SERVIANS BLOCK TEUTONS IN SANGUINARY STRUGGLES

Enemy Has Progressed Little Since Friday

LOSSES ON BOTH SIDES ENORMOUS

German Big Guns Do Execution--Rumania Is Showing Alarm

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)
LONDON, Oct. 11.—While the armies of the central empires continue to advance in Servia nothing has yet become known which indicates that anything like the nature of an actual military victory has been made by Bulgaria against Servia, but there has come through a report that an assault is momentarily expected from Bulgaria on the Servian end of the railway connecting Nish, the Servian capital, with Saloniki, Greece. At the latter place French and British troops are said to be still debarking and moving into the Balkan kingdom, to aid in repulsing the developing German drive through Servia to Bulgaria, which, if successful, would establish communication between Berlin and Constantinople.

Rumania is showing increased alarm on account of the threatened military movement by Bulgaria and the central powers in close proximity to its frontiers. But neither Athens nor Bucharest is exhibiting any desrie to depart from neutrality.

Little change has taken place in the fighting positions of the opposing forces on the Servian frontier since last Friday. Then the Austro-Germans had advanced as far as Ram, a short distance beyond Belgrade, on the river Danube and they claimed to have effected a crossing at certain points on the rivers Save and Drina. The official communications today indicate that the Teutons are still fighting in the region of Ram and are still on the banks of the other two rivers. The reports announce, however, that the crossing of the Danube has been completed and that the fighting elsewhere is developing.

Fighting on Frontier Continues.

VIENNA, Oct. 12.—The official statement issued last night traces in detail the efforts of the Teutonic troops along the Danube, Save and Drina front from Thursday and Friday. The statement reads:

"During the day of Oct. 7, and the following night on the Danube front, which stretches from Semendria to Radiate, the enemy crossed the river near the village of Gertz and the small fortress of Kostolatz, where it maintained itself. An attack on the island of Kissiljevo was repulsed. The fighting continues.

"In the direction of Belgrade the enemy opened a violent fire on the entire front under cover of which it got as far as the railway to the Danube and by. Our troops on Gipy island withdrew.

"Fighting continues on the Save between Obrenovatz and the village of Ostaska, where the enemy advance was stopped. Attacks on Zabrezie and the village of Drenovatz were repulsed with great losses to the enemy.

"On the Drina attempts to force a passage were repulsed. Our troops are fighting valiantly on the whole front.

"During the fighting at Belgrade on the 6th our artillery sank an enemy monitor. Another, badly damaged, ran ashore near Semlin.

Enemy Held Up at Ram.

"During the day of Oct. 8 and the following night on the Semendria-Gradiste sector of the Danube line the enemy was unable to advance beyond Ram, notwithstanding the heavy fire of its artillery, especially its big guns.

"Fighting occurred also between Kostalz and Dubravitza. After a powerful artillery preparation the enemy directed a heavy attack on the village of Petka, which was repulsed with severe losses for it. The Semendria positions were exposed to continuous fire to which our artillery replied successfully.

"Our troops abandoned the defense of Belgrade and fell back to secured positions in order to spare the city a continuance of bombardment by heavy guns. The occupation of the city has given the enemy no advantage from a military standpoint.

"On the Save in the Obrenovitz sector near the village of Kratinska the enemy launched three attacks against our positions at Zabrezie. Our troops stoutly repulsed all these heavy losses to the enemy. A further attack in the same region met a similar fate.

"Near the Bolievatchku and Progorska islands the enemy constructed two bridges of boats. Thanks to the accuracy of our artillery fire, the Bolievatchku bridge was shattered and the enemy was unable to repair it.

"On the Drina before Badovintzi all the enemy attacks on our positions were repelled with heavy losses. nothing to report."

Losses Are Enormous.

PARIS, Oct. 12.—The Havas agency's correspondent at Nish sends the following official statement issued yesterday:

"Our troops occupy the following lines: Lipoevatz, Tcherkovatz, Breiane, Lippes and Semendria (lower Moravia frontier); Kloupes and Ekmeklouk (Belgrade front); Obrenovatz and Oranovatz (Save front).

"The enemy is using formidable heavy artillery, especially 105-millimetre cannon which are rendering the combat sanguinary. The loss is enormous on both sides, particularly in officers. Our troops are meeting the enemy's assault heroically. Thus far there are reported on our front near Belgrade the 22nd German corps and 8th Austrian corps of the German division.

"On the Ram is another German division. The formation of these two divisions is not known. Near Parafevatz i s the 11th Bavarian division and the 10th and 26th German divisions. Near Kovin and Bavanichte the presence of enemy troops, the number of which is not yet known, also is reported.

"Near Obrinevatz the enemy is using asphyxiating gas in abundance."

Take Naval Guns

VIENNA, Oct. 12.—The following official statement was issued last night:

"Austro-Hungarian and German forces advancing beyond Belgrade dislodged the Servians from their entanglements southeast and southwest of the capital. Our troops stormed Gruenberg and Velky Vracar.

"In the region of Semendria and Pozaravch the allies again gained considerable ground.

"In the occupation of Belgrade nine naval guns, 26 field guns, one searchlight, numerous rifles, quantities of munitions and other war material fell into our hands. Ten Servian officers and more than 600 men were made prisoners.

"The enemy's casualties were great.

"The Danube flotilla has removed a number of river mines and Russian sea mines."

BANDITS AND OFFICER FALL IN GUNFIGHT

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)
CARRINGTON, N.D., Oct. 11.—Four unidentified men who held up 30 persons in a poolroom here late last night, obtaining $200, were traced to a rooming house early today by the police and in a gun fight that followed one robber was killed, Chief of Police Cart Nelson probably fatally shot and another bandit wounded. The latter escaped with the other two robbers and the three engaged in a running fight with a posse, wounding two of their pursuers before surrendering.

SLOCAN MINES PLEASE VISITORS

Developments and Possibilities Are Surprise

SEE RICH ORE AT THE SLOCAN STAR

Concentrators in Operation Are Inspected at Standard and Bluebell

Impressed by the evidence of development of rich veins or ore at depth, near the surface and on intermediate levels, by the great possibilities for future development and by the large, solidly constructed mills and other plants which they saw in operation the party of Spokane mining men and capitalists returned from the Slocan and Ainsworth districts last night. The one impression of the Slocan and Ainsworth camp most generally voiced was of the permanency and soundness of the industry and the opportunities for profitable investment of capital.

Some of the party had visited the district in the early days and, although they had kept in touch with developments, they were surprised at the real magnitude and success of the operations which had brought the camp out of the prospect to the producing stage.

The party visited properties which have already turned out millions of dollars worth of ore, paid millions in dividends and which are today shipping ore from the veins which it can be seen will add many millions more to the wealth of the country.

The Slocan party, accompanied by a number of Nelson men, left the city on a special train on Sunday morning. At Slocan City they transferred to a special steamer which carried them to Silverton. There they were met by a large number of residents of that place. Arrangements had been made to take them to the Standard mine, which during the last two or three years had paid over one million dollars in dividends, but the time at the disposal of the party would not permit of these arrangements being carried out.

The Standard concentrator was inspected, the party being conducted through the plant by W. H. North, secretary and assistant manager of the company, and J. G. Gordon, the mill superintendent. On returning to the steamer, the party left for Rosebery, and thence by train to Sandon. The party was met at Rosebery by a Kaslo delegation headed by Mayor Stratchan and which included H. W. Power, W. E. Zwicky of the Cork-Province mine and Payne mine, A. T. Garland and Capt. L. McKinnon.

On arrival at Sandon the party was conducted through the Slocan Star mine by Oscar V. White, superintendent, and A. G. Larson, consulting engineer.

See Slocan Star Ore Shoots.

At the Slocan Star the party visited the lower workings by means of which have been opened up the rich ore bodies from the upper levels of which several million dollars' worth of ore have been produced. The visitors saw the promising body of ore which has been exposed by the drift on the ninth level, 100 feet above the main adit, and which was reached much earlier than the management expected to find ore on this level. On the eighth level were seen two shoots of ore, respectivly 125 and 150 feet in length. One of these shoots is 2 feet 6 inches of clean galena and 4 feet of concentrating ore occurs in alternate bands of lead and zinc with the lead predominating. It was from ore taken recently from this drift that a carload was sorted which ran 44 per cent in zinc and 45 ounces in silver to the ton. Throughout these lower levels the silver values run about the same as in the workings above—about 1¼ ounce silver to the unit of lead.

See Fine Shoot Above.

Both of these ore shoots are connected by raises with the sixth level, the lowest of the old workings. In the second shoot on the sixth level the showing of ore is especially fine.

The mine is producing 150 tons of

RUSSIANS WIN ON DVINSK LINE

Germans Are Ejected From Positions

COSSACKS DRIVE FOE FROM OUTSTUE

Take Teuton Third Line Trenches on Styr River Front

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)
PETROGRAD, Oct. 12.—Successful operations against the Germans in the vicinity of Dvinsk are recorded in the official statement issued last night:

"South of Friederichstadt 75 bombs were dropped on the villages of Valhop and Tauerkaln from our aeroplanes. Good hits were observed. In the Dvinsk region on many parts of the front furious fighting has been carried on successfully against the Germans, who assumed the offensive repeatedly. Northwest of Dvinsk the Germans were ejected from Gobounvitz. In the region of the high road southwest of Dvinsk the Germans were driven out of their trenches between Lauztzess Ghey and Ghirvisski. In pursuing them we took a lone from the southeastern end of Lake Medmoussi to Lautzess Ghey. Firing continued on Lake Demen from midday until dark. German aviators bombarded Dvinsk and the nearest railway stations. Our cavalry occupied Outstue, on the western shore of Lake Boghinsky. We repulsed the enemy's attempt at an offensive from Babtcha on the upper Niemen.

"On both sides of the Kovel-Sarny railway there have been several skirmishes with the enemy advancing toward the Styr river. Our artillery on several occasions developed a deadly fire against the enemy. There was stubborn fighting on the left bank of the Styr below Kolki, which ended on the evening of Oct. 10 in our occupation of the third line of enemy trenches. Southeast of Kolki our troops, supported by artillery, captured the eastern border of the villages of Czartorysk and Rokhody with slight losses. German counter-attacks were repulsed in the region of Moshantitzy and Silno, east of Derazno.

"On the Caucasus front, in the region of Ishkan, the Turks, who assumed the offensive, were repulsed."

THROWS BLAME ON FIELD CENSOR

Sir John Simon States Who Cut Out Reference to Bravery of Germans.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)
LONDON, Oct. 12.—Sir John Simon, home secretary, last night issued a statement in which he defended the official press bureau against recent bitter attacks on its method of censoring the news, and places a large measure of the responsibility for the trouble on the special censors at the front, who were appointed by Field Marshal French. It was these censors, he says, who excised from one of the despatches to the Times a reference to the bravery shown by the German troops, which has occasioned such an outburst of indignation.

"At the express request of Sir John French," the secretary writes, "everything written by accredited newspaper correspondents at the front is submitted to the censors appointed by him at the general headquarters in French and the press is instructed to accept their censorship as final. Consequently, whatever Mr. Buchan, the Times' correspondent, wrote was censored by individuals over whom the press bureau has no responsibility whatever. The article handed the Times for publication was in exactly the same form as that in which it reached this country."

Sir John Simon declares it is a mistake to suppose that the press bureau exercises its own judgment concerning the class of news which should be withheld from publication. It examines the copy submitted to it, he says, "with a view to seeing whether what is supposed to be published offends any of the series of prohibitions of the war office, admiralty or other government departments.

"The press bureau is not the author of any of these prohobitions. It is merely the medium by which they are announced and applied."

The home secretary adds that a majority of the large staff of censors employed is appointed by the war office and the admiralty and that it no doubt happens that from time to time a particular individual in trying to apply these rules makes a slip.

"The directors of the press bureau," he says, in conclusion, "do their best to reduce such mistakes to a minimum. The directors of the press bureau have cheerfully endured much belaboring which, whether deserved or not, most certainly is not deserved by them."

BANQUET GIVEN SPOKANE VISITORS

Speakers Express Satisfaction With Trip

HOTEL PRESENTS GAY APPEARANCE

Guests Enter Dining Room to National Airs Played By Orchestra

On the return of the Spokane business men from their trip through the Slocan mining district, a banquet was tendered them at the Hume by the citizens of Nelson.

At 9:30 the dining room was turned over to the guests and the visitors entered to the strains of the British and United States national songs, played by the orchestra. Great enthusiasm was evidenced by all present and before taking their seats all the men joined in singing the national anthems of the two nations. On the wall of the dining room were draped the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes, to both of which toasts were proposed and drank.

Mayor J. J. Malone, who acted as chairman, welcomed the guests in a few words, in which he recounted some of the changes he had witnessed during his many years' residence in the Kootenays. Never before, he said, had he seen so much solid activity in the mining districts os so much interest taken by outside capital in the development of the Kootenay mines as at the present time. He spoke of the guests as "brothers from across the line" and expressed the hope that this visit would grow into an annual event.

