ROOSEVELT, WILSON, HUGHES CANDIDATES FOR PRESIDENCY

Outcome of Conventions Is Practically Decided

BELIEVE ALL EFFORTS FOR HARMONY FUTILE

T.R. Is Given Turndown by Old Guard --Moose Is Restive

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

CHICAGO, Ill., June 9.—Theodore Roosevelt will be nominated for president tomorrow by the Progressive national convention, unless there is some political miracle—an agreement between its confreres and those of the Republican convention, or direct, emphatic word from Col. Roosevelt himself that the Progressive nomination would not be accepted.

For hours today the leaders of the convention staved off a nomination but they knew and every delegate in the hall knew, it was crowding forward with the hours themselves and could no more be stopped than an avalanche if the convention was assured last hopes of peace with the Republicans were gone and Roosevelt's nomination at the Coliseum could not be accomplished.

After three sessions that ran the gamut of emotions from hysteria for Roosevelt to a calm, dispassionate discussion of planks in the platform, the convention adjourned at 9:58 tonight until 10:30 tomorrow.

It was only after repeated assurances from the leaders that Col. Roosevelt himself desired that the nomination be postponed and oratory had played upon their good nature, that the delegates swallowed their convictions that the nomination was the real and essential business to be considered and consented to quit the hall for the night.

Republican Convention.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 9.—On the two only ballots taken today in the Republican national convention Justice Hughes led the field and gained in strength. His supporters, confident that another ballot would give him a majority, resisted adjournment but the convention tired and worn out with a continuous 10-hour session, was determined to rest and adjourned till 11 o'clock Saturday. It was the first time since 1888 that a Republican convention had taken more than one ballot to choose a presidential nominee.

On the first ballot Justice Hughes polled 253½ votes; he got 42 from his own state and aside from Oregon and Florida, the remainder were largely scattering. On the second ballot he increased his lead to 328½ votes. It required 494 votes to nominate.

Roosevelt's highest vote was 81 on the second ballot. Besides Justice Hughes, Col. Roosevelt and C. W. Fairbanks, of all the 18 men who had votes on the first ballot, alone made increases on the second. The expected demonstration for Roosevelt when he was nominated last 41 minutes and broke the record for this convention. All observers agreed that it was largely a gallery demonstration and that participation was scattering from the delegate section. The Fairbanks demonstration ran next with 35 minutes, the Burton demonstration lasted 34 minutes and the Hughes demonstration lasted 20 minutes.

On the first ballot the delegates followed their instructions, voting for favorite sons and primary choices. Senator Weeks received 105; Elihu Root, 103; B. C. Cummins, 85; Fairbanks, 74½; Sherman, 66; Roosevelt, 65, and Knox, 36. Henry Ford received Michigan's 32 votes by instruction. Former President Taft received 14 from Texas and the scattering includes complimentary votes for Borah, Willis and McCall, and the instructed vote for other candidates.

Swing to Hughes.

On the second ballot Michigan turned 30 votes to Hughes and gave Col. Roosevelt two; McCall of Massachusetts turned his votes to Hughes amid great applause, Senator Lodge, who had nominated Senator Weeks, turned his vote to Col. Roosevelt; Murray Crane announced his votes for Hughes; Missouri gave the justice 22 of its 36 and New Jersey gave him 16.

The New York delegation voted on the second ballot as follows: Hughes, 43; Root, 42, and Roosevelt, 2. Pennsylvania's second ballot was: Knox, 36; Roosevelt, 22; John Wanamaker, 6; Hughes, 8; Dupont, 2; Root, 1 and one not voting.

Before the second ballot was taken one of the favorite sons—Governor Brumbaugh—withdrew and proposed the nomination of Col. Roosevelt.

The other favorite sons remained through the balloting. On the second ballot one vote was cast for Major-General Leonard Wood and one for Chairman Harding.

Tomorrow the Hughes supporters predict they will continue to draw strength and nominate their candidate.

HAMPSHIRE AFIRE BEFORE IT SANK

Witnesses Heard no Sound of Explosion

BODIES OF ABOUT 80 SURVIVORS FOUND

Twelve Saved Alive Were Carried Through Surf on Raft

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

ABERDEEN, Scotland, June 10.—British cruiser Hampshire was seen to be afire before it sank off the Orkney islands, while bound with Earl Kitchener, the British war minister, to Russia, according to statement of men on trawlers and steamers arriving here from the Orkneys. The disaster occurred last Monday night, only an hour after Earl Kitchener and members of his staff had embarked on the cruiser at the extreme north of Scotland.

One trawler reported that the warship appeared to have blown up, although no sound of an explosion was heard, probably on account of the terrific storm that was raging. Twenty minutes after it was seen in distress and on fire, the Hampshire sunk between Marwick head and Brough of Birway of fthe western coast of the mainland of the Orkneys.

The raft from the cruiser which was flung ashore with 12 men from the Hampshire clinging to it, was discovered by a policeman who was searching along the rocky and desolate coast The men were battered and exhausted. A few of them mumured "Kitchener was on board," and then fell asleep. About 80 bodies were found along the cliffs, many of them still warm.

In the terrific battle with the sea the clothing of some of the men had been torn from their bodies. Their hands and feet had been mutilated in desperate efforts to climb the cliffs. According to the reports, Earl Kitchener and the members of his staff were placed in one of the ship's boats, which got clear of the wreck, but was swamped in the terrific sea that was running.

ITALIANS WITHDRAW TO NEW POSITIONS

Yield Before Artillery and Infantry Attacks in Zone East of Asiago and Campo Mulo Valley.

LONDON, June 9.—Under the pressure of infantry and artillery attacks, the Italian troops have withdrawn to new positions in the zone east of Asiago and east of the Campo Mulo valley This is admitted by Rome, and Vienna claims farther gains on the Asiago highlands.

Rome Statement.

ROME, June 10.—The following official statement was issued today:

"In the Adige valley there has been an artillery duel, our fire causing heavy explosions in the munitions depots of the enemy. On the Posina-Astico front on the evening of June 7 enemy forces concentrated between Santubaldo and Veloastico, commenced an attack toward Monte Giove and Monte Brazome and were promptly dispersed by the accurate fire of our artillery.

"The battle continues with extreme violence on the plateau of Sette Communie. Wednesday an attack on our positions east of the Campo Mulo valley continued desperately until 11 o'clock at night. Our infantry killed a large number of the enemy. Yesterday the enemy, having received enormous reinforcements, renewed its attacks in the zone east of Asiago and east of the Campo Mulo valley after intense bombardments by numerous batteries. Our Alpine troops and infantry repulsed the enemy's attack, counter-attacking them bravely with the bayonet. At the close of the day our troops, in order to better sustain the incessant fire of the enemy artillery, withdrew to new positions, some hundred metres farther to the east.

"In the Sugana valley there was an artillery action. We made favorable attacks in the Podestagno zone, in the upper Boite and on the Rienzera.

"In the Carnia and Isonzo zones there were artillery bombing exchanges."

NEW HUN DRIVES ON MEUSE BEATEN BACK

Big Guns Playing Leading Parts in Fighting Near Ypres

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, June 9.—The Germans, after a successful thrust in the Thiamont farm sector, have ceased for the moment their infantry attacks against this part of the Verdun front, Paris reports.

The bombardment, however, has continued to be heavy in the regions south of the Thiamont fort, in the Chapitre wood and south of Damloup. On the left bank of the Meuse several attacks by German infantry against Hill 304, have been repulsed by the French.

British Statement

The following official statement was made tonight:

"Thursday night a party belonging to the Gloucester regiment entered the enemy trenches of Neuve Chappelle and after successfully attacking the garrison, captured a machine gun. Otherwise there was no infantry action.

"Yesterday afternoon our heavy artillery destroyed the railway station of Salome, east of La Bassee, setting fire to a train and damaging the track. Good results also were obtained against strong points behind the enemy lines north of Hulluch. Today there was much artillery fighting east of Ypres, our organizations engaging strong enemy positions successfully while the enemy carried out short bombardments at numerous points behind our front line, between the Ypres-Comines canal and the Ypres-Roulers road. South of Armentieres we effectively bombarded the enemy's trenches east of Laventie. South of La Bassee canal there was little activity. Near Souchez we destroyed an enemy trench mortar which was bombarding our lines.

"Mine warfare continues in the areas of the Hohenzollern redoubt, near Hulluch, south of Neuville St. Vaast, and northeast of Albert. In the last 24 hours we have exploded successfully six mines. The enemy sprang a mine without damage or casualty to us and a small defensive mine with trifling damage.

"There was aerial activity yesterday but no combats, our machines doing successful work without interference."

Paris Statement

PARIS, June 9.—The following official statement was issued tonight:

"On the left bank of the Meuse the Germans during the day several times attacked our position on Hill 304. Two attacks to the west of the hill and two others to the southwest, which were accompanied by projections of liquid fire, failed completely under our curtain of fire and the fire of our mitrailleuses.

"On the right bank of the Meuse the bombardment has been heavy in all of the regions to the south of Thiaumont in the Chapitre wood, in the Fumin wood and in the sector of Damloup. No infantry attack took place during the day.

"In the Vosges a strong German reconnaissance at Hartmannsweilerkopf was dispersed by our fire."

Belgian Statement

"There is nothing particular to report."

CONDITIONS IN VIENNA SAID TO BE FEARFUL

Member of Neutral Legation Quoted as Saying Existence There Is No Longer Possible.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, June 9.—A Times correspondent, who has "unusual opportunities of ascertaining the feeling and actual position in Austria-Hungary," says that week an important member of a neutral legation in Vienna wrote:

"Here existence is no longer possible. We have no bread to eat, no milk, no butter, no fat, nothing—absolutely nothing at all.

"The misery is indescribable. Everybody talks of an awful revolution if the war lasts much longer. The offensive against Italy has been undertaken in order to keep up public spirits and because it is hoped that success in that quarter will quiet unrest."

RUSSIA IS DELIVERING SMASHING BLOWS ON GREAT WESTWARD DRIVE

Troops of Emperor Nicholas Are Sweeping Forces of Austro-Hungarians Before Them in Great Offensive Over Long Line

PETROGRAD REPORTS CAPTURE OF 1143 OFFICERS AND MORE THAN 64,000 MEN

Advancing Troops Have Made Important Gains Along Styr River and Kovel-Rovno Railway to East of Lutsk

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, June 9.—Information has reached the Russian embassy in Rome that the Austrian front has been completely broken along a length of 94 miles to a depth of 37½ miles, according to a Central News despatch today from the Italian capital. The Russian advance, according to these advices, threatens to envelop the entire Austrian army in the region affected, the Austrians finding themselves attacked from both the east and the northh.

LONDON, June 9.—The Russians are keeping up their success in their offensive against the Austro-Hungarians from the Pripet river to the Rumanian border, along a front of about 250 miles. The troops of Emperor Nicholas have crossed the Stripa river in Galicia and reached the Zlota Lipa river. Petrograd reports that 1143 officers and more than 64,000 men have been made prisoners since the present great drive against the Austro-Hungarian line began.

