BRITISH LOSSES IN NAVAL BATTLE REMAIN UNCHANGED

New German Statement Is Denied by Admiralty

MAGNIFICENT FIGHT OF WARSPITE TOLD

Went to Rescue of Warrior and Beat Off Whole German Fleet

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, June 6.—The admiralty made the following announcement tonight:

"A Berlin official statement, signed Fleet Commander, has been issued in which the loss of the Warspite, Royal, Birmingham and the Acasta in the action of May 31 is claimed on the evidence of British sailors picked up by German ships. This is false. The complete list of British losses has been made public."

German People Depressed.

According to telegrams from Holland, a spell of depression followed the first enthusiasm in Germany over the naval battle. The continued official silence since the initial announcement, the closing of Wilhelmshaven and Vice Admiral Scheer's guarded reply to the Duke of Mecklenburg's congratulations are cited among the causes of this change, while it is also suggested that the German public realizes that the blockade is unbroken.

The Amsterdam correspondent of the Chronicle says the battle did not raise the spirits of the people. The rejoicing of the newspapers, he says, do not reflect the popular feeling.

How the Warspite Fought.

PORTSMOUTH, June 6.—The manner in which the Warspite fought the whole German battle fleet and beat them when it went to the rescue of the Warrior, provides one of the most thrilling battle stories in the annals of sea warfare.

Quite helpless lay the Warrior, engines disabled, its magazine under water and its crew unable to get ammunition.

Convinced that they would soon go the way of their companion ships which had been sunk, the Warrior's men calmly awaited the end.

Suddenly on the horizon they saw a huge ship coming along at a tremendious pace. It was the fast and powerful Warspite, sister to the Queen Elizabeth, which Admiral Jellicoe, learning of the Warrior's peril, had sent ahead of the grand fleet to succor it.

On came the great battleship, with the muzzles of its 15-inch guns trained on the Germans. At full speed it arrogantly swept into the fray. The Warrior's men greeted the Warspite with ringing cheers. They were answered from the battleship which threw itself between the helpless Warrior and the German vessels which were battering its silent hull.

Crash went a salvo from the Warspite's 15-inch batteries. A German ship got the full force of it and sank. Putting its helm over the Warspite circled around the Warrior, drawing to itself all the fire of the ships and replying with vigor and great effect.

A shell damaged its steering gear but still the Warspite held on, fighting single-handed the German battleships.

Four times the Warspite circled the Warrior in this way, all the time punishing the Germans terribly.

"Come back, you are sacrificing yourself," signaled Admiral Beatty to

CARSON ADDRESSES ULSTERMAN MEETING

Outlines Lloyd George's Proposal for Irish Settlement With Parliament at Dublin—Objections Heard

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

BELFAST, June 6.—Sir Edward Carson, the Unionist leader, addressed 5000 Ulstermen here today on the proposed terms of the Irish settlement.

Members of the press were not admitted to the meeting.

Sir Edward outlined the main proposals contained in the plan of David Lloyd George. The main proposal, he explained, was for the establishment of a parliament in Dublin, with the exclusion from its authority of Antrim, Armagh, Down, Londonderry and Fermanagh, including the cities of Belfast and Londonderry.

Protests from delegates from the counties of Cavan, Donegal and Monaghan were heard at the meeting.

No decision was reached, however, and it was agreed that the Unionists in the three counties last named should be consulted during the next few days.

The meeting then adjourned until Monday. According to those present an earnest desire was shown at the conference to act with moderation. The opinion was expressed that if the three counties accept the proposal an agreement is certain.

BULL MOOSERS WANT NONE BUT ROOSEVELT

Entire Lack of Cohesive Leadership Among Republicans Is Feature of Big Chicago Convention

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

CHICAGO, June 6.—The Republican and the Progressive parties and the National conventions all assemble tomorrow without any indication that the leaders have found the common ground on which they hoped to establish unity. A half-dozen names, any one of which is acceptable to the Republicans, have been rejected by the Progressives, who have proposed practically no name but Col. Roosevelt. Everything indicates that they are far apart.

Not since the party was born has there been such a lack of cohesive leadership among the Republicans and the oldest convention observers declare they have never seen such a general lack of enthusiasm.

The supporters of Hughes have been counting noses. Speaking of them, Frank H. Hitchcock estimated the justice would receive about 300 votes on the first ballot. He said reports had been encouraging and predicted that the Hughes vote would grow rapidly after the preliminary balloting.

Teddy Silent

NEW YORK, June 6.—Theodore Roosevelt, when informed here today that there were persistent reports current in Chicago that he had telephoned there that he would head the Progressive ticket if Justice Hughes should be named by the Republicans, and also that he had declared against Hughes, declined to make any comment.

He characterized the report as "among 30,000 which would be silliness for me to attempt to answer."

AUSTRIAN OFFENSIVE HAS COME TO HALT

Italians Have Repulsed Vicious Attacks on Front Between Posina and Astico Rivers.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, June 6.—The Austrians are still being held by the Italians from further advances and with heavy losses says Rome.

In the Vallarsa and Pasubio sectors and on the front between the Posina and Astico rivers, vicious Austrian attacks have been put down, and the Italians have even gained some ground against the Austrians on the western slopes of Mount Cegino.

Italian Statement

ROME, June 6.—The following official statement was issued tonight:

"In the Adige valley Sunday night we repulsed a surprise attack, during a snowstorm, on our positions in the upper Vallarsa and Pasubio sectors. Yesterday, after intense artillery preparations, enemy columns advanced to attack Coni Zugna, but were thrown back in disorder under our steady and effective fire.

"On the front of Posina-Astico Sunday night during a storm, the enemy again launched great masses of infantry, supported by violent fire from batteries of all calibres, against our positions between Monte Giove and Monte Brazone. The swift intervention of our artillery and the steadiness of our infantry succeeded in completely repulsing the attack, with heavy enemy losses. The same night, by a fortunate counter-attack, we succeeded in gaining ground on the western slopes of Monte Congio.

"On the Asiago plateau Sunday night and Monday morning, the enemy maintained its violent artillery and machine gun fire on our positions along the Campo Mulo valley, and in the afternoon made persistent attacks against our positions, which were all vigorously repulsed.

"On the upper Coredvole an enemy column on the march from Pralongia toward Sief was dispersed by the accurate fire of one of our batteries.

"In the Pusteria valley we bombarded with heavy guns the Toblach and Innichen railway station.

"On the Isonzo our detachments continue their raids on the enemy lines.

"Enemy airmen threw bombs on Ala and Herna. Three persons were wounded and some material damage was done."

RUSSIAN DRIVE IS GAINING STRENGTH

Reported They Have Already Made Prisoners of 480 Officers and 25,000 Men Besides Guns.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, June 6.—From the Pripet river southward to the Rumanian frontier, the Russians, according to Petrograd, are continuing to develop their successes against the Germans and Austrians. In the fights along this front of about 350 miles the Russians have already made prisoners of 480 officers and more than 25,000 men and captured 27 guns and more than 500 machine guns.

In this offensive, which is believed to be a carefully coordinated movement, the Russians are said to have a plentiful supply of ammunition and men and with the roads now in good condition their movements are expected to develop shortly.

The number of troops facing the Russians is reported to aggregate about 600,000 men.

Drive Progressing

PETROGRAD, June 6.—The Russians continue to develop the successes won by their newly organized offensive. It is reported that up to the present time they have captured 25,000 men, 17 cannon and 16 machine guns.

It is estimated that on their 350-mile battle front, from the Pripet marshes to the Rumanian frontier, the Russians are opposed by forces numbering between 600,000 and 650,000 men.

Official Statement

The war office statement issued tonight says:

"In the region of Dvinsk and north of the Ponieswesh railway a German offensive was repulsed by our fire. South of Smorgen Sunday night the Germans attempted to capture one of our advanced trenches but our machine gun fire and a counter-attack compelled them to retire to their own trenches.

"South of Krevo Monday, the Germans, after artillery preparations, attempted an offensive against our advanced elements near the village of Kotchansky, but were repulsed by our reserves.

"On the front from the Pripet river to the Rumanian frontier we continue to develop successes. Thus far we have taken as prisoners 480 officers and more than 25,000 men, and captured 27 guns and more than 50 machine guns."

NEW DISCLOSURES AT GOSDEN TRIAL

MacDonald Borrowed $50 Easter Tuesday

TESTIMONY LINKS HIM WITH PLUGGING PLOT

Asserted He Meant to Back Crooked Voting at New Election

(By Staff Correspondent.)

VICTORIA, B. C., June 6.—Not only did M. A. Macdonald attempt to get an advance on his sessional allowance Easter Tuesday, but he actually borrowed $50 on that day, according to evidence given at the Gosden perjury trial today. Fifty dollars is the amount Gosden says Macdonald paid him Easter Tuesday night for political work in the Vancouver byelection.

Today's evidence regarding the fruitless attempt to raise money in one quarter and the success in securing in another quarter the amount Gosden says the Liberal member paid him created a sensation in court.

Gosden went on the stand and in addition to repeating his story of the payment by Macdonald divulged the interesting information that Liberal Secretary Scott had kept him employed after the election in preparing for plugging operations on a provincial scale in the forthcoming general election and that Macdonald, as his share of the expense, had agreed to devote his entire sessional allowance to the undertaking.

The "investigation trouble," he said, brought these plans to an end.

New Details of Plugging

Gosden gave further details of the amount of money he was paid by Scott to buy votes and secure pluggers for Macdonald. The pluggers who received this money were not from Seattle, but were strangers in Vancouver. They belonged to an organization of which Gosden is a member. Counsel did not bring out the organization's name.

In all Gosden said he and Phil Robertson received $1500 for this and other election work in addition to their salaries, which were paid up to election day. He personally had $900 on election eve and spent all of it in buying votes at the Liberal secretary's direction except about $40, which he pocketed.

This was the first mention of the operation of big gangs of pluggers outside of the Seattle crowds and Peter Annance's gang, but it is taken as explaining how some more of the 5000 pluggers cards prepared by Scott's organization were used.

W. K. Courtney, law clerk of the legislature, said Macdonald came to him Easter Tuesday after the house rose and asked for an advance on his sessional indemnity. Witness could not grant the request.

Miss A. M. Allen, cashier at the Empress, said she loaned Macdonald $50 Easter Tuesday. He gave an I. O. U. and repaid it with $100 the next day, the other $50 going to his general account. She showed the cash book to prove it. The payment was made, she said, about 2 o'clock Easter Tuesday. The book showed, however, the entry was the last of the day.

Gosden told of preparing lists of voters and pluggers for Liberal Secretary Scott and explained that the $135 he and Phil Robertson claimed from M. A. Macdonald after Scott had not made payment consisted of wages overdue and $100 bonus each had been promised if the Liberal candidate were elected. Macdonald, when Anderson caused secret inquiry by some of the Liberals, told Gosden and Robertson that the trouble was not his fault and that he did not desire any muckraking, Gosden stated.

Scott had told them R. W. Eyre, a Vancouver Liberal lawyer, would pay

HAMPSHIRE BOUND FOR RUSSIA EITHER TORPEDOED OR MINED

Most Stunning Blow Great Britain Has Received Since War Began Is Contained in Brief Message Sent by Admiral Jellicoe

DISASTER OCCURRED WHILE HEAVY SEAS WERE RUNNING--WAS SEEN FROM SHORE

Search of Scene Where Ship Went Down by Destroyers and Patrol Boats Proves Futile--Several Bodies Found on Beach

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, June 6.—The news that Earl Kitchener, secretary of state for war, and his staff, who were proceeding to Russia aboard the cruiser Hampshire, were lost off the Orkney islands last night, was the most stunning blow Great Britain has received since the war began.

This is the second shock the country has suffered within a week. The other was when the newspapers appeared Friday evening with the first information of the naval battle in the North sea in the form of a list of ships lost, with virtually no intimation that there was any compensation in the way of enemy losses.

