ST. LAWRENCE RIVER VESSEL GOES ASHORE

Rudder Chain Breaks in Long Sault Rapids; Captain Beaches Ship.

PASSENGERS SPEND AN ANXIOUS NIGHT

Work of Rescue Difficult; Many Tourists Aboard; No Lives Lost.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., July 17.—Passengers were being landed slowly today and tonight from the steamer Rapid King, of the Canada Steamship line, which was disabled in Long Sault rapids in the St. Lawrence yesterday. Because of the dangerous current the passengers were being taken off in a small boat attached to a strong cable at the rate of only 20 an hour. It is not expected early tonight that the work of rescue would be completed until after midnight as the steamer had 330 passengers and a large crew. No lives have been lost.

Steer for Shore With Tiller.

The accident occurred yesterday when the Rapid King, bound from Prescott, Ont., broke her rudder chain. With much difficulty the crew by means of tiller, managed to beach the vessel near Barnhardt's island. When the rudder chain broke, the steamer had just passed through what is known as the cellar of the rapids. The current was so strong (it was estimated at 16 miles an hour), that the big boat was turned completely around and a hole torn in a forward compartment before she beached. The steamer listed slightly to starboard.

Captain Batten, of the Rapid King, one of the oldest pilots on the river, had a small boat launched and with two sailors as companions, personally undertook to make a landing and send for relief. Persons aboard the steamer shrieked as the tiny craft was tossed about by the eddies, but finally a safe landing was made on the Canadian shore.

The wreck was at a point sparsely inhabited and it was not until early in the evening that the news of the accident reached here.

Passengers Panic Stricken

Passengers, the majority of whom were tourists, including several newly married couples, were thrown into a panic when the accident occurred. Captain Batten and members of the crew, assisted by two sisters of charity who were passengers were prompt to quiet them and reassure them.

Passengers spent an anxious night and few even attempted to secure any sleep. At a late hour several large searchlights were arranged on shore and played upon the stranded vessel. The same lights were used tonight in assisting the work of disembarking the passengers.

Stretch Cable to Shore

As soon as word reached here that the steamer was in distress, farmers for miles around hurried to the scene and attempted to reach the vessel by small boats but their efforts were unsuccessful. Late last night a line was thrown from Barnhardt's island aboard the steamer and a heavy cable stretched from the ship to the shore.

Work of rescue began at 8 o'clock this morning, a life boat capable of holding seven passengers, the captain and two members of the crew was attached to the cable. The boat then was hauled ashore by 20 men and, then back by a windlass aboard the steamer. Not more than three trips were made and for a long time Captain Batten insisted on making every trip. At the point of the island where the landing was made, the shore line is so precipitous that it was necessary to cut steps in the bank and erect a temporary landing.

As soon as passengers were landed on the island, which is about 6 miles long, three wide, and is uninhabited, they were taken by automobile to the lower end and ferried across to Cornwall, Ont., where some boarded the

ACQUIT PRISONER ON SECOND TRIAL

Verdict Not Guilty of Murdering Wife and Five Children.

MONCTON, July 17.—After deliberating one hour and eight minutes the jury on Saturday afternoon in the second trial of O. Gaus Steeves at Hopewell Cape, charged with the murder of his wife and five children, returned a verdict of not guilty.

Mrs. Steeves and five of her children were burned to death in their home on the morning of February 15 last. Steeves stated that the fire occurred while he was at the barn feeding his horse and that when he discovered the blaze it was too far advanced to save his wife and children. Owing to the peculiar circumstances surrounding the fire and the stories told by Steeves, as well as reports as to what occurred in the Steeves home before the fire, the crown had Steeves arrested on the charge of murdering his wife. At the first trial the jury disagreed.

GUESTS OF CANADA INSPECT INLAND WATERWAYS.

WATERWAYS PLAN MAKES FOR UNITY

QUEBEC, July 15.—That it would take some little time before the suggested water facilities between the United States and Canada could materialize was the opinion of George M. Bosworth, chairman of the Canadian Pacific ocean service, in extending a welcome at Quebec this afternoon to the members of the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Tidewater association, who reached here this morning after a six-day trip down Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence. The trip reached its climax at Quebec.

Propose to Extend and Deepen.

The purpose of the association is to further the proposed deepening of the St. Lawrence river as to afford access to ocean going liners to the great lakes and at Quebec contact was really made with deep sea navigation. Congressmen and prominent business men of the United States inspected the beautiful C. P. O. S. liner Empress of France, which arrived here yesterday. Mr. Bosworth said that the party had seen enough during their trip to impress them with the necessity for further water communication between the St. Lawrence and the United States. Should these suggested facilities materialize it would certainly work a great change in the relations of the two countries, not only in the matter of transportation, but also in electrical development, which in these days of the high prices of coal was of great importance as a supplementary source of power. He hoped that the delegation would make their next trip a longer one across the ocean, when they would find that the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services was the best route.

Senator Ransdell of Louisiana, after remarking incidentally that he personally had a great interest in the development of Canada because he was a lineal descendant of the Acadians, who after being dispossessed of their lands in Nova Scotia in 1775 had settled in Louisiana, expressed the thanks of the entire delegation for the courtesies that had been extended to them by the C. P. R. and the Canadian government during their journey.

He trusted that this was the beginning of a much closer relationship between Canada and the United States. As a citizen of the United States even of far off Louisiana, away down south in Dixie, he said that not one of the American members of the party had failed to be inspired by the magnitude of the Welland canal, and by the fact that Canada had undertaken it singlehanded and carried it through. The first estimated cost had been $50,000,000, but actual cost was between $80,000,000 and $90,000,000. Canada had not been staggered by the enormous cost, but he thought that the least their big brother in the south could do was to pay its share of the balance. It had been said that facilities made commerce rather than commerce made facilities. If that were so, this effort to bring ocean going ships into the great lakes would provide one of the greatest facilities the world had ever seen. He foresaw perhaps greater advantages to Canada than to the United States because Canada afforded the greatest opportunities, and he trusted that the scheme would not linger on for ages as a dream, as the Panama canal had, but would come about within the next ten years. After luncheon on the Empress of France an inspection of the ship was made, conducted by Captain Cook and C. E. Benjamin passenger traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services. The delegates were very much interested in the war record of the ship, as chronicled on a tablet in the lounge and which showed that during the war it was flagship of the patrol between the Shetlands and Iceland and had interrupted 15,000 ships, escorted convoys and had steamed nearly 267,000 knots. Moving pictures were taken on the boat deck of the entire party. During the afternoon the party were the guests of the governor general and of the lieutenant governor, Sir Charles Fitzpatrick.

The Dominion of Canada was represented by the Hon. C. J. Doherty, minister of justice, who joined the party at Montreal; Mayor Samson, City Clerk Chouinard and Chief of Police Trudel of Quebec joined the party this morning, when a visit was paid to the government dry dock and the Davis Shipbuilding yards.

Those who reached Quebec this morning included Henry J. Allen, governor of Kansas; James Hartness, governor of Vermont; W. H. McMaster, governor of South Dakota; J. A. O. Preus, governor of Minnesota; E. J. Sansoucin, ex-governor of Iowa; D. N. Lewis, representing Governor Kendall of Iowa; Hon. C. J. Doherty, minister of justice; Senator Casgrain; G. M. Bosworth, chairman Canadian Pacific Ocean Services; Senator I. L. Lenroot of Wisconsin; Senator W. B. McKinley of Illinois; Seenator J. E. Ransdell of Louisiana; Senator C. E. Townsend of Michigan; Congressman Vincent M. Brennan of Michigan; Congressman W. W. Chalmers of Ohio; Congressman A. W. Jefferies of Nebraska; Congressman S. H. Kunz of Illinois; Congressman C. J. Largon, Minnesota; Congressman W. Williamson, South Dakota; Congressman G. M. Young, North Dakota; Congressman C. J. Thompson, Ohio; Hon. F. A. Johnston, speaker of New Hampshire house; Gerritt Fort, vice president Boston & Maine railway; Perry R. Todd, president Bangor & Aroostock railway; A. A. Adams, president Springfield (Mass.) chamber of commerce; W. H. Leep, president New Haven chamber of commerce; S. H. Bullard, president Connecticut state chamber of commerce; H. A. Carter, president Massachusetts state chamber of commerce; H. C. Gardner, president Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Tidewater association; C. A. Andrews, president Boston Associated Industries; W. W. Atwood, president Clark university, Worcester, Mass.; W. P. Bradley, city commissioner Detroit; F. H. Keefer, M. P.; Evan Fraser, M. P., and about 120 other leading bankers, business men and transportation men from the United States.

Moscow Report Declares Ukraine Anti - Bolshevik Army Hopelessly Beaten

LONDON, July 17.—According to a Moscow report received in Riga, says a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph, the army of General Mackno, the anti-Bolshevik leader in the Ukraine, has been hopelessly beaten. The dispatch adds that a number of the leaders in the Mackno movement surrendered.

BATTLEFIELD MEMORIALS PROGRESSING

Sites in France and Belgium Secured in Perpetuity for Canada.

OTTAWA, July 17.—(Canadian Press)—Brig. Gen. H. T. Hughes, C.M.G., chief engineer in charge of Canadian battlefield memorials in France and Flanders, is in Ottawa en route to his home in Victoria, B.C. He will attend on September 5, in Ottawa, the conference, at which France and England will be represented, to decide upon the designs for the eight permanent memorials which are to be erected along the old line of battle.

Seen today, General Hughes said that the preparatory work for the memorials is far advanced. The sites, which are at Vimy, Hill 145, Villers-Cagnicourt, Bourlon Wood, Courselette (100 yards from the much remembered sugar factory), Hospital Wood, St. Quesnel, in France, and St. Julien, Passchandaelle and Sanctuary Wood, Hill 62, in Belgium, have all been secured in perpetuity for Canada. The road approaches have been laid out, shell holes filled in and three nurseries, at Hooge, Poperinghe and Couceleltte, have 18,000 trees, which will be ready for transplanting next year.

The sites vary from two to six acres in extent, and each is to be made a well-treed sanctuary. Each, too, will be on the spot made historic by the most heroic struggles of the Canadian army.

Debris Only Reminder

General Hughes says that for the most part along the old front line, the only reminder of the dark days is now a series of huge piles of barbed wire and debris, which may not be removed for many a year. The battle grounds have been levelled and the crops upon them offer excellent promise. As a matter of fact, said General Hughes, Belgium, often spoken of as the cockpit of Europe, was never more prosperious.

