VOL. 20. NELSON, B.C., TUESDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 1, 1921. NO. 158.

LLOYD GEORGE LAYS IRISH CASE BEFORE COMMONS AND SECURES CONFIDENCE VOTE

Unionist Vote of Censure Fails; Premier Secures Oratorical Success; Failing Early Agreement Ulster Parliament to Function; Holds Prospect of Guerilla Warfare Before House; Every Detail of Compact to Have Parliamentary Sanction; House Must Trust or Replace Its Negotiators, Says Premier.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The government obtained its expected mandate from the house of commons tonight to proceed with the Irish negotiations, The Unionist motion, censuring the government for initiating the Irish negotiations, was voted down, 439 to 43.

The prime minister also achieved another of his oratorical successes before a large audience. As far as the movement of protest was designed to draw information as to the proceedings of the conference, it failed; the prime minister gave no information as to what has been decided or is being decided regarding De Valera's claim to independence, and the rumored attempts to arrange concessions from Ulster for a united Ireland. These remain in the realm of speculation.

Ulster to Function

One piece of information the prime minister did give. It was unless something happened within a few days, presumably in the conference, to solve the unsettled status of Ireland's two governments, steps would be taken to give the Ulster parliament the powers necessary to make it a real government.

Lloyd George declared that the time to question the negotiations was when he first proposed them to the Sinn Fein by public correspondence last July. Much of his speech was devoted to holding before the commons the prospect of a renewal of guerilla warfare if the conference broke down.

He declared the first thing the government would have to do would be to ask the house to strengthen the crown forces, but pointed out the cost of renewed warfare and the reluctance of the country to incur greater taxation and ask more young men to risk their lives. He asserted the government's resolve to refuse concessions which would weaken the Empire but to explore all paths to an honorable peace, and emphasized the fact that any agreement must be ratified by parliament

Deprecates Renewed Fighting

The motion was proposed by Col. J. Gretton, Unionist, and was seconded by Rupert S. Gwynne. No conspicuous leaders spoke in its support. Those who most strongly advocated the policy of the motion laid much stress on their protests against negotiating with men who have denied allegiance to the crown. Arthur Henderson, in behalf of the Laborites, explained that that party favored the negotiations although

THINKS SHELLS ENOUGH TO WRECK GOVERNMENT

Militia Minister Disperses Liberal Leader's Alarms on War Expenditure.

HAMILTON, Ont., Oct. 31.—(Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—By far the greater part of the crowd of 6000 in the arena rink tonight listened with careful attention to Premier Meighen's address, but now and then interruptions occurred. Some of these were hardly intelligible as the crowd signified disapproval by drowning out the objections of the interrupters. The main lines of the premier's speech were the same as he had pursued in his other Ontario speeches.

Hon. Hugh Guthrie, minister of militia, also spoke. He said he was in receipt of a letter from Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King. "It is hardly a letter," he went on, "it is more of a speech. He wrote it with a view to plastering it on the front page of the Toronto Globe before I received it. That is the way he likes to conduct his correspondence."

"The letter," said Mr. Guthrie, "has to do with a shipment of high explosive shells. Why he has taken stage fright I do not know," said Mr. Guthrie, "but he stated that this shipment of shells is sufficient in itself to wreck the government."

The minister went on to give the same explanation of this shell shipment as the premier gave in his letter to Mr. King, which was published recently.

Nucleus for Defence

The Liberal leader had criticized expenditure on the Canadian army, said Mr. Guthrie. "We do not propose to expend any money on any system which could be called militaristic system," he said.

The object of the government was to build up a nucleus for the defense of Canada and it proposed to continue along these lines.

Premier Meighen referred to the railway situation in Canada, declaring that the Canadian National railways were divorced from politics, "and they will stay that way as long as this government is in power."

If the object was to drive the road into bankruptcy, it should be returned to political control.

"Mr. Crerar perspires pitifully in his manifesto on this question," said the Premier, "and declares that something must be done. But there is really no difference on the railway question, and Mr. Crerar knows it. He is just forcing the railway question because he wants to avoid discussing the tariff."

"It is because of the tricky manner in which the tariff policy is being challenged that we must be on our guard," declared Mr. Meighen. "Free trade propaganda has circulated for years in the west. Thousands of dollars have been spent on this propaganda."

Relief Fund is Opened in Nelson and District for Sufferers From Recent Disastrous Coast Floods

A Nelson and district fund for the homeless and destitute at Britannia and Coquitlam has been opened, following a telegram received last night from the Vancouver board of trade by Fred A. Starkey, commissioner of the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia.

A. D. McLeod, manager of the Royal Bank of Canada, consented, when called up by Mr. Starkey, to act as treasurer, and Mayor C. F. McHardy has promised his wholehearted support and cooperation in making the fund a success.

A meeting to complete the necessary organization will be held today.

Subscriptions may be sent to Mr. McLeod at the Royal Bank or to The Daily News.

The telegram to Mr. Starkey from the Vancouver board of trade reads: "Will you form a committee and take charge of collection of funds in your district for flood victims of Britannia and Coquitlam. Survivors are homeless and destitute." The message goes on to explain that the Vancouver board of trade and city council had organized a fund at the coast.

Last night Mr. Starkey telegraphed the Vancouver board of trade that the heartfelt sympathy of Nelson and district went out to the flood sufferers. He also mentioned that prominent citizens, including the mayor, had promised their wholehearted support, and that The Daily News had offered to open its columns to subscriptions.

The Daily News has opened the list with a subscription of $10.

ABANDON HOPES FOR MISSING VICTIMS OF BRITANNIA FLOOD DEATH ROLL NOW THIRTY-FIVE

Find Two-Year-Old Baby Girl Asleep and Unharmed in Cradle Under Pile of Driftwood; Volunteer Workers Continue Search for Missing and Salvage of Property; Nine Miles of P. B. E. Railway Under Water; Red Cross Takes Charge of Relief Measures; Vancouver City Votes $5000 to Help.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 31.—The death list in the flood which wiped out the residential settlement of Britannia Beach on Friday night was reduced to 35 today, when it became known that the two-year-old daughter of Frank Braidwood was found asleep and unharmed in its cradle Sunday under a pile of driftwood. Mrs. Braidwood is still missing and an older child is among the identified dead. The providential rescue of the little girl was not reported until she arrived in Vancouver on tonight's boat.

Hope was abandoned tonight for the possible rescue of any more of the missing victims of the flood.

Search for Missing.

Volunteer workers combined their efforts [illegible] surviving citizens of the town [illegible] search for the 20 bodies still [illegible]. Salvage for furniture and [illegible] of the houses of which all o[illegible]part are still standing also was [illegible]der of the day. With the swe[illegible]rrent of Britannia creek still flo[illegible]rough the area on which the resi[illegible]l part of the town was built, both tasks are rendered very difficult. The weather is fair and mild and the worst of the flood is over. The warm wave tends to bring down an unreasonable amount of melting snow from the mountains. This condition, however, is not likely to cause serious trouble, but the snowfall in the higher altitudes has not been heavy so far.

Two More Bodies.

Two more bodies were found today under wreckage in the path of the flood. They were those of Mrs. H. Luxmore and Richard Farrington, a boy of seven Vancouver Votes Relief.

Subject to the approval of the city council, the civic finance committee today voted $5000 for the relief of victims of the Britannia Beach flood.

The Red Cross society will be asked to take charge of the distribution of clothing, it was decided by the emergency relief committee of the Vancouver board of trade, formed here today to take charge of the relief work in the flooded village.

Nine Miles of Rail Inundated

VANCOUVER, Oct. 31.—Nine miles of the grade of the Pacific Great Eastern railway from Squamish north is under water and 20 miles of line damaged as a result of the floods in the Squamish valley, 40 miles from this city, according to a statement made today by A. B. Buckworth, general manager of the railway. It will take from one to two weeks to reopen the line for traffic. Pile and trestle work will have to ge constructed to carry a temporary line.

Princess Sympathizes.

VICTORIA, Oct. 31.—Lieutenant Governor Nichol received today the following cable from London:

"Deeply grieved hearing sad news of terrible flood disasters. Please convey my deepest sympathy with sufferers. (Signed)

"PRINCESS LOUISE, DUCHESS OF ARGYLE."

Fund of $75,000 Objective.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 31.—A fund of $75,000 will be the objective of the committee on relief for the sufferers in the Britannia Beach flood. This was decided at a big meeting here tonight, when a committee of the Vancouver board of trade was enlarged by the cooperation of a number of prominent citizens of this district. Small contributions will be invited from private citizens everywhere and the committee hopes to realize their objective by the end of this week. Premier John Oliver of British Columbia has telegraphed his promise of financial assistance from the government.

One hundred persons are homeless in Britannia today.

Legislature Sympathizes.

VICTORIA, Oct. 31.—The legislature passed a formal resolution this afternoon expressing regret at the recent disaster at Britannia Beach and placing on record its sympathy with the relatives and friends of those who have lost their lives.

BOWSER MAKES ROUND ATTACK ON GOVERNMENT

Points to Net Debt Increase; Says Taxation Nearly to Breaking Point.

VICTORIA, Oct. 31.—A general attack on the provincial government was made this afternoon in the legislature by Hon. W. J. Bowser, leader of the opposition. He asserted that while revenues have been mounting steadily, due largely to taxation, which has nearly reached the breaking point, and in spite of heavy borrowings—$17,000,000 in the present year alone—the government still advanced the plea of lack of money to carry out essential work and proposed still heavier tax burdens.

