READY FOR PROTECTION OF FOREIGNERS IN CHINA

FRANCE ASKS CATEGORICAL AFFIRMATIVE

Must Have Plain Yes or No From Russians, Says Barthou

SIDING WITH BELGIUM MATTER OF PRINCIPLE

Refusal by Russia May Serve to Reunite the Allies

GENOA, May 7.—If the Russians do not give a categorical affirmative answer to the memorandum that has been submitted to them France will not go on with the negotiations, and if no arrangement is made with the Russians the nonaggression pact becomes impossible, said M. Barthou, head of the French delegation to the economic conference, to newspaper correspondents today.

M. Barthou himself suggested the meeting, which proved of historic consequence, because the French leader emphasized repeatedly that France had sided with Belgium on a question of principle and not because she wished to line herself up against Great Britain. The vital problem was that of protection of the property in Russia of foreigners, and France believed that Belgium was nearer the truth in treating this important question.

Desires to Maintain Union.

France, M. Barthou declared, desired only to maintain always her long-time friendship and union with Britain.

The minister then turned to the future, saying:

"If you ask what is coming, I must say I do not know. It is possible, even probable, that Russia, by refusing to agree to the memorandum, will unite us again. It is necessary for the Russians to reply clearly, yes or no. The terms presented to them are precise and clear. If their reply is not categorical, if it is dilatory, if it means playing for time, then I can merely say that Genoa is a charming city, but we all have other obligations and duties which call us elsewhere."

Gloom at Genoa.

GENOA, May 7.—Gloom prevails at Genoa for this week, say many of the statesmen. It may witness the smash of the international conference on which the whole of Europe has fixed its hopes.

Only Russia's acceptance of the powers' memorandum can save the conference from disaster is admitted by many of the delegates. Complete acceptance is regarded as improbable, and even if the Soviet delegates surprised everybody by returning an affirmative answer Belgium and France seem determined to have their rider added to the property clause more rigid in character than in clause 7 of the memorandum.

Increases Difficulty.

This course by Belgium and France, if persisted in, would make an agreement with Russia increasingly difficult because the Soviet delegates are expected to cling tenaciously to their system of nationalization.

In the meantime the allied representatives are desperately trying to patch up the differences between the powers, realizing that the collapse of the conference would not only postpone the reconstruction of Russia, which is imperative for Europe and the world, but would defer to an uncertain future the needed pacification of Europe with all the dangers such postponement implies. The next few days, therefore, may witness a favorable turn in the conference, which has already produced so many crises that people would not be surprised if the latest also was overcome.

Speak of Separate Treaties.

Already the delegates are openly talking of the possibility of concluding separate treaties with Russia which, it is alleged, is putting Russia into a favorable situation, as occupied by China in the past, since by playing one power against another she can obtain more favorable conditions than by negotiating with them collectively!

In case the conference fails, among other suggestions circulating tonight is one that it should be adjourned after appointing an international commission to study the Russian suestion, with the understanding that the proposed solution be submitted to another conference within the fixed period of three or six months. It would also be understood that the international commission would plan for an international loan to Russia, guaranteed by the governments and floated in various countries.

Still Believes in Success.

Lloyd George tonight appeared rather pessimistic in contrast to his usual buoyant mood. Nevertheless, he has not lost hope and is holding fast to the conviction that the conference can be made a success.

ORIENTAL QUESTION ON PAPER

Likely to Draw All British Columbia Members Into Debate

OTTAWA, May 7.—W. G. McQuarrie's resolution on the order paper favoring the exclusion of orientals is expected to be the chief item under discussion in the house tomorrow. The resolution will probably draw all or nearly all of the British Columbia members into the debate and it is understood that there is a possibility of an amendment being moved by the Labor group which would favor stricter control of oriental immigration without entirely prohibiting it. If government business is reached the house is expected to deal with estimates.

There is an expectation that the budget may be brought down during the week, but nothing official is known as to the date when Hon. W. S. Fielding will be ready to face the house with his proposals.

OPPOSED TO INDIVIDUAL CONTRACTS

Engineers Inquiry Ends; Union Leader Warns Employers

LONDON, May 7.—(By Canadian Press Cable.)—The court of inquiry conducted by Sir William MacKenzie on behalf of the government into the dispute in the engineering industry, which has resulted in the locking out of 750,000 workers, was concluded yesterday. The most noteworthy speeches delivered in the closing stages were those of J. T. Brownlee of the Amalgamated Engineers' union and Sir Allan Smith, on behalf of the employers.

Mr. Brownlee said the recent offer of employment to the workers on individual contracts was an insidious attempt to sap the foundation of trade unionism. He warned the employers that the working people were determined that they would not again tolerate prewar conditions in workshops.

Justifies Employers' Belief.

Sir Allan Smith said he was much concerned to hear Mr. Brownlee's excuse for departing from solemn agreements with the employers. It justified the employers in the belief that the trouble behind the dispute was of a political or social nature. Vituperation, venom and innuendo imparted to the proceedings made it difficult for the employers to agree with the trade unions. His hopes for reaching an early settlement during the course of the inquiry to a great extent had been blasted by these attacks. Sir William MacKenzie's court has no power to make an award, but can present a report with recommendations to be laid on the table of the house of commons.

Challenges Mayor to Byelection on Issue of Sunday Blue Laws

VICTORIA, May 7.—With a number of the aldermen in revolt against Mayor William Marchant's order for the cancellation of the proposed Sunday closing plebiscite, the controversy over the enforcement of the Lord's Day act was again brought to the fore last night when Alderman Reginald Hayward issued a challenge to the mayor to resign and contest a byelection with him to test the feeling of the electors without recourse to referendum.

HOPE WORST IS NOW OVER

Brandon Floods Slowly Subside; Little Change in the Situation

BRANDON, May 7.—Slow subsidence of the waters of the Assiniboine river leaves the situation little changed in the flooded area north of this city and for many miles up and down the stream. Official reports today declared that only one inch of subsidence has occurred, but this brought a feeling of hope that the worst stage had been passed and that the floods would eventually pass away without any loss of life. Hope is also expressed that the damage to crops may not be as widespread or as heavy as was at first feared.

Since a scare on Thursday evening, when a report reached the city of the possibility of the dam going out on the Little Saskatchewan, which holds back a 40-foot head of water, there have been no new developments. Government engineers in charge of the situation today took a brief respite from their arduous labors. Boats were constantly plying between the shore of the flooded area in the city and houses in which occupants had been able to cling to the upper story, the lower portions being under water.

CALGARY SEEDING WELL ADVANCED

CALGARY, May 7.—Seeding is well advanced in districts to the north of Calgary and 15 per cent is estimated as completed in the southern districts. An excess of moisture has delaped operations in the south. In some places in the northern area wheat is well above ground.

Many Visit Brandon City to See Result of Assiniboine Flood

BRANDON, May 7.—While there has been no official report of a change in the height of the Assiniboine river, it has dropped about an inch in some places on First street, which is now closed to traffic. Many people from the north are cut off from the city. Other conditions are about the same as on Saturday.

MANSON CALLS FOR SHOWDOWN

Asks Prohibition Leader to Justify Statement Attributed to Oliver

VICTORIA, May 7.—Hon. A. M. Manson, attorney-general, has formally announced there may as well be a "showdown" at the very beginning of his career in office as to the basis on which the sale of liquor by the government in British Columbia is to be conducted.

Referring to a statement credited to William Savage, prohibition leader in Vancouver, to the effect that Premier Oliver "had admitted the government was in the liquor business for revenue," Mr. Manson stated that he had wired Mr. Savage asking him to state time and place of this alleged remark by the premier.

