NEAR BEER IS DOOMED IN QUEBEC

Liquor Legislation Provides for Control and Appointment of Liquor Vendors.

ABOLISHES TEMPERANCE BEER AND NIGHT CLUBS

Hotels May Sell Wine to Guests; Analysts Will Test for Quality.

MONTREAL, Jan. 20.—Quebec dispatches today state that the new liquor legislation the provincial government will introduce will provide for:

1—Every kind of spirituous liquor and wine being sold by retail without prescription in Quebec.

2—That appointment of a commission consisting of three or five members, who will be paid at least $10,000 per annum.

3—Through the commission the government will control the sale of liquor, wholesale and retail and get all the profits from retail sales.

4—Present wholesalers will not be affected, but they will be permitted to sell to retail agents in Quebec only. The retail agents will be directly appointed by the commission. The out-of-province business of the retailers will not be affected.

5—The retailers will be paid salaries of $4000 per annum. There will be 100 of them.

To Carry Government Stamp

6—All liquor sold by government stores will bear a government stamp and plainly state the price at which it must be sold, and there will likely be one standard price fixed which will include the revenue stamp to be placed on each bottle when sold to the customer and will be reasonably lower than present prices. Government analists will be appointed to test the quality of all liquor bought from the agents before it is put into government stores and inspectors will insure that in the bottling of the liquor from the casks in which it comes to the country, nothing is added except what is necessary to bring the spirit down to the required strength under proof.

7—Hotels, restaurants and groceries will be licensed only for the sale of beer, with the exception that hotels with more than 50 rooms will be granted a special license for the sale of wine for their guests registered in the hotel.

8—The manufacture of temperance beer will be totally prohibited and all night clubs will be abolished.

HOOVER SUGGESTS NATIONAL EXPERTS

Function to Regulate Public Warehouses for Farmers' Wheat.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Appointment of a national board of experts with regulatory powers to improve marketing conditions, was suggested by Herbert Hoover, former federal food administrator, appearing before the house agriculture commission, which is holding hearings on bills to restrict speculation on grain and cotton exchanges.

The board would operate under the board of agriculture, and Mr. Hoover said "it could accomplish a great deal in improving the trade processes through agreement with the trades and by the establishment of standard practices."

"One function of such a board," he continued, "would be to provide regulations that would secure the extension of public warehouses in such a manner that the farmer could store his wheat at any country elevator and terminal and obtain such a recognized warehouse receipt that would open to him new credit beyound his abilities in lonas against holdings on farms."

ASSERTS NEW COLONIAL SECRETARY HAS GET-RICH-QUICK TEMPERAMENT

LONDON, Jan. 20 (Canadian Associated).—The Manchester Guardian, discussing the appointment of Winston Spencer Churchill as secretary for the colonies in the British cabinet, finds that a nervous effort is being made in the ministerial press to excuse the appointment on the ground that he could not make trouble with the great dominions because they no longer have to knock at the colonial office door when they want anything. The Guardian declares that "Mr. Churchill brings to his administration of imperial affairs a get-rich-quick temperament, which, in business, makes a few millionaires and a great many bankrupts."

GAZETTE OMITTED SENATORS

Forgotten "Bloved and Faithful" Now Called by Extra Proclamation.

OTTAWA, Jan. 20 (Canadian Press).—A further extra of the Canada Gazette, issued tonight, ends the comedy of errors over the calling of parliament.

"Our beloved and faithful, the senators of the Dominion of Canada," as well as members of the house, are now summoned to parliament on Monday, Feb. 14.

A previous proclamation merely summoned the house of commons and omitted the senate.

INFORMER PLANTS BOMBS UPON DUPE

Release Egyptian Doctor Denounced for Conspiracy to Obtain Reward.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—A London Times dispatch from Cairo, Egypt, says the case against Dr. Khaffage, who was arrested some time ago, as a result of the finding of arms, and a number of bombs, has been dismissed as it was ascertained that the bombs were made by an informer with the purpose of denouncing his enemies and obtaining a reward.

A dispatch from Cairo January 12th to the Times, informing of the discovery of the bombs, said the owner of the house in which they were found explained that he had received them from Dr. Khaffage, whose wife figured prominently in the political agitation in Egypt in 1919.

The dispatch adds that the authorities suspected that a conspiracy was involved i nthe case,

Produce Books to Prove Need for Retrenchment

SYDNEY, Jan. 20.—The Dominion Steel Corporation opened its books to a committee of its employees which waited upon the management this morning, so that they could see for themselves that orders are slack and the recently announced wage reduction necessary. TAKE STEPS ON INTERNATIONAL DISARMAMENT

Turn Down Participation in League of Nations Decision; Approve Borah.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—A definite step toward international disarmament was taken by the senate foreign relations committee today in ordering a favorable report on the resolution of Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, proposing negotiations between the United States, Great Britain and Japan to reduce naval programs.

Discussions of the resolution in the senate is planned for next week end action on it by the present congress is conceded to be in doubt. As advocates of the resolution hoped the senate debate would give impetus to the general disarmament sentiment in the United States and abroad.

Democrats Support Walsh

The commission approved the Borah resolution without a roll call after it had voted down an alternative by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, proposing United States participation in decisions of the league of nations disarmament commission. All Democrats present supported the Walsh measure and all Republicans voted against it.

Some changes were made by the commission in the Borah resolution. One was in the inclusion of the provision that any agreements between the United States, Great Britain and Japan for naval building reductions should be promulgated formally by treaty. Another amendment struck out Senator Borah's original proposal to negotiate for a 50 per cent reduction in naval building, the commission deciding to leave this question open.

Confinement of the negotiations to three principal nations, as originally proposed by Senator Borah, was approved by the commission, a proposal by Senator McCumber, Republican, North Dakota, to include France and Italy in the parleys, being rejected.

MELVILLE Sask., Jan. 20.—At the hearing today before Judge Blain, of the protest against municipal elections here Dec. 13th, the charge of irregularity was upheld and consequently the 1921 council finds itself unable to function without the three newly-elected members.

SMOOTH OUT STRAINED RELATIONS BETWEEN PREMIER AND FARMERS

TORONTO, Jan. 20.—To all outward appearance everything is lovely in the relations between Premier E. C. Drury and Secretary J. J. Morrison of the U.F.O., and the so-called "difference" between them on the premier's "broadening out" policy in the past week or so has been due to a little misunderstanding rather than to any class of opposition. This is the understanding of the matter here tonight after several hours of threshing out the question by the premier and Secretary Morrison today at a meeting of the U.F.O. executive in the U.F.O. headquarters on King street. Neither of the principals to the controversy offered to make a statement for the public. Secretary Morrison, however, remarked to the press representatives at the conclusion of the conference that everything is all right. Premier Drury, in response to an invitation from the U.F.O. executive, attended the executive meeting this morning, accompanied by Hon. Manning Doherty, minister of agriculture. It is understood that a good part of the day was spent in a discussion of the broadening out policy, which Mr. Drury is said to have explained to the satisfaction of Secretary Morrison and the officers of the U.F.O. executive.

To Broaden Government

In brief, the premier's policy is not to throw the U.F.O. open to any other calling than that of the farmer, but to broaden the Ontario government so as to give encouragement to urban support of the government by men in any calling, business or profession, which show sympathy with the farmer government. Keep the U.F.O. intact as a farmers' organization, but get what help is available for the government in the cities and towns—this is practically the premier's policy, so it is said.

Secretary Morrison is said to have been satisfied with the premier's explanation.

PRESENTS CABINET'S PROGRAM

French Ministry Demands German Disarmament and Reparations.

CANNOT ADMIT SOVIET ARMIES OVER BORDER

No Interference With Russian Internal Affairs; Effective Peace with Turkey.

PARIS, Jan. 20.—Premier Briand presented the program of his ministry to the chamber of deputies and the senate today. The program contains four outstanding points, namely:

Germany must disarm and pay the reparations due from her.

France has the force to compel respect for engagements taken with her and would be able to use it if necessary, but it is in peace she wants to bring Germany to fulfil her obligations.

Peace with Turkey will be made effective, account being taken of new circumstances. France will not intervene in the internal affairs of Russia, but cannot admit that the Soviet armies shall cross the Russian frontiers to attack the allies of the French.

Promises of economy, renovation of the financial administration and intensified reconstruction of the devastated regions made up the remainder of problems which, judged by the applause, sufficed the great majority of the members of parliament.

It was the seventh ministerial declaration to be presented by M. Briand as prime minister and was received with quite as much fervor as any of the six previous declarations. The approval of the members was manifested with the greatest vigor when the premier said the prosperity of Germany in contrast with the ruin of the victorious people, would be a challenge France could not tolerate.

Several interpellations criticised the composition of the ministry, and some referred to the antagonism shown by M. Briand to the working class.

SOCIALISTS DIVIDE THEIR ALLEGIANCE

Italians Divided on Question of Joining Third Internationale.

LEGHORNE, Italy, Jan. 20.—Discussion on the question of joining the Moscow Internationale was definitely closed this afternoon at the congress of the Italian Socialist party. Balloting was immediately begun and it was explained that it would take the remainder of the afternoon and that much time would be occupied in counting the votes.

Up to the last moment, the three factions, the one favoring adhesion to the Moscow organization, the second desiring to remain aloof from advocating membership with limitations, remained intact.

WANTS HIS PET TARIFF SCHEME

O'Connor's Plan is Parity With States Without Covenant or Agreement.

PETERBORO, Ont. Jan. 20.—W. F. O'Connor, K. C., who has been in the city several days, presumably in connection with the federal by-election in West Peterboro, said tonight it was "very unlikely" he would be a candidate in the by-election. Yesterday he said it was "almost certain" that he would run. The former board of commerce chairman said he was anxious to get his pet tariff scheme before the public and would "just as soon" see some of the local candidates incorporate it in their platform as enter the field himself. Mr. O'Connor's tariff scheme is to place Canada's tariff on a parity with that of the United States without covenant or agreement with that country.

