LETTER CAUSES EXCITEMENT IN FEDERAL HOUSE

hoto of Minister of Customs' Letter to French Embassy Raises Flutter.

REMIER CANNOT SEE ANY IMPROPER MOTIVE

emieux Accuses Wigmore of Mixing Personal and Political Interests.

OTTAWA, May 8.—The first Saturday sitting of the present session brought the production of a letter in the house which has set parliamentary corridors buzzing with excitement.

For over three hours the house had droned along in supply. Then, as the house turned from immigration estimates to those of inland revenue, Hon. R. Lemieux produced a photographic copy of a letter apparently written on the note paper of the minister of customs. It was signed "R. W. Wigmore," and addressed to the French purchasing commission, care of the French embassy, London, England. The letter was dated Ottawa, January 3.

In it Mr. Wigmore stated that he was informed that "your government will have quite a few French steamers taking grain from the port of St. John, N. B., Canada, this winter," and adds that "the firm of Nagle & Wigmore, of which I am a member, are very anxious to secure this business. As you are no doubt aware," the letter proceeds, "I am minister of customs and inland revenue in the Canadian government, and I spoke to George Foster, my colleague in the cabinet, who has just returned from England, being Canada's representative at the League of Nations conference which has just been concluded at Geneva, and he advised me to write to you."

Commenting on the letter, Mr. Lemieux declared that the minister of customs should either attend to the business of the department or to that of his own firm. He should not use the customs department to advertise his firm.

Receives No Benefit.

Replying, Mr. Wigmore declared that he had received no benefit from the firm of which he was a member at the time, nor had he written the letter with any understanding of benefit. He wrote it as he would have written it for any other firm.

"You can search the annals of British parliamentary government of Canada or the mother country," Mr. Lemieux retorted, "and I challenge any one to find such an example of personal interest mixed with public affairs."

The prime minister declared he could not see that it was a penal offense for a man, writing a private letter, to say that he was a minister.

"My imagination," he added, "is unable to conceive how there could be an improper motive."

DRURY ANNOYS FORT FRANCIS

Alleged Threat to Cancel Timber Licenses Perturbs Community.

FORT FRANCIS, Ont., May 8.—There is considerable feeling in some quarters here over an alleged threat by Premier Drury to cancel the timber license of the Shevlin-Clarke company and more than 100 business men on Friday night waited on the town council to emphasize the serious effect upon the town and district of such a course.

It is claimed that the cancellation of the license would involve the elimination of the largest industry in the Fort Francis district, great loss to business men and unemployment for hundrsd of wage earners. It is said by some that a great impetus would be given whatever sentiment exists favoring the creation of a new province in northern Ontario by drastic action in connection with the Shevlin-Clarke company.

The town council passed unanimously a resolution calling for a public meeting on May 18 to discuss the matter. The resolution declared that withdrawal from business in the district of the Shevlin-Clarke company would be fatal to the prosperity of the district of Rainey river and an absolute calamity at this time.

Clears The Atmosphere

FRESH EFFORTS TO BEAR UPON MINERS' STRIKE

Situation Goes From Bad to Worse; Special Measures to Conserve Coal.

LONDON, May 8.—Efforts will be made this week by outside influences to secure the renewal of the negotiations for settlement of the miners' strike, it was understood today, but hope of reaching an adjustment until after the Whit Sunday holidays seems remote. There is some talk of the executive officers of the miners' federation returning to London before the end of the week to compare notes on the information they have picked up in their visits to the mining districts and to consider a suggestion that they abandon their demand for a national pool, which has been a stumbling block of the negotiations, in favor of some scheme which will answer the purpose.

Meanwhile the position of the country's industries and public utilities is going from bad to worse. The railways and the street car and underground transportations have announced further drastic reduction of service. Even the newspapers are affected, some of the larger London dailies going to press at 10 o'clock tonight to conserve coal and light and enable their employees to reach their homes before the last public conveyances for the night leave the vicinity of the newspaper offices.

Will Handle Foreign Coal.

DUBLIN, May 8.—Irish and British railway men and transport workers have decided to permit the handling of foreign coal, shipped direct to Irish ports and intended for Irish purposes only. The question of making an exception from the decision of the railway men and transport workers not to handle foreign coal arose when a cargo of Belgian coal arrived in Dublin last week. In view of the miners' strike the local transport workers refused to unload the vessel. A number of shipments of United States coal, it is learned, are on the way to Ireland.

Third reading was given the bill ratifying the protocol establishing the permanent court of international justice. This bill now goes to the senate.

Third reading was given the act respecting the Dominion Express company.

House in supply on the estimates of the department of immigration and colonization.

When the house went into supply on estimates of department of customs and inland revenue Hon. R. Lemieux read a letter purporting to be from Hon. R. W. Wigmore, minister of department, to the French pruchasing commission, London, England, asking for ship brokering business for the firm of Nagle & Wigmore, St. John, N. B. Hon. Mr. Wigmore said he was no longer connected with the firm and intimated that he had written the letter as a disinterested party.

PLUMBER REFUSES ARREST BY WOMAN

FARGO, N. D., May 8.—Miss Alice Duffy, Fargo's policewoman, had to call on a policeman today for help. She tried to arrest a plumber who rode his bicycle on the sidewalk. The plumber refused to be arrested by a woman.

"Twenty-five dollars and one day in jail," said the magistrate after a male member of the force had brought the offender in.

RAILWAY OFFICIAL DIES.

TORONTO, May 8.—Burton H. Bennett, Canadian representative of the Chicago & Northwestern railway, and well known to freight and passenger officials of railways in Canada and the United States, died Saturday, aged 65.

BELGIAN CAVALRY OCCUPIES STRATEGIC RHINE POSITIONS

WEISEL, Prussia, May 8.—Belgian cavalary has occupied strategic points east and west of the Rhine near Weisel, Rheinberg and Dinslaken, in readiness for advance with the extreme left wing of the army which may possibly occupy the Ruhr region of Germany.

French troops since last night have occupied various points east of Rattingen and Andermund. Their advance outposts are now within 20 kilometres of Essen.

POLISH GOVERNMENT APPEALS TO SILESIANS TO CEASE HOSTILITIES

WARSAW, May 8.—In the face of increasing clashes between insurgents and Germans the Polish government has decided upon a plan to settle the insurrection instituted by Adelbert Korafanty, the former plebiscite commissioner in Upper Silesia, with the object of joining the industrial section of Upper Silesia to Poland.

The Polish cabinet has issued a statement to the effect that while the ministry thoroughly understood the patriotic motive which led to the outbreak, throughout the mining districts, the government again disapproves of the insurrections and considers the movement a vain attempt to attain the desired end in present circumstances. The government, according to diplomatic circles, is contemplating framing an appeal to the Silesians to drop their arms and return to work and permit the allied authorities to settle the dispute without further interference, in accordance with the treaty of Versailles. One of the problems Poland is compelled to face is the repeated efforts of Poles to go to the assistance of the insurgents.

Attempt to Cross Frontier.

Dispatches received today report that 20,000 armed workers from the Dombrowa-Sosnowice mining district in Eastern Silesia have attempted to cross the frontier, but were turned back by the Polish authorities.

Pitched encounters between the insurgents and the Germans have occurred at various points in the Rybnik district here, where, according to Polish reports, more than 150 Poles have been killed and many wounded, while the German casualties were even heavier.

Despite the efforts of the government to soothe public opinion while the fighting continues, demonstrations are being held daily in Warsaw by the labor parties urging the continuance of the struggle for deliverance from German rule of the Polish workmen of Upper Silesia.

Reported demonstrations have occurred before the British and Italian legation, the workmen by shouts and written protest showing resentment against the alleged stand taken by the British and Italian representatives in Silesia in opposition to the Polish claims to disputed territory.

Poles Control Mines

OPPELN, May 8.—The allied officials, representatives of the insurgents, Food Controller Frankowski, Korofanty's right hand man, and a German committee, have reached an agreement to transport provisions to the industrial districts where the food shortage is serious. Trains will be dispatched to Gleiwitz, and from there the supplise will be distributed in motor cars, flying the colors of both sides.

The Poles are reported to be keeping the mines from flooding, but have not opened any of them. They control virtually every mine. The coal supply in Oppeln and a number of other districts will last for only two days, after which supplies must be brought from Germany.

Apologize to Italy

ROME, May 8.—In a letter to Count Sforza, the Italian foreign minister, regret was expressed by M. Skirmunt, the Polish minister, over the occurrences in Upper Silesia which had resulted in the deaths of many Italian soldiers.

"It is a tragic misunderstanding," the Polish minister declared in his communication.

Situation Grave

BERLIN, May 8.—Reports from German sources today declare that advices from Upper Silesia up till last night showed no diminution in the gravity of the situation there caused by the Polish insurgent movement. The Polish irregulars were reported to be planning attacks against some of the large towns in the district and their onslaught upon Koenigshuette is declared by the Vossische Zeitung to have been successful, the town surrendering after several hours' resistance.

ARRANGE TRADE WITH RUSSIANS

Germans Conclude Preliminary Agreement; Bars Propaganda.

BERLIN, May 8.—Germany has concluded a preliminary trade agreement with Soviet Russia and the convention became effective May 6, according to the official text which has been made public here. The text shows the pact will continue to be operative until a commercial treaty is completed, and provision has been made that either party may terminate the agreement by giving three months' notice.

The convention states that it is to be a binding basis for the resumption of trade relations and to be interpreted in the spirit of a mutual desire to promote prosperous and economic relations between the two countries. It provides for the exchange of commercial delegations who are pledged not to carry on propaganda unfavorable to both countries.

CALGARY, May 8.—Charles Hohman, 64 years of age, committed suicide Sunday afternoon by drinking carbolic acid. He is of German birth but had lived here many years.

COAL PRICES EXTORTIONATE

Commissioner Henderson Recommends Dissolving Combines and Prosecution.

VICTORIA, May 8.—(By Canadian Press.)—Declaring that prices paid for coal by the public in British Columbia are "exceedingly high," Commissioner Alexander Henderson, K. C., who recently investigated the coal trade in this province for the provincial government, recommends that "the combines which keep up these prices should be dissolved and the offenders prosecuted," in his report to the minister of mines just made public.

Mr. Henderson states the evidence shows very clearly that a combine among many dealers in Vancouver to fix the price of coal exists, and that the evidence conclusively shows that dealers frequently deliver short weight to consumers. The price of coal in Vancouver when the commissioner began his investigation was $15 a ton for lump.

Boy Drowns While Fishing.

WINNIPEG, May 8.—Oscar Hamer, aged 9, while fishing in Elmwood this evening, fell into the Red river and was drowned.

UNITED STATES PARTICIPATION STRENGTHENING

Harding's Answer on Reparations Satisfies Diplomats; Helps Adjustments.

WASHINGTON, May 8—Acceptance by the United States of the invitation to have representation on the councils dealing with world economic settlements, is regarded by some diplomats here as strengthening the hand of the allies in their dealings with Germany. They also look upon it as having cleared away much if any doubt that may have existed as to the attitude of the United States to Mr. Lloyd George, in accepting the invitation, has made it clear, these diplomats say, that the administration, while re-stating its determination to abstain from participation in purely European affairs, proposes that the United States lends its counsel and aid in affecting the readjustments growing out of the common victory over the former central powers. The presence of the United States representatives on the supreme council, the council of ambassadors and the reparations commission, they believe, will facilitate the settlements, and at the same time aid in clearing away any misunderstandings which have arisen between the United States and the allies with regard to some of the settlements, such as mandates.

