Attempt By Prussians to Advance Into Prussia Fails--Krupp Howitzers Leave Trail of Destruction--Offensive Against Invaders in Galicia Is Repulsed and Terrific Losses Are Inflicted

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 11.—A Post despatch from Copenhagen states that reports have been received there from Stettin that the Russians are bombarding Konigsberg, the strong German fortress in East Prussia, and that part of the city is in flames.

According to a Petrograd despatch to the Exchange Telegraph it is believed there that the German crown prince has been appointed commander-in-chief of the forces against Russia.

German Force Strong.

(Special Cable to The Daily News and New York Times.)

PETROGRAD, Sept. 10.—By Percival Gibbon—It is now beyond doubt that at least one German army corps has arrived in East Prussia from Belgium and the French frontier, as well as that an army corps is stationed between the Elbe and the Oder. Add to this either two or three corps of reserves and the Dantzig corps and the German strength in this region amounts to 12 or 13 army corps.

Russia has time on her side. Already here in the north there is each day a sharper chill in the air. Winter is at hand. It will pave the swamps of East Prussia and make them marchable. But apart from the eventual advance on the German fortified positions on the Vistula which lie across the road to Berlin, Gen. Runnenkampfe' function on the Prussian frontier is already fulfilled. He has checked not only the designed advance of the Germans into Russia but is holding a large force in garrison between Thorn and Marienburg and preventing reinforcements of Austrian forces to Galicia and as a result of his dispositions the Germans have been compelled to bring large reinforcements from the west to the Vistula.

Krupp Guns Caused Slaughter.

Southward from Insterburg and toward Allenstein is swamp country with many streams and ponds. The roads are soft and now the passage of troops, transports and guns, has turned them into morasses.

It was here that the Germans had Krupp howitzers, which, with their long range, killed Gen. Samsonoff and most of his staff. They are of mechanism like naval guns, bedded on special emplacements of concrete and manned and fired not by army artillerymen but by Krupp's own experts and the trail of their destruction is still deep across the country.

It was in this desert of mud and burning villages where the Russians drew back at Osterode, but as I said, Russia has time on her side. The Vistula positions are strongly fortified and reconnaissance reveals that the Germans are working feverishly to increase the strength of their positions at Thorn, Kulm and Graudenz. They have rearranged the whole country after their own fashion. Villages, farmhouses and bridges have been destroyed by the hundreds, and, according to reports, they have treated their own countrypeople scarcely better than the Belgians. Wholesale charges of treachery and disloyalty to the Germans have been brought against villages and there is a certain amount of shooting of civilians.

Other Cities About to Fall.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 10.—German and Austrian reports minimize the importance of the occupation of Lemberg. A Vienna despatch says it is part of a strategic campaign to draw the Russians into Galicia. Petrograd reports claim that Archduke Frederick's army lost 120,000 men, that the evacuation of Cracow had commenced and that the fall of Przesmyl is imminent.

German Advance Becomes Retreat

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 11, 1:45 a.m.—The Exchange Telegraph sends from Petrograd the following official statement:

"The victory achieved by Russian troops in the fighting between the Austro-German army at Krasnik, Russian Poland, continues to grow. On the Tomasow, Rawa and Dniester front hard fighting has occurred.

"German troops have been transported from the west and concentrated in eastern Prussia on the river Alle. On Sept. 9 they commenced an advance, directing considerable forces through the Mazu lakes. The Russian advance guard opposed the enemy's advance, which retreated in an easterly direction."

Lublin Battle Big Russian Victory.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—A London cable to the World says:

"The great battle in the Lublin district of Russian Poland has ended in complete victory for Russian arms and the Austrian armies are thoroughly routed," says a Petrograd correspondent of the London Chronicle.

"This despatch is interpreted in London as confirmation of yesterday's news of the Russian victory over the hemmed in Austrian army north of Lemberg."

March Toward Berlin

Despatches from Vienna state that the advance guard of the Russian centre is marching toward Berlin. The Russian troops have invaded Silesia and the capture of Breslau is imminent.

According to Galician advices the Austrians have made several attempts to resume the offensive against the Russians with disastrous effects. There were further great Austrian losses.

A message from Vienna officially admits that Archduke Frederick lost 120,000 men in recent Galician battles. This was one-fourth of his whole command.

German forces are marching south toward Poland to aid the Austrians, but the Russians are prepared to check them at the Vistula river.

Cossacks Victorious

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 10, 4:50 p.m.—A Havas agency despatch from Petrograd says:

"A regiment of Cossacks took at Frampol 17 Austrian officers, 445 men, a great number of convoys, horses, cattle and the money chest of the 17th Landwehr containing 148,000 crowns. Near Zamost nearly 700 Austrians were captured with a great quantity of supplies. An Austrian steamer upon the Vistula was sunk by Russian guns."

Austrians are evacuating Cracow. A report says Austria will sue for peace owing to the terrific defeats. The government is also disgruntled over Germany's failure to send more troops into Galicia.

Returning visitors speak of a new spirit in Russia. The Jews are being kindly treated and the czar drives through the streets unattended.

Roumanians Rap Austrians

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

PETROGRAD, Sept. 10.—The movement in Rumania favoring the triple entente is causing irritation to the Hungarian government which has forbidden the teaching of the Rumanian language in Rumanian schools in Transylvania. The Rumanian journal, Dreptata, says that in the districts bordering on Rumania the people are in sympathy with Russia and express the belief that they will march with the Russian troops to strike "the tricky Austrian."

Austrian prisoners who have arrived at Poltava bring reports that the financial condition of Austria is bad, that the people are discontented with

NO PEACE UNTIL GERMANY CRUSHED

Britain Will Carry Plan of Smashing Militaristic Machine to End, United States Is Told

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—There is no prospect of peace in Europe through the efforts of diplomacy. President Wilson himself set at rest today rumors that peace measures were in the making by revealing that no intimation had been conveyed to him officially from any quarter of the readiness on the part of one or more belligerents to talk peace.

The day's developments emphasized that Great Britain, France and Russia were grimly determined to make no peace until they had decisively beaten Germany and Austria.

Great Britain's position was explained in detail at London by Sir Edward Gray to Ambassador Page, who made a long report to President Wilson.

The foreign secretary declared England had not sought war, but since it was force dpon her she was irrevocably bent on crushing forever the dangers of German militarism to the world.

Sir Edward referred also to the spoliation by Germans of the neutral territory of Belgium and pointed out that the allies would expect redress for that action.

The conference between the American ambassador and the British foreign secretary is said to have occurred on the initiative of the latter. Sir Edward, it is understood, explained that in view of newspaper rumors to the effect that Germany was ready to make peace, Great Britain did not want to appear in the light of blocking the move while Emperor William assumed the role of peace advocate. To make peace now while German troops had Belgium and a large part of France might cause Germany to exact unreasonable terms on the basis of occupied territory, according to the British view.

On the side of Germany and Austria likewise the president has found no encouraging sign of peace.

Great Britain, France, Spain and China have agreed to sign peace commission treaties with the United States to prevent the latter being suddenly being drawn into the conflict. Germany, Russia and Japan accept the principles of the treaties and Greece and Turkey are about to sign.

Japan in Line

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

PETROGRAD, Sept. 10.—Tokio despatches state Japan has joined the agreement of the allies not to conclude peace without the consent of all. Japan will not make peace with Germany until the war in Europe is over.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 10.—A course of military science is to be established in connection with Manitoba university.

OCEANIC TOTAL LOSS

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

ABERDEEN, via London, Sept. 10.—The trawler Glenogil, which arrived here today, reports having assisted in the rescue of the officers and crew of the White Star steamer Oceanic, wrecked off the coast of Scotland and in transferring them to another ship. Another attempt was made to refloat the Oceanic, which had struck a rock, but the hull parted and the attempt was abandoned.

BRITISH LOSSES NINETEEN THOUSAND

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Additional casualties have been made public, including the period up to Sept. 7 and bringing the total for the campaign close to 19,000 killed, wounded and missing.

GERMANS REVEL IN ORGY OF BLOOD

Hope History Will Forget Their Shame, Cardinal Says

CRUELTY OUTCOME OF VENGEFUL HATE

Savages Attack Harmless Creatures, Wage War Against Divinity

(Special Cable to The Daily News and New York Times.)

PARIS, Sept. 10.—The Temps prints an account of an interview given to a French newspaper man in Rome by Cardinal Mercier, archbishop of Malines, in which he paints a terrible picture of miseries suffered by his unhappy country as a resut of the invasion.

"I do not know how I ever managed to arrive here," said the cardinal. "I cannot shut my eyes without seeing again the bodies of Belgians, desolated towns and villages and blood everywhere. I wanted to stay among my priests and remain with the holocaust of innocent victims of the savagery of the Germans. I called my chapter together and was urged that my first duty was to go to Rome.

"As I travelled through Belgium the spectacle of its unhappiness seemed to draw me back to my devastated Malines, to the side of my king and the suffering of Liege—today a hostage, tomorrow, perhaps, a martyr. All along the roads I could see unburied human bodies mingled with carcases of horses. I could recognize some of the faces. Here lay one of my fellow

TEUTONS MAIM CHILD--KILL PRIEST

Cut Hands and Feet From Eight-Year Old Boy—Shoot Jesuit in Back

(Special Cable to The Daily News and New York Times.)

ANTWERP, Sept. 10.—Official couriers arriving here from the American legation at Brussels report that they witnessed with their own eyes a fresh sample of German atrocities toward the conquered Belgians.

As they were passing slowly through Louvain in an automobile they saw sitting outside a partly burned house a boy about eight years of age whose hands and feet had been cut off. The American stopped and asked the mother what had happened.

"The Germans did it," she said. Evidently she had said too much, for she refused to answer further questions.

The child's wrists and ankles were bandaged as if the frightful injuries had been inflicted recently.

Details of the shooting down of a Jesuit priest of Louvain were told to an American courier by another priest who witnessed the affair.

It appears that the Jesuit kept a diary in which he had written the following on the sacking of Louvain library:

"Vandalism worthy of Attila himself." According to the other priest's story the Germans forced the offender to read the words aloud. Then they marked a cross in chalk on the back of his cassock as a target and sent a dozen bullets into his back. This happened, it is said, in the presence of 20 other Louvain priests.

Fear Effect of Cruelties

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 10, 10:10 p.m.—A Berlin official wireless despatch says:

"The party board of the German Socialist party has raised a protest against the manifesto issued by the executive committee on the ground that suspicion is cast on the humanity of German soldiers. This, the board adds, is calculated to influence neutral countries against Germany."

BELGIANS GET BIG GERMAN AEROPLANE

(Special Cable to The Daily News and New York Times.)

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 10.—A large German aeroplane has been shot at and brought down by the Belgians at Steyten, East Flanders, the incident leading to important captures.

Three officers who were in the machine prove to be well known experts from Krupps, including Jacob and Schelbank, who delivered the guns to the new Belgian forts a few months ago, and von Restzen, who was prominent in all the Krupp experiments. All of them were arrested.

TURKEY THROWS DOWN GAUNTLET

Notifies Powers That Treaties Giving Extra Territorial Rights Are Abrogated—May Mean War.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Turkey formally notified the United States and the nations of the world today that she had abrogated the series of conventions, treaties and privileges, originating as early as the eleventh century, whereby foreigners in the Ottoman empire have been exempt from local jurisdiction in capital and criminal cases. Foreign subjects no longer will enjoy what is known as extra territorial rights through which they have been tried by their own judges, diplomatic representatives or consuls. This practice Turkey has removed by a stroke of the pen. Her purpose, it is declared, is to assert her independence and free herself from the domination of the great powers. Upon the rights revoked has rested the legal status of foreign missionaries in Turkey, permitting them to maintain churches, hospitals and schools in religious freedom.

"The removal of every kind of privilege enjoyed by the powers in excess of what the general principles of international law allow is the meaning of this step," said A. Rustem Bay, the Turkish ambassador to the United States, tonight. "This war is Turkey's opportunity."