Had Their Eyes Opened.

The first speaker of the evening was Frank A. Ross president of the Spokane Mining Men's club. Mr. Ross in his opening remarks paid high tribute to the railroad and beat service and the royal reception given the members of the party by the mine owners in the district. Everyone had a "bully good time," he declared, but in spite of the fun they were having there was a note of seriousness in the situation. A serious purpose underlay their trip, he said, and many were present who would like to know the outcome of the investigations made by the members of the party. Although a number were old visitors to the Slocan some were unfamiliar with the magnitude of the operations in the district, and these members of the party, he said, had had their eyes opened to the great future in store for Slocan and its surrounding territory. Speaking of that future, he said that although Spokane might not be able to furnish much capital at once, yet in the future money from Spokane must certainly find its way into the district for the development of the mines.

Great advances were to be noticed on all sides, he declared. Partly developed mines with good surface showings, if they would stand the investigation of experts would be in great demand by capitalists who have the power to carry the work forward to a successful operating point.

In speaking of the relation existing between Slocan and Spokane, Mr. Ross referred to the spirit of welcome that had greeted the party at Kingsgate and accompanied them throughout the entire trip. Although they had crossed the boundary line, he said, they all felt that the interests which bound the two communities were so vital as to overcome the barriers of the international line and that the two communities were bound up by their mutual interests.

Referring to an editorial in The Daily News, Mr. Ross stated that it was true as had been pointed out that much of Spokane's wealth and prosperity had been derived from the Slocan, and that therefore although Spokane referred to the Slocan mines as "our mines," it did not arrogate ownership to itself, but that Spokane took a pride in being linked up with a country to which much of its wealth was due. The reason for the trip, he said, was, as the editorial referred to had stated, the increased mining activity of the Kootenay and Boundary

GATHER IN $100,000 WORTH OF OPIUM

Biggest Haul of Drug Ever Made at Vancouver Takes Place on Steamer Monteagle.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)
VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 11.—The greatest haul of opium ever made in this port or perhaps in any port on the Pacific coast, took place today when customs officers discovered 400 tins on the steamer Monteagle, which has just arrived from the Orient. A small boat containing a number of Chinaman was observed going around the big vessel and this circumstance made the officers suspicious. Prior to this there was no indication that any contraband was on board. Fore and aft the big vessel was searched and up to tonight 425 tins had been found, valued at something like $100,000.

FRENCH CONTINUE TO PRESS STEADILY FORWARD IN WEST

Make Further Advance in Artois and Champagne

GERMAN ATTACKS HAVE BROKEN DOWN

British Hold More Ground Than When Their Offensive Ceased

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)
LONDON, Oct. 11.—In the west the French report continued progress in Artois and in Champagne and violent artillery combats at other parts on the front.

A French official review of the recent German counter-attacks on Loos says the Germans left between 7000 and 8000 dead before the positions which they tried in vain to recapture.

Sir John French also reports heavy casualties for the Germans in counter attacks near Hill 70, Hulluch and Hohenzollern redoubt on Oct. 8 when the German forces were decisively repulsed. The field marshal reports that a recent German claim of repulsing a British offensive northwest of Vermelles on Oct. 9 is false—no offensive was attempted and no attack made, he says.

Allies Make Progress.

PARIS, Oct. 11.—Progress for the allied forces in Artois and Champagne and violent artillery action in other places are recorded in the official statement issued tonight, which follows:

"We have made perceptible progress in the wood to the west of the road from Souchez to Angres in the Souchez valley and to the east of the Givenchy wood blockhouse.

"We also have gained ground on the ridges toward Lafolie. We captured about 100 prisoners from the guard corps.

"In Champagne we have made further progress to the north of Tahure and carried by a vigorous attack the whole of the German fortified works to the south of the village on the side of the Lagoutte gully. We captured there 108 prisoners among them two officers.

"Our cannon have efficaciously counter-attacked the German artillery which is shelling violently our new positions.

"Artillery actions of an especially violent character are reported on both sides at Les Eparges in the forest of Le Pretre to the north of Reillon in Lorraine and also in the Vosges to the south of Steinbach and in the environs of Thann."

Hun Assaults Break Down.

LONDON Oct. 11—The official press bureau tonight made public the following official statement from Sir John French:

"Further information shows that the German attack on our front south of La Bassee canal on Oct. 8 was made in great strength. The main German efforts were directed against the chalk pit north of Hill 70 and between Hulluch and the Hohenzollern redoubt.

"In the chalk pit attack the enemy assembled behind some woods which lie from 300 to 500 yards of four trenches. Between these woods and our line the attack was stopped by a combined rifle machine gun and artillery fire not a man getting to within 40 yards of our trenches.

"Further north between Hulluch and the quarries the attack was similarly beaten off with a heavy loss and here

BRITAIN NEEDS MORE MEN FOR BALKAN CAMPAIGN

(Daily News Leased Wire.)
LONDON, Oct. 12.—The meeting of British parliament today promises to be of unusual importance. The French loan of $500,000,000 secured in the United States will be signed and ratified, although there probably will be a few dissenters who can find reason to oppose every act of the government since the war was declared. The country waits with far more interest, however, for whatever statement Edward Grey may throw upon the Balkan developments and whether Premier Asquith will reconstruct the cabinet's policy on the vital issue which confronts it. That issue is whether Great Britain once will throw all the force at command into the Balkan area for the protection of Servia and advance against Teutonic-Bulgarian union or let events take their course. The military and newspaper press agreed that one or the other must be followed.

The influential Westminster Gazette voices the protest of the Times' military part against submitting to German action in the initiative, saying: "There is to be an expedition it must be on a sufficient scale and we must not weaken the west. The government, in other words, must get new men in addition to those on whom it has already counted."

The attack on the foreign office and Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, promises ot prove a flash in the pan and to carry the country with it as little as did the attack on Earl Kitchener. Sir Edward is the most popular civilian in the country.

The weakness of the British diplomatic service is no new discovery. The diplomatic staff is largely composed of the old school aristocracy, which is looked upon as unequal to dealing with the shifting and complicated problems and elusive politicians such as they encounter in the Balkans. The general disposition is to credit Sir Edward Grey as doing as well as possible with the lieutenants at his disposal.

Nevertheless the diplomatic failure in the Balkans has given impetus to the movement to throw overboard secret diplomacy and rebuild the staff of the diplomatic corps on a more democratic basis, which undoubtedly will be one of the foremost demands of the Liberal masses after the war.

Former Minister Says Bulgaria Is Rushing Into an Abyss—His Nation Wants to Fight.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)
MILAN, Oct. 11.—"It is impossible for Rumania to stay out of the war," said Take Jonescu, former Rumanian minister of the interior, as quoted by the Bucharest correspondent of the Corderre della Serra.

M. Jonescu affirmed his "absolute certainty" of the defeat of Germany and its allies, and continued:

"I believe moral forces are invincible. Germany represents reaction and therefore must be crushed. I pity the Bulgarian people who are rushing into an abyss.

"I shall use all my strength to induce Rumania to throw its sword into the balance. I can state that this is the nation's greatest desire."

ALL GERMAN ATTACKS FAIL ALLIES ADVANCE FURTHER

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)
PARIS, Oct. 11.—The French war office this afternoon gave out a summary of the events of the week ended Oct. 9, which reads:

"During the course of the week from Oct. 3 to Oct. 9 our operations had for their object the completion and the consolidation of the results obtained by the successes of the preceding week. The Germans during the week endeavored on several different occasions by violent counter-attacks to make good the notable checks to which they have been subjected and as a result of which the morale of their troops have been affected. Everywhere these efforts ended in failure.

"In the Artois, in the region of Souchez, and in the vicinity of Loos, where the British have made progress, the enemy has delivered attacks which have been in vain and which have caused some heavy losses to them. The French troops have been able to consolidate their positions in front of and to the south of Thelus, to the north of Arras.

"In Champagne the German efforts in the vicinity of the Navarin farm, at Tahure and at Mesnil have brought about no definite result. The Germans have not succeeded in driving our troops from the position recently conquered by us nor have they succeeded in preventing us from making further progress.

"In spite of obstacles which confronted them, French troops have been successful against the German second line positions. Our soldiers, after a methodical preparation, took possession on Oct. 7 of the trenches to the north of Navarain. The same day they occupied Bute de Tahure and then took possession of the village.

"According to the most recent information it may be said that in spite of the efforts of the German press to belittle the effect of the French successes, the Germans have suffered a check which is of relatively increased importance for the reason that they had made every preparation to avoid just what happened. It is known that German orders were given which succeeded in bringing in troops from everywhere, even recalling from Russa the corps of the guard, which was thrown precipitately into the fighting. It is furthermore a fact that in the infantry branch alone the German prisoners taken in the Artois district and in Champagne belonged to 92 different regiments.

"However, the French attack was sufficient to overcome all the measures adopted by the Germans.

"The taking of 25,000 German prisoners and the capturing of 246 pieces of abandoned artillery indicate furthermore the extent of the German disorder and are proof of the superiority in these operations of the troops of the allies over the enemy."

BIGGEST GOLD PILE IN WORLD

The largest hoard of gold in the world is that held in the vaults of the Russian state bank, amounting now to about $850,000,000.

Ordinarily a visitor may travel from one end of the Russian empire to the other and not see enough gold coin to buy a pair of shoes. Paper currency is used universally. The check system, as it prevails in the United States and England, is practically unknown in Russia.

Although the larger cities have many fine banks, the provincial business man distrusts banks and there are hundreds of thousands of prosperous Russians who have never had a banking account in their lives. Their working capital is represented by paper currency of big denomination, which they carry in a leather bag suspended by a thong around their neck.

In Russia the visitor may meet shaggy men whose dress and appearance suggests the artisan class, who are carrying with them constantly from five to ten thousand dollars in currency.

Little Lillian's father, by any stretch of imagination, could not be called good looking, and one day, after gazing intently at him, she turned to her mother and pronounced the query:

"Mamma, why did you marry papa?"

"Because I loved him, dear," was the reply.

Lillian looked surprised.

"Love will make us women do anything, won't it mamma?" she said.

ZANZIBAR IS NOW A GO-AHEAD SPOT

Clove and Fishing Industries Are Chief Supports of People of That Island.

In his annual report for the year 1914 by the resident of Zanzibar, he points out that eight or ten years ago all the earthern vessels employed for the storage or carriage of water were imported from India.

Since then potters from India have settled in the town of Zanzibar and in several villages in the south of the island and manufacture these vessels, as well as flower pots which are used so much by the natives and Indians have always been and are still being made only by Swahilis.

There are about 25 to 30 Indian gold and silversmiths, mostly from Cutch, who are employed in making native jewelry, coffee pots, sword handles, and a number of other curios.

The clove industry dates from 1818, and in 1860 an output of about seven million pounds in weight had been attained. In 1872 the plantations of Zanzibar were devastated by a hurricane, and consequently most of the trees in the island date from that time. The average output of recent years has been about 14,000,000 pounds. The largest crop was that of the season 1911-12—yielding 28,000,000 pounds of which Pemba contributed 20,000,000 pounds.

Drawbacks to European Settlement.

It is stated that the main drawback to European exploitation have hitherto been the unhealthiness of the islands, which renders living in the interior practically impossible for whites, the absence of roads, and the lack of labor. Of recent years, however, sanitation has made great progress, and has been accompanied by a corresponding improvement in the health of the European population.

The missions, which have been established for a long time, cannot be said to have made their influence very widely felt in this respect. This may be attributed to the unfortunate isolation in which the trained native artisan has been caled upon to work. The Indian opposition has been too strong for him, and he has quietly disappeared from an unequal contest.

Fishing is done by natives in galawas, or dug-out canoes with out-riggers, which generally go out with one rising tide and return with the next. The greater part of the fishing is done with hooks and lines. Nets of various primitive sorts are used, but only near shore or inside reefs. Fishing traps in the shape of large baskets are also employed, and in many villages fishing stakes, which last for about six or eight months are erected.

Of late years a class of fishermen, mostly from Diu, Portuguese India, have settled in Zanzibar, bringing with them their own dug-outs. They are hard working people and are fast supplanting the more indolent native.

Lieut.-Col. McKay and Major Mallandaine of the 107th regiment arrived in Nelson last night on the Crow boat. While in the city they will consult with the military authorities as to raising two companies here of the 107th. The two officers will attend the parade of the Nelson volunteer reserves tonight.

FIRE THREATENS LUMBER MILL

Blaze in Dump at Edgewood Lumber, Castlegar, Endangers Buildings.

A fire, which endangered the mills of the Edgewood Lumber company at Castlegar, broke out in the dump to the west of the building about 1 o'clock yesterday. William Waldie of Nelson was notified by long distance telephone and applied for the use of the city's fire apparatus, which was granted, and the chemical engine was despatched to the scene on a flat car. Fortunately, it is said, an east wind was blowing and the flames were thus kept away from the mill buildings; otherwise, it is said, nothing could have saved the whole structure from being destroyed. It is stated that only slight damage was done, the flames being confined to the dump, which was extinguished without much trouble.