East of Lutsk, near the centre of the advancing Russian line. Gen. Brusiloff's troops have made important advances along the Styr river and the Kovel-Rovno railway.

It is reported from Petrograd that German troops have been sent to aid the Austrians.

Vienna admits that the Austro-Hungarian troops have reached new positions on the river Styr in Volhynia after fighting rearguard actions with the Russians.

Petrograd Statement.

PETROGRAD, June 9.—The official statement issued tonight says:

"The battle in Volyhnia in which the Germans tried to check the advancement of our troops on their pierced front wages strong. Reinforcements have arrived from the region north of Polissie. Many Germans are among the prisoners taken.

"Despite the stubborn resistance of the enemy in many places, our offensive continues on the whole front from the Pripet marshes to the Rumanian frontier.

"Our cavalry led the attack in many sectors. Among the daring feats during the fighting were, first, near Souzk, east of Lutsk, a squadron of Cossacks attacked the enemy behind the fortifications and captured two guns and 200 boxes of ammunition; second, near Boriatno, southeast of Lutsk, our skirmishers captured two 10-centimetre guns, four officers and 160 men, and near Dorbitnen, on the Ikwa, below Lynoff, another 10-centimetre gun and 35 caissons. In another sector the booty included 30 cylinders of asphyxiating gas.

"Our young soldiers are rivaling their elders in pluck and courage. One such division of young troops, in an impetuous attack at Opilichine drove the enemy back on the Styr and captured the bridgehead near the town of Rosishoy. They took 2500 German and Austrian prisoners, together with machine guns and rich booty.

"We have crossed the Stripa river and our troops have reached the river Zlota Lipa at Potok.

"While directing the action in one of the sectors of our offensive, Gen. Mikoulin was seriously wounded.

Take Army of Prisoners.

"The number of our prisoners is constantly increasing. In addition to the 958 officers and more than 51,000 men already announced, we took in the course of yesterday's fighting an additional 185 officers and 13,714 men, making our total of captured in the recent operations 1143 officers and more than 64,714 men.

"Wednesday evening enemy artillery bombarded violently the regions northeast of Krovo and south of Smorgon. Subsequently the bombardment extended farther north and Thursday night the enemy, in strong force opened an offensive, but all its attempts to approach our positions were repulsed. In the region of Moledechno station an enemy aeroplane dropped four bombs. Five German aviators raided Lougichine, north of Pinsk, dropping 30 bombs. One of the machines was brought down by our artillery inside the German lines.

"Caucasus front—In the Trebizond region our skirmishers disiodged the Turks from a convent south of the village of Hortokop. In the direction of Giumichekahn our detachments penetrated enemy positions, capturing prisoners and much war material. We repulsed an enemy counter-attack."

OLD CUNARDER CAMPANIA PLAYED GALLANT PART

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, June 10.—One of the ships engaged in the North sea battle was the old Cunard liner Campania, which acted as a seaplane ship. When the cruiser Warrior was hard pressed by the German ships and was unable to move, the Campania passed between the German ships and the Warrior to aid the latter.

The Campania threw a line aboard and towed the Warrior for 10 hours, when the cruiser sank. The Campania was thus the means of saving the crew of the Warrior.

Hundreds of bodies were floating around the wreck and for three hours the Vanda steamed among dead sailors.

LANSING QUIZZES GERARD ON ALLEGED PEACE INTERVIEWS

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Secretary Lansing admitted, in response to direct interrogation yesterday, that an inquiry has been sent to James W. Gerard, the United States ambassador at Berlin, asking him whether he was responsible for two alleged interviews cabled from Berlin crediting the ambassador with having made certain statements with respect to peace.

In one of these interviews it is alleged that Mr. Gerard had said nothing could shake his confidence that pease was on its way; that President Wilson has the utmost freedom of action now to deal with the immense world problem of peace; that neutrals were as much interested in bringing about peace as belligerents; and that the United States government is under an obligation to its citizens to do everything to serve the cause of peace.

TELLS OF AMAZING FEATS OF DESTROYERS

British Boats Rushed at Top Speed into German Warships to Launch Torpedoes.

LONDON, June 9.—The Daily Mail publishes a description of the naval battle by an officer of one of the large vessels that participated. He says:

"Our destroyers were simply amazing. Directly they got the order from their squadron commander they were off like mad, steaming at 30 knots an hour, racing up to within 30 yards of the biggest German battleship to despatch torpedoes. I saw four destroyers all converging at once on a German dreadnought cruiser. They traveling at top speed and stopping for nothing until they got within range. It was a kind of Balaclava charge in which they got their objective, a battleship of the Hindenburg class, though I am not sure it was the Hindenburg herself that was sunk, but I understand a destroyer during the night onslaught went closely in under heavy fire and caught a German battleship with a torpedo.

Invincible Sank in 10 Seconds.

"It was really bad luck that the Queen Mary, indefatigable and Invincible were lost, because it was purely chance shots which brought about their destruction. Their armor would have withstood any amount of shell fire but in each case the shots took the tip off the turret and the explosion went down to the magazine, with the result that the ship blew up. The Invincible split in the middle and sank in 10 seconds. There were only six survivors and when they came up they witnessed the extraordinary spectacle of both the bow and stern of their ship standing vertically 50 feet out of the water."

GREEK FORCES NUMBERING 150,000 MEN DISBANDED

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

ATHENS, June 9.—King Constantine today signed the order demobilizing 12 classes of the army, amounting to 150,000 men.

The demobilizing order, it is stated, may bring about the downfall of the Skouloudis ministry.

Outcome of Allies' Move.

PARIS, June 9.—The demobilization of the Greek army is regarded here as the direct outcome of the energetic measures by the allied governments recently in making joint representations to King Constantine, followed by an embargo virtually closing Greek ports. The demobilization of 12 classes of the army means sending back to civil life exactly half the army, ordinarily composed of 24 classes.

The demobilization is said to be popular with the Greek people and it is considered further to have influenced the taking of the step as well as the fact that the government hopes to thus gratify a large number of supporters of former Premier Venizelos in the army who desire to recognize the civil rights.

FINAL ARGUMENTS MADE IN FUSE INQUIRY AT OTTAWA

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

OTTAWA, June 9.—The Meredith-Duff inquiry into the Kyte charges which has been in progress for six weeks, not including the week of adjournment, came to a close at 7 o'clock tonight. After speeches by N. L. Laflamme, counsel for Gen. Bertram and Wallace Nesbitt, K.C., counsel for the shell committee, closing speeches on behalf of the government and opposition sides were made by I. F. Hellmuth and F. L. Mackey, respectively. F. B. Carvell, M.P., was not present at the finish, having caught an afternoon train for New Brunswick.

Mr. Hellmuth in his final address to the commissioners again argued that practically the only question at issue was as to the honesty of the minister of militia and the members of the shell committee.

Both commissioners intimated, however, that they were not disposed to think that their duty was limited to a finding as to the honesty of the parties concerned. They indicated that their report would cover a wider range and would include the connection of Col. W. J. Allison with the fuse contracts.

The question of Allison's commission figured largely at the morning sitting, when G. F. Henderson, counsel for Allison, was speaking on behalf of his client.

Justice Duff found it hard to justify numerous features of the relationship between Sir Sam Hughes and Allison and went so far as to declare that the whole transaction affecting the Yoak-um commission "must be examined with suspicion." Allison's failure to tell Gen. Hughes of it and to write to Yoakum in the same way as to others about accepting commissions were criticized.

FINAL ARGUMENTS IN FUSE INQUIRY

Mr. Henderson—I have heard the names of many prominent men connected with these contracts and I think it would have been better if they had been here. You must pardon me if I say that I don't think there was anything illegitimate on the part of Col. Allison in this matter.

Hits at Allison.

Commissioner Duff—The whole thing is that Allison as the confidential agent of the minister of militia and defense dips his hand in the till to the tune of $200,000 in connection with these contracts.

Mr. Henderson—That is a strong expression.

Commissioner Duff—Of course it is, I intend it to be strong. So far as these other men in official positions are concerned, I am not concerned with their names. It is the principle I am concerned with.

Mr Henderson—You use the words "official positions.' I cannot accept the statement that Col. Allison occupied an official position with the government of Canada. He was a broker and business man. It was known that he would take a commission on any business with Great Britain, including that with the shell committee. There is no evidence that he ever repudiated taking commissions on that. He did tell Col. Carnegie and Gen. Bertram that he was anxious to help them and he did help them. I know Commissioner Duff wants to be fair.

Commissioner Duff—I want to be charitable, Mr. Henderson—charitable, but--

Mr. Hnderson—If he had said, "I am entitled to a commission on this business; I am going to get a commission," he would have been accorded it.

Commissioner Meredith—If that agreement for commissions had been before the shell comptroller to be signed, what would have happened?

Commissioner Duff—If Gen. Pease had seen it, for instance?

Mr. Henderson—It probably would not have been signed. That is an extreme suggestion.

Commissioner Duff—Do you think so?

Commissioner Meredith—We don't want in this inquiry to unduly castigate the small men.

Mr. Henderson—We have to realize that big profits were made on war contracts because of big prices.

Goes Into History.

Commissioner Duff referred to an incident where Mr. Balfour had been accused on the hustings of making his money out of war profits. Those who said it had to apologize.

"Everyone knows," he said, "the odor which hung around war profits during the Indian mutiny and the Crimean war."

Mr. Henderson—Yes, but the armies must be equipped.

Commissioner Duff—You recollect the incident where Gen. Picton threatened once to shoot a war contractor? The war contractor told the Duke of Wellington and Wellington told him that he had better be careful, because Picton was just the sort of man to do what he said. Don't you think he was justified?

Mr. Henderson—We cannot get along without war contractors.

Commissioner Duff—Then try to make them honest.

Mr Henderson—It might have been better if Allison had told Yoakum that he did not want to make a profit out of this. I trust, however, that it has been abundantly demonstrated that the money shared with Allison stayed with Allison, that no part of it has gone to the minister or the shell committee. I do not desire to place before you Col. Allison as any other than a business man. He made profits and he took profits. I do say, however, that the evidence disclosed here that there was no kind of influehce between Col. Allison and the minister which induced in any way the making of the contracts in question here.

Mr. Ewart, acting on behalf of the minister, rose and stated that he could not accept the statement that Col. Allison was representing Gen. Hughes, unless the word "representing" was taken in a strict sense. His understanding was that Col. Allison was acting at the request of Gen. Hughes.

Commissioner Duff—Col. Allison was asked earl yto go dow nand make inquiries by Gen. Hughes. I understood him to be so acting.

Final Session.

At the final sitting of the inquiry in the afternoon, N. K. Laflamme, K. C., counsel for Gen. Bertram, made his argument. He said that the members of the shell committee had done everything in their power by the production of documentary and other evidence to throw light on the matter under investigation. He called the attention of the commissioners to the fact that Sir Robert Borden, speaking in the house of commons March 7, had given three reasons for refusing an inquiry into the operations of the shell committee.

