RUSSIANS RUSH GERMAN POSITIONS, FOE ROUTED

Battle of Augustowo Complete Victory for Czar

ENEMY THROWN IN DISORDER

Abandons Trains, Cannon, Munitions and Wounded. Servians in Action

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

PETROGRAD, Oct. 4.—The official communication from the general staff headquarters, issued tonight, reads:

"The battle of Augustowo ended yesterday in a victory for the Russian arms. The German defeat is complete.

"The enemy is at this moment in a disordered retreat and in flight toward the East Prussian frontier. The valiant Russian troops are in close pursuit, the Germans abandoning in their desperate march trains, cannon and munitions, not having even time to gather up their wounded.

"It is already known that the battle of Augustowo began on Sept. 29 with a bombardment by the German heavy artillery in the region of Sopotzkin, on the left bank of the Niemen, followed by an offensive movement by the enemy against the same fortified town. At the same time the Germans made repeated efforts to crush and dislocate the Russian forces near Druskini, on the Niemen.

Could Not Check Russian Rush.

"On Sept. 26 the Germans also began an attack on the fortresses of Ossowetz, but everywhere met with fierce resistance and were compelled to retreat. Not satisfied with counter-attacks, our troops took the offensive vigorously and pursued the enemy. Notwithstanding the energetic resistance offered by the Germans they could not check the onward rush of our troops, who captured the enemy's positions one after another. Routed by this engagement, the Germans weakened and are at present in full retreat; they are leaving our territory in haste. At certain points this retreat is degenerating into a flight."

Calls Teuton Defeat Complete

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Oct. 4, 11:35 p.m.—It is officially stated here, says the Exchange Telegraph's Petrograd correspondent, that the fighting at Augustowo ceased on Oct. 3 in a glorious Russian victory. The German defeat was complete and the enemy is in disorderly retreat toward the east Prussian frontier.

The Russian troops have shown exceptional bravery and persistence and are pursuing the enemy, which abandoned in its retreat cars, guns, stores and wounded.

On the left bank of the Vistula and in Galicia there is no change in the situation.

Germans Claim Victory

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Oct. 4, 5:30 p.m.—A despatch from German headquarters says the third Siberian and parts of the 22nd Russian army corps have been defeated near Augustowo, Russian Poland after two days' fighting, says the Amsterdam correspondent of Reuter's.

Drown in Niemen River.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Oct. 4.—A Petrograd despatch by way of Rome to the Central News says:

"The Germans are evacuating Russian territory. Whole regiments have been drowned in the Niemen river and have lost their siege artillery. The emperor, it is declared, escaped with difficulty."

A despatch to the Reuter Telegram company from Petrograd, describing the German attack on Suwalki, says that the Germans made Vilna their objective, disregarding Kovno and attacking most stubbornly, finally retreating before Russian bayonet charges, but in order, Dead Bodies Cover Roads.

The roads were covered with German corpses, which included a gunner still holding a shell in his arms At Ossowetz the Russians captured a number of heavy guns. A German vanguard succeeded in conatructing a pontoon bridge over the Niemen river, but not a single German who crossed the river survived, every one being mowed down by infantry fire, which was supported by a hail of shrapnel from masked artillery.

The Germans, the correspondent says, made another attempt to cross the river, advancing in dense columns, but they were again repulsed, quick-firing guns playing havoc with their crowded ranks. The German batteries, which had been supporting the infantry attack, finally were silenced by Russian artillery. The enemy then retired for a distance of eight miles, pursued by Cossacks, who crossed the river by means of the pontoon bridge which the Germans had built.

A correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company at Rome says a despatch has been received there from Bucharest saying that after occupying the principal cities of Bukowina (a crown land of Austria-Hungary), the Russians began an advance on Transylvania, Austria, hoping to defeat this serious menace, as concentrated in the west Carpathians several army corps, and a big battle is imminent.

Servians Repulse Attacks.

PARIS, Oct. 4, 4:55 p.m.—A Havas Agency despatch from Nish, Servia, says that the Servians on the front from Zvornik to Losnitza, along the river Drina, have repulsed violent attacks and inflicted heavy losses on the Austrians. The Austrians have opened artillery fire on Sabatz.

Early this morning it was reported that it was not known when communication with the outside would be reopened. The company had gangs of linemen out endeavoring to locate the trouble so that repairs could be made.

ITALY SAID TO OCCUPY AVLONA

If Report Is True It Is Believed to Make War With Austria Almost Certain.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Oct. 4.—In both Italy and Rumania a considerable difference of opinion has arisen as to what steps, if any, the government should take in regard to the war. Some are for war and others for a continuation of neutrality.

If the report coming from Rome today that Italian sailors have occupied Avlona is true, Italy has taken action which will almost certainly involve her. Avlona, "the Gibraltar of the Adriatic," has long been coveted by both Italy and Austria. During the war between Italy and Turkey, when Avlona belonged to Turkey, it was the scene of a daring exploit by the Italian navy under the Duke of the Abruzzi.

The jealousy of Austria was immediately aroused and, as a result, an agreement was reached whereby Turkey's European possessions were immune from attack. The intensity of Austrian feeling was also manifested during the Balkan war and Austro-Italian occupation of the port was talked of.

Avlona is a seaport of Albania, protected by the island of Sasseno, the ancient Saso. The Christian inhabitants are chiefly Italians and engage chiefly in the export of oil, wool, salt, pitch and about 40,000 tortoise shells yearly.

The Turkish inhabitants are engaged chiefly in the weapon and carpet manufacturing industries.

The population is about 6,000.

BRITISH ACTION BLOW TO GERMANS

Germans Looked for Empire To Be Neutral

EXPECT AID FOR NAVY FROM STATES

Nelson Residents Return from Europe--Many Buildings Used as Hospitals

That Great Britain's declaration of war came as an appalling blow to the German nation and that Germany had at the outset of hostilities with France figured strongly on Great Britain's neutrality, is the opinion of Mrs. E. Dedolph, wife of E. Dedolph of Nelson, who with her son Walter and her daughters, Miss E. and Miss Martha Dedolph, reached the city on Friday night after a journey of 17 days duration direct from Goettingen, Germany, where her son and daughters have been students during the past few years. Mr. Dedolph is well known throughout Kootenay and Boundary, having for many years been connected with the smelting industry here and formerly residing at Kaslo.

Expect Ships From States.

Citizens of the United States are royally treated in Germany, states Mrs. Dedolph, the authorities doing all in their power to protect them and an impression appears to rest with the vast majority, particularly the working classes, in the country that the United States has very much of a leaning toward Germany and that notwithstanding her neutrality America is sending men, money and ships to help the cause of the kaiser. The need of more ships for the German navy is much felt and throughout the country there is an impression that the fleet will be of little use to them in the present war.

Pays Tribute to Perley.

On applying in Germany for passports for her return to this country Mrs. Dedolph states that she had no trouble at all in obtaining them. With her she had brought several trunks containing personal wares, all of which reached their destination safely. On leaving Goettingen they traveled for England via Holland, where they were welcomed by the British consul and on their arrival in England their interests were looked after by Hon. George H. Perley, acting high commissioner for Canada, to whom they paid a tribute for his kindly manner and attentions.

Defeats Make Them Gloomy.

The announcement of hostilities was received in Germany with considerable gusto, states Mrs. Dedolph, the whole empire seeming aflame with feeling. Nearly all the lines of communication were taken up with the mobilization of troops and with the opening successes of the war the country became jubilant. The citizens became inspired with more confidence than ever with the successive reports of victories and the efforts of the troops in their march on Paris. A regiment from Goettingen was one of the first to be sent to the battle front at Liege and Belgium.

However, when the turning point was reached a sad gloom was cast upon the people and the initial feeling of confidence in success considerably subsided.

Many Buildings Are Hospitals

Similarly to the policy throughout the British Empire, steps are being taken in Germany for the organization of Red Cross work and hospitals for the wounded are being established in all parts of the country. Many of the foreign fraternity halls at the college city of Goettingen have been turned over as hospitals and public buildings are being used in this manner much the same as in the British isles.