PROPHECIES HAVE BEEN FULFILLED

Pastor Wood Points to Events in History As Fulfilments of Divine Prophecy

In a lecture at Eagle hall last night, Pastor Wood based his study upon the sixth chapter of Revelations and pointed out that the seven seals mentioned in this chapter embrace the whole of a certain class of events, reaching down to the close of probationary time, the color of the horses in the first four indicating the development of the great apostasy which corrupted the pure doctrines of the first church, represented by the white horse.

The pastor called attention to the twelfth verse of Rev. 6, which states that when the sixth seal was opened "there was a great earthquake." This, he declared, was fulfilled in the great earthquake at Lisbon in 1755, and the other two events, the darkening of the sun and the falling of the stars, mentioned in this verse, were the same identical signs mentioned by Christ in Matt. 24:29 as signs of the end of the world. This last sign, the falling of the stars, he declared, met its fulfilment in the great meteoric shower in 1833. He referred to Christ's words: "This generation shall not pass till all these things be fulfilled," as having reference to the generation beginning with the last sign in 1833.

WAS SLOW TO GIVE ORDERS TO CANADA

Sir Sam Hughes Says Britain At First Asked for Only Two Hundred Thousand Shells

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

OTTAWA, Oct. 10.—Major-Gen. Hughes today issued a reply to the speech of D. A. Thomas, representative of Lloyd George, British minister of munitions, at Montreal on Friday last. This speech of Mr. Thomas' forecasted a reconstruction of the Canadian shell committee and intimated that speedy delivery and reasonable prices were the conditions under which orders must be placed.

Gen. Hughes declared that he felt sure Mr. Thomas had been wrongly reported in some important details. Mr. Thomas' intimation that "economy had to be considered and that in the past Canadian manufacturers had been slow in delivery and higher in price than either the United States or Great Britain," the minister said, was certainly erroneous. Sir Sam continued:

"No shells whatever were produced in England by commercial organizations until months after Canada had made deliveries. Not one shell was produced in any commercial institution in the United States until long after Canada had ben producing enormous quantities. Canada's shell committee has led the world in this line. The regular manufacturers of war material in the United States and Great Britain were also far behind the Canadian commercial industries relatively in their deliveries.

Could Have Done Better

"However, the Canadian committee does not shrink from a comparison of its output with the quality and output of the regular arsenals of the United States and Great Britain while it courts comparison with commercial industrial concerns of both these countries.

"The Canadian shell committee only manufactured the shells ordered by the British government and was not free to enlarge its sphere of action. Had the committee received large orders at the beginning it would have been able to rival the entire output of the United States and Great Britain in quantities but the orders came piecemeal and each was supposed to be the last." Continuing, Sir Sam said:

"It is stated by Mr. Thomas, according to the newspaper reports, that Canadian manufacturers had been slow in delivery and high in price. He is certainly much in error. Not only have Canadian commercial industries completely outdistanced all commercial industries in Great Britain and the United States in the making of shells but have even relatively exceeded the regular military organization in these countries in the matter of quantity but also our operation prices have ben lower than those of any commercial institution in the United States or the old country and also lower than any military arsenal in the United States.

"Furthermore, in some classes of shells the total price of the Canadian product is upward of $2 lower than the American price for the same shell."

Made Other Munitions

Concerning Mr. Thomas' suggestion that the shell committee be reconstructed, he said:

"The shell committee has been strengthened twice to meet conditions as they arose. The shell committee was formed by me to meet a small order of 200,000 shells which I had been instructed to place in the United States. I felt our splendid Canadian industrial establishments, then out of work, were competent to do this or any other work assigned them for the war. I accordingly constituted the shell commission for one small job of 200,000 shells. We were assured this would be all required to complete the war. Incidentally the United States was given millions upon millions of shells at this same time. The war was not completed, however, but other orders of a different nature were given to Canada, involving the introduction at enormous expense and preparation of new industries for the manufacture of brass cartridge cases, primers, propellants, etc.

"We were assured these could not be made in Canada, but we have made them."

Making Brass Cartridges

Concerning the magnitude of such work, Sir Sam stated, "last month alone upward of 500,000 brass cartridge cases were turned out in this country for commercial industries and before Christmas we will be turning out 1,000,000 per month. Indeed, this last month we have 1,800,000 shells, which are being shipped as rapidly as possible."

Continuing his reply to certain of Mr. Thomas' assertions, Gen. Hughes stated:

"Mr. Thomas must be wrongly reported in his assertions that the cost of shells in Canada has been higher than in competitive countries. It is entirely the reverse, as is illustrated by the fact that the United States industries are receiving $2 more for certain classes of shells than Canadians.

"The shell committee has been strengthened on two occasions to meet demands," he said. "We are now asked by Mr. Lloyd George to indulge in the manufacture of big guns. This, of course, will naturally necessitate the still further strengthening of the shell commission."

Concluding, the minister said:

"If the war is to last, Canada, if given a chance, will continue to lead the world in doing its share in the premises. But uncertainty of the continuation of the war has naturally caused caution on the part of those giving orders. But Canada is today able to turn out as many shells as any country in proportion."

A six-year-old Oak Park boy was eating peanuts. He ate them in the usual manner for a time and then poked one up his nose. Not getting the desired results in that fashion he went crying to his mother. She failed to remove the peanut and after failing in the attempt called a physician. After the peanut was removed, the physician had gone and things settled down to some extent the mother began to demand an explanation.

"Why in the world did you want to poke a peanut up your nose anyway?" she asked.

"Well," replied the boy in self-defense, "that's the way elephants eat them."

The Semendria positions were exposed to continuous fire to which our artillery replied successfully.

"Our troops abandoned the defense of Belgrade and fell back to secured positions in order to spare the city a continuance of bombardment by heavy guns. The occupation of the city has given the enemy no advantage from a military standpoint.

Losses Are Enormous.

PARIS, Oct. 12.—The Havas agency's correspondent at Nish sends the following official statement issued yesterday:

"Our troops occupy the following lines: Lipoevatz, Tcherkovatz, Breiane, Lippes and Semendria (lower Moravia frontier); Kloupes and Ekmeklouk (Belgrade front); Obrenovatz and Oranovatz (Save front).

"The enemy is using formidable heavy artillery, especially 105-millimetre cannon which are rendering the combat sanguinary. The loss is enormous on both sides, particularly in officers. Our troops are meeting the enemy's assault heroically. Thus far there are reported on our front near Belgrade the 22nd German corps and 8th Austrian corps of the German division.

"On the Ram is another German division. The formation of these two divisions is not known. Near Parafevatz is the 11th Bavarian division and the 10th and 26th German divisions. Near Kovin and Bavanichte the presence of enemy troops, the number of which is not yet known, also is reported.

"Near Obrinevatz the enemy is using asphyxiating gas in abundance."

Take Naval Guns

VIENNA, Oct. 12.—The following official statement was issued last night:

"Austro-Hungarian and German forces advancing beyond Belgrade dislodged the Servians from their entanglements southeast and southwest of the capital. Our troops stormed Gruenberg and Velky Vracar.

"In the region of Semendria and Pozaravch the allies again gained considerable ground.

"In the occupation of Belgrade nine naval guns, 26 field guns, one searchlight, numerous rifles, quantities of munitions and other war material fell into our hands. Ten Servian officers and more than 600 men were made prisoners.

"The enemy's casualties were great. "The Danube flotilla has removed a number of river mines and Russian sea mines."

The weakness of the British diplomatic service is no new discovery. The diplomatic staff is largely composed of the old school aristocracy, which is looked upon as unequal to dealing with the shifting and complicated problems and elusive politicians such as they encounter in the Balkans. The general disposition is to credit Sir Edward Grey as doing as well as possible with the lieutenants at his disposal.

Nevertheless the diplomatic failure in the Balkans has given impetus to the movement to throw overboard secret diplomacy and rebuild the staff of the diplomatic corps on a more democratic basis, which undoubtedly will be one of the foremost demands of the Liberal masses after the war.

SLOCAN MINES PLEASE VISITORS

Developments and Possibilities Are Surprise

SEE RICH ORE AT THE SLOCAN STAR

Concentrators in Operation Are Inspected at Standard and Bluebell

Impressed by the evidence of development of rich veins or ore at depth, near the surface and on intermediate levels, by the great possibilities for future development and by the large, solidly constructed mills and other plants which they saw in operation the party of Spokane mining men and capitalists returned from the Slocan and Ainsworth districts last night. The one impression of the Slocan and Ainsworth camp most generally voiced was of the permanency and soundness of the industry and the opportunities for profitable investment of capital.

Some of the party had visited the district in the early days and, although they had kept in touch with developments, they were surprised at the real magnitude and success of the operations which had brought the camp out of the prospect to the producing stage.

The party visited properties which have already turned out millions of dollars worth of ore, paid millions in dividends and which are today shipping ore from the veins which it can be seen will add many millions more to the wealth of the country.

The Slocan party, accompanied by a number of Nelson men, left the city on a special train on Sunday morning. At Slocan City they transferred to a special steamer which carried them to Silverton. There they were met by a large number of residents of that place. Arrangements had been made to take them to the Standard mine, which during the last two or three years had paid over one million dollars in dividends, but the time at the disposal of the party would not permit of these arrangements being carried out.

The Standard concentrator was inspected, the party being conducted through the plant by W. H. North, secretary and assistant manager of the company, and J. G. Gordon, the mill superintendent. On returning to the steamer, the party left for Rosebery, and thence by train to Sandon. The party was met at Rosebery by a Kaslo delegation headed by Mayor Stratchan and which included H. W. Power, W. E. Zwicky of the Cork-Province mine and Payne mine, A. T. Garland and Capt. L. McKinnon.

On arrival at Sandon the party was conducted through the Slocan Star mine by Oscar V. White, superintendent, and A. G. Larson, consulting engineer.

See Slocan Star Ore Shoots.

At the Slocan Star the party visited the lower workings by means of which have been opened up the rich ore bodies from the upper levels of which several million dollars' worth of ore have been produced. The visitors saw the promising body of ore which has been exposed by the drift on the ninth level, 100 feet above the main adit, and which was reached much earlier than the management expected to find ore on this level. On the eighth level were seen two shoots of ore, respectively 125 and 150 feet in length. One of these shoots is 2 feet 6 inches of clean galena and 4 feet of concentrating ore occurs in alternate bands of lead and zinc with the lead predominating. It was from ore taken recently from this drift that a carload was sorted which ran 44 per cent in zinc and 45 ounces in silver to the ton. Throughout these lower levels the silver values run about the same as in the workings above—about 1¼ ounce silver to the unit of lead.

See Fine Shoot Above.

Both of these ore shoots are connected by raises with the sixth level, the lowest of the old workings. In the second shoot on the sixth level the showing of ore is especially fine.

The mine is producing 150 tons of

Former Minister Says Bulgaria Is Rushing Into an Abyss—His Nation Wants to Fight.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

MILAN, Oct. 11.—"It is impossible for Rumania to stay out of the war," said Take Jonescu, former Rumanian minister of the interior, as quoted by the Bucharest correspondent of the Corderre della Serra.

M. Jonescu affirmed his "absolute certainty" of the defeat of Germany and its allies, and continued:

"I believe moral forces are invincible. Germany represents reaction and therefore must be crushed. I pity the Bulgarian people who are rushing into an abyss.

"I shall use all my strength to induce Rumania to throw its sword into the balance. I can state that this is the nation's greatest desire."

RUSSIANS WIN ON DVINSK LINE

Germans Are Ejected From Positions

COSSACKS DRIVE FOE FROM OUTSTUE

Take Teuton Third Line Trenches on Styr River Front

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

PETROGRAD, Oct. 12.—Successful operations against the Germans in the vicinity of Dvinsk are recorded in the official statement issued last night:

"South of Friederichstadt 75 bombs were dropped on the villages of Valhop and Tauerkaln from our aeroplanes. Good hits were observed. In the Dvinsk region on many parts of the front furious fighting has been carried on successfully against the Germans, who assumed the offensive repeatedly. Northwest of Dvinsk the Germans were ejected from Gobounvitz. In the region of the high road southwest of Dvinsk the Germans were driven out of their trenches between Lauztzess Ghey and Ghirvisski. In pursuing them we took a lone from the southeastern end of Lake Medmoussi to Lautzess Ghey. Firing continued on Lake Demen from midday until dark. German aviators bombarded Dvinsk and the nearest railway stations. Our cavalry occupied Outstue, on the western shore of Lake Boghinsky. We repulsed the enemy's attempt at an offensive from Lubtcha on the upper Niemen.

