VESSEL HITS ROCK; SAVE KHAKI BOYS

Ship Comes to Grief Making Port

1400 SOLDIERS SAFE ON SHORE

Authorities Even Hold Hope of Saving Transport

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

A CANADIAN ATLANTIC PORT, July 7.—When the Hall liner City of Vienna, with 1400 Canadian troops, consisting of various drafts and details, on board, ran ashore on a rock near here in a thick fog, it was at first feared that there might be considerable loss of life.

There was a heavy on-shore swell and dense fog and the steamer, exposed to the full force of every wave, was, in danger, it was thought, of speedily breaking up. But the troops and men have all been safely landed and the ship herself still holds together, so that there is still a hope of saving her.

Struck a Ledge

According to the story told by the rescued men, it was about 7 o'clock in the morning that the City of Vienna endeavoring to make harbor, struck the ledge. The engines were reversed and S. O. S. calls were also sent out. Guns, too, were fired and could be heard on shore a mile or more from the rock. Fishermen soon ated the ship and returned to shore to report her exact location.

Orders were given by the port authorities for the boats from near by life-saving stations to proceed to the City of Vienna and take off as many men as the boats would accommodate and other craft were despatched from the harbor to the scene. So rough was the sea that one harbor tug was forced to return to port with water almost up to the fires in her engine room.

Landed Soldiers

But the lifeboats and fishing craft, manned by crews well acquainted with the numerous reefs in those waters, were able to go alongside the stranded ship and by 11 o'clock that morning had landed a large number of soldiers on the rocky shore. The sea was still running high and the work of rescue was carried out with great difficulty.

A steamer which was not many miles away when the City of Vienna struck had responded to her S. O. S. signal but on account of the thick fog had been unable to come close to the stranded ship. This steamer's lifeboats were accordingly lowered and the sailors transferred 700 of the soldiers from the City of Vienna to their own ship. The steamer could accommodate no more and, therefore, brought these 700 to port. Meanwhile, despite the increasing sea, the fishing and life-saving crews had been landing boat load after boat load.

Pilot Schooner Helped

A pilot schooner also took off about 75 men and brought them to port. Patrol boats visited the different fishing harbors, collecting a number of the soldiers rescued from the ship and landed them here. The remainder of the men landed on the shore marched along the country roads to this port. The steamer's crew also was brought to this port.

"We thought the City of Vienna had been torpedoed," said one of the rescued soldiers interviewed today. "Of course, we had not the faintest notion where the ship was and our first thought, when the sudden jar and crash came, was that we were in the war zone and that a U-boat had got us. We were soon undeceived, however, when, looking over the bow, we could see a big rock within a few yards of the ship."

One of the ship's officers told the Canadian Press that the discipline of the troops when the steamer struck was splendid. There was no sign of excitement or confusion, he said, and the men formed up and obeyed orders as precisely as if they were on parade.

REGRET MURDER OF HUN COUNT

Berlin Despatch Says Russian Government Is Indignant About Assassination of Ambassador.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

PARIS, July 7.—As soon as the news of the assassination of Count von Mirbach, German ambassador to Moscow, came to M. Tchitcherin, the Russian foreign minister, he and his associate, M. Karakhan, called at the German embassy and expressed the regret and indignation of the government, says the Berlin despatch forwarded by the Havas correspondent from Basil. The identity of the assassins has not been established, nor have they been arrested, the message states.

It appears, according to these advices that with Count Mirbach when he was attacked were Herr Ritzler, the counsellor of the embassy, and a German officer. Neither was injured.

"Our balloons and observation machines carried out much valuable work yesterday. There were few combats in the air. Three German airplanes were destroyed and one was driven down out of control. One of our machines is missing.

"Seventeen tons of bombs have been dropped on various targets during the past 24 hours."

LONDON, July 7.—The official report on aerial operations says:

"There was little fighting in the air on July 5. Two German machines were destroyed and one was driven down out of control. One of our machines are missing.

"Our airplanes and balloons carried out a large amount of successful artillery work. Nineteen tons of bombs were dropped on selected targets during the day and the following night."

Successful Bombardment

BASEL, Switzerland, July 7.—The bombardment of Coblenz on Friday by British airmen was the most severe of the war, although the work of the airmen was hampered by the presence of a fog. The northern portion of the railway station and the famous iron bridge were seriously damaged. A bomb fell in the centre of the bridge

ITALY GAINS MORE GROUND

Austrians Hold no Claim on Piave

GREAT DRIVE IS NOW ENDED

Vienna Admits Terrain West of River Abandoned

(By Associated Press.)

Austrian troops have been pushed back across the Piave river along the lower reaches of the stream. During the offensive last fall, they crossed the new channel of the river and pushed ahead for some distance westward toward the old river bed. In the abortive offensive last month, they made further progress there and crossed the old course but were forced back by the Italians.

Steadily Forging Ahead.

Since the collapse of the Austrian drive, the Italians have been steadily forging ahead in this region and it is now admitted by Vienna that all the Austrian positions on the west of the river have been abandoned. This restores to the Italians the west bank of the Piave from northwest of the Montelle plateau to the sea and writes the final chapter in the story of the Austrian drive in that sector of the Italian front.

In the mountains the Italians have held all the ground they have won in recent fighting east and west of the Brenta river.

ROME, July 7—The Italian troops on the southern end of the Piave line, having driven the Austrians across the new Piave, are establishing themselves in the extensive region between the new and old river beds which the Austrians were compelled to evacuate today's war office statement shows.