He condemned the government's operation of the P. G. E. and urged the engagement of "a practical railroad man" to manage it. He touched lightly on the liquor board question, which he dealt with previously when speaking to his own resolution asking for an inquiry.

Mr. Bowser pointed to an increase in net debt of the province from $20,000,000 in 1916, the last year of Conservative rule, to between $57,000,000 and $60,000,000 today, and questioned whether any riding could show the results of this expenditure in better and more roads or in any other project of benefit to the people.

Hon. J. D. Maclean, minister of education, adjourned the debate.

ORDEAL NOT OF BATTLE BUT OF FAITH BENEATH

No More a Challenge to League of Nations Than to Monroe Doctrine.

LONDON, Oct 31.—George Harvey, the United States ambassador, speaking tonight at the dinner given by the Pilgrims' society to the British delegates to the Washington conference on limitations of armaments and Far Eastern problems, heralded the coming conference as "an ordeal not of battle but of faith," the underlying purpose of which was not more than a challenge to the league of nations than it was to the Monroe doctrine. Ambassador Harvey reviewed the action of the United States congress respecting the limitation of the army and the reduction of naval appropriations, which, he said, gave conclusive evidence of the United States government's confidence in the outcome of the conference.

"The real question confronting the conference is not whether the nations of the earth can be brought into agreement upon all things, but whether they can reach an agreement with respect to anything," he said. "It is to be a great test, not of the sincerity of peoples, but of the capacity of existing governments to satisfy the universal longing for peace, prosperity and happiness."

Ambassador Harvey opened his address by alluding to the circumstances in which the invitation to

VANCOUVER, Oct. 31.—The British Columbia Federationist, a weekly newspaper, and A. S. It is presumed the charge will be "publication of seditious matter."

"Mr. Wells was summoned to the city police court a week ago at the instance of the police department in connection with the publication in the Federationist of an article signed by Nikolai Lenine, president of the Russian Soviet Republic, under the heading "Left Wing Communism." Magistrate Shaw was asked to decide whether or not the publication of the article furnished grounds for prosecution and trial of the publisher. Today his honor announced that in his opinion he was bound to commit Mr. Wells for trial on this count. Formal committal will be made on Saturday next.

VICTORIA, Oct. 31.—"I am convinced there is a great future for trade between Canada and Japan," said Dr. Takuma Dan, leader of the Japanese businessmen's mission to America and the United Kingdom, who arrived here today aboard the Empress of Russia.

"There is a market for the raw and manufactured products of Canada in Japan and on the other hand there shou'd be a market in this country for the manufacturers of Japan."

"We are here to secure knowledge of the business methods of the countries we propose to visit and, if possible, arrive at a better understanding that will lead to closer cooperation in the establishment of international trade."

The business mission, Dr. Dan explained will be split up into parties and will visit the larger trade centers of the United States and Canada, if time permits. In December, the Japanese trade mission will set sail from New York for the United Kingdom.

NO TAX WITHOUT PROFIT TO MATCH

Finance Minister Explains Service Tax to Municipalities.

VICTORIA, Oct. 1.—A hint of what the provincial government proposes to offer municipalities during the present session of the legislature in the way of new taxation privileges was given directors of the chamber of commerce today by Hon. John Hart, minister of finance.

"In view of the demand made on the government by municipalities for greater sources of revenue, in order to lighten the burden falling most exclusively on the land," said Mr. Hart, "it has been suggested that the municipalities be authorized to collect a service tax based on stocks-in-trade. At present the government collects a tax of 1 per cent on stock and personal property, provided the amount shown to be due exceeds the amount of income tax.

"It is now proposed to give power to municipalities to collect a service tax, and that merchants be allowed to deduct the amount as an operating expense when arriving at their profits. The government would not collect any tax unless there was a profit shown."

LLOYD GEORGE LAYS IRISH CASE BEFORE COMMONS

opposing what he termed the previous policy of repression and retaliation.

Mr. Asquith supported the motion but depreciated the suggestion that renewal of fighting was the only alternative if the conference failed. This point of view finds adherents among a section of the Irish experts, who believe that a breakdown of the conference might be followed by a continuance of the truce, providing further efforts of future diplomacy.

The comment of one Ulster parliamentarian was that Lloyd George's talk of further hostilities was not intended as a warning to the Sinn Fein but to parliament not to harrass those engaged in the negotiations.

In moving the vote of censure today, Col. J. Gretton, Unionist, addressed the house after the speaker had ruled out of order an emendment by Lord Robert Cecil deploring the policy of the government in the last three years, but declaring that the severing of the negotiations at the present stage would add dangers and difficulties to the situation.

Avers Insult to Crown

Eamona De Valera's telegram to the Pope, declared Col. Gretton, was a telegram of defiance, insulting to the crown and repudiating allegiance to the King.

"The truth is," continued Col. Gretton, "that the success of the conference was hopeless from the beginning. The difference between the parties is fundamental." Those were not matters for secret negotiations, as they were vital to the safety of the government. The government, he said, was negotiating with men who "gloried in their association with murders and assissins and the government is proposing to hand over the government of Ireland to these people.

"Lloyd George," said Col. Gretton, "had condemned the murder gang, and he asked what had changed the circumstances. The government had gone too far in offering dominion home rule, which its members had in 1920, intended did not differ from complete separation and independence.

Says Government Timid

"If the government deals with a gang of gunmen," continued Col. Gretton, "it will be brought to heel elsewhere. They are beginning in India and we have heard of something in Egypt and there are beginnings at home. The government is careless of the honor of the crown and the people, too timid to uphold the great principles of law and order upon which our country is built. It will, if it continues on these courses, bring us to disaster, not only in Ireland, but throughout the world."

The Unionist member declared the British people were not to be terrorized by "a small gang of men subsidized by foreign money." The conference had virtually broken down, he said, and the government obviously was seeking some pretext to break it up. "Is the government trying to thrust the responsibility on the movers of this motion or on Ulster by making a proposal which Ulster cannot accept?" asked Col. Gretton, who said he and his colleagues wanted peace in Ireland and also a conference, but not with the Sinn Fein. The people to negotiate with were the people who lived in Ireland and not the authors of terror.

The prime minister said that a very grave issue had been raised as to the proceedings conducted by the government and it was quite clear there was a section in the house who had given every loyal support to the government in the main, but who were full of misgivings with regard to this particular action, and he felt it was essential that the situation should be cleared as soon as possible so that they might know what the view of the house really was.

He thought the movers of the resolution had put the case temperately and skilfully, but much they had said was not germane to the resolution; it was true there had been breaches of trust. These had been investigated and so far as they could be put right, they had been; guarantees received which the other side was doing its best to carry out.

When evidence had been forthcoming that arms were being imported into Ireland, the government received a distant understanding that none should be landed during the truce.

Powers Simultaneous

Dealing with the complaint of Captain Chas. Craig, leader of the Ulster Unionists in the house, that necessary powers had not been conferred on the government of northern Ireland, the prime minister explained that the Government of Ireland act provided that these powers should be conferred on the two parliaments simultaneous'y. If the southern parliament did not come into existence, he declared, something in the nature of a crown colony must be set up; then powers would be conferred simultaneously on that and the Ulster government.

The negotiations had intervened and the government thought it inadvisable to set up a crown colony until it was known how the negotiations would end. He was sure this was paralyzing the activities of the Ulster government, and the present conditon was intolerable. He then gave to Captain Craig his pledge that unless something happened, one way or another, in the next few days, the government would put the position right. It would either transfer the necessary powers to the northern parliament under the provisions of the act, if that were legally possible, or otherwise it would ask parliament to pass a short act for the purpose.

The motion as presented in parliament was divided into two sections, the first an expression of grave apprehension that the government had entered into negotiations with men who had repudiated the authority of the crown, and second, that the sanction of parliament ought to have been obtained for the actual proposals made.

Parliament Must Decide

"No compact can come into effect without the authority of parliament," said Mr. Lloyd George. "Every detail will be submitted to parliament. The agreement, if there be an agreement, will have to be in the form of an act of parliament. It is suggested that the government ought to come to the house and say: 'We want your sanction for this or that proposal,' (cries of 'why not?').

"No negotiations could possibly be conducted like that. There must be some latitude. There are certain basic principles, but those have been declared to the house repeatedly." (Cries of 'what are they?')

"They have been declared time after time, and we stand by them. We have declared to parliament repeatedly that the government is prepared to meet any representatives of the Irish people who could deliver the goods. I am prepared to meet anyone who can make a good bargain on behalf of the population of Ireland."

The time to challenge the conference, said the prime minister, was when his letter was written in July in response to the King's gracious speech at Belfast; if the same motion had been put down, with a demand from 40 or 50 members for discussion, he would have wasted no time in giving them an opportunity.

Will Refrain from Voting

Rupert Sackville Gwynne, Unionist member for the Eastbourne division of Sussex, urged the government to consult the parliament and advise it what safeguards had been arranged for the Unionists in south Ireland, who, if the conference proceeded along the present lines, would be sacrificed.

"If this is done to placate United States opinion," he said, "all I can say is that our empire is not built on what other countries have thought.

Captain Charles Curtis Craig, the eader of the Ulster Unionist members in the house, announced that they would not vote on the motion if they received satisfactory assurances that the necessary powers would be given the Ulster parliament to enable it to function.

Query Crown Authority.

