DECIDE TO ABANDON GENEVA CONFERENCE AT MEETING OF MILLERAND AND GIOLITTI

Versailles Treaty to Be Enforced; Must Be Applied With Moderation by Victors and Loyalty by Vanquished; French Premier Agrees With Formula Adopted at Lucerne; Consider Adriatic Question

AIX LES BAINES, Sept. 12.—The French and Italian premiers, Alexander Millerand and Giovanni Giolitti held their long awaited conference here today. They met in the morning and discussed international questions for several hours The most important decision reached by the premiers today is reported to have been the postponement or definite abandonment of the Geneva conference.

At the conclusion of the mission the French premier said to the correspondent, "Our interviews have been most cordial and confident. Naturally we have agreed that an accord between Italy, Great Britain and France is indispensable not only in the interest of the three allied powers, but for the maintenance of world peace.

The treaty of Versailles must be enforced, as well as that of St. Germain and the others, because they constitute an entity, and one of them cannot fall without the others being shaken. I am absolutely in accord with that point upon the formula accepted at Lucerne that treaties must be applied with moderation by the victors and with loyalty by the vanquished.

"We also discussed the question of Soviets. Evidently each government consults its internal policy before adopting a precise attitude. You know what the French policy is. The policy of our allies does not appear to be different from our. Settlement of the Adriatic question occupied some of our time. Our position is unequivocal. Great Britain and France at San Remo; and myself before and after San Remo, had stated that neither Great Britain or France has the right to interfere between two parties when a question concerns them alone.

Frontier Guards Find Silver Ingots in German Auto

SARREGUE, France, Sept. 12.—An automobile containing nine hundred pounds of silver ingots in a false bottom, enroute from Germany to Strassburg, was stopped by customs guards at the frontier last night, it became known today.

PORTSMOUTH CONFERENCE CONCLUDES

No Conclusion Reached; Leave Miners and Government to Find Solution

PORTSMOUTH, Eng., Sept. 12. — the trades union congress concluded its session here yesterday without any attempt at intervention in the coal crisis. Most of the labor leaders, including the miners' delegates, left by afternoon trains and the scene of operations again will be transferred to London whire the miners' executive will meet early this week. The triple alliance composed of miners and railwaymen and transport workers, will also be called together again, it is stated, before the miners' notices expire on September 25. Whether the parliamentary committee of the union congress will make a definite proposal is regarded as problemmatical.

The restraint exercised by the congress delegates this week and their reluctance to propose mediation are considered to be due to the feeling that no useful purpose would be served at present by outside interference between the miners and the government.

METAGAMA RUNS ON SAND BANK

MONTREAL, Sept. 12.—Coming up the river from Quebec, which port it left on Saturday afternoon about 5 o'clock, the Metagama, of the C.P.O. S., inward bound from Liverpool, came to a halt in the early morning and it is expected, although there is no official confirmation of the fact tonight from the company's officials, that the vessel is embedded in a sand or mud bank some 25 miles from Montreal. The ship struck about 3 a.m., and though there was no damage nor harm to anyone, it was too deeply embedded apparently to get off.

The steamer Three Rivers, of the Canadian line, has been sent to the rescue, to the Isle of Bouchard to take off the 500 passengers on board.

It is stated that there was a fog prevailing at the time of the accident. Today tugs were trying to get her off but up to a late hour they were unsuccessful.

OTTAWA, Sept. 12.—(Can. Press).—An order in council fixing the date for Thanksgiving day will be passed at the next sitting of the cabinet to be held on Tuesday next. It is understood Monday, October 18 is practically certain to be the date, although there is a possibility that it might be October 11, one week earlier. Last year the holiday fell on Monday, October 13.

COAL CRISIS SITUATION IS STRAINED

No Relief in Sight; Make Preparations to Control Food in England

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The weekend has brought no relaxation in the tension due to the threatened strike of the coal miners, and though the public show no fear of a strike, no hope is apparent of avoid the trouble.

Premier Lloyd George supports firmly the official attitude and after a consultation with him on Saturday, Sir Robert Horne, the president of the board of trade, issued a statement pointing out that the miners refused to submit their wage demands to a competent court and declaring that the country was menaced by an industrial strike for political ends.

Strike notices were given out on Saturday.

The miners' executive meets on Tuesday. Meanwhile, the food controllers' estimates, in the event of a strike, prompt measures will be taken to restrict food consumption.

BOLSHEVIKI ARRANGE CONFERENCE

Soviet Delegates Leave for Riga; Poles Follow in Few Days

WARSAW, Sept. 12.—The conference between the Poles and Bolsheviki at Riga will begin September 18 or 20, according to the understanding here. The Soviet delegates left Moscow Friday and the Polish delegation is planning to depart within a few days.

COAL STRIKE INVOLVES SUGAR

LONDON, Sept. 11.—Announcement is made by the food controller that in the event of the coal miners striking, the weekly sugar ration will be reduced from twelve to six ounces per head.

NOT ENTHUSIASTIC ABOUT FEDERATION

MONTREAL, Sept. 12.—"I did not find evidence of enthusiasm for federation with Canada during my refact I found a good deal of resentcent visit to Newfoundland and in ment expressed in some quarters at the way in which people were inclined to regard Newfoundland as a sort of suburb of Canada," said Capt. Evan J. Edwards, his majesty's commissioner in Canada and Newfoundland, on his return from a 10-day visi tto Newfoundland. He added that despite the activity of the United States in the Island a large proportion of the Newfoundland trade was going to Great Britain.

WILL ADDRESS LABOR CONGRESS

OTTAWA, Sept. 12.—Hon. Arthur Meighen left the capital this afternoon for Windsor, where he will address the Dominion trades and labor congress, which opens in that city tomorrow.

After addressing the congress in the afternoon he will return immediately to the capital.

SIXTY THOUSAND MADE HOMELESS

FLORENCE, Italy, Sept. 12.—Official reports received by the prefect from the entire earthquake zone indicate that approximately 60,000 persons were made homeless by the disaster.

CLOTHES TAKE FIRE FROM GASOLINE

CALGARY, Sept. 13. — Charles Jackson, engineer on a ranch south west of the city, was so badly burned today that his death is expected, when his gasonline soaked clothing caught fire while he was engaged in repairing an engine. The owner of the ranch, Norman Harris, was slightly burned. Jackson's relatives live somewhere in Ontario.

CONDITION OF STRIKERS IS CRITICAL

Seven of Cork Prisoners Now in Serious State; Refuse Doctors

FATHER REFUSES TO PERMIT ASSISTANCE

Fears to Disregard Last Conscious Injunctions of the Youthful Prisoner

CORK, Sept. 12.—Michael Henes-hunger strikers in Cork jail appeared today to be in a critical condition. They are Zan Hennessey, the 19-year-old youth, Joseph Murphy, Thomas Donovan, Michael Burke, Upton, Power and Kenney. Hennessey still was unconscious today and the others were so weak that they were hardly able to speak. Murphy had a troublesome cough, but refuses to permit a doctor or nurse to do anything to alleviate.

The correspondent of the Associated Press was permitted to go into the jail and talk with the government physicians. He found the physicians themselves were suffering from the effects of the severe strain they are under.

Nuns Nearly Break Down

He also learned from four nuns, who in pairs are on duty ray and night, and the prison chaplain are on the point of a breakdown due to their unceasing vigils at the bedsides of the hunger strikers.

Dr. Pearson, it was learned, has had no sleep for 48 hours.

The physicians today confirmed that John Hennessey, father of young Hennessey, had changed his decision to permit the nuns to endeavor to keep his son alive. His change of mind came shortly after his decision to permit the nuns to endeavor to use the means suggested by the physicians. It appears that young Hennessey regained consciousness for a short interval directly after the father had consented to the plea of Harold Barry, former night sheriff of Cork, and that the old man was fearful of being put in the attitude technically of disregarding his boy's last conscious injunction.

Mr. Hennessey had placed the greatest hopes in efforts Mr. Barry was making to obtain his son's release and last evening when a reprieve was not forthcoming he became hysterical. The prison doctors are treating him.

Issue Reprisal Warnings

CORK, Sept. 12.—Michael Hennessey, brother of Zan Hennessey, showed the Associated Press a slip of paper today, apparently made by a multigraph machine, which he said he had taken from a lamp post in a street leading to the jail early this morning. The paper reads:

"In some districts loyalists and members of his majesty's forces have read notices threatening the destruction of their homes in certain eventualities. Under these circumstances it has been decided that for every loyal house destroyed the house of a Republican leader will similarly be dealt with. It is naturally hoped that the necessity for such reprisals will not arise, and therefore this warning that punishment will follow any destruction of loyalist houses is being circulated." According to young Hennessey, similar warnings were posted during the early morning hours in various parts of Cork on lamp posts, signboards and dead walls.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Mrs. MacSweeney, when she left Brixton prison early this evening, after visiting her husband, told the correspondents that Lord Mayor MacSweeney's condition was practically unchanged since the afternoon and he was suffering from severe pains.

CLAIM DEFEAT OF GENERAL WRANGEL

Berlin Reports Advise Reverses for Reds in Crimea and at Brest-Litovsk

LONDON, Sept. 12.—An official Russian report received in Berlin speaks of occupation of newly fortified positions on the Bug River, and the almost total destruction of the forces of General Wrangel, the anti-Bolshevik leader, says a wireless despatch from Berlin.

The despatch adds that the Poles retreated near Brest-Litovsk before a new Russian offensive.

REINFORCEMENTS FOR MESOPTAMIA

SIMLA, India, Sept. 12.—It is announced that three European and seven Indian regiments will embark in a few days for Mesopotamia to reinforce the British troops there now. The reinforcement is to be made owing to the disturbed condition of the country.