Situation Clearer

As these diplomats view it, the situation is clearer than it has been at any time since the senate failed to ratify the treaty of Versailles. The allied governments are known to have taken the position that an attitude of extreme aloofness by the United States would give encouragemen to Germany in resisting the demands made upon her. They are understood to have held that the mere refusal of the United States to transmit Germany's counter-proposals on reparations did not quite meet the situation that had arisen.

Belgium Approves.

BRUSSELS, May 8.—The cabinet on Saturday approved the London reparations resolutions and ordered the mobilization of one class. M. Vanderveldt, the socialist minister of justice, voted against improving the decisions, while two other socialist members abstained from voting. It is considered here that the crisis for the socialist ministers has merely been postponed and will come to an issue if the occupation of the Ruhr occurs. The ministerial crisis may be averted, however, if the Germans accept the allied demands.

INVITES DOMINION PREMIERS TO ATTEND INAUGURATION OF NORTH IRELAND PARLIAMENT

Ulster Too Long the Shuttlecock of English and Irish Politics, Declares Premier Designate; Interview With De Valera Breaks Ice; Nationalist Leader Advises Followers Not to Participate in South Irish Elections; Opposing Sinn Fein Would Lay Them Open to Charge of Supporting Black and Tans.

BELFAST, May 8.—Sir James Craig, premier-designate of Ulster, whose recent conference with Eamonn De Valera is still the subject of comment, said, in speaking at Lisburn yesterday, that he had made it plain to the south and west of Ireland that it was not amateur peace makers and meddlers in Irish affairs they had to deal with, but with the leaders of the people of Ulster, if there were to be any peace negotiations.

"Far too long," said Sir James, "have the Ulster people been the shuttlecock of English and Irish politics. It was really time that the one man who was entitled to it stood completely forward and said 'hands off Ulster unless you come to me as the leader.'"

Meeting Breaks Ice.

One good effect of his meeting with De Valera, continued Sir James, was that the ice was broken. The more he thought of it, the better he was pleased, knowing that no matter what they said of Ulster, she was great-hearted and not small in her ideas and was looking forward to the future of "our own country."

Sir James invited the premiers of the dominions to attend the inauguration of the "youngest colony."

Dillon Advises Nationalists

DUBLIN, May 8.—John Dillon, the chairman of the Nationalist party, will publish a letter tomorrow saying that he has advised his friends to take no part in the southern elections. Such an agreement as that which resulted between the Sinn Fein and the Nationalists in the north, he declares, would be impossible, even if desirable in the south.

The program of the Sinn Fein was to secure a solid block and the whole force of their organization will be directed to that object. If the Nationalists took part, continued Mr. Dillon, it could only be as opponents of the Republicans and the contest would create bitter feeling and might result in disorder and bloodshed for which he could not take the responsibility, particularly at such a crisis in the fortunes of Ireland and in view of recent events and rumors of peace negotiations.

Opposing the Sinn Fein would lay the Nationalists open to the charge, however unjust, of supporting the auxiliary police and the power of "Greenwood and company."

Reprisals at Vaughal

CORK, May 8.—Constable Sterland was shot and killed this evening while leaving his hotel. He was attired in citizen's clothes at the time.

Shooting of two former soldiers and a woman Saturday morning after a dance at the barracks at Youghal, led to unofficial reprisals Sunday night when crown forces went though the streets and broke windows and looted shops.

Week End Disturbances

DUBLIN, May 8.—Week end disturbances in various parts of Ireland included the killing of two constables and the wounding of two sergeants, besides a stampede of a congregation in Dublin, resulting in several persons being injured, caused by firing outside the church. The congregation stampeded was that of a Jesuit church in Gardiner street. The people rushed for the doors on hearing shots fired at individuals who were held responsible for the throwing of bottles at a lorry containing crown forces traveling on the Drum Condra road. Women and children were trampled down in the confusion and several of them were taken to a hospital.

Dublin castle reported unsuccessful attacks on the Dublin and Gorbourne barracks Saturday night, bombs and rifles being used in the former and rifles and machine guns in the latter instance. The attacks entailed no casualties upon the occupants.

Shot Coming From Church

Head Constable Storey was shot dead and a sergeant was wounded while they were returning from church this morning at Castle Island, County Kerry. Constable Frederick D. Price, of County Wexford, was shot and a sergeant was wounded in an ambush. Official reports of reprisals by the military in districts in County Cork show the houses of two residents at Clongmull were destroyed on May 6, when the furniture and personal effects of two residents at Castle Martyr were destroyed. These reprisals were for attacks on two members of the Royal Irish Constabulary on May 1. The houses of three Kilmichael residents were destroyed Friday in reprisal for an attack on two auxiliaries at Macroom, April 29. Searches were carried out last night and this morning in the eastern distrinct of Cork, eight arrests being made.

Explosions, apparently of hand grenades occurred in Cork yesterday during the curfew hours. The damage, however, consisted only of broken glass.

BELFAST, May 8.—A two-hour engagement between a section of crown forces approaching Knappagh mountain, and an ambushing party was reported from County Cavan this morning, the encounter resulting in the dislodgment of the ambushing forces, of which one member was killed and nine others taken prisoners.

One of the soldiers was wounded.

A house nearby, the report states, was found to contain bombs, ammunition, clothing, rations and bedding. A party if police were ambushed near Gorey, County Wexford yesterday. One constable was killed and a sergeant wounded. The people who had been attending a fair at this place, immediately vanished and the store keepers were ordered to close their shops.

Girls with collecting boxes inviting subscriptions for the Republican army, were the indirect cause of a riot here this morning.

The police demaded the names of the collectors, upon which a crowd appeared and, it is stated, stoned the police who used their revolvers. One man was wounded. An armored car and a police lorry were rushed up and order restored.

Italian State Employes Announce End of Strike

ROME, May 8.—Several hundred state employees who have been striking for some days, marched in squadrons to various ministeries and the central post office yesterday and voiced their grievances. The council officials decided to grant them wage increases of from 15 to 200 lire per month, pending discussion of increased salaries by the new parliament, whereupon the employees announced that their strike would be called off at midnight tonight. During the demonstration yesterday by the postal and telegraph employees, no letters were delivered and no telegrams received were dispatched until afternoon.

LONDON, May 8.—(Canadian Associated Press.)—Sir Donald McMaster, the well known Canadian member of the British parliament, yesterday underwent an operation performed by Sir Cuthbert Vallance.

Despite the patient's advanced years his splendid constitution enabled him to withstand it and his condition is reported as encouraging.

FORMER NELSON BOY IS WELCOMED HOME BY SEATTLE WITH OPEN ARMS

A former Nelson boy had the whole front page of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer given up to him on a recent date. The picture showed thousands upon thousands of Seattleites welcoming back to the city Kenneth C. Beaton, who was rejoining the editorial staff of that paper, after an absence from the city of about six years, during which he adorned the press of San Francisco. In the last 10 years "Kenny Beaton" has had hundreds of imitators in the style of gossipy comment which he founded in the "P.-I." under the title of "Ye Towne Gossip," but he is secure at the top of the ladder, with his daily column of heart interest. "Kenny" Beaton was city editor of the Nelson Miner for two years, from the time his father purchased it from the late W. A. Jowett in 1898. Later he was with the Minneapolis Tribune and then with the Seattle Times, to which he went with Col. A. J. Blethen, of this journal, and then with the "P.-I."

Tens of thousands, the "P.-I." estimated, were in the multitude that tried to get within seeing distance of the big outdoor "theater" or balcony that was erected in front of the "P.-I." building for the express purpose of welcoming "K. C. B.," as Mr. Beaton signs himself at the head of his column. Everybody of prominence in Seattle appears to havee been there, while the bands and military turned out, artists from four theaters donated their services, and the mayor gave the official welcome. For two hours the street cars were routed so as not to touch the blocks occupied by the demonstration. In describing and illustrating all the happy events of the occasion the "P.-I." takes about two and a half pages.

In heavy type, the "P.-I." begins its account of the welcome—under a seven-column head—as follows:

Seattle yesterday did full honor to its favorite son.

Kenny Beaton—or K. C. B., as he is known in the larger sphere of his acquaintance—was given the most rousing welcome that has ever been accorded a visitor to its midst.

Everyone—literally everyone—turned out for the affair.

The mayor was there, at the head of the reception committee, along with practically all of the other officials of the state, city and county government.

The federal government was represented by a delegation of distinguished army and navy officers.

Prominent men and women were there from every one of Seattle's many civic and social organizations.

But, of most importance, the people were there—Mr. and Mrs. Ordinary Citizen and all the little Ordinary Citizens—the great army of K. C. B.'s friends.

Thousands—tens of thousands—saw K. C. B. yesterday.

FILL CHURCHES ON MOTHER'S DAY

Large Congregations Noted in Nelson; Trinity Makes Feature.

Mother's Day was observed generally in Nelson yesterday, and was marked by large congregations at the church services, and large attendance at all the Sunday schools. Many white flowers, to typify the blameless life to which mothers are assumed to approximate, were worn in honor of the mothers, and in at least one instance, that of Trinity Methodist church, flowers were presented at the door.

At Trinity church there was observance of Mothers' Day all through the day's services. The morning service, which on this occasion was specially for the young folks, and to a certain extent by the young folks. The scripture reading enjoined reverence for parents, there were a number of recitations by children of various ages, and Gordon Keatley rendered as a vocal solo "Mother o' Mine." The pastor, Rev. J. P. Westman, instead of preaching a sermon, read to his mixed congregation a touching story illustrating the moral that one owes everything to his mother. There were 350 persons at this service.

The Methodist Sunday school in the afternoon had a banner attendance, owing to the unusual number of adults present, and in the evening, after the regular service, the brotherhood entertained the ladies of the congregation.

At St. Paul's Presbyterian church yesterday morning, Rev. Charles Thompson preached an eloquent sermon on the subject, "Mother." The day had its influence on all the services at St. Pauls.

Similarly at the Baptist church, Rev. J. E. Tyner preached on the topic, "Mothers' Love," at the evening service. All the services were well attended, and the Sunday school reported the largest collection of the year.

Extend Mothers' Day Spirit.

Several members of the W. C. T. U. visited the provincial jail here yesterday morning and joined in the service conducted by the Salvation Army, and afterwards presented the prisoners with fruit and candy and, in observance of Mothers' Day, white carnations. In the afternoon they visited the soldiers' ward in Kootenay Lake General hospital and presented each patient with cake and ice cream and white carnations.

PRIESTS WAGE WAR ON IMMODEST DRESS

ST BONIFACE, Man., May 8.—"We priests, under the direction of our archbishop, will undertake a campaign against those styles which are an effrontery to good taste in any Christian community," declared Rev. Father Jubinville, rector of St. Boniface cathedral, at this morning's service. No person improperly or immodestly clad will be allowed to approach the communion table, he declared.