Ypres, a complete ruin when the armistice was declared, now has some 400 new stone and brick homes. The historic Cloth Hall has been completely demolished and construction is already progressing to rebuild so far as possible on the original lines.

CHARACTERIZES PRESS REPORTS AS MOONSHINE

De Valera Camp Denies Triangular Conference Fixed for Today.

ONLY DEMAND IS FOR SELF-DETERMINATION

Issues Statement to Counteract Views and London Comments on Compromise.

LONDON, July 17.—Newspaper reports of a triangular conference between Lloyd George, Sir James Craig and Eamonn De Valera, to be instituted probably tomorrow, were characterized today by the spokesman for the De Valera party as "all moonshine." He added that such reports might be completely disregarded. Asked whether this statement meant that the time was not ripe for such three party discussions, the spokesman said:

"I don't wish to say that, it would imply that the time might become ripe, and we do not know that it will. We do not know what Sir James Craig is doing or what he may do. The British government is dealing with him."

Attend Services.

The Catholic members of the delegation, including Mr. De Valera, attended mass today at Southwark cathedral, where there was a large congregation. The Protestant party, including Erskine Childers, Mr. Robinson and Robert Barton, attended morning services, and Robert Barton also attended evening service as St Pauls. The entire party went to Nazareth house, where Archbishop Mannix of Australia stayed during his visit to England. After luncheon they motored into the country.

"We are expecting word from Downing street announcing the time for tomorrow's meeting between De Valera and Lloyd George," said one member of the De Valera party. "What will happen afterwards is entirely problematical."

De Valera Denies Compromise.

Mr. De Valera this evening made the following statement:

"The press gives the impression that I have been making certain compromise demands. I have made no demand, but the only one I am entitled to make—that the self-determination of the Irish nation shall be recognized."

The issuance of this statement is believed to have been directly due to reports in Paris and London claiming authority for the statement that Mr. De Valera was shelving the independent republic claim on the understanding that he would be offered what was termed "a practical equivalent."

Exactly what equivalent was meant was not explained.

Resume Conference Today.

LONDON July 17.—The discussions between Premier Lloyd George and Eamonn De Valera with the object of finding a basis for a general conference on the Irish situation, will be resumed tomorrow. It is probable also that Sir James Craig, Ulster premier, will confer with the prime minister. Whether Mr. Lloyd George, Mr. De Valera and the Ulster premier will meet together for a general exchange of views is not known. A spokesman for the Sinn Fein has

ALLEGES DEFAULT ON ROADS POLICY

Sauve Attacks Quebec Govevrnment in Arrears With Municipalities.

MONTREAL, July 17.—Speaking at Berthierville this afternoon, Arthur Sauve, leader of the Quebec opposition, reiterated his statement that the provincial administration had failed to observed provisions of its own Good Roads act by failing to pay the municipalities the provincial share in support of the cost of road construction, and defied Hon. L. A. Taschereau, premier of the province, to prove that his government was in good standing in this respect with the municipalities

One such case was that of St. Hermais, said Mr. Sauve, in which place he was the other day when the secretary-treasurer of the municipality received payment of $36,000 in interest coupons on provincial debentures in payment of provincial obligations for road building which had been outstanding for a year.

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask., July 17.—Reginald Large, a teamster for the federal experimental farm, met with a fatal accident at the east end of the city today. He was teaming a load of building material when the lumber shifted and frightened the horses. Large was thrown to the ground and the truck wheels passed over his body, inflicting injuries from which he succumbed a couple of hours later. Large was married less than a month ago.

FARMERS AND LIBERALS DON GLOVES TODAY

Expect Keen Contest in Alberta Election; Possible Neither Will Win.

CALGARY, July 17.—(By Canadian Press)—With the nominations completed it remains now only for Alberta tomorrow to render its decision and to choose out of 158 candidates the 61 who will comprise the fifth legislature of this province. The list of starters includes Liberals, Conservatives, United Farmers of Alberta, Labor men and Independents, but since only the Liberals and Farmers have sufficient candidates to make possible a majority for them in the legislature, there are three possible results of tomorrow's polling:

Three Possibilities

The Stewart administration may be returned.

The Farmers may elect a majority of the house. Several groups may be returned, no one of them having a majority over a combination of the other groups, thus duplicating the situation which exists in Manitoba.

Experienced politicians refuse to go far in the way of prediction. Edmonton and Calgary are staging a free-for-all in which anything may happen. Five candidates in each city are to be elected out of 23 and 29 starters, respectively without proportional representation. In the rural constituencies the fight has been very keen between Farmers and Liberals. Government circles claim the administration will go back with a working majority and they base this claim on alleged differences of opinion in the ranks of the organized Farmers on the question of the attempt which is being made by the U. F. A. to turn out the Stewart cabinet.

Farmers' First Big Venture

President Wood of the U. F. A. and his associates are confinedt that victory will be theirs.

The present is the first venture of the U. F. A. into a political contest on a large scale. They have to their credit two bye-elections, one in Cochrane, in the provincial field, and the recent federal contest in Medicine Hat.

KOBE, July 17.—Two hundred armed bluejackets were landed here today to cooperate with 3000 police and a company of infantry who are protecting naval porperty as a result of the strike of dockyard workers. One hundred leaders of the strike movement have been arrested.

Dentists are required to make a report in connection with the board's forms on all liquors received and sold or used in treating cases.

SHREVPORT, La., July 17.—Mrs. Beulah Johnson was taken from the porch of a hotel at Teneha, Texas, striped, tarred and feathered, according to a dispatch reaching here today.

Mrs. Johnson, who claims to have been working at the hotel as a maid and cook, says she does not know any of the men in the party.

Late advices are that Mrs. Johnson had been arrested on a charge of bigamy in Shelby county, Texas.

DROUGHT CAUSES RUSSIAN FAMINE

Wells and Rivers Dry Up; Slaughter All Cattle for Food; Need Help.

BERLIN, July 17.—Twenty million persons are on the verge of starvation in drought stricken sections of Russia, subsisting mainly on moss, grass and the bark of trees, according to the Vossische Zeitung, which quotes from reliable sources.

Refugees are reported to be pouring into Moscow and Petrograd by thousands and to be fleeing hopelessly in every direction.

The parched earth, it is asserted, is opening up great crevices and wells and rivers are drying up. Foliage is asserted to have withered on the trees and a number of villages are reported on fire.

All cattle in the stricken district have been slaughtered to provide food, but it is believed impossible to avert a famine unless food is received from outside sources.

RIGA, July 17.—A plague of locusts is adding to the famine in Russia, according to a dispatch received here from Moscow. A swarm of the insects has greatly damaged crops in the Skuban and Black sea districts, where special staffs have been organized and part of the army mobilized to destroy the pests. In Turkestan heavy rains have destroyed the irrigation works, interrupting rail communication.

SQUALL SWAMPS BOAT; ONE OCCUPANT DROWNS

LAURENT, Man., July 17.—Douglas McCowan, aged 22, of Winnipeg, was drowned about two miles from shore this afternoon, and his brother, Charles, 24, and Thomas Clegg were saved by a rescue party after being in the water clinging to an upturned boat for two hours. The young man lost his hold and sank. The boat was swamped by a squall.

RUSSIAN REFUGEES ARE MONEY-BLIND; HAVE NO THOUGHT FOR TOMORROW

Spend Money on Champagne and Luxuries, and When Can Get No More They Commit Suicide—But They Are Generous to Each Other.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 17.—The Russian temperament is proving a serious obstacle to relief and charitable organizations here. Individuals trying to help Russian refugees often give up in despair.

The Russian may be described as money blind. He is careless with his own money and with that of others. Thousands of Russian refugees arrived here with plenty of gold money, furs, jewels and portable valuables. Without a thought for the morrow they lived for a time in the best hotels until the money was exhausted and the valuable pawned.

Then the hotel proprietors asked them to leave and they went cheerfully to live in a squalid by-street not only expectant, but confident, some good foreign souls would care for them. And often it is done.

One of the tragedy-comedies of the foreign colony here is the story of the attempts of a Russian general to get his seven daughters to Paris. Dozens of persons have spent much time and money in his effort and so far three of the daughters are here and starving. The father has himself spent 75,000 francs trying. The general, a good and capable father, got himself as far as Paris through the kind offices of United States Consul General Moser, then in Tiflis.

In Paris the father mortgaged his estates for 100,000 francs and sent 25,000 francs to his wife and seven daughters to join him. They got as far as Constantinople, bought a lot of new dresses, attended the season's dances, loaned the rest of their money to needy friends and asked father for more.

The general sent another 25,000 francs and after various difficulties about passports, the mother and four of the daughters departed. New loans and expenditures made it impossible to take three of the daughters. Another 25,000 francs was sent to the three daughters by the father through a Russian general who pocketed it, or thoughtlessly spent it, and the daughters are still there, their clothes held for board and lodgings and they and their family in Paris are cheerfully waiting until the relief organizations do something about it.

A certain baron, member of the Imperial Guard, 11 times wounded during the war, was all but adopted by a Chicago dentist who met him in Russia. The latter arranged for his passage to the United States sent funds for travel expenses and waited. The handsome baron pocketed the funds and turned up at the American embassy within a few days, describing how his pocket had been picked. A cable was sent the dentist and fresh funds arrived. These funds were dissipated and still the baron did not sail. He is now waiting more funds from Chicago.

An American navy officer on station here was told by his Russian friends of their difficulties with the cruel landlord who was about to eject them. The officer gave them the needed money and was invited to dine with them. The dinner was splendidly served, including champagne. The landlord had to renew his threats, but in vain. The rent money had paid for the dinner.

All Americans here love the Russians and do much to help them, but those with experience have ceased making heavy sacrifices to do so. The insurable optimism of the Russian leads him to build air castles and into foolish acts that have to be paid for in cold cash. When his optimism is exhausted the Russian is so pessimistic he takes to the river. Many young men have committed suicide here. Their families in France and England and Italy send them money to join them, they spend the money for champagne or silk socks; or what not, and when the money is exhausted they shoot or drown themselves.

The devotion and the childlike cheerfulness of the Russian women here is a source of constant wonder to Anglo-Saxons. Many of them have forgotten they were countesses or princesses and gone to work. Their charity to one another surpasses belief. They will pawn their last jewel to help a friend. The correspondent found one woman selling her eyeglasses to help a friend, and doing it without thought of making a special sacrifice.