The bulletin telling of the death of Earl Kitchener gave the country an even greater shock. Kitchener was the one outstanding personality whom the people talked of and believed in as a man, notwithstanding the newspaper attacks, which at a former period of the war threatened to undermine his popularity, and the public confidence in him.

A telegram from Admiral Sir John Jellicoe, commander of the fleet, giving the bare facts, was received at the admiralty about 11 o'clock in the morning.

The first official announcement was issued at about 1:30 in the afternoon. Such news, however, cannot be kept secret even for an hour. Before noon rumors were spreading and the telephones in the newspaper offices were busy with inquiries as to whether this —one of the many reports circulated in these days of tension—had any foundation. They were told there was nothing in it. Admiral Jellicoe's report to the admiralty was as follows:

Jellicoe's Report.

"I have to report with deep regret that his majesty's ship Hampshire, Capt. Herbert J. Saville, R. N., with Lord Kitchener and his staff on board, was sunk last night at about 8 p. m. to the west of the Orkneys either by a mine or a torpedo. Four boats were seen by observers on shore to leave the ship. The wind was blowing northwest and heavy seas were running. Patrol vessels and destroyers at once proceeded to the spot and a party was sent along the coast to search. Several bodies and capsized boats have been found up to the present. As the whole has been searched from the seaward I greatly fear that there is little hope of there being any survivors. No report has yet been received from the search party on shore. H. M. S. Hampshire was on her way to Russia."

When the official announcement finally was issued the fact had spread about London some time before the newspapers got on the street. There was a large crowd about the stock exchange which required police reserves to deal with. The police told everyone to move on; that there was no truth in the report.

At the same time another mass of people was assembling about the government offices in Whitehall. All the windows of the war office had the curtains lowered. That confirmed the rumor beyond doubt.

Other crowds gathered around the newspaper offices;; when the boys came out with an armful of extras the people fell on them and fought for the papers. In the course of the afternoon the flags on all buildings were half-masted.

Whole Nation Mourns.

The English are undoubtedly a stoical people and have taken the good and the bad tidings of the war as they came with an absence of emotion surprising to outsiders. But no one could have walked the London streets today without perceiving that something was wrong. The foreign office was saddened by the loss of one of its most valued members, Hugh James O'Beirne, while Sir Frederick Donaldson and Brig.-Gen. Ellershaw of the ministry of munitions, were known to be men whom the nation could little afford to lose.

The fact that the cruiser Hampshire, with between 200 and 300 men had sunk, was generally accepted as an unfortunate detail in these days when a thousand go under almost as an incident of warfare, and the battling of the Canadians around Ypres and St. Eloi had a scanty column in the newspapers. The King came from Windsor and sent for Premier Asquith when he heard the news. The war council held a long session.

Naturally speculation regarding Kitchener's successor began immediately. Among those discussed were David Lloyd George, Lord Derby and the chief of the imperial staff, Sir William Robertson. But whether a soldier or a civilian will take over the war office has not yet been decided.

His Place in History.

Earl Kitchener met his death at a moment which will insure his position in British history. He was almost the only member of the government who from the beginning confidently asserted that this would be a long war—his lowest estimate being three years—and he insisted that the government should make its plans accordingly. The organiaztion of the enormous new British army is well under way. The general staff, under Gen. Sir William Robertson's direction, according to the belief of the public, has well in hand the task of working out the details which Kitchener's brain was largely instrumental in planning and launching.

There is no evidence to show whether the Hampshire was sunk by a submarine or a mine.

Many ships have been passing between Russia and England over the same route since the war began.

The news was a greater surprise than it would otherwise have been be-

LONDON, June 6.—Since the repulse of two German infantry attacks between Fort Vaux and Damloup Monday night, the fighting in the Verdun region has again developed into artillery duels, with th Vaux-Damloup sector the centre of the greatest violence. No material gains for either side are reported.

Paris Statement.

Major Raynal, who defended Fort Vaux with indefatigable energy, has been made commander of the Legion of Honor."

FUSE INQUIRY NEAR END; COL. MACKIE IS WITNESS

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

OTTAWA, June 6.—With the possible exception that Miss Mabel Edwards, private secretary to Col. J. W. Allison, may be recalled, the Meredith-Duff inquiry into the fuse contracts closed this afternoon, in so far as the examination of the witnesses is concerned.

The summing of the counsel will commence tomorrow morning and this probably will occupy two days.

Col. Mackie, officer commanding, representing the Canadian Car & Foundry company at the testing ground, Petawawa, was a witness today.

Col. Mackie secured the Russian order for 5,000,000 shells complete. He hoped to get a small commission. A small fraction of 1 per cent would be his reward.

Col. Mackie's evidence showed that there was a sharp difference of opinion between Mr. Ohmer and the Canada Car company as to responsibility for the testing of the fuses supplied under contract.

Mr. Ohmer said that all he was required to do was to build the component parts according to specifications, and the Canada Car company was responsible after that.

Col. Mackie disagreed with that and the Canada Car company disagreed with that.

"The sub-contractors are responsible for the functioning of each part of the fuse, and the Canada Car company will not accept the fuse until they pass both Russian and Canadian tests."

"Gen. Bertram said he had never had any conversation with Mr. Harris referring to Col. Allison as "foxy" as has been testified.

As to his refusal to give a contract to the Russell Motor Car company the general said that he was a particular friend of Mr. Harris and was anxious to give him a contract, but in view of the urgency of the matter he could not do so on the plans he had submitted.

"Was the pressure from Gen. Hughes to let these contracts to the American Ammunition company and the International company?"

"No; he never mentioned it in any shape or form. We had no interference from the government. It knew

KITCHENER

(By Robert J. C. Stead.)

Weep, waves of England!
Nobler clay
Was ne'er to nobler grave consigned;
The wild waves weep with us today
Who mourn a nation's master mind.

We hoped an honored age for him,
And ashes laid with England's great;
And rapturous music and the dim
Deep hush that veils our tomb of State.

But this is better. Let him sleep
Where sleep the men who made us free.
For England's heart is in the deep
And England's glory is the sea.

One only vow above his bier;
One only oath beside his bed;
We swear our flag shall shield him here
Until the sea gives us its dead.

Leap, waves of England! Boastful be!
And fling defiance in the blast;
For Earth is envious of the Sea
Which shelters England's dead at last.

CANADIANS MADE VALIANT FIGHT IN STORM OF FIRE

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, June 7.—"While only the broadest outlines of Friday's contest are at present known, the devotion of the Canadians has never been more strikingly attested," says the Morning Post's correspondent at British headquarters in France, writing Monday evening.

"Friday morning," he says, "the Germans, under cover of a fierce bombardment, advanced along two miles of front in the direction of Zillebeke. Two hours before the bombardment opened, Major-Gen. Mercer, accompanied by Brig.-Gen. Williams, went on a tour of inspection into the front line trenches. Both were cut off in the storm of fire and cooly remained to direct and encourage the men of the 42nd and 49th battalions with whom they found themselves trapped when the bombardment began.

"Just before the Germans arrived a terrific explosion occurred followed by two others of equal magnitude. The enemy had successfully fired three mines in the vicinity of our lines which sent many brave soldiers to instant death.

"When the Germans arrived Gen. Mercer was observed leaning against the parapet, suffering from shell shock, and a subaltern later reported him wounded. Subsequently Gen. Williams was struck while repelling an attack. In this state both generals, it is believed, fell into the hands of the enemy. Under the circumstances just described the men of the 3rd Canadian division fought valiantly against heavy odds, and inflicted severe damage before they were overpowered, as German bodies by the score were found in these trenches.

"At 7 a.m. the next day the Canadians counter-attacked, as planned overnight, and carried it out brilliantly. A bombardment of vigor equal to that of the Germans on the previous day was made and the enemy gunfire replied. At one time the spectacle was witnessed of a double barrage of appalling intensity. Nevertheless, the Canadians pushed on and succeeded in reaching their old front line trenches, which they found battered to pieces, with hundreds of German dead lying around unburied. One of these ad-nothing of what we were doing except the cables to the war office which went through the militia department."

Carnegie Is Recalled.

Col. Carnegie was next recalled and further examined by Mr. Hellmuth in regard to additional documents and correspondence referring to fuse contracts put in. Col. Carnegie finished a statement of the business done by the shell committee from September, 1914, to May 31, 1915.

The statement showed the value of the orders from the war office to be $170,261,430. The value of orders received during April and May only was $102,001,430.

Mr. Hellmuth explained to the witness that Mr. Harris and Mr. Russell had stated that they were left out when fresh orders came from the war office in September, 1915.

Col. Carnegie said that a cable was received from the war office Sept. 7, 1915, inquiring about the facilities in Canada for the manufacture of time fuse. It was then a matter of orders. The shell committee then knew the facilities of the Russell Motor company, and did not inquire further. They ascertained the facilities of other plants by calling for tenders. No additional contract was received before Oct. 22.

Asked if he had ever stated to Lloyd Harris that he could only get a fuse contract through Col. Allison, the witness said he had never made such a statement. Allison said his name might have been used. The only pressure was from Gen. Bertram, who was being pressed by the war office to close the contracts. There had been no pressure from Sir Sam Hughes to give the contracts to the two United States companies. He was unable to say whether or not he had used the words "pressure from higher up," as stated by Mr Harris.

Refers to Webb Offer.

Asked if he had ever heard of a Capt. Webb who had offered to supply fuses at $3.58 and commence delivery in 30 days, Col. Carnegie said that the only man of that name he had ever heard of was the Webb who swam across the English channel. Webb's offer had not been received by him. He thought that it had in all probability never been sent to Ottawa. Col. Carnegie said that the output of the International Fuse company is rapidly increasing and is now between 22,000 and 25,000 a day.

Justice Duff asked if the American Ammunition company is still experiencing difficulty in connection with loading. Col. Carnegie said that they were not, but that they are going better all the time.

Mr. Hellmuth said he had been informed by Mr. Henderson, counsel for Mr. Allison, that Miss Edwards is quite ill and might not be able to attend the commission again. The bank record, however, would be sent to New York.

F. B. Carvell asked for a ruling on the part of the commission on his request for an inquiry into all sub-contracts, which go to make up the contract for 5,000,000 fuses.

Commissioner Duff, on behalf of himself and Sir William, said that they did not consider that the sub-contracts were subject matters of investigation.

Chief Justice Meredith said it was undesirable when everyone understood the evidence was all in to take up this additional investigation.

Mr. Ewart asked if Mr. Carvell had communicated with Mr. Kyte in regard to statements made by him against Sir Sam Hughes and Col. Allison in connection with the Nova Scotia election.

Mr. Carvell said he had viewed Mr. Ewart's remarks of yesterday as a little hot air and treated them as such. However, if Mr. Ewart wanted the commission to order the summoning of Mr. Kyte he would be willing to produce him.

Chief Justice Meredith said it was reported that Mr. Kyte had stated that one witness had committed perjury and that another had lied. If he had any information which would warrant him in making such a statement it would be imperative for the commission to know.

F. H. Mackey, K. C., said that Mr. Kyte had made similar statements in the house of commons, but they referred to evidence given by Allison before the Davidson commission.

Mr. Carvell said he had no knowledge on which to express an opinion.

Has Letter From Kyte.

Some days ago he had received a letter from Mr. Kyte in which he had stated that there was a plan on foot to take him away from Nova Scotia during the holding of the general election. He had shown this letter to other counsel and they had agreed that it would not be necessary for Mr. Kyte to come to Ottawa.

Sir William Meredith asked Mr. Carvell if Mr. Kyte could throw any additional light on the inquiry.

"Not within the scope I have been allowed," Mr. Carvell replied.

Mr. Hellmuth said that when arguments commence tomorrow he proposes to be brief. His principal object will be to outline the scope of the commission.

