(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The British have captured all of the town of Lesars, on the western front and also made gains north and northeast of Courcelette and southwest of Gueudecourt. The Germans have recaptured from the British portions of trenches that had been taken from them in the region north of Lesbouefs.

British Statement.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The following official statement was issued last night:

"North and northeast of Courcelette we considerably advanced our front. The enemy delivered an attack on the Schwaben redoubt but was completely repulsed.

"Successful raids were carried out during the night by Irish, Midland and Yorkshire troops in the Fauquissiat, Givenchy and Loos areas.

'South of the Ancre our front was heavily shelled during the day (Sunday) especially in the neighborhood of Gueudecourt and Lesars. We advanced our line southwest of Gueudecourt.

"The enemy again attacked Schwaben redoubt, unsuccessfully, this morning. There was severe fighting north of the Courcelette-Warlencourt road, where we won some ground.

"The total number of prisoners reported in the last two days has increased to 13 officers and 863 men.

"Yesterday, despite the difficult weather our aeroplanes did useful work. One of our machines is missing."

Paris Statement.

PARIS, Oct. 9.—The following official statement was issued last night:

'On the Somme front there were intermittent reciprocal bombardments. After violent artillery preparation the Germans made an attack on our new positions west of Sailly-Saillezel. Our curtain of fire broke down the successive waves of the attack, none of which succeeded in reaching our trenches.

"In the Woevre region our artillery bombarded German convoys and camps as well as the Thiamount station.

"On the remainder of the front there was nothing of importance."

The following official statement was issued Saturday.

"The night was rainy and without any important event on the Somme front. The enemy displayel little activity.

'Our aeroplanes have regulated the fire and corrected the range of many of our batteries in the Somme area. They fought several aerial engagements and have bombarded Moislains and Vaux wood, north of Peronne."

KRONSTADT TAKEN FROM RUMANIANS

Forced to Yield in Face of Superior Forces

ALLIES ADVANCING IN DOBRUJA REGION

Reports Indicate Teutons Are Massing Forces For Desperate Coup

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Oct. 9—The most important development in Rumania is the withdrawal of the Rumanian troops in the region of Kronstadt, Fogaras and Hermannstadt, in the face of superior forces, mainly made up of Germans. In the operation the Austro-Germans again recaptured Kronstadt, the most important commercial city in Transylvania.

In the Dobruja region of Rumania the Russians and Rumanians are advancing southward against the Teutons, according to Bucharest.

Bucharest Statements.

BUCHAREST, Oct. 8.—The following official statement was issued tonight:

"Northern frontier—In the Alt valley, in the region of Hermannstadt, Fogaras and Brasso, in the face of superior enemy forces, principally Germans, the Rumanian forces have been cleverly withdrawn to strategic positions on the Carpathian frontier to insure a strong defense of the four passes leading from Rumania to Brasso. All evidence shows that the Austro-Germans are bringing troops from all other fronts in order to make a desperate coup in this region.

"According to the latest reports the Rumanian offensive has already been resumed in the Jiul valley and Caineni pass, in the direction of Hermannstadt.

"South front of Dobruja—The situation is satisfactory. The Russians and Rumanians are advancing southward."

The following official statement was issued today:

"Northern front—to the northwest there have been action of minor importance. In the Caneni and Jiul valleys (near Petroseny), our troops resumed the offensive.

"South front—There has been an artillery duel along the Danube.

"In Dobruja our troops on the right flank advanced and occupied enemy trenches. In the centre we repulsed a night attack by the enemy."

Berlin Statement.

BERLIN, Oct. 8.—The city of Kronstadt in the eastern part of Transylvania which was occupied by the Rumanians shortly after their entrance into the war, has been recaptured by the Austro-German forces, the war office announced today.

The following official statement was issued today:

"The Rumanians are yielding on the whole eastern front in Transylvania. The allied (Teutonic) troops have forced an exit from the Giester forest into the Alt valley, and a fresh advance threw the enemy farther back.

"Kronstadt has been taken.

"Army group of Field Marshal von Mackenzen—There have been no events on this front. Military works northwest of Bucharest were attacked by our flying squadrons and bombs were dropped."

SIX OR MORE VESSELS CRIPPLED OR SUNK OFF NANTUCKET SHOALS

Eastern Centres Startled by Flood of Reports All Day Sunday of Attacks Presumably Made by Vessel That Appeared in Newport Saturday

PASSENGERS AND CREWS OF STRICKEN CRAFT RESCUED BY AMERICAN DESTROYERS

Four British Steamers, One Dutch and One Norwegian Among Those Attacked--Halifax-New York Liner Carried American Tourists

NEWPORT, R.I., Oct. 9.—Four destroyers of the American flotilla came into harbor here early today, bringing 216 persons rescued from the ships sunk off Nantucket Sunday by a German submarine.

The Ericcson, the first of the destroyers to arrive, brought 81, the Drayton 68, the Benham 36 and the Jenkins 31. Thirty-five women and 170 children are among those on the Ericcson.

This information came by wireless in advance of the actual docking of the destroyers. While the rescue ships were steaming into the bay word came from the radio station of a report that still another vessel had fallen victim to German submarine torpedoes, thus making the total number of ships wrecked in the day's work of the submarine seven. The name of the seventh vessel supposed to have been sunk was not given but it is said that destroyers of Rear Admiral Gleaves' fleet are searching the sea for its survivors.

Saw Three Submarines.

The executive officers of the U. S. destroyer Drayton stated upon arrival around 2 o'clock this morning that the captain of the Nantucket lightship had wirelessed he had seen three German submarines operating on the shoals, and that nine steamships, all told, had been sunk.

It was also learned definitely that the first call sent out by the liner Stephano read: "S. O. S. Am being torpedoed: American passengers."

The captain of the destroyer Ericcson reported on the flagship Birmingham that he had seen a submarine in the act of firing with its deck guns at the Holland-American steamer. He saw three shots fired. He was then asked to take the passengers off. It is not known whether by the submarine captain or the Holland-American captain.

At 2:30 a. m. the survivors have not been landed. At 1:30 the Ericcson came into the harbor with survivors from the Stephona on board, 10 minutes the Drayton came in. Both had averaged 30 knots out to Nantucket shoals.

Survivors on board them were huddled in the cabin and came out on deck as soon as they slowed down to anchor. A woman with a baby in arms on the Ericcson was outlined on deck by a light placed at the companionway.

The captain of the Westpoint was taken from the Drayton to the cruiser Birmingham in a launch, but he refused to make any statement to Admirals Knight and Gleaves before reporting to the company owning the ship.

Boats Sent to Bottom.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8—The submarine arm of the imperial German navy ravaged shipping off the eastern coast of the United States today. Four British, one Dutch and one Norwegian steamer were sent tothe bottom or left crippled derelicts off Nantucket shoals.

Tonight the destroyer flotilla of the United States Atlantic fleet was picking up passengers and crews of the destroyed vessels and bringing them into Newport, R. I. So far as known, there was no loss of life, although at a late hour the crew of the British steamer Kingston had not been accounted for.

A submarine held up the American steamer Kansan, bound from New York for Genoa with steel for the Italian government, but later, on establishing its identity, allowed the American to proceed. The Kansan came into Boston harbor late tonight on its usual call here.

The hostil submarine is believed to be U-53, which paid a call to Newport yesterday and disappeared at sunset. Some naval men, however, declared that at least two submarines are operating close to the American shore, though outside the three-mile limit.

Long Day's Record.

The record of submarine warring as brought to land by wireless, follows:

The Strathdene, a British freighter, torpedoed and sunk off Nantucket. Crew taken aboard Nantucket shoals lightship and later removed to Newport by torpedo boat destroyers. The vessel left here yesterday for Bordeaux and was attacked at 6 a. m. today.

The Westpoint, British freighter, torpedoed and sunk off Nantucket. Crew abandoned ships in small boats after a warning shot from the submarine. Officers and men were taken aboard a destroyer. The vessel was attacked at 10:45 a. m. It was bound from London for Newport News.

Stephano, British passenger liner, plying regularly between New York, Halifax and St. Johns, Nfld. Torpedoed southeast of Nantucket, while bound for New York. Reported still afloat late tonight. Passengers and crew, numbering 140, were picked up destroyer, Drayton and brought to Newport. The attack was made at 4:30 p. m.

Kingston, British freighter, torpedoed and sunk southeast of Nantucket. Crew missing and destroyer searching for them. This vessel is not accounted for in maritime registers and may be the Kingstonian. The attack was made at 6 p. m.

Bloomersdijk, Dutch freighter, torpedoed and sunk south of Nantucket. Crew taken aboard a destroyer. The steamer was bound from New York to Rotterdam, having sailed last night.

Christian Knudsen, Norwegian freighter, torpedoed and sunk near where the Bloomersdijk went down. Crew picked up by destroyer.

The vessel sailed from New York Saturday for London.

Causes Sensation.

The sensation created yesterday when the U-53 quietly slipped into Newport harbor and as quietly slipped away three hours later, was less than the shock in shipping circles when wireless reports of submarine attacks began to come in to radio stations today. Within a few minutes the air

RUSSIANS ENGAGED IN VIOLENT BATTLES

Conflicts of Desperate Character Now in Progress Along All Main Approaches to Lemberg.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

PETROGRAD, Oct. 9.—Battles of such desperate character are in progress along all four of the main approaches to Lemberg that according to the growing conviction here, the next few days must bring a decisive issue of one sort or another. Either the Austro-Germans protecting the Galician capital will be forced to a general retreat westward of the Gnila Lipa and Bug rivers, making probable the ultimate surrender of Lemberg, or they will have demonstrated the futility of further Russian efforts to gain their long sought objective before winter puts an end to the present campaign.

REPORT SINKING OF TWO AMERICAN BOATS

Norwegian Consul Sends Message Telling of Destruction of Columbia and Harvita.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, Oct. 9.—Two American ships, the Harvita and the Columbia, have been sunk, according to a despatch received by the Norwegian minister in Petrograd from H. A. Falsen, the Norwegian consul at Archangel, Russia. The despatch says great difficulty has been experienced in obtaining accurate information.

The despatch from Consul General Falsen said that besides Norwegian ships the American ships were sunk. A French steamer also was attacked, but escaped undamaged.

Maritime records contain the names of five American steamships named Columbia. Three are owned in Baltimore, one in San Francisco and one in New York. Maritime records do not disclose the presence of any of the American steamers in the Arctic or bound in that direction.

No steamer Harvita is mentioned in maritime records.

The British steamer Lanterna has been sunk, according to Lloyds. Maritime records do not mention a British steamer Lanterna.

Passengers Are Saved.

MONTEVIDEO, Oct. 7.—The steamer Crofton, bound from New York, was burned this morning. The passengers were saved and landed.

No steamer Crofton is listed in the maritime records but the steamer Crofton Hall sailed from New York, Sept. 9, bound for Montevideo. The Crofton Hall was commanded by Capt. Kilvert.

Liner on Fire.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Oct. 7.—A wireless message picked up shortly before 9 o'clock tonight from the Ward liner Antilla said the steamer was on fire 120 miles off the Virginia capes and that its ship's company was taking to the lifeboats.

CONNAUGHT BIDS FAREWELL TO PEOPLE OF DOMINION

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

OTTAWA, Oct. 8.—An Inspiring farewell message to the people of Canada was given by the Duke of Connaght in an address to the Canadian gathering, which included almost every member of the cabinet the Duke sounded a clear call to the duty of Canadians, and in the course of his address expressed his own personal regret at having to say goodby to Canada.