"On both sides of the Kovel-Sarny railway there have been several skirmishes with the enemy advancing toward the Styr river. Our artillery on several occasions developed a deadly fire against the enemy. There was stubborn fighting on the left bank of the Styr below Kolki, which ended on the evening of Oct. 10 in our occupation of the third line of enemy trenches. Southeast of Kolki our troops, supported by artillery, captured the eastern border of the villages of Czartorysk and Rokhody with slight losses. German counter-attacks were repulsed in the region of Moshantitzy and Silno, east of Derazno.

"On the Caucasus front, in the region of Ishkan, the Turks, who assumed the offensive, were repulsed."

THROWS BLAME ON FIELD CENSOR

Sir John Simon States Who Cut Out Reference to Bravery of Germans.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Oct. 12.—Sir John Simon, home secretary, last night issued a statement in which he defended the official press bureau against recent bitter attacks on its method of censoring the news, and places a large measure of the responsibility for the trouble on the special censors at the front, who were appointed by Field Marshal French. It was these censors, he says, who excised from one of the despatches to the Times a reference to the bravery shown by the German troops, which has occasioned such an outburst of indignation.

"At the express request of Sir John French," the secretary writes, "everything written by accredited newspaper correspondents at the front is submitted to the censors appointed by him at the general headquarters in French and the press is instructed to accept their censorship as final. Consequently, whatever Mr. Buchan, the Times' correspondent, wrote was censored by individuals over whom the press bureau has no responsibility whatever. The article handed the Times for publication was in exactly the same form as that in which it reached this country."

Sir John Simon declares it is a mistake to suppose that the press bureau exercises its own judgment concerning the class of news which should be withheld from publication. It examines the copy submitted to it, he says, "with a view to seeing whether what is supposed to be published offends any of the series of prohibitions of the war office, admiralty or other government departments.

"The press bureau is not the author of any of these prohobitions. It is merely the medium by which they are announced and applied."

The home secretary adds that a majority of the large staff of censors employed is appointed by the war office and the admiralty and that it no doubt happens that from time to time a particular individual in trying to apply these rules makes a slip.

"The directors of the press bureau," he says, in conclusion, "do their best to reduce such mistakes to a minimum. The directors of the press bureau have cheerfully endured much belaboring which, whether deserved or not, most certainly is not deserved by them."

BANQUET GIVEN SPOKANE VISITORS

Speakers Express Satisfaction With Trip

HOTEL PRESENTS GAY APPEARANCE

Guests Enter Dining Room to National Airs Played By Orchestra

On the return of the Spokane business men from their trip through the Slocan mining district, a banquet was tendered them at the Hume by the citizens of Nelson.

At 9:30 the dining room was turned over to the guests and the visitors entered to the strains of the British and United States national songs, played by the orchestra. Great enthusiasm was evidenced by all present and before taking their seats all the men joined in singing the national anthems of the two nations. On the wall of the dining room were draped the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes, to both of which toasts were proposed and drank.

Mayor J. J. Malong, who acted as chairman, welcomed the guests in a few words, in which he recounted some of the changes he had witnessed during his many years' residence in the Kootenays. Never before, he said, had he seen so much solid activity in the mining districts os so much interest taken by outside capital in the development of the Kootenay mines as at the present time. He spoke of the guests as "brothers from across the line" and expressed the hope that this visit would grow into an annual event.

Had Their Eyes Opened.

The first speaker of the evening was Frank A. Ross president of the Spokane Mining Men's club. Mr. Ross in his opening remarks paid high tribute to the railroad and boat service and the royal reception given the members of the party by the mine owners in the district. Everyone had a "bully good time," he declared, but in spite of the fun they were having there was a note of seriousness in the situation A serious purpose underlay their trip, he said, and many were present who would like to know the outcome of the investigations made by the members of the party. Although a number were old visitors to the Slocan some were unfamiliar with the magnitude of the operations in the district, and these members of the party, he said, had had their eyes opened to the great future in store for Slocan and its surrounding territory. Speaking of that future, he said that although Spokane might not be able to furnish much capital at once, yet in the future money from Spokane must certainly find its way into the district for the development of the mines.

Great advances were to be noticed on all sides, he declared. Partly developed mines with good surface showings, if they would stand the investigation of experts would be in great demand by capitalists who have the power to carry the work forward to a successful operating point.

In speaking of the relation existing between Slocan and Spokane, Mr. Ross referred to the spirit of welcome that had greeted the party at Kingsgate and accompanied them throughout the entire trip. Although they had crossed the boundary line, he said, they all felt that the interests which bound the two communities were so vital as to overcome the barriers of the international line and that the two communities were bound up by their mutual interests.

Referring to an editorial in The Daily News, Mr. Ross stated that it was true as had been pointed out that much of Spokane's wealth and prosperity had been derived from the Slocan, and that therefore although Spokane referred to the Slocan mines as "our mines," it did not arrogate ownership to itself, but that Spokane took a pride in being linked up with a country to which much of its wealth was due. The reason for the trip, he said, was, as the editorial referred to had stated, the increased mining activity of the Kootenay and Boundary

Biggest Haul of Drug Ever Made at Vancouver Takes Place on Steamer Monteagle.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 11.—The greatest haul of opium ever made in this port or perhaps in any port on the Pacific coast, took place today when customs officers discovered 400 tins on the steamer Monteagle, which has just arrived from the Orient. A small boat containing a number of Chinaman was observed going around the big vessel and this circumstance made the officers suspicious. Prior to this there was no indication that any contraband was on board. Fore and aft the big vessel was searched and up to tonight 425 tins had been found, valued at something like $100,000.

FRENCH CONTINUE TO PRESS STEADILY FORWARD IN WEST

Make Further Advance in Artois and Champagne

GERMAN ATTACKS HAVE BROKEN DOWN

British Hold More Ground Than When Their Offensive Ceased

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Oct. 11.—In the west the French report continued progress in Artois and in Champagne and violent artillery combats at other parts on the front.

A French official review of the recent German counter-attacks on Loos says the Germans left between 7000 and 8000 dead before the positions which they tried in vain to recapture.

Sir John French also reports heavy casualties for the Germans in counter attacks near Hill 70, Hulluch and Hohenzollern redoubt on Oct. 8 when the German forces were decisively repulsed. The field marshal reports that a recent German claim of repulsing a British offensive northwest of Vermelles on Oct. 9 is false—no offensive was attempted and no attack made, he says.

Allies Make Progress.

PARIS, Oct. 11.—Progress for the allied forces in Artois and Champagne and violent artillery action in other places are recorded in the official statement issued tonight, which follows:

"We have made perceptible progress in the wood to the west of the road from Souchez to Angres in the Souchez valley and to the east of the Givenchy wood blockhouse.

"We also have gained ground on the ridges toward Lafolie. We captured about 100 prisoners from the guard corps.

"In Champagne we have made further progress to the north of Tahure and carried by a vigorous attack the whole of the German fortified works to the south of the village on the side of the Lagoutte gully. We captured there 108 prisoners among them two officers.

"Our cannon have efficaciously counter-attacked the German artillery which is shelling violently our new positions.

"Artillery actions of an especially violent character are reported on both sides at Les Eparges in the forest of Le Pretre to the north of Reillon in Lorraine and also in the Vosges to the south of Steinbach and in the environs of Thann."

Hun Assaults Break Down.

LONDON Oct. 11—The official press bureau tonight made public the following official statement from Sir John French:

"Further information shows that the German attack on our front south of La Bassee canal on Oct. 8 was made in great strength. The main German efforts were directed against the chalk pit north of Hill 70 and between Hulluch and the Hohenzollern redoubt.

"In the chalk pit attack the enemy assembled behind some woods which lie from 300 to 500 yards of four trenches. Between these woods and our line the attack was stopped by a combined rifle machine gun and artillery fire not a man getting to within 40 yards of our trenches.

"Further north between Hulluch and the quarries the attack was similarly beaten off with a heavy loss and here

ALL GERMAN ATTACKS FAIL ALLIES ADVANCE FURTHER

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

PARIS, Oct. 11.—The French war office this afternoon gave out a summary of the events of the week ended Oct. 9, which reads:

"During the course of the week from Oct. 3 to Oct. 9 our operations had for their object the completion and the consolidation of the results obtained by the successes of the preceding week. The Germans during the week endeavored on several different occasions by violent counter-attacks to make good the notable checks to which they have been subjected and as a result of which the morale of their troops have been affected. Everywhere these efforts ended in failure.

"In the Artois, in the region of Souchez, and in the vicinity of Loos, where the British have made progress, the enemy has delivered attacks which have been in vain and which have caused some heavy losses to them. The French troops have been able to consolidate their positions in front of and to the south of Thelus, to the north of Arras.

"In Champagne the German efforts in the vicinity of the Navarin farm, at Tahure and at Mesnil have brought about no definite result. The Germans have not succeeded in driving our troops from the position recently conquered by us nor have they succeeded in preventing us from making further progress.

"In spite of obstacles which confronted them, French troops have been successful against the German second line positions. Our soldiers, after a methodical preparation, took possession on Oct. 7 of the trenches to the north of Navarain. The same day they occupied Bute de Tahure and then took possession of the village.

"According to the most recent information it may be said that in spite of the efforts of the German press to belittle the effect of the French successes, the Germans have suffered a check which is of relatively increased importance for the reason that they had made every preparation to avoid just what happened. It is known that German orders were given which succeeded in bringing in troops from everywhere, even recalling from Russa the corps of the guard, which was thrown precipitately into the fighting. It is furthermore a fact that in the infantry branch alone the German prisoners taken in the Artois district and in Champagne belonged to 92 different regiments.

"However, the French attack was sufficient to overcome all the measures adopted by the Germans.

"The taking of 25,000 German prisoners and the capturing of 246 pieces of abandoned artillery indicate furthermore the extent of the German disorder and are proof of the superiority in these operations of the troops of the allies over the enemy."

our troops, following up the beaten enemy, secured a German trench west of Cite St. Elie. The enemy only succeeded in penetrating our front line at one point, in the southern communication trench of the Hohenzollern redoubt which is still in our hands. The enemy was promptly driven out by our bombers.

Beat Them Without Reserves.

"Our reserves were not required at any part of the front. It is certain we inflicted a severe reverse on the enemy. Our casualties prove to be even less than the first low estimate The report in the German official report of Oct. 9 that a strong British attack northeast of Vermelles failed with great loss is entirely false.

"No attacks were made and no losses were incurred other than those described above.

"Yesterday 11 air fights took place, in nine of which our airmen were successful. One hostile aeroplane was driven to the ground inside the enemy's lines and was almost certainly destroyed. This morning another enemy machine was brought down in our own lines. We lost one aeroplane."

TURKS CLAIM TO BLOW ALLIES OUT OF TRENCHES

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 11.—The following official statement was issued last night:

"Our artillery silenced the batteries which bombarded our left wing near Anafarta. Ntar Avi Burnu we blew up enemy mines. Enemy positions on Koja Dere were destroyed by the violent fire of our artillery and the enemy was compelled to evacuate the positions. Near Sed el Bahr our reconnoitering column attacked the enemy's left wing and returned with booty."

CAPITAL GREATEST NEED OF SLOCAN

W. T. Williams of Spokane, Wash., Says Other Factors for Success Are Present in District.

Everything necessary to successful mining operations prevails in the Slocan district with one exception—and that is sufficient capital, in the opinion of W. T. Williams, who visited the district with his fellow members of the party from Spokane.

Mr. Williams was for a number of years connected with the Granby mine at Grand Forks during its earlier stages of development. During the trip Mr. Williams said:

"This trip was taken by me for two reason. First, I had the time at my disposal and secondly, I felt that this would be an opportunity for me to meet a number of old timers that I knew here in the early days of the Slocan country, for I am by no means a stranger here. I was in this district 15 years ago.

"My trip has not changed my mind in any way with regard to the mineral resources of the Slocan district. I have always felt that it was district of immense possibilities and I am still of that opinion.

"One wonders, however, to what reason can be attributed the fact that there are not more properties working today. You have railways, and steamer service of the best and the roads and trails leading to the mines that we have visited on this trip are equal to those that can be found in any mining district, even those of much greater development.

"In the early days all the supplies for the mines had to be packed in at, of course, much greater expense than at the present time.

"It might be that the prices of metals until recently were the cause, yet your ores in here carry such high values that I do not think this is the real reason.

Lack of Capital Reason.

"I believe, then, that the cause is lack of capital—and I think that ample capital can be produced in the east for the development of the district, providing, of course, that the matter is brought to the attention of the money markets in the proper manner.

"In the earlier days large amounts of money were placed in British Columbia, generally by eastern people, and through manipulation generally this money was lost to the investors so that naturally these same people would be somewhat shy in making further investments in British Columbia. We must, therefore see that any properties which are placed before them in the future are such as will give the desired results. If this is done I see no reason why sufficient capital should not be forthcoming for developing the now dormant properties in the Slocan district."

Thin People Can Increase Weight

Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "stay there" fat should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. Here is a good test worth trying: First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Then take Sargol —one tablet with every meal—for two weeks. Then weigh and measure again. It isn't a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say and think. The scales and the tape measure will tell their own story, and many thin men and women we believe can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first fourteen days by following this simple direction. And best of all, the new flesh stays put.