MIXED COMMISSION ON DISARMAMENT GETS HUSTLE ON FOR CONFERENCES

PARIS, July 17—The temporary mixed commission for the reduction of armaments went to work with a will today to organize so as to comply with the radent injunction of Rene Viviani, chairman of the commission, to put forth all energy to get the work under way so that "we can be sure to make a report to the assembly of the league of nations in September."

A tangible result of the day's work after the members of the commission had finished their exchanges of opinion, was the appointment of three sub-committees which will share among themselves the work which will begin tomorrow with three sessions. The sub-committees are as follows:

Appoint Sub-Committees.

First—On private manufacture of arms, traffic in arms and munitions and international control of traffic in arms—General Giovanni Marietti, Italy; Admiral Sir Somerset Calthorpe, Great Britain; Leon Jouhaux France; M. F. Hodacz, Czecho-Slovakia; Right Hon. A. L. Fisher, Great Britain; Dr. Rivas Vicuna, Chile; Albert Jansien, Belgium, and Dem Jancovia, Rumania.

Second—On the right of invitation, mutual control of the exchange of information regarding armaments and the amendment of Aritcle 8 of the covenant of the league of nations providing for mutual control, as proposed by M. Jouhax, M. Vivianni, Hjalmar Branting, Sweden; Marshal Fayolle, France; General Inagki, Japan; M. Jancovica, Rumania, and M. Langkjaer, Denmark.

Third—On the collection of statistical information including armament budgets of different countries—Sir James Brungat, India; M. Jansien, Belgium; Prof. Bemni, Italy, M J. Oudegest, Netherlands; Thomas Findley, Canada; Marshal Fayolle, France; Marquis de Magaz, Spain; Captain Penido, Brazil, and Carlo Shanzer, Italy.

To Report in Geneva

The sub-committee will report to the full committee Sept. 1 in Geneva, where the full committee will sit to prepare its report for the league assembly. The members of the committee today expressed themselves as being well satisfied with the way the work is taking shape.

They expect to accomplish results of great interest to the assembly and perhaps useful to the Washington conference.

Labor Wants Direct Action.

The views of labor and capital on disarmament were expressed at the conference forenoon session of the league commission by M. Jouhoux, secretary of the French federation of labor, and M. Hodacz, a manufacturer, representing Czecho-Slovakia. M. Jouhoux said what labor wanted was direct action toward disarmament. He proposed, first, the adoption of an amendment to the covenent of the league of nations providing for mutual control of armaments; second, an international conference to regulate traffic in arms. Manufacturers of arms, he declared, live on war and encourage it and some arrangement must be made to control them or to make the manufacture of arms a state monopoly.

Caution an Obstacle.

M. Jouhoux said he feared the arguments advanced in favor of caution in dealing with the question would prove obstables in the way of disarmament. M. Hodacz said industry favored a reduction in armament. It had no reason to prefer the making of arms to other articles, but that the question presented some difficulties The situation in the new states exposed a reaction and must be taken into consideration, he declared.

M. Jouhou referred to the speech delivered by Mr. Fisher, Great Britain, yesterday, which he said he understood to mean that the British delegate did not desire naval disarmament to be taken up. Mr. Fisher, however, rectified this by saying he did not at all mean to postpone naval disarmament, but that he had suggested this should be considered separately from military disarmament.

RIVER STEAMER GOES ASHORE

Rapid Queen, a sister ship to the disabled boat, but the majority preferred apparently to continue the journey by rail.

Hundreds of persons in the city, which is about 35 miles from the rapids, motored down the United States side of the river today in an effort to view the wreck. Newspaper men who made the trip by motor boat, narrowly escaped drowning when their engine stalled while in the rapids.

Ship Safely Off Rocks.

The Canada Steamship lines' vessel Rapid King, which lost control of her steering gear Saturday afternoon and was driven on the rocks of Barnhardt's island, in the Long Sault rapids, St. Lawrence river, about 10 miles west of Cornwall, was gotten off the rocks at 6:30 this evening and went down the river under her own steam.

All of her 329 passengers were removed from the ship by the middle of the afternoon. They had been detained on board the vessel from the time she ran aground.

When the passengers and baggage had been removed, it was found that the vessel could be worked off the rocks and she was safely turned around The steering gear had been repaired during the day.

The damage sustained by the ship was not known today, but it is presumed it will not be great.

CHARACTERIZES PRESS REPORTS

said that this is not possible, as the head of the Ulster government is considered by Mr. De Valera as outside the pale of present negotiations so far as the representatives of southern Ireland are concerned.

Quiet Week End.

This has been the quietest week end in Irish annals since January, 1919, when the exterme Sinn Fein campaign began.

There was no hint of disorder, even in Belfast, where, according to the Associated Press correspondent, Col. Duffy, Republican liason officer for Ulster, has put a stop to Sinn Fein activities. Troops, however, are still patrolling the streets and the police are carrying revolvers.

The prime minister spent Sunday at his country residence, where it is presumed he was in consultation with members of his cabinet and other advisors. The Irish Republican leader, who had a comparative day of rest, issued a new manifesto, insisting upon adherence to self-determination. In his declaration he says:

May Receive Conditional Proposals.

"I have made no demand but the one I am entitled to make, that the self-determination of the Irish nation shall be recognized."

Mr. De Valera has already said that as he received a mandate for a republic from the Irish people, he could not withdraw from that position unless instructed by the people themselves. It is considered possible that he may receive the government proposals, modified by his own views, conditional on their submission later to the Irish people for their decision. When he attended mass at Southwark cathedral today the republican leader had another ovation at the hands of Irish sympathizers.

VETERANS' VIEWS ON DISARMANENT

Propose Haig for All Empire Service Men Should Approach Washington.

OTTAWA July 17.—The views of the seven million ex-soldiers and sailors of the British Empire on the question of universal disarmament will be placed before the proposed Washington conference if a suggestion from the Dominion command of the G. W. V. A. is acted upon.

The proposal is that Field Marshal Haig, president of the British Empire service league should clearly place before the British representatatives to the Washington conference that the ex-service men are generally in favor of disarmament, consistent with provisions for the defense of the Empire in case of emergency.

The suggestion that the views of the veterans should be presented by the British representatives to the Washington conference was first put forward by Captain David Loughnan, editor of the Veteran, and resulted in the following message being dispatched to Earl Haig:

Message to Field Marshal

"The Great War Veterans of Canada suggest that you, sir, as president of the British Empire service league, express on behalf of the seven million ex-service men of the Empire, their heartfelt sympathy and support today the inauguration of international disarmament proposals as suggested by President Harding of the United States.

"The peace which was bequeathed to humanity by the self-sacrifice of hundreds of thousands of our comrades must be sanctified and safeguarded as a lasting tribute to their memory and to the peace ideals for which they gave their lives to this end. The component parts of the British Empire service league, as represented in the motherland and dominions beyond the seas, should voice their approval, through you, sir, of this first step toward honorable peace on earth and goodwill toward men."

BROTHER LOCKS BROTHERS OUT

Quarrel for Control of French Canadian Paper Takes a Sensatioal Turn.

MONTREAL, July 17.—New and sensational developments in a family quarrel between the heirs of Hon. Tefflé Berthiaume for control of La Presse, the most important French Canadian paper of the Dominion, will, it is understood, take place on Monday.

Since the first developments on Thursday last when a new board of directors of La Presse Publishing company was appointed, matters have moved rapidly. When this happened, Arthur Berthiaume, president and general manager of the company, summoned the heads of all departments of the paper and issued orders that henceforth they could receive instructions only from him or from Mr. Fontaine, a director, in his absence.

Following this, new locks were placed on the offices formerly occupied by Messrs. Eugene and Edouard Berthiaume, brothers of the president, now on bail under charges of $80,000 and $10,000 misappropriations, respectively.

Police on Guard.

La Presse building was guarded by a squad of police and when Eugene Berthiaume called on Friday he was denied entrance and through his lawyers issued a protest that the city police were being used to prevent him entering his own offices. Thereupon the police were withdrawn and private detectives employed who, finding Eugene Berthiaume in occupation of an office in La Presse building, threatened to remove him by force if he did not vacate the office. This he finally did under strong protest.

After 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon the building was locked up and no one is admitted unless bearing an authorization signed by Arthur Berthiaume of Messrs. Fontaine or Dutremblay. City police are also guarding the outside of the building

Hail Storm Ruins Crop

KINDERSELY, Sask., July 17—One hundred per cent crop loss was caused at Kindersley by a hail storm at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The stones were the size of golf balls. The same storm passed over Oyen, Alta., earlier in the afternoon.

SLOCAN CITY SECTION HAS A NUMBER OF OPERATING MINES

Ottawa Mill Turns Over, Using Ore From Dumps; Black Prince; Starts Up and Will Ship Next Month; Anna Now Shipping; L. T. Is Taking Out Ore; Arlington to Operate Soon.

Designed for treating the dry silver ore of the Slocan City section and employing the flotation process to a larger extent than probably any similar plant in the country the new Ottawa mill has "turned over" and is making its first week's run on ore from the dump, which will provide its principal fodder for many months, possibly a year or two, to come. The mill, which was designed by L. H. Biggar, the flotation expert, who is partner with A. J. McPhee in the enterprise, was commenced last fall, and completed a few days ago. It is the intention of the partners to eventually develop the mine, which they have under a lease and bond from the Consolidated Mining & Smelting company, but the dump, which received all the ore taken from the mine under past management, but the hand-sorted, high-grade shipping variety will first receive exclusive attention. The Ottawa is on Springer creek, a few miles above Slocan City.

Another Slocan City property just become active is the Black Prince at the head of the north fork of Lemon creek and Springer creek, which resumed operation on Wednesday, J. T. Tipping, the owner, putting on a crew of nine. The Black Prince is located 6000 feet above sea level. A few cars of ore are blocked out, and Mr. Tipping expects to ship next month.

A car of ore from the Anna group, alongside the Ottawa, is now being shipped by Kurt Zimmerman.

In a short time it is expected the old Arlington will come into the operating class, R. R. Hedley, who has a lease and bond on it from the Rithet interests at the coast, being about to place a crew of men at work.

WILL OPEN UP V AND M GROUP

Vancouver Syndicate Puts Crew of Fifteen to Work on Lemon Creek.

R. G. McLeod of Vancouver, the former owner of three groups of mining property at the head of Lemon creek, left the city on Friday with a force of 15 men to recommence development work on the properties that are now owned by the McLeod-Slocan Mining syndicate of Vancouver, recently incorporated with Mr. McLeod as president.

