FOE SIGNS PEACE TREATY

BLOCKADE TO STAND UNTIL RATIFICATION

OFFICIAL NOTIFICATION IS SENT TO THE GERMAN DELEGATION.

CONSIDER SURE PLAN OF SPEEDING UP FOE

When Ban on Central Powers is Lifted Russian Soviets Will Receive Assistance.

PARIS, June 29.—The official notification to Germany that the blockade will not be raised until the treaty is ratified by Germany, was in the form of a resolution adopted by the council of four and presented to the German delegation before its departure to Berlin.

The resolution is as follows:

"The blockade council is instructed to base its arrangements for rescinding restrictions upon trade with Germany on the assumption that the allied and associated powers will not wait to raise the blockade until the ratification is provided for at the end of the treaty with Germany, but that it is to be raised immediately upon receipt of information that the treaty of peace has been ratified."

Conditioning the raising of the blockade upon Germany's ratification of the treaty, is regarded in conference circles as a sure plan for securing a speedy ratification because of Germany's food and raw material needs. As Russia was practicly blockaded as a result of the blockade against the centrl powers, the opinion is held that when the blockade against them ceases there will be no blockcade against Rusia.

However, soviet Russia's lack of credit and inability to make financial arrangements is looked upon by financial advisors connected with the conference as a bar to Russia's assumption of trade on a large scale.

CHINESE REFUSED TO SIGN TREATY

Made Repeated Efforts to Obtain Right to Make Reservations Over Shantung.

PARIS, June 29.—(By Associated Press).—China's refusal to sign the peace treaty came after repeated efforts of the Chinese delegation to obtain permission to sign with reservations on the Shantung settlement.

President Wilson was appealed to by the Chinese delegation several times within the last week and at first seemed inclined to favor allowing the Chinese to attach their signatures with reservations. Finally, however, he concurred in the decision of the conference that the Chinese might make a declaration on their position after signature but not before.

Think Rights Not Protected

This was regarded by the delegation as not protecting China's rights. The Chinese refused to sign and now are awaiting further orders from Pekin. The Chinese delegation issued an official statement tonight, reviewing in protest against the Shantung settlement, made to the council of prime ministers on May 4, and its reservation on the same question, made in the plenary session of the peace conference May 6 against the transfer of German rights in Shantung to Japan instead of to China.

The statement says the action of the conference on Shantung evoked a nation wide protest in China, which makes it impossible for the Chinese government to accept the objectionable clause in the treaty.

The Chinese delegation's proposal was that it write in the treaty above its signature, "subject to reservation made at the plenary session of May 6, relative to the question of Shantung in articles 156, 157 and 158."

The statement says the peace conference, through official channels, denied any action on the part of China which would make it possible to reopen the Shantung question.

No Other Course Open

"After failing in all earnest attempts," says the statement, "and after seeing every honorable compromise rejected, the Chinese delegation had no course open save to adhere to the path of duty to their country.

"Rather than accept by their signatures the Shantung articles in the treaty against which their sense of right and justice militated, they refrained from signing the treaty altogether. The Chinese plenipotentiaries regret having to take a course which appears to mar the solidarity of the allied and associated powers. However, they are firmly of the opinion that the responsibility for this rests not with themselves, who had no other honorable course, but, rather with those who it is felt unjustly and unnecessarily deprive them of the right of making a declaration to safeguard against any interpretation which might

HOLLWEIG WOULD BE MARTYR FOR KAISER

BERLIN, Saturday, June 28.—Von Bethmann Hollweig, former German chancellor, has formally asked the Allied and Associated Powers to place him on trial instead of the former kaiser. The former chancellor says that he assumes resposnibility for the acts of Germany during his term of office and places himself at the disposal of the Allies.

RAIN FALLS IN SASKATCHEWAN

CROPS ARE PARTIALLY BENEFITED—FROM HALF TO GOOD YIELD IS EXPECTED.

Nearly Two Inches of Rain Falls in a Couple of Hours in Vicinity of Regina—Resembled Cloudburst.

REGINA, June 30.—The first big rain experienced in Regina since October, 1916 fell during the early hours of yesterday morning. The rain was driven with great force by a high velocity wind and fell in such torrents as to closely resemble a cloudburst. In a very short time the entire landscape was entirely under water and the sewers were quite inadequate to handle the floods.

The official rain gauge at the parliament buildings recorded a downfal of 1.38 inches and it is estimated that where the downpour was heaviest it probably reached a couple of inches. The storm which broke about midnight was accompanied by much thunder and lightning and lasted for about two and a half hours. Last night a heavy rainfall commenced about 10 o'clock and there is every promise of a wet night.

Crops Benefitted

Yesterday morning's storm covered a wide area and was general through the Regina district at least, from Moose Jaw to Broadview, and from Colonsay to Stoughton. Beyond these points no reports have been received. Over this area rain fell varying in duration from one to three hours and from every intermediate point reports indicate that the crops will be materially benefited.

The rain was very heavy in the Melville district and as a result the train arriving in Regina this morning was five hours late. At Melville the rain was accompanied by hail, some of the stones being of a considerable size. There was little wind and the damage from hail was practically negligible. Farmers in that district were jubilant, declaring that the crops in that district are now assured and a good yield is expected.

Along the Colonsay line of the Canadian Pacific Railway rain fell for three hours and the crops along this line have been put in good condition.

Points on the Assiniboia line report rain varying from one to three hours. In this section of the country a violent wind accompanied the downpour but damage of any consequence has not been reported.

Half Crop Assured

SASKATOON, June 29.—Rains have been general in the Saskatoon district during the past three days. The grounds are practically saturated in all parts and will prove of great benefit to the crops. A representative of the Phoenix paid visits yesterday and today to the Dundurn and Asquith districts. In the former the farmers declared the rain had saved the crops from complete ruin.

"Another few days," asserted one farmer, "would have seen the crops beyond repair. Thursday's rain practically assured us of about half a crop but I am doubtful whether it will go beyond that estimate."

A farmer at Cory on the Asquith line, declared that the rain had come too late. Another farmer at Grandora stated that personally his prospects were fairly good and that the recent rains had considerably brightened the situation. A general survey of these two districts shows many farms without a thing, while others are fairly promising.

Reports from the Biggars-Loverna district are much brighter, the rain having been very fair in all parts.

KING SEES "VICTORY OF IDEALS" IN TREATY

LONDON, June 29.—After news of the signing of peace had been received the following was issued over King George's signature:

"The signing of the treaty of peace will be received with deep thankfulness throughout the British Empire. This formal act brings to its concluding stages the terrible war which has devastated Europe and distracted the world. It manifests the victory of ideals, of freedom and of liberty for which we have made untold sacrifices.

"I share my people's joy and thanksgiving and earnestly pray that coming years of peace may bring to them ever increasing happiness and prosperity.

"GEORGE R.I."

TURKISH DELEGATION IS ADVISED TO GO HOME

PARIS, June 28.—A note will be sent to the Turkish delegation today by the council of four, advising the members to return to Constantinople. The message will say that there is no reason to believe any agreement can be reached in the near future, because of the great diffrence in the demands of the Turks and the concessions the allies are willing to grant.

WAR IS BROUGHT TO OFFICIAL CLOSE

VERSAILLES, June 28. — World peace was signed and sealed in the historic Hall of Mirrors at Versailles this afternoon, but under circumstances which somewhat dimmed the expectations of those who had worked and fought during long years of war and months of negotiations for its achievement. The absence of the Chinese delegates, who at the last moment were unable to reconcile themselves to the Shantung settlement, and left the eastern empire outside the formal purviews of peace, struck the first discordant note in the assembly.

General Smuts Protests

A written protest which General Jan Christian Smuts, representing the Union of South Africa, lodged with his signature, was another disappointment to the makers of the treaty.

General Smuts objected to certain territorial settlements, making a lengthy statement.

General Smuts said that the indemnities stipulated could not be accepted without grave injuries to the industrial revival of Europe. He declared it would be to the interest of the allied powers to render the stipulations more tolerable and moderate.

Germans Still Outside Pale

But, bulking larger, was the attitude of Germany and the German plenipotentiaries, which left them, as evident from the original program of the day and from the expression of M. Clemenceau, still outside any formal reconciliation, and made actual restoration to regular relations and intercourse with the allied nations dependent, not upon the signature of the "preliminaries of peace" today, but upon ratification by the national assembly.

To M. Clemenceau's stern warning in his opening remarks that they would be expected, and held, to observe the treaty provisions legally and completely, the German delegates, through Dr. Haniel von Haimhausen, replied after reaching the hotel that had they known they would be treated on a different status after signing than the allied representatives, as shown by their separate exit before the general body of the conference, they never would have signed.

Under the circumstances the general tone of sentiment in the historic sitting was one rather of relief at the incontrovertible end of hostilities than of complete and unalloyed satisfaction.

Wanted Ceremony Austere

The ceremony otherwise had been planned deliberately to be austere, befitting the sorrows and sufferings of almost five years and the lack of impressiveness and picturesque color, of which many spectators, who had expected a magnificent state pageant, complained was a matter of design, not merely of omission.

The actual ceremony was far shorter than had been expected, in view of the number of signatures which were to be appended to the treaty and the two accompanying conventions, ending a bare 49 minutes after the hour set for the opening. The proceedings were carried out without surface incidents, since the Germans were silent and the Chinese refusal to sign was evident only by the vacant chairs. The sole words to be recorded in the protocol of the conference were M. Clemenceau's short opening allocution, with its brief, stern warning to the Germans and his equally terse phrases declaring the ceremony closed.

The intervening three-quarters of an hour were marked by the scratching of big goose quills or modern pens, which most of the delegates preferred, and the steady procession of delegate after delegation to the seats at three tables within the enclosure upon which the documents were placed for signature.

Call Germans First

Contrary to expectations, the Germans were called to sign first, and no precedence was given M. Clemenceau, President Wilson or Lloyd George, who in the peace treaty appear only as members of the respective delegations and discard the dignities and responsibilities which during the negotiations were summed up in the phrase, "the big three."

Teuton Signers Unmoved

The two German delegates arose without a word at M. Clemenceau's bidding and placed upon the treaty the sign manuals which German government leaders declared until recently never would be appended to it. It was too distant to watch, even with glasses, the expression on the faces of the German plenipotentiaries during the ceremony, but more fortunate observers among the officials say that they fulfilled their role without apparent indications of emotion such as marked Von Brockdorff-Rantzau's dramatic declarations at the first meeting.

When they regained their seats after signing President Wilson immediately arose, and followed by the other American plenipotentiaries, moved around the two sides of the great horseshoes to the signature table.

President Wilson, and not M. Clemenceau, thus had the honor of signing first of all the leaders of the world alliance, but the honor was due to the Alphabet, not to other considerations, as the signatures occur in the same French alphabetical order as the enumeration of the allied and associated powers in the prologue of the treaty—the same order which determined the seating of the degations at the plenary sessions of the inter-allied conference.

Five Powers Grouped Separately

The five great powers thereunder are grouped separately, the smaller states following again in alphabetical order.

But is the formal proceedings moved with system and complete adherence to program, the same can not be said for the other arangements, which detracted most markedly from the impressiveness of the epochal event. So many spectators had, in one manner or another, gained access to the hall that the struggle for points of vantage at times approached the stage of a brawl, and the few officials entrusted with keeping order had great difficulty in securing even a semblance of order.