Touching on after-the-war problems the Duke said that the question of immigration would be of the utmost importance and he urged that it would be wise to insist on immigrants of British stock.

"I find nothing so unpleasant," he said at the outset, "than saying goodby to those I have learned to look upon as friends. It is difficult on an occasion like this to know the right thing to say. I am not political. I am not allowed to be; and rightly so. I try to look at things purely as they affect the welfare and the progress of Canada and their connection with the King and the Empire as a whole. Wherever I have gone in Canada I have been received with a kindliness and cordiality I shall never forget.

"Canada has a great future before it. In Canada the Empire has a position that is bound to take a leading part in the activities of the future. Our thoughts, however, naturally turn to the war. It has lasted now over two years. Heaven knows when it wil end. It has meant terrible sacrifices from the sons of the Empire all over the world. Canada has taken its share in a most magnificent manner. Many of Canada's sons have sacrificed their lives and Canadians whom I address now ought to feel proud of the way that all Canadians have done their

WASHINGTON STIRRED BY ACTIVITY OF SUBMARINES

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Submarine warfare at the very doors of the United States with all its spectacular features does not necessarily portend further complications with Germany so long as it is carried on within the limitations of international law. That is the view of official Washington tonight on the record of one day's operations, in which none of the ships destroyed appears to have been attacked without warning or without proper measures having been taken for the safety of those on board. Academically, at least, in international law, allied ships destroyed by a German submarine just outside the three-mile limit and in sight of American shores is no different than a ship destroyed in the Arctic ocean, provided its destruction is accomplished in accordance with the laws of nations and humanity.

But despite the facts that it seems to make little difference on what particular part of the high seas Germany prosecuts its newest submarine campaign, officials and diplomats see a situation filled with so many possibilities that it is almost impossible to enumerate them, so long as commerce in and out of American ports is menaced. The presence of a German submarine flotilla near American territorial waters, officials fear, may raise perplexing questions of neutrality, in fact a most serious issue would be raised if the operations of the submarines were carried on so near American ports as practically to constitute a blockade.

Naval officials thought it possible that one submarine could have done today's work unaided, but they leaned strongly to the belief that probably a flotilla of Germany's newest U-boats is off the coast. It was regarded as significant that German embassy officials, while disclaiming any information, said they suspected there was more than one submarine.

BIDS FAREWELL TO DOMINION

duty at the front. It wil ever be written in the records of Canada that in the time of the greatest need unasked and unforced, the best of Canada's sons rallied to the colors, most of whom never had any idea of entering the military profession and gave up their civil vocations for the good of the army."

After referring to Canada's many other means of assistance in the war the Duke proceeded:

Want British Immigrants.

"Canada, after the war, will have many difficult questions to face. Possibly most important is as to what class of immigrants are you going to have? I venture to think that it will be wise for Canada to insist on having immigrants of British stock."

Canada had, he said, reason to know how it could depend on British stock. They had proved their splendid valor on many a battlefield. At present many in Canada were of alien stock. They had better be from the old country whence they bring the best traditions and are loyal to sovereign and empire.

"Sad as the war has been, terrible as the sacrifices, it may after all be a blessing in disguise. It has brought out the best traditions and best feelings of the people. Possibly before the war Canada was too prosperous. Perhaps we thought of ourselves too much. But now all realize the duty to perform and that duty has come first. I hope a blessing will attend Canada and I hope duty is placed before everything else.

"However great advantages may accrue to politics, in the great future, I hope you will sink them and think only of the good welfare and future prospects of this great dominion.

Assurrances of Friendship.

"Although I am going to sever my own official connection with Canada, my unofficial connection will remain as long as I live. I shall never forget my five years with you. But I hope thatI may still be able to come over and see how you are getting along.

"And if you come to England I hope you will come and see me. Rest assured that I shall always be ready to extend the right hand of fellowship and friendship. I assure you again that I most heartily appreciate the manner in which you have received me today. I give you my best thanks and may God's blessing rest on Canada forever."

Sir Robert Borden assured the duke that all had been inspired by the words that he had uttered. He had held up before them ideals of service and duty; ideals that he had held up in his own life, the best part of which has been spent in the service of the empire in many capacities. He was expresing the thoughts of the Canadian club and all the Canadian people when he said they were most profoundly grateful for his services on the eve of his departure from Canada. By the time the governor-general leaves, he said, there would be sent overseas 25,000 men. This small force was only a slight appreciation Canada had for the stand the mother country had taken in the present conflict.

TOWN OF LESSARS TAKEN BY BRITISH

during the last few days has heralded this attempt.

"The army of Gen. von Bulow in a tenacious resistance and severe struggle generaly repulsed the gigantic thrust, and this at many points by hand to hand fighting or counter-attacks. Only at Lesars and at parts of our position north of Lesbouefs as well as at Morval and the wood of St. Pierre Vaast did the enemy force its way into our lines.

"South of the Somme French attempts to attack on both sides of VermandoVillers were suppressed before the German lines by our curtain of fire.

"Five hostile aeroplanes were shot down in aerial engagements and by our anti-aircraft guns. Capt. Boelke put his thirteenth opponent out of action."

At the opening of the fall term of the University of Toronto President Falconer said that over 3,000 students had enlisted for overseas.

GERMAN SUBMARINE RAVAGES SHIPPING

was literally charged with electricity as wireless messages of warning shot up and down the coast.

The submarine or submarines had taken position directly in the steamer lanes, where they could hardly miss anything bound in for New York or bound east from that port.

Vessels of the allied nations and neutral bottoms carrying contraband of war scurried to get within the three-mile limit of the American shore. Several which had been following the outside course, shifted and made for the inside lane. The Stephano of the Red Cross line, however, was caught outside the neutral zone. The destruction of this vessel was the biggest prize of the day. The craft had been sold to the Russian government and would have been used as an icebreaker after its present trip.

Appeal to Halifax.

Throughout the day and up to late tonight none of the patroling fleet maintained by the British and French to protect their own shipping and American ships carrying munitions of war, had been sighted. Frantic appeals were sent to Halifax, but the commander of the British naval station there refused to divulge what steps were being taken to meet the submarine attack.

The work of the patroling fleets was directed from Halifax, and ever since the war began cruisers and auxiliary vessels of the British and French navies have moved up and down the coast line.

The passengers and crews of destroyed vessels who are being brought in to Newport News, were not expected to reach there until midnight.

Preparations to care for them had been made by Rear Admiral Tusten M. Knight, commander of the Narragansett naval station, and Rear Admiral Elbert G. Leaves, commander of the destroyer flotilla now at Newport.

American Tourists on Board.

The Stephano belonged to the Red Cross line fleet of the New York, Newfoundland & Halifax Steamship company and was commanded by Capt. Smith.

Most of the passengers on the Stephano were tourists from New York returning home.

All of the Americans on the Stephano, who were rescued by the destroyer Balch, were transferred tonight to the destroyer Jenkins. The number of Americans aboard was not stated in the radio message received here.

A wireless message from the torpedo boat destroyer Balch at 10 p.m. Sunday said the Stephano was still afloat, six miles southeast of the Nantucket shoals lightship. The destroyer reported that it was standing by the Stephano, although it seemed that the ship would go to the bottom.

Expect Complications.

The steamer Bloomersdijk carried a crew of 50 men and a cargo of grain valued at $500,000, consigned to the government of the Netherlands, according to W. Vandoorn, an official here of the Holland-American line. He intimated that international complications might arise.

Later reports gave further details of the attacks. The Stephano met a submarine six miles southeast of Nantucket lightship and was attacked by gunfire and torpedo. It remained afloat until 10:50 o'clock tonight.

The Westpoint went down 10 miles south of the Nantucket lightship. The Strathdene was attacked 'off lightship," the report stated and the Bloomersdijk was sunk three miles south of the lightship. She remained afloat some time going down at 8:05. The American steamer Kansas was held up 10 miles east of Nantucket lightship.

The first wireless warning of the presence of a hostile submarine in the steamship lane was given in the distress signals of the Westpoint which said it had been torpedoed 30 miles southeast of Nantucket lightship.

Naval Men Puzzled.

Meantime shipowners in Boston were communicating with their vessels at sea. It is supposed that any information regarding the submarine activities that reached the battleships came from other vessels rather than from shore, though it might have come from Halifax, where the news was received over land lines. One thing that is puzzling naval men tonight is why the U-53 came into port yesterday and another thing that is the subject of speculation of many outside the navy is why a destroyer flotilla of 17 vessels was sent out to rescue the crew of a single freight steamer. The destroyers were ordered out at the first report that the Westpoint had been torpedoed.

The theory advanced tonight was that Commander Hans Rose of the U-53, came to Newport to advise Read Admiral Knight that he was about to attack hostile shipping and contraband carrying vessels under the rules of international law. Rear Admiral Knight reiterated tonight that Commander Rose's call was one of courtesy, but it was suggested that the German commander wished to guard against the loss of life through the aid of American vessels in picking up passengers and crews of ships destroyed.

The Stephano was of stout construction, built especially for the heavy ice conditions encountered in winter sailings on the Newfoundland coast. It was explained in marine circles that this was intended as one of the last of the regular sailings of the Stephano prior to its sailing for the White sea to work with a large fleet engaged by Russia to keep Archangel open for the receipt of war supplies.

U. S. Boat Held Up.

BOSTON, Mas., Oct. 9.—The British steamer Westpoint which was sunk by a submarine, presumably the U-53, left Newport Friday, according to a radio message received at the Boston navy yard. The crew is reported safe in its own boats.

The Westpoint was bound from London, Sept. 22 for Newport News. It is a ship of 2413 tons gross, 375 feet long and was built at West Hartlepool in 1902. The Westpoint was owned by Furness, Withy & Co., of Liverpool.

The American steamer Kansas of the American Hawaiian line, bound from New York to Boston with freight, was held up by a submarine at 5:30 a.m. and was later allowed to proceed.

The Kansas was proceeding to the assistance of the Westpoint which was sinking.

The Kansas at that hour was 55 miles from the disabled vessel and was making 12 knots. The entire fleet of American torpedo boats stationed at Newport, R.I., 30 or more, was ordered to the Westpoint's assitance.

All incoming shipping equipped with wireless and within wireless call has been warned and is scurrying to get within the three mile limit. The vessels are taking the inside instead of the outside course to reach Boston and New York.

Deal With Situation.

sible stepstf -yRHQ; Seh ..$nigh,qeR

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 8.—"All steps possible in the circumstances are being taken to deal with the situation."

This message was received by the Associated Press tonight from the commander of the British North Atlantic station at Halifax. It was in reply to a request for a statement by him.

Appears in Newport.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 8—The German submarine U-53, which appeared unexpectedly in the harbor here Saturday, was in American waters a little more than three hours, assuming that she continued to sea after submerging. Within that time the German commander paid official visits to Rear Admiral Austin McKnight, commandant of the second naval district, and Rear Admiral Gleaves, commander of the destroyer forces of the Atlantic fleet, who was on board the flagship, the scout cruiser Birmingham. Both American officers returned the brief call promptly.

While these formalities were being exchanged wireless messages were carrying to the ships of the British and French patrol fleet off the coast a warning that a hostile submarine had slipped through their cordon.

