CABINET SITS AS RATE CASE APPEAL COURT

SEVEN WEEKS TO MAKE OR BREAK POLICY IN RUHR

Berlin Foresees Early Climax With Probabilities of Wide Sabotage

MILLION FAMILIES HAVE TO BE FED

France's Iron Grip Will Not Relax as She Is Bound to Break Opposition

BERLIN, Aug. 9.—Passive resistance in the Ruhr and the Rhineland, which Chancellor Cuno yesterday informed the reichstag would be continued until France decided to create an atmosphere conducive to negotiations on an equality basis, is now approaching the stage where its further maintenance along peaceful lines will depend wholly on the government's ability to keep the resisting population well fed.

The failing mark, curtailment of local food supplies due to natural shortage and the interrupted rail facilities, and also the punitive measures which increasingly are being imposed by the French, now rapidly are contributing to the growing irritation and restlessness among the miners, steel workers, and civil service employees.

French Won't Be Scrupulous

That the French authorities are determined to break down all resistance along the entire front, and will not be overscrupulous in their selection of the methods to accomplish this end, is view here as an impending certainty, and as also foreshadowing a season of sabotage, the ramifications of which cannot be foreseen in advance.

The shortage of food has suggested to the government the eventual necessity of inaugurating a rationing system in the Ruhr, or of assuming the task of feeding the miners and steel workers and their families in order to keep resistance alive.

The minimum number of families the government would have to feed is estimated at 1,000,000. This is a task which, it is believed, it would be unable to finance adequately, or organize in the present conditions of the exchequer and the depreciated currency.

The next seven weeks will decide the fate of passive resistance, in the opinion of political leaders. They admit that the government has made many mistakes in permitting the food situation in the Ruhr to reach its existing stage of collapse, and likewise in failing to take into account the prospect that resistance may be carried on into the winter if no solution is reached previously.

ZIONISTS AND NONZIONISTS MUST YOKE UP

Dr. Weismann Threatens Resignation Unless Help of Opposition Is Enlisted

CARLSBAD, Aug. 9. — A virtual threat that he would lay down his office if the Zionist Congress union failed to adopt his policy of obtaining the help of leading non-Zionist forces for the reconstruction task in Palestine, was delivered by Dr. Weismann, president, at a meeting Wednesday night, attended only by delegates who belong to none of the opposing factions.

His grounds for wishing to extend the agency were "political, as well as financial," Dr. Weismann said.

M. Ussishkin, head of the Zionist work in Palestine, in a speech covered the major activities of the Zionist organization in Palestine, many of which, he said, were interfered with by the British administration. He deplored particularly the limitation placed by the Palestine administration upon Jewish immigration. He insisted the Zionists must increase their land holdings, and extend the network of Jewish colonies.

William Henry Bell Linnell of Tranquille has been appointed a notary public.

Edward Forgar of Hudsons Hope has been appointed district registrar of births, deaths and marriages at that place, succeeding J. Gragg, resigned.

Conservative Files a Petition Against Homuth in Waterloo

KITCHENER, Ont., Aug. 9.—A. W. Mercier, Conservative candidate for South Waterloo at the last provincial election, filed an election petition against the return of Karl Homuth of Preston, Laborite-elect, elected by a majority of 15, saying if improper ballots were rejected he would have been elected.

HOME FOLK FILE BY THE CASKET DAY AND NIGHT

Mrs. Harding Decrees Not One Will Be Denied If Sun Rises on Line

AUTO LINE STREAMS FOR EIGHTY MILES

New York Is Illuminated With Twenty-five Great Crosses

MARION, Ohio, Aug. 9.—Warren G. Harding's friends and neighbors tonight were passing by his bier in the home of his father, Dr. George T. Harding Sr., paying a last tribute to his memory as president and citizen.

They began to march slowly and solemnly past his coffin at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and on Mrs. Harding's orders they were to be permitted to pass until the last in line had an opportunity to say a silent farewell, if it took until the sun began to brighten the skies tomorrow.

Fifteen Thousand at Nine

The stream of humanity seemed without end, and the hours of the night dragged along. By 9 o'clock it was estimated that more than 15,000 had filed past the flag-draped coffin and probably that many more were still in line moving slowly toward the Harding home. At that hour they were passing through at the rate about 40 a minute, or 2400 an hour.

The line early in the evening had extended down East Center street to two blocks beyond the office of the Marion Star, which, until recently, was controlled by the late president.

Once in the line, few left it, determined to stay there until they had seen the fac eof their depparted friend.

Editorial Chair Draped

The large, flat-topped oak desk in Mr. Harding's office of the Marion Star, where he had sat for so many years writing editorials and reading proofs, was today draped in black and white, as was his editorial chair.

Eventually the body of Warren G. Harding may find a final resting place on the top of an old Indian mound, 75 feet high, just east of the city and overlooking the home where he lived for so many years. Close personal friends of the late president have started a movement to that end, which may include the erection of a suitable mausoleum, with funds to be derived from the sale of gold dollars.

Eighty Miles of Cars

LIMA, Ohio, Aug. 9.—City officials estimate that automobiles en route to the Harding funeral stretch out to a distance of 80 miles from Marion. Cars are running two and three abreast and there is not a break of more than 10 feet for many miles.

The caravan is being constantly augmented by cars from several directions, all converging on the Harding highway to the west.

Fifteen miles an hour is the speed limit.

Electric Crosses in New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Giant crosses of incandescent light gleamed forth from the New York skyscrapers tonight, in tribute to the memory of the late Warren G. Harding.

The Building Managers' association decided at a meeting today to darken all their buildings, except for perpendicular and horizontal lines of offices in the form of a mammoth cross. About 25 buildings in various sections of the city will thus commemorate the passing of the 29th president of the United States.

New York Papers Suspend

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Publishers of New York evening newspapers at a meeting today decided to suspend publication tomorrow, as a tribute to President Harding.

Laddie Boy Has New Master

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Laddie Boy romped about the home of Harry Barker today, for he is no longer the White House Airedale. Last night, as Mrs. Harding was leaving for Marion, she gave him to Barker, a secret service man.

Barker was designated as Mrs. Harding's guard shortly after she came to the White House. His attachment for Laddie Boy was second only to that of the president. Mrs. Harding knew this, and she believed her husband would have wished the detective to have him.

First Ship Bears Goods From East to Pacifc Market

MONTREAL, Aug. 9.—Carrying the first general cargo ever shipped by water from eastern to western Canada the Canadian steamship Margaret Coughlan left Montreal today for Vancouver via the Panama canal.

The sailing was arranged as an experiment to see whether sufficient business could be developed to make coast-to-coast sailings profitable, and it is said that the experiment has proven successful in a large measure, although the ship was not quite full.

The venture is being received with a great deal of enthusiasm, particularly in the west, where importers and exporters have long advocated the provision of cheaper methods of transportation between the manufacturing sections of the east and the British Columbia market.

EUROPE POWERS MAY UP-STEAM AGAINST CHINA

Advisability of Naval Demonstration to Awe Mutineers Is Debated

PARIS, Aug. 9.—A naval demonstration in Chinese waters by the European powers, it was learned today, is under consideration owing to anarchial conditions in the Chinese navy. The French department of marine is preparing to send two cruisers, one of them being the armored cruiser Jules Fory, if the demonstration is decided upon.

EMPIRE CONFAB OF LABOR PARTIES

Arthur Henderson Writes Woodsworth Asking Views of Canadian Labor Politicians on the Proposal

WINNIPEG, Aug. 9.—If the Labor representatives of the dominions will cooperate the British Labor party proposes to hold a British Empire conference in London next year, according to a letter received by J. S. Woodsworth, M. P., from Arthur Henderson, secretary of the British Labor party.

From this conference, which would be held during the opening of the British Empire exhibition, the formation of a Labor political organization for the whole of the Empire may result, according to Mr. Woodsworth.

Mr. Henderson has asked the other dominions for their views on such a meeting, and Mr. Woodsworth stated today he would take the matter up at once with the heads of the various political organizations in Canada.

FERGUSON WILL TRY CONVINCE THORNTON

Ontario Premier Will Visit Head of National Railways to Argue for Better Rate on Coal

TORONTO, Aug. 9.—Premier Ferguson is hopeful for a still lower freight quotation on the transportation of Alberta coal into Ontario, and, when he has assembled certain facts and figures which he is now preparing, will make a personal visit to Sir Henry Thornton to impress upon him the "big business it means in the future for the Canadian National railways."

"I am hopeful," he said, "that I will be able to persuade the national lines to fix a lower rate than that which has been mentioned. I think I can satisfy them that there is tonnage enough and that there is a very substantial business to be developed—sufficient to justify their fixing a rate that will permit Alberta coal to be brought in here in competition with American coal."

The rate fixed by Sir Henry is $7 a ton freight for an experimental trainload of 6000 tons.

GRAND JURY STARTS A BROKERAGE PROBE

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The federal grand jury today started to work on the E. M. Fuller and the W. Frank McGee confessions, which threaten to reveal the inside operation of the E. M. Fuller & Co. brokerage house, which failed for $6,000,000, and to involve a number of prominent persons.

OIL TANKER SWIFT STAR SEEMS LOST

Unreported Since Month Ago; Body Washed on Island in Caribbean

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 9.—The oil tanker Swift Star, of American registry, apparently has gone down with her crew of 32 officers and men. She has not been heard from since passing through the Panama canal a month ago.

Today an ice box, and a dead man, believed to be of her crew, were washed ashore at St. Andrews island, 300 miles from Colon, in the Caribbean sea.

Name Stencilled on Box

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 9.—Fear that the Mallory line steamer Swift Star had gone down with all hands were expressed in shipping circles here tonight, following receipt at the government station of a radio message from Tampico, Mex., stating that an icebox, with the words "Swift Star" stencilled on it, and containing the body of a man believed to have been a member of the crew, has been washed ashore on St. Andrews island, 300 miles north of Colon, in the Carribean sea.

Instantly the bus was enveloped in a cloud of burning vapor.

HARDING CARRIED FIFTY THOUSAND

Late President Began Taking Out Insurance When He Was a Youth of Nineteen

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—President Harding's life was insured for $52,100, with six companies, according to a statement made public today by the Insurance Press. The largest policy, for $15,000, on the 15 payment life plan, was taken out in 1914.