No intimation was given by the ambassador as to whether action foreshadows war on Great Britain without whose consent in the past no such radical action would have been attempted.

Among diplomats of the allied powers, however, the belief prevailed tonight that Turkey was appealing to the nationalist sentiment of her people and was ready to seize upon any difficulties that may arise with Great Britain as a pretext to declare war.

BARI, Italy, Sept. 10, via Paris, 6:20 p.m.—The steamer Adriatic arrived here today from Durazzo, Albania, having on board the Austrian and Greek ministers to Albania. The crowds started a demonstration on the wharf as the steamer was docking, cheering England, France and Russia and hissing Austria.

PRUSSIAN PRINCE SHOT

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 10—Prince Joachim Albrecht of Prussia was wounded yesterday by a shrapnel bullet, according to an official despatch which has been forwarded by the Amsterdam Reuter correspondent. The bullet penetrated the thigh but is believed not to have injured the bone.

Prince Joachim is the son of the late Prince Fredrich Albert, regent of Brunswick and cousin of the emperor of Germany. He was serving as an ordnance officer on the firing line.

BELGIANS HARRY GERMAN LINES IN REAR BY TAKING VIGOROUS OFFENSIVE ACTION

Pursuers Cross Marne, Again Take Prisoners and Guns—Prussian Guard Thrown Back--Enemy Makes Slight Progress Near Nancy--Thought to Seek New Base But Faces Great Difficulties

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 10, 11:30 p.m.—The crucial battle of the war has not yet reached any decisive results. Field Marshal French reported today that the Germans had been driven back all along the line, that the British had crossed the river Marne, that the Germans had suffered severely and that their men were supposed to be in an exhausted condition. Notwithstanding this report, the military experts do not rush to sweeping conclusions. The military writers in the London papers state that from the conservative terms of the French official statement today it is too early to anticipate the result of the battle raging over a front of nearly 100 miles. Three million men is the number estimated to be engaged actively and as reserves and three great battles at least are in progress. Probably the first is against the French centre between Reims and Verdun, while the British army is contesting the second hard fought engagement against the German right. The Germans are believed to be still attacking the French right from Verdun to Nancy.

The allies have gained about 37 miles of territory in their advance, an increase of 12 miles in the past 24 hours.

Lesser fighting is in progress at Alsace, from which province the Germans appear to have drawn away part of their army and the French are taking advantage of this opening.

Both Sides Reinforced

This great battle may continue for days, when it is remembered that smaller operations in Manchuria, in which hundreds of thousands only were concerned, lasted a fortnight.

The German western armies have been fighting almost continually for 25 days and, until the last phase of the campaign, on the offensive.

Field Marshal French's view that they are becoming exhausted finds ready credence among the military experts here.

A German official wireless despatch tonight says that no report has been made public in Berlin of the events in France for the past three days.

From Holland comes the news that 60,000 German reinforcements are marching south. These troops may have an effect on the tide of battle, but there is reason to believe that the allied armies also are receiving a counterbalancing accession of strength.

The Belgians have made vigorous offensive movements with some success from Antwerp.

That the Germans are concentrating all their strength in the western field of warfare against the main French front appears to be confirmed by reports which have arrived through Holland. Most of the troops left in Belgium are said to be men past the prime of the landstrum, while 30,000 or 40,000 naval reserves are marching in to replace the depleted garrisons.

An Ostend despatch says the Belgian army at Antwerp has taken the aggressive and driven the Germans back to the environs of Louvain. Another despatch says the Belgians have defeated a German garrison composed of the landstrum at Aerschot, a short distance from Louvain.

Pursue Retreating Foe

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

PARIS, Sept. 10, 11:22 p.m.—The following official communication was issued tonight:

"On the left wing the British and French troops have crossed the Marne between La Ferte Sous Jouarre, Charly and Chateau Theirry, pursuing the enemy, which is in retreat.

"During the course of this advance the British forces took a number of prisoners and captured a number of mitrailleuses.

"During the four days' battle the allied armies have in that section of the theatre of operations gained more than 60 kilometres.

"Between Chateau Thierry and Vitry le Francois the Prussian guard has been thrown back.

Meubeuge Fall Not Confirmed

"The action continues with great severity in the region between Camp de Mailly and Vitry le Francois.

"In the centre and right wing there is no change in the situation. On the Orne and in the Argonne districts the opposing forces are maintaining their positions. In the region of Nancy the enemy has made slight progress on the Chateau Salins road.

"On the other hand we have gained ground in the forest of Champenoux.

"The losses have been considerable on both sides but the morale and health of our troops remain excellent.

"There is no confirmation of the news published in the German newspapers of the fall of Maubeuge."

Foes' Retreat Hampered

(Special Cable to The Daily News and New York Times.)

PARIS, Sept. 10.—The editorials of the newspapers still published in Paris are largely taken up with discussions of the significance of the German retreat. Commenting on the military situation l'Eclair says:

"The repulse of the German attack against our forces on the right bank of the Ourcq cuts off their retreat to the northwest. Northward the way is barred by detached forts and the entrenched camp of Reims, so that there remains only a retirement across the arid and uninhabited plain of Champagne Pullieuse, 30 miles wide, between Reims and Ste. eMnehould, to reach which via the Marne valley they will be compelled to traverse between Epernay and Chalons, the roughest country, full of ravines, forests and ponds."

Further light is thrown upon the position by the latest resume of the Echo de Paris.

Germans Were Outmaneuvered

"On the left wing," the article reads, "the allies repulsed the army of von Kluk and resisted stubbornly that commanded by Generals von Housen, von Buelow and the Prince of Wurtemburg.

"In the centre we continue to make progress against the crown prince's army which is trying to move toward Verdun. Finally, our right resists successfully the attacks of von Herinden."

The conclusion may be drawn that the Germans have effected a union of their eastern armies with which they invaded France via Belgium. Despite their efforts the combined mass is being forced eastward into the difficult and narrow region only 40 miles wide between Reims and Verdun. For the first time since the war began the Germans seem to have been outmaneuvered and seriously endangered.

Deliver Fierce Attack on Foe.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Field Marshal French reported today that the enemy had been driven back yesterday all along the lines, the British capturing many guns and prisoners. Fighting of the fiercest character is now in progress. The Germans are exhausted. The British have crossed the Marne in a northerly direction.

The counter attack of the allies on the German invaders was delivered with such speed and impetuosity that the invaders were given no chance to recover from the effects of their rush down from the north. The Germans withdrew to about 70 miles northeast of Paris, constantly pushed by the British.

The British forces now on the continent are believed to number over 300,000 at the present time.

The French have again invaded Alsace.

Cut Line of Communication.

German reinforcements, including 60,000 reservists and 40,000 sailors are now being rushed through Belgium to support the German right wing which the British have pushed back 25 miles. This right wing is now in retreat. Desperate fighting continues along the centre where the Germans are making a determined

MAY BLOCKADE NORTH SEA AND STARVE ENEMY

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 10.—There is a general discussion in London of the possibility that England may close the North sea, blockading it completely, if the trouble with floating mines continues

The government's position is that the shipping of neutral nations is in great danger because of German mines. England has repeatedly stated that she will not resort to the use of mines. After the mine sweepers free the North sea of the obstructions, however, naval strategists advise the exclusion of vessels which might plant mines.

Such action would limit the commerce of Holland, Denmark, Norway and Sweden, cutting off Germany's source of food supply. The British officials say there is ample evidence that mine layers have operated under neutral flags and there is need to keep the strictest watch over the North sea.

That German prisoners be pressed into service in the highly hazardous work of sweeping the North sea of mines was the suggestion made in the house of commons today. German prize crews under British officers would handle such craft if the plan outlined were adopted.

Sea Big German Fleet

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 10.—A German squadron of 31 ships, including battleships, cruisers and destroyers, has been observed along the gulf of Bothnia, in the Baltic, steaming east.

A despatch from Newcastle says the tramp steamer Ottawa struck a mine off Northumberland yesterday and went down. The crew of 26 was lost.

Submarine Sunk Pathfinder

The official bureau releases the information that the sinking of the scout cruiser Pathfinder on Saturday was due to a torpedo boat attack and not to a mine.

A later report says it was a German submarine and not a torpedo boat which sank the British cruiser Pathfinder.

Capture German Bark

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

PLYMOUTH, Sept. 10.—The German bark Urania, bound from Tocopolla, Chile, for Hamburg, with a cargo of nitrate, valued at $175,000, has been captured by a British warship.

German Baltic Fleet Moving

(Special Cable to The Daily News and New York Times.)

LONDON, Sept. 11.—A Telegraph Stockholm despatch says:

"The German Baltic fleet is beginning to move. Last Monday a German squadron of 29 vessels was seen between Gotska, Sandoen and Kopparstenarnau. Yesterday a squadron of 31 large German warships was seen from Huuvsdkadr, steaming eastward. A German squadron consisting of four battleships and three cruisers was seen to the southeast of Stockholm, steaming in a northeasterly direction the day before yesterday. Small flotillas have been seen from Kvarken and nine big battleships were seen Monday to the east from Stora Bjaorn, steaming toward Finland."

SECOND HALF MILLION MEN FOR BRITISH ARMY

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The commons voted unanimously for 500,000 more recruits. The country was surprised by the announcement that 430,000 men had been enlisted since the beginning of the war. When the government's plans were completed the British army for the continent and for home service will consist of roughly the following:

Regular army 1,200,000; reserves 514,000; Indian contingent 70,000; Canadian first and second contingents '0,000; Australians 20,000 and New Zealand 10,000, making a total of 1,854,000 men.

This tremendous enrolment for a country which normally has only a small professional army has thrown light on the government's views regarding the duration of the war, or, at least, upon its determination to meet all possibilities.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Premier Asquith today asked parliament to add another 500,000 men of all ranks to the regular army and the motion was unanimously adopted.

Premier Asquith paid a warm tribute to the war office organization and dealt also with the various difficulties connected with the rush of recruits. Measures had been taken, he said, to meet the congestion. These included an allowance of 75 cents a day to those for whom accommodation could not be found in the barracks. If the grant for the additional 500,000 was passed, he was sure that the response would be no less keen and ample than was that to the first levy. Britain should then be in a position to put something like 1,200,000 men in the field, exclusive of territorials, the national reserve and the magnificent contributions promised from India and the dominions. It was an effort worthy of great sacrifice.

As to the expense involved, the premier was sure that the commons would be ready to grant money as occasion arose, but he wanted it made clear that those showing a patriotic desire to help the country in the present crisis were not going to be treated in a niggardly or unaccommodating spirit.

"On the contrary," said Mr. Asquith, "they will be welcome to every possible provision which can be made for their comfort and well-being so that they can take their place and play their part under the best possible conditions in that magnificent army which, as everyone knows who has read Field Marshal French's moving despatch, has never done its work better and never shown itself more worthy in the long centuries of its splendid traditions than in the last fortnight."

Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition, expressed the opposition's cordial support of the government's plan.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The American Red Cross today received a contribution of $1,200 from the American league and $848,62 from the National league.

stand to hold the position. The allies have cut the German line of communication in the east and hope to drive the invaders back upon their ammunition and supply columns.

The official press bureau says the battle continued yesterday. The enemy has been driven back all along the line. Gen. French reports the British first corps has buried many German dead and captured several guns.

Germans Seek New Base.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

BORDEAUX, Sept. 10—The military correspondent of the Temps wires that the situation from the standpoint of the allies is more than reassuring. The German offensive has not only been stopped, he says, but they are being driven back all along the front. Their troops are wearing out.

"The too numerous German artillery remains," he added, "but their infantry is insufficient for an attack with the necessary energy.

"Their long line of communication through Belgium makes the movement of supplies difficult and they are marching eastward with the object of establishing another base to the southeast of the Meuse, which connects also with their forces in Lorraine and on the Rhine. In that direction, however, they have no railway at their disposal, all the lines being either covered by the forts of Charlemont and Montmedy or destroyed."