The new syndicate owns the V. & M. group, previously owned by the V. & M. Mines, Ltd, of Detroit, which were crown granted in 1895—the Barnett group and the German group. It has a capital of $100,000, and was formed for the purpose of developing properties from the prospect stage to the point where ehey can be sold as mines. The officers of the syndicate are all Vancouver men and consist of R. G. McLeod, president; H. G. Harding, secretary-treasurer, and two directors, T. B. Bamber and J. T. Williams.

Last year Mr. McLeod, with a small force of men, did considerable development work on the V. & M. group and disclosed a high grade shoot of ore running 36-40 gold and 315 ounces of silver. A grant has been secured by the syndicate from the government to renew or repair the bridges on the road from Willow Point to the properties, a distance of about 10 miles. Some of the crew will put the bridges in shape and fix up the road on the way out, while the rest of the party will commence to open up the German property, which is a high grade gold property. Mr. McLeod's wife and family will spend the summer up at the properties.

FIRES AT NAKUSP AND COFFEE CREEK

Area of Bush Near Trail Is Burned; Slocan Blaze Out at Last.

An obstinate bush fire is reported to be raging in valuable timber near Nakusp, and there are possibilities of great damage being done, according to persons in touch withthatl ocality. C. S. Leary, the logging contractor, has his crews hard at work, and a large force of men is on the job.

A blackened area half a mile in length marks the site of a fierce fire that burned timber along the Nelson-Trail road, about six miles from Trail, at the end of the week. This fire was out yesterday, though portions of the area were still smouldering.

Yesterday smoke became apparent over Coffee creek, on the main lake. It is not known just how this fire started, but it is presumably from campers.

A big fire near Port Hill, Idaho, just across the international boundary line from Creston, has been casting a haze over the southern end of Kootenay lake, but this was reported cleared away yesterday, the wind having driven it south.

The fire in the Slocan valley near the mouth of Lemon creek is now out.

Reports indicate that the bush fire across the boundary line from Waneta is also a thing of the past.

Saturday and yesterday were fully as hot as the preceding days, and the woods are getting tindery. It is nearly three weeks since the last rain, in this immediate vicinity.

E. B. Proud, district forecaster, has been absent from the city since Wednesday.

Hail Wipes Out Crops

TREHERN, Man., July 17.—The first serious hail damage in 26 years in this district was caused this afternoon by a 20-minute storm which swept a path two miles wide, six miles long, wiping out entire crops on some farms and damaging others up to 50 per cent. Besides crops, property suffered seriously, trees being torn up, windows and small buildings smashed and a mile or two of telephone and telegraph line put out of commission.

SHOOTS NELSON FOR THE MOVIES

Provincial Official Photographer Takes Films for Distribution Over Empire.

Since Saturday morning the "movie" camera man all unannounced has been "shooting" Nelson and vicinity and making its manifold attractions to the tourist, the holiday-maker, the homeseeker, the miner, the hydraulic engineer, the fruit grower and the lover of natural beauty his legitimate prey. Not only did he keep up the barrage all Saturday and yesterday, but with members of the Nelson Board of Trade to help him stalk his quarry he will continue his "shooting" from about 10 o'clock this morning until the Kaslo boat pulls out this afternoon.

Shows British Columbia to World.

These great educational films, of which there are already many thousands of feet being shown daily, are being sent to the British Isles, to the sister dominions and colonies, to eastern Canada, and the United States, to acquaint other people, and other nations, with what British Columbia is and has. While reticent on that part of the subject, Mr. Kean last night stated the results of showing these educational films have been both direct and enormous, particularly as regards returns in increased business for the province.

Camera Clicks on Bathers.

Yesterday Mr. Kean filmed some of the municipal buildings, and climbed to Pulpit Rock across the lake, and "shot" Nelson from his vantage point. In the afternoon he took some pictures of fruit ranching at Willow Point, where, among other places, he visited the ranch of J. J. Campbell. Coming back to the city he kept his camera clicking on the bathers and picnickers at Lakeside park.

Will Film Bonnington Falls.

Today he will visit Bonnington Falls in company with George Ferguson in the morning and "shoot" that wonder of natural power and beauty. In the afternoon, with J. E. Annable as his guide, he will secure impressions of the charming views to be had east and west from the Bluff, as well as covering a number of the city's utilities.

Last night Mr. Kean eulogized the Nelson Board of Trade for the ready assistance given to him, and particularly Mr. Annable, whom he stated was the man mainly responsible for Nelson and Kootenay being filmed at this time.

Mr. Kean and his assistant will leave for Kaslo this afternoon, taking pictures en route, and will then film Kaslo and district. From there he will go to the Slocan to get pictures of mining, to Nakusp for pictures of fruit raising and lumbering, and the beautiful scenery of the Arrow lakes, and will then leave for the coast via Revelstoke.

In passing it can be said that Mr. Kean learned the first principles of his profession in Nelson, where he was formerly a resident. Eighteen years ago his amateur efforts were watched over by Captain Allen Lane, the owner of the Queen studio.

Report of Oil Strike at Ponce Coupe Causes Excitement in Edmoton

EDMONTON, July 17.—Considerable excitement was caused in the city Saturday by a report of an oil strike at Ponce Coupe, where the Imperial Oil company and other big interests have been operating. Ponce Coupe is located about 100 miles west of Peace river. The message received by the Canadian Press correspondent says that the Imperial Oil drill No. 1 encountered a gas flow of sufficient pressure to operate the outfit several days ago and Saturday morning oil mixture was appearing at a depth of 180 feet.

WAS IN KOOTENAY THIRD OF CENTURY

Henry Cody, Slocan Pioneer, Dies at Kalso; Aged 60; Famous Strong Man.

For over 35 years a prominent figure in the Kootenay silver camps, Henry Cody, in his day reputed to be the strongest man in this section of the country, died yesterday morning at Kaslo from tuberculosis, which he contracted from the flu.

A native of Prince Edward Island, Mr. Cody at first sought his fortune in the Coeur d'Alenes, but came to the Kootenay in the eighties. For a time his headquarters were in Ainsworth, but for the most had he resided continuously in Kaslo. He located numerous claims, none of them coming to prominence, but was associated with the Hennesseys when they located the famous Noble Five, his name being given to both the creek and the town. He was 6 feet 1 inch in height, weighed 220 pounds and was noted for his physical strength. For a number of years he was associated with H. Giegerich, and before his illness was working on the Panama at Big Lake.

The late Mr. Cody, while universally known, and enjoying a great popularity, was on the whole a quiet man. He never married. During his illness of two years he was nursed by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Thomas Cody, with whom he resided.

A number of Nelson members of the Knights of Columbus, including P. J. Gallagher, T. J. Scanlan, Dan McDonald and others, will leave for Kaslo this afternoon, to participate in the funeral, which will take place tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

ODD FELLOWS HAVE REMEMBRANCE DAY

All Branches of Order in Nelson Participate in Decoration Exercises.

With beautiful ceremonial rites, in the gloaming of a perfect day, the various branches of Odd Fellowship in Nelson last evening held their annual decoration day, marking with appropriate tokens of remembrance all the graves in the Odd Fellows' plot at the city cemetery. A beautiful commemoration service preceded the marking of the graves.

The parade was one of the largest that the order has ever had in Nelson and embraced Patriarchs, Militant, members of the Encampment, Queen City, Rebekah lodge, and Kootenay lodge, I. O. O. F.

Goodyear Quality Keeps these fires burning

Goodyear Quality Keeps these wheels turning

During More Than a Decade

FOR OVER TEN YEARS Goodyear Tires have been made in Canada. During all these years only Christmas-New Year week ever silenced the wonderful machines for a seven-day period. More than five hundred weeks of production record the constant demand for a good product, growing better.

Goodyear quality never stands still. It is being improved constantly.

For instance, Goodyear is producing at New Toronto two new clincher tires—each better for its purpose than anything which has gone before.

The new Goodyear All-weather Tread Clincher (30 x 3½ and 31 x 4) is bigger, tougher, handsomer than even the famous All-weather Tread Tire which has been the most widely used tire in the world.

The new "Goodyear Non-Skid" clincher (30 x 3½) gives full Goodyear quality and mileage to the man who does not need the great gripping power of the All-weather Tread—and saves on the first cost.

These tires were developed by the same manufacturing spirit which produced the Goodyear Cord Tire—the highest development in tire construction—extremely long mileage with a bonus of comfort and fuel economy.

Over 4,000 Canadian dealers recommend Goodyear Tires for just the same reasons that a majority of Canadian motorists use them—long mileage and low cost-per-mile.

Canada's Share of Reparations.

Canada's share of the reparation fund which Germany is to pay has been fixed at $300,000,000. If we get it all, it will reduce our total national debt approximately two billion dollars, which is nearly four times the figure at which it stood when the war began.

Whether the total reparations will will ever be paid in tangible form is doubtful, although there is no reason why it should not be paid, even if it takes Germany longer than the limit set in the recent agreement with the allied powers.

We in Canada cannot, however, expect any reduction of taxation to result from payment of the reparations fund. Money which is received on this account will be paid in comparatively small instalments and even if the total amount were tomorrow we should still be burdened with interest on about a million and a half more national debt than we had to carry in 1914.

Canada's financial policy, therefore, is not likely to be founded upon hope of relief through the German indemnity.

Fortunately Canada is able to stand on its own feet.

North Dakota Socialists Give Lesson in Brotherly Love.

Merely from benevolent sociological curiosity and interest even in the quarrels of a once happy family, the students of journalism and politics and the Socialist, Non-Partisan League genius ponders gratefully the news from Fargo. Some antiquarians, remarks the New York Times, may remember that the North Dakota legislature of 1919, in which the Non-Partisan league had a two-thirds majority, every member of which was pledged to vote every day as the secret caucus of the night before ordained, passed, besides the bills for those state industrial and financial enterprises that have proved so successful, a statute providing for an official paper in each county to print all court and public notices, state reports and so on. A state printing board run by the league named the official paper in each county. The kindly design of this measure was to kill some 200 little weeklies by taking the publication notices away from them.

Thus a free and enlightened press was insured, and at the same time a fund of $200,000 was made available to disseminate in other states the doctrines of the league. Dissensions, troubles and disasters, such as Providence loves to chasten the good with, have split that band of brothers. One of these numerous civil wars flames in the bosom of the executive committee that runs the league. It is divided 3 to 2. One of the minority members is director of the league publication. The managing editor and business manager of the Fargo Courier-News took his side of the controversy. A special edition of the newspaper charged the majority of the committee with wasting $50,000 of the league's funds in accelerating its campaign against the recall, sought by the other faction, of certain state officers.

