MILLIONS OF DAMAGE IN TORONTO DISTRICT

All Western Part of Province Is Isolated by Terrific Cloudburst

TORONTO, June 25.—Millions of dollars' worth of damage resulted from the thunder storm and cloudburst which passed over portions of Western Ontario this evening, leveling buildings, and uprooting orchards. It is feared that lives were lost in the Guelph and Niagara districts, but lack of communication, owing to dismantled wire system, prevent the obtaining of authentic details.

OVERTURNS COLONIES

The storm, when it struck Toronto at 7 o'clock tonight, turned the summer colony along the lake shore, west of the city, practically upside down. The tented district was scattered, and many wooden cottages were wrecked. Falling telephone and telegraph poles cut off lights and telephone communication, and several houses were damaged when trees fell on them. Small harves in the summer district were were swept out into the lake.

Long Beach, the military camping ground, eight miles west of Toronto, where soldiers are now located, suffered severely. Tents were blown away and several houses in course of construction were blown away.

A tree falling across the highway struck a sedan car, smashing it, but the occupants escaped injury.

Wrecks Port Credit

Several small houses were blown over at Port Credit, 12 miles west of Toronto, and wire poles were toppled over across the railway and radial tracks. Small boats all along the lake shore suffered badly, many of them being wrecked and sunk.

The Canadian Pacific railway had lost all connection with the western end of the province west of Toronto, and the Canadian National found only two wires intact. In many cases telegraph poles were broken off, and wires were laid low in a tangled mass. The Canadian National telegraphs found 30 or 40 poles thus cut down between Toronto and Hamilton.

The storm reached Toronto at 7 o'clock, just as the polls closed, and for an instant the streets were clear of election enthusiasts. The water came down in sheets.

NATIONAL COUNCIL TALKS MIND HEALTH

Resolution Urges Women Be Represented on All Boards Controlling Mental Institutions

HALIFAX, June 25. — Keen interest was displayed in the various resolutions and reports discussed at today's session of the National Council of women, and two reports were presented; that on public health, by Mrs. N. Smillie, Ottawa, and that on mental hygiene, by Mrs. Samuel Stead of Halifax.

Mrs. Smillie presented a resolution that child welfare week be inaugurated in in 1924, which carried without dissent.

A resolution presented by Mrs. Stead to the effect that local councils be asked to urge the advisability of having women on boards of all institutions relating to mental hygiene passed, with some controversy.

Another resolution put forward by Mrs. Stead, that the national council of mental hygiene be called upon to give the National Council of women a summary of all the laws in all the provinces relating to the feeble-minded, was withdrawn.

Inspector Owen Will Be Located at the Capital

VICTORIA, June 25. — Deputy-Inspector Walter Owen of the provincial police, who has been stationed at the Vancouver office for some time, has been appointed inspector, and probably will be brought to Victoria, as part of a reorganization plan contemplated by the department. Inspector Owen will make permanent headquarters in this city, assisting the newly-appointed superintendent, Colonel McMullen, with the detail work of the department.

A SCORE DIE IN STORMS IN WEST STATES

Electrocutions, Drownings, and Property Damage Are Caused by Tornado

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 25.—Nearly a score of deaths, and much property damage, resulted from Sunday's storms in the northwest, reports tonight revealed.

Six persons perished, when a tornado swept western Bowman and eastern Adams counties in North Dakota Sunday night.

Twelve persons were seriously hurt, one probably fatally, and five slightly injured in this storm.

Three persons met death in the vicinity of St. Paul by drowning or accident. One man was drowned near Huron, South Dakota, and, at Goodwin Sunday, a farm hand was killed during a windstorm.

Several other deaths were reported from other sections in Minnesota and Wisconsin from drownings and electrocutions, all attributed to the storm.

Heavy rainstorms early today added to the damage. More than 2 inches of rain fell here today, and at Redwood Falls 5.62 inches fell.

EIGHT SYNDICATES BID FOR PROVINCIAL ISSUE

Dominion Securities Secure Two Million Issue at Just Over Ninety-seven

VICTORIA, June 25. — Fifteen firms, in eight syndicates, bid today for British Columbia's new issue of $2,000,000 bonds. Hon. John Hart today accepted the bid of the Dominion Securities corporatoin of Toronto at a price of 97.031.

The bonds are 5½ per cent, payable in Canadian funds, New York and Toronto, with $1,000,000 of the issue on a 25-year maturity, and $1,000,000 on a 20-year maturity.

BRITAIN WON'T BARTER WEST INDIES FOR DEBT

Premier Baldwin Reiterates Statement of Lloyd George, When Premier, on Subject.

LONDON, June 25. — Premier Baldwin declared in the house of commons today that Great Britain has not the slightest intention of selling or bartering any portion of the British West Indies in settlement, or part settlement, of the British debt to the United States.

The premier's utterance was a reiteration of the statement on the subject made by the then prime minister Lloyd George, in 1920.

Bonar Law May Regain Health the Workmen's Council Is Informed

LONDON, June 25. — Former-Premier Bonar Law's secretary, replying to an inquiry by the national workmen's council, writes:

"The fact that Mr. Bonar Law's health necessitated his resigning the premiership naturally gave cause for great anxiety, but there is no reason to suppose that with rest he should not regain his health."

BROOKLYN ELEVATED NOSEDIVES

Two Cars of Humanity Reduced to Mangled Wreckage in Crowded Street

SEVEN ARE KILLED AND EIGHTY-THREE INJURED

Blue Electric Flames Ignite Debris; Takes Two Hours to Get Survivors Out

NEW YORK, June 25.—Seven persons were killed, and 83 injured, today, when two wooden cars plunged from a Brooklyn elevated structure into the borough's busiest traffic intersection.

The two-car train, well filled with an early afternoon crowd of women, children and a few men, jumped the rails, ripped through guard beams, tottered on the edge of the structure while hundreds of passers by stood spell bound in terror, and turned on its side to the pavement, splintered debris.

Carrying with it a mess of electric trolley wires, the train hurled to the pavement, amid spurts of blue flames setting fire to the wooden coaches and crackling wire.

Two hours of continuous hacking at the smoking mass of splintered boards were required to clear the wreckage of dead and injured.

Edward Parcell, motorman of the train, who escaped without a scratch, was arrested, charged with homicide.

Aged and Faulty Construction

Mayor Hylan and District-Attorney Dodd, after inspecting yards of ties, announced their opinion that the loss of life had been caused by faulty construction.

"I am convinced" said the mayor, "that the accident was caused by a defective truck leaving the tracks, and crashing through a rotten guard rail, which, if good should have prevented the fall to the pavement. The present guard rails are 30 years old. The cars are from 35 to 40 years old. All investigation officials agreed that the accident had had its inception at a switch 50 feet beyond which the train had plunged to the street.

Switch Tampered With

Although Parcell, the motorman, asserted that he had seen the switch turn to green, giving him right of way, the switch was turned to red after the accident. The mayor openly charged that it had been tampered with after the crash.

Parcell declared that about 20 feet before he reached a trailing switch controlling a connection between east and westbound tracks, he felt a sag and bump.

"I was coasting at the time," he said. "I put on the emergency brake, and it did not hold. The switch had been green, and had given me a clear headway, so I looked back to discover what was the matter.

"Then suddenly I heard the ties and guard rails splinter, and the car went over the side of the structure in a nose dive. A few feet from the tracks, I felt it catch, and then the cars went over the sides—that saved me. They pulled me out of my box."

WILL WORK TILL ASKED TO STOP

Thornton Says He Will Continue to Travel and See as Many Canadians as He Can

PRINCE RUPERT, June 25.—"Until the people of Canada intimate they want me to stop, I shall continue to visit all parts of the country and see as many Canadians as I can. I believe this is essential if I am to prosecute the task which the government of Canada has set me."

In this way Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National railway, defined his attitude to "certain individuals," who, he said, had criticized his tours of inspection of the National railways. He proposed to continue his present policy, he said. Sir Henry was addressing the Canadian club in Prince Rupert.

He spoke in optimistic vein of increased receipts, and an encouraging spirit of efficiency and cooperation in the ranks of Canadian National railway employees.

Population was the crying need of the country. Sir Henry thought any settler should be admitted to Canada so long as he was sound of mind and body, could give assurance of not being a charge on the public, and was willing to live quietly under Canadian laws.

HOSPITALS WILL RECEIVE PROFITS

Order-in-Council Gives Authority; Bounty on Week-Old Wolf Cubs.

VICTORIA, June 25.—Authorization for the distribution of liquor profits to provincial hospitals has been given through the passing of an order-in-council.

Out of the total profits of $1,187,000 the hospitals received 15 per cent, or approximately $178,000. No institution receives more than 25 cents a day per patient.

Another order-in-council amends the law affecting bounties of wolves. In future a $15 bounty will be paid on wolf cubs not less than one week old, as well as on grown animals.

PROVINCE WILL YIELD DEPLETION

Premier Oliver Tells Mine Operations Will Make Same Allowance as Dominion

VICTORIA, June 25.—Owners of metalliferous mines in British Columbia will receive tax allowance for depletion of their properties through mining operations from year to year, on the same basis as is granted by the Dominion government, a deputation of mining men was informed today by Premier Oliver and other members of the provincial cabinet.

The contention of the mine operators and owners was that, in filing income returns, due provision should be made in tabulation of assets, for the reduction of the ore reserve of the mines, as a result of the years' operations.

Say Delorme Body Was Only Half Stiff When Discovered

MONTREAL, June 25.—Was the body of Raoul Delorme, the slain Ottawa college student, thrown on a suburban roadway just two hours before its discovery by a civic laborer, or had it lain there for nearly six hours before discovery?

The prosecution and the defense in the trial of Adelard Delorme, charged with his half brother's murder, locked on this point this afternoon, and poured their witnesses through the box, each in the endeavor to establish contrary points.

Special investigator Pusie, of the morgue, who brought the body into the city, was emphatic that the corpse was only half frozen when found. He was supported in his evidence by Paul Sansregret, the morgue chauffeur in this particular question.

DRURY ACCEPTS IT CHEERFULLY

Defeated Premier Says if People Disagree With His Policies He Accepts Verdict

TORONTO, June 25. — "The government has endeavored during the campaign to carry on a clean, educative discussion of the public questions before the public. After having done so, if the people do not agree with the government's policies, I accept their verdict most cheerfully."

So said Premier Drury tonight, when spoken to over the long distance telephone at Crown Hill.

Mr. Drury said that if the Conservatives had made as clean a sweep as the returns at the time of speaking indicated he would, of course, recommend to the lieutenant-governor to call on the Conservatives to form a government.

TWENTY-EIGHT MILLIONS VOTE BRANCH LINES

Bill for Three Years' Building for National Passes Second Reading

MEIGHEN CLAIMS OBJECT EVASION

Moves Amendments to Put Votes in Estimates; Liberals Vote Down

OTTAWA, June 25. — The bill to provide for the constructions of branch lines of the Canadian National railways was given third reading and reported from committee in the house of commons late tonight, the third reading to be taken on Wednesday. The schedule of the bill provides for the construction during a period of three years of 1000 miles of branch lines, at a cost of approximately $28,000,000.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, opposition leader, protested strongly against the amount involved in the construction program being voted separately. He was not opposed to the construction of the lines, but objected to the government asking for a blank cheque. What the government was seeking today, he said, was to show the difference between this year's estimates of $73,000,000 and the total estimate for the previous year, and, at the same time to be spending the money under cover of another bill.

Meighen Divides House

On the fourth section of the bill, which authorized advances for the construction of the government railway lines, Mr. Meighen moved an amendment to provide that the monies for each line should be included in the estimates, and voted for that purpose.

The amendment was defeated, by 45 to 15.

On the next section, which dealt with guarantees, Mr. Meighen again moved that the guarantees for each year should be included in the estimates for that year. This was defeated, by 51 to 15.

Hon. W. S. Fielding, minister of finance, could not see the object of Mr. Meighen's first amendment. The monies would be voted for the purpose in the bill now before the house. If they had to be voted annually it would delay the work.

Hon. G. P. Graham, minister of railways, pointed out that when railway subsidies were voted a good deal of latitude was ordinarily given to private companies. The same latitude was now being asked for the Canadian National railways.

Western Members Advance Claims

J. F. Johnston, Progressive, Last Mountain, expressed the hope that the bill would would not embrace the government's plans for all of three years to come, in view of railroad requirements in Gaspe and in Saskatchewan.

Mr. Graham replied that work was proceeding on the line, and he hoped that the line would be finished in time for the next crop.

T. G. McBride, Progressive, Cariboo, thought the line in question would pay expenses, and show a profit for the Canadian National railways.