Allies Make Progress.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The French embassy states that the German right wing has been withdrawn north of the Petit Morin river and has been sharply checked on the right bank of the Ourcq. The allied troops are making progress at Sezanne. The situation is favorable in the Vosges and at Nancy. There is sharp fighting in the centre with alternative progress and recession.

Prospects Are Favorable

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 10.—By G. H. Perris.—The great battle continues in the westward part of the field and the eastward positions are firmly held. It is important at this moment not to foster exaggerated hopes but the prospect is favorable and the allies always have time on their side. That the Germans have retired and the British, who have the honor of forming the extreme left wing, have advanced 26 miles in a single day, shows how severe is the pressure on the German western army. This pressure has much more than local importance.

I have already pointed out the necessity for the enemy of concentration toward the east, both for the sake of resting up on its line of communication through Luxemburg and north Lorraine and in order to secure a junction with the armies of the Rhineland.

As Gen. Gherfils says: "The disorderly retreat from the Ourcq and the Marne must necessarily slacken the march of the German east wing and the western offensive was probably designed for this purpose."

Regiments of Enemy Cut Off

I learn from a friend who has just come into Paris from the northeast that many regiments of Germans still remain in the wooded country within the triangle of Senlis, Gonesse and Dammartin. It is believed that they amount in all to an army corps and that they were cut off from their main body by the allies extended between Compiegne and Meaux and enclosed on the west also.

The part played by the great fortresses in this war will call for a careful study afterward.

Namur was disappointing in comparison with Liege.

Luneville fell early, while the open town of Nancy is still held.

The minor stronghold of Meubeuge by its obstinate resistance has certainly obstructed the German communications in the upper Meuse and perhaps fatally delayed the transmission of siege guns and ammunition toward Paris.

Fate of Forts Uncertain

Layon and La Fere have been invested and have perhaps fallen. No one in the war office knows their fate and no one knows what will happen at Reims, which may have an important part to play if the German retreat continues.

They would then apparently have to traverse the thickly wooded and marshy region between Sezanne and Epernay and after that the arid plain of Champagne.

Belgian Offensive Triumphant

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 10, 10:45 p.m.—An Ostend despatch to the Exchange Telegraph says:

"According to information from a reliable source, the Belgian army at Antwerp has assumed a triumphant offensive movement, driving the Germans back to the environs of Louvain."

A despatch to Reuter's from Antwerp gives the following, issued by the Belgian government:

"Military operations are continuing in the district of Antwerp and are of a satisfactory nature."

(Special Cable to The Daily News and New York Times.)

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 10.—By Rowan Dale—The Belgians continue a vigorous offensive in the provinces of Antwerp and East Flanders. They have reoccupied Termonde, have driven the Germans from the neighborhood of Aerschot and Diest and have taken 300 prisoners.

When the German troops first entered Termonde they demanded $200,000. The town council had fled so they were unable to obtain money from officials. The Germans then sought out M. Vanderjongeren, a millionaire iron master, and demanded this sum from him. He replied that all his money was in England.

The invaders then said they would destroy the town. This they carried out after seizing several of the wealthy inhabitants as hostages and giving the rest of the people two hours in which to get out of town. At the end of the period artillery and flames destroyed the houses. Then began the flight of the people along the roads; and another of those scenes, so frequent in this war, of helpless refugees hurrying to escape death, was enacted. Women carrying bundles of household goods trudged wearily with children clinging to their skirts and crying as their little feeet staggered along the road.

A handbill, printed in Dutch, is being distributed broadcast in Holland by the German government giving its version of the Louvain incident. It says that many Louvain treasures were saved, but admits that the famous library and 150 houses were destroyed and the cathedral damaged.

Belgians Engage Enemy

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 10.—A Reuter despatch from Ostend says that according to soldiers who have arrived there it would appear that an engagement is on between Belgians and Germans, who are withdrawing toward France.

Large Area Flooded

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 10, 11:17 p.m.—An official despatch issued in Berlin and received here this evening by the Marconi company, says:

"In an engagement at Ordeghem, on the railway between Antwerp and Ghent, the Belgian troops withdrew.

"The country south of Antwerp has been flooded by the Belgians to prevent the Germans from marching into the town. The area flooded is 70 square miles. The water varies in depth in different places, being from a few inches to several feet."

FOOD FACTS
What an M. D. Learned

A physician went through a food experience which he makes public:

"It was my own experience that first led me to advocate Grape-Nuts food and I also know, from having prescribed it to convalescents and other weak patients, that the food is a wonderful rebuilder and restorer of nerve and brain tissue, as well as muscle. It improves the digestion, and sick patients gain very rapidly, just as I did, in strength and weight.

"I was in such a low state that I had to give up my work entirely, and went to the mountains, but two months there did not improve me; in fact, I was not quite as well as when I left home.

"My food did not sustain me, and it became plain that I must change. Then I began to use Grape-Nuts food and in two weeks I could walk a mile without fatigue, and in five weeks returned to my home and practice, taking up hard work again. Since that time I have felt as well and strong as I ever did in my life.

"As a physician who seeks to help all sufferers, I consider it a duty to make these facts public." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

Trial 10 days of Grape-Nuts, when regular food does not seem to sustain the body, works wonders. "There's a reason."

Look in packages for the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

TIES OF BLOOD BIND, SAYS DUKE

Governor General Speaks at American Concert in Aid of Patriotic Fund at Toronto.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

TORONTO, Sept. 10.—Seven thousand people attended the concert tonight held by the American society to secure funds for the dependents of volunteers and heard addresses by the Duke of Connaught, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir George Foster. A message from Premier Borden was also announced.

The concert, participated in by several operatic stars from the United States, cleared about $8,000.

"It is often said," declared the duke, "that blood is thicker than water and I feel that those Americans who are living in our midst like to have a share, if not in our dangers, at least in our sorrows. We are very near relations, coming from the same stock and I am sure when you read the simple unaffected report of Sir John French you will feel your blood move and feel proud that you have Anglo-Saxon blood in your veins."

The message of Sir Robert Borden read in part:

"By ties of kinship and common speech; by bonds of constant commercial and social intercourse; by the enjoyment of like institutions and liberties; by that consciousness of mutual respect and trust which has won between us a century's victory of peace, the country of your birth and this Dominion are bound by a sympathetic friendship which is invested with a reality far more significant than any words of formal goodwill could give it.

"You are already assured of an instant and warm response from every Canadian heart for the generosity of this helping hand and you will find, as doubtless you have already found that this response will be awakened not so much by the material assistance as by the benign and welcome sympathy of which that assistance is but the sincere and tangible expression."

Sir George Foster, on behalf of the government, expressed its appreciation and that of the people for the sympathy and practical assistance offered.

"This," he said, "is not a fight between Teuton and Slav but that of a degrading principle against a policy of national freedom and it will not end until German absolutism has been crushed."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that so far he had not heard of a single man among their brothers across the line who was not with Britain in this struggle. This was a war to save civilization. If Kitchener wanted more men Canada would respond. This must be a fight to a finish and arms must not be laid down until the day came when the cause had been vindicated and right took the place of might.

LABOR HAS GOOD MAJORITY IN AUSTRALIAN HOUSE

WILL LOOK INTO ASSESSMENT RATES

Rossland Council Takes Matter Up—New Water Rate Schedule Is Adopted—Accounts Passed.

(Special to The Daily News)

ROSSLAND, B. C., Sept. 10.—At a meeting of the city council on Wednesday the application of Amos Larue for water at Ferndale was considered and granted on condition that he instal all new pipe and the work to be done to meet the approval of the city foreman.

A lengthy discussion took place on the decision given by Judge Brown in reducing several of the real estate assessments and a committee consisting of Mayor Willson and Aldermen Stephens and Dunn were appointed to act in conjunction with the city clerk with the object of looking up and making a comparative table of tax rates as compared to other towns of similar size.

A new schedule of water rates was made for consumers who were supplied by meter. It is as follows:

15,000 gallons and under, 75 cents per 1,000 gallons; from 15,000 to 30,000, 60 cents; from 30,000 to 45,000, 5 cents; from 45,000 to 60,000, 40 cents; from 60,000 to 75,000, 30 cents; from 75,000 and over, 15 cents; larger than three-quarter inch meters, $1; three-quarter inch and under, 50 cents.

The cattle exclusion amendment by-laws and the tax levy bylaw 1914 were adopted. Ald. Cranston discussed a short piece of cement sidewalk which Mr. Henderson had put down in front of his garage on First avenue and said it was about an inch lower than the rest of the walk in that block. No action was taken. The school board was present and asked why it could not get a check immediately for part of its grant. The matter was arranged satisfactorily.

The following bills were ordered paid: John Berg, $16; Goodeve Bros. Ltd., $4.30; Bank of British North America, $2,575; West Kootenay Power & Light company, $151.60; Rossland Water & Light company, $34.95; Rossland Meat market, $1; J. A. Henderson, $1.50; Henderson's livery, $15.25; McKay & Beverly, $8.70; T. P. Rogers, $4.90; Consolidated Mining & Smelting company, $191.84; Hunter Bros., $25.75 and $21.95; Cranston Novelty company, $6.50; J. S. Deschamps, $171.46; Robert Barrie, 60 cents; J. F. Church, $37.55; Plester cartage, $23.25; Co-operative association, $6.50; J. H. Lee, $1.45; Henderson's livery, $1.25; Brackmanker Milling company, 40 cents; MrKay & Beverley, $3.65; A. Bowcott, $84; board of works payroll, Aug. 30, $93.65; Sept. 5, $108.50; bridge accounts: McKay & Beverley, $1.01.68; Plester cartage, $92; Hunter Bros., $155.39; J. S. Deschamps, $1,018.11; payroll Aug. 29, $209.50; Sept. 5, $225.

The Ladies of the Maccabees are holding their memorial services this evening and are also having a social evening in honor of Mrs. E. Toolson, who leaves shortly for Ogden, Utah.

D. Lowe and C. D. Griffith pleaded guilty in the police court to charges of carrying firearms without a license, and were fined $10 and $1.50 costs each by Magistrate Plewman. Game Warden Bedford found them carrying 22-calibre rifles loaded near Ben Shaw's ranch on Sheep creek on Monday morning. The defense called Mr. Douglas who swore that he owned both rifles and that the defendants were merely carrying them for him while he went back for something, and that he had all the ammunition except the cartridges in the barrels. He got a license before going to Sheep creek. The magistrate said he could not understand why Mr. Douglas needed two similar rifles, and they would be confiscated as the owner knew the defendants had no licenses. There had been more than a mere technical violation of the act, as the guns were loaded, but he would not impose the large penalty he otherwise would have for a clear case of hunting without a license.

Miss Velma Smith left Thursday morning for McMinneville, Ore., where she will attend college.

A meeting of the police commission was held Wednesday night and an order passed that no more pool playing would be allowed on Sundays and the police were instructed to notify all concerned.

GERMANY FLOODS SPAIN WITH SO-CALLED WAR NEWS

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

PARIS, Sept. 10.—A despatch to the Temps from San Sebastian says:

"The paucity of war news from French sources is causing the Spanish press to be inundated with so-called German official communications, with the result that France, little by little, is losing what small influence she possessed. The foreign ministry gives to the newspaper men accounts of German successes in France, although the minister is careful to say that they are of German origin."

THE KIEL CANAL.

Kaiser Wilhelm or, as it is more generally known, the Kiel canal, in which or under the protection of the forts at either end of which the German fleet is now in hiding, is one of the great works of modern years. Begun in 1887 it was opened for traffic in 1895, but is in the process of rebuilding, if indeed the task has not been accomplished.