"Some flippant young persons do not care to expose too much of their anatomy and present themselves before their fathers and mothers the way they appear at church," Father Jubinville concluded, adding "that while slaves to these shameful styles, they could not expect to deserve the respect of young men.

"Thank God, Protestants in Montreal have joined the women's league in the war against immodest styles, and I hope that a similar league will be instituted in St. Boniface."

EIGHTY FORESTERS MARCH TO CHURCH

Fully 80 members of local courts of the Ancient Order of Foresters participated in the annual parade of that order last evening to attend divine service, marching from their hall to St. Saviour's church. Court Star of Kootenay, which embraces the juvenile members of the order, marched in the lead, Court Royal, embracing the men, coming second, and Court Ellen, consisting of the women, being third in line. All the participants were in regalia.

Rev. Fred H. Graham, rector of St. Saviour's, in his sermon showed that many of the great orders were founded on Christian principles, and sought to exalt virtue, aiming always for the higher things.

Abolishes Capital Punishment.

STOCKHOLM, May 8.—Capital punishment in Sweden has been abolished by a bill which has been passed by the Riksdag.

Do you care to go to the trouble of defending a suit against you for damage to that other man's car?

He thinks you were to blame, and now he's going to make you pay.. You may win—you've got a chance. We all have a chance. One thing is certain—you both can't win. Who loses? NELSON, B. C.

GREATER NELSON DATE RECEDES

Authorities Now Figure That May Twenty-eighth Is the Fateful Day.

Once more the date of the union of Nelson and Fairview recedes a few days into the future, City Solicitor James O'Shea having brought his legal knowledge to bear on the subject.

He has expressed the opinion that the date is to be determined from the day on which the city's advertisement—not the government's proclamation—appeared in the British Columbia Gazette. As that date was in the latter part of April, it is now figured that Greater Nelson can have its jubilation on May 28. May 11, 14 and 17 have been the previous dates that various experts have thought might be the date. John Cartmel, government agent, who has the administration of Fairview on his hands, agrees with Mr. O'Shea that May 28 is the date.

As that will fall on a Saturday there is a suggestion that the celebration of the birth of Greater Nelson might be postponed to the following Wednesday, June 1, as a better day on which to have a holiday celebration.

Mayor C. F. McHardy is still in the market for bright suggestions as to how the event may be suitably recognized.

OPERATORS BUSY ON MOTHERS' DAY

NEW YORK, May 8.—All available telegraph operators were summoned to their posts today to aid in clearing the wires of thousands of messages directed to mothers on the occasion of Mothers' day. The telegraph companies reported an unprecedented number of such communications. The wire congestion lasted until late afternoon.

TWENTY-MINUTE CARS WEDNESDAY

Cut Out and File New Time Schedule; Patrons Must Be Quick.

On Wednesday the 20-minute service on Nelson's street railway system goes into operation for the first time. This will be based on a very carefully worked out time schedule that does not contemplate delays.

If the men operating the cars are to be able to hustle them around the system on time the full cooperation of the public is required, the city authorities point out. It will be important for those using the cars to get on and off promptly and to economize the time of the conductor by having the fare ready. The 20-minute plan, as a matter of fact, will be on trial, and its popularity will depend to a large extent on its ability to make the schedule.

The city is advertising today the time schedule which will go into effect Wednesday, and everyone should clip this schedule out, and paste it in his hat, tuck it into his pocketbook or otherwise make it available for ready reference.

LACROSSE MEN WILL BATTLE HERE TODAY

The first lacrosse battle to be seen here this season will be played this afternoon at 6:15 by two scratch teams to be selected from lacrosse players and those interested in the sport that present themselves at the recreation grounds at the appointed hour. A bunch of old players have stated their intention of turning out for the game and of taking what spare sticks and other apparatus they can scrape together for the game, which will be in the nature of a rally for lacrosse men before the organization of a club is attempted.

BASEBALL MEN WILL ORGANIZE TONIGHT

Baseball men plan to organize a city senior baseball club at an open meeting of those interested, which will be held in the Y. M. C. A. at 8 o'clock tonight, according to E. L. Buchanan. A long list of outside teams requesting matches with Nelson has been received by Mr. Buchanan, both from points in the district, including Rossland, Trail, Kaslo and from points across the line. Some of the requests are for games to be played during the next week or two. The whole matter of arranging games with outside teams and the organization of the Nelson club will be gone into at tonight's meeting by players here who have held a succession of practice games during the last two weeks.

MAY FORM FIELD AND TRACK CLUB TONIGHT

An open meeting of those interested in field and track athletics is to be held in the Y. M. C. A. at 8 o'clock tonight to consider the formation of a field and track athletic club here, in view of the probable opportunities for contests during the summer months. It is understood that Trail city is planning to hold a large athletic meet, and that the local G. W. V. A. is also contemplating an athletic meet as part of the July 1 celebration. A third meet will likely be staged by the local Y. M. C. A. later in the summer. Besides organization work, tonight's meeting will consider the holding of weekly twilight handicap athletic meets in the city during the summer months.

WELCOMES THE — MIKADO'S HEIR

Japanese Crown Prince Arrives in England; Plan Entertainments.

LONDON, May 8—Elaborate entertainments in honor of Crown Prince Hirohito of Japan, who arrived at Spithead, Saturday, and will remain in England until the end of the month, when he proceeds to France, were held today aboard the Queen Elizabeth, flagship of Admiral Sir Charles Edward Madden, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet who was host. All the ships of the British fleet were dressed for the occasion with the Japanese flag at the masthead.

The battleship Kateri, on which the prince is traveling, will enter Portsmouth harbor tomorrow morning, accompanied by her escort, the Kashima, and the Prince will be escorted ashore by the Prince of Wales to the accompaniment of a royal salute, from the land and sea forces.

Visits will be paid by the crown prince to Windsor, Oxford and Cambridge, and military, naval and air forces centers. The museums, the theatres and other places of entertainment, as well as the historic spots of England, will be shown to the visitor, his companion in most of the trips being the Prince of Wales.

Great interest is being taken in England in the visit, for it is the first time the crown prince of Japan has left his own country.

The state dinner arranged by the government has been cancelled at the prince's request owing to the coal strike, but there will be dinners at Buckingham palace, the house of parliament and other official places.

Need Japan's Friendship

LONDON, May 8.—In editorially welcoming Japan's prince to England, the Sunday Observer today referred to the Anglo-Japanese treaty as "an engagement to which civilization has owed much." The newspaper declared the treaty would certainly be renewed, although its intentions must be made clear and beyond dispute; any technical divergence from the covenant of the League of Nations must be corrected.

"We need Japan's friendship," the newspaper concluded, "if the people of Asia and English communities are to maintain and deepen their mutual understanding."

LONDON, May 8.—King George has appointed Crown Prince Hirohito of Japan an honorary general in the British army.

PROTEST AGAINST USE OF SPOTTERS

COBALT, Ont., May 8.—In addition to the town council's protest on Friday night against the use of spotters or stool pigeons, in securing convictions under the Ontario Temperance act, the council's objection having been based on the alleged low character of the spotters working in Northern Ontario and also on the alleged fact that one of the spotters is of German parentage, there have been protests from other bodies, including the G. W. V. A. These have been forwarded to Premier Drury and Attorney-General Raney.

AVERS MEXICO HAS BRILLIANT FUTURE

TORONTO, May 8.—Senor Gustave Luders, the Mexican consul for Ontario, who arrived last week to assume his new duties in Toronto, said today that Mexico had one of the greatest futures of any country in the world.

"Our government is as well stabilized as any government could be, and will soon begin to fulfil its international obligations," said Senor Luders, "and already prosperous conditions are at hand."

Senor Luders declared that the trade between Canada and Mexico was growing rapidly every year and that with the pleasant relations which had obtained in the past between Great Britain and the Mexican people it would be considerably augmented in the future.

COMMUNISTS GIVE TROUBLE IN PARIS

General Opposition to Celebration of Raiseless of Orleans Siege.

PARIS, May 8—There was considerable disorder today in Paris and other places during the celebration of the anniversary of the lifting of the siege of Orleans by Joan of Arc in 1429.

Fourteen policemen and 23 Communists were wounded and many arrests were made when Communists tried to enter the gates of Paris in protest against the celebration. There was hand-to-hand fighting between the demonstrators and mounted guards who barred the way of the communists. The disorders continued for several hours, during which time there was considerable shooting and the hurling of missiles from the walls of the fortifications.

Disturbances also took place at Brest, St. Etienne and Limoges. In the latter city Deputy Betoulle led a red flag parade of several thousand persons through the streets. The government's efforts to arrange celebrations met with opposition everywhere. A number of cities refused to undergo the expense, while at other places objections were to the event on political and religious grounds.

At St. Etienne disorder broke out during services in the church. Revolver shots were exchanged, but there were no casualties. In the outskirts of Paris, at a Communist protest meeting, shouts of "down with the war" were frequently heard.

LEAVE FOR OIL FIELDS

TORONTO, May 8.—A party of eight men left this city Saturday bound for the oil fields of Fort Norman. A. P. Low, geologist, who has made two trips to that region, is in charge of the party, all being employed by a local company which has oil areas near FortNorman. They propose to go in by way of the Peace River, and have taken a motor boat and three canoes with them. All supplies, except food, have been sent to Edmonton.

Ninety percent of the world's total output of real lavender oil comes from the vicinity of Lyons, France.

Battles Between Fascisti and Communists Increase as Elections Draw Nearer

ROME, May 8.—The battles between the Fascisti, of extreme Nationalists and the Communists in various parts of Italy, are becoming even more bitter as the elections draw nearer. On Friday alone the reports of widespread violence showed a total of six dead and 40 wounded.

An ex-Alderman of New York ate, alone and unassisted, eleven pounds of beefsteak and twelve lamb chops at a dinner of the Federal Club. The ex-Alderman weighed 360 pounds before taking on the cargo. Is this a record?

SWINDLE WINNIPEG STREET RAILWAYS

WINNIPEG, May 8.—Details have just been brought to light of a series of extensive thefts from the Winnipeg electric street railway by which the company has been victimized to the extent of between $12,000 to $15,000. For many months, it is believed, used tickets have been secured by certain conductors tied up in lots and systematically sold to unsuspecting citizens at reduced rates.

Charles Outerson, a member of the office staff, whose duties entailed the handling of used tickets, is in custody in Montreal, having been arrested on board the steamship Minedosa en route to England. William Inman, who had charge of the fare boxes at the North Winnipeg branch, was arrested Saturday. It is alleged the latter tied the tickets up in bunches and that he had certain agents to whom he made a weekly delivery. Outerson will be brought back from Montreal by a local officer. Other arrests may follow, the police say.

MRS. VAUX DIES IN ENGLAND.

OTTAWA, May 8.—Word has been received of the death in England today of Mrs. Francis Leonard Vaux, wife of Lieut.-Col. Vaux of the Royal army medical corps. She resided for several years in Winnipeg, where her husband was chief medical officer of M. D. No. 10.

NELSON ASSIZES CONCLUDE AFTER SESSION COVERING FOUR DAYS

Defendant Stutsman Wins Action Brought Against Him by Anderson on Woodmen's Lien—Preference Granted on Accounts; Gem Theater Applies for Injunction Against Starland; Argument Will Be Made in Vancouver.