C. W. Stewart, Progressive, Humboldt, protested against the abandonment of the old Thunder Hill route.

With regard to questions by various members as to whether the program embraced in the bill under consideration included the next three years' railroad construction, Mr. Graham said that parliament was supreme. Every case had to be dealt with on its own merits.

H. E. Spencer, Progressive, Battle River, asked if the minister could promise to extend the St. Paul branch, Alberta, a farther distance than the 21 miles contemplated, if the work was to last three years.

Mr. Graham said that the same answer was applicable to similar requests made by other members. They were doing all that the board of Canadian National railways thought wise at the moment.

O. R. Gould, Progressive, Assiniboia, asked that the proposed branch south of Peebles should be extended a farther 30 miles beyond the 22 miles intended, in the interests of the farmers.

A "Dead End"

A. J. Lewis, Progressive, Swift Current, referred at some length to the vote of $2,767,000 for the Dunblane branch to Mawer, Sask. If this proposed line went through the town of Riverhurst it would simply become a "dead end" of the branch which had been constructed to that point.

Mr. Graham replied that the engineers of the railway had decided that this was the best grade. They had given their opinion that the proposed line was necessary.

Mr. Lewis asked that the proposed bridge which would cross the Saskatchewan river at Elbow be made suitable for carrying ordinary traffic, as well as the railway traffic.

HENRY FORD LIKE BARKIS, IS "WILLIN'"

SAVANNAH, Ga., June 25. — A petition signed by citizens of Savannah, indorsing Henry Ford for president of the United States, having been forwarded to Detroit, Mr. Ford's secretary has replied that, "In view of the interest displayed, Mr. Ford can have no objection to the further activities in this direction."

ONTARIO WANTS BRITISH IDEAL SAYS FERGUSON

Tired of Drury Vaccilation, People Rallied to Defence of Whitney Policy

TORONTO, June 25. — There are three or four outstanding facts about this election which must be observed, declared Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, late tonight, when the election returns had shown beyond doubt an overwhelming majority for the Conservatives.

At first it shows that the people of Ontario are thoroughly imbued with the necessity of clinging to British practice in government, and that they would not tolerate any departure from the principle of cabinet responsibility, Mr. Ferguson said.

People's Confidence Lost

"There has been so much vaccilation and erratic movement, that the public entirely lost confidence in it. Another thing that I think weighed a great deal was that Mr. Drury emphasized everywhere that the old parties had been discarded by the people for their want of sincerity, and that only made more prominent his own lack of sincerity, and the lack of adherence to the program issued by his party."

Another element which contributed to the victory, Mr. Ferguson declared, was the general strong feeling "that Drury's attitude on public ownership was an attack on the principle that Whitney had inaugurated and the people had approved many times."

Questioned as to the cabinet which might be formed, Mr. Ferguson stated that beyond certain men obviously of cabinet rank and entitled to the first consideration, he had not considered the matter.

Gregory Commission Doomed

The Gregory commission, he said, would be asked to make any statement which they might care to. They will also be asked what they are doing.

"In any event," said Mr. Ferguson, "they will not be allowed to continue on the present scale. They have achieved nothing, nor have they merited the peoples trust.

"I have a great sense of appreciation of the responsibility given me," declared Mr. Ferguson, "and I hope my efforts will justify the confidence shown in the very large vote today. Whatever I may have of energy or ability will be devoted unselfishly, and in an unpartisan way, in the interests of all the people of the province."

Moose Factory Votes Brought by An Airplane

MONTREAL, June 25.—After three separate flights by airplane had been made, at a cost of several thousands of dollars, 17 votes in the current provincial election in Ontario were gathered by airplane from Moose Factory, in the Hudson's Bay district, and these will be counted in the final results of the election.

Efforts were made to go further up Hudson's Bay and to reach Albany, but ice in the bay made the venture too hazardous, and the attempt was abandoned.

The information was given by Harry D. Wilshire, who returned here today, after a series of flights over northern Ontario.

Disciples of Christ Laud Union Stand of Presbyterian Assembly

WINNIPEG, June 25. — Commendation of the firm stand on church union taken by the Presbyterian assembly at Port Arthur, is expressed in a resolution passed unanimously by the all-Canadian conference of the continuation committee, Disciples of Christ, at the session held here today. It suggests also an invitation to a conference with the joint communion of the three great churches working toward the proposed union would be welcomed.

ONTARIO GIVES VERDICT THAT'S OVERWHELMING

Farmer Party on Incomplete Returns Elects Less Than Ten Candidates

PREMIER DRURY AND FIVE MINISTERS DOWN

Liberals Also Receive Great Trouncing, Party Leader Losing Seat

TORONTO, June 25.—After a four-year trial of group government, as represented by the United Farmer-Labor coalition of Hon. E. C. Drury, Old Man Ontario swept himself back to the straightline party system of provincial administration, by electing the Conservatives, under the leadership of G. Howard Ferguson, to power, by a heavy majority over all the other parties in the legislature.

At midnight, the summary stands: Conservatives, 63; Liberals, 14; United Farmers, 8; Labor, 3; Independent, 1, and, still to hear from, 22. Total, 111.

The results of the remaining 21 seats will not be heard from definitely until tomorrow.

Coincident with the sweep of the Farmer-Labor party from power, the western part of the province was visited by the worst electrical storm of years. The wind and rain tore down miles of telephone and telegraph poles, as well as causing much other damage.

Six Ministers Buried

Premier Drury; Hon. Peter Smith, provincial treasurer; Hon. R. H. Grant, minister of education, Hon. Harry Mills, minister of mines; Hon. Walter Rollo, minister of labor, and Hon. Douglas Carmichael, minister without portfolio, were all borne down in the avalanche of defeat which visited the Farmers' government. Messrs Mills and Rollo were the Labor members in the cabinet.

The Farmers had 45 members in the house at dissolution and the Laborites nine, a total government support of 54.

The total Drury government support tonight, so far reported, numbers eight members.

Another notable defeat at the polls was that of the Liberal leader, Wellington Hay, in his constituency of North Perth.

Raney Holds Seat

On the other hand Attorney-General Raney, who, on account of his part in the administration of the Ontario Temperance act, was the most criticised man in the last legislature, was returned in East Wellington. The success of Hon. Adam Beck, Conservative and chairman of the Ontario hydro-electric commission, will be hailed as a great personal triumph.

The following are the tabulated results as known in Toronto at midnight.

SMOKER FOR LEADER PROVES GREAT SUCCESS

Four Hundred Throng the Armory, Where Bowser and Party Are Guests

ONTARIO ELECTION PLEASES GATHERING

Speeches, Songs, Music and Boxing Bouts Prove Most Interesting

Members and friends of the Nelson Liberal-Conservative party last night gathered almost 400 strong to meet W. J. Bowser, M.P.P., leader of the opposition, and his lieutenants who were city visitors yesterday. The event, which was in the form of a smoker, was a great success, the music, songs and boxing bouts being of a high order while the several addresses were heartily applauded.

When the leader of th opposition took the floor to address the assembly the people present burst into song and "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow", followed by three rousing cheers, greeted Mr. Bowser. He expressed his gratitude ot the reception in a Kootenay town which at present had a government member and was glad to see that the Conservatives of Nelson showed that their faith was still strong. The boxing ring in front of him made him feel at home, he stated, as he was quite a scrapper himself. He had been in the political ring for the past 27 years. He contended that he had been elected in one seat and remained there. His first fight in 1896 had been a knock-out for him, which was again put over in 1898, owing he stated to poor ring judgment. But in 1903 by good footwork he had won the battle.

Two opponents were in the field today, Hon. John Oliver of many worthy and bloodless battles and general McRae, also of many bloodless battles on the Strand and Picadilly circus. Mr. Oliver had recently challenged Mr. Lannigan to battle physical or mental and Mr. Bowser stated if they would let him referee a bout between Mr. Oliver and General McRae, he would count both out in the first round. (Laughter.)

Elated Over Ontario Results

Mr. Bowser was elated over the Ontario election returns and the success of G. Howard Ferguson, the Conservative leader. Mr. Ferguson's position had been like that of his own. Last year when Mr. Ferguson was at the coast he and Mr. Bowser had talked over their respective situations. Ontario people had stated that there were the timber scandals and that he was unpopular and it could not win. Some in British Columbia, said Bowser could'nt win. The people however dealt with these matters themselves and if the government in power was not doing right it was defeated. This had also been shown in England when the people swung from Lloyd Gorge to Bonar Law and his policy of tranquility and stability, because they had confidence in him.

Bonar Law, stated Mr. Bowser, was raised on an adjoining place in New Brunswick and was a great friend of his. Bonar Law went to Glasgow for schooling. Mr. Bowser had met him in London when Bonar Law was in the imperial house. When he had been returned to power as head if the government in England Mr. Bowser wrote him and congratulated him on his success. In his reply the late British prime minister hoped that by good work the Conservatives would be returned in British Columbia. However, continued the letter, the happiest days after all were when he had been leading the opposition.

The Ontario result would be discouraging to Mr. Oliver and his friends and the result had proven a death knell to group government or new parties, he stated. It was not reasonable that one class, the farmers should rule the country any more than that a group of carpenters or plumbers or layers should govern. Representative government meant government of all classes.

At the next elction it would be necessary for the electors to put forward the best men possible to form a government which could bring the country back from the position in which Mr. Oliver had placed it today. What had been done in Ontario yesterday would be done in Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, then there would be representative government for all classes, true constitutional government.

In dosing Mr. Bowser stated that he would like to meet his Nelson friends. There were no horns on him and he was not quite so bad as people thought him. He hoped in his coming last fight that he would leave behind a reputation that he had done the best he could for the country as far as the administration of public affairs was concerned.

An Informative Trip

J. W. Jones, M.P.P. for South Okanagan was highly elated over the success of the Ontario Conservatives, and as he termed it he felt like throwing his hat in the air. The trip of the visitors from Penticton through the interior had been a pleasant one and three mountain passes had been gone over. It had been enjoyable and informative. Anarchist mountain was first climbed then Castle Mountain at Grand Forks then over the Rossland-Cascade road. Mount Sophia was also scaled.

Sometimes he had thought that the Okanagan valley was the only place in British Columbia. All the province should however be boosted as one. The only means of sizing up the problems and possibilities of the province for the sessions of legislature was by a trip of this kind, stated Mr. Jones in closing.

The Ontario election results were a good omen, said James Schofield, M.P.P. for Trail. He was a native son of Ontario and had never felt better in his life than he did. He had lived there till the time he was able to vote and during that time the Liberals were in power. Ontario had seen, and had now come to its own.

HER HEART SKIPPED EVERY THIRD BEAT

Mrs. James Burleigh, 248 King St. E., Chatham, Ont., writes:—"I think it my duty to let you know what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me.

I suffered for years with palpitation of the heart, my nerves were very bad, and I could not be left alone at any time. I doctored for over a year, and the doctor said my heart was very bad as it skipped every third beat.

I gave up, just at this time, and then my mother advised me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, saying my eldest brother had been relieved by using them when he was very bad with his heart and nerves. I got a box and started to take them, and when I had used it I felt a lot better; could sleep a little and felt stronger. I continued taking them for about three months, and felt better than I had for years.

When I think of the misery and suffering I went through before I started Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, I feel like letting everyone know what they did for me."

Simple Way to Get Rid of Blackheads

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them. To do this, get two ounces of peroxine powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The peroxine powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.

UNION BANK DISCUSSION IS MODERATE

Both Forke and Fielding Compliment Officers on Their Courage

MINISTER KNEW OF LOSSES IN APRIL

Counselled Investigation and Frank Statement; That Thing Done

OTTAWA, June 25.—The debate on the situation revealed by the Union bank statement, which was held in the house of commons this afternoon, was limited to speeches by Robert Forke, Progressive leader, and Hon. W. S. Fielding, minister of finance. Both complimented the officers of the Union bank on the courage they had shown. Mr. Forke said that he did not desire to "cast any shadow of doubt on the soundness of the bank," and Mr. Fielding stated that he "had no reason to doubt that the bank is in a sound position."

Mr. Forke compared the situation in regard to the Union bank with that which developed when the Merchants' bank, as he put it, "capitulated to the Bank of Montreal, in which it was swallowed up."

Should Be Protection, Says Forke

He remarked on the possibility that another merger had just been avoided, and emphasized the danger of the concentration of the control of the credit in a few hands. He asked whether the government had knowledge of the position of the Union bank, and urged that steps should be taken to prevent a recurrence of similar trouble

He anticipated the reply that men could not be made honest by preventive measures, and added that, "that does not make for stability or public confidence, and I claim that something ought certainly to be done to insure the public against any disastrous happenings in connection with the banks, at least with the authority of any directors."