President Harding had taken out several policies, the statement said, from time to time, starting when he was 19 years of age.

Two trainloads of men from Glasgow, comprising, for the most part, skilled workers from the shipbuilding and engineering trades, were among those who left today for Canada. There were also large numbers of miners from the south of Wales and Yorkshire, and 400 farm laborers from Ireland.

KNIGHTS LAUNCH MOVEMENT FOR CATHOLIC BOYS

New Organization Will Be Known as Columbus Esquires; Will Train Leaders

MONTREAL, Aug. 9.—The launching of a new movement for boys under the name of Columbus Esquires was definitely decided upon today by the Knights of Columbus, at the forty-first annual international convention of the order, which is in session in this city.

The movement will be conducted through the 2800 councils of the organization. Approximately $60,000 will be expended on the education of two men from each metropolitan center, who will take special courses for two years in boy leadership. It is estimated that there are between one and two million Catholic boys between the ages of 14 to 17 eligible for membership.

In no case will a branch of the boy organization be established unless the bishop of the diocese approves of it. The movement will be distinctly not in competition with the Boy Scouts.

Best Wishes to Coolidge

The convention, through Judge William J. Day of Boston, sent a message to President Calvin Coolidge extending the sincere good wishes of the 800,000 members of the order.

The report of the historical commission showed that the Knights had successfully issued five important historical monographs in connection with the movement of the Knights to present hitherto unpublished aspects of American history.

Bishop Coutore of Alexandria, Ont., addressed the convention, and stated that the organization was destined to play an important part in the history of both Canada and the United States, and that it existed as a permanent bond between the two nations.

REGINA AUDIENCE FOR SAPIRO PLAN

Huge Committee Representing All Pertinent Interests of Saskatchewan Will Organize Contract Pool.

REGINA, Aug. 9. — By unanimous resolution, a large audience in the Metropolitan Methodist church tonight agreed upon the appointment of a committee to organize a long term contract wheat pool for Saskatchewan, at the conclusion of an address by Aaron Sapiro, the Californian cooperative marketing expert.

The committee is to consist of five representatives of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' association; five representatives of the Farmers' Union of Canada; five unorganized farmers; one representative of the provincial government, to be named by Premier Dunning; one banker; one newspaperman; one representative of the Saskatchewan Cooperative Elevator company; one representative of the private elevator companies; and two merchants, one in the northern part of the province and one in the southern.

The resolution was submitted to the meeting by Premier Dunning.

The text of Mr. Sapiro's address was similar to that which he delivered in Saskatoon a couple of days ago, dealing with the principles of cooperative marketing on the long term contract basis, and outlining the methods which he contended should be adopted if the farmers are to successfully handle their crop. In his concluding remarks he strongly urged the audience to take the initial steps toward the formation of a pool of this character.

NO SEPARATE ACTION BEEN BROACHED YET

But Baldwin's Next Note Will Tell France Britain Can't Wait Forever

WON'T ADVISE GERMANY QUIT UNCONDITIONALLY

Belgium Is Supposed to Be Trying to Bridge Gap Between Her Allies

LONDON, Aug. 9.—The net results of today's cabinet council, which discussed the terms of Britain's reply to France and Belgium with regard to German reparations, appears to be that the negotiations between the allies are still proceeding and that no approach has yet been made to anything like separate action.

A long reply will be sent by Great Britain to the French government, dealing with all the points raised by the French premier in his recent note.

Will Restate Britain's Stand

The reply also will strongly restate Great Britain's position.

It is understood the note will intimate that Britain cannot advise Germany to withdraw her passive resistance decree absolutely and unconditionally, and that it also will remind France that British interests do not permit of waiting interminably.

In effect, it seems to be that Premier Baldwin is seeking to surmount the difficulties of the situation without endangering an open break with France, and it is supposed Belgium is engaged in trying to find means for accommodation between the divergent views of her allies.

No further development is expected, pending publication of the British note and of France's response to Britain's fresh arguments.

ADVISES GERMANY TO JOIN LEAGUE

Former Chancellor Says Time Has Arrived for It, but Must not Bow to British Policies.

BERLIN, Aug. 9.—In the reichstag today former Chancellor Mueller said he considered the time had arrived for Germany to apply for admission into the League of Nations, but not to bow to British policies.

Discussing Germany's attitude toward the league, Baron von Rosenberg, the foreign secretary, declared that his country was prepared to enter the league, but was powerless to remove the hindrances in the way of her joining.

"While the league's present construction shows palpable defects, they are immaterial," he said. "The main thing is the underlying thought, not the league itself."

Western Exhibit At Empire's Fair Will Be Classy

WINNIPEG, Aug. 9.—Western Canada will be well represented at the British Empire exhibition in London next year, in the opinion of J. S. McKinnon of Toronto, who left for home tonight after a tour of the four western provinces in the interests of the exhibition, of which he is Canadian director.

Mr. McKinnon interviewed the premiers of the four western provinces, and said he found them all keenly interested in the project, and anxious to cooperate to make the Canadian section complete and representative.

Exhibits from the prairies will be largely agricultural, while British Columbia's display will be in lumber and fisheries as well.

Hongkong May Give Application of Cat to Men With Arms

Early legislation is expected to increase drastically the penalties of the unauthorized possession of arms, with a maximum sentence of imprisonment for 10 years, and hard flogging with the cat o' nine tails added.

FURTHEST WEST PROVINCES ASK EQUALIZATION

McGeer in Day's Argument Asks Execute Confederation Pact

CLAIMS MOUNTAIN RATES ARE UNFAIR

Demands for British Columbia and Alberta Single Basis West of Great Lakes

OTTAWA, Aug. 9.—(By Canadian Press.)—Presentation of the case for British Columbia and Alberta, in the appeal of the two western provinces against alleged discriminatory freight rates occupied the entire sitting of the privy council today.

Shortly before 6 o'clock, G. G. McGeer, K.C., counsel for Alberta and British Columbia, announced that he expected to conclude his argument in a few minutes tomorrow morning, and the sitting was adjourned. When Mr. McGeer finished, F. Ford, representing the province of Alberta, may have a few words to say, and then F. H. Chrysler, K.C., will argue the case for the railways. It is hoped to conclude argument by tomorrow evening, but this is uncertain.

Confederation Pact Violated

Mr. McGeer's argument today was based on the broad general ground that British Columbia was entitled to the same treatment in the matter of railway rates as other parts of the Dominion. He insisted that the Confederation agreement provided for this, and that the present rates constituted a violation of this agreement. Under present conditions, he claimed, manufacturers in British Columbia were unfairly discriminated against in the markets of the middle west, while the eastern manufacturers were favored. He claimed that lumber could be shipped from Seattle to New York via the Panama canal for a little more than half what it cost to ship the same commodity from Vancouver to Calgary.

Continuing, his argument this afternoon, Mr. McGeer illustrated the importance of decreased rates to British Columbia by stating that the 20 per cent reduction last year on grain had been responsible for a tremendous increase in the shipment of this commodity to Vancouver.

Isaac Pitblado, K.C., representing the Winnipeg board of trade, questioned whether this increased grain shipment to the western port was due entirely to reduced rates. He thought that it was partly due to the fact that Vancouver had been given improved facilities for handling grain.

Mr. McGeer replied that shipments had increased by 100 per cent after the 20 per cent reduction in the grain rate.

In Canada and States

Hon. W. S. Fielding, minister of finance, asked for a comparison between rates from a given point in the United States to Seattle, and from a point in Canada to Vancouver.

Mr. Pitblado—They are lower in Canada.

E. P. Flintoft, counsel for the C.P.R., supported this statement. "United States rates, both east and west, are higher than those in Canada," he said.

Mr. McGeer submitted a map to show that there could be no comparison between rates in the two countries, owing to differences in physical conditions, when Mr. Chrysler protested that this was new evidence, which should not be introduced on appeal.

Mr. McGeer took the ground that the privy council was not merely an appellate court, and was not bound by the rules governing such a tribunal.

He declared that under present conditions the Canadian National system, owned by the Canadian people, was being allowed to discriminate against western Canadians in the matter of rates. British Columbia was being asked to pay rates calculated to meet the capital investment on her railway and pay a dividend of 7 per cent, he said. In the maritime provinces, the spirit of the agreement of Confederation was being carried out. In British Columbia it was being violated.

The Case of Lumber

Lumber was one of the necessities of the prairies, and was produced in great quantities in British Columbia, Mr. McGeer stated. The rate on the lumber from Vancouver to Calgary was $15 a thousand. This was as much as lumber was sold for in British Columbia. "There is not justification for a rate, covering a two-day haul, which increases the cost of a commodity by 100 per cent," maintained Mr. McGeer. "This same lumber is now moving from Seattle to New York via the Panama for $8 a thousand."

The contention that rates should necessarily be higher in a territory where the cost of operation was great was not well founded, contended counsel. In order to determine a fair rate in the territory, it was necessary to also arrive at the revenue which was produced in that territory. He maintained that the railways derived a considerable revenue out of operations in Alberta and British Columbia, and that the rates were not justified on the ground of high operating costs.

"The railways come along and say that they are going to maintain a territorial discrimination against British Columbia and Alberta," said Mr. McGeer.

"We never said that," interjected Mr. Chrysler.

"You're doing it," retorted Mr. McGeer.

"That's your evidence—your own evidence," came back Mr. Flintoft.

Paying for a Mistake

Mr. McGeer went on to deal with the construction of the C.P.R. through the Rockies. It was the original intention of this railway to go through

DEBT LESS FOR MONTH BUT IS MORE FOR YEAR

July Fluctuation Shows Net Debt Was Less but for Year Grows Eleven Million

OTTAWA, Aug. 9.—The net debt of Canada, according to a statement issued by the department of finance, fell by a little less than $5,000,000 during the month of July, although the gross debt rose by something less than $3,000,000. The difference between the two statements is explained by an increase in the investment of Dominion funds over and above those which are classed as inactive, such as the railways.

The net debt of Canada at the end of July stood at $2,403,235,609, as compared with $2,409,001,572 at the end of June. The gross debt at the end of July was $2,923,217,777, as compared with $2,925,568,384 at the end of June. The increase in the gross debt is due to a rise in the circulation of Dominion notes.