Mr. Johnson said he did not propose to speak. His proposal before the commission was a peculiar one and he could not go far afield.

It was agreed that Mr. Hellmuth will lead off with the argument tomorrow and F. B. Carvell will follow. Then will come counsel for Gen. Hughes and the shell committee.

vanced trenches was in such a state as to be untenable.

"The Canadian corps commander, Sir Julien Bryan, sends the following message:

"'I am proud of the Canadians under my command. Their behaviour has been magnificent. I have never known a fiercer or more deadly barrage nor have I seen any troops fight with more earnestness, courage and cheerfulness. The slight penetration of our line cost the Germans dear.'" them, but he, although pressed, had said he had been unable to get the money.

NEW DISCLOSURES AT GOSDEN TRIAL

He spoke of the visit to Macdonald's office with a note from Scott and of the meeting he had with Macdonald near the latter's house Easter Monday and at which Macdonald promised to pay him if he would come to Victoria the next day. Macdonald, Gosden related said he did not have the money at that time, but would raise a hundred in Victoria. This was to be fifty for Gosden and fifty for Robertson.

His Trip to Victoria

Gosden agreed to go, and, as other witnesses have testified, borrowed a suit of clothes and money for his fare and on arrival at Victoria got Howland to pay for his lunch and Silvene for his dinner.

The first meeting with Macdonald in Victoria was by agreement at the postoffice at 6 o'clock, he continued. Macdonald said he did not have $100, but if Gosden would wait until Wednesday he would give it to him. Gosden said he wanted to go back that night if he could get some of the money. Macdonald said possibly he could get it and asked Gosden to call him about 8:45.

Gosden, as other witnesses have stated, said he called Macdonald from Silvene's room and the Liberal member told him to be at the postoffice at 9 o'clock. He walked down with Matt Fraser and told him to get out of sight when Macdonald appeared. When Macdonald handed over the $50, he said, "Here's fifty, that's the best I can do now. I will give you the bal*ance when I come over in two weeks.*"

He then hurried away. Witness took Fraser to a bar and loaned him $5.

Gosden told of buying new clothes, repaying his fare and paying his landlady immediately on arrival at Vancouver.

Under cross-examination Gosden admitted he had been jailed in Prince Rupert for strike trouble and deported from the United States for soap box oratory in violation of a San Diego ordinance. He said that once in Vancouver he had said Bowser would be wise to have some one taste his coffee if the government continued its tyrannical ways and smilingly told counsel that he thought the action mentioned might under some circumstances be justified. He denied he had tried to blackmail a Gordon Head resident who shot hen pheasants.

He said he told Macdonald his work was legitimate because Scott had said Macdonald in view of the investigation would otherwise be "scared stiff."

General Election Plan

"Macdonald had definitely promised to devote the whole of his sessional indemnity to building up the plugging machine for the general elections," said Gosden. Macdonald had no reason to be scared of witness unless he knew of the crooked work, Gosden said.

Gosden explained that the reason he had not pressed Macdonald for the balance owing him was that Scott had said Lawyer Eyre would pay if he, Scott, had to "duck his nut."

Eyre spoke of "they" coming through with money, but never mentioned their name.

Gosden explained that at the parliamentary inquiry he had not volunteered any information because he had been taken there on a subpoena and had not gone on his own intiative.

Witness was still on the stand when the court odjourned.

KITCHENER AND STAFF LOST OFF ORKNEYS

cause no one knew that Kitchener had left England.

A memorial service will be held in St. Paul's. The nation was depressed and grieved at the news of Gen. Townshend's surrender, but never before has it been so saddened as today.

His Last Conference.

Earl Kitchener's conference Friday with members of the house of commons, when he explained confidentially the military situation was a remarkable incident. Two hundred members gathered to talk to him. Extraordinary precautions were taken to keep all persons outside of the precincts of Westminster palace.

Earl Kitchener generally made rather a poor impression as a speaker, since he always read his statements from manuscript and did not talk in an effective way. On this occasion, how*ever*, he conversed freely with the members, answering questions from critics who showed considerable bias.

After the conference some of the members declared their judgment of Earl Kitchener's work had been enhanced by his explanation. The proceedings were closed with the unusual formality of a vote of thanks.

Press Comment.

The morning papers all give up their editorial space to black-bordered eulogies of Earl Kitchener. Chief interest, perhaps, attaches to the tributes of the papers of Lord Northcliffe, which, after hailing Earl Kitchener in the early days of the war as the only man for the war office, turned on him a year ago with bitter denunciations as being an overrated man, who had had no experience except in little Asiatic border campaigns.

The Times and Daily Mail were publicly burned on the stock exchange after their first attacks on Earl Kitchener and by resolution barred from many public reading rooms. Today, however, both these newspapers lay aside the old animus and sound no discordant note in the universal sorrow.

The Mail says:

"So ends with distressing suddenness a career of romantic distinction, which had assumed extraordinary significance in the estimation of his countrymen."

The Express:

"Without Earl Kitchener it is probable that we would have lost the war months ago."

The Morning Post, discussing the sinking of the Hampshire, says:

"Circumstances point to espionage or treachery and the country will suspect this the more owing to the singular freedom still allowed enemy subjects."

Touching on the question of a successor to Earl Kitchener, the Post says it would be a mistake to choose Lloyd George and urges that Lord Milner is the only suitable man on the horizon.

"It was his doggedness in doing his work that won him popular trust because it was akin to the people's own temperament," says the Times of Earl Kitchener. "He had none of the gifts by which politicians win favor. He was no orator, he did not court the multitude and he had few friends. It was in strange loneliness that he trod the path of duty with stern and unwavering purpose."

The Mail gives prominence to the following statement:

"Earl Kitchener's intention to go to Russia was known to a great many people in London Thursday. It ought not to have been so known. The news of it may have reached the enemy. The public mind has been quick to associate his death with the work of spies. *We have every sympathy with the de*mand which comes to us from many parts of the country that all alien enemies who are still at large, especially those in high places, be interned at once."

PARIS, June 7.—The tragic end of Earl Kitchener caused a deep and sorrowful impression throughout France, where he was better known and more admired than any other British general. The fact that Kitchener fought for France in 1870 was ever present in the French mind and went far to obliterate any lingering resentment over the Fashoda incident. Quite recently Kitchener met Brig.-Gen. Marchand, with whom he had clashed in 1898 in the village of Fashoda, Sudan, for the first time since that incident. It was during one of these trips to the French front and the two men exchanged hearty handclasps and the old bitter*nesses were sunk.*

The disappearance of an organizgenius of the first rank is deplored in military circles, where Earl Kitchener's qualities always were fully appreciated, but it was pointed out that, however cruel his loss to the allied cause and to the British people, his great work, so soundly conceived and carried out, will survive him.

Premier Briand, in telegraphing the regrets of the French government to Premier Asquith, said:

"All France regrets from the bottom of its heart the loss of the great chief who caused a magnificent army to spring from British soil. My country will never forget that the brave and efficient organizer, whose premature end is now mourned with the British people, fought in the ranks of the French army 46 years ago."

LONDON, June 7.—By the King's command the following order has been issued to the army:

"The King has learned with profound regret of the disaster whereby the secretary of state for war has lost his life while proceeding on a mission to the emperor of Russia.

"Lord Kitchener gave 48 years of devoted service to the state and it is largely due to his administration and unwearying energy that the country has been able to create and place in the field the armies which today are upholding the traditional glories of the Empire.

"Lord Kitchener will be mourned by the army as a great soldier, who, under conditions of unexampled difficulty rendered supreme devotion both to the army and the state.

"The King commands that the officers of the army shall wear mourning with their uniforms for the period of one week. Officers are to wear crepe on the left arm of their uniform and of their great coats."

Does Not Apply in Canada.

OTTAWA, June 6.—High military officers here state that while the King's order that mourning be worn a week in connection with the death of Earl Kitchener applied to Canadian forces in France and England, it does not apply to officers in training in Canada. It is considered likely, however, that a similar order will be issued immediately the King's order becomes officially known to the militia council here, and will be made applicable to officers in Canada.

BRITISH NAVAL LOSSES UNCHANGED

the Warspite, but owing to its damaged steering gear, it could not obey the order. The Warspite could only hang on and fight and it did this sturdily in spite of the heavy battering it received.

By the time its consorts of the dreadnought division came up the battle fleet was in full flight.

The Warspite had beaten them off single-handed and had succored the Warrior, which the Germans had regarded as a certain and easy victim for their guns.

Letter from Beatty.

LONDON, June 6.—Rear Admiral Sir H. Edworth Meux read at a public meeting today, the followin gletter from Vice Admiral Sir David Beatty:

"We drove the enemy into the jaws of our fleet. I have no regrets except for the gallant lives lost and for the pals that have gone and who died gloriously. It would have warmed your heart to have been able to see the gallant Hood bring his squadron into action.

"Would to God he had been more successful in the general result.

"We will be ready for them next time. Please God, it will be soon. The battle cruiser fleet is alive and has a big kick in it."

BERLIN, June 7.—The following official statement was issued today regarding the British losses in the battle of the North sea:

"English prisoners picked up by the fifth torpedo boat flotilla in the sea fight in the Skagerack, state that the battle cruisers Princess Royal was heavily listing, when the Queen Mary sank in the course of an encounter with a German reconnaissance group almost simultaneously with the British cruiser Birmingham.

"It is also stated that five superdreadnoughts of the Queen Elizabeth class are reported to have participated in this part of the engagement.

"Other prisoners, captured by the third torpedo boat flotilla, stated independently of each other, in a written declaration, that they were certain that Warspite, Princess Royal, the Turbulent, Nestor and Acasta were in a sinking condition.

"Ninety miles east of the Tyne, after the battle in the Skagerack a German submarine observed a vessel of the Iron Duke class heavily listing, with apparently much water in the forepart setting its course toward the English coast. Owing to its unfavorable position toward the enemy vessel and because of the heavy sea, the submarine was unable to fire.

"The British loss in lives in the battle is estimated at more than 7000."

AT THE THEATRES

Starland.

Lou Tellegen, the internationally famous ramontic star, who for several years was leading man for Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, will make his second appearance at the Starland tomorrow in an elaborate production, "The Unknown." It is a picturization of I. AA. R. Wylie's widely read novel entitled "The Red Mirage." "The Unknown" is a fascinating story of the desert, spectacular almost to the extreme, but with a splendid romance running through it. Included in the cast are Theodore Roberts, Dorothy Davenport and Tom Farman.

On Friday, the 9th, the ninth chapter of "The Girl and the Game," serial will be shown. This is entitled "A Close Call" and as the title indicates is a thriller. A two-part Vogue comedy entitled "Sammy's Scandalous Schemes." This features Sammy Burns, who gives a very clever imitation of Charlie Chaplin.

Great interest is being shown in the first Mutual Chaplin comedy, "The Floorwalker," which comes to the Starland Monday, June 12. This comedy is simply crammed with new Chaplin antics, the funniest of which are his adventures on the escalator or moving stairway.

"The Sable Lorcha," which is the offering at the Gem theatre Wednesday and Thursday is, according to all reports, the most powerful screen drama which has been released from the big Triangle company since their inception.

The plot offers unusual opportunities for tense and thrilling situations and these opportunities are taken advantage of in such a way as only the superlative genius of D. W. Griffith could.

The interest never lessens for an instant, but works in one steady crescendo to such a breathless climax that one's nerves are taut as the cables of the famous Brooklyn bridge.

CHARGE OFFICER WITH KILLING SKEFFINGTON

Courtmartial of Capt. Bowen-Colthurst Opened in Dublin—Insanity Plea Expected.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

DUBLIN, June 7.—The prosecution today began the presentation of its case at the courtmartial of Capt. Bowen-Colthurst, charged with the shooting of F. Sheehy Skeffington, editor of the Irish Citizen; Thomas Dickson and Fred McIntyre, during the recent Irish rebellion. The defendant is accused of murder.