President Sends Auditor

Mr. Fielding replied that he had known of the position of the Union bank since the April statement of the bank was filed in the month of May. At that time the auditor of the bank, E. S. Read, had come as a special messenger from the president, W. R. Allan, and told him that the bank had had losses, and Mr. Read had asked his advice. He had advised thorough investigation, followed by a frank statement, and had been told that that was the intention of the president and the directors of the bank.

Later in June he had received a letter from the president, recapitulating what the auditor had said, and announcing that the statement of the bank would be ready in 10 days or two weeks.

As to Mr. Forke's request for assurance that the same thing might not be repeated, Mr. Fielding was not optimistic.

Can't Be Assurance

"I can tell him," said the minister, "that he has no assurance, and so long as human nature is as it is, we cannot have any assurances that misfortunes may not occur to any bank. We cannot guarantee the banking, nor the moral character, of any banking official." Mr. Fielding added that at this eleventh hour he would welcome any suggestions that might be made as amendments to the banking bill.

Following Mr. Fielding's speech, Mr. Forke withdrew his motion, and the subject was dropped.

This was good auguring for the leader of the opposition in British Columbia.

Nelson had been noted for its pulling together and community spirit, through this the citizens had obtained the Ymir road. He warned the electors in the next election to not split their votes or the votes of their families. British Columbia had passed through a period of times which had been common over Canada and brighter times were now hoped for.

It was the unanimous opinion throughout British Columbia that Mr. Bowser was the brainiest man in the province, stated C. F. McHardy, but many said he was not popular. He had a natural reserve, but it was up to the people to do their share. People of today were becoming too independent, and there would be a big swing shortly. There should only be two groups, and then the best man in the constituency would handle the affairs.

Mr. Bowser has no horns, stated Dr. W. O. Rose, and he thought that the people who were against Mr. Bowser were those who did not know him. Mr. Jones, M.P.P. of South Okanagan was an old war horse, and Mr. Schofield and William Hunter, M.P.P. for the Slocan riding, needed no introduction, he said. The Ontario elections were cheering, and had sounded the death knell of the third party government throughout Canada. The same would happen in British Columbia as soon as John Oliver saw fit to call for an election, concluded Dr. Rose.

Dr. L. E. Borden, president of the Nelson Conservatives, acted as chairman for the evening, and introduced the various speakers. He also at intervals throughout the program read the latest returns on the Ontario elections.

Several boxing bouts of high order proved quite interesting. Link and Stewart went three rounds to a draw. Parker and Hill went the three rounds, the former getting the decision. Fallisconi and Allibone went three rounds in a snappy exhibition bout. Those contributing to the musical program were: J. B. Bartindale, A. J. Cornish, Leslie Craufurd and J. P. Pitner. A five-piece orchestra rendered music during the evening, while soft drinks and smokes were distributed.

Promptly at 8 o'clock last night the Nelson Kilties' Pipe band, decked in their gaudy kilts, paraded to the Hume hotel, where they gave several pipe and drum selections to the large crowd which gathered there. They then proceeded to the Armory, where the meeting was held.

Attorney-General Daugherty says he has no special authority for announcing that President Harding will be a candidate for renomination next year. Still, he seems confident nobody will rebuke him or repudiate his announcement. — Kansas City Times.

WINTER FEED NOW ASSURED

All Crops in Western Provinces in Splendid Shape, Railway Reports

WINNIPEG, June 25. — Western provinces have been favored with fine weather during the past week. Moisture and sunshine combined have produced excellent growth, and the crop outlook is decidedly bright, according to the crop report issued today by the agricultural branch of the Canadian Pacific railway.

There is ample supply of winter feed, and pastures are in excellent shape. The season has been remarkable so far, in that there is so little injury to crops by insects.

Manitoba has had excellent crop weather, with plenty of moisture. Reports on damage by recent storms indicate crops only affected at few points.

Growth has been so rapid in Saskatchewan on crops seeded in proper season that grain has got well ahead of weeds in districts where these were bad. Grass and pastures are excellent in the province for this time of year. Gardens and potato crops are looking well advanced.

Conditions continue uniformly favorable over the province of Alberta. Crops are making good progress assisted by warm weather and timely rains. Ten per cent of wheat seeded is shot blade and balance is quickly coming to that stage.

British Columbia has had ideal weather during the past seven days, the report says, and crops are in excellent condition.

FLOWERS WELCOME NEW LABOR MEMBER

There Are Such Quantities That Government Followers Object; Bitter Words Follow

LONDON, June 25.—Robert Smillie, the former miners' leader, took his seat in the house of commons today as representative for Morpeth. He was greeted by the Laborites who wore flowers in their buttonholes. There were also bunches of flowers.

The Conservatives protested against bringing such quantities of flowers into the chamber, but the speaker said he was powerless to intervene.

There were noisy scenes for a considerable time, and angry words between the Conservatives and Laborites ensued.

SPORTSMEN ARE COIN BRINGERS SAYS GUIMONT

Game Commissioner Gives Rotarians Striking Talk; Mr. Bowser Is a Guest

People of British Columbia do not realise what a wonderful asset they possess in the game of the province, declared J. F. Guimont, of the British Columbia game conservation board, in an address yesterday to the Nelson Rotary club.

Game was a source of revenue not so much through direct revenue in the form of licenses, and fur, as in an indirect way. He mentioned as an example one party which came from the United States last year to hunt game in this province. The party paid $25 for a license, and $35 for trophies, which they took out with them, but they spent $3500 for equipment, quides and supplies.

Visitors Buy a Mine

In another case a party of game hunters spent some weeks in East Kootenay last year. As quides they had some prospectors, one of whom possessed a claim, which he sold to the visitors for $50,000 and upon which they are spending another $40,000 for development this year.

Scenery was a great asset to British Columbia, but tourists, said Mr. Guimont, could see that without leaving the trains. What was required was something which would make them spend time in the province. Hunting and fishing were attractions which accomplished that purpose.

East Kootenay Elk Herd Leads

Mr. Guimont spoke of the game park in East Kootenay, and remarked that it contained the greatest herd of elk on this continent, with the exception of that in one of the United States national parks. East Kootenay, he said, was a hunter's paradise.

He mentioned, amid applause, that the game conservation board, whose members are employed without salary, had recommended that the area across the lake from Nelson should be closed to hunters, so that game might find a haven there, and the people of Nelson hav the pleasure of watching game animals gambol around on the mountains on the northshore.

W. J. Bowser, M. P. P., J. H. Schofield, M. P. P. were also present, Mr. Bowser complime nted Mr. Guimont upon his speech, remarking that he took a great interest in game, as for the province. He also spoke of the good work done by the Rotary clubs.

R. C. Waterson was another guest present.

The day's program was in charge of the followship committee, for whom A. T. Walley made a brief address, and was supported by George Benwell, and Mayor L. H. Choquette, who was present by invitation. Edgar Mason brought down the house with a humorous song.

System Run Down Blood Out of Order

Many people become run down, but don't know just exactly what their trouble is, when, as a rule, it is improper circulation of the blood.

All they need is a good tonic to build up the system and put the blood into proper shape.

For this purpose there is nothing on the market to-day to equal

Burdock Blood Bitters

It regulates the stomach, liver and bowels, purifies the blood and tones up the entire system.

Mrs. H. Poole, Port Dover, Ont., writes:—"My system was run down and my blood out of order, and I suffered a great deal from pains in my head which made me feel very miserable. A friend told me to try Burdock Blood Bitters, so I got a bottle and before it was used I found it was doing me good. I kept on until I had taken three, and now I feel like a different woman.

My husband also took it and it has built him up."

Somenos Pen Again Leads Egg Laying for Week

During the week just passed, production in the British Columbia egg-laying contest amounted to 63 per cent. The Dominion experimental farm, Agassiz, whose pen is not entered for competition but for record of performance, still leads the province, with a total of 1645 eggs. The weekly pen production fell off some, and F. E. Parker's pen of White Leghorns from Somenos carried off the honors, with 57 eggs.

Cranbrook Citizens Inspect Good Work of Central School

CRANBROOK, B.C., June 25.—Friday was visitors' day at the Central school, and a large number of parents availed themselves of the opportunity to get in closer touch with the work of the school. Specimens of the work of the children were on exhibition in the classrooms and excited much admiration. The display of sewing work by the older girls in the upper grades and the manual training work by the boys were especially noteworthy.

Fire drill was held for the benefit of the visitors, and the big building was emptied of its hundreds of children in a remarkably short time, with absolutely no confusion.

W. H. Wilson, chairman of the board of school trustees, was present during the afternoon together with other members of the board.

Many took advantage of the opportunity to inspect the new eight-roomed addition which has been erected to relieve the congestion, and which will be put into use with the commencement of the next term.

Cranbrook Lady Dies Suddenly in the Hospital

CRANBROOK, B.C., June 25.—The death of Mrs. Margaret Malone took place somewhat unexpectedly at the St. Eugene hospital on Thursday. Up till the evening previous to her death she had been working as usual. She leaves a husband and a large family. The funeral took place on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock from the Catholic church, Rev. Father Murphy officiating.

J. M. Clark received word last week of the death, in the east, of his aged father. Last summer Mr. Clark took advantage of a Y.M.C.A. secretaries' camp convention in Ontario to visit at his home for a short time, and was not expecting to hear news of this kind.

Miss Heath of Macclesfield, Cheshire, England, is on the homestretch after making a tour of America. She is at present visiting her sister, Mrs. Eric F. Smith, at Edgewater, but prior to that completed the journey from Liverpool to San Francisco, via New York. She will return home by way of New York.

GERMAN RUM-RUNNER SUCCUMBS TO STRATEGY

BERGEN, Norway, June 25.—Strategy plays its part now and then in Norway in the taking of rum-runners, and the recent capture of the 200-ton German yacht Elizabeth is a case in point.

Standing off the Norwegian coast the Elizabeth was in need of coal, and sent in a motor boat and 17 men to get a supply. The boat was seized, and the men replaced by 17 armed police and customs officers. Approaching the Elizabeth, the police signalled for three men to come off in a row-boat to help with the unloading of the coal supposed to be aboard. When they reached the motor boat they were overpowered and handcuffed. The police then drew alongside the Elizabeth and boarded her.

The Germans still on board the yacht made a desperate resistance and one of them loosed the ship's dog, a gigantic Great Dane, who leaped at the throat of one of the police, but was shot dead. Eventually the smugglers were overpowered and put in irons.

FRANK OLIVER A WITNESS AT GRAIN INQUIRY

Edmonton Ex-Member Says Mountain Grades Less Than Eastern

EQUALIZE GRAIN RATES EAST-WEST ON PLAINS

Commissioners Hear Several Farmers on Problems of Grades and Markets

EDMONTON, June 25.—The first session of the royal commission appointed by the Dominion government to enquire into the report upon the handling of the grain trade in Canada opened in the city council chamber this morning, and evidenie was received form a number of farmers as to grievances as they had found. Restricting combines between grain buyers and operators, millers and banks was charged by two of the witnesses, while A. C. Richard, freight supervisor for the Alberta government, complained of that section in the Grain act which limited to 24 hours the time that a car was at the disposition of a farmer loading grain over a platform.

National Grades are Low

Hon. Frank Oliver appeared before the commission in connection with the western grain route, and also spoke of the value of the Hudsons Bay route to the prairie farmer. Mr. Oliver made the rather astounding statement that the railway grade which has always had to bear the brunt of the argument for greater transportation costs on the mountain route, is actually greater to Fort William than to Vancouver or Prince Rupert, that is, that the amount of actual uphill haul on the eastern route is greater than to the west on the Canadian National lines.

Mr. Oliver also considered that the government of the country should establish the principle of no discrimination between east or westbound freight on the prairies. This was a matter of principle, and should be established by the government, and not by the railway commission.

At the afternoon session George Bevington finished his evidence, mentioning some of the company failures, including the Ross Alger company, and another in Regina, in which he stated that the banks had lost nothing, the whole loss coming on the farmers, so he thought that something should be done to protect the farmers in a case of this kind.

Alderman Rice Sheppard of Edmonton produced in evidence samples of shorts bran and screenings, which he claimed were not only sold back to the farmer at too high a price, but were adulterated. He argued for storage and cleaning facilities at Edmonton. Mr. Sheppard also referred to grading, mentioning specifically some oats which he had sold to the U. G. G. and which he claimed had been bodly graded.

Easton Williams of Leduc, spoke principally of dockage and short feights. He claimed there should be a public weigh scale for farmers. He claimed that there was discrimination in the matter of docking, some men were docked more than others for similar quality of grain. The remedy for this in his opinion was cleaning at local elevators, so the farmer could get his own dockage. The railways, he claimed, were the only people making money, for they had the double hauling of the dockage.