In London a visitor unaware of the situation would not know that the British Empire was involved in war, according to Mrs. Dedolph. The city seems quiet and business pursuits, it appears, are being conducted as prior to the declaration of war. Occasionally regiments of troops are seen marching through the city, but not in

ALLIES WHIP ATTACKING TEUTONS RESUME ENVELOPING MOVEMENT

Take Offensive at Several Points in Renewed Efforts to Cut Lines and Encircle German Right Wing or Compel It to Retreat Via Belgium and Luxemburg

CROWN PRINCE'S ARMY IS BEATEN AGAIN WHEN IT TRIES TO PENETRATE LINES

In Southern Woevre District French Make Progress. Belgians Fall Back on Antwerp Under Violent Artillery Fire, But None of Forts Has Fallen. Germans Shell Village, Set It Afire

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Oct. 4, 9:45 p.m.—Having repulsed the German attacks, presumably in the vicinity of Roye, the French, according to the official communication issued at Paris, have resumed the offensive at several points, while other positions on their left are well maintained.

The great effort of the allies to envelop the German right may therefore be said to be again in operation and it is believed that the whole French column from Roye northward to Arras is moving eastward against the German positions.

It is the same operation that has been tried repeatedly for the last three weeks in an attempt to reach the German lines of communication and either encircle the German army or force it to fall back to Belgium and Luxemburg.

The Germans have had a long time in which to make their position secure, so there is a lot of hard fighting ahead for both the attacking forces and the defenders. The defensive role is now apparently being assumed by the invaders. In the centre, from the Oise to the Argonne, the two well entrenched armies are still watching each other, ready at a moment's notice to meet attacks, or on the advice of aerial observers to move to some point where the line is threatened. While there have been many of these movements there is little, according to the French report, to record. In other words, the situation remains virtually as it was.

Punish Crown Prince Again.

In the Argonne district, where the crown prince's army attempted an advance a few days ago, there has been additional fighting, with the result that the Germans have been pushed back northward.

In southern Woevre the French are making progress, but slowly, against the Germans, who crossed the Meuse at St. Mihiel but later were forced back over that river.

In Lorraine and the Vosges there is no change in the positions of the opposing armies. This probably can be accounted for by the fact that the Germans are not in sufficient force to attack the almost impregnable line of fortifications, while the French are too busy elsewhere to attempt an invasion of the lower provinces. They have set for themselves the task of getting the Germans out of northeastern France and if this can be accomplished they are faced with the necessity of attacking the German positions in Alsace-Lorraine.

Antwerp Operations Mystery.

Of the result of the operations around the outer line of Antwerp fortifications there is considerable mystery. Last night the Belgian legation at London announced that the Belgians had been compelled, before a violent artillery attack, to fall back east of the river Senne, toward the Nethe. This was taken to mean that some of the forts had fallen and the German official report claimed two of them had been taken with redoubts and earthworks and that the Germans had entered the line of forts through the breaches.

Later the Belgian minister, on authority of a telegram from Antwerp, declared that the forts had not been captured, although Fort Waehelm was badly damaged.

These forts, though important, are only the first defenses of the city and besides two more powerful lines, the besiegers will have to contend with a large inundated area. This extends along the rivers Scheldt, Repel and Nethe, as far as Duffel, as well as to the north and east of the town.

Strongest Fortresses Yet Attacked.

Heretofore fortresses have not stood long after the big German siege guns have been brought up. But Antwerp is in a different category as, in addition to being stronger than any fortress yet attacked, there is a considerable space in which the field army can operate against the besieging forces.

The Germans have also been active in two widely separated parts of Belgium. They visited Tournai on Sunday and announced that they were an advance guard of 10,000 men proceeding to Lille; while last night and this morning fighting was going on far to the east near Lanaecken, northwest of Maastricht. One report said that Lanaecken was on fire but another declared that it was a nearby village that was burning. A number of fugitives have arrived at Maastricht as well as some Belgian soldiers, who had been interned.

Repulse Attacks—Take Offensive.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

PARIS, Oct. 4, 4:05 p.m.—The following statement was issued by the French war office at 3 o'clock this afternoon:

"First, on our left wing after having repulsed all the enemy's attacks, we have resumed the offensive at several points. At other points our positions are well maintained.

"Second, on the centre nothing noteworthy has taken place as far east as the Argonne region. In Argonne we have driven the enemy back toward the north. In the south of Woevre we are making progress, but slowly.

"Third, on our right wing in Lorraine and the Vosges there is nothing new."

EMPRESS FORCED ENEMY AGROUND

Former Canadian Pacific Liner Engaged in Victorious Running Battle Against German Ship

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 4.—The Blue Funnel liner Talthybus, in port from the orient, brings details of the disabling of the German auxiliary cruiser Princess Alice by the auxiliary cruiser Empress of Russia, formerly a Canadian Pacific liner on the Pacific, early in September. The German vessel was bound for Tsing-tau and was reputed to carry $10,000,000 for the German officials there.

She was sighted by the Empress and fled at once, pursued by the Britisher. The Empress carries four 6-inch guns and six 4.7-inch guns. The Alice had eight 6-inch guns. The Empress overhauled the German boat and a running fight followed. The German boat lost the top of its smokestack and had its main mast cut off clean. The stern was torn away and several holes made in the hull. The Empress was unmarked.

The German ship, to avoid capture or foundering headed for the island of Cebu and ran on the beach. The British vessel did not follow inside the three-mile limit. The loss of life was not learned.

SAYS STREET CARS WENT AHEAD AGAINST SIGNAL

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 4.—Mrs. George Head, who was one of the victims of Friday's level crossing accident, died Saturday night after suffering for 35 hours. She was 38 years of age and had for some time been a worker in the Salvation army.

The body of Mrs. A. J. Bartlett who was the first to die, will be interred in Elk City, Neb.

Both Mr. Head and Mr. Bartlett intend instituting actions for damages against one or both of the companies, the Canadian Northern railway and the street railway.

At the investigation on Saturday R. R. Knox of the street railway said his employees were instructed to disregard the semaphore signals of the railway company as they were regarded as unreliable.

Judge Robson expressed surprise that such action should have been ordered by the street railway.

Traffic Superintendent Lewis for the Canadian Northern railway, told of having made tests immediately after the accident and finding that the street railway employees proceeded three times when the semaphore was against them.

RUSTEM BEY RAPPED UNITED STATES—LEAVES

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—A. Rustem Bey, the Turkish ambassador, has left Washington for New York, and is now on his way to Turkey. In a statement before leaving the ambassador said that he was quitting the United States on leave of absence at his own initiative.

He explained that this step, which he had undertaken without conferring with his government, with which he had not been in communication, was the result of the attitude of the United States toward statements he had made comparing lynchings in the United States and the "water cure" in the Philippines to massacres in Turkey.

When government officials indicated that an expression of a modification of the ambassador's views would be welcomed by the United States, Rustem Bey notified the secretary of state his opinions were unchanged.

IRELAND RESPONDS NOBLY TO CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

DUBLIN, Oct. 4.—The number of new recruits for the British army obtained in Ireland amounts to about 26,000.

More than 8,000 of these are from the Dublin district, 4,000 from the Cork district and the remainder from Belfast.

Not all the Belfast recruits are Unionists nor all the southern recruits Nationalists. The Belfast Nationalists claim to have furnished 5,000 of the Belfast recruits.

John Redmond and his colleagues are to address recruiting meetings in various parts of Ireland and their appeals are expected to be fruitful. At many meetings public bodies have endorsed Mr. Redmond's manifesto calling the Irish to arms, and if his advice to have the Irish form a separate brigade or corps, like the Welsh are doing, is followed it is thought by the officers that the response will be still greater.

Some estimates say that some 5,000 Irishmen from Glasgow have joined the colors. From Lancashire, it is said, omitting Manchester and Liverpool, 15,000 have joined. Leeds has furnished many recruits and Dundee 1,000.

The mining villages have been largely depleted. Birmingham will furnish at least 3,000.

Similar reports come from South Wales, Bristol and the west. The figures regarding the Irish enlistment have been compiled by the Nationalist party organizers in the various districts.