SASKATCHEWAN SEEDING

REGINA, May 7.—Seeding is now well under way in southern Saskatchewan, although in many sections the work has been retarded by water soaked land and a shortage of farm help. Scattered showers over the week-end in many localities will not seriously interfere with the seeding operations.

URGES MUTUAL UNDERSTANDING BETWEEN ENGLISH AND INDIANS

LONDON, May 7.—Presiding at the Bombay provincial Liberal conference at which all the leading moderators of the presidency were present, Rt. Hon. V. S. Sriniros, well known as the Indian representative at the last Imperial conference and the recent Washington conference, urgently appealed for a mutual understanding between Englishmen and Indians, says a special Reuter dispatch from Bombay.

Dealing with the present situation in India, Mr. Sastri said he had never known such profound distrust of government as prevailed at the present time. The block on the road to peace could only be removed by releasing the thousands of youths who had been committed for technical political offenses.

In regard to constitutinal changes, Mr. Sastri expressed the opinion that it would be inopportune at the present time to ask the Imperial government for full provincial autonomy. He suggested that a deputation of Indian executives to be elected at the next general election should frame a scheme of constitutional reforms for submission to parliament.

NATURAL RESOURCES PROGRESS SATISFIES ALBERTA'S PREMIER

WINNIPEG, May 7.—The greatest difficulty faced by Premier Herbert Greenfield and Attorney-General J. E. Brownlee of Alberta in the negotiations with the Dominion government at Ottawa regarding the natural resources of that province was the overestimation of the immediate financial return the province would derive from the natural resources and a tendency in some quarters to think, therefore, that Alberta should be satisfied to receive them without any consideration whatever for all the resources heretofore alienated, it was stated tonight by Premier Greenfield, in an interview with the Canadian Press. However, Premier Greenfield finds justification in feeling satisfied with the progress being made in which it may "euphoniously, if not quite accurately be described" as the provincial recovery of the natural resources, he stated. Upon ascertaining the opinion of the full cabinet of Alberta upon points his attorney-general and he wish to submit to it upon their arrival in Edmonton, Premier Greenfield will resume discussion of the question at the first suitable opportunity with Ottawa.

Believes Dominion Honest.

"There is no doubt whatever," he stated emphatically tonight, "that Premier King is honestly and sincerely anxious and willing to have the question settled. I believe the Dominion government also is sincere in its desire to see a just and equitable conclusion reached. And when both governments have the time to give their close and continuous attention to the subject as it now stands, the full and closer approach to the actual principles underlying Alberta's demands undoubtedly should result in a final conclusion being found."

While he would like to have made faster progress in the actual discussion of the matter which detained Mr. Brownlee and himself in the east far longer than they had intended to stay, Premier Greenfield said that the circumstances pertaining to a sitting of parliament do not facilitate or permit lengthy single and complete discussions of the problem.

Unwilling to Admit Complexity.

Not that Premier Greenfield himself is willing to admit any complexity in the question raised of unanimity with Alberta and by the other two prairie provinces, for he said he regards it simply as a problem based upon a clear principle easily and often defined in the west.

Premier Greenfield said, however, that he returns to the west to report progress in the discussion of the matter between Alberta and the Dominion cabinet and leaves it to the other two provinces to speak for themselves.

"So long as we could act in conjunction in our own individual provincial interests we were in agreement in acting conjointly," Premier Greenfield added.

He will address the Canadian club here tomorrow.

TRAVELS OVER NEW RAILWAY

First Passenger Arrives at Dawson Via New Alaskan Route

DAWSON, Y. T., May 7.—The first traveller reached Dawson today over the new Alaskan railway route. The United States government railway line from Seward and Anchorage to Fairbanks has been completed and D. C. Dunlop, a traveler, arrived today, having traveled by dog team and horse drawn stage from Fairbanks to Dawson. He left Fairbanks on April 15 and traveled by easy stages over ice and snow all the way.

A cold spell during the last week or so has delayed the spring thaw, and the opening of navigation is delayed. The season is several days behind the average already. Passengers are gathering at Lower Lake Lebarge waiting for boats for Dawson and Mayo and lower Yukon points. Steamers are expected to start for Dawson about the end of are being put in shape at Dawson May. A fleet of steamers and barges and Whitehorse to take a cargo of silver shipments out of Mayo, plying to the smelters, via the St. Michael and lower Yukon rivers, calling with ocean routes.

Resolutions Condemn Labor Leaders Holding Privy Councillorships

LONDON, May 7.—The Labor party's annual conference, to be held shortly, will be occupied with resolutions from all parts of the country condemning the Labor leaders for holding privy councillorships. All the resolutions are very similar, demanding that the leaders either resign their councillorships or clear out of the party.

ADAMSON READY TO TAKE OVER

WINNIPEG, March 7.—J. E. Adamson, whose appointment to the Manitoba court of king's bench was criticized by the Manitoba Bar association and the Manitoba Law society, stated tonight that he had accepted the appointment and would take over the duties when necessary. Official records of the appointments are made in the Canada Gazette.

The conference treaties to which China was signatory are the general Chinese policy pact and the convention on Chinese customs.

The ratification by China, accomplished by presidential order, is the first of any of the foreign powers which participated in the Washington conference.

REGINA, May 7.—Provincial police are investigating the suicide of Frederick Cox, farm laborer who, Saturday at St. Louis, Sask., shot himself in the head with a revolver.

CHINESE CONQUEROR PLANS TO UNIFY NORTH AND SOUTH AND WIN FOREIGN RESPECT

Will Not Strive for Head of Government; Aims to Create Political Harmony and Revive Industry; Agrees With Washington Conference View

BRITISH VOLUNTEERS ANSWER FRANTIC DISTRESS CALL FROM FRONTIER MINES

Situation Critical on Manchurian Border; Chang Tso-Lin's Troops Held Up; Foreign Staff of Mines in Desperate Case

PEKING, May 6.—General Wu Pei Fu, victor over General Chang Tso-Lin in the struggle for control in China, declared today at Chang Tsin Tien that instead of striving for the head of the government he desired to devote his energies to unify China, create political harmony in the north and south, abolish militarism, revive industry and win the respect of the foreign powers.

He expressed himself as agreeing with the opinion of the powers set down at the Washington conference that China must put her house in order, free herself from vast armies, apply her revenues to pay her debts and build railways.

Receives British Visitors.

Wu Pei Fu greeted a group of Americans and British who visited his private train 12 miles outside of Peking. As the visitors approached General Wu appeared on the steps of his car dressed in a simple uniform without any insignia of rank. About the train were scattered tons of ammunition and guns captured from Chang's army. On the platform numerous wounded soldiers were stretched, while behind the station were tethered about 40 camels which had been used to convey the machine guns.

General Wu asked whether he intended entering Peking to assume the direction of the government. He replied that he was not interested in politics because of more serious questions.

First of all, he did not consider his victory complete until he had captured Chang Tso-Lin, whom he desired to eliminate as a possible future menace. He favored disarming most of the soldiers, but wanted a reasonable defensive army to represent united China against foreign enemies.

Will Drive Chang Outside Border.

TIEN TSIN, May 7.—General Wu Pei Fu, at the central sation in Tien Tsin at noon today, said that no further fighting would be necessary if Chang Tso-Lin's men withdrew outside the great wall. He added that as Chang had invaded a province within which he had no jurisdiction he would not return to his headquarters until Chang was outside the border. He said he would not fight the forces of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, head of the southern government, unless they advanced further north.