The gist of the complaint, continued the prime minister, was that a conference should not be held with persons repudiating the authority of the crown and associated with things all abhor. "If there was to be a conference it must be with those who, for the time being, spoke in the name of the majority of the Irish people. It was charged that these persons had secured representation by intimidation, but if men were not treated as representatives because of the methods whereby they were elected there would be an end to the British constitution."

No party, asserted the prime minister, obtained a majority but that the other party said it had obtained it by discreditable methods.

"For the moment the government knows the sympathies of Ireland are behind these people," asserted the prime minister. "The only thing the government can do is to treat them as representatives of the people. I admit that all the Sinn Fein declared for a republic, that all the Sinn Fein repudiated the authority of the crown, but if we are not going to deal with them for that reason there is no one in Ireland to deal with."

Recalling that Great Britain had dealt with rebels before, instancing South Africa, the premier asserted emphatically:

"The only issue is whether the house will say: 'Drop these negotiations; crush the rebellion first, then deal with Ireland as seems just in the eyes of parliament.'

Urges Count to Cost.

"It is a question of cost. Let us count the cost. If the conference is broken, and it may be—I am not asking the house to face anything which some one at this table may not be inviting it to face, perhaps in a few days—I want the house to feel that it had done everything that could be reasonably expected by this country and the civilized world to avert it. The first thing the government would have to do would be to strengthen the forces of the crown in Ireland on a considerable scale."

Discussing guerilla warfare, the prime minister said that all know what gigantic forces had to be put into Africa. One of the evils of guerilla warfare was that the forces were dispersed and there was not the same control of discipline. Unless it was absolutely necessary for the honor and security of the country it was not the time to impose great additional burdens upon the taxpayers and invite the young men once more to risk their lives. (Cheers from the Laborites.)

"Before you do that," said the premier, "you must first of all convince the people of this country that there is no other alternative. You must convince the Empire. You must convince yourselves.

"I am now invited," he went on to state, "what the opinions of the government are in the middle of a conference, on the subjects discussed there. There are two kinds of conference, the open conference, at which no business is ever transacted, though it encourages the faithful, and the conference of closed doors, which is the only conference at which you can do business. Then there is the conference of partial disclosure, which has all the vices and none of the virtues of the other two and is the way to disaster.

Either Trust or Don't.

"Without caring one iota myself, the house of commons must either trust its negotiators, or replace them. (Loud cheers.) I want to know, my colleagues, I want t oknow whether you want us to try to make peace. If you do not there will be one who will be glad to go to his sovereign and say: 'I hand in my portfolio.' (Cheers.)

"If we discuss the matter in this house there will be no conference."

Conscience Must Be Free.

"Negotiations are proceeding. I would be happy if I could be in a position to announce that the great parent race which founded this Empire had decided to put an end to this feud of centuries and substitute comradeship. I can not conceal the possibility that I may have to make the grim announcement thta it is impossible to settle without danger or dishonor.

"If that terrible hour comes and some one standing at this table has to invite this house and the country to make greater sacrifices then Britain's conscience must be free and we must feel that everything has been done.

"If the security of this country is menaced; if the throne is repudiated; if this empire is to be mutilated, and Ireland established as an alien country on our most vulnerable flank, free to make any arrangements with the enemies of this country; free to make war on our commerce, if Ireland walks off with her freedom leaving Britain staggering alone under the burdens thrown upon her for benefits which every Irishman in the world is sharing today, whether in this country, the dominions or the United States; if arms are insisted on, which will mean civil war between Catholic and Protestant, then Britain, I feel confident, will make the necessary sacrifices to face the necessary risk and avert such evils.

Great Issues Depend.

"Great issues are dependent upon this conference; the fate of the Empire, or rather the strength of the Empire, is involved. If concessions are pressed that would weaken the Empire the government will take all hazards to protect it. If concessions can be made which will bring an honorable peace, which will strengthen the Empire, we will hazard all on the possibility of achieving that object."

Herbert Asquith, who followed the prime minister, said in supporting the government on the issue:

"We are not giving a blank check or a vote of confidence. We think that the government is pursuing a statesmanlike course, and we are content to support them by every means in our power in the action they are taking. If the negotiations break down we should be confronted with a situation of unexampled difficulty and danger.

"Do not let us in advance commit ourselves to this or that method of facing and dealing with such a situation."

The biggest of all sea birds is the albatross.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take a glass of Salts to flush out your Kidneys and neutralize irritating acids.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation, and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in avoiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

WHOLESALERS ARE STORING POTATOES

Calgary Public Prefers British Columbia Tubers at High Premium.

J. A. Grant, British Columbia markets commissioner, in his bulletin issued Saturday from Calgary, says

The weather continues fine in Calgary. This may have something to do with the slow movement of fruits and vegetables. Trade with country points is dead slow. There is little hope for staple conditions until winter weather fairly sets in. Wholesalers are storing a very limited quantity of winter apples, while storage of potatoes from British Columbia and Alberta is heavy.

Southern Alberta is shipping some very nice potatoes to Calgary. The public are paying $45 per ton for British Columbias, while they hesitate to buy Albertas at $25 per ton.

The hay and potato market is stationary and the same would describe the butter and egg market. Orders are coming in light. There is no change in prices since last week.

He gives Calgary wholesale prices as follows:

British Columbia—Apples: Jonathan, Wagener, Rome Beauty, Grimes Golden, No. 1, per box, $2.75; No. 1 Delicious, case, $4.00 to $4.25; McIntosh Red, No. 1, $3.00 to $3.25; unwrapped, various kinds, $1.75. Pears, winter, per box, $4.50 to $5.00; ripe tomatoes, four-basket crate, $1.75; squash, pumpkin, marrow, per lb., 2½c to 3c; carrots, beets, turnips, per lb., 2c to 2½c; onions, per lb., 6c; potatoes, per ton, $35.00 to $37.00; potatoes, Netted Gems, $38.00 to $40.00; Ashcroft potatoes, per ton, $45.00; celery, per lb., 4c; parsnips, per lb., 3c; strawberries, Everbearing, fancy, crate, $4.50 to $5.00; cabbage, ballhead, lb., 3c.

AGAIN OFFERS PRUNING AND PACKING SCHOOLS

Continuing the work of the last few years, the horticultural branch of the provincial department of agriculture will again hold fruit packing schools, and pruning schools, in districts in Kootenay and Boundary where growers have no facilities for acquiring knowledge of packing for commercial houses, or of gaining reliable instruction in pruning, according to E. C. Hunt, assistant horticulturist, of Nelson.

As in previous years, the local administration of the schools will be placed in the hands of responsible organizations such as Farmers' Institutes, Fruit Growers' associations, or United Farmers' locals. Such organizations will be responsible for the guarantee of the minimum number of pupils and other conditions set by the department.

The last date on which application for schools can be made is Nov. 15, all of which should be made to the E. C. Hunt. The schools will be arranged for the winter and spring months on a schedule of dates to follow the order of application.

The contractors, who have been spending a few weeks in this city, have gone out to the property to commence operations. They will employ about four men and will probably be engaged in the work well on through the winter months.

LADY LAURIER IN EXTREMES

OTTAWA, Nov. 1.—Reports from the residence of Lady Laurier early this morning indicated that sh was vry low and that sh was not expected to survive the night. Lady Laurier is in her 80th year. She is suffering from an attack of grippe contracted while out driving recently.

During the past two years 225,000 passengers were carried 6,000,000 miles in the United States with 88 accidents.

The Dead Sea is 40 miles long and 12 miles wide.

CHAMBERS OPENS FIVE-FOOT SHOOT

George Clark Strikes New Ore Body in Old Sandon Property.

A strike of five feet of nice ore that is pretty nearly steel galena in appearance has been made on the Chambers group of five claims, above Cody, by George Cark, who is working this property under a lease and bond recently secured by him from the eastern owners. While Mr. Clark's control of the mine has been recently acquired, he has had it before and knows the property inside out. The present strike has opened out an ore body that was not known previously to exist.

This particular area of the Sandon camp has always attracted much interest on account of the float in the draw below. Micky Burns has for years been digging up placer lead from the bottom of the gulch, 1500 feet below the prsnt strik, and many have sought for the parent ledge from which the float came.

Mr. Clark, who recently worked the Carnation for A. R. Mann of the Northern Construction company, came to the Kootenay in 1892 and the Chambers group dates back to the same period. The property adjoins the Noble Five.

LABOR-FARMER PARTY WILL CONVENE TODAY

Att 11 o'clock this forenoon the Labor-Farmer convention called for the West Kootenay riding will convene in Eagle hall for organization purposes. The convention will not get down to the business of nominating until the afternoon session.

Slocan Slocan, Salmon valley and Creston delegates arrived yesterday afternoon and last evening and, with the Nelson delegates, held a get-together affair in Labor hall last night. Later the Arrow lakes delegates arrived and the Kaslo delegates will come in this morning.

The present intension is not to have the sessions open to the public, though a stenographic report will be taken.

FORM HARRIER CLUB; INITIAL RUN TOMORROW

Suggestions that a harrier club should be formed that were made at the Y. M. C. A. men's gymnasium class meet last night, resulted in a decision to form a club at once and to take the first run on Wednesday night. Eight members formed the nucleus of the club, for which a few rules are to be drawn up in preparation for a brief organization meet prior to the initial run. W. M. Skilling was appointed secretary.

The delights and the value of the long distance run as a stamina builder were briefly touched on by Griffith Morris, the physical instructor, in his remarks on cross country running He cautioned moderation and self restraint as the essentials in running for health.