MILLIONS OF GERMANS ARE NOW UNDER ARMS

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Oct. 4.—In Swiss military circles, according to a Central News despatch from Berne, it is estimated that Germany now has actually under arms 27 army corps of her regular troops and an equal number of reserves. Of these 24 army corps are in France, six in Belgium and Alsace, 13 in East Prussia and 11 between Thorn and Cracow.

There are in addition, the despatch adds, what is assumed to be 1,500,000 men of the landstrum and volunteers serving in the interior, while 600,000 fresh recruits are reported to be in training sufficiently advanced for them to be ready for service in November.

NOT DRUGS.

Food Did It.

After using laxative and cathartic medicines from childhood a case of chronic constipation yielded to the scientific food, Grape-Nuts, in a few days.

"From early childhood I suffered with such terrible constipation that I had to use laxatives continuously going from one drug to another and suffering more or less all the time.

"A prominent physician whom I consulted told me the muscles of the digestive organs were weakened and could not perform their work without help of some kind, so I have tried at about every laxative and cathartic known, but found no help that was at all permanent. I had finally become discouraged and had given my case up as hopeless when I began to use the pre-digested food, Grape Nuts.

"Although I had not expected this food to help my trouble, to my great surprise Grape-Nuts digested easily from the first and in a few days I was convinced that this was just what my system needed.

"The bowels performed their functions regularly and I am now completely and permanently cured of this awful trouble.

"Truly the power of scientific food must be unlimited." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

Trial 10 days of Grape-Nuts when regular food does not seem to sustain the body, works wonders. "There's a Reason."

DEMONSTRATE SILO FILLING IN BOUNDARY

Government Encourages Modern Farming Methods—Expert Optimistic as to Dairying Prospects.

(Special to The Daily News)

GRAND FORKS, B. C., Oct. 4.—At the silo filling demonstration held lately by J. C. Readley, provincial soil and crop instructor at the Riverside nurseries, the government demonstrated that a silo is within the reach of anyone of moderate means and it also has a silo filling outfit at a reasonable cost of a size sufficient for the average rancher. Owing to the uncertain shipping conditions it was impossible to use the government filling outfit at the nurseries, but it is expected that it will be possible to have a similar machine in the Kootenay-Boundary district next year. For this demonstration A. Traunweiser gave the use of his Ohio blower and cutter and E. Spraggett, road superintendent, that of the government road engine for the power. The corn was not quite mature enough for the best quality of ensilage, but Mr. Readey felt sure that strains of corn are forthcoming in the district that will give good results. A good deal of interest has been shown by the people of this district both in the erection and the filling of the silo and the work seems likely to be popular. The thanks of the ranchers are given to the minister of agriculture, Hon. Price Ellison, for the practical work being done along these lines by his department.

The work of erecting and the operation of the outfit was done by James Ferris, under the direction of Mr. Readey. The type of silo advocated by the department will cost about $1 per capacity ton for the material used. This does not include the foundation.

The main difference from the silos made by the silo companies is that 4x4 posts are used 90 degrees apart and the rods run only from post to post instead of all round the silo in one piece. The advantage of this is that the posts make a firmer structure, as the rods can be tightened in four places instead of one, the staves being drawn together with a more even pressure. Ordinary rough lumber 2x6 in. is used; a simple and convenient roof is made with a slide across the centre which is opened when filling the sile and has an advantage over other types of roofs, as ensilage can be stored in fine condition for feeding and the cost is very moderate; if desired a very inexpensive foundation can be built.

Mr. Readey feels very optimistic regarding the dairying and live stock possibilities of this valley with its productive and easily worked soil and believes strongly in the silo both for winter and summer use, especially as a safeguard against dry seasons such as the one just past.

Thomas Cunningham, provincial fruit inspector; President Wesbrook of the University of British Columbia and Prof. L. S. Klinch, head of the agricultural branch of the university, are in town.

Several Grand Forks residents are going to Anyox. Among them are J. Beckett, Harry Chapman, J. C. Allen and Lewis Allen.

ROBSON TO PLEAD FOR DAILY MAIL SERVICE

(Special to The Daily News)

ROBSON, B.C., Oct. 4.—The Robson Farmers' institute has decided to take up with the postmaster general the needs of Robson for a daily mail service. It was pointed out that between 20 and 30 daily papers are received at this point and a correspondingly large number of letters and other mail matter. The withdrawing of three trains per week on the Boundary division of the Canadian Pacific railway seriously cripples mail facilities and a strong appeal will be made to have it restored.

M. S. Middleton, assistant provincial horticulturist, will be in Robson on Oct. 15 to award diplomas to the apple packing class.

LONDON EXCHANGE MAY SOON RESUME TRADING

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Sales of exchange by the $100,000,000 gold pool against shipments of the metal to Ottawa to the account of the Bank of England afforded immediate relief last week from the severe tension in foreign exchange.

News from London outlined a plan for government protection of stock exchange liabilities, which offered promise of the conditional resumption of trading here. Dealing in stocks and bonds under the restrictions imposed by the New York stock exchange showed some expansion. The formation of a committee to take care of the unemployed in the financial district was a sufficient commentary on general conditions. Terms exacted for refundings were indicated in the New York Central and Erie note extensions for periods of five months to a year at rates from 7 to more than 8 per cent.

At the same time interior banks were said to be providing for municipal maturities in their localities. Reports from the grain country were favorable and those from the cotton belt troubled. Small gains in the export orders were reported by the steel trade. These, however, were insufficient to offset domestic contraction. August railroad reports showed that drastic economies are in force to meet the decrease in gross earnings. Enterprise dependent on new capital was practically at a standstill.

Customs receipts indicated considerable decline in imports. Food exports, however, were heavy. The value of cotton exports showed only slight expansion.

The feature of the week's bank statement was the substantial reduction in the deficit of cash reserves, which is now $17,966,650, as against almost $31,000,000 a week ago. Loans decreased by almost $255,000,000. The cash gain of $5,000,000 was below estimates.

WEST INDIANS ALL ARE ARMED AGAINST ENEMY

Fear Approach of German Cruisers—Ten Thousand Rusty Flint-locks Said to Be in Use.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The steamer Korona Saturday brought a lot of war tales from the West Indies. Every native there sleeps with his gun under his pillow, said the Korona's sailors. Little specks of islands that no one ever heard of north of the tropic of Cancer are throwing up towering earthworks and barefooted natives, yesterday's nobodies, are today generals; roustabouts are soldiers; every town has a guard; every island distrusts every other island. Ten thousand rusty flint-lock muskets rule the land and from the sea come tales of strange men of war threading in and out among the islands, always seeking and never finding one another.

This was the war gossip current among the sailors from other ports, whom they met on the docks at St. Lucia. "One of the interesting things," said Frank de Lagrade, the Korona's assistant purser, "was the native guard. Every native on the island is happy these days for he totes a gun, rides on a bicycle and marches behind a brass band and the government pays for it all.

"Some of the strangest looking bicycles I ever saw have been commandeered by the authorities. Some of them are the old high wheel affairs that our fathers rode; some of them have no tires; most of them are red with rust, and all of them squeak. I heard the troops coming two blocks away. And the arms they carry are in the same class.

All of Them Are Armed.

"At Barbadoes every negro and Chinaman on the island has joined the army. They have what they call a 'life guard' to protect the place. What they are afraid of I don't know, but I heard they had been told that the kaiser was planning to send his fleet over and capture the possession. That was enough for those natives. They threw up a line of breastworks that the whole of Europe couldn't take. They fire a cannon every time a ship is sighted. They have burned up a lot of powder that way, I understand. When ever the old cannon cuts loose the army comes, lickety split, for the shore. They line up behind the coast works with their muzzle loaders and their derringers and you've got to show them that you don't mean any monkey business.

"At Dominuez, near St. Thomas, the natives have built a little fort just to fight the German navy when it does come over. There are not enough white men in Dominuez to hold a meet-and not many more colored. In the centre of their fort they have planted a tall flagpole. Every morning at daylight a man pulls himself up to the top of that flagpole with a pulley, unfolds a camp stool and sticks there looking out to sea. He is looking for the German navy. Two hours later he comes down and another man takes his place. This has been kept up every day for weeks from dawn to darkness.

"English, French and German warships chase each other around the islands and it is no wonder the natives are fidgety. At St. Lucia there were 19 ships tied up, all afraid to stir outside the harbor.