Tomorrow night the week-end program will open with the appearance here of Sir George E. Foster and F. S. Scott, M. P., South Waterloo. They will speak in the interests of R. Denen, the government candidate. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie ping, will speak here Saturday night in the interest of the Liberal candidate.

VETERANS NOT TO RUN CANDIDATE

OTTAWA, Jan. 20.—Official denial has been received here of the report that the Peterboro branch of the G.W.V.A. contemplates putting a candidate in the field in the West Peterboro by-election fight.

MARTIAL LAW DEFINITELY BREAKING UP REPUBLICAN ARMY ORGANIZATION AVERS COMMANDER OF IRISH TROOPS

General Strickland Looks to Citizens to Furnish Vigilance Committees; Women Carry Arms Concealed in Skirts to Ambush Forces; Believes Present Operations Have Reduced Rebel Army to Its Dying Kicks; Select two Cork City Houses for Destruction as Reprisals; Owned by Sinn Feiners; Explosions Cause Consternation.

CORK, Jan. 20.—In the first formal interview given to the press since he came to Ireland, Major General Strickland in command of the troops, told the Associated Press today that martial law was proving a success. He discussed the reprisals and his letter to the acting mayor explaining that he expected from the citizens, a vigilance committee, of some kind, to supply information to the military. He did not allude to his report on the Cork fires. Among the interesting statements made by General Strickland was one that women carried weapons concealed in their skirts to the ambush forces. He declared he did not expect immediate results from martial law, but even before it was imposed, the murder gang was finding it impossible to live at home, and had begun flying columns to the distant parts of Tipperary and Kilkenny.

"The first result of martial law was to make these columns more active," he said. "The definite thing we are accomplishing is the breaking of the organization of the republican army:

"It might be taken as too optimistic to say that the present operations of the republican army are its dying kicks; but I believe that to be a fact. How long they can keep going is a matter of conjecture but it is only a question of time."

In a reply to a question as to what results had been obtained up to the present time by the proclamations demanding the surrender of arms General Strickland admitted it probably was true that the numbers of arms personally surrendered could be counted on the fingers of one hand, but added:

"In one way or another, arms are coming in."

General Strickland spoke bitterly of the part he alleged women were taking as arm bearers.

They "the military are not making war on women or interfering with them in any way," he said, "so the difficulty o getting the arms in the possession of the women may be imagined."

Concerning the suggestion that the people of Cork form a vigilance committee, the general remarked:

"Sixteen months ago when I came to Ireland, County Clare was a not bed of republican activity."

Destroy Cork Properties

CORK, Jan. 20.—The first official destruction of property for attacks on crown forces in Cork city since martial-law was enforced in this area was carried out this morning when two houses in Washington street, where two members of the Royal Irish Constabulary were attacked on Saturday last were destroyed by military forces.

The military authorities assert crown forces were fired on Saturday from six houses in Washington street and that "the two worst" were selected for destruction.

The work of blowing up the designated houses was gone about carefully in order to prevent damage to adjoining property.

The houses selected are said to have been owned by well known Sinn Feiner sympathizers who were given a warning to clear out. They were permitted to remove their furniture and then military engineers prepared for the demobilition of the buildings. Meanwhile officers with drawn revolvers, ordered the large crowd that gathered to disperse, saying that otherwise, it would be fired on.

At 1:40 o'clock this afternoon, 10 loud explosions followed at intervals of several minutes, causing consternation throughout the city. Up to 3 o'clock this afternoon, however, no fires had broken out and no damage had been done to houses outside the zone surrounded by the military.

Alberta Farmers Give Executive Officers Mandate to Go Ahead.

EDMONTON, Jan. 20.—Endorsation of the wheat pool proposal and a mandate to the executive officers to go ahead with the work of preparing the way to the final establishment of the plan in cooperation with the other provincial farmers' organizations, was contained in a resolution passed by the U.F.A. at the evening session of their annual convention here today. Only five out of 1461 registered delegates voted against it.

Almost the entire day's sessions were taken up with discussion of the proposal. J. R. Murray, assistant general manager of the United Grain Growers, explained the draft agreement and impressed on the convention the need for cooperation.

At the morning session, the delegates approved the leadership of Hon. T. A. Crerar in the new National party.

FRUIT GROWERS DECLARE FOR MAINTENANCE OF PROTECTION

Convention Urges Continued Car Inspection Against Codling Moth; Also Hastening of Refrigeration Construction; Market Problems Engross Morning Session; Commissioner Grant and Inspector Clarke Speak; Brine Car Experiments.

A declaration for the maintenance of the duties on fruit, an instruction to the executive to urge continuance of the inspection of cars for the codling moths, and a similar instruction as to urging railway companies to assure a sufficient supply of refrigerator cars for the 1921 shipping season, were the principal pronouncements of the British Columbia Fruit Growers association yesterday morning, on the second day of the convention.

Apart from these pronouncements, the session was wholly given up to market problems, addresses being delivered by J. A. Grant prairie markets commissioner, and R. G. L. Clarke, chief Dominion fruit inspector for this province.

The declarations of policy made were embodied in the report of the committee on the president's address, signed by D. L. Doyle, J. T. Lawrence, and L. B. Pangman, and adopted by the convention, as follows:

"Your committee recommend adoption of the president's report as read, and that copies of some be sent to all members; and

"Further wish to draw attention to the desirability of urging upon railway companies the completion of the 300 improved type cars now under construction, and the conversion of the present type of brine tank cars now under experiment in time for the 1921 crop;

"Also that they keep in active touch with matters pertaining to the tariff and endeavour to have the same maintained by the federal government, for the protection of the fruit industry of Canada; and

"Further that the executive press to have the provincial department of agriculture continue their efforts in the inspection and refrigeration of fruit cars for the eradication of the codling moth and other pests."

Reviews Prairie Market

J. A. Grant, prairie markets commissioner, who gave the set address of the morning, said the past year was characterized by a shortage of small fruits, the supply being distinctly below the demand, up to the opening of the apple season. He also specified the supply of coast rhubarb as under the requirements.

Referring to the statement of the previous day that British Columbia produced only one crate of berries for each 40 people on the prairie, he said if this territory insisted on supplying the jam factories, it could expect that proportion. He said British Columbia had taken possession of the prairie market in its season, and was prepared to meet all competition. (Applause). Against perhaps 50 cars of berries this year, bulk and less than carload, next year, from the area to be cropped, at least 100 cars should be marketed there.

Mr. Grant said raspberries were also in good condition, though the demand was much under the requirement. He also referred to "the loganberry craze," and the satisfactory quality of the British Columbia product. Goosegerries "met one at the door" in the prairie markets, and were in every variety of container. Currents, like gooseberries were in too many kind of hallocks. The golden varities were not popular. He advised weeding out the small fruits that did not bring their fair quality in the market.

In cherries, Mr. Grant advised eliminating the Governor Wood cherry, and putting the effort in the varieties that were fully appreciated on their markets. He said the growers did not fill the baskets as full as they might, suffering by comparison with the shippers from the south.

Types of Container

As to containers, Mr. Grant favored for strawberries, gooseberries and currants a crate of 24 deep pints, not more than one-quarter inch apart, raspberries, blackberries and loganberries 24 two-fifth quart shallow boxes; cherries in four-basket crates, also tomatoes; cantelopes in standard crates on account of the short haul; celery in the California crate; rhubarb in the Walla Walla crate of 40 pounds, which is better, ventilated than the provincial crate;

Plums and prunes were on a market that was almost surfeited but the British Columbia products were all sold, satisfactorily.

The peach supply at first promised to be short, and the prairie jobbers bought peaches everywhere, and the season eventually saw the greatest volume of peaches on the market in Mr. Grant's experience.

The Armstrong celery received a high tribute.

Mr. Grant thought more crabapples could be planted, with advantage.

Early in the season British Columbia tomatoes had come in nicely, but later on much of the fruit was too large, and badly packed. The Okanagan pack in fact brought down the price. He said British Columbia tomato growers would have to remember there had been competition to meet.

A feature of the year's market was the presence of a number of British buyers.

Mr. Grant referred to the apple market and to the cancellations that became a feature after the price broke, this hitting both British Columbia and parts of Washington.

The vegetable market, contrary to the experience with fruit, had been very unsatisfactory.

Both onions and potatoes were now being sold on a graded basis, and this might soon be compulsory. Grading might be an inconvience to the grower, in the case for instance of potatoes, but he must consider the seller. Where the products were as represented in the letters on which the bargains were based, Mr. Grant said, he had always been able to make satisfactory adjustments of disputes, but where the products were not as represented, he could not protect the shippers.

Mr. Grant said there would be a determined effort to bring down of farm products to a pre-war level. It need not be feared, however, that the primary producer was going to let the seller dictate his price in the long run organization had gone too far.

In the English market he had noticed British Columbia fruit bring a premium in some instances over over the Washington. He predicted eventual stability that would return to the grower a fair profit.

Regrigeration Tests

R. G. L. Clarke, chief Dominion fruit inspector for British Columbia mentioned delayed movement after loading of cars as one of the reasons for berries reaching their destination in poor shape.

Inspector Clarke gave in full the report filed with the fruit commissioner by G. E. MacIntosh, covering experiments with frut shipments from British Columbia points for the season of 1920, as follows:

"The arrangements for carrying out the tests were made on recommendation of the Fruit branch. Assistance in performing the work was given by the dairy and cold storage branch. The purpose of the tests was to determine the adaptability of the brine tank refrigerator car for handling fruit shipments under refrigeration.

"The tests comprised of shipments of strawberries, raspberries, cherries, apricots, mixed fruits, mixed friuts and vegetables, crabapples and straight carloads of vegetables. Test shipments were also made in refrigerator cars equipped with A. B. C. system of refrigeration.

"A total of 20 carloads of fruits and vegetables were moved, 11 by express and nine by freight destinations being points on the prairies and also Minneapolis, Sault Ste. Marie and North Bay.

Conclusions

"Brine tank refrigerator cars without solid insulated bulkheads are not satisfactory for fresh fruit transportation.