Cry "Down in Front"

Cries of "down in front—," which probably never before were heard at a gathering of similar importance, were addressed quite as often to the officials of the conference as to the unofficial spectators. The stage for the ceremony was quite as crowded as the spectators' enclosures, giving a picture of crush and confusion, and the plenipotentiaries and attaches, instead of arriving in delegations formally introduced by ushers, as had been planned, drifted in individually as at the earlier sessions.

The close of the ceremony came so quickly and quietly that it was scarcely noticed until it was all over. Mr. Clemenceau arose almost unremarked and in a voice almost lost amid the confusion and the hum of conversation which had sprung up while the minor delegates were signing, declared the conference closed and asked the allied and associated powers to remain in their places for a few minutes—this to permit the Germon plenipotentiaries to leave the building before the general exodus.

The only uniforms seen in the long hall to match the rich coloring of the ceiling, the paintings and magnificent marbles which Louis IX built into his chateau were those of a group of allied generals, almost all wearing the scarlet sash of the Legion of Honor, and the ceremonial scarlet and white garb of the famous French republican guard who were stationed about the hall.

Pershing and Foch Present

General Pershing and Marshal Foch were among the generals present, but it is safe to say that the entrance of a selected group of 45 common soldiers of the allied armies attracted more attention and comment than did that of the commanders whose names will be handed down in the history of the great war. The unnamed heroes of the war were clad in sober field uniforms of gray and horizon blue, matching well with the equally sober black of the plenipotentiaries and secretaries grouped around and within the great horseshoe table. Prominent among the American guests were Mrs. Wilson, accompanied by Miss Wilson and Mrs. Lansing, Mrs. House, Mr. Wallace, Mrs. Scott and several other wives of the delegates and officials.

Others in the American section included President Wilson's wartime and conference advisers, Herbert Hoover. Bernar M. Baruch, Vance McCormick, John W. Davis, American ambassador to Great Britain; Hugh C. Wallace, United States ambassador to France; Henry Morgenthau and about 70 of the more prominent attaches of the peace commission. Four wartime French premiers, Viviani, Briand, Ribot and Painleve, were among M. Clemenceau's guests in the French section. The British, the Italian and the smaller nations sent representative delegations.

War Lasted Nearly Five Years

The treaty signing ended the world war, which lasted just 37 days less than five years. Today, the day of peace, is the fifth anniversary of the murder of Archduke Francis Ferdinand at Sarajevo.

The ceremony of signing the peace terms was brief. Premier Clemenceau called the session to order in the Hall of Mirrors of the chauteau of Versailles at 3:10 o'clock. The signing began when Dr. Herrman Mueller and Johannes Bell, the German signatories, affixed their names. Dr. Mueller signed at 3:12 o'clock and Herr Bell at 3:13 o'clock. President Wilson, first of the allied delegates, signed a minute later. The president was followed by Secretary Lansing, Henry White, Colonel House and General Bliss in the order named. At 3:45 o'clock the momentous session was concluded.

Protocol Also Signed

The potocol was signed by all those who signed the treaty. The Rhine arrangement was signed by the Germans, Americans, Belgians, British and French plenipotentiaries.

The credentials of Dr. Hermann Mueller and Dr. Johannes Bell, German plenipotentiaries sent here by sign the treaty of peace, were approved this morning.

The peace treaty was deposited on the table in the Hall of the Mirrors at 2:10 o'clock this afternoon, by William Martin of the French foreign office. It was enclosed in a stamped leather case.

A few minutes before 3 o'clock the 15 enlisted men from the American, British and French armies entered the hall amid decorous cheers.

President Wilson entered the Hall of Mirrors at 2:50 o'clock. All the delegates then were seated except the Chinese.

Clemenceau Opens Sessions

Premier Clemenceau, in opening the session, said:

"The session is open. The allied and associated powers on one side and the German commission on the other side, have come to an agreement on the conditions of peace. The treaty has been completed, drafted, and the president of the conference has stated in writing that the text that is about to be signed now is identical with the 200 copies that have been delivered to the German delegation. The signatures will be given now and they amount to a solemn undertaking faithfully and loyally to execute the conditions embodied by this treaty of peace. I now invite the delegates of the German commission to sign the treaty."

Use Goose Quills

A box of old fashioned goose quills, sharpened by the expert pen-pointer of the French foreign office, was placed on each table for the use of the peace plnipotntiaries who desired to observe the traditional formalities.

As Premier Clemenceau, President Wilson and Premier Lloyd George emerged from the palace the great crowd, gathered outside, swept aside the cordon of troops, cheering madly.

The three statesmen were swept along by the cheering thousands. Many soldiers broke ranks and joined in the demonstration, while guns boomed and low flying airplanes seemed to fill the air.

Premiers Clemenceau and Lloyd George and President Wilson were photographed together on the terrace. After the demonstration the three allied leaders left Versailles in the same automobile, the crowds following and cheering.

The German delegates left the hall first, the allied representatives remaining in their seats. Those who had asembled in the hall then went to the terrace to see the fountains playing.

Marked Lack of Pageantry

All the diplomats and members of their parties were conventional civilian clothes. There was a marked lack of gold lace and pageantry. There were no fanciful uniforms of the middle ages whose traditions and practices are so sternly condemned in the great seal-covered document signed today.

A spot of color was made against this sombre background by the French guards. A few selected members of the guard were resplendent in their red-plumed silver helmets and red, white and blue uniforms.

WILSON MAKES A PLEA FOR TREATY

Declares Document Shoud Be Accepted by U. S. Senate Without Modification

WASHINGTON, June 29.—President Wilson in an address to the American people on the occasion of signing of the peace treaty made a plea for the acceptance of the treaty and the covenant of the league of nations without change or reservation.

His message given out here by Secretary Tumulty said:

"My Fellow Countrymen: The treaty of peace has been signed. If it is eratified and acted upon in full and sincere execution of its terms it will furnish the charter for a new order of affairs in the world. It is a severe treaty in the duties and penalties it imposes upon Germany, but it is severely only because great wrongs done by Germany are to be righted and repaired; it imposes nothing that Germany can not do; and she can regain her rightful standing in the world by the prompt and honorable fulfilment of its tems.

Liberates Great Peoples

'And it is much more ahan a treaty of peace with Germany. It liberates great peoples who have never before been able to find the way to liberty. It ends, once for all, an old and intolerable order under which small groups of selfish men could use the peoples of great empires to serve their ambition for power and domination.

"It associates the free governments of the world in a permanent league in which they are pledged to use their united power to maintain peace by maintaining right and justice. It makes international law a reality, supported by imperative sanctions.

"It does away with the right of conquest and rejects the policy of annexation and substitutes a new order under which backward nations—populations which have not yet come to political consciousness and peoples who are ready for independence, but not quite prepared to dispense with protection and guadance—shall no more be subjected to the domination and exploitation of a stronger nation, but shall be put under the friendly direction and afforded the helpful assistance of governments which undertake to be responsible for the opinion of mankind in the execution of their task by accepting the direction of the league of nations.

Recognizes Right of Minorities

"It recognizes the inalienable rights of nationality; the rights of minorities and the sanctity of religious belief and practice. It lays the basis for convictions which shall free the commercial intercourse of the world from unjust and vexatious restrictions and for every sort of international cooperation that will serve to cleanse the life of the world and facilitate its sommon action in beneficent service of every kind.

"It furnishes guarantees such as were never given or even contemplated for the fair treatment of all who labor at the daily tasks of the world.

"It is for this reason that I have spoken of it as a great charter for a new order of affairs. There is ground here for deep satisfaction, universal reassurance and confident help. WOODROW WILSON."

KING OF ENGLAND SENDS GREETINGS TO AMERICA

LONDON, June 29.—King George has sent the following message to President Wilson:

"In this glorious hour when the long struggle of nations for right, justice and freedom is at last crowned by a triumphant peace, I greet you, Mr. President, and the great American people in the name of the British nation.

"At a time when fortune seemed to frown and the issues of the war trembled in the balance, the American people stretched out the hand of fellowship to those who on the side of the ocean were battling for a righteous cause. Light and hope at once shone brighter in our hearts and a new day dawned.

"Together we have fought to a happy end; together we lay down our arms in proud consciousness of valiant deeds nobly done.

"Mr. President, it is on this day one of our happiest thoughts that the American and British people, brothers in arms, will continue forever to be brothers in peace. United before by language, traditions, kinship and ideals, there has now been set upon our fellowship the seal of common sacrifice."

BEEF SENT TO ITALY

LLOYD GEORGE IS ACCLAIMED BY LONDONERS

BRITISH PREMIER DRIVES WITH KING TO BUCKINGHAM PALACE

ADDRESSES ASSEMBLAGE FROM RESIDENCE WINDOW

"Let Us Thank God for the Victory, Not in a Spirit of Boastfulness, But in a Spirit of Reverence."

LONDON, June 29.—David Lloyd George, the British premier, on his return from Paris this evening drove with the King to Buckingham Palace, being acclaimed with triumphant cheers by the crowds along the whole route.

After paying his respects to the Queen, the premier drove in the royal carriage to Downing Palace. Similar ovations greeted him all along the way and in response to the continued cheering, Mr. Lloyd George came to the window of his residence and briefly addressed the assemblage. He spoke of the peace fhich had come to the world, and in encluding, said:

"I sincerely trust that the unity of spirit and concert which won the great peace will continue until we have established on a firm foundation the new world by a sacrifice of millions of brave men.

"Let us thank God for the victory, not in a spirit of boastfulness, which was the downfall of Germany, but in a spirit of reverence worthy the noble sacrifices that have been made."

METAL TRADES MAY GO BACK TO WORK

Overwhelming Desire on Part of Men at Winnipeg to Return to Jobs

Wednesday May Also See End of Strike in Building Trades; May Break With Building Trades Council

WINNIPEG, June 29.—The Metal Trades strike is likely to be called off tomorrow and work resumed on Wednesday, information to this effect was received from authoritative sources tonight.

There is an overwhelming desire to get back to work on the part of the men, it is said, and in view of this those responsible for holding them out so far will, it is understood, change their attitude tomorrow and notify the metal trades employees that all will report for duty Wednesday, after the Dominion holiday.

It is also highly possible that Wednesday will see all the strikers in the building trades back at work. Feeling at a mass meeting of workers yesterday is said to have been largely in favor of returning after the holiday. This fact is likely to have a big effect on unions which are meeting tomorrow and make them decide to act independently of the building trades council, it is stated. This council is advising a holdout for some time longer, but already some of the unions have disclaimed association with it, although acknowledging the international organization.

BRITISH FLAG IS BURNED IN DUBLIN

Sinn Fein Headquarters Are Raided by Large Force of Military—Demonstrations in City

DUBLIN, June 29.—The Sinn Fein headquarters were raided yesterday afternoon and the building searched by a large force of military.

The British flag was burned in Dublin on Saturday night. Outside of Trinity college a number of Union Jacks were seized and the torch applied.

Cheers were given for DeVallera and revolutionary songs were sung. Sinn Fein demonstrations occurred in other parts of the city.

