MASKED MEN MURDER AN AGED CLERGYMAN

Rioters in Belfast Throw Bomb; Police Club and Disperse Mob; Many Wounded in Hospital; York Street a Battleground

BELFAST, June 12.—The question as to whether the killings here over this week-end will interfere with the visit of King George to the state opening of the Ulster parliament on June 23. The series of tragedies during the week-end eclipsed in savagery any previous shootings. The victims included an aged clergyman and three young business men, the latter being found dead in the northern section of the city.

Rev. Charles Finlay of Bawnboy, County Cavan 30 years old, and former dean of Leighton, who had been a clergyman since 1867, on answering a knock at his door last night, was confronted by a number of masked men. Without parley they took him outside, shot him dead and then buried his head to a pulp and burned his residence.

The other three men killed were William Kerr, a barber; Malachy Halfpenny, a postman, and Alex McBride, a saloon keeper, all residents of Belfast. As their deaths occurred during the curfew hours, the killings are generally believed here to have been in reprisal for the shooting of

Pacific Coast Pleases Weekly Newspapermen Visiting on Convention

VANCOUVER, June 12.—Full of enthusiasm for the Pacific Coast, the big party of Weekly newspaper men of Canada which has been visiting here in convention, left for their homes over the C. P. R. tonight. The party came in from Victoria tonight.

They will put in a day at Lake Louise and another at Banff. They will also visit the Canadian Pacific form at Strathmore, Alta.

CONSTANTINE DEPARTS FOR TURK FRONT

Will Place Himself at Head of Army in Attack on the Turks.

ATHENS, June 12.—King Constantine before sailing Saturday afternoon for Smyrna to direct the Greek operations against the Turks in Asia Minor, issued a message to the Greek people in which he predicted that success would crown the efforts of the Greek army. The message said: "I go to place myself at the head of my army, where Hellenism with the aid of the All-High God, will crown the efforts of our race, which it advancing irresistibly towards its destiny."

Warships Leave to Avoid Salute.

SMYRNA, June 12.—King Constantine arrived here this afternoon and was greeted enthusiastically although the arduous of the crowds was not so great as at Athens. The allied warships had left the harbor in order to avoid saluting the King.

Danger of Embroidment.

LONDON, June 12.—The Times, urging a definite policy in the Near East, refers to fears lately expressed lest Great Britain become embroiled in war there, and says:

"The danger is not indeed of war, but of serious embarrassment, which there may be if we fail to concern ourselves immediately in a common policy with our allies."

The Times declares that Great Britain's greatest concern is the safety of the straits region, and adds:

"The Greeks have a fair moral claim to Smyrna and the immediate neighborhood, but it does not follow that all the supreme national aspirations over which Constantine waxes eloquent are equally justifiable."

DISCOVER BODY OF KIDNAPED CHILD

Father Identifies Boy Held Up to Ransom; Five Men Arrested.

NEW YORK, June 12.—The body of a seven-year-old boy found floating in the Hudson river, off Piermont, N. Y., was identified last night as that of Giuseppe Varotta, kidnaped May 24 on held for ransom. The identification was made by the boy's father, who went to Piermont with detectives as soon as the New York police were notified. The boy disappeared while at play before his home and his parents believed he had been lost. After two days the child's mother received a letter demanding $2500 for the safe return of her son.

Five men were subsequently arrested and are awaiting trial on the charge of being implicated in the attempted extortion of money from Varotta.

DEVISE PLAN TO DEVELOP NORTH

Land Settlement Board to Assist Settlers Along Grand Trunk.

VICTORIA, June 12.—Because of the rapid development of northern British Columbia along the lines of the Grand Trunk Pacific between Prince Rupert and Prince George, plans now are being completed by which the land settlement board will act as the medium in assisting settlers in getting stock financed and transported into that country.

This was the announcement made Saturday by Hon. E. D. Barrow, minister of agriculture, on his return from a two weeks' tour of the northern agricultural areas.

This new scheme for aiding settlers will be less complicated than the cattle club system now in vogue, Mr. Barrow explained.

Working out of such a plan is advisable now because of the extent of the back-to-the-land movement which is centering in northern British Columbia, he added.

CLEARING OUT INSURGENTS IN UPPER SILESIA

British General-Breaking Up Rebel Forces; No Reprisals Planned.

OPERATES WITHOUT OFFICIAL SANCTION

Has Cooperation of Italians; Expect to Clear Area Within Ten Days.

BERLIN, June 12.—The British General Henneker, in command of British troops in Upper Silesia, has assumed the responsibility for clearing the region of insurgents and in operating without official sanction of the French inter-allied commission, General Londe, but has the cooperation of the Italian forces, according to advices printed in Berlin newspapers. The advices state that the entire area is expected again to be under allied control within 10 days.

The killing of a British sergeant by Polish insurgents is not expected to affect in any way the British plans to pacify the country with the least possible bloodshed and no reprisals will be permitted. It is understood that General Henneker does not contemplate applying disarmament, but fully intends to reestablish prestige by dissolution of the organized rebel forces. It is hoped this may be accomplished without the actual use of force, although it is understood that in the event the Poles offer resistance in the industrial districts the British are prepared to quell them with rifles and machine guns.

EXTOLS RHODES' IDEA OF UNION

Smuts Looks Higher Than Mere Bonds of Race for Humanity.

LONDON, June 12.—Speaking at a Rhodes scholarship trust dinner given at Oxford last night, General Smuts, prime minister of South Africa, who reached England earlier in the day, said that the mere bonds of race which were supposed to hold the Empire together, did not appeal to him. He took a larger view that there were greater forces working and on that platform of great ideals or greater conceptions of human service it was possible for us, of whatever nationality to unite.

Cecil Rhodes had wanted to bring together not only the British people, but also American people, which was the first British dominion, whom they were always proud and grateful to proclaim as one of themselves.

Some of Rhodes' ideas were, he said, temporarily submerged, but the day was coming when men would say his was the right idea of union and in the union of the great white races and forces alone could be found a true guarantee of western civilization.

Right Hon. W. F. Massey, premier of New Zealand, reiterated that he was strongly in favor of a partnership of the nations of the Empire, but even a partnership had duties as well as rights and privileges. He hoped he would be able to improve the present system as time went on.

Since the war cabinet had ceased, the Dominions had no definite representation in the government of the Empire, which was not satisfactory to overseas loyalists.

NO USE FOR POST MORTEM EXCUSES

Langley Uncertain if He Will Run for Another Constituency.

REGINA, June 12.—"I have not heard of it." This was the reply of Hon. George Langley, Saskatchewan minister of municipal affairs, defeated in the provincial elections, to the suggestion that he was to run as government candidate in the Tisdale constituency. Even if a seat were offered him, he said tonight, he did not know whether or not he would accept it. Asked as to what he attributed his defeat, Mr. Langley said:

"I have never any use for post mortem excuses from a defeated candidate. The soldier who cannot accept a reverse should choose some other profession. After all there is a joy in service which no ingratitude can destroy."

WELL KNOWN EVANGELIST DIES

CHICAGO, June 12.—Prof. Edwin O. Excell, evangelist, choir leader and publisher of religious song books, died in a hospital yesterday after an illness of more than six months.

He was born at Uniontown, Penna., 49 years ago.

Professor Excell who was a member of the Methodist church, was for 20 years associated with Sam Jones, the Georgia evangelist.

Charters Airplane to Attend Bedside of His Dying Wife

VICTORIA, June 12.—Mrs. Charles Andrews, a native of Selkirk, Man., died here last night, five minutes after her death her husband had arrived in an airplane. Mr. Andrews is a mining fan of Lac Du Bonnet, Man., and he reached Vancouver last night too late to catch a boat. He chartered an airplane and reached his wife's bedside an hour and a half later and only five minutes before his wife passed away. She was 24 years old and leaves two children. Three brothers live in Manitoba.