"Brine tank refrigerator cars equipped with solid insulated bulkheads properly iced and re-iced in transit, iced and re-iced in transit, will will successfully transport fresh fruit, fresh vegetables and mixed fruit and vegetables, under refrigeration.

"Over-ripe fruit cannot be successfully handled to long haul markets in any kind of car.

"The practice of lining four-basket crates with paper and following it over the top of fruit, serves to some extent, to retard refrigeration. The paper apparently obstructs the circulation of air through the fruit and prevents more or less the escape of field heat.

"It is desirable that ventilators be closed and kept closed in brine tank cars when fruit is moving under refrigeration.

"Opening one brine cars in transit for partial unloading does not appear to damage the fruit or effect its keeping qualities.

"Heavy loading and long cars are two features to avoid as far as possible wren handling fruit under refrigeration.

"It has been shown that rapid cooling of soft fruit materially reduces loss from decay. This can be accomplished much more rapidly in a brine tank refrigerator car, equipped with solid insulated bulkheads and false floors, designed to permit the freest possible circulation of air.

"All shipments were considered as direct from the field or orchard and moved with from 10 to 15 per cent salt.

"As high as 15 per cent salt can safely be used in the C. P. R., 5500 series of brine tank refrigerator cars when moving by express. For freight shipments up to 15 per cent salt can be used for initial icing and for first re-icing, but should then be reduced according to climatic conditions and varieties of fruit or vegetables being handled.

Continuation of Experiments

"It is recommended that a series of experimental shipments under refrigeration, ventilation and heating be conducted each season.

"The practice of covering trucks, loaded with fruit on the wharf at Okanagan Landing, with tarpaulines as a protection from the heat should be discontinued.

"More care on the part of shippers in having fruit in uniform shipping condition is desirable.

"Proppper loading, by maintaining a free circulation of air between the packages is essential. More care on the part of shippers is necessary in this respect.

"Assurance is given by railway officials that suggested alterations to the bulkheads and drain pipes in brine tank refrigeration cars will be made.

"The screen top on tanks in brine tank refrigerator cars, fitted by the railway company at the request of the shippers is not recommended from a refrigeration standpoint. The consumption if ice is greater, and therefore more costly to operate. It was also found that there was considerable splash.

"In all brine tank cars used the bulkheads were well insulated and fitted snugly to the sides and false floors, all openings at the bottom were closed. Ample provision was made for air openings circulation by setting the bulkhead out two inches when necessary. The cold air was forced under the load, and cars opened up in good condition, the walls, ceiling and bulkheads being absolutely dry."

Replying to questions by H. Slater, Mr. Clarke said he had known 26 varieties of apples in one car.

Mr. Slater advocated the appointment of a committee on varieties which should decide what varieties were undesirable for the province, and recommend their elimination.

TELLS DYSPEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas on Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretion or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bisurated Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antiacid than Bisurated Magnesia and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a digestent. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present, and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the meal digests naturally and healthfully without need of pepsin pills or artificial digestents.

Get a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid, milk or citrate and in the bisurated form it is a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."

BOARD OF TRADE LOOKS BACK ON A YEAR OF SOUND ACHIEVEMENT

Services in District Have Made Much Advance; Telephone System Developed; Industries in Prospect; Publicity Literature and Ore Exhibits; President Hunter Thanked for Comprehensive Review.

Reporting a splendid year of achievement by the Nelson board of trade during 1919, at the annual meeting of that organization last night, President J. R. Hunter was given a hearty vote of thanks for the detailed and comprehensive review of the board's activities. This resolution was adopted on the motion of E. W. Widdowson and J. E. Annable.

The report in detail was as follows:

Gentlemen: Another milestone in the history of the Nelson Board of Trade has just passed and we come to the time when it is the custom of the President to give a short review of the business transacted, which may have assisted the progress and development of our city and district.

In looking back over the past four years, during which time it has been my privilege to hold the position of President, we must note with a great deal of satisfaction the wonderful prosperity and growth of our district and City.

Membership

In the first place let us look into the growth of our own organization. Four years ago we had barely 70 members and today we can boast of nearly 150, steadily growing year by year. The amount of money passing through the hands of the secretary this year has been nearly double that of any previous year. There is no reason why this should not continue and it is up to every member to see to it that the Board of Trade is made the biggest and most useful organization in the City, from which radiates more real business of a permanent nature which tends to the development of our district, and let our motto be "Build not for today but for tomorrow."

Publicity

During the past year much Publicity work has been done. Thousands of pamphlets setting forth the possibilities and attractions of the district have been distributed in large quantities, many of them going direct to the Agent General's office in London, England. We have also distributed some 50,000 fruit circulars for placing in the boxes of fruit leaving the district, which go direct to the home with the fruit, which resulted in bringing many enquiries to our Secretary from prospective settlers. No doubt Mr. Gigot will be able to give us a detailed report of the enquiries received and answered, and of what the actual results have been.

Another splendid piece of publicity work which we were able to get completed this year was the Moving Picture Film, covering the City and district. This was shown for three nights in the Gem Theatre of this city and then sent for Circulation throughout the three Prairie Provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, for a period of three months continuously after which time the film will be returned to us and remain the property of the Nelson Board of Trade, to be used in any way they see fit. This has cost us a great deal of time and money but I feel that it was well spent and will result in attracting settlers to our district.

In order to give this district more Publicity and bring the possibilities to the attention of the public, this Board sent Commissioner Starkey to Calgary to attend the joint meting of the Boards of Trade of Western Canada. Again, some of our Citizens and members of our Boards were uncertain about the suitability of our timber for Pulp Purposes. We immediately, with the assistance of the Citizens, contributed toward the bringing in of an expert from the Coast, to look into the whole situation and Mr. Henning Helin was approached and his services secured, and after a careful survey, sent us a most favorable report.

Commercial and Industrial

Nelson, on account of its position geographically and on account of the favorable distributing rates, together with the quick deliveries that can be made, is the wholesale and distributing centre of the interior. We find that many new industries are looking for suitable locations. A match block factory has made a thorough survey of the situation looking to the possibility of installing a factory at this point. We also find T. H. Waters & Co. reorganized and intend installing new machinery for the manufacture of brooms and woodenware.

The pulp mill, so long talked of, I believe, will within the next 2 years be an assured fact. Never during the last three years since our Board took up the matter of pulp, has the project looked so bright as it does at the present time, although a large undertaking, such as a pulp and paper mill calls for, cannot be built in a day. It takes not only days but months and years to get the finances in shape, then the buildings, timber limits and power all take time to develop. Some two years more is necessary in order to get machinery and to develop power sufficient to drive an industry with a capacity of 500 tons per day, so that we must not get uneasy and think that our industrial committee is not moving fast enough. Large bodies move slowly, and a huge proposition like this which will mean the expenditure of perhaps $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 must be considered very carefully. If this is undertaken, which we have every reason to believe will be, it will mean employment for nearly two thousand people.

Fruit and Agriculture

Speaking of fruits generally, while we cannot give very encouraging reports, although the crop was very light, the price secured was fairly good. Many reasons might be given for this off-season. Perhaps the late spring together with the subnormal winter precipitation, and also the very heavy crop of a year ago, may be given as the main causes.

Small fruits seem to be in active and ever increasing demand. The demand by the jam companies calls for a much larger production on a profitable basis.

Many new settlers have arrived from the prairies and settled on the lands adjacent to Nelson and many returned men have taken up land in the district. Every encouragement should be given them so that their venture may be successful. What we need today more than anything else is greater production, and by doing so reduce the high cost of living.

Mining

The first of the year started off looking very bright. Many new properties were under development and no doubt would be in operation today; had it not been for the labor trouble instigated by the O. B. U., about June last. This together with the fall in the metal market, later on in the year, caused many of the properties to curtail operations and in many cases close entirely, yet with the mineral output considerably reduced, the province as a whole will be able to record a very creditable production.

During the year, through the efforts of the board of trade, a very fine collection of ore exhibits was sent to the Seattle mining convention which was claimed to be the star attraction of that convention and was accorded, purely on its merits, wider publicity than any other display from other parts, and led to many enquiries being received from capitalists, but the apparent interest in the Kootenay properties, the excellent effect created and which would have resulted in substantial investments, have unhappily been largely discounted by the labor situation to which I have already referred.

With the presidential election over and the tendency of conditions to return to normal, we may look forward to a revival of this interest in mining, and be prepared to send if possible, another exhibit to the Portland convention in April next.

Lumbering

The year 1920 began with a most favorable outlook for the lumber industry, and manufacturers and those engaged in various activities connected with lumber and timber looked forward to a continuance of the good demand for their products, which commenced during the latter part of 1919. About March the demand for lumber commenced to slacken and the falling off in demand became more noticeable as the year advanced until toward the end of the year the lumber trade was virtually at a standstill. With the falling off in demand prices declined and in many cases are now not only below cost of production but below replacement values.

Production of mills operating in the interior of this province amounted to approximately 325 million feet, an increase of about 60 million feet compared with the previous year. Shipments amounted to about 240 million feet, being about 75 million feet less than in 1919.

The increase in freight rates which became effective early in September was a severe blow to the lumber industry and tended to check the light movement of lumber at that time. In fact, the increase in rates referred to greatly accelerated the falling off in demand of lumber, and had the effect of closing the eastern markets to the product of western mills. The rate increase added approximately $7 per thousand feet to the cost of delivering lumber to central points in eastern Canada, and the freight is now considerably more per thousand feet than the mill price of the lumber.

The present high cost of transportation is hampering and delaying the return of the lumber business, as well as of business as a whole, to a more stable basis, and a reduction in freight rates would be reflected in an improvement in the lumber trade which is so badly needed at this time.

Lumbering is by far the most important manufacturing industry in western Canada, and the prosperity of this industry is immediately reflected in the prosperity of the whole community. When it is considered that the value of the 1920 lumber shipments alone, in addition to value of large quantities of poles, piling, railway ties, fence posts and shingle, amounted to over eight million dollars, and that approximately 80 per cent of the cost of lumber is represented by wages paid employees, the importance of the industry to the welfare of the interior of this province, as well as the province as a whole, is quite evident.