Please notice the effective league method of maintaining an uninfluenced and unintimidated press, the guardian of our liberties. The majority members heard of the dark deed. At 4 a. m., before the offending edition had time to pollute the mails, two of these members rushed into the office, took possession of it, seized the 5000 copies that had been printed, and had them burned, a delightful seventeenth - century proceeding. After the culprit copies had been fired, the cul-prit business manager and editor were. For their further encouragement one of them was then arrested for criminal libel, and the other, already nabbeed for an alleged embezzlement, was haled to court on a federal warrant charging him with the blacker crime of having in his car that which biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder.

The perfect love existing between the lords of league socialism is too well known and needs no commentary; their mild methods of dealing with the refractory official press, their tolerant political warfare, their equal skill with the faggot and the warrant of arrest, are more novel and stir to wonder the heaven and the outlander.

Efficient Housekeeping

BY Laura A. Kirkman

THE HOUSEKEEPER'S INDOOR DRESS

Several of my readers have asked me to write upon the subject of the housekeeper's indoor dress. For the woman who does her own housework this question resolves itself into two heads: the work dress and the afternoon dress (I assume that the heavy part of the day's work will be done by noon—as it should be in the home of all efficient housekeepers.)

Let us consider the working costume first. What color shall it be? I believe I will surprise many by my answer to this question—white. To my mind, a white dress is the most practical to choose with an all-over gingham apron. For a white dress does not fade when one perspires from hard exercise; a white dress does not fade from frequent washings or from hangings in the sun after washing; a white dress, when spotted, may receive applications of all kinds of acid spot-removers which would ruin a colored dress. Yes, in the long run a white dress gives the best service for hard work.

And now for the question of the afternoon frock. Here we may satisfy the primitive love of color that lurks in each and every one of us. With our heavy work done, we feel justified in donning a dress of the color which becomes us, and receiving our friends or enjoying a well-earned hour with a new book.

But note that I said, "the color that most becomes us." We cannot all wear the same color with equal success. It takes a tiny woman, for instance, to wear one of the red-and-white checked ginghams (red is considered a disturbing color, and if worn by a stout or tall person it is rather too much in evidence). Pink, on the other hand, may be worn by almost anybody—stout or thin, short or tall, blonde or brunette. Pink brings out the color in our cheeks and is becoming to us all. Blues of all shades are particularly well adapted to the woman whose bones or features are large; blue is considered a dignified, inconspicuous color. And greens—especially the green-and-white checked ginghams or striped dimities—are chosen when a cool effect is desired; it is Nature's color and it seems to carry its coolness with it.

Cotton and linens are perhaps the most practical fabrics to choose for these indoor dresses; for moths do not attack these materials while they are stored away during the Winter months, and the housekeeper is sure of taking them out of her attic trunk, the following Spring, ready for another three or four months of warm-weather service.

Mrs. E. B. C. Answer: Send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope for an article which I keep printed up to send to readers who ask for a list of the protein starch, and fat foods. This article will also tell you what you want to know about a well-balanced meal.

Tomorrow—Serving the Season's Vegetables

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

What the Press Is Saying

The Armament Race

Competitive armament upon the scale which the Great War introduced is the road to universal ruin. International agreements are the hope of humanity. The American people see the truth, and when they are determined upon a political course, neither munition makers nor Congress, neither the departments nor the White House, can block their way. The possessors of the ultimate power in the United States must prevail.—New York World.

The Press and the Empire

Amateur statesmen who draft model schemes of confederation, which, on examination, always reveal flaws, forget that Imperial unity rests, first, if not last, on the preservation of the four estates of the Empire—the Crown, the Upper and Lower Chambers of the several Legislatures, the former a barrier against hasty action, and the Press. Probably of all the influences which make either for close union or disruption, none is more potent than the newspapers which appear daily or weekly in various parts of the Empire, furnishing intelligence as well as opinion. The emigrant is beginning to go forth once more from our shores as a missionary. We are told in Proverbs that "as cold water is to a thirsty soul, so is good news from a far country." The facilities which now exist for keeping alive interest in what is going on in the Mother Country, as well as in the Dominions—promoting a frequent interchange of intelligence—are miserably inadequate, first, because the cable services leave a good deal to be desired in efficiency and cheapness, and, secondly, because we have failed to harness the ether in our service.—London Press Telegraph.

Says Vice-President Coolidge

"Unless Americans shall continue to live in something more than the present, to be moved by something more than material gains, they will go down before some nation possessed of a greater moral force," said Vice-President Coolidge in the course of an address he delivered before the American Classical League, meeting at the University of Pennsylvania.

If it should fail to do so, then as the vice-president said and every good American knows, this great republic's star would set, the glory of Americanism would fade and American ideals would sink into oblivion.—Butte Miner.

Of course one must expect her to face the other way when the most interesting part of her frock is in the back. The ingenious arrangement of the stripes gives it individuality and provides an irresistible excuse for a last-minute addition to the vacation trunk. In the front the neckline is becomingly straight-across, and all the lines take the horizontal direction, with the exception of the short upper section of the skirt, which in the front looks like a yoke.

Two tiny ivory ball buttons link the neck together where it opens so attractively behind, and larger buttons trim the skirt. The color of the material is raspberry and white, and the softly knotted girdle is of batiste.

A Berlin woman gave birth to two healthy girls. Mothers and babies were doing well, when a third girl was born seven weeks later. According to the latest reports the whole family are doing well. The unusual side of the case is that the third child is alive and doing well. Usually a retarded birth results in the death of the child. Cases of twins born a short time after each other are fairly common, but not so with triplets.

FEW KINGS "COME BACK"

It requires something more than a horse to play "the man on horseback" successfully. It requires, most of all, a propitious star. Ex-King Charles of Hungary evidently had the wrong kind of star. His "return from Elba," however, carefully staged and supported, fizzled out. It really looks as if Charles' retirement from the king business might be considered a permanent one.

There was another Charles once who was staged as a "comeback", and it was a wild and hilarious one. Charles II. of England was a gallant and picturesque figure when he entered London after the death of Oliver Cromwell. For eleven years he had been a king without a kingdom. The people, sick of Puritanism, gave a deliriously joyful welcome to him who was to become known as the "Merry Monarch."

That Charles evidently had a propitious star, and he must have cut a dashing figure in his long black curls, his plumed hat and all the rest of it. He was more than six feet tall, and a woman described him as "well made with a swarthy complexion agreeing well with his fine black eyes, a large, ugly mouth, a graceful and dignified carriage and a fine figure."

Bue he made a bad king. He who "never said a foolish thing and never did a wise one" does not present an encouraging example of the sort of thing Charles of Hungary plotted to do.

Napoleon's "Come Back"

The notorious susceptibility of the French people to the attractions of a "man on horseback" had its classic Bonaparte when he reared his emexample in the case of Napoleon pire on the wreckage of the revolution, and again when he escaped from Elba, and, recapturing the allegiance of his soldiers drove out his Bourbon successor and flourished for the hundred days which ended in the debacle of Waterloo.

Louis Napoleon spent his life in earnest attempts to imitate his illustrious uncle He tried the "man on horseback" trick at Strassburg when he was 28 and earned only ridicule. He tried it again at Boulogne four years later and was shut up in the fortress of Ham. At last, managing to get himself elected president of the republic, he engineered that coup d'etat which Victor Hugo so passionately dissected in his "History of a Crime" and made himself emperor.

"Napoleon the Little," as Hugo called him, met his finish at Sedan and dragged out his last years in exile in England. Another Frenchman tried to imitate him in the closing years of the last century. This was Gen. Georges Ernest Jean Marie Boulanger, a handsome fellow with a curly moustache and close cropped beard, whose outward appearance was quite ideal for the man on horseback role.

As minister of war General Boulanger effected some popular reforms in the army, and somebody made him the subject of a very catchy music hall song, the "Boulanger March." Everybody was whistling it, and actually made Boulanger a nation hero. He was "agin' the gu mint." He was for La Belle Fran sword in hand, revenging herself the barbarous Prussians. A LIVELY BULLFIGHT.

A lively bullfight was that given in honor of the local press association of the provncial town of Ciudad Real, Spain. It also had an unusual ending. Six bulls were to have been killed, wth the usual proportion of three swordsmen for the fight. The first bull, however, knocked out two of the three swordsmen. One received a wound five inches deep, and the other was badly shaken and thrown a couple of times into the air, when he came down on his head. The third matador rose to the occasion and killed the animal, as well as the four following ones. The sixth bull, however, knocked him out, and there was no one left to fight the bull, who was sent back to the pasturage. Three of the horsemen picadors also were wounded and had to have their wounds attended to at the dressing station. One of the bulls also jerked a sword that was sticking into his body out into the crowd of spectators, one of whom was wounded by the sword in the face.

DISCUSS PROCTOR SCHOOL MATTERS

Elect Mr. McLean Trustee; School Additions; Camera Man Snaps Deer.

PROCTOR, July 17.—The annual school meeting was held on the 9th instant, with a majority of the ratepayers present.

The secretary of the school trustees, F. J. Sammons, announced an assessment of the district for school purposes of $1500 for the ensuing term.

G. A. McLean was elected school trustee after a spirited contest, in place of Captain J. Ferguson.

W. Rigby was reelected auditor.

Various other matters appertaining to the welfare and management of the schools were discussed.

Several nice baskets of trout have been caught lately at the Outlet.

T. Heise, formerly of Balfour and now of Saskatoon, who has been spending his vacation here, was fortunate enough to be able to get two shots at deer, each time with his camera.

A deer, with antlers in the velvet, has been seen upon the track at Proctor on more than one occasion during the last week, while G. F. Daniell reports a deer to have been seen in his pasture.

Mr. Rogers of Vancouver, the contractor for the one-room addition to the public school, is here. The lumber and material for the job is on the spot now and work commences next week.

It is intended to have the new room completed and furnished ready for the opening of the fall term.

PYTHIANS CONDUCT MEMORIAL SERVICE

TRAIL, July 16.—The annual memorial service of the Knights of Pythias was observed by the members of Trail lodge No. 23 on Thursday by an impressive ceremony in memory of those members of the order who have passed the great divide.

A procession of forty members marched from the Castle hall to the cemetery at Tadanac, where the graves of departed brethren were decorated with flowers and evergreens, a hymn being sung and a prayer offered by Past Chancellor Rev. A. M. O'Donnell.

The members then returned to the hall, where a number of Pythian Sisters had assembled, and a memorial service was proceeded with, sacred music being rendered and a very impressive address given by Mr. O'Donnell.