GOURLEY DYKE BREAKFLOODS NICOMEN LAND

Swollen Waters of Fraser River Inundate Farm Lands; No Lives Lost.

VANCOUVER, June 12.—Two thousand acres of farm land on Nicomen island is under water today. The Gourley dyke broke last night under pressure of the swollen water of the Fraser river in flood and the farms which it protected were inundated. No casualties are reported, but the property damage may be serious, many cattle being probably drowned. A similar flood a year ago caused damage estimated at $140,000.

There were a number of new settlers in the district this year, chiefly returned soldiers, but all these had been warned and loss of life provided against. The Fraser has been threatening floods for days.

Log Booms Afloat

VANCOUVER, June 12.—The holes in the Gourley dam at Nicomen island are being repaired and further damage to farm lands is hoped, will be averted. The river is rising less rapidly and the flood peak is believed to have been reached.

Several log booms are afloat in the Fraser river around New Westminster and a fleet of tugs and river boats are busy rounding them up. The high water has given the lumber companies a great deal of trouble in this way, but no actual losses are reported so far.

FREE COOPERATION FOR MUTUAL GAIN

Sunday Observer Sums Up Purpose of Imperial Premiers' Conference.

LONDON, June 12.—The first meeting of the imperial premiers conference has been fixed for Thursday next. It is doubtful if the health of Mr. Lloyd George will permit him to preside from the beginning of the conference. Other British official representatives will be Lord Curzon, minister of foreign affairs, and Right Hon. W. S. Churchill, secretary for the colonies.

In a two-column editorial today on the coming conference the Sunday Observer insists that the pressure of circumstances requires some simple machinery of consultation, although there will be no coordination save by consent.

The interest of the mother country is to serve. Free cooperation for mutual advantage sums up the imperial purpose and the mother country asks no more, the newspaper says.

LIGHTNING FIRES GASOLINE TANK

Causes Loss of Life and One Million Dollars' Damage to Property.

SALT LAKE, June 12.—Two known dead, the probability of at least six others dead in the debris, more than 25 injured, many others unaccounted for and a property loss of nearly $1,000,000, was the toll of the fire which started Saturday night at six o'clock at the plant of the Utah Oil Refining company when a bolt of lightning struck a tank containing one million gallons of gasoline distillate. The total loss will not be known until the rolls of the city firemen and company employees are checked. The loss of life came between seven and eight o'clock this morning, when the tank, which had been burning fiercely all night, burst, scattering its contents with deadly results.

FREDERICTON, N. B., June 12.—The department of lands and mines reported today that local showers have been general all over the province and have resulted in an improvement in the fire situation. Reports Sunday regarding fires at McGilvray's Junction and Minto were exaggerated. An official report says that 350 acres were burned over by the fire at McGilvray's Junction but no timber was burned. There was no truth in the report of a serious fire near Minto.

RUMORS CURRENT PRESAGE AN EARLY GENERAL ELECTION THROUGHOUT GREAT BRITAIN

Reach Turning Point in National Politics; Government Candidates in Byelections Significant; Powerful Discontent of Middle Classes; Labor Party Split; Government Looks for Press Support.

LONDON, June 12.—Even in quarters not unfavorably disposed towards the Coalition government, the result of last week's byelections and the general industrial and economic situation has aroused wide speculations concerning the possibility of an appeal to the country. Premier Lloyd George is rumored as contemplating a general election, at least before the introduction of the next budget. Even if defeated it is suggested he will leave to successors such a hotbed of expenditure and other legacies of the aftermath of the war as to ensure them an ignominious exit with the triumphant return of the then recently discarded leader.

The Sunday Observer speaks of last week's events as being the turning point in national politics. The Coalition government would, it says, have already been irretrievably doomed with any other man at its head, and it urges the premier to pull himself and his friends together by concentrating, if only for a short time, on domestic politics and by recognizing the discontent of the middle classes as powerfully exhibited in the St. Georges, Westminster byelection.

Loss of Heywood Is Serious.

A political writer in the Sunday Times, which generally supports the government, considers the loss of Heywood constituency as more serious than that of St. Georges, and even allowing for the smallness of the labor majority, confesses that it constitutes so serious a blow to the government as to require a complete reorganization of the anti-waste candidates. Lord Northcliffe's Sunday organ to prophesy that the premier may discover that it will suit calculations to approach the country with protection has a remedy to bad trade and unemployment, and also advocates rigid economy. Enterprising Unionists, the Times suggests, should be keenly alive to capturing the growing anti-waste movement.

Labor Lacks Cohesion.

Against these ideas, it must be recorded that it is nowhere denied that the Labor party is split almost into as many elements as the Coalition government, and its present personnel in the house of commons displays almost a complete lack of debating and tactical skill, while also wholly divorced, in appearance, from the Independent Liberals.

The question is, therefore, whether the premier will consider it good strategy to take the present electoral rebuffs as an indication that the time has arrived for action in the country as a whole, or whether he will ignore them, believing the Liberals and the Labor party are in an impossible position to recover from their present divisions.

The Saturday Reviews calls attention to several attempts recently made to secure another daily newspaper on the side of the government, and also notes significantly the number of honors recently bestowed on newspaper owners.

PREPARE EXHAUSTIVE AGENDA FOR AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR

DENVER, Colo., June 12.—The forty-first annual convention of the American Federation of Labor, which opens tomorrow, will be a gathering for the promotion and development of welfare and freedom on this continent. President Gompers of the federation declared in a statement tonight.

This convention, the veteran labor leader said, would deal with the great issues confronting labor today which are in the balance at the crucial moment when the die must be cast one way or the other.

More than 500 delegates from Canada and the United States were assembled for the meeting, which will probably continue two weeks. James Thomas, president of the railway workers' union of England, was here to represent as a fraternal delegate the workers of Great Britain in the British union congress.

No Opponent for Gompers

Despite many reports that President Gompers and his administration would be opposed for reelection, up to tonight there had not been any open indication of such a movement. While John Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, looked as a candidate for the presidency by the anti-Gomperses, decided to make any statement, it was understood that he would not oppose the labor chief. The delegates to the Machinists' union cannot vote for President Gompers, as they are instructed by the convention of their international not to vote for any officer who is an active or honorary member of the national civic federation. They, however, have not announced any intention of putting a candidate in the field.

The machinists' delegates also are instructed to vote for the passage of a resolution providing for the election of the officials and members of the executive council of the federation by a general referendum vote of all organized workers. They also want the federation reorganized along industrial lines instead of craft lines, making it a great industrial congress. Leaders of railroad organizations and several other unions, it was learned, were planning to hold a conference to decide whether they would put a candidate in the field for a vice-president. Last year these organizations attempted to get representation on the federation's executive council, but failed. The major issues before the convention, as outlined by the president tonight, include:

Major Issues Involved

The condition of employment, which estimates run as high as five million unemployed workers.

The movement to crush labor and blast its spirit through what he calls "miserable disregard for the truth, the open shop movement."

"The railroad problem and the immigration problem, with its vital bearing on United States standard of living and of citizenship."

"The problem of Russian affairs, the cancer that is eating at the vitals of world civilization."

"The problem of how best to meet conditions brought about by court decisions."

"Added to these are the constructive demands which labor must voice with endless petition and with growing intelligence and emphasis."

Disarmament and the Irish question and the high cost of living will also occupy outstanding positions on the federation's program. The adop-

FREE GOLD SHOWS EVERYWHERE IN NEW ELBOW LAKE DISCOVERY

THE PAS, Man., June 12.—Additional information received here concerning the gold strike at Elbow lake, leads to the belief that from the surface showings, the largest gold ore body on the continent has been uncovered. The dyke has been stripped of overburden for 350 feet in length, and for 50 feet in width without encountering the walls in which gold is freely deposited throughout. The outcropping near the water's edge, where the discovery was made, has developed into a rich pocket of gold which gradually lessens in quantity back to the discovery post, 350 feet away, where the body disappears under a heavy overburden.