The canal which is 61 miles long traverses Schleswig-Holstein, connecting the Baltic and North seas. At Kiel on the Baltic and where the canal connects with the river Elbe strong forts have been constructed for its protection in time of war. The original canal had a breadth at the bottom of 72 feet and at the surface of 219, with a depth of 29½ feet. Five years ago the enlargement of the canal was commenced, the idea being to have the canal completed this year. The work of enlargement has been carried on without interfering with traffic in the old canal, two new locks, one at either end, having been constructed beside the old ones. These new locks are 1,082 feet long, 147½ feet wide, with a depth of 45 feet clear of the sills, being thus capable of accommodating the largest vessels afloat, or that are likely to be built for some time. The new canal is 150 feet wide at the bottom and 400 feet at the surface. It has been fitted with 11 sidings where vessels may pass.

The cost of the original canal was about $40,000,000, while that of the improvements, including new harbors at either end, etc., was estimated at $55,000,000 and this sum probably has been exceeded.

Schleswig-Holstein, which the canal traverses, was Danish territory until 1864, when it was seized by Germany The object in building the canal was purely and entirely military, but it has been developed into an important traffic route for it affects a saving of 200 miles between the Baltic and North seas, as against the natural passage via the Skagerak and Kattegat.

Just what will be the fate of the canal in the settlement of the present war is a question that many have asked. It has been suggested that Germany will be forced to restore Schleswig-Holstein to Denmark, in which case, it has been further suggested, the canal would become an international waterway, such as are the Suez and Panama canals. What will become of it, however, is a question which the future must decide.

THE WAR DETERMINED UPON TWO YEARS AGO.

In the columns of The Daily News yesterday appear some lines which it is not out of place to repeat and emphasize as showing conclusively, if anything further were needed to do so, who caused this war and that it had been determined upon by the kaiser and the chancellor and the coterie surrounding them two years ago, though deferred for some reason which has not yet been divulged. They are as follows:

London, Sept. 9.—Dr. Poutsma, one of the South African Labor leaders who was among the British subjects to leave Berlin, contributes an article to the Citizen today on his impressions of the German capital in war time.

"That the Germans were prepared for all eventualities for a considerable time was shown," he says, "when the kaiser's proclamations were posted up in Berlin and, of course, throughout Germany, ordering the mobilization. These proclamations were printed in two colors, red and black, and all were dated 1912. The figure 2 had been stricken out with a blue pencil and the figure 4 added. On every following day additional proclamations were issued and I noticed that practically every one had been printed two years ago.

"When, later on, the landstrum mitwaffe was called out, again the proclamations showed that they had been printed two years ago.

"The Germans have two kinds of landstrums—armed and unarmed. The last named had not been called out then and of the landstrum mitwaffe only a small percentage was actually in the field.

Could anything more conclusive than this be conceived? The date in the various proclamations is 1912—the dates in the various printed forms made use of showing conclusively that the war had been two years ago arranged then to take place, though deferred for some unknown reason. In the face of this and the other evidences available, is it not sublime audacity for those who had been the "menace of the peace of the world" for many years to assert, as they are now doing; that the war is not of their seeking; that they were not seeking a plausible pretext for declaring war—for the pretext upon which it was declared by Austria-Hungary was of the most transparently flimsy character? It was, however, considered by them to be the best available, the psychological moment for such a declaration having in their opinion arrived.

IS CANADA AT WAR?

The government of Canada, while averse to making reprisals upon alien enemies resident or temporarily therein, is apparently feeling the necessity of taking moderately severe repressive measures against those who are, as not a few are, blatant in their expression of sympathy with the enemies of the nation and in their statements of fact bearing on this war, as witness the following:

Ottawa, Sept. 7.—Owing to several incidents lately in which sentinels on duty at railway bridges, canals and public property have been shot at and, in some cases, hit, the government has decided to deal more severely with German and Austrian reservists.

An order-in-council has been passed directing that all German and Austrian aliens must surrender their arms. The right of search is given the authorities without warrant.

The attention of the government has been directed to statements in several German publications in western Canada. Several of these papers have been openly gloating over the German advance and have been predicting early German success.

The matter has been under consideration and they will likely be warned and if that is not sufficient will probably be later suppressed.

It is well known that an active German-Austrian propaganda is being maintained in western Canada, particularly in Winnipeg, Regina, Edmonton and Vancouver, in which places weekly papers are being published offensively anti-British in their tone and in their mis-statements of fact. While no one would advocate any measure which would in any way molest Germans or Austrians in Canada who comply with the requirements of the law, it is otherwise with blatant sympathizers with the enemies of the Empire. It may well be asked at this juncture: Is Canada at war, or is she playing a diverting pantomime? If the former is the case, moderately severe repressive measures, at least, should be enforced which would be fitted to teach all such the vast difference which there is, and should be by them recognized as existing, between liberty and license.

COLD STORAGE

The One—I hear that you spent last month on a sick bed.
The Other—Nothin' to it. The bed was all right. It was me that was sick.

Mose—Wouldn't you like to see wealth more equally divided?
Abe—Suttinly, suttinly; just as soon as Ah's spent dis 50 cents!

Judge—Why don't you want to prosecute this man for taking your auto?
Ex-Owner—He relieved me of so much trouble I consider him a friend.

"Is your daughter improving in her music?"
"No; I'm using hair dye — that's what makes me look younger."

Broker's Clerk—Could you let me have $10 on last month's salary?
Broker—Great Scott! That's the punkest collateral I ever had offered me!

Employer—Well, you have a nerve! Asking for a job with a cigarette in your mouth!
Applicant—But you advertised for an honest man, didn't you? I admit that I smoke.

WARS AND HOW LONG THEY HAVE CONTINUED

A Few Precedents Which Will Help One to Guess Duration of the Present Struggle in Europe.

How long will the war last? Here are a few precedents:

The two most recent "central European" wars were settled in an amazing short time. In 1866 Prussia and Austria went at each other's throats over the juicy Schleswig-Holstein bone—to which neither of them, by the way, had any right. That war lasted only seven weeks, and it ended in Prussia giving Austria a terrible and humiliating beating.

France and Sardinia also gave Austria a crushing defeat in 1859—in a war in which the general fighting lasted less than a month. This list does not include Italy's earlier and feebler struggles for liberty, against Austria, as in 1848-'49, etc.

In July, 1870, France and Prussia went to war. The general fighting in that war lasted barely a month. Of course, the siege of Paris and other maneuvers dragged on much longer. But the actual clash in the field began early in August and ended early in September.

The Russo-Turkish war, six years afterward, was longer by a year or more, but the Turko-Greek war in the nineties was a matter of one swift campaign. The Russo-Jap war was also comparatively brief.

In United States history here is—roughly—the duration of the important wars:

Revolutionary war, eight years; war of 1812, two years and 11 weeks; Mexican war, two years and 11 weeks; civil war, four years; Spanish war, seven and a half months (with the bulk of the fighting done in two and a half.)

All but one of the foregoing were duels between two nations. The last general European was was the Crimean, when England, France, Turkey and Sardinia combined against Russia, from 1854 to 1856. That war continued for about two years and resulted in a sound thrashing for Russia.

Before that the Napoleonic wars intermittently brought every nation in Europe to the battlefield. These wars continued, with breaks of long or short duration, for more than 20 years, and ended at Waterloo, when the English, the Prussians, the Dutch and other allies overthrew Napoleon. Russia and England, by the way, were Germany's staunchest friends, then.

Nearly two centuries before that a German quarrel spread until it involved almost every nation on earth and is known to history as the "Thirty Years' War."

So, with a very few exceptions, we see that the more modern the war the shorter it is apt to be, especially when only central Europe is involved For example (in actual fighting): Austro-Prussian war of 1866, seven weeks; Franco-Prussian war of 1870, a month; the present war—?

ARMAGEDDON

Armageddon is a Hebrew word meaning "place of God." It is the name given to the plan of Esdraelon, which is the greatest plain in Palestine, separating the mountain ranges of Galilee from those of Samaria, watered by the Kishon.

It may be described as a triangle, having for its base the high hills—of which Mount Gilboa is the most important—forming the watershed between the Jordan and the Kishon, extending north and south from Nazareth to Jenin, a distance of about 15 miles. The northern boundary is the hills of Galilee westward from Nazareth about 12 miles to a point where the Kishon breaks through in a narrow pass leading to the sea coast and Acco. On the southwest is the Carmel range extending from the division among the tribes (Joshua xix., 17 to 23). It is of great fertility, and has been of much importance in the annals of Palestine.

Armies and caravans from all directions must pass through it and, owing to its level character, it naturally became the field on which were fought the decisive battles for the possession or defense of Palestine and Syria.

It was the scene of the triumph of Barak over Sisera (Judges iv.), and of Gideon over the Midianites (Judges vii.) and of Josiah by Pharaoh-Necho of Egypt (II. Kings xxiii., 29 and 30). The contest between Elijah and the prophets of Baal took place on its western border (I. Kings xvii., 17 and following). It was through the plain that Jehu came riding to Jazreel (II. Kings ix., 16 and following). The armies of Assyria and Egypt met these repeatedly, and in modern times the plain has figured in the wars of Napoleon. To the writer of the Apocalypse the plain was the battlefield par excellence, and there he beholds "the kings of the earth and of the whole world" gathered for the battle of the great day of God (Revelations, xvi., 14 and 16).

Winnipeg Departmental Institution Workers Donate Sixteen Thousand Dollars to Patriotic Fund.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 10.—The largest contribution received by the patriotic committee was sent in by the employes of a local department store, who sent in a subscription of $16,800, accompanied by a check for $1,400, covering the instalment of the month of September. One hundred and ten men from the Winnipeg store have volunteered and the company is paying out monthly to their dependents $914. The married men are being allowed full pay and the single men half pay.

"THEY FIGHT AGAINST SISERA!"

Raphael's Almanac and Prophetic Messenger is a well-known English annual publication dating from 1820; and in the issue for 1914 (published in August, 1913) is an analysis of the horoscopes of the chief rulers, which reads in part as follows:

Britain

The influences operating in King George V.'s horoscope are very unfavorable. The sun has reached the parallel of Mars, which is evil for health and denotes the continuation of warlike tendencies. As Mars is in transit over the progressed moon twice during the early months of the year, the danger of war predicted in last year's Messenger will still continue. Saturn is also stationary on the radical sun, denoting much depression of trade and commerce, and trouble among the people. A critical period is forming for the fortunes of this country, but as the sun meets the sextile of the radical moon after it leaves the evil direction to Mars, it will be but the darkest hour before the dawn, and a brighter future awaits the empire.

Germany

The kaiser of Germany is under very adverse directions, and danger both to health and person is indicated. The year opens with Mars in square to the radical sun, and with Uranus transitting the sun's place at birth and Mars passing over the ascendant, the indications of war and disaster are strongly marked. The moon is opposed to Uranus in January, a further indication of trouble. A crisis is apparent in the history of the German empire. The terribly evil array of influences at the commencement of the year will leave their mark for many a long day to come.

Russia

Adverse influences are shown in the czar's horoscope, for the sun meets the conjunction of Uranus at birth, which will cause much trouble in his empire, and great personal danger. Saturn is stationary in opposition to the progressed moon in the autumn and this denotes bereavement and indisposition.

Austria

The sun is still close to an evil direction of Mars and with that planet near the meridian in the early months of the year, war is threatened. As Saturn is in close parallel with the radical moon, the conditions of the health of the emperor will be very precarious and the end may come at any moment. The stationary position of Saturn on the meridian of the horoscope in the autumn is evil for reputation.

Spain

The king of Spain still remains under adverse influences and but for the trine of the planet Jupiter to the sun would suffer serious troubles. The sun is still near the square of Mars and both August and December are evil months and his health and person will be in danger. A serious constitutional crisis is likely in the autumn.

Italy

Martial influences are still in operation in the king of Italy's horoscope. The sun is still close to the parallel of Mars and Mars in stationary opposition to the progressed sun in the early months of the year is ominous of war.