The statement highly praises the valor of the troops, which won the most pronounced success that has been achieved. The statement says:

Heavy Foe Losses

"Between the Sile and the Piave our troops have reached, with perfect maneuvering and irrestible elan, the right bank of the new Piave, and driven the enemy to the other side of the river, are now fortifying themselves on the vast track of ground recaptured, every yard of which show traces of the struggle and furnishes proof that the enemy's losses were much higher than we had forseen.

"The 23rd army corps, having carried out the difficult operation victoriously, has added new laurels to its glory. The 4th infantry division particularly distinguished itself. The bearing of the troops was splendid. The infantry, among whom were a marine regiment and parties of the Royal Customs guard, fought with ardor. The artillery of the army corps and the Royal Navy group contributed notably to the success with its very effective fire.

Airmen do Good Work

"Our own and the allied airplanes and those of the Italian Royal Naval participated with unusual daring. Special honor for the valor shown is due to the 33rd Sapper battalion of engineers.

"On the Asiago plateau a French party carried out a brilliant raid into the enemy lines at Zocchi, overcoming the garrisons in a lively struggle and capturing two officers, 64 of other ranks and two machine guns.

"Between the Frenzella valley and the Brenta the enemy three times attempted to attack our positions on the Corone. He was sanguinarily repulsed."

VIENNA, July 7.—(Via London.)—To avoid heavy sacrifices, Austrian troops in the Piave delta have been withdrawn to the eastern bank of the main stream, the war office announced today. The Italians, according to the statement, cautiously followed as far as the western bank of the river.

The statement follows:

"As the delta of the Piave could not have been held without heavy sacrifices, we have withdrawn our troops which were stationed there to the dyke positions on the eastern bank of the main branch. This operation was carried out during the night of July 5-6. The enemy felt his way at midday yesterday as far as the river

"East of Monte Pertica we drove back strong Italian attacks in sanguinary hand to hand fighting.

In Albania, French and Italian troops attacked our mountain positions between Devoli and Osum. In the course of the fighting the enemy succeeded in obtaining advantages at two points, which, however, again were immediately wrested from him by a counterattack."

THREE ARMY CORPS OF HUNS TO AID AUSTRIA

PARIS, July 7.—Havas Agency.—Germany will send three army corps to the aid of the Austrians, according to a Rome despatch to the Temps. These will be put under the direct orders of Gen. von Otto Bulow, the commander in chief on the Italian front and will be assigned to the Alps sectors, it is said. The Trentino railways have been put under German control and will be used exclusively for German troops. It is said that German regiments will be detailed to other points on the front to support the Austrian troops.

MURMAN PEOPLE JOIN ALLIES

Entire Population Is Reported to Have Turned to the Entente—Food Arrived.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

COPENHAGEN, July 7.—The entire population of the Murman coast, on the Kola peninsula, bordering on the White sea and the Arctic, has broken with Russia and joined the entente, according to a despatch from Vardar, Norway, to the Christiania Tidens Tegnu. A supply of provisions from the United States has arrived at Murman, the despatch adds.

Allies' Action Unknown.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Leaders among the people of the Murman coast recently appealed to the American and allied consuls at Kola for protection. With American, British and French naval forces guarding a large store of war supplies at Kola and along the railroad the Murmansk coast is one of the possible fields for operation by the allies under the new policy toward Russia, believed to have been approved by President Wilson at the White House conference yesterday. Just what form of activities will follow under the program, however, is believed to rest almost entirely with the supreme war council at Paris and if anything like a detailed plan of action has been worked out by the council no intimation of it has been given here.

STRIKE GAINS FAVOR AT COAST

General Walk-Out in Vancouver May Be Called Wednesday, It Is Feared

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

VANCOUVER, July 7.—Possibilities of a general strike in Vancouver to be called next Wednesday loomed large here tonight when both sides to the street car and electrical troubles met insurmountable snags in their deliberations held this afternoon and evening. The men have said flatly that the board of conciliation award does not meet with their approval. They demand the eight-hour day.

Officials of the British Columbia Electric company today prepared letters to the various reeves of the municipalities served by the company relating to increased fares. The Vancouver city council meets again tomorrow afternoon to consider these same questions. Meetings of the men concerned in all phases of the strike will be called Tuesday evening.

As the situation now stands there is no possibility of a resumption of street car service Monday when the strike will have been in effect for one week. Arbitration has been decided upon in the case of the gas workers, who issued an ultimatum to the Vancouver Gas company Saturday, giving 48 hours' notice of intention to quit unless demands they made last April were considered by the company. A general strike would tie up every industry using electric power in Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster.

Hon. J. W. DeB. Farris, attorney-general and minister of labor for British Columbia, accompanied by J. D. McNiven, deputy minister, will arrive in the city tomorrow morning from Victoria to assist in the settlement of the strike. It is understood that the minister of labor will be present to assist in the smoothing out of the details that will be necessary in order to legalize the increasing of street car fares above that allowed in the charter. Their presence and good offices are expected to have considerable influence in straightening out the troubles now existing.

Pulp Workers Return

VANCOUVER, July 7.—After being out on strike for just four days, members of the Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill union, at Powell River, who sought increased wages and recognition of the union, returned to work Saturday morning. While no official notification was given out, it is understood that the company granted the demands of the men.

ASKS TEDDY TO RECRUIT IN ERIN

Col. Lynch Requests Roosevelt to Lend Support if Only by Message.

DUBLIN, July 7.—By Associated Press.—Col. Arthur Lynch, Nationalist member of parliament for West Clare, who recently accepted a commission in the British army and has come to Ireland to assist in the recruiting campaign, has sent an eloquent appeal to Col. Theodore Roosevelt for cooperation in Irish recruiting. He asked Col. Roosevelt to send a message to the Irish people or to come himself to Ireland. In the course of this communication, Col. Lynch says:

Come Yourself!