SERIOUS DISORDERS MARK DEMONSTRATIONS AT ROME

ROME, June 29.—Serious disorders marked anti-government demonstrations in Rome last night. The demonstrants attempted to reach the residence of Premier Nitti, but were driven back by large forces of military police. Order finally was restored after midnight.

Prior to the demonstrations a largely attended mass meeting was held at the Augusteum. Patriotic and inflammatory addresses were delivered. Gabriel D'Annunzi was present and made a speech, apparently adding to the excitement of the audience, which left the hall and began the demonstrations.

peace session of 1871, held in the same hall, there were present today grizzled French veterans of the Franco-Prussian war. They replaced the Prussian guardsmen of the previous ceremony and the Frenchmen today watched the ceremony with grim satisfaction.

Conditions of 1871 Reversed

The conditions of 1871 were exactly reversed Today the disciples of Bismarck sat in the seats of the lowly, while the white marble statue of Minerva, goddess of war, looked on. Overhead on the frescoed ceiling, were scenes from France's ancient wars.

When the program for the ceremony was shown to the German delegation, Herr von Haimhausen of the German delegation went to Colonel Henri, the French liason officer, and protested. He said:

"We cannot admit that the German delegates should enter the hall by a different door than the entente delegates; nor that military honors should be withheld. Had we known there would have been such arrangements before, the delegates would not have come."

After a conference with the French foreign ministry, it was decided, as a compromise, to render military honors as the Germans left. Otherwise the program was not changed.

An hour before the signing of the treaty, those assembled in the hall had been urged to take their seats, but their eagerness to see the historic ceremony was so keen that they crowded together toward the centre of the hall, which is so long that a good view is impossible from the distance. Even with opera glasses, the correspondents and others were unable to observe satisfactorily. The seats were in no way elevated; consequently there was a general scramble for standing room.

Secretary Lansing was the first of the distinguished diplomats to arrive. He was followed shortly by M. Clemenceau and General Bliss. Few spectators recognized any of the diplomats and there was no demonstrations.

Applause Greets Wilson

The delegates of the minor powers made their way with difficulty through the crowd to their places at the end of the table. Officers and civilans lined the walls and filled the aisles. President Wilson's arrival 10 minutes before the hour of signing was greeted by a faint burst of appause from the few persons who were able to see him.

The German correspondents were ushered into the hall shortly before 2 o'clock, and were given standing room in a window at the rear of the correspondents' section.

When Premier Lloyd George arrived many of the audience sought autographs from the members of the council of four and they busied themselves signing copies of the official program until the Germans entered the room. The other delegates did not rise when the Germans came in.

At 3 o'clock a hush fell over the hall and the crowds shouted for the officials who were standing to sit down so as not to block the view. The delegates showed some surprise at the disorder, which did not cease until all the spectators either had seated themselves or found places against the walls.

Mueller and Bell Arrive

At 3.07 Dr. Mueller, the German secretary of foreign affairs, and Dr. Bell, the colonial secretary, were shown into the hall and quietly took seats at the left end of the U-shaped table. They showed composure, and manifested none of the uneasiness Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, head of the German peace delegation, displayed when handed the treaty at Versailles.

M. Clemenceau, as president of the conference, made a brief speech, inviting the Germans to sign the treaty, and there was a tense pause. William Martin, mastr of ceremonies, after a moment's delay, escorted the German plenipotentiaries to the signatory table, where they signed the treaty, the protocol and the Polish undertaking. Because of the confusion and the crowd the signing lost much of its expected dignity.

Wilson Follows Germans

After the Germans had signed President Wilson, followed by the other American delegates, made his way to ehe table and he and the others speedily affixed their signatures. Premier Lloyd George came next with the English delegation, the British Dominions followed—Canada, Australi New Zealand and South Africa and India in the order named.

A number of surprises passed around the hall when it became known that General Smuts, representing South Africa, signed under protest and filed a document representing that the peace was unsatisfactory.

M. Clemenceau, with the French delegates, were the next in line for the signing, and then Baron Saionji and the other Japanese delegates. The Italians came after the Japanese, and were followed by the representatives of the smaller powers.

During the attaching of the signatures of the great powers and the Germans a battery of moving picture machines and cameras could be heard clicking away above the general disorder.

Cannon Boo

At 3.45 the booming of cannon in celebration of the peace broke the monotony in the Hall of Mirrors where the crowd had tired of the almost endless signing.

China's failure to send her delegates to the ceremony created much comment. Th vacant seats of the Chinese were noted early in the proceedings, but it was xpected that the delegates would arrive later. Then the report was circculated officially that the Chinese would not sign without reservation on Shantung, and would issue a statement this evening on their positio. M. Clemenceau's announcement that the ceremony was at an end made it clear that China intended to have no part in the day's ceremonies, and that she must be dealt with by letter if the signatories are willing to grant her the privilege of making the reservations.

OLD TIME MINER DIES AT SPOKANE

Sam Underhill Had Been Ill for About Two Months—Worked in Interior for Over 30 Years.

Sam Underhill, one of the old time mining men of the interior of British Columbia, died at Spokane Sunday afternoon according to information received by long distance telephone by Marcus McCune.

Mr. Underhill had been ill be for about two months. He first complained of a bad tooth and came to Nelson from the Queen mine on Sheep Creek, of which he was superintendent, and had the tooth extracted. On his returne to the mine he said that he was feeling better. Shortly afterward his one side became partially paralyzed. A few days ago he went to Spokane to see a specialist. He was told there that his teeth were the cause of his trouble. He had his teeth removed on Saturday and was advised to go back to the hospital to rest. Yesterday he sank rapidly, death coming in the afternoon. It was said that death was directly due to poisoning from his teeth.

The deceased had been employed on the McCune properties in the interior of British Columbia for about 30 years. He worked at both the Skyline and Krayo properties near Ainsworth. He was an Englishman, but very little is known about his relatives. He was in Nelson week ago attending the mining convention.

KOOTENAY LAUNCH CLUB EXPRESS APPRECIATION OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT

As a mark of appreciation of the prompt and efficient way in which the Nelson fire department handled the recent fire at the boathouses, the Kootenay Launch club has sent a check for $25 and a letter of thanks to the fire hall staff.

The letter, which is from J. T. Andrews, honorary secretary, reads:

"I am instructed by the officers and members of our club to send to your department check enclosed for $25 for the very valuable services rendered at the time of the recent fire which occurred on the club property. I am also asked to tender to you and your staff our very sincere thanks and appreciation for your prompt attention, which undoubtedly stopped a larger conflagration."

BALFOUR BOYS' CONCERT

The concert to be offered at the opera house by the Balfour Boys on Tuesday night promises something unique in the entertaining line. Besides the concert program two sketches will be presented. One of them is entitled "The Man in the Street," and the other, "The Sculptor's Model."

These excellent artists are not new to Nelson. At different times they have staged plays and concerts which always drew capacity houses. Their numbers are augmented by Mrs. J. Yell and H. Scott Lauder, players who are well known in the district for their finished acting.

JUDGES' SALARIES BEFORE COMMONS

Technical Clause of Judges' Act Is Considered at Saturday Sitting of House

OTTAWA, June 29.—Several government measures, including the pensions bill, and the resolution to amend the judges' act were considered at the Saturday sitting of the commons. The discussion on the pensions bill was confined toa few technical clauses and was discontinued shortly before the one o'clock adjournment because Hon. N. W. Rowell had to leave the city.

Exception was taken by members from Quebec province and Prince Edward Island to the provisions of the resolution to amend the judges' act which increase the salaries on the smore that their provinces were not receiving fair treatment.

Hon. Arthur Meighen, replying to criticisms by Ernest Lapointe, Kamouraska, asserted that there are more high salaried judges in Quebec than in any other province of the Dominion.

Strong exception to the increase in the salaries of the superior court judges was voiced by Edmond Proull, of Prescott, who objected to judges retiring on larger pensions at a comparatively early age. The resolution was still under riscussion when the house adjourned at 6 o'clock.

Street Railway Employees Vote to Return to Work—Civil Servants Working Again

VANCOUVER, June 29.—Prospects for the early settlement of Vancouver's strike seemed to be good tonight.

The street railway employees voted during the week-end in favor of returning to work. A majority of 45 votes were cast for a "walk in" and street cars will be running again on Monday morning, it is expected.

After a short period of negotiation through their own union heads, the civic employees have gone back to work. The regular night shift returned to their old jobs Saturday evening and the balance will go to work Monday without prejudice or discrimination.

While the civic employees are going back to work, outstanding difficulties remain to be settled and will be taken up through the civic federation. The civic authorities will seek an agreement that its employees will not participate in future sympathetic strikes.

A returned soldier named Ewart is reported to have been beaten by water front pickets while he was going to work at the docks Saturday morning. He was not seriously injured. The decision to unload the Canadian-Australian liner Makura today was reversed by the longshoremen, and it was decided that no work should be done until all longshoremen are reinstated in their old positions.

The teamsters and warehousemen's union have announced that it had elected its own strike committee and will hereafter handle its own strike activities. It is stated that the union decided not to go back to work yet, but no announcement is forthcoming.

The outside civic employees are back at work and the vexed question of seniority of the menw ho struck will be discussed by the civic federation and the city council.

EMPRESS AT VICTORIA

VICTORIA, June 29.—When the Empress of Asia reached William Head last night at 6.30 o'clock, she failed by five hours to beat her trans-Pacific record. CALGARY, June 29.—Newspapermen of Alberta concluded their annual convention at Banff on Saturday. The new president is W. C. French of Wetaskiwin. Next year's meeting place has not been decided, but it may be Banff again. A resolution was passed urging the division of the Canadian Press association into three subdivisions, namely, dailies, weeklies and trades journals, the purpose being to create a separate service organization for each with paid managers, to handle the problems peculiar to each.

TROOPS BACK UP WHEN MET BY MOB AT HAMBURG

BERLIN, June 29.—The government troops of Gen. Von Lettow-Vorbeck attempted to enter Hamburg today but retired when they were met by a large mob, including many women. The communists in control at Hamburg had it, it is stated, promised they would offer no opposition to the entry of the troops. When the troops were met by the mob, however, it was decided to retire temporarily to avoid possible bloodshed.

The date for a definite advance on Hamburg is uncertain. The government forces include Schleswig, Brandenburg, Bavarian, Saxon troops and naval detachments.

SUPREME COUNCIL MAY BE FORMED AGAIN AT PARIS

PARIS, June 29 (Havas). — The council of the peace conference it is understood will again take the form of an inter-allied supreme council, in which the great powers will be represented by two delegates.

According to the Temps, the council will be formed as follows:

Foreign Minister Balfour and Viscount Milner or Andrew Bonar Law, for Great Britain.

Foreign Minister Tittoni and Guglielmo Marconi, for Italy.

Baron Makino and Viscount Chinda, for Japan.

CHINESE REFUSE TO SIGN TREATY

preclude China from asking for reconsidertion of the Shantung question at a suitable moment in the future, in the hope that the injustice to China might be rectified later in the interest of permanent peace in the far east.

"The peace conference having denied China justice in the settlement of the Shantung question and having today, in effect, prevented them from signing the treaty without sacrificing their sense of right, justice and patriotic duty, the Chinese delegates submit their case to the impartial judgment of the world."

NO LONGER NOBLE.