Greece

The king of Greece was born on August 2, 1868, with the sun applying to the trine of Jupiter. At the present time Mars has reached the place of Mercury at birth, which warns against some disputes with other powers. The moon makes several good aspects during the year, so that a favorable time may be expected.

Holland

The queen of Holland is under unfavorable influences. Mars has reached an opposition of Jupiter and Mercury a square of the radical moon. These are evil for health, denote financial difficulties, increase of taxation and decreasing revenue. The sun is parallel to Jupiter, but is not a very powerful influence. The health will suffer especially in the spring and autumn. Many worries are foreshadowed. The transit of Mars over the moon is not conducive to peace.

Belgium

The king of Belgium has not any important influences operating, but domestic troubles are shown, and parliamentary disputes. Venus near a parallel of the sun is generally favorable for the welfare of the country, but being opposed to Jupiter is not good for financial affairs and may cause increased taxation.

The mikado of Japan was born on Aug. 31, 1879, at 8:12 a.m. at Tokio. He is now coming under some severe afflictions which will bring a crisis in his empire. The sun is forming an opposition to Saturn, and is in semisquare to Mercury. With Mars stationary on his meridian war is probable and serious trouble. Disputes with other powers are shown.

France

The president of France was born on Aug. 20, 1860, with the sun conjoined with Saturn in the sign of Leo, and the moon in square to Mars. These are not reassuring influences. The sun is now just leaving the square of Mars, and with that planet in transit over the opposition of Mars and square of the sun the indications of war are very powerfully shown. Still, as the sun leaves the evil direction of Mars it meets the sextile of Jupiter, which should bring about a more favorable time.

GHENT BURGOMASTER SAVED CITY FROM PILLAGE

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Telegraphing from Ghent Reuter's correspondent says:

"The shop windows in the city display placards inscribed: 'Long live our burgomaster,' in recognition of the burgomaster's services in saving the city from a German attack. It now appears that the action of the official in entering into negotiations with the Germans, consenting to grant their requisitions for stores, was on permission of the military authorities.

"Before leaving Ghent the Germans took possession of all the stores that had been requisitioned."

BRITISH FLEET TRIES TO DRAW ENEMY

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The British navy has accomplished a daring although unproductive attempt to draw the German battle fleet into action. A great array of squadrons and flotillas made a sweep into the North Sea for two days, penetrating into the Bight of Helgoland, but failed to discover any German craft.

JUST ONE APPLICATION AND THE HAIRS VANISH

(Toilet Talks.)

Any woman can keep her skin free from unsightly hair or fuzz if she will follow these simple instructions: When hairy growths appear, apply a simple paste, made by mixing some water with powdered delatone. Apply this to hairy surface and after two or three minutes rub off; wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This is a harmless treatment, but be sure you get the real delatone.

GERMANS TRY OUT FIELD WIRELESS

Days of Field Telegraph Are Passing From Armies in Modern War.

G. Basil Burham, writing in the London Daily Telegraph, gives some very interesting information on the German wireless equipment for war. His article follows:

"In the German army at least it would appear that the days of field telegraphs have passed and the laborious and lengthy method of laying wires between distant points is now obsolete. Only along established lines of communication will wires be laid for telegraphic and telephonic purposes; the field equipment consists almost in entirety of portable wireless telegraph outfits.

"In other countries portable equipments of this character have been cumbrous and far from easily handled. The German engineer has, however, worked hand in glove with the service man and the kaiser's forces are now equipped with a means of communication which is so light and portable that a motorcyclist with a side car could readily transport one of the smaller outfits some 200 miles in a day.

Have Large Range.

"The short range instruments will send and receive over an average distance of 35 miles. Where the country is level, as in Holland, it is possible the range might be 40 or even 45 miles; in hilly country it might not exceed 15 or 20 miles. The larger sizes have extremely long range and over average country a message could no doubt be sent 180 miles or more.

"While the range is good, the distance to which messages could be sent has not been an object in construction so much as has been portability and ease of erection. As regards the latter point, any of the equipments can be unloaded, set up and at work within 15 minutes of arrival, and they can be taken down and packed in even less time. As regards portability, it is sufficient to say that a horse will easily carry an outfit of average range while a long distance set can be carried by four horses, who also carry riders. A pack horse and a man between them could take one of the larger sets a distance of 30 miles in 24 hours."

students and there was a fine young fellow whom I had confirmed.

Outrages Are Revenge

"What has taken place in Belgium is not war but the outcome of hate. The Germans are taking their revenge for the stigma attached to them as the violaters of neutral territory. They imagine history, terrified by their orgy of blood, will forget their shameful infraction of a treaty—these savages who dare at every step to invoke the name of God and not only attack harmless creatures but wage war even against the divinity.

"In other towns, after bombarding the houses, they have given the churches to the flames and have used the wooden statues on the altars as torches to light them in their deeds of blood. In Malines, a peaceable, undefended town, they made a target of the church of the Strombald. Louvain has been burned by the Germans under pretext that the inhabitants fired upon the soldiers; but at this time when the holidays have emptied the universities there would not be 10 rifles in the town, which is mostly populated by priests, old housekeepers and widows.

War on God, Art and Women

"These bomb-carrying murderers wanted to strike at the head of Belgium. They wished to raze Belgium's intellectual capital, throwing into the flames alike the contents of laboratories and libraries.

"The German deeds in Belgium have nothing to do with war, either in the old days of chivalry or in the modern and scientific form, it is an eruption of barbarians into a prosperous, honest and industrious country. It is a blind ebullition of rage against God, against His temples, against art, sacred or secular, and still more against God in the massacre of helpless women and children.

"When the lake of blood left by the Germans in Belgium has dried up it will be necessary to look for a slab of stone large enough to record these crimes against Heaven and humanity.

"But I do not wish to lose hope. Belgium is brave; she will rise from her bed of ashes and I shall see the resurrection from the tomb where I shall soon be laid."

Commission Arrives

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The White Star liner Celtic arrived at Quarantine tonight from Liverpool and Queenstown. Among the passengers are the Belgian commission which will place before President Wilson accounts of German atrocities in Belgium and of Germany's violation of Belgium's neutrality.

EFFECT OF FIGHTING ON SPORT OF WORLD

A striking illustration of the international character of amateur sport is afforded by the situation that has developed as a result of the war in Europe, says a New York despatch. Early in the season there was every reason for the belief that 1914 would be the greatest year in the history of competition. With the unexpected conflict abroad, international contests of all kinds have been canceled and may not be resumed for months, or even years.

On this side of the Atlantic the America cup race is the most important event to be canceled but other competitions will lose the foreign entries that were executed. The amateur and open golf championships and the national tennis tournament will be without foreign entrants. Abroad the Harmsworth motor boat contest and the international aviation races at Reims are off, as well as all the various national championships of the European countries.

The result of the war from an athletic and sporting standpoint may be greater, for it is likely to upset events scheduled for several years to come. The Sonder boat races at Kiel in 1915 and the Olympic games at Berlin in 1916 are no longer assured fixtures. Athletic authorities both in America and abroad realize that if the present war continues for any extended period Germany will not be in a position to act as host to the Olympic teams. Entries from all the European countries will be greatly curtailed, if not abandoned entirely, and it may be necessary to postpone the games or transfer the meet to some nation not involved in the clash of arms.

In commenting on this angle of the present unsettled state of affairs athletic, James E. Sullivan, secretary of the American Olympic committee, said:

"Of course, it's looking a long way ahead to attempt to predict the effect of the war abroad on the Olympic games of 1916. Personally, I hope that Europe will be at peace again before that time, and that there will be no need of a change in the program. If, however, a shift is necessary, the United States is the logical country in which to hold the games, and the American committee will carry out the schedule as planned by Germany without a hitch of any kind. We have stadiums in many parts of the country, several of which are capable of seating from 40,000 to 60,000 spectators. Should it prove desirable to postpone the Panama-Pacific exposition planned for San Francisco next year until 1916, the Olympic games would undoubtedly be held there in connection with the fair. If the exposition is held according to schedule, Chicago, Pittsburg, New York and Boston are all available for the following year. New Haven and Syracuse, with their big college stadiums, might also be considered.

FRENCH DOCTORS SET FREE BY GERMANS

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

ROTTERDAM, Sept. 10.—(Via London.)—It is reported from Masstricht, Holland, that on Wednesday eight French medical officers passed through the city on the way to England. They had been in charge of a convoy of French wounded which were taken near Namur and held as prisoners of war. The medical officers were given permission to depart for England by way of Rotterdam. From England they will return to France.

That Won't end Corns

That liquid, that plaster—based on old ideas—won't terminate a corn.

Don't try it. Your druggist has a new way—the scientific Blue-jay. It is so efficient, so easy, so painless that it now removes a million corns a month.

The way is this: Apply Blue-jay at night—it takes only a moment. From that time on the corn will cease to pain.

Forget the corn for two days, then simply lift it out.

Blue-jay loosens the corn. In 48 hours you can remove it without any pain or soreness. Folks have proved that, up to date, on sixty million corns.

Stop paring corns. Stop the old-time treatments. End your corns forever in this simple, easy way.

Try it on one corn.

GENERAL SMITH-DORRIEN TYPICAL KITCHENER MAN

Gen. Sir Horace Lockwood Smith-Dorrien, who has been appointed to command an army corps of the British expeditionary force is now 56 years of age. He is a typical Kitchener man who has been in wars all his life, and who has the reputation of being one of the very few generals who have made no mistakes.

His active service began with the Zulu war of 1879, three years after he had joined the Sherwood Foresters, and since then he has usually been to the front when there has been any fighting to be done. From subaltern to general he has won his way, always distinguishing himself and winning in a remarkable degree the trust and regard of the men, among whom he is popular as only a great leader can be.

After the Zulu war, where he was present at Isandula and Ulundi and won mention in despatches, he served in the Egyptian expedition in 1882. In 1885 he was at Suakim with the corps of mounted infantry he had raised, and for three years was in almost all of the persistent fighting with the Sudanese tribesmen, winning incidentally the D. S. O. In India at later dates he served with the Chitral relief expedition and in the Tirah campaign.

Gen. Smith-Dorrien won great distinction in South Africa, where his brigade took a leading part in the rounding up of Cronje, and afterwards helped largely in forcing the surrender of the Boer leader at Modder river.

Gen. Smith-Dorrien was adjutant-general in India in 1901-3, commanded the Quetta division 1903-7, was commander-in-chief at Aldershot from 1907 to 1912, and since the last named date has been general officer commanding the southern command.

One of the pluckiest actions ever performed was his gallop to save the Gordon Highlanders at Doornkop, when his brigade was moving to attack the main Boer position. The Highlanders dashed up the hill impetuously, and Gen. Smith-Dorrien, realizing their danger of being surrounded, galloped through a heavy fire across the enemy's front to turn them. He succeeded without injury and calmly returned to his position at the rear of the troops.

He is, by the way, the brother of T. A. Dorrien-Smith, locally known as the "King of the Scilly Isles."

THE DREAM.

The kaiser grinned and showed his teeth
And laughed aloud with glee—
He shook his sword within its sertah
It rattled frightfully.
"Ho-ho. Methought, last night I wrought
Great deeds for Germany,

"And Paris lay in ruins there—
And O, 'twas sport to see
The great shells bursting in the air
While men in agony
Called out in pain, but all in vain
To me, in Germany.

"'On, on,' I cried, 'let all be mine'—
And England lay in waste—
The Thames flowed redder than the wine
And was far more sweet to taste—
While Russia's czar slept sound afar—
For Russia cannot haste."

"What news!" What news?" the kaiser said
To one without his door—
"I come to tell that fields are red
With dead men by the score,
At Liege 'tis said, are thousands dead.
The wounded number more."

"With dead! Whose dead? Quick, tell me more."
And the kaiser heaved a sigh,
"Our men—who pave the paths of war,
Good God, how quick they die."
"But fight they well, mid shot and shell?
—Despatch a million more."