"Send me a message of encouragement, or, better still, my great and splendid friend, come yourself in all your prestige and power and influence and help me win the souls of the young men of Ireland to the allied cause.

"There are grave and deep difficulties, lamentable stories of cheated hopes, unrecognized rights and hatreds for wrongs inflicted in the past. But one feature throws these matters into the proper perspective—the fact that the Germans are thundering at the gates of Paris and are hammering at the channel ports.

"If they win, it will be needless to make plans for Ireland or dream dreams of liberty. Potsdam will take care of Erin.

Ancient Wrongs.

"When the Stars and Stripes was raised over the cause; when Old Glory had blown out her folds, the emblem of liberty, a sign of protection to millions of Irishmen, I had hope that opposition to the allies would close. But ancient wrongs and present resentment proved too strong.

"We must win the souls of these young men. Ireland must and shall fill with great deeds the page of history reserved for her. The western front is the mecca of the true believer in liberty. Therefore, once more, write or come, my illustrious friend, and join your genius and authority to my faith and enthusiasm and we will do the magic thing and lift the squabble into the atmosphere of deeds that will shine bright in the eye of time."

Arthur Lynch, who is a physician and author, was colonel of the 2nd Irish brigade on the Boer side in the South African war. In 1903 he was convicted of high treason and condemned to death, which sentence was commuted to penal servitude for life.

In the following year he was released on license and received a free pardon from the crown in 1907.

Col Lynch was elected member of parliament for Galway City in 1901 and for West Clare in 1909.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

FRANCO-AMERICAN TROOPS ARE ACTIVE

PARIS REPORTS SUCCESS IN ACTION NEAR CHATEAU-THIERRY IN NEIGHBORHOOD OF HILL 204—YANKS CARRY OUT RAID AND BRING BACK PRISONERS—QUIET DURING NIGHT.

(By Associated Press.)

On the British front east of Amiens Australian detachments with whom Americans are brigaded, have pushed further east from the little village of Hamel, south of the Somme river. The Australians carried their line forward over a front of almost four miles at that point last Thursday and in their last assault they surged ahead at the centre of the new front, which they created last week. The operation was successful in that objectives were reached and are being held by the men from the Antipodes.

Artillery Active.

Further north, along the southern side of the Lys salient, there has been quite heavy artillery firing, especially in the Hinges sector. During the fighting in April, when the Germans had pushed far ahead on the Flanders area, the battle north and east of Hinges was one of the most desperate in character, the village of Locon being the scene of repeated combats in which the German attacks were crushed by the British defense.

French Sectors Quiet.

In the French sectors, in the Oise, Soissons and Reims sectors, only patrol encounters have been reported. The Americans and French have been quite active near Chateau-Thierry where the French have made some advances in the neighborhood of Hill 204, on the north side of which the Americans attacked and captured the village of Vaux last week. The French report some measure of success in the fighting, while the Germans claim that the French and American assaults were repulsed with heavy losses.

Yanks Attack Huns.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

PARIS, July 7.—American troops in a sector of the Vosges region carried out a raid last night on the German lines, in which prisoners were taken, today's war office statement says. With the exception of artillery actions in the region east of Villers-Cotterets forest, between the Aisne and Marne, the night on the remainder of the front was quiet. The statement reads:

"There were artillery actions south of the Aisne, in the region of Longpont and Corcy.

"American troops carried out a raid in the Vosges, bringing back prisoners.

"The night was quiet on the remainder of the front."

Hold New Positions

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, July 7.—No further attempt by the Germans to retake the ground wrested from them Thursday by the combined Australian-American attack has been reported today. Not satisfied with the positions acquired from the enemy in the initial attack, the Australians Friday night again drove forward just south of Vaire wood and jammed the Boches back some 400 yards more along a front of 2000 yards. The operation was entirely successful and has made the new line much stronger.

Economical Attack

Details are now available concerning the work of the large fleet of tanks which participated in Thursday's battle. The tanks rendered invaluable assistance to the attacking infantry. Officers say this was one of the most economical assaults ever undertaken on the British front, owing to the fact that the tanks saved casualties among the infantry by mopping up machine gun posts and strong points in advance. In numerous instances whole machine gun crews with their rapid firers were literally ground into the earth by the tanks, which swept over the enemy posts like steam rollers.

Tanks Were Masters

One group of tanks alone destroyed or captured more than 30 machine guns and brought about the surrender of at least 200 Germans. In addition, many Germans were slain by these great engines.

Other tanks were doing similar work. Taken as a whole, the Boche infantry surrendered or bolted on the approach of these monsters, the appearance of which, in itself, is terrifying. The German machine gunners, however, fought to the last in many instances.

Numerous times the Australian and American infantrymen communicated with the tanks and gave them the direction from which hostile gunfire was coming. In every case the tank was able to deal with the machine gun and thus allow the infantry to advance.

Ran Over Gunners

One tank, which was 200 yards in front, destroyed a nest of six machine guns by running over it after the gun crews had refused to surrender.

Another tank crew used their rapid firers but a fourth machine gun continued firing at a distance of five or six yards. This gun, in turn, was run over and destroyed, together with its crew.

At one point a tank moved against a mound which seemed a likely place for a machine gun. No sign of the enemy was to be seen at first, but after the tank had circled the mound ounce about 40 Germans came out of a camouflaged trench and ran toward the allied infantry to surrender. During the construction of the new lines the tanks patrolled the front for nearly one-half an hour for protection. On one sector, when snipers in a corn field were making things uncomfortable for the men at work on the defense, a tank advanced across No Man's Land and fired shots into the cornfield. With the explosions many of the enemy jumped up in various parts of the field and all were killed by the fire from the tank.