The body is in a green stone formation and the mineralization is in porphyry with quartz stringers. An attractive feature about this strike is the evident continuity of free gold for the length and width of the dyke, starting from the gold pocket where specimens were dug out with a gold volume of 50 per cent. The dyke, as uncovered, revealed small particles fairly regularly all along. A few shots were put in nearer the discovery post and the material shot out also contained free gold. A case of dynamite has been sent up to the property to be used in blowing open the dyke to learn to what extent this gold is deposited underneath.

CONFIDENT OF RAPID RECONSTRUCTION OF RUSSIA THROUGH OUTSIDE CAPITAL

PARIS, June 12.—Russia's rapid construction under Lenin's new policy of cooperation with the capitalists is assured by the self-interest of both parties, declared M. Krassin, Russian Soviet minister of trade and commerce, in a signed interview, given in the London correspondent of the Petit Parisien today. Krassin said the hunger of the capitalists for Russia's natural riches would obtain their aid and the absolute need of directing ability by the Soviets would guarantee the protection of foreign interests. The Soviet minister asserted that foreign purchased contracts placed by Russia amounted to $5,000,000 in Great Britain; 50,000,000 crowns in Sweden; 3,000,000,000 marks in Germany, and $10,000,000 in the United States.

"But our gold reserves have a limit," he added, "and as our exports still are negligible, we must resort to concessions, of which only one, that with the Svenska Faerik, has been signed, but others are pending."

Krassin asserted that the concessions obtained by Washington V. Vanderbilt, of California, was dependent on the deposit of a forfeit, which has not yet been received.

"Soon a great international consortium will be formed to exploit our riches," Krassin went on, "and its activities will enable the Soviets to conquer their present terrible difficulties by restoring content in the villages. The capitalists are assured of the Soviets' good faith, because the Soviets never have wronged those working under agreements with them and if the Soviets are overthrown their successors will be less radical and will protect the capitalists. But principally because the Soviets need the capitalists they would not interfere nor confiscate, because what they want is not machines, but the men who can make them go."

BRITAIN BEGINS RETRENCHMENT

Rescinds Dockyard Wage Advance; Eastern Farmers Reduce Wages.

LONDON, June 12.—The government having decided to rescind the advance in wages of six shillings on weekly time and 15 per cent on piece work, granted the employees of the royal dockyards last year, has been negotiating with the trade unions concerned regarding the reduction. As a result the matter has been submitted for arbitration to the industrial court with the suggestion that half of the reduction shall be

AUSTRALIANS LASH ENGLISH BOWLING

Get Big Lead in Second Test Match; Start Heavy Scoring.

LONDON, June 12.—(By Canadian Associated Press)—In the second test match on Lord's grounds here Saturday between cricket teams representing all-England and the Australians, England was dismissed for 187 runs, while the Australians scored 191 for three wickets before stumps were drawn. The King attended the match until lunch and members of both teams were presented to His Majesty.

The poor performance by England was mainly due to weakness in batting, the exceptions being Captain Douglas and Woolley. The rest failed signally before the fast deliveries of Gregory and MacDonald and the crafty slowness of Armstrong and Mailey.

The Australians hit 73 in the first 10 overs, taking big risks like a team assured of victory.

PRACTICE FOR WEST KOOTENAY LEAGUE GAME

Anticipating the sternest battle of the season when they meet the Trail football team on July 1, in the third game of the West Kootenay league series, the Nelson senior club has cancelled the scheduled city league fixture and will play a practice match, Possibles vs. Probables, on Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock. The local boys are leaving nothing to chance when the big league cup is concerned and will get in several practice games before July 1 in preparation for the big league game. Nelson's fine win a Trail on June 4 gives them two points lead in the league, with two more games to play. Trail, however, has a team that will take a lot of beating, and they are anxious to regain possession of the cup, too. Hence the determination to see the matter through to a finish.

The teams for tomorrow's practice game are:

Possibles (Green and White)—Goal, T. Middleton; backs, J. Wolverson and J. Metcalf; halves, I. Spiers, N. M. Bradley and J. Morris; forwards, J. Ball, G. Talbot, E. Bowkett, C. Bernard and V. Graves.

Probables (White)—Goal, S. Bostock; backs, J. Campbell, C. Hartland; halves, T. Wheeler, R. Smillie, A. Wallace; forwards, G. Sutton, D. Bartholomew, N. MacDonald, G. Atkinson and A. V. Rowley.

AT THE THEATERS

In the program which will be presented at the 1921 Calgary exhibition, to be held June 29 to July 3, the management considers it has the highest class and most entertaining features that have ever been secured for the Calgary exhibition.

An attraction which will undoubtedly be the most popular for many years is the massed festival choir of 200 voices, composed of the five Calgary choirs which competed in the recent Alberta musical festival. The choral work at this festival was so good that one of the adjudicators, Dr. W. H. Hall, professor of choral singing at Columbia university, New York, said: "The choral work at this festival has reached the highest mark I have ever heard in choral work on this continent."

A forty-five minute concert will be given each evening by the massed choir, accompanied by a 30-piece orchestra, which will include solos and other special numbers in addition to the choral numbers.

Another feature which will delight all exhibition patrons, young and old, will be the fireworks. A remarkable display of aerial fireworks will be given and in addition a reproduction of the naval battle at Dover. This will be given each evening following the regular platform program, which in itself would

Brooklyn Nationals Make Flattering Bid for Vancouver Players

VANCOUVER, June 12.—A flattering offer for services of Jim Riley and Max Rachac, of the Vancouver Peavers, has been made to Manager Bob Brown by Squire Ebbets, manager of the Brooklyn Nationals. Riley is a Vancouver boy who distinguished himself in professional hockey on the Seattle Metropolitan team, and now is playing second base for the Peavers. Rachac has been pitching this season for Vancouver. Both are playing professional ball for the first time. The terms of the offer, which was telegraphed tonight have not been disclosed.

LECTURER CHARMS AND INSTRUCTS

Judge Alden Discourses Witely on Needs of the Hour at Chautauqua.

Stating that the ills of today, domestic, social, commercial, political, and religious, are largely attributable to a forgetfulness of the individual, Judge George D. Alden in his Chautauqua lecture, "The Needs of the Hour," on Saturday night said that the great need was of a return to the ideal and inspiration of the founders of the United States—the Bible.

Exceptionally witty and with quaint turns of speech, Judge Alden developed his theme from a brief consideration of what he termed four eras in the history of the United States, and he professed to see the glimmering of dawn of a new era in which the relationship of the individual to the movements of the mass will be more readily recognized and understood. The first era he stated, was that of the Pilgrim Fathers who laid the foundations of American manhood, and whose guide was the conscience and the Bible. The next was the age of revolt—the revolt of British colonists under the tyranny of a British king of German extraction. The days of civil strife was the third era, which was terminated when Queen Victoria, by refusing to aid the South, gave national unity to the United States. The era of reform—reform from the spiritual to the golden age in which graft and greed were preeminent was the fourth and present era, he avowed.

The average citizen of the United States fails to see the graft and greed in himself because it has been the spirit of the age, Judge Alden continued. He advanced the idea that the small business man who adulterates his goods, such as the milkman and the grocer, raised the structure on which the master-grafts raised their superstructure. "You cannot reform the nation until the state, the town, the individual has been reformed," he said.

With all the progress and advance of today, in which by the aid of electricity, the world has become a whispering gallery, 2000 years have not changed the teaching of Christ, which are the standards far the needs of the hour, Judge Alden declared. The man who has no respect for God has none for himself, he said, and respect for self, is the foundation for rebuilding the nation and the world.