Gross Less, Net More

During the year ending with July there was a drop of about $47,000,000 in the gross debt, but the net debt during the same period went up by approximately $11,000,000. The reduction in the gross debt is explained chiefly by a decline in the debt payable in Canada. There was also a decline in the temporary loans during the year, but there were increases in the note circulation and the miscellaneous banking account of the government. The increase in the net debt is explained by a decline in government investments generally, accompanied by an increase in those investments which do not produce a revenue.

The revenue of the Dominion for July was $32,759,524, showing an increase of about $2,500,000 over the month of June.

The current expenditures for the month of July showed a decline of well up to $9,000,000, standing at $18,356,720. The capital and special expenditures stood at $907,085, showing a decline of about $100,000. Taking the four months of the fiscal year, up to the end of July there was an increase of about $11,000,000 in the current revenue during the present year, while there was a cut of something more than $4,000,000 in the current expenditure. The revenue for the four months in the present year was $153,265,643, and the current expenditure $91,145,399.

Sales Tax Revenue Higher

The largest single source of revenue during the month of July is found in sales tax and other excise taxes, which produced $11,019,857, an increase of about $500,000 over the previous month. The customs duties, which came second, were responsible for a revenue of $9,763,655, a decrease of something over $500,000 from June. The excise duties on tobacco and spirits brought in $3,432,620 during July, or approximately the same as the previous month. The revenue from income tax was $3,871,022, nearly three times as much as in June, but almost $1,500,000 less than in July, 1922.

United Church Will Be Eligible to Join Presbyterian Circle

TORONTO, Aug. 9. — Canadian Presbyterianism is not departing from the principal of a reformed church by entering into United Church of Canada, despite its lack of the distinctive name "Presbyterian," will still be eligible for membership in the Pan-Presbyterian alliance, according to Principal Alfred Gandier of Knox College, moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly.

Professor Gandier returned to Toronton today from a meeting of the eastern section of the Alliance of Reformed churches, commonly known as the Pan-Presbyterian alliance, held at Zurich, Switzerland. In an interview, he confidently expressed the belief that the United Church of Canada would be eligible for membership in the alliance.

the Yellowhead pass, he said, but for some reason it was changed to the Kicking Horse. This was in 1912. The Yellowhead pass, it later developed, was the best of the two, and the C.P.R. found that it had made a mistake. "Because the C.P.R. made a mistake in its route, it should not try and make the people of British Columbia and Alberta pay for it," said Mr. McGeer.

But the railways were trying to do more than that. They were making the people of the western provinces pay the high rates, in the Yellowhead pass, now used by the Canadian National railway, as well as in the Kicking Horse pass. The grades in the Yellowhead were much more superior to those in the Kicking Horse.

Mr. McGeer said the main burden of British Columbia's complaint lay in the depressing effect mountain rates had upon interprovincial trade. He admitted that local traffic in the interior of the province was not so very great, because the bulk of the population was to be found along the coast.

Winnipeg's Monopoly.

It was because the Winnipeg board of trade feared it would lose the commercial monopoly now enjoyed by the city that Mr. Pitblado was present, the British Columbia counsel opined.

Mr. Pitblado said he had the honor to appear for the province of Manitoba as well as for the Winnipeg board of trade.

Continuing his argument, Mr. McGeer quoted figures to show that operating expenses per car mile in New Brunswick and Quebec were greater than in British Columbia. He admitted that operating expenses were lower on the prairie, but hastened to add that the prairie provinces did not derive benefit from that condition. He contended that operating costs on the prairies were sufficiently low to permit the railways to take care of the increased expense in British Columbia without adding to the tariff. He quoted statistics to prove that the railways derived more revenue from western than eastern business, and argued that one rate should apply from Fort William west to the coast.

The British Columbia counsel did

Continuing his argument, Mr. McGeer not believe that Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia should be called upon to do more than pay their share of the government railway's deficit. So far as the national lines were concerned, he did not believe there could be a single logical argument advanced in favor of what he termed "the discriminatory schedule."

He next turned his attention to the situation confronting the C.P.R.

Expensive mountain operation was a bugaboo, in the opinion of Mr. McGeer. He pointed out that, contrary to general opinion, the prairies were not flat, but had many steep grades. He read engineering statistics to prove that the mountain grades were very little worse than those encountered upon the prairies. But, notwithstanding this fact, he complained, extra heavy rates were placed upon transportation to and from British Columbia, which had the effect of preventing Vancouver from becoming a successful ocean port.

Mr. Chrysler and Mr. Flintoft questioned the engineering figures submitted by Mr. McGeer. They said they had no way of checking them up.

Would Increase Business.

Mr. McGeer expressed the view that any hardship which the railways might suffer through any equalization of western rates would be more than made up by the business consequent upon the development of the natural resources of British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan. He maintained that the time would come when the west would produce sufficient tonnage to wipe out the deficits of the Canadian National railways. He submitted as an exhibit some data dealing with this point.

Some time was devoted to an analysis of the 1922 balance sheet prepared by the C.P.R., during which Mr. McGeer endeavored to show that the business of the company was prosperous.

The counsel for the railway objected to the construction placed upon some of the items quoted.

Finally Mr. McGeer introduced the question of transcontinental rates. He explained that it cost less to send goods from Montreal to coast terminals, or from coast terminals to Montreal, than to and from points in the interior of British Columbia and Alberta, notwithstanding that the haul was shorter.

Mr. Flintoft argued that this question should not be dealt with, as it had not come before the railway commission, and evidence would be required if it were to be sifted thoroughly. He felt the privy council would be bound to get a prejudiced view of the matter from the remarks of the British Columbia counsel if the railways could not put in rebuttal evidence.

F. Ford, K.C., for Alberta, held that the council should hear argument in sympathy with transcontinental rates, and if it judged such action justifiable, could order the railway commission to go thoroughly into the whole matter.

Mr. Chrysler and Mr. Flintoft held to their objection, and after some argument it was decided by Premier King that Mr. McGeer should continue, but that the council would take cognizance of the objection raised by the counsel for the railways.

When the privy council meets tomorrow morning Mr. McGeer will conclude his argument.

MANAGE FOREST DUTY AS MUCH AS FIGHT FIRES

Caverhill Tells Empire Conference Both Belong to Conservation

OTTAWA, Aug. 9.—The point as to whether some responhibility did not accrue to Canada as a whole, and possibly to the Empire also, to aid the province of British Columbia in solving its forest fire problems, was raised by P. Z. Caverhill, chief forester for that province, in speaking at today's session of the British Empire forestry conference.

Mr. Caverhill expressed the view that while it was necessary to have fire protection before "we can have proper forest management," it would be impossible to delay the innauguration of forest management until fires are completely eliminated.

Prospector Problem in Ontario

Chief Forester E. J. Zavitz of Ontario stated that one of the hardest problems to combat in Ontario forestry work was the practice followed by many prospectors of burning off the bush to expose minerals.

J. A. Wilson, secretary of the Royal Canadian Air force, discussed what could be accomplished in the way of fire ranging with the aid of airplane. He said that 60 per cent of all civil flying carried out in the past three years had been in connection with forestry work. He believed that the time was coming when small, single-seater machines, using no more gas than a small automobile, could be used in forestry patrol.

C. F. S. Cubitt, conservator of forests for the Malay States, suggested that Canadian forestry officials may be endeavoring to carry out their work upon too large a scale. He felt that more concentrating in smaller areas might afford better results.

STORING WHEAT IS A FOOLISH SCHEME

Farmers in Distress Cannot Store and If They Did It Would Make Things Worse, Says Stream

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—The plan advanced by the American farm bureau to store 200,000,000 bushels of wheat on the farms in the hope of raising prices, was declared today to be unsound, impracticable and of no permanent benefit to the farmer, by J. J. Stream, president of the Chicago board of trade.

Farmers in distress are not those with storage facilities, nor are they financially able to construct such containers, Mr. Stream said. If storage space was available and if farmers were a unit in following the plan, it would still be far from the solution, he added.

"Keeping wheat off the market never has and never will change the supply and demand status," he declared. "It would simply add to the confusion that has resulted from agitation and ridiculous public pronouncements by ill-advised politicians. We must get rid of the surplus. If held until next year it would have to compete with the new crop.

Run Worse Risks

"Under the quixotic plan, farmers simply become incompetent speculators who, in search of a possible temporary improvement, would risk creating a far greater burden later on. The farmer's real problem is finding a market, not finding a way to keep his wheat on his own farm." "Wheat prices are not ruinously low," he said, "but the things the farmer must buy are unreasonably high, due to the high tariff and unprecedented high wages and short hours in most industries."

While the farmer must sell in the world market, he is not given the privilege of buying in the world market because of the tariff and labor restrictions, Mr. Stream asserted.

Mr. Stream declared political agitators have destroyed the farmers' credit with tales of his insolvency and predicted the crest of the radical wave has passed. When the farmer fires the politicians and again begins thinking for himself, a new period of prosperity will open up.

TEACHING MUST EMPHASIZE THAT NATIONS ALIKE

Charlesworth of Victoria Tells Federation Schools of World Pull Apart

MONTREAL, Aug. 9. — "School teaching throughout the world has probably stressed too much the difference between nations, while it has not sufficiently emphasized their similarity, and the mutual obligations which rest upon them," declared Harry Charlesworth, Victoria, B. C., when he addressed the Canadian Teachers' federation here today on the world conference of education held in San Francisco last month.

"Our children rightly know a great deal about our naval and military heroes, but we have now come to the place when we should teach them to equally honor heroes in science, in literature and in art."

Mr. Charlesworth urged upon the organization the advisability of formally affiliating itself with the organization mentioned. The matter will be discussed, and definite action taken shortly, it is said.

"We must improve public opinion, secure the right social conditions and get an adequate salary; on the other hand, we must get the right teacher, who loves the work and sees the opportunity to serve the children and the nation," declared Rev. W. M. Morris, Toronto, secretary of the Canadian Trustees' association, at the dinner given here tonight to the delegates to the convention.