The prosecuting officer said the defendant took the men from the guardroom with the remark: "I am going to shoot them as I think it is the right thing to do."

Officers testified they had been on duty 72 hours at this time and that the accused was extremely excited and did not act in his usual manner.

One officer said that after the shooting he noticed a movement in Skeffington's body and told the captain of it, the latter then ordering the firing party to shoot again.

It is testified that the accused told Major Roxburgh who was in command of the Porto Bello barracks, that he had shot the men on his own responsibility and probably would hang for it.

Gen. Bird related how the accused had disobeyed orders.

Bowen-Colthurst's company was ordered to retire, but Bowen-Colthurst gave the command to advance. This said the witness, showed his incapacity. Medical testimony was then taken for the purpose of indicating the unbalanced state of the accused's mind.

SYRIANS APPEAL TO THE PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, June 6.—A committee of Syrians from New York appealed to President Wilson and Counsellor Polk of the state department to seek permission from Turkey and the entente allies to get food to Mount Lebnon, an autonomous Turkish state where they said 80,000 persons already had perished of starvation and many were suffering.

The delegation told the president practically all the inhabitants of Mount Lebanon were Christians and for that reason the Turkish government had treated them with unusual severity.

Syrians in Egypt are preparing to send food is permission is given.

TURK OFFENSIVE IN ASIA MINOR REPULSED

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, June 6.—The Turks in Asia Minor, near Baiburt and Erzingan have again attempted an offensive against the Russians, but Petrograd says their efforts failed. A successful raid has been made by the Russians against the Turks in the vicinity of Khanikan, near the Persian border, northeast of Bagdad.

Petrograd Statement.

PETROGRAD, June 6.—The following statement was issued tonight:

"In the Caucasus region, in the direstion of Baiburt and Erzingen, the Turks, supported by artillery, took the offensive on many sectors. All their attacks were repulsed. Near Khanikin, 130 versets northeast of Bagdad, we had a successful action against the Turks Sunday."

GERMAN STATES MUST FEED PRUSSIA AND THEY OBJECT

LONDON, June 6.—Referring to the statement of the food dictator, Von Batocki, in the reichstag, as reported by Reuter's Amsterdam correspondent that "great difficulties are arising out of the relations of the federal states" and that "from Wurttemberg menacing letters reach me protesting against the sucking dry of Wurttemberg by Prussia," the Chronicle says:

"This complaint from Wurttemberg only expressed in drastic fashion what all other German states feel with regard to Prussia. In the Bavarian diet the other day the members complained of 'Prussian food egotism' and of the attempts which the Berlin government makes to induce the Bavarian food owners to send their stuff to Berlin.

The Chief Difficulty.

"In Saxony the same feeling prevails and it is clear that Von Batocki's main difficulty will be to persuade the Bavarian, the Hessian, the Badenser and others that their main duty now is to feed Prussia. In Eisenbach the town council issued an order forbidding the exportation from the district of all kinds of meat, sausage, poultry, fish, fats and oils, groceries, soap and soap powder, cheese, eggs, baked wares, tarts, fruit cakes and vegetables."

The Berlin Tageblatt, with some pertinence, commented on this as follows: "The people speak of England's starvation war against us, but this German starvation war against large towns is at least worthy of condemnation.

KINGVILLE TO GET HATCHERY

LONDON, Ont., June 6.—William Gray, M. P., received a message from Hon. J. D. Hazen, minister of marine and fisheries, announcing that Kingsville had been selected for the site of the new Dominion government whitefish hatchery. Tenders for the new buildings will be called for in a few days.

PLAY POLITICS AT EXPENSE OF THE PROVINCE

The attempt by H. C. Brewster to invalidate the legislation passed during the session just closed may look like good politics to the Liberal leaders but no one can seriously contend that it is anything but the worst kind of business for the country. The Liberals, if they succeeded in their action on the alleged constitutional question, would make inoperative the mining, workmen's compensation, shipbuilding, zinc smelter guarantee and other laws. They would defeat by this means legislation they dared not openly oppose in the house. They would leave the province without money to carry on its business.

It is not so much that there is any likelihood of the Liberal writ being upheld as the uneasiness and uncertainty the writ's issuance has caused that is to be feared. British Columbians know enough of the Liberal tactics to place the latest effort at its true value but what are financiers in the east, from whom the province and private companies under provincial legislation desire to borrow money to think of it? Is not the Liberal action certain to cause them to pull in their purse strings? Valuable time is likely to be lost in building up new industries in the province as a result of the Brewster writ, a political document which cannot be defended even as the dying kick of a political organization that after a brief spell of seeming success is again falling into the position of public disapprobation which its unfavorable record has earned for it.

BEGIN TO ADMIT FAILURE OF PIRACY CAMPAIGN

It is beginning to leak out that the German government is admitting the failure of its submarine campaign and that this is the chief reason for the conciliatory tone of the German press toward the United States attitude recently.

By way of Berne comes a summary of Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg's speech at the secret sitting of the general committee of the reichstag on May 5, when the submarine controversy was under discussion. According to this summary the German chancellor said in part:

"A great mistake has been committed in overstating the value of the submarine campaign against England. Our naval experts no longer believe in the probability of reducing England to starvation and ruin by submarines, even if the war lasts another two years. It is true that these instruments can inflict a frightful amount of damage, but this damage would be insufficient to outweigh the danger to ourselves of America's hostilities. It is folly to underestimate the consequences of a conflict with America, nor should we risk only America's enmity. Our information leads us to believe that other neutrals might follow America's lead. The imperial government has weighed every factor and is convinced of the necessity of avoiding a breach with America.

"These are the hard facts of the present situation. We have worded a reply such as may reserve future liberty of action. If the situation changes we may cancel our concessions to America and resume unrestricted submarine operations, but for the present we must overcome our feeling and pursue the policy most conducive to final victory over all our enemies."

Join your home battalion, the 225th. The sooner it is brought to strength the earlier will it be of service to the Empire.

While as a rule the giving of municipal assistance to industries is not wise, the city council would be justified in giving free power to the French Zinc Smelting company, at least until the business passes the experimental stage and can produce metal at a profit. There should be no objections raised to this small assistance to an industry which will materially increase the payroll of Nelson.

WHAT THE PRESS IS SAYING

Isn't It the Truth?

There is something more than a mere flash of newspaper satire in the reply of a western contemporary to the question, "What has become of the old-time dime novel?" "It is here," comes the answer, "but they are charging $1.25 and $1.50 for it." Not with the purpose of taking the edge off this in the least degree, but in the interest of truth, it should be said, we believe, that the $1.25 and $1.50 imitation dime novel of the present day is a very poor substitute for the $1.50 and $1.50 novel of a generation ago that sold for a dime.—Christian Science Monitor.

Can't Satisfy Them.

If the president hoped to molify the pro-German vote by accepting the German note, he is probably surprised to find that about the only feature which the German language newspapers are able to see in it is the notification that he is no going after Great Britain.—Buffalo Express.

Cardinal Mercier.

One of the greatest heroes that the war has produced carries neither sword nor gun, nor has he held within his hand the portfolio of any minister of state. Yet his courage might be the envy of any military commander and his judgment the ideal of any government. We speak of Cardinal Mercier. Out of the wreckage of the Belgian nation he stands forth—a counselor of prudence without dishonor, of courtesy without compromise and of obedience without spiritual submission or fear.—New York Outlook.

Opened the World's Eyes.

After all, it has been Germany who has remodelled and reformed Europe by sheer force of contrast. Until the full measure of her iniquity was made known, the kindlier peoples of the western world did not understand the danger that threatened them; they could not visualize the horrors that lurked in cold truth behind the scarcely credited lessons of a Bernhardi or a Treitschke. Once again, in the world's history, it has been oppression that has given birth to liberty. Germany, and no one else, has made plain the depths of savagery that German policy required if her leaders were to attain their object.—London Telegraph.

THE ALLIES CERTAIN OF VICTORY.

Peace talk is a dissembler. Germany, skilful as she is cunning, puts forward from time to time talk of peace. She would turn the attention of the allied world to the subject of peace. Her hope is that in this frame of mind the allied effort will slacken. In this situation the allied peoples everywhere should harken to the words of the British premier, spoken to a delegation of members of the Russian duma visiting London. He said:

"The allies know that victory is certain. We will stand together, no matter how long and severe the test of endurance, until we have beaten to the ground the forces which have withstood us, and can begin in peace to rebuild the shaken fabric of European civilization."

There must at all hazards be no premature peace. Such an outcome of the war would be as unfortunate now as it was regarded to be when the war began. Germany not only must not win, but she must not prevent the allies from winning. It is not that the vengeance upon her. Rather it is that the world must be saved from the possibility that Germany will revive and strike again. It is that militarism and junkerism must be destroyed.

Brute force was never so hard-pressed as it is now. The nation that stands for the subversion of right to might was never so menaced as it is this moment. The menace increases as the days pass. It must continue to increase, until its power shall place right once again upon a pedestal; until the nations of the earth shall be free to work out their own destiny unhindered and unhindering; until autocracy shall never again decree the death and slaughter of millions.—London Free Press.

HOW LAUGHTER CAME TO CANADA.

At a dinner given to Col. George Ham, of the C. P. R., in Montreal a few nights ago, there was read the following verses written by Neil Munro, an English novelist and journalist, after touring the country with Col. Ham:

The Lord one day, in a happy mood
Made Canada—mount and plain and wood,
The sounding cataract and the lake
On whose blue borders the poplars shake,
"'Tis good," said the Lord, and took His rest,
But soon in His wilderness felt oppprest.

Best He the wood, then, with bird and beast,
With thunder of hooves He filled the west,
Set the Red Man forth on a generous trail,
"Be glad," He commanded—without awail,
For the Indian sulked in a dread surmise,
And something was wanting in God's eyes.
At a breath the buffalo ceased to be,
The fire died down in the brave's tepee;
White men plowed over the prairie flowers,
Smiling not even in leisure hours,
For their minds were on foolish futilities set,
And God saw something was wanting yet.

Long thought the Lord, and one bright day
He made Him a man of His spit and clay
And set him forth in the sun to dry
In a place where the waters went rippling by,
Said the Lord, "Be laughter, wherever you are,
Stand forth, George Ham, of the C. P. R."

So wherever the C. P. R. lines run,
From Montreal to the setting sun,
If there be folk who are tired and sad
They will welcome George, the perennial lad,
Georgius Rex—true King of Smiles,
Who carries laughter ten thousand miles.

She—If mamma consents to our engagement we needn't bother about what papa says:

He—I do hope the non-importance of the male member of the family is not an ingrained idea with you.

WHERE THE WORLD'S SHIPS COAL.

There are about one hundred and forty coaling ports scattered over the seven seas, from Panama, lying in strategic position at the canal entrance, to the remote South Sea Island port of Apia, but there are none so essential to shipping, and none so celebrated on all the waterfronts of the world as Gibraltar, Port Said Colombo, Singapore, and Nagasaki, on the main trade route to the Orient. For ships London bound on the long eleven-thousand-mile voyage from the Far East, necessary stops are regularly made at these ports by both cross-sea liners and plodding cargo-carriers. Port Said was unheard of, and Nagasaki was unvisited by the seafaring men of the full-rigger age, for trade routes and ships have changed since the ten-clipper left Whampoa and made London without calling at a port. The present-day mail steamer, making 18 knots an hour, is unable to carry sufficient coal for an eleven-thousand-mile passage without renewing the supply in way ports; and the modern tramp steamer, built to carry as much cargo as can be stowed, and barely enough coal to drive the engines from one coaling port to the next, is in the same predicament. Huge supplies of coal are kept in all these ports for the needs of arriving shipping. At Port Said, for instance, a million tons of coal are landed each year from colliers which arrive daily from England to supply the shipping which passes through the Suez canal.