Sargol does not of itself make fat, but mixing with your food, it aims to turn the fats, sugars and starches of what you have eaten, into rich, ripe fat producing nourishment for the tissues and blood—prepare it in an easily assimilated form which the blood can readily accept. Much of this nourishment now passes from your body as waste. But Sargol works to stop the waste and do it quickly and to make the fat producing contents of the very same meals you are eating now develop pounds and pounds of healthy flesh between your skin and bones. Sargol is safe, pleasant, efficient and inexpensive. All leading druggists in this vicinity sell it in large boxes—forty tablets to a package—on a guarantee of weight increase or money back as found in each large box.

Dandruff Surely Destroys the Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon—apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

lead and about 250 tons of zinc concentrates per month. More thas 2000 tons of zinc concentrates are on hand at the mine awaiting shipment. In addition the mine is shipping crude silver-lead ore and when the necessary arrangements for marketing have been completed will also send out crude zinc ore to the extent of about 80 tons per month.

The party spent three hours in inspecting the mine and the Spokane men stated that they were delighted with the results which had followed the deep development of the property.

About 7:15 o'clock the party reached Zincton, the location of the Lucky Jim mine, but owing to the lateness of the hour it was possible to make only a short stop at the property.

At 8:15 o'clock the visitors reached Kaslo and went aboard the Canadian Pacific railway steamer Kuskanook, which had been taken up from Nelson under the personal charge of Capt. J. C. Gore, superintendent of the lake and river service, in order to provide sleeping accommodations for the party and to bring the visitors down the lake to Cedar creek, Riondel and back to Nelson.

Inspect Bluebell and Florence.

The party, augmented by a number of Kaslo citizens, left Kaslo at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, and ran down the lake to Riondel, where the visitors were shown through the Bluebell concentrator by S. S. Fowler, manager of the mine, and other members of the staff. Mr. Fowler joined the party and proceeded with it to Cedar creek to visit the Florence mine, which is owned and operated by F. R. Wolfle of Spokane. After inspecting the mine the party was the guest of Mr. Wolfle at luncheon.

With the party was Mr. Galloway, assistant provincial mineralogist. Among the Nelson men who made the trip were M. R. Maclean, M.P.P.; W. B. Pool, G. W. McBride, J. O. Patenaude, Smith Curtis, Prof. Arthur Lakes, D. St Denis, H. W. Robertson, R. G. Joy, E. W. Widdowson, J. W. Holmes, L. K. Larson, A. T. Walley, Chief Constable J. T. Black, Ald. Horswill, W. H. Jones, L. A. S. Dack, A. G. Larson, Thomas French, Harry Townshend, Fred W. Sterling and J. S. Carter.

The Spokane men are: Sidney Norman, F. O. Berg, F. A. Ross, J. W. Hays, A. G. Larson, W. S. Norman, John Clark, A. C. Jameson, A. G. Hanover, Jesse M. Hall, G. R. Amsden, Thaddeus S. Lane, J. A. Sherwood, Clarence J. Smith, H. S. Burdick, W. Y. Williams, A. F. Kelly, F. M. Longshore, F. C. Bailey, C. E. Shipman, Walter Nichols, C. F. Jackson, Charles A. Hall, P. H. Eberhardt, C. E. Vetter and J. E. Duff.

having aroused the interest of the financial men of the city who determined to come and see for themselves the extent of the work. They were amply satisfied with the fruits of their visit.

The next speaker to be called upon was Ald. A. S. Horswill who after echoing the welcome extended by the mayor predicted that ere long many of those present would be back to help work Slocan mines and reap the reward due to their efforts.

With the Allies

J. D. Sherwood of Spokane stated that he was not, strictly speaking, a mining man, although he had mining interests. He had joined the party, he said, to see the Kootenay lakes and mountains, which were in his estimation more beautiful than any he had ever seen.

"If you people up here only got together and told the world of the beauties of this country," he said, "the Italian lakes would have to take a back seat to Kootenay and Slocan waters."

This, he said, was his first visit to the Kootenays but so warm had been the welcome extended to himself and his friends that when the mayor referred to them as brothers from across the line he felt thta he had used the only term that expressed the feeling that seemed to exist. The term "cousins from the United States" was often applied, but the word "brothers" he felt was the one that should be used. In referring to the war, he said that it was almost too sacred a thing to speak about, but that after traveling throughout the United States he felt that he might well speak for his countrymen and say that they realized the heroic sacrifice that Canada had made in the cause of freedom and liberty and that the people of the United States were with them heart and soul. He was sore, he said, that if his country could do anything to help without violating her neutrality she would do it.

Lieut.-Col. McKay of the 107th regiment then spoke a few words emphasizing the confidence felt by the British Empire in the victorious outcome of the war. He said that Mr. Sherwood's remarks about brotherhood had struck a note that he hoped would re-echo around the world, and be established in the outcome of the war, in a higher ideal of universal brotherhood that would make for a lasting peace.

Speaks of Standard

W. H. North stated that he had been asked to speak of the Standard mine at Silverton, of which he is superintendant. He referred to the permanent buildings that had been constructed and the large sums expended on development work, which he said demonstrated the confidence of the management in the property.

He further stated that when the mine was taken over by the present company the appearance was not promising but that the experts felt that the ore was there and the management therefore persisted in spite of much discouragement until the lower levels developed ore which since made the Standard the dividend paying proposition it now is. He said that he used the case of the Standard as an example of what might be done by sticking at the work of opening up an ore body, and, he said, it is felt that there were other bodies of ore just as great or greater as that in the Standard that only need steady work. He paid high tribute to the tenderfoot, who, he said, had in many cases put up the money which enabled the experts to continue the work of opening up paying prospects.

F. A. Starkey, representing the associated boards of trade in the Kootenay district, expressed the appreciation of the boards of the visit of the mining men and stated that if on their next visit they would look over some of the other territory adjacent to Slocan they would be equally satisfied with the prospects there.

Mines Are the Backbone.

Mr. Starkey stated that the boards of trade in accord with the chambers of commerce in the United States regarded the mines as the backbone of the country and were doing all in their power to forward the interests of the mines in the country.

Sidney Norman, who was the next speaker, drew the attention of the gathering to the deaths of John A. Finch, Patrick Clark and Byron N. White which occurred during the past year. In the midst of the merriment of the evening, he said, the fact that three of the greatest mining men the district had ever known had died, should not be forgotten. He spoke of the work that was being done by the sons of these men and said that if they lived up to the records established by their fathers they would be "some men."

He then narrated several incidents in his early mining experience in the Slocan when together with James Marshall of the Strathcona, they operated the Washington mine. It was 15 years, he said, since he had visited the Slocan and the greatest pleasure he had experienced was in meeting his old friends once more.

Before the gathering broke up a tribute was paid to Frank Bailey by Mr. Ross, who said that the success of the entire trip was due to his efforts. He characterized him as the greatest "man herder" in the world. It was Mr. Bailey, he said, who had organized the enterprise and by his untiring efforts had brought it to a successful conclusion.

Should Advertise.

In every community, he said, there should be Baileys who would get behind a movement and drive the men on in the interests of the cause. In this connection he urged upon the Slocan men the necessity of advertising. "If a community does not get out and advertise it will soon be forgotten." This, he said, to encourage the Slocan men to develop a Frank Bailey who would arrange, devise and carry out their projects and get right behind and push them forward.

If Tea and Coffee Came in Capsules

as their drug, caffeine, is frequently sold, tea and coffee drinkers would wake up to the fact that tea and coffee are not foods but drugs.

Yet in spite of the warnings of reputable physicians, many persons fail to realize the harmful effects of caffeine, the subtle, habit-forming drug in tea and coffee. Taken regularly this drug—the frequent cause of nervousness, heart-flutter, headache and other ailments—sooner or later gets its hold.

Look tea and coffee in the face—read what physicians and health experts say: (Names on application)

"Some people get the craving for alcohol by first taking tea or coffee."

"Coffee is a dope and narcotic almost equal to opium. Slowly but surely it gets control of its victim and holds him in its grasp a pitiful, helpless victim."

"Coffee is a drug. Those addicted to its use are drug addicts."

"They (the tea and coffee drugs) are comparable to opium in that they induce a habit and should be avoided."

Right now is the time to find out whether or not tea or coffee has a hold on you. It's simple and easy—quit both for ten days and use

DUELS WITH "KULTUR"

K.O.S.B. sergeant, in a letter home, says: "Things are very lively here as regards guns. It's great to hear them. 'Kultur' sends a shell, and then we give him four back. This is how they duel. 'Kultur' is sometimes quiet for a long time, and we send over a few, but later on he gets his own back. Sunday is not a day of rest here. That's our busiest day, and the Germans seem to take a delight in keeping us on the alert and fighting. They always start first and we have to repeat the dose to them.

"Last Sunday we were as busy as bees deepening our trenches and making a parapet behind for shell fire. The only danger is that the enemy sometimes fire at short distance. They come so quick that you think it is alongside you, but the long distance shells are heard wizzing past and a report follows.

"Some nights we send out working parties to repair the wire entanglements and trenches and we must have a party covering them in the front as well as a patrol. Often we meet the German patrol and we are kept busy all the time, but I am not allowed to tell you anything as regards the operations.

"The first time our boys found an enemy patrol I was the sergeant. The officer asked me if I would go out with him and a few men. We found a German patrol party as well as a working party. The Germans were working hard and we could hear them speaking in their trenches. We did splendidly on that occasion."

BELGIAN WOMAN MISTREATED IN JAIL

Wife of Minister of Justice Condemned to Solitary Confinement in Berlin Prison

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)
PARIS, Oct. 11.—"When one knows why to live, how to live is of very little importance, yet it was a great relief to my nerves to get from behind the German prison bars," said Madame Carton de Wiart, wife of the Belgian minister of justice, to the Associated Press—"in spite of my interest in prison reforms," she added. Madame de Wiart has for some time been a corresponding member of the New York Prison association.

"It was by no favor that I was released," she declared; "I had served out the sentence of the court-martial—three and a half months imprisonment—and it was only on being released that I learned I was also condemned to exile. They wanted to keep me in Germany but through the efforts of the Spanish ambassador I was allowed to go to Switzerland, where my husband joined me. Everything was arbitrary in the proceedings against me and the after thought of exile was purely a military expedient to keep me out of my country.

"What I managed to do, all the women of Belgium did so far as their situation enabled them to do—that was to help the millions of Belgians who remained in their country to get news from fathers, sons and husbands who have bene fighting for many long months; it was an act of elementary humanity that every man with a heart must approve. Those who live far away from the furnace of war are perhaps not always able to comprehend the situation of the mothers, wives and children of the occupied regions of Belgium and northern France, in those minds is repeated each day since the beginning the agonizing question whether a cherished one has not been killed or wounded, or is not waiting in direct distress a last word from home. I have with a great many others done what I could to alleviate such sufferings, especially among the poor people. At the same time I took good care to prevent any correspondence that might concern military operations themselves.

"When the Belgian government retired to Antwerp I remained in Brussels with my children, the youngest of whom was only a year old. Being the wife of the Belgian minister of justice I continued to occupy the apartments at the ministry that are set apart for the minister's family.

"The Germans ordered me out, saying they required the premises for their soldiers. I refused, still considering Belgium an independent country. They declared that they would send soldiers to be quartered there notwithstanding. For months the troops of the guard occupied the ministry at night and during that time no visitor could gain access to my apartments without being challenged, questioned and showing papers."

Endeavoring to keep up the juvenile courts instituted in Belgium by a law introduced by her husband and organized after the plan of the juvenile courts of Denver and other American cities, Mme. de Wiart traveled about a great deal all through Belgium. Her activity awakened the suspicions of the kommandatur.

"They forced their way into my apartments, ostensibly seeking evidence of a plot against the German government," she said, "seizing a waste paper basket and spending hours in matching to gether and pasting up scraps of torn letters, envelopes and other papers. Of all they found, the most compromising in their eyes were two priests' cassocks, copies of Cardinal Mercier's pastoral letter, papers containing a speech delivered by Monsieur de Wiart in Paris, Dec. 20, 1914, and a letter addressed to kommandatur torn up instead of being delivered.

"After the search I was arrested on the charges of circulating Cardinal Mercier's letter and my husband's speech and with facilitating the correspondence of Belgian people with their kindred in exile trough other channels than by the German post via Aix-la-Chappelle. Asked if I wished to be represented by counsel, I refused, saying I would present my own case as Belgian advocates do not recognize the authority of German court-martial by pleading before them. I was accompanied only by the head of the order of advocates of Brussels as a witness to the proceedings.

