and 39 the same week last year.

PROFESSORS OBJECT TO DOCTOR'S FREE WORK

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

BERLIN, Jan. 31.—The professors of the medical faculty at Munich university are up in arms against the favor shown by the authorities to Prince Ludwig Ferdinand, cousin of the regent of Bavaria, who is a qualified physician and practices medicine at his palace. As a prince he charges nothing for his services and generally gives free medicines and surgical appliances to poor patients. His practice is large and has grown till it has become too big for comfort in the palace. The ministry of education has therefore, given the prince the use of one of the university buildings. This action is resented by the professors as a privilege. The ministerial reply is that the state should encourage doctors who work for nothing.

PROHIBITION OF SECOND TERMS

Senate Discusses Limitation of Presidents Tenure of Office—Debate is Lively

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Presidential terms ranging from two to six years, prohibition against second terms and third terms; exemptions that would affect Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson, and proposals for the recall and the direct popular election of presidents, were thrust into the senate today in succession during the first day's consideration of the amendment limiting a president to one term of six years. In a session filled with lively debate, Senator Bristow's proposal that a president could be recalled at any regular election was voted down 58 to 10 and Senator Hoke Smith's amendment to make the single term four years instead of six, was defeated, 42 to 25. Over a dozen amendments were pending when the senate recessed tonight and they will be taken up tomorrow. Senators Dixon and Poindexter, Progressives; Bristow, Progressive-Republican, and Lodge, Republican, led the fight against a restriction of the term. Senator Williams, Democrat, introduced a four-year term with the privilege of re-election once, but his amendment was so drawn as to prevent Col. Roosevelt from seeking another election.

PAINTED FACE WORE JEWELS

Dead Man Settled Ten Thousand Pounds on Ship's Officer—Veronal Case Nears End

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Jan. 31.—With the evidence of A. E. Roe, a friend and companion of the late Hugh Eric Trevanion, the veronal case, which has excited extraordinary interest especially with fashionably dressed women, reached its concluding stage yesterday. The jury will return a verdict next Monday. Mr. Roe told the story of his companionship quietly and convincingly. He said that in 1906 when fourth officer on the Orotavia he first met Trevanion. A little service then rendered ripened into friendship, and other things followed until 1911, when Mr. Trevanion offered him $1000 to act as his companion. He consented, subject to the full agreement of the solicitors and an arrangement was entered into. Subsequently they went to Egypt where Trevanion insisted on settling $50,000 on Mr. Roe, who demurred, but gave way on condition that the solicitors saw no objection. Mr. Roe told how Mr. Trevanion painted his face and wore jewels, how his friend was addicted to drugs, and of his efforts to induce him to lead a more orderly life, and coming to the fatal night, he stated that he declined to allow Mr. Trevanion to take any more wine. The latter got into a huff and left the room. Later he confessed he had taken an overdose and, in spite of every effort by three physicians he died next day.

Mr. Roe declared that Mr. Trevanion never mentioned his will to him and he knew nothing about his bequests until after the funeral.

EIGHTEEN SAMPLES ONLY ONE BUTTER

Big Western Firm Selling Colored Lard as Butter—Saskatoon Inspector Promises Sensation.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

SASKATOON, Sask., Jan. 31.—Nine samples of butter were examined yesterday by the bacteriological department of the city and of the nine only one was found that was butter. All the rest were imitations that one does not like to think of. Today nine more samples were examined and this time not one of them was found to be anywhere near pure. They were renovated butter or beef or lard stearine colored with coal tar dyes.

This is a very discreditable showing for the creamery crooks of western Canada. The department is not giving out any names, but it is understood that this is the product of one of the biggest firms in Western Canada with head offices in Winnipeg, who have a brand of butter which they advertise heavily, and with which they have flooded western Canada. This series of discoveries has been made by the city inspector. The department has sent samples to Ottawa to be confirmed by the government inspector, and just as soon as he sends back the report the department is going to start a prosecution. They promise a sensation when the names of the defendants are made known.