British Secure Meat.

"At St. Lucia we saw the Hamburg-American liner Spreewald, loaded to the gunwale with prime South American beef, nosing around the islands when the Berwick spotted her about daylight one morning. The German boat didn't have a chance, so she lay to. When the British were launching their boat to send over a prize crew the Spreeweld's captain got busy with the refrigerator and the machinery. He opened up the hatches and shut down the plant and I heard he fixed it so that a lot of the beef spoiled. Then he threw a wrench into the wireless plant and put that out of commission."

DECLARES ALLIES CANNOT STARVE GERMANY OUT

BERLIN, Oct. 4.—Germany's position economically and financially is such as will enable her to carry the war to a successful conclusion, in the opinion of Vice-chancellor Clemens Del-Brueck. The country can not be starved out, said the vice-chancellor in an interview.

The unemployed were steadily decreasing with from 5,000,000 to 6,000,000 men in the field, he said. Many industries were working overtime on war orders and measures had been taken to divert labor from idle branches to busy departments until now the unemployed numbered only from six to seven per cent of the working men in the country.

Measures have been taken also to put the finances and the credit of trade and industry on a war footing and these have been so thoroughly successful that a general moratorium undoubtedly will be warded off during the entire war, said Herr Delbrueck, placing Germany in a far better position after the war than that of states whose industrial life is affected by a moratorium.

IMPERIAL BANK OF CANADA

CANADIAN PATRIOTIC FUND AN APPEAL

On August 27, on the recreation grounds, the entire population of Nelson district, assembled to bid Godspeed to our Volunteers, solemnly pledged itself by acclamation to relieve the relatives and dependents of our soldiers when in need. Since then an organization, nation-wide, has been called into existence, and is presided over by His Royal Highness the Governor-General, with His Majesty the King as patron.

This organization, the "Canadian Patriotic Fund," is empowered: "To collect, administer and distribute a fund for the assistance in case of need of the wives, children and dependent relatives of officers and men, residents of Canada, who, during the present war, may be on active service with the naval and military forces of the British Empire and Great Britain's allies."

On the call of our lieutenant-governor, the citizens of Nelson and district, on the 18th of September, elected an executive committee. This committee hereby urgently calls upon the district at large to redeem the pledge given to our soldiers. A scheme is being considered to enable all, without exception, to contribute to these much-needed funds. The manner of collecting the contributions will on an early date be laid before the citizens at a public meeting.

Meanwhile the committee is ready to receive all contributions, which should be addressed to the secretary-treasurer, Mr. J. H. D. Benson, manager of the Imperial Bank, Nelson, B. C.

LONDON TIMES SAYS WAR WILL BE LONG

LONDON, Oct. 4.—The military expert of the Times says:

"However much we may bend back the German right wing and relieve Antwerp, whatever confidence we have that the shock of the Russian masses in the east will prove decisive, we must not entertain the slightest illusion regarding the hard and trying condition which awaits all the allies in the future operations against Germany reduced to the defensive.

"Germany is still united. Her resources are undisturbed. All her might is in arms, all her arsenals are working at full pressure. Her fleet will strike when the hour comes, probably in co-operation with the army.

"The lines of the Aisne, when forced, may prove to be only one of many similar lines prepared in the rear of it. It may take a long time for the allies to compel Germany to feel a weakness It therefore devolves on the allies to look forward to a long war."

The New Vancouver

This city staggers any man who knew it at the end of last century. In vain will he look for his old haunts. Where stood the shack in which he "batched" in 1899 is now a soaring building of massive blocks of stone. The hill opposite—on the far side of the inlet—was, at the close of last century, simply a slope of forest. Now it stares across at Vancouver—a city itself—North Vancouver, with ferries plying to and fro.

All the old frame hotels, in the fronts of which men in Mackinaw coats, rough pants, and high-laced boots, sat talking over days in the Klondyke, in Cariboo (or in Queensland, Australia, for that matter), wanderers all—all these old hotels are down, and stone ones are up with tessellated tiled hallways, and people in boiled shirts are everywhere; pretty young men in fancy shirts rush to and fro, and young women trip about holding out little chatelaines in front of them on one finger, or carry great big ones between hip and out-held crooked arm.

It is a fright! It would freeze you stiff to go back if you saw the place in 1890 I expect, and if you saw it last in 1890 and came back to it now it would make you run away.

In my time there of yore there were no strap-hangers on the cars. The inhabitants were still rather proud of their cars. Now it is almost impossible to get on to one. Vancouver is a kind of Liverpool Americanized. It was once a city of shacks and frame-houses where men wintered. Across on the Pacific side is now a kind of Brighton promenade. I expect, on sunny days, they have pierrots with floured faces, hitting pianos, and singing "Thora" to an audience with fluttering ribbons and silk sun-shades.

They have, at any rate, concrete. Where there used to be nothing but mud are now wooden side-walks. Where were wooden side-walks are now concrete boulevards. I repeat—it's a fright! It is Progress with a vengeance, and the people of Prince Rupert, away up the coast at the other railway terminus, say they are going to do likewise. They have got a motor road round Stanley Park where there used to be only a rough wagon road. Pa and Ma and the children with a box of candy and some chewing gum, go out on Saturday afternoon to the Park, to look at the animals in the "Zoo."

HOME INDUSTRY, FIRST, LAST AND ALWAYS

A firm which has the right spirit is the Stovel company, the big printers, lithographers, engravers, etc., of Winnipeg. In the first place, in spite of present conditions, they are going ahead with the construction of a fine new building and in the next place they are insisting that only Canadian material shall be used in it.

Concerning their policy in regard to the latter, Mr. John Stovel said in an interview published in the Winnipeg Free Press:

One thing we have insisted upon from the start was that only Canadian material should be used in the building, and the preference has been given to Winnipeg and Manitoba firms. The brick will all be supplied by the local yards at Sydney. They produce a fine quality of brick, and I cannot understand why so much brick should be imported into Canada. A little encouragement to a firm of this kind will enable it to produce the very finest types of brick in use. Manitoba limestone will be used exclusively, and the ornamental stone above the main storey is the product of the Arnold Art Stone company. The cement and other material used in the building will be all Canadian.

This is the spirit which should pervade every business man and every purchaser of goods. Local manufacturers and dealers should have first consideration, while made-in-Canada goods should be insisted upon at all times.

Unfortunately there has been in the past a tendency to overlook the benefit of such a policy and perhaps there are many who still do so. In Nelson, for example, there is one manufacturer who has a large amount of money invested in a plant and who employs from 25 to 30 hands all the year round. His product is good and his prices are right. Yet strange to say a person can go into many Nelson stores in his line and find the merchants keeping to the front goods of outside and in many cases of foreign manufacture.

Is such a man not entitled to consideration? The amount which he pays out in wages is distributed throughout the city. If through lack of patronage he should be forced to close his business it would mean that much direct loss to the merchants and people of Nelson generally.

Why should not the people of Nelson, collectively and individually, adopt the spirit of the Stovel firm and patronize home industry first, last and always?

MARKET SUGGESTIONS.

The success of Nelson's second Saturday market gives promise of the permanency of this institution. There were a large number of ranchers in attendance with buyers in abundance, with satisfactory results to both.

The future of the market now depends largely upon the ability of the ranchers of the district to supply the needs of the people of the city. They can depend upon purchasers so long as they have the goods.

The experience of the past two weeks, however, has shown where some things can be done to assist in making the market a permanency. One of these is the provision of some covered place for rigs in case of bad weather, especially as the fall is now coming on. Doubtless the ranchers would be only too willing to pay a small fee for this convenience. The question of delivery has also been raised and it has been suggested that in the cases of such goods as boxes of apples, bags of potatoes, etc., it should be understood that the ranchers would deliver these to the purchasers after the market. In the case of stuff that can be conveniently handled no request for this could be fairly made.

These are suggestions which are worthy of consideration.

WHAT THE PRESS IS SAYING

Liberal Paper Praises Foster.