SWAP TEACHERS WITH ANTIPODES

VANCOUVER, Sept. 12.—Marking an innovation countenanced by the educational authorities of British Columbia and New Zealand, Miss Emily Roche, of Hamilton, N.Z., arrived in Vancouver this afternoon to take up teaching under the local school trustees, exchanging her situation with that of Miss Edna Frame, of this city, who has already gone to the Antipodes.

COMMENCE ENQUIRY ON TARIFF

First Sittings at Winnipeg, Thence Commission Tours the West

OTTAWA, Sept. 12 (Can. Press).—The cabinet tariff commission which will make a coast-to-coast inquiry into tariff matters, in order that there may be a comprehensive revision at the next session of parliament has commenced its travels. On Saturday night Sir Henry Drayton minister of finance and Hon. G. D. Robertson, minister of labor, another member of the commission, left for Winnipeg, where the first sitting will be held on Tuesday.

They were acompanied by D. J. Roberts, secretary of the commission, several press representatives, official stenographers and a mail clerical staff. Hon. J. A. Calder, who will shortly return from England and will go west later on to join the commission. Hon. S. F. Tomie will take his place at the sittings to be held in British Columbia.

The commission will spend one month in the west, after which it will commence a tour of the east. The eastern itinerary was not quite ready and will be given out after the commission arrives in the west.

CRAZY MAN SHOOTS TWO

Holds Up Auto and Kills Sisters With Stolen Rifle

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Miss Sadie and Miss Susie Felter, sisters, who were school teachers in New Brunswick, N. J., died this afternoon as the result of bullet wounds inflicted by Mike Mazurich, an ex-soldier known in the neighborhood of Steelton, N. J., where the shooting occurred early this morning, as "Crazy Mike."

Seven members comprised the automobile party, which was proceeding through a lonely road when the assailant, wearing a British army officer's uniform and with a Lee Enfield slung over his shoulder, stood in front of the car and levedel the gun at the group.

"You have got something in that car that's mine," said the intruder.

The driver protested good-naturedly. A short talk followed, Mazurich firing at the group and mortally wounding the two sisters.

He was captured later by a posse of soldiers.

Mazurich had stolen the rifle and uniform Saturday from the home of Capt. Alexander Monroe of Steenton, late of the Canadian Expeditionary force. Captain Monroe reported the robbery and identified the rifle.

Mazurich has been known as an eccentric.

SEVERE STORM AT NIAGARA FALLS

ST. CATHARINES, Sept. 12.—The worst wind and hail storm that has ever visited the Niagara Falls belt swept over a portion of it on Saturday afternoon and caused a total loss to some fruit growers.

The destruction took place in a narrow area of about half a mile in width and about five miles in length of Port Weller, along the south shore of Lake Ontario. As telephone connection among the fruit growers in that section is demoralized the complete damage will not be known for at least two days.

The severest storm of the season hit Niagara Falls, Ont., on Saturday, and did considerable damage.

There was no serious enjury as a result of the storm, but there were several narrow escapes.

Queen Victoria Park today presents a scene of devastation. Hundreds of trees were uprooted and broken off. Power and light standards made of iron were bent like putty and were lying flat on the ground. Heavy limbs were all over the ground of the park. In Niagara Falls hundreds of trees were felled by the storm and all streets were littered with tree trunks and heavy limbs. Century-old trees at Lundy Lane were torn out of the ground. The factory of the Niagara Falls Canning company was unroofed and large sections carried hundreds of feet away. The building was struck by lightning and the storm wrecked the upper story. The loss on the structure was about $20,000 besides damage done to the thousands of canned goods.

GOVERNMENT ACKNOWLEDGES RIGHT OF APPEAL AGAINST RAILWAY RATE INCREASES

Declines to Grant Stay of Order; Judgments Not Set Aside Lightly; Points Out That Increases Have Terminal Date; No Such Finality in States' Charges

OTTAWA, Sept. 16.—(Can. Press). The Dominion government, in an official statement handed out tonight, declines to grant a stay in the order of the board of railway commissioners granting the Canadian railways the right of increasing their freight, passenger and sleeping car rates.

The order goes into effect tomorrow.

The statement points out that the decisions of the railway board cannot be lightly interfered with, and that since the board has been in operation no judgment of the board has been set aside by the governor in council.

The government, however, recognizes the right of appeal, and will facilitate in every way the early hearing of the appeal.

The statement also sets forth: "If if should appear to be a case where the appeal should be granted and the decision modified or reversed, there could, if deemed proper, be proven for rebates of rates charged beyond those fived ultimately."

Board Not Government Department

The government statement follows:

"Telegrams have been received from different part of the country protesting against the judgment of the board of railway commissioners franting increases in railway rates, and requiring that the action of the board should be first suspended and afterwards set aside by the government. Many of the wires received have been sent under misapprehension as to the position of the board of railway commissioners and its relation to the governmnt. The wires, indeed, would imticate that a belief exists which, if not prevalent, has at least obtained in certain parts of the country, that the board of railway commissioners is merely a department of the government service.

This is not the case, and it is important that the right position be stated. In 1903, parliament decided that the control of railways was to be removed from direct departmental and political inteference, and provision was made for a board of railway commissioners. The board was subsequently constituted, and has since discharged the statutory and judicial functions assigned to it in a manner undoubtedly, on the whole, in the public interest and to the general acceptation of the people. It has not been interfered with by this or any other government. Instead of being a mere governmental department, the board is by statute constituted a court and has the rights, privileges and independence of a court.

The act, however, provides for an appeal to the governor in council on such appeals, to vary or rescind an order, rule or decision of the board. The practice that has grown up under this rule is well settled.

The board's judgment goes into effect on Monday, the 13th instant. The government has had before it the complete judgment of the railway commission embodying reference to the evidence and the reasons for judgment. This has been carefully studied. As against this there have been and of course could be presented brief contentions by way of protest.

The judgment finds that the relief granted is necessary and should be applied at once and this after the hearing of evidence and arguments on both sides, a suspension means more or less indefinite postponement, and if the judgment is right would render impossible the remedying of an injustice so done. The judgment of the commissioners it is stated is unanimous, being concurred in by all the commissioners who sat on the case, and further indicates that the objections now urged were taken into account.

The official judgment of the interstate commerce commission of the United States, has as well, been available for reference. This judgment, it may be noted, is now in force. A perusal of this judgment discloses that more general and in many cases, heavier increases have been granted to railways in that country. For example, on coal the interstate chamber of commerce has increased the rate 35 per cent in western territory and 40 per cent in eastern territory. In Canada the rates on coal are increased 10 cents a ton on all existing rates not exceeding 80, an increase of 15 cents per ton on all existing rates over 80 cents per ton and not exceeding $1.50 per ton, and 20 per cent per ton on all existing rates over $1.50 per ton.

It will be noted the increase in Canada is very considerably lower. Coal constitutes a large proportion of the total traffic of Canadian carriers. The rates on sand, gravel and crushed stone in the United States have been increased 40 per cent for the eastern territory and 35 in the western. In Canada no increase whatever is allowed. On cordwood, slabs and mill refuse used for domestic fuel the same increase has been granted in the States, while in Canada the increase is held down to 10 per cent.

Over and above this the increases in the States are not limited as to time in the manner in which increases in Canada are. The general increases of 35 per cent in western territory and 40 per cent in eastern territory allowed by the Canada board are reduced under the judgment to 30 per cent and 35 per cent, effective January 1, and in addition the railway companies are bound to submit monthly statements that their earnings may be checked and reductions made in rates, in case the rates allowed prove unnecessarily high.

It should be noted that the increase in passenger rates is also limited. In the American territory the increase is 20 per cent, but in Canada the increase of 20 per cent is to be reduced to 10 per cent, effective January 1st, next, and on celled altogether. No similar limi- July 1st, next, the increase is cantations are made in the American orders. The above references are such merely as have been open to the ascertainment of the government in the short time intervening before the date fixed for the application of the commission's order.

Give Facility for Appeals

The whole subject can, however, be fully wone into on appeal. Every facility will be given to argue the merits of all contentions advanced and to review the entire order. If it should appear to be a case where the appeal has been granted and the decision modified or reversed there could if deemed proper be a provision for rebates or rates charged beyond those ultimately fixed.

The government while deciding that it could not justify now a suspension of the order will facilitate in every way the early hearing of the appeal.

Winnipeg Strongly Protests

WINNIPEG, Sept. 12.—Commenting upon the latest statement by the government on the freight rates on the railroads, D. A. Clarke of the Winnipeg board of trade said the official statement of the government shows a woeful lack of knowledge of the acts it presumes to deal with." The order of the board was granted in 1917 increasing rates, was first suspended in its operation, and then entirely rescinded. Under the War Measures act an increase in rates was granted by the governor in council, but this order provided that a portion of the C.P.R. earnings should be paid to the government.

"In view of the fact that more than half the railway mileage belongs to the government and further in view of the statements of the minister of railways before the hearing, particularly Vancouver, and the fact that the board obviously assumed functions that do not belong to it in dealing with the government railway deficit, it is obvious that the railway commission has become in fact whatever it may be in theory the instrument of the minister of railways, or D. B. Hanna, the president of government railways. This conclusion is confirmed by the Hon. Dr. Reid's statement in Toronto commending the railway board in making the increase in rates, in the way and to the extent they did, making the excuse that the people had the money and could pay. Would it not have been wiser to have paid the deficit out of national revenue rather than to make an increase in rates which means that the people of Canada pay directly more than twice that amount and indirectly several times as much, the larger part of the increase going to the C.P.R., 85 per per cent of whose shareholders are residents outside of Canada.