SAW WAR SCENES WITHIN CONVENT

Blood Red Sunset Sign of War, So Maids of Convent Are Told.

Miss Muriel Furness of Blackpool, just back in London from a convent near Vise, Belgium, in a diary told of her experiences in the war-stricken country.

Writing on Aug. 2, she said:

"We rejoiced that we should go home tomorrow, but at tea time la mere came in crying like a child and telling us that war had been actually declared. The sunset tonight was most beautiful. It kept changing its color —that, we are told, is a sign of war."

On Aug. 3, she wrote, the drawing room became sleeping quarters for the soldiers. The following day, as the cannon roared, the wounded were brought in. She wrote that a German officer as he read a proclamation was shot dead.

On Aug. 7 she wrote:

"Some of the soldiers came into mass. It was so sad to see all the young fellows look so pale. Each had a prayer book in his pocket and their one desire seemed to be to get back to the front again. I took fruit to the wounded soldiers and I spoke to a Belgian who had a bullet right through his cheek. He opened his mouth and showed me the hole. The only thing he wanted was to see his loved ones and go to the war again. Poor things. There was a deep red sky tonight, changing its color all the time. This is the sign of war."

LARGEST LAMP IN WORLD.

Recently the largest electric lamp in the world was lighted in the New York navy yard. On a clear night the beams of this giant searchlight will be visible more than 100 miles. There is no other lamp like it in existence. It is called the Beck searchlight, and is the invention of Henrich Beck, a German scientist, who has been conducting the tests of his lamp for the United States government. For coast defense a 60-inch reflector is now in use. Such a reflector attached to the Beck searchlight gives 1,900,000,000 candle power as against 180,000,000 candle power now obtainable.

GERMAN WOUNDED POORLY CARED FOR

Surgeons Sterilize Hands Before Operation Then Smoke Cigars—Put Instruments on Dirty Towels

(Special Cable to The Daily News and New York Times.)

LONDON, Sept. 10.—A wholly unfavorable opinion of the German field hospital system is given in the Lancet by an assistant to S. Osborne, who has been in the Red Cross detachment in Belgium since the war began.

"The German transport for the wounded is poor, indeed," says the writer. "Except for four light ambulances about 2,000 wounded were taken out through Gembloux on improvised farm carts, each cart containing a little straw and carrying about 12 men. We saw one wounded man taken from bed dressed in full kit with a rifle slung on his back. The cars consisted of cattle cars in which wooden benches had been placed and a space left on the floor for badly wounded.

"The feeding of the patients was in charge of a German orderly and there was total lack of discrimination. Black bread and sausage or fat bacon was provided every day and if a man was too ill to east such fare, he went without. Milk was impossible to obtain but our nurses managed to secure condensed milk and weak coffee for a few of the gravest cases.

"We saw several operations in the big base hospital. The surgeon washed his hands most carefully and then took a cigar, which he smoked all the time. The instruments were carefully sterilized by boiling and then placed on a towel which had been used for instruments for the last 24 operations.

"Anesthetics were seldom given and it must be said that the fortitude of both French and Germans was remarkable."

SPANISH STEAMER LOSES ITS GERMAN RESERVISTS

Sails From Halifax After Captain Had Made Protest—Radio Operator Said to Have Aided Germans.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 10.—The Spanish steamer Montserrat sailed for Cadiz yesterday after Capt. Ferrier lodged a formal protest with the Spanish consul here against his detention by a British man of war. The baggage of the German passengers was taken off and is being examined at the intelligence office here, while 68 German reservists taken from the ship are held at Elmville island.

HONOLULU, Sept. 10.—The Pacific Mail liner Manchuria on arrival here today from Shanghai reported that while at Hongkong her wireless operator, Fritz Kleist, was arrested on a charge of having sent surreptitious messages to German vessels. Kleist claims American citizenship. The British authorities say he is a German reservist.

GERMAN RADIO REPORT SAYS FRANCIS JOSEPH WELL

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 10.—In a message received from Vienna, says a Berlin official despatch received tonight by the Marconi company, it is stated that the Austrian emperor continues to enjoy the best of health.

The reports concerning Russian victories near Lemberg are characterized as untrue. It is said that they are being circulated with the object of lightening the depression now prevalent among the French people.

The German emperor's vigorous protest to the president of the United States against the use of dumdum bullets by the allies is cordially supported in Vienna, says the despatch.

CANADIAN JAM FACTORIES BUSY DURING WAR

The embargo on the exportation of jam from the United Kingdom will increase the demand for Canadian made jams. During the fiscal year ending March 31, 1914, over $500,000 worth of *jams, jellies and preserves were im*ported from the United Kingdom into Canada. The deficiency created by the shutting off of these imports under the embargo instituted by the British government must be made up by the Canadian jam factories

As a result of these conditions there is greatly increased activity in the jam factories throughout Canada. Dominion Canners Limited is operating its jam factory at Hamilton at maximum capacity, night as well as day shifts being employed. E. D. *Smith & Sons, Limited, has increas*ed the staff in its jam factory at Winona, Ont., and will have a record output this season. In the plant of Lindners, Limited, at Toronto, for example, where under ordinary conditions about 45 hands are employed it is expected that night as well as day shifts will be employed for the next six or seven months. Both Nelson factories are manufacturing jam and canning fruit and other products. These conditions are typical of those that obtain throughout the entire industry.

PEASANTS MADE TO GIVE UP WATCHES

The horrors of war inflicted upon the frontier population are illustrated in a tragic story by a refugee from a village 10 miles east of Pont-a-Mousson, says a despatch from Paris.

When the German detachment arrived, he says, the lieutenant ordered the mayor to gather all the watches he could in the village, as presents to the soldiers. When the mayor returned, the lieutenant shot him because he had not found enough.

Then the soldiers dashed through the streets, tossing children aside with their bayonets and shooting men and women.

The people buried themselves in cellars and were without food for two days, while troops burned the houses. Finally the people were told they could come out, but as they emerged they were shot down. The only survivors are a few who remained in the cellars till the Germans left the village.

WALL STREET EAGER TO BELIEVE PEACE RUMORS

Big Bankers Have Little Faith in Them—London Banks Have Plenty of Money.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Wall street inclined a willing ear to the many peace rumors current in the district today, even though they were accepted with reservation in high banking circles. Altogether, however, the financial situation made further progress toward betterment as was shown by the decision of the leading banking houses and bond dealers to resume business in high grade securities, subject to certain necessary restrictions.

Interest centered mainly around the Washington conference of bankers and the federal reserve board from which came the announcement that a syndicate of New York bankers would care for $80,000,000 of New York city's obligations held abroad, leaving only something like $70,000,000 to be raised outside this city to meet other European obligations of the country, should the reserve board adopt the bankers' plan in its entirety.

Although the exchange market failed to reflect any unusual conditions in connection with the plan for the payment of the city's debt to London and Paris, the belief still prevails that a round amount of gold, probably not less than $25,000,000, will be shipped to Ottawa in connection with the city's obligations.

London discount banks announced a reduction in stock exchange loans from 6 to 5 per cent, due to the plethora of money.

MINERAL MARKET WILL BE STRONGER

That the European war and the opening of the Panama canal will greatly strengthen the mineral market of the United States is the prediction of Secretary of Interior Franklin K. Lane of the Spokane chamber of commerce. In a communication to the chamber Secretary Lane says:

"The year 1913 was our banner year in the production of minerals. Our mineral production reached the unequalled amount of two and a half billion dollars, which was an increase of more than two hundred million dollars over the output of 1912, and a five hundred million dollar increase over the output of 1911.

"All who are in touch with the mineral industry expect still further increases in future years by reason of the new opportunities for marketing mineral products on account of the European war and the opening of the Panama canal."

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS

Coal mining rights of the Dominion in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories, and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 per acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district of which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections or legal subdivisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5, which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY.
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

GERMAN SPIES SPREAD ALL OVER EMPIRE

Ready to Forward Every Scrap of Important News to Hostile Lands.

In view of reported cases of German espionage in Canada, and of the excitement produced in various centres throughout the Dominion by the movements of supposed spies, it is interesting to know something of the scale upon which the German system of espionage is known to be organized in the theatre of war of Europe, which is, of course, the very heart of the system, says a despatch from Ottawa.

At the start it is well to recall the fact that the excellent of the German intelligence system, which contributed so powerfully toward the German success in the Franco-German war of 1870, was the result of an elaborate spy system, carefully organized within the borders of France during peace time.

After the conclusion of the 1866 campaign against Austria, Stieber, minister of police in Prussia, who was to Bismarck and Von Moltke what Fonche was to Napoleon, was sent on a secret mission to France. His aim and object was the organization within the boundaries of France of a spy system preparatory to the pending war. Stieber, in all, between 1866 and 1869, made four journeys through the length and breadth of France, by the end of which time, aided by very able assistants, he accomplished far-reaching results.

He strewed France with 20,000 paid German spies, and organized a complete espionage system in the parts of France which covered the possible theatre of war. Those spies were organized territorically under four inspectors, having headquarters at Brussels, Lausanne, Geneva and Berlin, and responsible to two lieutenants of police, who in turn reported to Stieber.

A peculiar feature of the system instituted by Stieber at that time, and still maintained, were the "fixed posts." The ordinary idea of a spy is one who is sent to travel in a foreign country in some disguise, and who returns to his own country with information thus acquired. But this traveling spy suffers very great disadvantages. Like every traveler in a foreign country, without raison d'etre for being there, he is the object of suspicion. He has no time to get thoroughly into touch with useful channels of information.

He is closely watched and directly he begins making enquiries as to this, that and the other, the previous suspicions become certainties and his mission results in failure.

But the spy in the "fixed post" is on an entirely different footing. He attracts no attention, since he lives as an inhabitant of the place he is in and moreover, plies some trade, which gives him a very good reason for being there.

Under the cover of this trade he can make enquiries without incurring the suspicion of the authorities and has ample time to get into touch with anyone whom he thinks capable of giving him useful information.

German Spies in France.

The German spies in France were, and still doubtless are, of all grades and professions, and of both sexes, including farmers, market gardeners, agricultural laborers, vine growers, railway porters, shop keepers, commercial travelers (a very useful and frequent disguise), waiters and waitresses in cafes, hotels and canteens, newspaper reporters, telegraph operators, female domestics, etc.

Among other duties assigned to the director of the German spy service during the war of 1870 were the following:

(a) Information in regard to the situation, strength and movements of each group of the hostile army.

(b) In regard to the age, character and reputation of all hostile commanders.

(c) In regard to what was going on and the state of public feeling in the districts the German army was about to traverse and the resources of those districts.

(d) To procure in each of these regions persons capable of furnishing useful information.

It is known that in spite of French vigilance the Germans have maintained and perhaps elaborated the espionage system and that in 1890 Stieber, still at that date minister of police in Germany, was sent through France and subsequently established a branch of the German secret police to deal with "political actions." This term, it was explained, included the destruction of the strategetical railways in France on the outbreak of war, so that the French mobilization might be retarded. But this part of the scheme miscarried, thanks to the vigilance of the French intelligence agents.

In book entitled "The German Spy System in France" translated from the French of Paul Sanoir and published recently in London, from which most of the facts herein contained are taken, it is explained that German espionage in France interests itself in everything and everybody possessing in any capacity a particle of authority or celebrity. A specialty is made of the character, habits, capacities, etc., of individual officers of the French army; but every species of information that can be of any use in a military or political sense comes under the notice of the German spies.

Information as to telegraphs, telephones, railways, highways, bridges, culverts, forges, forage, provision and supplies, shipping, hospitals, barracks accommodation, water supplies, discontented people and citizens susceptible of monetary temptation is particularly sought.

According to M. Sanoir, there are at present some 15,000 spies in "fixed posts" in France.

How perfect a spy system has been introduced by the Germans into Canada is not stated, but it is known that there have been German spies in Canada within the past five years, and that some of them have been identified and tracked by the military and police authorities.