Lumber operators as a whole are optimistic as to the future. They realize there is a latent demand for lumber which will develop sooner or later. At the same time competition for business in the future promises to be keen, and it will be necessary to deflate the high cost of production which prevailed during 1920 to meet declining values of the finished product and the competition of other producing districts.

General

A great deal might be said for and against the board of trade, but my opinion is that if the knockers from the outside would come inside and do their knocking we might be able to do them some good and they might be able to see the amount of good we are striving to do.

Through the efforts of the board we have today a government telephone exchange, which we must all agree is giving universal satisfaction, and greater efficiency in the handling of long distance calls. This matter was taken up with Mr. Stevens, the general superintendent at Kamloops, the local telephone exchange and with the Dominion government representative, and we appreciate the assistance given us to have this change effected.

We had the pleasure of a visit from the members of the Vancouver board of trade, while on their tour of East and West Kootenay. A banquet was tendered them and a very pleasant evening spent. We were glad to see so many of our old time Nelson men with the delegation. Men who were in business and made money and have gone to Vancouver to reside.

During the year the Thrums-Brilliant road was completed, also the Sirdar-Kuskanook road. This with the building of the wharf will complete the link of the trans-provincial highway to Rossland, and now the contract has been let and construction started on the Rossland-Cascade road so that in a very few months this link will be completed and give a through connection to Princeton.

In closing let me thank the officers and members for the assistance given me and the different committees for their work. I would also like to express my appreciation of the confidence shown in me by placing me at the head of your organization for four consecutive years.

J. R. HUNTER.

CITY COUNCIL NOW ORGANIZED

Committees Named for Year and work Laid Out; Provincial Highway.

In exactly one hour, the new city council last night organized for the year, and outlined the business in sight. Mayor C. F. McHardy was in the chair, and the others present were Aldermen L. H. Choquette, A. D. Emory, George Turner, C. D. Shaw and John Bell.

The comittee slate, as made up by "the mayor-in-council," on Saturday, was adopted as follows, the first named alderman in each case being chairman:

Finance — Aldermen Choquette, Cunliffe, Emory.

Fire, water and light—Aldermen Cunliffe, Emory, Choquette.

Gas—Aldermen Emory, Cunliffe, Choquette.

Public works — Aldermen Bell, Shaw, Turner.

Library—Alderman Shaw, Turner, Bell.

Parks, cemetery and health—Aldermen Turner, Shaw, Bell.

Aldermen Emory and Choquette were appointed fire wardens.

By recolution the library board was constituted of the mayor, Mrs. A. L. McCulloch, H. McAarthur and B. P. Steeves.

A court of revision was named composed of the mayor, and Aldermen Emory, Shaw, Bell and Cunliffe.

Mayor McHardy was authorized to name a committee of two to purchase feed, and named Aldermen Choquette and Cunliffe as the committee.

Baker Street Provincial Highway.

Mayor McHardy pointed out that the roadway from the Granite road to the government ferry would be a part of the provincial highway, and that the city should be given an allowance on account of this.

On the motion of Aldermen Choquette and Bell, it was left to Mayor McHardy and City Clerk W. E. Wasson to draft a letter to the provincial department of public works on the matter.

The city clerk was instructed to get prices on lumber.

Plans and data asked for by Mr. Adams, the town planning expert, were received from A. L. McCulloch, who was authorized last summer to prepare them. The material was referred to the public works committee for examination before being forwarded to Mr. Adams.

The council decided to meet next on July 31, and thereafter on alternate Mondays at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Mayor McHardy extended an invitation to the council to attend the address tonight in the city council chamber at 8:30 o'clock by Dean L. S. Klinck, of the University of British Columbia.

STUDENTS GET PRACTICE

A number of five young students of the Nelson Business college were in the gallery at Eagle hall yesterday afternoon getting shorthand practice with the addresses delivered before the fruit growers.

HUNDRED AND NINTH BIRTHDAY

UNION, S. C., Jan. 20.—Mrs. Susan Kirby celebrated her 109th birthday anniversary here today at a dinner given in her honor.

FRUIT GROWERS LUNCHEON GUESTS

Pythian Hall Packed With Visitors and Citizens; Notable Speeches.

Only with the greatest difficulty did the K. P. hall contain the big crowd of delegates and citizens, at the public luncheon in honor of the visiting fruit growers, at noon yesterday. Even the daises accommodated citizen, while the members of the Nelson and District Women's Institute served with admirable dispatch the appetizing fare provided.

Mayor C. F. McHardy presided over the affair, the toast list including in its scope the fruit growers, the shippers, the department of agriculture and the university.

After the toast to "the King" had been suitably honored, Mayor McHardy referred to the city's financial position. Within the limits of the season he hoped the city's guests would have a good time.

Fruit Growers Toasted.

The toast to "The Fruit Growers" was proposed by W. F. Laidman, of Vernon. The speaker declared the fruit grower a wonderful man, of sterling qualities, these being absolutely necessary to success, patience and perserverance being the outstanding ones. The young fruit grower of today who could see daylight ahead, owed a great debt to the pioneers, who fought great obstacles and built the foundations for their later work.

President Barnes of Walhachin, in replying, spoke of the dream period of the fruit grower, when he planted a few sticks in the ground and sat down to watch them grow, and a stream of golden wealth flow in. But frosts, insects and other stern facts interfered with realization. If the dream could come true, it would be the end of the industry.

Life was well worth living to the fruitgrower, whatever his hardships, he said.

President Barnes declared the visitors would always have pleasant recollections of their present visit, would be sorry to leave, and would be anxious to come again soon. (Applause).

Department Honored.

Capt. J. T. Mutrie proposed the toast to "the Department of Agriculture and its Officials." He declared the department of agriculture did not receive the consideration from the legislature that is deserved. He had noting but the highest praise for the officials, and declared it was inspiring to associate with these men and to see the work they were attempting, too often unappreciated.

Dr. D. Warnock, deputy minister of agriculture, responded to this heartly honored toast, saying he only regretted that the minister himself was unable to be present. He said it would have done the premier a great deal of good to hear the kindly references to the department.

The work of the department was increasing from year to year. In particular there were many immigrants from the prairie, who while good farmers there, had to have instruction and assistance here.

Dr. Warnock quoted the recent assertion of President E. W. Beatty of the C. P. R., that Canada was on the eve of the greatest era of prosperity she had ever known. While there might be difficulties, people had to eat, drink and sleep, and a large part of Canada was dependent on the products of the soil produced here.

Referring to agricultural estimates, Dr. Warnock said they were late last year, and but for that, probably free stumping powder would have been available.

Appreciation of Shipper.

R. M. Palmer, of Cowitchan Bay, who proposed the toast to "the Shippers," said under the conditions of larger production now obtaining, he was convinced that success for the industry depended on the shipper. He needed all the qualities needed by the grower, and others too, for he had to reach out all over the world for his markets. Mr. Palmer declared British Columbia had been fortunate in the men who were selling its fruit.

R. M. Winslow, manager of the B. C. Credit and Traffic association, replying to the toast, said it was the first time in his experience that the fruit growers of British Columbia had toasted the fruit shippers.

Many problems, he said, faced the fruit shippers in each season, some temporary, some more permanent and obstinate. Many of them were solved without any hearing about them but the few men directly involved.

The B. C. Credit and Traffic association, he said, was in practice controlled by the growers to a very complete degree, and represented the idea of cooperative marketing. In British Columbia cooperation was not attained by the absorption of one class by another, but represented a voluntary combining of interests by both classes.

The University.

An extra toast was added, to "The University of British Columbia," coupled with the name of the president, Dr. L. S. Klinck.

Dr. Klinck referred to his first trip over the province after being twice advised that he would have to forget all he had learned in the east. Dr. Westbrook, late president of the university, the late Mr. Cunningham, of the association, and himself penetrated on that trip practically every district. For years, Dr. Klinck stated, he personally "proved a terrible disappointment" to farmers and fruit growers because he refused to give expert opinions. That was the attitude of everyone connected with the university. It was the policy of each expert to study intensively and over a long period the problems that were purely local to various sections, and not to give out results until there was data from which sound conclusions could be drawn. That many had changed their former opinion of his capacity, based on his early silence, he was happy to say.

Dr. Klinck said the province had a wonderful asset in its university. Its enrollment was now 947. The second largest in the Dominion. The faculty of applied science had trebled its enrollment. While the enrollment in the faculty of agriculture was not large, there were all the students that could be handled under present conditions.

The concluding number was a felicitious speech of thanks by President Barnes, on behalf of the Fruit Growers' association, to the ladies of the Nelson and District Women's institute.

Mrs. H. H. Pitts, president of the institute, expressed the pleasure of the members at being able to assist in making the occasion a success.

DRESSMAKER SAVED FROM OPERATION

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in Time.

Ithaca, N.Y.—"Three years ago I suffered from pains in my right side, so severe that I could not raise my feet from the floor. Pains would shoot down my limbs and through my back, and the doctor said I had an abscess. I was in bed two weeks with an icebag on my side and expected any day that I might have to go to a hospital for an operation. A friend came to see me and told me of your wonderful medicine—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began taking it, and after taking six bottles I feel well and strong, do my own work and do dressmaking for others. I cannot speak too highly of your medicine and recommend it to others who suffer with female trouble. It is a Godsend to ailing women, and you may use my name at any time."—Mrs. PERMILLA HULSIZER, 218 E. Fall St., Ithaca, N.Y.

Women who suffer from any such ailments should not fail to try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The Board of Trade

Tributes which were paid last night to J. R. Hunter, who retired from the presidency of the Nelson Board of Trade after having headed the board for four years, were thoroughly deserved.

Mr. Hunter has made good. He has worked vigorously and wholeheartedly to strengthen the influence of the board, to increase its membership and to have made effective the various recommendations the board has made with the object of building up the industries and increasing the population and general business of the city and district. The success which has been attained has been such as Mr. Hunter and members of the board who have cooperated with him may well take pride in.