There was a need of professing and performing men and women, he said, of women to study the progress and direction of world affairs and to influence men; of women to use the motherhood influence. And there was a need of a closer relationship between fathers and sons.

In the midst of a world almost insane, the bringing and holding together of the English speaking people of the world with their similar hopes, ideals, and inspirations, was the need of the hour to preserve civilization, he concluded.

LETHE COLEMAN GIVES HER VIEWS

Chautauqua Lecturer Profoundly Stirs Audience With Homing of the People

In an inspiring address delivered with the spontaneity of a friendly chat, Miss Lethe Coleman went straight to the hearts of her audience in the big Chautauqua tent on Saturday afternoon as she gave her views on many matters concerning the home in her lecture, "The Homing of the People."

Stirring her hearers, too, profoundly for applause, Miss Coleman in opening brought to mind a simple home, animated and vitalized by the sweet presence of the real home spirit, and the loyal devotion to duty and her children of a mother.

Everywhere, said Miss Coleman, women are eagerly working and participating in the activities of the world as never before. On the American continent 95 per cent of the girls were seeking business or professional life or otherwise pursuing the dream of spectacular success. It was human nature to want success, she stated, but gave it as her view that while keeping in touch with the world outside the home, woman should return to the walls of her home with the fruits of her contact with the world.

Does woman realize that motherhood is the ideal and most honored service she can perform for mankind, was her query. If woman falls in that service, all other success is as naught, for on and through women the nation builds its superstructure, she avowed.

The homing instinct has brought about that development which is greatest in society and state, continued Miss Coleman, and most of that which is of value in civilization has been brought about through the love of little children. The political, social and economic systems are at the present day tending toward the ruin of homes, she said, and instanced the state of affairs that had made it necessary for congress in the United States to introduce legislation to prevent landlords from refusing house room to mothers and children.

Western Canada is the last great homing place of the people, she continued. Canadian men and women are laying the foundations of a great nation. If it were not a great nation it would be because men and women of today lacked the vision of bigger and better things, she said. Canada has men enough and to spare who can make buildings, but she needs more of those who build homes that are made without hands, she declared. The women of Canada, too, were building monument to the nation in their children and breathing into them the breath of Canada. On those children depended the future of Canada. She urged on women participation in the world outside the home that mothers might be the inspirers of their children.

Too many were struggling eternally after the mountain peaks of a spectacular success, she said, and were rushing on without an eye for the flowers of life, or an ear for the songs of God. The great success is achieved when people have learned to live honestly, sincerely, and beautifully every day. Miss Coleman concluded with a clarion call to women to join the great army of other women—warriors of the spirit—who were working and hoping for a richer and fuller life for themselves and their children.

FRUIT EXPERT IS SHOT BY CUPID

Mr. Middleton, Formerly Stationed at Nelson, Marries Armstrong Girl.

There was solemnized at Armstrong on Wednesday at high noon, says the Vernon News, a ceremony of great interest to the many Armstrong and Vernon friends of the contracting parties, when Margaret (Maud) C. Murray was united in marriage to Maurice S. Middleton. Both the interested parties have been residents of the valley since childhood, where they are most popular and number their friends by the hundred. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Murray, who are among the earliest residents of Armstrong, while the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Middleton of Midmar ranch, near Vernon, pioneer settlers of this district. Mr. Middleton was formerly assistant provincial horticulturist, but recently resigned his position to engage in farming on his own account. At 12 o'clock sharp, to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. A. E. Sage, the contracting parties took their stand on the verandah beneath beautiful floral decorations centered by a huge bell of spirea. The bride was attended by her two sisters, Miss Jean and Miss Verna, as bridesmaids, little Margaret Murray acting as flower girl. The groom was supported by Mr. William T. Hunter, while Rev. Mr. Stott "died the knot." During the signing of the register Mr. F. R. Meyer sang most sweetly "Promise Me," and later little Miss Richards gave two of her characteristic dances.

The bride was becoming gowned in georgette over white satin and carried a bouquet of bridal lilies. Miss Jean and Miss Verna wore blue and mauve organdie, respectively, with hats to match. Miss Margaret was "sweet" in white net, while Mrs. Murray was gowned in black satin with corsage of violets. The groom's gift to the bride was a platinum and diamond necklace, to each of the bridesmaids silver vanity cases and to little Margaret a silver bracelet.

Immediately after the ceremony the guests, limited to members of the family and closest friends, partook of a sumptuous luncheon served at tables on the lawn. During the afternoon the happy couple left on a tour by motor to Spokane.

URGES ALL VETERANS TO FORM CANADIAN LEGION

TORONTO, June 12.—At a late meeting of the representatives of the Grand Army of United Veterans, Great War Veterans association, Naval Veterans and Army and Navy Veterans in Queens Park Saturday afternoon, a resolution was passed urging the veterans of Canada fall into line with the veterans of Great Britain and form a Canadian legion of all ex-service men.

It was agreed that Lord Byng, next governor-general of Canada, should be invited to accept the position of grand president of a legion as soon as it is formed. It was also agreed that a resolution be passed urging the fact that many ex-service men in the Dominion are unemployed and calling for the immediate fulfillment of pledge given the soldier during the war and earnestly urging that in order to avert a calamity "all good citizens give their close attention to the solution of the problems raised, leading to the full and most permanent reestablishment of all ex-service men and women."

THE KOOTENAY'S HEROIC DEAD

Here are the names of some of the Kootenay boys who failed to come back from the great adventure. The names of all are wanted.

Since the last publication of this list, on May 27, 100 names have been added, as well as numerous corrections made. The name that traveled the farthest was that of William Lynch, of Silverton, who lies at Beacourt, France, where he was laid after the battle of Arras, Mrs. E. Patriquin, of Arvada, Colo., forwarding it.

Additions, corrections and amplifications should be sent to R. G. Joy, Nelson. The list is being compiled for checking against the list in the possession of the militia department, to supply possible omissions. A complete list of the Kootenay's heroic dead is desired, no matter what allied force had their service.

MASTERPIECE OF MODERN COMEDY

Coffer-Miller Players Appear at Chautauqua in "The Rivals" Tonight.

After witnessing Saturday's entertainment portion of the Chautauqua the critical audience agreed that the Tennessee Duo had properly been named "Southland's Sunshine Sisters". All their offerings ranging from serious to character and humorous numbers proved little masterpieces of cleverness.

Miss Katherine Beane is the possessor of a sweet clear contralto voice and her numbers were breezy and dainty while Miss Helen, her sister, is a lyric soprano with full rich qualities. The combination of the two voices in the various duet items proved a real treat to the large audience.

Tonight will doubtless prove the banner night of the Chautauqua engagement when the Coffer-Miller players will present Sheridan's famous masterpiece "The Rivals" a comedy in three acts. The well known dueling scene in this piece is one of the leading comedy offerings of the modern stage.

Malone and McGowan were the brightest spot of the olio, though Arthur White ran them a close second. Herbert's comedy tour, a male quartette, were also responsible for a turn of clever harmony.

The sketch, "King of the Sandwich Isle," was the weak spot of the whole bill, though it proved a good MAYOR C. F. M'HARDY is now vice-president of the Union of Canadian Municipalities.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., June 12.—A newly built house owned by George Pyche was demolished, burying Mrs. Thomas Smith, who was sheltering there, and breaking her shoulder, when a storm accompanied by wind of cyclonic velocity and some hail broke over the Cloverdale district, about 18 miles north of this city, Saturday evening.

Fallen trees over a half mile wide track going northeast marked the destruction done to forests.

Mayor C. F. McHardy has been appointed vice-president of the Union of Canadian Municipalities, according to notification he has received from A. D. Shibley of Montreal, the secretary-treasurer.

In his letter Mr. Shibley states that the union desires to have a paper or address from Mayor McHardy at the annual convention of the union, which will be held in Ottawa July 27, 28 and 29.