For obvious reasons the Canadian military and civil authorities are silent as to what is known officially about German spies and espionage in Canada; but that there are agents of the hostile powers in Canada ready to forward every scrap of important news bearing upon Canada's participation in the present war is admitted.

Owing to the military censorship imposed upon the cable and wireless telegraph services it is difficult for the German agents in Canada to get their reports across the Atlantic promptly, but in the absence of a censorship over the land wires and mails, communication of a sort is open through the mails to neutral countries.

Meantime patriotic Canadians who are repositories of information which might be useful in any war to the enemies of the empire will do well to keep such information to themselves and take every precaution to prevent it from obtaining general circulation or from reaching the ears of possible agents of tht German intelligence service.

THE GIRL I LEFT BEHIND ME

I'm lonesome since I cross'd the hill,
And o'er the moor and valley;
Such heavy thoughts my heart do fill,
Since parting with my Sally,
I seek no more the fine and gay,
For each does but remind me
How swift the hours did pass away,
With the girl I've left behind me.

Oh! ne'er shall I forget the night,
The stars were bright above me,
And gently lent their silv'ry light,
When first she vowed she loved me.
But now I'm bound to Brighton camp,
Kind Heaven, may favor find me,
And send me safely back again
To the girl I've left behind me.

The bee shall honey taste no more,
The rose become a ranger,
The dashing waves shall cease to roar,
Ere she's to me a stranger;
The vows we've registered above
Shall ever cheer and bind me,
In constancy to her I love,
The girl I've left behind me.

My mind her form shall still retain,
In sleeping or in waking,
Until I see my love again,
For whom my heart is breaking.
If ever I should see the day,
When Mars shall have resigned me,
For evermore I'll gladly stay
With the girl I've left behind me.

BRILLIANT PAGE IN ARMY'S HISTORY

Military Correspondent Refers to Battle in Which British Saved Left Wing of Allies

(Special Cable to The Daily News and New York Times.)

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Chronicle's military correspondent says:

"Sir John French's despatch describing the course of operations from the landing of our troops on French soil to the brave but difficult operation of falling back from the Cambrai-Le Cateau-Landrecies line, is a model of what such a despatch should be and will ever remain enshrined in a honorary place in our military ordnances. It depicts one of the hardest fought engagements in which the British army has ever taken part and it pays the right tribute to the officers and men and to the splendid services of the army corps commanders.

"Throughout the whole of the operations the British troops were many times outnumbered but the enemy never gave them a rest until they could hold on to the pursuit no longer. The German advance was exceedingly rapid and in great strength. The French staff had been unable either to anticipate or discover it. Sir John French had received information from Gen. Joffre leading him to suppose that little more than one or at most two of the enemy's corps, with perhaps a cavalry division, were before his position and his own patrols and aeroplanes saw nothing to arouse any suspicion of the enormous forces that were coming forward. The British troops had, however, but just arrived on the scene and it is perhaps surprising that the French had no fuller information.

"Our troops bore the brunt unaided for the French could not at first assist them. The troops were therefore placed in a dangerous position and the story of the retreat in which they suffered so heavily and extricated themselves with the highest military skill will add another brilliant page to the story of our army."

REJECTED MEN RETURN FROM VALCARTIER CAMP

Physical Examination is Strict and Many Are Sent Away—Training Not Severe.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

OTTAWA, Sept. 10.—Nearly every train into the city from Quebec brings its quota of volunteers who have failed to qualify for active service at the training camp at Valcartier Today the train from Valcartier landed about 100 men who had be sent back from the military camp. Although the majority of these had failed to qualify on medical grounds there were other reasons why some of them had been sent back. One explained that he had got into a fight with an officer and had been fired. Those who arrived here today were mostly from western Canada and the vicinity of Toronto.

"I'm going back to Prince Albert," said one man. "I was declared physically unfit for service, notwithstanding I am in good health. The examination is strict and crowds are being sent away every day. They have any number of men and can afford to be particular. They are being sent away on the least provocation. Is it cold down there? Well, I should say, but we were given sufficient clothing. The grub is good and the training is not severe.

"There are fully 200 men on this train when it started and they have been dropping all along the line. We get our transportation back home and are paid until we get there. Every one is anxious to get away and it is expected that the whole force will sail soon."

LYING GERMAN PRESS HAS ZANGWILL UNDER ARREST

(Special Cable to The Daily News and New York Times.)

LONDON, Sept. 10.—One of the quaintest bits of "news" making the rounds of the German press is that Israel Zangwill has been arrested by the English government for alleged pro-German sympathies. A recent issue of the Hamburger Frondenblatt contains the following from Budapest:

"The local Jewish paper, Egyenloezg, learns from London, via Switzerland, that the well known author, Israel Zangwill, founder of the Jewish territorial organization, has been arrested by the English government. In the line with the bulk of liberal opinion of this country Zangwill started an agitation against the war on the ground that free England was hurrying to the aid of tottering czarism. During the last week Zangwill held three mass meetings in London to protest against the war while at Leeds he addressed a mass meeting at which he denounced the government and demanded in the name of culture that England at once abandon the war. As he returned to London after this meeting, he was arrested by order of the ministry."

LABOR LEADERS MAY NOT RETURN TO AFRICA

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Gen. Botha, premier of the Union of South Africa, according to Reuters Capetown correspondent, has decided that none of the labor leaders who were deported to England during the Ran riots last January shall be allowed to return to South Africa. This action, according to the correspondent, was taken for the purpose of assuring complete unanimity and co-operation among the various sections in the union during the political crisis.

VOLUNTEERS NEED NOT WORRY ABOUT INSURANCE

MONTREAL, Sept. 10.—The offices of six life insurance companies make the announcement that volunteers to the expeditionary forces need not worry about lapse of premiums on their policy. The premiums will be charged as loans against the policies, it was stated. The companies that made this announcement are: Canada Life Assurance, Confederation Life Assurance, Royal Guardian, Sun Life, Mutual Life and Manufacturers Life.

INDIAN BOARD VISITS NELSON

Tours Province in Connection With Aborigine Affairs—Leaves This Morning for Creston.

The members of the royal commission on Indian affairs of British Columbia were in the city yesterday and will leave on the Crow boat this morning for Creston. The commission consists of five members, Nathaniel W. White of Shelbourne, N. S., who is chairman; J. A. J. McKenna, LL. D., and Saunarez Carmichael, representing the Dominion government, and D. H. Macdowell and J. P. Shaw, M. L. A., representing the provincial government. R. L. T. Galbraith, Indian agent for Kootenay, accompanied them.

The commission, which was created in 1912 under agreement between the Dominion and provincial governments, and whose duty it is to settle controversies in regard to Indian lands, has nearly completed its tour of the province. It has the power to enlarge reservations where they have been found inadequate and to arrange for the reduction of existing reservations which are found to be too large. During the tour the commission has met various bands of Indians, taking evidence as to land requirements and conditions and inspecting the land. They are in this district for the purpose of arranging to carry out important work in connection with the Indian agency.

TAKES STEPS TO AID UNEMPLOYED

Board of Trade Ascertains Extent of Manufacturing Possibilities in This District

"That it be suggested to the city council that married men, with families, who are permanent residents of the city be given preference for employment on city work, and if necessary in order to give work to all such who need it, the employment be apportioned in limited alternating periods, and that we signify to the provincial executive that this board would favor the carrying out by the government of useful public works providing for employment of any men who may be in need as an emergency measure during the autumn and winter months."

The above recommendation was passed at the meeting of the Nelson board of trade last evening after discussing at length ways and means of providing assistance during the coming winter for those who were in need of aid.

R. G. Joy and W. H. Jones gave notice of motion to be brought before the board at the next meeting the object of which will be to ask the banking institutions and other corporations of the country to take measures in some way to relieve financial depression in the country.

A manufacturing committee consisting of T. A. Robley, R. G. Joy, and E W. Widdowson, was appointed to ascertain what new manufactures could be carried on in Nelson and the means of establishing them.

John Openshaw was elected a member of the board.

POPE BENEDICT CALLS ON RULERS TO END STRUGGLE

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

ROME, Sept. 10.—(via Paris, Sept. 11, 2.00 a.m.)—The Osservatore Romano, the official organ of the Vatican, this evening publishes a pastoral letter from Pope Benedict in the form of an encyclia to the episcopacy of the world. It contained the program for the pontificate of Pope Benedict, which, summarized, calls for renewed efforts to spread religion throughout the world and urges peace and brotherhood among peoples and nations in fear of God

"Looking out upon the flock entrusted to our care," Pope Benedict says, "the immense spectacle of a general war has struck us with unutterable horror and sadness.

"When we see such a considerable portion of Europe devastated by fire and sword and drenched with blood, it is encumbent upon us to embrace all without distinction—lambs and sheep, in the arms of paternal charity."

The pope implores intercession for peace to the Virgin and then continues:

"We exhort most earnestly those who govern the destiny of the nations that they should bring themselves to a frame of mind whereby they may put aside all dissensions contrary to the welfare of humanity.

"Let them realize that there already is too much suffering and sorrow attached to this mortal life and that it should not be rendered more wretched and more sorrowful. Let them realize how much ruin and disaster already has been wrought and how much human blood already has been shed."

Addressing the heads of nations, he says:

"Hasten, therefore, to enter into a council of peace. Grasp the right hand of friendship and receive a special reward from God for yourselves and your nations, and earn the greatest praise from the brotherhood of men."

The encyclia ends by expressing the hope that the beginning of his pontificate will see the end of the war.

THOUSAND AMERICANS EAGER TO ENLIST

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—According to a man who has just arrived here from Windsor, Ont., that town in the last few weeks has witnessed the arrival of more than 1,000 Americans who are eager to enlist in the Canadian army.

"Most of them are young men and they are mainly from Michigan," said the visitor. "They are strong, athletic youngsters who say they want to fight and they want to do it quickly. I am told that the officers of the British consulate in Detroit has been overrun with American volunteers. The greater part of them go over to Windsor across the river with the announcement that they want to enlist in separate companies composed of Americans, so they can be with their own countrymen.

"When told that this is impossible, they usually say 'Oh, well, I don't care so long as I can get a chance to get to the front in a hurry.' Unfortunately for their ambition, progress toward the front has been rather slow, for the troops assembled at Valcartier have to be got off first., and so far the camp there has been pretty well crowded with Canadian volunteers."

RAIN PUTS OUT FOREST FIRES

Some Are Still Burning in Boundary but Are Under Control—Hundred Men Called In.

The rain of the past few days has had the effect of putting out practically every forest fire in this district. There are still some fires burning west of Grand Forks but these are well under control. On Wednesday 100 men who were employed in fighting fire were called in and there are less than 50 men at work at the present time. A few of these men are in the Lardeau country patrolling.

In Kaslo on Wednesday two persons were each fined $50 for lighting fires without a permit.

GERMANS GIVE NO NEWS OF BATTLE NOW RAGING

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Official Berlin despatches received here by wireless say:

"While Louvain was burning German officers carried pictures from the cathedral to the hotel de ville for their protection.

"Emperor William and Prince Leopold of Lippe have exchanged cordial and sympathetic telegrams on the occasion of the heroic death of Prince Herbert of Lippe, who is the third member of the house of Lippe to fall in this war.

"According to London papers, fighting has been proceeding since Sept. 7, east of Paris on a line between Auteuil, Meaux and Vitry le Francois. Early French reports of a victory have since proved to be exaggerated, for the allies do not appear to be able to maintain the former success of their offensive movement.

"No news of this battle has been received from the German side."

Two Candidates for School Board—Will Cast Ballots in City Hall and Band Room

Polling will take place today for the election of a trustee to fill the position left vacant on the school board by the death of the late John Hamilton. There are two candidates for the position, George H. Fraser, president of the trades and labor council, who is representative of that body, and James H. Wallace, formerly a retail merchant here. The polls will open at 9 a.m. and will close at 7 o'clock this evening. Voters in the east ward will cast their votes at the city hall and in the west ward at the band room, 509 Kootenay street.