At the forts and naval stations the feat of Captain Hans Rose, which had taken every one by surprise, was the only subject of conversation tonight, and there was much speculation as to her mission.

Rumored Bremen Escort.

There were rumors, without apparent basis, that the German merchant submarine Bremen, long overdue, might be expected in the wake of the warship. Some naval officers expressed the opinion that the fighter had escorted the Bremen across the ocean, and others that she was searching for the merchant ship. The first question asked by Captain Rose when a motorboat came along side was:

"Have you heard from the Bremen?"

When he was told that there was no news of the missing craft his face became grave, but he made no comment.

No Supplies Needed.

To naval men, the most interesting fact disclosed by Captain Rose was that he had been at sea 17 days and still had provisions for three months, abundant fuel and needed no repairs. Not so much as a bottle of water was taken aboard, and the ship was spick and span.

The U-53 was first sighted from land at 1:45 o'clock, this afternoon as she was entering the inner harbor escorted by the United States submarine D-2. The American boat had been outside for maneuvers since morning and was returning when she came up with the German. The D-2, drawing near the stranger and making out her type, sent a wireless message to the shore headquarters of Admiral Knight, who relayed word of the appearance of the U-53 to the navy department at Washington. The American submarine preceded the visitor into the harbor.

Newspaper Man Received.

A newspaper man who had watched for weeks for the merchant submarine, climbed to the tower of the United States engineers' office and with the aid of powerful glasses, made out two guns on the submarine. A few minutes later he was in a motorboat making for the craft, and was rewarded by being taken aboard.

The U-53 had made her way through the fleet of 37 United States warships, including destroyers and submarines, to an anchorage 200 yards to the westward of the torpedo station. Captain Rose stood on the quarter deck when the correspondent came aboard, and after inquiring about the Bremen, said that he had come in to mail a letter to Count von Bernstorff and asked for the newspaperman's credentials. The latter exhibited an Associated Press badge and was entrusted with the correspondence for the ambassador.

The U-53 is a monster submarine. Her length is 65 meters, or more than 200 feet, with corresponding beam. She appeared larger in every way than any of the submarines of the L type that are now operating in Narragansett bay.

The armament consisted of two guns fore and aft, and four torpedo tubes. Handy to the tubes, which were forward, were eight torpedoes.

No Official Communication.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—No official communication from the German government was in the despatch sent yesterday to Count von Bernstorff by Lieut.-Capt. Hans Rose, commander of the German submarine U-53. The despatch which arrived at the embassy today consisted of a personal communication in plain German regarding payment for some supplies the commander of the submarine thought he might require in Newport.

There was said to be no information in it regarding the intentions of the commander or the orders under which he was operating.

NELSON SYNDICATE BONDS SPOKANE GROUP IN BAYONNE FOR $100,000

TAKES OVER AGREEMENT WITH LAIB BROTHERS HELD BY W. R. SALISBURY OF SALMO—WILL RAWHIDE 300 TONS MONTHLY DURING THE WINTER OVER NEW TRAIL TO KOOTENAY LAKE—EXPECTS ORE TO GIVE NET SMELTER RETURNS OF ABOUT $90 PER TON—PROPERTY DEVELOPED BY TUNNELS AND OPEN CUTS.

A syndicate of Nelson men has taken up the $100,000 bond held by W. R. Salisbury of Salmo on the Spokane group in the Bayonne country and with Mr. Salisbury as one of its members will continue to ship ore from the mine throughout the fall and winter. First payment on the deal, which was a substantial one, was made through a Nelson bank on Saturday.

Shipments which have been made by the Laib brothers, owners of the mine, have given net smelter returns of about $100 a ton and the syndicate members anticipate that if they make heavier shipments, with less selective sorting, the returns will easily average $90 a ton.

Among the members of the syndicate are I. G. Nelson, Dr. W. O. Rose, M. P. P.; Mayor J. J. Malone, L. K. Larson, Dr. L. E. Borden, Denis St. Denis, Al. Irwin, A. G. Carpenter, George F. Motion and W. R. Salisbury.

Values are in silver, lead and gold. Packing via the Motherlode mine and the Sheep creek route will continue until the snow is sufficiently deep for rawhiding over the new four-foot trail which is being built through the Bayonne country out of the $200,000 special appropriation secured by Hon. Lorne A. Campbell last session. By the middle of this week it is expected 20 men will be employed on the Sheep creek end of the trail, while another force is working up Cultus creek from the Kootenay lake end. Four additional men were sent out to work on the Sheep creek end Saturday.

To Ship 300 Tons Monthly.

When rawhiding begins the syndicate expects to maintain shipments at the rate of 300 tons a month. The mine has been reported on for the syndicate by Arthur Lakes, Jr.

The bond is for 34 months, of which about one month has elapsed since it was first secured by Mr. Salisbury.

There are six claims in the Spokane group, which was staked five years ago by the Laib brothers, who were in Nelson Saturday. The claims are located on a steep hillside, which rises up from the creek at an angle of 35 to 40 degrees. The vein cuts the hillside obliquely, or running at an angle of about 45 degrees in the general direction of the creek. As the vein also dips slightly out of the hill it only takes a short crosscut tunnel to reach it.

The vein is a well-defined and quartz-filled fissure, occurring in granodiorite and striking east and west with a slight dip to the south. It is exposed for several hundred feet by open cuts and stripping and appears to have been traced for a distance of 2000 feet. The gangue-filling is quartz and the ore minerals are iron pyrite, galena, a slight amount of chalcopyrite and occasionally free gold.

In addition to open cuts there are two tunnels on the property. The upper tunnel is at an altitude of 7010 feet and is 105 feet long. The vein varies in size from six inches to four feet and is well mineralized. The lower tunnel is at an altitude of 6900 feet. It is a crosscut for 135 feet, with an eastern drift for 22 feet and a western drift for 240 feet. The ore shoot on this level varies from 12 inches to 2½ feet in width.

GETTING NEAR ORESHOOT ON THE SOHO PROPERTY

J. C. Ryan of the Soho group, who has been staying at the Strathcona, will leave this morning for Spokane. He expects the tunnel on the property which intersects the vein at a depth of between 550 and 600 feet, to open up the oreshoot when another 100 feet of drifting has been completed. Approximately that amount of work will bring it under the oreshoot where developed in the upper workings.

NORTHPORT SMELTER IN TWENTY MILLION DEAL

It is both rumored and denied in Spokane that the Day interests will sell the Northport smelter and their great Idaho mines—the figure mentioned being above $20,000,000.

TAP BIG ORE BODY IN NO. 5, LUCKY JIM

Six or Seven Times As Much Ore in Sight As When A. G. Larson Took Charge—Receipts for Car.

Development of the Lucky Jim mine has resulted in the discovery in No. 5 level of the big vein which has been opened up in No. 4 level. A. G. Larson, who was at the Hume last night, has received telephonic notification of the strike and wil investigate it early this week during his regular trip of inspection of the mine. He understands that the vein runs well over 30 per cent in zinc. The point of strike is about 360 feet below the fourth level.

At the Lucky Jim mine the amount of ore in sight is six or seven times as great as when Mr. Larson became receiver of the property for the purpose of paying off the mortgage held by Leidrum McMeans of Winnipeg. The main vein, which was about 10 feet in width when he took charge of the property has opened up under development to 20 to 25 feet in width.

The 75 tons of ore shipped to Trail smelter last week was the silver-lead product of the mine and gave returns of $3,500.

WINDERMERE CLAIMS BEING DEVELOPED

Seattle Company Begins Work on Sitting Bull Property—Isaac Bunyan and Gem Standard Operated.

(Special to The Daily News.)

INVERMERE, B.C., Oct. 8.—In addition to the Paradise and Silver Belt mines, which are now shipping, the Isaac, to the north of Wilmer is being developed, the Sitting Bull claim on Boulder or Bruce creek, the Bunyan a few miles to the west of here and the Gem Standard up Law creek have been bonded. All with the exception of the Bunyan are silver-lead propositions.

The Sitting Bull claim has been bonded by the Sitting Bull Mining company of Seattle, Wash., and active work has commenced with a gang of men under F. C. Stockdale. This property has been lying idle for some years, but at one time was bonded for $40,000.

The Bunyan is a silver, gold and copper proposition.

CRESTON REVIEW BACKS KEEN FOR MINES MINISTER

No matter how the province may be mapped out for the purpose of cabinet representation the Kootenay country will assuredly figure as being entitled to at least one cabinet minister—Mr. Bowser allowed it two, as well as one from the Boundary district.

It will also be conceded, we feel sure, that one of the portfolios to be held by the Kootenay cabinet representative shall be that of minister of mines—that belongs down here by divine right, as it were—the present title holder hailing from Rossland, says the Creston Review.

Conceding, as all fair minded citizens must, that the Kootenay should be called upon to supply the man to administer the mines department, the logical and only choice for this position is John Keen, M.P.P. for Kaslo.

Mr. Keen has had the experience in the hills and he has also had some opportunity to grasp the office end of the game during his term as mining recorder at Kaslo. During his long residence in that city he has had abundant opportunity to study the various aspects of the industry from every angle, being daily thrown in contact with the prospector, mine owner and mine workers. And of his opportunities to secure an all-round knowledge of the industry he has neglected few, even to his own personal disadvantage.

Undoubtedly Mr. Keen's ability and experience in mining fit him pre-eminently for the mines portfolio. He has kept right abreast of the situation and is prepared to step into Hon. Lorne Campbell's shoes fitted to devise and do bigger and better things forthwith for the industry in general than the several other coast gentlemen who are most frequently mentioned for the post.

In his effort to put the right men in the right places Mr. Brewster will make no mistake in calling a Kootenay man to the mines department and the one man in these parts who can handle the position to the very best advantage of all concerned is John Keen.

SURPRISE WILL USE LAST CHANCE TRAMWAY

Ore from the Surprise mine at Sandon for the new mill will be brought over the Last Chance aerial tramway to the roadbed of the abandoned Kaslo & Slocan narrow gauge railroad below Cody. From there it will be hauled two miles to bins below the roadbed and opposite the mill, and taken by aerial tram across the Carpenter creek gulch to the bill bins. Little official information concerning mine conditions is obtainable, but there is no doubt that splendid reserves have been placed in sight by the deep development carried on persistently and quietly for so many years. The ore is said to contain good values in silver, lead and zinc and the mill is being equipped with flotation process and other modern improvements designed to effect high extraction of all metals. The property has been steadily developed for 20 years under private ownership of Congressman Charles Kent of California and Alex Smith who has had charge of operations during most of the period.

MULCAHY LOOKING FOR BIG LOWGRADE PROPERTIES

G. P. Mulcahy of Spokane, who is looking for some big low-grade milling propositions in Kootenay and the Boundary, will leave Tuesday for the Lardeau to inspect the Great Northern and other mining propositions in that section. While on the trip he will also inspect a mine at Argenta. He is at the Hume.

SANDON CLAIM PAYS FROM GRASSROOTS

William Edwards Ships From Location Staked During Summer—Minnehaha Mine Is Bonded.

William Edwards is opening up a claim near Sandon which is paying from the grassroots. He staked the property this summer and is now getting out two tons of high grade silver-lead ore for shipment to Trail smelter. It will run about 100 ounces in silver and 80 per cent lead.

Coast capitalists have taken a lease and bond on the Minnehaha mine, which lies between the Queen Bess and the Wonderful at Sandon. George Clarke is in charge of operations and is making preparations for carrying on development work during the winter. He was formerly superintendent of construction for Mackenzie & Mann.