Wherever there is a coaling port there the trade routes gather. On the "Track Chart for Full-powered Steam Vessels," published by the hydrographic office, Washington, the trade routes which cross the great expanse of the Pacific radiate in all directions, like the spokes of a gigantic wheel, from each of the island ports of Honolulu, of Apia, and of Tahiti. Shoreward they are directed to San Francisco, to Panama, and to Valparaiso; and on the Asiatic side of the Pacific all routes lead to Nagasaki in the north and Sydney in the south. Similarly in the south Atlantic ocean there are established for the use of steamers plying the routes of these waters, coaling stations of large importance at the otherwise remote ports of Santa Cruz de Teneriffe, at the Cape Verde Islands, at Ascension Island, and at St. Helena, all of them island ports lying well away from the African coast. Teneriffe is a regular coaling port on the route to all African ports from the Ivory Coast to Capetown; and the Cape Islands—where four thousand steamers call for coal in a single year—are on the main route from the English Channel to the ports of South America. These ports are on the cross-sea highways of the world's commerce; from them stretch the bypaths and to them come the coastwise routes.—George Harding in Harper's Magazine for June.

A PLEA FOR EDITORS.

Publicity is all a newspaper has to sell. Since the war began every local paper in Canada has given free, hundreds of dollars worth of space, boosting all kinds of funds and organizations in connection with the war. In spite of this, many unthinking people entertain the idea that editors should put up just as much cash as other citizens. If a grocer donated a large quantity of provisions to war funds, would any reasonable man expect him to put up cash? Then, why pester editors for cash, when they are already giving more to war projects than any other class of citizens. The proper system is to charge for all this kind of publicity, and make cash donations to all funds, just the same as other citizens. By doing this some of the dull-witted might gradually learn that the editors of Canada have given more towards war funds than any other class of people in the entire Dominion.—Col. R. T. Lowery in The Greenwood Ledge.

RED CROSS NOTES

The Red Cross society has acknowledged the following donations: Mrs. Rennie, $5.10, proceeds of raffle of cushion donated by Mrs. E. J. Bangs, Edgewood; old linen and blankets, Mrs. T. McDonald; 10-cent collections from Mrs. Astley, Mrs. Scott Thompson, Mrs. Whitehead, Mrs. J. Cooper; Bonnington Patriotic society, $7.50; Mrs. McCaveon, old linen; Mrs. Armstrong, one pair socks.

COLD STORAGE

A pupil in a school near Chatham Square, New York City, thus defined the word "spine:"

"A spine is a long, limber bone. Your head sets on one end and you set on the other."

Gentleman of the Road—Kindly 'elp a pore lonely 'omeless man, guv'nor, wot's got nothink in the world but a loaded revolver and no conscientious objection to usin' it.

He—Shall you be engaged tomorrow evening?

She (coyly)—That depends a good deal on you.

The Merry One—Cheer up, old man! Why don't you drown your sorrow?

The Sad One—Because she's stronger than I am; and, besides, it would be murder.

OBNOXIOUS NAMES TO BE ELIMINATED

Colonial Possesions Which Embody German Recollections to Be Rechristened

The proposal, put forward by the Australian Commonwealth, that Kaiser Whilelm's Land, the German portion of New Guinea now in our occupation, shall be renamed, is a reminder that other considerable portions of the welcome change when we win the war.

For instance, there is the Bismarck Archipelago, ceded by England to Germany in 1884. This is now held by us, and it is very unlikely that the island group will retain its present name much longer. Probably it will be changed to New Britain, which was what it was called before we surrendered it.

Curiously enough one of the largest islands in the Archipelago was christened New Hanover by ourselves, a name which it still retains. This, too, will have to go. We want no names reminiscent of the Hun on our maps nowadays, nor hereafter.

Then there is Kaiser Wilhelm II. Land, situate in the Antarctic Continent. This may well go the way of the other German overseas possessions, for although it is of little use to anybody just at present, being covered all over with an ice-cap a mile or so thick, one never knows what the future may bring forth. These frozen lands round the South Pole are believed to abound in mineral wealth; gold and coal, for instance.

And, by the way, there is yet another Kaiser Wilhelm Land, in Greenland. We shall have to rechristen this also. And while we are about it we may very possibly feel compelled to rename Franz Joseph Land; so called by its discoverer, after the present Emperor of Austria.

SECRET DOCUMENTS CAPTURED IN PERSIA

PETROGRAD, Russia, June 6.—A Teheran message states the local authorities of Shiraz, Persia, have captured two cases containing secret documents of great importance which had been dispatched by Dr. Pujen, a German agitator, for concealment at Shiraz.

SUGAR GROWING IS DEVELOPING IN BRITAIN

GLASGOW, Scotland.—The British Empire Producers Organization, which entertained the prime minister of Australia on his recent visit to Glasgow, was one of the first organizations to get to work on the outbreak of the war to solve the problem of how the production of sugar within the British Empire might be stimuloted so as to avoid dependence on Germany and Austria, which had been supplying Great Britain with about 2,000,000 tons of beet sugar. These supplies, of course, ceased automatically when war was declared.

At the entertainment given in honor of Dr. Hughes, Sir Edward Rosling, chairman of the organization, said their object was to provide machinery for linking up different industries, should they so desire, with a view to dealing with the position in which the nation would find itself on the conclusion of peace. Though the organization had started with the object of assisting the production of sugar within the Empire, it was found that the sugar industry was bound up with so many other trades that these had to be brought within the scope of it.

With regard to the engineering trade, with which Glasgow is so intimately connected, it was pointed out that for every acre of can sugar grown in the British Empire £10 worth of machinery was required. To replace the quantity of sugar formerly imported from Germany and Austria, 1,000,000 acres would be required, representing £10,000,000 worth of sugar machinery. As far as shipbuilding was concerned, the freights on suagr from the British Colonies were much higher than the mere ferry passage from the continent.

At the commencement of the process of organization, they had cabled an invitation to Australia, Natal, Canada, India and Mauritius to send representatives to a conference to be held in London immediately. They had also invited the West Indies, represented by the West India committee in London, to send some of their members.

Andrew Fisher, high commissioner for Australia, said that if they were going to do something worthy of their race they would have to make sacrifices. They had cheered Mr. Hughes when he had told them what had been done by State action—the community for the community. He (Mr. Fisher) had often looked back from the distant Commonwealth of Australia to his native land and wondered if it would in this matter take the guiding had and the leading part, would take that step which in his opinion would be taken in the near future to organize human effort, human ethics and the foundations of justice on lines different from those existing at the present time. He did not think they needed wealth. They needed more hard, solid thinking, and the spirit of brotherhood which made a people great.

Dr. Hughes said that Sir Edward Rosling's statement that the sugar supply for the British Empire could be organized was definite and hopeful. He saw no reason why it should not be done and done immediately. The foundation of it must be such an assurance to and arrangement with the sugar producers within the Empire that the British nation was prepared to buy its sugar at a fixed price from them and from them only. Those who thought the British Empire incapable of supplying all the sugar required did not know its immense possibilities.

This conference, if it got the support it deserved from the people and the government of Great Britain, would drive a wedge into the "do-nothing" policy under which they lived today. One great central truth must ever be kept in mind, that no edifice they could erect would be permanent and satisfactory unless it rested upon the foundation of such a radical change in the condition of the masses of the people as would, by driving out every mean and petty thought, inspire all classes to realize that all are one great family and to take pride in being citizens together of the same great heritage.

FOE MIXED BEES AND BULLETS IN ATTACK

LONDON—The Central News quotes from the Natal Mercury accounts of the difficulties confronting the British fighting forces in East Africa, furnished by an officer of the East African mounted rifles, who formerly was a coffee planter at Nairobi. This officer said the principal difficulty was the great density of the bush, which rendered effective scouting almost impossible and provisioning troops very difficult.

Of the ingenuity of the Germans there is no doubt, as the following incident will prove: Round about Tanga, where the Lancashires landed, is a considerable bee country. The natives have a device which they place in the hollow logs in trees to enable bees to construct their hives, and from these the natives collected honey.

In one place the Germans tied up a lot of these logs together, and attached them to a wire in long grass. They also invented a plan which caused a white flag to jump up when anyone came in contact with the wire, this being the signal for them to turn machine guns on the spot.

A party of Lancashires had the ill-luck to stumble over the wire, with the result that dozens of bee hives fell and up sprang the white flag, revealing their whereabouts. The Lancashires quickly had bees and bullets to contend with, and between the two had a hot time.

A Little Bit from Every Purse Will Provide for Belgium's Hungry Millions

"Oh, I'm sick and tired of hearing about the poor, starving Belgians! Why do the papers keep harping away on that same old subject?"

"Because the Belgians are still hungry, I suppose. By the way, have you given much to the Belgian Relief Fund?"

"Well, I can't say I have given anything yet. But then there are so many demands on one's purse these war times."

Isn't that usually the way? Those who have followed the impulses of humanity and have given what they could to the Belgians are the ones who are always interested, who sympathize with their sufferings and are willing to keep on helping.

Those who profess to be "fed up" on Belgian Relief talk are the ones who, at every appeal, have stifled their generous impulses, and are feeling more uncomfortable about it every time.

Belgium's need is growing greater every day as one family after another exhausts its little hoard of money and becomes entirely dependent on the Belgian Relief Fund for daily bread—for life itself. Already these number nearly three millions.

More is needed than the continued help of those who have been giving right along! The big gifts of the rich and well-to-do by no means meet the demands! What the Fund needs — what these Belgian women and children must have or face stark starvation—is the additional help of hundreds and thousands who have not yet contributed!

In the hands of the marvellously efficient Belgian Relief Commission, Seven Cents a Day, or even less, will provide food for one needy woman, child or old man.

Can you afford to give that much?

Can you, knowing the need, refuse it?

Whatever you feel you can give, send your subscription weekly, monthly, or in one lump sum, to Local or Provincial Committees, or

Alkali In Shampoos Bad For Washing Hair

Dont use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and daadruff.

INDIGESTION DYSPEPSIA GASTRITIS STOMACH ULCERS

Why Magnesia Should be Taken After Every Meal.

A flushed face may be the first noticeable symptom of indigestion, but disregard this worning and soon there is a unmistakeable pain, for indigestion is a progressive ailment. At first the symptoms may be relieved by pepsin, bismuth or soda but these things do not overcome the excessive acid in the stomach which is usually the underlying cause of the trouble and consequently the acid accumulates and the occasional attack of indigestion becomes chronic dyspepsia. The dyspeptic is always particularly liable to gastritis and gastric ulcers in the stomach are only too often the forerunners of peritonitis, stomach cancers and death.

For this reason physicians place much importance upon keeping the stomach free from harmful acid and are continuously advising chronic dyspeptics as well as those who only suffer occasional attacks of indigestion to keep a little pure bisurated magnesia handy, and to take a teaspoonful in a little water after every meal. Practically any druggist can supply you with bisurated magnesia and all stomach sufferers are advised to get an ounce or so and give it a trial. Care should be taken to tell the druggist to give you magnesia in the bisurated form as other magnesia preparations while valuable as laxatives and mouth washes are not recommended for the correction of stomach acidity.

NEW HOME TREATMENT FOR UGLY, HAIRY GROWTHS

(Boudoir Secrets.)

Here is a simple, yet very effective method for removing hair and fuzz from the face, neck and arms: Cover the objectionable hairs with a paste made by mixing some water with a little powdered delatone. Leave this on for 2 or 3 minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs have vanished. No pain or inconvenience attends this treatment, but results will be certain if you are sure to get real delatone.

GERMAN PEOPLE BEING PREPARED FOR PEACE MOVE

BERLIN.—Gradually, unobtrusively and skilfully, German public opinion is being prepared for peace in general and mediation by President Wilson in particular. This is today the only important concrete fact emerging from the peace talk, peace rumor and the speculative combination of the two.