PROPOSES BUSSES TO REDUCE STREET FARES

WINNIPEG, Sept. 12.—Abolition of e office of public utilities commissioner by repeal of the act, and the tablishment of a bus service by e city will be urged by the special mmittee appointed by the Dominn labor party to formulate a fight- policy against increased street r fares. The committee has agreed submit the following recommendaons at the next meeting of the rty, on Sept. 23:

That the city council be asked seek from the provincial legisture the repeal of the Public Utiles act;

That the labor party be asked to ll a public meeting before which e following resolution should be ced:

That owing to the recent action the public utilities commissioner contract between the city of Winpeg and the Winnipeg Street railay company has, in effect, been ndered null and void, therefore we commend that the city council ingurate a bus service to reduce nsportation rates to a reasonable e."

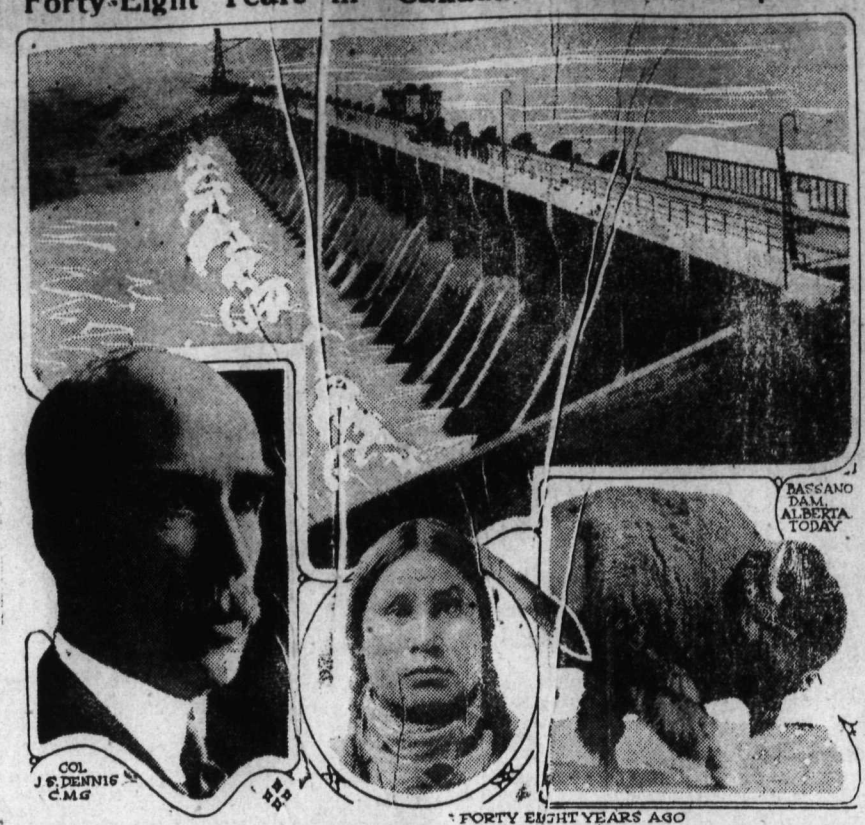
Forty-Eight Years in "Canada's Western Empire"



FORTY EIGHT YEARS AGO

Colonel John S. Dennis, C. M. G., who rode the plains of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba 48 years ago, when Indians and buffalo were plentiful, knows more about "Canada's Western Empire" than any other man. He killed and ate the buffalo, narrowly escaped being scalped by Indians on at least one occasion, suggested and built in Alberta the largest irrigation system in North America, recruited thousands of British and Canadians in the United States during the recent war and not only volunteered for but saw service with the Canadian Expeditionary Force in Siberia.

Now the four western provinces of Canada have a population of 2,500,000, the buffalo are to be found only in parks in the Canadian Rockies and, the Indians, are on reservations. There are nearly 20,000 miles of railway in the four provinces, or one mile for each 125 persons and of 225,000,000 acres of good agricultural land, but 35,000,000 acres are at present occupied and cultivated. Of the balance, 190,000,000 acres, some 30,000,000 acres lie within fifteen miles of these railway lines waiting for settlers. "Think of it," says Col. Dennis, "and the world crying out for food." His view is that while Canada has won a standing among the nations by her work in the recent war so that today the name "Canadian" is recognized as distinguishing a citizen of a progressive and virile country, Canada's share in the great struggle has involved her in financial obligations which can only be met and discharged by increasing her population and developing her vast natural resources which, while ample security for many times her war debt, must be made productive of wealth through development

Between 1905 and 1914 about 2,500,000 people settled in Canada, the largest proportion in the four western provinces. They left Great Britain, the United States and other countries for their new home, and Col. Dennis believes that 500,000 each year may follow them until these provinces have a total population of 10,000,000. Canada, he further believes, is destined to be "the keystone in the arch of the British Empire."

Rev. James MacGibbon, minister of Glasgow cathedral, was presented by his congregation with the D.D. robe and hood to mark the honor conferred on him by the Glasgow university. Mrs. MacGibbon received a crystal vase as a souvenir of the occasion. The presentation included a case of treasury notes for Dr. MacGibbon, which he asked leave to return to the convener of the finance committee to be devoted to whatever service of the church they considered best.

CHILDLESS WOMEN

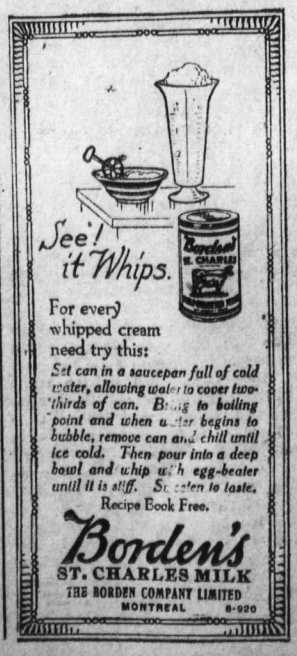
Please Read This Letter And See What Normal Health Will Do For You.

Berwick, Ont.—"I had organic trouble, and after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Medicine all my troubles passed away. I was made strong and well and have been ever since. Now we have a fine baby boy six months old, and I know that I would not have this baby and would still be suffering if it had not been for your remedies. My husband and myself say that your remedies are worth their weight in gold, and I recommend them to my friends. One of my aunts is taking them now."—Mrs. NAPOLEON LAVIGNE, Berwick, Ontario, Canada.

Among the virtues of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is its ability to correct sterility in many cases. This fact is well established as evidenced by the above letter and hundreds of others we have published in these columns.

In many other homes, once childless, there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.



For every whipped cream need try this:

Set can in a saucepan full of cold water, allowing water to cover two-thirds of can. Bring to boiling point and when water begins to bubble, remove can and chill until ice cold. Then pour into a deep bowl and whip with egg-beater until it is stiff. Sweeten to taste.

LIBRARY TO GET LOANED VOLUMES

Commission Will Circulate Five Hundred Books Continuously, Says Secretary

The Nelson public library very shortly will have its quota of books enlarged by the addition of 500 loaned volumes of miscellaneous works, ranging from light literature to purely technical works, as the result of the activities of the public libraries commission, Herbert Killam, secretary of the commission, who is in the city, stated yesterday. Mr. Killam is touring the interior of the province to ascertain at first hand the needs and desires of communities in regard to libraries and books, and as to how the commission may be of service in stimulating interest in books, and assisting in establishing libraries throughout the province.

With 45,000 volumes at its disposal, 20,000 of which belong to the provincial library at Victoria and the other 25,000 to the traveling library department of the commission's work, the commission is seeking to get the books constantly in the hands of the public by every means within its power states Mr. Killam. It is urging the establishment of public libraries in the larger centers, to which loans such as that intended to Nelson can be made, the 500 volumes to be replaced every six months with an equal number of other volumes.

It is advocating the formation of library associations, by which a small number of persons can establish small libraries in their communities to which volumes may be added by purchase, gift, and by loan from the commission.

Another plan advocated particularly for small communities and camps, is that of direct borrowing from the stock of the commission, says Mr. Killam. Under that plan, one person becomes responsible for a number of books loaned by the commission, to be let out to readers. The plan has met with much success in the past, there being over 250 receiving books from the commission at present. On his tour, Mr. Killam has induced Creston and Fernie to form library associations of their own.

While in the city Mr. Killam met library boord and discussed matters several members of the Nelson public relative to the betterment of the library, which he classed as being the nucleus of a first class all round public library, conducted in a commendable manner. He stated he would endeavor to assist the board to bring the library into more general use by some plan of judicious advertising.

From Nelson Mr. Killam will proceed to Kaslo today, and then will go on to Revelstoke, Salmon Arm, Penticton, Grand Forks, Trail and Rossland.

He is desirous of meeting persons interested in the work and advises any community wishing to form a library association, or a public library, or any community in need of books to write to write to the public libraries commission, Parliament Buildings, Victoria.

FIVE CHINESE ARE BAPTIZED

An interesting ceremony was witnessed at the Chinese Methodist Mission building last evening when five Celestials formally embraced the Christian religion and were baptized by Rev. J. P. Westman, assisted by Chow Ling, the Chinese missionary, in the presence of about 25 members of Trinity Methodist church, and an equal number of Chinese.

The baptismal service, the first in the history of the Nelson mission, was read in Chinese by Chow Ling, the responses of the candidates also being spoken in Chinese. The candidates were Charlie Chow, Cran Lend Sam, Kong Quan See, Mah Yip, Dar Wing Sing. After the concluding hymn, which was sung in Chinese and English, those in attendance were given light refreshments by the members of the mission.

WANTS BROTHER'S LETTER TO BE WILL

A Soldier's sister, formerly living in Co. Roscommon, applied to the court for an order that a letter that was written by her late brother, Martin Doyle, be regarded as a will, and that it be admitted to probate. Doyle was living in Australia at the commencement of the war, and he joined the Australian Imperial Forces in 1915. He served in France and in the Dardanelles, and was sent to England in 1917, and he remained either in England or in Ireland until February, 1919, when he wrote the letter from Sandhill Camp in England, to his sister, who was a nurse at St. Leonard's hospital, Shoreditch, London. In that letter he enclosed a bank deposit receipt for $1,085 and told her that if anything should happen to him the money was to be hers.