The Canadian government is meeting the situation created by the loss to the Dominion apple growers of their European markets by providing for an advertising campaign throughout Canada with a view to increasing the home consumption of Canadian-grown apples. This bespeaks a wide-awake appreciation by the minister of trade and commerce of the wider duties which the circumstances of the war impose upon the government; and a determination to meet the situation in a business-like manner. If Canadian apples can be offered in this section of Canada at reasonable prices the demand in Western Canada will alone go far to make up for the markets lost in continental Europe. To this end there should be co-operation between the government, the growers of the fruit, the carriers and the distributing agencies. —Manitoba Free Press.

Bravery Occasions No Surprise.

The exploit of the lone Highlander who fell with thirty bullets in his body after holding a bridge single-handed against the Germans, is nothing new in the annals of warfare. Since the days of Harold British history is replete with incidents recording the indomitable courage and reckless daring of the British breed. It is characteristic of warfare that the best that is in a man should come uppermost, but for sheer disregard of personal safety, the action of the unnamed Scotchman is not surpassed. However, it was no more than the world expected. News of his daring has thrilled, but has not surprised. He was a Briton and a Briton under all circumstances is a hero. The very name of Briton is synonymous with bravery.—Calgary News-Telegram.

Faithful Albion.

Today the legend of the perfidious Albion is dead. By taking up the gage of battle on land England has bound herself to meet the enemy on his chosen ground. Her task has been made immensely more difficult. England on sea alone could have waged that prolonged war which Germany cannot afford to face, could have waited with the utmost patience for the advance of the Russian armies. But she has chosen to assume the heavy handicap of a land campaign against the kaiser's armies to be carried on even on the desperate supposition that the French resistance utterly collapses. The entente with France has been observed with magnificent loyalty.

BRANCH RED CROSS SOCIETY FORMED

Mrs. W. J. Astley, President—Await Definite Instructions from Headquarters—Effective Work

A branch of the Red Cross society has been formed in Nelson. At an enthusiastic meeting in the council chamber of the city hall on Saturday, attended by about 30 women, it was decided to organize the branch and Mrs. W. J. Astley was elected to the presidency.

It is the intention of the members to go ahead immediately with the preliminary steps in organization prior to carrying on a campaign for funds and material with which to manufacture articles of necessity for the soldiers fighting the battle of the Empire in the European struggle.

Though full instructions have not yet been received from the Dominion headquarters as to the method of carrying on the work they are being expected daily. Those wishing to join the organization and assist in the work are asked to notify the secretary, Mrs. C. Lammedee. The following officers have been elected:

President—Mrs. W. J. Astley.
Vice-President—Mrs. F. H. Graham.
Secretary-Treasurer—Mrs. C. Lammedee.
Executive Committee—Mrs. William Douche, Mrs. W. Webster, Mrs. Cunningham and Mrs. John Cooper.

The feeling of the meeting was very strongly in favor of the organization of a Red Cross branch in Nelson, for, since the parent organization was stated to be the only channel of supplies through the war office for the men at the front, it is believed that it will be able to perform invaluable work.

Canadian Troops Are Smart.

Nothing untoward marked the journey across the Atlantic, which was made on the Canadian Northern steamer Royal Edward, and with the smartness and neat appearance of the Canadian troops which were seen at scattered points in crossing the Dominion in comparison with the troops which she had seen in Europe Mrs. Dedolph was deeply struck.

Miss E. Dedolph has been taking a course in Music in Germany, having but one year to complete, while Walter Dedolph has been attending the world-famous technical schools at Goettingen.

TURCO SHARPSHOOTERS SLAY MANY OFFICERS

German Casualty List Contains Names of Nine Thousand Soldiers, Including Prince Joachim.

BERLIN, via London, Oct. 4.—Major-Gen. Freiherr von Der Horst, the commander of the 20th infantry, was killed while leading his troops on Sept. 28, according to an official announcement made tonight. He had previously received the Iron Cross for his work in the field.

Today's casualty list contains about 9,000 names and includes a mention of the wounding of Prince Joachim, the youngest son of the emperor, at Schaetzels, East Prussia.

The Associated Press correspondent learned at Metz that Prince Oscar, the fifth son of the emperor, on Sept. 24 led his regiment at Verdun in a most desperate battle. The French, including Turco sharpshooters in trees, picked off the officers, of whom so many were lost that the companies were led by sergeants during the hottest part of the fighting.

Prince Oscar headed the column and, shouting at the top of his voice, led the charge which was finally successful. He got so excited that he collapsed after the victory with acute heart cramp, brought on partly by several days of exertion prior to the fighting.

The physicians ordered him to Metz, where the news of the bestowal of the decoration of the Iron Cross of the first class reached him. He jumped from his bed when he heard it, shouting: "I am well again." No crosses were available at the time, so Gen. von Strantz took his, given him in 1870, and presented it to the prince, who now is rapidly recovering.

The garrison commanders everywhere are taking measures for the suppression of stories to the effect that the Catholic clergy participated in cruelties against German soldiers in Belgium, which it is officially asserted are untrue. The higher Catholic officials protested against the assertion which came in letters from the front. Persons repeating the stories will be severely punished.

General meetings have been called for today to begin a campaign against the consumption in Germany of Scotch whisky and French liquors.

ALLIES CAPTURE GERMAN TRENCHES ON WEST WING

ENEMY HOLDS ADVANCED POSITIONS NEAR ROYE UNTIL THEY BECOME UNTENABLE—FRANCO BRITISH FORCES CREEP FORWARD BUT FIND FEW OF FOE WILLING TO FACE BAYONET—BATTLE RAGES VIOLENTLY IN THIS DISTRICT, SAYS REPORT OF SATURDAY'S OPERATIONS.

FROM THE BATTLE FRONT, Oct. 4.—Trench after trench of the German line fell into the possession of the allies yesterday after the most vigorous assaults, carried home with determination combined with the newly learned lesson of caution.

The Germans who had borne back the allies western wing slightly on Friday, retained their advanced positions near Roye until they became untenable. They then fell back to new lines which had been previously prepared.

The western wing of the allies still was further extended and now reaches within 30 miles of the Belgian frontier, carrying the allies overlapping movement in a northwesterly direction.

The German reinforcements on this end of the line are strong. These troops probably were brought from bodies of German forces placed in Echelon, in the rear of their advanced entrenchments. Their courageous dashes on the allies front were not successful and the French and British were able to make them fall back on their deep trenches.

Allied Infantry Creeps Forward.

The sight of the allied infantry creeping across the open spaces in front of the trenches in a brilliant sunshine which glittered on their weapons was impressive. Hundreds of shells burst overhead or in their rear without doing great damage. Everywhere the French and British soldiers seemed as though glued to the ground but their widely extended lines proceeded always forward. In only two or three instances did they encounter the spitting machine gun fire with its murderous hail of bullets, which opened on them when they surmounted slight eminences before reaching the German trenches. They found few Germans there to meet their bayonets, as the invaders had retired to another line only a few hundred yards back.

It is stated that the Germans also retreated on the east wing where for many days they have been going back continually. In that part of the great battlefield the famous French Alpine riflemen came in contact with the Germans and inflicted considerable loss.

In the centre there was comparative calm, although the artillery and infantry kept firing occasionally as though to remind their adversaries of their presence.

The aviators on each side have kept continual watch on the movements of the enemy and sometimes have dropped shrapnel bombs general with little effect.

Battle Violently at Roye.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Roye, the little town on the main road from Amiens to Noyon, the heights around which have been alternately occupied by the French and Germans during the past week, is the centre still of a battle of great violence. The Germans, who are fighting stubbornly to protect their flank at this point, have brought up reinforcements but according to the French official statement all the attacks have been repulsed.

The action, however, is proceeding still and upon it much depends for if the Germans are beaten their line of communication at Tergnier will be threatened seriously.

Of other operations on this front, which extends as far north as Arras, nothing has been disclosed since the French themselves announced that their force which was debouching from Arras had fallen back slightly on the east and north of that town.

There is evidence from other sources that the Germans are making preparations to protect their flank should a retirement become necessary. They have evacuated West Flanders and their attack on Antwerp is believed by many to be designed to keep the Belgians busy and prevent them from operating on what would be Gen. von Kluck's left should he go through Belgium.