Two sessions of the court were required Friday to wind up the Nelson civic assizes, which opened Wednesday. The suit to enforce a woodsman's lien, brought by Andrew Anderson, of Colville, Wash., against L. E. Stutsman, of Hall, was tried and won by the defendant. An injunction sought by J. P. Pitner, proprietor of the Gem Theatre, against the United Theatres, Ltd., et al., was also heard in its preliminary stages, the application being transferred to Vancouver for its further hearing and decision. Mr. Justice Murphy presided over the sessions.

In Anderson vs. Stutsman, C. R. Hamilton, K. C., appeared for the plaintiff and James O'Shea for the defendant. In all, seven witnesses were heard in the case, the two principals testifying as to their contract, which was a verbal one, while the other five, two for the plaintiff and three for the defendant, testified as to the cost of decking logs, which had not been contemplated when the contract was made.

Conflict on Many Points

The facts as shown in court were that Mr. Stutsman, who is a large pole operator on the Great Northern line out of Nelson, last November engaged Mr. Anderson to haul poles from Clearwater creek to the head of the flume, a distance of less than a mile, and dump them into the flume, which would deliver them at Hall. In consequence of differences between the parties as to the prices to be paid for this work, Mr. Anderson quit in December, on that date Mr. Stutsman making an inspection and count of the poles that had been hauled and not flumed, except such as were covered by snow.

It was the contention of Mr. Stutsman that he agreed to pay Mr. Anderson for hauling the poles the same prices that he paid the Doukhobors for cutting and skidding the poles in the bush. These prices were based on a sliding scale, which ranged from 1 cent a foot for the smallest commercial poles to 3 cents a foot for 50-foot poles and 3½ cents a foot for 60-foot poles. On account of Mr. Stutsman having constructed the road for Mr. Anderson, there was to be a rebate of 1 cent a foot on poles 35 feet long and up.

The contention of Mr. Anderson, the plaintiff was that the agreed price was double the scale named. He conceded the rebate on the heavy poles.

As to the number of poles hauled, Mr. Anderson claimed having hauled altogether 444 pieces. Mr. Stutsman admitted counting 237, and admitted that there were some others, but refused to admit the total claimed by Mr. Anderson.

One other point of difference arose, the plaintiff having docked all the poles hauled subsequent to the date when the flume went out of order, and claiming 1 cent a foot for this work. The defend- and claimed this charge was excessive.

Finds for Defendant

Mr. Justice Murphy decided to try the issue as to the contract, and to direct a reference on the matter of the number and kinds of poles involved.

Outside of the vertal evidence of the two parties to the contract, corroborative evidence was introduced in the form of a slip of paper given Mr. Anderson by Mr. Stutsman, bearing the prices for cutting and skidding the poles, as claimed by the plaintiff, or the prices for hauling the poles, as claimed by the defendant. Mr. Stutsman's memo-book contained the same prices.

His lordship found for the defendant on the contract issue.

On the decking charge, his lordship allowed Mr. Anderson ¼ cent per foot, that being the price named by one of the witnesses for the defense as a reasonable one.

Seeks to Enjoin "the Kid"

At the opening of the morning session, Fred C. Moffat, acting for J. P. Pitner, of the Gem theatre, applied for an injunction restraining the United Theatres, Ltd., et al., from showing at the Starland theatre in Nelson, a film production entitled "The Kid," produced by Charlie Chaplin, alleging that the Vancouver distributing house from which the Starland was to receive "The Kid" contracted in 1918 to deliver to the Gem from time to time eight special Charlie Chaplin releases, only one of which has thus far been delivered.

James O'Shea, for the United Theatres, Ltd., and the Vancouver distributors, who were joined in the application, stated that he had not had due notice of the application, and Mr. Justice Murphy adjourned it to 2:30 in the afternoon.

When it was resumed in the afternoon, Mr. O'Shea filed an affidavit setting forth that "The Kid" had been sold by Mr. Chaplin to a different film exchange than the one that handled his regular releases, and that this film exchange in New York sold the rights in Western Canada to the distributing house in Vancouver which had the contract with Mr. Pitner. This was not one of the films contemplated by the Vancouver house when it made its contract with Mr. Pitner, and it was at perfect liberty to sell it to the United Theatres, Ltd., which it did. The Vancouver defendants also claimed that no films were named and no times were specified in its contract with Mr. Pitner.

Mr. Moffatt suggested that it would be an advantage if the case were adjourned to Vancouver, and Mr. Justice Murphy, with the consent of Mr. O'Shea, adjourned it accordingly.

WHO'S WHO IN THE CITY SENIOR SOCCER LEAGUE

With the final disposition of the 60-odd soccer players in the Nelson Senior Football club into four teams that now compose the city senior league, and with the league schedule of games under way, it is now possible to know the personnel of the various teams and some of the main rules governing the playoff for the Daily News cup—the laurels toward which the teams are battling.

Under the rules formulated by Referee J. Draper and adopted by the club, the cup tie series will be played under the English association rules and the cup will be won on points figured from game results, not on goals scored. Each team will meet each other team twice in the spring and twice in the fall. The duration of each game will be not less than 80 minutes, i. e., 40 minutes each way. Some of the main rules governing the players are that a player must reside in Nelson not less than 14 days previous to playing in a cup-tie game; a player can not transfer from one team to another without first gaining the permission of the executive; any player put off the field for misconduct will be liable to suspension by the executive committee.

The following selection committee has been appointed to select the players for each game: J. Draper, P. G. Morey, J. Welsh, J. Lundie and A. Wallach.

The personnel and the colors of the various teams is as follows:

McLearies—A. Wallach, captain; A. Williamson, J. Brown, G. A. Bladworth, I. Spiers, C. Bernard, F. Wilson, G. Talbot, N. McDonald, M. Martin, P. Mulligan, T Stout, W. Corrigan, S. McDonald. Colors, white.

Corinthians—R. B. Morris, captain; T. Middleton, E. Gammon, R. Ramshaw, C. Choyce, N. B. Bradley, E. Eutes, J. Ball, G. Morris, A. Lane, C. Ward, G. Keatley, A. V. Rowley, J. Adams, J. Metcalf, T. Cherry. Colors, red.

St. Saviour's—V. Graves, captain; J. Fraser, H. David, J. Ink, R. Astley, G. Joy, H. Murphy, C. Murphy, G. Atkinson, F. Fletcher, D. Abbott, J. Woods, C. Hartland, A. Bartholomew, H. Wheeler, S. Bostock, D. Wade. Colors, green.

High school—H. T. Airey, captain; M. Walley, H. Pitts, J. Gagnon, H. Horswill, D. McLean, W. Waldie, R. Smillie, E. Welsh, J. W. Lee, W. Poole, L. McCandlish, T. McVicar, H. Fleury, H. McKenzie. Colors, blue.

The league standing of the teams to date is:

Teams.	Pl.	W.	Dr.	L.	Pts.
St. Saviour's	2	2	0	0	4
Corinthians	2	0	1	1	1
McLearies	1	0	1	0	1
High School	1	0	0	1	0

TENNIS OPENS AUSPICIOUSLY

Large Number Attend; All Three Courts Kept Busy Till Sun Down.

Ideal weather favored the opening of the tennis season on Saturday, when a very large turnout of enthusiasts assembled at the Nelson Tennis club courts.

Some excellent practice was indulged in. Last year's favorites again showed good form at the nets and a number of new members displayed quality.

Great interest is taken in the ladder competition—ladies' and men's singles, which, when completed, should prove a very good guide to class.

The Misses Charlotte and Ruth Armstrong were hostesses at tea on the grounds, which was thoroughly enjoyed.

Play continued as long as daylight lasted and the inauguration of the season was from every point of view a brilliant success.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Appleyard, Mr. and Mrs. C. Brawn, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Godfrey, Mrs. J. H. D. Benson, Mrs. Leslie Crawford, Mrs. Gordon Hallett, Mrs. Evans, Miss C. Armstrong, Miss Ruth Armstrong, Miss T. Irvine, Miss Wilson, Miss McEachern; H. A. Lowe, F. C. Irvine, Gordon Keatley, J. Bachelor, Captain Armstrong, L. B. de Veber, A. Acumb, F. L. Paddon, J. P. Dickson, G. Smith, H. Neston and M. Bath.

REPENTANT THIEF RETURNS GAMBRIC

Crochetted Work Taken from Nelson Sixteen Years Ago Seeks Orginal Owner.

A story of great human interest may be wrapped up in a little letter that The Daily News received in its mail yesterday. The letter was little, but the envelope was big, for it contained a piece of crocheted work, that evidently once ornamented a table or a dresser in Nelson, and proved more of a temptation than some one could bear. Sixteen years have gone since the unknown who now makes restitution yielded to temptation, and possibly during that period the piece of cambric has been an unwelcome companion to the individual who had expected to derive pleasure from its possession.

The person who has sent the letter may be the on who was at fault, or it may have been sent on behalf of some one else, or the given name signed may have been one assumed for the purpose. The letter, which is undated and in itself gives no clue to the part of the world from which it came—though of course the envelope tells a lot, is as follows:

Nelson News

Dear Sir This Piece of work Has been taking from a house in Nelson some 16 years agow if the owner is thare yet let them clame it Put it in a windo so it can bee seen it is the desire of the Part to have it sent back not knowing ho to send it too I take this way

Yours Crist.

FLYING MARE AT VETERANS' SMOKER

A highly successful smoker, that for the greater part of the evening packed the hall at the Dugout, was given Saturday night by the G. W. V. A. While a lively program, varied in character, was run off, an efficient committee looked after the refreshment end, and the Mirambas, conducted by Albert Brown, provided the orchestral entertainment.

From the point of view of absorbing interest, probably the leading turns were the athletic stunts of Griff Morris, Y. M. C. A. athletic director, and Art Simmons, and Carl Johnson. The two former gave an exhibition of jui jitsu, in which the instructor threw his pupil over his head by the 'flying mare" and in a number of other fancy ways. Messrs. Morris and Johnson at a later stage, brought down the house with their athletic stunts and strong arm work, for which they had to give a full encore.

Other numbers included the songs, "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows", "The Songs My Mother Used to Sing," and "The Bells of St. Marys," by G. A. Brown; stories by Cy Young; recitations "Dangerous Dan McGrew," "The Old Tennant," "The Parson's Son." and "Spotty," by H. Wheeler; songs and patter by J. E. Bennett, including "La La Song," "I'm Shy," "You," and "Tarzan"; exhibition of "the bones," and step-dance, by Edgar Mason; recitation and stories by Fred Roberts; and the song, "The Grand Old Army" by H. M. Cobbett.

The orchestra gave a fine series of selections, not forgetting a number that a majority of those present learned overseas, including "Madelon."

Proceeds from the smoker are to be applied toward the expense the G. W. V. A. will be under in sending delegates to the annual convention.

Tariff Builds Up Australian Industry.

