KONG WAS CHINESE ANARCHIST LEADER

Alleged Slayer of Mrs. Millard Appears in Court

SMILES CYNICALLY AT GREAT CROWD

Vancouver School Board to Segregate White Children From Orientals.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)
VANCOUVER, B. C., April 6.—Richly dressed women, turbaned Hindus and Chinese curious to see their fellow countryman charged with the Millard murder, fought for places in the police court room this morning when the preliminary hearing of Jack Kong, the self-confessed slayer of Mrs. Charles J. Millard, was called. The hearing was adjourned for eight days and the case will come up again in the police court on Tuesday morning, April 14, at the close of the Easter holiday season.

Was Chinese Anarchist

The cold-blooded manner and cool, calculating method in which the Chinese boy, Jack Kong, went about the work of disposing of the body of his murdered mistress seemed incredible for a boy of 17 years. But information given to the police today would indicate that the Oriental is not as young as it would seem from his appearance. Chinamen who came from Kong's native village, say that he is nearer 20 years old than 17. Further information gathered by the detectives is to the effect that Kong, while a schoolboy, mingling with white children many years his junior at the Lord Roberts school, was really one of the most active members of a secret organization of Chinese, the acts and objects of which were to promulgate anarchy and teach communism.

At the inquest on Saturday, Mr. Millard stated that Kong was a model boy until two years ago, when he started to go out at night and especially on Saturday nights he would stay away from home until early next morning. Two years ago Kong identified himself with a society of young Chinamen who studied communism and advocated the principles of anarchy. They were nearly all boys of the same age and station as Kong—servants in various homes and hotels.

Kong was smarter than the majority of his companions and soon attained a position of authority among them. Latterly he has been lecturing them.

Admired Bloody Brigand

The blood curdling exploits of the infamous brigand White Wolf, who is laying waste villages and towns in China and is butchering the inhabitants, met with the approbation of Kong and he openly admired the bandit's tactics in speaking to his fellows in the secret society.

When brought into court this morning by Deputy Chief McRae and Inspector Jackson, Kong did not pay the slightest attention to the hundreds who had fought their way into court to catch a sight of the confessed murderer. As at the inquest, he smiled cynically at the throng, shrugged his shoulders and turned to accompany his guards out of the room by a private door when an adjournment was ordered for a week.

Yesterday the blood-stained carpet was lifted and pieces of the stairs were cut out to be brought in as evidence when the trial proceeds.

To Keep White Children Apart

(By Daily News Leased Wire)
VANCOUVER, B. C., April 6.—The murder by a Chinese boy of Mrs. Millard has led the city council to take action, which it did tonight, in the matter of segregation of Oriental children from white children.

According to a resolution which was unanimously adopted, the board of school trustees will be instructed to make provisions for the erection of new schoolhouses for the Orientals, so as to obviate the necessity of white children coming in contact with them and learning evil habits. The case of the boy Kong, the alleged murderer of Mrs. Millard, was given as an instance of a scholar attending one of the public schools and daily coming into contact with white children to their detriment.

At the same time, a resolution was adopted pledging the city council to give contracts for supplies only to those firms who employed white men only, provided their terms were on a level with the firms who employed Oriental labor.

FRENCH RESIDENTS QUIT STATES FOR CANADIAN WEST

(By Daily News Leased Wire)
BOSTON, April 6.—A large number of leading French residents of Fall river and New Bedford, headed by Pierre Lebrecque and Edward Pepin, are selling their property and are going to Calgary to settle in Alberta.

Lebrecque and Pepin recently returned, from a 3,000-mile Canadian tour in which they visited the principal towns and cities in Alberta, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. They brought back glowing accounts of the possibilities there. Many wage earners who have heard that wages range from 35 to 40 cents an hour in Alberta, will join the colonists. Labrecque is selling his store in Fall River.

ALIBI DEFENCE IN KRAFCHENKO CASE

But Witness Is Shaken as to Date—Accused Decides Against Going Into Box.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)
MORDEN, Man., April 6.—The final act in the Krafchenko trial will open tomorrow. Today J. D. Suffield, counsel for the prisoner, closed the case for the defence, and tomorrow morning Mr. Suffield will commence his address to the judge. At the close of the hearing Mr. Suffield asked the court permission for his client to make an unsworn statement to the judge, a statement which would not be subject to cross-examination, although the crown prosecutor could answer it.

Mr. Hastings, however, objected and his lordship refused. Mr. Suffield then consulted with Krafchenko, who decided he would not take the stand as a sworn witness.

This morning David Davis of Aiken street, Winnipeg, was called by the defence and testified that the accused, whom he identified, called at his house at 4 o'clock December 3 and inquired for a room.

The Plum Coulee murder took place at noon on December 3 and as Plum Coulee is too far from Winnipeg for the journey to be made in four hours, Davis' evidence was in the way of an alibi. Under cross-examination, however, Davis proved doubtful as to whether he saw Krafchenko on December 3 or 4.

FINANCIAL STATUS OF PROVINCE GOOD

Per Capita Debt Is Small—Comparisons With Large Cities Made by Attorney-General

(Special to The Daily News)
VANCOUVER, B. C., April 6.—Addressing a largely attended meeting of Conservatives here tonight and referring to financial matters, Hon. W. J. Bowser dealt with the loan of $10,000,000 recently floated by the government in London at an excellent rate and said that the Liberals had made the statement that the government had plunged the country in debt and had squandered its resources. He followed with interesting figures.

"The public debt of British Columbia today, including the $10,000,000 just borrowed, is $16,000,000," said Mr. Bowser. "With an estimated population of 525,000 this gives a per capita debt of $30. To some people this may seem large, but I would point out that the public debt of Vancouver is $21,000,000. Giving Vancouver a population of 125,000 the per capita debt of the city is $175. Victoria has a public debt of $14,000,000, and with a population of 60,000 the per capita debt is $233. Thus the combined public debt of the cities of Vancouver and Victoria is $35,000,000 as against $16,000,000 for the province." The comparison was applauded.

Mr. Bowser followed with a review of the features of the past session's legislation.

NEGOTIATE FOR RENEWAL OF CHEAP POSTAL RATES

British Postmaster-General Replies to Question Regarding Rates on Magazines to Canada

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)
LONDON, April 6.—In the house of commons today several questions were addressed to the postmaster-general in reference to the statement of the postmaster-general of Canada that the preferential postage on British magazines circulating in Canada was to be withdrawn owing to the refusal of the British post office to bear a part of the cost.

Hon. Charles E. Hobhouse, answering, said that the special postage rate of one penny a pound on British newspapers, magazines and trade journals sent from the United Kingdom to Canada had not been withdrawn. There was no refusal by the British post office to bear a part of the cost of transmission. The scheme was originally established at the request of the Canadian government on terms proposed by the latter and there was no reason to anticipate that the Canadian post office would desire to alter this systtm. Negotiations regarding the continuation of this post after July 31 next were now proceeding.

Norton Griffiths asked the postmaster-general whether, in view of the circulation throughout Canada of a great amount of alien literature, he would do his utmost to meet the Canadian government.

Mr. Hobhouse said he could not make a statement at the present time. He did not think it would advance the cause which the member had at heart if he did so.

Express Deep Concern.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable)
LONDON, April 7.—The London chamber of commerce yesterday passed a resolution expressing the deepest concern at the pronouncement of Hon. L. P. Pelletier, postmaster general of Canada, of the possible discontinuance or alteration of Canadian cheap postal rates for English magazines and urging that they should be continued as at present. They urged that any increase would be a severe setback to the cause of imperial unity. It was stated that the cheap rates had resulted in the wide distribution of English magazines and that large sums of money had been invested in such enterprises.

The resolution will be forwarded to the British postmaster general, who is now negotiating with the Canadian government.

TORONTO, April 6.—One hundred immigrants arrived by special train at the Union station early this morning. The strangers are all foreigners, the majority of whom continued their journey to western Canada.

HOME RULE BILL AGAIN ADVANCED

Passes Second Reading by Reduced Majority

TWO LIBERALS VOTE WITH OPPOSITION

Birrell Says Civil War Is Impossible--No Sign of Compromise.

(By Daily News Leased Wire)
LONDON, April 7.—By a majority of 80 an amendment for the rejection of the home rule bill was defeated in the house of commons tonight and without division the bill was given for the third time its second reading in the house. The announcement of the figures evoked louder cheers from the opposition than from the ministerialists, the opposition interpreting them as gratifying proof of a dwindling government majority. But the diminution is accounted for to some extent by the abstention from voting of the O'Brienites.

The speeches today were generally much more conciliatory in tone than those which marked the bill's earlier passages. John E. Redmond, the Nationalist leader, who opened the debate, again held out the olive branch to Ulster in a speech of great eloquence, but insisted that it was impossible for him and his colleagues to agree to the permanent exclusion of Ulster and to abandon in principle "Ireland a nation."

Andrew Bonar Law, the opposition leader, though professing in certain passages of his speech to see hardly any hope of a peaceful settlement and predicting that civil war was certain if the government persisted in pushing the bill through, declared that he and his colleagues would gladly accept a proposal for the renewal of the conversations with the government leaders, but feared nothing would come of it.

Single Chamber Government.

The opposition leader said that the government was pushing the bill through under a system which was virtually a one-chamber government. He recalled the phrase of Sir Edward Grey, that "a single chamber government meant damnation and disaster," and said that the prophecy was being fulfilled. He had done his best to make it come true. At the same time, he said, the Unionists were ready to make every reasonable sacrifice to avoid the calamity of civic strife. There were only two ways whereby that could be averted; one was the exclusion of Ulster from the bill, the other an appeal to the people. If the proposals were made for a renewal of the conversation between the leaders of the two parties, as Sir Edward Grey had suggested, the opposition would accept it, but he feared that nothing would come of it while Mr. Redmond exercised the power to veto any proposal put forward by the opposition.

In the opinion of the speaker the situation was never more replete with danger than at present. If the government chose it had the power to ruin Ulster and its own country, but it would never succeed in compelling Ulster by force and against its will to go outside the protection of the British parliament.

Says Civil War Impossible.

Augustine Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, wound up the debate. He argued that civil war was impossible. He was amazed at the patience displayed by the Catholics and Nationalists in Ulster under great provocation. It showed, he said, that there was no need for civil war to effect a settlement of the question, Ulster must be won, her opposition must be overcome, but it could not be by force; hence, the government proposals,

Mr. Birrell made pointed reference to the strong objections in Ireland to the permanent exclusion of Ulster, and appealed to the Unionists not to press the government too hard in the matter of time limit. The government was shutting no door to a settlement.

Closure was carried by a vote of 356 to 272, and the amendment for rejection of the bill was defeated, 356 to 276. The announcement of the figures, showing a reduced government majority, was received with loud opposition cheers and cries of "Where is your independent majority?"

The second reading of the home rule bill was carried the first time by a majority of 101 and the second time by a majority of 98. Tonight the O'Brienites abstained from voting and two Liberals voted against the government. One Nationalist was absent through illness. Three Laborites were also absent and Charles F. G. Masterman, who had previously voted as a member of the government, lost his seat in the election for Bethnal Green last February.

Mr. Asquith took no part in the voting, as he recently resigned his seat in the stand for re-election on his appointment as secretary of war.

Sir Edward Grey's departure from London has no political significance. He is merely taking a holiday, which he arranged for some time ago.

Irishmen Celebrate.

COTTON WORTH THREE MILLION BURNED

BOMBAY, India, April 6.—Cotton valued at nearly $500,000 was destroyed by fire today. Only three weeks ago cotton to the value of $2,500,000, stored in the sheds of Cotton Green, was burned.

YELLS LOUDLY IN POLICE COURT

General Flora Drummond, Suffragette Leader, Will Not Allow Anyone Else to Utter Audible Word

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)
LONDON, April 6.—"General" Flora Drummond, the militant suffragette, shrieked so loudly when she was arraigned today at the police court in connection with the suffragette disturbances at the Unionist demonstration in Hyde Park on Sunday that she had to be forcibly removed. She would not allow either the magistrate or the prosecutor to utter an audible word.

When Mrs. Drummond entered the prisoner's enclosure she shouted at the top of her voice that she would not permit anyone but herself to speak, because, she said, the magistrates and police courts were doing the dirty work of Premier Asquith. She then proceeded to bombard the court with volleys of verbal shrapnel until she was carried out by the wardens.

HEAVY LOSS IN SASKATOON FIRE

Two Hundred Thousand Dollars Damage When H. D. Cole Building Burns

(By Daily News Leased Wire)
SASKATOON, Sask., April 6.—The Cole building was practically destroyed today in a fire which caused a damage of $200,000. The building was located on Second avenue and was occupied on the ground floor by stores and on the second floor by office tenants. Following are losers:

H. D. Cole, building valued at $90,000, loss $70,000, insurance $73,000.

West Havre Hardware company, stock valued at $40,000, loss $40,000, insurance $40,000.

H. Tuppling, men's furnishings, stock valued at $40,000, loss $40,000, insurance $30,000.

C. S. Pace, shoe store, stock valued at $23,000; total loss, with insurance of $9,000.

Elliott Drug store, stock valued at $18,000, loss $18,000, insurance $12,000.

Thirteen office tenants and roomers also suffered losses varying from $300 to $1,500, in most cases there being no insurance. The fire is supposed to have started in the basement of the hardware company, and owing to the dense clouds of smoke caused by the burning oils and paints, it proved difficult to control. For a time tenants of adjoining buildings were doubtful as to the safety of their property, but before long it was apparent that the fire could be confined to the Cole building.

FRENCH PARTY WINS IN MONTREAL

Mederic Martin Is Elected Mayor by Large Majority in Montreal—Tramway Victory Claimed

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)
MONTREAL, April 7.—Returns from the whole of the 31 wards of the city, with 13 polls to hear from, show that only half-hearted support was given in the civic elections to the slate backed by the Citizens' association, which helped largely to clean up Montreal after the Judge Cannon graft inquiry some years ago. Major George W. Stephens was badly beaten by the French voters, his opponent, Mederic Martin, M. P., who was named in Judge Cannon's report, having a majority of 5,001 over the ex-chairman of the harbor board.

The figures for the board of control are: Thomas Cote, 28,614; E. N. Hebert, 27,404; Joseph Ainey, 26,568; A. V. Roy, 18,899.

The latter two were endorsed by the Citizens' association, together with the runner-up, Duncan McDonald, who received 17,215 votes, and who was "knocked" in his campaign by the Graham papers, who put up the sixth man on the list, P. W. St. George, who had 16,544 votes. Supporters of the Citizens' association claim that Cote and Hebert, with St. George, were practically nominees of the Montreal Tramways company, which is seeking a renewal of franchise for 41 years. In any case, say these supporters of the cracked slate, the net result of the election is the return of a reactionary administration.