LIQUOR PERMITS REACH NELSON

A stock of permits for the purchase of liquor has been received by John Cartmel, government agent, for issuance to the public in accordance with the regulations.

The only inquiry for permits in the last day or two has been for the only variety that the commission has not seen fit to include in its first consignment, the individual permit for a single limited purchase, price 50 cents. Mr. Cartmel has written the commission drawing attention to this omission.

An Outstanding Tire Achievement

A New and Better Clincher All-Weather Tread Tire

Better even than the famous Goodyear All-Weather Tread Clincher which has been used as regular equipment on half the cars built in Canada using this type.

Finer in appearance—double cure process.

Greater air capacity.

Better able to withstand road-shocks and the battle of the miles.

A tougher tread.

Practically eliminates tread separation.

Practically eliminates mold pinching.

This new Goodyear Tire is not an experiment. For over two years the Goodyear Company has been building it in the United States. It has been used on hundreds of thousands of cars.

Reports from motorists, dealers and Goodyear branches give this tire a consistently good record.

"These Clinchers are proving our best tires."

"Mileage received from them is more than satisfactory to the user and complaints are few."

"There seems to be no doubt that they are superior."

Goodyear dealers have this new tire on sale now. It is a cost reducer. It puts motoring on a more economical basis. See it today.

Human Psychology Is Strange

An innocent citizen is murdered, leaving a widow and orphans. The murderer is caught and after a trial, at which he is defended by able counsel and protected by all the safeguards of the British law, he is found guilty and sentenced to death.

While the widow and children of the victim suffer unnoticed, petitions for the reprieve of the murderer are signed by the sentimental, while hysterical women send flowers and chickens to the death cell.

No wonder Mrs. Ben Johnson, the widow of the latest case of this sort, says pathetically, "I don't understand people any more." She is the widow of a Woodstock, Ont., man murdered by Garfield, the criminal who was recently convicted of the capital crime and who escaped from the death cell, but was recaptured.

Is it surprising that the victims who suffer most from the crime cannot understand this rather strange world? Floods of pity for the murderer; none for his victims!

"I don't understand people any more. Once I thought I did, but not any more. It seems as if only people who go wrong are to be sympathized with and petted and excused for what they do," says Mrs. Johnson. "Garfield, in jail for killing my poor husband, has flowers and chickens sent to him every day by the good people, too. No one ever sends me chickens. It's up to me to work to keep the home together, and look after my two little fatherless boys."

Mr. Wells' New Bible.

The English-speaking world has heard the voice of H. G. Wells crying out in the popular periodicals for a new Bible to match the new history. Much of the old Bible, most of the old Shakespeare, Mr. Wells would banish to his new apocrypha.

One answer to Mr. Wells comes from Harvard university. Harvard, henceforth, will require acquaintance with the English Bible and the plays of Shakespeare from all candidates for its bachelor's degree in the liberal arts. Harvard declares that these are "two works of literature without which an adequate appreciation of English letters is impossible."

The importance of such a declaration lies in the fact that it stands for the great old books intact. Mr. Wells, of course, would not forbid the world to read any part of the Bible or Shakespeare, but the preferred literature which he hopes to urge upon "the average man" would include only inspirational passages of a special Wellsian bias, culled from a thousand sources. Mr. Wells, a reformed novelist, would also banish the story element from literature.

How is Wells or anyone else to say what will inspire the av-

Efficient Housekeeping

BY Laura A. Kirkman

AN EASY GUEST LUNCHEON FOR THE MAIDLESS HOME.

The following guest luncheon is planned especially for the hostess who must cook the meal herself. It will be seen that it is one of those everything-on-the-table lunches so convenient to the waitress-less home. The luncheon rolls are the only warm food (one warm dish is necessary to digestion) and these may be placed upon the luncheon table just before the guests are seated. I have suggested canned jellyed consommé because in the warm weather the efficient, housewife conserves her strength as much as possible and there is no need in her bending over a hot stove to prepare home-made consommé when the canned variety will answer the purpose every bit as well.

Jellyed Canned Consommé
Diced Veal in Tomato Cases
Hot Lemon Roll
Pickled Olives
Canned Cornstarch

Jellyed Canned Consommé. Buy a good brand of canned consommé. Dilute it with cold water as directed on the can, but saving out a little of this cold water to soften the granulated gelatine in. Allow 1 tablespoon of the granulated gelatine for every pint of the diluted consommé. When the gelatine has become quite soft, in the small amount of water, add it to the consommé and heat until the gelatine is completely dissolved. Then turn the soup into a shallow tin pan which has been wet inside with cold water; cut into small cubes when stiff. Serve these cubes heaped in two-handled bouillon cups (each cup set on a small plate).

Diced Veal in Tomato Cases. Cut cold, cooked veal into small cubes and add to one-half cup of 1 chopped hard-boiled egg, ½ cup of finely minced lettuce, 4 chopped and minced radishes, ¼ of a small onion finely minced, and enough chopped tomato interior to moisten well. Stuff this amount into large ripe tomato (this makes 1 individual portion) and erage man? The average man has a thousand moods and a thousand tastes. In one mood he may crave the tragic poetry of Job and in another the refined cynicism of Ecclesiastes or the opulent imagery of the Song of Songs. In nearly all moods he delights in the great stories told in the old books.

The Harvard program presents intact and without emphasis on selected portions the two basic influences in English life and letters. It displays a sanity and judgment which we unfortunately can no longer look for in Mr. Wells.

What the Press Is Saying

Enforced Generosity. Dealing with the reduction of the duties on cigars and champagne, the "Daily Herald" accuses the Chancellor of the Exchequer of making concessions to the rich which he denies to the poor. Mr. J. H. Thomas also, we notice, raised the same point in the House of Commons recently. It was not, however, out of any sympathy with the hard lot of Dives that Mr. Chamberlain made this concession. The plain fact is that the increased taxes had defeated their own purpose. They went beyond the saturation point, and the actual yield to the Exchequer declined. Mr. Chamberlain points out that the yield on taxes on sparkling wines has only produced half, and those on cigars only a third, of the revenue he anticipated. On cigars he has made less with the larger tax than he did with smaller. The taxes, therefore, are reduced, not in order to relieve the taxpayer, but in order to persuade him to consume more of these unnecessary luxuries in order that the amounts he pays to the Exchequer in respect of them may again increase.—Manchester Guardian.

A New Style of Grand Tour. A new style of grand tour is coming to America to study mechanical engineering and agriculture. This is a reversal of educational form that seems to invite inquiry. It used to be that the finishing off process of a youth's education called for travel—the "grand tour" as it was known—in order that he might observe and profit by the social customs of foreign countries. Lord Chesterfield, like other Englishmen of his quality, sent his son to France to learn how to carry himself in the society of the truly polite. In those days, which seem far enough off now, princess and other ornaments of courts were chiefly valued as objects to pattern any distance to observe how a prince bowed and managed his gloves. Courts were the great universities of manners. It was there a man learned how to live.—Kansas City Star.

A Nation's Strength. Strength that is not organized is not strength in this age. It is in a real sense weakness, because it tempts the aggressive to attack and its possessor to an unwarranted confidence. Strength that is latent and unprepared pays for its tardiness in the lifeblood of patriots sacrificed in unnecessary wars and in the shambles of unskilled combat. The American people can afford to organize their strength because we are a people pre-occupied with the interests of peace and without temptation to aggressive wars. As we fall to organize it we dedicate our young men of the future to a sacrifice we have no right to ask of them. We sacrifice them to our unreadiness to defend what it is our duty to defend, to enforce what it is our duty to enforce. We sacrifice them to our failure to live up to our own ideal of "a nation so powerful in righteousness that none will provoke her wrath."—Chicago Tribune.

CONEY ISLAND ATTRACTS

chill on ice until serving-time. Before placing on table (one at the right of each guest's bouillon cup) garnish each stuffed tomato-cup with a sprig of parsley.