A public house kept by an ex-sergeant of the Royal Irish Constabulary in Russell street, Tralee, was damaged by some explosive substance, which was placed inside the door, about two o'clock in the morning. The glass in the doors and windows was shattered, but no further damage was done, though the explosion made a terrific noise. The windows of the public-house of a prominent Sinn Feiner, named O'Sullivan, at Lower Bridge street, were wrecked by stones two hours later.

KING GEORGE HAS COLLECTION OF CURIOS

Probably few of the thousands who visit Windsor Castle every year have seen the museum, near the Equerries' entrance, in which King George treasures his private collection of curios, ranging from war relics to walking sticks.

Here you will see mementoes of every campaign of recent years, including King Theodore's cap and gold seal, presented to Queen Victoria at the conclusion of the Abyssinian war; the scarlet saddle, edged with gold, captured from the late ameer of Afghanistan; and the crimson banner of Wad Bishara, which fell into Lord Kitchener's hands at Firket.

Here, too, is to be seen a wonderful collection of old china, consisting of 10,000 pieces, and valued at three quarters of a million dollars.

One, a beautiful dessert service of Chevres ware alone represents a value of $150,000, while a breakfast service given to George III. on his birthday in 1810 by his daughter, is worth $50,000.

Among the furniture are the writing desk given by Henry VIII. to Anne Boleyn on their wedding day, and a Venetian chair, used by the Doges and dated 1670. There is also a solid silver table of the same period.

The King's collection of feather cloaks is valued at $50,000. They are composed of gold, black, and crimson feathers from the wings of a now extinct species of parrot, and were given to George IV. by the king of the Sandwich Islands in 1824.

Not far away may be found the collections of walking sticks King Edward inherited from his mother, numbering 187 in all, many of them of great value. One, purchased at the Culloden sale in 1897, is carved to represent Wisdom and Folly; another, of black oak, originally belonged to Charles II, while a third is made from the wood of the luckless Alabama.

Not the least interesting feature of the royal museum is the collection of gold keys, presented to King George and his royal predecessors on the occasion of opening buildings, to each of which is attached a brief account of the ceremony with which it is connected.

The Royal crown of Persia, which dates back to remote ages, is in the form of a pot of flowers, surmounted by an uncut ruby the size of a hen's egg.

AGED PROSPECTOR IS STILL MISSING

Renewed search on Saturday for the missing aged prospector, Jacob Green, for whom a search party under provincial Constable H. W. King scoured the mountainside in the vicinity of the prospectors mineral claims and cabin on Evening Mountain all day Friday, failed to throw any light on the mysterious disappearance of the prospector, although the search was continued all day.

Going out to the cabin at daybreak on Saturday, the party, consisting of Constable King, Nels Blomberg, Alex. Long, and O. Humphrey, made a minute search of the trail and the country around, which probably on account of its rocky nature, failed to reveal the slightest clue. It was surmised that Mr. Green did not reach his cabin, which is little more than a shelter, as his blanket, pack and rifle had been found 50 yards down the trail, and the door of the cabin had not been opened. Efforts to induce the old man's dog to trail his master or to give a pointer as to the direction he had taken, were also unsuccessful. The dog persistently refuses to leave the cabin and is being fed daily by Joe Munro, who is working on his claim, the Zero.

The violent rainstorms of yesterday prevented a further search, but it is probable that it will be taken up again today if the weather clears.

PLAYERS MAKE BALFOUR TRIP

Braving the rain in launches, the Nelson Players took their promised trip to Balfour Saturday afternoon, and successfully presented their program of one-act plays to the patients at the sanatarium, and also to several of the neighboring ranchers who attended.

After the program, tea was served to the members of the players party and they returned in the evening.

Those who went up were, Mesdames Radley Liversidge, I. A. Smith, Guy Wrigth, Arthur Graham, and Misses Audrey Blanchard, Winnifred Palethorpe, Muriel Smythe, Edna Parker, Ethel Morrison and Maud Simons, and Leslie Craufurd, Rancelor Blanchard, Nelson Ball, Frank Hodge, Philip Trail, Griffith Morris, Arthur Graham, W. Elford, Guy Smith and Rene J. Bray.

ARCHER'S CHAMPION PLUM FROM KASLO

R. L. McBride, returning from a trip to Kaslo, brought down a climax plum weighing 5½ ounces, and seven inches in circumference, grown on F. E. Archer's ranch at Kaslo. The monster fruit was beautifully colored and luscious in flavor.

SOCIAL CLUB HAS ITS FIRST ANNUAL

At the C. P. R. Social club's first annual meeting held in the K. P. hall on Friday evening reports of a highly successful years work were read.

The election of officers took place, as follows: President, E. Y. Brake; Vice-president, R. V. Ramsden; secretary, Miss E. M. Rodger; treasurer, H. Proctor; executive committee, G. Wright, James McKenzie, Leo McKinnon, H. Smith, and S. Hillyard.

A program was then rendered, the C. P. R. orchestra giving selections, and Mrs. Bradley rendering a song which was encored

Refreshments, the next item, were followed by a dance, which about 100 members, and a few friends attended. The C. P. R. Orchestra suppling the music. Dancing was kept up until 1 o'clock.

PERFUME FROM FLOWERS

Gather the flowers from which you wish to extract the perfume, with as little stalk as possible, and place them in a jar three parts filled with olive or almond oil. After twenty-four hours tur nthem out ina coarse cloth and squeeze all the oil from them. Thow away the old flowers and repeat the process with fresh gathered flowers three or four times, according to the strength of the perfume desired. The oil being thoroughly impregnated with the volatile particles of the flowers, is then to be mixed with an equal quantity of pure rectified spirit, and shaken every day for a fortnight. It nay then be poured off and will be found pleasantly scented and fit for use.

JUNIOR POULTRY CLASS POPULAR

Many Inquiries Being Received; Specials Bring Out Beginners

Many inquiries are being received by Secretary A. Wallach, of the West Kootenay Poultry and Pet Stock association regarding the junior classes in the poultry section of the coming Nelson fall fair.

The prize list does not go into details regarding the junior section, except as to the prizes ofered, but it is the intention to accept junior entries for any standard variety of poultry. The entire list of varieties given for the adult section should also be read into the junior section.

Inquiries are being received as to whether canaries, pet mice and other cage birds or pet stock may be entered. Though these are not specified in the prize list, it is the understanding that anything that comes fairly under the designation of pet stock will be awarded space if sent in.

From the interest being shown by persons who are not confirmed exhibitors, the prospects are that many Kootenay breeders wil make their first poultry entries at the coming fair. It was to encourage these that the Poultry association has put up special prizes for birds entered in in the regular classes by exhibitors who have never previously won a first prize for poultry. In fact, the poultry section this time may take on the character of a beginner's show.

Sir Arthur Boscawen, in a written answer, agrees that the proposal to continue the Daylight Saving bill is not favored by farmers, but in view of the benefit of the scheme to the great majority of the population the ministry of agriculture is not in a position to take any action.

Hohenzollern Chops Wood, but Would Chop Heads

William Hohenzollern is reported as savagely chopping wood at Dorn and declaring that when he returns to Germany heads will fly like the chips which fall from his axe.

That is so characteristic of the Hohenzollern maniac that it is true in essence if apocryphal in substance. William II of Germany to a remarkable degree stands as the personification of wartime Germany. In him all that was most dangerous and vile in the Prussian theory of German perfection and invincibility and therefore the right of Germany to rule all others had its symbol. Whether Wilhelm led Germany into the crazy path it chose or whether the German national obsession made of its national mouthpiece a lunatic is to some extent debateable ground, although the verdict of history will probably be that the origin of Germany's disease dates back beyond Wilhelm.

Vorwaerts now says sarcastically that the remark at Doorn is new evidence of Wilhelm's greatness as a politician. That remark appears natural enough from an organ of a people anxious to forget its past errors, but the world will remember that in the past the spirit behind just such remarks was entirely politic as far as the German people was concerned. It applauded with loud "hochs" every blood and iron and mailed fist declaration of its emperor, often even when such remarks had bearing upon internal affairs.

Another Development in Means of Communication

News that construction of the telephone line to Slocan City is to begin practically at once is good. While the delays in building the line have been regrettable they have evidently been unavoidable and every effort is now to be made to make up for lost time.

Every improvement in means of communication, whether by means of telephone, telegraph, highways or railroads which the East and West and Boundary districts can secure is of importance to the development of this territory.

Better communication makes it easier to improve agricultural land or develop mineral or timber property. It makes it easier to get goods to the market, if facilitates construction of plant and the getting in of supplies and it means dollars and cents in the pockets of the people of the district and is to the general advantage of the province and, in fact, the Dominion as a whole.

Y. M. C. A. AND BALFOUR SANATORIUM

To the Editor of the Daily News:

Sir.—In a recent issue of your paper there appeared a letter from George Little, to the contents of which my attention has been drawn. I appreciate fully the motive prompting Mr. Little's letter and I have every sympathy for him and the hundreds of other returned heroes who are patients in the various hospitals and sanatoria of our country. As secretary of the Military Secretary department of the Y.M.C.A. for Alberta and British Columbia, it has been my duty and privilege to visit periodically these institutions to see in what way our organization can help the men there. Mr. Little does not mention the Y.M.C.A. as one of the organizations which he says have been neglecting the Balfour patients, but he does not, on the other hand, specially name it as one trying to do its full duty towards these men. I would therefore, Mr. Editor, ask permission to state briefly what the Y.M.C.A. has been and still is doing for the men in the hospitals and sanatoria, making special reference to the Balfour Sanatorium.