The premier had said that the committee was appointed by the British government, that it was acting under the authority of the imperial authorities and that the money was British money.

He thought that these reasons were founded on common sense and sound logic. Subsequent to the making of the Kyte charges, the government authorized an inquiry because there were more or less direct charges aimed at the minister of mitlia. He said that the terms of the order in council had created an extraordinary situation for the members of the shell committee.

He argued that none of these charges had been established.

Mr. Laflamme thought that Col. Carnegie was quite right when he took the view that provided the shells were supplied at the price stipulated by the war office the prices paid for component parts was not important.

Mr. Laflamme said he had no mandate to defend Sir Sam Hughes, who was not in need of defense. He compared the relations of the minister and the members of the shell committee with those which existed between Napoleon and his marshals. He gave orders and insisted on them being carried out. But the minister did not exercise undue pressure to make the committee give the fuse contracts to the American companies.

Mr. Laflamme, referring more particularly to Gen. Bertram, said he had within the past few days been eulogized by those who had charged him with conspiracy. In closing, Mr. Laflamme said that the members of the shell committee refuse to accept a certificate of virtue from Messrs. Carvell and Kyte. They were human and might have erred. They had time to think, but not to deliberate.

Chief Justice Meredith remarked that to his mind the most serious charge that could be brought against Gen. Hughes at the time was that he had haggled about prices at a time when prices were a matter of little importance.

Three Questions, Says Nesbitt

Wallace Nesbitt, K. C., counsel for the shell committee, who followed, said there were three things in which the people of Canada are interested—Is Sir Sam Hughes honest? Was the shell committee honest? Did the committee fail to bring reasonable business capacity to bear upon the matter and allow business to go to the United States which should have remained in this country?

Mr. Nesbitt spoke in warm terms of praise of what Sir Sam Hughes had accomplished in developing the shell industry in Canada. His only reward had been piffling charges which had made it necessary for him to remain away from his urgent official duties. It was necessary, he said, to let $20,000,000 be expended in the United States in order that $70,000,000 might be expended in Canada on empty shells. Had the $90,000,000 been expended in the United States, 2½ per cent would have been immediately subtracted from it as a commission for Morgan. At the time the contracts were let, he said, there were only three firms in England making fuses and only two in the United States. The talk of giving the business to Canada was utterly futile. No one would undertake to make fuses on a large scale, although many American firms were asked to try.

Mr. Nesbitt argued that if the shell committee had undertaken to do business with the Russell company or with Wilfred Ohmer of Dayton, Ohio, the results would have been far less satisfactory and the shell committee would have had a real inquiry on its hands. He designated Mr. Carvell's claims that the Kyte charges had been referred to as "effrontery."

It had not been established that $1,000,000 had been divided up as charged by Mr. Kyte in his speech which was characterized by concealment of truth and by half-truths.

Referring to the argument made by Mr. Carvell, counsel said that it had been based upon personal belief rather than upon the evidence. He was guided by "a spirit of faith rising above facts that ought to make him the head of the Christian Science church."

Mr. Nesbitt had a long dialogue with Commissioner Duff as to the question of the responsibility of Col. Carnegie in placing the order for graze fuses at $4. The commissioner repeated the statement he had made Thursday that the burden of the commercial arrangements should not be placed on Col. Carnegie.

Commissioner Duff could not agree that the matter of price was not important.

No Dishonesty Shown.

Lloyd George had considered it important. The commissioner again stated his inability to understand the matter, but said that it had not been proved that there has been any dishonesty in connection with the letting of the contracts on the part of Col. Carnegie.

F. H. Marky, K.C., in closing the argument for the opposition said that there would be no objection to the commission taking Mr. Kyte's speech and saying what had been established and what had not been established.

Commissioner Duff asked Mr. Marky if he would suggest that if the commission decided that there was no dishonesty on the part of the minister and the members of the shell committee they should not so find. The charge of deliberate dishonesty in connection with such a contract would be to allege infamous conduct.

Mr. Marky said he had no desire to impute dishonesty on the part of Bertram or Carnegie, but he would say it had been established that Gen. Hughes favored giving the contract to what was known as the Allison crowd and that this was sufficient to cause that to be done.

Mr. Hellmuth urged that the findings of the commission should be confined to the question of honesty of Hughes and the members of the committee.

Commissioner Duff—If a man gets close to a minister of the crown and takes advantage of his intimacy should not that be a legitimate matter of inquiry as a matter of justice to the minister?

Sir William—According to the argument we have heard we should give the minister a blank sheet of paper.

Sir William also asked if it was fair to the people if the commission did not report that Allison had received a large commission.

Mr. Hellmuth said that Allison, Bassick and Yoakum were but insignificant figures in the inquiry. The question was whether the people charged with conducting the business affairs of the country were honestly performing their duties.

Commissioner Duff—The question of Allison's responsibility must be dealt with.

This ended the inquiry.

PRESBYTERIAN FOREIGN MISSIONS THEME OF SPEAKERS AT WINNIPEG

ADDRESS MADE BY WORKERS FROM CHINA, INDIA AND FROM HOME FIELD—REPORT ON FUNDS EXPENDED AND MEDICAL WORK—DELEGATION FROM CHURCH OF ENGLAND RECEIVED STANDING BY ASSEMBLY AND CORDIAL WELCOME IS EXTENDED—BOARD OF PUBLICATIONS REPORTS

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

WINNIPEG, June 9.—The subject of foreign missions in which the Presbyterian church in Canada has been engaged in for more than 50 years was the theme of addresses at the Westminster church tonight, given in connection with the annual meeting of the general assembly.

The speakers included two missionaries from Honan, China, two from India, and two leaders in this work at home.

India was represented by Rev. F. Russell and Rev. R. A. King, both graduates of Manitoba college, Winnipeg, and both well known hert. China was represented by Rev. W. H. Grant, Toronto, and Mr. McClure, who have spent many years in Honan.

Other speakers were Principal A. Gandier of Knox college, Toronto, who is the chairman of the foreign mission board, and Venerable Rev. Dr. R. F. Mackay, secretary of the board.

It was reported that during the year 1915 the church in Canada had expended $20,000 on the Trinidad mission, $40,000 in Korea, $25,000 in the island of Formosa, $70,000 in India, $80,000 in Honan, China, $12,000 in South China and other sums in other countries. In addition to this native funds had been provided in large amounts.

In the medical missions 15,000 patients had been treated in Honona, North China, and 70,000 in India.

A staff of physicians and surgeons are now engaged in various countries.

Delegation Received

During the afternoon session the assembly received a delegation from the Church of England. In the party were Rev. Dean Coombes, Col. Carruthers, W. Q. Tupper, K. C., and Rev. W. H. Thomas, diocesan missionary. The assembly stood to receive the visitors and the moderator extended a cordial welcome.

Col. Carruthers conveyed the good wishes of the Church of England to the laymen of the Presbyterian church and extended to them the right hand of fellowship.

The moderator in replying referred to the service which the Church of England had tendered in western Canada in early days when at innumerable points they alone represented in many communities religious faith in a visible form.

Dr. Robert Campbell at the afternoon session reported on the Presbyterian Record, the official monthly publication of the denomination.

Publications Report

The board of publications, having charge of the issuing of all the papers for young people and children reported through John Lowden of Toronto and Rev. Dr. D. Fraser, who is in charge of this work and who has made of it a great success.

Dr. Fraser began this enterprise under the orders of the church in 1900. One of the difficulties of the business is the lack of working capital, which amounts to only $47,000. Dr. Douglas is not, however, asking for money, but states that in the course of years he will be able to make gifts from the business to the church, provided the members throughout the country stand behind the enterprise.

The publications distributed now amounted to 11,000,000 a year.

The board having charge of the work among young people and the Sunday schools reported through Rev. J. C. Robertson, the secretary. Addresses on this subject were given by President Falconer, of the university of Toronto, and by Rev. W. A. McTaggart, one of the well known ministers of the Queen city. President Falconer referred to the large numbers of young men who had gone out from the Bible classes of Canada to the war and declared that the country ought to be proud to give its best, as it was doing, in such a case.

Rev. J. C. Robertson said that he knew of many large Bible classes of young men throughout the church, every last one of which had enlisted for active service.

College Aid Vote Lost

The question of aid to the Ottawa Women's college was again discussed and the motion to grant the aid asked for was lost on the close vote of 101 to 99. A considerable number of those present did not vote. There were more than 400 commissioners present when this matter was decided. A committee was appointed to go to Ottawa and discuss the question and on further consideration it was decided that a committee should also go to Red Deer to look into the question of the college for girls at that place.

The government of Alberta had offered to buy tht institution at Red Deer for institutional purposes, but at the last moment the trustees decided that they would not sell. The representatives of the Ottawa college said that all they wanted was temporary assistance.

ST. JOHNS PLANS SPECIAL RECRUITING CAMPAIGN

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., June 9.—To help make up the losses suffered by the British naval forces in the recent North sea battle, authorities here began making plans for a special recruiting campaign. An effort will be made to send forward 1000 men as the colony's share.

GERMANY ADMITS WHOLE FLEET OUT

Description of Great Naval Engagement Off Jutland Is Given in Delayed Despatches

BERLIN, Friday, June 2, wireless to the Associated Press via Sayville.—(Delayed in transmission).—Detailed reports of the naval battle in the North Sea detract nothing from the importance of the German victory. They show that the entire German battle fleet, except the light forces assigned to the Baltic, was engaged with the main force of the British fleet.

Queen Elizabeth Engaged

LONDON, June 6.—Contrary to the first impression that none of the new British super-dreadnoughts took part in the battle off Jutland, it appears from a circumstantial account of the fight, published in a Glasgow paper, that the Queen Elizabeth played an important part in the action.

Admiral Beatty's battle cruisers were followed, according to this account, by the big warship at a distance of two miles, and before the day was over had fought and sunk a German battleship believed to be the Hindenburg, previously reported sent to the bottom by a massed attack of destroyers.

Describing the battle the report quoted says:

Whole German Fleet

"Admiral Beatty, with battle cruisers and supporting battleships, had before him the whole of the German battle fleet, and Admiral Jellicoe still some distance away. The opposing fleets were moving parallel to one another in opposite directions, and but for the master manoeuvering on the part of Admiral Beatty the British advance ships would have been cut off from Admiral Jellicoe's grand fleet.

"In order to avoid this and at the same time prepare the way so that Admiral Jellicoe might envelop his adversary. Almiral Beatty immediately also turned right around 16 points, so as to bring his ships parallel to the German battle cruisers and facing in the same direction. As soon as he was round, he increased to full speed to get ahead of the Germans and take up a tactical position in advance of their line. He was able to do this owing to the superior speed of our cruisers.

Three Vessels Lost

"Just before the turning point was reached, the Indefatigable sank, probably from striking a mine, and the Queen Mary and Invincible were also lost at the turning point, where, of course, the high seas fleet concentrated its fire. A little earlier, as the German battle cruisers were turning, the Queen Elizabeth had in similar manner concentrated her fire on the turning point, and destroyed a new German battle cruiser believed to be the Hindenburg. Admiral Beatty had now got round and headed away with the loss of three ships racing parallel to the German battle cruisers. The Queen Elizabeth followed behind, engaging the main high seas fleet.