DRIVE SPANISH FROM MEXICO

Wholesale Expulsion Carried on by Rebels

WIRE INDICATES TORREON NOT LOST

Federal Commander Burned Ammunition Before Evacuating City.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)
JUAREZ, April 6.—Northern and central Mexico, it is said, are being thoroughly cleared of Spanish residents by the constitutionalists. The latest news of wholesale expulsion of Spaniards was brought here by Gen. Gutierres, commander of rebel forces in the state of San Luis Potosi.

Every consideration has been shown them, Gen. Gutierres said. They have been given plenty of time to carry away with them their household effects and other possessions, but not one of them has been permitted to remain inside the rebel lines.

Justification for the wholesale deportations, it is said, is found by the insurgents in article 33 of the Mexican constitution, the famous pernicious foreigner law, which gives Mexican authorities the right to deport undesirable aliens.

Intercepted Telegram

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)
MEXICO CITY, April 6.—The Mexican foreign minister, Senor Portillo y Rojax, informed the Associated Press today that the Mexican government had intercepted a telegram from G. C. Carothers, the American consular agent at Torreon, to Secretary of State Bryan, declaring: "It was advisable to persist in the statement that Torreon had fallen, though such was not the case, in order to prevent the government from getting reinforcements to the aid of Velasco."

In making this announcement, the minister appeared to be fully convinced that the federals were still holding Torreon. He said President Huerta had told him and this information he did not doubt.

Fighting at Tampico.

(By Daily News Leased Wire)
VERA CRUZ, April 6.—Consul Canada received a wireless message tonight reporting heavy fighting on the outskirts of Tampico, which began yesterday and continued throughout today. No details are given except that many dead and wounded have been brought into the city.

Gives Statement of Losses.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)
JUAREZ, April 6.—George C. Carothers, special representative of the state department, who has been through the Torreon engagement with Gen. Villa, returned here tonight to assist in negotiations looking toward the welfare of 600 Spaniards ordered out of Torreon by the rebels.

Mr. Carothers was too greatly fatigued after his trip from Torreon to give more than a brief outline to the reporters.

"The rebel loss," he said, "was 600 killed and 1,400 wounded. We don't know the federal loss accurately, except that Villa found in the hospitals 805 of their wounded."

Asked why Velasco evacuated the city Mr. Carothers said the federal leader's one excuse was that he had run out of small arm ammunition.

Burned Ammunition.

"However," said Mr. Carothers, "I think he was mistaken about that, for when he started burning his ammunition we could hear the rifle cartridges popping and it seemed to me as if there must have been 2,000,000.

"I am convinced that the real reason was that Villa's tireless hammering wore down his men until they could no longer fight.

"It was not until after the evacuation on Thursday that the rebels permanently occupied any position in the city. Villa attacked repeatedly from the outside, but he never retained a position until after the flight of the federal troops.

"When Gen. Velasco left he left placards on his hospitals saying he left the wounded to the kindness of the five consuls and to the mercy of Gen. Villa."

OSCAR UNDERWOOD LEADS IN RACE FOR SENATE

Campaign Managers Claim Victory By From Twenty to Thirty Thousand Votes.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 6.—Returns from 40 out of 67 counties show Oscar Underwood, majority leader of the house of representatives, leading Congressman Hobson by a substantial vote in the race for the long term in the United States senate. At 10:30 tonight, Underwood's campaign leaders claimed victory by from 20,000 to 30,000. Indications were that the total vote would be the largest in years. A three-cornered contest for the short term in the senate apparently rests between Ray Rushton, Montgomery and Frank White, of Birmingham. These two have outdistanced W. C. Brown, of Ragland, according to early returns. Former Governor Comer leads in the gubernatorial contest.

MAKES CHARGE AGAINST PREMIER

Opposition Member in New Brunswick House Makes Accusation Against Hon. J. K. Fleming

(By Daily News Leased Wire)
FREDERICKTON, N. B., April 6.—A sensation was sprung in the legislature tonight when one of the opposition members for Madawaska gave notice of motion for Thursday next that, having formulated certain charges against Hon. J. K. Fleming, premier and minister of lands and mines, which he is creditably informed are true and believes he can secure satisfactory evidence of, he demands an investigation. The charges are that Mr. Fleming, through the agency of W. H. Berry, chief superintendent of scalers for the crown land department of this province, and under the direct control of Mr. Fleming in 1913, "did unlawfully extort from divers large lessees of crown timber limits within the province a sum of $15 per square mile of their timber limits to the total of about $100,000 and failed to account for these monies."

NOTHING IS HEARD OF SOUTHERN CROSS

Steamer Kyle to Continue Search for Missing Sealing Vessel—Dead Delivered at Homes

(By Daily News Leased Wire)
ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., April 6.—The sealing steamer Southern Cross, with 173 men on board, is still missing. The steamer Kyle, sent in search of her by the government, was lying to in a heavy gale tonight well out on the Grand Banks, with all observation cut off by thick snow. She had been in communication during the day with the United States revenue cutter Seneca, on the ice patrol. Neither had found any trace of the missing vessel.

Although the underwriters have said they would post the Southern Cross as lost with all on board if she remained unreported at sundown today, the Kyle was ordered to continue the search for two days more.

Hope for the missing steamer has been practically abandoned.

So thick was the storm tonight that the Furness liner Eagle Point was obliged to give up her trip to Halifax.

Held Fast in Ice

(By Daily News Leased Wire)
HALIFAX, N. S., April 6.—The Halifax steamer Seal is jammed in the ice in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, 500 miles from Entry island, according to a wireless message received by her owners tonight. The message said that the steamer, with 6,000 seal skins on board, had been held fast for a week, and that there was no immediate prospect of her release.

The owners of the Seal suggested that this intimation of the ice conditions in the waters about Newfoundland might warrant some slight hope that the missing Southern Cross had not been wrecked, but was caught in the ice. The Southern Cross, however, had left the Gulf of St. Lawrence and was off the southern coast of Newfoundland when last sighted.

Delivers Bodies of Dead

(By Daily News Leased Wire)
ST. JOHNS, Nfld., April 6.—The funeral train delivering the bodies of the dead sealers along the railway line completed its work tonight. The funerals of the city victims will take place tomorrow. The official investigation of the disaster begins tomorrow morning.

Lord Northcliffe, for himself and associates in the Harmsworth paper mills at Grand Falls, wired the governor tonight subscriptions of $5,000 towards the relief fund. The Lake of the Woods Milling company subscribed $1,000.

MRS. CORNWALLIS-WEST GETS DECREE; HUSBAND REWEDS

Will Be Known As Lady Randolph Churchill—Cornwallis-West Marries Actress

(By Daily News Leased Wire)
LONDON, April 6.—The decree of divorce granted to Mrs. George Cornwallis-West, formerly Lady Randolph Churchill and a daughter of the late Leonard Jerome, of New York, was made absolute by the divorce court today, the requisite period having elapsed since the first decree. The grounds were desertion and misconduct.

Mrs. Cornwallis-West will in future be known as Lady Randolph Churchill. A few hours after the divorce had been pronounced absolute, George Cornwallis-West married Mrs. Patrick Campbell, English actress.

DRYS MAKE GAINS

DETROIT, Mich., April 6.—Nearly complete returns from 12 Michigan counties, which voted today on local option, give the "drys" a victory in Ingham county, in which Lansing, the state capital, is located. The "wets" won one of the other counties. Ingham, which has been wet, went dry by more than 400 votes. The principal counties voting were Ingham, Shiawassee and Wexford.

In case Oscoda county, now in doubt, remains dry, Michigan has 43 dry counties and 49 wet. The important counties which chose to remain dry today did so by a smaller majority than two years ago.

Hon W. T. White Reaffirms National Policy

DUTY ON SOME IMPLEMENTS CUT

No Change in Wheat--Iron and Steel Industries and Farmers Aided.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)
OTTAWA, April 6.—Assistance to the iron and steel industry in Canada, a cut in one class of agricultural implements and slight increases in duties on building stone, caustic soda and brass, were the important features of the tariff changes announced by Hon. W. T. White in his budget speech today.

The changes, while not extensive, are exceedingly important, as they affect two of the chief Canadian industries. The aid to the steel industry takes a variety of forms. There is, first of all, authority given for an increase by order-in-council of duties on heavy structural steel. Wire rods, which are now on the free list, will in future be dutiable at the rate of $3.50 per ton general and intermediate and $2.25 preference. The farmer gets an advantage and the manufacturers manufacturing steel rods of certain gauges used in manufacture of wire fences will be entitled to a draw-back of duty. In addition there is to be an increase in the duty on steel tubing up to 10 inches in diameter, up to 20, 30 and 35 per cent. On imported tubing used for transmission of natural gas there is a draw-back of 55 per cent.

Additional aids to the same industry are provided by an increase in the increasing draw-back on imported pig iron used in the manufacture of articles for export, and by placing charcoal for pig iron production upon the free list, the same as coke is at present. Bituminous coal, when imported for the purpose of making coke for smelting and foundry use, will be allowed a draw-back of duty of 99 per cent.

Five Per Cent Cut.

There was, perhaps, no item on the list awaited with greater interest than the duty on agricultural implements. The minister said a most careful inquiry had been made for over a year into the cost of production of agricultural implements on both sides of the line and as a result of the investigation it had been decided to make a cut in duty on harvesters, reapers, binders and mowers from 17½ to 12½ per cent. Hon. Mr. White said that this reduction in duty was a 2½ per cent greater cut than had been proposed by the reciprocity pact and with the draw-back enjoyed on the iron and steel used in the production of this class of implements they would be placed upon practically a 10 per cent basis.

The announcement of the cut in agricultural implements was received with Conservative cheers, ministerial supporters calling across to the Liberals, "Why don't you cheer," and the Liberals replying, "Take it all off."

Mr. White dealt with the question of accepting the countervailing offer in the Underwood tariff of "free wheat and free flour." He analyzed the whole situation as affecting Canada and said that having regard to the great railway development and the opening of competitive routes by the Hudson bay and the Panama canal the government did not consider it advisable to accept the offer, but was disposed rather to await the outcome of the developments now under way and in the meantime to do all possible to improve conditions with regard to freight rates, etc.

A change in duty in the interests of the stonecutters of Canada is made by increasing the duties upon building stone when sawed on four sides or when planed, turned or otherwise improved.

Aids Salt Industry.

Rods, sheets and bars, which have been on the free list since 1908, will have the old duty of 10 per cent restored. It has also been decided to place upon caustic soda and hypochloride of lime, two products produced in the salt industry.

The minister announced there would be no bounty granted the iron ore industry, there being insufficient information by the government upon which to base legislative action. An investigation will be made, and an investigation will be made into the flax fibre industry.

Prohibits Hat Feather Imports.

A considerable number of minor readjustments of the tariff were also covered by a series of resolutions brought down by the minister of finance. They include the adoption of the British and the United States legislation prohibiting after January 1 next the importation of aigrettes, plumes, feathers, quills, wings or parts, either raw or manufactured, of wild birds.

British Preference Increased.

(Special to The Daily News)

EDGEWOOD, B. C., April 6.—A large crowd of interested people assembled last Sunday to watch the launching of Claude Rollins' new launch, which is expected to make 20 miles an hour. During the week his launch raced the steamer Kootenay and kept well ahead of her to Edgewood from the Needles with only two cylinders working at the time.

During the past week large consignments of fruit trees have been unloaded on the wharf for Mr. Ellis and Mr. Passmore.

Mr. and Mrs. David Calder have moved with their new log house below the sawmill site on the lake front.

Control Your Coal Expenditure

In the Gurney-Oxford range you will find more exclusive features, more essential improvements that appeal to the thrifty housewife than have ever before been found in any one kitchen range.

But most important of all is the Economizer.

This clever device for regulating the drafts saves 1 ton of coal in every 6 that you would burn in the ordinary range. It takes the smell of cooking out of the kitchen and sends it up the chimney. You know what that means.

The Economizer enables you to absolutely control the amount of coal you wish to consume and still have a perfect heat for cooking. It will enable you to keep your fire going while you go out shopping or visit your neighbor, and all that is necessary for you to do on your return is to press the small lever and you are assured of a hot fire in a very few moments.

A Gurney-Oxford stove is sanitary—no dirt can accumulate on its beautifully smooth surface.

Its top is polished steel which abolishes forever that dreadful operation—blacking the stove.

Of paramount interest also are the other remarkable and exclusive attachments—the Special Grate, the Divided Flue and the Broiler.

Every woman who knows owns a Gurney-Oxford.

KOKANEE PARISH OUTLOOK BETTER

Financial Position of Church Improved—Launch Will Be Repaired—Proctor News.

(Special to The Daily News)

PROCTOR, B. C., April 6.—On Saturday morning a meeting of the vestry of the parish of Kokanee was held at the vicarage, Balfour, Rev. Francis P. Hughes in the chair. The envelopes for the offertories have arrived from the printer and a set can be obtained by any parishioners who require one from any of the church wardens or sidesmen.

As is the custom in this parish, the offertories on Easter Sunday will all be given to the vicar of the parish as an Easter offering.

It was decided to buy new cushions for the parish launch, Floreat Etona, and the large launch, which was given to the parish for use on the main lake and which was badly damaged last year by the wash from the large steamers, is to be sent in to Nelson for repairs.

The vicar reported that the assessment to synod for M.S.C.C. had been very much reduced and the financial outlook for the parish is far more satisfactory than it has been for some time.

H. H. Smellie is going to make the pulpit and font for St. Michael's and All Angels' church, Balfour, which are being presented by a woman in the old country.

William Stubbs, who has been staying with the Appletons at Verna ranch, Sunshine Bay, for a few days, left by the Nasookin last night for Nelson.

There was a large attendance at the executive committee meeting of the Proctor and District Conservative association in Gallup's hall on Friday when J. D. Kerr, the president, who only returned on Wednesday night from the old country, took the chair. A considerable amount of business was got through, which will come up at the general meeting of the association on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in Gallup's hall.

White Man Jim Crawford Dies in White Grouse Country—Police to Bring in Body

(Special to The Daily News.)

CRESTON, B. C., April 6.—Word was received by Provincial Constable W. C. Forrester yesterday to the effect that Jim Dubois, of Kitchener, had just returned from a trip up to the camp of "White Man" Jim Crawford, who has been hunting and trapping up in the White Grouse country, and that he was found dead in his cabin. Mr. Crawford left here in September, taking supplies and saying that he would be back about March. No word was received from him and his friends became anxious. WILL GET NEWS ON DAY PUBLISHED

Kettle Valley Railway President Says Trains Will Run Into Penticton First of August.