During 1920 to date, we have spent over $600 for the Balfour men, which sum does not include services secured without cost to us or supplies sent from stocks on hand. Through the Y.M.C.A. the Balfour patients have had a weekly moving picture show. We supplied them with two gramophones and a large number of first class records. For those who can use them we have sent a considerable number of golf sticks and balls, and for the trapshooting club we have supplied shells. For bed patients unable to sit up and write letters, we supplied a little Corona typewriter. In addition, we have subscribed for a number of papers and magazines, have sent quantities of books, have kept a constant supply of writing paper and envelopes and have sent billiard supplies. We have encouraged the men to send in their requests, and have nearly always been able to grant them. These are some of the services rendered at Balfour by the Military service department of the National Council of the Y.M.C.A. and does not take into account what has been done by the local association at Nelson, which is a commendable chapter in itself. Throughout all Canada similar services have been and are being rendered according to the varying conditions and needs. If we, together with the other organizations, have not been able to drive away the loneliness and melancholy entirely, it is not through lack of desire or effort, but because of limitations of knowledge and financial ability. As an official of the Y.M.C.A. I hope the publication of Mr. Little's letter and others which may have followed it, as has mine, will arounse a greater interest in the welfare of the men still on the hospital list, and lead to larger efforts by all who can to make the lives of these returned heroes in hospitals and sanatoria happier and brighter.

Thanking you for the use of your valuable space,

H. A. PEARSON,

Vancouver, B.C., Sept. 9, 1920.

Montreal's Mayor and Sinn Fein

To the Editor of The Daily News:

Sir.—In your Thursday's issue you publish a cablegram to the British premier from the mayor of Montreal, who considers that the assassination of policemen in the execution of their duty is a "political" crime, and seems grieved that a man who follows this policy should be allowed to commit suicide; and, moreover, is "convinced that the population of the whole Dominion is anxious that he should be liberated at once."

Perhaps you will kindly allow a little space for the views of another nobody, who, for his part, is "convinced that the law-abiding population of the whole Dominion is anxious that the British government should firmly execute justice on cowardly criminals and utterly ignore intimidation from any quarter whatever. I say, advisedly "cowardly," as I fancy all right-thinking men will agree that those who actually carry out these dastardly crimes, knowing that if caught their lives are forfeit, are, comparatively speaking, brave men beside those who secretly incite them to do so. All who do not openly denounce these crimes and lend their best endeavors toward the apprehension of the criminals have, at least, a passive share in the guilt of such incitement, but the chief criminals are the active approvers of this iniquous Sinn Fein policy, particularly those holding high office; it is distinctly in the interests of law and order that such men should depart from our midst, and to be allowed to commit suicide seems an act of grace in comparison with their deserts.

It will be time enough for the mayor of Montreal to speak for the population of the whole Dominion when he sends a cablegram expressing his hatred and detestation of the cowardly crimes committed with the approval—if not with the active participation—of the Sinn Fein, and hoping that summary justice will be meted out to all who take part, actively or passively, in them.

May I add, in conclusion, that if many other public officials of Montreal hold the same opinions as the mayor, I should not care to be a candidate for the police force of that city.

Latest Solutions of the Clothes Problem

It is well worth studying how to acquire a knack for original detail, which is onethird the problem in contriving attractive clothes. Few designs are entirely original. Most dresses are merely a combination of details found in old fashion plates illustrating the gowns of former periods, and the clothes illustrated in old portraits. Take the Duvetyn coat here illustrated. A little extreme to be sure, with its harem, or tucked-in-hem, and full panel back, and it is ruby red, too, trimmed with kolinsky. But the woman who has a knack for adapting styles to suit her, will see only the panel, which will especially please her. She may prefer it free of gathers. Or she may choose the lapped-over seam effect, and may even adapt it to a dress instead.

YOUNG WOMEN HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

Two young women who were going to mass in Dungarvan in a pony and trap had a remarkable escape at a railway crossing. Miss McGrath and Miss Hobin, of Knock, near Dungarvan, were driving across the level crossing of Clonca, when the express coming from Waterford down the incline rushed upon them. The pony was on the line, and the engine caught him and severed the head from the body. The shafts were injured, but the ladies were unhurt.

TOLD IN RHYME

BABY

Where did you come from, baby dear?
Out of the everywhere into here.

Where did you get those eyes so blue?
Out of the sky as I came through.

What makes the light in them sparkle and spin?
Some of the starry spikes left in.

Where did you get that little tear?
I found it waiting when I got here.

What makes your forehead so smooth and high?
A soft hand stroked it as I went by.

What makes your cheek like a warm white rose?
I saw something better than anyone knows.

Whence that three-cornered smile of bliss?
Three angels gave me at once a kiss.

Where did you get this pearly ear?
God spoke, and it came out to hear.

Where did you get those arms and hands?
Love made itself into bonds and bands.

Feet, whence did you come, you darling things?
From the same box as the cherub's wings.

How did they all just come to be you?
God thought about me, and so I grew.

But how did you come to us, you dear?
God thought about you, and so I am here.

WHAT THE PRESS IS SAYING

Washington; Irving; Eugenie

A single human being linked together the span of life of George Washington, who was born in 1732, and the Empress Eugenie, who has just died in this year 1920. One day on Broadway, near St. Paul's church, the first president of the United States, patted on the head the six-year-old son of a prosperous New York merchant. Fifty years later this boy, Washington Irving, grown to fame as the first American literary man to be acknowledged in Europe, while living in Spain and writing his delightful historical and descriptive accounts of that land, used to dandle on his knee a poor Spanish count's little six-year-old child, whose mother was a daughter of the American consul at Malaga, William Kirkpatrick.

Irving lived to see that little child become Eugenie, Empress of the French, queen of fashion, reigning beauty of the world and head of the dazzling, if tawdry, court of that queer adventurer and imperialistic humbug, Napoleon III. — Brooklyn Standard-Union.

Enemy Insects

The ravages of insects do more damage to crops than the vagaries of the weather, and give the deciding factor in the success or failure of cultivation. Our stored harvests, our reserves of food, our furniture, and clothing, our books and manuscripts are objects of their attacks. A slight increase in their virulence or defect in our vigilance might at any time shake our fancied security. Fortunately a weak point in the life-history of many pernicious insects has already been found—usually an exact adaptation to some narrow set of conditions in the egg or the grub, the pupa or the adult, and by directing the attack on this a pest has been foiled. Fortunately, also, we have allies as well as enemies in the insect ranks. But we have yet to apply with system and thoroughness the knowledge that has been gained, and there is still a vast field of ignorance. — London Times.

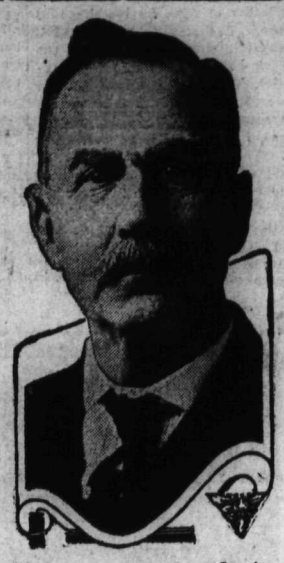
W. H. JOHNSON, of Portland, Ore., who says no one could have done him any greater kindness than the friend who advised him to try Tanlac—Gains fifteen pounds.



"Not in a long time have I enjoyed such good health or felt so well generally, as I do since taking Tanlac," said W. H. Johnson, 319 East 43rd St., Portland, Ore., who holds a responsible position with the Northwest Tranfser Company.

"About a year ago I began suffering from lack of appetite and stomach trouble and since that time—that is, until Tanlac set me right—, I have felt so poorly that I could hardly do my work. My food seemed to do me little good, if any, as my digestion was bad, and I lost both weight and strength continually.

"After every meal there was a dull, nagging pain in the pit of my stomach that kept me feeling miserable for hours.

"The gas from my sour, undigested food would bloat me up terribly and my nerves were so upset that I would lie awake half the night unable to sleep. I was constantly having blinding dizzy spells and could not bend over and straighten up quickly but what everything seemed as dark as night to me.

"I was telling a friend one day how bad I felt and he advised me to try Tanlac and I just want to say he couldn't have done me a greater kindness.

"I have picked up all of fifteen pounds in weight, my appetite is fine, and although I am eating just anything I want my stomach never gives me a particle of trouble. My sleep is sound and restful and my strength and energy have been so renewed that my work is no longer a burden to me."

ELECTRICITY IN WIRE FENCES

Some time ago the U. S. department of agriculture was led by complaints from farmers to investigate the cause of the corrosion of wire fences. Experts concluded that the cause of the trouble was a metallurgical problem. The older iron wire is said to be more durable than the steel wire later introduced. The results of the tests made seem to indicate that manganese in the wire may have something to do with the corrosion. Manganese dissolved in iron up to a certain amount increases the electrical resistance, but if the manganese is not uniformly distributed electric currents may be generated in the wire when wet with rain, leading to corrosion by electrolysis. The deep pitting observed in corroded wire is said to be characteristic of electrolytic action.

THREE LIQUOR ACT CONVICTIONS ARE OBTAINED AT TRAIL AND ROSSLAND

TRAIL, Sept. 12.—As a result of the activity of the provincial police the past week, with the cooperation of the city police of Trail and Rossland, three offenders against the provincial statute governing liquor have been caught and punished, and the provincial revenues gain by the seizure of an automobile and two consignments of whiskey. William Sullivan, of Trail, who provided the transportation, has lost a $3,000 car, and $100 by a fine; Harry Adair, a recent addition to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police has lost his position in the splendid service he compromised, beside being civilly punished; and James Harper, a Rossland citizen, who furnished most of the liquor, has lost $300 by fine.

Saturday night, one week ago, provincial Constable John F. Johnston and chief of police Ben Downs, of this city, took a walk down the river on the theory that liquor might be going over the international boundary by boat. They disturbed an unknown party on the river bank, who got away, but found 200 bottles of whiskey in gunnysacks. No boat called for the liquor, and it is being held to be claimed by the owner. It is not claimed that this whiskey seizure had any connection with the main case.