"The Queen Elizabeth now turned short to port, 16 points, in order to follow Admiral Beatty. The Warspite, jamed her steering gear and failed to get round, and drew the fire of six of the enemy, who closed in on her. One is not surprised that the Germans claim her as a loss, since, on paper, she ought to have been lost, but as a matter of fact, though repeatedly straddled by shell fire, with water boiling up all around her, she was not seriously hit, and was able to sink one of her opponents. Her captain regained control of his vessel and brought her round and folowed her consorts.

Skilful Manouvring

"In the meantime the Barham, Valient, and Malaya turned short, so as to avoid the danger spot where the Queen Mary and Invincible had been lost, and for an hour, until Admiral Jellicoe arrived, fought a delaying action against the high seas fleet. The Warspite joined them about 5:15, and all four ships so successfully manouvred in order to upset the spotting corrections of their opponents that no hits of a seriously disabling character were suffered. They had speed superior to their opponents by fully four knots, and were able to draw away from the part of the long line of German battleships, which almost filled up the horizon.

"At this time the Queen Elizabeth was steadily firing at the flashes of the German guns at a range which varied between 12,000 and 15,000 yards, especially against those ships which were nearest them. The Germans were enveloped in mist and only smoke and flashes were visible.

"By 5:45 half of the high seas fleet had been left out of range and the Queen Elizabeth was steaming fast to join hands with Admiral Jellicoe.

"Now return to Admiral Beatty's battle cruisers. They had succeeded in outflanking the German battle cruisers which were therefore obliged to turn at full right angle to starboard to avoid being headed. Heavy fighting was renewed between the opposing battle cruiser squadrons, during which the Derfflinger was sunk, but towards 6 o'clock the German fire slackened very considerably, showing that Admiral Beatty's battle cruisers and the Queen Elizabeth had inflicted serious damage on their immediate opponents.

Grand Fleet In Sight

"The grand fleet was now in sight, coming up fast in three directions. The Queen Elizabeth and consorts now altered their course four points to starboard and drew in towards the enemy to allow Admiral Jellicoe to deploy into line. The Grand Fleet was perfectly manouvred and the very difficult operation of deploying between the battle cruisers and the Queen Elizabeth was perfectly timed. Admiral Jellicoe came up and fell in behind Admiral Beatty's cruisers and, followed by the damaged but still serviceable Queen Elizabeth, steamed right across the head of the German fleet.

"The first of the ships to come into action were the Revenge and Royal Oak, with their 15-inch guns, and the Agincourt, which fired from her seven turrets with the speed almost of a Maxim gun. The whole British fleet had now become concentrated. They had been perfectly manouvred so as to cross the "T" of the high seas fleet, and, indeed, only decent light was necessary to complete their work of destroying the Germans in detail.

"The light did improve for a few minutes and the conditions were favorable to the British fleet, which was now in line approximately north and south, across the head of the Germans. Admiral Jellicoe smashed up three of the German ships, but the mist came down and the visibility suddenly failed, and the defeated high seas fleet was able to draw off in ragged divisions."

GOOD ROADS HELP AUTO SALES AND AUTOS AID GOOD ROADS

The unprecedented demand for motor cars that is responsible for many automobile factories working day and night is attributed in a measure to the work accomplished by good roads advocates during the past few years. In turn the automobile itself is accountable for many good road improvements. The two are closely linked.

"The awakening of public interest to the importance of good roads has done more toward facilitating the sale of automobiles than probably any other one thing since the advent of the self-starter," says John N. Willys, president of the Willys-Overland company.

"Show me any section of a state or county where the roads recently have been put in proper shape for driving and I'll show you a number of automobile dealers nearby, who have increased their business.

"The best salesman in the world cannot sell a car if the prospective purchaser lives in a locality that is literally surrounded by muddy and impassable roads. All arguments as to why he should purchase a car whether it be for recreation or for business fall flat if on the very first trip he has to wallow through a sea of mud. The improvement of 10 or 15 miles of roadway offer the greatest inducement in the world to invest in motor cars."

Probably no class of men in any business or profession have done more toward furthering the good roads movement than have the automobile dealers themselves. To them good roads are as much of a necessity as they are to the car owners in their respective territories. If the highways that lead to their salesrooms are neglected, their business suffers in consequence. The average motorist will travel 20 miles over a good road in preference to driving two miles over a poor one.

It is any wonder then that the big majority of automobile dealers are such staunch supporters of all good road movements whether these measures be of national character or of a local nature?

"In the case of the Overland," continued Mr. Willys, "we encourage this kind of work among our dealers as much as possible. With 5000 of them scattered throughout the country they form a Good Roads Boosters' organization that is in itself a power for it helps keep alive and growing the spirit that has been responsible for much of the good roads work accomplished during the past year or two."

Why Shamed by Blotchy Skin

If you are a sufferer from eczema or unsightly pimply skin, you know just what it means to have that humiliating, backward feeling about meeting strangers and oftentimes friends. Many a time you have looked into the mirror and wished that your skin would be like other people that you know without a blemish. This wish can be yours for the asking. If you will go to the druggist and procure a bottle of D. D. D., the greatest of all skin remedies, apply it according to directions, in a short time your skin will be as soft as velvet.

How You May Reduce Your Weight

Overstoutness is a very unwelcome condition especially in the present day, when slender figures are so fashionable and every reader of this paper has noticed the tendency of some people to put on an excessive amount of fat.

If you happen to be one of those whose weight is more than it should be don't try to starve yourself, eat all you want, but go to your druggist and get oil of orilene in capsule form and take one with each meal.

Oil of orilene increases the oxygen-carrying power of the blood and dissolves the fatty tissue, in many cases at nearly the rate of one lb. per day. Be sure to get oil of orilene in capsule form. It is sold only in original packages. Any good druggist has it, or a large size bottle will be sent on receipts of $1.00. Address D. J. Little Drug Co., box 1240, Montreal, Can.

THE REAL VICTORY OF THE BRITISH NAVY

The Jutland naval battle, the greatest in the history of the world, is, after all, merely an incident in the naval history of this war. The British navy could perform its part victoriously in the main struggle without firing a shot or sinking an enemy ship—always providing, of course, that the enemy did not take the offensive or indulge in raids. It has happened that the war has produced five major struggles at sea. In all except Caronel the British fleet has been victorious. But if none of these battles had occurred, if the enemy ships all remained safe in harbor, the British navy's position would still be that of victor.

The great victory of the British navy lies in the fact that it has kept the seas open for the transport of entente supplies and troops. The supreme victory of the navy is exemplified in the regular operation of the mercantile marines of the world to and from entente ports. Thanks to the navy troops have been brought from India, British troops have been sent to Egypt, France, Asia Minor and Africa. French and British armies are at Saloniki, Russians have been landed at Marseilles.

Herein lies the potency of the British navy as the greatest single force in the war. Naval battles, unless the enemy losses his head and attempts decisive action, are mere incidents, however spectacular and tremendous they may prove.

A MOVE WITH WHICH THE PUBLIC HAS NO SYMPATHY

From the apologetic tone adopted by Liberal spokesmen at the coast it is evident that they now realize that H. C. Brewster made the greatest blunder of his political career when he moved to commence suit to upset the legislation passed last session by pleading technical grounds. Public opinion from the outset has been against a purely factious move that at best could accomplish no good and which, if it wrought the minimum of damage to British Columbia of which it was capable, would create uneasiness and uncertainty and make it difficult for undertakings which rely upon outside capital to be proceeded with.

Just when conditions were favorable for progress and development the Liberal leader has attempted for a mere political advantage to throw a hammer into the machinery and bring everything to a standstill. Partizan leaders who are capable of this kind of politics are not big enough for the people of British Columbia.

Emperor William has named a food dictator. That is a job very few men would care to tackle unless well guarded against food riots.

The German writers are busily engaged in arguing as to whether the German people are dispirited by the successive failures at Verdun. The entente could hardly wish for anything more significant of the feeling in the kaiser's empire.

If H. C. Brewster had his way the Workmen's Compensation act, the shipping bill, the French Zinc company guarantee and other legislation would be stricken from the statute books and the province would be prevented from spending a nickel on public works or other undertakings, including the construction of roads to mines out of the $200,000 special appropriation.

WHAT THE PRESS IS SAYING

The Antithesis of Christnanity.

If there is one thing more certain than another in the crisis in which we find ourselves, it is that Prussian militrism, against which we are fighting with all our might, is the direct antithesis of Christian ideas. There is in it a spirit of materialistic, vulgar, domineering, which erects political ambition into a sort of ethical law, overriding all the ordinary notions of humanity and loving kindness. If the German is a superman he is also anti-Christian. The god of Prussia is Moloch, a god of pillage, barbarism and blood.—London Telegraph.

The Kaiser and Our Empire.

The kaiser set out to destroy the Empire but in the end he will only have rebuilt it on a deeper and surer foundation—but a foundation with liberty still as its keystone. In a century, perhaps in half a century we here at home shall have shrunk by comparison to a relatively minor element of the confederation. The very centre of the English race may have shifted from us, must eventually be shifted from us. But, if we are equal to our heritage, one glory will never pass from these islands—the glory of founding the greatest confederation of free peoples this earth has ever seen.—London Daily News.

An Unconscious Confession.

How stupid German officialdom can be is impressed by Count von Bernstorff's order to German consuls in the United States to warn subjects of the kaiser here to obey the laws of the state in which they reside. This is instruction to discontinue the violations of law, the interference with legitimate American manufacturing and commerce, the plottings and incendiary actions which originally were instigated from within the precincts of the German embassy at Washington and by attaches of the embassy. It is confession of the truth of the charges made against Germany—Pittsburg Gazette-Times.

German Dictation in U. S Politics

If the editors of the so-called German newspapers printed in the United States really want to prevent the nomination or even the election of Theodore Roosevelt, they will promptly call off such "ultimatums" as they are reported to have issued to the republican leaders in Chicago.

For if there is anything that will arouse all the dormant force of potent Americanism it is German dictation in our politics. Let voters of German descent, who have earned the title to be Americans, think and vote as they will, they have a right to their opinions. The thing we shall not stand in this country, is such an obviously Berlin-directed movement as this which now appears.—New Haven (Conn.) Register.

"OLD TOP."

Mr. Philip Gibs, studying the lighter aspects of the war, has observed that the Austrilan addresses the Frenchman as "old son," and the Frenchman the Australian as "mon vieux." Why is "old" regarded as a term of endearment in many languages, irrespective of the age of the man addressed? Old chap, old fellowd, old boy, old hoss, old man, old girl, old top—there's a long list. This use of "old" goes back in English to the 16th century. "Old" as a term of disparagements goes back as far.

Artemus Ward resented the use of "old," used familiarly by his partner Billson, when they were managers of a company playing "The Drunkard or the Falling Saved," with a real drunkard.