(Special to The Daily News)

PENTICTON, B. C., April 6.—That before the end of August The Nelson Daily News will be delivered in Penticton on the day of publication, was the statement made by J. J. Warren, president of the Kettle Valley railway, while discussing the progress that was being made in the construction of the road. Owing to the round about way that the coast mails arrive it will be the first daily paper to be delivered in this end of the Okanagan valley on the day publication.

Seven of the bridges immediately east of Penticton have been completed and the steel has now reached the tunnel, with only 23 miles between this point and the end of the steel, as it is being laid from the Hydraulic summit. It is expected that the tunnel will be finished this month. Very rapid progress has been made recently. One reason given for this is that there appears to be plenty of labor available. A freight traffic schedule is now being used from Midway as far west as the Hydraulic summit on the head waters of the west fork of the Kettle river, and also for a distance west of Penticton.

Unless Rexall Orderlies relieve your bowel troubles and make you feel like coming back to thank us for telling you about them, then come back anyway, and ask us to give you back your money. This is just as strong as we can make this guarantee, and we want to make it strong, because we believe that Rexall Orderlies are the best bowel remedy made.

Soothing and easy in action, they cleanse the bowels, thoroughly toning and strengthening them, and make you feel great. TAGHUM PEOPLE ENJOY CONCERT AND DANCE

(Special to The Daily News.)

TAGHUM, B. C., April 6.—About 80 persons attended the concert on Friday evening. A long program of songs, recitations, readings and drill was well received.

One of the most pleasing items was a character song, "Mowing the Barley," by Irene Bell, Mary Powell, Lydia and Lester Dickson and Ella and Frankie Phillips. W. Blanchard's reading of "Taghum Topics" was very good. Among other items of the program were a reading, "Served Him Right,' by Miss Margaret Powell; recitation, "Back to Grandpa's," by Frank May, and four songs, "The Diver," "Mary," "That Sweet Regrain" and "Annie Laurie," by C. Krempeaux. Miss S. G. Timaeus was a very able accompanist.

The play, "A Comedy of Errors," was presented, and judging from the manner in which it was applauded throughout by the large audience, it was a complete success. Miss P. McPhail as the niece and Mrs. R. Cunningham as the widow were very effective and acted their parts splendidly, as also did Rev. J. R. Kennedy and C. Krempeaux as the fussy old bachelors. Cast of play: William Pennyfeather, C. Krempeaux; John Pennyfeather, Rev. J. R. Kennedy; violet, Miss P. McPhail; Mrs. Florence, Mrs. R. Cunningham.

TESTING A SWEETHEART

There are no days like the sweet courting days. The man is at his best. For the time, everything that might be bad in him is pushed out of sight. But out of sight does not mean gone! The influence of love is strong, but its temporary transformations of character outnumber its permanent cures. A fixed character is a big thing to shift. To win his mate a man will show himself at his best. To keep her when won, not infrequently he shows himself at his worst! And that may be his real self.

His real character may not have been revealed at all during the courting days, although that is the time supposedly, to "get to know one another." Yet in a hundred unconscious ways he discloses what he really is, and those who are quick to discern may read him like a book.

"I sometimes wonder if life is worth living."

"So do I."

"Ah, then you have found your life a disappointment?"

"Not at all, it is your life we were speaking of."—Houston Post.

RIFLEMEN WILL ENTER BIG SHOOT

Spoons Will Be Offered to Encourage New Shots—New Rifles Arrive—First Practice Friday.

The Nelson Legion of Frontiersmen Civilian Rifle association will again during the coming shooting season be represented in the Canadian Rifle league and Dominion of Canada salver shoots. The dates of the Canadian Rifle league shoots are set for May 30, June 6 and July 4 and 11. The question as to whether or not the salver and rifle league shoots should be conducted on the same dates was not decided at the general meeting of the association in the armory last night, but was left with the executive for decision. Two teams will be entered in the Canadian Rifle league shoot and there is a possibility that three teams may be organized to compete in the event.

For the encouragement of the younger shots of the club the spoon shoots, which were so successfully conducted last year, will be continued with the exception that class A shots will not be included in the spoon shoots. Classes B and C, which are composed of the younger shots for the most part, will benefit most from the shoots.

Eight new rifles have been received by the association from headquarters at Victoria and these will be distributed to the members at the gallery practice on Thursday evening. The new rifles are fitted with bridges and sights.

The first practice shoot of the association will be held on Good Friday and a large turnout of shooters is looked forward to by the officers of the association.

During the evening several of the members spoke of various matters that might be incorporated in the rules of the club for increasing the interest in rifle shooting. Among the suggestions that were received favorably was one to the effect that a score book should be kept on the range and that the scores should be published at least once a week.

Another suggestion received with favor was that a local shoot should be held after the big interior shoot had been concluded.

GIVES PUBLICITY TO CANAL HEARING

Great Fight Against Repeal Bill Promised in Senate—Republican Supports Wilson.

(By Daily News Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Publicity for the deliberations on the bill to repeal toll exemption for American ships passing through the Panama canal was determined upon today by the senate committee on interoceanic canals which tomorrow will begin consideration of the controversy in all its aspects. Senator O'Gorman, chairman of the committee, decided upon open sessions at the outset after a conference with his colleagues.

When hearings are to be held has not been decided, but this will be determined when the house repeal bill and various compromise measures are formally taken up. How long the committee will deliberate on the issue before making a report to the senate no one would predict tonight, but administration leaders let it be known that any effort to prolong the preliminary consideration would be opposed even to the extreme of moving to discharge the committee from consideration of the subject. Senator O'Gorman, leading Democrat opponent of the repeal, and others who join with him in the fight still insist, however, that there will be no effort ot delay in committee. When the issue reaches the floor of the senate various forces at work to complicate the situation make it improbable that a vote can be reached for several weeks.

Republican Supports Wilson.

Senator McCumber, Republican, North Dakota, a member of the foreign relations committee, who steadfastly refuses to join the party opposition to the president's policy, addressed the senate at length today in support of the repeal bill. He flatly declared that toll exemption of American ships was a violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty and that it was against the spirit of the senate when the treaty was ratified.

For congress to insist on toll exemption for American coastwise ships, he said, was to hide behind the American flag while burglarizing the treasury for the benefit of "a coastwise shipping trust."

The senator devoted his address to the two reasons given in the president's message urging repeal, that exemptions constituted a violation of the treaty and that it also was an economic mistake. The senator also went deeply into the debates in the senate and correspondence with Great Britain to show that the provisions of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty had been understood on both sides of the Atlantic to place American ships, coastwise or foreign, on the same footing in the canal as those of any other nation. He characterized as ridiculous the contention that exemption of American coastwise shipping was necessary to keep down the rail rates from ocean to ocean. The interstate commerce commission had full power to regulate railroad rates, he insisted, and it was folly for the government to seek to "ransom itself from piracy to hire a competitor."

Look for Majority.

Administration senators tonight seemed to be more confident than ever that the house repeal bill would carry unamended in the senate and that the majority on the final roll-call would be at least 10 votes.

Eight or nine Republican senators are now counted upon to support the repeal, despite the effort of their leaders to unite the minority against the measure.

ASK GOVERNMENT TO HELP SOLVE MARKETING PROBLEM

REGINA, Sask., April 6.—Urging the provincial government to take immediate steps to discover the best means of providing marketing facilities within the province for the livestock of Saskatchewan, a strongly worded resolution was carried today by a joint meeting of the executives of four livestock associations.

Some favored government assisted district co-operative abattoirs, others supported the proposal endorsed at the recent convention at Saskatoon for the establishment of a province-wide co-operative livestock marketing company of similar constitution to the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator company. It was decided finally that the government should be asked to inquire into the merits of the various proposals.

TUESDAY, APRIL 7

TIME HAS ARRIVED FOR CLEAN-UP DAY.

Now that the snow has disappeared from even the most shady spots and the flower gardens are coming into bloom the appearance of some of the alleys and vacant lots in the city indicates that Monday next, which was last night agreed upon as Arbor day, is a most suitable date for the annual "clean-up day," on which, during recent years, so much good work has been accomplished in Nelson.

With the first bright, sunny day of spring the sight of a rusty can, a pile of ashes or a heap of decaying refuse becomes doubly abhorrent from an aesthetic and a sanitary point of view. The sun light emphasizes the untidiness and its rays provide the warmth which brings to life the flies and other insects to which the spread of disease is frequently attributed.

On Monday the city sanitary department will employ a number of teams to carry away the refuse which has accumulated on vacant lots and alleys during the winter and to get the best results from the "clean-up day" every citizen who can find an untidy spot must give his whole-hearted assistance in collecting the material for the teams to haul away.

In past years public-spirited citizens, realizing that the appearance of a whole street can be spoiled and the health of scores of people endangered by one refuse-covered spot, have turned out in large numbers and have done excellent work. That they will do so on Monday next is all the more desirable in view of the Chahko Mika celebration which is to be held in Nelson in July.

When the big festival commences the city should appear at her best and the only time that the work of "cleaning up" can be carried on to full advantage is at this season of the year.

"NA-DRU-CO DYSPEPSIA TABLETS

Proved of Great Value to Me"

There is only one explanation for the numbers of enthusiastic letters that we receive praising Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets, and that is that these tablets certainly do cure any kind of stomach trouble.

Here is a typical letter from Miss Eliza Armsworthy, Canso, N.S.:

"It is with pleasure I write to inform you that your Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets have proved of great value to me. I tried remedy after remedy but without any lasting good. Having heard of your tablets curing such cases as mine I decided to give them a fair trial. They proved satisfactory in my case."

The remarkable success of Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets is such a success as can only come to an honest remedy, compounded according to an exceptionally good formula, from pure ingredients, by expert chemists. If you are troubled with your stomach just ask your Druggist about Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets, compounded by the National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, and sold throughout the Dominion at 50c. a box. 142

DIET AND LONG LIFE.

With most people the answer to the question, what shall be eaten, does not depend so much upon whether the food tends to long life as upon the harmonizing of the price of the food with a short purse. In the majority of cases, price is the determining factor. But it should not be, say the scientists, because length of days largely depends upon kinds of food. That far the scientists are in accord, but only that far, for they differ widely when they come to kinds of food and the manner in which those foods should be eaten. We are assured that length of days depends largely upon food; but at that point the paths diverge, and for guidance we have to fall back upon the old maxim, that what is one man's meat is another man's poison, the whole case consisting of knowledge of what is each person's meat, says the Montreal Standard.

An interesting phase of this question of diet was keenly debated the other day in New York by two doctors of medicine, who very properly hold that price is not the only element of food worth considering, at least by those who wish to live long. One debater, who claims to have discovered the secret of length of days, was Dr. Allen, father of the "Monodiet," who holds that time can be defied by depending upon one kind of food. His doctrine is certainly on the side of the cook, for it reduces her art to first principles.

Dr. Allen supports his doctrine by results—by cases of persons who lived long because they lived upon one sort of food, but unfortunately at one time or another they departed from their rule of life, mixed their diet, and possibly their drinks, and so shuffled off, victims of incompatible foods.

Dr. Allen told of cases in England of people living to the age of one hundred and ten and even more, on a diet of bread and milk, and then they died because they became tired of the board and decided to quit. Another case was also that of an Englishman who lived on one article of food. At the age of one hundred and fifty years he naturally became somewhat forgetful. He forgot his particular line of food, ate something else, and because of that he is not available as a witness in support of Dr. Allen's "monodiet" doctrine.

The Arabs seem to have carried the practice of the doctrine the nearest to perfection, because they live to be two hundred years of age by making milk their sole food, and if one of these could have used the milk of only one cow he might still have been a comfort to his family. Dr. Allen, however, does not explain how the obvious difficulty with respect to the one cow could have been overcome.

WHAT THE PRESS IS SAYING

Germany's Three World-Beaters

Germany now lays claim to the three biggest things of their respective kinds in the world. One is a bank, the Deutsche, of Berlin, which by absorbing a smaller institution has run up its capital and reserve to $106,250,000, and its assets to $554,000,000. Another is a steamship company, the Hamburg-American, with $62,875,000 capital and an ocean fleet of 194 vessels and 1,307,411 tonnage. And the third is a brewery.—Vancouver Province.

Unmilitant French Militants

Dealing with suffragettes, John Bull must admit, is another of those things they manage better in France. A body of Parisian militants planned to march from the Bourse to the Place de l'Opera, but when a silver-braided police officer, wearing his best white gloves, stepped up, bowed in his most courtly manner, and remarked to the leader, "Madame, I have instructions not to permit the demonstration," politeness triumphed. One woman, it is true, timidly objected that they were going to the Place de l'Opera, but his polite reply, "Oh no, madame; I must ask you to go in the opposite direction," was irresistible. The murmur ran down the line, "The police will not let us go on. We had better go home."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Not Many Youngsters

In the British house of commons there are only seven members between 21 and 30, only three between 80 and 90, and only one over 90, to which a touch of irony is added by the fact that his name is Young. More than half the members of the house are between 40 and 60, and the greatest number for any one decade is 207 between 50 and 60. The average for the whole house is just under 51.—Chicago Tribune.

THIS DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

Amongst the early governors of Upper Canada was Sir Francis Gore, a soldier, who, despite the fact that he looked like a good-humored country squire, proved anything but a satisfactory ruler. He was extraordinarily obstinate, and during his first six years' period of residence in the country contrived to antagonize many of its people.

Probably it was very fortunate that at the commencement of the war of 1812 he chanced to be absent in England, and that, while the country was free from his irritating presence, the duties of administration fell upon the shoulders of the very popular Gen. Brock. When, in 1815, after the close of the war, he returned from England, his friends got up an address of welcome for him, but he soon proved himself as arbitrary as ever.

Annoyed at some projected measure of the members of the assembly, he declared that he "would dismiss the rascals," says Mr. Yeigh—a threat "which he carried out to the letter by going down to the house in his ordinary undress garb and sending them home with a few words, as strong as they were uncourtly, ringing in their ears."

This abrupt proceeding, according to an entry in the Journal, occurred, "to the great surprise of all members," on Monday, April 7, at 11 a.m.