TRUST INCREASES WAGES TODAY

Steel Corporation's Payroll Swelled By Three Hundred and Fifty Thousand Monthly.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 31.—The pay of all unskilled laborers employed by the United States Steel corporation will be advanced 2½c an hour, beginning on Saturday. The pay of skilled laborers will be advanced at the same time about 10 per cent. A formal statement by A. C. Dinkey, president of the Carnegie Steel company, told of the increase. The percentage of increase will prevail in all the United States Steel corporation mills. President Gary said briefly two weeks ago that there would be an advance in wages. He did not go into details, and there was no intimation that the increases would benefit any but the day laborers. Mr. Dinkey's statement clears up this point. Every mill man, regardless of the character of his work, is to benefit. In the mills of the Pittsburg district 38,000 men are affected. Approximately $350,000 a month will be added to the Carnegie Steel company's payroll by the increase. The unskilled laborer, the man who has been getting $1.15 a day for 10 hours, will receive 25c more a day. The tonnage men and those doing piece work will get advances based upon the character of their work.

RESOLUTION

Whereas, there are now employed at the Cinderella and Silverite mines, near Three Forks, Chinese cooks, and

Whereas, through the loyalty of its friends and the fidelity of its membership, this union has hitherto been successful in maintaining a "White B.C." in so far as its local jurisdiction extends, and

Whereas, every friendly overture to secure a continuance of this state of affairs has been unsuccessful in persuading the management of the properties in question to dismiss the Chinamen, therefore be it

Resolved, that this Sandon Union No. 81, of the Western Federation of Miners, vigorously condemns the employment of Asiatic help, in any capacity, and calls upon its friends and members to use every lawful and honorable effort to secure the banishment of the present Orientals, and prevent the future introduction of a class of labor that can only result in lowering our present standard of living, and injury to the moral, social and civic tone of the community, and be it further

Resolved, that the sense of this resolution, and a history of the reasons responsible for its adoption, be circulated as widely as possible amongst the membership and friends of organized labor in this portion of the province of British Columbia.

WILD SCENES AT DERRY ELECTION

Crowds Clash, Police Charge—Blind and Dying Brought to Polls—Official Figures

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDONDERRY, Ireland, Jan. 31.—The official result of the election here created through the death of the Duke of Abercorn, whose heir, the Marquis of Hamilton, was the Unionist sitting member, gives a Nationalist majority of 57, the figures being, David C. Hogg, Nationalist, 2699; Col. H. A. Pakenham, Unionist, 2642.

Recent majorities in this close constituency have been as follows: Unionist, two, 1892; Unionist, 26, 1895; Nationalist, 39, 1900; Unionist, 67, 1906; Unionist, unopposed, 1910; Unionist, 57, 1910, (December); Unionist, 105. The total vote cast yesterday was 5341, as against 4725 at the last general election. Both sides left absolutely nothing to chance. The Nationalist committee rooms were converted into schools for voters and the presiding officers, in almost every case, Catholic priests, put tests to all doubtful electors and any man who could not pass the test was told he must vote as an illiterate. There was a paralytic voter who could not even pronounce the name of Pakenham, but by repeating the first syllable gave the presiding officer to understand for whom he wanted to vote. Three confirmed invalids, bed-ridden since the election of December, 1910, voted Unionist. Corporal Stewart of the Royal Scots Fusiliers, who was invalided out of his regiment when at Derry last year, and has since become stone blind, traveled from Edinburgh. Immediately after voting he returned to Edinburgh to undergo an operation in the Royal Infirmary which, if successful, may restore his sight.

On the other hand the Nationalists took two voters out of Derry infirmary, one of whom underwent an operation for appendicitis on Friday and on reaching Newry the doctor, who accompanied him, said he would not answer for his life if he proceeded further. The elector, however, insisted on going on. He was transferred to a railway train which reached Derry in the course of the day.

One of the earliest to poll was John Simple, aged 93, the oldest voter in Derry. Though the weather was wet he declared he would walk to the poll. Gideon Wilson, who had intended to vote for Col. Pakenham, dropped dead in his house while a motor car was waiting outside to convey him to the poll. His condition was known to be grave. "I will vote if I die for it," he said. The doctor, finding it was useless to persuade him not to take the risk, arranged to go with him to the poll. A motor car arrived at 2 o'clock and two Unionist workers went in to bring out the voter. Wrapped in blankets he sat in his kitchen. He rose to greet his visitors. "I am ready for you," he said, and then he collapsed and died instantly.