"Says I, Billson, you hain't got a well-balanced mind. Says he, Yes, I have, old hoss-fly (he was such a low cuss)—yes, I have. I have a mind, says he, that balances in any direction that the public requires. That's wot I calls a well-balanced mind."

EARL KITCHENER.

The death of Lord Kitchener, of which unfortunately there seems to be no doubt, will send a thrill of horrified sorrow throughout the whole Empire. His picturesque personality has engaged the imagination as his deeds have engaged the admiration of the entire British people. Anlyzing's one's feelings, they are as though a sheet anchor had gone. It would be useless to disguise the fact that the removal of Kitchener will be to many thousands like the removal of a bulwark guarding the Empire from disaster.

Yet, considered calmly, such is not the case. The death of no one man, however great he may be, can have much effect on such stupendous events as are happening today. However deeply the death of Lord Kitchener may be deplored, it constitutes the parting of but one light strand in the rope of Empire safety.

Lord Kitchener's greatest tasks in life had been completed. For some months past he has not been the active head of the British army, the real direction of affairs having been taken over by General Robertson. The recent activities of Earl Kitchener have been diplomatic rather than military. In that field his great personality will be missed in the Empire service. His monument, perhaps the greatest monument an Englishman ever had, is his army. "'Kitchener's Mob" as they called themselves, that splendid aggregation of volunteer soldiers whose glory each volunteer of today is the heir and successor. That army and all the armies that follow it, however long the war may last, will lay down their lives gladly to avenge Lord Kitchener's death.—Calgary Herald.

THE HUNS CANNOT INTIMIDATE CANADIANS

In some quarters, the theory has been advanced that the Germans, by their unparalleled cannonading and bombing on the Hooge-Ypres line, have been trying to intimidate the Canadians. If this has been the purpose of the Teutons, they have failed and they will fail no matter how severely they test the courage of the men from the Dominion. That this is so, is evidenced by the message from Britain that 50,000 Canadians who are quartered there for training, are clamoring to be sent to the trenches to take the place of those who have been killed or wounded.

This is the spirit that animates Canadians. Reverses do not dull it; rather do they arouse it. Canadians are slow to be angered into fighting mood but when their blood is heated by opposition they become fairly beserk in their onslaught and the enemy suffers accordingly. Although not military by training, they outdistance the men who have been trained to arms from birth when they are spurred by necessity and by carnage.

What has happened at Hooge and Ypres is the tragedy of war. Our men accepted it heroically and those who survive and those who have been training are ready, yea they clamor to be allowed to run a similar risk that they may avenge their fallen comrades.

At home the same spirit will be made manifest by increased activity in the recruiting offices. Canadians are called to arms by the casualty list and by the death of Lord Kitchener.—Calgary News-Telegram.

"She is very shallow."

"That may be, but more than one man has gone beyond his depth chasing after her."

YOU MUST GO!

Unbeaten Belgium! bravest of the brave!
Each plundered peasant, each maltreated maid;
Each murdered patriot from his nameless grave—
All call to YOU for vengeance or for aid—
And you must go!

Poor Poland! one-time terror of the Turk!
The Moslem, manlier than the harrying Hun,
Blushes, beholding there his allies' work;
Foul work which call to YOU to be undone—
And you must go!

Sad Servia! lately fiercest in the fray!
Done by disease and death and dearth of food;;
Her remnant gathered now in Greece, at bay
Calls YOU to break the bonds of Gessler's brood—
And you must go!

Resurgent Russia! Reckless of retreat!
With Parthian prowess, winning while she lost;
Turning to triumph what was deemed defeat,
Calls YOU to do your bit at any cost—
And you must go!

Fair France! a fearless foe, a faithful friend,
Stemming superb and strong the Teuton tide,
That breaks against the lines it scarce can bend,
Calls YOU to hold the trenches by her side—
And you must go!

—A. A. in Mail and Empire, Toronto.

COLD STORAGE

Things to worry about: The commencement oration is never so painful to the audience as to the young person delivering it.

Dr. X was a man who took his profession seriously, and he had an immense practice. What annoyed him was to be sent for by fussy women to treat the most trifling ailments. One woman was particularly aggravating in this respect and he resolved to cure her.

One day she observed a red spot on her hand and at once telephoned for him. He came, looked at the spot and said:

"You did well to send for me early."

"Is it dangerous then?" she asked.

"Certainly not," said the doctor, "but tomorrow it would have disappeared and I should have lost my fee for this visit."

TEN MILLION ARE INVETERATE GUM CHEWERS

How many people in the United States chew gum? No accurate government statistics being available, a conservative estimate may place the number at 10,000,000 dividing them into two classes, the inveterate or habitual chewers and the occasional chewers. Under the latter class may be placed school children, who are not permitted to chew during study hours.

According to the census of 1910, there were in the United States 27,750,599 persons between the ages of six and twenty years in the forty-eight states and the District of Columbia. Of this number 17,300,204 attended school, at potentially occasional chewers, leaving a balance of 10,450,395 as potentially inveterate chewers of gum, all under the age of twenty years. Of course, all these may not have been gum chewers; equally, of course, inveterate gum chewers cannot be confined to persons under the age of 20 years. These figures may be taken, however, to show that the estimate of 10,000,000 chewers is very conservative.

The latest statistics published by the department of commerce show that during the calendar year 1913 the United States imported 13,401,316 pounds of chicle, valued at $5,119,500. Now the word "chicle" to most people in this country might be Greek, but it isn't. According to the pamphlets on Mexico, recently issued by the Pan-American Union at Washington, D. C., the word "chicle" is of Aztec origin, and is the name given to the sap of the sapote tree, botanically known as the sapota zapotilla. It is this sap which is the basis of practically all the chewing gum used in the United States.

The Aztecs in Mexico are said to have been the first gum chewers known on this, or, for that matter, any other, continent. The followers of Cortez reported that the Indians chewed gum to quench thirst and relieve exhaustion. They obtained it from the sapota tree by tapping, and today the manner of gathering the sap is in close analogy to the process of gathering maple sugar in New England. The tree is indigenous in the northern countries of South America, Central America and especially in Mexico, the last named furnishing about six-sevenths of the entire supply consumed annually in the United States.

The sapota tree is usually found in groups, frequently grows to a height of forty to fifty feet, is generally very straight, and has long, clear length which makes it most desirable for timber. The wood is of a reddish mahogany color, is quite hard, heavy, compact in texture and fine grained. Door frames and sills of this remarkable wood have been unearthed in the prehistoric ruins of Uxmal and found to be in an excellent state of preservation. The wood is in demand by cabinet makers, who employ it in the manufacture of high grade furniture and household fittings.

The fruit, the sapodilla pear, was once very popular in Latin-American markets, but the constant demand for the gum and the constant tapping so reduced the size and quantity of the fruit that it has become almost a negligible product.

Throughout the rainy season, while the sap is up, the tapping is done by the "chicleros," whose only implements are a machete and a piece of rope. The rope is fastened about the waist and slipped around the tree, leaving the chiclero's hands free to make the V-shaped incisions spirally around the tree. The sap runs along the incisions and is collected in cups at the base. It looks like milk at first, but soon turns to the consistency of treacle. It is collected and boiled in a rather primitive manner in large kettles, and when it has reached the proper consistency it is kneaded and the surplus moisture expressed. It is then molded into large loaves and is ready for shipment. When it reaches the factories in the United States it is mixed and boiled in large copper kettles to a required consistency, flavoring extracts, such as vanilla, peppermint, or wintergreen are added with the required amount of sugar.

WHEN WORK IS NOT WORK

He was "always at it" from morning to night. He was never afraid to undertake something extra.

But if anyone suggested to him that he was "working too hard," he replied as a matter of course. "Oh, I don't call this work."

But the rest of us do. The rest of us have a settled habit of turning everything we do into hard work. We make work of our play. And we even complain of how tired our play makes us.

This is because we try to get all we can out of life at the expense of some other man's labor. The process is wearying.

Now "if you want a thing done, do it yourself." If you want to get the full joy of living put all you can into life.

Then you, too, will say, quite as a matter of course:

"Oh, I don't call this work!"

Bread Lines Lengthening in Suffering Belgium

Hungry Women are Grateful for Scanty Fare Provided by Belgian Relief Fund

So long as their heroic husbands and fathers are fighting with the Allies, Germany will not raise a finger to save from starvation those Belgian women and children in the territory she has overrun. She permits the Belgian Relief Commission to feed them, but her heartless attitude is indicated by the recent torpedoing of two relief ships. Their cargoes were fully insured, of course, as are all shipments made by the Commission, so no contributions were lost. But much anxiety is felt lest even the delay in getting food over may cost precious lives.

For all Belgium is dangerously short of food. Nearly three millions are penniless as well—and the number of these is growing fast as accumulated savings are exhausted.

This means continually growing demands on the Belgian Relief Fund. To meet them more Canadians must contribute, and those who have been giving must be even more liberal. The only alternative is to let our devoted Allies perish!

This is a plain statement of perhaps the most appealing cause in history—a cause that has stirred the hearts and opened the purses of thousands. Has it opened yours? Have you in your security done your share for those sufferers who, but for an accident of geography, might have included your own wife and children, or yourself?

ARROW LAKES ASSOCIATION MEETS AT NAKUSP

(Special to The Daily News.)

NAKUSP, B.C., June 7.—A special meeting of the shareholders of the Arrow Lakes Produce & Canning association was held Tuesday to ratify resolutions passed at a previous annual meeting to merge interests with those of the Nakusp Cooperative society. There were 70 shareholders present, with J. S. Morrison in the chair and A. Harvey Smith, secretary.

A slight breeze after the reading of the minutes developed into a veritable storm when objections to discussion on the resolution were made by those in favor of the amalgamation. The importance of the association's business may be seen when it is stated that during the past year it bought and sold over $20,000 worth of hay and feed for use among the members at cost plus 7 per cent and it was felt by a large number present that if the two associations merge a proper financial statement should be presented of both societies, so that the vendors in the canning concern would know their relative positions.

The objection to discussion from the chair was evnetually overcome and a resolution was passed demanding a thorough investigation of the acocunts for the past year, J. Woods being appointed auditor with instructions to report under affidavit at a meeting to be held four weeks hence. Several personal remarks were indulged in, one of the audience ebing threatened with expulsion from the room.

Mrs. Bowes of Glenbank has just received from her son, Pte. Marvin Bowes of the 54th Kootenay battalion, now in England, a beautiful hand knit muffler, presented to her son by Princess Victoria, while he was visiting a friend at Maidenhead, a sister of Mrs. Bill of Glenbank. With another Nakusp boy, Pte. Ernest Simpson, a nephew of Mrs. Bill, he had paid a weekend visit and her royal highness hearing that there were two Canadian boys in the neighborhood, made inquiries, with the result that a handsome khaki muffler, 10 feet long, was sent to each soldier, in addition to other articles. "BILLY" MARTIN IS AMONG THE MISSING

Lieut. John. R. Martin, who was reported missing in the casualty list published Friday morning, it is believed, is the Martin who was for many years a resident of Nelson, where he was familiarly known as "Billy."