AT THE THEATRES

Helen Gardner's great Cleopatra will be shown at the Gem threatre tonight. This motion picture is the largest and most superb dramatic expression of the motion picture art ever achieved. It is distinctly in a class to itself. Nearly three miles of films were employed in the work of production, and out of this was selected the one mile of film which constitutes the complete picture. The time required to project the picture is approximately one hour and a half. A splendid corps of the highest salaried artists, carpenters, property men, modellers, costumers, etc., was occupied two months in preparing for the work, while over three months were employed in rehearsing and taking the picture. The actual cost of the entire production was $145,000. In the course of the action of the drama, Miss Gardner wears jewels, rare textures and quaint Oriental weaves that cost over $100,000. Two of her costumes were made of material several hundred years old—heirlooms purchased by a maternal ancestor in Egypt in the seventeenth century. The picture is remarkable for its refined sumptuousness, its tremendous dramatic power and gripping interest, and its entire freedom from those vulgarities common to Oriental dramas. In short, the picture was produced for American men and women of culture and taste. Miss Marie Shepard, who will appear for the last time here, will sing her new songs as only Miss Shepard can sing them.

A well filled house greeted the Frank Morton company at the opera house last night. The offering was "The Kid from Chicago," and the bill went with a vim from start to finish. Frank Morton, as the Kid, gave a clever and breezy impersonation of the character and Gladys Vaughn created a good impression by her quaint rendering of the song "Heaven Will Protect the Working Girl," keeping the audience convulsed with laughter throughout the song.

Jack Fleming's rendering of popular classics on the violin received hearty applause and the company created a distinctly good impression.

The dancing of the tango and hesitation waltz by Lawrence and Elliott was most gracefully presented and removed the false impression from some minds of these much discussed dances.

Tonight the same bill will be presented and a different set of dances will be given by Lawrence and Elliott.

TO EXCLUDE FARGO COLLEGE FROM DEBATES

WINNIPEG, April 6.—It has been decided by the universities of North Dakota and Manitoba that Fargo college shall in future be excluded from the international debates. Reasons for this step are not announced. At a meeting of the University Debating union (Manitoba) tonight, this decision was ratified. It is in accord with one already adopted by the University of North Dakota.

A two-year contract will be entered into by the two universities, along with Saskatchewan, to debate at Saskatoon with the University of Saskatchewan and at Winnipeg with the University of Manitoba.

ENGLISH PRINCESS IN GERMAN COURT

A book of memoirs published by Dodd, Mead & Co., author unknown, gives about the best account we have had of relations of Bismarck and the Empress Frederick William, Crown Prince of Prussia, and subsequently Kaiser. Here we read the story of the English girl of the age of 17 called upon to encounter the suspicion and enmity of one of the greatest statesmen produced in the nineteenth century. There was an instructive suspicion and dislike between Bismarck and the Princess Victoria. At the bottom of it was misunderstanding. One seemed to have no sympathy with the other, although on some occasions their aims appeared to be identical. Probably if Bismarck and the English girl had really understood each other there would have been less friction, but never could there have been friendship. Bismarck hated and despised the English, although he never made the mistake of underrating the ability of Victoria, who was, in many respects, one of the most remarkable women of her time.

Disliked the English.

Before he ever saw her Bismarck had a prejudice against the girl who was to become the wife of the Crown Prince. In a letter to a friend he admits that the idea of an English marriage is repugnant to him, because of his dislike to the English He admits, however, that if the girl becomes a good German there is hope for her, since reports speak of her very highly. Bismarck's information as to the qualities of the future Empress are borne out by others. In one of Richard Cobden's letters mention is made of a conversation with Mr. Buchanan, at that time the American minister and later on the president of the United States. Mr. Buchanan had met the Princess at dinner and described her in these words: "All life and spirit, full of frolic and fun with an excellent head and a heart as big as a mountain." There will not be much arrangement as to the personal charm of the girl. Even Bismarck acknowledged it. She was a lovely woman, and there was every excuse for the Crown Prince falling desperately in love with her.

Frank and Untactful.

She was a great enough woman, probably, to have been even Bismarck to her will, or at least, to have defeated his plots against her, had she added to her other gifts that of tact. Unfortunately for her she was very outspoken, making no concealment of her likes and dislikes, and blurting out her opinions whenever they were asked without regard for anything else. On her first meeting with Bismarck she did not hide the fact that she had formed certain conceptions of his character, which were, on the whole, unfavorable. She joked with him about his ambition to be the President of a German republic. She laughed at the Prussian aristocracy, remarking that there were two or three untitled people in Liverpool alone whose plate would put in the shade that of the Prussian royal family. She showed no respect for the Prussians who took pride in their ancient lineage, and openly showed her preference for the society of musicians, painters and authors who had no claim to distinction but their own merits. This untactfulness and bluntness prepared the ground for the seed that Bismarck soon began to sow. She was unpopular, and it was easy enough to place her in a false position, to represent that she was English through and through, and had no sympathy with Prussian aspirations.

Bismarck's Agents Busy.

Bismarck feared her because he saw that she had great influence with her husband and because the day was approaching when King William would pass from the scene and the Crown Prince become Emperor. He set himself the task of alienating the affections of her father-in-law, and because of the frankness of the Crown Princess this was not difficult. She was surrounded with spies and scandal mongers. When the country was at war with France, she was represented as being the friend of the French and a circumstantial story that achieved great credence was to the effect that on one occasion she and thumped the table with her fist and declared that Paris would not be bombarded. She was held responsible for the declaration of her husband to the effect that he did not sympathize with the repressive measures concerning the German press which had been put into force. This utterance, by the war, nearly resulted in the arrest and imprisonment of the Crown Prince, and is known in German history as the Dantzig incident.

Craved for Enemy's Sympathy.

The Princess's activities in behalf of the German soldiers in the course of the war helped to remove some of the false impressions that had been created, but, unfortunately for her the war still further solidified Bismarck's fame and in the struggle between the two she continued to fight a losing battle. The hundred days' reign of her husband was no triumph for her. Her illness resulted in a noted English specialist being called, and this was represented as a slight to the German profession. When her husband died she was treated almost as a suspected murderess. A cordon of soldiers was drawn about the palace in order that none of his documents might be removed until they had been inspected by the new emperor.

THIS STOMACH REMEDY REMARKABLY SUCCESSFUL

Therefore, when we offer you Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets with this proof of our faith in them, it leaves you no room for hesitation or doubt.

The remarkable success of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets is due to the fact that they contain, among other things, Bismuth and Pepsin, two ingredients endorsed by the medical profession as invaluable in the treatment of stomach ills. NEARLY DIED OF STONE IN THE BLADDER

GIN PILLS SAVED HIM

513 JAMES ST., HAMILTON, ONT.

"Five years ago, I was taken down with what the doctors called Inflammation of The Bladder—intense pains in back and loins, and difficulty in urinating, and the attacks, which became more frequent, amounted to unbearable agony. I became so weak that I could not walk across the floor.

My wife read in the papers about GIN PILLS and sent for a box. From the very first, I felt that GIN PILLS were doing me good. The pain was relieved at once and the attacks were less frequent.

In six weeks, the Stone in the Bladder came away. When I recall how I suffered and how now I am healthy and able to work, I cannot express myself strongly enough when I speak of what GIN PILLS have done for me." JOHN HERMAN. 178

GIN PILLS are sold at 50c a box—6 for $2.50. Sent on receipt of price if your dealer does not handle them. Sample box free if you write us, mentioning this paper. Money back, if GIN PILLS do not give satisfaction. National Drug & Chem. Co. of Canada, Limited, Toronto.

RESIDENT ENGINEER ARRIVES IN CITY

Will Take Up Residence and Office Quarters Here—Nelson More Central Point.

J. P. Forde, resident federal public works engineer, whose headquarters have recently been ordered changed from Revelstoke to Nelson, arrived in the city last night to arrange for the opening of his new offices here and registered at the Strathcona. Though office accommodation has not yet been secured Mr. Forde expects to be permanently located within the next few days.

The transfer of the office has been made, states Mr. Forde, in accordance with instructions from the chief engineer on the ground that Nelson is a more central point than Revelstoke from which to handle the work of the department in Kootenay district.

"While we had naturally many regrets at leaving Revelstoke, which had been our home for the past 10 years and where we have many good friends, yet I feel confident that the change will be greatly in the interest of the work of the department," said Mr. Forde, speaking of the change last night.

In addition to looking up office quarters Mr. Forde hopes during the coming week to be able to secure a residence in Nelson in order that he may bring his family to the city within a very short time and he said last night that from his knowledge of the people and surroundings of Nelson he feels sure that while it was with reluctance that they left Revelstoke it will be but a very short time until they will be pleased to call Nelson their home.

Styanich was sentenced on April 4 to four months in jail on a charge of theft by Stipendiary Magistrate Dewdney of Greenwood. Ram Singh, a Hindu, was brought in from Grand Forks by Chief of Police Savage. Ram was sentenced to serve six months in the provincial jail on a charge of theft, by W. B. GAME WORTH EIGHTY-SEVEN THOUSAND DOLLARS KILLED

REGINA, Sask., April 6.—The annual meeting of the Saskatchewan Game Protective association will be held on Friday, when delegates from all portions of the province will assemble in Regina. It is expected that the convention will recommend important changes in the game laws.

During the big game season of 1913 it is estimated that 1,170 animals of an average value of $75, or a total of $87,750, were killed in Saskatchewan. These figures are based on returns, not yet complete, received by the chief game guardian of the province. Reports to date show that 470 moose, 328 deer, 60 elk, 15 antelope and five caribou were killed during the season, extending from Nov. 15 to 30.

This Will Stop Your Cough in a Hurry

Save $2 by Making This Cough Syrup at Home.

This recipe makes 16 ounces of better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50. A few doses usually conquer the most obstinate cough—stops even whooping cough quickly. Simple as it is, no better remedy can be had at any price.

Mix two cups of granulated sugar with one cup of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a 16-ounce bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. It has a pleasant taste and lasts a family a long time. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. Has a good tonic effect, braces up the appetite, and is slightly laxative, too, which is helpful. A handy remedy for hoarseness, croup, bronchitis, asthma and all throat and lung troubles.

The effect of pine on the membranes is well known. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norwegian white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this formula.

This Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe has attained great popularity throughout the United States and Canada. It has often been imitated, though never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to the Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

COPPER EXPORTS TO BREAK RECORD

March Shipments Expected to Reach Hundred Million Pounds—Visible Supply in Europe Less.

(Special to The Daily News)

BUTTE, Mont., April 6.—Copper is strong. Lake is 14 3-4 to 15 cents and electrolytic is 14 1-2 to 14 3-4 cents a pound. The feature of the market is the continued heavy foreign buying. If the export movement persists as strong as it has been during the past 26 days, all previous outgoing records will be broken by shipments of approximately 100,000,000 lbs. in March. It is apparent that a further heavy reduction is now being made in the world's visible supply, which will be recorded in the next statement of the Copper Producers' association. There is every prospect that the price of the metal will continue to go higher.

In face of record-breaking exports in January and only a little less in February, copper stocks shrunk still further in the first two weeks of March. The amount was small, but the tendency indicated of the greatest importance. Surprise is expressed over the figure of exports and even absurd stories are afloat of the tactics employed to produce these results. Those who adopt this attitude lose sight entirely of the fact that surplus stocks of copper abroad are now but 60,000,000 lbs., as compared with 100,000,000 lbs. a year ago at this time: 141,000,000 in 1912; 223,000,000 in 1911; 254,000,000 in 1910, and 117,000,000 in 1909. There are just two sources from which the consumption of copper can be supplied, viz: current production and surplus stocks. If the latter have been reduced to a working minimum, current production must supply the entire consumption. Very nearly this point has been reached abroad. Hitherto, surplus stocks have been heavily drawn upon, as the steadily decreasing figures show, for a large part of the requirements; henceforth these must be supplied entirely from current production. It is therefore to be expected that exports will average much higher in the future than in the past.

Visible copper supplies in England, France and afloat thereto on April 1 were 1,792 tons, decrease 705 tons past fortnight. Visible at Rotterdam, Hamburg and Bremen on April 1 were 8,235 tons, increase 78 tons since March 16. Supplies at Otterdam increased 50 tons. Hamburg increase 51 tons. Bremen decrease 22 tons.

Total copper exports for March, exclusive of southern and Pacific ports, amounted to 45,973 tons, the largest on record.

PROFITS FROM LOW GRADE ZINC ORES

Colorado Operators Hope to Make Money Out of Eighteen Per Cent Rock.

Efforts to make productive properties long idle by handling low grade zinc ores at home are being made by a number of operators in Colorado. The Mining and Financial Record of Denver, says:

"The Alaskan-Yukon mine of Gunnison, which is located two miles and a half above the mouth of the Cochetopa, about 15 miles from this city, has been leased for 90 days. Bruce Redden and D. L. Gray have an option on it for the 90 days and during that time will unwater it and place it in good working condition. This mine, which is one of the best zinc propositions in the country, is owned by J. M. McDougal of this city. The vein is said to be over 50 feet wide and besides the zinc, which predominates, carries gold and silver values. Messrs. Reuden and Gray started the work on this mine the latter part of last week.

"This mine is one of the oldest in

To Codify Mining Laws.

That the mining laws of the United States soon will be codified and amended so as to be more workable and consistent seems likely in view of the fact that the senate committee on mines and mining has reported for passage Senator Smoot's bill for appointment of a commission to codify and suggest amendments to the mining laws as reported by Senator T. J. Walsh with amendments.

the country but has not been developed greatly. It seems, however, at this time that it can be worked at a big profit, on account of the zinc smelter at Leadville. The zinc smelter, it is said, will handle as low as 14 per cent ore. It is the first in the state to handle this kind of ore and will save the long haul which has been made in the past to outside smelters. The ore in the Alaskan-Yukon carries as high as 49 per cent zinc.

"The zinc smelter which is to be erected in Leadville will be a great asset for the mining industry of Colorado. It is to be put up and operated by Messrs. Augustine and Jones, practical mining men from Oklahoma. They have made a thorough examination of all the conditions in Colorado and are satisfied that the conditions here are satisfactory for such a smelter.

"The great zinc oxide (mineral paint) plant of the country is located at Mineral Point, Wis. The freight on crushed ore (nothing under 18 per cent handled) is $6 per ton, freight on the return product to Colorado is $15 per ton. Mr. Augustine, who is head of the company, says that he is convinced that he can produce zinc oxide in Colorado, save the freight and make a good profit on the investment, besides he has to handle a much lower-grade ore. The smelter here will handle 14 per cent ore, while the other in Wisconsin, which is mentioned, does not handle anything below 18 per cent. The smelter will start with a 50-ton capacity and be increased until 200 tons daily are reached."

Important Changes in Tariff Are Announced

preference is increased from 2 to 3 cents. Amyl alcohol, used in metal varnishes, will henceforth be on the free list. Loose inserts of fashion plates for trade journals can in the future be imported duty free. The list of commodities on which a drawback of 99 per cent is allowed, when manufactured into the finished product, is enlarged so as to include a considerable list of jute cloth and yarns used for the manufacture of socks and stockings. There are about 60 of these, out of a total on the tariff list of 700 items.