The announcement of the result was followed by extraordinary scenes. The pent up excitement of the population was vented in wild demonstrations. A deafening tornado of shrieks, cheers and hisses broke loose and this was accompanied by the firing of revolvers. The Nationalists sang, "A Nation Once Again," to which the Unionist responded with "Rule Britannia," and "God Save the King." Mounted and foot police had to clear the way and form an escort round Mr. Hogg and Col. Pakenham, while they were on their way to their hotels. The rival crowds of home rulers and Unionists came into contact at one point and there was much stone throwing and the police were obliged to charge and disperse the crowd. Snow fell heavily during the three hours of counting the votes. The poll constitutes a record, the percentage being 98¼ of the registration and 99¼ if dead and immigrants are excluded. The result is attributed by Unionists to personal Protestant support given to Hogg.

The Nationalists say that their claim that they represent the majority of Ulster is confirmed by this bye-election and that the actual majority of Nationalist members from Ulster represents a large majority of the electors and population of that province.

GOES TO CASH CHECK VETERAN FALLS DEAD

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 31.—Matthew Lynch of Ferguson's Corners dropped dead in the Bank of Montreal here today. Death was due to heart failure.

Mr. Lynch, who was 81 years of age, was a Fenian raid veteran, and one of the purposes of his visit to the city was to cash his cheque for the $100 recently awarded to veterans. While at the paying teller's window the veteran staggered and fell to the floor.

AT THE THEATRES

"Pathe's Weekly," which is included in the program at the Gem theatre this evening, is of more than usual interest. The most notable events pictured are: "Miss Spokane," representing the city, assisted by Mayor Cottrel, opening the Spokane fair and dog show; spectacular fire at the oil docks of the Standard Oil company and the sensational drill work of the fire department at New York on Fire Prevention day. Other subjects are "The Shuttle of Fate" (Selig), an excellent production—a thrilling story of a wreck at sea, showing dramatic scenes of the wreck and escape of the passengers. A western comedy, "The Beauty Parlor of Stone Gulch" (Kalem), has many amusing situations, and "Warwick's Chronicle," picturing the latest happenings of the day in the old country. On Monday will be presented the Vitagraph three-reel special feature, Shakespeare's well known comedy, "As You Like It."

George H. Adams, the famous English pantomimist, will be seen in action at the Starland theatre today at a matinee starting at 3 o'clock. Those who are familair with old London will hail with delight the advent of genuine English pantomime Humpty-Dumpty, in three reels of side-splitting comedy direct from the old Drury Lane theatre, London. For ages audiences have heard of the funny clown who was born in an egg and who continued through life doing everything wrong, but incidentally creating a perfect riot of fun in everything he would touch. Mr. Adams, who claims the distinction of having originated the part is close to 70 years of age, having played Humpty-Dumpty for over 50 years. Mr. Adams is one of the few old-time English pantomimists who introduced pantomime in this country and the United States over half a century ago. He is supported in this cast by a score of pretty and talented girls and C. Harold Dare, a favorite of the London music halls, who takes the part of the evil spirit. Maurice Rothenberg is inimitable in the character of the Jew. Miss Victoria Bass is a wonder in the part of Columbine. Manager Anderson of the Starland found it impossible to book Humpty-Dumpty but for the one day, Saturday, all other time for the season being filled in.

Column for Wage Workers

By R. P. Pettipiece.

A minimum wage of $9 weekly has been fixed by the public service corporation of New Jersey for girls and women in its employ. This sum was fixed after a committee had held an investigation and reported that this was the lowest wage that girls could live upon with any comfort at all.

Rumors are still being spread, saying that the Western Union telegraphers are going out on a general strike, but as yet no date has been fixed for the suggested walkout.