While advocates of reciprocity and free trade, led by Michael Clark, of Red Deer, and T. A. Crerar, continue active in Canada, the London Times' Trade Supplement says editorially in a recent issue:

"The new Australian tariff is proving a powerful lever to induce British manufacturers to take part in the industrial development of the commonwealth, and it will not be surprising if there should be a fairly considerable movement of skilled workers to Australia in the next few years. The manufacture of textile machinery has been begun in Victoria, where the first carpet loom made in Australia has been completed. The same firm is also making a wool scouring plant. Since 1915 the number of wool scouring establishments in Australia has increased from 39 to 59, with a total capacity of nearly 12,000 bales a week, and the number of woolen mills is also growing fairly rapidly.

"We are able to record this week that two more British firms are establishing branch works in Australia. Messrs. Babcock and Wilcox are about to manufacture boilers in Sydney, and Messrs. Chubb and Sons intend to make safes in the same city."

Canada cannot do better than adopt a policy and retain it to induce British manufacturers to come over and become part of that citizenship which in this part of the world is building incidentally for the Empire. The war has shown Britain what our artizans can accomplish in the production of high-class manufactures. Britishers with capital to invest, skilled executives themselves, should be encouraged to come over for both national and business reasons. The Australian policy seems to have appealed to not a few. Canada should do all it can to drive home the idea that here is as fair a field for honorable exploitations as the southern commonwealth offers.

TWO SPRING DINNERS

Rhubarb, asparagus, strawberries! Old Mother Nature is very good to us in the spring and the following dinner menus will help us to enjoy her bounties.

Savory Veal and Asparagus
Mashed Potatoes
Coffee Strawberry Puffs

Savory Veal and Asparagus: (This is an economical dish as well as a delicious one). Cut 1 pound of veal cutlet into pieces 2 inches square, and put it into 2 quarts of boiling water with a small cheesecloth bag containing 1 stalk of celery cut small, 1 bay leaf and a sprig of parsley. When the meat is fairly tender add salt to taste and ¾ cup of raw asparagus cut into one-inch lengths. Let this combination cook until the asparagus is done then drain the liquor from it. Stand the cooked veal and asparagus aside for a while, and put the rained off liquor back into the saucepan, adding to it ¾ cup of milk, 3 tablespoons butter 1-8 teaspoon nutmeg and salt and pepper to taste. Then thicken this sauce with 1 tablespoon flour mixed to a paste with a little cold water and after it has boiled up a moment, turn the cooked veal and asparagus back into it to reheat. Serve turned out onto a platter. (To make a one-dish dinner of this, put the mashed potatoes on the platter as a border).

Strawberry Puffs: Stir ¼ teaspoon baking powder into 1 cup flour and sift these into a bowl; work in, with the fingers, 1-3 cup lard and ¼ cup butter. Add 3 tablespoons cold water and mix well; roll out a little thicker than pie crust and cut into circles five inches in diameter (this may be done with the top of an old coffee can); place 6 hulled and halved strawberries in the centre of each round; sprinkle well with sugar and fold up the edges (pinching them together. Brush each puff with melted butter and sprinkle the buttered portion with granulated sugar. Bake a delicate brown in a hot oven (about 20 minutes) and serve cold or hot with sweetened cream, top-milk, or with sweetened canned evaporated milk which you have beaten for a few minutes with an egg-beater.

Cod Steak
Peas Boiled Potatoes
Coffee Steamed Rhubarb Pudding

Steamed Rhubarb Pudding: Place a half-inch layer of stewed and sweetened rhubarb in the bottom of a small pail which has a tight-fitting over. Now mix the following ingredients together: Cream together 2 tablespoons butter and 3 tablespoons granulated sugar, then add 1 beaten egg, 1 up sweet milk, and 1 up of flour whih has been sifted with 1 teaspoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, and 1 teaspoon cinnamon; last add ½ up seedless faisins and pour this mixture into the pail on top of the layer of rhubarb. Work a little more of the stewed rhbarb down the sides of the pail outside the batter you have just poured in, and put a layer of it on top. Put on the pail-over, (tie on securely with strong string) and place this small pail in a saucepan containing boiling water. Let the water boil up around it for 1 hour, then turn the pudding out of its mould and serve with the following saue.

Lemon Sauce with a "Tang:" Thicken 1 cup boiling water by adding to it 1 tablespoon cornstarch which has been mixed to a paste with a very little cold water; let this boil up for a moment, then add 1 cup sugar, ½ cup butter, 1 tablespoon vinegar and ½ teaspoon lemon extract. Serve hot.

COLLARS AND CHARACTER

The high collar, which has hardly been seen for years, has come into sudden favor in Paris, but its adoption in England is not so universal, though more so than it has yet become in Canada. It is an acknowledged fact that the average Englishwoman has a more beautiful neck than the Parisienne, and as a rule looks her best when decollette, and this probably accounts for her reluctance to adopt the high collar. The comfort of the low neck also will make many cling to it after it has, even shouldi it, become slightly old-fashioned.

The effect of the high collar is to give a certain primness to the wearer's general appearance, and a correspondent who was present at an afternoon party in a French house tells how an Englishman remarked: "All the girls look much stiffer and more proper than they used to do during the war." Though he didn't know why, he was quite right. He thought the change was in their characters, whereas it was only in thefr collars. Instead of having long V's in front and in many cases behind, or low blouses cut in some other form of lowness, nearly everyone was wearing a high-necked frock with a consequent air of propriety which isn't perhaps too unwelcome after the too free and easy manners of the past few years.

Told in Rhyme

KILO-WATTS IN RHYME

Did you ever try to figure out your monthly lighting bills
And have to quit the problem in despair?
Did you ever watch the meter measuring out the kilo-watts
And try to figure out the reading there?
Well, it's really very simple—nothing to the trick at all;
Just much the same as figuring out the time.
So we'll try to solve your problem
in a simple, easy way
And we'll write the explanation out in rhyme.

If you'll just look at your meter,
you will see four little dials.
Each has a little hand that travels slow.
You will also see a statement which says, "Multiply by—"
This figure, called the "Constant,"
you should know.
Now we'll read the left-hand dial—
I cannot see the hand from here
But we'll say it stands between say 2 and 3.
Then you write the smaller figure—that is, jot down figure "2".
Very simple, you will readily agree.

Now, we'll take the second dial—that's the one next to the right.
Suppose the pointer stands twixt
8 and 9.
Write down the smaller figure. We should now have "28"
Have you got it? Good for you.
You're doing fine.
The third one reads twixt 5 and 6,
the forth twixt 1 and 2
And if you've caught the idea good and tight,
You ought to have a number that should read "2851"
So check it up and see if you are right.

And now we use the "constant."
Well, suppose it's figure "10".
("Twill serve in working out this sum of ours)
We'll multiply the two and now our problem has been solved.
It's "2-8-5-1-0" Kilo-watt hours.
The difference between your monthly readings show the power you've used.
And, as you know the city's price
for "juice."
We hope that you have learned to
And that our little rhyme has been of use.

It would be like painting the rainbow to wear jewelry with some costumes. But when a dress is plain, the clothes-wise woman appreciates the influence of little accessories and knows that cleverness and good taste in their selection may add the one needed touch to give it character.

Best liked among the novelties of the season are single stones or other ornamental pendants, suspended from a narrow silk cord with decorative slides, or perhaps only a small jewelled clasp. With these it is smart to wear earrings that match. Also, it is smarter to use a delicate green, mauve, blue or Chinese cord rather than black, providing, of course, that the color harmonizes with the gown.

Jade and turquoise novelties are shown at the moment, in necklaces, bracelets, earrings and rings to match. One of the stuntiest of these sets was a chain of turquoise scarabs linked with lotus blossoms. This was accompanied by a silver bracelet with a single scarab in the clasp, and a ring, shown above, with the lotus setting. A simple white crepe dress in the summer could be made memorable with a set like this.

ALLIANCE DOES NOT OPPOSE SUNDAY FISHING.

To the Editor of the Daily News:

Sir—It has been stated to me that there is being circulated in some parts of the province a petition of protest to the government against the alleged action of the Lord's Day Alliance of Canada in asking for legislation prohibiting fishing for a sport on Sunday.

Any one who understands the work of the alliance knows that it is not its policy to interfere with the use of Sunday either for religion or for recreation, its efforts being confined to guarding the day as a free day—free from the commercial and industrial employments of the other days of the week, aand free to use as a man's conscience directs. The alliance has not and does not purpose to initiate legislation in the matter of Sunday fishing, the newspaper reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

With relation to Sunday shooting, it is well known that the alliance discussed with the government of British Columbia the matter of granting to municipalities the power to deal with, and, if need be, to prohibit the discharging of firearms on Sunday where it has become a nuisance, as in the more populous rural parts of the province, and the government has informed us that this has been done.

The alliance does not propose any further action upon this matter so far as the government is concerned, but is calling the attention of municipalities, and especially those from which complaints have come as to serious disturbance of Sunday quiet by Sunday shooting, to the provision made by the government by which they may deal with the matter.

LAST BAD MAN OF WILD WEST

Had Secret Ambition to Hold Up Banks in Latest Model Limousine.

Most bandits have their weak spots. Along with the rest, Henry Starr had his. He had a secret ambition. And in the end it mastered him.

For more than thirty years he had maintained a reputation as an outlaw, maintaining a schedule of daylight bank robberies that was the envy of every two-gun man west of the Mississippi. His specialty was to come tearing into town at high noon, park his pony out in front of the leading bank and not leave the place until he had a gunnysack fairly well filled with loot.

He was not snobbish about it. He would tackle a railroad train or a station or a plain general store. Of course, he preferred banks, but to keep the old pot boiling he would step into anything that looked thrilling.

His average yearly haul netted a very decent income—nothing enormous, but steady. He did his turns in the penitentiary with a smile and took pardons with the proverbial tear. Three times he reformed just for the dramatic effect on his backers. He killed a man once and nearly hung for it.

While most of the other outlaws—the James boys, the Youngers and Al Jennings—were laying off or turning soft, Henry Starr was still doing business with a price on his head—dead or alive.

He should have been content, but he was not. The secret ambition kept troubling him. He yearned to be up to date. He felt that he was old-fashioned, riding a pony and shooting from the hip. He had read the Eastern newspapers and knew he was behind the times.

His Secret Ambitions

He wanted to come gliding into town in the latest model streamline limousine, roll up to the bank in style and walk in slowly enough so the natives could notice he was wearing a silk shirt and spats perhaps. Then, when he had finished his little business in the bank and had the officials locked in the customary vault, he could walk nonchalantly out, step in his car and ride out of town as any gentleman should.

They were getting away with it in why he could not do the same thing Y., and Henry Starr did not see Patterson, N. J., and Brooklyn, N. in Arkansas and Oklahoma, It may have been a foolish ambition, but that was the way Henry Starr looked at things. After thirty years of being a Western bad man he wanted one round as a motor bandit.

He had his one round at the luxurious trade and it cost him his life, but he died—as the old phrase has it—with his boots on, and he died happy. For a few hours he had been a motor bandit.

Less than a month ago, into the sleepy little Ozark town of Harrison, Ark., there rattled a mud-bespattered little flivver. Besides the driver there was three men, all wearing masks and armed to the teeth.

The car drew up to the curb in front of the People's National Bank of Harrison. Three men hopped out and sauntered into the bank. The driver stayed at the wheel, the motor throbbing violently as though it were eager to be off again.