STAR SHOULD NET $20,000 A MONTH

Spokane Mining Man Reports on Sandon Property—Expects to See Plant Completed This Month.

Owing to delay in delivery of important parts of the new hydro-electric equipment, Slocan Star Mines, Limited, has been unable to live up to the official promises made from time to time and it is quite possible that the entire plant will not be in operation before Nov. 1, writes Sidney Norman in Mining Truth.

So far as can be ascertained, the delay has been unavoidable, however, and has been entirely due to overwhelming orders in the hands of manufacturers of the Pelton wheel.

After the plant had been designed by Erwin White, hydro-electrical engineer, it was found that the generator specified could not be manufactured in less than five months. The size of the generator was then changed to one that could readily be delivered and the Pelson wheel specifications also changed. This necessitated special manufacture of the latter, with consequent serious delay. A telegram received a few days ago from the manufacturers in San Francisco advised that shipment would be made, probably by express, before Oct. 14.

In order that Mining Truth might learn exact facts at first hand, the editor made a special trip to the Slocan district and inspected mine and plant on Sept. 21. He was accorded every possible courtesy by General Manager Oscar White, and given opportunity to investigate the situation thoroughly. Briefly development and production is being seriously retarded by lack of power, the water in the mountain streams having partially failed almost six weeks earlier than is usual in the district.

It will be remembered that, in order to provide adequate power, thoroughly modernize the mill and connect mine workings with the railroad at Sandon by aerial tramway, the sum of $70,000 was raised by the sale of bonds last May. This sum has proved inadequate to the company's needs, owing to delay and our understanding is that a further sum of $10,000 has been expended. We are also informed, upon what we consider official authority, that this amount has already been provided for in such manner that net earnings may be applied as originally intended.

9320 Feet of Pipe.

The hydro-electric installation necessitated 9320 feet of wire-wound wooden pipe, bringing water supply from the south fork of Carpenter creek, above the Noble Five mill, and also from Cody creek. The latter section is 600 feet long and the pipe 10 inches in diameter. The Carpenter creek branch is 1800 feet long and the pipe 16 inches in diameter. From the junction of these branches the supply is carried in 18-inch pipe for 6920 feet to the head of the penstock, 920 feet above the tracks of the Canadian Pacific railway. The penstock is composed of 658 feet of 16-inch pipe, 150 feet of 14-inch and 103 feet of 12-inch. The effective head under full load is 480 feet, the 4 feet 3 inch Pelton wheel developing 400 horsepower. About 125 horsepower will be used for operation of the compressor, designed to run 15 stope drills, while the balance, 375 horsepower, will be taken to the mill from a generator direct-connected with the wheel. Air will be conveyed to the mine in 2700 feet of six-inch steel pipe, which has already been laid.

At the mill a 25-foot extension has water lines had been laid and all but 2000 feet of the main line. Two cars of pipe were at Nakusp and were scheduled to arrive in Sandon on Sept. 25. It was estimated that three days would complete the job after arrival, so that it is quite possible that part of the work has been finished by this time. The power line from generating plant to mine and mill has also been completed.

Main Building Extended.

At the mill a 25-foto extension has been added to the main building and a 40x40 foot building erected to house the Dorr thickener tank, which is now completed. This will be operated by a three horsepower individual motor. A filter has also been set up. A 75 horse power motor will be used in the mill as auxiliary to present water power and was ready to be set in place. Mill equipment added includes four vanners, five tables, centrifugal pumps, and one six-foot mill, all placed in position.

The new tramway is of 10-bucket type, 23000 feet long, with a grade of 17.5 per cent. Buckets have a capacity of 1000 pounds. The system was in running order and seems to be working without a hitch. Capacious bins have been erected on the spur track of the Canadian Pacific and loading direct to cars is therefore possible.

The entire hydro-electric plant was designed by and constructed under the supervision of Erwin White, son of General Manager Oscar White, who graduated from Berkeley.

Mine Conditions Good.

Regarding conditions at the mine it may, we believe, be safely said that they are satisfactory, insuring a long and continuous run when milling and power plants are finally completed. On No. 10, generally known as the mill level, a nice body of ore was picked up about 1000 feet southwest of the long crosscut tunnel. In places it is 78 feet wide, with a possible average of six or seven feet. The ore is mixed, but shows much galena in places and should make excellent mill feed under improved milling conditions. A stope has been carried up between 40 and 50 feet for a length of approximately 100 feet.

On the No. 9 level the same shoot has been developed and is apparently of about the same width, though carrying appreciably greater proportion of galena. Stopes have been carried up for approximately 80 feet, with about 40 feet yet to go before No. 8 level is reached.

This shoot has been continuous in all levels from the surface and is now being mined upon Nos. 10, 9, 8 and 6 levels. It has not yet been opened on No. 7 level. Above No. 5 it has been stoped, so far as clean galena is concerned, but much zinc ore of good grade is still available between that level and the surface.

Continue Exploration Work.

On No. 8 level drifting is in progress, with the third shoot opened in No. 5 level as the objective. It is estimated that the work must be continued about 150 feet further. In No. 5 this shoot showed 12 feet of good milling ore. If the present exploratory work should prove successful, it would mean much to the life of the mine, giving approximately 600 feet of virgin "backs" on the dip of the vein.

In estimating the prospective value of the property it should be remembered that the face of the lowest level is still over 1500 feet from the company's end lines to the southwest and 1200 feet on the northeast. In the latter direction it is expected that the famous Silversmith shoot will be encountered about 600 feet from the long crosscut. The latter shoot was among the most prolific in the early history of the Slocan district.

About 70 men are now employed in all departments, with Oscar White, general manager; Thomas Fox, foreman, and Con Stewart, shift boss. Both mine and mill are only being operated one shift and there will be no increase until the plant is fully completed.

Under present conditions about 70 tons of ore is being milled each day. When the new equipment is ready it is estimated that from 165 to 175 tons will be put through. During the month of August five carloads of silver-lead concentrates, slimes and crude ore, aggregating 188 tons, were shipped, with net returns of $15,702.12. Operating expenses were $9,919.86, indicating a profit of $5782.26, under very adverse conditions. Concentrates were worth $80.16 per ton; slimes $68.92 and crude ore $120. No account is taken of shipments of zinc concentrates, amounting to 111 tons. It is not expected that this product will show in excess of $10 profit until retreated in the new flotation plant.

Output Will Be $35,000 Monthly.

These figures seem to indicate that under normal conditions the output will reach approximately $35,000 per month, with operating expenses that should not exceed $12,000 at the outside. To this must be added profit from zinc concentrates brought up to a standard that will render the product readily saleable at a fair margin of profit. Just now sample shipments are being treated in the magnetic separator plant at Kaslo and results should be available within the next two weeks.

Summed up it seems reasonable to expect that both mine and mill will be running full time by Nov. 1. In that event profits of over $20,000 a month should be assured from silver-lead ores alone, with the further possibility that the present bond issue may be retired by March or April of next year. After that there appears to be no physical reason why one of Slocan's famous old producers should not resume disbursements of regular dividends. Much depends, of course, upon the course of the spelter market and ability of milling equipment to bring zinc concentrates to a satisfactory tenor. Income from this source under favorable conditions may swell earning power very materially.

Isn't this a wonderful oven?

Convenient Drop Door — Economy Flue System
Tested Thermometer — Walls of Nickelled Steel
Ventilation

WHAT more could be added? Here is an oven you enjoy using. It saves your fuel, and helps you serve finer meals than you ever thought you would be capable of cooking.

1 The Convenient Drop Door shows how thoroughly every little need has been taken care of. When open it acts as a shelf for sliding vessels in and out of the oven. Even the handle serves a double purpose for it is notched so that the door can be left the least bit open when you want to cool the oven.

2 There is no guess-work about the heat of this oven. When the oven is right, the tested Kootenay thermometer tells you accurately.

3 And should the cooking bubble over the Kootenay oven is so easily cleaned. The quick-heat steel used in making the oven walls is heavily nickel-plated. No metal could be more sanitary, and rust proof.

4 But the saving of coal,—one of the natural reasons for the success of this wonderful range! The nickelled steel allows heat to penetrate into the oven very quickly, but it is the McClary asbestos-lined flue system that directs the heat twice around the oven and stops the usual wastage.

5 The ventilated oven carries off all cooking odors. You know what that means,—no smudge or disagreeable odors around the house at meal times. Flues are aluminized and the coating on the steel linings resists rust.

MAKE THE ROAD RULE "TURN TO THE RIGHT."

The resolution of the associated boards of trade asking that the government pass legislation providing for a "Turn to the Right" rule of the road should be brought up at the next session of the legislature and immediate action taken.

The Daily News knows of no sound argument against making the change. There are forceful reasons why the "Turn to the Left" rule should be discarded.

British Columbia is one of two or three provinces in Canada which still employ the "Turn to the Left" rule. It is the only province in the west which does so. To the south, throughout the United States, the rule is "Turn to the Right." The same rule applies in the prairie provinces.

To compel automobilists from the United States and the prairie provinces who are coming to British Columbia in increasing numbers, to remember constantly that they must carry out a rule of the road directly opposite to that to which they are accustomed is placing upon them entirely needless inconvenience and it is an invitation to accidents.

Let British Columbia's rule of the road be made "Turn to the Right" just as soon as the legislature can put through the necessary bill.

THE SUBMARINE WAR ON THE AMERICAN COAST.

Germany has carried out its threats to send submarines to the Atlantic coast of the United States and sink merchant ships within sight of American territory. About half a score of vessels is the day's bag.

The raid gives the United States cause for thought. To those Americans who have held with George Washington that Americans were not concerned with European wars and politics the raid of the U-boat or U-boats will come as a particularly striking incident. It brings the United States virtually into direct physical contact with the struggle in Europe. It suggests the textent of the defensive measures which the United States must take if it is to be prepared against German aggression. It drives home the truth that the entente nations are fighting the battles of the United States as well as those of the small nations of Europe, With Germany completely defeated the United States will be very much safer than it would be with a Germany triumphant.

It may be said that the raid is a sporadic affair of very little naval significance, that submarines could not operate successfully on a sustained scale so far from their bases. That is true at the present time, but submarine warfare is only at its initial stages of development. In any event South America possesses excellent bases upon which Germany has already cast longing eyes.

INTEGRITY AS A PERSONAL AND BUSINESS ASSET.

Integrity begets the confidence without which no business or individual can succeed. Possibly the importance of what is known in general terms as "confidence" is sometimes lost sight of.

No man wants to deal with another unless he has confidence in him. Certainly he will not pick out as the party of the second part in a transaction a man in whose honesty and integrity he has no confidence.

Maintenance of confidence of fellow men is perhaps the greatest personal and business asset that can be possessed. Integrity is the only sound base of successful finance and business—large or small—and of satisfactory personal relationships.

THE DISTRICT IS PROUD OF ITS GALLANT BOYS.

Kootenay and Boundary have strong reasons for feeling pride in the splendid record the men from this district are making for themselves at the front. Early in the war companies of men from Kootenay and Boundary won immortal fame at Ypres and the struggles which followed it.

In engagement after engagement and in the daily routine work of the trenches the boys from this district have displayed an initiative and gallantry which has won for them the commendations of their commanding officers and made their home people proud of them.