"During the 18 hours of close questioning that I endured they charged me with changing my costume radically in order to spy upon them; they declared that the two priests' cassocks found in my apartments were intended for disguises. I denied nothing, explaining simply that the cassocks were gifts intended for priests driven from their churches and their homes by the devastations of the German army. I admitted corresponding with my husband and with helping poor people who had no facilities to do the same. I told them I knew the risk I was taking but that I didn't admit their right to judge me.

"After 18 hours' cross-examination and considerable deliberation they asked me if I had anything further to say in my defense. 'No,' I replied, 'all I have to say is that if anyone seeks any favor for me you will please not accord it.'

"They sentenced me to three and a half months imprisonment and sent me to Berlin on two hours' notice, giving me only a few minutes to embrace my children. Arrived at Berlin they told me I was to go to apartments that had been reserved for me at a hotel. 'But I have been sentenced to prison,' I protested; 'you must send me to prison.' They took me to the women's prison as soon as the papers arrived from Brussels and kept me in solitary confinement. The only distinction they made between me and the murderesses and thieves was that the former were allowed to promenade in the court in company, while my outdoor exercise was solitary."

Madame de Wiart has been joined by her youngest son, Hubert, and her daughter Ghislaine, but her other children are still in Brussels under the care of their grandmother.

Madame de Wiart attributes her arrest and exile to a general policy of the German military governor. "The sole preoccupation of the Germans in Belgium," she says, "is to terrorize and subdue the population, driving out all influences that run counter to their own."

LUNG TROUBLE

Was never cured by dosing the stomach. The two organs are not connected. If they were, food swallowed would choke you. For lung and bronchial troubles you must breathe the cure; and you can't breathe cough syrups, tonics and syrupy compounds! Peps provide the rational treatment for coughs, colds, bronchitis and lung troubles. Peps are tablets made up of Pine extracts and medicinal essences, which when put into the mouth turn into healing vapors. These are breathed down direct to the lungs, throat and bronchial tubes—not swallowed down to the stomach, which is not ailing.

On the face of it, now, does this not sound more reasonable than drugging the stomach? Try one box of Peps. A trial will cost you only 50c., and the good you will reap—well, health cannot be expressed in money terms. Be sure of the article when ordering from druggist or store. Just four letters

ALLIES' SUCCESS IN WEST PLACED BEYOND DOUBT

British and French official reports, issued yesterday, place on record the absolute success of the first attempt by the allies to drive a way through the German lines by the use of artillery, followed by an infantry advance, and to hold the positions won.

The British report is especially satisfactory. After having smashed a way through two lines of German defenses, the men under Sir John French at a small cost in losses held back the enormous number of German troops sent against them. Without calling upon one man of their reserves the British repulsed the enemy's counter-attacks, even driving him out of the foothold which he won temporarily in the Hohenzollern redoubt. In fact, at one point the British not only held their own but took another German trench after the enemy's assaults had broken down.

From Paris comes a similarly favorable report. Instead of losing the ground they won from the Germans the French troops have held firm and made further advances. The allies proved by their offensive that the German defenses could be captured; by their consolidation and defense of those positions they have now proved that they can hold the ground that they take.

MINING INDUSTRY IS A DIVIDEND PAYER

Dividends from mining companies represent only a part of the returns which investors receive from the industry, as close corporations and individual operators do not often divulge their profits. However, during the first nine months of this year five Kootenay and Boundary mining or mining and smelting companies have paid to their stockholders $1,377,226 in dividends. Of this amount $650,566 was distributed during the three months ending on Sept. 30, which indicates that the improving conditions in the industry are beginning to be reflected in increased dividend distributions.

The payment to date this year of $348,282 by the Consolidated company brings the total dividends distributed by that company to $2,174,992; by paying $448,944 this year the Granby brings its total to $5,664,934; the Hedley gold mine has paid $180,000 this year and a total of $2,561,570 to the stockholders of the two companies which have operated it; the Standard mine has paid $100,000 and brought its total to $1,025,000 and the Le Roi No. 2 by distributing $300,000 this year has reached a total of $1,772,080.

CAPITAL IS THE GREAT NEED OF THE DISTRICT

The Spokane mining men and capitalists make no secret of the good impression which the Slocan and Ainsworth mining district has created in their minds. They were able to visit only a few of the mines in the rich section through which they passed but they saw enough to convince them that, great as has been the metal output of the district, it has before it a future of still greater production.

Several of the visitors in speeches and interviews have suggested that the one great need of the district is capital for development purposes. As to that there is no question. The Slocan, in common with many other sections of Kootenay and Boundary, has great mineral resources, fair transportation facilities, water power and other advantages for mining. But capital is essential to make these resources wealth-producing.

No one who knows the mining resources and the history of the district will doubt that capital judiciously invested and efficiently expended will bring returns.

General Winterovitch, General Snowitsky and General Icevich are soon to join the Russian general staff.

"Take Joffre, for instance. In his photograph he glares at you with dilated eyes, fierce eyebrows and a bristling mustache," says a writer in a coast newspaper. It must be truly affrightening, that glare from the fierce eyebrows and bristling mustache.

A member of the opposition party in Rumania says that he proposes to work hard to bring his country into war beside the entente allies and that the whole nation demands that course. It is to be hoped that the opinion of the government and opposition in Rumania is not as sharply divided as it was in Bulgaria.

When the Russians retreated in the east, through Galicia and Poland into White Russia, they retired in such good order that they saved practically all their guns. A contrast is offered by the recent success of the allies over a relatively small front in the west when 246 pieces of German artillery fell into the hands of the French and British.

Nelson is to have two companies of the 107th regiment. The units will give an opportunity to citizens to secure military training which they might otherwise be unable to obtain. While the militia formations are for home service they fulfil also the valuable function of providing a means of preliminary training for men who propose to volunteer for the front when the next call comes.

Military men recognize counter-attacks as one of the most expensive methods of fighting. For days the Germans have been adopting these tactics in fruitless efforts to oust the British and French from positions captured from the allies. It does not need much imagination to appreciate how frightful a loss in men the Germans must have sustained, especially as they have been at their old game of attacking en masse.

WHAT THE PRESS IS SAYING

It's Different Now.

It is understood that reference to that "contemptible little army," and "French swine" are now considered bad form at German headquarters.—London Advertiser.

Keeping Willie's Word.

The allies are gaining ground, but they will have to hustle if they're going to make good the kaiser's prediction of the end of the war in October.—Pittsburg Gazette-Times.

When They Will Rise.

It is said that the Bulgarian people are likely to rise in rebellion against their king for leading them into the war. They will rise about the time the German people rise, which will be after they have been knocked down and trampled over by the allies.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

Hoist by Own Petard.

The net result of the inquiry seems to be that the Liberal party, with the assistance of Mr. Pugsley and the Sun, have spun a rope for themselves through sheer stupidity. When they have so much to criticize and so much out of which to make capital why plunge on a canard which could very easily be refuted? Putting the whole transaction in its very lowest plane is it likely that an admittedly astute politician would have made such a blunder as to "graft" on such a deal in which so many people were concerned? The price paid was high, but the circumstances were urgent and those who had the boats for sale knew those circumstances. An hour's bombardment of Victoria or a landing party from the German ships could have taken a far larger sum from the banks than that paid for the submarines.—Vancouver Province.

THE WAR ONE YEAR AGO

The allies obtained a foothold on the heights of the Aisne, thereby commanding the whole German position from Soissons to the ridge of the Argonne.

It is reported that the Russian armored cruiser Pallada was torpedoed in the Baltic by a German submarine and sank with all its crew.

The battlefield northwest of Lille was the point of greatest interest in today's continuation of the conflict which has lasted 29 days. The cavalry of both armies in imposing masses have swept about the country for days, seeking to go through or around the opposing lines; and everywhere they have encountered the forces of the enemy.

It is reported that fighting has begun on the left bank of the Vistula in the direction of Ivangorod and Warsaw

"There are things more valuable than money," ruminated the philosopher.

"Sure," retorted the iconoclast. "That's the reason I need money to buy them."

"Stranger in the city, sir?"

"Yes."

"Looking for a church?"

"Exactly. Where I can hear a good sermon in slang."

"What air them kitchenettes I hear tell of in the cities?," asked Deacon Hyperbole Medders, the somewhat honest agriculturist.

"They're the places, Uncle Hy," explained Upson Downs, his city nephew, "in which are molded or cast or somehow produced a flat dweller's daily round of mealettes."

SOME SLIGHT DIFFERENCES.

The Austro-Hungarian embassy at Washington sanctimoniously issues a statement pointing out the difference between Germany's polite request to Belgium and Britain and France having actually landed troops in Greece despite Greece's protest. But the Austro-Hungarian foreign ministerd who composed the statement omitted to mention—

1. That Belgium was neutral by signed agreement and promise of the powers, while Greece stood in an entirely different category.

2. That Germany forced her way through Belgium, massacred and tortured the inhabitants; while the Grecian people and their government, though technically protesting, really welcomed the British and French forces.

3. The onslaught on Belgium was for the prupose of striking a foul and underhand blow at an enemy, France; while the peaceful landing at Saloniki was for the purpose of helping an ally, Serbia, to whose assistance Greece herself was bound to go by the terms of a treaty.

4. The ex-premier of Greece, M. Gounaris, last March asked France to land an army at Saloniki to back up the position of Greece.

But these trifling difference between the case of Greece and that of Belgium would naturally not be considered by a country that declared war on Belgium several days after its heavy guns, lent to Germany, had been used against the Belgian forts.—Vancouver World.

LIVE THY LIFE.

Live thy life gallantly and undismayed;
Whatever harms may hide within the shade,
Be thou of fear, my spirt, more afraid.

In earthly pathways evil springeth rife;
But dread not thou, too much, or pain strife
That plungeth thee to the greater depths of life!

What though the storm clouds holds the bolt that sears?
The eagle of the crag, that nothing fears,
Still, still is young after a hundred years!

RETURNS FROM BAFFIN'S LAND.

Brandon Man Just Hears of War—Went in Search of Hidden Gold.

BRANDON.—Word was received here today that Capt. Munn Arctic explorer, of this city, who left here in the spring of 1914, for Baffin's Land, has just reached England after an absence of 15 months. He went on a gold hunting expedition under the auspices of old country capitalists. He has only just heard of the great European war.

Is Given Chart.

An old sea captain in St. John's, Newfoundland, originaly gave him a chart showing where free gold could be obtained in large quantities. On the strength of this Captain Munn organized an expedition, chartered a large ship and spent many months in Baffin. He found no gold, but obtained large quantities of furs and ivory. Disaster overtook the party. Their ship was pinched in the ice, and they escaped with nothing but the clothes they wore. Getting to an island on an ice floe, they prepared to winter there, but were taken off by an American ship, the only other vessel that went to Baffin Land.

In no way disheartened, Captain Munn prepared for another trip north and sailed from Dundee in June, 1914. Since then nothing has been heard of him until a letter to E. H. E. Webb(Bowen, arrived, stating that Captain Munn's ship was nearing England, and was due to arrive any day.

It is probable that a rich collection of furs and ivory has rewarded the last expedition. As to gold, nothing is known. If successful, it was Captain Munn's plan to establish trading posts along the shore of Baffin's Land. The country is practically unknown, and is reported to be a rich fur producing land.

CONCENTRATION THE SECRET

The secret of German military power is not the genius of the war lards, nor the organization they have built for the war. The strength of Germany lies in the concentration by the people of all their natioal forces upon one object—winning this war. The Berlin correspondent of the Kolnische Zeitung draws attention to this unanimity of determination. He describes Germany's single will:

"For more than 400 days our seventy millions have been thinking only of one thing and have been working only for one cause. The millions at home have fused with the millions at the front into one single will. The Germany that fights and the Germany that works for the fight have become one single thing. If it were possible to perform the feat recorded in hte well known novel of La Sage, and at one stroke lay bare the interior of all the houses in any town and reveal the life of all the Germans, a psychological miracle would be disclosed—complete agreement in thought and sentiments, in spite of all the types of indidividuals. . . . This is something in which we have an advantage over all our opponents, their courage and tenacity notwithstanding."

The allies long ago gave up any ideas they had at the outset that they were fighting only the Germans in arms, and not the whole German nation. The war is regarded by the German with a passion much akin to the "holy hatred" of the Moslem on the warpath against the Christians. Not long ago the German financial secretary, Dr. Helfferich, said that if the cupply of cotton or wool or cloth for military purposes ran short, the Germans would simply wear their coat tails shorter. Reforms in both men's and women's dress, to economize material, have been brought into effect as if by a word of command. This is the spirit the allies have to combat, and to triumph they must use far superior resources with an energy and unity but little inferior to that of the German.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

PUBLISH SECOND EDITION ON WOOD FINISHING

VICTORIA, B. C.—Widespread interest has been aroused by the recent publication entitled "How to Finish British Columbia Wood," which is being circulated under the direction of Hon. W. R. Ross, minister of lands. Numerous requests for copies are being received, not only from within the province, but also from the prairie and eastern provinces, and already it has been found necessary to issue a second edition. In addition to the lumber companies, applications are coming in from architects, builders, house decorators, carpenters, manual instructors in schools, and others interested in the use of wood.