The new president, F. J. Boles, can be depended upon to continue the good work. He is an active and progressive business man, energetic in any public affairs which he has undertaken, and always willing to devote his time to assisting in movements for the benefit of the city and district.

"P. R." at the Coast

Vancouver has tried proportional representation, and the scheme appears to have proved just about as unpopular in the coast city as it did in Nelson and New Westminster. To attacks on the new scheme the Vancouver World has made a defense which those who believe in the British system of government by the majority will regard as a pretty strong condemnation of "P.R". Says the World:

Ex-Alderman Gibbens says that although he received more first, second and third choice votes than certain of his opponents they were elected to the city council and he was defeated. But some such result as that in the case of certain candidates was exactly what was to be expected under Proportional Representation. The beauty and glory of the system is that no matter how large a majority may be opposed to the candidate favored by a particular group, that group cannot be deprived of its representation if it is large enough to secure a quota.

It might have happened that every elector made Mr. Gibbens either his first or second choice, and still Mr. Gibbens have not been elected. For had his eight successful competitors obtained each his bare quota of 683 first choice votes, and had Mr. Gibbens obtained all the remaining 674 first choice votes he might have had every second choice vote on his opponents' papers, 5464 of them, without finding his way to the council. This is an extreme hypothesis, but it demonstrates in a simple way what really happened to Mr. Gibbens, namely, that a large number of the electors who gave him their second and third choice votes had already voted as earlier choices for one or other of the successful candidates and had exhausted their voting powers by so doing. Manifestly it would have been most unfair had they, having elected their own favorite candidates, been able to turn around and defeat the candidate of another group of voters.

True, more people may have wanted to elect Mr. Gibbens than wanted to elect his successful opponent. That being so, it naturally follows that the will of the majority was overridden by the will of the minority, a proposition that is antagonistic to the British system of democratic government by the majority, which, while not perfect, has so far proved the most satisfactory method of making effective the will of the people which has been devised.

The World admits that more people may have wanted to elect Mr. Gibbens than wanted

Efficient Housekeeping

BY Laura A. Kirkman

READERS' DISCOVERIES

Mrs. P. P. L.: "My sister lives near me and lately we have been doing our Wednesday's and Saturday's baking together, taking turns in each other's kitchen. We have both have to be careful in our spending, and we found that by this co-operation we could have more variety in our cakes and pies, because where before we each baked only one kind of cake each baking day, now we still each bake one cake—but divide each cake between us, in this way getting, for instance, one-half of a dark cake and one-half of a light cake. Our husbands like this arrangement so much. Men like a change in food. We have also found that our little arrangement saves labor; we have to clean up only one kitchen afterward!"

Margaret H.: "I have discovered that in making caramel cake filling which, by misfortune, begins to go to sugar, I can save the day by adding a little sweet cream to it and stirring vigorously. This makes the filling soft and creamy.

Old Housekeeper: "I always hate to see young housekeepers buying chean braids to put on their aprons and other work garments as a finish, for I have made braid, for this purpose for ten years—thereby saving myself a good deal of money. I finish off the children's rompers, little aprons, and my sweeping caps and aprons with braid made in this way: I take a heavy mercerized cotton (No. 5) and a coarse crochet needle and make a chain the length of the braid desired. I then run a line of machine stitching down through this chain of cotton, exactly in the centre, and the result is a braid quite good enough for ordinary use. I have often dyed this braid to harmonize with certain garments, and have made it out of other materials —such as silk cording."

L. S.: "Thank you for the recipes. In return I am dropping you this postal to give you a 'discovery' I saw in the home of an ingenious friend who lives in a city apartment. She had no place to stand the sewing machine, so had a carpenter make her a pretty green lattice-screen to hide it. This screen resembles a large fire-place screen; it has a top to it on which she can stand plants as well as pots containing vines which run all over the lattice work."

A Mother: "Please send me your article on 'What to Put in the Carried Lunch Box.' In return for this courtesy I am sending you this hint for your 'Readers' Discoveries' column: I have found that it pays to use a shoehorn in putting on my children's tight rubbers as well as putting on their shoes."

One Who Entertains Often: "For a good ten years of our lives my husband and I sweetly offered our best silk umbrella to guests who had to leave our house in sudden showers. Then last year we struck. For, in counting back, we estimated that we had lost at least five good silk umbrellas in these ten years of guilelessness. We thereupon bought a cheap cotton umbrella for the sole purpose of lending—and we can't lose it! Our guests religiously bring it home every time we lend it. I would advise other couples who do a good deal of entertaining to follow our advice and buy a cheap umbrella."

Told in Rhyme

The Snake-Fence

Fast disappearing emblem of old days,
When man first trod the frontier wilderness
Sowing the seed which later grew to dress
The ax-cleared land, with miles of sunlit maize.
Along haphazard windings, zigzag ways.
In April bluebirds flew all azure plumed,
Besides the lowest logs the bloodroot bloomed
Unconscious of the brilliant noontide blaze.
But now the logs lie rotting in the grass
Or feed the fires of chill October eves;
Of former landscapes progress only leaves
A vestige which eventually will pass.
Thus gradually the old-time glamor fades
And, fading, dies, as winds through forest glades

The Sahara desert at one place attains an altitude of 8000 feet.

Styles

BY LENORE

Decidedly gay and in keeping with the spirit of early 'teens, is a navy blue serge frock trimmed with cherry red soutache brain and buttons to match. Mm! Most any girl would like that. The pattern is cut on the simplest of lines, with slightly elongated waist just barely bloused over a wide girdle, and the little stand-away collar is a graceful finish for the neck. Softer materials, like satin and heavy crepe de caine, would also drape well on these lines.

Other gaily decorative effects in youthful frocks are achieved with batik scarfs, which are applied as girdles or sashes to chemise frocks. The same trimming was also used in a navy serge bolero suit, the scarf draped high about the waist under the jacket, and the heavily fringed end falling like an apron over the skirt.

ADMINISTERS WRONG DRUG

Doctor Only Learns at Inquest That He Did Not Use Right Tubes.

TORONTO, Jan. 20.—That Dr. Percy E. Faed had used "diarsinol" instead of "neodiarsional," in the case of Miss Monica Kenney, who died just outside of Dr. J. H. McConnell's office a few minutes after having received the treatment of Jan. 8, was brought out in evidence given at the inquest tonight before Coroner George W. Graham, and that "diarsinol" was a deadly drug, as administered, also was brought out. Dr. Faed had obtained the drug at Grace hospital from Dr. Abraham Brodey of Grace hospital, according to the evidence produced, but there was a confliction of testimony between Mr. Faed and Dr. Broedy as to which drug had been asked for at the hospital by Dr. Faed. The latter insisted that he had asked for "neodiarsinol" but Dr. Brodey was equally insistent that it was "diarsinol" that Dr. Faed had asked for.

Dr. Brodey stated that if "diarsinol" were used with the "neodiarsinol" method of preparation, it would mean death.

Dr. Faed in reply to a question, said, "I just learned at noon today that the tubes were not the right ones." He said he had not known that the wrong drug had been used until today.

HOLD POWER BY MINORITY VOTE

Opposition Parties Polled Over Sixy Per Cent of the Total in Recent Elections.

At the recent provincial general elections a total of 136,939 votes were cast for Liberals, 94,903 for Conservatives, and 123,314 for Independent candidates of all shades of political ideas.

With a Conservative-Independent vote nearly double that received by the Government, the Liberal administration was yet sustained, capturing twenty-six seats against fourteen captured by the Conseratives, and seven by the Independentes.

The Government's aggregate vote was 39 per cent of the total polled

In compiling the above figures the totals polled in Vancouver and Victoria are given, though, of course these totals were greatly swelled by the fact that in the former city one voter could vote for six candidates and in the later four, Thus the totals are far in excess of the actual number of voters who voted. For instance the Liberals are credited with a total of 81,449 votes in Vancouver, yet the highest Liberal Mrs. Ralph Smith, received only 18,082. The highest Independent in Vancouver received 9407, but the Independents are credited with 65,288.

Altogether 165 candidates were in the field, of whom 46 were Liberals, 43 were Conservatives, and 67 were 14 varieties of Independents. In Independents were classified as follows. Independents 21; Socialists 9; Federated Labor 9; Soldier-Labor 6; Farmers 5; Labor 5; Soldier-Farmer 3; United Veterans 2; Soldier 1; Peoples Party 1; Fusion 2; Independne-Soldier 1; Indepedent Conservative 1; Independent Liberal 1.

Delta Contest Between Mackenzie and Paterson

CLOVERDALE, Jan. 20.—F. J. MacKenzie was today unanimously selected as Conservative to contest the Delta riding against A. D. Patterson, the Liberal nominee. FIND PROMINENT IDENTITY DEAD

Nearly Ninety Years Old, Mr. J. F. Kerr Dies Alone Near Cranbrook.

CRANBROOK, Jan. 20.—John Ferguson Kerr, for many years a well known figure in the city, will be seen no more. Mr. Kerr, who lacked only two months of being 90 years of age, lived alone with his faithful dogs two miles south of the city. Friends discovered on Saturday that he was dead. It is thought that death claimed him on Friday. The funeral yesterday was from Macpherson's undertaking parlors to the Anglican church where an impressive service was conducted, thence to the Cranbrook cemetery, where the remains were laid to rest.

They work gently and effectively, without a gripe or pain.

If you are troubled with constipation, biliousness; driven to distraction with sick headaches, if your tongue is coated, your breath bad, your complexion muddy, your eyes yellow, have floating specks before the eyes, jaundice, itching, bleeding or protruding piles, stir up your sluggish liver with a few doses of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills.

Mrs. Roy Mackie, Orillia, Ont., writes:—"I desire to express my thanks for the relief I have had by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. I had been suffering for some time from constipation and bad headaches. I tried all sorts of cures which did me no good, until I was advised to try your pills. BOLES HEADS THE BOARD OF TRADE

Bamford is Vice-president; Warm Appreciation of Retiring President.