A feature of the speech of Hon. Mr. White was his reaffirmation of the national policy as to the ground upon which the Conservative party still stands.

Reaffirms National Policy.

"I desire to affirm," he said, "the adherence of the government to a fiscal policy of reasonable protection to Canadian industries, including, of course, the great basic industry of agriculture. That policy is the historic national policy of Sir John Macdonald. Under that policy Canada has prospered in the past and will continue to prosper in the future. We believe it to be the true policy for Canada and for every part of it, if we are to regard as desirable stable conditions and a diversified national life throughout the Dominion."

Mr. White began his speech at 3:45 and concluded at 9:30.

A. K. Maclean moved the adjournment of the debate. He suggested that it go over until after the Easter recess, owing to the departure of so many members for the Easter holiday. Mr. Borden did not agree, but said that the matter could be considered tomorrow.

Decrease More Acute in Past.

In introducing his budget speech the finance minister first referred to the fiscal year which ended March 31, 1913, and which he said had been characterized by the greatest expansion the Dominion had yet known. The revenue of that year exceeded that of the previous year by $32,000,000 and had enabled the government to pay all current expenditure, all capital and special outlays and reduce the net debt of Canada by over $25,000,000.

With regard to the fiscal year 1913-14 he referred to the prolonged and world-wide financial stringency which, accompanied, as was to be expected, by a restriction of commercial credits and by a limitation upon supply of capital, had resulted in a sharp check upon expansion and a trade slackening not confined to Canada but general throughout the world. He estimated the revenue for the year at $163,000,000, or about $5,000,000 less than the previous year, the falling off being in customs. He recalled the years 1907-08, when similar financial conditions had been attended by similar results, the revenues for 1908-09 having declined more than $11,000,000, or over 11 per cent. The revenue for the year would show a surplus of $36,500,000 above the amount required for ordinary expenditure. Capital and special outlays, including the sum of $19,000,000 for the Canadian Northern and other railway subsidies, would total $57,000,0000, leaving a debit balance of $2,500,000, from which, deducting $1,500,000 invested in sinking fund, the increase in the net debt would be $19,000,000. The revenues had therefore been sufficient to meet all current and capital expenditure, including outlays upon railways, canals, harbors and public buildings, and the debt had been increased only by reason of the unusual and abnormal expenditures upon railway subsidies.

Kept Work Going.

"It must be obvious to all," said Mr. White, "that the taxpayer of today is not expected to defray each year the entire capital cost of works such as railways, canals, harbor improvements, drydocks and other expensive undertakings which once constructed become national assets of the greatest productive value to the Dominion for generations to come. We have been obliged to increase the debt by reason of unusual and abnormal expenditures upon railway subsidies. I believe I am fully justified in making the statement that in the trying financial conditions which have prevailed the last year, the action of the government in coming to the assistance of the railways alone rendered the continuation of these enterprises possible, at all events for the year in question. The consequences of the interruption of the work of construction would have been of a most serious character for the Dominion as a whole."

Has Decreased Debt.

Mr White pointed out that so slight an increase in the debt must be regarded as eminently satisfactory when it was borne in mind that in 1908-09, after a most trying period, the debt was increased by no less than $46,000,000 and that notwithstanding the increase this year the debt would still be several millions less than when the present government took office.

The borrowings for the year had been much greater than the amount by which the net debt had been reduced. This was due to the fact that about $10,000,000 of maturities had been met and to the purchases of Grand Trunk Pacific bonds guaranteed by the government and advances to the Grand Trunk Pacific on account of the loan guaranteed by the Grand Trunk Pacific. These bonds and the loan represented revenue producing assets in the treasury.

An old loan of £1,700,000, issued in 1878, had been paid off on maturity last October, as was also a small currency loan amounting to $1,446,565. There was still outstanding a loan of £5,487,800 redeemable on July 1, 1919, with the option of redemption on or after July 1, 1914, on three months' notice.

"With the money market in its present condition," said the minister, "and our borrowings in consequence being on a 4 per cent basis, it is not our intention to redeem this loan on July 1 next. Unless there is a marked changed in monetary conditions in the early future it is probable that this loan will run its full length to July 1, 1919."

Mr. White added that there were no funded loans coming payable for five years to come.

Used Treasury Bills.

Special outlays and investments for which it was necessary to borrow during the fiscal year were:

Railway subsidies and other special charges, $20,000,000; investment including Grand Trunk Pacific bonds guaranteed by the Dominion, $12,872,233; Grand Trunk Pacific loan (one-half paid this fiscal year), $8,500,000; advances to Montreal and Quebec harbor commissioners, $5,312,000; total, $46,684,332.

The addition of $9,719,898 on account of loans matured brought this total to $56,404,213.

Mr. White pointed out that in June, July and August last, owing to the Balkan war, the troubles in Mexico, etc., the London money market was most unfavorable to the issue of new permanent loans and resort was had to treasury bills, of which £1,000,000 were discounted August 25, 1913; £1,000,000 in September, and £1,700,000 in November. To meet the maturities of £12,000,000 and to provide additional funds for the special outlays of the Dominion £3,000,000 of 4 per cent stock was issued on September 25 at 99 and £4,000,000 in December at 97, of which last £1,000,000 was used to redeem treasury bills due February 16 last.

A further loan of £5,000,000 was made recently to meet £1,000,000 of treasury bills maturing to $7,500,000 and to complete the purchase of the Grand Trunk Pacific bonds guaranteed by the government to the amount of $10,000,000. This loan was placed at 99, two points in advance of the previous issue.

Railway Bonds Asset.

The purchase of the Grand Trunk Pacific bonds had not only enabled the Dominion to make a substantial saving on the amount it would otherwise have been obliged to pay, implementing to par the price which would be realized for these securities if sold, as they would have been from time to time, but also had served to protect the credit of the country from the consequences of the issue of such low interest bearing debentures upon the London market. No less a sum than $24,000,000 had been required to take up these bonds, which were, of course, an asset in the treasury. Mr. White emphasized the fact that guarantees of securities had been reduced so far as the outside world was concerned by over $24,000,000.

In common with all other dominions Canada, Mr. White said, had been obliged to go upon a 4 per cent basis in the sale of securities, and he thought it would be some considerable time before there was even a prospect of a return to lesser rates. The rates of interest which Canada had been obliged to pay were such as the stringent conditions demanded, but were, on the whole, relatively low and "the Dominion still retains the premier place among the self-governing dominions so far as the price of her securities in the London market is concerned."

Referring to the loans issues and the sometimes disappointing response on the part of the public the minister said it was largely due to the fact that the many investors awaited the closing of the lists hoping to buy at better advantage than the underwriters. Referring to the gross debt of the Dominion the minister pointed out that the funded debt payable in London at the close of the last fiscal year was $258,000,000. As to the remainder, sinking funds and investments aggregating $170,000,000 were held, including specie amounting to nearly $100,000,000, against the Dominion note circulation.

Trade Reaches Record Figures.

The trade of Canada as measured by the aggregate of the total imports and total exports had reached in 1913 the record figure of over $1,000,000,000. It was a gratifying feature of this year's trade that the exports had increased in a greater ratio than the imports. While in 1912-13 the percentage of the value of imports to the aggregate trade was nearly 64 per cent up to the end of February, 1913, the percentage of imports to the aggregate of trade for the 11 months ending February 28 last was over 57½ per cent, or about the same proportion as in the year 1908. The increase in exports, while chiefly in agricultural products, would be found to apply to the products of the mines, fisheries, forests, animals and their products and manufactures.

"Notwithstanding the fact that during the current fiscal year Canada had been experiencing with the rest of the world a severe strain upon commercial credits owing to the financial stringency to which I have adverted previously," said Mr. White, "I am pleased to be able to announce that the trade statistics for the year will exceed those of last year, when they amounted to the record figure of over $1,000,000,000. For the 11 months ending February 18, 1914, the total imports were $597,410,415, and the total exports $440,641,104, or a total of $1,038,051,649. When the figures of March are added the record of last year will be substantially exceeded.

"There is no doubt," he continued, "that the severe and prolonged financial stringency through which the business world has passed and from which it is only now emerging marked the culmination of one of those so-called trade cycles well known to economists. Viewing world-wide conditions during the past few years it is apparent that such a cycle has been passed through.

"We have seen normal money conditions, good times throughout the world, the expansion of enterprises, vast increase in capital expenditure upon railway and other construction in Asia, India, Egypt and North and South America. Last year there was experienced a shortage of capital in all the financial centres, with constantly increasing interest rates until after a period of prolonged and severe liquidation and the elimination of vast amounts of inflated values something like normal money conditions again prevail. The world is now in a period of general, but, it is hoped, temporary trade slackening. Without such slackening the financial stringency must have continued. The trade slackening alone could bring it to its appointed end. The conditions I have referred to are world-wide. We are particularly interested in those of Canada. Our production has shown a most gratifying increase in all the great departments of our natural activity.

Time for Confidence and Courage.

"As I have previously shown, in foreign trade this has been our greatest year. What is our present outlook? Bankers and business men unite in the opinion that while it is a time for prudence and caution it is also a time for confidence and courage. The strength of Canada lies in her vast natural resources. Any depression, generally speaking, can be but temporary in character until such time as normal money conditions, joined with business confidence, again restores the wonted activity of the nation. While this is so, we must not close our eyes to the fact that we have been passing through a period of considerable inflation. Our railway policy has resulted in the construction of two vast new system within the past dozen years. Construction upon the main line of these systems is nearing completion. It must, however, be borne in mind that railways are never completed, are always building and rebuilding; are always extending their branches and feeders. I do not, therefore, look for any abrupt cessation in connection with our railway construction.

Realty Setback Salutory.

Dealing with the situation in Canada with regard to real estate the minister said:

"There has been in real estate throughout Canada a long expected setback in values of speculative, suburban and business properties. On the other hand, the values of farm and central business and residence city properties are, generally speaking, not only being maintained, but will undoubtedly, with the growth of the Dominion, tend to appreciation. On the whole, the readjustment which is going on in real estate conditions throughout Canada is recognized as inevitable and salutory. Commercial prospects for the immediate future seem to be encouraging. Conditions, I think, will gradually improve with the returning confidence and easier money."

Dealing with the budget outlook for the new fiscal year, Mr. White said:

"The amount of revenue during the coming year will depend very much upon the trend of business throughout Canada. We have experienced a considerable falling off during the past few months, but it is my expectation that these declines will, with the coming of spring, be relatively smaller and my hope that next fall we may regain the losses, if any, of the earlier part of the year. In any event, I think I may say with confidence that the coming year will provide fully for consolidated fund expenditure and, in large measure, for all capital and special outlays.

"So far as the financial stringency is concerned we may consider that the worst is over. From this time forward until the culmination of the next economic cycle we are, on the economic experience of the past, justified in looking for much more normal conditions. For the immediate future it must not be forgotten that vast refunding operations must still be carried out in London, Paris and other centres, making heavy demands upon the money supply of the world."

Free Wheat Question.

Taking up the duty on wheat and flour, Mr. White said that a matter which has engaged during the year the consideration of the government has been the question of "free wheat," which has been so much under discussion in the west and throughout Canada. The Underwood tariff of the United States which came into effect Oct. 3, 1913, provides that wheat, wheat flour, semolina and other wheat products, shall be entered free of duty from countries which do not impose a duty on wheat or wheat flour or semolina imported from the United States. Duty upon wheat is fixed at 10 cents per bushel and on wheat flour at 45c per barrel, and upon semolina and other products of wheat at 10 per cent advalorem.

"The government has heard influential deputations and received many representations upon both sides of the question. On the one hand it is contended the price of wheat at the great milling centres of Minneapolis is frequently or rather usually higher by several cents per bushel than it is at Winnipeg and that the western wheat grower would in the event of wheat having free entry into the United States get the advantage of higher price. Particularly, it is pointed out that the "spread" in price prevails at certain seasons of the year when the farmer needs to sell his grain and it is most marked in the case of wheat of poorer quality for which the demand for export to Great Britain is comparatively limited. It is also put forward that with "free wheat" the western agriculturists would be benefited by the development of further competitive shipping facilities.

Arguments Against Free Wheat.

"As against these contentions, it is represented that the higher prices at certain seasons at Minneapolis are due to local demand on the part of the millers for hard wheat to mix with the softer varieties for the manufacture of flour; that such demand is limited and consequently in the event of free entry of our wheat to the American market the tide of our hard wheat descending upon Minneapolis, would at once equalize prices on both sides of the line. It is further argued that, as both Canada and the United States are wheat producing countries, the export price at Liverpool governs and will continue to govern, subject to freight and other charges, the price of wheat in Canada and the United States. The opinion has also been expressed that free wheat to the United States would be a detriment rather than an advantage to the grain growers of the west on the ground that by reason of mixing in the United States it would lose its identity and consequently its higher value in the world market at Liverpool. Representatives of milling interests of Canada have protested strongly against the abolition of the present duty of 60 cents per barrel on flour. They point out that the materials entering into the construction of their buildings, their plants and machinery, are all subject to duty and that with the abolition of duties upon flour, they would be in a worse position than under a system of national free trade. They contend that by reason of the geographical situation of the United States and the climatic conditions which give the American miller the benefit of both early and late wheat he enjoys an advantage over them which would speedily give control of Canadian markets to the milling interests of the United States. They claim also that putting of flour on the free list would have the effect of limiting or preventing the extension of the milling industry into the northwest. They urge as a further consideration that there is no such guarantee of permanence of the Underwood tariff provision to which I have referred as to justify them in making the costly attempt to create a market for their higher grade flour in the United States in competing with the highly specialized and powerful milling industries which now control the field.

Mixed Farmers Give Views.

"Representatives of the mixed farming country have put forward the view that bran and shorts, the by-products of flour milling, are essential to the livestock industry upon which all successful agriculture must ultimately depend and they counsel against any step which might close or limit the output of our mills upon whose operations mixed farming so much depends. They point out further that offal is dearer in the United States than in Canada and that the removal of the duty would equalize prices on both sides of the line to their disadvantage.

"So much for the opposing arguments and contentions. Speaking generally, it is not advisable that a nation's tariff shoould be so arranged as to fit into the particular features of that of another nation. This, however, would not be a conclusive reason for not making a change clearly in the national interest. In addition to the weight of the argument which has been presented against the proposed tariff change and to which I have alluded, it must be borne in mind that Canada has at present nearing completion, two transcontinental lines of railway, in addition to the Canadian Pacific railway, which have cost hundreds of millions to construct and whose purpose and object is to carry the grain of the west to the markets of the world and the products of the manufacturer to the consumer. The government of Canada is also building a railway to Hudson Bay, with the object of gaining a shorter route to Great Britain and consequently lower freight rates to the western grain grower. On the Pacific coast we are spending vast sums to be prepared for the opening of the Panama canal.