It is not only possible for the imperial government, through the political censorship, to mold and influence public opinion to its way of thinking in regard to peace but what is more to the point, it is doing so. And the political censorship never worked more admirably or sanely than at the present time in its manipulation of the all-absorbing peace theme.

The censorship has lifted the lid from this topic, which has long been almost taboo and has given a very free rein to peace discussion. And even though for the present the discussion of specific peace terms and war aims is still forbidden, the now comparative freedom of the press must mark a notable advance.

Not only have the German people now been thoroughly familiar with the idea that President Wilson intends to offer his services as mediator at the earliest possible moment, and with prospects of success, but they know, too, the pope is working for peace. They are also informed that President Wilson is likely to have a competitor for first place in the contest to bring about peace in the person of the king of Spain.

Reports printed here indicate that the possibility of peace soon is being so seriously regarded in Madrid that King Alfonso as soon as he has assured himself as to the intentions of the several belligerent powers, plans to send two highly placed personages to the several governments with instructions to pave the way for peac negotiations. Significance accordingly is attached here to the fact of the kaiser's return to Berlin from headquarters at this time. Also the fact that the kaiser immediately received the Spanish ambassador in audience and that the latter, as well as the Argentine minister, since then has been in conference with Ambassador Gerrard.

OLD INDUSTRIES REVIVED.

One curious result of the war has been to revive some of the ancient, half-forgotten English village industries.

Flint-knapping, for instance, which has been carried on at Brandon in Suffolk, for many generations and which almost received its death blow—but not quite, when the old flint-lock musket was superseded by the percussion-cap rifle, has recently been given a tremendous fillip, owing to the demand for flints for tinder-boxes by the men at the front.

Charcoal burning again, which was a flourishing industry in the Sussex weald hundreds of years ago before coal was thought of, may now be seen in full swing again, the war office having recently ordered large supplies for use in the trenches.

The charcoal burner pursues his calling in the open air and he works on an accepted formula handed down from earliest times through many generations. Green oak logs only must be used, and these are all cut to the same size and stacked together in such a way as to form a low, conically-shaped heap.

This is then covered with freshly cut turf and set fire to, but it needs constant watching and attention, for, if combustion proceeds too quickly, the somldering pile may burst into flame.

The breeding of ferrets has been a village industry in England almost time immemorial, but the demand for the little creatures has greatly fallen off during recent years. Now, however, owing to the insistent call for ferrets to will the rats which swarm in the trenches in France and Flanders, the demand has jumped far in excess of supply.

INDICTMENT AGAINST KELLY IS HELD VALID

Counsel's Motion to Quash Charges in Case at Winnipeg Is Denied—Arraigned for Trial.

By Daily News Leased Wire.)

WINNIPEG, June 6.—The indictment against Thomas Kelly, parliament building contractor, was held to be valid by Justice Arbigast today. In a lengthy judgment the judge dismissed the motion made by Kelly's counsel to have the indictment quashed. The judge held that the attorney general of Manitoba did not exceed his authority in presenting the indictment to the grand jury in Kelly's absence and before any preliminary hearing had taken place. He also gave it as his opinion that the various counts of the indictment should stand.

H. H. Ewart, K.C., then asked for a reserve case from his lordship for the court of appeals, based on the arguments of the defense in the motion to quash. The judge granted the request and R. A. Bonnar, K.C., for the crown, asked that the trial proceed while the decision of the court of appeal was pending. Kelly was then arraigned.

"Not guilty," he said.

"On all points?" asked the clerk of the court.

"On all points," replied the accused.

Mr. Ewart then made a motion that the trial be postponed for at least a month or six weeks and he read affidavits from the accused and Edward Anderson, K.C., his associate counsel, declaring that it was impossible for a fair trial to be secured now because of the state of public opinion, the elaborate nature of the defense required and the large number of documents which had to be examined. Kelly's committal to jail without bail was also cited as a difficulty in the way of a prompt trial. Expert witnesses had to be secured from the United States and delay said Mr. Ewart, was "absolutely essential if justice is to be done."

J. B. Coyne, K.C., was not ready to argue on the motion consideration of which was put over to Wednesday morning. "The crown feels," said Mr. Coyne, "that it is not in the interests of justice that such a delay should be granted."

A. J. Andrews, K.C., counsel for the ex-ministers, put in a plea for the immediate hearing of the charges against his client. The crown made no answer.

PHOENIX HAS 84 MEN ON ACTIVE SERVICE LISTS

Boundary City Plays Its Part in Supplying Sinews of War to the Canadian Forces.

Wounded or sick—Pte. P. Poulton, Pte. J. Bennett, Pte. Buterworth, Pte. J. Porter, Pte. Kerrison, Pte. McQuoid, Pte. H. Sewel and Pte. B. Kerr.

In addition to the above enviable record of recruits to the service that has been established, the Boundary city is contributing the sum of $200 monthly to the 225th Kootenay battalion recruiting and company fund.

LIPSETT IS NAMED TO SUCCEED MERCER

Brother of Sir Sam Hughes to Fill His Place in First Division—Fate of Officers Unknown.

OTTAWA, June 6.—Brig-Gen. Lipsett, formerly of the 8th Winnipeg battalion, and now commanding one of the brigades of the first division, will succeed Maj.-Gen. Mercer as the commanding officer of the third division. For Gen. Lipsett's place in the first division Brig-Gen. W. St. P. Hughes, a brother of Sir Sam Hughes, has been recommended by Gen. Byng. Gen. Hughes is now commanding one of the brigades of the 4th division which is still in process of final organization and has not yet reached the front. Brig.-Gen. Hughes, who has already seen considerable service at the front in command of the 21st battalion, will thus again get into the firing line promptly.

To take his place in the 4th division Col. Embury of Regina, who has been commanding the 28th battalion, will be promoted brigadier in command of a brigade of the 4th division.

No word has yet been received by Sir Sam Hughes as to the fate of either Maj.-Gen. Mercer or Brig.-Gen. Victor Williams. Both were officially reported wounded and missing and that is the only word so far heard about them at headquarters.

STOCK PRICES GAIN AND THEN FALL OFF

Market Unaffected by British Disaster —Declines Scored in Face of Increased Dividends.

By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, June 6.—Special stocks as well as representative issues were elevated again today on an expansion of professional activity. The market's course was altogether inconsistent, however, in that it ignored the disaster to the British military administration at the outset, but declined later on the favorable auguries conveyed in a number of increased dividends.

Announcement of early settlement of long-standing differences among interests in Mercantile Marine proved of value to shipping shares, which were especially weak at the close.

The reversal of the later session was concurrent with an advance in call money to 4 per cent to the highest quotation in months. Local banks recently expressed their disapproval of the movement in certain of the more volatile issues and the hardening of loan rates may not be without significance in that quarter.

Motor stocks were less active and more irregular than yesterday.

Sugars repeated their familiar performance of mounting to higher levels, South Porto Rico common and preferred touching 236 and 126 respectively, with 83½ for the common beet.

Some of the more active war issues, like Crucible Steel and Baldwin Locomotive had their narrow flights and Bethlehem Steel gained 6 points, but United States Steel lagged in characteristic fashion, developing heaviness at the close.

Coppers were mildly responsive to higher dividends while other special stocks, including Harvester, American Writing Paper, and United States Smelting denoted the effect of pools and cliques.

Norfolk and Western railway fastened its claim to leadership of the rails by an advance of 2⅝ to the new high price of 136¾, with variable gains in some of the Pacifics, Reading and the cotton carriers.

Total sales of stocks amounted to 625,000 shares.

Marine imparted firmness to the general bond list on their advance to the new high quotation of 104¾. Total sales of bonds, par value, $3,760,000.

United States registered 4s advanced ¼ per cent on call.

Advance Caused by Flurry in Futures and Bullish Advices About Domestic Crop Conditions.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

CHICAGO, Ill., June 6.—Wheat prices rose to a material extent today, chiefly as a result of a flurry in futures here and because of bullish advices about domestic crop conditions. The market closed strong 2 to 2¼ net higher, with July at $1.05¾ and September at $1.07⅝.

Oats gained ⅜ and provisions lost 2½ to 20½.

Opinions differed greatly as to the European purchasing of wheat futures. The disaster to Lord Kitchener had some bearing on the subject but was not backed up by any substantial evidence and on the contrary was met by suggestions on the part of several trade authorities that his death, if it has any effect on the wheat market, was most likely to count on the side of the bears. One plausible explanation of the foreign buying of future deliveries was that stocks in Great Britain have not increased as fast as expected and that a lessening of freight rates on tramp steamers to England had been ordered with a view to stimulating export shipments from the United States.

Oats, helped upward by a better call from the seaboard east of Chicago, was said to be a fortnight or three weeks later than last year.

Lower prices on hogs weakened provisions. A break in the Liverpool market was also a bearish factor.

TRADING AT MONTREAL IS DULL AND UNEVENTFUL

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

MONTREAL, June 6—After a steady to firm opening stocks sagged through a dull and uneventful session today. Little pressure of stock was in evidence during the day, but interest in market affairs was completely subordinated to news from the war zone. The heavy casualties among the Canadian forces and the early morning reports absorbed attention to the exclusion of everything else, and marketwise there was little heart for constructive effort. In the circumstances the market acted well, a light volume of selling finding a good demand at small reactions and a quiet and steady close left prices for the most part within fractions of the final close Monday.

In the firm opening Cement and Steamships, which were features of Monday's trading established new high records, the former at 72¾ and the latter at 29¼, fractional fluctuations over the high prices established the previous day. Lyall also rose 1 above Monday's high level, selling at 82½. Early buying was in smaller volume than usual, however, and when orders had been filled the market proceeded to sag. Cement sold off at one time to 70, but recovered to 72, closing with a net loss of ½ point. Steamships closed at the low. Lyall closed 2 off for the day at 79¼. Total sales, 5699 shares and $98,700 bonds.

TORONTO MARKET DEPRESSED BY GREAT BRITISH DISASTER

By Daily News Leased Wire.)

TORONTO, June 6.—The day's news had a depressing influence on local stocks trading falling off and a generally easier tone developing as the morning proceeded, without, however, any notable declines being induced. Early in the day Cement advanced to 73, a new high record, but it broke to below 71 and its rally to 71¾ did not carry it back to last night's close.

Dominion Steel declined from 57⅜ to 56¾ in the morning. Directors of the corporation are expected to pass on the annual statement of the year tomorrow, which ended March 31 last. The report will then be handed to the shareholders.

Of the less active stocks Duluth-Superior and Porto Rico railways were firm, Duluth rising, 2½ to 48½ and Porto Rico selling at 49½ to 48 and closing at 49.

NEW ZINC-LEAD PLANT STARTS

The plant of the American Metals Producing company, at Black Hawk, Colo., has commenced operations, but it will be a few days yet until all adjustments are made and the mill in full commission.

The company in handling zinc-lead concentrates and ores of the same character. A large tonnage is being lined up over the country in Gilpin, Clear Creek and Summit Countries, and in a few weeks the available supply should be sufficient to increase the milling facilities of the plant to double its present capacity.

While confirming their purchases to material of a lead-zinc character, the operators of the plant intend to handle copper-iron sulphides soon. Ores containing low values in gold and silver are the desirable material and are also the kind which the miner is unable to dispose of elsewhere. E. S. Moulton is the president, and G. Whitney Adams is secretary-treasurer of the company.

PROCESS FOR COMPLEX ORES

It will be of much interest to the owners of properties containing complex ores to learn that a new process has been discovered and a plant now being erected in Los Angeles which will allow payment for practically all of the values in an ore, and which will take ore with lower percentages of metals than have heretofore been accepted. Heretofore, molybdenite had to be concentrated to a large percentage, and if copper was present, the molybdenite was not as readily sold. But according to the reports of the promoters of this new process, low-grade molybdenum ores may be handled and the copper also paid for. The same applies to zinc and very particularly to vanadium, which is seldom saleable on account of its impurities of other metals.