But the battle is not over yet and it may be days before either side attains its objective. Except for the forces absolutely needed elsewhere, the Germans are maintaining their strength in France and besides fighting off the French efforts on their right, they themselves are remaining on the offensive on the French right.

No Change, Germans Say.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Oct. 4, 4:30 a.m.—A despatch from Reuter's correspondent at Amsterdam says:

SEE BRITISH SHIP SINK AUSTRIAN CRUISER

With the passengers and crew of the liner Edinburgh Castle as spectators, a duel took place between a British cruiser and an Austrian cruiser, and ended in the sinking of the enemy. The Edinburgh Castle, with mails and passengers was on a voyage from Cape Town and had on board a number of French reservists. At Madeira she was ordered to Gibraltar. The boat then headed for Southampton, convoyed by H.M.S. Minerva. According to a lady passenger on the liner, the Minerva came across the Austrian gunboat Bathori with Austrian troops on board. The Minerva cleared for action and in full sight of the passengers on the Edinburgh Castle commenced to fire. The Bathori was hit nine times before she sank, the ninth shot setting her on fire. The men aboard were rescued by the Minerva, the officers being taken on the gunboat and the men sent aboard the Edinburgh Castle under guard. Three men who refused to leave the Austrian boat shot themselves before she went down, the only other living thing on board as far as could be seen, being a dog. The Bathori was either from or for Fiume. The Minerva is a cruiser of the Talbot class and is of 5600 tons. She carries 440 men and is armed with eleven 6-inch guns, nine 12-pounders, seven 3-pounders, two Maxims and three torpedo tubes.

IRRIGATION CONGRESS OPENS AT CALGARY TODAY

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

CALGARY, Alta., Oct. 4.—With the arrival of President Major R. W. Young of Salt Lake City, and scores of delegates from all the western states, Saskatchewan and British Columbia everything is in readiness for the sessions of the international irrigation congress, which will be opened tomorrow when, sitting at Rideau Hall, Ottawa, the Duke of Connaught will press a button that will release the Union Jack and Stars and Stripes at the exhibition grounds here, revealing the duke's picture.

It is expected that over 1000 people will participate in the serious business of the congress.

EVEN CROSS, SICK CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

If Feverish, Bilious, Constipated, Give Fruit Laxative at Once

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative" and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs" which has directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

ENO'S "FRUIT SALT"

Are You Billious?

WHEN subject to biliousness, the liver is employed in getting rid of excessive quantities of certain ingredients, and when unable to do so, sick headache is produced by the retention of bile in the blood. Eno's "Fruit Salt" exercises a simple but definite action on the liver, by which the secretion of bile is regulated. It rids the body of the excess bile and carries off all the impurities, cleansing and purifying the system. Eno's may be safely taken at any time by young or old.

Order a bottle TO-DAY from your dealer.

WAR COSTS FRANCE SEVEN MILLION DAILY

Financial Soundness of Britain's Ally is Shown by Statement by Minister of Finance.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

PARIS, Oct. 4.—The war is costing France $7,000,000 a day. The minister of finance, Alexander Ribot, announced yesterday that the outlay to date had been $420,000,000. M. Ribot gives an interview in the Temps on the situation as to the Bank of France, which has not published regular statements since the war broke out. He says that on Oct. 1 the bank had $812,000,000 in cash, which was $63,800,000 more than it had on the eve of the war.

"Loans and discounts," the minister of finance said, "are $895,200,000, an increase during the last week of $17,500,000. This shows that the bank has made some discounts and I hope it will make more.

"The advances made to the government on Oct. 1 after two months of the war reached $420,000,000. The credit balance on the same day in the treasury was $59,200,000 and therefore we are far from having exhausted the amount provided by our convention with the bank. Besides we have just renewed the convention to assure the resources necessary in case the war should be prolonged beyond the date now foreseen.

"The total bank bills in circulation on Oct. 1 was $1,845,800,0000, this being $37,400,000 less than the preceding week. This is explained by an increase in the deposits which on Oct. 1 reached $435,400,000, an increase of $41,800,000 over the preceding week, and it can be seen that France is far from having exhausted its resources and that when the hour comes it will have the money for a new loan which at present is unnecessary."

Discussing the projected reopening of the Paris bourse M. Ribot said:

"I think there is an interest in doing so without delay, but it is necessary to take into consideration that the exchanges in London and New York still remain closed."

William Gosnell, manager of the Nelson brewery, left yesterday morning for the east whence he has been called by the serious illness of his mother.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Despatches to Dun's Review from branch offices of R. G. Dun & Co. in leading trade centres of Canada indicate that well-maintained confidence prevails, although the actual volume of business has not increased to any great extent.

In the far west and northwest city trade is quiet, but country merchants are buying more freely and the outlook is much more encouraging.

"Can I interest you in a pocket life preserver?" asked the agent.

"What size is it, pint or half pint?" demanded the busy man.

HOLLAND TAKES CARE OF BELGIAN REFUGEES

HULST, Holland, Oct. 4.—Prior to the final siege of Antwerp large detachments of German troops, composed for the most part of naval reserves and landwehr, moved westward parallel with the Dutch frontier. Several villages between Alost and Ghent have been deserted by the inhabitants, who drove their cattle before them and removed as much as possible of their furniture on wheelbarrows and handcars. The Flemish peasants are moving westward as fast as they can. Large numbers probably will be obliged to cross the frontier into Dutch territory. Everything is ready to receive them. Those who are unable to provide for themselves will be sent at once to the Dutch refugee camps in the province of Gladerland, where the Dutch government has thus far taken care of about 12,000 refugees.

Severe storms have blown the waters of the Scheldt far over the regions to the south and east of the town and the surrounding country has been converted into a marsh.

FRENCH TAKE ENVOYS WHO WENT TO REIMS

PARIS, Oct. 4.—Four superior officers were among a detachment of 535 German prisoners who passed through a station near Paris today on their way south. These officers had presented themselves at Reims during the bombardment of the cathedral and demanded the surrender of the place. As they did not have their eyes bandaged and came without a white flag, they were considered envoys and were held as prisoners of war.

GENERAL FRENCH FORETOLD GERMAN PLANS YEARS AGO

One person who has not been greatly surprised by the developments of the campaign in Northern France, it may be guessed, is Field Marshal Sir John French. The Fortnightly Review for September, 111, contained a remarkable article entitled "The German Plan of Campaign Against France," by a writer who was content to sign himself "Y." It was an open secret at the time in London that "Y" was none other than Sir John French, the British general who today, three years after the appearance of the article, is leading the largest single British army which has ever gone abroad in a struggle to frustrate "the German plan of campaign against France." The article is an extraordinary accurate prophecy of what so far has happened. Without the slightest parade of possessing unusual information in an impressively businesslike manner, the soldier author stated that there would be little fighting of importance in southern Alsace; that Germany would violate the neutrality of Belgium and Luxemberg; that Liege might give the Germans some trouble, but that Namur was a weaker position; that the Germans would try to mass a great army on the Aisne; that the French armies would do well to fall back to Reims and Chalon. He even dropped some hints as to certain "new theories for the capture of fortified places" entertained by the Germans. He made it clear that Germany had been preparing for 15 years to violate the neutrality of Belgium and Luxemberg, the evidence being the network of railways constructed opposite the corner of Belgium originally selected as the scene of the German march across. The only thing that is not foretold is the wide westward extension of the German sweep, which took their right wing through central Belgium and into France at Lille.

THE ONLY CURE FOR CONSTIPATION

Is "Fruit-a-tives"—That Wonderful Remedy Made From Fruit Juices.

AVON, ONT., MAY 14th, 1913.

"I have used "Fruit-a-tives" for Indigestion and Constipation with most excellent results, and they continue to be my only medicine. When I first started about six years ago to use them, I took four at a dose but gradually reduced the dose to one tablet at night. Before taking "Fruit-a-tives", I took salts and other pills but the treatment was too harsh. I thought I might as well suffer from the illness as from these treatments. Finally, I saw "Fruit-a-tives" advertised with a letter in which some one recommended them very highly, so I tried them, and I have no hesitation in recommending them." ANNIE E. CORBETT.