Lemon Cornstarch Moulds: Mix together ½ cup of cornstarch, 1 cup granulated sugar, ½ teaspoon salt and 1 cup of cold water; mix to a smooth paste, then turn it into a saucepan containing 2 cups of boiling water; stir constantly and cook for about twelve minutes; add 2 egg-yolks and then let steam for 25 minutes in a double boiler-top, stirring only now and then. At the end of this time remove from range, cool slightly, add 2 tablespoons of lemon juice, and fold in stiffly beaten white of 1 egg. Turn into small custard or glass moulds and let stiffen. When cold top with the following:

Mock Whipped Cream. Few women seem to realize that the stiffly-beaten white of an egg will poach just as well as an unbeaten egg. Whip one egg-white stiffly, sweeten it with 1 tablespoon of sugar, and drop this meringue by tablespoons into slowly boiling water in a frying pan. Drop only one tablespoonful at a time, dashing the boiling water over it slightly so that it will poach on top as well as underneath. The result will be a smooth white dab of froth resembling stiffly whipped cream. Place one of these little dabs on each individual cornstarch mould, and chill.

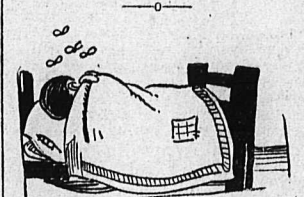

Tomorrow—Answered Letters

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, so if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

The Lighter Side

No doubt Korfantry has uneasy moments when he remembers what happened to the Russian generals France backed.

The jitney driver pocketed his fee and patted the sizzling hood affectionately. "The wages of tin," said he.

Early to bed and early to rise is the motto of all well-raised files.

Our theory is that the poet had been hearing patrons read the titles aloud when he wrote "A little learning is a dangerous thing."

Told in Rhyme

ERIN'S SHADOW
A woman worked a mountain farm,
Alone she milled and toiled;
Her hands were hard, her visage marred,
Her garments worn and soiled.

With aching back she planted seed,
She weeded and she hoed;
On market day she trudged away
Over the stony road.

She had no helper in her toil;
But three she had to mother—
An aged pair, her filial care,
And an ailing brother.

Her father was too old to work,
Too ill her brother Pat,
Groaning away the live long day,
Her aged mother sat.

But Erin's woe its shadow cast
O'er this secluded spot,
A whispered word was overheard,
That sealed this woman's lot.

There gathered on the farm one night,
Where few might be about,
A ruthless band of fierce men,
Who called the woman out.

Awakened from the peace of sleep
She rose and crossed the floor,
With trembling hands she drew the bolt,
And stepped outside the door.

Rough was the greeting she received,
And brief the time they spent;
They drove her to the public road,
Revealing as they went.

She pled for life, but not for self;
Her thought was for her kin—
Who'd till the farm and keep the house,
And care for those within!

She pled in vain, they only scoffed
And cursed her for a spy;
A creed of hate had sealed her fate,
The woman had to die.

Styles BY LENORE

For informal dress in the summer a separate skirt with two or three attractive blouses offers a splendid opportunity for keeping crisp and smart especially when an all-white costume is desired. The Good Book of Fashion allows unusual latitude this season in the matter of materials and style, the straight narrow skirt ranking equally with the pleated and circular models.

Canton crepe, Tally-Ho, and the familiar sport silks are most seen in the dresser skirts, and in woolsens the most popular materials are prunella, tricotine, serge, flannel, and imported novelties, with homespuns and tweeds for the more strenuous hours of a day in the country. Flannel, in bright colors as well as white, features largely, and is usually shown in pleated styles when the material is striped. A newer way of pleating a striped material, by the way, is to place the color on the outside instead of under the box pleats.

Knitted skirts, too, are becoming increasingly popular. A lovely sunshiny yellow with white stripes and fringes is worn by one of the fashion-wise persons in the sketch. The other favored a white Canton crepe with black border and stitching, with all sorts of distinction in the two little inset pockets.

PATTERN NO. 184

A pattern for the above models (No. 184) style No. 1 or 2 can be obtained in sizes 34, 36, 38, or 40 by sending to The Daily News your name, address, the number of this pattern and the size required and 25 cents in postage stamps. Be sure to keep this newspaper clipping of the sketch and description of the clipping of the garment to use as a working model when the pattern reaches you—which will be within two weeks' time.—THE EDITOR.

Ten Years Ago Today

From The Daily News, June 13, 1911.

J. Killey of Creel lodge telephoned that the trout were taking the fly at the big pool below Bonnington and that he caught 12 on Sunday.

NEW FOREST FIRE FINDER

An instrument recently invented which is expected to reduce the danger from forest fires to a minimum has just been installed in the lookout tower in California forest. By peering through a small hole in an erect piece of steel the observer in the tower can see a fire within a radius of 50 miles. The center circumference of the apparatus is covered with a map which gives a clean outline of the country surrounding the lookout tower. Fires are sighted with exact accuracy so that fire fighters may be dispatched to the spot at once.

safety of the friends or relatives who were with them.

In another part of the United States, remote from where the check referred to was made, the heedless crossing used during a similar observation was 67½ per cent of the whole number, which, according to the memory of the checkers, was 7000 persons, thus showing that human nature is the same everywhere.

But the "bummers" are erected across some highways at railway crossings, by means of which one gets a heavy jolt, which seems to be the only thing which will bring some people out of the state of mind under which they may be looking directly at some object and yet not see it. And then, of course, there is the

DOWN ON MOVIES, DANCING SMOKING

Methodist Laymen Censure Amusements at Saskatchewan Conference.

REGINA, June 12.—Presentation of reports from various sections of the church's work, a special session of the stationing committee and the laymen's banquet, were the main features of the Saturday session of the Saskatchewan Methodist conference.

Dr. Graham, general secretary of the educational work of Wesley college expressed the opinion that when union with the Presbyterian church should be an accomplished fact, the United States would strive to do its educational work in fewer and stronger colleges.

The lay members spent considerable time in discussing the ways and means by which the salaries of the Methodist ministers throughout the province may be increased. Resolutions on this matter were proposed and will be submitted to the general session on Monday.

The laymen also discussed the dancing question, brought up at the general session by Mr. Riddell, president of the Wesley College, Winnipeg, who said:

"Wesley College is unalterably opposed to dancing and smoking." Movies, dancing, cards and smoking all came in for a severe censuring from the majority of the laymen. They gave it as their opinion that the reason why it is so difficult to enlist volunteers for the ministry is because the religious life of the church is not as vital as it should be.

Behind in Forward Movement

Dr. Endicott, general superintendent of missions, presented figures from all the churches in the province on their response to the forward movement fund. He pointed out that while Saskatchewan had the highest standing in the Dominion as regards missionary giving, it has at present the lowest standing in the forward movement fund.

"We are utterly unable to supply the demand for women workers in the church," declared Rev. Hiram Hull, in giving his report on the deaconesses work. Women are needed, he said, as deaconesses, missionaries, at home and abroad and as social service workers. He urged that the pastors of the Methodist churches should encourage the young women of the congregations to fit themselves for these branches of work.

ORILLIA, Ont., June 12.—Attorney General Raney was commended in a resolution passed by the Methodist conference here Saturday, for his work in connection with the enforcement of the Temperance act, for his recent pronouncement on the matter of race track gambling and his efforts to make vice less popular in Canada.

The resolution also expressed approval of the Drury government.

STUNT AIRMAN DIES IN CRASH

Plane Nose Dives at Calgary Before Crowd of Spectators.

CALGARY, June 12.—Alf Mabec, an air stunt, was killed, and A. Fleming, pilot, was probably fatally injured when Fleming's machine crashed from a height of 100 feet while flying this afternoon at Bowness Park. The accident happened in the presence of hundreds of spectators.