President F. J. Boles.
Vice-president W. B. Bamford.
Treasurer A. D. McLeod.
Secretary E. F. Gigot.

Last night's session of the Nelson board of trade rang out an old administration and rang in a new one. President J. R. Hunter, after four year's in the chair, refused to accept re-nomination, and Vice-president F. J. Boles and J. E. Annable were both placed in nomination for the office, J. A. Irving proposing Mr. Boles, and H. D. Kenny Mr. Annable. The ensuing ballot, for which W. H. Jones and H. E. Dill acted as scrutineers, resulted in Mr. Boles' election on a close vote.

President Hunter vacated the chair for the new president, who, thanking the members of the board for the honor, asked them to back him up throughout the year. He announced he would make no moves of importance without the sanction of the board of council.

President Boles subscribed to the oath of office read by Mayor C. F. McHardy.

W. B. Bamford was elected vice-president by accalamation, over his protests at being too new a resident for the honor, Alex Leith, the only other candidate proposed, withdrawing his name.

Mr. Bamford suitably acknowledged the honor done him, and stated he "would do what he could to assist."

Mr. Dill declining nomination for a third term as treasurer, the unanimous choice fell on A. D. McLeod.

Secretary E. F. Gigot was unanimously re-elected.

On motion of Mr. Annable, the board adhered to the practice of having a nominating committee suggest an ideal council after studying the membership roll.

During the reception of the annual report, Retiring Treasurer H. E. Dill reported receipts from membership fees as $2,546.23, and expenditures $2135.54, leaving $384.04 in the bank and $26.65 in hand.

Secretary E. F. Gigot reported the membership as 134. He gave a summary of attendance of each member during the year.

This committee was named by the president, to consist of Messrs, Irving, Leith, Hunter, E. W. Widdowson, and R. W. Hinton. The committee will report to an adjourned meeting next Thursday night.

Appreciation of Mr. Hunter

Mr. Hinton said the board ought not to disperse without tendering a very hearty vote of thanks to the retiring president, Mr. Hunter, for his four years of devoted work. Whe he was brought in and placed in the chair vihtually an untried member, a few were doubters as to the board's wisdom in making the experiment. These doubts proved to have been without foundation. He had devoted all kinds of energy to the board's work, and had never fallen down on the job on any occasion.

Mr. Gigot said no one was in a better position than himself to observe Mr. Hunter's unremitting work, and he asked the privilege of being seconder of the motion.

Mr. Leith warmly supported the motion paying tribute to Mr. Hunter's behavior in office. Though an active, busy man, he had devoted unlimited time to the board's affair's.

President Boles added his personal testimony, stating that Mr. Hunter deserved all the praise that could be given him. He mentioned his work in connection with the Ymir road as characteristic.

The motion was carried amid applause.

Mr. Hunter, replying, said the vote of thanks was not at all necessary. What he had done was only what any citizen should do when called upon. One thing he had always striven for, to keep the board clean from politics. His opinions had not always found acceptance, but everything he had done he had done from honest motives, and with the best intentions for the organization.

If more members had attended faithfully, Mr. Hunter said, the board's work would have been still more effective. It should be the biggest and most powerful organization in the city, being by constitution free of politics, non-sectarian, and existing to promote the community's interests. Its standing was illustrated by the attention governments and other institutions paid to its representations. (Applause).

The board then adjourned, in order that its members might participate in the social function in honor of the fruit growers.

Those present were: J. R. Hunter, F. J. Boles, Secretary E. F. Gigot, R. W. Hinton, F. F. Payne, Mayor C. F. McHardy, J. W. Mulholland, E. W. Widdowson, W. B. Bamford, H. D. Kenny, A. D. Emery, J. A. Irving, H. Bush, Fred A. Starkey, J. E. Annable, John Bell, W. Holmes, W. H. Jones, H. E. Dill, W. M. Cunliffe, A. D. McLeod, Alex Leith and T. H. Waters.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH REDUCES DEBT

Four Thousand Paid Off During Year; Gifts to Pastor and Wife.

St. Paul's Presbyterian church held its annual congregational meeting last night, after an excellent dinner served by the ladies' aid.

Mrs. Gibson, on behalf of the congregation, presented a beautiful electric lamp to F. Warner Smith, organist and choir leader. Mr. Smith replied in a happy speech.

F. R. Jelfs was elected to the chair.

The report of session, presented by Capt. D. C. McMorris, showed that 44 members had been received during the year, and that all the organizations of the church were in a healthy and prosperous condition.

Financial Report

Mr. Jelfs, treasurer, then presented the managers' report, which showed that $11,112.13 had been raised for all purposes. This was $61.11 per family and $40.70 per member. The pastor pointed out that this was the highest giving per family and per member in the Presbyterian church in British Columbia. The heavy debt had been reduced during the year by $4087.35. This meant that during the last two years the debt has been reduced $10,000. The total missionary contributions for the year were $1039.61.

The report of the ladies' aid was presented by Mrs. C. H. Bean and Mrs. W. T. Choate, and showed total receipts for the year to be $1980.65.

The Sunday school secretary, R. F. Irwin, reported a total enrolment of 243. All departments of the school were well organized. Miss Ivy Choate, treasurer, reported that the school had raised during the year a total of $984.10, of which $383.18 went to missionary and benevolent purposes.

The Women's Missionary society report was presented by Mrs. Glendenning, treasurer, and Mrs. J. Brodie secretary. There were 38 members and $224.25 had been raised. Twelve Bibles had been placed in the rooms of the hospital during the year.

Miss Edith Ross presented the report of the Excelsior club, showing total receipts of $335.77.

Ben Martin and E. Keatley read reports of the Trail Rangers, showing receipts of $24.10.

Miss Jean Glendenning reported for the C.S.I.T., showing $73.75 total receipts.

The Young People's society report was presented by the secretary, Miss B. Risk, showing that the organization this year was doing better work than ever before.

Miss Florence Grant reported that $58.10 had been raised by the Juniors.

Mrs. John Stobo reported 85 babies on the cradle roll department.

Presentations

During the evening A. L. McCulloch called Rev. and Mrs. D. T. McClintock to the front, and in a felicitous speech presented to Mr. McClintock a check for $100, and to Mrs. McClintock a cheque for $50. Both replied feelingly, expressing their pleasure in ministering to St. Paul's congregation.

Mrs. Gibson, Mrs. Murphy, Mr. A. Leith, Mr. A. L. McCulloch and Mr. R. Peebles were re-elected members of the managing board.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the ladies' aid, the Sunday school, the choir, and the other organizations in the church.

ESKIMOS CLEAN UP VICS IN JUNIOR GAME

Partly owing to their team being crippled by the indisposition of two of their star performers, and partly to a weak defence, the Vix hockey lineup was administered a severe drubbing by the Eskimos at the skating rink on Wednesday afternoon, the final score being 10-0 with the Eskimos on the long end of the stick. The teams were two local junior aggregations that with some additional practise are capable of putting up first class junior hockey.

The lineup was: Vixs—H. Tiburman, H. Pitts, G. Benwell, H. Murphy, D. Morgan, D. MacLean and spares, P. Rutledge and A. Anderson; Eskimos—B. Perdu, M. Walley, J. Binnish, D. DesBrisay, T. Grizzele, A. Ink and C. Murphy. A. McQuaig refereed the game.

CAT SURVIVES JOURNEY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—With all his nine lives apparently intact, Toby, a large Maltese cat, purred contentment on his arrival here after a 6000 mile journey in a wardrobe trunk without food or drink—and very little air. It is believed the cat hid in its owner's trunk, which was sent to Los Angeles by mistake. It reached Washington after a twelve-day trip.

BEARS RETIRE; BULLS RALLY

Market Records Gains in Diversified Issues; Steels and Equipments Pressed.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Retirement of the short interest in the stock market made further variable progress today as pools in oil, food, shippings and copper shares, as well as many other specialities, resumed their bullish operations.

Gross gains in these diversified stocks ran from one to six points, but pressure against steels and equipments in the last hour and the advance of call money from six to seven per cent removed much of the rise at the irregular close.

Sales 875,000 shares.

General Asphalt, which featured yesterday's rally, was again the most conspicuous issue, although its extreme rise of almost five points was reduced to 1⅜ at the close. Oils, almost without exception, closed at losses, as well as steels, equipments, motors and rails, final dealings disclosing a very thin market.

A sentimental factor in the early movement was the strength of International remittances, due primarialy to the conviction that the claims of the allies against Germany are soon to be satisfactorily determined.

Exchange on Landon rose to the highest peak since last July, with demand bills at $3.78¼ and Paris demand bills at approximately $6.60 affording a striking contrast to the low of $5.32½ in the early days of this month.

Less attention seemed to be paid to industrial developments, although these stressed the increase of unemployment of the railways at mining centers, and in some of the more important branches of manufacture, notably the textile trade. Bankers reported ready acceptance of domestic municipal underwritings recently negotiated. Liberty bonds were active and slightly higher, also most other domestic issues including railway convertibles, but the foreign group showed little change.

Total sales, $12,175,000.

Old United States bonds were unchanged on call.

WHEAT PRICES CLOSE HEAVY

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Uncertainty about Argentine export taxes, together with lessening of new export business in the United States, had a bearish effect today on the wheat market here. Prices closed heavy, 3½ to 4½ cents net lower, with March $1.68¾ to $1.69, and May $1.60¼ to $1.60½.

Corn lost ¼ to ⅜ cents; oats ⅛ to ¼ cents and provisions 12 to 40 cents.

TORONTO BOARD

TORONTO, Jan. 20.—A strong market continued during the greater part of the day, easing off towards the close in a goodly percentage of the active stocks. Investment buying was prominent, but several nondividend common stocks made substantial gains. The recovery of the paper stocks was quite pronounced. Victory bonds had a decided recovery and several brokers reported that the advances of the victory gonds were so substantial that they had unfilled orders at the close of the day. Further sales of delayed delivery securities again suggested overseas sources, the issues chiefly concerned being Bank of Commerce, and Dominion Iron Bonds. Commerce, however, advanced two points despite this pressure.