It Is Wisdom to Wait.

"Having regard to all these considerations, we have been unable, after having given the question most painstaking attention, to bring ourselves to the view that so great a change, involving by possibility such serious consequences, should be favorably considered until at least we are more certain as to the outcome of our vast railway development and the result to the western grain grower of the opening of the competitive routes which will be afforded by the Hudson Bay railway and the Panama canal. It is surely the part of wisdom to await the outcome of these developments, rather than to take a step now which might involve the risk of grave and irreparable injury to our milling, and by consequence to our livestock industry and our transportation systems through the diversion of traffic to routes other than Canadian. In the meantime, realizing the economic conditions surrounding grain production in the west and the supreme and vital necessity that the net price of his grain to the farmer should be as high as the circumstances of storage facilities and rail, lake and ocean transportation will permit, the government will continue to devote itself to the solution of the question."

Adheres to National Policy.

In opening the portion of his speech dealing with the tariff, Mr. White enunciated the principles guiding the government in the formulation of its fiscal policy. He felt that anything in the nature of an extensive revision of the tariff was not called for by existing conditions and would be contrary to public interest. However, on account of changing conditions affecting certain industries, it had become necessary to make a certain number of changes, modifications and adjustments, some of them of rather an important character.

"I desire," said Mr. White, "to affirm the adherence of the government to a fiscal policy of reasonable protection to Canadian industries, including, of course, the great basic industry of agriculture. That policy is the historic national policy of Sir John A. Macdonald, inaugurated by him and followed by his successors in office down to the present time. We believe it is the best, indeed, the only, and in a sense, the inevitable policy for Canada, situated as it is geographically and in the existing fiscal condition of the world today. Under that policy Canada has prospered in the past and will continue to prosper in the future. We believe it to be the true policy for Canada and for every part of it, if we are to regard as desirable stable business conditions and a diversified national life throughout the Dominion. It means the development of our natural resources, the maintenance and extension of our industries, fair wage standards for our artisans and stable and profitable home market for our farmers, thus justifying its name as a national policy—a policy in the interests of the nation as a whole. The evils of a high protective tariff are too well known to need explanation here. The best evidence of a moderate protective tariff are to be found in the fact that our tariff today imposes an average rate of duty on dutiable goods of about 26 per cent. whereas the Underwood duty, which is supposed to have substantially cut down the protective duties of the Payne-Aldrich tariff, has been authoritatively reported as imposing an average duty upon dutiable goods of about the same percentage as ours of today.

Subject to Changes.

"While making this declaration or reaffirmation of fiscal policy, I do not wish to be understood, nor do I wish the national policy to be understood as laying down the proposition that individual duties may not, with changing conditions, be lowered or abolished when circumstances warrant or the public so requires."

Turning to the particular question of the iron and steel industry in Canada he said during the last few years the government had from time to time been asked to give further aid or protection in the way of bounties or by increasing the tariff on its products. He pointed out that great efforts had been made in the past by bounties and protective duties to develop and promote this industry. From 1896 to 1910 alone, sums aggregating at least $15,000,000 were paid out by way of bounties on the production of pig iron, steel billets and other steel manufactures. In 1910 the bounty legislation came to an end and was not renewed by the late government, who evidently believed that the iron and steel enterprises promoted by liberal outpouring of public money, should, with the protection afforded by the tariff, be able to continue to prosper without further direct public aid. There was no doubt that among a large portion of the public there was decided objection to the principle of bounties.

For New Industries.

"My own view," said Mr. White, "is that bounties are justified in calling into being new industries, where capital, which is always timid to experimental ventures, requires special inducement to enter upon the development but if such enterprises have been called into being and firmly established, it is difficult to justify further aid of a direct enactment."

Mr. White said it was his view and he believed it had been the view of most at least, of his predecessors that the tariff upon pig iron and billets of steel which were the raw material to such a wide variety of industries should be of moderate amount only, to raise the existing duties on these products would necessitate an increase of duty on nearly all the products into which they entered as material. These would embrace all agricultural implements, all foundry and machine manufactures products, stoves and a multitude of other articles in general use, whose prices would be raised to the consumer. The difficulties in the way of increasing the duties upon pig iron and steel billets would, he thought, be apparent to all and required no further demonstration.

During the past two years, 1912 and 1913, the steel companies, speaking generally, enjoyed a prosperous trade, following the financial stringency of last year, there had come somewhat of a check. But as railroad building must always continue, the outlook for the coming year and for the future interests in this regard must still be considered as good. It was a fact, however, that conditions had changed to this extent, that the demand for steel rails is not likely to be as great in the future as in the recent past and the steel plant must now consider a variation in output to meet the changing conditions.

Will Extend Industry.

Mr. White explained that at the present time iron and steel beams of not less than 35 lbs. per lineal yard carry a duty of $2, British preferential $2.75 intermediate and $3 general tariff per ton. The duty on mill products up to 35 lbs. per lineal yard is $4.25, $6 and $7 respectively. He said that when the tariff was arranged the large product was not made in Canada. Recently the Algoma Steel company and other steel corporations had reported to the government that if the tariff rates were changed, they would extend their construction to heavier products and erect larger mills for this purpose. The government had, therefore, decided to take authority by order-in-council to increase the duty on all mill products up to 120 lbs. per lineal yard to the $4.25, $6 and $7 rates per ton.

The minister then announced that the government had acquiesced in representations made by the steel companies that wire rods, which are now on the free list, should receive a moderate rate of protection. There were, he said, large mills at Hamilton and Sydney, which were only in partial operation. This proposal, he said, had been proposed more by the nail makers than the two companies mentioned. On nails the existing duty was 60 cents per keg, an average of about 30 per cent. The government proposed to place a duty on wire rods of $2.25, British preference, and $3.50 intermediate and general per ton. Mr. White assured the house that if the manufacturers to whom this favor was being granted took advantage of the benefit to oppress the consumers, the duty would be lowered. There would be, in connection with this change, he said, a provision for a drawback duty on wire of the gauges of 9, 12 and 13, which are used for farm fences.

The minister announced an increase in the existing draw-back on imported pig iron, which is used in the manufacture of articles for export. This was a technical provision which would be clarified by a resolution to be presented to the house later. With the present drawback, he said, the manufacturers for export have a splendid inducement to buy pig iron abroad because only one-third of the duty paid on raw material comes under the drawback when the imported ore has been smelted down with Canadian ore. Under the new regulation a drawback of the entire duty would be provided.

Drawback on Coke Coal.

Hon. Mr. White also announced that charcoal for pig iron production would be on the free list the same as coke is at present, and it was further proposed that bituminous coal, when imported for the purpose of manufacturing coke for smelting and foundry use should be allowed a drawback of 99 per cent of the duty.

Mr. White said that under the present tariff wrought iron or seamless iron, or steel tubing over four inches in diameter was subject to a duty of 10 per cent British preference, 12½ per cent intermediate and 15 per cent general, tubing four inches or less in diameter was subject to rates of 20, 30 and 35 respectively. He proposed to increase the duty to these latter figures on all tubing up to 10 inches in diameter. The 99 per cent granted in drawback on imported tubing has been changed to 55 per cent.

Agricultural Implements.

Mr. White in the evening took up the question of agricultural implements. He said that all governments in Canada had recognized it was important to fix the duties on agricultural implements as reasonable as possible, having regard to the general policy. It was important that the implements of the farmers should cost them as little as possible. The average rate of duty under the tariff of the late government was 26 per cent. The average rate of duty on agricultural implements is 17½, and 20 per cent.

Mr. White said that the tariff of any country was a structure, one part dependent on another. The rates were inter-related, one to another. To arbitrarily lower and abolish duties, he said, may not only result in the gravest injustice, but would result in the loss of confidence in the whole business world. For this reason it was unusual to make many tariff changes except on occasion of a general revision. The whole problem of the tariff should be considered as a whole and thus avoid a general business disturbance as far as possible.

Mr. White asked what would be the position of manufacturers of agricultural implements if the duty was abolished. He paid duty on the materials which went into his factories. He paid duty on the machinery, coal, iron forging, bolts, castings and all the other articles of his finished products. The duty on these ranged from 20 to 30 per cent. On what principle would they sweep away all duties on agricultural implements. Were they prepared to take a further step and abolish duties upon all products entering into the manufacture of such implements? Only by so doing would they accomplish the end in view, for only then could the Canadian manufacturer hold his own with the implement makers of the United States.

Would Help American Trust.

The cost of production, he said, was necessarily higher than in the republic because the total amount of machinery manufactured was a great deal less. The freight rates also were much lower from Chicago to Winnipeg than from Hamilton to Winnipeg. The Canadian manufacturer was at a disadvantage to his American competitor. If they swept away all duties, the result would be that they transfer the implement business of Canada to the United States and depopulate some of the Dominion's most thriving towns in order that the American trust might gain the Canadian market.

Mr. White said there were 77 establishments in Canada, with an invested capital of $45,000,000, employing some 9,500 men, and paying out annual salaries of $5,500,000. The value of the finished product was $20,700,000 per year.

Proceeding, Mr. White said that the adoption of a policy of free agricultural implements as advocated by the Liberals would undoubtedly destroy the industry. Those engaged in the manufacture of implements have felt and are feeling the conditions. The position has been aggravated by the credit system which makes the companies banker for at least some of those to whom they sell. Owing to these conditions, the output last year was not equal to the preceding year and the same thing would apply to the next 12 months.

Duty Reduced.

"Having regard to the conditions to which I have referred," continued Mr. White, "likewise the financial conditions, I say that extensive highhanded or arbitrary action would result in disaster. We are not here to destroy but to promote Canadian industry. I say that is our mandate from the people of Canada. We have approached the subject in a rational way. We have made inquiry and investigation for over a year past into the cost and price of agricultural implements on both sides of the line. We have made inquiry into the factory costs and output and have examined the balance sheets of manufacturers to see whether they are making a profit."

Mr. White then announced as a result of the inquiry made he had decided that the duties should be changed on only one class of agricultural implements without disturbing the industry. This class included harvesters, reapers, binders and mowers. These, he said, were manufactured by four firms: The Massey-Harris company, Toronto; The International Harvester company of Hamilton; Frost & Wood, Smith Falls, and the Nixon company of Ingersoll. There were, he said, a couple of points of difference whereby the manufacturers of these implements have an advantage over the makers of other implements. In the first place they are among the most highly developed industries in the world. They have been brought to a high state of perfection in both Canada and the United States.

It was a matter of pride that Canadian makers were not only able to hold their own, but in many cases to beat their competitors in the markets of the world. In the second place, he said, the makers of this line of implements enjoy a drawback on iron and steel used in their production, which is equivalent to about 2½ per cent on all harvesters and mowers made in Canada. Having regard, therefore, to the highly developed nature of this industry and the drawback it enjoys, the government, after careful consideration had to come to the conclusion that the duty on harvesters, reapers, binders and mowers could stand a reduction from the point of tariff from 17 to 12½ per cent.

The announcement was greeted by Conservative cheers, the ministerial supporters calling across the floor to the Liberals:

"Why don't you cheer?"

"Take it all off," came back the Liberals.

Double That of Reciprocity.

This reduction, Mr. White pointed out, was just double what was proposed in the celebrated reciprocity agreement. He added that having regard to the greater output and lower freight rates enjoyed by the American manufacturers, the proposed reductions were as much as it was advisable to make if we are to retain the great industries of Canada. This would, with the drawback, practically put this class of implements on a 10 per cent basis.

Ditching machinery had been put on the free list last year, but inadvertently parts for repairs had been omitted and it is now proposed to place parts needed for repairs also on the free list.

He said at present there was a 15 per cent duty on rough stone, and 21 per cent on dressed stone, but the margin was more than nullified by the freight rates, because in the dressing which added to the value, there was enough weight taken off to counterbalance the duty.

To Give Work to Cutters.

This was a disadvantage to the Canadian stonecutters and the government had been petitioned for such a modification of the item as would permit rough stones to come in free, which would give work to Canadian cutters. Accordingly it was proposed that stone sawn on two sides would remain as today at the 20 per cent while stone sawn on four sides should have a duty of 15 cents per 100 ✗3, which would be equal to an ad valorem rate of 30 per cent. Upon stone planed turned, cut or further improved the duty would be 45 cents per 100 lbs., which was equal to 30 per cent ad valorem.

It had also been decided to place a duty upon caustic soda and hypochloride of lime, which were now free. The Canadian Salt company, at Windsor, had been manufacturing these products for three years and was today producing one-third of Canada's requirements of caustic soda. It was hoped with the duty added that they would be able to produce it all.

Enquiry Into Iron Ore Question.

Brass was the next item dealt with. In the tariff of 1907 there had been a 10 per cent duty on brass in sheets, bars and rods. It was not then manufactured in Canada, and in 1908 an order-in-council placed these items on the free list. Recently a new $250,000 plant had been established at West Toronto, and it now proposed to restore brass rods, bars and sheet to the 10 per cent duty.

He passed on to the question of a bounty upon iron ore. The question had been brought up by the member for Thunder Bay in the house this session, and had also been discussed in the press and in the Ontario legislature. The government felt that at present it had not sufficient information before it as a basis for intelligent action. It was proposed, therefore, to have inquiry made by the mines department this summer to ascertain the extent and availability of Canada's iron ore products, the character of the ore and complete information as to improved methods of treatment.

He had also taken up the question of the development of flax fibre production in Canada. The success of this would depend upon the efficiency of flax pulling and flax manufacturing machinery. He was unable to say if the industry was one with which Canada's labor conditions would make possible.

Surtax to Be Flexible.

The minister then detailed an amendment to section 7 of the Customs act. This act provides that upon imports from countries which discriminate against imports from Canada or from Canadian shipping, there may be imposed a surtax amounting to one-third of the duty. Mr. White pointed out that this amount, one-third, was inflexible, whereas other countries having similar taxation had a provision that the amount of the surtax was within the discretion of the government. He proposed that the surtax to be imposed by Canada should be to an amount not exceeding 20 per cent.

When Mr. Graham resumed his seat he was greeted with loud Conservative cheers.