RUSSIANS ROUT TEUTON INVADERS

Cavalry Forced Back, Throwing Infantry in Disorder—Battle Still Raged in Poland

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

PETROGRAD, Oct. 4.—The following official statement from the general staff was issued Saturday:

"The battle of Augustowo continued to develop with extreme ferocity on Oct. 2. The enemy, from its position to the north of Lake Vigri, carried out furious attacks on the side of Ratchki and Borgimene in an effort to occupy the main roads leading out of the Augustowo forest.

"On the road to Lodz and Schilski the first division of the German cavalry attempted to check the offensive tactics of the Russian cavalry. This engagement took place at dusk but the squadrons of the enemy were put to fight and completely dispersed, sustaining heavy losses. They carried along in their rout the infantry which was protecting them.

"The Russian troops have occupied Raygrod, Kalvary and Mariampol, all in Russian Poland.

"Insignificant engagements have taken place near Kielce on the right bank of the Vistula.

"In the Carpathians the Russian troops repulsed near Mikoulitz an Austrian detachment, which lost its cannon and mitrailleuses."

HELIGOLAND SEA FIGHT SHOWED BRITISH DASH

Shells Whirr Overhead Like a Covey of Partridges, Declares Naval Officer Describing Struggle.

The following descriptive account of the British victory in the bight of Heligoland is given by a British naval officer in a letter to the London Morning Post:

"Have you ever noticed a dog rush in on a flock of sheep and scatter them? He goes for the nearest and barks, and it goes so much faster than the flock that it bunches up with its companions. The dog then barks at another and the sheep spread out fanwise, so that all round in front of the dog there is a semi-circle of sheep and behind him none.

"That was much what we did at 7 a.m. on the 30th. The sheep were the German torpedo craft, who fell back just on the limits of range, and tried to lure us within fire of the Heligoland forts. Pas si bete. But a cruiser came out and engaged our Arethusa. They had a real heart to heart talk while we looked on, and a few of us tried to shoot at the enemy too, though it was beyond our distance.

"We were getting nearer and nearer Heligoland all the time. There was a thick mist and I expected every minute to find the forts on the island bombarding us; so Arethusa presently drew off, after landing at least one good shell on the enemy. Seeing our papers admit it, so may I; our fellows got a nasty 'tummy' ache. The enemy gave every bit as good as he got there.

"We then re-formed, but a strong destroyer belonging to the submarines got chased and Arethusa and Fearless went back to loook after her and we presently heard a hot action astern. So the captain who was in command of the flotilla turned us round and we went back to help, but they had driven the enemy off and on our arrival told us to form up on the Arethusa.

"When we had partly formed and were very much bunched together, a fine target, suddenly out of the 'everywhere' arrived five or six shells no 150 yards away. We gazed at whence they came, and again five or six stabs of fire pierced the mist and we made out a four-funneled cruiser of the Breslau class. Those five stabs were her guns going off of course. We waited fifteen seconds and the shots and the noise of the guns arrived pretty well simultaneously, fifty yards away. Her next salvo went over us and I personally ducked as they whirred over us like a covey of fast partridges.

"You would have supposed the captain had done this sort of thing all his life; he gives me the impression of a Nelson officer who has lived in a state of suspended animation since, but yet has kept pace with the times and is nowise perturbed at finding his frigate a destroyer. He went full speed ahead at once at the first salvo to string the bunch out and thus offer less target and the commodore from the Arethusa made a signal to us to attack with torpedoes.

"In God's Keeping."

"So we swung round at right angles and charged full speed at the enemy like a Hussar attack. We got away at the start magnificently, and led the field, so that all the enemy's firing was aimed at us for the next ten minutes. When we got so close that the debris of their shells fell on board we altered course and so threw them out in their reckoning of our speed and they had all their work to do over again.

"Humanly speaking, the captain by twisting and turning at the psychological moment, saved us; actually I feel we are in God's keeping these days. After ten minutes we got near enough to fire our torpedo and then turn back to Arethusa. Next, our follower arrived just where we had been and fired his torpedo, and of course the enemy fired at him instead of us—what a blessed relief. It was like coming out of a really hot and oppressive orchid house into the cool air of a summer garden. A 'hot' fire is really descriptive and it seems actually to be hot.

"After the destroyers came the Fearless, and she stayed on the scene and soon we found she was engaging a three-funneler, the Mainz. So off we started again for the Mainz, the situation being, I take it, that crippled Arethusa was too 'tummy' aching to do anything but be defended by us, her children. Scarcely, however, had we started (I did not feel the least like another gruelling) when from out of the mist and across our front in furious pursuit came the First Cruiser Squadron, the Town class, Birmingham, etc., each unit a match for three Mainz, and as we looked and reduced speed they opened fire, and the clear bang, bang of their guns was just a cooling drink.

"To see a real big four funneler spouting flame, which flame denoted shells starting and those shells not aimed at us but for us, was the most cheerful thing possible. Even as Kipling's infantryman under heavy fire cries, "The Guns, thank Gawd, the Guns,' when his own artillery had come into action over his head, so did I feel as those 'Big Brothers' came careening across.

"Once we were in safety I hated it; we have just been having our own imaginations stimulated on the subject of shells striking us and now a few minutes later to see another ship not three miles away reduced to a piteous mass of unrecognizability, wreathed in black fumes from which flared out angry gouts of fire, like Vesuvius in eruption, as an unending stream of hundred-pound shells burst on board it just pointed the moral and showed us what might have been. The Mainz was immensely gallant.

". . . . That was all. Remains only little details, only one of which will I tell you. The most romantic, dramatic and piquant episode that modern war can ever show.

"The Defender, having sunk an enemy, lowered a whaler to pick up her swimming survivors. Before the whaler got back an enemy's cruiser came up and chased the Defender and thus she abandoned her whaler. Imagine their feelings, alone in an open boat without food; twenty-five miles from the nearest land, and that land the enemy's fortress, with nothing but foe and fog around them.

"Suddenly a swirl alongside and up, if you please pops His Britannic Majesty's submarine E 4, opens his conning tower, takes them all on board shuts up again, dives and brings them home 250 miles. Is that not magnificent? No novel would dare face the critics with an episode like that in it, except perhaps, Jules Verne; and all true."

BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL RALLY DAY GREAT SUCCESS

The rally day of the Baptist Sunday school yesterday, it was said, proved the best in the history of the school. The addresses by N. H. Johnson, secretary of the Y.M.C.A., and S. G. Newell, assistant superintendent, were regarded as most practical and were much enjoyed by the large congregation. The attendance exceeded all past records and the statistics presented indicated that in attendance of the past year the school had made an increase of 15 per cent on the average of the preceding year.

BRITISH ASSURANCE TO GERMANY NOT ENOUGH

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Addressing a recruiting meeting at Cardiff last night Premier Asquith said that in a communication to the German government in 1912 regarding her future policy Great Britain declared that she would neither make nor join in an unprovoked attack upon Germany.

"But that was not enough for German statesmanship. Germany wanted us to go farther and pledge ourselves to absolute neutrality in the event of Germany being engaged in war. To that demand there was but one answer and that was the answer which the government gave."