It is expected that the Pukow line will reopen tomorrow. A detachment of Chang's cavalry appeared at Yang Tsin this morning and again interrupted railway communication to Peking. General Wu sent troops thither by train and the cavalry fled, but not until it had damaged the railway and telegraph lines.

Railway Situation Critical.

A critical situation is developing on the railway between Tien Tsin and Shanghaikwan, which is situated on the Manchurian frontier. About 20,000 of the deefated troops of General Chang Tso-Lin are being held up at Tong Shang, Kuyes and San Chow, where there are valuable Anglo-Chinese coal mines. Frantic appeals reached Peking yesterday from the Linnsi mines, where the foreign staff was reported to be in a desperate situation. Twenty British volunteers were sent there Saturday.

Gunboats Shell Railroad.

The gunboats of General Wu Pei Fu have appeared off Shanghaikwan and shelled the railroad, but without results. It is not known whether General Chang is endeavoring to make his last stand at San Chow, midway between Tien Tsin and Shanghaikwan, or whether the Chi Li troops of General Wu from Kaiping have appeared in Chang's rear. The vanguard of the Chi Li army reached Tien Tsin Saturday evening after having scattered remnants of Chang's troops in this vicinity. General Wu himself arrived an hour or so later.

British Gunboat Arrives.

The British cruiser Curlew reached Taku this morning. She is prepared to land men and machine guns if necessary. The danger in the region of Tien Tsin is now over, but there is apprehension regarding the safety of foreigners between here and Shanghaikwan.

CALL TENDERS ON ROAD WORK

City of Nelson Asks for Bids From Contractors for Big Street Paving Job

Preparation of specifications for the 46 blocks of macadam paving proposed to be done this year, worked out on the unit basis, were completed at the end of the week, and today the city of Nelson is calling for tenders for the work.

The period for the reception of tenders will close on May 20.

In the original estimates made by the city engineer for the 46 blocks, cost was estimated on what it would cost the city to do the work itself. If the contractors put in figures materially below those of the city engineer, the proceeds of the $60,000 loan may go further than the work laid out.

HOOVER SENDS DEEP REGRETS

Distinguished Administrator Writes Starkey He Cannot Be at Convention

Hon. Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce of the United States, has been unable to accept the invitation issued to him by Secretary Fred A. Starkey to attend the fourth International Mining convention at Nelson, July 3-4, but from the tenor of his letter of regret it is quite apparent that the great administrator genuinely regrets that fortune will not allow him to be present. When Mr. Hoover, in the early days of the war, started to organize relief for Belgium as a labor of love, he was known to fame as a United States mining engineer residing in London.

Mr. Hoover's letter is as follows:

"Department of Commerce,
"Office of the Secretary,
"Washington, April 29, 1922.

"Mr. Fred A. Starkey,
"Secy. Fourth International Mining Convention, Nelson, B. C.:

"My Dear Mr. Starkey—I am in receipt of your letter of April 20th, inviting me to attend the fourth International Mining convention at Nelson between July 3rd and 7th.

"I very much appreciate your invitation and regret that engagements in the United States and my official duties at that period do not permit my leaving for a trip of this length.

"Please express my regret to your fellow officers. Yours faithfully,

"HERBERT HOOVER."

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH FOR EIGHT YEARS

The cause of this trouble is the fermentation of food in the stomach which generates a gas that is very frequently belched up. There is also a rumbling of the bowels and a discharge of gas therefrom, there is constant retching, and the meals are frequently vomited. There is a burning pain in the stomach, the appetite is fickle, the tongue coated, the breath bad, constipation is generally present and the sufferer becomes weak, nervous, depressed and exceedingly miserable.

The blame lies with a sluggish liver, as it holds back the bile which is so necessary to promote the movement of the bowels, and when the bile gets into the blood a badly disordered condition of the stomach, liver and bowels will surely follow.

Keep your liver active and you will always enjoy good health.

Mrs. Agnes Gallant, Reserve Mines, N. S., writes: "I had been a great sufferer for eight years, from catarrh of the stomach. I tried several so-called catarrh remedies without relief until a friend advised me to try Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, which I did, and four vials completely relieved me. That was six years ago, and I have had no return of my old trouble.

Price, 25c. a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

BOWMAN WILL RETIRE SOON

Will Be Superannuated After Seventeen Years' Service; Townsend Succeeds Him

Thomas M. Bowman, after 17 years' service as registrar of the supreme and county courts at Nelson, is retiring on June 1, when he will be superannuated.

He will be succeeded by H. R. Towsend, until recently government agent at Rossland, a position which has been abolished. Mr. Townsend, it is understood, will be given an assistant, and will act as collector, in addition to being registrar.

Mr. Bowman will continue his work until June 1, when it is likely that, on superannuation, he will leave for an extended visit with his relatives in the east.

MINISTER OF WORKS RETURNS TO COAST

Hon. W. H. Sutherland, minister of public works, passed through the city for the coast Saturday night, coming from the Crow, where he finished a tour of several days through the Columbia, Fernie and Cranbrook ridings.

To Kenneth Campbell, M. P. P., who had a conference with him on the train between the wharf and the station, Dr. Sutherland said the Ymir road tenders would have his attention the moment he reached Victoria. He also stated that work on the road would start doubtless as soon as the successful tenderer, whoever he might be, could reach Nelson.

LOCAL STORE MANAGER WILL BE TRANSFERRED

J. J. Smith, who for the last three and a half years has been manager of the local store of the Mason & Risch Piano company, left on Saturday with Mrs. Smith for a five weeks' holiday tour of eastern points. It will take him to Manitoulin island, Georgian bay, to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Smith; then to Chicago to visit other relatives, and then to Portland, Ore., to other relatives before bringing him again to Nelson.

Mr. Smith has been in the service of the company he represents for 24 years, and has filled some important positions. He came to Nelson for reasons of health, and claims to have been much benefited by his residence here. # VEHEMENTLY DENOUNCES STATEMENT

Strong Language at Inquiry Into Captain Huston's Death

TORONTO, May 7.—Gordon Waldron, K. C., counsel for the crown, gave a dramatic touch to the finish of Saturday's proceedings of the MacIntosh commission of inquiry into the death of Capt. Orville Huston of Winnipeg at Fort Francis in December last, by denouncing a statement made by Major Lewis, M. P. P. for Northeast Toronto, concerning E. W. Backus, in a recent speech in the legislature, "as the most damnable thing that has ever occurred in the history of Canada," if it could be substantiated. "Shameless and damnable," Mr. Waldron repeated. Major Lewis was present at the time, but made no comment.

Backus Gives Denial.

E. W. Backus was called to the witness stand after lunch and gave a categorical denial to the suggestions which had been made that he knew anything about Huston's death. He declared that he had no contract of any kind with the deceased man, but that Huston was in his employ purely on a salary basis of $250 per month. As a windup to his examination of Mr. Backus Mr. Waldron read the following extract from the report of Major Lewis' speech:

"There was one man with whom he had been in a business deal—I do not say that man was responsible for his death—but I do say there was one man whose interest it was to secure the papers he was supposed to have on him." He asked Mr. Backus what he had to say concerning it.

Avers Scandalous Innuendo.

"I do not believe," said Mr. Backus slowly and deliberately, "that words can sufficiently answer that. I think that is the most outrageous, scandalous charge, and innuendo, to be spoken, particularly in a position where the man cannot be reached by law, and I feel very much chagrined that in Canada a thing like that can occur. I repeat, it is the most scandalous suggestion that I ever knew to be made. It has nothing behind it in any shape or form to justify it."