Capture Car

Believing Rossland might be the point of departure for the supposed whiskey running, the sleuths kept a diligent watch till Tuesday night, when an automobile was observed leaving Trail for Rossland, and the circumstances of the case were such that it was decided to intercept the car on its return trip. Constable Johnston posted himself on the Trail side of the Columbia river bridge, and Constable "Scotty" Mitchell took the other side. At 10:15 the car arrived, and, the police state, the machine was owned and driven by William Sullivan, who was accompanied by Constable Adair, in uniform.

A search of the car disclosed 11 cases of whiskey, nine of rye, and two of Watson's No. 2. Scotch. Seven of the cases of rye bore the initials "J. H." with "Rossland" underneath. Of the two remaining cases of rye, one bore a shipping bill, No. 538, and another was addressed to a Trail citizen.

The constables seized the car and the liquor, and placed the two occupants under arrest. Magistrate Noble Binns, at Trail, permitted Mr. Sullivan personal bail of $100, with a surety of $100. On the instructions of Inspector King, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, at Grand Forks, Constable Adair was held without bail.

Mounted Police Punish Constable

On Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Chief Constable Ernest Gammon having arrived from Nelson to prosecute, Constable Adair was charged before Magistrate Binns, with the offence of having liquor in his possession other than in a private dwelling, and, through his counsel, R. C. Crowe, of Trail, pleaded guilty. He was fined $100 and costs, and paid the fine.

Immediately Constable Adair was discharged he was taken into custody by his own force, and it is reported that he was brought before a tribunal and dismissed from the service and is now undergoing a term of punishment.

Brought up before Magistrate Binns on the same charge, of having liquor in his possession elsewhere than in a private dwelling, William Sullivan, who retained Donald McDonald, of Trail, as his counsel, pleaded guilty. In this connection, it may be stated that the police associated him particularly with the last two cases of rye mentioned, which were a part of a shipment of six cases that was addressed to a Trail citizen above referred to, identification being by the address and the shipping bill. This citizen stated Mr. Sullivan had asked permission to get a case in his name, and he had told him to "make it two," as he would take one himself. Immediately after he was notified that six cases were at the Dominion Express office for him, and this leads the police to the conjecture that the liquor was on the way before the permission was obtained. The consignee authorized Mr. Sullivan to get the shipment from the express office for him, and the liquor left the custody of the express company between 1 and 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, His being still in possession of part of the consignment at 10:15 o'clock at night in an auto constituted the offence. The consignee received none of the six cases.

While pleading guilty to the offense charged, Mr. Sullivan, through his counsel, submitted argument against the confiscation of the auto, and to permit further evidence to be produced before the magistrate, this case was adjourned to Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Harper Pleads Guilty to Sale

Chief Constable Gammon devoted Thursday to an investigation in Rossland, and on Friday morning at 10 o'clock the Rossland police brought James Harper, of Rossland, before Magistrate R. E. Plewman, charging him with the sale of liquor. Represented by C. F. R. Pincott, Mr. Harper pleaded guilty, and was fined $300 and costs.

On Friday afternoon Mr. Sullivan's case was continued at Trail, and Mr. Harper was called as a witness to establish Mr. Sullivan's association with the transportation of the remaining cases of liquor. Mr. Harper swore he sold eight cases of rye to Constable Adair, receiving $50 per cases, and that Mr. Sullivan had his car in the lane, ready to receive the liquor. These were the cases marked "J. H." in the car.

Constable Johnson also gave evidence as to the seizure, and James Carter and F. Wyatt of the Dominion Express, as to the receipt of the various consignments by Mr. Sullivan and Mr. Harper.

Car is Confiscated

The magistrate confiscated the car, and on the charge of having liquor in his possession fined Mr. Sullivan $100 and costs.

Chief Constable Gammon, after the trials, expressed appreciation of the cooperation given by the city police or Trail and Rossland in the cases.

In connection with the unfortunate way that a historic force has been brought into this case through the act of a new recruit, it is pointed out that the Royal Canadian Mounted Police have nothing to do with the enforcement of the provincial statutes of British Columbia, and that the erring constable who has been severely punished, was not participating in acts that he was supposed to prevent.

RUSSELL HONE LAID TO REST

Silverton Loses Popular Figure in Public Affairs; Heart Failure Is Cause

SILVERTON, Sept. 11.—The community of Silverton were greatly shocked on Sunday September 5th when the death (already announced) of Russel Hone at 11 o'clock was announced at the Silverton hospital. Deceased was in his usual health up to a few days ago. Heart failure caused death.

Russell, as he was familiarly called, was very popular in Silverton and the surrounding district, and his untimely death is keenly felt by his many friends. On Wednesday, Sept. 8, a large funeral conveyed his remains from New Denver undertaking parlors to the district cemetery, where they were laid to rest with all honors of the Masonic order. Deceased was in his 38th year when he came to Canada from England about fifteen years ago. He spent some years in Manitou Manitoba, and about five years ago he came to Silverton, where he followed his occupation of tailor. So far as is known he has no relative in Canada. One brother, Stanley Hone, resides in Johannesburg, South Africa.

The deceased took a lively interest in public affairs and was secretary of the Slocan district board of trade, the Silverton hospital, the Get-together club, the Silverton branch of the Slocan Lake Rod and Gun club, and the junior Recreation club. During the building of the Memorial hall at Silverton, deceased was a live member and the success achieved in bringing that beautiful hall to its present state of perfection can much be attributed to untiring efforts of Russell Hone, who will long be remembered in this community. The floral tributes were many, amongst them being a wreath from the Masons, the Slocan board of trade, the Get-to-gether club, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Ironsides, Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Angrignon, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. MacAulay, Dr. and Mrs. Feare, and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Walton.

SEEK IDENTITY OF DROWNED MAN

CRESTON, B.C.—On Tuesday, Sept. 7, provincial Constable Vachon, of Creston, paid a visit to Kootenay Landing to bury the remains of an unknown man, whose body was found at the time of high water. The body was in an advanced state of decomposition and had apparently been lying there for several weeks. The remains were those of a man about 45 or 50 years of age, fair, clean shaven, hair over temples reddish with tinge of gray. He wore a set of false teeth. Ears small, as also hands. He was clad in ordinary working shirt and overalls, heavy mackinaw coat and wore a heavy woollen cap.

Boots were old and badly worn. He had on his person a bottle of strychnine and some medicine. Nothing else was upon his person to serve as a means of identification. Fragments of newspapers showed the date of March the 8th.

Anyone having any knowledge of the deceased can communicate with Constable Vachon.

URGES ECONOMY IN THE USE OF PAPER

The Nation's Business, a magazine published by the chamber of commerce of the United States, in discussing the paper situation, cries out loudly against extravagance, and urges that the United States government set the pace for the people of the Union along the lines of economy in the use of paper. In this connection, the magazine cites the case of a Helena, Montana, editor who received identical publications from the same department of the government under three separate addresses. The Nation's Business also denounces the practice of using the government printing office for the issue of propaganda for the members of the senate and other departments of the government, quoting one senator to the effect that a Kansas business men of his acquaintance in three days received 165 government publications, and calling for a saving of paper by the United States federal authorities.

This waste of white paper is not peculiar to the United States. The franking privileges allowed the members of parliament and senators in Canada, and the accessibility to them of the government printing office, permits them to flood the Canadian mails with printed copies of their own or other politicians' speeches, a majority of the addresses receiving a number of copies of the same publication. This is surely a great waste of white paper, of which there is so serious a shortage at the present time.

Here is a matter in the interests of economy which should engage the attention of the federal government. Waste in paper as well as in other lines should be checked. A strong hand is needed to effect this reform. —Canada Lumberman.

At Brynkinalt Colliery, Chirk, a fall of tons of earth occurred without hurting anybody, but one of three workmen who went to repair the place was killed by a falling stone less than half a pound in weight.

NOVEL REQUEST

A rich Frenchman, named Brunier, who was in the habit of spending his holidays in the Alps, died some time ago and left his whole fortune to the Touring club of France. He stipulated in his will that half of his income is to be given every year to the wife of one of the guides in the French Alps. To benefit from the donation, the guide must live in a village of an altitude of at least 3000 feet, and have at least seven children, all born at an altitude of no less than 3000 feet. The Touring club is now busy looking for guides fulfilling all the conditions of this original will.

SHELLFISH FURNISH DYE

On the Pacific coast of Costa Rica, especially in the region about Coos Bay, there abounds a kind of shellfish called the "nacasol," from which a fine purple color is obtained. So far no way has been found for preserving this dye, and the industry has remained in the hands of the few old people who take the trouble to dye a few ounces of thread every summer. On picking up the shell the gatherer blows her breath into it, whereupon a few drops of a greenish liquor ooze out. This liquor is collected in a clamshell, and after a sufficient quantity has been collected the thread is passed through it, soon after assuming, on exposure to the sunlight, a beautiful purple color, which is absolutely fast after it has turned purple.

MONTREAL LIST

MONTREAL, Sept. 12.—Brompton, Abitibi and Spanish River were the most active stocks traded in on the local exchange Saturday. Brompton sold between 75 and 76½; with the close at 76, showing a net gain of ½ points. Abitibi netted ¼ points at 81 and the Spanish stocks were off a point for the preferred and a fraction for the common.

The usually inactive Provincial Paper was prominent with an advance of 15 points to 118 on sale of only 50 shares, and Wayagamack made a new high record by moving up two points to 144. Stronger stocks elsewhere in the list were Hillcrest, up 2 points at 60, and Riordan, up a point at 211. Weaker issues included Quebec, which moved off a point to 29. Asbestos common showed the first reaction since the beginning of the advance a few days ago, and lost 1¾ points at 88¼. The preferred sold at its record price of par. Dominion Steel closed down a point at 57.

Total sales—Listed 5089; bonds $1700.