At a recent meeting of Typographical Union No. 53 of Cleveland, Ohio, a resolution endorsing the principles of the Gibbons' minimum wage bill was adopted. This bill provides that the minimum wage shall not be less than the cost of supporting an average family in decent comfort (by an average family is meant the parents and four children); insurance against old age and non-employment of the wage-worker. The work day shall not be more than eight hours, and the minimum is susceptible of automatic adjustment to change in values. For women and young men graduated fractional proportional of the minimum are established according to age.

An increase in wages amounting to about 20 per cent more than the present scale, has been conceded to the Pressmens' and Assistants' union at Erie, O.

Plumbers of Minneapolis, Minn., have been granted a Saturday half-holiday.

"Union coffins bearing the union label" may be purchased at a St. Louis undertaking establishment. No great rush was reported, however, for this particular article.

An organization which has proved beneficial to many hard-worked women is the Officers Cleaners' union, because of its bringing before the public the sweated conditions existing in private employment, and shaming employers, in many instances, into giving small increases.

A meeting of 5000 municipal workers of Paris came to the decision that a pension of $250 per annum after 20 to 25 years of service, should be demanded at the age of 50, and, further, payment for all days of the year. If the latter demand is not immediately satisfied, another meeting is to be called to consider further steps.

The German Typographical union has now a membership of $65,000. This is 90 per cent of the printers employed in Germany.

Whether or not there will be a general strike on the 52 eastern railroads will be determined by ballot, 35,000 ballots having been sent out to the members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers. This action has been taken after all attempts at arbitration has failed.

Don't satisfy yourself that you have done your whole duty when you have joined the labor union. That's only the beginning.

Labor is the creative force of the world, the genius of accomplishment of the brain and the brawn of man, the spirit of all progress, and the milestones marking the advance of nations. Civilization owes everything to labor—and what does labor get for all this? Well, whose fault is it?

From the report of Vice-president Hoard of the Sheet Metal Workers, of a recent tour of the I. C. railroads, in the interests of that trade, it would appear that the strikers, who have been out for the last 14 months, were on the heavy end of the whip. He says: "During my entire trip I never made but one connection on time. The company is centering their entire efforts on their fast trains running between Chicago and New Orleans, employing about double the force they had when union men were employed in the shops. For instance, in the shop in New Orleans the tinner foreman told me that prior to the strike his force was between 25 and 30, 30 being the maximum, and that at this time 65 men were employed, who were not doing as much work as the 25 men did previously. This same condition applies to all crafts at all points. The rolling stock is in a deplorable condition and they are not able to handle half the business that could be taken care of had they cars or the engines to properly handle the cars. It has now become a waiting game and I believe we can wait longer than they can."

Labor organizations should use judgment when electing officers, and when they are elected they should be given the undivided support of the membership. There are few positions in life which require more intelligence, honest diplomacy, and hard work than do the offices of the trades unions. Any organization which allows its offices to be filled by officers who are not equipped with the ability and diplomacy so necessary to success, must inevitably sufer as a consequence.

The report of the United States department of labor showed that the average wage of the factory women is $8.48 per week, after 10 years of service, while that of the department store saleswoman in New York is $8.84 per week.

The Garment Worker's Canadian conference made a grant of $100 towards the garment workers' New York strike. All Canadian locals are now contributing.

All camps on the Canadian Pacific railway double track between New Westminster and Yale have cut wages from 30 cents an hour to 25 cents.

Government statistics prove that there are several millions of able-bodied and willing workers constantly in enforced idleness, through the lack of opportunity of employment. An enormous amount of this unemployment is caused by women and children being compelled, in the keen struggle for existence, to enter into competition with the men. Modern machinery is becoming so nearly automatic that the unskilled women and children workers are, frequently permanently taking the place of the skilled artisans, with the usual reduction in wages, thereby throwing a great many men out of employment.

The Grand Trunk Pacific strike has been called off at Prince Rupert. All demands have not been conceded, but the strike forced action from the Dominion government and really gained more than the strikers had hoped for.

Twenty-five workers in the Diamond shop of M. Vollman & Co., of Seattle recently struck for pay for Christmas and New Years and all legal holidays. They were out six days and went back to work with that demand granted.

The 300 trolleymen of Yonkers, N. Y., are still on strike, not a single car is running, and at present no adjustment is in sight.