Several officers have said since the battle that the prospects for victory never seemed so bright as now. The

MOSCOW MAY BE SCENE OF RUSS REVOLUTION

Kerensky Remarks That Assassination of Count Mirbach May Be Forerunner of Outbreak.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

PARIS, July 7.—Alexander Kerensky, former premier of Russia, when informed by the Associated Press of the assassination of Count von Mirbach, German ambassador at Moscow, declared that while he could not feel "elated at the death of a human being," he could not help saying "It is a good thing for Russia."

Kerensky seemesd reluctant to believe the news, asking repeatedly "are you sure?" When informed that the news seemed perfectly reliable as it originated in Berlin, he said "this may be the beginning of the renaissance of Russia."

"But now the Germans will surely go to Russia," he added sadly.

It was only a few days ago that Kerensky, in a talk with the correspondent, expressed his hope that the only reason German troops had not yet appeared in Moscow was because Von Mirbach had not required their presence there.

"Should circumstances demand the appearance of German troops," said the former premier on this occasion, "Von Mirbach, the real ruler of Russia, will surely call upon them. His ability to govern without the help of German troops has alone prevented the appearance of German spiked helmets in the ancient capital of the Muscovite empire."

When asked about the prospects of a revolution breaking out in Moscow the former premier was non-committal.

"One never knows what the Russian mind will conceive or what the Russian will excite," he said. "But from Moscow will come the initiative for a movement against Germany."

BOYS OVER THERE SAY: 'COURAGE, CONFIDENCE'

Premier Borden Says Canadian Soldiers Feel Sure Canada Is Behind Them.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

LONDON, July 7.—Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency—Sir Robert Borden who has just returned from the front, where he has been during the week with other Canadian ministers, in an interview yesterday said:

"From the moment we landed in France until the conclusion of our visit, we were continually in touch with the Canadian troops. Outside of the army corps, units of the various branches of the service, such as the forestry and railway construction corps are scattered over a wide area, but we made a very earnest effort to visit them all.

Army Corps at Maximum.

"The army corps itself is at maximum strength and in the finest condition. I saw about 40,000 Canadians gathered together on Dominion day at their annual sports. The scene was most impressive and never to be forgotten. Subsequently I visited and addressed the brigades in every division except one. In all I had the privilege of speaking to more than 30,000 men.

"From the heights of Vimy ridge to the base camps and hospitals near Boulogne and throughout even more extended territory, we found the organization excellent.

"The message of our army to the people of Canada was 'Courage and confidence.' While they do not underestimate the enemy's strength, they are prepared, and even eager, to meet him in the next attack. Indeed, it was their chief regret that they had not been allowed to fight him during recent months.

"The bombing of the Canadian hospitals and the sinking of the Canadian hospital ship Llandovery Castle will never be forgotten by our troops.

"The Canadians in France believe their country is behind them to the end and that it will maintain that constant stream of reinforcements without which their efforts would be paralyzed. They realize all our sacrifice will be in vain unless the allied efforts are crowned with a decisive result. They know that a last desperate effort will be made by the central powers during the present summer and they are prepared to do their part in meeting it. Each of the Canadian ministers returned from the visit with renewed inspiration to carry on his task with like courage and devotion."

POSTPONE STRIKE OF TELEGRAPHERS IN U. S.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Indefinite postponement of the strike of the telegraphers employed by the Western Union Telegraph company, called for tomorrow, was announced tonight by Secretary of Labor Wilson, after he had conferred over the long distance telephone with S. J. Kokenkamp, president of the Commercial Telegraphers' union.

Secretary Wilson said that Mr. Konenkamp, who is in Chicago, had given him every assurance that the strike order would not be put into effect tomorrow and that any walkout would be postponed indefinitely. It was understood that the union president agreed to this course because congress now is considering a resolution authorizing the president to take over and operate during the war all telegraph, telephone, cable and radio systems.

New York Defers Action.

NEW YORK, July 7.—The Commercial Telegraphers' union of New York decided at a meeting today to defer action on the proposed strike, scheduled for 7 o'clock tomorrow morning until formally advised by President Konenkamp that his order stands.

GOUGE DEFENDS ALBERTA COAL

Says Winnipeg Visitors Report it too Costly When It Really Costs Little.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

CALGARY, Alta., July 7—"Four dollars and ninety-five cents is the maximum price for the very highest grade double screened coal produced in the Drumheller field. Good coal, mine run, can be purchased for $3.35 a ton; good lump coal, run over single screen, at from $4.50 to $4.65 a ton; good screened stove coal may be had for $3.75 a ton; nut screened coal for $2.40, and steam coal, good for boilers and for heating big buildings, may be had at from 25 cents to $1 a ton."

This was the statement made by Jesse Gouge, one of the big operators of the Drumheller field, when discussing the visit of the Winnipeg officials who have announced that they are going to report that Alberta lignite costs too much money to be practicable for use in Winnipeg.

"Winnipeg has use for all grades of coal, just as Calgary does. Coal that costs only 25 cents a ton is being used in the city power plant at Calgary. Winnipeg has use for lots of stove coal and for lots of mine run. And when they go back and report that Alberta coal costs $4.95 a ton, they are not telling the whole truth," he continued.

Regarding the complaint that the Alberta coal operators would not allow the Winnipeg officials to look over their cost sheets, Mr. Gouge stated that all of the operators were willing to allow any duly constituted government body to look into the mine costs or any men who understood coal mining. It would have been ridiculous to allow a committee appointed by a city council to go over cost books when their knowledge of coal was very limited and their authority was nil. All sorts of misinformation may thus have been given out.

STRIKERS DO NOT REPLY TO 55 CENTS AN HOUR OFFER

MONTREAL, July 7.—In connection with the negotiations between the federated trades and the Canadian railway war board, W. M. Neil, secretary of the latter, states that men have given as yet no reply to the offer of the McAdoo schedule with amendments, both already made and those to come.