DRAGOONS ESCAPE FROM WITHIN ENEMY'S LINES

Quite a thrilling little romance might be written of the adventures of a captain and sergeant of the Dragoon guards, who were taken prisoners by the Germans after being wounded in a hot engagement at Audregnies, in the fighting that followed the battle of Mons. The pair have landed at Folkestone from Ostend. They had made their escape from a convent hospital in which they were placed by the Germans, crossed 50 miles of country occupied by the enemy and got safely through all their outposts. Their daring exploit, as the sergeant acknowledged, was due entirely to the skill of the captain in scouting. In the affair at Audregnies the dragoon sergeant took refuge in a peasant's house, where he found about 20 other wounded comrades. "The Germans started to shell the place," he said, "and we all took refuge in the cellar. The old Belgian woman to whom the place belonged would not keep quiet. Presently the Germans entered the village and came straight to the house. They broke in the door with their rifles—I saw the butts coming through the panels, and as they burst in the door I held up my hands—there was nothing else to do. A German soldier came at me and though he must have seen that I was wounded he lifted his rifle by the breech and came for me. I received the blow on my forearm—it was meant for my head. Then the old woman made a bolt for the window. One of our chaps tried to stop her. He got a bayonet through the hand. The old woman was shot. We were all taken prisoners. They searched me and took away all my money. I have seen dead Germans on the field with bags of money round their necks. With the rest of the wounded I was taken to a convent inside the German lines. I found my own captain there. He had been found unconscious on the field. A shrapnel shell had exploded in front of him and the fumes had sent him off. He had a slight wound on the forehead from the shrapnel. They left the convent unguarded, being confident, I suppose, that we could not escape through their lines. We had been there a day or two when we saw them sending up a guard. 'This is the time to escape if we are going to,' said the captain. We got out without difficulty and lay for 10 hours behind a hedge. Then we set out through their lines. The captain had a map of the country and a damaged pair of compasses, which we patched up with dough. The map enabled him to know exactly where we were. We lay low all day and traveled by night, covering 27 miles each night by crawling almost flat and running bent almost double when we found cover. We had no sleep for 48 hours. Often we had to make a long detour to avoid their outposts or swampy ground. We went over railway embankments and through cuttings; and twice we had to cross canals. Once we attempted to swim, but found our clothes too heavy to carry, so we made for a bridge. It was guarded by 25 Germans. We crept up to within 10 or 20 yards and then the captain made a hissing sound. We lay and listened, but there was no reply. Creeping nearer we made the sound again. Still there was no response. We came still nearer and looked up very carefully. The sentry on our side of the bridge was asleep. The whole guard was asleep. The second time we crossed the canal was by a pontoon which they had left unguarded. Once we got clear of their lines we had no further difficulty. The Belgians assisted us all they could to get to Ostend. We found everywhere indications of the German brutality. They had burnt down houses whenever the people had no money or food to give them." The sergeant was going direct to Tadworth to his depot. He wants to return "to get his own back." The captain went to the war office to report.

BRITISH TROOPS NEED BLANKETS—WEATHER COLD

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Colder weather throughout the training camps in England and in the war zone on the continent has emphasized the shortage of blankets and overcoats which the English army is facing.

Advertisements of the war office, frankly stating it has exhausted the supply of blankets in the hands of manufacturers and wholesalers and asking retailers to submit bids, appear in many of the London papers. With about half a million men now in service and the prospect that the number will shortly be doubled, the blanket supply is a serious problem.

Great Britain is busy collecting blankets for Lord Kitchener's new army, and patriotic housewives are not only stripping their own beds, but importuning their friends. As blankets are not long-lived and their places must be taken by new ones, this form of tribute is considered about as heavy as the equivalent in cash. In all, a million and a half pairs of blankets must be had.

The outfitting of so many men in so short a time has overtaxed the machinery of the war office. An outbreak of pneumonia is feared unless blankets arrive in plenty.

As the climate where the British are now fighting in France and in portions of Germany in which Englishmen may be engaged is much more severe than the moist winter of England, there is some apprehension as to the effect colder weather will have on the British forces, and much discussion as to the most effective way to guard the soldiers in the trenches against severe weather.

ALLIES' SHRAPNEL WORKED HAVOC AMONG TEUTONS

Wounded Prisoner Tells of Vain Attempts to Escape Deadly Artillery Fire—All Officers Killed

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Oct. 4.—A letter from a German prisoner tells how the allies interrupted their needed rest and how, when the Germans attempted to advance on Sept. 16 the allies, firing from bushes and from houses, swept their trenches. This letter continues: "On my right and left wounded comrades were complaining bitterly that the enemy was shooting from houses. They found too early a mark in us. If we assumed an upright position we were immediately fired on. After an hour, during which time our company lost about 25 men, we were forced to retire. This brought our total strength down to 80. We started with 251 men. We had no officers left.

"On the 18th, at 4:30 o'clock in the morning, we reached a village where we thought we would be able to rest. Before half an hour had passed, however, the shrapnel had again found us out. We spent the afternoon in this village, which was continuously under shell fire in spite of the fact that our guns were shelling the enemy's artillery. We heard our colonel say our guns could not get at those of the enemy satisfactorily because the latter were so well concealed.

"Our condition now is really awful, for we have to sleep out in all weather. We were looking forward to a speedy end. We are very badly off as regards food. Some of our regiments can muster only from three to four companies."

Another letter, written during the retreat in front of the French from Montmirail, says:

"After a 36 hour march we had some rest and we arrived just in time for the fight. For three days we did not have a hot meal, because our field kitchens were lost. We got a hot meal yesterday evening. Although we are all just ready to drop we must march on.

"We found great quantities of food, but fearing poison we did not take possession of it until we got hold of the proprietor of the house and compelled him to taste it first. We are near Reims, after having gone through hard, bloody and most horrible days. Of our regiment of 3,000 men there are now only 1600 left. Let us hope that this battle, which ought to be one of the greatest in history, will leave me safe and well and give us peace. I am absolutely done, but we must not despair."

TERROR-STRICKEN GERMANS CUT DOWN LIKE CHAFF

One of the most coherent accounts of the fighting around Mons has been furnished by a non-commissioned officer of the Royal Berkshire regiment invalided home. "I need hardly say," he remarked, "that it was a keen disappointment to our chaps to have to fall back before the Germans after the grand way in which they had stood up to them for nearly four days. From the first it was plain that the Germans were trying to turn our left flank rather than risk an attack on the strongly entrenched position extending along out front for ten miles; but they were a bit put out by the quickness with which we turned about and gave them a hot time there. After a pretty steady artillery fire they came on with a rush, evidently hoping to drive up out before we had time to entrench. As they came into view in the open in front of our hastily dug trenches out men opened on them with a steady fire that never once went wide and we could see clean-cut gaps in the tightly-packed ranks as the hail of lead tore its jagged way through them. They were a game lot, however, and they kept closing up the gaps in their ranks as though they were so many marionettes. Flesh and blood cannot stand this sort of thing for ever and after a while they began to come along with less confident step. Then they halted for a few minutes, gazed about them in a dazed sort of way and ran like hares. Their place was taken by another bluish-grey mass behind them and this body came on in much the same way until they, too, had had as much as they could stand and then there was another bolt for the rear. This advancing and retreating went on for hours, each retirement unmasking a fresh body of men and by the time they were close enough to hurl themselves on our trenches it was an entirely fresh mass of men, who had suffered little from our fire. As they scrambled up they seemed cocksure of themselves, but they had forgotten our men posted under cover on their right and just as they were steadying themselves for one last rush at us a withering fire was opened on them and at the same time we cleared the way for the Hussars who were at them right and left as soon as the fire of our men ceased. Hell's fury blazed from the eyes of the trapped Germans as they tried to grapple with their new foe, and we stood there silent spectators lest we should hit our cavalry. It only took them a few minutes to make up their minds, and with a bloodcurdling wail that I will remember to my dying day they ran as though all the fiends were after them. They were cut down like chaff, and it was at this point that most of the prisoners were taken by our men."

SHIPPED FOOD TO GERMANY—DUTCH JAILED

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

THE HAGUE, via London, Oct. 4.—Elaborate preparations have been made by The Netherlands government to see that shipments of foodstuffs brought into Holland shall not pass into the hands of the nations now at war.

There is now a complete belt of districts under martial law. Along the borders and coast in these districts all outgoing freight is examined by military authorities in addition to the customs officials. The thoroughness of the embargo is shown in the arrest recently of many country people living along the German border, who exported small quantities of grain on wagons to that country.

Owing to the general scarcity of wheat flour in Holland, white bread is becoming a luxury.

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER DECREE IS AMENDED

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 4.—The decree of the United States district court handed down last August ordering the dissolution of the International Harvester company under the Sherman anti-trust act, was amended in a decision given here yesterday by Judges Sanborn, Hook and Smith, the trial judges, which alters the decree so as not to apply to the foreign trade of the company and changes the original plan of dissolution.

After the announcement of the decision, Attorney Edgar A. Bancroft of Chicago, who with Attorneys John P. Wilson, Chicago and W. D. McHugh, Omaha, represented the company at yesterday's hearing gave the court formal notice of intention to appeal to the United States supreme court.

The original decree made it compulsory for the company to lay before the court a plan for the separation of the company's business and assets into at least three distinct and separate corporations.