DID NOT KNOW MUCH ABOUT COAL COMPANY

To A. E. Watts, of Wattsburg, Norman Harris, financial editor of Toronto Saturday Night, has written the following letter:

"Dear Sir:—

The clipping bureau has forwarded to us in the usual way on extract from The Nelson News of March 14, 1914, which is a communication from yourself to the editor of The Daily News referring to statements made by Saturday Night on the Boundary Mining company. It would appear to me quite possible from reading your frank statement that we have done your corporation more or less an injustice and I take the first opportunity available to explain that in order to secure an curate British Columbia mining news, we avail ourselves of the services of a British Columbia mining engineer who is supposed to be a conservative man and to understand the situation thoroughly. Possibly we asked too much of him but it finally appeared that he was quite inaccurate in many of the reports he sent in, so much so in fact that we concluded it better to dispense with his services. This we have done. We naturally have not much real information as to just what shape your company is in, but we stand ready to publish any fair comment that you desire to make on what appeared in Saturday night."

Yours very truly
(Signed) NORMAN HARRIS
Financial Editor

Mr. Watt's reply is:

"Dear Sir:—In the matter of your erroneous statements regarding the Boundary Mining & Exploration Company, Limited. As you have taken the manly stand we expected of you, that is, you have made reparation by offering to publish any fair comment I may make and you have dismissed the mining engineer who was guilty of making false reports, in return I compliment you on your manly attitude in the matter and withdraw any severe criticism which may have been undeserved by your journal.

"I accept your offer to publish any fair comments I may make touching this case and suggest that you publish extracts from "The Inside History of a Mining Company" which I have written, some of which may interest your readers.

"I am sure I shall have your sympathy and support in educating public opinion to the point of insisting upon legislation being enacted along similar lines to those contained in the measure known as the "Blue Sky Law" of Kansas, which would would enhance the credit of Canada in the great financial centres of the world and protect the investors and at the same time would assist legitimate mining and other ventures of merit.

"I thank you for your promptness in expressing your desire to do that which is just. Common justice is appreciated by 99 per cent of the human race, most of whom are honest when they think they can afford to be so."

carrying green flags, assembled outside parliament tonight to celebrate the passage of the bill. They cheered wildly when the result of the vote was announced and gave ovations to the members of the government and Nationalist leaders as they left the house.

Talk Peace—Sharpen Knife.

(Western Associated Press Special Cable.)

LONDON, April 7.—The Daily Graphic this morning summarized the political situation as a day nearer "civil war." It is admitted that the closing scenes of the home rule debate has not furthered the hopes of a compromise.

"The division on the second reading of the bill," says the Graphic editorially, "was taken with a settlement a long way distant. Everybody was crying 'peace' but sharpening the knife at the same time.

Little talk is heard in the parliamentary lobbies of a compromise, the Unionists, in analyzing the division lists, making a great point of the reduction of the government majority. Last night's returns show that the government majority included 245 Liberals, 75 Nationalists, 36 Laborites. The minority was composed of 274 Unionists and two Liberals.

Carson May Run In Fife.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

LONDON, April 7.—Nothing can be definitely ascertained from the leaders of the Tory party in the East Fife division. It was decided on Sunday night that there should be no contest and when the Conservative executive met yesterday it was assumed that the meeting would formally ratify the decision of the chairman and secretary, but the obstinate minority, anxious for a fight at all costs, reveals itself. Col. A. Sprott himself has changed his mind and wants to contest the seat.

It appears that the Ulster members of the Unionist executive of East Fife are strongly opposed to the idea that Premier Asquith should have a walkover and are moving heaven and earth to get somebody to oppose him. They are ready with money and are prepared to flood the constituency with missionaries from Ulster.

"The latest rumor," says the Chronicle, "is that Sir Edward Carson is going to resign his seat to fight the prime minister. Should there be any chance of contest, Premier Asquith will speak at Levin on Thursday night and in the meantime several Liberal meetings have been arranged for today and Wednesday."

Resent O'Brienite Action

(Canadian Associated Press Cable)

LONDON, April 7.—There is considerable resentment among Liberals at the abandonment of the home rule bill by the O'Brienites, just when it is nearing its final stage. William O'Brien and Tim Healy voted last year for the second and third readings of the bill. Healy in his speech yesterday referred with scorn more than once to the government's offer of temporary exclusion of Ulster and said Ireland would have been better off during the last seven or eight years under home rule.

Mr. Redmond declared that he would go a long distance in the direction of giving increased representation to the Unionists in an Irish parliament, especially in the south and west for the sake of a settlement.

In Sir Edward Carson's speech, Sir John Simon, attorney general, recognized a great and significant advance on the offer of the government respecting Ulster. Sir John said it was still open to Bonar Law, on behalf of the opposition, to offer his consent to the bill as amended by the Ulster proposals if approved at the federal election. Furthermore, he expressed his willingness to renew conversations if desired.

ASKS RESIGNATION OF PUBLIC PROSECUTOR

President Poincare Declares Caillaux Threatened to Kill Figaro Editor if He Published Letter.

(By Daily News Leased Wire)

PARIS, April 7.—A morning paper understands that the minister of justice has requested the public prosecutor, Victor Fabre, to send in his resignation and adds that in the event of his refusal he will be retired. M. Fabre is entitled to a pension of $1,200.

President Poincare in his deposition before a magistrate personally guaranteed the loyalty and straightforwardness of M. Calmette, it is pointed out, yet M. Caillaux broke off the conversation with the president by the threat "if he does that I will kill hm."

In his deposition the president says he was so deeply impressed by the distraught condition of M. Caillaux, upon whom all his reasonings seemed ineffectual, that he finally advised him to see M. Bernard, who had acted for him in his divorce proceedings. M. Bernard was a friend of M. Calmette and would be in a position to ascertain if M. Caillaux' suspicions were justified, and if so, might be able to stop the threatened publication of M. Caillaux' private letters.

The minister thanked the president, but said he would be engaged all afternoon in the senate and would be unable to see M. Bernard.

President Poincare then remarked that M. Bernard was an old friend of his and that he expected him to call at the Elysee palace that afternoon. He promised to speak to him, which he did. M. Bernard agreed to see both Caillaux and Calmette, although he was of the same opinion as the president, that M. Calmette was incapable of publishing the letters. The president learned later that M. Bernard did see M. Caillaux at the close of the afternoon, but it was too late.

WANTS COMMISSION TO ENQUIRE INTO RACING

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 6. — The legislature tonight adopted a resolution requesting the government to appoint a commission to inquire into horse racing and the existence of gambling in connection therewith. A report is to be made to the legislature in 1916.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR SIMILKAMEEN

Activity in Similkameen Promises to Be Great During Coming Summer—Big Showings.

For the last few days several carloads of supplies and horses have been shipped into Princeton from outside points for the contractors Guthrie, McDougall & Co., who have a contract covering 87 miles on the Kettle Valley railway. Now that the people of Princeton and Similkameen valley generally have won their contest for the main line of the Kettle Valley railway to build to Princeton, instead of taking the Aspen Grove route, by the efforts of the member, L. W. Shatford, M. P. P., from strong opposition backed by the Duke of Portland, Aspen Grove and Nicola Valley people, railway construction from the end of the line at Osprey lake to Princeton will be rushed to completion by this fall. Jacobs & Werdenhoff are reported to have the contract for the first five miles from Princeton east.

The end of the Kettle Valley rails to the west are at the summit, near the headwaters of the Coldwater river. From this point both the Great Northern railway and the Kettle Valley lines are interested in pushing on the construction down the Coquahalla river to Hope. Both abutments are now complete on the large Kettle Valley bridge over the Fraser river at Hope; work on the western shore was completed last Wednesday. The Vancouver, Victoria & Eastern railway (G. N. R.) has its grading about completed up the Otter valley from Tulameen and is expected to lay steel on the completed sections shortly.

Gives Mines Transportation.

J. L. Logie of Summerland, right-of-way agent for the Kettle Valley Railway company came in to Princeton last Tuesday and the right-of-way has been decided on from the end of its line as Osprey lake to the British Columbia Portland Cement company's plant at East Princeton. Contrary to the expectations and announcements the route does not follow Five Mile creek to its mouth and then up on the north side of the Similkameen river as expected, but cuts the divide between Five Mile and One Mile creeks about five miles north of the Similkameen river, cutting across Gibson Bros.' farm and others, also giving direct transportation to the United Empire coal and copper mines. It is supposed to join with the spur connecting with the V. V. & E. railway on the south side of the Similkameen river, but no one knows at the present date which way the Kettle Valley railway will come into Princeton. It is rumored that it may join with the Great Northern railway and have a union depot near the present V. V. & E. Princeton depot.

A number of people in Nelson and throughout the Boundary country are interested in the early development of the Similkameen, and are interested to know which way the Kettle Valley railway will enter Princeton. Mr. Logie, the right of way agent, merely asked for the consent of owners of land on the route to permit grading and clearing to begin as soon as the contractors are ready. No money has yet been paid, the permission of owners being necessary to allow construction to go on without hindrance or delay.

C. V. Semerad has started a new stage line running from Princeton to his road house near the end of the Kettle Valley railway on Five Mile creek. N. Houston, of the Princeton Livery and Auto garage runs a daily stage from Princeton to Tulameen calling in at Granite creek and Coalmonte, en route. The Nicola Valley stage line runs a tri-weekly stage from Merritt to Coalmont, connecting with the Great Northern trains for Princeton.

Considerable activity is still going on Copper Mountain where the British Columbia Copper company is developing a large group of claims it has besides its underground work, four diamond drills proving up the large copper deposits at depth, and is now preparing for power-works most of which will be generated by gas power for which the Princeton coals are famous, some of the power, however, will be obtained from the Whipsaw creek which flows into the Similkameen river at the foot of Kennedy mountain, about nine miles south of Princeton.

Development work at Summit camp is still going on at Treasure Mountain, which is controlled in Spokane. A petition of over 200 names was sent to Sir Richard McBride in Victoria petitioning the government for the early completion of the Tulameen wagon road to Summit camp. The Treasure Mountain companies are ready to ship out high grade silver-lead ores, and ship in mining machinery.

The Princeton Coal & Land company is at present only shipping out about two cars of coal per day, but hopes to do better when it can get transportation from the Kettle Valley railway.

Several of the placer leases and holdings up the Tulameen and on Granite creek are being worked for their rich gold and platinum contents. The Snowdon brothers are getting some good looking gold, and Mr. Lambert will have his 350 foot tunnel for hydraulicing purposes completed in a few days.

The British Columbia Copper company which has expended some $650,000 developing its gold-copper properties on Copper Mountain, near Princeton, has changed its name to that of Canada Copper Corporation, Limited. It is now in a position to produce 2,000 tons of ore a day when shipping facilities would warrant such activty, having proved up over 8,000,000 tons of high grade ores by the workings and bore-holes on Copper mountain, so in the near future the Similkameen country will come into its own, with two transcontinental railways, and the development and showings proving up the rich mineral wealth throughout the district.

NEWS OF THE MARKETS

MONEY MARKET EASY IN LONDON

Big Crop of New Issues is Expected After Easter—Forty Million Paid In Dividends.

(Western Associated Press Special Cable)
LONDON, April 6.—The stock market was narrow and confused today, political and holiday influences preventing any broadening of operations. Oil shares and Argentine rails were exceptionally strong. Professional traders were active.
The general carry-over was arranged easily, only a small portion being open. The banks charged stockholders 3 per cent for fortnightly loans, the same as at last settlement, but contangos were lighter in many cases. Consols were firmer and closed 77 7-16, reflecting the success of the Austrian loan, the London portion of which was over-subscribed at mid-day, and the scrip of which now stands at ¼ premium.
The other new scrips were irregular. The Dominion of Canada is quoted at 1½ premium and the city of Winnipeg at ¾ premium.
Sir William Morris, premier of Newfoundland, is about to arrive here and it is expected that a Newfoundland railway loan for $2,000,000 will soon be arranged. Negotiations are understood to have been resumed between the Chinese government and a five-power European banking group for the making of a Chinese loan for $125,000,000 and the discussion will probably be fruitful this time.
A big crop of new issues is expected immediately after Easter.
C. P. R. opened strong but flattened to 211 on selling in Berlin, rebounding, however, and closing at 212¼. Grand Trunk was quiet with dealings limited. Industrial and South American tractions were drooping and flat.
Call money was in easy supply, this supply at 1½. Forty million dollars was disbursed in quarterly dividends on favorite securities, and $25,000,000 in Argentine bills recently issued was paid. The ease is expected to be even more marked next week, following the return of the currency diverted to the provinces for the Easter holidays.
Bill rates were easy, three months paper being quoted at 1¼.

STOCKS

DULL IN NEW YORK.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)
NEW YORK, April 6.—The progressive slowing down of business on the exchange was carried further today and much of the time the market was at a standstill. Speculative conditions were unchanged and no initiative was shown by traders on either side. Price movements were unusually narrow and in only a few cases did they vary as much as a point from Saturday's close.
Almost the only evidence of public interest lay in the sustained inquiry for high grade stocks.
Money which ordinarily at this season of the year would be required for business, is being diverted into bonds of the better grade. The unexpected loss in cash shown in Saturday's bank statement checked the downward course of money rates but it is not expected that there will be any permanent departure from current easy conditions.
C. P. R. showed some heaviness, probably because of a slump in the London market. London was occupied with the settlement, and did virtually nothing here.
Prices of some bonds yielded, but in general the bond market was firm. Total sales, par value, $2,040,000.
U. S. 2's registerd declined ⅛ on call.

BUSINESS SMALL ON MONTREAL STOCK EXCHANGE

(By Daily News Leased Wire)
MONTREAL, April 6.—The market drifted idly today, the volume of business being small and price fluctuations narrow and irregular. A point of interest was Iron, which showed a moderate firmness in the expectation of a favorable announcement in the budget speech. Even this stock, which can usually be depended upon to furnish an interesting market under similar conditions, was affected by the general listlessness in the morning. It fluctuated between 32½ and 32¾, closing there at noon or just level with the final price Saturday. In the afternoon it crept up another ¼ to 33, and then relapsed to 32¾, finishing unchanged on market dealings in about 1,700 shares. The final range, 32¾ asked, 32¾ bid, was up ⅛ from Saturday.
Steel of Canada and Scotia firmed up slightly in sympathy with Iron, of which the common stock of the former arose ½ on purchases of 50 shares. Scotia was inactive but quoted ½ up at 73 bid at the close. Elsewhere the market was exceptionally dull. Power, which was inactive on Saturday, was dealt in to the extent of 35 shares at 224. Final bid at 224¾ was up ¾ from the previous day. The price of Richelieu at 102¾ stood ¼ higher than last Saturday, but closing bids were shaded from 102¼ to 102.
Brazilian sold up ¼ to 84¼ on light deals. The final bid at that price was up ⅛ from the end of the week. C. P. R. showed no change at 206¾ but closed slightly easier at 206½ bid against 206⅝ Saturday. Cement advanced ¼ to 21¾.
Bank of Montreal shares were fairly active at 29 and Commerce at 209½.
In the unlisted department the feature was Wayagamack, which jumped 3¼ to 33½, making a rise of 4½ points in two days. In the late trading it fell back ¾, finishing 32¾ with a net gain of 2¼. The bonds rose 2 to 79, and finished 79¼ bid.