The new process does not penalize for sulphur, arsenic, silica, barytes, or bismuth. It is claimed that the complex lead-copper-zinc,antimony-silver ores from Inyo and Mono counties, California, and the complex tin sulphides from Bolivia, which have heretofore been only valuable for the copper contained, have been successfully treated. Ores from Bolivia containing tin, tungsten, zinc, lead, and antimony are received, for all of which metals payment is made.

The intense practical importance of this work to the owners of mines of complex ores can hardly be overestimated, and the success of the process, of which the inventors feel assured, will mean much to the production of Arizona minerals. Further information relative to this work may be obtained by writing Charles F. Willis, director, Arizona State Bureau of Mines, Tucson, Ariz.—Mining American.

RIGGS BANK FINE IS REMITTED

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 6.—Justice McCoy of the District of Columbia supreme court ordered the treasury to remit to the Riggs National Bank a $5000 fine assessed by Comptroller Williams, which brought on the Riggs-treasury courtoversy. The money was due the bank as interest on government bonds and payment was refused on the ground that the bank refused to comply with the demand for reports on business done.

COCOA FROM BRAZIL.

According to the New York Herald, the shipments of cocoa from the consular district of Bahia, Brazil, for the United States increased from 23,030,794 pounds, valued at $2,610,034, for 1914, to 30,643,960 pounds, valued at $4,-,-886,015, for 1915.

MODERN ARMY NEEDS MANY MOTOR TRUCKS

Officer of U. S. Commissariat Emphasizes Importance of Vehicles in War

The necessity of motor trucks in the commissariat department of an army in time of war is being brought home to the warring nations in Europe at the present time. While the British officers are too busy fighting to write on subjects of this kind an American officer has taken his pen in hand and discussed this question. In an address before the Pennsylvania section of the Society of Automobile Engineers recently Major Francis Lawton, of the commissariat department of the east, stated that few realized that transportation conditions had changed and for this reason scant attention was being paid to the motor truck in the discussion of preparedness.

"Animals can always be secured," he said, "but motor trucks are different. The lessons of Europe show that rapidly moving troops must rely on motor trucks. The American soldiers would never be able to operate a line of communication from Columbus, N. M., to Casas Grandes without the use of motor trucks, which they were obliged to purchase in order to maintain a line of communication.

Millions Not Thousands

"The tactical unit of an army is the division consisting of 22,000 men. This requires 170,000 pounds of food per day. In the armies of today the men are numbered by millions instead of thousands. Two methods of securing food are available to men on the march or fighting in hostile countries. First, forage, and second, by carrying. Gustavus Adolphus and Napoleon, the two great tacticinas, used both methods. Modern armies rely on the country in which they are operating and also draw on the country as if it were the only source of supply, and the rear must be drawn upon as if it were also the only source of supply. The amount carried on the march amounts to about 1,250,000 pounds for a division, and the method is to ship from the purchase point or main base to the advance depot, from the advance depot to the refilling point, and from this point to the various distributing points along the firing line. The carrying is done between the refilling points by supply trains, sanitary trains and engineers' trains.

"With animals, the average march per day is 18 miles, and with a total distance of 75 miles from the base, 780 wagons would be required. With motor trucks of about two tons capacity the work could be done with 120 vehicles. With 240 trucks a division could operate 150 miles from its base. A division operating 40 miles from its base, would require 30 trucks. Lessons from the present war teach us the following.

Commercial Trucks Best

"Ordinary commerical trucks are best, the special body types not necessary. Best all-round car, one and one half tons. Heavy armored cars have proved satisfactory. Motorcycles on a grand scale are unsatisfactory. Radiators are proving to be weak spots. The steel plate wheel is satisfactory. Electric headlights should be mounted on universal joints.

"The United States government favors the 1 1-2 ton truck on account of its ability to traverse the ordinary bridges without breaking them down. This, of course, refers to the division trains only, as larger trucks can be used satisfactorily in the main roads. To attempt to use two-ton and over trucks on poor roads spells disaster. It has been found absolutely necessary on stone highways, however, to use these larger trucks.

"A force of 500,000 men requires more than 8000 trucks of 1½ ton capacity and the problem is where and how to get these trucks. They must be organized into units of the same make if they are to be effective. The problems are: Properly organized truck units. Correct truck specification. Lists of where these trucks and suitable chaffeurs can be found. Determination of the best body for use. A list of the necessary repair parts for each make of truck and the equipment of the repair car. A field repair shop.

"A recommended orgahization of the cars is into groups of 60 cars in squads of 20. For each squad there should be one repair car, three fuel cars, one company headquarters car, four officers' touring cars and eight motorcycles. At the head of each squad there is one captain and under him three lieutenants, one first sergeant, nine first sergeant repairmen, 58 sergeant drivers, eight corporal drivers and three corporal repairmen, 78 privates and three corporals. The regulations adopted by the war department have 27 cargo trucks, 3000-pound capacity, one repair truck, 3000-pound capacity, under an organization of one truck master, three assistants, two machinists and 35 enlisted men."

LION FOND OF PERFUME

A certain animal trainer of Chicago is said to have discovered a simple and safe way to tame a lion. He claims that all one need do is to permit the lion to have a smell of attar of roses perfume. This man, who has charge of a menagarie, recently gave a demonstration of what his new method can accomplish. He entered the cage of a sleeping lion and, at once, the animal woke much startled. Smith dangled the handkerchief sprinkled with the perfume before the lion's nose and the lion began to sniff eagerly. Soon the animal buried his nose in the sweet-smelling handkerchief and seemed as quiet and content as when was sleeping. He permitted his keeper to brush his head and mane and to stroke his back. Smith is convinced that perfumes have a soothing effect upon wild beasts.

Clean to handle. Sold by all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores.

Absorption Process Makes Faces Young

Success has at last come to scientists who for years have sought some method of removing the outer veil of facial skin in cases of unsightly complexions, which would be both painless and harmless. The new process is so simple, so inexpensive, the wonder is no one had discovered it long ago. It has been amply demonstrated that common mercolized wax (sold by druggists in ounce packages) entirely removes by gentle absorption, the withered, lifeless surface skin, showing the youthful, roselike skin beneath. The wax is applied at night like cold cream and washed off in the morning. The absorption also cleanses clogged pores, increasing the skin's breathing capacity and preserving tone, color and natural beauty of the new skin.

A simple and harmless wrinkle remover which has also proved quite successful can easily be made at home in a jiffy. All one need do is to dissolve an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel and bathe the face in the solution once a day for a while. After the very first application the finer lines disappear and the deeper ones soon follow.

PROVES WOMEN LIVE LONGER THAN MEN

Reason Why Nature Gives Them Greater Expectation of Life Is Unsolved Problem

The longevity tables given out by Director Rogers of the United States Census Bureau, and prepared by Professor Glover, of the University of Michigan are interesting in several respects, but, in none more so than in the evidence which they supply of the superior tenacity of life on the part of women and girls, as compared with men and boys, says a writer in the Boston Transcript. A girl baby's expectation of life at birth is 53.2 years; that of a boy baby is 49.9 years. At the age of ten years the average American native white male's expectation of life is 50.2 years; that of the average native white female is 52.6 years. Nor is this divergence due to the fact that men and boys above the age of ten are more likely to perish by accident on account of their more risky diversions and employments than women; for not merely in the first ten years of their life, but in the first year of their life, the death rate of males is much higher than that of females. The tales, which are based upon the vital statistics of all the States which have statistics and have had them base comparisons upon them establish clearly enough the superior vitality of the female sex, and its sturdier resistance to disease.

Food the Explanation

However, when we speak of a sturdier resistance to disease, we do not mean that, at least as regards female adults, the woman has that resistance merely by virtue of her sex. If Metchnikoff is right, longevity is dependent in a considerable measure on the use and assimilation of food. A great proportion of men are continually engaged in the task of slowly poisoning themselves with their food and drink. Not so great a proportion of women are embarked in this form of suicide. The average woman is much more temperate and much more sensible in the use of her food and drink than the average man. In a sense, she has to be. She is not so free to indulge herself as the man. In the domestic interior, which is still the habitat of the majority of women, there is little opportunity of or temptation to self-indulgence or dietic eccentricity.

This much as to women adults. But what about the superior resistance to disease shown by the girl babies, who are nourished in the same manner as the boy baby? Here another great scientist comes to our aid, at least with a suggestion: Weissman maintains that there is an adaption of the phenomenon of death to the necessity of the perpetuation of the species, and that nature's general tendeney is to eliminate those individuals who are no longer of use in this regard. Under this suggestion, we may suppose that if girl babies are more tenacious of life than boys is must be because they are more essential to nature's far-seeing scheme.

How she does it we do not know, but nature looks out, after a long war which has killed off a great proportion of the men, that more boy babies shall be born than in normal periods. She has subtle ways of maintaining the balance of life and society; and if she favors with a higher vitality female adults, who are more temperate than male adults, she also bestows this superior vitality, outright, upon the girl babies, in order that the stock of mothers shall not run low.

An interesting moral suggestion is to be found in these statistics. The life of women is much more distinctly and directly a life of personal service than that of men. Woman's life is more thoroughly one of pure devotion than man's. Just dogged useful going-on is her watchword. Does nature reward her with a more valid expectation of life on account of this? It would seem so. We are finding out that service is life—and woman is apparently demonstrating that it is strength.

FRENCH WOMEN'S STATUS AFTER WAR

PARIS, France—One of the most important social questions which will have to be solved at the termination of the war is the alteration in the social position of women, brought about by the manner in which they have risen to the demand made on their capacities since the mobilization. This new problem which will affect the nation's family as well as professional life is being recognized, but up to the present it had been relegated for solution to some vague period termed "after the war." Senator Humbert, however, has realized the need for its immediate consideration and for a clear seeing and deft handling of such a question, he could not have turned to anyone more able than Eugene Brieux. Brieux has treated of sociology under too many faces, in his remarkable problem plays, not to have diagnosed the situation which is developing. In reply to Senator Humbert's request, he has stated his opinion on the subject in an article which is to be the first of many replies to the Journals's inquiry. Brieux straightway recognizes the problem as a serious one, but one which, if wisely solved, will lead to the raising of the standard of life both for women and men. He treats the subject, naturally, from the French point of view, which differs in some respects from the English.

What has happened since the beginning of the war? he asks. Feminism has made enormous strides. The women of France have been admirable. There have been exceptions, but the vast majority has risen to the occasion in a manner which has proved surprising to many. It is not that they have merely shown capacities for self-sacrifice, which is generally held to be a feminine virtue, but they have given overwhelming proof of practical common sense, of business ability, of perseverance in effort, of prudence and of courage. In the face of this, how will it be possible to give women the usual absurd answers when they demand their rights as members of the community? Even those persons who hold to the argument of inferior physical capacity can be answered on their own ground, by pointing to the munition factories. Women, says Brieux have tasted of the fruit which has forbidden them, not by God, but by men. They know now what they can do. Still half astonished by the revelation of their own capacities, they yet realize that they have won for themselves the power to decide their own futures.

The new consciousness of their own power which women have developed during these months of war, Brieux asks his fellow countrymen to accept, it is further forced upon them. He outlines the reforms which the altered conditions must bring about to enable says, will a higher social order to be evolved out of the present transition. Men, he says, will abandon intemperance but they will have to be helped out it, and all justification for the conditions which have led to the public house being regarded as the only place where the poor man can meet his friends, will have to be removed. Men will hold a different idea of women, and the abominable institution of the dowry will disappear.

NEW ROYAL BANK MANAGER ARRIVES

F. A. Hanna Comes from Vancouver to Succeed A. B. Netherby Who Goes to Regina.

F. A. Hanna of Vancouver arrived in the city Tuesday evening to assume the duties of manager of the Nelson branch of the Royal Bank of Canada as successor to A. B Netherby, who has received the appointment of manager of the main branch of the bank at Regina.