The latest example is that of Lieut. Donald McQuarrie, who, with another gallant fellow who is well known in the interior of British Columbia, Lieut. Tooker, has distinguished himself in enterprising raids on the enemy trenches. A few days ago reports were received of a successful raid by Lieut. McQuarrie and today the news is published of a second raid, for which it is said he and Lieut. Tooker have been picked out for especial mention.

A French general under Napoleon is credited with having declared of a particularly courageous example of fighting that it was magnificent, but not war. The work of the Kootenay-Boundary boys at the front is magnificent and it is war. They are efficient as well as brave.

The German submarine or submarines on the American coast may have a short career, but there is no doubt about it being a merry one.

The steamer Stephano, sunk by a German submarine yesterday, belonged to the Red Cross line. The Red Cross seems to have a remarkable attraction for German bombs, bullets, shells and torpedoes.

It is small comfort to the Bulgarians, who are daily losing more and more of their territory to the Russians and Rumanians, to learn that the Austro-Germans are driving the Rumanians back on the northwest front.

It is not exactly surprising that the British naval commander at Halifax should refuse to divulge details of the plans he is carrying out to cope with the submarine menace in the Atlantic. British naval and military officers gave up that practise after the South African war.

Two American ships have been sunk in European waters by German submarines. Almost within the three-mile limit neutral ships were destroyed by the Germans yesterday without compliance with the rules of "cruiser warfare" which Germany promised the United States it would observe. President Wilson appears to have another problem on his hands.

The tone of the Berlin report yesterday concerning the operations on the western front indicates that the British did not gain as much ground as the Germans feared they would when the latest offensive movement commenced. Germany no doubt considers itself lucky to have lost to Gen. Haig nothing more than one village and some thousands of yards of trenches and a thousand or so of prisoners in the past two days.

WHAT THE PRESS IS SAYING.

The Deadly Pistol.

Why not stop the manufacture and sale of pistols altogether? What good are they to anybody? More than half the crimes of bodily violence in the civilized world are committed by pistols and many of them would not be committed at all, or would not prove fatal, but for the convenience of pistols.—Ottawa Journal.

Hypothetical Questions.

A correspondent takes me to task for asking, "What would Bismarck, if hewere still with us, think of the action of Rumania in joining the allies?" This reminds him, he says, of a question set in a school examination paper designed to test "general intelligence." It ran: "If Oliver Cromwell were alive now, what part do you think he would take in the politics of the day?" One little boy of a matter-of-fact disposition, who seems to have suspected that he was being trifled with, answered: "If Oliver Cromwell were still alive he would be much too old to take any part in politics."—Westminster Gazette.

A Bouquet.

Here's a bouquet to the Britishers from New York Life:

"Take them big and large, the bad with the good, the crooked with the straight, the English seem to have the best claim to be rated the greatest people now on earth. They combine more power with more character, more vigor with more wise compunctions than any other people."

Life has been most friendly ever since the start of the row. All the same, the economium is suggestive of the impression which the British effort in the war is making upon intelligent outsiders. Before this war, even Life would not have said as much, or anything like it.—Ottawa Journal.

COLD STORAGE.

Mrs. Mullins—What's the matter, Mrs. Jones?

Mrs. Jones—Why, this young varmint 'as swallowed a cartridge and I can't wallop him for fear it goes off.

A tramp knocked at a farmer's door and called for something to eat.

"Are you a Christian," asked the good-hearted countryman.

"Can't you tell?" answered the man. "Look at the holes worn in the knees of my pants. What do they prove?"

The farmer's wife promptly brought out the food and the tramp turned to go.

"Well! Well!" asked the farmer. "What made those holes in the back of your pants?"

"Backsliding" replied the tramp, as he hurried on.

LONG JOURNEY TO ENLIST.

VICTORIA, B. C.—Traveling here from San Diego, Cal., a distance of 1800 miles, the greater part of the way on foot, Arnold Stoton has arrived and enlisted with the 6th field company of Canadian engineers and will go to England, en route for France, with the next draft from that unit's headquarters. He has been endeavoring to make arrangements to take part in the war ever since the struggle commenced but lack of money was the obstacle.

LAURIER AND BOURASSA

Far in arrears as Quebec is in the matter of volunteering for overseas service, we believe that her enlistments could be brought up to her full quota if Sir Wilfrid Laurier would apply himself with the same earnestness to the getting of French-Canadian recruits as he does to the getting of French-Canadian votes. But not only is he too much preoccupied with the getting of votes to exert much influence in behalf of recruiting, but he evidently believes that to make earnest appeals for recruits in that province wold be to drive away votes. If it were not so why did he speak so big to his Montreal audience about his intention to fight militarism after the war? The only militarism that any British subject is now called upon to fight, the only militarism from which the world has anything to fear, is the militarism against which loyal young Canadians are now giving up their lives in France. The public man who stands up in Quebec and brands militarism as a Canadian evil is no better than a defender of shirking—nay, he is ten times worse. If the British militarism Sir Wilfrid Laurier proposes to deliver us from had had its way, and the wise patriotism of Lord Roberts had been acted upon in time, many a gallant Canadian lad who is now lying low on the battlefields of France would be alive and well in the bosom of his family today. If in the midsummer of 1914 Britain had had a million men trained on Lord Roberts' national service scheme, Germany would not have launched this terrible war on the world. But that militarism which would have saved the Empire and Europe without striking a blow is pictured by Sir Wilfrid Laurier as the dragon he proposes to slay. Is that not enough to ring down the curtain on the public life of this politician?

Sir Wilfrid's one object appears to be the arraying of the whole of Quebec's parliamentary delegation under his leadership. In command of that he feels that he would be in a position to dominate Canadian politics. He calculates that in English-speaking Canada the party spirit will still play into his hands. Seemingly he himself is so intent upon the objects of his ambition that he forgets to note the working of other influences than those of party passion. It is not of his chances in politics, not of his desire to return to the seat of power, not of his petty planning and miserable prating against militarism they are thinking. They are thinking of Canada's peril, of their sons and kinsmen at the front, and many of them are mourning brave youths of their blood they will never see again. What makes him more absent-minded about everything but the race for office is the fact that he has a keen rival for control in Quebec in the person of his disciple and former lieutenant, Henri Bourassi. Bourassa pursues with boldness the line of which Laurier led him with wariness. When Sir Wilfrid was talking about the time Canada should fall away from Britain as the ripe fruit drops from the parent tree, his impressionable young follower was learning the lession. When Sir Wilfrid took so stiff a stand against a Canadian contingent being sent to South Africa, Bourassa was still in the party fold and strongly supporting him. When Sir Wilfrid had at last to give way before the roused Canadian feeling and let the contingent go as a charge upon Britain, Bourassa was disbusted. Now both are on the anti-militarism plank competing for the political primacy in Quebec, and Sir Wilfrid has to come out more openly, as he did in Montreal the other night, if he is not to let the laurels be snatched from him by his less mealy-mouthed rival. How will it end? As Bourassa waxes bolder and more seditious, Sir Wilfrid will have to choose whether he shall outdo him or get out of the contest. They are both appealing to the same sentiment. —Toronto Mail and Empire.

DEPRESSED NAIL MARKET.

Hindenburg, it seems, was not such a popular hero as he was when he was fighting Russians whose ammunition had given out. An American who has just returned from Germany speaks of the sad condition of the great Hindenburg statue of wood, that was to be encased in gold, silver and copper, by the process of driving nails from the sale of which the Red Cross was to derive enormous profit. Nobody wants to drive nails just now, it seems; so the field marshal stands, looking very forlorn and weather-beaten, half of wood and half of metal spots, and there are no worshipers at his shrine. Perhaps if Hindenburg can manage another "thrust" the nail market will look up again in Germany. —Montreal Herald.

CHEWING GUM FOR THE ARMY

According to very remarkable figures just published, the English have suddenly become a nation of gum-chewers, and the leading manufacturers are able to claim that within six months they have increased their monthly sales from three million to twenty million bars. It has been suggested that the habit has been introduced by the Canadian soldiers, who of course, share the Americans' fondness for chewing gum but I am assured that they have nothing to do with it. The spread of the habit is purely a triumph of natural weakness and advertising. The most enthusiastic adherents—a good word—are said to be not women clerks, but soldiers and munition workers, with the navy a fair third. It seems that for the past four years chewing gum has been sold at army and navy canteens, but it was not until this last great advance that it was issued as an army ration. The soldiers' theory is that it steadies his nerves to have something to chew on and it certainly keeps his otherwise parched throat moist in times of stress. There is a story of a wounded man kept alive for five days by the saliva-inducing gum, and a good yarn about a flying man who used his wad to plug a bullet hole in his petrol tank—not an advertised use. London retailers tell me that for years they have had a steady sale among English people of all classes, chiefly men, and that the demand has increased greatly this year, but they do not think our civilians have as yet become slaves to the habit.—Manchester Guardian.

MARK TWAIN'S FIRST LECTURE.

Half a century ago Mark Twain first faced an audience to deliver a lecture. Mr. Clemens had spent some weeks as a newspaper correspondent in the Sandwich islands, and upon his return to San Francisco his friends urged him to deliver a lecture dealing with his experiences and observations. Young Mark yielded to their solicitations, hired a hall, and issued an announcement which concluded: "A splendid orchestra is in town but has not been engagel. Also a den of ferocious wild beasts will be on exhibition in the next block. A grand torchlight procession may be expected; in fact the public are privileged to inspect whatever they please. Doors open at seven o'clock, the trouble to begin at eight o'clock." As the fateful hour approached the humorist grew more and more despondent about his venture, and when he went to the hall he expected to find it empty. Instead it was packed full of people. For an instant Mark was afflicted with stage fright, and he was unable to say a word. Then the audience broke into a roar of welcome, and the lecturer recovered his poise. His lecture that night was the first of many, but it is doubtful if he ever scored quite so complete a triumph as on that night of his debut as a public speaker.

LLOYD GEORGE'S ANTI-CLIMAX

Londoners are telling a story of Lloyd George—who went to Wales to take the chair at the song festival; who was received by his adoring fellow countrymen in the most rapturous manner; who moved these thousands of souls to tears and to cheers and to laughter; and got himself and all the ornithologists into a mess on the subject of nightingales. The Sketch says: "It was a good idea to talk about the nightingale. Mr. Lloyd George, I have no doubt, thought it out on the way down and knew he had hit on a good thing. So he dashed at it. He took hold of the nightingale by both wings and made great play with the unfortunate bird. 'It had been ordained,' he said 'that the best singer among the birds of Britain should give its song in the night and, according to legend that sweet song is a song of triumph over pain.'

"Very pretty and very charming. If only he had stopped there. But he couldn't. He had to elaborate this pretty fancy. 'There are no nightingales this side of the Severn,' he continued. 'Providence rarely wastes its gifts. We do not need this exquisite songster in Wales. We can provide better."—London Opinion.

ITALY.

Dreamland of all high souls that ever dreamed
Beauty, and love, and minstrelsy,
On her wild walls the mountain eagle screamed
To see the Roman eagles flaunting by.

Human in form, in beauty half divine,
The gracious gods of old are hers,
And pictured beauty for a holier shrine
To wondering ecstacy her spirit stirs.

Her heart holds dear the hundred tales that move
Laughter and tears' romantic woe
For mad adventure, and for madder love
From the Decameron of Boccaccio.

But in her soul more loved and lovelier far
Echoes her Virgil's magic lyre,
And his who ever saw the morning star,
Through hell's black mouth, beyond the sulphurous fire.