WHEAT PRICES WEAK ON CHIEF MARKETS

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)
WINNIPEG, April 6.—Wheat prices were again weak on the Winnipeg market in sympathy with Liverpool cables and American markets. The influences causing lower figures were cheaper Russian offers and heavy shipments from that country, crop conditions in the winter wheat belt in the United States, and poor demand. Winnipeg opened ⅛ to ¾c lower and closed at a loss for the day of ⅞ to ⅝c. Minneapolis opened ¼ to ⅜c lower and closed ⅛ to ⅝c decline. Chicago opened ¾ to ⅞c lower and closed ¼ to ⅝c lower. Liverpool closed ⅜c lower; Paris unchanged; Berlin ⅛c higher; Budapest 2¾c lower and Antwerp unchanged.
The cash inquiry was quiet, although some few thousand bushels of No. 2 northern were worked for May delivery; other grades were quiet, while oats and flax were not in demand. Cash wheat closed ⅛ to ⅝c lower. Cash oats closed ¼c higher for all grades. Cash barley closed unchanged to ¼c higher and cash flax closed ⅝c to 1c lower.
Winnipeg wheat close—May 90⅛; July 92¼; Oct. 87⅞.
Oats—May 36; July 37¼.
Flax—May 1.39⅛; July 1.42; Oct. 1.43.
Minneapolis wheat close—May 88⅛; July 89¾; Sept. 87⅝.
Chicago—May 90⅝; July 86¾; Sept. 86⅜.

CAN TEST FOR RADIUM WITH PHOTOGRAPHIC PLATE

Here is the process that the United States bureau of mines advises for testing rock for radium:
Take a photographic plate and wrap it in two thicknesses of black paper. This, of course, is to be done in dark room. On top of the wrapped-up plate lay a key, or a coin, or any metallic object possessing a characteristic outline—the key is usually employed. Then suspend directly over the key a specimen of the suspected rock, or ore, weighing at least two or three ounces. Do not let it press upon the key or the plate.
Finally put the entire apparatus inside a light-tight box. Of course, the whole proceeding must take place in the darkroom, with no more illumination than that furnished by a photographer's red light, and as little as possible of that. Leave the box untouched for three or four days then unwrap the plate and develop in the ordinary way. If your rock contains an appreciable amount of radium you will find on the plate an outline picture, or profile, of the key, or whatever metallic object you may have used. It will be more or less sharply impressed according to the quantity of radium present.
If no metallic object were used the effect of suspending the ore above the plate, or letting it lie upon it, would be to produce a general darkening of the plate when it was developed. Such a darkening might be produced by an accidental exposure to light. The reason for using the key is that the rays from the radium are mostly intercepted by the metal, so that underneath it the plate is unaffected, and, when developed, shows the form of the key printed light upon a dark background. If you get such a picture after performing the experiment just described, with proper precautions, you may be sure that there is radium in your ore.

MAKE SPEED RECORD IN EFFORT TO SAVE LIFE

(By Daily News Leased Wire)
VANCOUVER, B.C., April 6.—A new speed record for a run through the Fraser canyon was made on Sunday morning by a special train which sought to save the life of Robert Bunt, a Canadian Pacific railway engineer, who was crushed by a train as he tried to cross the tracks between freight cars at North Bend. Three hours and 10 minutes after leaving North Bend Bunt was being lifted off the train at Kamloops. Making allowance for a stop at Lytton for picking up a surgeon the train averaged better than 45 miles an hour for the 140 miles.
Bunt died shortly after reaching the Kamloops hospital. He was 50 years of age, unmarried, and a native of the Orkney islands.

Mrs. Cabbeigh—John, you smoke a great deal more than is good for you.
Husband—Well, if you occasionally gave me a chance to get a word in, I might let my cigar go out.

JUDGE BROWN ORDERS REFERENCE AS TO INTERESTS

Nelson Investment Company Case Discussed In Chambers—Large Sums Have Been Paid.

Refusing an application by E. C. Wragge for an order for the sale of property of the Nelson Investment Company, Limited, to satisfy judgment in Svoboda vs the Nelson Investment company, Judge Brown yesterday ordered that a reference be made to the registrar to show the lands and interests of the defendant, James O'Shea appeared for the Nelson Realty company, which has acquired lot 5 in block 6, lot 10 in block 11, lot 8 in block 9, lot 1 in block 8 and the east half of lot 11 in block 1 from the Nelson Investment company, according to an affidavit which was presented.

It was stated that about $50,000 is due upon property bought on agreement for sale by the investment company and that that undertaking has invested between $60,000 and $70,000 in payments which have already been made.

Mr. Wragge was granted an order reinstating the Hobson Silver-Lead company on the companies' register and for resealing of letters probate in the estate of the late Samuel J. Thompson. In Ellis vs Ford, Mr. Wragge secured an order for the production of documents, and in Galland vs Loper for payment of money out of court.

In Cadden vs Grafton Mr. O'Shea was granted leave to issue and serve summons ex juris.

An order for the sale of Julius LeBrun's ranch at Winlaw was granted to James H. Grant in Rose vs LeBrun.

In Forty-One Meat market vs Papworth, et al., W. E. Carsley (Hamilton & Wragge) obtained an order to amend plaint and summons.

Judge Brown is acting at Nelson in the absence of Judge Forin, who has been detained at the coast.

INSURANCE MAN DEAD

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

TORONTO, April 6.—George A. Summerville, general manager of the Manufacturers Life Insurance company, is dead at his home in Toronto. Mr. Summerville was also vice-president of the Canadian Life Insurance association. He was born at St. Marys, Ont., and was 59 years of age. Prior to coming to Toronto he was manager of the Guelph & Ontario Investment & Savings society, Guelph. He had been connected with the Manufacturers Life since 1907.

ARBOR DAY WILL BE OBSERVED MONDAY

Committee Appointed to Wait on School Board—Discuss Permanent Roadways.

Monday next was last night decided upon as the most suitable day for "Arbor Day" at a conference between the members of the board of works, Mayor Malone and the members of the Nelson Improvement association. All citizens will be asked to have all rubbish in their vicinity gathered and in heaps in the alleys on that day so that the city scavenging department may remove it.

Dr. W. O. Rose, F. A. Starkey, William Ebbs and J. W. Holmes were chosen members of a committee to wait upon the school board in order that that body may be urged to take some action toward having the care of private and public property more closely brought home to the pupils of the schools.

A discussion on laying permanent roadways on the main thoroughfare of the city took place at the meeting. M. R. McQuarrie urging that some steps should be taken to lay a hard surfaced road from the depot along Baker street and from the city wharf to Baker street. Mayor Malone replied that the city had no money with which to take up the work at present and that up to the present no money had been set aside for street improvements at all. If there was to any permanent roadway at all it must be done on the frontage tax basis. The opinion of the meeting was unanimous that some form of improvement was necessary to the main streets of the city but no definite plan was touched upon.

F. A. Starkey spoke of the damage that was being done by vandals who destroyed boulevards, trees and the like and Mr. McQuarrie thought that the city fathers should be urged to continue to employ a caretaker at the city parks this summer.

J. W. Holmes gave a short talk to the meeting on the matter in which parks are conducted in California pointing out some features that might be taken advantage of in Nelson. He urged that several small brick ovens should be constructed in the parks so that water might be heated and light cooking done by parties spending a day at the parks. They could be cheaply constructed.

Mayor Malone was in the chair at the meeting.

FERRY LANDINGS WILL BE DREDGED

Federal Public Works Engineer Receives Instructions to Use Dredge —Other Work to Be Completed

For some time the Nelson ferry, which crosses the West Arm at One Mile, has had difficulty in making her landings on either side of the lake on account of there being shoal water in the vicinity of her landing during the low water period. In order that this difficulty may be overcome word was received from Ottawa last night by J. P. Forde, Dominion government engineer, that the Dominion government dredge Bittern should do such work as was required to make proper landing places on either side of the lake from the ferry.

The dredge has now completed her work for the season at Kootenay landing and during the coming summer will be engaged in work in Nelson harbor and the vicinity. The dredging on the water front at the foot of Josephine street, which was commenced last year, will be completed this season, according to Mr. Forde.

TROUT LAKE WILL REOPEN SOON

Expect Navigation to Be Resumed in Week or Ten Days—Will Launch New Steamer

The weather in the vicinity of Trout Lake has softened sufficiently of late to give promise of the reopening of navigation on that body of water in a week or 10 days, according to information in the hands of the office of the superintendent of the British Columbia lake and river service of the Canadian Pacific railway.

It is also announced from the offices of the company that the big new steel hulled steamer for the Okanagan lake service will be launched shortly. The new steamer will not be so near completion when launched as was the steamer Nasookin when she was placed in the water, but it has been deemed advisable to place the craft in the water as early as possible.

The steamer Kuskanook, which has spent the winter undergoing repairs on the ways at the local shipyards of the company, will in all probability be ready for the water in a couple of weeks, it is announced, and the company is now only awaiting a shipment of fittings with which to complete the handsome new gasolene craft which is being built at the Fairview shipyards for the West Arm service.

WOMAN CANDIDATE WANTS POLICEMAN CHANGED

(By Daily News Leased Wire)

CHICAGO, Ill., April 6. — County Judge Owens, head of election machinery in Cook county, tonight asked Chief of Police Gleason to change the entire details of police in the first ward during the aldermanic elections today. This was the last move in a picturesque campaign by Miss Marion Drake, law stenographer, to oust "Bathhouse John" Coughlan as alderman of the ward, which, for nearly 25 years, he, with Michael Kenna, has represented in the city council.

Miss Drake, in a letter to Mayor Harrison, charged that patrolmen ordinarily detailed in the ward, were influenced by Coughlan and Kenna and would not give the women watchers sufficient protection. Conjecture as to the votes of 217,614 women, who are eligible to vote in Chicago for the first time, has been the chief factor of interest in the campaign. Although there are 455,223 men registered, it is conceded if a majority of women vote as a unit, they will be the balance of power in the election. Eight women are candidates for seats in the city council.

It's True

"Speaking of the harmful effects of baker's white bread, Dr. Edson Smith says: "Baker's bread is an abomination to the stomach. Its fine flour, its yeast and its undextrinized starch make it largely undigestible. Only the well-baked outer crust is fit to eat."—Rutledge Rutherford in Nat'l Food Magazine, February, 1912.

Some 17 years ago there was originated a food designed to avoid the objectionable qualities of white flour products.

That food is

Grape-Nuts

It established a standard of digestibility and food value hitherto unapproached in any cereal food.

This object was attained—

By building Grape-Nuts from the two greatest of food-grains—wheat and barley—and baking and rebaking it until the starchy parts were converted into dextrose (grape-sugar) or so thoroughly dextrinized as to require but little effort to digest.

Grape-Nuts digests usually in about one hour

White Bread requires about 3 1-2 hours for digestion

In the milling of white flour, nearly all the "vital" mineral salts of the grain (such as phosphorus, lime, iron, sulphur, etc.) are thrown out with the bran-coat, just to make the flour look white and pretty.

These phosphates, or mineral salts, are positively demanded by Nature in order to build normal bodies, brains and nerves, and in their lack physicians find one great cause of impoverished blood, listlessness, nervous prostration, kidney disease, etc.

Grape-Nuts, on the other hand, retains ALL the vital phosphates so richly grown by Nature in wheat and barley, as well as ALL the other nutritive elements of the grains. It provides these well-balanced values in a convenient, appetizing food, ready to eat from the package, fresh, crisp, and untouched by human hand.

A ration of Grape-Nuts with regular meals supplies admirably what white bread lacks.

WILL TRAVEL BY KETTLE VALLEY LINE

C. E. McPherson Expects Many to Take that Route Next Year—Leaves this Morning

"We are looking forward to considerable tourist travel by the Crows Nest route during the coming summer and early fall and during the summer o f1915 you can expect thousands to travel by this route one way of their journey to or from the Panama-Pacific exposition, which will be held in San Francisco."

So stated C. E. McPherson, of Winnipeg, passenger traffic manager for the Canadian Pacific railway, who was a visitor to Nelson yesterday on his return from San Francisco, where he attended a meeting of the representatives of the various railways of the United States and Canada to discuss transcontinental rates for the Panama Pacific exposition next year.

With the completion of the new Kettle Valley line to the coast by next year, Mr. McPherson states that he expects that many will avail themselves of the opportunity of travelling by the new route and the company is figuring on probably a bulk of the travel by that line.

Mr. McPherson has been away from Winnipeg about a month attending the meeting in San Francisco and visiting points on the coast and en route and will leave on the Crow boat this morning for Spokane, where he will spend tomorrow. From Spokane he expects to return straight to Winnipeg.

During his sojourn in Nelson, Mr. McPherson was the guest of J. A. Gibson at his residence on Vernon street.

MUCH INTEREST AMONG OLD TIMERS

Favorable Letters Concerning Reunion Received Daily—Meeting Tomorrow of Committee in Charge.

Judging from the interest which is being taken in the proposed old-timers' reunion in this city during Chahko Mika week and from the encouraging tone of the letters being received from the old-timers in varous sections of the country the event is going to be one of the most successful features of the big week of fete.

A. W. Vowell of Victoria, who is well known and remembered in this district as one of its oldest timers, has consented to attend the gathering, and Michael Phillips of Gateway, B. C., another of the "trail blazers of the Kootenay-Boundary district," has intimated that he is heartily in accord with the proposal to have a gathering of the old-timers here and will be only too pleased to attend the gathering.

In a letter to Capt. F. P. Armstrong he sends the following list of old-timers of whom he knows: David Griffiths, Roger Moore and Robert Galbraith of Fort Steele; Peter Fernie, Fred Bray and William Fernie of Victoria. Peter Boyle of Cherry Creek; W. H. Bullock-Webster, formerly of Nelson, and Jason Allard of Fort Langand Jason Allard of Fort Langley, who as a boy was a chum of Mr. Phillips' at Fort Shepherd 50 years ago.

J. W. Cockle of Kaslo also sends to George Paterson, manager of the celebration, a list of the old-timers of whom he knows that are still alive and can be communicated with.

The committee which is in charge of this event at the Chahko Mika has several new ideas that it is working on and it will meet in Chahko Mika headquarters tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.