Lieut. Martin came to Nelson more than 20 years ago from Hamilton, Ont., and was in the government service in the city for 18 years, previous to which he was employed by the Nelson branch of the Bank of Montreal, and the Canadian Pacific Railroad company's lake and river service.

When the war broke out he returned to Hamilton and there enlisted with one of the overseas battalions, going to the front during the early stages of the war. He was well known in Nelson and district, where he made a large circle of friends. Lieut. Martin is a cousin of Mr. Justice Archer Martin of the court of appeals.

SCHOFIELD REVIEWS WORK OF SESSION

Member for Trail Tells of New Legislation of Importance to Residents of Kootenay-Boundary.

(Special to The Daily News.)

TRAIL, B.C., June 9.—J. H. Schofield, M.P.P., upon his return from Victoria reviewed the work of the session just closed which was the second longest in the history of the province, only being exceeded by that of 1892. That the present house is a business government, is borne out by the large amount of useful legislation passed among which the following bills may be said to be of special value to those living in the Kootenay country.

Bill No. 2 gives prospectors who may be serving with the colors exemption from certain conditions which they would have to fulfil under the Mineral and Placer Mining act.

Bill No. 13 provides for the free grant of their preemption records to those who are on active service without observing the requirements of the Land act.

Bill No. 15 provides for the issuing of free homesteads to any who are on active service and for loaning the soldiers money on their homesteads in a manner similar to the Agricultural Credits act. It also provides for certain cancellations of land purchased by so called speculators throughout the province except the proportion for which they have already paid or will pay by the end of the present year. The balance of the land held at present under these applications to purchase are reserved for the returned soldiers or to be sold by the minister and the proceeds of such sale placed in the hands of the Agricultural Credits commission for the benefit of the returned soldiers.

Bill No. 30 is the Workmen's Compensation act.

Bill No. 40 is an act to amend the Forest act. Among other things it gives settlers the right to cut all cordwood on 160 acres without paying stumpage.

Bill 43 is the shipbuilding act.

Bill No. 58 is to amend the Sale of Goods act and is framed to prevent unscrupulous commission merchants cheating and taking improper advantage of the ranchers who ship their produce to them for sale.

Bill No. 77 provides for assistance in the development of prospects throughout the district who have up to the present been unable to get roads and trails to them.

Bill No. 86 extends the electoral franchise to all British subjects who have enlisted, whether they have been registered on the voters list or not, the only condition being that they must have been six months in the province previous to enlistment.

Bill No. 91 is an amendment to the Provincial Elections act which is framed to render impossible a recurrence of the late disgraceful carnival of plugging which was indulged in at the byelection in Vancouver.

Bill No. 93 is an act to prevent civil suits being brought against volunteers during the continuance of the war.

Bill No. 95 provides for a weekly half holiday for store employees.

Speaking of the public works for the coming year Mr. Schofield said that while he did not succeed in getting all he asked for, the department had been very fair to him. Among other things, he succeeded in getting a grant of $7500 for the school here, $15,000 for the bridge at Waneta and various other amounts. The Waneta bridge will prove of immense benefit to the district inasmuch as it will make an all year connection with our neighbors to the south of us without the use of a ferry.

AT THE THEATRES.

The bicycle contest being conducted by the Gem theatre is arousing great enthusiasm among the children. The management promises many surprises during the course of the contest and the crowning feature will be a picnic for all contestants at the close of the contest.

Opera House

The Bostonians played a full month in Calgary, a week each in Edmonton, Moose Jaw, Regina, two engagements in Saskatoon and many other cities in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Reports from newspaper critics, theatre managers and theatregoers in these various places state that the Bostonians are even better this year than on any previous visits. This is saying a great deal, as will be keenly appreciated by the many friends of this company in this city.

For several seasons this company of girl songsters, dancers and commediennes has returned to cause all to forget the worries of routine and the daily responsibilities. And every time that the Bostonians return it seems as though they were more entertaining.

The Bostonians will give on next Tuesday "Tipperary Mary," which is a smart Irish comedy with one hundred and twenty minutes of genuine surprises and laughs.

Production and Price

Do the great variety of Sixes and the fluctuating prices seem confusing and perplexing?

Let's reason it out.

What controls price? Production.

As a manufacturer's production increases, his production cost, per car, decreases.

Therefore the plant with the largest production is in a position to give more of everything and charge less for it.

We are the world's largest producers of Six and Four Cylinder Automobiles.

Consequently you get in the Overland Six a larger and more powerful motor—a longer wheelbase—the convenience of electric control buttons on the steering column and an almost endless list of other comforts and refinements.

—yet what is the price?

Not $1700 or $1850 but $1600.

And when it comes to a Six Cylinder performance, remember the Overland Six is the star of them all.

One ride will convince you.

STOCKS MAKE GAINS IN IRREGULAR MARKET

Rails Get Much Support from Rails Which Develop Pronounced Strength.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, June 9.—In further disregard of political conditions which left none of their uncertainty and complexities during the session, today's market was lifted to irregular higher levels. There were a few offsetting features, but these were due, for the main, to technical or specific reasons. Trading was active during the first and last hours, but dwindled during the intermediate stage, when all street's attention was diverted toward Chicago, where events seemed to be shaping in the direction of a definite end.

Rails once more gave the list much genuine support, the potential issues in that group manifesting pronounced strength on what was regarded as further accumulation. The Canadian issues, Union Pacific and grangers, St. Paul and Atchison were better by 1 to 2 points, with more moderate strength in Norfolk & Western, and Baltimore & Ohio.

Lower priced rails, including shares of companies now in process of financial readjustment, were materially higher. Gains of 1 to 7 points were scored by the Colorado issues with 2 to 3 points for St. Louis Southwestern common and preferred and 4 points for Wisconsin Central. New York Central was bought in single lots of unusual size, although that stock at no time improved more than a material fraction. Chesapeake & Ohio reflected the restraint due to realizing sales and Reading was under slight pressure.

United States Steel stood out among the old time favorites, its advance of 2 to 86¼, accompanied by heavy trading, but Bethlehem Steel at a single sale of 11 to 446.

Motors except Studebaker, with an extreme gain of 4¼, were inclined to drag until the final hour when, together with some of the munitions, including Crucible Steel and Locomotives, these issues developed sudden activity at substantial gains.

United States Smelting made a gain of 1½ to 80¾. Total sales of stocks, 1,000 shares.

Bonds were firm but international issues were inclined to ease, several large lots of Anglo-French 5s being offered at a concessio from yesterday's final quotation. Total sales, par value, $4,940,000.

SHORT CROP REPORT CAUSES WHEAT BULGE

Government Statement Indicates Yield Will Be Three Hundred Million Bushels Short.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

MONTREAL, June 9—Wheat jumped up in price today chiefly as a consequence of the government crop report indicating that the yield in the United States this season would fall short of the 1915 total by almost 300,000 bushels.

Oats gained ¼ to ⅜ and provisions finished irregular, ranging from 7c decline to a rise of 20c.

Free buying lifted the wheat market in a hurry right after the opening. Profit-taking was active on the bulge, but caused only a moderate reaction. Then prices again went upward, influenced by opinions expressed that 90 per cent of the June condition of the spring crop rendered a good harvest of spring wheat a most likely outcome. In this connection the fact was pointed out that with four exceptions the percentage was the lowest in 50 years. Under such circumstances bulls remained in easy control of the market throughout the session, although the top prices of the day were not upheld during the last half hour of trading.

Oklahoma sent word that shipments of new grain were expected early next week. On the other hand, no sales whatever to Europe were reported, except 110,000 bushels at St. Louis to go out by way of the Gulf of Mexico.

Oats responded a little to bullish news on the government crop report.

Pork rose on account of the scantiness of offerings and because of a good demand from grain houses.

BRAZILIAN FEATURE OF MARKET AT TORONTO

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

TORONTO, June 9.—The Toronto market was quiet with the development of activity and strength in Brazilian one of its few interesting features. General conditions in Brazil are improving and this is expected to lead to a further recovery in transportation rates.

The other active stock was Dominion Steel, to which attention has been drawn by its fine annual report, and among the less active issues there was another advance in Shredded Wheat common to 124, a 2-point rise overnight to a new high record.

On the curb there was some activity in Dominion Steel Foundries preferred.

POWER CONSOLIDATED SHARES MAKE DEBUT AT MONTREAL

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

MONTREAL, June 9.—The shares of the new power consolidation made their debut in the Montreal market today and brisk trading in these and the old shares of the constituent companies provided the chief feature of the day's business.

Montreal power rallied 2 to 242 and Cedars ½ to 80½. Dealings in other power stocks amounted to 1300 shares, in Civic and Cedars, about 700 shares, in each stock.

Trading developed no indication of a revival of the dulness which set in early in the week, but the tone was firmer and most stocks closed higher than on Thursday. Iron continued to make a disappointing response to the record breaking statement issued in midweek, selling off to 57 after touching 58 and closing at the low, with a loss of ⅛. Scotia was firm around 124 and Steel of Canada rose ½ to 62½, closing at the best.

Among other industrials of the war order group Forgings was prominent with a rally of 1 to 205 and Lyall with a further advance of 2 to 87½, carried the price to within a small fraction of the high record made in the early spring. Cement and General Electric finished fractionally higher. Locomotive was weaker, selling off ½ to 63. Steamship common was firm at 28⅞.

Total business for the day amounted to 7759 shares, 276 rights and $115,500 bonds; in unlisted 1409 shares and 21,-70 bonds.

Commercial failures in the Dominion this week were 27 as against 34 last week and 61 the same week last year.

THE FRUIT PRESERVING SEASON

The high prices for sugar will mean that less home preserving of fruit will be done this summer. An advance from 5 cents to 9 cents a pound makes a great difference to the consumer. But there are likely to be compensating factors. At least the sugar-refining and wholesaling interests calculate upon them. The chief of them is that as sugar goes up, the price of fruit will come down.

The basic reasoning behind that theory is that fruits which are preserved are perishable, that they must have a quick market, at the prices procurable, and that if, owing to sugar costs, housewives are slow and chary about buying fruit for preserving, the fruit prices will naturally drop to the compensating level. The other chief idea of the sugar men is that canned fruit will more largely take the place of the home preserving.

How this will make a cheaper table for the home is not explained. The canners have to pay more for their sugar and unless they use glucose, or saccharine, or some other such product, their costs must advance in nearly the same proportion. Indeed, the scarcity of such labor as the canning factories use may make their costs considerably higher than usual. The outlook does not favor especial relief from this source. Some of the sugar people think they perceive a steady decline in the demand for sugar. Consumers are buying from hand to mouth, and using sugar as carefully as fresh eggs in February. If, over the continent, the high prices induce the same economizing strain, a halt to the mounting prices may be quickly called. The same thing happened to gasoline when it got to a certain level. A large and bountiful fruit crop this year would do much toward correcting the abnormal conditions and helping to these these family pocketbook in these days of many calls.