A returned officer, his wife says, used to write her glorious letters from France. Now that he's back she finds him unchanged. "You're not noble any more," she complained. "No," was his waggish reply. "I was denobleized after November 11."

When a gallant man is asked to guess a woman's age, he first makes a silent guess and then knocks off one-third.

The moralist no more thinks of putting all his ideas into practice than the shoemaker does of wearing all the shoes he makes.

Maid—"Well, I didn't notice it so much at first, but yesterday he seemed to be in despair."

Spring Fever —What Is It?

THREE o'clock in the afternoon — and absolutely no "pep." You call it spring fever, but is it?

When you are constipated waste matter remains in the intestines, decays, forms poisons which are absorbed into your blood and carried by it to every cell in your body. When your cells are thus poisoned, of course you have no "pep."

Pills, salts, mineral waters, castor oil, etc., merely force the bowels to act, and make constipation and self-poisoning a habit.

Nujol is entirely different from drugs as it does not force or irritate the bowels.

Nujol prevents stagnation by softening the food waste and encouraging the intestinal muscles to act naturally, thus removing the cause of constipation and self-poisoning. It is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

Nujol helps Nature establish easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world.

QUIET OPTIMISM ON WALL STREET

News of Signing of Peace Treaty Was Received on Big Market With Characteristic Calm

NEW YORK, June 29.—Wall street received with characteristic calm the news of the signing of the peace treaty on Saturday. Some stocks which were strong at the outset extended their gains, while others reacted moderately on the customary week-end profit-taking. The air of quiet optimism was somewhat tempered by rumors indicating a revival of disturbing conditions in Mexico as affecting foreign oil concessions, but reversals in the petroleums were comparatively moderate.

Motors and their subsidiaries, especially the rubber divisions displayed more strength than any other group, although tobaccos, leathers and paper and food shares were decidedly strong and active.

American Woollen was another prominent feature, extending yesterday's substantial advance, but yielding the better part of its gain. Coppers and shipping also were inclined to improve but rails showed further neglect, their drift, in the main, being slightly downward.

Sales amounted to 600,000 shares.

The bank statement disclosed another slight contraction of actual loans and another moderate increase of excess reserves the total for that item now aggregating $64,000,000, against an actual deficit two weeks ago.

Dealings in bonds were light and featureless, with trifling changes in Liberty issues and internationals. otal sTales, par value, aggregated $4,200,000. Old United States registered 4s were ¼ per cent higher on call for the week.

WHY NOT?

Some genius hs invented a gasoline plow that will move around in a circle and control itself, while the farmer naps in the shade. Now, says the Wheeling Intelligencer, if some other genius will devise a government bond that will clip its own coupons and cash them, the farmer's life will be relieved of another great hardship.

BIG REVIVAL ON MONTREAL BOARD

DEVELOPMENT WORK ON CASCADE CREEK

Extensive development work is to be carried out in the near future at the Whitewater and Comstock groups on Cascade Creek in the Lardo district, and the Nonpareil group at Zincton. The properties belong to the Nelson Mining and Development company, Spokane.

W. W. Shaffner, general manager, has returned to the city after a trip inspecting the property. He was accompanied by Clarence Marsh, secretary-treasurer of the Company; W. Euler of Soap Lake, Wash., and A. L. Maltbie of Wenatchee.

They took with them a crew of men which was put to work on the continuation of the No. 2 tunnel at the mine at Cascade Creek. The tunnel has already been driven 120 feet and it is estimated that another 70 or 80 feet will strike the main ore body at the 250 feet depth.

The Cascade properties comprise the Whitewater and Comstock groups. The ore is silver-lead and gold.

The other property is the Non-Pareil group at Zincton, in the immediate vicinity of the Lucky Jim mine.

The necessary plan of development of the mines was outlined two years ago by Professor Parks, who made a thorough investigation of the properties. Part of the plan has already been carried out at the Cascade Creek group, and developments will be made along the same lines at the Non-Pareil.

Mr. Marsh states that the company has sufficient funds to carry on the steady policy of development work. It is the intention of the company to equip the properties with machinery and mills.

THESE NOVEAU RICHE

"Women are quick to learn," remarked the head waiter of a fashionable restaurant. "How's that, Henri?" "I can point out half a dozen wives of war millionaires who have never been inside of a place like this until a year or two ago, but now they are as lofty and as hard to please as if they had been dining here all their lives."

IT IS APPLE BLOSSOM TIME IN EVANGELINE LAND

It is apple blossom time in Normandie, these early days of June. In Nova Scotia, land of Evangeline and the Acadians, it, too, is apple blossom time. Just now there is a hundred mile belt of apple blossoms around quaint Annapolis Valley—just as superb in their fragrance and peaceful beauty as they were in the time of which Longfellow wrote his famous poem.

The land fits the poem, or, perhaps, is a poem in itself—it seems like a delicate, fragrant dream, far, far away from the struggle and hurry of life—where rest and peace and simple beauty reign. There is a kind of sadness mixed with all this quiet beauty—a memory of other times, and one feels a haunting mystery while standing gazing at Cape Blomiden, which in turn still looks compassionately down on the sands where the Acadians were embarked on their sad journey. Tall, wraith-like ships glide by the mouth of the Gaspereau River—dream ships, riding on a river of dreams. The Great Magician has laid his wondrous spell upon the land.

Perhaps it is this very peacefulness, this semblence to another world, that is sending war and work weary Canadians and Americans to Evangeline Land. The most convenient way for Americans to get there is by boat from Boston to Yarmouth, N. S., and then the Dominion Atlantic Railway to Wolfville or Grande Pre, the heart of the Acadian country, where a statue is being erected to the memory of Evangeline, by the distinguished French-Canadian sculptor, Philippe Hebert.

Many people go there in the late summer, too, to take part in the Cherry Carnival at Bear River, with its rustic sports and hospitality like that of old England in the days gone by. Last year as many as four thousand visitors descended on this little town whose total population is less than this number, so far and wide has the fame of Bear River spread.

VISITORS APPRECIATED HOSPITALITY OF CITY

Appreciation of the hospitality of the city of Nelson and praise for the successful organization and management of the Second International Mining covention, are contained in letters received by F. A. Starkey secretary. One of the letters is from L. K. Armstrong, secretary of the Columbia section of the A.I.M. & A.E. The other is from A. M. Whiteside on behalf of the delegates from the British Columbia Chamber of Mines.

The letter from Mr. Armstrong reads;

Dear Mr. Starkey,—I have much pleasure in communicating to you the hearty thanks of Columbia section, A.I.M. & M.E. members for the kindly consideration which you gave to their physical, cultural and spiritual welfare at the recent meeting.

Through you, also, the members direct me to express their most hearty thanks for the unfailing courtesies extended by your fellow citiens, ladies and gentlemen.

To the Nelson News we owe an unustally heavy debt of gratitude for their constant and accurate attention to news details as reflected in every issue of that valuable daily exponent of things worth while.

The papers and addresses were of more than usual interest and value and I am sure that the Second International Mining Convention has passed into history as the most successful event Nelson ever pulled off, all things considered.

That your mining industry will profit from the results of that meeting none can deny, and I hope your personal remuneration will not be confined alone to econiums but may read into dollars and pounds sterling as well.

The Whiteside letter follows:

Dear Mr. Starkey,—On my own behalf and that of the delegates from the British Columbia Chamber of Mines, I wish to express my appreciation of the kindness extended to us while attending the convention. May I also add that the excellent standard set by the city of Nelson under your management in matters of this kind has not been lowered, but I consider that the work throughout the whole convention was both beneficial and profitable. The splendid hospitality shown to the delegates will not soon be forgotten.

As I stated in my address, the watchword of the British Columbia Chamber of Mines is "cooperation," and I hope that the members of our organization will be given an opportunity to assist the mining men of the interior in any way possible, as our actvities are not by any means confined to this vicinity, but embrace the mining industry throughout the whole province.

With personal kind regards, and hoping to have the pleasure of seeing you again before long.

Why He Needed a Raise

"I don't see," said the employer coldly, "why you should expect me to raise your salary again. We are already paying you very liberally for the work you are doing."

"I admit that, but I can't get along on my present salary."

"Your family hasn't increased?"

"No."

"Your household expenses are not greater than they were a few months ago?"

"No. But you see I need more money now to pay the income tax on the salary I have had and spent."

M'DONALD SELLS RIO TINTO GROUP

American Interests Pay $60,000 For Property in the Salmon River District

J. H. McDonald, of Rossland, has disposed of his Rio Tinto group of claims in the Salmon River district to American capitalists for $60,000. The property is situated in the Nelson mining division between the main Salmon River and the international boundary. It is on the same vein as the Electric Point mine at Northport, Wash.

Mr. McDonald acquired the property several years ago. Since then he has done a considerable amount of development work, which has revealed a large body of high grade silver-lead ore. The vein strikes east and west, ripping to the south. It has been opened up by a series of open crosscuts over a distance of 6,000 feet, revealing well defined lode between walls of schist and lime.

Ther are two distinct veins on the property. Two crosscut tunnels have been driven to tap the ore bodies. It is understood that he new company will confine its efforts for a time to the development of the No. 2 tunnel, which should tap the ore body at a considerable depth when completed.

The ore is said to be characteristic of the ore in the Sheep Creek camps, carrying good values in gold, silver and lead, with the latter predominating.

NEGRO BOYS USED OILED STREET AS SKATING RINK

VICTORIA.—When unfortunate citizens happen to fall into the oil of the streets the city council is quite willing to consider claims for damages; but when five small negro boys put their bare feet into paper bags and use the oil as a skating rink how is the city council going to act?

In fact, these are the conditions which, described by City Engineer Preston, caused the city fathers to ponder long and gravely last night.

It appears that when oil is laid down upon a road which has been treated identically in previous years, it produces a surface so slippery that it is next to impossible to stand up on it. The colored youths, the aldermen are informed, took advantage of the fact in a most extraordinary manner by placing paper bags on their little black feet and sallying forth in emulation of Victoria's hockey stars. The bags did not last long as skates, but this did not deter the youngsters paddling about in the sticky surface to their heart's content until their legs and the large part of their bodies were covered with a black coating.

Another case which solicited the sympathy of the aldermen was that of a little girl who, dressed in her Sunday clothes, fell in the oil and completely ruined her apparel. The child's mother brought her in a most distressing state before the mayor. Not only were the child's garments spoiled but her dainty curls were literally soaked in the oil which dripped from them. His worship did not allow the poor woman to go away without substantial assistance.

Another boyish tragedy in which William E. Clark played the leading part was disposed of by the council last night. It appears that the little chap's bicycle slipped on the oil on Fowl Bay Road, recently, precipitating him upon the street and damaging the machine. The aldermen, remembering that they were all boys once, determind to allow Master Clark to choose a bicycle from among those which have accumulated at the police station and have remained unclaimed.

FLEETING ILLS.

Leary—Still waiting for your ship to come in, eh?

Weary—Oh, they're come. Whole fleet of 'em. All hardships.

GOOD INTENTIONS FRUSTRATED.

"I'm going to stop bein' kind and helpful to people," said little Johnny.

"How is that?" asked his mother.

"Well, it's this way. At school today I saw Tommy Jones putting a pin in the master's chair, so just as the master was about to sit down I pulled away the chair. The master sat down on the floor, and when he got up he licked me for pulling away the chair, and then Tommy Jones licked me for interfering. Yes; I'm going to stop helpin' people.