OBITUARY

WESLEY MESSENGER.

HEDLEY, July 16.—The community was shocked on Monday morning last when the word was received by telephone from Allenby that Wesley Messenger, only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Messenger, had been drowned there on Sunday afternoon. In all probability it will never be known just how the accident occurred, as no one was with him at the time. His dog was found lying on his coat and it is thought that the faithful animal had tried in vain to rescue him, as when the body was found there were marks on the arm as from the dog's teeth. Wesley, who was an exceptionally bright boy, was born in Hedley in March, 1906, and spent his early childhood days here. When quite small his parents moved to California, but returned to Hedley in 1910. He attended school here and at the Nickel Plate until the family went to Allenby three years ago, and since then he has been going to school in Princeton, coming in each morning on his bike. Besides his sorrowing father and mother he leaves three sisters to mourn his loss, who have the heartfelt sympathy of a wide circle of friends.

HEAVY LIST AT CRIMINAL COURT

Concurrent Sentences for Escaped Prisoners; Adjourn Burglary Case.

FERNIE, July 17.—In the county judge's criminal court last week, although it is only the commencement of the long legal vacation, the list was one of the heaviest for some time.

In all, seven cases came up, only four of which went to trial.

John Robertson, a lumberjack, was found guilty of having in his possession a suit of clothes, knowing the same ot have been stolen. He was sentenced to six months, Nelson jail, with hard labor. Robertson had been previously convicted under the government Liquor act for being drunk in a public place and was serving the minimum of two months in default of payment of fine of $50.

While engaged in some light work on the city street with other prisoners on July 8th, he and another prisoner, George Leeman, escaped. They departed about 10 o'clock that morning and at 2 p. m. walked into the arms of a cordon of city and provincial police at Swinton, B. C., a station on the Great Northern railway nine miles west of here. They were rearrested and appearing before Judge Thompson pleaded guilty to the escape charge and were each given five weeks and three days, to run concurrently with former sentences.

The remaining case, Rex vs. Riley, Booth and Hardie, charged with breaking and entering by night the premises known as the Miners' club and stealing therefrom a quantity of cigarettes and $7 in cash, was adjourned to September court on application of defense. The accused were allowed out on bail in the sum of $1000 and two sureties of $500 each.

A civil matter between the Crows Nest Pass Coal company and Dr. Weldon of Michel under the overholding tenant's sections of the Landlord and Tenat's act was heard. Judgment in this case was reserved.

CUTWORMS

The cutworms as their name indicates, cut off plants near the surface of the ground, or a little below it. There are about 25 destructive species of cutworms in Canada, and as a class they rank in importance with our worst insect pests. In some seasons the losses caused by these caterpillars totals hundreds of thousands of dollars. In general, they are similar in appearance, being smooth cylindrical caterpillars about an inch or more in length, and in color of some dull shade, similar to the ground in which they hide during the day. Injury by cutworms is mostly effected in spring or early summer, when plants are young and succulent. The moths into which the cutworms develop are, in general, alike in appearance, being of a gray-ish or dull-brownish color.

The front pair of wings are usually crossed with four or five irregular lines, and each bears a round and kidney shaped mark. In size they expand from about an inch to two inches in width when the wings are spread. Being nocturnal in habit, they are seldom seen during the daytime, but in the early evening they appear in search of the nectar of flowers. They are readily attracted to lights, and for this reason the brights such as are used along the city and town streets, are often visited by entomologists for the purpose of securing the moths for study. At night the eyes of these moths shine brightly, and owing to this and their nocturnal habit, they have been given the name of "owlet moths."

For destroying the cutworms the poisoned bran mixture is the best one to use. This is made by mixing one half pound of white arsenic with 20 pounds of bran, and then wetting this with 2½ gallons of water in which two quarts of cheap molasses have been dissolved. The mixture should be applied thinly to the land in early evening, as soon as cutworm injury is noticed. If it is known the garden is infested, it is advisable to scatter the mixture several days before seedings are planted or annual plants are set out. When the cutworms come out to feed at night they will soon find the poisoned bran, and in fact will prefer it to plants growing nearby.

SEEING STARS.

Sensations are recorded in the brain by the five senses, each of which has its special set of nerves. With the exception of the nerves of touch, which extends to all parts of the body, these perform special functions for certain individual organs—the nerves of sight being connected with the eye, those of smell with the nose, those of taste with the mouth, and those of hearing with the ears. Whenever the brain receives a sudden shock, such as would follow a blow on the head, the vision nerves are disturbed in such a way as to produce the effect of seeing flashes of light, or "stars." The sensitive eye nerves can not be jarred without producing this effect of light, while a severe blow will often react in a similar manner upon the nerves of hearing, thus leading the person who is struck to imagine that he is listening to unusual noises.

REVIEWS LISTER SCHOOL AFFAIRS

Atkins Elected Board Secretary; May Pay $2 Assessment or Work It Out.

LISTER, July 17.—Mac Fraser is a business visitor at Victoria this month.

J. W. Bell has a gang at work on the Wellspring house this week.

Misses Ruby and Vera Lister, who have been attending college at Calgary, Alta., arrived home last week for the summer holidays.

Colonel and Mrs. Lister were Bonners Ferry, Idaho, visitors on Monday and Tuesday, attending a Kootenay Flats reclamation conference in that town.

The annual meeting of the residents of Lister school district was held at the school house on Saturday night, proceedings being officially opened by the trustee board chairman, J. A. McGee, who asked the gathering to select a chairman to take charge of the session, which honor was conferred upon Peter McKay.

The first official business was to select a successor to the board secretary, Norman Stones, and for which vacancy Messrs. Webb, Chudley and Atkins were nominated. The former, however, withdrew his name and on the ballot being taken Mr. Atkins was declared elected. Immediately, however, Mr. Chudley was unanimously selected as auditor, to replace Henry Christenson, whose term had expired. Mr. Stones was tendered a very hearty vote of appreciation for the excellent all round services rendered as trustee.

At this juncture Chairman McGee was given an opportunity to review the school operations for the term just ended and to elucidate the estimates that had been prepared for the good conduct of the school for the oncoming term, and at the conclusion of his remarks the meeting unanimously indorsed a resolution expressing appreciation of the very satisfactory and fair way the board had conducted school affairs the past term, and the equally satisfactory method that had been devised to raise the necessary funds.

This being an untaxed district no money is raised by way of assessment to meet school operating expenses. The board ascertains the amount that will be required and so far a levy of $2 per head of the male population has been sufficient. In this connection a motion was adopted that the same policy be adopted, but as there is considerable work to be done around the school buildings and grounds men who prefer to work out their $2 assessment in lieu of paying cash, be permitted to do so as far as it is economically possible.

HEDLEY NOTES

HEDLEY, July 16.—The annual school meeting was held in the school house on Saturday evening last. S. L. Smith was present.

Mrs. G. McEachern and children left on Monday last for Coalmont, where Mr. McEachern has been working for the past few months.

Frank Bailey, and old timer of the district, spent a few days in town the guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Rolls and family motored to Allenby on Tuesday last to attend the funeral of the late Wesley Messenger.

F. G. Wright returned on Friday last from the Princeton hospital.

SCARLET CHAPTER ORANGEMEN MEET

TRAIL, July 16.—A meeting was held in the Baptist church Thursday by the local Orangemen, when the Royal Scarlet chapter, the highest degree in the lodge, was formed.

Promptly at 8 p. m. the commander-elect, George L. York, called the meeting to order and in a few remarks explained the business of the meeting, after which the gavel was presented to Past Commander J. Ferguson of Rossland to conduct the election of officers, which resulted as follows:

Worshipful companion in command, G. L. York; excellent companion in command, R. H. Dewitt; companion chaplain, H. R. Rozander; companion scribe, N. McIntosh; companion treasurer, D. Gillis; companion herald at arms, J. H. Schofield; companion first lecturer, James Murdock; companion second lecturer, James Williamson; companion first conductor, John Young; companion second conductor, J. R. MacIntosh.

At the close a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the Rossland visitors for their assistance.

CRIMES OF THE HOUSE FLY.

The house fly stands convicted of the crime of spreading many dread diseases, in cluding typhoid, cholera and tuberculosis, as well as being directly responsible for the prevalence of several minor infantile complaints. Coming straight from a source of contamination, the fly proceeds to investigate the sugar basin, promenades upon the butter and performs its toilet on top of the cake, depositing on everything it touches some of the deadly microbes it has gathered on its hairy little body from its last alighting place.

Fortunately flies are not nearly so numerous as in past days. We no longer tolerate dust and refuse in and about our dwellings; and in dust and refuse and all things uncleanly does the house fly flourish and multiply. But we have not yet completely routed the enemy, in spite of the vigorous war of extermination waged against him; and this is not surprising when we consider that every fly that escapes our vigilance (presuming it to be of the female sex) will probably, in rather less than weeks' time, give rise to a swarm of a hundred or a hundred and fifty fresh six-legged distributers of disease.

Life History

To overcome our enemy the fly we must follow its nefarious career. The egg laid by mother fly is a tiny thing, hardly more than just visible to our eyes, yet within it lies the minute, ever-restless speck protoplasm—the germ of life—from which within the space of a few hours the pale, legless maggot is evolved. For five or six days the little creature lives and feeds in the dank, noisome substance which is at once its food and habitation. Then, after a short rest, the grub shrinks somewhat within its skin, which hardens, forming a water-tight, barrel shaped cocoon that slowly darkens to a mahogany brown color.

And now within this tiny brown case the most miraculous happenings take place. The fly larva does not gradually change in form, as does the catterpillar of a butterfly; no, the extraordinary little creature positively melts away! Gone is the plump, unpleasant looking maggot; in its place there is, apparently, only a drop of semi-fluid, creamy jelly.

Begins Activities

One would naturally suppose that this was the end of the creature. But, no, with marvellous rapidity, from the speck of jelly and a few remnants of the original maggot, an entirely new being is built up. In from six to seven days' time the little trap-door at one end of the cocoon is pushed up and the transformed insect, complete with legs, wings and proboscis, escaped from its prison.

In the summer the entire development of the fly—from eggs to perfect insect—is accomplished in about ten days; and in ten days from the time she takes wing, Mrs. Fly is ready to continue her species. The eggs are deposited in batches—always in some decomposing or fermenting substance. Where there is no refuse of any kind, there the housefly cannot breed. We must checkmate Mother Fly in her egg laying propensities by giving her nothing whatever in which to deposit her eggs; for if, perforce, she must get rid of them, and is constrained to place a bunch in an unsuitable, i.e., a clean spot, the grubs will perish for lack of food.