The manner in which the pamphlet has been received by the public indicates that the use of wood for interior finish of homes, offices and other buildings is a subject calling for much attention.

Copies of the publication will be mailed free, so long as the supply permits, upon application to the forest branch, Victoria, British Columbia.

THIRTEEN MILLS OPERATE IN OKANAGAN DISTRICT

VICTORIA.—Some interesting matters are touched upon in a report recently submitted to the minister of lands from the Vernon district. The summer has been abnormally wet but the early spring, light snowfall and dry spring made a bad hazard until the middle of may, when until the end of July heavy rains safeguarded the situation. With the advent in August of dry weather, the vegetation rapidly became parched and fires started to give trouble, but these conditions improved as the nights became cooler and early in September rain put an end to all danger. Seventy-two outbreaks of fire during the season, with but slight loss, are recorded and mention is made of the increasing interest shown by the public in forest protection. Much clearing was done by settlers under permit, the season proving very favorable. The opinion is expressed that the lumber industry, in view of the conditions has shown wonderful activity. Thirteen mills have been running fairly regularly; those in the Okanagan supplying boxes and crates for the fruit trade, as a result of which employment has been given and the machinery kept going. Approximately 300 men have been employed at the mills and a somewhat smaller number in logging operations. Orders for several million feet of fir for snowsheds on the Coquihalla branch of the Kettle Valley line have been given.

The whole district has benefitted by the operation of the Kettle Valley railway and will do so to a far greater extent as soon as the Coquihalla section is connected up and opened.

ISSUES BULLETIN ON FIRE PREVENTION

Ashes placed against wood or in wooden boxes or barrels, defective chimneys, fireplaces, stoves, furnaces or pipes, overheated stoves, furnaces or pipes frequently figure prominently in the list of causes of fall and winter fires.

Such fires are, in the majority of cases, caused by some one's carelessness. Furnaces and stoves are put into use without inspection or without proper protection. No provision is made for ashes or for the removal of rubbish in which sparks may alight and cause fires.

Ashes should not be placed against wooden walls or in wooden receptacles—metal receptacles should be clear of all wood.

Before the cold weather sets in see that chimneys, fireplaces, stoves, furnaces and pipes are in good order and that the latter are properly supported. See that floors, walls and ceilings are properly protected so that overheating of stoves or pipes cannot start a fire. A sound stove properly placed and protected cannot burn a house by being overheated.

Boxes, crates, cartons and paper are sometimes allowed to accumulate in basements of stores during summer and similar inflammable atter is often found in the basements of dwellings. The furnace is started in a hurry without cleaning up. Cleaning up should be done in good time, before the furnace is started so that sparks from the furnace or hot cinders accidently dropped may not start a fire. All such inflammable material assists fire to spread rapidly.

Do not hang papers or clothes on the wall behind the stove-pipe. See that clothing which is being dried is so placed that it cannot be ignited. Fires caused by papers, clothes or firewood left too near are frequent.

Do not dry wood in the stove. Keep the wood box where sparks cannot fall into it.

The fire loss in our municipalities during last winter from causes above referred to was about one-fifth of total loss reported.—Provincial department of insurance.

SLOCAN STAR MINE PLEASES INVESTOR

Thaddeus S. Lane Also Satisfied With Lucky Jim—Thinks Stockholders Are Fortunate

Satisfaction with the large bodies of ore exposed, surprise at the amount of development which has been carried out, and congratulations to Spokane men who have invested money in the Slocan Star and Lucky Jim mines was expressed by Thaddeus S. Lane, Spokane capitalist, who was with the party from that city which has just visited the Slocan district.

"I am interested as an investor in a number of Slocan properties, particularly the Slocan Star and Lucky Jim," said Mr. Lane. "The impression I have gained from visiting the two properties is that the Slocan Star and Lucky Jim have an abundance of ore. I was surprised to find that so much development work had been carried out, as before coming up here I had an idea that they were little more than prospects, instead of well developed mines. With this large amount of development work and the bodies of ore exposed and the present price of metals Spokane investors in these mines have every reason to congratulate themselves.

"I am very pleased with my investment in these properties and with the price at which I purchased my shares. I have no doubt that when the public becomes acquainted with the real conditions there will be a substantial rise in price.

"Other Spokane men have expressed to me similar views since they inspected the mines," said Mr. Lane.

STANDARD SHARES AGAIN IN DEMAND

C P. R. and Other Railways Make Substantial Gains—War Specialties Go Higher.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The inquiry for standard shares which effected so radical a change in the speculative aspect last week was resumed today, with further substantial gains in the various railway issues, notably Canadian Pacific, Lehigh Valley, Louisville & Nashville and New Haven, the latter adding 6 points to its 15-point rise from the preceding week. Harriman and Hill shares, the trunk lines and Reading denoted pressure, Reading in particular showin gheaviness. Later Atlantic Coast Line, Denver & Rio Grande and some other inactive stocks recorded variable advances.

Interest in some of the high priced war specialties which featured the later dealings, was regarded as a natural outcome of the increased complications arising from the situation in the Balkans. Baldwin Locomotive, Westinghouse, General Electric, Crucible Steel, American Car and Bethlehem Steel common and preferred rose substantially, Baldwin gaining 12 to 127½. United States Steel opened with a sale of 10,000 shares at 82½ at 83, its highest price in four years, but fell back until the final dealings when it regained its top quotation on a sale of one block of 9000 shares. Automobile issues shared in the rise, General Motors gaining 1 to 350 and Willys-Overland going to 240.

Among the few weak spots were Continental Can which fell 8 to 99, New York Air Brake 5¼ to 144¼ and Federal Chemical lost 9 points to 350.

Specialties were at high levels in the final hour with increased heaviness in Reading and Union Pacific. The approach of the holiday was responsible for much profit taking and the confusion which characterized late dealings.

Trading was on an extensive scale throughout the session, the first hour running up over 400,000 shares. The total trade was 1,320,000 shares for the day.

Demand sterling was again weak, selling 1½c under last week's low quotations. Anglo-French notes on on small sale were quoted at 98⅛.

The bond market was firm at the outset but eased off in the late dealings. Total sales, par value were $1,950,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

TEUTON PROGRESS SENDS WHEAT UP

Advance Toward Dardanelles Is Reflected in Higher Prices of Grain —Balkan Crop Cut off.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 11.—Progress of the Teutonic advance toward the Dardanelles had a distinct effect here today as an influence tending to life the price of wheat. After a nearly continuous upturn the market closed nervous, 3 to 3⅛ higher, with December at $1.04⅞ at $1.05 and May at $1.06 at $1.06⅛. Oats gained ⅞ at 1 and provisions 10 at 45c.

Announcement that delivery of 10,000,000 bushels of wheat purchased by France in Rumania and Bulgaria had been cut off by the many changed military situations throughout the Balkans attracted eager attention from dealers here. The inference was drawn that the bulk of the amount needed would have to be replaced by shipments ordered from this side of the Atlantic. Liverpool despatches were also at hand indicating Great Britain was already feeling the pinch in supplies. As receipts in the domestic spring crop region were meager and farmers in the winter belt were said to be holding back on the better grades buying here became broad. One firm alone took 1,000,000 bushels out of the pit in a single hour.

Confident assertions by bull leaders that the opening of the Dardanelles was now a remote prospect did a good deal to hasten the upward swing of the wheat market. Bears were further disorganized late in the day by an active demand for Manitoba and by huge clearances at seaboard.

Oats merely reflected the action of other grain. There was virtually no pressure to sell. Nearly all deliveries of provisions rose to the highest prices so far this season. A lively advance in the hog market gave impetus to the buying.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—The big batter faced the big pitcher at a crucial moment of the world's series today—and the big pitcher declined the challenge. It was in the thrilling last half of the ninth inning. More than 40,000 fans had passed the frantic stage and were raving in a delirium of excitement. The score of this critical third game of the series was a tie. Harry Hopper, fleet of foot, was on second base, a dancing dervish, with only one out when Tris Speaker of Hubbard, Tex., high priest of the sweet-ringing hickory, stepped to the plate, knocked the soft, clinging dirt from his spikes, drew a line in the black soil in front of his feet and turned a determined face toward Grover Cleveland Alexander, the fighting hope of the bewildered Phillies, who was in the worst plight of his pitching career.

Big Alex looked at Hooper, gave heed to the crowd and saw Speaker's club gleaming in the late afternoon sun. His mind was made up. The first ball went far wide of the plate. Likewise the second and the third. The maddened throng knew what this meant and they howled in derisive delight as on the fourth straight pitch the star centre fielder of the Sox trotted to first. This put the issue squarely up to Hoblitzel, lanky guardian of the Sox' inner corner, and Alexander faced him with more confidence. The yelling of the crowd and the strain of striving to stave off defeat seemed momentarily to tell on the pitcher, however, and he had difficulty in finding the plate. It was three and one on Hoblitzel when the first baseman sent a slow bounder toward second. The crowd feared a double play and the lusty howling died as suddenly as if snuffed out by a gigantic mechanical silencer. But Speaker had taken a flying start with Hooper and the two Boston runners were safe on third and second as Niehoff tossed Hoblitzel out at first.

Duffy Scores Hooper

Now came to bat one Duffy Lewis, left fielder extraordinary. Duffy already had made two hits in three trips to the plate, two singing blows beyond the Phillies' line of inner defenses. Alexander, stout of heart, fighting as he never fought before put into his first pitch all the wiles and some of the best brains in baseball and sent the fateful sphere speeding on its way. Lewis met it with a smashing crack and an instant later it flashed over second base, a grey-white streak that no defenseless Philly could come within hailing distance of, and Hooper raced across the plate with the historic run which gave the game to the Red Sox by a score of 2 to 1 and the advantage of the series by the same margin of games won and lost—two for the Red Sox and one for the Phillies.

With the "big fellow" defeated in this "breaking" game of the 1915 conflict between the title bearers of the two major leagues, the Boston players and their supporters tonight are willing to wager at almost any odds they will win the series. The Phillies had placed their hope upon Alexander, had placed upon him the advance burden of winning three of the games of the series. One failure on his part meant a setback to their chances.

Phillies' Defense Excellent

But tonight Manager Pat Moran of the visitors is far from admitting failure. The Phillies are not yet through. They battled hard today and their defensive work was wonderful to behold. It has been said that Alexander was half the team. Today the Boston rooters' band went so far as to blare the old time melody of "Alexander's Ragtime Band" at the champions of the National circuit, but the eight men in grey who surrounded Alexander in the field were out there to do something more than form a symmetrical setting for the big pitcher. They were all over the field and not once did they falter.

"Dode" Paskert, in centre field, was a team in himself. In the first five innings of the game he was credited with seven putouts in a sun field that had dazzled the unapproachable Speaker into missing a fly headed directly for him, transforming a seemingly easy out into a two-base hit for Milton Stock, first man up for the Phillies.

But the hard-working, earnest National leaguers again showed their weakness at the bat. "Dutch" Leonard let them down with two hits and Speaker gave them another, bringing their total for the game to three, and their total for the three games of the series to 11. The defensive work of the Phillies speaks for itself when in face of this light hitting they are credited with one victory and have been defeated twice only by the margin of a single run.

Sox Get Six Hits

Again today one member of the Red Sox made as many hits as the entire opposition. It was Duffy Lewis today, as it was George Foster on Saturday. Tris Speaker made two hits today, one of which was a three-bagger, which brought the Sox from behind and put them on even terms with the Phillies. Speaker gave every evidence of coming into his own today and it was not to be wondered at that Alexander took no chance with him in the ninth inning rally that brought a sudden end to another game that threatened to go to extra innings. Besides Lewis and Speaker, Harry Hooper was the only member of the Sox who connected safely with the jumping curves and sweeping slants fired by the wonder man of the Phillies. But Hooper's hit came in the ninth when it was needed most.

Old Dutch Leonard was the third of the great staff of Red Sox pitchers to take his turn against the invaders of Boston town. Leonard had terrific speed, a fine change of pace, a curve that seemed to jump first one way and then another, and perfect control. Twice "Dutch" was in a predicament suggestive of his Teutonic title, the two solid swats coming off him in the same inning, but he wiggled away from the doom that seemed impending and was crowned tonight with the laurels of victory. With one out, one run over and runners on third and second in the third inning, it was no place for a nervous pitcher when Paskert came to the plate and "Home

STERLING EXCHANGE FALLS DESPITE LOAN

American Banking Experts Again Say Dollar Will Become Supreme Over Pound.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Foreign exchange rates went down again today in the face of the successful flotation of the $50,000,000 credit loan to Great Britain and France, to their lowest point since Sept. 15. So disquieting was the situation deemed that a three-hour meeting attended by Wall street bankers and Sir Edgar Holden, a member of the Anglo-French financial commission, was held in the late afternoon at the National City bank for the reported purpose of devising some new method to bolster the value of the English pound sterling.