The hearing will be resumed on Tuesday.

LABOR LEADER SAYS BRITAIN SICK OF WAR

France, if Determined, Must Act Alone, Declares Thomas

LONDON, May 7.—"If France is determined to follow a warlike policy, she must proceed by herself, for the people of Great Britain are sick of war and are not going to be parties thereto," declared J. H. Thomas, Labor leader, in giving a serius warning to France in a speech at the Labor demonstration at Derby today. Mr. Thomas has just returned from Berlin.

With the possibility of war almost as threatening today as it was in August, 1914, owing to the possible failure of the Genoa conference, the position of the people of Great Britain should be made clear, said Mr. Thomas.

THROW BODIES IN REFUSE PIT

Catholic Teacher and Nephew Shot; Many Outrages in North Ireland

BELFAST, May 7.—John J. Carolan, a teacher in a Catholic national school, and his nephew, Dennis Kilmartin, 20 years of age, were taken from their residence, county Londonderry, yesterday and shot and thrown into a pit used for flax re'use.

Carolan was killed outright and Kilmartin, suffering from five wounds, managed to crawl out. His groans attracted neighbors, who came to his aid. He is expected to recover. Kilmartin's father is also a teacher in the Catholic national school at Dungiven.

A farmer named McBride, 22 years of age, a former Irish Republican army officer, disregarded a command to halt while returning home Friday evening near Strabane, county Tyrone, and was shot, probably fatally. His assailants were two men in disguise.

Fire on Specials.

Special Constable McCoo, who was wounded during the fighting in Belfast on April 14, died yesterday. A group of special constables while patrolling the Republican quarter in Cookstown, county Tyrone, on Friday midnight, were fired upon. They returned the fire, which resulted in seriously wounding a young civilian. Subsequently, armed men who arrived in an automobile, entered John McCracken's inn, eight miles from Cookstown, and shot him to death. McCracken was formerly a member of the rural council.

A lorry was driven into crowded Cromac square yesterday afternoon and six men were thrown off, tarred and feathered; then they were permitted to run to shelter. It is understood they were caught pilfering.

Note Penned on Body.

DUBLIN, May 7.—The body of a man was found in Gorten, county Tyrone, Saturday night. He had been shot through the heart. A note attached to his clothing read:

"Beware, convicted spy."

NOT KEEN TO LEND IN WEST

Loan Companies Go Slow; Farmers Need Careful Finance

TORONTO, May 7.—J. B. McKechnie, general manager of the Manufacturers' Life Insurance company, who has returned to Toronto from a tour of the west, says that there is very little money being loaned in the west at the present time. There was a general feeling among loan companies, he said, that until the western farmer gets into better financial condition it would be better to go slow. The demand existed, but there was little money offering to supply this demand and mortgage rates in consequence displayed little or no tendency to ease.

"My impression is," he stated, "that the majority of farmers in the west need to finance very carefully at the present time and it would be unwise to encourage them to expend."

His own company, he added, was not now loaning and had not loaned in the west for upward of a year.

TORONTO, May 7.—About 300 turned up for the mass meeting of veterans in Queens park Saturday afternoon, called by the "unemployed veterans of Canada" to hear that body's plans for a march on Ottawa to demand an extension of relief for unemployed veterans and improved rehabilitation methods. The meeting was informed by E. C. MacDonald, chief executive of the organization, that he appealed for volunteers who were willing to follow him to form up in companies.

MacDonald assured his hearers when making the appeal that they would "sleep and eat well on the way and the government will pay for it."

Members of the committee declared that they had the signatures of 3400 men in Toronto and 700 in Hamilton who had agreed to make the march, while sympathizers had promised trucks to convey disabled men.

MEDICAL MEN SPEAK TO LAGRE NELSON AUDIENCE ON VITAL HEALTH TOPICS

Drs. Rose and Burnett Give Message in Regard to Cancer; Percentage of Deaths Appalling; Early Treatment Would Save Majority of Victims; Watch Local Irritations; Major Proctor Discusses Steps in Building Up of a Vigorous Nation; Mayor Presides

That 90 per cent of all cases cases on this continent reported to physicians end fatally, that only about 35 per cent offer reasonable hope of cure when reported, but that these figures could be made to look extreme and ridiculous if people would make it a point to go to a physician for every persistent sore or every persistent internal malady for an examination, was the message given to the public of Nelson Saturday by the lecturers of the British Columbia Health association., in connection with the local "good health" campaign. In Germany, it was stated, the people, by reporting their suspicions early, keep the fatal cases down to 50 per cent.

The lecturers claimed that a great proportion of all cancer cases can be definitley traced to a local irritation, that the removal of this irritation would result in avoidance of the cancer, and that in the early stages, superficial cancer can be removed with every hope of cure. A caution was given against waiting until the hard spot or tender spot or internal derangement gave pain, for when the stage of pain arrived, they said, the case was usually hopeless. That so many operations for cancer fail to save the patient eventually though giving relief and prolonging life, was because of delay in learning of the case.

Mayor Presides.

The "health afternoon" was held in Eagle hall, under the joint auspices of the British Columbia Medical association and the Nelson and District Women's institute, and four-fifths of the large and attentive audience was composed of women. Mayor C. F. McHardy presided. There were three lecturers, Dr. W. O. Rose of Nelson, and Dr. W. B. Burnett of Vancouver, both of whom discussed "Cancer," and Dr. A. P. Proctor of Vancouver, who, in an address of "The Preservation of the Race," reviewed the triumphs and described the problems of those who are fighting disease.

Mayor McHardy, before introducing the lecturers, spoke briefly on the objects of the health campaign, and referred to the part played by the medical association in bringing these vital matters before a public that hitherto had been too indifferent.

Dr. Rose Says Cancer Has Doubled

Dr. Rose in his address stated that cancer was one of the earliest known diseases, being known to the ancients.

Also it was a disease of civilization. In Ceylon for instance, there were 5.6 deaths from cancer per 100,000 population, while for a similar unit London had 114.9 deaths. It was practically unknown in the warmer parts of Indian. But primitive peoples if they became civilized, became subject to it, as instanced in the case of the Australian black and the American negro.

In civilization, cancer mortality was lowest among the poorest, and highest among those best endowed with wealth and health.

Dr. Rose said cancer was a disease of adult age, and it was also certain that it was not contagious. Where certain houses were known as "cancer houses," it was almost always the case that the occupants were aged people. There were certain states that had a higher percentage of cancer than others, but they were eastern states that had been robbed of their young people by migration. For instance, against Vermont's cancer death rate of 109.9 for 100,000 population, Montana, with a younger population, had a rate of only 51.5. Cancer's annual death toll in the United States, he said, was 90,000.

Speaking of his experience here, Dr. Rose said when he first came to the Kootenay he only had a case of cancer once in a long time. Now they were an every day matter. Part of this was doubtless due to the fact that there were now more people here past middle life, and part to the general increase in cancer. The appalling fact was, Dr. Rose said, that cancer was on the increase in all civilized countries, and that it had doubled its hold in 20 years.

Women Especially Subject

Women were especially subject to cancer, Dr. Rose said, and he gave striking comparisons of the relative casualties of cancer and of the late war, in the United States. The tragedy of it was that a huge percentage of all cases were inoperable when first seen by the surgeon. Statistics showed, he said, that 39 per cent of superficial cancers and 45 per cent of deep-seated cancers had been preceded by a cancerous condition. In only 80 per cent of cancer cases admitted to hospital on this continent was there any hope of an operation saving the patient. Cancer was of very quick growth when it started, and early operation was necessary. The average duration of the disease after admission to hospital was 12½ months.