PUTS DYNAMITE BETWEEN TEETH; IGNITES FUSE

Estevan Man Summonsed for Unpaid Board Bill Foils the Collector

ESTEVAN, Sask., Aug. 9.—A stick of dynamite, with fuse and cap placed on the floor, and lying on the floor with the dynamite between his teeth, was the method by which John Lonning, well digger, aged 38, ended his life this morning, in an unoccupied building immediately east of the government telephone exchange. A heavy explosion similar to that caused by a very large fire cracker was heard, and the windows of the building were blown out.

Lonning had appeared before the court last evening on a summons for not paying a board bill. He was given till this evening to make arrangements to meet the bill.

BABY AND BLOOM SHOW AT KASLO IS BIG SUCCESS

Great Array of Topnotch Babies Faces Visiting Judges; Prizes for Flowers

KASLO, B.C., Aug. 9. — The flower and baby show held in the drill hall, Friday, by the women's institute was amusing and attractive. The splendid array of babies was a great credit. They were all up to standard, 100 per cent, Baby Chandler, the prize exhibit, being judged 150 per cent. Miss R. A. Corbett and Mr. Major, from the Outlet, came up to judge.

The flower show was very creditable, though possibly not up to its usual very high standard, showing two very tastefully arranged bouquets of wild flowers gathered by the Misses Maynard of Lethbridge and the Whelan children of Kaslo, both well meriting the prizes awarded them.

FOUR CASES TO BE HEARD

Interesting Docket Arranged for Judge Forin on Monday

Monday promises to be a busy day for the provincial police, when four cases will be heard before Judge J. A. Forin.

Martin Erickson of Kaslo will be charged with attempted suicide. Erickson early in July set fire to his house at Kaslo and cut his throat, but was driven out by the smoke and was found lying outside the building.

Irvin Rodusky will face trial for the alleged theft of a satchel from a Great Northern train and which was owned by M. C. Monaghan of Nelson. Trail police charge that Rodusky, when arested on the train on another charge, had the satchel in his possession. The accused, however, maintains he never had the satchel and that he knows nothing about the theft, if theft there was.

Three boys, aged 7, 8 and 9, will be arraigned, charged with having placed spikes on the Canadian Pacific railway tracks near Taghum.

S. Borotsof of Catslegar will be charged with a statutory offence against a 13-year-old girl.

British Income Tax Refunds Available Where Nonresidents

The most important changes in the new British finance bill of 1923-24 affecting nonresidents are these:

1. The standard rate of tax has been reduced to 4s 6d in the pound.

2. Claims can be made for three years back, but this limit will gradually be extended to six years. It will not be possible, however, to claim for years prior to 1920-21, the section not being retroactive.

3. Income derived from the Irish Free State will be exempt from British tax, but liable to Irish income tax, which is 5s in the pound for 1923-24.

There are apparently still many people deriving income from the United Kingdom who are unaware that they can recover at least part of the income tax charged on it. This is in many cases due to the fact that dividends are often marked "free of tax," and in some instances even no mention whatever of tax is made where they are paid through a local branch of a British company. In both these cases, however, tax is recoverable.

FLANDERS' SHRINES DISPLACE WATERLOO

Prewar Tourist Vogue Is Gone and Flood of Visitors Turns to Newer Battlefields

BRUSSELS, Aug. 9. — (Associated Press.)—Waterloo, until 1914, was the most frequented spot in Belgium. Victor Hugo's "dreary plain," dotted with monuments commemorating the armies taking part in the battle, topped by its colossal lion on the historic hill of Mont Saint-Jean, attracted countless foreign visitors, and on Sundays citizens of Brussels journeyed there in caravans.

Ancient mail coaches clattered up and down the streets of the Belgian capital, and their conductors, to the discordant tunes of obsolete brass instruments, invited tourists to Waterloo, 11 miles distant.

Guides fought and cursed at the Waterloo station for the remunerating privilege of escorting over the battlefield the numerous visitors which every train disgorged into the town.

Cafes, restaurants, hotels were doing a huge business. Today gaunt and sad guides await visitors in vain. Waterloo is desolate. Deserted inns are closing up. A great souvenir is being wiped out; an industry going bankrupt.

Devastated Flanders fields are monopolizing the curiosity-seekers. Nieuport, Dixmude, Ypres and the Yser, the most thickly populated war cemeteries of Belgium, also provide its greatest attraction for the living.

The Great War has killed Waterloo, and by half-destroying Flanders, has resuscitated it.

REPORTS FIND ON CANADIAN GROUP

One of the lessees working on the Canadian group, near Sandon, has found his pay streak double in width after two days of drilling. He now has four inches of clean ore, assaying 165 ounces silver and 60 per cent lead, according to Joseph Brandon, who has a force of men working on the property.

FEW MEN LEAVING HERE FOR HARVEST

So far few men have left Nelson for the harvest on the prairies. Few applications for jobs are being filed with the government employment now, as, in order to secure the reduced rate on the railways, the harvesters must show that they have been engaged by some farmer.

INFORMATION ON COPPER BARS

Assistant Deputy Minister Checks Up in Province; Will Visit Trail

In order to collect information upon which to base regulations governing the application of the bounty on copper bars and rods passed at the last session of parliament, J. G. Parmelee, O.B.E., assistant deputy minister of the department of trade and commerce, Ottawa, is in Vancouver after having visited Vancouver island. He will go to Trail before returning to the national capital.

The bounty passed by parliament allows for the payment of 1½ cents a pound on Canadian-made copper bars or rods until June, 1924. After that the bounty is 1¼ cents a pound, and is reduced each year until June, 1927, when it becomes ½ cent. The bounty expires in June, 1928, Mr. Parmelee pointed out.

It is understood that at the present time the only plant capable of taking advantage of the bounty is that at Trail. Whether the other copper producers will establish plants to secure the benefits of the act is not known at present.

The copper bars and rods used in Canada at present are all imported, Mr. Parmelee states, and the business has assumed large proportions of late years.—Vancouver Province.

SIXTH OF MILLION DIVORCES IN YEAR

Such Is Appalling Record of United States; Judge Thomas Surveys History Back to Babylon.

WINONA LAKE, Ind., Aug. 9.—Divorces are granted in America at the rate of one every four minutes throughout the year, and are more numerous here annually in proportion to total population than in any other country which records marriage statistics. The annual total of decrees for the 48 states is in the neighborhood of 140,000 and is increasing three times as fast as the population. Such are the conclusions of Judge W. H. Thomas of Santa Ana, California, former associate justice of the California district court of appeals, drawn from a world survey of marriage and divorce figures in preparation for an American campaign for a national code governing marital relations.

Judge Thomas' survey included 54 countries, and the summary of his study, made public here, reaches back into the domestic relations of ancient Rome, Greece and Babylon. In his conclusions is the suggestion that our national life is seriously threatened by the present status of our family relationships. Much of our trouble, he believes, is chargeable to the chaotic state of United States marriage laws, and his recommendation is a uniform law, applicable to all American territory, based on wisdom and experience.

One Divorce in Every Nine.

"In contrast with our records, one divorce for every nine marriages," Judge Thomas said, "those of France and Germany, our closest competitors, dwindle into insignificance. We have only one rival, Japan. Until recently that nation has been grinding out divorces faster than our own. Now, however, the United States census bureau discloses a rapidly mounting table of divorce which far outstrips the ratio of increase in population. Our rate of increase in divorces between 1870 and 1917, was, for the entire country, exactly 400 per cent." In 1870, he said, the United States had 28 divorces for every 100,000 of population; in 1916 the figure was 112 for each 100,000.

"Our country heads the list among the nations of the world in this downward procession. In 1890 there were 33,107 divorces here; in 1916 there were 112,000. In Canada in the whole year of 1913 there were 59 divorces."

Judge Thomas came here recently to present his findings to officers of the National Reform association at the organization's international conference on Christian citizenship.

Marriage Ages Vary.

Seventeen states in the union fix no marriageable age, he pointed out in commenting on the present varied law. In nine of these states—Florida, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Missouri, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Tennessee and Vermont, the common law ages of 12 for girls and 14 for boys have been formally recognized by the courts. In 19 states there is no law restraining feeble-minded persons from marrying, and only three states forbid miscegentic unions, or marriages between people of different races.

There are now in the United States more than 12,000 married girls under 15 years of age. Approximately 100,000 girls 17 years or younger are married.

"The need of a uniform divorce law is apparent," Judge Thomas declares. "Disregard for the sanctity of marriage, overemphasis of sex, underemphasis of domestic responsibilities, lack of uniformity in the law were among the chief contributing causes that led to the downfall of Rome, of Greece, of Babylon. We cannot allow the rate of divorce in the United States to continue at three times the rate of population increase.

Regulate on Hygienic Lines.

"No logical and sound-thinking person any longer denies that, in certain circumstances, men and women who cannot live harmoniously together should be allowed to reconstruct their happiness. No one now argues against the necessity for marriage laws which will make it impossible for the immature and unfit to harry and reproduce.

"Everyone is satisfied that these laws must be uniform. Hence the time for action has come. And because men have dilly-dallied about it, and because, too, the integrity of the family is woman's quest, upon the women of the country must be laid the business of bringing about reform.

"But legislation will not usher in an era of wisely-planned marriages. The real hope of the world lies in putting as much painstaking and progressive thought into the great business of mating as we do into the other big businesses of our day, and in bringing to bear upon marriage the advanced ideas of science, religion and law, so that we shall be able to offer to young men and women a sensible prosentation of the subject that will convince them of the necessity of permanent afmily relations and assure them of the happiness to be found in a wholesome, family life.

"Unification of marriage and divorce laws is only a partial solution of the problem. There must be early training for marriage and parenthood, and this cannot be provided for by law."

CONDITION IS NOT IMPROVED

Fire Chief Is to Be Removed; Sergt. Stewart Makes Progress

The condition of Sergt. Alex Stewart, who had his right hand seriously injured in a scuffle with Frank Boyd, fire chief, on Monday morning, is reported by Dr. L. E. Borden, who is in attendance, as extremely satisfactory. This applies not only to the right hand, but also to the broken and lacerated finger on the left hand.

It will be several days yet, however, before it will be definitely known what the chances are of saving the finger and the full use of the hand.

Sergt Stewart is suffering much pain, but his athletic constitution is assuring him a good chance of rapid recovery.