F. C. Clare, Edmonton, protested against the difference in the weights at the loading platforms and at the For William terminal. He also claimed that the grade on oats was too high. In the United States oats had to have 14 per cent moisture before being graded "tough", while here they were 12 1-2 per cent.

Want Local Clearing

R. P. Ottwell, Clover Bar, estimated that the loss to the farmer on having to pay freight on his screenings to Port Arthur was $250 on 1000 bushels and the solution of this difficulty was local elevators with cleaning and storage facilities. There should also be elevator facilities in Vancouver owned and controlled by the farmer.

Andrew Rafn, Bon Accord, had a complaint that he did not get proper grading on his oats. He had shipped out 1900 bushels of oats that he knew perfectly were not tough, but for which he received tough grade. Also he considered the variations in price between grades far too great. Prices in No. 2 C.W. and 2 C. W. tough varied from one cent to eight cents. He thought the farmer should have something to say in the fixing of grades.

James Sutherland of Namao, thought from the fact that the Dominion laboratories showed practically no difference between No. 1 and 2 and 3 wheat northern, that the difference in the price was too great.

Vanished After Using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"Branchton, Ont.—"When I wrote to you for help my action was mostly prompted by curiosity. I wondered if I, too, would benefit by your medicine. It was the most profitable action I have ever taken, I heartily assure you, for through its results I am relieved of most of my sufferings. I have takensix boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine, and I can honestly say I have never been so well before. I had suffered from pains and other troubles since I was fifteen years old, and during the 'Great War' period I worked on munitions for two years, and, in the heavy lifting which my work called for, I strained myself, causing pelvic inflammation from which I have suffered untold agony, and I often had to give up and go to bed. I had doctored for several years without getting permanent relief, when I started to take your medicines."—Mrs. GOLDWIN MISENER, Branchton, Ont.

Money will not buy a finer bed than you can own today

Simmons is proud of that fact—proud to be the means of bringing such luxurious and life-prolonging comfort within the reach and buying power of millions of Canadians.

For the finest sleep unit Simmons produces—no better mattress and spring are made anywhere—you need pay only two cents a night for their years of service. A small price for the flooding energy and vigor that make life longer and better worth the living.

The Ostermoor Mattress

Set aside enough time today to call on your furniture dealer and examine the Ostermoor Mattress at $30—for thirty years the greatest mattress value to be had in Canada. Compare its sleep-inviting luxury with the mattress you are now using, and decide for yourself whether health, energy and personal success are not worth the investment in Ostermoor sleep comfort.

Study the whole range of Simmons mattresses, springs and beds, now offered at prices to suit any pocketbook. Simmons Red Label, Green Label, White Label mattresses cost less: each is built of sanitary new materials, and is highest possible quality at its price.

Look for the Simmons Label. Beware of imitations

BLIND SPOTS.

The world has its "blind spots" for thunder and lightning, says a bulletin of the National Geographical society. The brilliant flash of lightning and the crackle and rumble of thunder would be as impossible of conception by many Eskimos as would "solid water" by equatorial savages.

In general the frequency of thunder storms decreases as one goes north, until within the Arctic and Antarctic circles they seldom occur.

When Katmai volcano, on the Alaskan peninsula, erupted in 1912, some of the more adult natives of the vicinity were more terrified at the lightning and thunder that accompanied the dust clouds than at the possibility of being buried by ash, because they had nothing in their lifelong experience by which to judge the blinding and deafening noise from the skies.

The Result in Ontario

Ontario, having tried a third party Farmer-Labor government, has decided that it does not like it and has returned the Conservatives, led by Howard Ferguson, to power by a big majority.

The Drury government has suffered an even more overwhelming defeat than its opponents expected.

During its term of office the Drury government has heavily increased taxation, inflated the debt of the province, shown itself inconsistent and vacillating in policy, weak in administrative powers and unable to prevent from growing within its own ranks to an almost unexampled extent evils which it had criticised in the two old parties.

Ontario has decided to seek better, more stable and more dependable administration and has chosen the supporters of Conservative principles to undertake the work.

"A Man Who Could Not Win"

G. Howard Ferguson, who yesterday led the Conservative party in Ontario to victory, was considered "A man who could not win." It was declared by Conservatives, as much perhaps as by their opponents, that Mr. Ferguson was unpopular, that he lacked personal magnetism, that he had been in office before and was therefore open to attack, that it was necessary to get someone else to win.

The same thing was said of the late H. C. Brewster in British Columbia. It was said that he was only a temporary and compromise choice of the Liberal party, that no one knew him, that he had none of the qualities of leadership. Yet, in 1916, he and his party were returned to power, with a big majority. To an even greater extent was it said of John Oliver. Ten years ago the idea that Mr. Oliver would be prime minister of British Columbia would nave aroused nothing but jibes. Yet he became prime minister, in succession to Mr. Brewster, and won the province with a fair majority in 1920.

Today, similar statements are being made with regard to W. J. Bowser, the opposition leader, and probably of opposition leaders in every other province in Canada. The opposition leader is usually described as unpopular and as being unable to win. Reasons galore are advanced to show that he, no matter who he may be, can't possibly lead his party to victoory. Yet the opposition leader, in due course, usually becomes premier.

French Finances Improved

Announcement from Paris that the 1923 budget of France shows a surplus of 900,000,000 francs is cheering news to all friendly peoples. A short time ago a deficit of not much less than 4,000,000,000 francs was indicated. The great change has been accomplished by increasing revenue estimates as well as by reducing estimates of expenditures. Yet the financial position of France apparently is not greatly better than it seemed to be earlier in the year.

Public debt service claims more than half of the irreducible outgo. Savings have been made on costs of civil service and national defence, these two items together being denominated "ordinary expenses." Concerning national defence, it may be found, when more detailed figures are available, that some of this expense has been shifted to the account for occupation of German areas, which the debtor nation is obligated to pay.

However, aside from the general budget which now presents a favorable aspect is a special budget that does not balance, by 10,000,000,000 francs. It calls for expenditures for reconstruction and reparations chargeable to Germany and on account of which Germany is paying nothing. The deficit on the special budget equals the total of the authorized expenditures.

With this burden raised by a settlement of the reparations dispute there would be available money not contributed by French taxpayers for carring on the resconstruction work and meeting some of the cost of the enormous public debt.

Keeping Up a Neighborhood

Theoretically a man who owns property ought to have the right to do what he wants with his own land. Yet, practically, the man who does just as he wishes with his own property may create serious damage to his neighbors. For instance, if a man who owns a home in a pretty residence neighborhood should put up an ugly chicken coop in a conspicuous position, the neighborhood is to some extent damaged. Real estate promoters often establish restrictions on the use of land which those purchasing consent to for the benefit of the neighborhood.

Some people may object to certain restrictions on the ground that they interfere too far with private rights. Yet, those conditions may make the land more attractive to others because they seem to make the property more secure against deterioration. The bulk of the residence property in Canadian towns has probably been sold without such conditions. An unrestricted neighborhood must rely on the good sense of its residents to keep their property in good shape.

People ought to realize that if they make any addition that is inappropriate or ugly, or if they put up structures unsuited to the location, a damage is done not merely to their neighbors, but to themselves as well. The inexpensively-built town may show so much refinement in its and the care given to them that it looks more pleasing and livable than one in which the average cost of the dwellings was twice as much.

New Housekeeper—"How shall I treat my new hardwood floors?"

Answer — Send me a stamped and self-addressed envelope and I will send you a page of directions which I have just had printed on "The Care of Hardwood Floors." This page not only tells how to treat a new hardwood floor, but how to bleach a stained floor, remove old varnish—in fact, how to care for any kind of floor, whether hardwood or not. (I will also gladly send it to any other reader who sends a stamped envelope.)

Miss S. — "I would appreciate an article on the new sealing wax work, if you would be so good as to write on this subject."

Answer — It is a coincidence that I was just preparing an article on this new kind of handiwork! It will appear in this column on June 28, (Thursday).

A Reader — "Kindly tell me how to keep moths out of a blue wool velour living-room suite. Our house is full of moths.

Answer — Sun the pieces frequently (not long enough to fade), and keep them free from dust by using a vacuum cleaner upholstery attachment (or by beating out of doors). Now and then go over the plush with a cloth dampened with gasoline (gasoline is very inflammable, so do not use it near heat or flame. It will not stain the plush).

Engaged — "Can you suggest a novel way to announce my engagement? I would like to have some table favors that will 'break the news.'"

Answer — If I were you I would make small pink silk bags. Then I would paint (or paste) a picture of a cat on my visiting card; make slits on either side of the cat's neck, right through the cardboard, and run a piece of pink baby ribbon through these slits for a collar for kitty. Also have this ribbon run through a corner of your fiance's visiting card. Put the two cards into the pink bag. When each guest opens her bag and pulls on the pink ribbon, she will "let the cat out of the bag." I know of a clever young girl who originated this idea of announcing her engagement.

Mrs. E. R. M. — "Do you know of a recipe for French apple cake?"

Answer — I am sorry, but I do not. Let us hope that any reader friend who does will write it on a post card and mail it to me to publish here.

Tomorrow — Recipes for Friday's and Saturday's Menus.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be inclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and province.—The Editor.

What the Press Is Saying

Modernizing the World

Various people at various times have rewritten the Bible. The old texts still stand, however, and all the "modernized" version are forgotten almost as soon as they are put into type. The British house of bishops is now busily engaged in revising the Psalms of David and seems intent on making them a little more polite, a little less thunderous than they are, and better fitted to be read in circles of the excessively refined. The London Express is only one of the newspapers that have been crying out in anger. It observes, rightly enough, that the Psalms of David are magnificent and colorful, robust and frank and passionate, and that no hand can improve them. It does seem that people who cannot read the stupendous Biblical texts without wincing, would have sense enought to know that the trouble is with them and not with the book of books.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Britain's International Slaves

Should we be lowering our honor by wiping off the debts owed to us by cutting free from all entanglements, by paying—although it may wring bitter hours from our people—our American debt, and by saying plainly: "We take our own way once more and our record of the past shows that way will cross the path of no people who acts uprightly and straightforwardly?" Let us be friends with France, with Japan, with America. Our word is good enough for our bond. We need no parchment agreement, but we need to feel that our friendship shall leave us free to make our own decisions and to act as we think right. The British people want to cast off its shackles. We are tired of being international slaves. — Singapore Free Press.

Styles

By Lenore

There is so much color to be seen in all types of summer clothes that it is really easier to say summer fashions are a "riot of color" than to decide just which are the leading colors. Your dress of silk may be the golden brown of clear honey, or it may be Egyptian blue, or one of those odd greens named variously lanvin green and almond green after the soft green almonds the Parisians love so well. Or, of course, it may be beige or gray.

Four country wear, the rainbow's the limit. You may wear a green silk jersey sweater and contrast it with an orange and white skirt. You may wear linen frocks and dimities ranging from palest pinks and yellows to lavender to raspberry and deepest yellows and violet. And, of course, there are the multicolor prints.

Often the plain materials are combined with printed fabrics, a very good-looking example being illustrated in the sketch above. Here yellow linen is clearly combined with yellow and black calico, and a piquant touch is added by black wool stitching and a black ribbon belt.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

Pain in Joints

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act)

As far back as you can remember the word rheumatism and rheumatics were familiar to you.

Any pain anywhere was spoken of as a rheumatic pain. If not in a joint it was called muscular rheumatism.

You will remember that, a few years back, all these pains were blamed on the eating of meat. The cure was abstaining from the meat, and taking heavy doses of salts. It is now pretty generally admitted that there is no special disease called rheumatism, but that any poisonous matter getting into or about a joint will set up the trouble that has been called rheumatism.

And where does this poison come from?

From any point in the body. From bad teeth, bad tonsils, a poisoned wound in the flesh anywhere, and, last but not least, from poisonous products from the intestinal canal.

You will remember that many people treated these joint conditions with heavy doses of salts. They were thus on the right track, very often.

Now, what about it?

Well, your common sense tells you that pains in the joints often become chronic and that permanent stiffness often ensues.

If, then, you begin to have pains in the joints, get busy at once. Start with the intestine, and see that the bowels move regularly. Have your doctor examine your throat, and, if you have any crown or bridge work, have your dentist go over them for you, with the assistance of the X-Ray.

Perhaps there is some other part giving trouble.

The point I want to make plain is that there is always some cause, some point from which absorption is taking place, and your job in life is to stay with it until it is located. You'll likely find it, if you look long enough.

And, while you are looking for it, eat whole wheat bread; get outdoors, and exercise that body of yours.

BING CHERRIES REACH CALGARY

Commissioner Grant Also sReport British Columbia Potatoes Are Arriving on Market.