The spread of cancer, he said, was counterbalanced by the reduction of tuberculosis. While the number of tuberculosis deaths in the United States per 100,000 decreased from 201.1 in 1900 to 141.6 in 1916, the deaths from cancer increased from 63 to 101.

He pleaded with his hearers if they had any reason at all to suspect a condition that could lead to cancer or that might be a cancer, not to make a mystery of it, but to take the doctor at once into confidence. Salvation lay in quick action.

Doukhobors Almost Immune

No disease had been so carefully examined as cancer, Dr. Rose said and the Rokefeller foundation, for this continent, and other great institutions in Europe, had spent millions seeking a cure for it. In the present stage of human knowledge, the only sure cure for cancer was its early removal.

If the permanent sore on the lip, or permanent sore or tender spot anywhere else, were attended to, the cancer mortality statistics would read very differently.

Dr. Rose said that for 14 years the firm of Rose & Hartin had looked after the Doukhobors, and in that period they had probably treated at some time nearly all of the 7000 Doukhobors in the community near Nelson. They had only seen three cases of cancer among them. The Doukhobors were vegetarians, and lived simple lives. Perhaps their wonderful immunity from this dread disease might contain a lesson for Canadians.

Dr. Burnett Gives Cancer Theory

Dr. Burnett, who delivered a most illuminating address on the phases not touched by Dr. Rose, after a compliment to Nelson for its very "complete and delightful" hospital, proceeded to say that while the medical profession did not know all about cancer, a very considerable body of knowledge existed, and many men had spent their whole lives in its study. This knowledge, these investigators had passed on to the medical profession as a whole, whose dut it was to apply it.

As a direct result of "Health Week" in Vancouver, Dr. Burnett said, he personally knew of 11 cases operated upon for early canler, offering every chance for success, which otherwise would not have been operated upon till hopeless, or nearly so.

Always a constant irritation of some sort preceded a cancer. Pipe smokers who held their pipes always in one position sometimes got a sore lip ,on which after a time a scab would form. The time to treat this was surely at this stage, and before the dreaded cancer came. He mentioned several kinds of cancer to which women were subject, from various kinds of ulceration which sometimes was allowed to run on for years, in the end wih fatal results. All chronic irritations were the foundations of cancer.

Illustrating his point about local irritation, Dr. Burnett stated that the men of a certain tribe in India accustomed to wearing next the stomach a box of hot charcoal for purposes of warmth, had a high percentage of cancer of the stomach, from which the women, who did not wear this heating apparatus, were immune. In a certain Chinese tribe the men bolted their rice very hot, and had many cases of cancer of the gullet, while the women, whose turn to eat came after the rice had cooled a bit, were not affected.

Irritated Cells Turn Outlaw

Giving the theory of cancer as now worked out, Dr. Burnett described the human body as made up of a great number of cells, modified according to the function they were to perform, each cell preserving a definite relation to the cells around it, and developing in harmony with them.

While the cancerous growth started locally, growing with great rapidity, there was an additional danger that it might penetrate a blood vessel, and that then some affected cells might break off, and be carried to other points in the system. Fortunately, he said, the body was splendidly organized to head off all kinds of queer trouble. But after the cancer had captured the second line of defense, the chance of its eradication was very poor.

There was no case known of cancer having been transmitted by heredity, Dr. Burnett stated, or of it having been transmitted from any one person to any other person. On the other hand, it was probable that some families had a tendency toward a disease of that kind.

Things That Might Be Cancer

Usually, he said, pain was not a symptom of cancer in the early stages, and the person who waited to feel pain before reporting to the physician was dooming himself, for pain was usually a sign that the case had become hopeless.

Anyone who had anything that might be cancer should go to someone who could diagnose it.

A permanent sore on the lip should always be investigated.

Indigestion, with perhaps loss of weight, might be a symptom of cancer. Any ailment of this kind that did not yield to ordinary treatment easily should be suspected.

Persistent constipation might be a sign of cancer.

Hemorrhoids might be early cancer, and blood in the secretions of the kidneys would suggest a condition of cancer.

In the case of women, lumps in the breast, or any functional derangement, were worth investigation.

At the cancer age, which was mostly after middle age, every trifling tiling was worth investigating. Unfortunately some people, Dr. Burnett said, feared to go to the doctor for fear he would tell them they had cancer. But going to him could not produce the cancer. And if the doctor removed something that was not cancer, the petient wouldn't die of it. If it got to the stage where the doctor was doubtful whether it was cancer or not, right at that minute it would be dangerous.

How Doctor May Know

Discussing the aids the medical profession now had in dealing with cancer, Dr. Burnett said first the symptoms were an indication.

The mechanical means of the microscope, which showed the outlaw cells to be perfectly typical of the malignant growth, was invaluable. Where there was a doubt, a portion of the growth might be removed and examined by miscroscope.

In connection with the deep seated cancers, the X-ray had been valuable.

In cases of suspected cancer of the bladder, an instrument, the cystoscope, gave determinations at an early stage.

Dr. Burnett referred to the many quacks making a living off the credulity of those who feared they had cancer, the method of treatment prescribed by the quacks ranging from drinking a quart of blackstrap molasses a day to putting paste on the top of the head and drawing the cancer up through it.

Cancers, he said, had no roots. Burning out could not cure a real cancer. If something, not a cancer, was burned out, it would leave a condition that would look as if there had been a cancerous condition.

Radium a Godsend

Radium would undoubtedly destroy the malignant growth, but its uses were not yet fully known. It was a Godsend to those suffering from inoperable cancer. In some cases known, treated with radium five years ago, there had been no return of cancer. For those with inoperable cancer in British Columbia, there was radium in Vancouver to treat them.

"Don't worry," said Dr. Burnett, "but on the other hand take it seriously, and find out if anything is the matter. Have a scientific examination, and abide by the results."

It was always local first. There was no basis for a belief that syphilis had anything to do with it.

He believed within the lifetime of the present generation research would discoper a cure for even the developed cancer.

Dr. Proctor on Medicine's Achievements.

Major Proctor's splendid address on "The Preservation of the Race," dealt with what he termed "some problems of supreme value in building up the national life." The war, he said, had put out of vogue the secrecy that used to be the rule of the medical profession, and now the doctors were out to combat the ignorance that in the past had done so much to cause tragedy.

One of the achievements of medical science was vaccination, which did away with the periodical smallpox epidemic of 100 years ago, which took their terrible toll.

Blood poisoning or septic poisoning, as an epidemic, used to sweep the lying-in hospitals, and the women about to become mothers took terrible risks. Pasteur discovered the cause of blood poisoning, made motherhood safe and opened the door to modern surgery.

In the early days of the war the soil of Flanders, manured heavily for centuries, sent to death by lockjaw many men who were cured of their wounds. In a few months the giving of anti-tetanic serum eliminated the dread tetanus.

The antidate for diphtheria had saved the lives of thousands of children.

In the Boer war the British lost 17,000 men from all causes, 8000, or nearly half, being victims of typhoid. In the Great war, with millions of men engaged, typhoid was hardly known, because of the inurizing anti-typhoid serum.

These great discoveries were not commercialized, but were given to the world for the preservation of the race.

Age of Preventive Medicine.

The present age, Dr. Proctor said, was the age of preventive medicine. While a doctor appreciated being called to a home to give aid, it was a greater achievement to prevent the disease occurring.

The canal zone on the Isthmus of Panama had been made safe for whites.