One amendment brings the lowest wage paid to 55 cents an hour, which is practically what the men ask for the third class, viz., 55¼ cents an hour.

There are, moreover, other amendments to come, involving increases in the wage bill of the railways by a sum between 50 and 60 millions of dollars annually.

Prospects for a peaceful settlement of the dispute are somewhat dubious, just at present, but negotiations will continue Monday, so a settlement is still possible.

One way or the other, the dispute should be settled by Wednesday next, at the latest.

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

SEATTLE, Wash., July 7.—A lack of interest due to the war, coupled with poor attendance and operation of the "work or fight" order, today resulted in the formal closing of the Pacific Coast International league.

The league is an extension of the old Northwestern league, which was forced to end its existence a year ago because of lack of financial support. Spokane and Tacoma dropped out within 40 days and within the last 10 days Vancouver, B.C., dropped out and Vancouver, Wash., was substituted.

SPARTAN MOTHER JOINS SLAIN SON'S REGIMENT; SEEKS DUTY AT FRONT WHERE HER BOY HAD DIED; GOES TO HIS UNIT AS Y. M. C. A. CANTEEN WORKER

Her only son slain in France while serving as a lieutenant in the American forces, Mrs. Mabel Fonda Gareissen has left her home at No. 490 Riverside Drive, New York City, to be a Y. M. C. A. canteen worker. In service to the living, this Spartan mother has chosen her substitute for mourning. To make it more appropriate, she is to serve the canteen attached to the regiment of her dead son, Lieutenant Scott McCormick, for the colonel and other officers of the unit joined in a request that the Y. M. C. A. detail her there upon hearing of her determination to work in France.

Taking her place with the mothers of France who, though bereaved, have worked to aid the men, Mrs. Gareissen made the following explanatory statement:

"Our sons belonged to a peace-loving age. They had to leave loved ones, drop prospects of careers, and prepare for the most infernal war the world has ever known. They have done this without complaint, with a determination to put forth the best and highest within them. American mothers, no matter how their hearts may bleed, must rise to the leading of their sons. And if those idolized sons fall, still they must rise, keeping ever before them their sons who have gone up and up. In other words, they must be worthy of being mothers of the boys of today."

Mrs. Gareissen's son, Lieutenant McCormick, was killed on January 17 last by hand grenade explosion. Before attending the first Plattsburg camp for officers' training he was in the employ of Edmonds & Co., bankers. When the United States entered the war he was among the first to resign his business connection for the training camp, where he was commissioned and sent to France among the earliest.

A few days after General Pershing had cabled the news of her son's death, Mrs. Gareissen decided to go to France and filed her application with the Y. M. C. A. War Work Council for canteen work. She kept the fact from even her most intimate friends, among them Provost Marshal General Enoch N. Crowder, until a few days before she left for France.

THE CHANNEL TUNNEL A NECESSITY

Old prejudices against the construction of a tunnel under the English channel to connect England and France have about disappeared. The sentiment against such an undertaking never amounted to much but prejudice, anyway.

There used to be a feeling that if Great Britain permitted a tunnel to be constructed it would lose its strong position of isolation from the continent which enabled it to be protected by its navy. But there was never any real danger of that. A tunnel could be blocked in a few minutes.

The tunnel has now become an economic necessity. No single undertaking would go further toward building up commerce between Great Britain, France, Italy and the rest of the anti-Germanic countries on the continent. It is for this reason that the tunnel takes an important place in the discussions which are being held by the inter-allied commercial conference.

GET YOUR COAL IN NOW.

The necessity for householders to lay in their winter's coal supply during the summer months cannot be too strongly urged.

It has already been pointed out and may be reiterated that the householder who has not secured his supply of coal before September when the crop movement begins to absorb the whole available car and locomotive capacity of the country will probably have the greatest difficulty in securing any coal at all before the cold weather sets in.

Order your coal now. Order it while you can get it. A few months from now it may be too late.

STUNT FLYING IS A NECESSITY OF WAR.

Many young men are killed at flying corps training camps in attempting to do stunt flying. It is sometimes thought that this is needless sacrifice. It is not the case, however, that stunt flying at the training camps involves unnecessary sacrifice except insofar as young men who are not temperamentally fitted for such work essay it. Ability to do trick or stunt flying is absolutely essential to the highest branch of the flying service. The success of the service and the lives of the aviators depend upon it.

The flying men of the combat or chasse branch of the service are called upon in actual duty at the front to meet situations which demand ability to do tricks in the air. If they haven't it they are at the mercy of the enemy aviators. An American who has served with distinction in the Lafayette Flying corps and the French flying corps states that at the French schools where he trained a great many pupils were killed. Men are not accepted for the chasse branch of the service who cannot pass the acrobacy tests at the training schools. But the French do not urge students to attempt these tests. If they have not a liking for stunts they may make useful aviators in the observation, photography and bombing branches, but they are not passed for the chasse service. "If you cannot do everything Fritz can do—and a little more— sooner or later Fritz will get you," this American writes. His advice to aviators in training in America is that if they do not feel that they are adapted for the dangerous acrobacy work they should not essay it but be content with the other branches of the service.

A writer on the same subject says in the London Daily Mail:

Aerial gymnastics are essential to the work of air scouts or battle pilots because when they go over the line and engage enemy aircraft they are compelled to do aerial gymnastics. The "joy flight" that the civilian watches at home—with sometimes a leaven of anxious disapproval in his admiration—will serve perhaps as the life flight of that airman when he meets the Hun over France or Flanders and perhaps as his enemy's death flight.