No improvement has developed in the condition of Frank Boyd, and arrangements are being made to have him removed to an institution as soon as his brother, William Boyd, who resides in the Nakusp district, arrives in the city, which is expected to be today.

Hopes that Chief Boyd would improve after a few days have not been borne out, and his condition is such that he has to be kept under constant guard—one man during the day and two at night. He is being attended by Dr. H. H. MacKenzie.

Washington Hostess Has Tribulations and Names Not the Least

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Many and serious are the tribulations of the hostess to official society in Washington, and not the least of her worries is the necessity of keeping at her tongue's end the proper title and prefix for those of her guests who are members of the diplomatic corps.

In deference to the customs of a democratic country, many of the foreign ambassadors and ministers, together with the members of their staffs and families, have adopted plain, "Mr.," "Mrs." and "Miss" as the only titles by which they are to be addressed. Others have not, however, and the official diplomatic list of the state department presents an odd mixture of prefixes gathered from the ends of the earth. In some cases there even appears to be a paradoxical divergence among the representatives of a single country.

J. J. Jusserand, the French ambassador, who as dean of the corps heads the diplomatic list, eschews the "Monsieur" of his nativity and styles himself "Mr. Jusserand." But the next name is not that of "Mrs. Jusserand." Instead the list reads "Madame Jusserand," and there follows a string of "Madames" and "Mademoiselles."

Latin-Americans.

The eye of the seeker after correctness next encounters "Senor Don Juan Riano y Gayangos," the ambassador of Spain, and his wife, "Senora Dont Alicia Ward de Riano." "Senors," "Senoras" and "Senoritas" rule generally among the Latin-Americans, although the Argentine list is headed by "Mr. Felipe A. Espil," the charge d'affaires, while the Uruguayan minister and his wife style themselves "Dr. Jacobo Varela" and "Madame Varela."

With the Japanese it is "Mr." and "Madame." The Chinese minister is "Mr. Sao-Ke Alfred Sze" and his wife is "Madame Sze," but the counsellor of the legation is "Mr. Yung Kwai," while his wife is "Mrs. Yung Kwai." Every man except two on the German list has the prefix of "Dr.," and of the two exceptions one is a "Baron" and the other, according to the official list, is to be addressed as "Herr." The feminine prefix is "Frau." Among the Italians it is "Signor" and "Signora."

Titles of Nobility.

In addition, of course, there are the diplomats and their wives who belong to the nobility, and who can be called by none of these titles. The Belgian ambassador is "Baron de Cartier de Marchienne," the British ambassador is "The Right Honorable Sir Auckland Geddes," the Hungarian minister is "Count Laszlo Szechenyi," and the Roumanian minister is "Prince A. Bibesco." The Persian list, in which only an expert can separate name from prefix, is as follows:

"Mirza Hussein Khan Alai, minister; Bagher Khan M. Kazemi, counsellor; Abdullah Khan Entezam, secretary; Hadi Khan Khatiblou, attache; and Sultan Mahmood Khan Amerie, attache."

Hitherto we have had our coat dresses in substantial materials, but now we have delicious little frocks cut in long straight lines in colored organdie. Two ruffles of lace are all the trimming required on these dresses, which have very short sleeves and tie on the hip with a bunch of ribbon.

That writer who says there is no logical reason for the steady increase of divorce should study the pile of tin cans in the alley.

One of the saddest sights in the world is an ardent prohibitionist deprived of the kick afforded by his morning cup of coffee.

QUEBEC LEADER ATTACKS TALK OF ANNEXATION

Despondency and Defeat Are Words Unknown in Canadian Dictionary, He States

QUEBEC, Aug. 9.—Speaking at the Imperial forestry conference party, Premier Taschereau made an attack on The Montreal Star and also on a series of articles published by another Montreal newspaper in which the government's attitude on forestry matters was attacked. The speech was delivered at the Garrison club at a luncheon which was given to the distinguished party. The text of the address was as follows:

"I bid you, and particularly our distinguished visitors from distant shores and neighboring lands, a most hearty welcome to the old city of Quebec.

"We still remember, my lord (Lord Lovat), your stay in our midst in 1908, when you joined with us in celebrating the tercentenary of the birth of our city, and we are pleased to notice that you did not await the next similar celebration to return to us. We hope, however, that you will attend it, provided you give us an occasional call in the interval.

"Canada, while these fifteen years have drifted to the past, has grown wonderfully. New problems have arisen and the great war has left in its path not only sorrow in 60,000 homes, but the difficulties and obstacles that any young country, in the period of its early development, has to face and conquer.

Not Downhearted

"Shall we master them? Despondency and defeat are words unknown to the Canadian dictionary. And rest assured that Quebec, with her natural resources, magnificent rivers, fertile fields, boundless forests, with her peaceful, sturdy, law-abiding and progressive people, will do her full share in keeping up our fair names, progress and credit.

"I said credit. But, my lord, since you arrived here you must have paused and wondered at some statements appearing in the Canadian press. You may have heard the 'Whisper of Death.' You perhaps read in The Montreal Star that Canada today was facing bankruptcy or annexation to the United States. I would have liked this un-Canadian and un-British literature to escape your notice.

"Canada bankrupt! When our dollar is at a premium over the good British pound, when the Canadian people's savings have never run to such a figure, when foreign capital is pouring in here for safe and profitable investment, when our own people over-subscribe, in a few hours, our public loans; when, confident of our own resources and convinced that we can become self-supporting and face retaliation, we give warnings to our neighbors in regard to the export of some of our most valuable commodities.

"Canada annexed to the United States! A voice more authoritative than mine will, I am sure, speak for Canada. But I may be permitted to say a few words for my own province of Quebec.

"We of Quebec resisted in the past American annexation and fought against it on the battlefield.

Calls It Worst Libel Ever

"Public opinion has not changed since those days. We are profoundly attached to the British tie and will so remain until God wills otherwise.

"I think it a duty to publicly repudiate these unwise and false statements.

"What is the use of advertising Canada and trying to attract capital and immigration if, in the same whisper, you inform both that Canada is dying and bankrupt?

"The Star has published on our country the worst libel that I ever read, and I am informed by American friends, interested in our welfare, that the effect of these articles, largely circulated abroad, has been most disiressing and injurious.

"I am sorry to say this is not the only libel we have to face. Coincident with the commencement of this conference, another friend of Canada and of the province of Quebec has started in another daily a series of articles under the caption 'A National Danger.'

"The writer of these articles, who is no friend of this government, although he hails form Three Rivers—and that section of the province has been liberally treated by the government—lays all the blame on the provincial authorities for the recent fires that have unfortunately destroyed so much of our wealth of timber.

Statement of Facts

"Our friend from Three Rivers brazenly states that the government has done nothing to protect the forests, that we are quiet spectators of the destruction that is going on, that within a short period all our forests will be destroyed and that our colonization policy is destructive of any progressive forest policy we might adopt.

"I pray, gentlemen, do not be alarmed. I will not talk politics, but I wish to lay before you a few facts, and will then leave it to you and to the public to draw conclusions. The question is too important, too national, too vital to our province, to drag it into the political arena.

"You will allow me to simply make a statement of facts, that will show you how unfair it is to accuse men intrusted with the administration of this province of having failed to realize the importance of our forests and the necessity of preserving them, not only for the actual benefit of our people but for the welfare of future generations.

First, remember that our timber berths are not sold outright, but leased.

"A restriction is imposed as to the diameter of the trees that may be cut, thereby insuring the preservation of trees for regeneration purposes.

Export Restricted

"In 1910 an order-in-council was passed prohibiting the export of pulpwood from licensed land, with the result that numerous pulp and paper industries have been established in our province.

"Ever since that year, regulations and laws have been adopted which all aimed at protecting the forests, and securing the greatest possible efficiency in our department of lands and forests. And I am glad to be able to compare my administration on that point with that of my able predecessor, Sir Lomer Gouin.

"Only a few years ago, forests and colonization lots were managed by the same department. We separated them, feeling that the old conflict of interests between holders of timber limits and colonists would thus disappear. They have, in a large measure. During two years 25,000 lots have thus passed from the crown lands department to the colonization department.

"Our policy is to group settlers and keep them as far away as possible from the timber limits. In view of what has been going on in this province for the past fifty years, this program requires time, but will be accomplished.

"Six of our best men have been sent to Europe to study forestry and its preservation. We will send some more.

"Our intention is, after the inventory that is now being taken of our timber wealth is completed, to control the cut so that only the annual growth will be removed from the limit, thus making it perpetual."

GREENWOOD OLD-TIMER DIES AT KAMLOOPS

Capt. George Swayne Succumbs to Paralysis; in His Early Life He Was a Mariner

KAMLOOPS, B.C.—Capt. George Swayne, for many years an outstanding figure in the civic life of Greenwood, passed away in this city this week, the cause of death being paralysis. The deceased had been in poor health for about two years.

Captain Swayne was born in Chatham, N.B., 72 years ago, and went to sea at an early age. In his young manhood he left the seafaring life for a while and spent some time in New York city, engaged in office work. While there he had the privilege of hearing Charles Dickens during his American tour, and often used to speak of going for 24 nights in succession to hear the great novelist read from his own works. Tiring of the confinement of office work, he went back to the sea, which he followed for a number of years, visiting practically every part of the world. Twenty-two years ago he retired and went to Greenwood, where he made his home until about a year ago, when he came to Kamloops hoping that the climate here might be beneficial.

He was married in 1884 to Miss Laura E. Wells of Dorchester, N.B., who survives him, and they have one son, William G. Swayne, at present a resident of San Francisco, Cal. Captain Swayne was a member of the A.F. & A.M.

Marketing Ranch Produce

Last night's conference at Robson between ranchers of that settlement and business men from Nelson is bound to do good.

It gave Nelson businessmen an opportunity to express their recognition of the fact that they are deeply concerned in the success of the rancher in the surrounding territory and it opened the way for a further movement toward increasing the sale in Kootenay and Boundary of locally-grown produce.

Every town depends upon the surrounding territory for its prosperity. Every farmer depends upon the townsman to consume his produce. They are mutually interested in each other's welfare.

Prosperous farmers make prosperous towns; prosperous towns provide the best market for farm produce.