No cloud of dreams hangs on her soldier's brow,
Where high above man's day and night,
Camped in the clouds and tented with the snow
Clear-eyed he champions Freedom's royal right.

Or if he sees a vision in the dawn,
Pale over peak and misty sward,
It flashes on a blade of battle drawn
Bright from the scabbard—Garibaldi's sword.

THE SCOTS IN FRANCE.

(In the Leipsic salient . . . we extended our gains—British official statement.)

What horns are they I hear, mither,
Sae bonny and sae clear,
That sometime seem sae far awa'
And sometime seem sae near?
Oh, are they horns of fairyland,
That blaw within the hill,
Or only horns o' hunting men
That ain the darkness fill?

Oh hush! my dear! those horns you hear
In France blow for the fight,
Where Scot and Southron bayonets gleam
Above the ranks o' right.

What pipes are they that birl, mither,
Adoun the dark'ning glen?
And with them clear I seem to hear
The feet o' marching men.
The pibroch sounds above the burn
With music loud and sweet;
I fain would know the way to go
The Clansmen bra' to meet!

Oh, hush! my dear! those pipes you hear
Are birling far away,
Where underneath the skies o' France
The Scottish pipers play.

What bells are those that toll, mither,
Sae solemn and sae slow?
They seem to beat within my brain,
My heart is sair with woe.
Oh, are they bells of any kirk,
Or rung by mortal hand?
They seem to bear a message drear
Across the sleeping land.

Oh, hush! my child! my orphaned child!
Those bells toll for us twain,
Oh, far away my Clansmen gay
This night sleeps wi' the slain.

HEAVY WIND STORM VISITS VERNON CAMP

Camp in Darkness When Electric Lights Fail—Gales Carry Away Tents and Marquees.

The following letter has been received from an officer of the 225th battalion stationed at Vernon telling of the violent wind storms that have visited the camp recently:

"The weather at Vernon is getting quite wintry, 12 degrees of frost being registered on Oct. 2, but the men are cheery and comfortable as they have had an issue of extra blankets and woollen helmets and get good food and hot water for washing.

"We had a cyclone last Friday night about 10 o'clock, marquees and tents being blown down and the dust thicker than a London fog and as hard on the eyes. The bugles sounded the alarm and every man dressed and turned out. Parties were detained to holding down the ropes of marquees, etc. A sentry box was blown 20 yards. It was pitch dark and as the electric lights went out. On top of it all it hailed. One battalion had its band out, but the dust refused to agree with the tunes they were playing and they had to stop.

expect to be called for the front.

"The men are coming back now from harvest leave and we are quite busy here. Bombing classes, trench digging, lectures by Colonel Tobin of the 29th, back from the front; guard mounting under Sergt-Maj Coffin of Esquimalt and company drill under the different company commanders and under the supervision of the adjutant, Capt Barnes

"We have been having battalion drill under the colonel and brigade drill under the camp commandant, Col. Gregory and have also had instruction in bayonet fighting. Most of the men have finished their inoculation and are now being vaccinated."

FRIGHTENED WHEN FIRST UNDER FIRE

Every Man is Nervous at First, Says Sergt. Frank D. Lidgate—Dr. Arthur Looking Well.

Sergt. Frank D. Lidgate has written the following letter to W. A. Thurman dated from "A very warm corner, somewhere in France, Sept. 12," in which he frankly admits that when first under fire he was decidedly scared and declares that any man who claims to have been without fear under similar circumstances is—untruthful:

"You will of course have heard by this time that we have been in the trenches several times and have had some casualties. It is a wonder they were not twice the number, for it is nothing short of a miracle how one escapes with so many shells and bullets flying around.

"I have been much surprised at the work of our artillery. The trenches at this part of the line are about 150 yards apart and yet our gunners who are two or three miles in the rear, land shells right on the German line, without hitting our own. Thanks to Lloyd George, or somebody, there is all kinds of ammunition, judging by the number of shells the British put over. They send seven or eight for every one of the Germans' that come back.

"I do not mind in the least confessing that the first time they began bursting over me I felt as if I would like to make a quick movement, somewhere else and any man who says he is not nervous is a liar. However, it is wonderful how quickly one gets used to it though. The shelling does not worry me in the least now.

"I have a very interesting relic I would like to send you. It is my mess tin, which was shot out of my hand by the same shrapnel shell that wounded Billy Swannell. The tin did not matter a damn, but I lost my supper. Just the day before a big German bomb about the size of a 50-pound tin of white lead fell within about 20 feet of T. M. McLeod, Mickey McCandlish and myself. I thought the earth had opened up when it exploded, but it only smothered us with mud.

"Our air men are doing wonderful work and fly around over the German lines regardless of their guns. We very rarely see a German machine over our lines.

"Just before leaving Bramshott I saw Dr. Arthur and had quite a chat with him. He was looking fine."

PLAN TO PRESS WAR TO VICTORIOUS PEACE

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt—On the second anniversary of the war a meeting was held at the Savoy hotel, Alexandria, under the chairmanship of D. A. Cameron, the British consul-general, for the purpose of passing the following resolution:,

That on this second anniversary of the declaration of a righteous war this meeting records its inflexible determination to continue to a victorious end the struggle in maintenance of those ideals of liberty and justice which are the common and sacred cause of the allies.

In addition to the consul-general Sir Ronald Graham, advisor to the ministry of the interior, Borton Pasha, the postmaster general, and doctor Granville, director-general of Alexandria municipality, were present.

In his speech from the chair, Mr. Cameron, briefly surveying the two years of the war, appealed to his hearers to uphold as civilians those standards which the allied armies were fighting for. We must never lose our influence for good, he said, or our authority and control in Alexandria. These are responsibilities thrown upon us by the protectorate; above all, as business men, we must insist that the standard of commercial integrity shall be as high in this town as in the city of London.

Passing to wider questions, he continued. There are few communities more directly interested than ourselves in the successful issue of this war. A stalemate or a patched up peace would make Egypt almost untenable for us. An unfinished war would leave this eastern end of the Mediterranean unsafe for our shipping, which would soon be driven to use the cape route, and then the Suez canal, which always requires dredging somewhere every other day, would soon slit up with sand and lose its importance.

In connection with this Mr. Cameron described a meeting he once had with Dr. Carl Peters. He quite approved of our prisence in this country, said Mr. Cameron, but added that Germany, by holding the south end of the great lake, controlled our policy in Egypt, because at any moment she could tap the waters of the lake and make an outlet on the south. Let us be thankful, then, concluded Mr. Cameron, for Smuts' victories which have placed the whole lake in our possession.

Sir Ronald Graham paid a tribute to the loyalty of Egypt and India during the war. Germany had hoped, said Sir Ronald that India and Egypt would prove troublesome to England, but their intrigues were defeated, not alone by administrative action, but rather owing to the sound good sense of the populations which they sought to disturb. India had proved her loyalty. Egypt under the influence of a wise and far-sighted prince, remained perfectly quiet and loyal, and would be ready to respond upon any call made upon her.

After further speeches, including one from Sir Alexander Baird, the resolution was put to the meeting and carried.

BRITISH TRADE IN SOUTHERN AMERICAS

LONDON, England—The trade and industry commission of the Royal Colonial Institute has received a statement regarding the possible extension of British trade in the Southern Americas. In the opinion of the writer British trade has lost ground in these countries because there are too few purely British importing houses. In Central America, he says, and in Mexico and South American countries, the stores are largely in the hands of Germans. These firms, pursuing the national idea, always prefer to import from Germany, and they have a definite policy of promoting German trade.

Most of the German firms, he continues, are of mushroom growth. Young men have come out for a small salary of about 200 marks, or even less, per month. They were serious, hard-working young fellows, of great adaptability, got very few pleasures, but, by dint of close attention to business, they were soon able to make themselves valuable to their employers and were admitted as partners. The heads of the firm go home, often open a house in Hamburg, making an occasional trip abroad, and so the process of development goes on. The same thing applies to the agricultural part of these countries where large numbers of sugar estates are owned by the Germans.

Regarding the increase of British trade, the writer says, it will do little good to send out travellers, cataloguers samples, appoint agents, and spend large sums in propaganda in countries where such a condition of affairs prevails. It would be worth while for some Manchester, Birmingham and London exporting firms, or associations which might be formed, to open up branches in the principal towns of the southern Americas.

Lieut. Robert E. Drader, before enlistment, principal of an Edmonton public school, has been killed in action. His parents reside in Victoria.

RED SOX ALMOST LOST IN NINTH

Brooklyn Quick to Take Advantage of Unexpected Break in Boston's Wonderful Playing.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

BOSTON, Oct. 9.—Boston's wonderful baseball machine threatened to break down in the ninth inning of Saturday's game after the Red Sox apparently had the game safely won.

This surprising break, of which the invading team was quick to take advantage, was the feature of an otherwise, ordinary baseball game, which the Red Sox won 6 to 5.

When Daubert, the first Brooklyn batsman, stepped to the plate in the opening half of the ninth inning, the spectators were beginning to leave the Braves' field, but they halted in their tracks as Shore passed the batter and Casey Stengal sent him to second with a clean single. A lone Brooklyn rooter began to beat upon a tin pan and here and there were cries of encouragement for the National league champions, but the cheers died away as Wheat forced Daubert at third.

Shore, however, could not control the ball as he had done earlier in the game and hit Cutshaw. Mowrey arose to the occasion with a bounder, which Janvrin could not handle, and Stengel and Wheat crossed the plate. Fears of the Boston fans grew when Olsen beat out an infield hit and they were scarcely relieved when Chief Meyers fouled out. Merkle, batting for Pfeffer, outwaited Shore and walked, forcing in Cutshaw with the third run of the inning. There was not a sound from the thousands when Manager Carigan ordered Shore from the box and substituted Mays. Meyers, Brooklyn's lead-off batter, scratched an infield hit, scoring Mowrey and the Nationals were within a run of tying the score with the bases stil loaded.

Daubert came to the plate for the second time in the inning and every one of the thousands of spectators held his breath as the Brooklyn captain hit an ugly bounder to Scott. The shortstop speared the ball as it leaped from the turf, and without pausing even to sight whipped it to Hoblitzell Daubert sliding into the bag headfirst, appeared to arrive with the plashing ball, but there was a great cheer when Umpire O'Day, who fairly overhung the base, signalled the third out and the ending of the game.

NEWS OF THE MARKETS

GAINS SCORED BY NEW YORK STOCKS

Reports of Impending Peace Overtures Lose Their Effect and Market Develops Strength.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The news circulated late yesterday regarding impending peace overtures by the central powers lost their effect in today's stock market. The market experienced another slight chill in the first of today's two hour session, but more than made up any lost ground, closing with a strong undertone and numerous advances.

Much of the heavy trading of the first hour, in which some stocks lost 1 to 3 points, was attributed to an eager interest and liquidating for interior points. Total sales of stocks amounted to 685,000 shares.

Other features of the day included the discharge of the Mercantile Marine receivership, restoring that property to the holders and additional railway statements, notably the August report of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, disclosing an increase in the net operating revenue of more than $1,000,000.

The clearing house statement again failed to reflect the activity of the stock market, local changes as to loans or the loss of cash being moderate. Reserves decreased by more than $6,600,000, reducing the excess to $82,555,480.