Order your coal today.

Come to Nelson for the convention. It will be worth your while.

Make a note of the dates of the big farmers' convention at Nelson—July 24, 25 and 26.

Attendants at a hospital for the insane in Montreal decided to "rush" an unruly patient and broke both his legs and gave him a scalp wound. This rush is reminiscent of the best ones in the old college days.

The man who postpones buying his coal during the summer may have to go cold during the winter or be put up against the necessity of operating a bucksaw in the woods.

Austria, the catspaw used by the German kaiser to begin the war, is now helpless to end it and about equally helpless to continue it, the Rochester Herald points out.

A commentary on the brevity of human life in general and public life in particular is Sir John Gibson's assertion that he is the only survivor among the members of the Ontario government of 25 years ago and that only 12 out of the 80 private members at that time are still living.

WHAT THE PRESS IS SAYING

Worse Than That.

Germany is suffering from a lack of love and truth.—Greenwood Ledge.

King George—Democrat.

King George is having his experiences these days. One day eating buckwheat pancakes and maple syrup at an American officers' mess and the next being taught how to pitch a baseball in preparation for the Fourth of July game in the English camp of the Sammies. His majesty is becoming so democratic that by the time the war is over he will hardly know whether he is a king or just one of the common people.—Calgary Herald.

To Win the War.

We may as well make up our minds that the only way in which we can defeat Germany and Austria is by a crushing military victory. Any other approach to victory lies only in the dreams of visionaries, except when it is the cunning invention of German propagandists, intended to weaken our armies by slackening our preparations behind the lines. To establish liberty and democracy throughout the world, we must win the war. To win it, we must fight it to a finish—Rochester Herald.

The Need for Optimism

In great and prolonged military operations mistakes and consequent reverses are unavoidable. But considered as a whole, in any fair, intelligent and discriminating estimate of its advantages and disadvantages, study of the campaign leads to the conclusion that the escape of grave disasters testifies incontestably to the skill of the commanders and the courage and fortitude of the soldiers. This is the view that for its influence upon morale both at home or in the field of action should be cultivated by all who have the winning of the war at heart. —Vicksburg Herald.

"Mid dose Yanks spending all der time making money und inventioning fine machines for us to swipe venever did dey learn how to fight de way dey do?"

"I'm so sorry for Austria," said a poor, white faced little lady.

"You are. Why?"

"I once had to live with a drunken husband," was the reply.

KAISER'S NAPOLEONIC DREAMS.

Napoleon Bonaparte placed his brothers and famous marshals on the thrones of several conquered states in Europe. A writer in the London Spectator imputes to Kaiser Wilhelm a desire to follow the French conqueror not only in war and diplomacy but also in appointing relatives or puppets as rulers of Teutonic trampled countries. According to the article, the kaiser contemplates making his second son, Eitel Fritz, grand duke of Courland; a Saxon or other prince king of Lithuania; another of his sons king of Poland; his fifth son, Prince Oscar, king of Finland; a more docile Hohenzollern the king of Rumania; while Albania is reserved for Prince William of Wied.—Charlton Bates Stayer in Leslie's.

GETTING READY TO GO ON THE FRONT LINES

(By Lieut. R. S. M. Sturges.)

A draft of men is awaiting orders to leave England for the front. There is a feeling of expectancy, a kind of tension in the air. That moment of which most of them have been thinking for the past year is now close at hand. The old monotony and routine of training is broken by inspections, by parades for kit and clothing and similar significant evidences of departure. The prospect of change introduces an atmosphere of uncertainty foreign to military routine, which stimulates a feeling of excitement and adventure.

Preliminaries Complete

The necessary preliminaries have been completed. The men have each thrown the requisite number of live bombs; they have been fitted with gas masks and have passed through the lethal chamber; vaccination and innoculation are things of the past.

The next sign of approaching departure is the issue of ammunition boots—a fresh pair to each man. The distribution of new boots comes first, for a day or two's wear is necessary before a new boot will adapt itself to the foot. Those who have set out on a long march in a new pair of boots will have good reason to endorse this statement.

As the fateful day approaches, the quartermaster's store assumes the appearance of a large clothing establishment. All day long the men besiege its doors, while the quartermaster and his satellites serve out to them their kit for overseas. Rifles and equipment must be made complete, missing straps and oil bottles replaced.

New Outfits

Old clothing is exchanged for new; caps, jackets, trousers, puttees, shirts and underclothes are made up to strength. In return the soldier hands in all his spare clothing which he cannot take with him; spare uniform, spare boots and underclothes. In addition various small but necessary articles are issued to each man—pay books, jack-knives, identity discs, field dressings and the like.

The last day before departure is one of endless bustle and activity. Everything must be left ship shape. Mattresses are emptied of their straw and returned to the store; the boards which form the soldier's bedstead are stacked and counted, blankets rolled and the barracks or huts swept out.

Kit Inspection

In the afternoon there is a kit inspection. Every article of each man's kit is laid out according to a prearranged scheme, so that the inspecting officer can tell at a glance if anything is missing. Each article, from the great coat, blanket and rubber sheet, down to the tooth brush, razor and piece of soap, is carefully checked and if missing is replaced.

Last of all, the "iron ration" is issued. This is carried in a small white bag and consists of a tin of bully beef, a sealed tin of tea and sugar, and several substantial biscuits. The iron ration is sacro-sanct. No part of it must be eaten except in an emergency and then only at the orders of an officer; it is the soldier's last hope and he is seldom called upon to use it.

Quite apart from the official list of articles, with which he is supplied for service overseas, each soldier is confronted with a difficult problem in the choice of his own personal belongings. Consider his position. He is about to start on a journey indefinite as to length or destination.