The run will be out to the second bridge on the Granite road and return to the Y. M. C. A. where the harriers will be instructed in massaging each other prior to the shower and plunge with which the event will end. If the run is a success, weekly and possibly bi-weekly runs will be arranged.

VETERANS SHARE IN CEREMONIAL

TORONTO, Oct. 31.—Premier Meighen, in a letter to J. F. Marsh, secretary of the Grand Army of United Veterans of Canada, according to announcement made by Mr. Marsh, has approved of the arrangement made by the G. A. U. V. to be represented at the honoring of the United States unknown warrior at Washington on Armistice day, and has forwarded to Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador at Washington, the credentials of the veterans' representatives. These representatives will be:

Sergeant George Richardson, V. C., who fought with the British at the quelling of the Indian mutiny, and is 91 years of age, said to be the oldest holder of the Victoria Cross in the world, and Sergeant Walter Rayfield, V. C., Belgian gold medalist. Sergeant Rayfield is Dominion first vice president of the G. A. U. V. and he will also represent the G. W. V. A. of Canada.

The veterans will take a wreath of maple leaves to be laid on the tomb of the unknown warrior.

BOARD WASHES OUT WASH OUT CHARGE

CALGARY, Oct. 31.—The charge of 75 cents for cleaning and disinfecting livestock cars, which has been a constant source of complaint among shippers for some time, was ruled to be unlawful by the board of railway commissioners during their sitting here on Monday. Where shippers were unfortunate enough at times to be supplied locally with dirty cars the charge of 75 cents has been imposed for cleaning them and this was protested by the Calgary Livestock exchange, represented by John Reid, secretary of the exchange. William Kirkpatrick and R. M. Temple defended on behalf of the C. P. R. and C. N. R., respectively.

The railways sought to issue a tariff effective today correcting what was claimed to be a discrepancy from the board's orders, but it was proved by Mr. Reid that the board's orders had been exceeded in the past. Mr. Reid's contention that this was a disinfecting and not a cleaning charge was sustained by the board.

HELP DROUGHT STRICKEN

CALGARY, Oct. 31.—A drive for clothing for the drought areas in southern Alberta, conducted Saturday, resulted in the collection of clothing valued at $30,000. The clothing has been insured for $20,000 and will be forwarded to the drought areas. There are a couple of carloads.

HALLOWE'EN AT SHEM EL NESSIM

Scenes of Harmonious Disorder Enacted in Temple During Visitation.

Miss Armstrong's circle of Church Helpers for St. Saviour's church memorial hall is to be congratulated on the highly successful Hallowe'en tea given yesterday at Mrs. Benson's home.

Mrs. Benson, as hostess, rose admirably to the occasion and the Misses Charlotte and Ruth Armstrong were making their guests comfortable and planning the success of the function.

Master Jimmy Benson delighted with his pianforte recital and displayed a master touch, rare in one so young; a technique that only a lover of the instrument can attain; an expression that has before now elicited praise from professors; a toute ensemble that will bring this youthful musician to the goal of rare accomplishment in the musical world.

Jimmy, descending from his pedestal on the music stool, also delighted with his impersonations of vocal celebrities and was equally successful in a dance duo and duet with little Miss Isabel Benson.

Mrs. Dr. Gansner and Miss Margaret Wilson rendered songs with a quality that places both in the first rank of local talent. Miss Steed and Miss M. Irvine, as accompanists, did their duty nobly, and Miss Phyllis Whitebread's violin obbligato was greatly appreciated.

Rutsarye M'Zwena, the Mashona witch, had a busy time in the fortune teller's den, and the home cooking and candy sale was a marked success.

All told, it is estimated that the memorial hall will benefit to the tune of about $80 from the tea, which on all hands is voted a pronounced success.

Mesdames P. A. Jones, M. H. Graham and W. F. King assisted in pouring tea, Miss Armstrong's large circle carrying out the rest of the honors.

NELSON-REVELSTOKE TEST BOWLING MATCH

Telegraphic bowling contests between the Nelson Y. M. C. A. club and its old antagonist, the Revelstoke Bowling club, will open again tonight, when the two clubs will roll a test match and exchange scores over the wires. The match will be a ten-man team affair, with the conditions exactly the same as those that obtained last year. It is to be in the nature of a starter and will doubtless be followed by a regular tournament covering several months' play.

The Nelson team will be J. Allen, E. C. Hunt, C. W. Tyler, J. Bell, W. Brown, Sr.; W. Brown, Jr.; J. Armstrong, D. Nagle, E. Y. Brake, A. Higginbotham. W. T. Tait will be a spare.

BOSWELL CELEBRATES OPENING NEW WHARF

Scenes of revelry marked the opening of the new steamer wharf at Boswell last night at 10 o'clock as the steamer Moyie, in charge of Capt. Hoare, the first to make a landing at the wharf, pulled in with 28 passengers from Proctor.

The arrival of the steamer was the signal for a large number of Boswell residents to congratulate the captain, and Capt. F. P. Armstrong and themselves on the new facility. The old wharf was washed out some years ago, and since that time all steamer landings have had to be made on the sands.

To celebrate the occasion a huge bonfire was lit on the sands, refreshments were served, speeches made and some hours of social pleasure were spent.

HALLOWE'EN TEA ATTRACTS MANY

Function at Mrs. Benson's Home Pronounced Success; Fine Program.

Behind the screening walls of Shem El Nessin temple, that refuge of pious and devout Knights of Khorrassan, amazing scenes of harmonous disorder were enacted last night following the annual visitation of those alarming though alluring spirits of the wind that are subject to Hallowe'en.

Impelled by an invisible necessity hundreds of mortals, alarmed by the eerie whisperings and rustlings on the night air, sought sanctutry in the temple, and were admitted by the austere gatekeepers, whose turbans and flowing scarlet robes proclaimed their estate.

But all unseen by the guardians of the temple, the spirits of the night also gained entrance, even to the innermost recess of the temple, and there metamorphosed the things of earth into semblances and for several hours held the hundreds of mortals in thrall.

There, in the central chamber lit only by a luminous glow from bursting kernels of red, green and orange colored oats, the straws of which radiating from the clusters were held separate by black and fearsome witches ranged around the walls, the mortals did the bidding of Hallowe'en. The scene was startling. The human race almost from Adam down was represented. As from a partly concealed corner, weird but compelling music permeated the mortals stirred, and awoke to life and action. The buckskinned Indian chief commenced to trail buxom Aunt Jemima from Verginia, while her care free son, resplendant in orange and purple swallow tail flirted light heartedly with the girls. Members of the fearsome Klu Klux Klan, in striking contrast to the urbane, gaily dressed Knights of Khorrassan, sidled warily through the host, with their latest victims the Turkish lady, the Highland Girl, and Red Riding Hood. Dominoes Hula dancers, Mephisto, Beau Brummel, Lords, Uncle Zeke and his ruddy spouce down to everyday looking people such as are seen on Nelson's streets, all moved hesitated and moved again in continuous revolutions just as the muses of Hallowe'en willed.

At midnight the music was stilled, and for a few brief moments, the enchantment was broken. The whirling figures paused, and in the interval consumed quantities of excellent refreshments, and potent draughts from the witches cauldron.

Again the music arose, and for yet other hours, the mortals paid homage to Hallowe'en until the enchanting strains ceased for ever. The chain was broken, and as the 300 odd mortals faced the cool air outdoors, the Dokie Masquerade dance became only a memory.

The prize winners were: Best Hallowe'en costume, Mrs. F. Goucher; best original, Mrs. G. G. Munro, "The Daily News;" and Incognito as "Gold Dust;" best comic, Miss Violet Boyce and Mrs. E. Gardner, "Zeke and Matilda;" and H. Fleury, "Negro."

The winners of the waltzing competition were Mrs. J. Blakeman and Ian McDonald.

100,000,000 VOLTS IN LIGHTNING FLASH

Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz declared at a dinner of the Kiwanis club that only in the last few years, with the advance of electrical engineering, has science become able to understand and explain the electrical phenomena of the thunder storm, to calculate the voltage and the energy of the lightning flash, and "finnaly we have been able to reproduce lightning experimentally in our laboratory."

He said that corroborative evidence had shown that the voltage of a lightning flash was usually between 20,000,000 and 100,000,000 volts, averaging probably about 50,000,000 volts. Dr. Steinmetz continued:

"It is hard to conceive what 100,000,000 volts means. Five hundred volts will kill a man. Today we are sending electric power across the country at 220,000 volts. Thus in the 40 years since Edison's first installation we have increased the voltage in our electric circuits a thousandfold. We have produced and played with over 1,000,000 volts, and the voltage of the thundercloud is only fifty times higher than what man has produced."—New York Times.

Sad Truths

Many a man who has the life of the party lost his job the next day because he was lifeless at his work. No man—old or young can keep late hours and do justice to his work. Many men smarter than you have tried it and failed—Atchison Globe.

HEADS THAT ACHE AND PAIN

It is hard to drag along with a head that aches and pains all the time.

In nine cases out of ten, persistent headaches are due to poisoned blood, the blood being rendered impure through some derangement of the stomach, liver or bowels, but no matter which organ is to blame the cause must be removed before permanent relief can be obtained.

which has been on the market for for the past forty-five years, removes the cause of the headache by starting the organs of elimination acting freely, and when the impurities are carried off from the system, purified blood circulates in the brain cells, and the aches and pains vanish.