CALGARY, June 12.—Alf Mabec, dare-devil air "stunter," was almost instantly killed and Jack Fleming, pilot, was so badly injured that he is not expected to live, when the Curtiss plane guided by Fleming went into a sharp nose dive 100 feet from the ground when he was attempting a landing at Bowness Park this afternoon.

The tragedy happened within sight of hundreds of people who were waiting for street cars at the park entrance. Fleming had taken Mabec up to do some stunts for the entertainment of some of the members of the Scottish football team. After climbing round the wings for a time while the machine was in flight, he climbed back to his place in the front seat of the machine and Fleming started to descend. He attempted to bank for a turn to plane down to a landing, when just above and in front of the park entrance the machine dived suddenly downward and buried its nose in the ground. Mabec, in the front seat, was terribly crushed by the impact of the engine. His legs were both cut clean off and his head badly crushed in. He was alive when picked out from under the engine, but died as he was being lifted into a nearby car. Fleming, in the back seat, was badly crushed, and picked up unconscious and rushed the seven miles into the hospital, where his life is despaired of.

Mabec was 22 years of age, and was born in Calgary. Fleming was an air officer in the war and his parents reside on a farm at Crossfield, just north of here. It is likely an inquest will be held. This is the first fatal airplane accident to have occurred here.

"Do you employ an efficiency expert in this plant?" "We certainly do. He's a big, red-headed, two-fisted foreman. If he catches anybody loafing on the job there's trouble right away."

Father (after a long search)—"Well here it is. I wonder why one always finds a thing in the last place where one hunts?" Boy—"I 'spect it's 'cause when folks finds it they stop hunting."

STOCKS CRUMBLE
UNDER PRESSURE

Establish New Low Records;
Mexican Oils Show Special Weakness.

NEW YORK, June 11.—Values crumbled in today's stock market under pressure of liquidation, combined with the more confident activities of professional traders. More new low records were established.

The same shares on which bears have centered their attention for the last three weeks—oils, steels, equipments and food specialties—again featured the bulk of the brief session's offerings. Especial weakness was shown by Mexican and Pan American petroleum stocks, General Asphalt, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Crucible Steel, American and Baldwin locomotives, International Harvester, Pressed Steel car, General Electric, American Sugar, International Paper and Sumatra Tobacco.

Motors and their accessories, shipplings, miscellaneous stocks and some rails, participated in the further reversals. Final quotations among standard issues were irregularly above lowest levels, but heaviness prevailed at the close. Sales amounted to 400,000 shares.

Weekly reviews by mercantile authorities mentioned slow collections and many conflicting conditions in general business. Further slashing of prices was announced by motor manufacturers and large oil producers.

All classes of bonds, including Liberty issues and foreign war flotations, were irregular or heavy. Total sales, par value, $5,250,000. The clearing house report showed a decrease in actual loans and discounts of slightly more than $61,000,000, an increase of almost $25,000,000 in reserves at the federal bank, and a gain of about $23,000,000 in cash increasing excess reserves to about $48,300,000 the year's greatest total.

MONTREAL LIST

MONTREAL, June 12.—Saturday's trading was featured by the heavy selling pressure on Dominion Steel Corporation stock which closed at a new low for a long time back of 27 1/2, a slight firming from 27. The loss was 3 1/2 points.

Other large losses incurred in a weak market included one of 6 1/2 points for Howard Smith preferred at 7 1/2.

Other large losses went to Converters off 3 points to 62; Canners off 3 to 21 and Bridge down 2 to 70.

In the banking group, Merchants was up 5 points to 175 and Montreal down a point to 205.

Bonds were inclined weaker than usual, most of the war loans being lower. In the general list, Dominion Iron fires were down 1 1/2 to 77 1/2. Total sales: listed 4949 bonds $130,550.

A REASONING DOG AND A LOAD OF POTATOES

One day last season, when a Vermont train was being held on a siding, the passengers were entertained by a bit of initiative on the part of a dog. Not far from the railway track, on a steep path, this animal was seen to put down a basket of potatoes which he was carrying, and then to come calculating as to expediency. Evidently he had been sent to the potato patch for a supply for the coming meal, and whoever had filled his basket had given him too much of a load.

He had managed so far, but now, looking up at the house some distance away, it was plain that he knew he must adopt some other plan. Putting the basket down he deliberately removed the potatoes one by one, dropping them at the side of the basket. Then lifting it in his mouth he took a step or two, stopped and repeated the same act with four or five more potatoes, and finally satisfied, trotted up the steep grade. Just as the train was starting it was noticed that the dog had returned and was placing the remaining potatoes into his carrier, and it was with a frisky little bound that he dashed off the second time. FURNITURE INDUSTRY
DEMANDS NEW STYLES

PARIS, June 12.—(Associated Press)—A new style in furniture was demanded by representatives of the French furniture industry at the furniture congress recently held here.

Architects are blamed by the president of the Furniture Makers' association for the continued production of false Louis XV, Louis XIV and other styles of antiques. They design interiors to go with such furniture and naturally the manufacturers have to meet the demand, he says.

The president proposed that the teachers in the fine arts school should begin the campaign for a modern original style by inspiring original ideas under the general direction of a committee composed of artists, architects and furniture makers.

He hopes this method will produce an entirely new style that will mark this epoch as did the styles of the two Louis, of the Empire and the

TAKE TWO WIVES,
TURKS ARE URGED

Turkey is no country for a bachelor. The Nationalist Parliament at Angora has made a law requiring all Turks above the age of twenty-five years to marry immediately under pain of having a quarter of their incomes taken away and put in a fund for girls who find it difficult to procure a husband. Moreover, the men are encouraged to marry two women if possible.

Government officials are summarily ordered to get wedded or lose their jobs.

HE REJOICES OVER HIS GOOD FORTUNE

Cole Says He Was Almost a Nervous Wreck When He Began Taking Tanlac.

"It's certainly enough to make a man rejoice to get the wonderful relief a few bottles of Tanlac has brought me," said Gordon R. Cole, of 45 Main street, Winnipeg, Man., a salaried employee of the Grand Trunk railway.

"Besides relieving me of troubles which stayed with me for three years and finally broke me down completely, Tanlac has built me up ten pounds in weight and life is now a pleasure once more. My troubles began with splitting headaches. I soon got to where I couldn't eat anything to speak of and I went down in weight and strength until I became almost a nervous wreck. For three weeks I was flat on my back in bed, and when I got up I was so weak and nervous I trembled all over. I could scarcely sleep any and always felt so tired and worn out life was a burden.

"Well, it just seemed that I would never be well again. Finally I read a Tanlac testimonial from a Winnipeg man that described my case so well I decided to try the medicine and see if it would help me. The very first bottle helped me, so I got another and then another and kept taking it until now I feel just fine. I have a splendid appetite, never have a headache and my nerves are perfectly normal so that I sleep like a log every night. I think so much of Tanlac I never get tired of praising it."

CALGARY PUTS UP GOOD FIGHT

Have Lead Over Redoubtable Scots at Half Time; Visitors Turn Tables.

CALGARY, June 12.—One of the hardest games of the tour to date—this was the consensus of opinion voiced by the touring Scottish professional footballers at the conclusion of Saturday's match at Hillhurst park against the hand picked Calgary eleven. Despite the fact that the locals went down to a 5 to 1 defeat, they forced the visitors to display their prowess both as defensive and offensive organization and accomplished what all their predecessors had failed to do, by turning round at half time with a lead over their strong opponents.

Wind and sun were all-important factors in the contest as far as territorial play was concerned, and all six corners were registered with the aid of the elements. Calgary subjected the Scottish defense to a stinging of unremitting pressure in the first half, bringing out the sterling qualities of the veteran Jimmy Brownlie and his immediate protectors, Willie Bullock and Bob Orr. Lack of finish on the part of the local forwards combined with the brilliant blocking of the road to the Scottish goal, prevented the Calgarians from acquiring a greater margin on the first half exchanges. As it was they were fully entitled to the one goal to nil record. Cowe scored the goal, Brownlie having no chance.