Under the caption of "Week In Calgary," J. A. Grant, British Columbia prairie markets commissioner, writes as follows in Markets Bulletin:

"Weather for the week has been rather cool and mostly wet. Rained Wednesday afternoon, all day Thursday and still raining Friday.

"Business is improving, with collections a little easier.

"A bumper crop is expected all over the prairies, at least equal to the big crop of 1915.

British Columbia is shipping in strawberries at the rate of eight cars daily. Owing to the slow retail trade prevailing at the movement had to be stimulated by a very low price, so far they are cleaning up daily.

"The first British Columbia Bing cherries came from the orchard of R. H. Plaskett, and sold wholesale at $4 per crate. They were rather small in size and slack pack. This market is at present supplied with California, Washington and Oregon cherries in faced lugs.

"Gooseberries are again plentiful.

"New potatoes from British Columbia are beginning to arrive, and as usual the late districts are shipping very immature stock which has a bad effect on the spuds shipped from the coast.

"Hothouse tomatoes and cukes are moving freely at fair prices. Local market men are bringing in head lettuce and other vegetables by express from Walla Walla.

"Calgary wholesale prices: Strawberries, B.C., best, per crate, $3; strawberries, B.C., jobbed, per crate, $1.75 to $2.50; cherries, Wash., Bings, per peach box, $4.75; plums, Cay., per 4-basket crate, $3.50; apricots, Cal., Royal, 4-basket crate, $3.50; peaches, Cal., Alexandra, $2.50; cherries, B.C., Royal Ann, 4-basket, $3; cantaloupes, Standards, $9; Rhubarb, B.C. and Wash., 40-lb. crate, $1.75; rhubarb, local, per lb., 3c; apples, new, per pear box, $3.75; gooseberries, 24-lb. basket, $2.50 to $2.90; asparagus, Walla Walla, per case, $3; tomatoes, B.C., H.H., 4-basket crate, $7.50; tomatoes, local, H.H., per lb., 35c; cabbage, Walla Walla, per lb., 8c; onions, New Zealand, per lb., 8c; potatoes, B.C., grades A and B, per ton, $35; potatoes, B.C., new, per lb., 6c; potatoes, Alberta, grades A and B, per ton, $30; spinach, local, per lb. 8c."

CERTO (Surejell)

How to Make Red or Black Currant Jelly

Crush well about 3½ lbs. ripe fruit. Add 1 cup water, stir until boiling, cover pan and simmer 10 minutes. Place in jelly bag and squeeze out juice. Measure 4½ cups juice into large saucepan. Measure 7½ level cups (3¼ lbs.) sugar in separate pan. Bring juice just to boil, and begin to add sugar slowly, with constant stirring, taking about 5 minutes to add sugar, keeping juice nearly at boil. Then bring to boil, and at once add ½ bottle (scant ½ cup) Certo, stirring constantly, and bring again to a full boil, for ½ minute. Remove from fire, let stand 1 minute, skim and pour quickly.

Cranbrook Rebekahs Give Mementoes to Departing Members

CRANBROOK, B.C., June 25. — Wednesday evening at the Auditorium the Rebekahs entertained their husbands and friends at a social gathering in honor of two of their members, Miss Edith Murgatroyd, whose wedding takes place shortly, and Miss Emslie, who is leaving for the old country, were the guests of the evening, and were made the recipients of presentations from the lodge, the former being given a cut glass water set, and the latter a beaded handbag.

The evening opened with cards, about 10 tables being engaged, others not playing engaging in a social time. This was followed by a musical program and refreshments. Those taking part in the program were Miss Gracie Higgins, Miss Miller, Miss Garland and A. E. Leigh.

Cranbrook Kiddies Receive the Prizes Won at the Sports

CRANBROOK, B.C., June 25. — On Friday at the Central school the prizes won by the children at the school sports on May 23 were distributed. J. F. Scott, A. Ashworth and Rev. R. C. Freeman were present to carry out the presentation of the prizes to the successful children.

Mrs. J. J. Jackson has returned from a short visit to Nelson, where she attended the closing exercises at St. Joseph's school, returning with her two daughters, who are attending there.

A dance was held in the K. P. hall on Friday evening, given by the Happy Five orchestra, signalizing at once a new musical organization and the reopening of the hall after undergoing extensive alterations and renovations.

Colonel Dennis Pays Visit to Cranbrook

CRANBROOK, B.C., June 25.—Col. J. S. Dennis, head of the C.P.R. lands department, Montreal, was a distinguished visitor to the city for a time on Thursday. Mr. Rankin, also of Montreal, C.P.R. publicity agent, accompanied Colonel Dennis. Miss A. Dennis and a friend, Miss Cardell of Calgary, were also in the party.

They were hurrying through to the Pacific coast, where Colonel Dennis was due to address a conference of C.P.R. land men, after which they will return for the official opening of the Banff-Windermere road.

BONNINGTON INSTITUTE DROPS OUT OF FAIR

Epidemic of Resignations Leads Organization to Change Its Competition Plans.

SOUTH SLOCAN, B.C., June 25.—"An epidemic of resignations" was the remark of the president, Mrs. Turner Lee, at the regular monthly meeting of the Bonnington and South Slocan Women's Institute, Wednesday, when the principal business was the election of a secretary-treasurer owing to the resignation of Mrs. M. Downey, who has held the office for 18 months.

The meeting reluctantly had to accept her resignation, as there was no alternative, and a hearty vote of thanks was tendered her for her wholehearted work in office. Mrs. H. Kingwell was elected to the position.

Other resignations were of Mrs. F. Martin as convener for the institute display at the Nelson fall fair, and as a delegate to the annual convention; Mrs. G. K. Ashby as convener for the needlework, also of the institute work and methods committee; Mrs. W. Rankin as a delegate to the annual conference.

The outcome of this was that a vote was taken on having the display at the Nelson fair, and it was decided to drop out.

The financial statement showed that the institute funds were depleted, and it was decided to have a dance the first week in July in aid of the funds. Miss T. Brown consented to be convener and to arrange a program of songs and music to precede the dance, with Mrs. G. N. Brown as convener for the supper arrangements.

After the business of the meeting, Mrs. Bert Oliver, Mrs. H. Kingwell and Mrs. O. W. Humphry served refreshments.

Yahk Ladies' Guild Allots Money to Many Good Objects

YAHK, B.C., June 25. — The Yahk Ladies' guild held its second bazaar, Saturday week, from which $56.10 was realized.

At a business meeting, Wednesday, money was voted as follows: $50 toward public school library, $10 for small pictures for public school, $25 toward Rev. H. Varley's stipend (Creston), $50 donation to Christ church (Creston), $25 for seats for C.P.R. hall (Yahk), and $20 for Sunday school supplies (Yahk).

It was decided to hold no further meetings until September.

PERRY SIDING NOTES

PERRY SIDING, B.C. June 25. — Dr. D. Hartin made a hurried visit on Tuesday night to Jack Nixon, who was in a serious condition. He is getting better rapidly.

The Social club had a very enjoyable meeting in the hall recently, when a large number attended. The library is rapidly increasing in size, and some additions to it from the old country are expected shortly.

A hailstorm hit this district on Saturday week, together with thunder and lightning. The hail was of the soft variety and did not damage.

C. Cummings is home from the Crow's Nest district for a while.

Mrs. Rice returned from Sandon last Monday, where she has been for a few days.

CRANBROOK NOTES

CRANBROOK, B.C., June 25.—Lorne Partridge, of the Bank of Commerce staff here until recently, has returned to his home at Penticton for a time prior to being transferred. His place in the bank has been taken by Barry McDonald of this city, recently attending high school.

Mr. Swan of Penticton, the architect employed by the school board in the erection of the new addition to the Central school, is in the city at present, just at the completion of the work.

DeWolf & Ham, of this city, contractors who were the successful tenderers for a stretch of road improvement on the way from Creston to Kuskanook, now have a force of men at work on this job.

SLOCAN RIVER IS DROPPING AT PERRY'S

PERRY SIDING, B.C., June 25. — The water in the Slocan river has commenced to recede, and flooded ranches will soon reappear.

Hay cutting has commenced, and there is every prospect of a splendid crop.

Mrs. E. W. Dawney left for Nelson on Wednesday last to attend the closing exercises at the convent school, where her daughter, Serena, is studying.

G. Avis was a visitor to Slocan City Wednesday.

G. Hodgson is very busy hauling ties down to the siding, where he has a big pile awaiting the inspector.

Olive Oil Shampoo Gives Soft Lustre To Dull, Dry Hair

To be beautiful, your hair must have lustre. Dull, dry hair simply detracts from the most charming face. Now specialists on hair beauty tell you to use a gentle shampoo of olive oil to have hair that is soft and glossy. They say that you must never wash your hair without olive oil. Do this and see new beauty come to dry, brittle hair. Get a bottle of PALMOLIVE SHAMPOO at any department or drug store. The most delightful of olive oil shampoos. Cleanses gently, and leaves the hair lovely, gleaming, soft and pliant as a baby's.

REQUIRE TENTS AT INVERMERE FOR BIG EVENT

All Other Accommodation for Road Opening Is All Appropriated

RULES PROMULGATED FOR THE GREAT DAY

Official Ceremonies at Kootenay Crossing Will Consume One hour

INVERMERE, B.C., June 25. — J. M. Wardle, chief engineer of the National parks branch, motoring from Banff, held a full discussion with the district board of trade and completed all arrangements relative to the opening of the Banff-Windermere highway. Incidentally, there was impressed upon all present the need of making public to those who had not already secured their accommodation in these parts that it would be practically necessary for them to bring tents along if they proposed staying overnight, as all the available space has practically been reserved by early applicants. The question of feeding was not so much weighed, as the local committee thought the district would be able to cater to about 750 persons.

In regard to the program, the official car will start from Invermere at 8:30, Pacific time, and proceed direct to Kootenay Crossing, where the opening ceremonies are to take place. No cars will be allowed to enter the park ahead of what are known as the "official" cars, those bearing the specially invited guests of the department, and those whose official duty calls them to early service. In order to prevent any possible confusion, marshals and policemen will be stationed along the main roads leading the park way, in order to enforce these rules.

Reserve Parking Space.

Cars which do not start from Invermere should be parked along the main highway on the Shuswap Indian reserve, taking up their position just north of where the Invermere road leaves the main road between Cranbrook and the north.

All tourists have been requested to register their cars with the secretary of the district board of trade, Invermere, and obtain from him a "sticker" that will allow them free access to the park on arrivel at the entrance gates, and thus avoid the delay necessary to register at that place. These "stickers" will not be furnished on that day save to bona fide car owners or drivers who have their cars with them. In addition to being able to pass the gates without cost or query when this special" sticker" adorns their windshield, it will entitle them to these provileges for several succeeding days.

All cars travelling toward Banff by the highway on the opening day have to be at the park gates entrance at Radium Hot Springs not later than 10:30 a.m., Pacific time. They must then proceed direct to the parking ground at Kootenay Crossing, where all must be left until the ceremonies pertaining to the opening are over. No cars will be allowed to park alongside the road within the boundaries of Kootenay park.

Cars must not change their positions once the procession has commenced, except in the case of an emergency, when the driver, having warned all other cars behind him, must pull out to the side of the road. Service cars, which will charge for services rendered, will be along with the procession and give aid when requested.

Motorists are specially cautioned to fill their car tanks up with gas and take on a good supply of oil the night before and see to it that their cars are in good running order.

Refreshment Stands.

While it is expected that there will be a good supply of light refreshments obtainable from the refreshment stands that will be located at Kootenay Crossing on the opening day, yet people are advised to bring their lunch with them to provide against any emergency. Lunches will be served between 1:30 and 2:30 p.m., Mountain time. There will be no free lunches.

The opening ceremonies will start sharp at 2:30 p.m., Mountain time, and will be over by 3:30 p.m., Mountain time, when motorists can proceed either to Invermere or Banff, or as they desire, may camp at prepared campsites along the road for the night. They will not, however, be allowed to go back and forth over the road hunting for campsites.

Those who return to Invermere will be accommodated, provided they have made arrangements. Parking ground for autoists has been arranged for on the old golf course near the David Thompson Memorial fort.

On the evening of Saturday, a body of 500 Indians assembled in all their gaudiest array will form a procession, and with due ceremony march from their campground near the northern end of the townsite to the David Thompson Memorial fort, where they will give two entertainments.

On Sunday a special memorial service for the Indians and other persons during the afternoon in the David Thompson Memorial fort.

On Monday there will be a stampede with horse racing and all the accompanying features, held on the race track near the agricultural grounds at Lake Windermere, and the whole of the ceremonies will wind up with a grand ball held in the Thompson Memorial fort in the evening.