Miss Clara Murphy, Centre Dummer, Ont., writes: "My system was greatly run down and my blood out of order. I suffered a great deal from severe pains in my head which made me feel very miserable. After having tried other remedies I purchased a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and was very glad to notice a decided improvement in my health. I took another bottle and it has done me an enormous amount of good. I have recommended it to some of my friends who were in a similar condition and they all say it is a wonderful remedy."

The Fund for the Flood Sufferers.

A fund for the flood sufferers at Coquitlam and Britannia has been opened in Nelson.

The object is a worthy one and deserves support from the people of the district.

We in West Kootenay are particularly fortunate. Nature has given us in our rugged surroundings almost perfect protion against the gales from which less favored regions often suffer. From floods also, in spite of our annual high water period, the district has seldom sustained serious losses.

Sheltered as we are, we can be all the more sympathetic toward victims of flood and tide and gale in other sections.

Amateur Hockey in Canada.

The Canadian hockey commission, meeting in Toronto, has decided that the amateur hockey situation in the Dominion is nothing like as serious as it appeared at the annual meeting of the association at Winnipeg.

The commission has to deal with conditions as it finds them, perhaps, rather than to seek for causes. Yet when it is considered that amateur sport has been declining all over the country in the past decade it is worth while to examine into the causes as well as to grow sorrowful over effects.

Undoubtedly one of the causes of the decline in amateur sport is the rule which applies in most Canadian athletics which declares that an amateur may not play with a professional without being professionalized.

The rule is absurd. It prevents the building up of strong teams and strongly competitive sport. It handicaps youth which desires to learn the game and learn it well, and it is an unfair and unjustified reflection upon the professional. Incidentally it is a rule which is not always observed and consequently it tends to deceit and the consequent weakening of character of those who adopt devious ways to defeat it.

If an amateur plays in the same team as a professioanl or plays against a team containing a professional he thereby automatically becomes a professional. Absurd is too mild a term for a rule like that. One might as well declare that if one plays in a game with or against a negro one thereby automatically becomes an Ethiopian.

Karl's Adventures Must End.

The allies have taken a strong stand against the intrigues and attempted coups de force of Charles, ex-emperor of Austria.

Great Britain, France and Italy have told Hungary that they must formally depose Charles and hand him over to them for internment.

Elba having failed as a place of exile it is only common sense to try St. Helena.

Europe cannot afford to have its peaceful settlement further delayed by the ambitions of the Hapsburgs. Much greater issues than that of a monarchial or republican government for Hungary are at stake. The issue is no less than starvation or plenty. Middle Europe is going to continue to starve until it settles down. It cannot starve without injuring its neighbors. Hence the action of the allies.

ENGINEERING ACT DISPLEASES

To the Editor of The Daily News:

Sir: Would you be kind enough to publish this article?

I have bonded the Waverley Group of Mineral Claims, on Toad Mountain, adjourning the California Mine, to James Wilcox, of New Westminister. Mr. Wilcox stated that he will not do any work on this property until the Engineering act is amended. He said it was the rottenest piece of legislation that was ever passed in the history of mining.

Yours, etc.

Efficient Housekeeping

BY Laura A. Kirkman

ANSWERED LETTERS

An Appreciative Reader: "You would do me a great favor by publishing in your column directions for crocheting an oblong-shaped twine shopping bag instead of the round kind you gave directions for recently."

Answer: Oblong Twine Shopping Bag: —Crochet a chain nine inches long (or as long as desired). Form bottom of bag by working 1 treble into both sides of chain and 3 trebles in each end stitch. Continue working in rounds, 1 treble in each stitch, joining each round and making 3 ch for first t, until the bag is as deep as desired. Six inches is a good depth for a nine-inch bag. The handle is made exactly the same as for the round bag and is attached to the sides of the bag. Roses, for which I gave directions in the article on the round twine bag, are now put on, and the bag is lined or not—as desired.

Worried: "Please tell me of a good way to demonstrate a new salid oil and a new kind of lard in stores. A manufacturer of these products has offered me the work of demonstrating them, but I don't know how to do it. Should I make cake with the lard and salad dressing with the oil—and how would I offer samples of these to the public?"

Answer: In warm weather it is nice to dip small pieces of lettuce leaf in salad dressing and offer these to people who wish to test mayonnaise made with a new oil. But in cold weather, when there is no lettuce in the garden, it is nice to dip small unsweetened crackers in the salad dressing and offer these to people. In regard to demonstrating the lard, I would advise you to make a simple white cake with it, with no frosting, and cut the cake in small cubes about 1 inch square; have a saucer of wooden toothpicks beside the plate holding the cake-cubes, and stick a toothpick into a cube of cake when you wish anyone to sample the cake. Give each person a different toothpick with a cake-cube on it, throwing away the used ones.

Grateful Reader: "I am going to tell you about a new kind of party my sister and I are getting up for our girl and boy High School friends. You can use it in the column if you wish (for we are writing this from a distance) and in return we would like to have you tell us of some substantial kind of sandwich we could serve in the refreshment menu—something that isn't sweetened, and which is rather unusual. We are calling our party a Loony Party. Everybody is to come dressed up in a loony fashion. Photographs of famous men will hang on our walls, each man labelled with some other famous man's name. One game we will play is this: each guest will be asked to try to act like some well-known book character (such as Mark Tapley, Romeo, Major Pendennis, Priscilla, etcetera) but we will not tell each other which character we are supposed to be—the others must guess which one we are! Don't you think we'll have fun?"

Answer: Indeed I do. It is a splendid idea. I would suggest small drums and trumpets as favor for the refreshment table. The following sandwich filling is a delicious and nourishing one: Swedish Sandwich Filling: Cook 2 cups of tomatoes for 3 minutes (the canned variety will do), then add to them ½ pound of dried beef and ½ pound of cheese put through the food chopper together. Let simmer for a moment longer, then add 1 well beaten egg, stir over fire only a minute, and let cool. This amount makes 24 sandwiches. If a less salty taste is desired, parboil the beef for 3 minutes before putting it through the chopper.

Tomorrow—"What Shall I Serve Instead of Ice Cream."

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

THE TRAGEDY OF A PASSING RACE

From the days of Robert Louis Steveson and Mark Twain, the Hawaiian Islands have held a charm for travellers and lovers of the exquisite in literature.

Now the sun is going down on the glory of the little summerland. A sort of pall hangs over the beautiful paradise of the Pacific.

A dozen years ago tall palms were waving on the low, green shore line and a flowered landscape sloped lazily back against rolling hills. Now derricks, iron works, mills, piers, and modern buildings displace palm trees and the ancient picture is marred by winding streets, highways, shops, bungalows and hotels.

In the olden days the hula-hula dancer greeted you at the beach. Now you must employ a Sherlock Holmes to find one. The Sandwich Islanders almost literally have lost their desire to live. Only one in six or seven is a native of unmixed blood, and that one will speak doubtfully of his lineage. One soon discovers that he is in the presence of a dying people. Twenty-five years hence not a pure-blooded Hawaiian child will be born in the islands. That carefree race is doomed to pass from the face of the earth.

The Hawaiian's easy life cannot compete with the progressive peoples that rapidly are taking their islands away from them. Created for the great out-of-doors, they were strong and virile in their native environment, but the encroachments of what is called civilization marked them for death.

The Japanese rapidly are becoming a leading trade force in Honolulu and throughout the whole group of islands, for that matter.

Intermingling and the promiscuous mingling of races have been leading considerations in decadence of the Hawaiians. The few that have not yielded to the inevitable in that connection are a lonely and hopeless lot. They are dying of a broken heart as they witness the corruption of their racial blood and the passing of their possessions into the hands of the foreigner.

The passing of the Hawaiian is one of the tragedies of the age—and of history. His story is a repetition of the story of the American Indian and the South Sea islander. One can find the original hut and the real native, but they are not in Honolulu; they are in the remote, untravelled sections, and they are like "the last leaf upon the tree." The very wind sweeping over the Pali and down Nuuana Valley seems to be singing Queen Liliuokalani's "Aloha Oe."

(From the Daily Miner, Nov. 1, 1901)

J. Meade, who was hurt at the Silver King mine on Thursday night, is progressing nicely. His escape from serious injury was almost miraculous. The pick, striking with considerable force through the mud that filled the upper part of a missing hole, came in contact with the detonator and exploded it. The explosion threw mud up in his face, but without exploding the dynamite stick below it. If the dynamite had gone off not only Meade, but the three men working beside him would probably have been killed. The sight of both his eyes will probably be preserved.

BIG FIGURES.

In the constellation Hercules is an object that looks like a hazy star. Not until very recent years was it supposed to be anything else. As revealed to the new high-power telescopes, however, it is a congeries of suns.

The distance of this cluster of suns is so great that a ray of light, traveling 186,000 miles a second, would require 60 centuries to reach us. In other words, as we may view it tonight, we behold it as it was 36,000 years ago—a date since which mankind has emerged from the cave-dwelling period, acquired the use of tools and developed all of his successive civilizations.

The cluster is not even a part of our universe, properly speaking—that is to say, of what we call the Milky Way. It is a distinct and isolated system. At least 36,000 of the suns contained in it are individually brighter than our own sun, and the most brilliant of them exceed in lightgiving power 1000 suns like ours.

The distance of the cluster from the earth is about 200,000,000,000,000,000 miles. It seems to be egg-shaped and may rotate about its shorter axis. Observations have proved that it is moving directly toward us at a speed of something like 200 miles a second.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Styles

BY LENORE

PARIS.