With the suggestion that everything possible should be done to encourage the consumption of the farm produce of the district, both by decreasing imports and by increasing the public demand, everyone will agree. In this direction lies an opportunity for every consumer to assist the rancher, and, indirectly, but very certainly, himself.

In marketing ranch produce in this district there is the problem of selling in the prairie or eastern market and the problem of selling in the local market. It appears that each of these sales problems must be attacked in a different way. Different methods must be used in selling loccally to those which will succeed in exporting to another province in large quantities. There is no reason why a cooperative plan should not be worked out for both local and outside markets.

Anything Nelson can do to assist will not only be performing a real public service, but it will be profitable in a financial way to the people of this city.

The Lighter Side

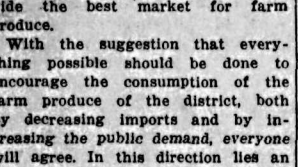
The eyes of the world never need glasses.

Baseball grandstand: A stadium full of self-appointed umpires.

Mortense wants to know if they dissolve corporations by watering the stock.

The Chicago packers at least have made a slick purse out of a sow's ear.

Correct this sentence: "Just one more kiss," cooed the lover, "and then I'll go."



The "expert" who says a working girl can live on nine dollars a week hasn't priced a permanent wave lately.

The prize for fastidiousness goes to the man who buys cigars to match the color of his moustache.

We're tired of paying instalments on the war. Tell the company they can have it back. We never did like it anyhow.

The man who gets fired for getting mad at his boss is just one brand of canned heat.

Senator King of Utah is the father of twins. It's going to be harder now for him to hear the voice of the people.

The man who is always expecting someone to "put something over on him" is constantly putting something over on himself.

Fable: Once upon a time a poor man married a rich girl and the public, in judging his motives, gave him the benefit of the doubt.

In the old days, when men chewed tobacco, a girl didn't kiss a man unless she really loved him passionately.

Necessity is the mother of invention and the man who first used phosphorus probably had difficulty finding the keyhole at 2 a.m.

If the radical uplifters had their way, headlines of the future may read like this "In Wild Orgy of Dissipation Youth Chews Three Cakes of Gum at One Time."

Some day the doctors will start conducting business like battery service stations, we suppose, and rent you a lung or liver to wear while your old one is being repaired.

Every woman appreciates pretty bags. Often a dainty bag gives just the right finishing touch to a costume. I have been making a study of the bags which women are carrying, and here are the results:

A Tapestry Bag for Shopping—This style of bag is made oblong in shape and has no headings at the top. Small tortoise-shell rings are sewed along the top edge, and through these rings a silk cord drawstring is run. If you wish to use the bag only for carrying your coin snap purse, handkerchief and one or two very small parcels, then make it about seven inches long and five inches wide. Otherwise make it much larger. Any remnant of good tapestry may be used for it, provided it has a small pattern. Dark colored silk poplin makes a good lining.

A Black Moire Silk Bag—This is the prettiest kind of handbag to carry with a black or dark blue costume. It has a "dressy" look. Buy a real top for it (one which has a chain handle), then buy black moire ribbon the right width to attach to this top. Also buy lavender satin ribbon for the bag lining; this lavender ribbon should be the same width as the black moire, for it is put back-to-back with the moire. A bag of this sort is generally about six inches long and the two lower corners are turned in so as to make a rounded bottom. A black silk tassel is suspended from the exact center of the bottom.

The New Envelope-Shaped Bead Bags—This kind of small card case or handkerchief bag is growing in popularity. It is about four inches in width and three inches in length, with a pointed flap—exactly like an envelope. The tip of this flap is caught to the bag front by a pearl button on the bag and a black silk loop on the tip of the flap. It is made entirely of beads, with a bead chain handle stretching from one side of the top to the other side of the top. The lining is black silk. These flat little bags will carry a small snap coin purse (the kind made of leather, of envelope shape) and are very handy to carry for church use or when making a social call. Cut steel and black beads used together in a pepper-and-salt effect (that is, alternately in every row of beads put on the bag) make the most effective envelope bag.

Tomorrow—Contributed Recipes.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be inclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and province.—The Editor.

Long Front Teeth

(Registered in accordance with the (Copyright Act.)

A chap consulted a physician one day complaining of indigestion and severe gas attacks.

The physician thought he had the trouble diagnosed at the outset, but went over him carefully just the same.

Finally he said, "Well, all your trouble is in your teeth."

"My teeth," said the patient, "the dentist and all my friends say I have excellent teeth."

"And so you have," said the physician, "but just take a look at them in the mirror."

The patient did so, and the mirror reflected good teeth of unusual length in front.

"Now, look at the teeth on the sides," said the physician.

Taking an instrument of ordinary thickness, he was able to push it between the two rows of teeth on either side because they were more than an eighth of an inch apart.

Thus, when that chap was chewing his food in the ordinary way, it was not being ground up properly because the front teeth were so long they prevented the side teeth from coming together properly, and food entered the stomach in an unfit condition.

Those large teeth at the sides are often called grinders, because that is really their function. They grind the food into very small particles, and thus enable the saliva or digestive juice in the mouth to mix with every part of the food.

So, although he had good teeth they were not doing the work for him, owing, as I said, to the fact that the long teeth in front prevented the grinders of the upper jaw from meeting the lower ones.

Food unready for the stomach caused the gas distension and pain.

The physician referred him to his dentist to see whether the front teeth could be ground down sufficiently to allow the grinders to meet one another.

His only alternative was to give a great many chews to every bite of food and try and get the food ground up real fine.

So, after you have all your teeth fixed up, it might be just as well to see whether your grinding teeth really grind upon one another.

If they don't you must necessarily chew your food for a little longer period. It's a good habit anyway.

RUSSIAN ARMY LARGELY MYTH

London Military Expert Investigates Facts at First Hand and Gives The Results

LONDON, Aug. 9. — Much of the mystery and speculation which have existed concerning the strength of the Soviet Red army is said here to have been cleared up by a military correspondent of the London Daily Mail who has just returned from Moscow. He says that at the beginning of 1921 the strength of the army had fallen from 950,000 to 300,000. At the present time there are 280,000 men in the infantry, 60,000 in the cavalry, 70,000 in the technical units, and 30,000 in the navy. The Cheka's frontier units contain 50,000 men, and its internal units 60,000.

The army has 2,000,000 rifles, 14,500 machine guns, 5700 light machine guns, 3000 cannon more than 3,000,000 shells, and 1,000,000,000 munitions.

The war establishment of a division consists of 15,000 men and 6500 horses; comprising three infantry regiments, three squads of cavalry, three batteries of field artillery, three howitzer batteries and the usual contingents of sappers, engineers, munitions columns, etc.

There are 23 airplane factories, but only five are now working. The aviation department, which is in the hands of a committee of three, with Trotzky at the head, expects to have 10,000 airplanes in 1924, with corresponding personnel.

The correspondent adds that the Bolsheviks also have received many shipments of airplanes from Italy, England and Germany.

Realizing the necessity of producing officers from the working classes, the Bolsheviks have established many military schools. They are more numerous and better equipped, the Daily Mail's expert says, than similar schools in the United States and England. The schools embrace special classes in general staff work, engineering, infantry, cavalry and signals.

It may be made of plain or printed silk crepe, preferably in a quiet pattern of subdued coloring, in a style which, like the one in the sketch, requires the minimum of material and little time in making.

Only about three yards of material are required. The bodice is made of a single piece of material, the side cut semi-circular to achieve the graceful drapes which serve as sleeves.

A moire ribbon girdle with cluster loops to one side in the back is an up-to-the-minute way of dressing up the waistline.

British Soldiers Prepare to Leave Turkish Territory

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 9.—With the coming of peace at Lausanne, preparations are being made by the British army to evacuate the territory which they have held since the armistice. There will be genuine regret among all the Christian races here, and no little sorrow among the educated class of Turks, when General Harington and his 12,000 soldiers bid farewell to the Golden Horn. For whatever uneasiness their presence gave to the new regime at Angora, their occupation of the capital and straits has been a power for good.

Source of Security

Indeed, with the small French and Italian garrisons and the Yankee bluejackets from the American destroyers in the Bosporus, the British soldiers have been the main source of security and order throughout the large area menaced by the Turks. Time and time again at Chanak, in Gallipoli, at Constantinople and in Thrace their patience has been tried by the Turk, but they have kept their rifles muzzled, their bayonets reversed and their tempers in leash.

Gen. Sir Charles Harington, the patient and tactful commander-in-chief of the allied forces here, has addressed a typical message of commendation and of caution to his officers and men. In it General Harington, who is beloved of all ranks for his human qualities and his constant solicitude for his men, says:

"It must be realized that it is only human to expect that our departure will be heralded with a certain amount of satisfaction by the Turks. I look to all ranks to conduct themselves during this period with dignity and restraint, and to do all in their power to avoid incidents, so that the evacuation may be carried out in accordance with the high standard which exists throughout the force, and so that they may leave behind them a memory and respect for British forces which will be long-lived in Turkey and in the history of the British army.

"All have a difficult task to perform. The patience and restraint which have been exercised by the troops are beyond all praise, and worthy of the best traditions. The closing weeks may be difficult ones, and for this reason I ask all ranks to help me in completing the task with the dignity and high sense of duty which has so characterized the forces I have been so proud to have under my command."

Six Weeks After Ratification

The evacuation will be completed six weeks after the ratification of the peace treaty. General Harington has asked his government for instructions regarding the status of the army of occupation during the period subsequent to the ratification until evacuation. He suggests the provision that no Turkish forces shall be allowed to come to Constantinople, and that no triumphal entries shall take place until the last of the troops have gone, in order to avoid the danger of incidents during the delicate period.

International Body Says Charges Against Free State Unfounded

Following investigation of complaints regarding prisoners in Irish Free State prisons, the international Red Cross commission of Geneva recently issued its report, exonerating the Free State government of the charges of ill-treatment and cruelty brought against it by the Irregulars. The commission reports that every facility was given to it by the government to visit all important prisons and internment camps in which Irregular prisoners are incarcerated, inspecting 8000 prisoners out of a total of 11,000, and finds as follows: "The treatment of prisoners is devoid of all hostile spirit and the general principles of the 10 Red Cross conference are observed. While the government refuses to these prisoners the status of prisoners of war, in reality it treats them as such."