Inside the bank the three masked men had complete charge of the situation. With six guns waving in the air, there was no offer of resistance. The few startled customers were backed against the wall the bank officials crowded around the door of the big vault.

"Get back there!" yelled the leading bandit, and the crowd obeyed.

Cringing away in the back part of the vault, W. J. Meyers, a former president of the bank, felt something hard sticking into his back. He turned and saw an old rifle that he had left there ten years before, providing for just such an emergency. Cautiously he crept toward the doorway of the vault. He thought the gun was loaded, but he could not be sure.

One of the robbers was leaning over a cash drawer directly opposite the vault. Meyers shoved the muzzle of the rifle against his side and fired. The robber crumpled in a miserable heap at his feet.

"Don't shoot again!" he gasped.

The other robbers took to their heels. Meyers fired a single wild shot after the speeding flivver as it scurried down the main street. Then he came back to the robber on the floor.

"I'm Henry Starr," he admitted simply.

They took Starr to the county jail and put him on a cot in a cell. The doctors said there was no chance of his recovery, for the bullet had severed his spinal cord. He lingered between life and death for four days, conscious all the time. His wife came from Tulsa and his son from Muskogee, where he was attending school.

For a man who had spent most of his days dodging the law it was rather a conventional finish. He is even reported to have given his boy a deathbed message that followed the line of "Go straight, son."

Henry Starr came naturally by his talents as a desperado. Among his direct ancestors there were:

"Uncle Tom Starr, one of the most dangerous men in the Cherbrooke Nation; Belle Starr, known as the Younger, an uncle by marriage, and George ("Hopp") Starr, his father. He came as near being a full-blooded bad man as any in the profession.

Brought Up "Down on the Farm."

Back in December 1873 he was born near Fort Gibson, Indian Territory, of Scotch-Irish-Indian blood, his father a halfblood Cherokee Indian and his mother a quarter-blood. They brought him up "down on the farm." His early culture took the form of riding and shooting, principally shooting. When his father died and the mother married again he left home to do his own shooting. It seemed the only way.

Before he was nineteen years old he had landed in jail. His cellmates, an aristocratic lot of horse thieves and highwaymen hooted him down as a greenhorn. They even intimated that he was being held on a false charge.

It was bitter persecution for a young man trying to get along. But he put up a brave front. He thrashed the sheriff in a fist fight and defied the jailbirds who gatherer around to taunt him.

When he was released next day owing to lack of evidence he set out with a determined look in his eyes. From henceforth so to speak, no one was going to have opportunity to cast any aspersions on his capabilities as a desperado. He intended to make good.

From the rather dutsy records of the early '90s it appears that he did. As leader of a youthful gang that would dare anything once, he planned and committed more crimes to the working day than any of the veteran crooks of the West had ever thought possible. Finally he shot and killed Floyd Wilson, a detective who caught up with him on a lonely road. Afterward he said that he had promised himself never to shoot a man except in self-defense. Throughout the rest of his career as a desperado he never took another life.

But with one murder to his credit he was a marked man. Deputies were hunting for him all over the territory. He was known everywhere, but, as he later explained, nine-tenths of the farmers in the country were his friends, ready to shelter him, to lie for him, to stand guard over him while he slept. He went to festivities throughout the countryside, to dances, where volunteers maintained a guard at the door on the lookout for the deputies.

Other Daring Robberies

There came the famous Pryor Creek robbery, where the gang held up an M., K. & T. passenger train as it stood at the station. The train and its passengers were looted, the station robbed, the general stores rifled. It was a siege that lasted more than an hour and netted several thousand dollars. The bandits drove away in their chuck wagon an made camp on the unfenced prairie some twenty miles distant.

There followed the hold-up at Bentonville, Ark., just across the line from Oklahoma. It was a leisurely affair, in broad daylight. The intimidated residents of the village, fearful of Starr, hung back while the gang carried away $12,000 in cash from the bank.

By this time Starr had become so notorious that he thought it was time to leave the country. He said goodbye to his gang and drove overland to Emporia, Kan., with his sweetheart, whom he planned to marry. They intended to make their ultimate home in Mexico.

Bad luck overtook the couple at Colorado Springs, where they stopped off for a brief rest. Detectives, who had been trailing Starr for months, caught him off his guard and placed him under arrest. They took him back to Fort Smith, Ar., for trial.

When he faced the judge in the Federal court there he had against him a murder charge and thirteen separate counts for robberies and hold-ups. Otherwise everything was rosy until he "discovered" that Judge Parker was prejudiced against him. The judge actually thought the man ought to be punished for his crimes. After a long legal battle that involved the United States Supreme Court Starr was sentenced to three years in jail for the murder and ten more years for the robberies.

He had served nine years of the sentence when President Roosevelt pardoned him in 1902.

Promised to Go Straight

"If I let you out will you go straight?" Roosevelt asked him.

"Sure," said Starr, and the first "reformation was under way.

A year later he married Miss Ollie F. Griffith, part Cherokee, a girl of considerable culture, who had been teaching in the schools in the territory. When a child was born Starr thought less than a minute before nameing his "Theodore Roosevelt Starr." The bandit was fast slipping back to respectability.

Before he had quite reached the stage where they were preparing to make him a deacon of the church strange rumors reached his ears. The Government of Arkansas had made requisition of the Governor of Oklahoma for Starr to be brought over and tried on an old indictment for the Bentonville robbery.

"Oh horrors!" said the bandit, and neatly slipped out of his thin mantle of respectability.

Several years of tremendous activity followed. With a newly organized gang of desperadoes Starr branched out and included many new states in his area of operations. He would spend a few months in Colorado then hop to Kansas, shoot over to territory in Oklahoma and Arkansas. Missouri and back to the old familiar Finally pursuit became so warm that he and a pal called "Stumpy" set out for New Mexico, blazing a trail of hold-ups as they went. Through the treachery of a close friend they were caught at a mining camp in Arizona near the Mexican border in May, 1909, and returned to Colorado.

In November of the same year Starr was sentenced to from seven to twenty-five years in the Canyon City pententiary. After serving less five years of his sentence he was breathing the fresh air again and organizing a new gang to raise havoc in the wild Southwest.

Shortly after this Starr conceived feat of his career, the famous Stroud and executed the most sensational bank robbery. While escaping with his booty, he was shot in the hip, and later arrested. For this robbery he was sentenced to twenty-five years' imprisonment, but four years later he was paroled by the Governor of Oklahoma for good behavior.

Into the Movies

This necessitated his going to all the bother of reforming once more. As his wife had died, he remarried in February, 1920, making his new home around Tulsa. It grew rather tame—just being a plain citizen—so he thought up a new device for getting a thrill out of life. He planned to put himself in the movies with a scenario sketched from real life. He travelled around with his film giving a lecture the same night it was shown and billing himself as the "original bad man of America."

But there was neither the financial success nor the thrill to this business that he had anticipated. A new generation had grown up, not so interested in the two-gun man of the old days as in the modern motorized silk-shirted bandit. Realizing this was somewhat of a shock to Henry Starr.

No man likes to feel that the times have outstripped him—Henry Starr least of all. He decided to try his hand at the new game. It proved a fatal mistake.

Recitations were well done by Ronald Brain, Dorothy and Fred Weston, Doreen Butler and Doris and Annie Yerberry. Six of the scholars of Miss Holmes' room did themeselves proud in a dialogue, the performers being Margaret Chalmers, Hilda Filmer, Lucy Leye, Agnes Sinclair, Jack Bird and Charles Malthouse. Another group of five of Miss Holmes' pupils also scored a success in the musical drill, "Red, White and Blue," these being Ernest Stephens, Frank Alexander, Jack Jory, Muriel Millington and Frances Malthouse.

In their chorus, "Whistle Your Troubles Away," Doris Yerberry, Jennie Chalmers and Flossie Evans were heartily applauded, as were the songs by the same little Misses Evans and Chalmers. On a popular vote it is certain, however, that the verdict would be that the top line feature of the concert was the trio, "Three Little Pigs," by George Chudley, jr., Peter McKay, jr., and John Malthouse. The applause and duplicate encores that greeted this selection left no room for doubt as to its universal popularity.

Tom and Harry Yerberry lent delightful variety to the evening with a guitar duet, and Harry Brown was an equally welcome contributor with a song and violin solo. Mrs. John Johnston was in excellent form in her vocal numbers, and a great hand was given Mrs. Jas. Jory (piano) and John Finlay, a Greenwood visitor (cornet), on their instrumental duet. Mrs. H. Chrisenson and Mrs. Lister performed double on the one piano for a well-received duet, while the latter was as popular as ever in her violin solo.

After the concert a liberal supply of ice cream, cake and other refreshments were passed and the concluding feature was a dance at which Jas. Turnley was in full charge.

The affair was in charge of a committee consisting of Misses Austed and Holmes, Mesdames Liddicoat and Millington and Joe McGee.

ENGLISH COUNTY CRICKET STARTS

LONDON, May 8.—(Canadian Associated Press.)—Leaden skies heralded the opening day of the county cricket season Saturday. The Prince of Wales attended the Australian match against Surrey at Kensington, which the Australians won by 325 for six wickets, their principal scorers being Collins, 158, not out, and MacCarney, 87.

Rain prevented the start of several cricket fixtures.

A woman has always something to worry about—if she can only think of what it is.

Milkweed has for ages been known for its medicinal qualities.

The Chinese are said to have been the first to make and use macaroni.

TIGER'S GRANDSON FLEES

Ex-premier Clemenceau's grandson Fred Georges Gatineau, was condemned "in absence" by a Paris judge to two years' imprisonment and a fine of 50,000 francs for embezzlement. Some time ago, when an inquiry was begun into his affairs Gatineau slipped over to England, thinking, perhaps, that the affair would be hushed up out of respect to his grandfather's name.

But Clemenceau, when he was informed that proceedings were to begin against his grandson, repeated the action of King Henry IV. of England, when his son, the future Henry V., was brought before the English justices. He refused to intervene and let justice take its course.

"My grandson!" he exclaimed when he was told. "I should worry! Lock him up. That's all he deserves."

If he ever comes back to France the young man will be imprisoned. The affair began last October, when a Paris manufacturer named Detilleux lodged a complaint in a civil court against Gatineau for issuing a worthless cheque. According to the story told in court, Gatineau undertook to purchase twentp automobiles from the American stock for Detilleux who advanced him 140,000 francs The automobiles were never delivered, and Detilleux demanded payment with interest of 15,000 francs. Gatineau sent him a cheque for the amount, which the bank dishonored.

Six other similar complaints were lodged against Gatineau by other manufacturers, the cheques being for various amounts from 600,000 to 150 francs. Three of these were dismissed by the bench, but Gatineau was proved to be a defaulter, for 245,150 francs. Since he took the boat for England nothing has been heard of the young man, but his grandfather isn't worrying, friends of the family say.

Life Insurance

THE PEOPLE of Canada are insured for over two and a half billion dollars. This sum would provide for 350,000 widows and orphans for twenty years; it would purchase 625,000 homes at $4,000 each; or it would furnish an education to over a million children.