The English appear to have found it impossible to pronounce "mt", and so have put a "p" between the two letters, as in "empty."

BOLSHEVIST CHIEFS LIVE IN LUXURY

Enjoy $1200 China Sets, Summer Villas and Pullman Cars at Public Expense.

RIGA, Latvia, July 17.—The comic press of the Baltic states has recently indulged in much humorous sarcasm regarding the reported order by M. Ganetzky, the Soviet Russian minister to Latvia, of a hand-painted China set for his use on state occasions to cost 500,000 rubles. This is equivalent, at present rates of exchange in Riga, to something more than $1200.

The dinner service, according to reports widely circulated in Riga, is to be painted by hand, with each piece representing "a scene from Bolshevik life."

One of the comic papers depicts, in a cartoon, Ganetzky seated at a table, surrounded by this spectacular china, but pushing away the plates and asking for something to eat.

In all of the Baltic states, where the Soviet government has legations, the Ministers and their aides live in luxurious contrast to conditions said to prevail in Moscow and Petrograd say the Baltic newspapers. Each of the Ministers has a large automobile and summer villas at the seaside have been engaged for the legation personnel. Some of the ministers have also bought elaborately-furnish town houses. Their legations are housed in large hotels in Helsingfors, Reval, Riga and Kovno, the entire buildings having been taken over for them.

Between Riga and Moscow, and Reval and Petrograd, luxurious saloon and sleeping cars are operated for the benefit of Bolshevik officials, while all other passengers must crowd into unupholstered, packed, third-class cars. The newspapers here and in other Baltic states frequently point to these conditions and contrast them with communistic ideals.

PLUMAGE BILL PASSED

LONDON, July, 17.—Bird lovers have won a victory by the final passing of the Plumage Bill, which prohibits the importation into the United Kingdom of the feathers of any bird except those of the African ostrich and the eider duck.

*The bill is mainly designed to pre*vent cruelty in securing the feathers of such ornamental birds as ospreys and birds of paradise.

The prohibition regarding importation extends to dead bodies of birds with the plumage on them, but does not apply to feathers worn by travelers or introduced in travelers' baggage, provided it can be shown that they are for personal use only.

Strenuous opposition had been offered to the passage of the bill by the trade interested.

"RAIN OF BLOOD."

The "Rain of Blood," a curious phenomenon of Southern France and Italy, occurred recently at Monte Carlo and Mentone. After the downpour ceased the roofs, roads, gardens and shrubs of the Riviera were covered with sticky crimson. The superstitious inhabitants of the gambling metropolis were much terrified. There is, however, a scientific explanation which is perfectly satisfactory, says the Scientific American. It is said that the rain clouds had been saturated with red sand from the Sahara desert.

More English surnames begin with "W" than any other letter, says an investigator.

FIUME HAS YET TO REGAIN ITS LOST TRADE

FIUME, July 17.—Fiume lingers in the doldrums so far as resumption of the once world-renowned trade of this port is concerned, while the new state of Jugoslavia is pressing forward in an effort to take the trade with America that Fiume held before the war.

Political quarrels in this city and international disputes keep the wharves of Fiume idle but in Jugoslavia a company has been formed to establish a line of steamers to operate from Spalato, Ragusa and Cattaro to New York.

Already small steamers are being operated along the whole Dalmatian coast under the Jugoslavia flag but they do not touch at Fiume, formerly the chief port for this trade.

The Italian suggestion of a consortium for the management and amalgamation of the port of Fiume and port of Baross, has been rejected by the Jugoslavs, who claim complete sovereignty over the port of Baross and with it the town of Sussak, all of which, they contend, is in keeping with the treaty of Rapallo.

An Italian commander, Captain Foschini, has been designated by the Italian government to take charge of the city of Fiume in an effort to adjust the differences between the contending groups inside the town.

"My father and I know everything in the world," boasted a small boy to a visitor.

"That so," said the caller. "Where is Asia?"

After a moment's hesitation the youngster answered, "Oh, that's one of the things my father knows."

TEN THOUSAND STILLS FLOUT LAW

Rum Makers of Porto Rico Care Little for Light Fines and Sentences.

SAN JUAN, P. R., July 17.—There are 10,000 stills in operation in the island, in violation of the Volstead Act and local laws, in the opinion of the prohibition director's staff.

This opinion is substantiated by a recent statement of Antonio R. Barcelo, president of the Senate.

The prohibition director's office holds that so long as light fines and sentences are imposed, rum-making in the island can not be suppressed.

SMALL TURNOVER SATURDAY SESSION

Next to Nothing Doing on Change; Prices Drift Idly in Narrow Compass.

NEW YORK, July 16.—Barely 115,000 shares were turned over in today's stock market—the smallest daily total of the year.

Price movements were in keeping. Standard shares drifted idly within fractional limits. Short covering retrieved most small losses, except in the case of Atlantic Gulf common and preferred. The day's news indicated additional industrial readjustment. The International Harvester company announced another cut in prices of tractors Tool steel schedules also were revised downward.

Trade reviews by commercial agencies emphasized cautious buying for immediate needs, pending more light on crop prospects. Wholesale distribution of merchandise increased with better collections.

Actual loans and discounts of clearing house banks for the week contracted slightly more than $55,000,000. Net demand deposits increased $35,000,000 and cash holdings were reduced by nearly $21,000,000, leaving excess reserves at little more than $13,000,000.

Government bonds, including Liberty issues, were steady, but rails, industrials and internations were featurless on nominal dealings. Total sales, par value, were $3,125,000.

POWERFUL SEARCHLIGHT

A half-billion candle-power searchlight, most powerful in the world, whose rays can be seen for seventy miles, has just been received at San Francisco, where it will be installed on Mount Tamalpias, at the entrance to the Golden Gate.

The light is ten feet high and weighs nearly three tons and has a sixty-inch lens. A man standing ten miles from the light could read a newspaper. A citizens' committee of San Francisco is arranging for the searchlight, which will shoot its rays out across the Pacific ocean and give the first indication to incoming steamships that land is near.

WHEAT EASIER

CHICAGO, July 16.—Wheat was easier, but corn and oats were strong and provisions higher on the Chicago board of trade today. Net results of the short session were recessions of 1¼ to 2 cents in wheat, gains of 1½ to 2⅛ cents in corn, and 1 to 1½ cents in oats. Provisions made net gains of from 5 to 22½ cents. Early there were renewed reports of black rust in Canada, but these were discounted by opinions that damage would not be severe. This latter development offset to some extent a decrease in country offerings.

TWENTY-FIVE DOLLAR WIVES

A bad blow to woman's vanity in the jungles and forests of the boundary territory between the British colony of Sierra Leone and Liberia, West Africa, has been struck by Mr. Balfour, who, with the Liberian minister, has ratified a convention on frontier matters in that region. It appears that some of the native beauties have been taking too flattering a view of their value. After long communings they have set a high a price on themselves as 6 or 7 guineas, to be paid by the gentleman who wants to marry them, in accordance with native tribal law. Mr. Balfour and J. P. Crommelin, the Liberian minister, have decided that a 6-guinea wife is profiteering. They have set forth, in Article 1 of the convention that "a sum not exceeding £5 sterling shall be allowed as the full amount of dower paid for a lawfully married wife according to the native customary law of marriage." And not a shilling more. No minimum price for wives is fixed.

COCKROACH RACES

Betting on cockroach races is one of the newest sports in Constantinople. It was introduced by a Russian who had just opened a hall where a man who wants some real excitement for his money can get results. The hall is darkened at the moment the races begin. Then a single electric bulb at the end of a runway is turned on, and the cockroaches, each in a separate track, are let loose from their cages to race for the light. More real, old-fashioned, non-professional sport may be had here than in any other part of Europe. This is due in part to the allied troops of occupation, to the American officers and sailors on station here and the large number of American and British civilians who have come out for business since the armistice. What the Russian refugees have done in the way of enlivening the city with concerts, dancing places and queer restaurants, the other allies have done in sporting lines. Both the British and the Americans have laid out golf courses. There are also a few tennis courts. The Russians from the Black Sea, who are accustomed to bathe naked, have increased the popularity of the beaches, especially a fine strip of sand on the Marmora north shore known as Floria. There, without let or hindrance men, women and children undress on the open beach and bathe in costumes that seem to them quite conventional. The Turks have contributed chicken fights to the international sports.

FIRE EATING TOADS.

The question whether toads are insensible to heat is suggested by the results of some amazing experiments conducted by Professor W. N. F. Woodland, of Maidenhead, England, who has discovered that toads will gobble up redhot charcoal and lighted cigarette ends without appearing to experience the slightest discomfort.

A practical demonstration of this peculiar taste was given to Professor Woodland in India. Small fragments of redhot charcoal were thrown on the cement floor in front of several small toads, and the glowing fragments were eagerly snapped up and swallowed. The toads appeared to suffer no inconvenience. On the contrary several toads swallowed two or even three fragments in succession.

The experiments were repeated in England with the same results, the toads even attempting to pick up glowing cigarette ends.

The fact that they seized several particles in quick succession would seem to imply either that the heat was not felt, which appears almost incredible, or that memory is entirely absent in toads; but since troads associate a given time a day with supply of food, the latter explanation seems wrong.

In is interesting to recall that the salamander, a kind of lizard, was believed by the ancients to live on fire.

BRINGING UP FATHER

SAYS IT WAS AGONY TO MOVE A MUSCLE

Vancouver Business Man Flat of His Back Five Weeks—Is Now Restored to Health.

"I was flat on my back with rheumatism and had been for five weeks when I began taking Tanlac," said William Sumner, 605 Eighth avenue, west, Vancouver, B. C., brick and cement builder.

"For several years I had been bothered with rheumatism in my left leg, but is was never serious enough to knock me out entirely. One day, however, while working on a boiler I got wringing wet and did not change my clothes for some hours. As a result of this exposure rheumatism set in my leg so bad that the next morning when I managed to get from my bed to the couch I was not able to get back to my bed and actually had to lie on that couch for over five weeks, as I was in such pain I couldn't bear to have anybody touch me. I couldn't even move a muscle without suffering intense agony, and of course I got little sleep.

"This was the awful condition I was in when I began to take Tanlac. The first bottle did me little good, but, fortunately, I persisted in taking it, together with the laxative tablets, and after a while I began to rapidly improve and almost before I realized it I was able to be up and back at work. This was over a year ago and I haven't had a touch of rheumatism since. Not only that, but I feel twenty years younger than my age and I give Tanlac the entire credit."