The Red Cross report emphasizes the facts that the government has carefully organized the medical service in connection with these prisons and detention camps, and that complaints published alleging unsanitary conditions and bad food are unfounded.

The investigation just completed by the Red Cross commission was carried out as the result of a systematic campaign of misrepresentation by the Irregulars, calculated to discredit the Free State government in the eyes of the world. Special emphasis was laid by this Irregular propaganda upon alleged acts of cruelty and ill-treatment toward women prisoners.

The crimes for which these prisoners are held include treason, looting, sabotage, shooting, and burning of public and private buildings. For months the railways of the Free State were disorganized by the blowing up of bridges, burning of trains—in some cases while the passengers were on board—and the tearing up of rails and permanent way. Women were the chief agencies in concealing and carrying arms for the perpetration of criminal acts by their male Irregular friends, the result of an Irregular plot to shoot at sight all ministers, public servants, members of the dail and newspapermen who had incurred the hostility of De Valera and his supporters. The government has passed through this grave crisis by a stern enforcement of the law, and the justification of the methods is seen today in a return in the Free State to normal conditions.

MEN AND HORSES

How closely related is man to the more intelligent of the animals is seen in many of the ailments to which both are prone and the remedies to which they answer.

Doctors and veterinarians are oftentimes surprised to learn of the similarity of their methods of handling the ailments of man and beast.

Sprains, burns, scalds, scratches and many other minor injuries, many every-day ailments, too in men and animals take the same course, and both answer immediately to the same treatment—Absorbine Jr.

Absorbine was first discovered by a very close student of the horse, W. F. Young, and by him, devoted to its cause. Its very exceptional benefits, however, were promptly seized upon for the human race and, in a milder form, the preparation is sold all over the continent today as Absorbine Jr. It is used for men, women and children everywhere as a positive germicide—a germ killer—and a prompt and certain healer of all hurts. It is useful not only for all the purposes served by ordinary liniments and embrocations, but as a mouth-wash and for anything else where a germicide is needed. Don't wait until you need it. Get it in the house today. $1.25 at your druggist's.

German Millions Are Hidden All Over the World

Arthur Mills, who has just returned to England from a tour of the South American republic, writes of his trip:

"In South America the Germans are laughing. You will see them in the grill room of Plaza, the most expensive hotel in Buenos Ayres, where they have their suites. Later they foregather at the Armenonville, the fashionable dance club. They drink champagne till a dull flush tinges the duel scars on their cheeks, and they laugh.

"It is funny from their point of view, all this fuss in Europe about reparations, France putting back brick by brick the house on her ravaged lands and expecting Germany to help, France beating drums and blowing bugles up and down the Ruhr and saying 'If you won't pay we'll make you,' when all the time, as everybody knows, the money is not in Germany at all—it is in South America.

"Business men in that country say that it was in 1918 Germany started to transfer her capital to South America, when she already saw that she had lost the war. Two years later, when questions about war debts became awkward, she transferred a great deal more.

"Today, at a rough estimate, the Germans have $250,000,000 in Buenos Ayres, $145,000,000 in Chile, and large amounts distributed among the other republics.

"It is all very cunningly done. For example, in Buenos Ayres the Germans have only 12 companies registered under their own names—an insignificant number compared with the 140 registered British companies.

"But to locate German capital one has to search deeper than registered lists. The Germans have converted their companies into Argentine concerns; the name counts for little; the money goes the same way.

"The shipping in Buenos Ayres harbor must be as rich in value of merchandise as any in the world.

"A few weeks ago the Germans had the second flag in the port.

Stinnes a Power

"Think what this means. For four and a half years, by fair means and foul, Germany endeavored to cripple the merchant service of Great Britain. In punishment she was ordered to surrender all her own shipping except what was necessary for her immediate needs. Three years later she has lying off the wharves of Buenos Ayres the second most powerful merchant fleet of any country.

"Hugo Stinnes' name is a power in Argentina. Stories of German prosperity echo from all sides. No more important firm exists in Buenos Ayres than the Argentine Iron & Steel company, who have supplied half the building material of the city. Their turnover in 1922 exceeded $12,000,000.

"This huge old-established concern admits freely that it now has a serious competitor to face. Two years ago Herr Thyssen of the Ruhr started a rival company. Today "Thyssen" building boards may be seen all over Buenos Ayres.

"In Chile I heard the same tale with regard to the nitrate industry of the country.

"Before leaving Argentina I took a drive through Belgrano, the German colony outside Buenos Ayres. The Germans are building themselves palaces in Belgrano which an Argentine millionaire might envy.

"As I looked at these great buildings rising stone upon stone, my mind went back to a little village on the Aisne in September, 1914, where, amid the smouldering ruins of their two-roomed home, an old French peasant and his wife lay dead."

BRITAIN HAS A WINDFALL IN ART

The pick of one of the most famous private collections of Italian "old masters" in the world goes to the British National gallery with the death of Mrs. Mond, widow of Dr. Ludwig Mond, F. R. S., and mother of Sir Alfred Mond, M. P.

Dr. Ludwig Mond died in 1910. His will provided that his pictures should remain with Mrs. Mond during her life, and that on her death 56 of them, named in a list, should be offered to the National gallery.

If the trustees of the National gallery select any of the 56 they must, under the will, select at least three-fourths of them, but they make up three-fourths by selecting any pictures from the remainder of the Mond collection.

The list of 56 includes: "The Crucifixion," Titian; "Portrait of Pietro Aretino," Titian; "Madonna and Child," Raphael; "Madonna and Child," Gentile Bellini; "Pieta," Giovanni Bellini; "Large Holy Family," Fra Bartolommeo; "Heads of Two Angels," Correggio; "Head of An Angel," Correggio; "Flora," Palma Vecchio, and "War Vessels," Tintoretto.

The list does not include Mantegna's "Holy Family," which is in the Mond collection, but it may be selected by the National gallery trustees.

Raphael's "Crucifixion" is the dominating picture in the list. It is a famous work. Raphael painted it when he was 16. It was formerly in Lord Dudley's collection. Dr. Mond bought it for 10,600 guineas, ($53,000), in 1892. It is now worth about $250,000.

In London recently a furrier had damages to pay to his customer because the furs were not washed clean and the customer contracted "fur dermitis."

GERMANY CASTS STOCK SHADOW

Price Changes Are Irregular and Inconclusive, With Session Unusually Dull.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Price changes in today's stock market were irregular and inconclusive, with trading unusually dull because of the holiday tomorrow. Germany's determination to continue passive resistance in the Ruhr, which resulted in further weakness of the exchange rates, cast a shadow of gloomy feeling over the market at the opening.

Selling pressure was most effective against the leather, chemical, low-priced oil and motion picture shares. New low records for the year were established by Central Leather, American Hide & Leather preferred, Famous Players preferred, General Asphalt, St. Paul preferred and Nickle Plate.

American Locomotive touched 73½, but dropped back a point later for a net gain of ¾ on the day. Baldwin also closed ¾ higher, at 112½ after having crossed 113. United States Steel dropped to 86¾ on a flurry of selling after publication of the tonnage statement, but snapped back later to 87¾, up ¼.

French and Belgian francs established new lows for all time, the former at 5.65 and the latter at 4.23. Demand sterling was quoted just under $4.56¾.

German marks showed slight improvement.

Total sales were 400,600 shares.

Soothsayers Say New Emperor of China Been Born

PEKING, Aug. 9.—A new emperor of China has been born, according to soothsayers of Peking who place greater faith in what they read in the stars than what they are told by men.

Just where the new emperor is, the soothsayers cannot say, except that he was born in the province of Shensi, far away in the interior. Nor do the soothsayers venture an opinion as to how the new emperor shall attain the throne, which was abolished 10 years ago following the revolution which made china a republic.

What is to become of the youthful Hsuan Tung is not foretold by the soothsayers. Hsuan Tung was the emperor of China at the time of the revolution and now lives in mock grandeur in the Forbidden City outside Peking, maintaining his court, partly by the meager revenue paid him by the republican government and partly by funds derived from the vast Manchurian holdings of the family.

There are many people in China whose superstitions have gained such dominance over their beliefs that they are ready to place absolute confidence in the words of the star readers, and these people are preparing for the day when they may unfurl the long-hidden, dragon banners of the old monarchy and allow their queues to grow again.

BRINGING UP FATHER By George McManus

Hundreds of Elderly Men and Women Praise Tanlac For Its Great Benefits

Many People Join in Words of Gratitude That Pour Into Tanlac Offices From All Over the Continent—Tell of Remarkable Experiences

One of the features that has stood out most prominently in connection with the introduction and sale of Tanlac everywhere has been the very large number of men and women of advanced age who have testified to the splendid results they have derived from its use.

Among the many elderly people who have recently realized the powers of the medicine and voluntarily express their great gratitude to Tanlac is Thomas Palmer Sr., well-known retired farmer of Hansel, Ontario. Mr. Palmer says:

CAN GET AROUND LIKE A YOUNG MAN

"You don't often see a man as spry as I am at seventy-two, and judging by the way Tanlac fixed me up I am sure it is fine for anybody.

"Before I took Tanlac I could hardly walk and had not been down town without my walking stick since last September. Sometimes every joint in my body ached. I was terribly run down, had suffered from constipation for ten years, my kidneys bothered me a great deal, I had no appetite and seldom got a good night's sleep.

"I took different medicines for two years without any relief to speak of, but Tanlac and the Tanlac Vegetable Pills have put me back in fine shape and I stand ready to praise it to the limit."

GAINED FIVE POUNDS ON EVERY BOTTLE OF TANLAC

Mrs. Fannie Judson, widely known and highly esteemed resident of 228 Albert street, Windsor, Ont., recently said:

"There is nothing better I can say for Tanlac than that I am still enjoying the splendid health it brought me four years ago. At that time I had been suffering from a complication of troubles for five years and was right on the verge of a complete breakdown. I had fallen off to a mere skeleton of my former self and was too weak and nervous even to hold a writing pen. I could sleep little and suffered from indigestion.

"I used five bottles of Tanlac and gained five pounds for every bottle and am now enjoying as fine health as most any school girl."