Play is Eye-Opener

The second half opened with a regular maelstrom, so far as the locals were concerned, for within six minutes their lead of 1 goal had been wiped out and substituted by 3 to 1 in favor of the tourists. Andy Wilson was responsible for two and Rankin one. McAdrew and Wilson scored the last two.

Over 5000 people attended the game and despite the adverse weather conditions the brand of soccer dished up by the teams, particularly the visitors, was a real eye opener. They seemed to be able to do almost anything they wanted with the ball.

COAST LACROSSE

VANCOUVER, June 11.—The Vancouver lacrosse team won from Victoria Saturday by a score of 5 to 4. Victoria led until the last three minutes of play when the home team staged a desperate rally and scored three goals in rapid succession. It was the best match that the new Pacific Coast league has yet provided.

New Westminster in Form

NEW WESTMINSTER, June 11.—Displaying a wonderful improvement in form, New Westminster severely trounced the Vancouver Terminal lacrosse players by a score of 11 to 4 Saturday afternoon. Vancouver was checked close, neither Lalonde Crockall nor Walsh being allowed to get into the spotlight to any extent.

WINS ON ACCIDENTAL FOUL

NEW YORK, June 12.—Kid Williams of Baltimore, former bantam-weight champion, won on a foul from Frankie Edwards of New York in the 9th round of a 12-round bout. The former title holder had out-fought his opponent who accidentally sent in a low blow during fast fighting. Williams weighed 126 pounds and Edwards 123 1/2.

PHYSICIAN MEETS DEATH ON ROUNDS

Dr. Wallace Is Instantly Killed When Car Turns Over; Shock to Community.

While hastening in his car to relieve suffering, Dr. A. H. Wallace himself almost in need of a doctor's care from overwork, through some unexplained mishap, turned off the Granite road at a point about a mile from Nelson, about 5:20 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and was pinned beneath his overturned car, his neck being broken. No one witnessed the accident, which, however, has been reconstructed from the tracks made by the car along the side of the road.

A man on foot was apparently the first person on the scene and he stopped an auto from Beasley, containing Carl Mohr, of the Monarch mine, and Superintendent Wilbey, of the city power plant at Bonington. In the belief that Dr. Wallace might still be alive, they chopped down a tree against which the overturned auto rested, turning it over, and extricating the body, which, face upward, had been pinned by one of the doors. Meantime a telephone message reached Dr. D. H. Martin, and he hastened to the scene, ignorant of the identity of the victim until his arrival. The shocking news was communicated to Dr. L. E. Borden, partner of the young physician, and Dr. D. Barnes drove him out. Dr. Gilbert Hartin arrived in his car from the opposite direction a few minutes later. Dr. Wallace, however, was beyond human aid.

Mystery Surrounds Tragedy
The accident happened just this side of the bridge beyond Thomas Parker's residence. At this point, after pursuing a winding course from Nelson, the road straightens out and a fork occurs, a road branching off to the slaughterhouse on the river bank. At the fork the heavy car took a course that followed the Granite road but left the wheels of the right side off the road, and undeviatingly followed this course for a hundred feet or so, surmounting two large stones in that distance. The road then curving to the left before the approach to the bridge, the car got completely off the road and turned over.

Mystery shrouds the human factor in this tragedy. For the last 10 days, Dr. Wallace has been exhibiting symptoms of extreme fatigue, but had insisted on working at high pressure in spite of Dr. Borden's urgings to let up. He was persuaded to go home Friday for a few hours rest, and also rested Saturday morning. He plunged into the work as usual Saturday afternoon, and his last labors were in connection with straightening out the papers of two returned men, being in conference in his office with A. H. Prentice, of Vancouver, of the soldier settlement board for two hours previous to setting out on the fatal journey.

One of the many conjectures is that at the point where he began to go off the road, he dozed momentarily. Another is that he temporarily became unconscious, but that his grip on the wheel kept the car straight in spite of the pressure on the wheel from being on a sidehill. Another theory offered is that, with the sun in his eyes, and being greatly fatigued, he yielded to the impulse motorists sometimes have to make straight for the objective, in this case the bridge. At any stage of the hundred feet, it is said the car could easily have been turned into the track again. The car was apparently making only a moderate speed, else, motorists point out, its momentum would almost certainly have taken it into the creek, whereas it turned to the right and was arrested.

The general opinion of those who have inspected the site of the tragedy is that an unconscious man was at the wheel.

Won Military Cross

Albert Henderson Wallace was born at Brandon, Man., being the oldest living son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wallace, and he would have been 35 years of age in August. Coming to Nelson with his parents, he was one of the first boys to go to school in Nelson, and he was a member of the first class graduated from the Nelson High school. After leaving school, he studied medicine at Toronto university and at Manitoba university, taking his degree from the latter in 1908. He was house surgeon of Jubilee hospital in Victoria for 18 months, and then went into the north country, where he was practicing up to the time he went overseas in 1913, in the Canadian Army Medical Corps. He was on the strength of the 13th Canadian Field ambulance during his service overseas, but was attached to various fighting units, at different times, and won the Military Cross before being wounded at Amiens.

On returning to British Columbia, Capt. Wallace for a month or so was engaged in board work in Vancouver for the department of soldiers' civil reestablishment, but in May, 1919, returned to Nelson, Dr. Borden taking him into partnership. In the interval since, his ability, industry, and popularity have been factors in the working up of a large practice.

Had Many Activities

In boyhood, Dr. Wallace was an ardent lacrosse player in Nelson, and in Toronto he played on the Varsity hockey team. Latterly he was a keen curler. He was secretary-treasurer of the Kootenay Mountaineering club, and a director of the Y. M. C. A. He was a Mason, an Odd Fellow and a member of the Canadian Order of Scottish Clans, and of the G. W. V. A.

He is survived by his wife, whom he met as a nurse at the Jubilee hospital, and three little girls; and his parents who have been continuously residents of Nelson.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, from the Methodist church, and will be Masonic in character. It is understood the Veterans will also officially participate.

CENSURES JURY FOR ACQUITTAL

OTTAWA, June 12.—Ernest A. Robinson, erstwhile unit director of the department of soldiers' civil reestablishment, and A. E. Hill, ex-police officers, were both acquitted of the charges of obtaining money from the department of militia and defense with intent to defraud, in the court on Saturday. The crown had claimed that the two accused had, at the militia department, converted English money which was not soldiers' allowance pay, or pensions, into Canadian money at par. An order-in-council provides that pay and allowances, pensions, etc., coming to men in this country from the old country in English money should be converted into Canadian funds at par, the government shouldering the losses due to differences in exchange.

Withdraw Further Charges
In view of the fact that the day previous Hill had been found not guilty by the jury on a similar charge and on Thursday Robinson had been found not guilty of uttering a forged check, Judge Gunn and Crown Attorney Ritchie agreed that it was useless to press the further charges and accordingly, with the consent of the jurors, the judge entered the verdict of not guilty.

This clears up the charges against Robinson and Hill.

In discharging Robinson, Judge Gunn sharply criticized the jury which found Robinson not guilty of forgery. The judge said, in part: "Robinson, you are too intelligent a man to believe that verdict. The jury who found you not guilty of the first charge deal an assassin's blow, a cowardly blow, when they abandoned their oaths and forgot their responsibilities on an appeal to their sentimental feelings, by your reason of the decorations that you won honorably and the war record which you had obtained overseas."

In discharging Hill the judge said he obtained from the militia department, "either by reason of some one else or by the exercise of your own ingenuity," a large sum of money and urged him to make an effort to pay back as far as it was in his power.