Premier Oliver has agreed to be present. Other celebrated guests and a host of noted journalists have also made all arrangements to be present throughout.

Many Nelsonites will be interested in the following account of the wedding, in Vernon, of Miss Lois Elaine Clark of that city and E. P. McDermid of Vancouver, who was born and lived for some years in this city:

McDERMID-CLARE.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church last Thursday afternoon, June 14, when Miss Lois Elaine, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Clark of Vernon, became the bride of Edward Percival McDermid, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. McDermid, Vancouver, B.C. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Lennox Fraser, the bridal pair standing under a beautiful floral wedding bell suspended from a triple arch of flowers and ferns. The church was prettily decorated for the occasion by friends of the bride.

The bride, entering the church on the arm of her father, to the strains of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," played by Miss Jean Forrester, looked most charming in a gown of white crepe charmante, with silver and pearl trimmings. She wore a veil of Brussels net embroidered with seed pearls, the gift of her grandmother. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and ferns.

Miss Jean Westwood, who acted as maid of honor, wore a gown of peach shot taffeta and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Miss Bessie Simms and Miss Jessie McCrae were the bridesmaids and wore gowns of pale blue and mauve taffeta, with shepherdess hats. They carried crooks, decorated with sweet peas and tulle. Miss Lottie Shillam was a dainty flower girl, dressed in pale green taffeta, carrying a basket of violas with rose leaves, which she strewed in the path of the bridal party as they left the church.

Murray Clark, brother of the bride, supported the groom. The ushers were Messrs. Ivo Henderson, Roy Spencer, George F. Jacques and M. Westover. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Leslie MacDonnell sang "Oh, Promise Me."

Mrs. W. K. Clark, mother of the bride, was most beautifully gowned in Princess Mary blue canton crepe, with hat of grey and rose, and corsage bouquet of roses and violas.

Mrs. E. B. McDermid, mother of the groom, was becomingly attired in ivory crepe, with an overdress of lace, with cape and hat to match.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the drawing-room of the National hotel. The rooms were most beautifully decorated, the tables being daintily ornamented with pale pink and lavender flowers, the wedding cake being in the center, mounted on white tulle and pink roses. Mrs. Leslie MacDonnell and Mrs. W. T. Hunter served the ices. The coffee was served from small tables, Mrs. M. L. Jewell, Mrs. W. L. Forrester, Mrs. George Adams and Mrs. F. S. Wilson doing the honors.

Miss H. R. Blackwell had charge of the dining-room, being assisted by friends of the bride.

Later the happy couple left by motor for Spokane, Portland and Seattle.

The bride's going-away costume was of rose-colored homespun, embroidered in grey, with hat to match.

Mr. and Mrs. McDermid will make their home in Vancouver.

A people cannot possess intellectual culture, nor can the youth of the country obtain a knowledge and respect for their own social and political institutions, or be implanted with a love of home and country that will bind them to the soil of their own land, unless the foundation of such things is well laid. — St. John Telegraph.

RUSSIAN DEPUTIES LEARN ALPHABET.

Illiterate deputies to the Communist congress are being given a chance to become educated through the organization of schools for that especial purpose in Russia. The Communist women's department at Sebastapool is making a more successful effort for education than any other like organization, and already has opened nine schools for working women, where 213 women delegates are learning the alphabet. Besides nine male delegates who are passing their vacation learning to read at the Communist day school at Sebastapool, there are 12 others attending the night school. At Balaklava, where the famous charge of the Light Brigade was made, eight delegates are learning the rudiments of political science at the party school. It is proposed to encourage in every way possible those Bolshevist legislators who, suddenly realizing their ignorance, leave the legislature for the primary school.

EMPOWER STOPPAGE PULPWOOD EXPORT

Resolution Gives Government Power to Put Ban on Movement of Pulpwood to States

OTTAWA, June 25. — A resolution, giving power to the government to make regulations prohibiting the export of pulpwood from Canada, was carried in the house of commons this evening. Hon. W. S. Fielding stated that the nature of the regulations had not yet been determined.

Sir Henry Drayton said that he hoped the proposition was not to be held up by the commission which the government proposed appointing to investigate the matter.

Mr. Fielding said that the government did not propose to be restricted by the commission. It might be beneficial, however, to have a report from the commission.

MONTREAL ARBITER ON A GLOBE-TROT

Recorder Geoffrion is Revealed in Light of a Literary Genius in Vice Decision

Recorder Amedee Geoffrion is a Montreal police magistrate who has recently become as famous in a literary way in Quebec's metropolis as was Colonel George Dennison in Toronto. Colonel Dennison won his literary spurs by writing a book on "Cavalry". Recorder Geoffrion wrote a letter defending his judicial decisions against the Committee of Sixteen, and the Rev. Mr. Hart, Montreal's Ben Spence, whom he called "the Ezekiel of Westmount".

The letter was a model of literary elegance. Montreal suddenly woke up to the fact that Recorder Geoffrion was one of its chief literary figures. No one had previously suspected his addiction to literature. He has almost put Stephen Leacock's nose out of joint.

Amedee Geoffrion's hobby is not golf, but books. He has thousands of them, all the English, French and Latin classics. When he is not in court he is in his library. He has also eight sons and daughters, a small enough family in Quebec, but still sufficiently distracting for any bookworm. One wonders how the recorder found time for all his reading. But Quebec is still patriarchal and children are exceedingly well behaved.

Collects Firearms

He is not only a collector of books. He is a collector of firearms. He has in his office in the old criminal courts a magnificent collection of "guns" impounded from generations of Montreal gunmen. When they are searched the spoils go to Recorder Geoffrion as a sort of seigneurial right. One glance at his shining arsenal shows the increasing advantage that the modern crook has over the police.

It is no wonder that Quebec prides itself on its culture when its police magistrates are masters of belles lettres in both languages. And it must be remembered, too, that the recorder never saw an Englishman till he was eighteen years of age. Strange to say, there are still little Quebec villages like that, where English faces as well as English accents are still unknown.

Recorder Geoffrion is 60 years of age, and he has never been out of Quebec. Now he is going to take a European tour. The Montreal city council, disturbed by the revelations of the Committee of Sixteen, are sending him to Europe to study social conditions in order to submit suggestions that will make Montreal more like Toronto. Premier Taschereau has already given him leave of absence. With him will go Doctor Haywood, of the Montreal General Hospital, whose statistics awakened Montreal to the alarming extent of its social problem.

And so Amedee Geoffrion it to be dragged from his library and his eight children and sent globe-trotting in his sixtieth year, all because he read Anatole France and wrote a letter that was literature.

ONE REASON WHY FARMER-LABOR PARTY IS PUNY.

Radical politicians who are trying to organize a farmer-labor party are making little progress, and there are reasons. One reason is found in a statement of the purchasing power of a day's wage in the building trades of New York as measured by trades farm produce required to balance that wage.

As stated by United States Senator Copeland of New York in an address at Raleigh, N. C., Tuesday, it "takes 762 eggs to pay a plasterer for one day of eight hours; it takes 17* bushels of corn, or a year's receipts from half an acre, to pay a bricklayer one day; it takes 23 chickens weighing three pounds each to pay a painter for one day's work in New York; it takes 42 pounds of butter, or the output of 14 cows fed and milked for 24 hours, to pay a plumber $14 a day; and it takes a hog weighing 175 pounds and representing eight months of feeding and care to pay a carpenter for one day's work".

Organized laborers in great cities like New York, Chicago, Detroit, Philadelphia, Boston and St. Louis want high wages, a short working day and cheap farm produce. But if the standards of labor and value are to be thus maintained for the people of the towns and cities of the country, it will mean that the farmer will have have to work longer hours and toil harder than ever to make a living at the prices for which he will have to sell his produce.

That is why organized labor and the farmers can not trot in rhythm in the same political harness.

STATES SECRETARY WILL BE QUIZZED

Andrew Mellon on Arriving in Britain Will Be Consulted on Ellis Island Charges

LONDON, June 25. — Andrew W. Mellon, United States secretary of the treasury, will probably be consulted by British officials upon his arrival here with regard to alleged indignities forced upon British subjects landing at Ellis Island, the house of commons was informed today by Ronald McNeill, under-secretary for foreign affairs.

The subject was brought up by Capt. Viscount Curzon, Conservative member for the south division of Battersea, who called attention to the case of an unnamed British mercantile captain, who, he said, was made to land at Ellis Island on April, last, placed in a wire cage with 30 foreigners, and afterward forced to strip for examination, although his passport was in perfect order, and he had been told by the United States consul that there would be no necessity.

British Should Stay Away

Mr. McNeill, replying to the member, said he would gladly interview the captain at the foreign office if the latter desired to tell of his case. He thought there was apparently ground for the representations to the United States government, provided the captain allowed his name to be used.

Mr. McNeill added that, in the absence of any guarantee that innocent travelers would not be subjected to these indignities, he could only repeat that the real remedy was for British subjects to refrain from going to the United States.

"RENOVATED" BUTTER WON'T BE PRESSED

Minister Who Fathered Idea of Cleaning Factories Himself Moves to Kill Clause

OTTAWA, June 25. — There will be no renovated butter.

When the resolution presented by Hon. W. R. Motherwell, minister of agriculture, to amend the Dairy Industry act, 1914, came again before the house tonight, Mr. Motherwell himself moved that the clause providing for the importation, manufacture and sale of renovated butter be dropped; and a bill, based on the resolution, minus the renovated butter clause, received first reading.

WHENCE CAME THE POLYNESIAN PEOPLES?

Ethnologists Have Studied This Elusive Subject Since the Days of Captain Cook.

Polynesia is the name applied to the Pacific ocean islands extending from Samoa to Easter Island and from Hawaii to New Zealand and the Chatham Islands. It is that portion of the South Sea islands which inspired many of the tales of Stevenson, London and O'Brien.

The people who inhabit these islands have been called "Polynesians," "South Sea Islanders," "Kanakas," etc. The origin, recial relationships and migrations of these people have been an uneding source of stimulation to travellers, explorers and scientists.

Since the days of Cook, at least, the question "Who are the Polynesians?" has been more or less continuously before the scientific and the educated public.

The earlier explorers of the Pacific ocean and the first Christian missionaries contributed generously to our knowledge of these peoples. Their contributions are the solid foundations upon which modern science has built In more recent years, Polynesia has attracted the specialists, particularly the specialists in language, culture, mythology and folklore.

The results just published of the Bayard Dominick Polynesian expeditions of the Bernice Pauahi Bishop Museum of Honolulu, confirm the impression that Polynesia is inhabited by at least two and possibly three distinct types in addition to any Melanesian or Negrito element that may occupy the islands.

Relatively Unmixed Type.

The frequency and distribution of these types indicate that they do not mix outside of Polynesia, but that each entered the locality as a relatively unmixed type as races go. Even if the doubtful, extremely short-headed element is not a distinct type but only a Polynesian type with deformed head it must be dealt with as a distinct element in interpreting the culture of Polynesia, since its distribution indicates that this type or custom, whichever it may turn out to be, has spread from some central point in Polynesia.

What country did these three races emigrate from? How far did they go, and how did they travel? Do they represent last races? "Who are the peoples that inhabit Polynesia?"

When we are able to write the detailed history of the South Seas, it will indeed be stranger than the current fiction dealing with present-day life in the islands.

MANIAC'S BIG DREAM IS UNCONSCIOUSLY REALIZED

A maniac whom the doctors prefer should be known simply as John Doe was an outstanding hero of the fire which recently killed 25 at the insane hospital on Ward's Island, New York.

John Doe had always wanted a heroic role. Twice opportunity had presented itself, but he had weakened. That was when he was sane.

His third chance came after his mind had snapped. This time he made good — but sleeping under guard, he did not know it.

John Doe is a man of giant build. it seemed as if that huge frame must house the heart of a lion.

When the United States entered the world war John Doe got his first chance. He enlisted. But the roar of shells and the patter of machine gun bullets took the heart out of him. He deserted.

Then the fierce desire to be a hero, to become a killer of men, returned, and he joined the armies of the Kaiser.

Again under shell fire his courage oozed. Once more he deserted.

The war ended. John Doe returned to New York. Then reason fled.

Finally John Doe landed in a ward of the Manhattan State Hospital for the insane. "Homicidal maniac" the doctors said of him.

"Dangerous man—the most dangereous on the island," said the attendants. A specially sharp watch was kept on John Doe, who evinced the will to kill.

With the flames clacking around him, dense smoke blinding his eyes, John Doe was seen by attendants lead ne weaker to safety.

"This way men, fire escape here," he said quietly. He was the calmest man in that hall of death.