Today sterling sold down to $4.67¼, altogether too far below par to make continued buying of American exports desirable from the British point of view in the opinion of some New York financiers.

The meeting held today, it was reported, was primarily to reach an understanding as to the best available method of using the $500,000,000 to stabilize exchange, and also with a view to arranging a private agreement between New York bankers on the one hand and London bankers on the other for credits which would ted to send the value of sterling up in this foreign exchange market. A supplemental credit of $250,000,000, is is said, was discussed.

Sir Edward Holden, as head of the London City and Midland bank, represents the joint stock banks of Great Britain on the Anglo-French commission. Their resources are enormous. Whether he acted as spokesman for these great financial institutions in todays' conference could not be learned.

Present at today's meeting besides Sir Edward were Benjamin Strong, Jr., governor of the federal reserve bank of New York; Frank A. Vanderlip and James H. Perkins, president and vice-president, respectively of the National City bank; Charles H. Sabin, president of the Guaranty Trust company; W. H. Porter of J. P. Morgan & Co.; James Brown of Brown Bros. & Co.; J. H. Alexander president of the Bank of Commerce and other bankers whose identity could not be ascertained.

Foreign exchange experts of several financial institutions also were present. These experts viewing the situation from every angle were reported to be unanimously of the opinion that there would be only one remedy left when the proceeds of the $500,000,000 loan would have been expended—the virtual elimination of the pound sterling as the standard of world finance and the substitution of the dollar instead, at least for the remainder of the war's duration.

A supplemental loan of $250,000,000, it was thought, could easily be floated under these conditions if confined to banks and banking institutions and not offered to the geeral public. Advocates of this pla were reported to have sought to convert Sir Edward to their idea. When he sails for Europe, as he expects to soon, it will be his task to place before the bankers of Great Britain the financial situation in this country. It was thought that he would face difficulties in convincing them that the time had come to subordinate the pound sterling, for generations the standard of international finance, to the dollar. His failure to do so, it was believed, might result in curtailment of British purchases in American markets, through the fact that the rate on sterling would fall to a point where such purchases could be made more advantageously elsewhere.

FROM 15 TO 40 PER CENT OF CROP IS THRESHED

REGINA, Sask., Oct. 11.—Telegrams received by the department of agriculture from all parts of the province indicate that in the southeastern part 30 per cent of the wheat is threshed and 40 per cent of the oat crop; in the southwest 17½ per cent of the wheat, 15 per cent of the oats and 15 per cent of the barley. Not more than 8 per cent of the flax has been threshed so far. In the northeast better progress has been made as the weather has been more favorable and the acreage under crop is also less. Given a few days fine weather and the harvest will be complete. Little damage is reported to have occurred in the shock and the condition of all grain is quite satisfactory.

NELSON TO HAVE MILITIA COMPANIES

Lieut.-Col. Joseph Mackay Makes Announcement—Uniforms Will Be Served Out.

Two companies of the 107th militia regiment, which has headquarters in Fernie, will be organized in Nelson. The scarlet dress uniform of the infantry will be served out to the men.

This announcement was made at the armory last night by Lieut.-Col. Joseph Mackay of Fernie, commanding officer of the 107th regiment, after an inspection of the Nelson volunteer reserve. Col. Mackay, who was accompanied by Major Mallandaine of the 107th, complimented the volunteers upon their smart appearance and drill and Sergt.-Major Keith as instructor.

Judge Forin is the senior officer in Nelson and will have command of one of the new companies. Recruiting is to be commenced at once under the terms of the Militia act.

The scarlet dress uniforms are to be served out by the government because they are in stock. Supplies of khaki uniforms, which are worn by the men on active service, are not available for militia regiments on account of the demand from the overseas battalions.

SPOKANE FAVORS SLOCAN PROPERTIES

Business Men Appreciate Good Will Shown Them by Citizens of District in Recent Trip

That the members of the Spokane chamber of commerce had a strong fellow feeling for the people of Slocan mining district and the citizens of Nelson was the statement of their representative, A. G. Hananer, vice-president of the Hananer-Graves company, on the Spokane business men's visit to the Slocan.

The people of Spokane look forward to see a permanent wave of prosperity envelop the district, and the business men of the city, he declared, appreciated the good will that had been shown them by the citizens of Nelson, Kaslo, Sandon and other cities in the Kootenays, in being willing that their neighbors from across the line should share in the riches of their country. This, he said, was in direct contrast to some sections, where they try to keep all the wealth to themselves and were therefore content with small profits from a few properties while others stood idle for lack of capital to develop them.

During this trip, said Mr. Hananer, the party visited a number of Slocan properties, but there were many that it was impossible for them to see owing to there being a time limit set on their stay in each locality. Among the properties visited he mentioned the Slocan Star as an example of what efficient, honest management means to a property. He states that every member of the party was greatly impressed with the work that had been done on the mine and the general appearance of the property. In his opinion, he says, he looks to see the stock of the Slocan Star, which has for some time been a "sleeper" on the exchange, find a market at considerably higher figure by the first of the year. There is little doubt, he declared, that this property will be a dividend payer ere long, and he said the payment of dividends would mean a renewed demand for the stock, which he declared he had been informed on good authority would soon be listed on the New York curb. The fact that the men behind the mine are well known for their substantial business connections and integrity and the fact that it has never been a stock selling proposition, but a mine that lived only upon its merit, made it a popular property with mining men.

SAYS METAL PRICES WILL REMAIN HIGH

Lead Especially Will Be Required, Says Spokane Man—Need Capital, States Norman

"There is no question but that the prices of metals are going to be high for the next five or six years. Lead especially will be required in Europe in large quantities long after the war," said J. D. Sherwood, a member of the party of Spokane men who visited the Slocan and Ainsworth district.

"This will be a material factor in increasing the prosperity of the mining industry and in attracting capital for the development of the great untouched resources of this district," he concluded.

W. F. Norman's View

"Your camp in here has always been good. All that is required to make it better is more work and more money.

"We have seen some wonderful ore shoots."—W. F. Norman of Spokane.

ADMIRES SCENERY IN KOOTENAY DISTRICT

Spokane Man Says Lakes More Beautiful Than Those of Italy—Should Be Advertised.

"I have always thought that this was the most beautiful section of the northwest of this continent and I think that the lakes, particularly the Slocan and Kootenay lakes, are much finer than the Italian lakes, which I visited in 1913," declared J. D. Sherwood, who has been in the realty business in Spokane for 30 years, and who was a member of the party which spent the week end visiting the Slocan and Ainsworth mining districts.

"I believe that the Canadian Pacific and all northern transportation lines should make a feature of the tourist business," continued Mr. Sherwood. "If the tourist public who heretofore have gone so extensively to Europe were acquainted with the beauty of these lakes the immense traffic which would result would be a large source of revenue both to the district and the railroads.

"There are thousands of people in the middle west who have not seen your mountains and lakes and thousands in the east who think Europe is the only place to go to for magnificent scenery. The railroads should carry on a propaganda to remove this impression and attract them to this district."

SLOCAN'S FUTURE GREATNESS ASSURED

District Will Be Greatest Silver Lead and Zinc Producer on Continent, Says Spokane Broker.

P. L. Eberhardt, a prominent Spokane broker and a member of the party which returned last night from a trip through the Slocan, voiced the opinion of the entire party when he stated that the greatest enthusiasm was felt by everyone over the prospects for steady progress in the development of the district.

He gave it as his opinion that never again would there be a mining boom in the Kootenays.

"The days of inflated values and stock manipulations are over," he said, "but money will always be available for the development of good showing properties."

Many of the mines that had been abandoned, for lack of capital to continue persistent development, he declared, would be placed upon a paying basis and listed among the dividend payers. "Kootenay," said Mr. Eberhardt, "is without doubt the greatest and richest mining field of its kind on the continent. Comparing it with the Coeur d'Alene he said that he regarded the mineral deposits in the Slocan as much richer and more far reaching. The nature of the ore bodies, although differing materially from those inthe Coeur d'Alene, only needed capital and persistent effort in development to make them the greatest producers of lead, silver and zinc on the continent, he said.

Although the present activity, he said, was, no doubt, partly due to the effects of the war on the demand and price of minerals, it could not all be attributed to this cause. He spoke of the confidence in the country exhibited by its residents, who had produced sufficient prospectors to have opened up a large number of ore bodies.

At the close of the business refreshments will be served and a short program of music and song will be sendered. The past grands of the lodge will exemplify the initiatory degree.

BANKER SATISFIED WITH SLOCAN STAR

C. E. Shipman Declares Prospects for Sandan Property Excellent as Result of Honest Management.

Great satisfaction was expressed with the wonderful strides that have been made in the development of the Slocan district since last he was through it about 10 years ago, by C. E. Shipman, one of Spokane's best known bankers and financiers.

One of the principal objects of his trip, he said, was to visit the Slocah Star at Sandon, of which property he stated he had heard much recently in Spokane mining circles. On Sunday afternoon together with the other members of the party, he made an exhaustive examination of the workings, and as a resit he states that he is now more than satisfied with the value of the property as an investment.

Great confidence, he says, is felt by the mining interests of Spokane in the outlook for the future of the mine. One thing that struck him particularly before he made the trip, and which, he says, was in a large measure responsible for his visit, was the high esteem in whic hthe men who are operating the property are held in financial circles. In this connection he said that in his estimation good mahagement was as necessary to a property as a good ore body. In the case of the Slocan Star, he declared, there is a more than happy combination of both.

As the result of his observations at the mine, where he said the party was met with the utmost cordiality and all questions were cheerfully and fully answered, he stated that under its present management the mine's stock should be an excellent buy, and would be an early dividend payer.

MILLS INTEREST SPOKANE VISITORS

French Process Explained at Standard Plant—Frank H. Ross Commends Mining Methods.

That great interest was taken in the mills on the various properties throughout the Slocan district by the Spokane mining men was the statement of Frank H. Ross, president of the Spokane Mining Men's club, who was a member of the party.

Although the time alloted to each section was necessarily limited, he stated that a thorough inspection was made of the mills at the Standard, where the recent tests of the French process for the treatment of complex ores was explained to the visitors by W. H. North, and a trip was also made to the Galena Farm and the new mill on that property inspected.

To pose as a prophet of the future of a mining property, said Mr. Ross, would be a hazardous undertaking, but, he said, that there was little doubt in his mind as well as in the minds of the other members of the party that the outlook in the Slocan was a very bright one. There is a large demand for mines that will stand investigation, he said, and the impression created in the minds of the members of the party was that bona fide work is being done in the district and that the results will amply justify any capital that is invested in the mines.

Many of the properties in the district are in a very promising stage, he said, and there is little doubt but that there will be plenty of capital forthcoming with which to place them on a dividend paying basis. Speaking for the mining interests of Spokane, Mr. Ross stated that Slocan is a necessary adjunct to the business vitality of the city. In spite of the tariff existing between the two countries, he said, the business men of Spokane realize that there is much room for the fostering of mutual interests to the ultimate benefit of both communities. He was glad to see, he stated that the men who are working the mining properties in the district are doing so on a sound progressive business basis and that stock manipulation seemed to have no part in their calculations. A continuance of these methods he said should put the bulk of the property owners on easy street.

Mr. Ross voiced his praise of the treatment the members of the party had received since their arrival in Nelson on Saturday night. "Everywhere" he said, "we have been treated with the greatest friendlines sand no pains have been spared to supply us with all the information we asked for and we look forward to the establishment of closer business as well as friendly relations between Spokane and the Slocan as a result of this trip."

POUND ALEXANDER, RED SOX WIN

Run" Cravath swinging two bats in impatience to be the next man up.

But "Dutch" was not to be scored on again. Among the eight enterprising young men struggling behind him for the honor of Boston and the American league was faithful old Jack Barry, already tried and proven in the fire of more than a score of world's series games. Alexander himself was on third and Bancroft on second. A base hit would mean three runs for Alexander to work under and there was not a fan in the 40-odd thousand that did not believe that such a margin meant a sure victory for the visitors.

Barry Makes Great Catch.

There was a wide gap of safety between the men of the inner defense and the three fielders on outpost duty when Paskert raised a Texas leaguer that seemed labeled for a safe descent in he midst of the undefended pasture. Hooper in right and Speaker started with the crack of the bat but the home fans groaned as they realized that both were too far away. Then they saw Capt. Barry, too, had turned his back to the ball and was desperately running with it. It was a fighting chance. Barry gave a convulsive jump into the air, grabbed the ball and turned for a throw to the plate to head off Alexander, but Alexander stuck to third Barry was given a great ovation for his wonderful catch.

Cravath then sent a smash to the left centre fence, which Lewis pulled down after a hard sprint. Failure in this third inning to place themselves in a winning position seemed to take the life out of the visitors and they were never dangerous again.

The official figures for today were given out as follows:

Attendance, 42,300; paid admissions, $83,191; players' share, $44,923.14; National commission's share, $8319.10; each club's share, $19,074.38.