These figures are evidence of the value placed upon life insurance by the people of Canada, and of what it is doing for the individual and for the nation.

Life Insurance is the guarantee that your home can be saved for your family and your children be given a chance in life—whether death overtakes you or you live to old age.

BEARS RAID INDUSTRIALS

Motors, Oils and Steels Subject to Pressure Shed Recent Gains.

NEW YORK, May 7.—Some of the advance registered by stocks earlier in the week was reduced during today's short but irregular session on further realizing for profit.

Bearish influences were operative in the motors, oils, steels and other popular industrials, while rails—with the exception of a few less important issues—were dull and backward, in contrast to their recent accumulation.

The stronger side of the market was represented by several high-grade coalers, obscure oils, and miscellaneous issues having the support of bull pools. Losses outnumbered gains at the uncertain close. Sales amounted to 385,000 shares.

Pressure against the motors was accompanied by rumors of an approaching trade war, further price reductions in automobiles being used as argument that the industry was approaching the saturation stage.

Firmness ruled in the bond market. Liberty and other domestic issues recorded only slight changes, with no special feature in the various foreign flotations. Total sales (par value) $5,375,000.

Last week's deficit in actual clearing house reserves was replaced by an excess of about $3,600,000 due to a cash gain of slightly more than $7,000,000. An increase of some $30,750,000 in loans and discounts was considered nominal in view of the activity in the stock market.

Most of the foreign exchange markets continued to move upward, presumably in expectation of early settlement of the claims against Germany. New high records for a long period were made by French, Belgian and Italian bills.

MONTREAL LIST

MONTREAL, May 8.—Saturday's market was irregular. The paper group was not prominent in activity and an easier tendency was noticeable in most of the issues traded in.

Riordan was strong, moving up 2½ points to 25½ and closing at the high. Abitibi lost a fraction at 35½; Brompton a fraction at 34½; Spanish River common was a fraction lower, and the preferred was not traded in to the extent of a board lot sale.

Stronger features took in Steamship preferred, which advanced two points to 51½. Cement was prominent on the lower side, the stock losing 1½ points to 53.

Weaker issues were Asbestos, down a point at sixty.

The bond issues were quiet with prices irregular.

Total sales listed—$131; bonds bonds $144,340.

TORONTO BOARD

TORONTO, May 8.—Except for further strength in Steamships, Canadian stocks Saturday were generally inactive and listless. It seemed as if the market was trying to digest the significance of the Riordan financing plan and awaited further particulars. In the meantime, there was little inclination to move in any direction.

The strength of Steamships preferred was thought in some quarters to be in part to a feeling of satisfaction that the plans for securing working capital had taken shape, but other brokers thought that friends of the company rallying to its support.

Victory bonds were less firm and some recessions were made.

WHEAT PRICES BREAK

CHICAGO, May 8.—Its technical position weakened by Saturday's bulge, the wheat market gave way when reports of rain in the south west wiped out Friday's pessimistic outlook of crop conditions there.

The close was 3⅛ to 3¾ cents net lower with May $1.41¼ to $1.41¾ and July $1.13¾ to $1.14. Corn lost 1 to 1¼ cents; oats ⅞ to 1⅛ cents and provisions 10 to 12 cents.

BANK REPORTS CROP FAVORABLE

Seeding Generally Over Dominion Advanced; British Columbia Backward.

The Bank of Montreal telegraphic crop report as of Thursday's date, covering all parts of Canada, is as follows:

Reports generally from all over the Dominion indicate an early spring, with seeding well advanced, labor plentiful, and general conditions excellent. Pasturage has wintered well and is making good growth. Fruit prospects are favorable. Details follow:

Edmonton district—Of the wheat, about 75 per cent has been sown, acreage increased about 10 per cent; acreage oats considerably less, about 20 per cent has been sown. Conditions favorable.

Calgary district—Soil and moisture conditions good, seeding well advanced, wheat acreage larger; oats smaller. Labor plentiful at reduced wages. The best start in several years.

Lethbridge district—Conditions favorable everywhere, except around Macleod, where rain needed. Acreage for grain about 10 per cent less than last year, about half already seeded. Cold makes germination slow. Hay and grass starting well.

Regina district—Wheat acreage about same as last year, 40 per cent seeded. Acreage of oats and flax less and spring rye more. Ground conditions good, labor adequate, wages $55 per month.

Saskatoon district—Wheat acreage probably increased; oats largely increased. Seed bed in good condition. Increased labor supply. Seeding almost general.

Winnipeg district—Seeding in full swing and well advanced. Ample moisture, land in good condition. Labor plentiful.

Quebec—The season opened early and most of the cereal crops on high ground in southern Quebec are in. Pasturage already proving good feed. Dry and fine periods followed by coulous warm rains are favorable for a large hay crop. In the northern sections seeding has commenced. Cattle have wintered well.

Ontario—The season is an early one and prospects generally are favorable. Seeding, however, has been delayed by wet weather. Fall wheat, acreage average. Generally in e cellent condition but some winter killing is noticed on low lying lands. Spring wheat sown under favorable conditions, prospects good. Oats average acreage. Hay very promising, old meadows having wintered well. Grass pasture is well advanced. Dairying prospects are excellent. Orchards have come through the winter well. Fruit trees are in bloom. Little injury reported from recent frosts. Tobacco acreage considerably reduced, labor plentiful, increased acreage under cultiation. Cattle in good condition.

Nova Scotia—Weather conditions are earlier than usual and have been favorable for more than grass. Plowing has commenced and in some places a little seeding has been done.

New Brunswick—Spring exceptionally early and considerable plowing has been done, but seeding has not yet commenced. Pasturage has wintered well.

British Columbia—Season backward following mild open winter. Unusual and cold rains have retarded seeding, which is about 50 per cent completed and now well under way with weather favorable. Fruit trees wintered well. Pasturage satisfactory and livestock in good condition.

UNEQUAL MARRIAGES

"Do you consider it a mistake in life for a college graduate to marry an illiterate person?" asks a correspondent whose pen-name is "Subscriber," and who writes from Saskatchewan.

Now that is an interesting question, but not one to which anyone could say just "Yes" or "No," without adding "As a rule" to qualify their decision.

There are exceptions, there are differing circumstances to be considered, there is the personal character, the disposition and mental capacity of each to be thought of.

"As a rule" it could hardly be considered other than a mistake for a person of education to have as a life companion one whose outlook on life would likely be unsympathetic, and whose friends and relations might not be congenial. It might result in quite hampering and destroying the life work of the person of education, and it might break the heart of the uneducated. But then again, they might both be stimulated by circumstances and make more of their lives than they would otherwise have done. Obstacles are bracing.

With much patience on both sides wonders might be worked. In one known instance the husband was a professional man while the girl who had captured his fancy as a young man, was of humble station and had little education of the bookish kind. During their engagement she attended school, and being a girl of refined mind and good appearance took her place well in her husband's social circle, but, owing to the lack of kindness, commonsense, and appreciation of worth that marke many women, she and her husband had social difficulties to overcome, and her heart pangs must have been many, to say nothing of his anger. But he was resolute and she was tactful and so they "won out" without injury to their domestic happiness.

There must be many cases of unequal marriage known to our readers, especially among hastily made war-marriages. Will anyone tell us of instances known to them, and tell us what their own idea is, in reply to our enquirer.—Hostess.

Yellow and white is combined in smart new summer frocks.

BRINGING UP FATHER

By George McManus

FRIEND DID HER A GREAT FAVOR

Mrs. Godbout Takes Tanlac On Advice Given Her; Health Restored.

"My friend certainly was right when she told me Tanlac was the best medicine in the world," said Mrs. C. Godbout, Coquitlam, B. C., while telling her experience with Tanlac.

"For more than a year I could hardly eat enough to keep me up and many days I wouldn't even sit down to the table. I had to eat only the lightest of foods and even these bloated me until it looked like I would smother, my heart palpitated frightfully and I could hardly endure the pains in my stomach. Every day I had sick headaches which nearly set me wild, and at times the small of my back hurt so bad I could scarcely move around. I was so nervous I couldn't sleep and always felt so tired and worn out I could scarcely do my housework.

"One day a friend called to see me and told me Tanlac was the best medicine she ever heard of for troubles of my kind, so I took her advice and started taking it. Well, I've taken seven bottles now and my appetite was never better, and, although I am eating just anything I want nothing gives me the least pain or distress. I never have a headache or pain in my back, sleep like a child every night and am feeling just as well as I ever did in my life and my house work is once more a real pleasure. Since Tanlac has done so much for me I just can't praise it highly enough."

ADVERTISING BY SONG.

Sir Frederick Bridge, famous organist of Westminster Abbey, has been drawing a picture of how London acted when Shakespeare lived. One had a toothache and right under one's window there stopped a man who sang to the most enchanting music:

Touch and goe, touch and goe;
H' ye any work for Kind Heart,
The Tooth Drawer, touch and goe?

One called him right in while courage was high. He touched the tooth with his dreadful looking apparatus and it "goed." Fact is, all life seemed to go by song in those days. In the early morn, when you were just getting your best sleep, the morning watchman sang out:

God give ye good-morrow my masters!
Past 3 o'clock and a fine morning.

Then came the merchants, men and women, singing the virtues of their juniper, garlic, oysters, hot mutton pies, cherries ripe. The chiropodist asked whether you had any corns on your feet. The chimney sweep sang:

The chimney sweeper all the long day,
He singeth and sweepeth the soot away.

And at last, when the long, busy, musical day was done, then night watchman took up the tunefal tale with his final message:

Lantern and candle light,
Hang out, hang out, maids!
Twelve o'clock. Look well to lock,
And so good night.

A fashion observer at Longchamps reports that most of the skirts of the gowns had been dropped about two inches below last spring's length.

DECLINES TASK OF FORMING CABINET

President Ebert Endeavors to Persuade Mayer to Reconsider.

BERLIN, May 8.—Dr. Wilhelm Mayer, German ambassador to France, here from Paris on a summons from President Ebert who desired the ambassador to attempt the formation of a new cabinet in succession to the Fehrenbach ministry, has informed the president that he could not comply with the request, according to the Vossosche Zeitung today. It is known that Dr. Meyer has been disinclined to attempt the task. President Eebert the paper states, endeavored to persuade Dr. Mayer not to consider his refusal as final and asked him in any case to remain in Berlin until Monday, and in case of a change in the situation, accept the invitation.

No Progress Made

BERLIN, May 8.—No further progress was made today towards terminating the cabinet crisis, despite Dr. Wilhelm Mayer's personal efforts to persuade the Clericals to agree to unconditional acceptance of the allied ultimatum.

Dr. Mayer, who is German ambassador to France, is still in the reichstag as a member of the Bavarian People's party, which stubbornly opposes the allied terms especially regarding the disarmament. Although pledged to abide by his party's decision, Dr. Mayer is now endeavoring to unite the Clerical party in favor of accepting the ultimatum, hoping it would then form the nucleus for an emergency coalition, which would command enough votes in the reichstag in favor of pielding.

The majority Socialists and Democrats, ho are still divided among themselves, have summoned their national committees in Berlin for a confernce tomorrow.