RUSSELL MOTORS MAKES NEW GAINS AT TORONTO

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

TORONTO, Oct. 7.—Russell Motors held the extreme gain made earlier in the week on today's market and still higher levels were reached. The improved condition of the company with its large output of munitions is believed to be the cause of the strengthening. The common stock advanced 1 to 68 and the preferred sold at par under light trading. Maple Leaf was ¼ off at 106. Steamships preferred sold ¼ higher at 90½ at the close and General Electric made a gain of ⅝ to 120.

Dominion Iron was the most active of the steel stocks, with 645 shares changing hands at 64½. Spanish River common was off ½ to 45. In the unlisted section Riordon was fairly active around 99, closing at that figure, a gain of 2½. Smelters sold at 41½.

RIORDON TOUCHES NEW RECORD AT MONTREAL

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

MONTREAL, Oct. 7—Stock exchange business here Saturday was marked by a maintenance of Friday's good tone in the general market and strength in some specialties. Riordon continued advancing, touching a new high mark at 99.

Among the more active features of the session Iron was conspicuous by reason of an early continuance of the recent reaction. At one stage the price fell off to 63¾, or down 1¼ from the closing level of Friday, but the loss was made up before the close, final price being unchanged at 36.

Scotia was firmer and Steel of Canada steady. Total business 6262 shares and $7100 bonds.

BURNETT STILL MISSING

No trace has been found of Amil Burnett, mine foreman at the Le Roi No. 2 at Rossland, who disappeared on the morning of September 16.

NEWS OF THE MARKETS

PEACE RUMOR DENIED; WHEAT PRICES JUMP

Announced Gerard's Visit Has Nothing to Do with Any New Proposals —Oats Unchanged.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 8.—Wheat prices took an upward swing today influenced chiefly by emphatic official denials that Ambassador Gerard's visit to the United States had anything to do with peace proposals. The market closed strong, 1⅜ to 3¼ net higher, with December at $1.59½ and May $1.58¾.

Oats closed unchanged to a shade lower and provisions unchanged at 37c higher.

Announcement that no rain had fallen in Argentina and that the damage from drought was being extended in a broad area did a great deal to strengthen the wheat market here, especially late in the session. Sharp advances in quotations at Buenos Ayres gave a notable stimulus to buying as well as a decrease in the United States visible supply total on Monday.

Oats averaged a trifle lower, despite the strength of other grain. Receipts of oats here this week were more than quadruple the amount for the corresponding time last year.

BEGIN COUNT IN ENGLAND OCT. 17

McBride Wires Bowser—Results of Votes in Canada May Be Known Next Friday Evening.

Hon. W. J. Bowser, while in Vancouver last week, said that next Friday, October 13,—which under the act was the first day on which counting could commence—the enumeration of the 4,000 khaki ballots cast in Canada would be commenced. It is probable that the job will take three or four days, though there is a bare possibility that by the evening of Saturday, Oct. 14, the work will be about completed. Hon. Mr. Bowser, some days ago, cabled to Sir Richard McBride, asking for the counting of ballots cast in England and France to commence promptly on Oct. 13, but Sir Richard replied that he was arranging to start on Tuesday, Oct. 17. Mr. Bowser assumes that this date has been selected as the earliest to suit the convenience of scrutineers and returning officers —that they cannot arrange to get together before that. It may be that the results of the vote in Canada will be known by the 17th, but the count in London is likely to occupy at least all the remainder of the week ending Oct. 21. The figures wil be cabled, but the actual returns addressed to the deputy provincial secretary will probably reach Victoria about the end of the month.

Ballots Remain Secret.

In preparing to carry on the counting at Victoria, five deputy returning officers will be appointed, each to handle a team of men to count separate sections. When the boxes are opened the envelopes will be separated into 39 piles, each representing a constituency. Then, in order to preserve the secrecy of the ballot, the envelopes are to be checked by scrutineers representing the political parties and then removed and thrown aside and the ballots finally counted. Thus the finals in some of the country ridings, where there are perhaps only 30 or 40 soldier votes, may not be known on Friday evening, Oct. 13. Rather, these will be the semi-finals—for the end will have to await the London figures more than a week later.

SIR WILLIAM MEYER ON FINANCIAL ISSUES

CALCUTTA, India.—Sir William Meyer, finance minister of India, has paid a flying visit to Calcutta, and has held a meeting with the Bengal national chamber of commerce. The Bengal national chamber must, by the way, be distinguished from the Bengal chamber, as the latter is composed almost entirely of English and Scottish merchants, while the national chamber is composed entirely of Indians. Indian traders are largely interested in rupee loan paper which to them has long been the chief gilt-edged security, and they have watched the steady fall in government paper for more than a dozen years with growing concern. The price of 3½ per cent paper has, of course, been still further affected in an adverse direction by the recent issue of Sir William Meyer's 4 per cent loan, and one of the proposals ingenuously put forward to the finance minister by the national chamber was that the interest on the 3½ per cent should be raised!

To this Sir William drily replied that the government of India had no intention of taxing the people to benefit the investors in 3½ per cents. He expressed the opinion, however, that the decline in the value of this security was abnormal, and said he hoped that something like a normal quotation would be reestablished before long. Sir William Mayer, so far as can be ascertained, is alone in holding this sanguine view.

With regard to the proposal that the government should help industrial development by offering a guaranteed rate of interest on capital invested in approved industries, the finance minister observed that the government gave such a guarantee only in the case of railways, where government shared in the profit also, and in such cases the government took over the railway after a certain period of years. It would not, he said, be practicable to make any such conditions in the case of other industries.

RAIDS CARRIED OUT TO FIND ABSENTEES

LONDON.—The authorities have recently exercised their power to call upon any man who is eligible for military service and who is not in uniform to produce his registration card and his exemption certificate in a very rigorous fashion.

On a certain day recently the police, regular and special, placed pickets at the doors of places of entertainment in a popular watering place on the Welsh coast and stopped every man who was of military age. Many were unable to produce the necessary documents and several hundred men were finally gathered in at the police station before the recruiting office. Officers in mufti and munition workers were alike called upon to produce the necessary documents. The same policy was meanwhile being carried out in other towns. In Sefton Park, Liverpool, a "raid" was undertaken jointly by police and military authorities who were stationed at the entrances. At the time some thousands of people were in the park, and as they passed out every man who seemed to be of military age was stopped and called on to produce his exemption certificates.

The police made no arrests, but took the names and addresses of men who could not produce satisfactory documentary evidence of exemption. All whose names were thus taken were ordered to report to the recruiting officers under threat of arrest if this instruction was not obeyed. In London again, a garden party which was being held at Bow for the purpose of raising funds for a Labor newspaper, was raided and several young men charged with being absentees from military service.

Lieut.-Col. C. M. R. Graham of London has been reinstated to the command of the 142nd battalion, from which he was suspended because he ordered a private to be spanked.

BIRMINGHAM RELIEF WORK

BIRMINGHAM, England—An important step in the coordination of the various aid societies in Brmingham has recently taken place in the formal registration of the Birmingham Citizens society under the companies acts. The new organization will take over all the relief work previously done by a number of agencies such as the citizens committee, the City Aid society and ahe Charity Organization society.

The civil work undertaken has reference to the prevention and relief of distress throughout the city, but the society will also act as the local representative of the government committee for the prevention and relief of distress due to the war which administers the Prince of Wales' national relief fund, and further, will be the local representative of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Families association and the Soldiers' and Sailors' Help society. The society is debarred by its articles of association from endeavoring to impose upon its members, helpers or recipients of benefits, any test of a political, religious, or sectarian character.

Get a 10-cent box now.

Furred tongue, bad colds, indigestion, Sallow Skin and miserable headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good gentle cleansing, too.

GERMAMY'S NEW SUPER-ZEPPELINS

BURY ST. EDMUNDS, England—Lord Montagu of Bealieu, speaking on the air service recently at Bury St. Edmunds, said statements had been made in the house of commons by Major Baird with reference to the number of zeppelins which had been brought down. The number was of no real importance. What was important was the number now owned by Germany. Although their anti-aircraft armament had been improved and was still being improved, there was still not enough of it. It was not sufficiently powerful, and its organization was far from perfect.

With regard to the anti-aircraft corps, there had been no well thought out policy. He thought they would need much more powerful anti-aircraft guns, and a much higher state of organization in the air service. In addition to the older type, Germany was now building super-zeppelins, three or four of which would be available about the beginning or middle of October, and he believed there were two out already, one of them having actually maneuvered over the North sea.

He had obtained information of the super-zeppelins. Of the older type, which were capable of raiding, the Germans probably owned 40, of which 15 were, perhaps, really available for harassing this country. The new zeppelins were a great advance on them in four directions. They had range, carrying capacity, speed, and power of climbing. They had a capacity in round figures, of nearly 2,000,000 cubic feet, their length was 780 feet and their beam 80 feet. Their maximum speed was 65 miles an hour, cruising speed 35 miles, radius with half load, 3,000 miles and maximum carrying capacity in bombs for such purposes as visiting England, five tons.

So far as his information went, they were able to ascend 17,000 feet, when their load was discharged and their six or seven engines were working. The engines were over 15,000 horsepower, and they were armed with quick-firers and machine guns, bow and stern, and with machine guns on the top of the envelope for dealing with aeroplane attacks from above. In normal circumstances they carried from 30 to 35 crew. Those particulars showed how far the Germans were relying—he hoped falsely—upon zeppelins as a means of harrasing the British. He believed this type would be improved on next year.

He believed the greatest use of the airship in future would be as the eyes of a fleet. If they had a proper service of rigid airships there would not be half the necessity for imperilling their cruisers acting as scouts. Those lost had nearly all been sent out on missions of reconnaissance.

SWISS PAPER ON BRITISH COMPLAINT

BERNE, Switzerland—The Berner Tagwacht has drawn the attention of its readers to the account published by a Basle paper recently of an interview granted its representative by Lord Robert Cecil, who defended the measures taken by the entente powers with regard to the transportation of supplies to Switzerland, and added that he regretted to have to say that the situation had been rendered more difficult by the fact that the Swiss government had not always "felt itself strong enough in every case to prevent the exportation to the enemy of goods coming under control of the S. S. S."

When a diplomatist uses such words, wrote the official organ of the Swiss Socialist party, their significance will be understood forthwith. They are a formal accusation, and give no cause for surprise when certain facts, and particularly the latest incident of the soya beans are recalled. Everything, including dilatoriness, has to be atoned for in the end. If firm action had been taken in the beginning and the importance of a systematic organization of internal economic life had been realized, these complaints would not have been heard. Today the situation is such that the laxity of the Swiss authorities with regard to smuggling and speculation has provided England and France with a welcome pretext for cutting off the transportation of foodstuffs. That would not have been possible had a different conception prevailed of economic policy and of the obligations owing to the home country as well as to other lands, and it must be said with regret that it is the attitude of the bourgeois government and of the capitalist class that has prepared the ground for the reprisals of the entente.

We are justified in making this statement, the Berner Tagwacht continued, because we have dwelt almost daily for months past on the consequences of the smuggling trade and the lack of supervision and have been attacked by the bourgeois press by way of thanks for our warnings and our demands for the curbing of profit interests. Now we are faced with the consequences, and it is comprehensible that the papers which ordinarily make much of such incidents have suppressed the interview with Lord Robert Cecil. ..... In a perfectly irresponsible manner they are continuing their policy of concealment, and are silent concerning a conversation of the greatest significance.