Here is a coat dress on those severe simple lines that set off so well the poise and dignity of that type so often preferred to as the "tailored woman." It is a model developed by Madeleine & Madeleine, a French house which designs well for this kind of figure, and was shown originally in imitation baby-lamb, trimmed with monkey fur at the neck and sleeves.

The buckle at the low waistline is of cut steel, and the sombreness of the black is magically relieved by the delightful cloud of creamy white lace that forms the jabot. The smartly tilted hat is a good example of the style of headgear fashionable this season.

Imitation fur fabrics, by the way, are shown considerably in exclusive shops, particularly in two-piece suits.

PATTERN NO. 297

A pattern for the above model (No. 297) can be obtained in sizes 34, 36 or 38, by sending to LENORE, 8 West 40th St., NEW YORK CITY, your name, address, and 50 cents in postage stamps. Be sure to keep this newspaper clipping of the sketch and description of the garment to use as a working model when the pattern reaches you—which will be within two weeks' time.—The Editor.

Daily Recipe

RAISIN-NUT PIE.

One cup chopped seeded raisins, one-half cup chopped walnuts, one-fourth cup brown sugar, one-fourth cup butter or shortening, one cup milk, one egg.

Mix all ingredients thoroughly and let come to a boil. Add one tablespoon cornstarch to thicken. Line pin tin as for a cutard pie, bake, then add mixture and let cool to serve. Whipped cream on top is delicious.

A pompous manufacturer of machinery was showing a stranger over his factory. "Fine piece of work, isn't it?" he said, when they were looking at a very ingenious machine. "Yes," said the visitor, "but you can't hold a candle to the goods we turn out." "Indeed!" said the chagrined manufacturer, "and what is your line?" "Gunpowder," was the reply.

From examination papers.—"Formerly bears and wolves roamed all over the country, but now they are found only in theological gardens." "The climate was so cold that the inhabitants were forced to live elsewhere." "He was seventy-two years old, but he looked twice his age." "The adversaries were placed at equal distances from each other." "He screamed in silent rage."

CHARACTER IN THE NOSTRILS.

Character may be observed in the shape of the nostrils. Thin, straight-cut nostrils, with no "swell," indicate artistic gifts and an honorable, upright character. The temperament denoted is, however, cold and unaffectionate. A man with such nostrils would make a "difficult" husband, as he would be high-strung and sensitive. As a rule he would not prove much of a success financially. Nostrils of which the middle division is extended indicate miserliness and a touch of cruelty. Worldly success is denoted, but few friends would be made. No outstanding gift is associated with this type of nostril. Thick nostrils, with a pronounced swell, are not a good type. They indicate a crafty, unreliable, disloyal character, but the owner will make his way in the world. He will have a strong will, the quality of perseverance under difficulties, and a gift for finance. Nostrils with a thin division and thick swells indicate a good husband and father, but there is an absence of any "gift." A man with these nostrils will be popular, but he will be overtrustful. He won't, save in the family circle, make much of success of life. No vices are indicated. Nostrils of which the point projects and curves slightly inwards indicate ambition, literary ability and high mental gifts generally. A man with these nostrils would be of impatient temperament, but his conscience would be of the very tender type. He would make a better husband than a father. His temptation would lie in the way of excess to alcohol. He would be popular with women, but not so with men. Broad nostrils are the best type. All the virtues are associated—loyalty, temperance, honor, etc. The only drawback is that if irresponsibility. A man with this type of nostril will plod his way upward to success, and he will live to a good old age.

WHY THE BEST?

When a diamond is being considered, why is it so essential to secure the finest quality? First, because a really fine diamond has exceptional fire and brilliancy, giving lasting pleasure to its owner. Second, because a fine diamond is permanent in value as well as in brilliancy, hence it is in the nature of an investment.

HEART WOULD BEAT LIKE A TRIP HAMMER

Heart trouble has of late years become prevalent. Sometimes a pain catches you in the region of the heart, now and then your heart skips a beat, palpitates, throbs, or beats with such rapidity and violence you think it is going to burst.

You have weak and dizzy spells, sinking sensations, are nervous, irritable and depressed, and if you attempt to walk upstairs or any distance you get all out of breath.

We know of no remedy that will do so much to make the heart regain strength and vigor, regulate its beat and restore it to a healthy normal condition as will

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

Mrs. Chadwick, Delhi, Ont., writes: "I had palpitation of the heart, and the least exercise, such as going upstairs or up a hill, my heart would beat like a trip-hammer, and at times I was dizzy-headed and had a sinking sensation as if my time were near.

A friend suggested I try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, so I procured three boxes, and by the time the first one was used I began to improve. In all I took six boxes, and now although in my 66th year, I feel like a young girl; no dizziness or heart-thumping, and can walk miles without fatigue. At time of sickness I weighed 120 lbs., now I weigh 150."

SPECULATE ON THE OUTCOME

Situation May Be Worse if the Armament Conference Fails; Notable Precedent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—(By Canadian Press.)—With conferences beginning among the United States delegates to the arms limitation conference and with the advance guard from other nations beginning to arrive for the conference, speculation as to its outcome is heard everywhere. Talk over the prospects is the great subject in congressional official and diplomatic quarters and beyond a doubt the United States public is more keenly interested in the results of the conference today than in any other subject unless it be the reduction of taxes, combined with the outlook for overcoming the depression in business.

On the whole there is much hopefulness here as the time draws closer for the conference to begin. It is a mistake, however, to regard the official expressions of optimism as setting forth what the real leaders of thought in official and congressional circles conceive to be the truth.

What if Conference Fails?

There can be no doubt of the sincere desire of the Harding administration, Secretary of State Hughes and the United States delegates in general to make the conference a success. The question which is coming more and more to be discussed frankly here, in an informal way, is what will be the world situation if the conference fails—if the far eastern problems do not yield to treatment and if the effort to reach agreements to reduce armaments comes to nothing.

Apprehension here is real that if the conference does not succeed the situation will be worse than it is now and that after the conference is over there will be danger of drifting into another great war. Almost unthinkable as another conflict may be there is a curious precedent for what is apprehended in this instance provided the conference fails. One has only to recall that in the years just preceding 1914 in Europe, Great Britain made real and sincere efforts to get Germany to stop in the building up of armaments at sea. Germany repeatedly refused to listen seriously to proposals for halting or reducing armaments, and things grew worse instead of better.

Recalls Britain's Experience.

A prominent London journalist who has just arrived to attend the conference commented on the British experience with Germany and very frankly wondered whether in the present instance the United States was to go through with Japan much the same experience Britain did with Germany. He pointed out that there was a hopeful sign in the fact that public sentiment in Japan is evidently a great deal stronger in favoring reduced armaments than it ever was in Germany before 1914. He saw in this the possibility of beneficial results coming from the conference.

The very fact that not only the United States delegates, but the delegates of other powers cannot fail to recognize that failure to agree at the conference would mean a new era of enfevered preparation and that it would spell added tax burdens for the different nations is certain to be a powerful force at the conference. It may prove sufficiently powerful to overcome the grave obstacles which none can fail to perceive ahead of the arms limitations meeting.

ELECTION RECALLS STATE OFFICIALS

First Time in History of United States; North Dakota Governor Displaced.

FARGO, N. D., Oct. 31.—For the first time in the history of the United States, a state governor and two other officials have been recalled in an election.

This was accomplished in the recall of three state officials of North Dakota in Friday's election. Defeat of the non-partisan league officia's was admitted after, returns from 1796 precincts out of 2086 in the state, gave R. T. Nestos, independent candidate for governor, 105,192 votes, and Governor Lynn J. Frazier, who has been chief executive of the state for the past five years with non-partisan endorsement 94,066, a lead of 11,126 for Nestos.

S. Johnson and J. A. Kitchen held corresponding leads respectively over Attorney General William Lemke, and J. N. Hagan, commissioner of agriculture and labor, the other two officials whose recall was demanded.

"The non-partisan league has been defeated," says the Fargo Courier-News, official organ of the league in North Dakota, in an editorial today, admitting defeat. "The independent victory is not so sweeping that it can be counted upon as permanent, however."

Returns on the proposed constitutional amendments and the iniated by'aws were not tabulated as promptly as those of the candidates, but the prediction in both independent and non-partisan camps that they would run behind the candidates, but in the same ratio. All the amendments and laws were endorsed by the Independents and uniformly opposed by the league. They have to do with changes in the election laws and provide for the liquidation of the Bank of North Dakota, a state-owned institution started by the non-partisan league.

A. C. Townley, president of the national non-partisan league, was here today in conference with some leaguers, but early tonight he refused to discuss the outcome of the election or to say what effect a death for the league in this, its birth state, would have on plans of the organization in other states.

Defeat of the league officials in the election marks the second severe blow dealt that organization within a week.

Tomorrow, its leader Townley, to Jackson county jail to begin a 90-day sentence for violation of the Minneasota sedition laws. He was convicted in Jackson county, Minnesota, of making remarks tending to hamper enlistments during the war.

CIVIL STRIFE CHINA'S BANE

Can Hope for Little Benefit From Conference Unless Control Established.

PEKING, Oct. 31—(By Associated Press—The Tientsin newspaper, Ta Chun Shang Po, believes that, with civil strife upsetting the country, China can hope for little benefit from the Pacific conference.

"The ministry of foreign affairs has just established an investigation bureau for the purpose of gathering materials, records and other documents to be used at the Pacific conference in connection with China's case," says that paper.