PEACE TERMS ARE SIGNED

The world is again at peace, the signing of the treaty on Saturday having formally brought to an end the great war which from a practical fighting viewpoint came to a conclusion on the morning of November 11 last.

Germany avoided annihilation of its military forces and destruction of its cities by begging an armistice last November, but it has kept up an incessant chatter of protest against the peace terms ever since.

Using as an argument the claim that it was not beaten in the field, it has endeavored to secure the "peace of negotiation" which it started to play for directly it saw it could not make effective its plan to pound the world into submission under the blows of the Prussian sabre. But the allies have stood firm. They have enforced a peace of justice, though many will think that it does not bear as hardly on the enemy as the enemy deserves.

Punitive terms would have been justified. Germany committed the greatest crime of the age and deserved punishment for it. But the allied nations asked only for reparation of the damage wrought by the foe. That reparation of necessity had to be incomplete. No human agency could repair the damage wrought by the blond beasts. As far as possible, the peace terms accomplish justicce for Poland, Belgium, Denmark, France, Italy and the Balkan states.

From a military and naval viewpoint Germany's wings have been clipped. That was necessary in order to prevent Germany starting another war in a few years. Economically, Germany is coming out of the war much more favorably than she had any right to expect. She deserved economic destruction. She is being forced only to reimburse the allies to the limit of her ability.

The British Empire has gained nothing and has lost much through the war. It never expected anything else. The Empire entered the war to preserve and secure a principle. Its purpose has been accomplished and if in a material sense, and in the sufferings of its people, it comes out on the wrong side of the ledger, that is the penalty which it prepared itself to pay in order to save the world from Hun domination and British liberty from destruction.

THE WORLD FREE TO SETTLE DOWN TO BUSINESS

Signing of peace terms will have a stabilizing effect on industry and commerce throughout the world. While Germany was beaten into submission, until peace was actually signed there was always room for doubt at to whether military action might no be necessary to drive it home to the German people that their leaders who claimed Germany was unbeaten in the field were lying. Evidently the German people knew better. To a great extent, at least, the veil had been stripped from before their eyes by the remorseless logic of events.

Now no cause for uncertainty remains. The world can resume its normal peacetime activities, although no one in the allied countries wants to do business with Germany.

Signing of the peace terms should, by its effect on industry and commerce, do much to allay the unrest which is worldwide. Normal development work can proceed with the assurance that it will be udisturbed by any such conflagration as that which has just been put out.

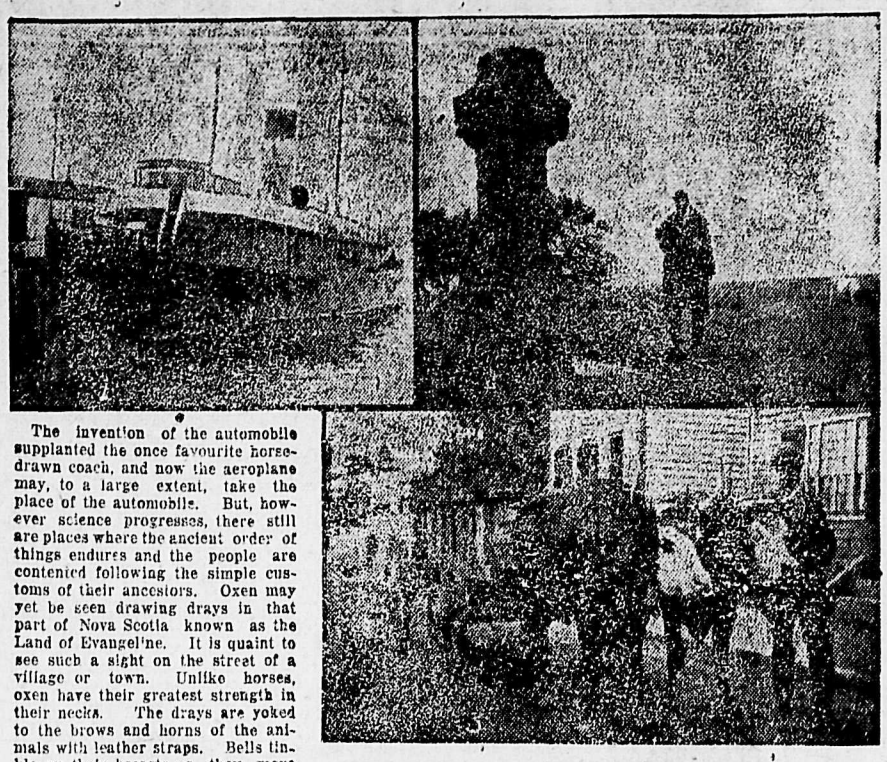
THREE REASONS FOR THE CELEBRATION

Nelson choose an opportune date for its welcome to returned soldiers. Dominion Day, which is Canada's birthday, falls almost upon the occasion of the signing of the peace treaty and the formal end of the war.

There are three occasions for celebrating tomorrow. Peace is signed, thousands of the gallant soldiers of the district have returned to civilian life, and the date is the fifty-second anniversary of the signing of confederation, the date when Canada entered the companionship of nations and enlarged its place among the nations which make up the British Empire.

Carranza, in a note to the United States, proclaims his ability to subdue Villa. Then why doesn't he get busy?

ANCIENT CUSTOMS IN ACADIA.



The invention of the automobile supplanted the once favourite horse-drawn coach, and now the aeroplane may, to a large extent, take the place of the automobile. But, however science progresses, there still are places where the ancient order of things endures and the people are contented following the simple customs of their ancestors. Oxen may yet be seen drawing drays in that part of Nova Scotia known as the Land of Evangeline. It is quaint to see such a sight on the street of a village or town. Unlike horses, oxen have their greatest strength in their necks. The drays are yoked to the brows and horns of the animals with leather straps. Bells tinkle on their breasts as they move along. The tips of the horns are nearly always decorated with brass knobs. A pair of oxen will walk along leisurely drawing a load of four tons. If you interview the driver he will tell you that they are easily trained and do their work just as well as horses, and you can use them in places where horses would be difficult to manage. They plough and draw logs with the same docile temper as they show when yoked to the drays.

There are other old customs still surviving in the Land of Evangeline, and these add to the attractiveness of one of the most picturesque, romantic and historic regions in America. Silvery bays and rivers, shores of golden sand, hills and vales covered with fragrant meadows or towering pines or fruitful apple trees, sunny skies and freshening sea and land breezes give health and pleasure to thousands of tourists every year.

Across the Bay of Fundy from St. John, New Brunswick, to Digby, Nova Scotia, is a delightful trip occupying a few hours. Approaching Digby Gap the Bay is dotted with the craft of hardy Nova Scotian fishermen. Passing through the Gap the homes of the people, amidst the woods on either side, look so pretty that one might fancy they were the dwellings of the fairies. Digby Gap leads into Annapolis Basin, whose deep and sheltered waters cover an area of sixty square miles. The Basin is unsurpassed for bathing, fishing, boating, and canoeing. Good roads and walks radiate from Digby amongst enchanting scenes. There are some good hotels in this prosperous little town, and tennis, croquet and golf are amongst the games provided.

Tourists to Evangeline's Land generally make a tour of all the beauty spots of the region. Yarmouth, beside the sea, offers many allurements to the visitor. A colony of French-Canadians, whose ancestors were expelled from Grand Pre, resides in the vicinity of Yarmouth, and still retains the traditions of the Acadians. Kentville is the headquarters of the Dominion Atlantic Railway which serves the entire district. Grand Pre was the site of the village from which the Acadians were banished in 1755. The well where Evangeline was wont to go for water and the willows under which she rested are still there; Blomidou mountain and the Basin of Minas near by are just as they were of old, the meadows are green on the dykelands and the dykes keep out the sea, and a little inland the gentle hills are patched with luxurious orchards. Wolfville, the headquarters for tourists to Grand Pre, is built in the midst of one of the greatest apple growing localities in the world. The late King Edward was amongst those who visited and loved this spot. It is only a short walk from Wolfville to Grand Pre, and the marshlands extend from one place to the other.

The Dominion Atlantic Railway has purchased the "big field" where the Acadians made their village, which was their capital, and this has become a public park. A memorial cross now stands there on the site of the ancient burial ground, and a statue of Evangeline sculptured by Philippe Hebert and his son Henri, descendants of an Acadian family, will soon add the grace of art to attractions of a land where nature has lavished her rarest charms.

Germans have signed the peace terms, but the world won't find in that action any whitewashing of the German character. It will have to work hard and faithfully before it can rehabilitate itself and persuade civilized peoples that the Germans are fit for association with decent men and women.

It must be admitted that Bolshevism is a mighty good thing for some of the proletariat that is, for the proletarians in power. For instance, the wife of Bela Kun, Bolshevish dictator at Budapest, recently made a shopping trip to Vienna and spent $25,000 on millinery and gowns, says the Hamilton Herald. A little while ago Mrs. Kun was looking for the goods marked down to $2.99. But of course all the proletarians can't be dictators.

"He is the princopal attraction at his hotel. When he stepped out of the elevator this morning the bellhops were all lined up and forgot to hop, but looked with wonder and admiration. Guests in the rotunda gazed with eyes as big as saucers." The quotation is taken from a newspaper published in a certain eastern city. Who might the man who caused all this commontion? asks the Omaha Bee. Some world-famous diplomat, or victory-crowned general, or mayhap a daring 'ace," hero of the war? No, friends, none other than Jess Willard, champion pugilist of the world, now in the limelight, as defender of his "title" against the prowess of Jack Dempsey. Such is fame. A whole battalion of the world's greatest statesmen, scientists and philosophers would not have causer the bellhops to "forget to hop" nor the guests to gaze with eyes as big as butter dishes, to say nothing of saucers.

MAKING AN ATMOSPHERE

During the war we learned to do without many things. Some of these it will be well if we never return to, but there are others that ought to return to us. Among these latter we reckon municipal activity, as shown in the care and the lighting of streets. Because we tolerated dark and dirty streets when economy of labor and fuel was a war necessity, it does not follow that we ought to be content now with dimly lit and imperfectly cleaned thoroughfares. This darkness and this dirt are more than an inconvenience. They tell upon the public spirit and the public health. Light is cheerful and cleanliness is healthy.—London Daily Express.

COLD STORAGE.

Seven of St. Peter's seminarians at London were ordained to the Roman Catholic priesthood by Bishop Fallon.

Herbert Lloyd of Hey Bay, his daughter and granddaughter, were killed when struck by a fast train near Napanee.

The introduction of street postal delivery in Lindsay was held up on account of some of the residents failing to procure house numbers.

AN ANTIDOTE FOR BOLSHEVISM

Nothing is more indicative of the British character than the way in which the country is returning with enthusiasm to all the sports and games which have been dormant through the war. Football and cricket, racing and rowing, golf and lawn tennis—all are booming now and will boom still more. Whatever English people may give up, they will not give up their amusements except—literally—to save their lives. It is, in its way, a good sign; for healthy amusement provides an outlet for animal spirits. You cannot think Bolshevistically when you are batting for your county, or even trying to hole a tricky putt for yourself—and your opponent's half-crown.—London World.