EXCHANGE CRACKS ON WALL STREET

Stocks Slump on Foreign Weakness; Bonds Are Affected

NEW YORK, Sept. 11. — Stocks were under incessant pressure during today's brief trading period because of the further weakness of foreign exchange and lack of constructive developments.

Oils, steels, equipments investment rails, shippings and motors were the center of bearish activity at extreme reactions of 1 to 3 points, with feeble recoveries at the close.

Mexican and Pan-American petroleums, Houston Oil, Bethlehem, Crucible, Vanadium and United States Steel, Baldwin Locomotive, Studebaker, Canadian and Southern Pacific, Reading and American International Corporation represented the more reactionary issues. Sales amounted to 225,000 shares.

The reaction in exchange, for which no very definite explanation was forthcoming, forced the British rate below 350, the lowest quotation for demand bills since the early part of last March. French, Belgian, Italian and German remittances also broke sharply in the face of the most extensive gold import movement of the year. The clearing house statement was favorable, actual loans and discounts showing another substantial contraction with a very moderate increase of excess reserves. Net demand deposits increased by slightly more than $24,000,000, more than offsetting the week's decrease.

Bonds reacted with stocks, most domestic issues, including Liberties, losing ground. An exception was again provided by the new French issue, which increased its premium to 1⅛ per cent. Total sales, par value, aggregated $4,150,000. Old United States 4s gained ¼ per cent on call during the week.

NEARLY EVERYONE FEARS SOME BOGY

The catastrophes which have attended our conquest of the air and the rattle of war which still echoes in our ears have brought the word "crash" into great prominence and led to a large expansion of its meaning. Everything may "crash" now, from an airplane to a scheme, or even a reputation. The placards inform us of "crashes," warn us of them, and threaten us with them again and again. Our more pessimistic friends are always expecting some indefinite misfortune to which they give this resouding name. Indeed, the "crash" bids fair to become a bogey—a fearsome thing whose features, especially its financial features, no one agrees about or is able to describe. We have not yet heard of any child crying in the night for fear of the "crash," but very likely such nursery pessimists exist. "Does it mean that such and such will happen?" we ask of the drawing-room Jeremiahs in awe-struck tones, always to receive a non-committal reply Now and then a warning delivered by a specially loud-voiced prophet elicits a prayer for advice. "In my place now," says the alarmed but eager listener, "would you be inclined to——" the sentence is never finished. Such small-minded inquiries are worthy of nothing but a snub. The questioner feels like a child who has upset the discourse of a theologian with a too particular enquiry as to the reality and appearance of the devil.

The danger of employing bogies to point a warning is not the danger of creating panic, but of creating laughter. No sooner do we realize that the scarecrow is a fake and decide that the danger is imaginary than we go back like the winged robbers of the orchard to our cherry trees. Many a bird sceptic gets himself shot or netted by making too bold. If he had but taken warning he might have eaten anything that the tyrant man did not want till he died of old age.

Often the bogey we despise is simply an advertisement, sometimes the advertisement of a cure. Such a "crash" was perhaps invented to cure us of extravagance, and however much we ridicule the overdrawn picture it may serve to keep simpler people out of misery while we sink in the quicksands of debt. The simpler people, however, might have given heed to a less terrific picture and sharper ones might not have been tempted to overreach themselves—and so the warning had been more efficacious. Secretly, we all entertain some bogey or other. To say that all men have superstition in them is as true and as commonplace as to say that all men have good in them. But definite little bogies such as reside in the number 13 and the house-painter's ladder, in hawthorn blossoms and in opal rings, do remarkably little harm. They are more than counteracted by the lucky fairies who inhabit white heather and four-leaved clovers and green jade and the "something blue" concealed about a wedding dress: All these little superstitions have antidotes. A child is brought into the dining-room to make a fourteenth. The man who goes under the ladder can cross himself. The nefarious effect of an opal may be dependent upon the month in which the owner was born, etc. The little curse is in most instances removable. Obviously the whole business is nonsensical. All these bogies are man-made. Either they are scarecrows, and as such not to be despised, or they are fairy tales invented to produce a shudder or a thrill, and so relieve the monotony of existence.

But we are all acquainted with some very much more formidable bogies than those we have allude to, bogies who might be described as devil-made. The superstitions which really destroy men's peace of mind have no antidote and do not depend upon any silly little doings. The fear of happiness, for instance, has overshadowed many a sunny day since time immemorial. A percentage of people cannot even thoroughly enjoy their good fortune. The rancour of the gods remains at the back of their minds. "It is too good to last," they sigh, and they deliberately forestall the agony of fortune's frowns. You cannot argue with these people and say that these fears derogate from the character of a good God and constitute indeed a form of blasphemy. The best and most ridiculous people are as subject as the most secular to this hadowy form of melancholy. After all, the argument is absurd. One might as well say that it is irreligious to expect any form of injustice or expect anything in life but what we deserve for good or evil. Some people do get temselves into a state of mind where they believe this tmpting theory, but not surely by an exercise of reason. We suppose the truth to be that when the perceptions are heightened by any form of emotion, the perception of the uncertainty of life is—for the few—increased among them. If we apply pure reason to the whole question we shall surely find that the only marvel consists in the fact that this perception is so dull among most of us. Many quite healthy men and women suffer all their lives from fear of illness. We are not talking of fussy hypochondriacs, but of people who suffer in secret. The present writer was acquainted with a short-sighted man whose eyesight remained almost unchanged till his death at eighty. He confessed that from his boyhood the fear of blindness had been a sort of bogy never quite out of mind. A speck of dust, the slightest form of irritation in either eye, was sufficient to produce an inward gloom which he could hardly conceal.

There are nervous people among whom almost every form of self-satisfaction is rebuked by a kind of terror. This sense of fear succeeding to self-congratulation is not the same thing as humility. The humble man who congratulates himself on an accomplished duty is rebuked by his own unreached ideal. The bogy who ridicules the self-satifaction of many men with a turn of vanity has no more semblance to an ideal than a Swiftian satirist has to an angel of light. The latter urges to further effort; the former holds up to his victim a caricature of himself and asks him how he can admire the antics of such a being. Again, some people have a nunfortunate fear of forethought. They can hardly be persuaded to make a will. They cannot look ahead without intense pain in their mental eyes. "Why do you plan? You will be dead," says a familiar bogy in their ears; and nothing but the knowledge that their families will suffer if they give in to their superstition enables them to speak calmly of what they will do three years hence. How would it be if we all spoke openly of the evils of fear which possess us, dared them to do their worst, cursed them an defied them? Suppose we all met togther on a given occasion and swore thus summarily to attempt an exorcism? We doubt if any man on earth has courage for it, and, to be absolutely truthful, we would hesitate very much to urge another man to do it. Life is so mysterious, and the laws by which it is governed are so imperfectly known, that it does not do to pit reason always against intuition. Do not encourage these fancies, we all say to each other. To cast them aside, break them altogether, defy them, is the truly courageous course, but it is what few dare do—or advise.—London Spectator.

MIDSUMMER FIRE PREHISTORIC RITE

The Herd' midsummer fire at Durris, in Aberdeenshire, is an interesting survival of a prehistoric rite which dates back to pagan times. This "survival" is perhaps partly due to the generosity of Mr. Alexander Hogg, a native of the parish, who 134 years ago left a sum of money for educational and charitable purposes, and "ten shillings annually forever to the herds round Cairshee for their midsummer fire." Every year since then the bonfire has been lit on midsummer eve. Ale is distributed to the spectators and each of the local herdsmen received a silver coin.

STATE OF NEW YORK BUYS RADIUM

The purchase by the state of New York of 2½ grammes of radium, the largest commercial transaction of its kind ever made and the first purchase of radium by any state for the purpose of social utility, is announced by Governor Smith. The acquisition was made possible through an appropriation of $225,000 by the 1920 legislature. The radium will be used fore research work in behalf of the New York state institutes for malignant disease. It was mined in the Colorado desert. The 2½ grammes was extracted from 625 tons of carnotic ore, brought across the continent in 21 cars. An equal bulk of coal and chemicals was employed to free the 2½ grammes of radium. It is interesting to recall that a gramme is less than sixteen grains, Troy, and that in a pound Troy there are 5760 grains.

BLINDFOLDED MAN IN WOMAN'S CLOTHES

A blindfolded man dressed in women's clothes, was found by the police at Ferranfore, Co. Kerry, sitting in a pony trap. When questioned he stated that he was forcibly removed two nights before by armed and disguised men to an unknown destination, but that no charge had been preferred against him. How he came to be dressed in female apparel has not been disclosed. No trace was found of his escort. The police and military brought the pony and trap to Killarney.

Intended as a comfortable home for Canadians staying in London, the Duchess of Connaught Memorial Hostel, at 13 and 14 Belford-place, W.C., was opened recently by the Duke of Connaught, who said the memorial would preserve his wife's affectionate association with Canada.

One of the chief sources of the additional value offered in Goodyear Tires is the savings effected through Goodyear's system of distribution.

It is a system made possible by the enormous sale of Goodyear Tires.

To several thousand selected Canadian dealers Goodyear sells tires direct, and the money that would go as profit to jobber is largely saved.

Shipments to distributing points are so large that we make the saving of carload freight rates. Orders from dealers are large enough to reduce clerical expense to a small factor.

Such efficiency in practice and the resulting increased business has reduced expense-per-tire to a minimum.

The saving-per-tire between factory and dealer is approximately $2.00.

In total this saving represents hundreds of thousands of dollars turned back into the product to heighten quality and keep prices down.

So a 30 x 3½ Goodyear All-weather Tread Tire with Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tube costs you to-day only $31.05. Six years ago it cost you $30.45. An increase of only 1.9 per cent., while most commodities and labor increased over 100 per cent.

And Goodyear Service Station Dealers help you get all the mileage that is built into the tires.