MAKING GREAT AUTO COMBINE.

NEW YORK, June 9.—Progress toward the completion of the new $200,000,000 automobile combination, which embraces the Willys-Overland, the Hudson and the Chalmers automobile companies, as well as allied concerns, including the Auto-Lite company, is announced. The new company will probably bear the corporate title of the American Motors company, with $70,000,000 of preferred stock, with a par value of $100 and probably 2,000,000 shares of common stock of no fixed par value.

DOLLAR VALUE HERE AND THERE

Comparison of Purchasing Power of Unit From an Interesting Study

The relative purchasing power of a dollar, particularly under the influence of war, has become an interesting study with those the least interested in finances. While in many instances the cost of material has increased the present period of business regeneration has, on the other hand, placed more money in the hands of many persons. Affluence is felt even previous to the war money was not so plentiful.

Turning to Europe it is interesting to make comparisons. Canada is chiefly interested in the allied nations, and particularly in Belgium whose people have made history that will be remembered for centuries to come. In Belgium the dollar unit represents a vastly greater amount of return that in Canada.

This has become more apparent than ever under the efficient management of the Belgian Relief Commission, which has had charge of the dispensing of relief to the seven millions of destitute people in the devastated sections of the country. This organization has reduced the dispensing of relief to a scientific basis and has, by much figuring, managed to save these millions from starvation in a land now absolutely barren of anything that would provide nourishment for the people.

The dollar—the Canadian dollar—in Belgium means much. To the middle class Canadian family the dollar represented an average meal for the family. In Belgium the same dollar means sustenance in sufficient quantity to keep one person from starvation a month. If every Canadian, who is able, should set aside a dollar a month the alarming situation would be solved.

Three million Canadian sending a dollar a month to the Belgian Relief Committee, 59 St. Peter street, Montreal, would stave off the starvation that today faces three million Belgians. The Belgian Relief Committee is now sending out a new appeal to Canadians to help pay the debt that the empire owes Belgium. A dollar will help and a dollar a month will be a guarantee against a future that holds little cheer for these heroic people.

OVERLAND ISSUES BOOKLET.

Do you know that the shape of the explosion chamber has a great deal to do with the power of a motor?

Do you know the advantages of positive valve action?

Do you know the advantage of having valve openings protected from the heat of explosion?

Do you know that quietness of operation is the truest indication of absence of wear?

These and a multitude of other questions pertaining to automobile engines—especially sleeve valve motors—are answered concisely and clearly in a new booklet just published by the Willys-Overland company, said to be the most complete and comprehensive report ever written on the subject. It has been published for the sole purpose of familiarizing people with the advantages of the Knight type of motor.

The booklet is written in plain, everyday English. Any layman can grasp the full meaning of its text. At the same time it contains enough valuable information on the operation and construction of the Knight engine to hold the attention of a mechanical engineer.

Saw Ad. and Tried Gin Pills

Mr. Arthur Dunn of L'Anse a Louise, Gaspe Co., Que., writes that he was troubled with his Kidneys for four years, and was almost discouraged when he saw our Gin Pill advertisement in the papers. Three boxes relieved him, and after a year of freedom from pain he is pleased to say he has no return whatever of his trouble, and wishes us to publish these facts for the benefit of others similarly affected.

DOCTORS FAILED—

Gin Pills FOR THE KIDNEYS

CURED!

Mr. James Stackhouse of the Faramel Feed Stables, Toronto, had pains in the back. One doctor treated him for lumbago and spinal affection—another ordered X-ray treatment, but with no result. Mr. Stackhouse couldn't sleep in bed for six weeks, then, after twelve days in the hospital, his wife urged him to try Gin Pills. To-day he is free from pain, quite active, and attending to business.

Don't neglect your kidneys. If you suffer from pain in the back, constant headaches, swollen hands and ankles, pains in the joints, your kidneys or bladder need immediate attention. Gin Pills should be used at once.

Most dealers sell Gin Pills. If you cannot get them, send us 50 cents for one box, or $2.50 for 6 boxes. A sample box free upon request.

"I have a Back-ache and feel so weary."

Your Kidneys are overworked. They need the strength and tone that Dr. Cassell's Tablets can give

Restoratives—not Drugs

Backache is evidence that your kidneys are weak, that there is not sufficient vital force to keep them properly active. Drugs in such a case can only irritate. It is strength that is wanted, and that strength must come from the living battery of vitality we call the nervous system.

That is why Dr. Cassell's Tablets are so unfailingly effective in the cure of backache and other results of kidney weakness. They nourish the nerves and nerve-centres, replenish the vital reserves, and so restore health to the kidneys by supplying that vital force upon which the activity of the kidneys and of every other bodily organ depends.

Dr. CHAS. FORSHAW, F.C.S., D.Sc., etc., a well-known English scientist says:—"I have tested Dr. Cassell's Tablets and can conscientiously recommend them as an eminently safe and effective remedy for nerve and bodily weakness, for anæmia, malnutrition, and many forms of stomach and kidney troubles."

Youthful, Beautiful Skin Easy to Have

You may be as healthy as a bird in the air and still have a poor complexion. Changing seasons and temperatures, winds, dust and dirt, are apt to injure any skin, even though the general health be good. When these external influences spoil the complexion, the natural thing is to remove the spoil by external means. Ordinary mercolized wax will do this. It will actually absorb the weather soiled film skin, a little each day. In a week or two you'll have a brand new complexion, a new skin. The exquisitely beautiful and youthful complexion thus acquired, comes so easily, without harm or discomfort, there's no reason why any woman should not adopt this simple treatment. Get an ounce of mercolized wax at any drug store, apply nightly like cold cream, washing it off mornings. This will not fail in any case.

To quickly remove wrinkles, signs of care and age, bathe the face occasionally in a solution of powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in ½ pt. witch hazel. The results will surprise you.

SOLDIER'S WIVES AND "WOMEN OF BRAINS"

Writer in Canadian Courier Has Some Observations on Remark of Woman at Meeting

I picked up a paper the other day and read an account of a Patriotic Fund meeting in which a lady made the following remarks touching the wives of soldiers whom the Fund assisted:

"We have been fostering extravagance and wastefulness. They should do their full share of the war work instead of gadding to the moving picture shows and spending their afternoons shopping. No Toronto lady can get a charwoman to do her work unless she makes arrangements two weeks in advance. It is disgraceful that women of brains, who ought to be in patriotic work, have to work at home."

"I have not given the lady's name—though the newspapers were not so kind. I entertain the help that she was mis-reported. Then, if that was really what she said, I feel that it would be cruel to pillory the poor shrivelled soul, and further humiliate her friends, for utterances that can only reveal either a mental or a cardiac condition which must humiliate them daily. Still occasionally stories do come to me which suggest that this point of view is not wholly monopolized by the lady in question. Never before have I heard it put so bluntly. But, there is, perhaps, enough of this feeling at large in the community—born in some cases of lack of thought about the situation—to make it worth while to say a few plain words on this subject of soldiers' wives.

"You will notice that the lady I have quoted above begins her complaint by saying that these soldiers' wives "should do their full share of the war work." This sounds reasonable and patriotic. But, in the next sentence, you discover that what she really means is that soldiers' wives "should do her share of her own housework." Her idea clearly is that these honored ladies of our war heroes—whom we were frantically cheering just the other day—should do their share of this glorious "war work"—in her kitchen. And she thinks it "disgraceful" that they won't do it.

"But what about the feelings of the war hero?—and he, after all, is the man to be considered. It is to be presumed that he thinks highly of his wife—the mother of his children—even if she is not "a woman of brains" in the sense that she can make her living without soiling her hands. It is quite possible that he imagines that she IS "a woman brains," though her "brains" may not have been given that technical training which would turn them into a deft and polished instrument for making money. There is often much more "brains" in the head of the modest woman who stays at home, manages a house, and possibly brings up a family of children, than in that of the veneered and dashing de-feminized specimen who regards it as "disgraceful" to "work at home" and "brainy" to make a show in public.

"Anyway, the soldier—if he is a decent sort, as most of them are—loves his wife. He does not like to see her charring for other women. He does not admit for a moment that she is inferior to other women. If he should get a better job at home, which gave him money enough to support his family without her earnings, the first thing he would do would be to tell her to give up "working out," and enjoy such leisure as she had like the wives of richer men. He would not object to her "gadding to the moving picture shows"—he would be proud and happy that she could do it, like other ladies, if she wanted to. That is chiefly what he would covet the better job for. He would want, above all things, to "buy his wife's liberty" from the necessity of serving "woman of brains"—so self-designated. He would release her from servitude in any kitchen but her own, and free her from taking orders from any other man's wife.

"And he might very easily get a better job if he stayed at home. For workmen are getting scarcer. If he followed his own selfish interest, and sought this better job, the "woman of brains" would be the first to blame him if he still permitted his wife to "work out" after having got it. She would then accuse him of wasting his better pay in drink, and making his poor and neglected wife scrub and wash to support him. She could quite understand such a man, having succeeded in lifting himself up in the world, wanting to lift his wife with him.

"But if instead of staying at home and serving his own selfish interests, this man enlists and goes to war for his country, does he deserve less consideration than the man who does stay at home and make money? If he gives up his chance to get a better job in order to do his duty, is he more worthy of contempt from "women of brains" than his fellow citizen who refuses to enlist and worms himself into this better job, than the self-seeker? He goes into danger that you and I may stay safely at home and still live a life of liberty. He offers to risk death for us—yea, even for the "woman of brains" who is so indignant that his wife will no longer char in her kitchen. We tell him to his face that he is a hero—and yet the moment his khaki-ed back is turned, we insult his best beloved if she will not get down on her knees and scrub our dirty floors for us.

"Do we lie when we pretend to appreciate his sacrifice? Either than—or we forget. We treat him worse than we would dream of doing if he had stuck at home and taken the job of the man who went. If he stays here and makes more money, we take off our hats to his wife. But if he goes nobly off to fight our battles for us, leaving his wife to our chivalrous care and protection, we peddle out charity to her as if all the nobility of soul were in our bosoms, and we are amazed if she does not realize that she has a great deal to be grateful for. She has given us the most priceless possession any women ever had—her man. And we talk—some of us—as if it were possible for us to give her alms. If we emptied the vaults of all the banks into her lap, we would still be in her debt. The Patriotic Fund is but a small instalment on the heavy obligation we owe these soldiers' wives. If we housed them all in palaces, would that repay them for one unmarked grave "somewhere in France?" Yet there is a woman in Canada who will get up in public and say that "we are fostering extravagance and wastefulness' when we permit these lonely wives to seek the temporary anodyne of an hour's amusement, and that it is "disgraceful" that they will not act as charwomen for "women of brains." "Women of brains" may be the right description—certainly not "women of heart."

UNSELFISHNESS RULES SOLDIERS AT FRONT

Dr. Greenfell Tells of Observations in France—How Men Save Their Comrades

"Men were so unselfish that they regarded it as a privilege to crawl over a parapet to fetch in a wounded comrade. It is an atmosphere in which Christ Himself might walk."—Dr. W.T. Grenfell.