A HOUSING PROBLEM

It was Mrs. Lloyd George who used that happy phrase: "If we believe that one man one vote is a sound policy, one house one family is equally sound." No doubt in some people's estimation, it is even more sound. The point is, how to educate the community up to the perception of the value of a single family to a single house. Privacy is a growth of civilization, and it is education that is bringing its necessity home. The parlor or the little study, in which boys and girls can work quietly, or the parents can rest, is a demand of the day, and one that the modern architect is providing. Now that wages are better and tenement houses are controlled as to the number of occupants, people seem to be approaching the policy of one house, one family.—Christian Science Monitor.

MAN'S CHIEF DISLIKE

Man's attitude on suffrage can be understood from his attitude toward housecleaning. The male of the species is not the deadlier, but he is the dirtier of the two. Small girls love to be washed, even behind the ears. Small boys hate to be washed anywhere simply to be made clean. And when they come to man's estate they revolt against moral baths as much as they did against the bath tub in childhood. They hate housecleaning, not only because it is a sign of compulsory purification and reform, but because they hate change—because they are wedded to the old order. It may be set down as certain that this never would have been either a clean or a progressive world if it had been obliged to depend on man. The cave would still have been good enough for him, if he had not been forced along the path of uplift and purity by a partner who will never take no for an answer.—Baltimore Sun.

MORE AT HOME THERE

The story that the former kaiser has sawed more than 3,000 trees loses effectiveness and becomes more credible when we are told that most of them were saplings. With all the bad will in the world, the kaiser would have been very little help in cutting down the French farmers' fruit trees.—Boston Globe.

CRESTON AUTO ASSOCIATION

The formation on Friday night of the Creston Valley Auto association provides this district with an organization that the community is peculiarly in need of, and a look over the list of officers and consideration of the thirty or thirty-five who make up the car-owning fraternity in these parts warants in looking forward to very useful service being rendered by this body.

If there is one thing more than another that makes for the contentment of citizens generally, as well as in some measure assuring future prosperity, in a section of country situated as is the Creston Valley at the present time, surely good roads rank almost first. Time was when a fair good wagon road was put up with fairly good grace, but with the coming into so general use of motor cars, and the doubling up of provincial taxes—to say nothing of the special license the car owner is forced to take out—no one can wonder at the incessant demand for more roads and better roads, more particularly the latter.

While admitting the justice of the demand for improved highways, it must not be expected that the miracle of providing high class transportation facilities is going to come overnight, no matter what forces are brought to bear on the authorities at Victoria. They haven't got the money to do the work with. To illustrate just the position the works department finds itself in this regard it will ony be necessary to cite the case of Kaslo riding, where Engineer Ramsay asked for a vote of $81,000 for this year's effort, and of this less than $30,000 was voted.

Undoubtedly a special effort of the Auto association will be to see to it that good roads are provided, and in such an undertaking the club can be of valuable assistance to the works department minister and the riding road superintendent. The latter has all the earmarks of being both a capable and accommodating official, and if the highway problem as it affects this part of the constituency is placed before him from time to time by an organization of representative and road-using citizens such as the auto owners the greatly improved highways so much to be desired may reasonably be expected to eventuate.

In getting after the superintendent, however, for these improvements sight must not be lost of the fact that funds are limited for work of this sort, labor is a bit indifferent and quite high in price, while some of the other expense factors in road construction al make it rather out of the question to make a few hundred dollars do anywhere near the duty it did even up till 1916.

With an organization competent to discuss in detail where road improvements are urgently needed, with a road superintendent who looks to be the right man in the right place, and by keeping tab on the work to ensure that the goods are delivered when and where promised if the auto club does not weary in its well doing in this respect, it should not be long till till the eternal question of bad roads disappears as a local talkfest topic. Reciprocal cooperation can work wonders even at government road work—Creston Review.

G. W. McVicar, Guelph, won the new McLaughlin car put up by the G.W.V.A. in the drawing contest.

TOLD IN RHYME.

IF EVER YOU

If ever you come to die,
And the world should grow old—
Millions of years gone by
Singly as sheep in their fold—
I think our burnt star would renew
And enkindle the flame,
If a memory lived of you
Or if any one spoke your name.

The thin grey dust of your urn,
The beauty sleep in your grave,
Would flower the fields, and return
Mighty in wind and wave,
The cuckoo repeat his call,
The chrysalis burst again,
And laughter happily fall
Through cities of buried men.

God knows whether or not
More than a carved stone shall tell—
Or a verse in a book forgot—
Of the lady I love so well;
But I know that. her story lost,
The earth must fade like a rose,
Ruined by endless frost
And gripped by pitiless snows.

But even were joy all gone
As water from empty streams,
If a poet musing alone
Could fashion you out of his dreams;
Though you were only a bodiless sprite
Then, even then, for your sake
Would death grow alive with delight
And a lovely world awake.
—Theodore Maynard, in The Lyric.

ALMOST AS GOOD.

To instil into the mind of his son sound wisdom and business precepts was Mosenheimer senior's earnest endeavor.

He taught his offspring much, including the business advantages of bankruptcy, failures and fires—"Two bankruptcies equal one failure, two failures one fire," etc.

Then Mosenheimer junior looked up brightly—"Fadder," he asked, "is marriage a failure?"

"Vell, my poy," was his parent's reply, "if you marry a really very vealthy voman, marriage is almost as good as a failure!"

MYSTERY OF LANGUAGE.

Language is one of the world's great mysteries—perhaps its greatest. It is the distinguishing characteristic of the human family. The manner of its use is a social stratifcaton. Animals have means of communicting with each other, but they remain unchanged through the ages. Man is continually varying and increasing his vocabulary and is able to express the finest shades of meaning through the use of words, his language sings. We can only imagine how language began, and surmise the beginnings of grammar, its science. It has been asserted that the perfection of the Sanskrit grammar—said to be finer than either Roman or Grecian—argues a prehistoric golden age of which it is the survival.

In our own experience, new inventions and discoveries have necessitated new word which have been incorporated in our language. Modification of words through substitution and conditioning has been greatly stimulated by the war, which not only gave use new words but gave new meanings to the familar. How many—outside the legal fraternity—had known that there was such a word as moratorium, until we heard of it through conditions arising out of the war? "Offensive and "objective" have been forced into duty as nouns, and "shell" has become a verb. Because of zeppelins and airplanes "flies" has lost its application; once we should have said the fleet "flies" now we say "it flies," because flying seems to refer to motion above the earth. The pilot, who used to belong entirely to the sea, now guides the airplane, and we understand an Englishman when he refers to gasoline as petrol. Primitive man fought with darts; moderns drop them as missiles from aircraft, though they had been retired from war for centuries.

Since we are really so well supplied with words it seems passing strange that we limite ourselves to a few, which we constantly overwork. This is probably a matter of habit, due to our tendency to get—and stay—in a verbal rut; a matter of sheer indolence. We have "catchwords" which save thought. "Efficiency" was a shibboleth until it became a synonym for "bunk." Everything was a "proposition" for a time; "reform" was talked to death. "Sumptuous" so naturally suggests hotel furniture of the superlatively showy type that it has fallen into disrepute. To the missy, a sunset, a cake, and a young man resemble each other in being "splendid." There are occasions in which silence is the height of discretion, words all-revealing. One who stood mute, overcome by the grandness of a panorama of lake, mountain and sky, came to earth again under the comment of bystander, who remarked: "It's real pretty, isn't it?" Better be inarticulate than banal.

It is no mean achievment, and something well worth tehe efort, to be able to express one's emotions in well chosen phrases which convey exact shades of meaning.—Detroit Free Press.

The Termination of the Great War

In the years to come we shall often look back to the time when our Soldier Boys came home at the termination of the Great War.

As a permanent commemoration of this great event we have a practical suggestion to offer in the shape of

The Birks' Peace Medal

This has been designed for presentation by Colleges, Schools, County Councils and other bodies, for public distribution in quantities. We have taken great pains that this medal shall be one worthy of its purpose. The front is a fine piece of embossing representing the figure of Peace. Her right hand encircles the year 1919, her left holds the palm over land and sea. At her feet are the laurel leaves of Victory, and in the background is "Pax" as the Sun, shining over the world. The reverse is suitably lettered in relief. Price, $15.00 per 100, or 25c each in small quantities.
We are now taking orders and shall be glad to send you full particulars on receipt of your inquiry.

VETERANS ASK NEW LEGISLATION

Resolution Asks That Passage Money Paid by Veterans For Dependents Be Refunded

VANCOUVER, June 29. — At the conclusion of the dinner given by the local members of the Great War Veterans' association to the visiting delegates Saturday evening, the regular business of the provincial convention was proceeded with. Resolutions were considered, dealing with many subjects of interest to returned men, and important Dominion legislation was foreshadowed.

The government should be asked to refund the passage money paid by veterans who removed their dependents from England prior to the armistic, in the opinion of the convention, who passed a resolution to this effect.

Another resolution provided that proper share of profits from Canadian army canteens and stores overseas should be paid over to a fund in Canada for the proper maintenance of widows and orphans of Canadian soldiers.

The idea of a special allowance to assist returned men who, by reason of their disability, must conduct some sort of business in the open air and must add to their pension allowance, was supported.

The granting of titles to homesteaders who actually served overseas before their homesteads were granted and a refund of any taxes paid by men while serving overseas, both found support in resolutions passed by the convention.

That soldiers be paid pensions while still in the service to take effect immediately upon the conclusion of their hospital treatment, instead of awaiting their return to civilian life, was approved by the convention and will be placed before the Dominion gathering.

HARD WORKING WOMAN

Knows From Experience That Nothing Equals Vinol to Create Strength

Holmdel, N. J.,—"I live on a farm and am a hard working woman and for weak, rundown, overworked conditions have found nothing that will create an appetite, build me up and make me strong equal to Vinol."—Mrs. Thoms Ellis.

The reason we recommend Vinol for such conditions is because it is a constitutional remedy and all of its ingredients are printed on each package, which will prove that is a safe and valuable remedy to create strength for weak, rundown, overworked men, women and children.

SPONTANEOUS GREETING FOR FAMOUS "BIG THREE"

VERSAILLES, June 29 (By Associated Press). — The most dramatic moment connected with the signing of world peace came unexpectedly and spontaneously at the conclusion of this greatest ceremony in history, when Premier Clemenceau, President Wilson and Premier Lloyd George descended from the Hall of Mirrors to the terrace at the rear of the palace, where thousands of spectators were massed.

With the appearance of the three who have dominated the councils of the allies there began a most remarkable and unprecedented demonstration. With cries of "Vive Clemenceau" "Vive Wilson!" "Vive Lloyd George!" dense crowds swept forward from al parts of the spacious terrace. In an instant the three were surrounded by struggling, cheering masses of people, fighting among themselves for a chance to get near the statesmen.

It had been planned that all the allied delegates would walk across the terrace after signing to see the great fountains play, but sone of the plenipotentiaries got no farther than door.

President Wilson, M. Clemenceau and Lloyd George were caught in the living stream which flowed across the great space and became part of the crowd themselves. Soldiers and bodyguards struggled vainly to clear the way. The people jostled and struggled for a chance to touch the hands of the leaders of the allies, all the while cheering madly.