The only thing that could now be done, the Tagwacht added, was to create guarantees for the future, and the people of Switzerland themselves, it maintained, had a right to see that a stop was put to the policy hitherto pursued before the country found itself dragged into the war. Meanwhile it contended that the entente should have demanded such guarantees instead of having recourse to the stoppage of transportation. With such measures as those which have been the outcome of the Paris negotiations, it wrote, one creates no workable mutual relations, but only justifiable ill-will and bitterness.

NEWSPAPERS ALONE SELL BELOW COST

Paper Manufacturer Explains Causes of the High Cost of Material.

WINNIPEG.—The annual meeting of the Western Associated Press Limited, held here, brought together a representative gathering of newspaper publishers from all over western Canada. The meeting this morning was addressed by E. W. Backus, president of the Fort Frances Paper & Pulp company, on the news print situation, and subsequently the visitors were entertained at luncheon by the Winnipeg daily publishers. Election of officers will take place this afternoon.

Prices Increase.

Mr. Backus gave the reason for the shortage and price increase. Mill labor was scarce and wages high; materials entering into the manufacture of news print had gone up several hundred percent; the advertising patronage of the large American dailies had been growing fast, consequently their consumption of news print was constantly increasing. For the latter cause the mills were unable to gather a reserve supply. The paper manufacturers were each year being forced to go farther from their mills for their wood.

Too much reading was being given for the amount of advertising carried. Publishers would be forced to change their tactics. Those who could not agree to do would find themselves up against a serious proposition. It was not a case of doing what they would like to do, but what they would be forced to do. Mr. Backus cited instances of several large American dailies that were paying over 300 per cent more for their news print supply today than they were a year ago. Their profits had not only been wiped away, but they were now finding themselves facing a deficit. The only alternative, he thought, was strict economy. This was imperative if the newspapers were to remain in business.

Drastic Steps.

The publishers were unanimous in declaring that the situation was very grave, and united in agreeing that drastic steps must be taken to meet the conditions with which they are faced. Everything entering into the manufacture of a newspaper, it was pointed out, has risen in price to such an extent that the wages, cost of metal, ink, etc., had greatly increased. Even the small item of twine exacted a heavy toll from the paper having any circulation worth while. It was the general opinion that extra revenue would have to be secured from some soruce. The burden could not be placed wholly on the advertisers; the reader must bear a share. The subscription price of nearly every newspaper was too low. Newspapers were the only commodity selling below cost and publishers if they desired to see their newspapers continue in existence would have to adopt elementary business laws in the operation of their plants.

BASIS OF CLAIM RUMANIA MAKES ON TRANSYLVANIA

BUDAPEST, Hungary.—In view of the well-known aspirations of Rumania in the direction of Transylvania, it is desirable to know the basis of Rumanian claims, and also the reasons for the strong hold which Transylvania has upon the hearts of all Hungarians.

The Rumanians claim that as more than half of the population consists of people of their race, Transylvania, or at least a great part of it, should be annexed to Rumania. The total population of Transylvania is about 2,700,000. Of these, about one and a half millions are Rumanians, the remainder consisting for the most part of Magyars, including the Szeklers, with some 200,000 Saxons, and a few Servians, Ruthenians, Bulgarians and Greeks.

The country is some 21,300 square miles in area, and consits of a central plateau, with very fertile soil, suitable for corn growing, the whole being surrounded by a ring of mountains which are rich in many kinds of minerals and sustain a large mining population. The name "Transylvania" was given to the country by the Romans and means "the land beyond the forest," but the Hungarians call it "Erdely," that is, the forest borderland, while the Rumanians use the name "Ardealu," which has the same meaning.

Down to the end of the third century A. D. Transylvania formed part of the Roman province of Lacia, but the Romans were then driven out by the Goths and forced to cross the Danube. Ror many centuries after that, Transylvania had not a settled population; it was the scene of constant warfare and was occupied by various races in quick succession as victory gave them a brief tenure. It was in the tenth century that Transylvania was occupied by men of the Magyar race, and towards the end of the eleventh century it was united to Hungary. Later, in the reign of King Geza II. 1131-1162), Saxon colonists were invited by the monarch to settle in the province where they were given many privileges. It was owing to this that at the present day such a large Saxon element is found in Transylvania.

The Szeklers are racially one with the Magyars. Their name Szekler is not a racial appellation; it is derived from the work Szek a seat, or military station) and indicates that they were defenders of the frontier. The Magyars, Szeklers and Saxons early formed a "fraternal union," with the object of defending their country from the hordes of Turks and Tartars who attacked it. Transylvania was a strong bulwark which stemmed the rising tide of invasion and saved all Europe from being submerged beneath a flood of paganism. It was not until the twelfth century that the Rumanians, of Wallachians, entered Transylvania, a people who, though believing themselves to be of pure Roman descent, were really a mixture of various Slavonic and Latin elements. As the Byzantine empire increased in power, the Rumanians were driven from their settlements in the Balkans and sought shelter in Transylvania. Centuries later, after the Turks had built up their power in the Balkans, fresh hosts of Rumanians, flying from Turkish persecution, sought and found a home in Transylvania. From time to time Greeks, Bulgarians and Servians also fled from Turkish persecution to the same place of refuge, and Hungary owes her racial difficulties very largely to her generous hospitality in past centuries.

The "fraternal union" succeeded in keeping off the Turks until the year 1526, when Hungary was defeated, and the Turks separated Transylvania from Hungary and made it an independent principality. The people were allowed to elect their prince, subject to Turkish approval, and invariably a Hungarian prince was elected. As a result of this, Transylvania came to be the rallying ground for Hungarian nationalism and to be more Hungarian than Hungary proper, for the western part of Hungary was under Hapsburg domination and in constant danger of being entirely Germanized. The central portion was in the hands of the Turks, so it was only in Transylvania that the Hungarian national spirit could find a home. The princes of Transylvania naturally gathered around them nobles of the Magyar race and their courts became fervently national in character. Among the Transylvanian princes were some of the greatest men that Hungary has produced, men who are the country pride: like Bathory, Bethlen, Rakoczy and many others, who were true patrons of learning, and whose courts became famous throughout Europe for their high level of culture. The Hungarian genius penetrated the whole life of Transylvania, its art, language, literature, habits and customs, down to the minutest details, to such an extent that Transylvania came to be, more than any other part of Hungary, the most characterisic expression of the Hungarian spirit.

The government has appointed a special commission to investigate conditions relating to delivering coal to coasting vessels in the maritime province waters.

DONALD M'QUARRIE MAY GET MILITARY CROSS

Word From Canadian Field Officer Indicates Nelson Man and Lieut. Tooker in Line for Honor.

Lieut. Donald McQuarrie, son of M. R. McQuarrie of Nelson, and Lieut. Tooker may be decorated with the Military Cross in recognition of the gallant part played by them in a recent attack made by Canadian troops in France. This is the news contained in a letter received in Nelson Saturday from a Canadian field officer at the front. The letter in part follows:

"Our battalion pulled off a little raid last night and took some prisoners. The colonel was very much pleased about it. We had two killed and 19 wound. ed. I think McQuarrie and Tooker will get the Military Cross for it.

"Young McQuarrie is a first class officer and Nelson has reason to be proud of him. Eleven of my men took part, but no senior officers went. We have been moved to a new sector and are at present in billets in a farm house."

Lieut. McQuarrie joined for overseas service about a year and a half ago and went to England with Lieut. Tooker in charge of a draft of men from Kootenay-Boundary. While in training in England he took a number of courses in military tactics and was for some time physical instructor to one of the battalions.

RED CROSS REPORTS MUCH WORK DONE

Society Makes 45 Shipments to Headquarters During Year—Receives Gifts Totaling $4512.

Much work accomplished during the past year was reported at last week's annual meeting of the Nelson branch of the Canadian Red Cross society.

The secretary's report showed that 45 shipments of Red Cross supplies were sent to the head office in Toronto, several of which ran as high as seven cases to the shipment. A total of 29,023 articles were made by various branches and patriotic organizations in the district and sent forward through the medium of the Nelson branch, of which 1423 were socks.

An appeal for contributions for the British Red Cross Trafalgar day fund was responded to with $280.75, collected by house to house canvass in the city, and $300 received from 10 outlying branches, making a total of $580.75. Later 128 helpless shirts were sent as a contribution to the Queen Mary collection. Of these 120 were made in Nelson and a substantial sum was raised by the city churches by means of special contributions in the churches one Sunday in May.

Men's Committee Formed.

During the summer the Men's Rde

During the summer the Men's Red Cross committee was formed, which, the report stated, had since become the backbone of the local society, as through the work of the men $200 per month was being raised for the needs of the organization. This it was reported not only covered the monthly expenses of the local society, but also allowed for the remittance of a cash donation to headquarters every month.

Special mention was made of the Junior Red Cross society, which under the leadership of Miss Arthur, turned over to the society a number of extremely well made and finished articles made by the juniors each month.

A superfluity sale, held in May, proved a financial success, while considerable funds were raised by the sale of miniatures of Princess Patricia and from a number of entertainments and whist drives held during the year. A lecture on Red Cross work was also given by Capt. Julia Henshaw under the joint auspices of the Red Cross society and the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

Many Gifts Received.

During the year nine cases of Red Cross articles ready to be sent forward to Toronto were received from the Kokanee chapter, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, eight from Creston, two from New Denver, two from Baynes Lake and Waldo chapters of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, and one from Hedley, while a number of smaller contributions had been received from Arrow Park, Bonnington, Boswell, Burton Women's institute, Princeton, Queens Bay, Shoreacres and Willow Point Women's institutes, besides a number of private individuals.

Treasurer's Statement.

The treasurer's report showed that contributions to the fund for general and special purposes amounted to $4512.13, while the disbursements had reached $3904.99, leaving a cash balance on hand of $607.14. The receipts were as follows: Membership fees, $214; special donations for beds at Cliveden hospital from Robson Women's institute, $26; Nelson and District Women's institute, $100; Kokanee chapter, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, $25; total, $150. For surgical supplies from Willow Point Women's institute, $85; Fruitvale Red Cross society, $155, and Creston Red Cross society, $50; total, $290. Gifts from the machine gun fund, $541.45; the men's auxiliary, $450; 10-cent collections, $243.65; donations from outside points, $905.88, and local donations including teas, entertainments, etc., $1717.15, making a grand total of $4512.13.

The expenditures for the year were given as follows: Local expenses, $108.06; for materials, $1568.33; remitted for beds at Cliveden hospital, $125; for surgical supplies, $262; for badges, $3.75, and remitted to headquarters for general purposes, $1837.85, making a grand total of $3904.99.

The financial report of the Men"s Red Cross society showed that monthly subscriptions amounting to $76.25 had been collected and that additional subscriptions of $324.25 had been given, totaling $1090.50.

The disbursements were for stationery, etc., $18.35; paid into the Red Cross society for July and August, $400, and for special donation, $50. Total, $668.35. Balance on hand, $622.35.

The officers for the following year are as follows: Mrs. Douche, president; Mrs. C. Watts, vice-president; Mrs. W. E. Wasson, treasurer. The members of the committee are: Mrs. F. P. Armstrong, Miss Barnes, Mrs. Harry Bird, Mrs. Blaylock, Mrs. Cuthbert, Mrs. Gigot, Mrs. Donald Guthrie, Mrs. Hayden and Mrs. Lambert.