BRITISH NAVY TO BE STRENGTHENED

Ten Battleships and Fifteen Cruisers Will be Launched in Year, Says Harcourt

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

OTTAWA, Sept. 10.—The Duke of Connaught, under date of Sept. 9, received the following cablegram from Right Hon. Lewis Harcourt, colonial secretary:

"The following review of the war is sent for information of your ministers and for general publication:

"After one month of war command of the sea is left unchallenged in the hands of Great Britain and her allies. Main German and Austrian fleets remain in harbors under shelter of mines and batteries. Four German cruisers, one auxiliary cruiser, two destroyers, one submarine and one Austrian cruiser have been sunk. German dreadnoughts and a cruiser have fled without fighting to Dardanelles. Losses of British ships have been insignificant. In consequence of this naval supremacy over 300,000 troops have crossed seas in different parts of the world without losing a man, British expeditionary force has been carried to France, expeditions have been sent to attack German colonies in Africa and Pacific and French troops protected by Anglo-French Mediterranean fleet have been taken from Algiers to France.

"Armies in Europe will be reinforced without ceasing by troops from Canada, Australia, New Zealand and India. Germany's ships have disappeared from the sea, which is open to British commerce everywhere. In China, Pacific, Atlantic, German ships have avoided action with British cruisers and their depredations have been small.

"The British navy will be increased within the next 12 months with not less than 10 capital ships, 15 cruisers and 20 destroyers. During the same period Germany will not add more than one-third of this number to her fleet.

"Meanwhile, in answer to the call of the government, large numbers of fresh recruits have voluntarily joined. Eagerness to enlist has grown markedly since British troops actually engaged the enemy.

"During the last week in London alone the number of recruits averaged nearly 4,000 daily and on Monday last the number exceeded 4,800.

"Russian armies have invaded Prussia. Austrians have been decisively beaten by Servians and Russians. Outside Europe, Japanese fleet and troops blockade Tsing-tau, Togoland has surrendered to Anglo-French force and Samoa to a force from New Zealand."

CANADA MUST CAPTURE U.S. TRADE

This Is Time for Courage and Confidence, Declares Duke of Connaught

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

TORONTO, Sept. 10.—The Duke of Connaught was the guest of honor at a luncheon of the directors of the Canadian National exhibition this afternoon.

The governor-general made a brief speech in which he dwelt upon the opportunity afforded by the European war for a great increase in Canada's foreign trade. The duke declared:

"Trade must be looked after. This is all important. I would bid the people of Canada to be of good cheer. This is a time for courage and confident belief that the resources of the Dominion are equal to every stress which we may be called upon to meet.

"The present struggle has dislocated industry throughout the world, but it has also given great opportunities. The people of Canada should avail themselves of these. A better and wider market for food products is certain for some time to come at good prices and Canada should increase as much as possible the area of cultivation in order to profit thereby. This must necessarily tend to give an impetus to agriculture, the great basic industry of the country, which will not only maintain but strengthen our resources. Again the Dominion can undertake the manufacture of many articles not hitherto made in Canada and thus do much to supply employment for those artisans and laborers who are temporarily out of work owing to the changes brought about by the war.

"Gentlemen, I again say confidence and courage is necessary. I feel sure that Canada will rise to the occasion and overcome the many difficulties of the present economic situation."

PROF. ADAM SHORTT RETURNS FROM BRITAIN

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

OTTAWA, Sept. 10.—Prof. Adam Shortt, commissioner of the civil service commission of Canada has just returned from the United Kingdom. He has been making an extensive investigation into the workings of the inside and outside branches of the civil service of Britain and has gathered much valuable information which will be embodied in a report which he is preparing. Prof. Shortt was unable to say what the nature of the findings would be.

He stated that in the outside service in the mother country the influence of politicians had been completely eliminated in the appointment of postmasters, customs and inland revenue officials. In the staffs of those departments there was no interference by politicians.

Prof. Shortt was in England when the war broke out. He studied the economic aspects of the situation and said that many of the first rank British financial and commercial interests had suffered heavily through the war, which was also applicable to the United States and Canada. He interviewed many of the heads of concerns affected. Speaking of the effect on the bigger shipping companies, Prof. Shortt said that the war had completely smashed up the work of organization. It was down and out and what to do to pick up these fragments was a big question.

"The people of Britain are facing the situation well and the people will see it through," he concluded.

BERLIN PAPER PROTESTS AGAINST TEUTON CRUELTIES

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

AMSTERDAM, via London, Sept. 10.—The Berlin newspaper Vorwaerts prints an article protesting against cruel treatment of prisoners of war and adds that if the reports of cruelties of which it has heard of several times are true the severest measures should be adopted to stop them.

The Vorwaerts gives Herr Traub, a member of the reichstag, as authority for the statement that a male nurse who wrote the last will of a dying French count was subjected to corporal punishment for doing so. It also quotes a report received from Liebenstern, Saxe-Myningen, describing how a party of Belgian prisoners being transported through the town was attacked by a furious mob which seized and lynched a priest who was among the prisoners because he was accused of having incited the Belgian populance to commit atrocities on the German soldiers.

CHARGE MRS. CARMAN WITH MURDER NOW

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

MINEOLA, L. I., Sept. 10.—A superseding indictment charging murder was found this afternoon against Mrs. Florence Carman by the grand jury investigating the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey, shot down by an unseen assailant in the offices of Dr. Carman of Freeport on June 30 last.

Mrs. Carman had previously been indicted for manslaughter and had been at liberty under $15,000 bail. She was arraigned immediately this afternoon and committed to the Nassau county jail without bail for trial, which probably will be in December.

BRITISH DEFEAT AFRICAN GERMANS

Small Force Holds Station Against Enemy Until Reinforcements Arrive—Guns Captured

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 10, 8:40 p.m.—British troops have met and defeated a German force of 400 which entered Nyassaland, British Central Africa, according to an announcement made by the official press bureau, which adds:

"The Germans lost seven officers killed and two wounded, two field and two machine guns. The loss among the rank and file has not been ascertained but was heavy.

"The British loss among the whites was four killed and several wounded; the loss among the rank and file is not ascertained.

"On Sept. 8 a British force advanced against the Germans, who, however, evaded them and attacked the British station at Karonga (on the northwest shore of Lake Nyassa, at the terminus of the Steveson road), which was defended by an officer, 50 African rifles, the police and eight civilians.

"After three hours' resistance a column arrived from the British force and drove the enemy off. Later the main British force came up and after a day's fighting in which the Germans fought with great determination and had to be disloged by repeated bayonet charges, drove the enemy toward the Songa river. The British were too exhausted to continue the pursuit."

Fight in West Africa

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Sept. 10, 8:35 p.m.—There has been some sharp fighting between the British and Germans in Africa.

This is indicated by the list of casualties issued tonight. At Cameroon (Kamerun), a German colony of western equatorial Africa, three officers were killed, four were wounded and three were among the missing.

Casualty List Out.

(Canadian Associated Press.)

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The following casualties are announced among the officers of the West Africa frontier force, Nigeria regiment, in the recent fighting in the German Cameroon district:

Killed.

Sherlock, Capt. G. L. E., 3rd hussars.

Stewart, Lieut. A. R., Gloucestershire regiment.

Wickham, Lieut. T. S. D., D. S. O., Manchester regiment.

Wounded.

Loch, Lieut. E. E., Highlander Light infantry.

Macdonnel, Capt. D. H., D. S. O., reserve of officers.

Seymour, Lord H. C., Grenadier guards.

Scott-Moncrieff, Lieut. R., Royal Scots.

Wounded and Missing.

Brown, Lieut. H. W., Royal Irish regiment.

Buckle, Capt. and Temp. Major T. N., Leicestershire regiment.

In the fighting in East Africa, Lieut. G. C. O. Oldfield, of the Royal West Surrey regiment, stationed at Bombo, Uganda, part of the fourth battalion of the Kings Africans, was killed.

AUSTRIAN SUBJECTS IN OTTAWA ARE IN NEED

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

OTTAWA, Sept. 10.—Prior to the opening of the war there were several hundred Ukranians and other men, subjects of Austria, in the capital, who had not worked for seven or eight months. These men are still here and with the elapse of time their distress has increased without any prospect of relief. A deputation waited upon Mayor McVeity to inquire when work on the new water scheme would commence.

The interpreters who looked after the men stated that the condition of some of the men is appaling. Many have been without work since December last, and are on the verge of starvation. Some of the older men have wives and families in the fighting zone of Galicia, where the battles are fiercest and can get no tidings from them.

FINAL MANEUVERS WILL BEGIN SOON

Will Conclude Training at Valcartier Camp—Every Man Has New Rifle.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

VALCARTIER, Que., Sept. 10.—Organization of the Canadian expeditionary force is going on so smoothly that brigade exercises will probably begin on Monday next and will, it is expected, continue all next week. Then will follow maneuvers in which the combined forces will participate, which will mean practically the termination of the training. It is impossible, however, to say how long these maneuvers will continue. Every man in camp now has a new rifle. Other equipment, such as clothing and boots, is being issued with great haste and by the time maneuvers begin all the equipment will have been issued and all the troops will be prepared for the test.

Physically the men are in good shape, the daily grind having gradually hardened them to the strenuous work. The camp is comparatively free of sickness but there are a few men in the hospital.

Most of the soldiers have been examined for service abroad, with less than 10 per cent of over 3,000 rejected.

So far as inoculation is concerned, it was said tonight by Col. Briggs, assistant director of medical services, that there are only three men in the hospital suffering from effects of it.

Several battalions were taken to the ranges shortly after 7 a. m. and drilled in skirmishing order until nearly 6 p. m., with a recess at noon of half an hour and the infantry was working on the range while two brigades of artillery maneuvered all day on the ranges across the Jacques Cartier river.

Send Rowdy Men Home.

Twenty soldiers were rounded up tonight by members of the military police on charges of drunkenness and having liquor in their possession. It is probable all these men will be sent home.

A detachment of the Royal Canadian garrison artillery was sent to Quebec today for patrol duty to assist the police of the city who have been considerably bothered by soldiers who have conducted themselves in a disorderly manner. On account of the actions of a few the others in camp will suffer as pass privileges will be practically eliminated.

Join Patricias

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LEVIS, Que., Sept. 10.—A contingent of 30 men from Calgary arrived in the camp of the Princess Patricia light infantry yesterday. It was at once allotted to the various camps. All of the men have seen active service and some of them wore medals.

MISOGYNY AND THE MINISTRY

A learned man, well versed in theology, viz., Rev. Shaler Matthews, dean of the Chicago university's theological school, has declared with emphasis recently before the Bay View, Mich., Bible conference, "that St. Paul must have been married at some time previous to his ministry, and that there are many reasons to show that he was a widower."

And what be these reasons? Thus saith the learned one:

1. St. Paul had no illusions about women's superiority.
2. He was unusually wise in the ways of women and their vanities.
3. His letter to the Corinthians on "When to get married" is a masterpiece of advice for young men to follow.
4. Of all great religious apostles, he was the first to rule that marriage is not dishonorable.
5. His reasons for setting women of the church in an inferior status proves conclusively he had known some of the sex intimately.
6. His ruling as to how women must wear their hair and use of veils and other personal details shows him an experienced husband.

Dean Matthews went on to say:

"No mere bachelor could ever have handled the details of social conduct and the organization of his new church, with its many turbulent converts and eccentrics, so well as St. Paul did if he had not been exceedingly wise in his knowledge of the feminine sex."

That settles the matter.—Calgary Albertan.

NELSON NEWS OF THE DAY

N. Macleod and Norman Taylor will leave on the Crow boat this morning for Montreal, whence they will sail on the Virginian on Sept. 17.