Probably the least concerned for their personal safety were the three themselves. They went forward smilingly as the crowd willed, bowing in response to the ovation and here and there reaching out to shake an inthe door.

GERMAN PAPER SAYS TEUTONS WILL HAVE REVENGE

BERLIN, June 28.—(By Associated Press.)—The pan-German Deutsche Zeitung prints the following across its front page:

"German honor today will be carried to its grave in the hall of mirrors, in which, in the glorious year of 1871 the German empire was resurrected in all its former splendor. Lest we forget. In restless labor the German people will again strive to attain that place among the nations of the world to which it is entitled. Then vengeance for the disgrace of 1919."

The Tageblatt says:

"The German people reject the treaty which its delegates are signing today, and it does not believe for a single moment that it will endure. Despite the fact that it is written on parchment, it remains a scrap of paper, because it is a mockery of all the laws of reason and morals and the most disgraceful exhibit in the museum of civilization."

ALIENS START HUNGER STRIKE IN PENITENTIARY

WINNIPEG, June 29.—Because they would not be allowed out on bail the five men of European nationality arrested on charges of sedition in connection with the general strike in Winnipeg and held in Stony Mountain penitentiary, have declared a strike against the food.

That they intended to do so was rumored on Saturday, but the threat did not become a fact until today. The men who are now in the penitentiary are Charitonoff, Almaboff, Berenczuk, Devyetaklen and Blumenberg.

WINNIPEG VETERANS PLAN A LABOR PARTY

WINNIPEG, June 29.—Initial resolutions, forming the new soldiers and sailors' labor political league, were decided upon at a meeting of prostrike returned soldiers held at the Norwood baseball grounds this afternoon.

The league will be formed at a meeting which is to be held in the near future, and will be in conformity with the league already established at Vancouver. Members, however, state that less radical views will be taken than those of the Pacific coast city.

The meeting held today was attended by about 300 returned soldiers and much discussion prevailed over many of the principal planks of the proposed platform. A suggestion was made that this proposed league associate itself with the Dominion Labor league as well as other political labor parties.

President Wilson Announced Saturday Night That He Will Not Suspend Act

WASHINGTON, June 29.—President Wilson announced Saturday night that he would not suspend operation of the wartime prohibition law, effective Monday at midnight.

Secretary Tumulty gave out the following statement;

"The secretary to the president at the White House tonight made public the following cable from the president with reference to wartime prohibition:

'I am convinced that the attorney general is right in advising me that I have no legal power at this time in the matter of the ban on liquor. Under the act of November, 1918, my power to take action is restricted. The act provides that after June 30, 1919, until the conclusion of the present war and thereafter until the termination of demobilization, the date of which shall be determined and proclaimed by the president, it shall be unlawful, etc.

"'This law does not specify that the ban shall be lifted with the signing of peace, but with the termination of the demobilization of the troops, and I can not say that has been accomplished. My information from the war department is that there are still a million men in the service under the emergensy call. It is clear, therefore, that the failure of congress to act upon the suggestion contained in my message of the 26th of May, 1919, asking for a repeal of the act of November 21, 1918, so far as it applies to wines and beer, makes it impossible to act in this mater at this time.

"'When demobilization is terminated my power to act without congressional power will be exercised.

"'WOODROW WILSON.'"

Refusal of President Wilson to act at this time means that the long arm of the wartime law will reach out quietly at midnight Monday and close the door of every liquor establishment on American soil.

THE OBSOLETE NICKEL

Mr. Taft thinks five cents is not enough for car fare. Apparently everybody who has anything to sell, from car fare to soda water, apples or peaches, scorns the five-cent piece, and te profiteer probably would be in favor of abolishing the nickel as a useless and painful reminder of days that were.—New York World.

HAD WEAK and FAINTING SPELLS

Those feelings of faintness, those weak, "all gone," sinking sensations, which come over some people from time to time, are warnings that must not go unheeded.

They mean an extremely weakened condition of the heart and a disordered nervous system.

When the system is in this condition there is no time for delay. One fainting spell may be recovered from—will the next? One dizzy spell may pass off but the next may be more serious.

Those who are wise will start taking Milburns Heart and Nerve Pills before their case becomes deep rooted and perhaps hopeless.

They will act directly on the disordered heart and weakened nervous system and restore them to full strength and vigor.

Miss Mary McCoy, Algoma Mills, Ont., writes: "I was awfully troubled with fainting and weak spells and I could never get any doctor's medicines to help me. One day a friend of mine was at the house when I took one of those spells and she got me a box of Milburns Heart and Nerve Pills. That was six years ago and from that day to this I have never had any of those spells. I would not be without your pills for any money and can highly recommend them to any one."

Milburns Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c a box at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

MONSTER PARADE TO START BIG CELEBRATION TOMORROW

COMMITTEE IN CHARGE PROMISES TO HAVE SOMETHING DOING FOR EVERYBODY AT ALL TIMES DURING THE DAY; ATHLETICS OF ALL KINDS, INCLUDING FIELD SPORTS, TWO BASEBALL GAMES AND A FOOTBALL GAME ON PROGRAM; DANCE AND ENTERTAINMENT TO COMPLETE THE DAY

A monster parade is to be the first feature of the big reception which the city of Nelson will give on July 1, in honor of the returned men in the city and district. The celebration committee promises to have "something" doing for everybody throughout the balance of the day.

All soldiers and sailors in Nelson and the entire district, from every branch of the service, have been invited to come to Nelson to participate in the Dominon day merrymaking, for July 1 has been set aside as the one on which the "Queen city of the Kootenays" may, in one big demonstration, publicly welcome and to honor to her own soldiers and those of the surrounding districts.

The city is already in gala dress. Flags are waving from every flag pole, and streamers, flags and banners festoon the streets. Baker street, especially, has taken on a particularly festive appearance. Evergreen trees, cut from the nearby woods, have been placed upright around the telephone and electric poles on both sides of the street. A sign containing red, white and blue electric lights bids the visitors "Welcome to Nelson."

Tables to seat 400 were set yesterday in the Eagle hall for the banquet which will be held in the evening for the soldiers.

Form Parade at 9.30

The parade will form at 9.30 on Vernon street west, near the C.P.R. depot, and all persons and floats participating are asked to be at the station at that time. All autos will be parked on Vernon street from W. O. Miller's residence east, so that they can fall in with the parade as it passes the point where Railway street intersects Baker and Vernon. The parade will then proceed along Baker street to Hall, down Hall to Vernon, along Vernon to Ward, down Ward to the city hall.

The parade will halt before the city hall to witness the raising of the Victory loan flag. The flag was won by Nelson and district during the Victory loan campaign last fall, and was to be presented at the first big public demonstration.

After the flag raising ceremony *the parade will march to the recre*ation grounds, where it will circle round the race track. Here the committee expects to have some vaudeville "stunts" staged.

Chief of city police T. H. Long and Sergt. Alex Stewart, mounted on horseback, will act as marshals of the parade.

Autos For Convalescents

All wounded soldiers will be carried in the parade by automobiles. The cars will call for the soldiers at the Great War Veterans' hall, corner of Kootenay and Baker streets.

At 10.30 a.m. all interested in trap shooting will take their way to the range, where a good program of events will be run off. A number of competitions have been arranged. Shooting will be for cash and merchandise prizes. American rules will prevail.

Golf and Baseball

The next event scheduled is a baseball game, at 11.30. The Nelson High school team will play the Trail Juniors.

About the same time the new Nelson golf links will be informally opened on the site at Rosemont. Jitney service to and from the links will be provided.

At 1.15 another baseball game will be played, this time between the Nelson and Kaslo teams.

At 2.45 the Y.M.C.A. boys will stage an exhibition of club swinging, pyramids, ladder pyramids, tumbling, and parallel bar work. A tug-of-war is also scheduled to take place between 2.45 and 3 o'clock.

Football Game

A football game between Nelson and Trail teams will be played off at 3 o'clock.

At 3.30 there will be a wrestling match, Steele vs. Johnson. At 4.10 a boxing bout will be staged.

At 4.30 a long program of track and field sports will be run off.

This will bring the sports program to a close.

Banquet to Soldiers

At six o'clock all soldiers will be the guests of the city at a banquet in the Eagle hall, and after this is over everybody will have the choice of two entertainments. One will be a concert in the Opera house given by the men of Balfour Sanitarium. A splendid program will be provided by the soldiers. The other entertainment will be a dance in the armory under the management of the women's auxiliary of the Great War Veterans.

Nelson's "one grand celebration," as the slogan of the celebration committee puts it, will end some time in the wee small hours of the following morning.

Tea will be served on the grounds free of charge.

The clubhouse on the grounds is being renovated.

A large double room in the front of the building and a 15-foot veranda are being laid with dancing floors. The view from the site is excelent. It is said by experts tha the grounds have the making of a fine course.

DOUGLAS M. RITCHIE DIES OF TETANUS

Well-known Builder and Contractor Injured Two Weeks Ago—Funeral To Be Held This Evening

Douglas M. Ritchie, who sustained a compound fracture of a leg and other injuries when a scaffold fell at the sight of the new McDonald fruit cannery on Saturday, June 144, died of tetanus at the Kootenay Lake General hospital Saturday afternoon.

The deceased was well-known in Nelson and throughout the Kootenay and Boundary districts as a builder and contractor. In conjunction with Mr. Laidlaw of Saskatchewan, Mr. Ritchie handled a number of stone work contracts in various sections of interior British Columbia. Eighteen months ago he became president and manager of the Kootenay Granite & Marble company, Limited, of Nelson. He took over the business with Kenneth Campbell. Mr. Ritchie was an enthusiastic athlete, taking special interest in football.

The deceased was the fourth son of John Ritchie, Aberdeen, Scotland. He came to Nelson 12 years ago, when in his twentieth year. In 1912 he married Miss Mary Campbell, who survives him.

Besides his wife, the deceased is survived by two little sons, Douglas and Ian; his father and mother and four brothers and one sister.

The funeral service will be conducted at 7 o'clock this evening at the Presbyterian church, under the auspices of the Clan Johnston, of which he was an officer.

COMPEL HONOR TO FLAG

SEATTLE, June 28.—Mayor Hanson today recommended to the city council that laws be passed making it a misdemeanor not to stand during the playing of the national hymn or not to remove the hat in the presence of the flag.

ALMOST BLIND FROM HEADACHES

It is hard to struggle along with a head that aches and pains all the time. Headache seems habitual with many people; indeed, some are seldom, if ever, free from it, suffering continually, and wondering why they can get no relief.

In nine cases out of ten, persistent headaches are due to poisoned blood, the blood being rendered impure through some derangement of the stomach, liver or bowels.

The reason Burdock Blood Bitters makes permanent cures of all cases of headache, is because it starts the organs of elimination acting freely, and the poisons and impurities are carried off from the system, purified blood circulates in the brain cells and instead of pains and aches there is revived mentality and bodily vigor.

Mrs. Geo Monck, Arden, Ont., writes: 'I have been troubled a great deal with sick headaches, and at times would almost go blind, and have to go to bed. I tried different kinds of medi*cine without any benefit until I was* advised to use Burdock Blood Bitters. After taking it I have not been troubled since."

B. B. B. is a purely vegetable remedy and has been manufactured for the last forty years by the T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

DRESSMAKER SAVED FROM OPERATION

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in Time.