TRAIL REGISTERS FIRST LEAGUE WIN

Beats Visiting Nelson Team, Nine to Five; Home Run by Howard.

TRAIL, July 17.—The Trail ball nine made their first West Kootenay league victory this afternoon by defeating the visiting Nelson nine with a score of 9—5 in a nine inning game. A crowd of several hundred witnessed the game, which, going in favor of Nelson at the end of the third, was pulled out of the fire for the Trail boys when Patton was sent to the mound to relieve Morrish.

Trail opened the scoring with two runs in the second. Nelson knocked Morrish out of the box in the third, scooping up four runs and taking the lead. Patton, on the mound for Trail, pitched good ball allowing Nelson only one run, which was put across in the sixth. Trail increased its score to three in the fifth, and then had a circus in the seventh, bunching hits and taking four runs in the inning. One of them was a home run, hit by Howard.

The Trail boys poled out two more in the eighth, making the score 9—5, at which it stood.

AUSTRALIANS HAVE HARD PROPOSITION

Winnipeg Pair Play Brilliant Tennis; Win Two of Five Sets.

TORONTO, July 17—Norman Peters and C. V. Todd, members of the Australian Davis tennis team, defeated Paul Bennett and G. D. Holmes, Winnipeg, on Saturday, after a strenuous and exciting battle, in the final for the Canadian open doubles tennis championship. The score was 6-4, 5-7, 5-7, 7-5 and 6-4, and is a good indication of the run of play. Spectators were treated to the best tennis of the tournament and although the Australians had slightly the better of the exchanges the Winnipeg players gave a marvelous exhibition, especially in the second and third sets. Bennett and Holmes have been selected as Canadian challengers for the Davis cup and will play the Australians here again in August. On Saturday's play the men from the Antipodes here will be extended to the limit.

In the final for the singles W. Bates, California, defeated H. Levy, his doubles partner, in four sets. The score was 4-6, 6-4, 6-2, 6-3.

In the ladies' singles Mrs. Harry Rickle, the Canadian champion, outmanoeuvered Miss Grove, New York, winning 6-0, 6-0.

Charles Chambers New York, won the men's handicap, defeating J. F. Foulkes, Kingston.

In the final for the mixed doubles excellent games were played by Mrs. Pickle and W. Bates, and Miss Grove and Steinkampf, New York, the former winning, 6-4, 6-2.

After the Australians had won the first set, 6-4, some wonderful rallies took place in the second set of the doubles, which the Canadians won, 7-5.

The third set was a repetition of the second, the Canadian pair outplaying the Australians at the net and winning it 7-5.

The fourth was the most exciting set of all. Bennett and Holmes won the first two games. The Australians took the next two, Todd making some very fine aces. They each won their series, making it three all. At this point Bennett and Holmes made some marvelous gets, Bennett in particular killing everything he got his racquet on, making the score 5-3 in their favor.

Amidst breathless excitement, Holmes started serving in the next game. Bennett and Holmes had it match point at 40-30, Todd making a fine ace and evening it up. Again the Canadians had the match within a point, but Todd again saved the situation for his side, making it 5-4. The next game, Todd serving, won the first point and then double faulted. He made up for it by serving a couple of aces and won the game. Peach, who had been playing with usual confidence, came to life with a vengeance and the Australians won the set, 7-5. The last set was another titanic struggle. Round after round of applause greated the many exciting volley rallies.

Canadians Had Bad Luck.

Giving the Australians all due credit for their great pull up in the fourth set, the Canadians were a bit unlucky to lose.

In one of the elimination matches to decide the Davis cup, McGill, of Winnipeg, beat Milne, of Vancouver, in three hard-fought sets. The other matches of the series will be played on Monday and Tuesday. The Canadian team will be chosen Tuesday.

JAPANESE FEAR SECRET PURPOSE

Empire Divided on Issues Involved in Harding Invitation to Conference.

TOKIO, July 17.—Japan today seems an empire divided on the great issues created by the summons of President Harding on disarmament and far eastern problems. On one side, largely in the ranks of the bureaucrats, there is fear that the proposed conference will be dominated by the Anglo-Saxons, and may result in strangling Japan's political and economic development in Asia.

On the other side is a powerful group, which demands that Japan enter into the deliberations fearlessly, submitting her wants resolutely, combating for them with confidence and not opposing just claims. Haggling and bickering, they insist, will ruin the cause of Japan.

Both camps agree that Japan is facing a crisis, requiring tact and largeness of vision. Many members of the privy council, according to the well informed Chugai Shogio Shimpo, are pessimistic about the conference; they contend that the proposal to discuss problems and policies of the far east indicates cooperation between the United States and Great Britain in an attempt to settle international questions favorably for them, an indication of what was to be seen in the attitude of the British toward the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

The invitation to China to join in the conference it is further urged is additional evidence in support of the theory of a secret purpose on the part of the Anglo-Saxon nations in calling the conference. They argue that China doubtless will strive, with the support of Great Britain and the United States, for a settlement of questions in her favor, resulting in injury to Japanese interests.

The councillors are quoted as saying:

"Japan should make participation conditional on the settlement of all questions between Japan and the United States, including opening the economic door of all territories in the Pacific to Orientals."

EMBEZZLES ON GRAND SCALE

AUSTIN, Minn., July 17.—Embezzlement of at least $150,000 from George A. Hormel & Co., packers, was admitted late Saturday by R. J. Thompson, comptroller of the company, in a statement issued jointly with officers of the concern. No legal action has been taken yet against Thompson and none will be until the total amount of the shortage is known.

Thompson, widely known in this section as President of the Oakdale Poultry farm near here; and the Oakdale Holstein farm at Blooming Prairie, Minn., has assigned all his holdings to trustees for operation until their ultimate disposition is determined. The property in Thompson's name is extensive and whatever the extent of his defalcations this property will make up a large amount of it.

Thompson entered the employ of the company several years ago as a $12 a week clerk and worked his way up rapidly.

Rises From $12 Clerk.

From the $12 a week clerk Thompson's rise was rapid. Every week he announced some new project and his neighbors looked forward eagerly for each announcement. One day he announced he had purchased a 40-acre farm near Leroy, which he converted into a chicken ranch. He spent $50,000 upon it. It became a Mecca for travelers.

Thompson laid out beautiful parks on the farm, erected a dancing pavilion at an expense of $30,000, with a dancing floor to accommodate 1000 couples. Two thousand electric lights were installed. A 35-piece band was kept on hand for festive occasions.

A hotel with 50 beds and a dining room to care for 75 diners was built. Then he constructed a fire station and installed two chemical engines with a perfect fire fighting force.

A 10-acre playground for the children was laid out and an artificial lake built.

His service to public affairs and charity were large.

His salary with the company was $5000 a year.

"I must have been crazy; I know I was crazy" was Thompson's comment tonight, adding that his only concern now was to get his accounts straightened out. His wife and 10-year-old son say they will stand by him through his troubles.

IN LOVE WITH THE GIRL IN A PICTURE

The heart-free man who pays a visit to the Royal Academy exhibition is running a risk of which he little dreams, for not a few who have gone before him have come away carrying the memory of a pictured face which has given him no peace until they have made the original their own, says a writer in a London paper.

One day a few years ago, a prosperous Australian of middle age chanced to stroll into the academy to pass away an hour before taking a train for the north. Suddenly he paused before an inconspicuous canvas, on which was pictured a hayfield flooded with sunshine. In the foreground was a daintily-poised girlish figure, whose blue eyes looked out, half demurely, half coquettishly, from under the shade of a sunbonnet.

When the stranger's eyes fell on this girlish figure he gave a gasp of astonishment. It was an exact presentment of the girl who had won his heart long years earlier, before he crossed the seas in quest of fortune, and whom he had lost.

At any cost he decided he must see the original. Learning the name and address of the artist through an official, he soon found himself in the presence of the little haymaker whom he found living in semi-poverty in a Gray's Inn Road attic, and from her he learned the story of her life, which confirmed his expectations.

It turned out that she was actually the daughter of his former love, who had made an unhappy marriage, and had died, leaving her child penniless, to earn a scanty living by placing her beauty at the service of art. But the days of her struggles were ended. A few weeks later she was crossing the seas with her husband to become one of the most popular and envied women in Sydney society.

MANY ARTS IN SHIPBUILDING.

Almost all known trades are employed in naval construction and to run a great ship requires more separate arts and sciences than any other object made by man. Among the actual branches of science which enter into shipbuilding the oldest is astronomy, which is still of great importance to navigation. Radio apparatus is peculiarly an advantage to the navy. Mathematics is an essential, of course, to all other sciences. Mathematical apparatus for range finding is employed which determines instantly problems containing as many as half a dozen variables. Chemistry and physics contribute in a great measure to the complete battleship, the branch of optics alone having given many advantages. In the matter of electrical science the scope to which it is used on a battleship may be appreciated by the fact that the average large warship can generate 180,000 horse-power of electrical energy, which is equivalent to the amount used for a fairly large city.

The Caucasus bandit on whise head the Soviet government has put a price has come into the limelight again because of his cruelty. On his way from the Volga, where he began his career, Lietnyi impaled on stakes the chief men of all villages which refused to recognize his sovereignty, and forced the remaining villagers, men and women, into ravines, where they were shot down. At his present headquarters he keeps a menagerie of bears and wolves stolen from M. Archipomonoff, a wealthy merchant of Tsaritsyn. After showing some favorite wild beast much hospitality to his captive, he throws the unfortunate captive in to be eaten.

Freddy—Ma, carpets are curious things, aren't they?

His Mother—Why?

Freddy—'Cos they are bought by the yard and worn by the feet.

X-RAYS SAFE

PARIS, June 13.—X-ray laboratories have been found to constitute but slight if any danger to persons in adjacent rooms. A report to the Academy of Medicine held that modern appliances and conditions generally existing in X-ray rooms sufficiently to protect all but the operators.

The report was prepared by a commission after recent reports to the academy that X-rays were a serious menace to people in buildings housing laboratories. It was contended the rays would penetrate walls with force enough to cause serious injury. This contention was found by the commission to be ill-founded.

An American gentleman once went over the field of Waterloo with a guide, who boasted that he escorted General Sheridan over the scene of Napoleon's great defeat.

"What did General Sheridan say?" asked my friend.

"Oh, nothing."

"He must have said something."

"Well, he only said, 'It was a blamed good place for a fight.'"