MEIGHEN SENDS CONGRATULATIONS

Ottawa Conservatives Rejoice at Victory; Liberals Glad Party Lines Reappear

OTTAWA, June 25. — Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen sent a message of congratulation to G. Howard Ferguson, Conservative leader in Ontario. It read:

"Please accept my warmest congratulations. Your victory was honestly gained, and is one of the greatest personal triumphs in our political history."

Apart from the above telegram, there was no comment on the Ontario results made by party leaders in the federal house.

As returns came in and the swing toward Mr. Ferguson became more and more pronounced, there was great rejoicing among the Conservatives.

Among Liberals also there was some gratification heard at the return to old party lines, a number of Liberals expressing much satisfaction over this phase of the situation.

MANY CHARACTERS REVEALED BY EYE

Some Dencte Genius, Some Stupidity; Perception, Sex Interest, Cunning, All Unveiled

Long almond-shaped eyes, with thick-skinned eyelids that cover half the pupil, are indicative of genius when they are found in conjunction with a brow which is full over the eyebrows, and which has one deep perpendicular line between the eyebrows. This combination may be frequently noticed in the faces of distinguished litereray men and artists. The almond-shaped eye, however, even without this particular form of forehead, always means a susceptible, impressional nature.

Eyes which are large, open and very transparent, and which sparkle with a rapid motion under well-defined eyelids, denote elegance in taste, a somewhat susceptible temper, and great interest in the opposite sex. Eyes with weakly-marked eyebrows above them and with thinly-growing eyelashes which are completely without any upward curve denote a feeble constitution and a melancholy disposition.

Deep-sunken and small blue eyes, under a bony, almost perpendicular forehead, are indicative of seflish and cold-hearted natures.

Eyes which show not only the whole of the iris, but also some of the white, both above and below it, denote a restless, uncertain nature, incapable of repose or of concentrated thought on any subject.

The eyes of a voluptuary move slowly under heavy lids.

Round-shaped eyes are never seen in the face of a highly intellectual person, but they denote a kindly, truthful and innocent nature.

Eyes which, when seen in profile, are so protuberant as to run almost parallel with the profile of the nose, show a weak organization of the body and mind.

Eyes very close together show penetration, but eyes very close together denote cunning and an untruthful disposition.

Eyes rather far apart are indicative of frankness and simplicity of purpose, an honest and guileless nature. When, however, the eyes are not very far apart, they denote stupidity.

Eyes with sharply defined angles sinking at the corners show subtlety of mind; the sharper the angle and the more it sinks, the greater the delicacy of perception it denotes; but when very much developed it shows a craftiness amounting to deceit.

Well-opened eyes, with smooth eyelids and a steady and somewhat fixed glance, denote sincerity. Lines running along the eyelids from side to side, and passing out upon the temples, denote habitual laughter—a cheerful temperament, or, at any rate, one in which the sense of fun is strong.

SENATE COMMITTEE REPORTS BANK ACT

New Clause Requiring Bank to State Discount Rate on Notes Is Stricken Out

OTTAWA, June 25. — With some few amendments, the Bank act was reported from the senate committee tonight, and will receive its third reading tomorrow.

The clause which forced the bank to mark on a note the rate of discount charged was stricken out.

LADY ASTOR DEPLORES ANTI-YANK PROPAGANDA

Declares British Liquor Trade Systematically Misrepresents Actions of United States

LONDON, June 25.—Lord Astor, speaking today before the Charity organization on the subject of prohibition, said that ever since the United States had inaugurated its great experiment, the British liquor trade had been carrying on propaganda against the United States.

She objected to the deliberate attempts to misrepresent everything associated with the United States. It was a tragic thing that, while anti-British propaganda in the United States had ceased, people were working in Great Britain to misrepresent the attitude and actions of the United States.

Lord Astor charged that the liquor trade in Great Britain had a powerful political organization which was determined to turn Lady Astor out of public life.

WINNIPEG, June 25.—According to the official count, announced this evening, the majority in Winnipeg, for the Moderation League's bill for government sale of liquor, is 25,861 The official figures are: For, 45,954: against, 20,093.

Landslide on the Brazeau Branch Ties Up National

EDMONTON, June 25. — Reports that a serious rockslide, west of Rocky Mountain House on the Brazeau branch line west of Red Deer, have been received in the city.

The slide took place at Hariech, a point half way between Rocky Mountain House and Brazeau, and the Canadian National railways line has been washed out. Mail from points west of there, which should have arrived at Rocky Mountain House on Saturday morning, did not get in until that evening. No trains are running west of the House.

Killing Sympathy.

Apart from the few fanatics who have made a fetish of the reopening of formal relationships with Russia, there is not a trace remaining of such public sympathy as formerly favored that idea. The Bolshevik campaign against Christianity and religion in general has killed the last of that sentiment, such as it was; and the practical reasons which used to be adduced to support it, based upon the idea that Bolshevism, for better or worse, had established itself as a permanent regime, have dissolved into mere absurdity in face of the plain facts.—London Daily Telegraph.

ANTS DANCE IN QUEEN'S PRESENCE

Unlike the kings and queens of mankind, whose sovereignity is a family matter, descending regularly from father to son, those curious columns of social insects of the underworld produce their rulers in a very different manner.

Should a hive of bees require a queen the subjects simply feed an ordinary grub with a particular form of food called "royal jelly" and produce a new queen. Termites, usually but wrongfully called "white ants," proceed in a similar way.

The whole of the very large family of termites has been divided by the well-known naturalist Grassi into two groups.

In the first, the colony is provided with a king and queen, each a fully-developed insect; in the second group, each colony has several kings and queens, but these, though they marry and produce offspring, are not perfect insects, for they have no wings.

The true ants have also their queens. In some nests there is only one queen; inothers there may be several, all apparently living and reigning in perfect amity.

When a nest of ants is left queenless the workers will sometimes adopt a stranger queen who has happened to fall near the nest.

Most people imagine that a queen ant is only an egg layer, and that her subjects keep and feed her for that purpose only.

Yet one of the best students of ant life declares that this is far from being the case.

He writes: "In whatever apartment the queen condescends to be present she commands obedience and respect, and a universal gladness spreads itself through the whole cell."

It is a fact that when ants are happy they have a way of standing up and making little skips which may correspond to our dancing.

HALIBUT LIVES FOR CENTURIES

Halibut, one of the finny delicacies shipped to all parts of the continent from the Pacific coast, usually attains to a ripe old age before making its final appearance as a toothsome dish on our tables.

Old-timers who have had considerable experience in telling fish stories say they have personally known halibut well over 500 years old, but scientists are more modest. They are positive that the halibut passes the two century mark, but beyond that is nothing but speculation.

A study of the ear drums and scales, which has been carried on for many years, proves that at a hundred years a halibut is only in its infancy, and may have many generations of ancestors still swimming around the northern banks. Halibut does not reproduce until 12 years of age.

It is possible to hazard a guess as to the age of a fish by its weight, allowing one pound for every year; though this is by no means a reliable guide. A 150-pound halibut is probably around a century and a half, but it may be younger if it has spent most of its life on rich feeding grounds; or older if it has been handicapped by barren waters.

After attaining the weight of 150 pounds, halibut increase in girth quickly; but this does not affect the delicacy of the flesh. Occasionally a fish is caught weighing seven or eight hundred pounds.

A peculiarity of the halibut is that about one fish in a million has all the internal organs transposed. These are known in the trade as "left-handed halibut," and for many years the proof of their existence was not satisfactory. About 1909, however, one of the freaks was caught by trawlers and brought to New Westminster on the steamer "Roman," where it was exhibited and widely photographed.

BEARS FORCE NEW REACTION

Professionals Cause Standard Industrials to Decline From One to Five Points.

NEW YORK, June 25. — Professional bear traders forced another sharps reaction in today's stock market, net losses of standard industrials ranging from 1 to 5 points. While a number of leading stocks touched new low records, the volume of sales was small, indicating that the amount of forced liquidation was considerably below that of the bad break last Wednesday.

Selling pressure was directed chiefly against the motor shares. Studebaker, Chandler and Pierce Arrow preferred all dropping to new low records for the year, the net losses being 4⅝, 5⅛ and 1⅝ respectively. Other industrials yielded in sympathy and when bear traders sensed the absence of support in these issues, they increased their offerings, being encouraged somewhat by the marking up of the call money rate to 6 per cent.

Baldwin was forced down to 121 and then rallied to 121⅞, where it was off 3⅜ for the day. United States Steel got down to 91⅝ and showed a net loss of 2¼ at the close.

Losses of 2 points or more were also recorded by American Woollen, American Smelting, Pan-American, Dupont, Houston, Gulf States Steel and several others. Rails lost ground also. Call money opened at 5, advanced to 5½ and then to 6, where it closed.

Foreign exchange trading was quiet with only nominal changes in rates.

Total sales were 736,900 shares.

BERRY MARKET ALL TO PIECES

Commissioner Grant Reports the Prairie Demoralized; Fruit Soft

In his Markets Bulletin, J. A. Grant, British Columbia prairie markets commissioner, writes from Calgary as follows:

"The strawberry market is all shot to pieces. Saskatchewan was first to break. The British Columbia berry season had scarcely started when berries commenced to back up.

"Manitoba imported considerable American berries at a lower price than was quoted by brokers handling British Columbias all last week, but today Winnipeg and all prairie towns are full of British Columbia berries. They are rolling in on an average of eight cars per day, and the price to the jobber is $2.50. The jobbers are pushing the sale of straws to the limit, the cheap price helping them. Returns to the growers will be very disappointing.

"The rival brokerage houses are doing their utmost to prevent the price going to a lower point.

"We are convinced that if centralized control had been accomplished, the distribution would have been fully as great and the returns at least 50 cents per crate more to the growers.

"Wet weather and soft berries was the prime cause of the early break in price.

Six Cents In Washington.

"The canners in Washington are buying unorganized growers' berries at 6c per pound, while the bulk of the surplus owned by the organization is being processed and held for sale when the market gets stronger. The crop is a heavy one. Spokane (Green Bluff growers) have 15 cars to sell this year.

"Creston reports rain for several days. Monday and every day next week they will send out a car to the prairies.

Salmon Arm and Okanagan will send about a car per day L.C.L. and the coast shippers will likely roll about six cars daily for the coming week. L.C.L. shipments from unorganized growers are heavy and are selling at less than carlot stuff.

"Under these circumstances there is little hope of the prices coming back to $3 to the jobber this week.

"Flash wire just received from Vancouver says that berry shipments to the prairies have fallen off 50 per cent during the past two days owing to low prices prevailing there."

Doctors Differ Upon Mustard Plaster

Are mustard plasters, those burning compositions of torture which grandmother used to stir up so deftly and apply so religiously, doomed to pass along the same route as goose grease and other ancient and tragic remedies, whose healing processes were several degrees more painful than any symptoms of the diseases they professed to cure?

Specialists in that branch of medical science called pediatrics (the study of children's diseases) who held their first annual meeting at the Mount Royal hotel, Montreal, as the closing session of the 54th annual meeting of the Canadian Medical association, disagreed politely as to the real merits of the primaeval custom.

"Mustard plasters are a relic of bygone days," said Dr. A. E. Morgan of Toronto, secretary-treasurer of the society. "They belong to an early stage in the development of medical science. In my experience I have observed that the disturbance caused the patient does more harm than good."

Dr. Allan Brown, also of Toronto, acted as champion for the old-fashioned remedy, declaring that, although no actual assistance was given the patient as to remedy, the mustard plaster might be used in many cases to give temporary relief and give the patient an opportunity for rest and quiet.

GOLF

What are the important points in the mashie pitch shot?

Answered by

JIM BARNES

American open champion, 1921; recognized everywhere as one of the greatest golfers in the world. In British open championship, 1922, he finished second, one stroke behind Walter Hagen, the winner.

* * *

In playing the mashie pitch shot, stand well over the ball and keep the feet fairly close together, making sure that they are absolutely flat on the ground. Work the swing from the knees and avoid over-swinging and trying for distance. Use a half swing back, with the left arm controlling all through the swing. Keep a firm grip on the club all through the swing.

Hoadley Sure He Earns His Salary

If there are any cabinet ministers in Alberta who are not earning their salaries, George Hoadley, minister of agriculture, does not know it, and he has not time to find out who they are.

In conversation with a reporter, Mr. Hoadley said he had seen a suggestion in a Calgary newspaper to the effect that some of the cabinet ministers were not earning their salary. "I am going to call in and see that editor on my way back," said Mr. Hoadley, "and I am going to ask him the names of these ministers, as I think the premier would be interested to know who they are."

"Suppose he should say the minister of agriculture was one of them," suggested the reporter, "what then?"

"Oh, I wouldn't mind that," replied the minister. "In fact, I do not think there is a minister who sticks closer to his duties than I, especially with the premier absent and I have to be acting premier.