Ithaca, N.Y.—"Three years ago I suffered from pains in my right side, so severe that I could not raise my feet from the floor. Pains would shoot down my limbs and through my back, and the doctor said I had an abscess. I was in bed two weeks with an icebag on my side and expected any day that I might have to go to a hospital for an operation. A friend came to see me and told me of your wonderful medicine—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began taking it, and after taking six bottles I feel well and strong, do my own work and do dressmaking for others. I cannot speak too highly of your medicine and recommend it to others who suffer with female trouble. It is a Godsend to ailing women, and you may use my name at any time."—Mrs. PERMILLA HULSIZER, 218 E. Fall St., Ithaca, N.Y.

Women who suffer from any such ailments should not fail to try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

WILLARD AND DEMPSEY BOTH SURE OF THE WORLD TITLE

TOLEDO, June 29.—Jesse Willard, e Kansas giant, will defend his title world's heavyweight fistic champon against the challenger, Jack Dempy, of Utah, here next Friday afteroon. Both Willard and Dempsey have en earnestly training in this vicinity r several weeks past. Neither one as left anything untried or undone in der to get himself into the best ssible condition for the encounter, e outcome of which will mean so uch for the victor.

By winning from Jack Johnson at avana, Cuba, four years ago, Willard as placed in a position to begin the ilding up of an immense fortune nd should Dempsey capture the title ere is no telling how much wealth e may accumulate in these days of gh finance, when sport promoters k of the "sky" as the limit for big ents.

Previous Fights Dwarfed

Aside from the actual purse of $127,- signed for by the two pugilists, 0,000 of which is guaranteed to illard, win, lose or draw, the enor- ous amount of cash which will be ndled in connection with the com- g bout dwarfs all previous ring en- unters into financial oblivion. The gate" from the sale of tickets and oncessions is expected to pass the illion dollar mark which would make he receipts of previous fistic carnivals ok very small in comparison.

Some changes have been made in the nditions governing the bout since e articles were signed, the most im- rtant being the limiting of the con- st to twelve rounds and the reduc- on of the size of the ring to twenty et square. Originally the men were have gone twenty or more rounds the intention was to have a regu- n 24-foot ring. Otherwise, the ement stands as signed by Risk- , Willard and Dempsey, each being titled to a third of the moving pic- e privileges. Willard is guaranteed 0,000 and Dempsey $27,500.

When the men step into the ring on iday each will have a big following partisans. Those who rely on Wil- d's retaining his title, insist that is invulnerable to punishment and at Dempsey will fail to reach his rly opponent with an effective blow.

Willard's Powerful Punch

Many of them also claim that Wil- d has never hit a human being th the full force of which his huge me is capable. It is said that once ring his preparation for a previous nflict Willard lost his temper on ing stung by a blow of a sparring rtner. Then the big fellow landed icious blow which swept his oppon- t and one of the ring posts to a spot veral yards away from the ringside d that the "partner" needed medical ttention for several days afterwrd.

Dempsey's friends, and they are leg- n, confidently state that no man, wever big or strong, can withstand e full impact of a full weight hook or ing from either of Jak's fists. They ok for a quick ending to the contest th Dempsey a winner. They say at Jack can land on Willard's jaw ist as effectively as he did on Fred ilton's last year. They rely on Jack's arlessness as a big asset in conjue- n with his heavy hitting power. mpsey's youth also is one of the ar- ments his adherents advance as be- g a decided factor in his favor, as mpsey is 24 years old. There are nflicting statements as to Willard's ct age, but it is the general belief at the Kansan has passed the forty ar mark.

Dempsey More Experienced

Dempsey has taken part in many g contests during the last four years hile Willard has fought only twice within that period. Jess won the championship from Johnson at Havana, Cuba, in April, 1915. That battle lasted twenty-six rounds. Just eleven months later Willard met Frank Moran for ten rounds at the Madsin Square Gardens, New York. This was a no decision contest but Moran was so far outclassed on that occasion that there was no question as to Willard's having won decisively. Since that time, March 25, 1916, Willard has not defended his title. Thousands of fistic patrons believe that this protracted absence from fighting has had a deteriorating effect on the big champion's abilities while Dempsey, having been in ring action almost constantly will be in much better condition.

Dempsey fought sixteen ring battles last year and scored thirteen knockouts. One of these, with Freddy Welsh at Denver, went 15 rounds; two of them ended in the sixth, Carl Morris and Bill Brennan being the victims, but eight of them were abruptly terminated in the opening round. In addition to the three mentioned pugilists Dempsey scored knockouts on Fred Fulton, Jim Flynn, Porky Flynn, Terry Kellar, Battling Lavinsky and Gunboat Smith.

IMMENSE CROWD SEES RACE AT LONG CHAMPS

PARIS, June 29 (Havas).—The Grand Prix de Paris was run at Long Champs for the first time since the war started and was won by Galloper Light, Mastercod was second. Insensible was third and Rapidan fourth. An immense crowd saw the race. Among those in attendance were Premier Clemenceau and President Poincaire.

NATIONALS DEFEAT FLYING FRENCHMEN

MONTREAL, June 29.—Outplaying the Nationals at all stages of their scheduled meeting in the N.L.U. at the Shamrock grounds Saturday afternoon, the Shamrocks scored a decisive victory, defeating the Flying Frenchcemen 8 to 3.

The Shamrocks never left any doubt as to the outcome, as they assumed an early lead and held it throughout. They outscored their opponents in three of the four quarters, getting a good lead in the first two.

In the third period, which was the most evenly contested of the four, the Nationals scored the only goal by a rally and the switching about of some of the players.

The exhibition of lacrosse was the best given in Montreal in years. The play was free from unnecessary roughness and only three penalties were handed out. Referee A. Pigeon and Judge of Play Robinson handled the game well throughout.

DULUTH WOMAN GAINS 15 POUNDS, SHE SAYS

Tanlac Made Mrs. Norman Well Two Years Ago—Good Health Continued She States

"Although it has been two years now since Tanlac relieved me of my suffering and built me up so wonderfully every day is saill a well day for me," was the statement made by Mrs. Liddia Norman, Route 4, Box 242, Duluth, Minn., while in Abbett & Company's drug store, recently.

"For three years," she continued, "I had suffered agonies with rheumatism all over my body. My feet were so swollen I could hardly get my shoes on, I had to wear gloves to keep down the swelling in my hands as much as possible. I was in so much pain that I was all bent over and had to use a a cane in order to get about. My stomach was in a very bad condition, too, and what I would eat seemed to jump up badly and lay in the pit of my stomach and ferment. I would bloat up terribly with gas and have such depressed feelings in my chest and around my heart that it was difficult for me to get my breath. My appetite was very poor—there were many things I couldn't eat at all—and at times I was very dizzy. I couldn't get any sound sleep, had fallen off a great deal in weight and just felt miserable all the time.

"When I read and heard so much about Tanlac I made up my mind to try it and it was the wisest decision I ever made. By the time I had finished my third bottle I discarded my cane and could eat what I wanted without the least trouble afterwards. After taking five bottles the rheumatism was gone entirely and I could walk as well as I ever could, and I also found I had gained fifteen pounds in weight, I haven't had an ache or a pain to this good day and I still eat and sleep like a child and feel fine all the time. I have related my experience with Tanlac many times and am willing to keep on telling it as long as I can help other people out of their suffering. I am getting a bottle of Tanlac now just to take as a Spring tonic and I hope what I say in this statement will start many others on the road to health."

Tanlac is sold in Nelson by Canada Drug & Book Store, in Rossland by W. H. Wainman, in Creston by Creston Drug & Book Co., in Bull River by B. E. Markle, in Field by Field Drug Co., in Fernie by A. W. Bleasdell, in Kaslo by Frank Abey, in Trail by E. W. Hazelgood, in Revelstoke by Walter Bros., in Nakusp by E. H. S. AT THE THEATRES

NEW PETROVA PICTURE ADAPTED FROM BOOK

"Patience Sparhawk and Her Times," by Gertrude Atherton, the celebrated American novelist, is another of the big popular works or current fiction which has been adapted to the screen, under the title of "The Panther Woman," and which, with Madame Olga Petrova in the role of Patience, will be shown at the Starland theatre today and tomorrow. In the tense dramatic situations, the series of thrilling climaxes to the various situations, and in emotionalism Madame Petrov declares that "The Panther Woman" excels any production in which she has previously appeared.

BABY'S CURL WILL BE JACK DEMPSEY'S MASCOT

TOLEDO, O.—When Jack Dempsey enters the ring on July 4 to give battle to the mastodonic jayhawker for the title that once was Sullivan's, he will carry a curly lock of golden hair as a mascot. The curl was given to the challenger by his pal and playmate, little Helen Dowell, aged seven, who lives on the river road near the Overland club.

Ever since Dempsey took up his quarters at the club Helen and her brother and sister have been daily visitors. The wee thing follows Jack around with her big eyes and looks lonesome when he leaves her to talk to some of the visitors. Helen is sure Jack is going to win the title, but to make sure she has given him a lock of her hair, which she believes will work a charm to make him win. And Happy Jack looks grave when asked if he really intends to take the curl into the ring. "You can just bet I will. I wouldn't go back on Helen for anything," he told one man who asked him the question.

Dempsey knocked the boys' ears down yesterday when he hopped upon the scales and let a crowd see what he weighed. When the indicator stopped at 201 a gasp was audible. No one outside the camp expected that he would scale more than 190. As a matter of fact, Dempsey has weighed 208 since he started training, and it is possible he will face Willard weighing 205.

If he does Willard's advantage will be not more than 35 pounds and it may be less, for there is a suspicion that Jess will not be far from 235 when he defends his title. This is actually a fact providing Willard now weight 248, as he says. It is certain he has 10 pounds surplus weight hanging on various sections of his body and he cannot present the appearance of a perfectly trained athlete while he retains the decorations.

Tex Rickard announces that members of the Army, Navy and Civilian Boxing Board of Control will soon come to Toledo to confer with the boxers, himself and the boxing commission relative to naming a referee, two judges and timekeepers for the bout.

This evidently is a change in the plans, for the board had written Rickard that a list of referees would be submitted to the boxers for their approval. It was generally understood that this list would be submitted by mail, but the coming of the committee from the board is the best way out of it, Rickard believes.

When the committee is here the qualifications of all of the referees being considered will be laid on the table, and when the appointment is made, about a week before the bout, it is expected everyone will be content save the disappointed men who are not named.

PERFECTLY SAFE.

Uncle Ben was a bachelor, but was full of enthusiasm for his married friends, and when his brother-in-law invited him to come and spend a few days and see his son and heir, he gladly accepted. It was an education to amuse the six months old child. Just for fun he would snatch its bottle away at feeding time and wonder why the youngster yelled. Then he would tickle it till almost in convulsions. Finally he gave it his watch to play with. Then peace reigned. And thus the mother found baby and bachelor. "Good gracious!" she exclaimed, excitedly. 'Look! Baby's got the watch in his mouth. He'll swallow it. Take it out or he'll choke." "Don't be alarmed," replied Uncle Ben, smiling placidly; I've got hold of the chain. It can't go far!"

Mrs. Bridey (in Boston Transcript)—Jack, dear, do you remember that you didn't kiss me when I started out shopping this morning?