Forecasting on what will ensue with the influx of workers from eastern Europe with the opening of the Panama canal the Shingle Weaver adds: "We should profit by the costly experience of the workers of the Atlantic coast and in the large cities. We should organize the unorganized workers already here. We should make it possible for the thousands that are coming in, to be immediately absorbed into the great body of organized labor. We will thus make allies of our fellow workers coming from the foreign shores, instead of being compelled to compete with them, the inevitable result of which is the starvation wages and disease breeding conditions that we see in the eastern States."

The message of organized labor It speaks of better hours, sanitary must be carried forward and onward, workshops and factories, a living wage, protection in work, happier homes, a better citizenship and a moral people.

BIG RADIAL SCHEME FOR ONTARIO

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

TORONTO, Jan. 31.—The Telegram this afternoon says that the greatest radial proposition on the continent is being quietly worked out in this city by Mackenzie & Mann interests and that today Ontario has an electric trust which rivals in its power the Standard Oil and American Tobacco. From Windsor and Niagara Falls along the right of way of the Ontario Electric Development company's transmission lines will come a trunk road fed by many branches, while the Toronto & Eastern will meet this point. Before long the man in Windsor will drop off at Hamilton or Toronto on his way to Montreal over a fast no smoke, no dirt, electric line. Solicitors for the Canadian Northern were reticient as to the exact details of the big plan, but one lawyer admitted that he knew that the natural terminus was North Toronto. It is said that several prominent members of the house of commons were interested in North Toronto investments.

What Are Bargain Hunters ?

THERE was a time when people imagined that the so-called bargain hunter was a fit subject for the joke-writer and the artist of the comic section of the daily paper.

But that idea has lost vogue.

The woman who, by reading the ads. and thus buying intelligently and economically, is able to give to every dollar of household expenses an additional buying power, is no more a subject of jest than is the wage-earner who is intelligently trying to increase his earning power.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE LOOKS FOR PROSPEROUS YEAR

The regular monthly meeting of the Nelson and District Women's Institute, which was to have been held today, has been postponed until next Saturday afternoon, Feb. 8. This meeting will take the form of a social afternoon. There will be an exhibition of home cooking, each article to be accompanied with the recipe and directions how to prepare each. Members who can possibly do so are asked to contribute some home manufactured baking or cooking that would be of interest to the members of the institute. At the close of the meeting the articles will be sold for the good of the institute. An invitation is extended to all the ladies of the city to attend his meeting.

The Women's Institutes throughout the province are expecting to make this year a banner one. Twice a year the government sends out competent lecturers and demonstrators. Their lectures and demonstrations have proved to be of a most interesting and instructive nature and the members who have taken advantage of these demonstrations have been highly pleased. The government also sends out free literature to every member of the institute. This literature has been found of great value to the home maker. It bears largely on the value and preparation of different kinds of food and on poultry, horticulture and gardening and many other items of interest to the housekeeper.

The chief aim of the institute is to better the conditions in the homes, to help the young housekeeper over many discouraging problems when she first starts to perform the many duties of the home, to also help the young mothers to solve many questions of interest to the little ones.

The institute has also proved itself to be of great value to the young women and girls, especially in the outlying districts, and to those who have not had the advantages of a home.

The government gives grants each year to every institute in the province. This money is to be used to help to carry on the work of the institute, and the women throughout the province are commencing to realize more and more each year the great advantages that are being offered. The Nelson and District Women's institute is at the present time in a very flourishing condition. A six months program is being drafted to have it distributed among the members within the next few days. It will contain many items of interest and value to the members. This year the institute hopes to get in a great many members from the outlying districts and will make a special effort to help those who have not got the advantage or conveniences that the city members enjoy.

H. V. Denne of Appledale, in the Slocan Valley, believes that he has the first natural hatch of chickens of the year, a hen at his ranch on January 28 hatching out seven chickens from a setting of 12 eggs. The other five eggs were fertile, he states, but did not reach maturity.

"This speaks well for the climate," remarks Mr. Denne. "As far as I have heard they are the first chickens hatched this year in this district. I would be glad to know if this is a record for this district."