Pestilence-ridden areas of Africa had been made accessible by the conquest of the sleeping sickness.

The Boer war, Dr. Proctor said, showed that 60 per cent of the British men were physically unfit for active service.

The conditions that led to this unfitness included:

Overcrowding.

Pollution of the atmosphere.

Bad and insufficient food.

Alcoholism.

Exodus to the cities of the physically best.

Bad conditions of childhood.

Venereal disease.

Present Problems.

How wa sit possible to build a fine race, with the slums turning out stunted, emaciated and ricketed children? All the evils of the old land were now in the making in Vancouver, he said.

Some things must be dealt with by legislation.

He instanced child labor, which it required legislation to dislodge.

Dr. Proctor declared alcohol a narcotic drug, and said alcoholism was given by the British parliamentary commission as one of the six factors leading to degeneracy of the race.

In a large city in this province, he said, 150 persons received treatment every day at the clinic for venereal disease, as a result of the battle against it being waged by the various governments. Because of this disease countless babies were born dead, others were blind from birth, and many mothers were doomed to lifelong invalidism. The time would come, he said, when a father would ask his daughter's suitor not the size of his bank balance, but whether his blood was pure.

Dr. Proctor's last criticism was of unrestricted immigration, for, he said, the mixing of races was as likely to unite their vices as their virtues, and it was following a principle that any live stock breeder would think crazy.

Mayor McHardy invited the audience to express its appreciation of the three addresses by applause, and this was done to the degree almost of an ovation.

Cave Man Stuff

BACK near the beginning of things, our prehistoric forebears would have perished from the earth if they had not understood the science of reading advertising.

The caveman didn't know much about underwear, hair tonic or phonographs, but they did have to eat. The one who could follow the tracks of the game he hunted, or read the meaning of a twisted leaf or broken twig, was best off in life.

Then, as now, the most consistent reader of advertising was the best dressed, best fed and most contented.

There has been something of an evolution in advertising in the last few thousands of years, but the principle is just the same.

The consistent reader of the advertisements is invariably best informed on what to eat and where to get it; what to wear and how much to pay for it; what to do and how to do it. He's up on the most important things in life. Consequently he gets most from life.

Throughout the ages, advertising has done much to make life livable and pleasant. We owe it much.

LET'S MAKE THE MOST OF IT.

Venus Found Out

While in her heart every woman has known from way back in the days when the Venus de Milo was first viewed by the femininity of Greece that there have always been far better looking persons than she who posed for the famous statue, she has kept discreetly silent throughout the ages, knowing any criticism she might make would be attributed to envy.

So long as men who set themselves up as judges of womanly beauty agreed that the Venus was a handsome woman it would have been worse than useless for women to question their taste. But now all is different; not only has a man expressed dissatisfaction with her, but he has given a reason.

For Venue de Milo is a neurasthenic. A doctor has said so—Dr. Thoman R. Thorburn, who made the bold statement before an association in Atlantic City, and maintained that the Venus stands so badly that her physical structure is most imperfect. It could not be otherwise, for no one could stand as she has done for these many years and remain normal. She has the appearance of a neurasthenic and the flapper of today has it all over her as to posture and health.

A smile of satisfaction will now go around the globe, the smile of the women who have been forced to hear the Venus praised and say nothing, although they knew all the time there was something the matter with her looks.

Canada's Position Steadily Improving

The improvement in Canadian exchange, which began to be noticeable early in December, has brought the Canadian dollar nearer to par than has been the case since the autumn of 1918. The movement, it will be remembered, began during the crop-shipping season, and probably was assisted by some Canadian financing in New York, says the Royal Bank monthly bulletin in an interesting article on the marked improvement which has taken place in Canada's general financial position. Many predicted a reactionary movement on the part of the Canadian dollar when the influence of those factors had subsided. This, however, has not been realized; instead, with occasional fluctuations, the premium on American funds in Canada gradually decreased through the first three months of the year.

There are several factors which affect the Canadian dollar at the present time. Prominent among these is the influence of the pound sterling. The recent phenomenal rise of the latter cannot but have a good effect. Another factor, which undoubtedly has weight in the same direction, is the expectation of considerable financing on the part of the Dominion government in the near future. That portion of the founded debt which matures this year amounts to $184,000,000, and in addition to other funds have to be secured. This financing will have a favorable influence on the exchanges whether the flotation is made at home, or in New York, or in London. If an issue is placed in Canada, there will be, as always, a large amount of the stock sold to American investors; if our government should decide to place an issue with New York bankers, the effect would be favorable to the Canadian dollar, and the same result would follow should we go to the London market. Anticipation of this financing thus far has a favorable influence on Canadian exchange. One must, of course, consider also the gradual improvement in the Canadian trade balance. During the 11 months ending February, 1921, Canada had an unfavorable balance of over seven million dollars. The 11 months ending February, 1922, however, showed a favorable balance of 24 million dollars.

India as a Market

According to an elaborate report published by the department of trade and commerce, the middle east promises important markets for many Canadian products, but in view of the commercial intelligence service few in Canada have any real conception of its possibilities. The total population of India, Ceylon, Malaya, Siam, and the Netherlands East Indies is probably not less than 375,000,000 to 400,000,000 people in the aggregate, directly and indirectly, have a large consuming power. And it is likely to increase in the ordinary course of events.

Canada has a most favorable opportunity in the middle east at the present time. Paradoxical as it may seem, the very misfortunes from which these countries are suffering can, to a certain extent, be turned to advantage. To open up business relations at a time of great prosperity, may, as experience has shown, lead to considerable losses. It is a very different proposition to open up relations when a country has sunk almost to the lowest depths of commercial depression, as it should be fairly certain that any firms that survive the present crisis may be considered so firmly established as to warrant a very considerable measure of confidence. This fact confers a distinct advantage on the new entrants into the Indian field.

What the Press Is Saying

A Bit of Bravado.

The Russo-German treaty is a bit of impudence. It does not materially add to the gloom of the diplomatic outlook. That was already as gloomy as it could be. The Russians have not made themselves any more impossible by taking this astounding step, but the Germans have largely alienated the support of their advocates and well-wishers in the allied countries. Clearly the Rapallo agreement tends to dispose of property on which the allies have a lien. Till Germany pays her own obligations she has no moral right to cancel debts owed to her by Russia or any other state. Aside from this aspect of the agreement, it is clearly a piece of bravado, designed to influence the Genoa decisions. In this it will signally fail. While it does tend to give Germany a higher position in world affairs it will gain her no concessions, and will eventually prove detrimental to her interests.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Trades Unions and Politics.

That the members of the trade unions are beginning to realize the tyranny which oppresses them is the fact. More than 300,000 copies of the pamphlet on "Trade Union Extravagance" have been sold, and the demand continues to increase. Nevertheless, it is difficult to see how the men, betrayed by their own leaders to the communists and professional political adventurers, can free themselves from a servitude which is at once ruining them and destroying the industry by which alone they can live. There can, indeed, be no deliverance until the trade unions are by law forbidden to deal in politics. Industry is one thing, politics another. The alienation of the funds of industrial societies to political purposes, and the abuse of trade unionism for political purposes, constitute one of the most monstrous frauds ever practiced upon British workmen. If they are to regain the freedom which has been stolen from them, they must find a leader who will make it his business in life to destroy the false and to restore the true trade unionism.—London Morning Post. . .

The "Melting Pot" in South Africa.