Little to Lug

His luggage is restricted to a pack, a small haversack and the pockets of his tunic. For the past week every shop window has been a temptation. A pipe, tobacco, pouch, cigarette case and a store of cigarettes are all necessities; a tinder-lighter will save matches. There are all kinds of attractive conveniences advertised "to fit the breast pocket," a writing case, for instance, a metal mirror, a miniature medicine chest, a collapsible knife, fork and spoon. He wants them all, but unfortunately his tunic is only fitted with two breast pockets.

Finally, his kit complete and his purchases made, he prepares for the testable form of amusement at the best of times; when leaving for the front it is an operation requiring patience, skill, and not a little muscle. The great coat and waterproof sheet—both bulky items—are rolled up small and forced into the pack; rations for the journey are carried in the haversack; socks, shirt, shaving tackle and the rest must all find a corner—everything is packed in somehow, and after a heated struggle the men help one another into their harness, strap themselves up, and "fall in" for the last time on the parade ground.

Depart at Night

The departure in nearly every case takes place at night. Officers armed with electric torches walk down the ranks and inspect their men. At last the word is given and, headed by the band, the men march silently off the parade ground. Presently an order is shouted: "March at ease." Rifles come down to a more comfortable angle, cigarettes are brought out and matches gleam; the silence is broken by songs and cheers from the men as they start, full of excitement, on their great adventure. The band strikes up a popular song and the men join in, awaking the echoes with their voices. The sound of the band, of the singing the cheers and the laughter can be heard from afar. As they march on into the night the sounds grow fainter and die away in the distance—and they are gone.

TOLD IN RHYME.

TROOP TRAINS

A sound like the gathering thunder,
A roar in the silent dark.
A flash, a rattle, a silence,
Then out in the darkness—hark!
Is it a whistle or portent
That called us from sleep when it blew?
Be quiet, my heart, and listen
To a troop train going through.

This is no royal deception,
This is no empty boast,
Laden and ready for action
They're pounding from coast to coast.
The lines are clear for their passage
We're routing them over to you,
Ten-millions ready, O Kaiser!
Our troop trains all go through.

An eager young face at each window,
Watching the land slide by—
The land of their birth and loving,
The faith for which they'll die.
Strong and stern those faces,
But merry, ardent and true!
God grant them a safe returning,
But first speed the troop trains through.—Quincy Germaine of The Vigilantes.

NEWSPAPER CHANGES

The Toronto Globe says the projected amalgamation of the St. Thomas Journal and the St. Thomas Times, the latest of a series of similar happenings in Ontario recently, and not the last if reports are trustworthy, is another illustration of changing conditions in the newspaper field due to the pressure of rapidly rising costs of production. The Globe continues:

"Several Ontario cities of the size of St. Thomas, Brockville or Galet, which supported two or more daily newspapers for years, are now served by only one apiece. Equipment, materials and labor are dearer, as in every business, but newspapers, great or small, have been specially hard hit by the soaring price of newsprint. In some cases this single item has made all the differencee between profits and loss. The tendency toward the reduction of the number of newspapers is pronounced everywhere in Canada and the United States. In many communities, as in New York, Chicago, Detroit and Cleveland, it has coincided with a rapid growth of population. It is a sheer economic necessity in the present state of things and is likely to persist."

Billie Currie, formerly of Greenwood has received his honorable discharge from the army, and is working in a Vancouver garage.

MAY FORCE LABOR TO WORK

The United States employment service of the department of labor is giving serious consideration to reports of a labor shortage for farm work. The government experts believe that the draft law is not the real cause of this shortage. Statistics, now being prepared, will enable the government to determine what percentage of loss is occasioned by unskilled laborers who work only half a week and lay off on the other days. It is quite possible that the government will arrange an understanding between all employers in the United States to utilize only the services of workmen who agree to work six days a week and who live up to this agreement. Such action would automatically release several hundred thousand men for farm work. A companion measure would be national enforcement of the vagrancy laws adopted by several states and which compel men to earn a living. It is believed that there is more than sufficient labor for the farms if the able-bodied men in the United States work six days a week.—Thomas F. Logan in Leslies.

MISS DETROIT TAKES POWER BOAT TROPHY

(By Daily News Leased Wire.)

MOLINE, ILLS., July 7—Miss Detroit won the $1000 Webb trophy Saturday without contest, bringing to an end the 1918 regatta of the Mississippi Valley Power Boat association. The engine of Miss Minneapolis was out of commission, necessitating her withdrawal from the race and Miss Detroit went over the 12 mile course alone. Her time was 13:02. She then won a two-mile handicap race in 2:04 and then did an exhibition mile in 1:05.

The Belleville city council decided to withhold payment of a $6000 municipal grant to the Red Triangle work of the Y. M. C. A. until the rumors which have been current have been cleared up.

WOMEN KNIT 244 PAIRS OF SOCKS

Red Cross Society Votes $200 for Surgical Supplies and $100 for Prisoners of War

At the regular monthly meeting of the Red Cross society held in the city hall on Friday the president reported that 865 garments and other hospital requisites had been completed by the society's workers in Nelson and the surrounding auxiliaries. Sixteen of these articles were donated. The women knitted 244 pairs of socks, 30 pairs of which were donated. The Junior Red Cross handed in 368 articles.

The treasurer reported receipts for the month, $809.37, which, with a balance on hand of $472.43, made a total in the treasury of $1361.80. Disbursements amounted to $1060.39, including $147 for prisoners of war and $315 for surgical supplies and $575.55 for material. Donations in cash were received from Bonnington, Robson and other places. The sum of $200 was voted for surgical supplies and $100 to the Prisoners of War fund.