ARREST SUSPECTED WRECKERS OF TRAIN

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 8.—Two men, whose names were not made public, were held here tonight by the police in connection with the wreck of a Missouri Pacific passenger train about midnight last night at Altamont, Ark. John Stroum, the fireman, was killed and four trainmen were injured. The two men were arrested at Bridge Junction, near the scene of the wreck, by special agents of the railway.

According to railway officials here a switch had been opened, lights extinguished and a newspaper wrapped around the switch light.

ORGANIZE ATTACK ON PATRONAGE SYSTEM

TORONTO, May 8.—A resolution protesting against a return by the Dominion government to the patronage system and pledging their support to the civil service federation of Canada in whatever action it might take to prevent the passage of the Spinney bill, Number 122, now before a special committee of parliament, was passed by a gathering of representatives of civil service organizations from Montreal, Toronto Ottawa and Hamilton, in the labor temple here today.

DEFENSE CALLS FORMER MINISTER AS WITNESS

MONTREAL, May 8.—Hon. Robert Rogers, minister of public works in the Borden cabinet from 1911 to 1917, will be examined tomorrow by order of the superior court, as a witness for the defense in the action in which Lord Atholstan is suing Louis Joseph Tarte and La Patrie Publishing company for $62,375. The sum represents capital and intrest on $50,000 on two promissory notes signed by L. J. Tarte and endorsed by La Patrie Publishing company.

The main plea of the defense is that this sum of $50,000 was paid Lord Atholstan "by a third party" on behalf of the defendants. Hon. Robert Rogers was ordered by the court to appear "as an essential witness to establish part of the pleading of the defendant.

NO SIGN OF BREAK IN PRINTERS' STRIKE

REGINA, May 8.—With two page issues of both the Morning Leader and Daily Post published Saturday, and six of the seven city job plants operating on an open shop basis, the printers' strike continues without any sign of break on either side. The employers on Saturday met a representative of the International Typographical union from Winnipeg and discussed the situation fully with him. The employers state that the men can return to work at any time on the 44-hour basis in job and 48-hour basis in newspaper plants, the same hourly rate of pay to prevail pending arbitration of wage questions and other disputed points.

TORONTO TEACHERS REQUEST ADVANCES

TORONTO, May 8.—The teaching staff of Toronto's high and public schools have framed their requests for salary adjustments and increases and put the summary of the whole matter into the hands of the school management committee. It is to be noted that they are "requesting," not "demanding."

One of the features of the teachers' plea is that of the women for the restoration of the $100 annual increase which was cut to $50 last year when the board voted them a 25 per cent increase.

High school principals ask for a maximum of $5000, public school principals $4000 and assistant masters $3000 and $200 a year annual increase.

A nine-month-old boy at Plaster Rock, N. B., has cut two eye teeth and has not another tooth in his head. The child is reported to be perfectly healthy and normal in every other way.

CONSERVATIVES CHOOSE MONDOU

To Contest Yamaska Byelection; Fight Will Be Three-Cornered One.

ST. FRANCOIS DU LAC, Que., May 8.—A. A. Mondou was unanimously chosen candidate to contest the county of Yamaska at the bye-election on May 28, at a Conservative convention held there this afternoon.

Mr. Mondou, in a speech following the nomination, said he was and always had been a member of the Liberal-Conservative party and declared that he was proud of his parliamentary record between 1911 and 1917.

This will make a three-cornered contest for the seat rendered vacant by the death of Oscar Gladu. Joseph Lambert is the choice of the United Farmers and L. Boucher of the Liberals.

Mr. Mondou warned Quebec and Ontario against the policy of the western farmers, mostly Americans, who, through their policy, meant ruin of Eastern Canada. Most of these people were imbued with socialistic principles.

Hon. T. A. Crerar, their leader, was the man who had left the west to come to Ottawa to work to have conscription passed by the government of the day, and in this connection Mr. Mondou pointed out that he left the seats of power in 1917 to join the opposition benches when the Liberals had left the opposition benches to join the government and carry conscription.

Anonymous Prohibition Circular Makes Attack Upon McGill University

TORONTO, May 8.—Sir Arthur Currie, president of McGill university, Montreal, and Lady Currie were guests of honor at the annual dinner at the Toronto branch of the McGill Graduates' society at Hart House, University of Toronto, Saturday night.

Sir Arthur Currie was quoted in an interview here Saturday evening as stating that after Professor Leacock of McGill had spoken in the city against prohibition, previous to the referendum vote of April 18, Sir Arthur received an anonymous circular, apparently distributed broadcast, urging Ontario parents not to send their sons to McGill "to be taught to drink booze." Sir Arthur said:

"I don't know who was responsible for that circular, but whoever it was is one of the class that preach temperance and is itself most intemperate in thought, speech and principle."

PELTS FOR FUR AUCTION

MONTREAL, May 8.—Over 500,000 pelts valued at between two and three million dollars, will be put up for auction at the third of the annual fur auction sales held here under the auspices of the Canadian Fur Auction Sales Co., Ltd., of Montreal, which opens here tomorrow and will last for four days.

BOLSHEVIKI QUELL REVOLT IN TAMBOV

Revolutionary Leader Escapes; Sink Documents in River.

LONDON, May 8.—A Moscow dispatch today announces the quelling of the revolutionary movement in the province of Tambov, led by General Antinoff, a former Bolsheviki commander, which has been reported in progress for nearly two months past.

This revolt was organized on lines similar to those of the Kronstadt revolt, led by Stephen Petrechenko, which was put down in March by the Bolsheviki. The dispatch telling of crushing the Tambov movement says:

From Tambov, the destruction of Antoniff's bands is reported as the result of an engagement. Antoniff himself escaped through a mischance Many of the bandits were killed, among whom were all of the main staff in charge of arrangements. The staff succeeded in sinking its documents in the river. All the arms and transports of the Antoniff forces were captured.

ZIONIST CHIEF DRAWS CROWDS

Jews of Toronto Support Funds for Reconstruction of Palestine.

TORONTO, May 8.—One of the biggest demonstrations ever seen among the Jews of this city was that which wound up the three-day visit of Dr. Chaim Weizmann, head of the Zionist movement of the world, in the arena tonight, when fully 10,000 were present. A large sum of money was contributed toward the fund, which is to make possible the reconstruction and repopulation of Palestine. Dr. Weizmann stated that personal investigation had proved to him that Palestine was large enough to take care of at least ten times its present population, while there were thousands of Jews in the war torn sections of Europe anxious to get to Palestine, who lacked the means to do so.

Dr. Weizmann and party left for Chicago after the meeting.

PILES

ARE GENERALLY CAUSED BY

CONSTIPATION

There are few, if any complaints more common than hemorrhoids, or piles, as they are commonly called, and scarcely any which cause more trouble, annoyance and misery.

Ninety per cent. are troubled with them at some time or other, owing to allowing the bowels to become in a constipated condition.

Piles are classed under three headings, i. e., itching, bleeding and protruding, and the excruciating pains which accompany them cause misery which is beyond description.

Ointments and suppositories may help and relieve for a while, but to get rid of them, it is necessary to have a free, easy and natural motion of the bowels, at least once or wice a day, and by doing this the cause will be quickly removed.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills regulate the flow of bile to act properly on the liver and bowels, thus removing the constipation and all its allied troubles.

They contain no calomel or drastic mineral ingredients, being purely vegetable. They are small and easy to take, and do not gripe, weaken or sicken.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c. a vial at all druggists or dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

FERGUSON GETS VENDOR'S JOB

Commissioner Falconer Spends Day Here; Is Now Visiting the Crow.

Ed Ferguson, assessor for the Nelson assessment district, has been officially notified of his selection for the post of government liquor vendor for Nelson. There were a large number of applicants for the position. Mr. Ferguson, before entering the government service, was a traveler in this line.

T. H. Falconer, one of the three commissioners composing the liquor control board, arrived in Nelson from the coast Friday night, and spent Saturday here. It is understood that three or four premises are under consideration, for the government warehouse here.

Mr. Falconer left yesterday for Cranbrook and Fernie.

The system is expected to start operation June 1.

Headaches

Are mostly caused by defective vision and nerves insufficiency.

We are particularly well fitted to test each group of nerves and disturbed vision. These defects are mostly corrected by proper appliation of lenses combined with suitable exercises. We have on record a great number of remarkable results. An examination will reveal true conditions.

GET GRADER FOR UPPER STREETS

Machine Will Be Similar to That Used by Provincial Government.

A grader for the city street department is being ordered by the public works committee, to which the city council delegated authority to deal in this matter, after securing cost figures.

It has been decided by the committee, of which Ald. John Bell is chairman, to order a grader similar to that used by the provincial government in this vicinity.

The grader will save a great deal of work on the more level streets, where the work is not heavy, and will also be used to a very large extent in improving the streets in the higher residential portion of the city. In fact, that will probably be the principal work of the grader.

RIFLE ASSOCIATION MAY BE MILITARY

Nelson rifle enthusiasts are disappointed to learn that the program of work in view in connection with the Nelson Civilian Rifle association has small prospects of being put into effect on the lines hitherto contemplated.

A communication has been received emanating from militia headquarters, Ottawa, to the effect that the reorganization of all civilian rifle associations which have not been carrying on since 1914 or 1915 is to be held in abeyance.

It is proposed to disband civilian rifle associations in military areas and allow ther members to become honorary members of military rifle associations, which may be formed in their neighborhood, and doubtless this will be the way out here.

Definite instructions are expected from militia headquarters shortly, when the question of pressing the cult of the rifle under the new conditions will doubtless be discussed without any delay.

Air Liner Crashes, But Passengers Not Injured

MILWAUKEE, May 8.—With one of its wings hitting a tree on the take-off on what was to be the maiden trip, the Lawson air liner de luxe, valued at $75,000, crashed 50 feet to the ground today. Four passengers, including Alfred W. Lawson, the designer, escaped uninjured. Damage to the machine was estimated at about $8,000.

Social and Personal

Dr. Gilbert Hartin is having a visit in Vancouver.

E. G. Daniels of Fernie, inspector of schools, was a city visitor on Saturday.

W. Cutler is confined to his room with a severe cold, but counts on being out in a day or two.

R. S. Lennie, who was a prominent figure at the Nelson assizes, returned Saturday night to the Coast.

Mr. Justice Murphy leaves this morning for Cranbrook to preside over the criminal and civil assizes there.

Rev. Fred H. Graham returned Saturday night from the Coast, having attended the sessions of the provincial synod.

G. G. Smith and James Russell were at the Pool at South Slocan on Saturday and brought home several trout as trophies.

Local business in Spokane is distinctly good, though in the Inland Empire at large things are still quiet, is the observation of L. K. Larsen on his trip to Spokane last week to attend the annual meeting of the Standard Silver-Lead Mining company.

Some Nelson anglers went out to Ymir on Saturday to whip the foaming waters of the Salmon river and Porcupine creek. The water was rising and beginning to color up a bit, and though the fish were visible they were not in a biting mood.

Dr. A. B. C. Dando and Dr. H. B. Morrison were fishing in the Grohman rapids Saturday and got a fine catch. The biggest fish of the lot, 17 inches in length, was so gorged with black ants that it was at first assumed to be only of strict legal size, owing to not putting up a fight.