South Africans do not desire to have in their midst a lot of aliens who have no respect for constitutional government, and who are invariably on the side of revolution, or anarchy, or any upheaval promising the overthrow of ordered authority. We strongly advise the government to guard the gateway more closely in future, and, if possible, to get rid of some of the undesirables who have already managed to slip in. It is significant to our mind that at least 1500 Russians entered the Union last year from overseas. We should like to know how many of them were wholeheartedly on the side of the government during the revolutionary outbreak. What is certain is that some of them were fighting in the ranks of the reds. Why? They know nothing of South Africa. They can scarcely speak any South African language. They can have no personal grievance against the government of this country. They joined in the upheaval simply because they are Bolsheviks at heart and do not care twopence about the real welfare of the land of their adoption. Those are the kind of immigrants South Africa must keep out.—Johannesburg Times.

By Laura A. Kirkman

"WHY IS SILK SO EXPENSIVE"

A reader om this column has written to ask me why silk is so expensive. "Don't the stores overcharge for it?" she ends her letter of protest. "And how is silk made, anyway?" In the following article I have tried to point out why a fairly high price is entirely justifiable for this tediously-gotten fabric.

Centuries ago—about 2700 B. C.—a Chines empress discovered how to use the fibres of the silk worm. No doubt she watched the little worms at work and so got her idea. Today the Chinese people still celebrate her discovery each year in April—a discovery that not only enriched her own country, but many of the other nations of the world.

The Japanese and Chinese produce more silk than any other countries. They put their girls and men to work watching the silk worms closely, and tending them carefully. When the mother moth lays her tiny eggs on mulberry leaves, the sun hatches them—and then it is that the thrifty orientials tend the little worms, keep them clean, and feed them by food which they chop finely for them; for, they know that if the worms are not kept clean and fed well, they will not thrive and produce silk successfully.

In about one month of careful attention, the young worms have grown to their full size—about as large around as your thumb and three inches long. They now begin to spin cocoons for themselves. They do this by throwing out a tiny thread at each side of the head; these threads are made of a jelly-like fluid which hardens as it strikes the air. As the worm's head is thrown from side to side, the two threads become one. In three weeks' time the cocoon is made of these threads glued together in a mass like a piece of parchment.

Inside the cocoon the worm changes into a moth, like its mother. If left alone, it will eat its way out of the cocoon and fly away to lay eggs, as its mother did—thus beginning a repetition of the process.

But if the worm is allowed to eat its way through the cocoon, this hole breaks the continuous thread of which the cocoon is made. So for this reason some of the moths are allawed to eat their way through their cocoons so as to lay more eggs, and thereby propagate their useful kind; while other cocoons are pjlaced in a very high temperature so that the moths inside them will die—thus allowing the cocoon to be stripped of its perfect, unbroken thread.

The silk is taken from the cocoons (or "reeled") in this way: The cocoons are placed in a basin of hot water to soften the gummy secretion. The ends of four or five cocoons are then caught together and reeled off. This makes a strand for raw silk.

Silk from a broken cocoon can be used, but is never as strong as that made from one continuous thread.

To understand why really good silk fabric costs a high price, one has only to realize that it takes 3000 silk worms to spin one pound of raw silk—and it often takes two or three pounds of raw silk to make a single dress!

BY LENORE

A constantly increasing zest for sports in America is bringing the knickerbocker costume more general recognition. Indeed, it is reported by one shop in a large city out west that the number of knicker sport suits they sell, either in tweeds or jersey, far outnumbers that of the skirt suits.

Of course, few women as yet are seen wearing knickers through the street, except when returning from play. But the enthusiasts who last fall waged their ardent campaign for acceptance of the knicker costume for general daytime wear, especially by business women and students, may yet see their hopes realized.

However your sympathies may lie in this direction, I am sure you will agree as to the practical value of a natural pongee knicker suit for summer tennis. It is cool and easily laundered, and may be made complete to include the blouse, or separately so that white blouses might be worn.

INDIANS CLAIM ALLIANCE WITH GREAT BRITAIN

Incipient Rebellion Reported; Tuscororas Repudiate Canadian Law

OTTAWA, May 6.—Officials of the department of Indian affairs were somewhat reluctant to make any comment on the Hamilton dispatch today dealing with "an incipient rebellion' on the Tuscorora Indian reserve. The mounted police were not being sent to the reserve, it was said.

There has been dispute for some years over the Indians' claim that they were allies of Great Britain and not subject to the Canadian law and this claim has never been admitted by the Canadian government.

The alleged ultimatum from the Indian affairs department to the effect that the Canadian government intends to maintain sovereignty over the Indians of Tuscorora reserve, even by force of arms, if necessary, did not originate in the department of Indian affairs and was not authorized by he deparment, it was emphasized.

It is expected that as a result of the present difference on the reserve the matters in dispute between the Indians and the Indian affairs department will be brought up in the house and brought to a head for final settlement.

Girls and Lobsters Both Suffer From Pollution of Water

WASHINGTON May 6.—The bathing beach girl and the lobster have suffered alike from pollution of navigable waters by oil burning ships, the house foreign affairs commission related today in a report on a resolution requesting the president to call a conference of maritime nations to stop it.

Aside from the fire hazard resulting from the piling up of oil waste along the docks, the report showed that on the Atlantic, Pacific and the gulf, lobsters, oysters and fish of all sorts were being destroyed to an alarming extent and that bathing beaches had been greatly damaged because of the pollution.

WOODSTOCK, N. B., May 7.—Losses estimated at about $100,000 were caused by a fire which broke out in the lumber mills owned by the Fraser Companies, Ltd., at Baker Brook, 12 miles from here Friday. Spruce and shingles and all the lumber piled in one of the yards were completely destroyed. The fire spread rapidly and as it went it consumed 10 dwellings, a store, a dozen out buildings, the Canadian National railway section house, a railway bridge over Baker Brook and a box car loaded with lumber.

ALEXANDRIA, Man., May 7.—For the 10th time at a Liberal convention in Lansdown constituency Premier T. C. Norris was yesterday afternoon nominated for the Liberal candidacy in the district.

CONTROVERTS RECANTATION

Documents Claim Swedenborg Retained Doctrines to the Last

STOCKHOLM, May 7.—(Associated Press.)—The claim often made that Emanuel Swedenborg, the Swedish scientist, philosopher and theologian, recanted his doctrines on his deathbed was controverted in documents published in Swedish newspapers in connection with the celebration of the 150th anniversary of his death. Swedenborg died in London, March 28, 1792, and the anniversary of that event was observed by his followers throughout the world.

The documents just published here give a complete record of his last illness and his death in the home of a hair dresser, Richard Shearsmith of London.

Foretold His Death

According to these papers, Swedenborg told his hostess the date of his departure from this world. This was about a month before his demise. Shortly after 5 o'clock on the day of his death he asked the Shearsmiths what time it was and, on being told, he said, "Well then, I thank you God bless you." Ten minutes after he passed away quietly.

During his final illness he was asked by the Rev. Arvid Ferelius if he did not want to abjure some of his teachings before leaving the world.

Swedenborg is said to have risen from his bed and said: "As true as is your sight of me before your eyes, so true is also all that I have written, and I might have said more if I had been permitted to do so."

Swedenborg's body was exhumed in London in 1908 and brought over to Sweden on the cruiser Fylgia and buried in Upsala cathedral.

KING AND QUEEN BOTH NEED REST

WINDSOR, May 3.—King George and Queen Mary both are said to have needed the rest they are expecting to get while here. Not only did the wedding of Princess Mary mean a great deal of work for them, but they have been under a considerable strain while the Prince of Wales was in India. Affairs nearer home have also caused them concern.