Mr. Hanna has been in the service of the bank for the past 16 years, having entered its employ as a junior in Truro, N.S., shortly before the name of the bank was changed from the Merchants Bank of Halifax, to the Royal Bank of Canada. Since then he has served the institution in varying capacities at Truro, Montreal, Welland, Ont., and Winnipeg and has been in charge of the Cordova street branch at Vancouver for the past three years.

Mr. Hanna who made the trip from the coast by way of Spokane leaving the train at the mountain station and walking down town, expressed himself as delighted with what he saw of the city during his walk. He expects to bring Mrs. Hanna and his baby boy to the city shortly and will make his home in the house at present occupied by Mr. Netherby.

A. B. Netherby, who has been in charge of the Nelson branch for the past seven years and will leave for Regina at the end of the week, has been in the service of the Royal bank for 17 years, having entered the banking business as a junior clerk in his home city, Victoria. For 10 years, Mr. Netherby has held the post of manager at various branches of the bank, coming to Nelson from Cumberland, Vancouver island.

During their stay in Nelson Mr. and Mrs. Netherby have occupied a prominent place in the social life of the city. Mr. Netherby is a member of the Nelson club and has been a strong supporter of the city's winter sports, particularly that of curling, while Mrs. Netherby has taken an active interest in the work of the various charitable bodies of the city. The departure of Mr. and Mrs. Netherby for the prairies will be regarded with much regret in Nelson social circles.

NELSON FAVORED IN MANY MEASURES

W. R. Maclean, M.P.P., Returns to City Well Satisfied with Work Accomplished by Legislature.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

W. R. Maclean, M.P.P., arrived home Tuesday night looking none the worse for the long and busy session at Victoria.

He expressed great satisfaction with the treatment accorded Nelson in the matter of school and hospital grants.

The pressing of the claims of the hospital on Mr. Bowser and the ministers by President J. A. Irving, Secretary George Johnstone and Hr. Maclean resulted in a definite promise of the remaining $30,000 of the original $40,000 promised some years ago.

Dr. Robinson promised to check the school plans and return them to the school board at once, when the $20,000 grant will be available. The fall fair grant will be the same as last year. Mr. Maclean expects a start to be made on the Thrums roadwork shortly.

Measures Affecting Nelson.

"Among the acts passed during the session there are a number particularly interesting to Nelson," he said. "In the Municipal Amendment act an error excluding railroad property from municipal taxes, would have been inserted but for the activities of Mr. Schofield, president and Mr. Maclean, secretary, of the municipal committee.

Among other measures are the provision for a minister of agriculture and the putting into effect at once of the agricultural credit loans. Another measure is that providing for any person actually working a forfeited crown granted mineral claim being able to lease it for two years at $25 per year and to get a title to it any time during the two years by paying the arrears of taxes, thus preventing outsiders from buying it over his head should a valuable discovery be made. Provision for free stumpage to bona fide farmers up to 160 acres, if cut on their own farm is also of local interest and the passing of the act in aid of the French Complex Ore Reduction company is also satisfactory to Nelsonites. The setting aside of $200,000 for aid to the developing of prospects is a step in a direction advocated by Nelson men for years. Most of the longer acts are of general interest and were no doubt followed carefully by the readers of The Daily News.

"I must confess," said the returned member, "to having been very homesick at times, especially when the session was dragging slowly, but I generally got into the scrap deeply enough to keep me from fading away on account of ennui."

James Johnstone succeeded in bagging a good sized cinnimon bear Monday.

BROTHERS LEAVE TO JOIN BATTALION

Douglas and Hilton Nagle En Route to Coast to Enlist With University Unit

Douglas and Hilton A. Nagle left Tuesday night to join the university battalion and George Elliot, Ralph Corey and Charles Middleton will leave Thursday night for the coast for the same purpose.

The two Nagle boys, who are the only sons of A. W. Nagle of 804 Baker street, are well known in Nelson, having lived in the city for the past 18 years and attended both the Central and high schools. Douglas has for some time past been engaged in business in Kaslo and has given up his position there to go to the front. Hilton Nagle, who was in his third term at high school, is regarded as one of the most popular of Nelson's younger set and will be much missed in Y. M. C. A. sporting circles, as he has always taken an active part in the athletic work of that institution. He is an enthusiastic basketball player and has on several occasions piloted the "Y" team to victory by his brilliant playing.

Tuesday afternoon a gathering was held at the high school at which Hilton Nagle, George Elliot, Ralph Corey and Charles Middleton were presented with signet rings by the pupils and teachers. Short addresses were made by Rev. C. W. Corey, who will follow his son Ralph to the coast and enlist as a private in the same battalion and Rev. Fred H. Graham. A large number of friends of the two boys gathered at the station on Tuesday night to wish them God speed and a safe return.

WILL GIVE PROCEEDS TO BELGIAN RELIEF

Willow Point Women to Donate Proceeds of Saturday Market Stall Sales to Fund.

It was announced yesterday that the Willow Point women, who have been operating a stall at the weekly market Saturday mornings at Nelson, would donate the entire proceeds of the sale of their wares at this week's market to The Daily News Belgian relief fund.

Saturday will be the first anniversary of the establishment of the Willow Point stall at the market, and it has been felt that no more fitting way could be found of celebrating the event than by devoting the entire day's proceeds to the assistance of the Belgian sufferers. Through the medium of The Daily News more than $1100 has been sent to the central committee in charge of the work of sending supplies overseas, since the fund was inaugurated and it is expected that the announcement made by the Willow Point women will attract a large number of buyers to the stall at the public market on Saturday morning.

BATTALION DANCE DRAWS LARGE CROWD

More than 300 persons attended the dance given by the members of C company, 225th Kootenay battalion, in the armory on Tuesday night.

Those present were loud in their praise of the splendid entertainment provided by the soldiers and friends who provided the substantial supper served during the evening. While it was noticable that the fair sex was in the large majority and at times partners were at a premium, every one voted the dance one of the most sucessful of the season.

THE MOUNTAINEER IS ORGAN OF 225TH

First Issue of Battalion Newspaper Contains Much News of General Interest.

The Mountaineer, the official organ of the 225th battalion, made its bow to the public Monday and will be published at intervals from now on for the purpose of keeping the public throughout the district informed of the battalion's lightest doings.

The Mountaineer is a four page sheet, printed on The Daily News presses and contain a vast quantity of interesting information, most of which has been contributed by the various members of the battalion. The editor is Sergt. A. R. Giddings, who in the following editorial, presents the paper to the public:

"In presenting this, the first issue of the 225th overseas battalion newspaper, to the public, we ask your kind forbearance. The editor is only able to devote a very small portion of his time to the preparation of this paper being on duty as staff seargeant from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., consequently has little time to deliberate on the niceties of expression and smooth grammatical precision that go to make up a really successful and favored journal.

"We trust, however, as time goes by and the work of organization becomes a little less strenuous, that we may be able to greatly increase the interest and zest of our paper. Meanwhile we crave your consideration and help."

The Ladies 'Aid of Trinity Methodist church will meet at 3 o'clock Wednesday in the church parlors.

MEMORABLE DINNER.

"Talking about good dinners," said the Yankee traveler, slowly, "I remember one I had in Chicago. I went into a slap-up restaurant with some chums and ordered the finest thing in dinners. Then when the bill came round we could not decide who was to pay. They all wanted to and so did I."

"Very awkward for you all," agreed one of his listeners skeptically.

"Well, yes," continued the man from the states; "as we couldn't settle the matter I proposed that we should blind fold the waiter and then which ever one of us he caught was to be allowed to foot the bill."

"A very good idea," said another listener, stifling a yawn. "Whom did he catch?"

"I dunno," replied the Yankee briefly, "but he ain't caught me yet."

102ND AND 11TH TO LEAVE SHORTLY

Recruiting for C. M. R. to Close June 15—Both Battalions Have Many District Men

It is believed that the 11th battalion Canadian Mounted rifles and the 102nd battalion, in which units are a number of Kootenay men, will leave for active service at the front within a few days.

Word has been received from Vancouver which indicates that the 102nd is now up to strength and that the 11th battalion only requires a few more men to give it its required number. It is said that word has been received from Ottawa instructing the commanding officers of these battalions to hold their units in readiness to entrain for their shipping points as soon as the necessary transportation arrangements are completed.

Sergt. A. E. Bennett, who has been in Nelson and district for some time past enlisting men for the 11th battalion, states that definite orders have been received to close recruiting June 15, but states that he will be able to send a few more men to the coast, if application is made to him immediately, as he is about to return to Victoria.

In addition to the 102nd and the 11th battalions, it is stated at the coast that the draft of 250 men, reinforcements to the pioneer battalion, and the 13th field ambulance, which has been mobilized at Victoria, have also received orders to hold themselves in readiness for overseas service.

SOCIALISTS DECLARE STRIKE IN CHRISTIANA

CHRISTIANA, June 6.—As a protest against the passage of the compulsory arbitration bill the Socialists have declared a general strike including government and municipal employees, 45,000 men quit work tonight, while 42,000 others gave two weeks' notice of their intention to strike.

FRENCH VIEWS ON AMERICAN OPINION

PARIS, France.—The message sent by the 500 representatives of American public opinion, in protest against war as waged by the Germans, and expressive of the hope of America that the cause of civilization shall triumph, will have a world-wide effect, says the Temps in an editorial on the subject. President Wilson's last word to imperial Germany, and the solemn and unusual manner in which he declared his attitude in congress will not efface the impression caused by the intellectuals' manifesto. The two actions, on the contrary, are of a similar nature, and their coincidence but increases the effect produced. The 93 German academists and savants prided themselves on uttering the sentiments of the whole of Germany in their manifesto, which was nothing more than an outrage upon truth, as well as upon human knowledge and upon humanity itself. The message of the five hundred is without doubt, the verdict of the American conscience.

The effectiveness of the verdict uttered by the five hundred is enhanced by its dilatoriness, but its deliberate calmness, by the evident wish that the German aggressor shall reconsider his position and shall turn from his cruelty. The manifesto expresses all this and other considerations besides, which prove the impartiality and reflective power of the men who are declaring today on which side they stand. What Germany formerly contributed to the common treasure of civilization, the fact that numbers of Americans owe their mental outlook and in some cases their origin to Germany, are all recalled in this document in fine words which are not without sadness. The repudiation of German warfare and of the modern German attitude, the unreserved expression of the hope that victory will be on the side of the allies assume, in the light of these considerations, one might almost say these regrets, a marked importance and solemnity.

The representatives of the American conscience do not even recall their own losses brought about by the criminal sinking of ships. The verdict derives its inspiration solely from the highest motives; the violation of the rights of mankind, and the violation of the independence of nations.

"The invasion of Belgium is in our eyes a crime which nothing will ever be able to justify. It will remain forever a blot on the history of Europe."

Notice this last word, says the Temps, the American elite does not speak of a blot on Germany or on Austria, but on Europe. There can be no mistake as to the meaning of this. It is for each and all to consider what is implied, to make it the subject of their meditations, if not of their remorse. It forms, at any rate, a peremptory reply to the German diplomatic effrontery which incriminated Belgium in a plot for the abandonment of her neutrality in favor of France and Great Britain, when in reality the mistake of the three nations consisted in neglecting their strict obligations.

A missionary writes from the Fiji islands as follows: "Our small force of brethren seems absolutely unable to cope with the distress which prevails in this dark and benighted land, many of the natives are starving for food. Please send a few more missionaries."

Making Money

I know one man who is going to make some money. He saw his opportunity, took advantage of it and bought a property at one-third of its value. Not only will he make some money but he becomes an interested citizen instead of a transient. Why should not YOU. I can still offer three homes at away less than cost. At least become interested enough to inquire.