Dr. Wilfrid T. Grenfell was ever a man of war, and the conflict in France and Flanders, from which he has just returned, he has found to be only relatively different from that which he is about to resume in Labrador. Speaking on behalf of the Red Cross to an audience, which overflowed Convocation hall last evening. Dr. Grenfell told of what he saw of the everyday life on the battle-front. Notwithstanding the immaculate linen and the neat, black evening dress, the doctor could not disguise the soldier, for his ruddy face told of the rough, open-air life which he had shared with the British troops.

"War and peace are not so dissimilar as one might suppose," said the doctor in opening his story. "Doing one's bit at the front is very much the same as doing one's bit at home in ordinarily life. It takes just as much courage to face everyday problems cheerfully as it does to face a foe in war. I have seen men under pitiable conditions in the trenches who were more cheerful than men in luxurious homes. I have looked in the faces of a good many dying men in these last months, to whom I could offer no other help than to take their hand and say, 'Thank God you did your bit when you had your chance.'"

Soldiers and Religion

Speaking of the attitude of the troops to religion, Dr. Grenfell said he could not be sure that they were all nominal Christians, but there was an atmosphere of unselfishness pervading the life at the front. "Men were so unselfish that they regarded it as a privilege to be permitted to crawl over a parapet to fetch in a wounded comrade. It is an atmosphere in which Christ Himself might walk. Though we are losing men at the war, for every man that falls two new men are made. However many men Canada may lose, ten thousand times as many would have been lost if Canadians at such a time as this should have stood aside and said, 'We are neutral on this question.' I feel a great reverance in the face of a Canadian audience when I think of what I saw at Ypres.

Aspect of Neutrality

"I have met people in the United States who are so undecided upon the war that one would almost think that Belgium made war upon Germany to extend her territory! Belgium went to war as Christ went to Calvary; because she believed it was right to do so. I do not know how any man, when it comes to piracy and sins of that kind, can at the end of his life stand before the Almighty and say: 'I have fought a good fight and I have kept the faith and henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness.'

A German Atrocity

"I am not going to tell you a lot of horrible stories about German atrocities, but I can tell you one which I believe to be true." The doctor then told of the shooting of a Belgian boy of twelve years, who had shouted "Vive la France!" as the German soldiers passed by, mistaking them for French soldiers.

Newfoundianers Seek Mines

Dr. Grenfell said there were 1,500 Newfoundland fisherman trawling for mines in the North Sea, instead of for codfish on the coast of Labrador. The fishermen were doing a great work in carrying men and provisions to France, in spite of the submarines.

The doctor paid a high tribute to the work of the A. M. C. and the Red Cross in mitigating the sufferings of the soldiers. The result of their labors was that "trench feet," and typhoid have been eliminated, and the sickness of the men is just half what it would be at home.

Mr. K. J. Dunstan, president of the Toronto branch of the Red Cross society, was in the chair, and a number of representative men and women were on the platform. The building was filled throughout and hundreds were turned from the doors.

PLAN HEARINGS ON PRICES OF GASOLINE

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 8.—The federal trade committee announces that it will hold hearings June 12 and 13 to give the interests concerned an opportunity to explain the rise in the price of gasoline. The committee is investigating the increase in price under a senate resolution.

The report will be submitted within a few days after the hearings. The commission sent letters Friday to refiners, jobbers, pipe line companies and crude oil producing concerns throughout the country asking for any information they might care to present in addition to that already uncovered by the commission. These letters read:

"It is the federal trade commission's desire in every inquiry to secure all the facts and to draw the correct conclusions therefrom. To this end, having completed a preliminary tabulation and analysis of the data concerning the gasoline situation, as furnished by your company and others, the commission will now give to interested parties an opportunity before reaching its conclusions.

"You are, therefore, informed that on June 12 and 13 the commission will hold an informal hearing at Washington. At that time any information that your company may care to present in addition to that already submitted will be received, and any statement concerning your company's cost of production and the increase in prices will be welcomed. The commission also would be glad to have your company submit at that time a concise statement concerning competitive conditions in the petroleum industry, especially in regard to gasoline.

"At this hearing the commission would desire to ask certain questions concerning these matters of your representatives, and to that end it is suggested that in case your company desires to appear it should be represented by officers thoroughly familiar with the executive, accounting, operating and marketing departments of your business."

CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS 25¢

Well—that was "some" shave!

I would never have believed it

"I was told that it would pay me to throw away my old shaving powder and stick, and the rest of them and try this new Mennen's Shaving Cream. It seemed to me that all shaving soaps were pretty much alike, but, after this, Mennen's is my one best bet.

"I am converted—I am a 'Mennen booster' from now on. I did everything I could to make Mennen's Shaving Cream fail—using cold water and a dull razor blade. I thought it couldn't soften the beard without rubbing in—it did. I didn't think it would make a lather that wouldn't dry. The lather stayed fresh, and my face stayed moist. It was the easiest, quickest and most satisfactory shave I ever had."

MENNEN'S SHAVING CREAM

Mennen's Differs from Others

1—Absorbs an unusual amount of water, thus you need only ½ inch for every shave.

2—Lather remains moist for at least ten minutes, therefore no relathering.

3—The creamy lather will soften the beard itself. No rubbing in.

4—An indifferent razor makes good with Mennen's.

5—No "free" caustic, but ingredients soothing to the skin.

Wilson, Mayor Thomas Uphill occupied the chair. A lengthy program was presented by some of the best talent of the city. Brown's orchestra discoursed lively airs during the evening and songs, both humorous and sentimental were sung by the following: Puckey brothers, A. Prentice, R. Samson, R. Billsborough, C. Andrews and J. Smith. W. Bartion rendered a few selections on the gramaphone and Pte. C. Perot acted as accompanist. The feature of the evening was the egg contest, the judges being Messrs. Hancock and Platt and awarded prizes to the following: White eggs, 1, E. Pelletier; 2, D. Phillips; 3, Joe Turner. Brown eggs: 1, D. Phillips, 2, Sid Knight; 3, J. Machim. The members of the above association wish to express thanks to the merchants and business people of Fernie who kindly donated refreshments, etc., to the smoker, also to those who put up such an excellent program.

Better Muscle, Better Work—the power to do things comes from food that supplies the greatest amount of strength-giving nutriment with the least tax upon the digestive organs. Shredded Wheat Biscuit contains all the muscle-making material in the whole wheat grain—the most perfect food given to man—made digestible by steam-cooking, shredding and baking. Contains more real nutriment than meat or eggs and costs much less. Being ready-cooked and ready-to-serve, it is the ideal Summer food. Delicious for breakfast, for luncheon or any meal with milk or cream, or with fresh fruits.

Nelson News of the Day

SALE OF PRODUCE TO AID BELGIANS

Proceeds of Sales at Willow Point Market Stall to Go to Daily News Relief Fund.

One of the chief features of the Saturday morning market will be the special display of produce at the stall conducted by the Willow Point Women's institute, the entire proceeds from the sale of which will be donated to The Daily News Belgian relief fund.

Saturday will mark the first anniversary of the establishment of the Willow Point institute stall at the Nelson public market and after due consideration it was decided by the members that no more fitting method could be found of celebrating the occasion than that of donating the proceeds of the morning business to the relief of the starving Belgians.

It is felt by the members that this announcement would act as an extra inducement to the housewives of the city to turn out in large numbers and supply their wants as far as possible at the institute stall. Since the establishment of the stall at the market a year ago, it is said, that every week has seen it growing in popularity with the buying public and it is hoped that the extra endeavor that is being made this week to place before the patrons of the market and especially good assortment of produce, coupled with the fact that the money spent on good things, denied the people of Belgium, is to be donated to this cause, will result in the stall being entirely cleaned out before the morning's trading is over.

REPORT ON FALL FAIRS IS ISSUED

Government Puts Out Booklet of Much Interest to Ranchers of the Province

The fifth annual report of the Agricultural Fairs association of British Columbia for the years 1914 and 1915, in which is included a summary of the convention held Jan. 31, 1914, has been published by the department of agriculture at Victoria, from which copies may be obtained upon application.

The report states that at the close of 1915 there were 68 agricultural associations incorporated in the province and that fall fairs were held by 47 agricultural associations, seven farmers' institutes and one fruit growers' association, as against a total of 35 organizations in 1914.

The report records the results of apple picking contests and packed fruits competitions, together with the judges' reports on the various fall fairs held during the autumn months of 1914 and 1915, besides a considerable amount of miscellaneous information.

The judges' reports on the Nelson fall fairs for the two past years follow:

Sept. 23, 1914

Fruit.—The entries were not so large or so attractive as in former years. The arrangement, however, was excellent, competition being strong in the leading varieties of apples suited to the district. The plum and prune display was especially attractive, both in plate and tray exhibits. The packing school pupils also exhibited, but only No. 1 grade of fruit should be used. It was a matter of regret that the fair lacked this year the many outside district displays of fruit and vegetables (non-competitive) which has been an attractive feature in the past.

Vegetables.—Exhibits of vegetables were not so numerous as might be expected, but they were of good quality and the only defects noted were the lack of light and the crowding of the entries in some of the larger classes. A class for parsnips should be included in the prize list.

Flowers.—Considering the excellent prizes offered, entries were not so full as they should have been. The arrangement was good and the entry book, etc., well up to date.

Live Stock.—A good exhibit of dairy cattle, there being some high grade Ayrshires and Holsteins and a herd of pure bred Jerseys. There was also a pen of Oxford Down sheep and a few grade Yorkshire pigs and some cows. Horses were all double and single drivers.

Poultry.—About the same number of entries as in previous years, but above the average in quality. Utility breeds made up almost the entire show. Fancy varieties were not shown.

Sept. 22, 1915

Fruit and Vegetables.—Fruit entries totalled 335, while vegetables totalled 249, this being almost a record for the province this year. Fruit and vegetables were all well placed in the order listed, which made the judge's duties easy. The plate and tray exhibits were very good, but the packing of the box exhibits was not quite satisfactory. Vegetable exhibits were well arranged and of the highest quality. There was keen competition in the collection class. No live stock this year.

Time Required to Cure Drunkenness

WHERE FORMERLY IT TOOK WEEKS IT NOW REQUIRES ONLY DAYS TO CURE

In the treatment of alcoholism, the remarkable results obtained by the administration of the Neal Three-Day Liquor Cure have long been recognized. The old custom of placing alcoholic patients under from four to six weeks' treatment, with the necessary loss of time and money, is a thing of the past.

Three days are all that are required to cure drunkenness—either periodical or habitual—at the Neal Institute in Cranbrook, B. C., and the cure is effected without the use of dangerous hypodermic injections or injurious drugs.

Another desirable action of the treatment is the rapidity with which the general system is restored to a normal condition. From the very first dose all craving for alcoholic stimulants is destroyed and a perfect cure is effected in only three days' time. It has been demonstrated that there is no such thing as a "secret cure" for drunkenness, and you are taking great risk in administering these remedies.