Queen Mary, always solicitous for the health of her family, is additionally anxious that the King should secure as complete a rest as possible now, because the coming summer is full of engagements which will tax his strength pretty considerably.

SAVED HER FROM AN OPERATION

So Thinks Mrs. Tracey of Ontario, Regarding Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Knightington, Ontario.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at the change of life for troubles that women often have at that time. I had not been well for a year and was not really able to do my work. A friend who had taken the Vegetable Compound herself recommended it to me and I think its use saved me from an operation. I highly recommend it to all women who have troubles like mine, and am willing for you to use my testimonial."—Mrs. Daniel J. Tracey, Knightington, Ontario.

Some female troubles may through neglect reach a stage when an operation is necessary. But the more common ailments are not the surgical ones; they are not caused by serious displacements, tumors or growths, although the symptoms may appear the same.

When disturbing symptoms first appear take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve the present distress and prevent more serious troubles.

SHORTS RAID OIL MARKET

Mexican Petroleum Especially Under Pressure; Rails Slack; Bonds Strong

NEW YORK, May 6.—Shorts availed themselves of the week-end session in the stock market to effect a reaction or quoted values by directing pressure against the oils, especially Mexican Petroleum.

Losses of one to three points in that division were fully neutralized by gains of the same extent in a number of industrials, chiefly the independent steels and several utilities, notably gas shares.

New Haven was among the stocks to register a new high record for the year on further extensive accumulation, but rails as a class made little further contribution to the day's business. Sales amounted to 650,000 shares.

Weekly reviews had little bearing upon the financial markets, aside from announcements of new bond underwriting from yesterday's highest quotations, sterling falling five-eighths of one cent from its maximum.

For the first time in a month the weekly clearing mouse statement reported a contraction of actual loans and discounts. The decrease of $19,803,000 in that item was accompanied by an increase of $33,669,000 in net demand deposits and a cash gain of $17,324,000 incresing excess reserves to $30,726,000, the largest total since the latter part of March.

Firmness which later developed into pronounced strength, accompanied today's broad dealings in the bond market. Liberties were active and made moderate recoveries from recent lower levels.

There was little alteration in foreign war issues, but Danish municipal 8s A and B gained 2½ and 2 points, respectively; Chinese Railway 5s also rising 2 points.

Railroad bonds were mainly better, especially issues of the Atchison, Southern Pacific and Seabord Airline quieter, but mostly at additional systems.

Trading in local tractions was gains, Brooklyn Rapid Transit 7s and allied certificates rising 1 to 1¼ points with New York Railway 5s. Total sales, par value, aggregated $8,661,000.

Next week's underwriting will include $75,000,000 of federal farm loans 4½ per cent bonds to be offered by the 12 federal reserve banks on Monday at par and interest.

Treasury officials emphasize the fact that this is the first issue of these bonds at 4½ per cent in almost three years.

They add that the present satisfactory state of the investment market "should assure their prompt absorption.'

LARKIN DENIES ANY STATEMENT

OTTAWA, May 6.—In the commons yesterday afternoon, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen reminded the government that some time ago the government had been requested to ascertain the correctness of certain remarks attributed by press dispatches to Hon. P. C. Larkin, high commissioner in London, to the effect that the continuance of the cattle embargo was placing a "dangerous weapon in the hands of the annexationists of the prairies."

Premier King replied that the government had not found it necessary to send a cable to Mr. Larkin because they had received a cable from him denying that he had made the statement attributed to him.

Mr. Meighen observed that this did not constitute an answer in that the remarks were alleged to have been made by Mr. Larkin while in conversation with a British cabinet minister.

SEEDING PROGRESSES

Wheat seeding is not so far advanced in the northern districts, but is proceeding satisfactorily, Mr. Evans stated.

Dempsey has not given up hope of fighting in Paris. He appears to be considering seriously the offer of 400,000, 75 per cent to go to the winner and 25 per cent to the loser, made by Lewis Verande, for a return match with Georges Carpentier, to be held in Pershing stadium some time in the autumn.

BARNES PITCHES STARTLING BALL

No Runs, No Hits for Athletics; Braves Defeat the Dodgers

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

NEW YORK, May 7.—Jess Barnes, veteran pitcher of the New York Nationals, almost duplicated the perfect game pitched by Charles Robertson of the Chicago Americans just a week ago, when he pitched a hitless game today against the Philadelphia team; the Giants winning, 6 to 0. Only one base on balls marred Barnes great performance, Williams being the recipient of a pass at the start of the fifth inning, but was doubled up when Fletcher hit into a double play. Only 27 men faced Barnes, as in Robertson's game of a week ago. J. Smith, a Philadelphia coach, asked for the ball with which Barnes had been pitching, at the end of Philadelphia's half of the seventh. He showed Umpire Hart where there were several cuts in the ball and Hart threw it out.

WEST KOOTENAY LEAGUE ELECTS

Will Adopt Definite Constitution; First League Match Victoria Day

Two decisions of importance to intercity soccer in this district were taken by the executive committee of the West Kootenay Football league at its annual meeting in Trail during the week-end. One was that the first West Kotenay league fixture, Nelson vs. Trail, would take place in Trail in May 24. The other was that for the first time in history the league would adopt a definite constitution.

This matter of the constitution has been debated at various times in the past, but nothing definite has heretofore been done, all matches and decisions regarding them having been settled amicably by the executive committee. While the satisfactory results obtained in the past reflect nothing but credit on the sportsmanship of the executive members and the league team players in both Nelson clubs, amended if necessary, and adopted or rejected by the next executive committee meeting in Trail following the match on May 24. One thing was definitely decided, the West Kootenay league will adopt British Columbia association football rules.

The officers elected for the year were:

Honorary presidents, F. F. Payne, manager of The News Publishing company, Nelson, and J. B. Gray, jeweller, Trail.

President, J. B. Morris, Nelson.

Vice-president, J. Leckie, Trail.

Secretary-treasurer, A. Smith, Trail.

Executive committee, C. W. Tyler and A. Wallach, Nelson; H. J. E. Williams and another member yet to be elected for Trail.

Take it from me

The lure of the footlights

Explains why girls leave home

But when you see her

Doing Siren-of-the-Nile stunts

Robed a la Pola Negri

Or Cleopatra

You'll also understand

Why tired business men

Never go home!

Emory's Monday Talk

SUPPOSE a fellow
WERE taken sick
AND he needed a doctor
AND he phoned to
EVERY doctor in town
AND asked each one
HOW much he charged
A VISIT.
WOULD you say
HE was thrifty
OR crazy?

AND what would you do
IN a case like that?
ALMOST everybody
HAS a family "M. D."
HE trusts, honors
AND respects.
HE wouldn't let
ANOTHER MAN
HANDLE his case.
IT'S all a question
OF confidence
OR reliance
OR dependability
CALL it anything
WHEN you boil it down
IT'S just a feeling
THAT you know he'll do
HIS level best
FOR you.
HAVE you ever wished
YOU could buy your clothes
THAT way?
IT seems to us
THAT should be the aim
OF every man's outfitter
TO make service
A PERSONAL matter
TO win confidence
TO deserve and hold it.
AND by the way
WE'VE got a motto
AROUND here
AT Emory's
IT says that very thing
AND we want you to know
WE'D like a chance
TO show you
THE way we have
OF living up to it.

OUR ADVICE
And Service

We give to each case the best advice and service that years of technical study and experience enables us to do. In our opinion, justice is not done unless attention is given to all the minute details, which if neglected may mean discomfort and loss of vision.