DOMINION LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Jan. 20.—Cattle receipts 613. Prices steady.

Hog receipts 1005; hogs $15.50 to $15.75 fed and watered.

MONTREAL LIST

MONTREAL, Jan. 20.—Produce was strong and active on the local stock exchange today with Brompton furnishing nearly a third of the total trading and advancing in price by 1⅞ to 56, with a high of 57¼. The activity was attributed to anticipation of the regular dividend declaration at this afternoon's annual meeting. Quebec railway was active and was fractionally up at the close Atlantic Sugar moved up 1¼ to 31½ closing at the best. The papers were strong, the Spanish River issues moving up 1⅝ for the common to 85, and a point for the preferred at 93½. Abitibi ended the day a full point higher at 57 and Howard-Smith preferred was up a point at 92.

The bond list was strong with the victory bonds mostly on the higher side.

Total sales—14,831 shares; bonds $172,350.

SUES TEMPERANCE BODY FOR DAMAGE

ST. JOHN, N. B., Jan. 20.—Hearing was begun today in the $20,000 libel suit brought by W. H. Knox against eight members of a local temperance alliance for alleged damage resulting from the publication of a photograph of plaintiff's children during the campaign before the liquor plebiscite in New Brunswick last year. The photograph was of four beautiful children appearing in connection with an advertisement about the effect of parental inebriety upon family life. Plaintiff, a returned soldier, admits that for a time he was compelled to break up his home, but this was not on account of drink, but through misfortune, he contends. When the picture was taken, plaintiff argues, he was overseas.

COOPERATION WON FOR CALIFORNIA

Fruit Growers Hear Splendid Address by Mr. Lewis; Dean Clement Speaks.

What experienced judges termed "the greatest address given in Nelson for years" was the feature of the session of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' association yesterday afternoon, when for over two hours Prof. C. I. Lewis, manager of the organization department of the Oregon Growers' Cooperative association, held the convention absorbed as he discoursed on "The Cooperative Movement in California and the Pacific Northwest." In addition to the great address that unfolded the triumphs of agricultural cooperation in California, the convention enjoyed a brief but pointed address by Dean F. M. Clement, of the faculty of agriculture of British Columbia University, on "When I Go Fruit Farming."

California's Record.

In opening, Prof. Lewis pointed out that California had gained 1,000,000 in population in 10 years. While the tourists were popularly credited with being an important factor in this growth, California's own people, by their ability and vision, had brought it about.

He described successively:

The California Citrus association, 27 years in existence, the daddy of them all, with 10,500 members, completely dominating the orange and lemon trade of the continent, its 82 salesmen being hired "to broaden the distribution," not to make sales.

The California Fruit exchange, 20 years old, with 4,000 members, handling all the perishable fruits of the state on a 2 per cent. basis, and selling 6,000 cars last year, through the 82 salesmen of the Citrus people.

The California Walnut association, which standardized walnuts, fought pests and made money out of even the shells and the walnut dust.

The Associated Raisin company of California, which by advertising brought the annual consumption of raisins by United States bake shops from 700 tons a year to 45,000 tons, devising raisin bread and other new products, 40 per cent of the 10,500 members being Americans.

The California Peach association, which popularized dried peaches, invaded South America, and sold all last year's crop by September for $8,000,000.

The California Fig association, which multiplied its crop and sold it at the top price.

The California Prune and Apricot association, which invented prune bread, standardized its products and multiplied both consumption and production, at a good profit to the grower.

Prof. Lewis also went into the history of cooperation in the northwestern states.

All California's success lay in building on a five-year contract, organizing on the basis of commodity instead of locality, standardizing the product, community packing, cheapened overhead, and liberal finance.

He declared the box apple trade must stand together, and expressed the opinion that the welfare of British Columbia, Washington and Oregon apple growers was one welfare, not several.

Prof. Lewis received an ovation when the clock compelled him to stop.

Essentials for a Successful Grower.

Dean Clement, who spoke first and briefly, dealt first with the Oriental problem, stating that in some districts, without bloodshed or visible contention, the yellow man was winning out, "field by field, farm by farm, or concession by concession." Personally he refused to believe the white man inferior either in ability—or in thrift, the Oriental's sole advantage being in his lower standard of living.

Dean Clement related the history of the fruit depression in the 70's, relieved by the finding of English markets, of the 90's, relieved by the destruction of eastern orchards by pests, and of the pre-war period.

Not over 10 per cent of the fruit could be marketed direct from producer to consumer. Then there was the usual commercial channel and lastly the "integrated" system. Various services had to be performed between the growing of the fruit and its sale to the eventual consumer, and the more of these servics the grower performd, the greater would be his proportion of the profit.

He declared, to be successful, a grower must have "the capitalistic mind," which figured money.

If the grower was guided by the fundamental principles, growing apples was as safe as Victory bonds. (Applause).

CANADIAN PAC. OFFICER TELLS ABOUT TROUBLE

Was Almost a Nervous and Physical Wreck When He Began Taking Tanlac, Says Stodgell, Gains 30 Pounds and Feels Fine.

"Before I took Tanlac I suffered until I had almost become a nervous and physical wreck," said Henry Stodgell, of 734 Sherbrooke St., Winnipeg, Man. Mr. Stodgell is a special officer for the Canadian Pacific Railroad company and is well known in Winnipeg.

"My troubles began in France over two years ago when I was gassed during the Somme drive, and up until about three months ago when I got Tanlac I steadily went down hill, although it seemed that everything possible was done for me. My stomach was so badly out of order that I could hardly eat enough to keep me alive, and I would bloat up with gas and have pains in the pit of my stomach.

"I was so nervous I could scarcely sleep at all and just any little noise would make me jump as though shot at. I had terrible headaches that always left me so weak and exhausted I could hardly move. I lost weight until I was only a shadow of what I used to be and I felt miserable all the time.

"But it didn't take Tanlac long to bring about a wonderful change, for after I finished my second bottle I felt better and now, after taking six bottles, I feel like a different man. I am always ready for a hearty meal. I can eat anything I want without feeling pain or discomfort and I have gained thirty pounds in weight. In fact I am in as perfect health as I was before I went to France and all the praise is due to Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Nelson by Canada Drug & Book Store, and by the leading druggists in every town. Adv.

CUT OFF SPOONERS RETREAT

VINELAND, N. J. Jan. 20.—There is to be no more spooning behind shady vines at the Old Soldiers' Home here. The summer trysting places in the grove in the rear of the home known as the summer cottages are for sale. Some person complained to the Board of Directors, it is said, that there was much courting going on. One of the veterans said that this talk of "Lovey Dovey" business is all bosh and he regretted the order. The inmates are all over 75 years of age.

ALARM CLOCK COAXES EGGS

BERWICK, Pa., Jan. 20.—Councilman Lester Lutz(a chicken fancier, tried several weeks ago the experiment of placing electric lights in his chicken pen that would switch on about four o'clock in the morning, as a means of getting more eggs from the hens. The chickens refused to be disturbed. Then Lutz got an alarm clock and put that in the pen set for four a.m. He has since increased the "output" of his twenty leghorns from six a day to from twelve to fourteen eggs a day.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. Jan. 20.—Common ordinary horse sense kept White Plains out of the crimelight recently. WHERE LAND MAY NOT BE SOLD

More than 600 years B. C. this law was written into the code of Palestine: "The land shall not be sold in perpetuity." And that is to be the law in the Palestine which is to be developed through the return of the descendants of the ancient inhabitants. Sir Herbert Samuel, administrator of Palestine, has announced that ownership of land will not carry the right to sell. Title to occupation and use may be conveyed to heirs and lanr may remain in control of a family from generation to generation, but it may not be disposed of as a commodity. In the ancient days, when land passed into the hands of others than the orginal owner or his heirs, the alienation was temporary. Every fifty years, in the year of jubilee, all land that had been alienated returned to its first possessor or his heirs or lawful representative, and the occupant during the time of alienation was required to pay the original owner a sum based upon the number of harvests he had gathered. The new Palestine rule eliminates the jubilee restoration by beginning with a prohibition that invalidates any transfers.

PRESIDENT LORD MAKES PLEA FOR BETTER RELATIONS IN INDUSTRY

At the recent mining congress in Denver, James Lord, president of the mining department of the American Federation of Labor, delivered a notable address, which was in effect a plea for a better understanding between employers and employed in the mining industry. One section of the address, in which the spokesman of the miners dealt with the value of "joint relations," was in full as follows:

I do not claim that we have reached that happy time when all friction has been eliminated, and the lion and the lamb lie down together. I do not say that the interests of capital and labor are identical. I say that they have problems peculiar to the industry that no one on the outside can properly understand and appreciate, and the greatest good for all concerned, and the public, whatever that is, is conserved by both sides of the mining industry composing their differences in joint conference and reaching as complete an agreement regarding wages and working conditions as they can for a specified time, with machinery set up for the peaceful adjudication of any disputes that may arise, without stopping the industry.

In these joint negotiations neither side gets exactly what it wants, but if theyare in earnest they will find a common ground where agreement can be reached on the general situation. I cannot claim that such agreements are perfect and are never violated, but that itself is a question of joint consideration.

A joint agreement is the property and concern of both parties to it, and the imperfections and shortcomings manifest themselves in the operation of the agreement and are subject to amendment and change as time and experience warrant. When either side to an agreement violates it or decries it, it is proof at least that they admit failure as far as they are concerned. I believe there is enough intelligence and common sense in the mining industry to deal with that industry as it deserves, and know that the best interests of everybody are best conserved by so doing. Questions of competition, cost of production, freight rates, etc., are just as good questions in these conferences as anything else, and where the facts are all brought out it is hardly likely that any set of workers, with full knowledge of what it means, would legislate themselves out of an industry in a particular locality for the sake of something on paper.