The resulting low cost-per-mile of Goodyear Tires has built the largest tire sales in the world.

TWILIGHT LEAGUE

CALGARY, Sept. 12.—After having floated around in the air for several days at Regina the Calgary Bronks, playing the fourth game of the post season series with the Senators, managed to effect a landing again on the baseball map. The Bronks literally took the Regina club by storm, defeating them 8 to 3 in the presence of over 4000 fans, the largest crowd that ever witnessed a ball game in this city. Steengraffe pitched a masterful game for the Bronks and he also excelled in batting with a triple which drove in two runs as well as a single. The Bronks hit timely. Zweiful, who started, gave way to Miller in the fifth.

HOLY ROLLERS DISAPPOINTED

Holy Rollers to the number of several hundred in Kentucky are bitterly disappointed. Andrew Singleton, their most dependable members, has died, until three months ago, one of failed to keep his word. Before Singleton died, three months ago, he called his faithful wife, imparted to her news of his impending passing, and told her he was coming back. He exacted a promise from Mrs. Singleton, with other Rollers standing by, that she would, as soon as three months had expired, have his body exhumed. This done, the dying man told his wife and the other Rollers that he would arise from his coffin and walk. The three months went by and Mrs. Singleton kept her word. Calls went out to Holy Rollers within a wide area, and all who could went to the cemetery. Husky members plied shovel and pick. The coffin was revealed. There was certainly no sign of life there. The coffin was opened, and it was also quickly closed.

SAILING BOAT HELGA CAPSIZES IN HARBOR

A small sailing boat belonging to the government steamer, the Helga, and containing an officer of the ship, his wife, daughter and two of the crew, capsized in Kingstown harbor. The accident occurred at the termination of a yacht race, and, as it witnessed by a considerable number of people, much excitement prevailed. The occupants clung to the sides of the upturned boat. Fortunately, the motor boat, Saint Edna, owned by Mr. P. Carberry, came to their assistance. After considerable difficulty the immersed parties were rescued and taken aboard the Helga. The capsized craft was afterwards picked up by the motor boat.

TROOPS SANK INTO GROUND

Roche Abbey, South Yorkshire, Eng., which the Earl of Scarborough is presenting to the nation, is the centre of two interesting legends. One is that, in 1236, bands of armed men suddenly appeared in the Abbey grounds, and after contesting vigorously, sank into the earth and disappeared as suddenly as they had come. The second lenged concerns a wonderful cross of diamonds—the like of which could not be found elsewhere in England—which adorned the Shrine of Our Lady of the Abbey. When the spoliation came in 1539 the cross was not found, nor did the despoilers discover it later. Tradition says it had been previously entrusted to a young priest, who buried it on Lindrick Common, the popular golf links of the Sheffield club.

RAIN STOPS PLAY

NEW WESTMINSTER, Sept. 12.—The lacrosses game between Vancouver and New Westminster, which was postponed today on account of the heavy rainfall, will be played next Wednesday at 3 p.m., it was announced here tonight.

PROFITEERING ON COUGH MIXTURE

A bottle of cough mixture has been the cause of proceedings before the appeal tribunal under the profiteering act. Richard J. Doyle, Drumconda, appealed against the decision of the local committee in dismissing a complaint which he had brought before them for being charged $1.04 by Messrs. Hamilton, Long & Co., Ltd., for a bottle of cough mixture, which he could have purchased from some other firms for from 72 to 84 cents. For the respondents it was pointed out that wages had increased from 125 to 160 per cent, and the price of the ingredients in the prescription had also increased in price. The appeal was allowed, and it was thought 66 cents would yield a reasonable profit, and the Tribunal required respondents to pay the difference between 66 cents and $1.04, and on respondents paying $32 to appellant all further proceedings were to be stayed.

STRENGTH OF TREES

Few people have any idea of the strength of trees. In Boston, Mahs., recently, an old elm, more than three feet in diameter, had to be removed from the common. Several limbs had been struck off by lightning, and it was supposed to be in a dangerous condition. So one of the tree-levelling devices used in France for tearing down buildings, trees, etc., was brought into play. This is a machine that is worked by a couple of men working a lever back and forth. A cable was fastened to the tree trunk, and it should have come up by the roots, all theory being correct. Instead it broke the first cable of steel—one inch thick—and then, when two were wound round that old trunk, the tree shivered a bit and broke them. The contractor gave it up as a bad job and put several men on with axes to cut the roots.

CENSUS OF SEALS

The annual census of the valuable South Sea seals now being taken by the U. S. Government is expected to show about 600,000, of the animals, or three times as many as when the Government undertook the custody of them a half-score years ago. Although the seal spends much of its life at sea, its habits make the census taking comparatively easy. Hugh M. Smith, Commissioner of the Bureau of Fisheries, explains the "count of noses," is of importance to prevent "blind killing" of animals for their furs, possibly resulting in their extinction. Under present government control Mr. Smith asserts that the seals are increasing about 10 or 12 per cent. of their number annually. Last year's count showed 550,000, of which 26,000 were killed for their pelts. "In the old days," says Mr. Smith, "when 100,000 seals were being killed annually, the Government obtained $10 per skin, while now we are getting $140, which nets us about $120 per skin."

LOCAL GYMNASIUM REOPENS SHORTLY

Red Triangle Building Put in Shape for the Fall Activities

With work on the renovation of the interior of the Y.M.C.A. building rapidly nearing completion, and with apparatus overhauled, and projected alterations taking shape, the institution promises to be in fine shape for the commencement of its fall program of physical instruction, and to accommodate the usual large crowd of young people that attend the classes or frequent the building in search of indoor recreation during the fall and winter months.

The staff of the institution, and occasional volunteer workers, have achieved wonders with brush and paint pot, and in consequence the well appointed gymnasium and swimming pool have taken on an added attraction.

In the basement the bowling alleys are being cleaned off preparatory to repair, when the alleys will be put into first class shape for the bowlers.

On the main floor the space previously occupied by the public library is to be turned into a junior recreation room for the boys, and will have a pool table, and a number of table games and books installed.

While the fall program will not be started for about 10 days at the earliest, three special gymnasium classes are being trained at present to give an exposition at the Nelson fall fair at the end of this month, of gymnastic and physical training work that will be illustrative of the regular work of the gymnasium classes. These three classes, which are showing excellent results, may be depended to put on as pretty an exhibition as can be wished and consist of 12 high school girls, who are training in graceful wand drills; 12 high school boys, who are working out a system of Swedish drills; and 12 of a young men's class, whose training consists of coordinating dumb-bell drills and apparatus work on the high bars and the parallel bars.

A complete change from late years in the exercises, drills and apparatus stunts, in the gymnasium, is planned for all grades taking up the all-round character building program now outlined for the fall and winter. The program embodies lots of new stunts and games, and will put plenty of pep and vim into the exercises and into the big features, as boxing, wrestling, life saving and swimming, and basketball.

Special attention is to be paid to organizing a busyman's class, the object of which will be to provide a regimen of pleasant and interesting exercises to promote physical fitness without indulgence in too strenuous activities. Arrangements are also being made to institute competitive games between the boys of the Nelson Cadets and the Y. M.C.A. boys.

RAINS START THE STREAMS FLOWING

Four days of almost continuous precipitation have saturated the ground in this locality and started streams flowing in the dry beds.

A thunderstorm over Nelson last evening filled the sewers with storm water, and gullied some of the streets that have an earth surface.

The rains have covered this whole territory, and the various small fires that recently persisted are extremely dead.

ASKS DATA FOR TARIFF INQUIRY

Commissioner Starkey Wishes to Be Supplied With Pertinent Facts

In order that the requirements of the Kootenay in relation to the tariff may be adequately presented before the tariff commission at its sitting here shortly, Fred A. Starkey, commissioner of the Associated Boards of Trade, who is collecting data on the principal phases, has issued another circular letter to representative firms and individuals throughout the district, asking for assistance with this vital work.

His letter follows:

"A traveling board of Dominion tariff commission is due to tour western centers during the present month, the itinerary including sittings at Nelson.

"At these sittings evidence will be taken with a view to correcting anomalies and eliminating hardships of the existing tariff.

"It is therefore important to present the fullest data and evidence upon those aspects of the tariff bearing upon Kootenay industries in order to secure the maximum benefits from the proposed revision.

"I therefore invite you to collect all such data and to let me have a copy of same in order that, should it be the general wish to present a case through the Associated Boards of Trade, I may collect such data and prepare concrete representations and arrange for witnesses to support joint action.

"The essential points, and those for many years advocated by the Associated Boards of Trade, are:

"1. That mining and milling machinery and supplies used in extraction and treatment of mineral ores, and not manufactured in Canada, should be imported duty free.

"2. That machinery and supplies for the lumbering industry and not manufactured in Canada, should similarly be admitted duty free.

"3. That agricultural and horticultural implements, tools, machinery, etc., should be duty free unless manufactured in Canada and

"4. That manufactured products of the Kootenays, i.e., lumber, etc., should, if necessary, be protected by a tariff imposed on competitive supplies to equalize the market conditions ad thereby foster the manufacture of such products.

"It is hoped that these points will suffice to enable you to compile the requisite data to establish a prima facie case for relief.

"An early reply is particularly requested, and the data should be rushed forward without a moment's delay."

REVISION COURT ON LISTS TODAY

Last Opportunity to Be Registered Will Expire This Morning

At 10 o'clock this morning the court of revision in respect to the provincial voters' list will sit, at the court house. No objections to persons registered have been filed, and automatically those already registered will go on the final list.

Under the act persons who have previously failed to make application to be registered may apply at the court of revision.

Registrar Ed Ferguson, who will hold the court, has been officially advised from Victoria that aliens who fought in the Canadian forces are not qualified under the act as it reads, no matter what may have been the intention of the legislators in framing the alien soldier clause, and accordingly he will have no power to place on the list if they apply.