"We believe this can do little toward attaining our object, for so long as China lacks the power essential to success, foreign powers will continue to look down upon her and treat her as an inferior; so that even if we have overwhelming evidence at our disposal to support our case, they will never take the trouble to go into it so as to render a decision in our favor. Under such circumstances it would be fooolish to expect success.

"The all-important question today is to settle our domestic strife. When peace and order are restored, foreigners in our midst will not suffer occasional disturbances, and their ministers and governments, seeing that China still has the ability to maintain order, will naturally treat us with respect, and the Japanese propaganda that China has not the necessary capacity to protect foreign life and property and that Japan should be appointed guardian over her, will explode by itself.

Small Ray of Hope.

"If all this can be accomplished before the Pacific conference, we are not without a ray of hope. If however we indulge in continual civil strife between one province and another we are simply furnishing evidence to prove the truth of the Japanese contention.

"For the peace of the Far East and the interests of their nationals, foreign powers cannot but approve the internationalization of China and it is, perhaps, not unlikely that they will charge Japan with the task of overseeing us. When this happens our sovereignty will be completely lost and what favor can we expect from the powers when we set forth all our evidence and records before them to support our cause?

"Let both the people and the government work to avoid this eventuality."

REFUSE SPUR LINE.

CALGARY, Oct. 31.—Railroad commissioners refused to grant an order for a temporary spur line of the C. P. R. to the Canadian National line into Drumheller for this winter. The object was to get railway connections for the C. P. R. into Drumheller, but the board, which can not grant an order for interroad connections to the benefit of one road, did not believe that the evidence was sufficient to show that this would be in the interests of the public.

The C. P. R. withdrew its application to cancel the two trains between Calgary and MacLeod.

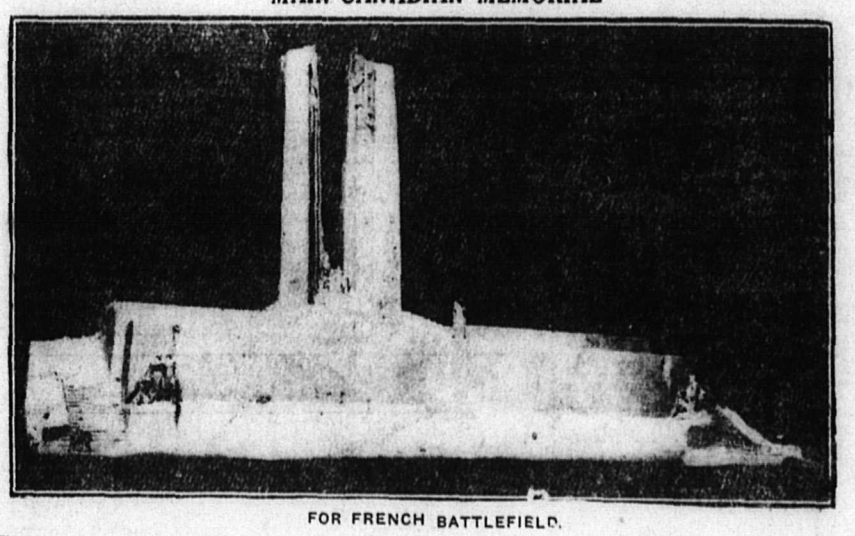
MAIN CANADIAN MEMORIAL



FOR FRENCH BATTLEFIELD.

The designs of Mr. W. S. Allward, of Toronto, from which the predominant memorial to Canada's achievements in France will be constructed either on Hill 62 or Vimy Ridge, is shown above. At the base of the impregnable wall of defense are the defenders; one group showing the breaking of the sword, the other the sympathy of the Canadians for the helpless. Above them are the mouths of guns, covered with olive and laurels. On the wall stands an heroic figure of Canada brooding over the graves of her valliant dead; below is suggested a grave helmet and laurels. Behind her stands two pylons symbolizing the two forces—Canadians and French—while between at the base of these is the Spirit of Sacrifice who, giving all, throws the torch to his comrade. Looking up they see the figures of Peace, Justice, Truth, Knowledge, for which they fought chanting the hymn of peace. Around the figures are the shields of Britain, Canada and France. On the outside of the pylons is the cross. The approximate length is 225 feet and the height 125 feet.

MARKET DANCES TO JAZZ TUNE

Some Issues Move Both Ways at Once; Rails Lapse Into Doldrums.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Fluctuations in the stock market today were confusing, issues of the same description frequently moving in opposite directions. Dealings were fairly large, but again subject to the maneuvers of professional traders.

Money rates furnished an excuse for the market's unstable course. Call loans opened at 5½ per cent, relaxed to 5 per cent at midday and suddenly hardened to 6 per cent in the final hour.

Railroad tonnage showed irregular decreases and business gains at prominent centers were neutralized by further price reductions for important industries. Independent steel producers were reported to be contemplating lower prices for structural steel and other fabricated materials and substantial cuts were announced by manufacturers of motor trucks and rubber tires.

Among market leaders Mexican Petroleum was the heaviest at an extreme decline of almost 8 points. Rails lapsed into the dullness shown by that group prior to the strike settlement and equipments, motor and food shares were heavy. German, Scandinavian and central European rates were lower. Trading in bonds was moderate with an uneven tone. Liberty issues closed mostly at slight gains.

Total sales, $14,375,000.

WHEAT FROM WEST CONGESTS WINNIPEG

Consider Using Boats at Fort William for Storage to Relieve Elevators.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 31.—Grain cars from the west are reaching Winnipeg in such large numbers thta the railway yards are becoming congested and transportation officials are seeking the assistance of the elevator companies in an endeavor to hold back shipments a few days until the local situation is relieved. The railways are adverse to placing an embargo and believe that the trouble can be avoided by reducing shipments from the west, especially from those points where heavy shipments have already been made this fall. The congestion in all Winnipeg yards is largely aggravated by the shortage of space in the termipal elevators at the head of the lakes.

Railway officials and representatives of the elevators probably will meet on Wednesday. It is also reported that the Canadian Pacific railway is considering securing a number of boats to be used at Fort William for storage in an effort to relieve the elevators of the large amount on wheels.

TORONTO BOARD

TORONTO, Oct. 31.—Although trading increased in the stock exchange this afternoon as compared with this morning, it was a day of reaction on the average.

A note of firmness in the dull market was seen in the Victory bond market with an unusual volume, especially in the 1934. The strength of the Victories was thought to reflect the changing bond market conditions.

The papers were affected by the easier market tendency, but few of them actually appeared on the local active list.

Steel of Canada, General Electric, Toronto Railway and Mexican Light were lower. Brazilian sold at 24, a small fraction down.

CANADIAN IMPORTS SET WHEAT BACK

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—The wheat market today underwent a slight decline, owing chiefly to imports of duty-paid Canadian wheat.

Prices closed easy at ⅛c to ¼c net lower, with December $1.07¾ to $1.08 and May $1.12⅝ to $1.12½.

Corn finished a shade to ¼c off. Oats were unchanged to ¼c lower and provisions varied from 2½c decline to 12c advance.

SAYS LIVESTOCK MORE VITAL THAN CEREALS

LONDON, Oct. 31.—Sir Arthur Griffith-Boscawen, minister of agriculture, addressing a meeting of farmers at Staunton Saturday declared that livestock was far more important to British farming than cereals, hence the call for a report by a royal commission on the question of lifting the embargo against Canadian cattle.

Importation of livestock was a matter of vital concern to production in England as livestock raising was a considerable part of English farming and anything like interference with that would have serious results on agriculture generally. To him the position was very difficult and he asked the farmers to have confidence in his doing the best for agriculture when the question came before the cabinet and parliament.

AVOIDS DIVISION ON WORLD POLICY

HAMILTON, Ont., Oct. 31.—Addressing the members of the Rotary, Kiwanis and Canadian clubs here today, Premier Meighen emphasized what he termed the grave importance of avoiding party divisions in matters of Empire or world policy.

"No worse fate could befall this country than that party divisions should occur in regard to the policy within the Empire," said the premier. Referring to the policy he pursued at the meeting of the Empire prime ministers in London, Mr. Meighen expressed the hope that it would be continued, no matter what the result of the election.

FRASER VALLEY FLOODS ABATE

Passengers Arrive by Emergency Tracks; C. P. R. Hasten Bridge Repairs.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 31.—Abatement of the floods which inundated several sections of the Fraser valley during the last five days reveals that the worst damage done has been to railroad property of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific roads. The first passengers since Friday from points east of New Westminster came into town today over emergency tracks of the Canadian National, which brought its own and Canadian Pacific travelers to Cisco and picked them up on the other side of the Coquitlam river, involving a foot journey over a damaged trestle. Practically all delayed passengers and mails were in town this evening, it is understood.

The first outgoing passengers were taken over the same route today. The Canadian National will send out its regular train at midnight, transferring passengers at Cisco in the same way to a waiting eastbound train. The Canadian Pacific is making headway with the bridge repairs and probably will have its regular routes in operation on Wednesday. This railway hopes to get its regular No. 2 transcontinental train out of Vancouver at 8:15 p. m. Tuesday. No. 12, the Kootenay train, leaves at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday. The Kettle Valley train also will be in operation.

WIND, RAIN AND SNOW GOVERN AGRICULTURE

LONDON, Oct. 31.—According to a Reuter dispatch from Geneva, S. R. Parsons of Canada, speaking on Saturday at the international labor conference, objected to the retention of agricultural questions upon the agenda on the ground that any restriction would tend to prevent the agricultural development of Canada. Legislation on the subject could not be enforced, he said. Agriculture was a seasonal industry and could no more be regulated than could wind, rain and snow. It would be unwise, he thought, to adopt conventions which the various governments would not pass into legislation.