Neither Side Lives to Itself

Methods of pay, whether by the day or piece work, the length of the work day, the best methods of handling disputes, guarantees that the property should continue in operation pending the settlement of disputes, all are questions for consideration in the joint conference. Neither side can deal satisfactorily with these questions by itself. The workers' movement and the employers' movement constitute a joint organization, each with the same voting power. In these conferences the bars should be down and either side privileged to introduce any question or idea they desire. No matter can be adopted until it receives the unit vote of both sides, and any matter that does not receive such vote can be set aside or discarded for that contract period. In the operation of these joint agreements many things might occur that would prompt either side to offer changes or amendments to the next agreement that would be mutually beneficial to both sides. If competitive conditions warrant, an agreement might be negotiated for an entire state, in other cases for a locality, where geological and competitive conditions warrant. The ones directly involved—the operators and the miners—will know best about this.

With these relations established, a greater confidence and a better feeling is established between the two parties, where discord, suspicion and friction formerly existed. Better cooperation is assured, and greater efficiency manifested all along the line. The workers feel that they are admitted, to some extent, to a voice in the councils of industry. The human equation has been recognized to the betterment and profit of all.

I have been instrumental and helpful in negotiating many agreements. I never yet saw one that gave either side just what it wanted. If you were to give me full authority to write a miners' agreement for the great copper industry it would undoubtedly be a fine agreement for the miners and smeltermen, but it might be unsatisfactory and unworkable from an operator's viewpoint. But I never saw one of these agreements, negotiated in the open, without undue advantage on either side, but what was beneficial to the industry.

The only way our old antagonism will cease, the only way the impossibilist and fanatic will be permanently eliminated from the scene is by equitable and candid joint relations. There are men on both sides of the proposition that the industry would be better without. There are employers who still stick to the idea that they have the immortal right to dictate terms absolutely, without considering the workers in the smallest degree, and there are those in the ranks of the workers whose purpose it is to stir up discord, hamper production, fan the flames of hatred and discontent, gather in a critical situation like vultures around a carcass, and when their mission has been accomplished and there is no more hell to raise, they fold their tents and steal away to other places, leaving their poor dupes to hold the sack, while heralding the social revolution in other fields. Where no joint relation or understanding exists, there is always an open season for the rum-dum revolutionist. These periodical tie-ups that lead nowhere, together with the cost of production, and might properly be figured as unpaid wages of the workers, as compared to a happier and more human arrangement.

A Case in the Copper Industry

Many of you had an opportunity to see the working of joint relations during the war in the metalliferous industry. This industry is not adequately organized, and, as a result, has more than its share of I. W. W. sentiment.

In 1917 the president's mediation committee visited Arizona and other points in the west. Strikes were prevalent throughout the copper fields. A plan of settlement was worked out whereby the men returned to work, committees were elected at the various mines and smelters who would endeavor to adjust disputes with the management and, if unable to do so, such disputes were to be submitted to a representative of the Department of Labor. This was sort of a tri-party agreement, set up for the period of the war, to maintain industrial peace and a maximum production of copper for the war period. I was interested in the program. We determined that a program should be worked out that would safeguard the interests of the workers and prevent, insofar as it was humanly possible, any interruption in the production of copper. So in the poorly organized copper fields, with scanty restraint of the evil influences of I. W. W.ism from the national labor movement, in fields where this misguided philosophy was rampant, peace was established and uninterrupted production maintained. No basic industry gave a better account of itself during hostilities. I doubt if many of you realize the dangerous situation existing in that industry whereby men, some undoubtedly actuated by sinister motives and serving questionable interests, were prepared to create havoc and chaos by the medium of wildcat strikes, shutting down of smelters and in jurisdictional disputes. Some were merely misguided, some were all wrong. I personally gave my time and attention where it was needed, went directly up against some of these baneful influences, and co-operated with the program in every way. We were all successful, and that industry went through from that time on without a cessation of work.

But here is another example. On the signing of the Armistice so successfully did this program work that the producers had approximately one billion pounds of copper on their hands, and the allies one billion pounds of copper. A panicky situation was created, and I believe copper that was in transit for the government was refused and there was the threat or danger of the government throwing its copper on the market for what it would bring. A terrific situation was created. Copper dropped and the result naturally manifested itself in the earnings of the men. So we decided that here was another chance to recognize in the open the human equation. We invited the representatives of the workers and the producers in the copper states to attend a conference in the department of labor building for a frank discussion. If some of you think it as easy matter to convince men that the better part of wisdom lay in accepting a reduction in wages of about a dollar a day, in the face of an increasing cost of living, just try it some time. We gathered and went over every phase of the situation. There was naturally nothing but antagonism at first on one part of the conference, but a careful, dispassionate analysis of the stern facts eventually demonstrated to all the necessity of what was ultimately done, a unanimous agreement to accept the unavoidable reduction and every endeavor was made to not close down any of the plants on the part of the operators, and where production was reduced, an equitable division of what work there was was maintained. I would not have advocated or subscribed to this policy had I not been convinced that any other method would have been rank folly under the circumstances. It was agreed to unanimously, and each delegate pledged himself to advise its adoption on his return home.

Surely these two incidents carry a lesson worth knowing. In the event of closing down the industry by either side at that particular time, God knows what the results would have been. Here was a case where joint relations brought good into a mighty uncertain situation.

All parts of the slender plant, especially the root are poisonous.

HEARS KNOTTY LEGAL TANGLE

Action for Half Interest in Mineral Claim Bristles With Points of Law.

A knotty legal tangle was heard by Judge J. A. Forin in county court here on Tuesday and yesterday, when an action was brought by the plaintiff, A. J. Murphy, against the defendant, E. H. Barr, of Philadelphia, for a declaration that Murphy be entitled to a half interest in a crown granted mineral claim in the Slocan district. The claim was sold for $1500. James O'Shea, of O'Shea & Farris, appeared for the defendant. E. P. Dawson appeared for the plaintiff.

The evidence showed that the agreement between the parties in 1913 was that Murphy should buy from the crown in British Columbia certain mineral claims forfeited for taxes, and that Barr would provide the money, if necessary, and would have a half interest in the property. Murphy maintained that his expenses in acquiring the claims were also to be paid by Barr, who was further to advance living expenses to Murphy's sister during the period he was engaged in getting the claims.

Barr's evidence was to the effect that he was only to put up the necessary money to purchase the crown rant, and that money advanced to Murphy and his sister in addition, was by way of a loan. He maintained he was to be refunded out of the proceeds of the property for the money advanced to purchase the claims, and that the loan to Murphy would be a charge on Murphy's interest.

The claims were acquired in Barr's name, he giving deed of a half interest to Murphy's sister. Subsequently he got the deed back from her, alleging he paid a consideration for it. Murphy claimed on the contrary that it was obtained fraudently.

The title was registered in Barr's name, but the deed given to Murphy's sister was never registered. The deed was got back by Barr in 1915. Nothing was done with the property and Murphy failed to commence action against Barr to assert his claim to a half interest.

In the fall of 1919, Barr, as the registered owner, sold it to Messrs. G. Gormley, J. R. Hunter, W. M. Cunliffe and others. They conveyed their interest to Gormley later. Murphy commenced an action rendering a registrar's Lis Pendens against the property before Mr. Gormley applied to register the deed.

It was held by his honor that Murphy was not entitled to an interest in the property, but was entitled to an accounting between himself and Barr as to the proceeds derived from the sale, and an accounting was directed.

FOLLOW BUSINESS WITH PLEASURE

Convention Delegates Join in Social Dance After Last Addresses Are Given.

A social 'getting-to-gether in which a dance, the main feature, was agreeably interspersed with pleasing vocal numbers, proved an admirable social relaxation and wind up to the strenuous business sessions of the delegates attending the British Columbia Fruit Growers' convention in Eagle hall yesterday.

At a word from C. E. Barnes in the chair, Mayor C. F. McHardy assured those attending the last lecture of the day that the pleasure of the evening was entirely in their own hands. The arrangements were such that a concert could be given, or there was an orchestra to play for dancing, which ever was preferred. The bulk of the people preferred to dance and with a large number of local ladies present and social formalities being dispensed with, the visitors joined in with a will into the spirit of the evening and danced. In intervals, John Adams favored with solos including "The Bosun" and "The Dear Little Girl," and the Misses Lottie Annable and Erma Ferguson contributed duets. Their numbers were "The Bells of St. Mary's" and others, equally pleasing.

Prior to the social entertainment provided by the citizens, R. C. Treherne, entomologist of the Dominion department of agriculture, gave an illuminated address on "The Fruit Worms of British Columbia." Referring to the comparative scarcity of the coddling moth in British Columbia and to the wholesome dread with which it was regarded wherever it was found, Mr. Treherne showed a number of slides to ive a brief outline of its habits and its points of distinction from other orchard pests.

Several other speakers brefly addressed the gathering in response to the chair's call for addresses by "Our Guests." Chief of them was Dr. L. S. Klinck, dean of British Columbia university, who told of some of the work being carried on by the agricultural faculty and students at the university. P. S. Darlington, district horticultural inspector of Wenatchee, Wash., briefly told of the troubles of Wenatchee fruit growers from the codling moth. H. A. Plow, divisional freight agent for the C. P. R., and W. B. Bamford, district freight agent, also gave brief responses.

JUNIOR GUN CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL MEET

At their annual meeting held at the Y.M.C.A. last night the Nelson Junior Rod and Gun club elected its officers and was treated to an interesting address on "Big Game Hunting in the Cariboo, the Peace River District and in the Kootenay," by Dr. H. B. Morrison.

In addition to relating many personal reminiscences, Dr. Morrison told of Indian methods of hunting game, and how fawns were attacked and destroyed by eagles. He gave many valuable pointers on hunting, and directions for equipping for a hunting trip. He also led a discussion on the goat, the deer, the mountain sheep and the goat, and on cariboo hunting.

The club elected S. Muraro president and Jack Hume secretary-treasurer, and decided on what ammunition to buy in preparation for the forthcoming shooting contest between the club and the local cadets. The date of the contest has not yet been set.