The president read the names of those who had become life members before the recent campaign had started. They included: Mrs. F. P. Armstrong, Mrs. A. A. Johnson and Mrs. James Donaldson, the latter by the women of Fruitvale, and Mrs. J. M. Bulger and Mrs. H. Miller by the Rebekahs.

A feature of the meeting was the presentation to Mrs. Douche, the president, of a life membership pin and certificate, given by the members and workers of the local branch. The presentation was made by Rev. F. H. Graham, president of the mens auxiliary, who spoke in high terms of the work accomplished by Mrs. Douche.

BOLD BEARS KILL BELFORD CALVES

Not Frightened by Man—Relish Ripe and Green Strawberries.

Bears are becoming bold and doing considerable damage to ranches in the district according to reports. T. Robertson of Belford had two calves killed and another so badly mauled that it had to be shot. J. McPhail has had two yearling heifers missing for a couple of weeks. Rumors have been received of other damage to stock and crops in the vicinity.

Mr. McPhail was out looking for a cow the other day and heard a noise in the woods. He was right up to a black bear before he saw what it was. Efforts to frighten the bear were of no avail and bruin followed Mr. McPhail all the way home and stood with his forepaws on the fence and watched him enter the house. Next morning Mr. McPhail found that his half-acre strawberry patch had been ruined. The bear had eaten not only the ripe berries but also the green ones, most of the bushes also being destroyed.

All the bears reported to have been seen have been black except one near Belford, which was brown.

R. W. Drew and son, Cecil, of Regina, arrived in the city last night and were registered at the Hume. Mr. Drew was formerly district freight agent for the Canadian Pacific railway here and was transferred to Regina.

GARDEN PARTY AT PEEP O' DAY

Conservation Ideas Will Be Observed at I. O. D. E. Affair on Wednesday

Mrs. William Rutherford has again given her residence, Peep o' Day ranch, for a garden party. On Wednesday, July 10, the Daughters of the Empire will have the ranch to raise money for funds which will be devoted to helping the boys over there.

Following food conservation ideas, the women will hold a conservation cafeteria supper, which will take the place of the regular meal. Ice cream will be served during the afternoon and evening and an orchestra will be in attendance to furnish music.

Those attending will be conveyed from the ferry landing by automobile and launch and conveyances will meet every street car from 4 to 6:30 in the afternoon. Launches will run up until 10 o'clock for the convenience of patrons and a small fee will be charged.

Mrs. Rutherford's garden is stated to be especially pretty just now and the women guarantee something worth while to those who attend. Flowers will be on sale during the afternoon and evening.

STRAWBERRIES SCARCE AT MART

Cherries Cheaper—Big Demand For Meat—Small Fruits Plentiful

Strawberries were scarce at the local market on Saturday and the demand was much greater than the supply. Cherries were more plentiful and sold for five cents a box. Prices on other articles were much the same as last week and there was again a rush for meat. Nearly all the cuts of veal pork and beef on the market were bought up early and there was a crowd at the meat stalls during most of the forenoon.

Small fruits were more plentiful than last week and there was a good supply of vegetables. Lettuce, rhubarb, spinach and radishes sold for 5 cents a bunch. Gooseberries and currants were plentiful and received a large sale.

The usual display of homemade articles was on the market and considerable hot weather baking was avoided by the number of housewives who bought up bread, buns and such articles.

There was the usual display of house plants and many bought quantities of flowers.

RECEIVES BRUISES WHEN HORSE BOLTS

Ralph Forrester of the Imperial bank staff met with a slight accident yesterday when a horse he was riding bolted and dragged him for some distance. He received bruises to his arm and shoulder and was severely shaken up.

Forrester rode to J. A. Irving's camp at Willow Point with some companions and it was there that the horse ran away. His condition is not thought to be so serious as to keep him home for long.

Mrs. A. C. Brown of Fernie was a guest at the Hume last night.

AT THE THEATRES

Constance Talmadge's Leading Man

In "The Honeymoon," which will be shown at the Starland theatre today, Constance Talmadge introduces her new leading man, Earle Fox, young in years but experienced in dramatic and screen work. His more notable performances have been with Mae Murray and Pauline Frederick, and as Gerard Mordaunt in "Panthea" with Norma Talmadge, the well-known Select star. To his ingratiating youthfulness and personal attractiveness, Mr. Fox adds a deft farce touch that pleases universally.

His role in "The Honeymoon" offers an opportunity for him to display his best talents as the bridegroom who is distracted from the business in hand, so to speak, by his secret pledge to help his newly acquired brother-in-law. How his "overt" acts arouse the suspicions of his own high-strung wife and how he finally explains everything to her complete satisfaction, makes a bit of character work which Mr. Fox puts over with signal success to the great glee of the audience, and proves him a fitting foil for the captivating Constance Talmadge.

"A Man's Man"

"A Man's Man," the big photodrama in which J. Warren Kerrigan will make his first appearance as a Paralta star at the Gem theatre today, is considered by screen experts to be one of the best stories for photodramatic portrayal published in the last five years.

The character of John Stuart Webster, the mining engineer, who loves peace but makes fighting a business when he is forced into it, is a typical Kerrigan role. The scenes are laid in an Arizona desert, in Denver and New Orleans and in a Central American republic which is on the verge of a revolution.

Webster, the mining engineer, goes to this republic to help a young protege exploit a gold mine he has discovered. On his way he meets a young girl and falls deeply in love with her. This furnishes the heart interest of the story. He becomes embroiled in a revolution through aiding the son of the ex-president to avenge the death of his father. After the defeat of the usurper, the story comes to a snappy, happy ending, in the union of the engineer and the girl of the tale.

While collecting rent from Mrs. A. Diotte at Montreal, James Conway, 70 years of age, fell dead.