"For instance, I am now on my way down to pay a flying visit to the home ranch. This is the first time I have been able to do so since the last election. Once I got near there, but was recalled on important business, and have not had the opportunity to get back since."

GENTLE BASILISK CURIOUS CREATURE

Has Air Bladder Like a Fish, and Takes to Water When Alarmed; Once Thought Evil

The basilisk or tree-lizard which inhabits Central and South America s about two and a half feet long. The tail is at least three-quarters of the total length, so that the body is very small. It has a hood-like crest on he top of its head about the size of a hen's egg. The basilisk can fill this crest with air, as a child can blow out a toy balloon; and the use of the crest is believed to be like that of the air bladder of a fish which renders the specific gravity of the fish the same as that of the water in which it swims, and enables it to swim or float at any depth.

It is a wonderfully agile climber, and no part of a tree is inaccessible to it. Unlike the chameleon, it is very lively and moves swiftly, but if a traveller makes his presence known it is instantly alarmed.

At the first sound the head is raised, the crest is lifted ready for inflation, and the moment the traveller comes in sight the basilisk throws itself into the water, for it almost invariably rests on a branch that overhangs a pool.

Then, with its head and neck raised, it propels itself rapidly along with its forelegs, while the tail forms a useful rudder for guiding it wherever it wants to go. So clever it it in propelling itself in water that it is called the ferryman.

At the end of April or the beginning of May the female basilisk lays from twelve to eighteen eggs in a quiet spot at the foot of a tree, and there they are left for the sun to hatch in due course.

In the middle ages the basilisk was spoken of with fear; and credited with many strange powers.

Its bite was supposed to be poisonous, its breath was fire, its blood contained magic and if a basilisk looked at a native they were sure they would die.

Only a magician or very brave man with a looking-glass could overcome a basilisk, for the natives believed if this terrible creature saw itself in a mirror it would at once die.

The natives of today have learned that the basilisk or tree-lizard is really a harmless little creature and often catch and make a pet of it.

The proposal that the the maximum age for members of the Senate be 70 would come oddly from a government, the most outstanding member of which is 75.—Hamilton Herald.

Jess Is Certified Fit to Meet Firpo

JERSEY CITY, June 25. — Jess Willard is fit in every respect for his fight with Luis Angelo Firpo of Argentina to be held July 12 at Boyle's Thirty Acres, a board of physicians employed by the New Jersey boxing commission decided today.

Three physicians subjected the big Kansan to an examination that lasted 45 minutes, after which they signed a statement declaring him to be "free from any physical defects."

Willard was characterized as a remarkable physical specimen in every respect, by Dr. Lemmers. The former champion tipped the scales at 246 pounds.

Firpo will establish training camp tomorrow at Long Branch, N. J. He is down to fighting weight now, tipping the beam around 218.

FAVORITES WIN ON WINNIPEG TRACK

Final Races however Provide Upsets and Net Nice Sums for the Lucky Bookers

WINNIPEG, June 25. — Though favorites came through in nearly every event of the second day's racing of the Winnipeg Driving club meet here today, there was a big upset in the final race of the day, and there was some nice money paid on the winner and the show horse. Rubivari, an American entry beaten badly on Saturday, came back on a faster race, and won from a large field, and a two dollar ticket played straight paid $11.10. Madam Hurry capped the bunch with $19.50 to show on a $2 investment.

One harness race won in commanding style by Johnson's Calgary entry, Merry Princess, and four running races, provided another bright spot in the program.

Jack Fountain from Omaha won a spectacular race from Humma of Edmonton, getting the verdict by a nose at the wire. Prairie won the feature event, taking the mile race by holding the lead all the way.

First Race — 2:15 or 2:20 trot, purse $400:

Merry Princess, Fred Johnston, Calgary 1 1 1
Pansas, E. L. Fenton, Wetaskiwin 2 2 2
Jimmie Mac, J. McFarlane, Calgary 3 3 3
Flax Extellion, I. Loneles, Yorkton 4 4 4

Second Race, about five furlongs, purse $400 — Jack Fountain first, Humma second, Little Miss third. Effie Randall and Lady Edmonton also ran. Time 1 minute 1¼ seconds.

Third Race, claiming, about six furlongs, purse $300—Captina first, Symbol second, Foley Martin third. Spizzerine and Mulligan also ran. Time 1 minute 20 seconds.

Fourth Race, the ladies' day, one mile, purse $500—Prairie first, Jingo second, Helman third. Hugo K. Asher and Consula also ran. Time 1 minute 48 seconds.

Fifth Race, claiming, about five furlongs, purse $400—Rubivari first, Volima second, Madam Hurry third. Welga, Miss Sedalia, Black Star, Pagan and Daisy Stevens also ran. Time 1 minute 1½ seconds.

British Players Beat Argentine on Drizzly Day

WIMBLEDON, June 25—The opening of the world's tennis championships on the turf courts of Wimbledon today was pretty much of a washout. From the scheduled starting time at 2 o'clock this afternoon, until somewhat after 5 o'clock, there was a constant and chilly mist or drizzle.

Two British players won over South American members of the Argentina Davis cup team. A. J. Villegas was beaten by Commander J. M. Hillyard, secretary of the Wimbledon club, 6-3, 6-2, 7-5. The other Argentine, W. Robinson, lost to H. M. Jacob, captain of the British India Davis cup team, 6-0, 6-1, 6-2.

L. A. Godfrey, Great Britain, won from Nichol Mishu, the Rumanian star, 1-6, 6-4, 6-6, 6-2, 9-7.

GERMAN SMOKER GETS THE PRIZE

What is believed to be a world record was set up some time ago at a congress of South German smokers, held at Frankfort. A special trophy, consisting of a silver eagle on a red and white ribbon, was offered to the smoker who took the longest time to turn a Mexican cigar into grey-white ash without letting it once go out.

The competition began at 11 o'clock and very nearly 200 people contested for the award. By 12 o'clock only twenty competitors were in the running—the rest had regretfully finished their "weeds" or had laid them at rest in the ash tray for too long.

The rivals dropped out rapidly, and by 1 o'clock only one smoker was left—Herr Henz, a Sachsenhausen business man, who actually puffed away in peace until he, perforce, had to throw his diminutive cigar stump away, 2 hours 46 minutes and 17 seconds after he had set light to it.

RAIN CEASES; SUN SHINES

Warmer Weather Proves Agreeable to Citizens; Water Dropping

There was no rainfall yesterday, and some real summer weather was enjoyed. The temperatures were a little warmer, and many canoes were out in the lake last night, the first night that it was really warm enough to be out.

The temperatures at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon were: Minimum 53. Manimum 72.

The water in the West Arm dropped another .10 of a foot in the 24 hours ending at 5 o'clock last night, and now stands at 16.1 feet above low water mark, according to the gauge at the boathouses.

The water on the corresponding date 10 years ago dropped 3 inches and the height was 16 feet 8 inches, and 20 years ago the water dropped 4.5 inches in the 24 hours.

LOCAL TEACHERS TAKE FIRST HONORS IN MUSCULAR WRITING

Owing to an error in yesterday's issue of The Daily News, the teachers and classes of the Central and Hume schools were quoted as having taken first, second and third places in the "muscular movement system" of writing. The sections in which the results were named bore the numbers one, two and three. In every case the Nelson schools carried off first honors in the divisions entered. This would give Miss B. E. Trembath, Miss H. Hodgson, Miss E. Hanna and Miss Greta Steeves of the Central school, first honors, and Miss McGregor of the Hume school first honors. All the above were quoted as in third place.

ROWING CLUB ASKS REPAIRS

Floats on Waterfront in Need of New Logs; Council Discusses Question

A letter from the Nelson Rowing club was read at last night's city council meeting, asking the city council to repair the sidewalk along the float, which is in a very bad condition owing to a number of the logs on which the sidewalk is placed being waterlogged.

This item was discussed, and it was found that at least 600 lineal feet of new logs were needed to repair the walk, and, according to the estimates of Green Bros. & Burden, city engineers, $600 was the lowest amount of money that was needed to do this work thoroughly, as many of the logs in use were watersoaked and therefore necessitated the buying of new logs.

It was stated that last year space along the float was in big demand and would not doubt be sought in the coming years.

COUNCIL TALKS PUBLIC WORKS

Roads to Be Repaired; Pipe Lines Extended; Rain Causes Damage

A discussion over the purchase of four-inch sewer pipe ensued at the council meeting last night, when the argument of purchase from outside and local firms came up.

Local price for the pipe was 35c per foot. Outside prices were 25c per foot, with the added cost of freight, sales tax and breakage, which would amount to about the same price as paid through a local dealer. The discussion was left for a week.

As there was some confusion as to whether Mr. Maglio or Green Bros. & Burden have the contract for the sewers in Fairview, W. M. Myers, engineer, stated that Green Bros. & Burden did not have the contract, but were working for the city, and the contract for the excavation work only had been let to Mr. Maglio.

A petition was read from a number of registered property owners on Stanley street asking for repairs to the road between Hall Mines road and Observatory street, which is in an almost impassable condition. This report was discussed and the city engineer instructed to look into the matter.

In discussing an application for water service in Fairview, it was decided to lay a pipe from the main to H. Thorpe's house in Fairview on the condition that he dig the ditch and purchase the right-of-way, as the pipe line will have to pass under the Canadian Pacific railway's tracks.

Alderman Ross Fleming asked the city engineers why the city workmen were so slow in filling up the large hole in the road near the old brewery in Fairview. W. M. Myers stated that the reason this work had not been done was because the workmen had been so busy in the past few weeks repairing flooded culverts and fixing the sewers which were in a very bad shape owing to the heavy rains. No time was available to work in repairing the streets.

The council decided to buy 1000 ties, which were in demand, from J. Dearin, at the price of 60 cents each, delivered to the dipping pot. These ties are a mixture of Nos. 1 and 2, and were considered a good buy.

A motion of Alderman A. S. Horswill of the finance committee was adopted by the council. It contained the following three clauses;

(1) That the public works hereby recommend that John McPhail, general foreman, be paid at the rate of $165 per month, starting on June 1;

(2) That the city engineer be instructed to thoroughly repair and bind the surface of the streets, as some of the work is showing severe damage through rains and traffic;

(3) That the sidewalk leading to the boathouses be repaired.

PROMPT DELIVERY

DAIRY OWNERS GET NOTICES

Milk Bylaw Ready for Adoption; Pig Bylaw Read, and Notice Served

At last night's council meeting it was stated that notices had been sent to the various dairies on June 21 informing the drivers that the new regulations for dairies were to be added to the present bylaw. The motion to pass the bylaw was, however, left over till the next meeting so as to give the dairy owners time to make any objections to the bylaw.

Bylaw No. 391, which regulates the keeping of pigs, goats, etc., in the city of Nelson, was read, and it was decided that this bylaw be put into force immediately, and a notice would be sent to the Chinaman who resides on Nelson avenue, Fairview, and of whom many citizens of Fairview are complaining.

IS CONNECTING LINK

The Tibetan Takin, two specimens of which are now on the way to England, to grace the London Zoo, is described as one of those strange beasts which is a living puzzle to the average man, but a joy unto the heart of the evolutionist on the lookout for "missing links" as it forms a sort of connecting tie between two great branches of ruminants, the bovine or ox group and the goats.

The outward appearance of the takin is that of a heavily-built goat with an outrageously swollen and rounded profile, but on the other hand the manner of growth of this animal's horns is strongly suggestive of the bovine type of horns as exhibited by Eastern wild cattle.

Another bovine peculiarity of the takin is the habit of pricking its ears in a forward direction after the fashion of cattle, but, on the other hand, the excreta of this animal is decidedly caprine. The large head is black splashed with dirty yellowish white, the legs are black, and the sides of the body and the back are a mixture of rusty red and dirty white. Its general build gives the appearance of adaption for life in barren wastes and not amongst rocks like other wild goats, but as very little seems to be known regarding the habits of the takin further information on this point is desirable.

Campbell Is Still In Business and Will Remain

Current rumor is that Campbell of Campbell's Art Gallery has sold out. This is erroneous and without foundation.

The idea that Campbell is quitting business was probably conveyed, innocently, by a party with whom a business deal was closed.

This erroneous impression, which is abroad in the city and district, Mr. Campbell feels, is doing himself and his business an injustice and he wishes to take this opportunity of correcting it.

You Can't Fool Your Wife

Here is a much-mooted question

¶ Some of the men, in the arrogance of pride, "which goeth before a fall," say you can.

¶ Other sadder and wiser members of the less deadly of the species, say it can't be done.

¶ Most of the ladies say that a mere man may kid himself that he is getting away with some rough stuff, but the wife will nail him in the end.