He declared that while English laborers earned 30 shillings weekly, Canadian farm laborers received $60 monthly in addition to board and sometimes double that amount.

Delegate Tom Moore of Canada interposed: "You know that is untrue," to which Mr. Parsons retorted: "The figures are taken from the Dominion government Gazette." He added that the condition of Canadian farm labor was extremely precarious. Delegate Poulton of Great Britain protested against Mr. Parson's remarks, which he declared were inaccurate. Mr. Moore also protested and quoted wages paid to immigrants in Ontario as $20 monthly, and added that if standardization of wages was possible, standardization of hours was also possible. He declared that the standardization of hours was necessary to prevent unemployment of farm laborers during the winter when they drifted back to the cities.

MASTERS OF COLD STEEL CHALLENGE

British Fencing Exponents to Meet United States Swordsmen; All Experts.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—All members of the British fencing team, which will arrive here soon for an international championship match with leading United States swordsmen, have been title holders in their own country at one or more of the four styles of blade combat—sabre, epee, foil and bayonet.

Col. Ronald B. Campbell, D. S. O., captain of the team, won the service sabre fencing championship in 1919, and the army bayonet fencing championship this year. Lieut. Col. A. Ridley-Martin was amateur sabre champion for the 1910 to 1913 season and open champion in 1914. Major F. H. S. Huntington holds the British amateur epee title. Major R. M. P. Willoughby was the service foil champion in 1919 and amateur epee champion in 1920. Captain W. Hammond was army bayonet fencing champion from 1905 to 1907 and holds the British amateur sabre championship. Captain R. H. Wand-Tetley holds the army foil championship. The others have held various titles.

HURRICANE SWEEPS OVER NEWFOUNDLAND

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Oct. 31.—According to information available here tonight hundreds of thousands of dollars' damage has been done to shipping along the Newfoundland east coast by a hurricane which has been sweeping in from the Atlantic since last Friday and still continues. Hundreds of small fishing craft were sailing from the fishing stations of the Labrador coast to their home ports when the tempest broke, and what toll, if any, has been taken of them has not been known.

Telegraph lines are down in every direction and incoming news is consequently fragmentary.

High seas continue to run through the narrows of St. Johns' harbor and shipping has been compelled to leave the wharves and to anchor.

ORDEAL NOT OF BATTLE BUT OF FAITH BENEATH

the Washington conference was accepted by the British.

Asknowledges Generosity.

"I cannot permit to pass this opportunity to make, on behalf of my country, due acknowledgement of the generous way in which, unfailingly and with charactertistic promptitude the decision of the prime minister accorded wholehearted support of the brave initiative of the president," he said. "Never can, or would I forget that peaceful Sunday afternoon in July when I found Mr. Lloyd George seated under the spreading branches of the trees on his country place engaged in animated conversation with the premiers of the domicions. Quietly he asked: "What is it?" I drew a cablegram from my pocket and held it toward him.

"'Read it.' He did so, slowly and carefully. It is needless to inform you that it was the message from the secretary of state announcing the intention of the president to summon a conference of nations and asking if such a move would meet with the approval of the British government.

"In a flash the premier was on his feet.

"'We accept,' he almost shouted. 'We accept gladly—we gratefully accept I don't need to read the telegram. We will do everything in our power to make the conference a success'

"That is the pledge he gave and which he has kept to this evening, when, as we all gratefully realize, his heart is heavy from apprehension that the performance of a more urgent duty may prevent him from affording at the beginning the helpfulness of the great and unexampled prestige which can be fully rendered only through the actual presence of so vivid a personality."

The ambassador told of the delivery of the invitation to the conference to Lord Curzon, the minister of foreign affairs, and the ambassador's call for the reply which had been drafted with the coventional opening:

"'The British government confirms their acceptance,' etc

"Lord Curzon," said Colonel Harvey, "read the answer and remarked, 'this does not suffice.' Then he wrote: 'With the greatest of satisfaction.' What is true of these heads of the British government, is equally true of all British statesmen, irrespective of ther political or partisan proclivities."

Believes Sincerity.

Ambassador Harvey said that when Lord Robert Cecil perceived in this conference no challenge to the league of nations, he evinced accurate discernment, and the ambassador echoed Lord Bryce's assertion that it was impossible to overrate the fervor and hope with which the conference was regarded in the United States and that the United States was not disposed to stand aloof from old world affairs. Viscount Grey was no less generous than he was just, the speaker continued, when he declared his belief that the United States government was absolutely sincere and single minded and worthy of the absolute trust of all the other nations. He quoted King George's message to President Harding and the latter's reply, and added:

"Back of all these statesmen and publicists stand, in wistful hope, the entire peoples of our common race.

"The Washington conference marks only the blazing of the trail, only the beginning. Yet greater works are to follow in fulfillment of the common aspirations of all mankind, pursuant, we may well believe, to the design of Almighty God"

Ambassador Harvey concluded by assuring Mr. Lloyd George, Arthur J. Balfour and the associates in the delegation to Washington of a "most grateful welcome"

Notable Men Gather.

The dinner tonight to the British delegates was a great gathering of notable men, most of the prominent members of the government Lord Lee of Fareham, the first lord of the admiralty, has already sailed for the United States and Lloyd George was detained by the debate in the house of commons on the Irish question so that Mr. Balfour was the only delegate present when the company assembled, although there were hopes that the prime minister might appear before the evening was over.

Mr. Balfour and Ambassador Harvey were the principal speakers on the program besides Lord Desborough, who presided. Baron Hayashi, the Japanese ambassador, was present, as were also Lord Curzon, the secretary for foreign affairs; H. A. L. Fisher, president of the board of education; Sir Alfred Mond, minister of health; Sir Laming Worthington-Evans, secretary for war; Ian McPherson, minister of pensions; Sir Robert Horne, chancellor of the exchequer; the staf fof the United States embassy and Robert P. Skinner, the United tSates consul general.

INVITES INVESTIGATION INTO LIQUOR LICENSING

VICTORIA, Oct. 1.—Declaring that veiled charges had been made by W J. Bowser, opposition leader, against certain members of the legislature when he stated that such members had profited through securing consents from the attorney general to operating bonded warehouses in this province, Captain Ian MacKenzie, second Liberal member for Vancouver rose on a question of privilege in the house today to make a statement. In a Vancouver morning paper today there was a charge that the firm of MacKenzie & Boyd had profited to the extent of $3000 through securing a consent of the attorney general to a license issued to Lloyd & Son, a Vancouver concern. Captain MacKenzie stated that his firm last February applied to the attorney general for a warehouse license for the Lloyds, an application endorsed by George Miller, chief inspector under the Prohibition act. All the legal work was done by his partner and Mr. Boyd was entirely responsible for fixing the fee. The member denied having even mentioned the matter to Mr. Farris when he said he knew nothing about it and invited an investigation.

STEEL PLANT CUTS PAY.

SYDNEY, N. S., Oct. 31.—Further wage reductions of 10 per cent, affecting all employees of the local steel plant and office, was announced by E. P. Merrill, general manager of the British Empire Steel corporation, here today. The minimum wage for a 12-hour day under the new schedule will be $2.94 to $3.12.

LEADERS OF WAR ADDRESS LEGION

British, Italian and Belgian Delegates Appeal to Comradeship.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 31.—Three of the well known leaders of men in the great war—Admiral Earl Beatty of Great Britain, General Armando Diaz of Italy and General Baron Jacques of Belgium—addressed the American Legion, assembled in convention here today. Each was received with acclaim and decorated with the official emblem of the legion.

Admiral Beatty's address was an appeal to the legion members to continue in peace and comradeship among allied nations that existed during the war. This, he declared, was the great lesson of the struggle. The message brought from Italy by General Diaz was one of faith in the United States, while to this General Jacques added Belgium's deep felt gratitude for aid during the war.

The sentiment which inspired the American Legion to invite to its annual convention representatives of the forces which fought side by side with them in the great war is a sentiment which, carried to its ideal conclusion, should inaugurate a new era, an era of peace in this troublous world, said Admiral Beatty.

HAPPY MIDDLETON LOSES TO GIBBONS

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 31.—Mike Gibbons, St. Paul middleweight, was given the decision over Happy Middleton of New Orleans in a 15-round bout here tonight. Gibbons was held to have had clearly the better of the fight, although he was knocked down twice and toward the close was booed and hissed by the crowd.

NARROWLY ESCAPED DEATH

AUTO JUMPS BRIDGE RAIL

The occupants of this car came as near death as possible the other day in Wesleyville, Pa. The car jumped the low railing of the bridge and the only thing that prevented it crashing to the roadway below was a two-inch railing flange, which hooked under one of the front wheel and held the car suspended.

Williams'
HOLDER TOP SHAVING STICK
The Perpetual Stick in the "Holder that Holds"

THE metal box top or holder is screwed onto the threaded metal collar on the end of the stick. That means metal to metal—a dead sure hold. The stick never loosens, wobbles or breaks. It stays.

Then when the soap is all used, get a Re-Load stick and, with a mere turn of the wrist, put it in the original box. This convenience and absolute economy with perfect simplicity makes Williams' Holder Top the natural choice of all stick users.

To describe the remarkable lather of this wonderful stick, the lather that not only softens the hair but also softens and lubricates the skin, would be to tell the world what the world already knows and has acknowledged.