PROMINENT BUSINESS MAN PRAISES TANLAC

"I was one of the first to buy Tanlac when it was introduced in Montreal and ever since then I have been one of its firmest friends," states Mr. S. Chaille, 94 de Granpre street, Montreal, Que., for twenty years a prominent real estate man. "The medicine put me back in the finest health. It is certainly a dependable preparation."

THREE IN THIS HOME RESTORED

"I can not speak too highly of Tanlac," says James Desjarlias, well-known contractor, 235 Boyer street, Montreal. "The medicine not only rid me of indigestion, nervousness and loss of weight and built me up thirteen pounds, but put my wife in fine condition and restored my father and built him up seventeen pounds. Tanlac is simply grand."

HAS NOT SEEN ITS EQUAL IN SIXTY YEARS

"I thought all medicines were about alike until I took Tanlac, and I want to say I have not seen its equal in all my sixty years," says Wm. Sadd, 28 Mulberry street, Hamilton, Ont. "For six years I had asthma and hay fever so bad every spring I could hardly breathe. What I ate nauseated me, I was so nervous I had to walk the floor at night and had such a pain across my back I could hardly stoop over to lace my shoes.

"Tanlac fixed me up so fine I feel as active as I did thirty years ago."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Take no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are Nature's own remedy for constipation. Sold everywhere.

Men's Amateur Title for Saskatchewan Is Now in Semi-Finals

REGINA, Aug. 9.—R. Dawson, R. W. Hugg and C. P. Church, of Regina, and J. Dingwall of Swift Current, will fight out the semi-finals of the Saskatchewan amateur golf championship Friday, the sole survivors of over 120 Saskatchewan amateurs who commenced the tournament. Church, the Regina city champion, is looked upon as the most likely winner.

Four of these are Regina ladies, including the city champion, Mrs. Rideout; two from Moose Jaw, inclusive of Mrs. J. F. Hunt, the present titleholder; one from Saskatoon, and one from Shaunavon.

How does the trudgeon arm action differ from the side-stroke?

Answered by

BILL BACHRACH

Illinois Athletic Club; most famous and successful of all swimming coaches; has turned out champions such as Johnny Weismuller, world's fastest swimmer; Norman Ross, Sybil Bauer, Perry McGillivray, Harry Hebner, Arthur Raithel, Bob Skelton and Mike McDermott.

It is almost the same except that the arms in the trudgeon are brought out of the water in recovery, and there is a body roll in the trudgeon. This roll brings the face into the water and the body flat on the chest, whereas the sidestroke is performed entirely on the side. The roll is introduced so that the right arm, which is the underneath or balancing arm if you swim on the right side, may be lifted out of the water and carried to the forward position through the air. In the sidestroke the arm remains under the surface and must be pushed forward through the water with the resulting resistance to progress. The greatest propulsion in the trudgeon comes when on the side.

Arrangements Made to Finance Scouts Over the Week-End

Prompt response to the appeal of the boy scout commission for financial assistance has led to the officials being able to state definitely that the camp at Kokanee will not be disbanded until Tuesday night.

When the situation became known, several citizens offered to aid, rather than have the boys brought back to Nelson, of necessity sooner than had been arranged.

Although the camp continues until Tuesday night, the boy scouts ladies' auxiliaries will nevertheless have a debt to overcome when all accounts are in.

A collection will be taken up for this purpose at the city band concert in Lakeside park on Sunday afternoon.

A comet, a particularly large shooting star or a meteor—one of the three—was observed by several Nelson citizens to plunge across the sky at about 11 o'clock on Wednesday night, break into a burst of light and disappear.

Among those who witnessed the sight was A. J. Dill, who states that the spectacle, which lasted but a few seconds, was marvellously beautiful.

STATES MANY ARE AWAITING NEW HIGHWAY

Spokane Police Official Declares Only Publicity Needed to Bring Tourists Here

"You have no idea how many people there are in Spokane—and coming into Spokane daily—who will come into Nelson when the new Nelson-Spokane highway is opened," declared to The Daily News last night Capt. M. J. Burns, chief of the detective force of Spokane.

Captain Burns and Mrs. Burns, with their little son, are here on a holiday trip, having come by motor to Captain Burns' ranch near Fruitvale. The tourist traffic, Captain Burns states, is larger than ever in Spokane, and a great many of the visitors to that city will be glad to come to Nelson, now that they are assured of a good road.

"Only one thing is necessary now to bring into this city a steady stream of visitors from Spokane," he states, "and that is publicity. Very, very few of the tourists in Spokane know that you have up here splendid fishing, wonderful scenery and all that goes to make a fine holiday. Let them know it, and they will not only come up here, but they will keep on coming."

Asked if he would attend the celebration marking the opening of the new highway, Captain Burn replied, "You bet I will." He goes away, however, with one regret—he did not fish at the Slocan pool. "Thought it was a swimming pool," he laughed. But he will return to Nelson from his ranch in about 10 days, and plans to land a number of rainbows.

He believes that the governor of Washington will surely attend the opening ce'ebration. "He used to prospect somewhere up in this province at one time," stated the captain, who also expressed the belief that the mayor of Spokane and many of the city officials will surely be on hand when the paper ribbons across the new road at the boundary are broken on August 29.

Captain Burns is known as a keen fisherman; a big game hunter, and a general all around out-of-doors man.

He speaks highly of the new road, which he has been over. "Splendidly built," he states, "with a railway grade practically all the way."

COOLIDGE WAS A PUPIL OF HARDING

Ex-Governor of Massachusetts Took Vice-Presidency Seriously and Was Close to His Chief

Leroy T. Vernon, in a dispatch from Gloucester, Mass., to the Chicago Daily News, says:

"Calvin Coolidge, who has succeeded Warren G. Harding as president, is a man silent by nature and, officially, silent by necessity. Few persons outside the cabinet know the personal views of Mr. Coolidge on any immediate issue or policy before the government except as revealed in his public speeches, which have always upheld the Harding policies with loyalty.

In one respect, however, both Mr. Coolidge and the country are fortunate. From the beginning of his administration President Harding had the vice-president sit with the cabinet in its biweekly meetings, and Coolidge's opinions have been requested and assessed on all questions of policy. To that extent Mr. Coolidge has had a training for the office of president never before vouchsafed to any other United States vice-president.

Closest Friendship in Capital

"The relations between President Harding and Vice-President Coolidge were cordial in the extreme throughout. Nevertheless, it is doubtful whether, had they been thrown into contact under other circumstances, they would have become such close friends. Different by nature, Mr. Coolidge does not make friends readily. President Harding easily made friends, and his advances to the vice-president, officially and personally, brought about them the closest friendship the vice-president has made in Washington.

"Men who have fostered the political fortunes of Calvin Coolidge during his term as governor of Massachusetts and as vice-president do not claim to have penetrated the reserve of Mr. Coolidge more than anyone else. Some of them refer to him today as "that hard-headed New England farmer," meaning that Mr. Coolidge retains today the habits of mind and thoughts which he brought to Massachusetts with him from the family farm at Plymouth, Vt., where he was born and where he took the oath of office as president. The boy Coolidge inherited his politics and his religious convictions from his father and has not deviated a hair's breadth from the principles as inculcated in his youthful mind. He has always been shy, silent and serious. He was a better counsellor than a trial lawyer.

Takes Position Seriously

"In his position as presiding officer of the senate, Mr. Coolidge has been a serious-minded man, in striking contrast with his predecessor, Thomas R. Marshall, who enjoyed his joke along with the humdrum of the vice-presidential office. The driest joke Coolidge ever perpetrated was as presiding officer of the Massachusetts senate when a fiery orator told one of his colleagues to 'go to hell.' Upon being appealed to, Mr. Coolidge replied that he had "looked up the senate rules and the constitution and found nothing in them to make it mandatory to obey the request."

"When Mr. Coolidge was sent to the Massachusetts legislature a friend, interested in his career, wrote this characterization of him: 'He's like a singed cat, he's much better than he looks.'

"New Englanders look upon Calvin Coolidge's stand for law and order at the time of the Boston police strike as the true index to his character. They believe him capable under fire and at his best in emergencies. They anticipate nothing spectacular from him, but they do expect rigid and hard-headed administration from him along the line followed in Massachusetts.

"Just at this time New England hails the advent of Coolidge because of the threatened coal strike. New England suffered from a lack of coal last winter, and they predict today that "Calvin will get it for us this year." While consulted by the president and his cabinet on every issue and policy, New England believes that "Lucky Calvin," as they call him, will be free to shape his own policies hereafter. On the whole, however, the New Englanders do not expect any great changes in the Harding policies immediately."

CITY AND FARM MEET AND TALK OVER PROBLEMS

Nelson Business Men and Robson Ranchers Hold Conference

TO ENCOURAGE USE OF RANCH PRODUCE

If Fruit and Vegetables Won't Sell Farmers Will Strike, Says Speaker

To bring about closer cooperation between Nelson business men and the ranchers of the district and to show the desire of Nelson people to do everything in their power to assist the ranchers in disposing of their produce was the purpose of a visit of Nelson Rotarians and other business men to Robson last evening.

Sixteen Nelson men in four automobiles, driven by Carl A. Larson, George Ferguson, A. B. Gilker and Roy Clarke, made the trip.

They were entertained at Robson at a banquet arranged by some of the ladies of the settlement. The tables in the packing shed, where the affair took place, groaned under good things to eat, while flowers decorated the tables and flags the walls.

Want to Help

A. Higginbotham, as president of the Rotary club, was in the chair, and explained that the chief purposes of the club were fellowship and service. Rotarians desired to give service to the community and they enjoyed the fellowship which resulted from the'r meetings. The object of the gathering, he said, was to discuss if anything could be done by the citizens of Nelson which would be of benefit to the ranchers of the surrounding district. He assured his hearers that if there were anything the business men of Nelson would be delighted to do it.

Thomas Wilkinson spoke of the call which had just been issued to the city folk of Saskatchewan to cooperate with the farmer in harvesting the crop with the least possible delay and at a minimum of cost. He felt sure that the people of Nelson, if any way were shown to them, would cooperate heartily with the farmers of the district, and it was realized that the agricultural industry was not getting a reasonable return for the labor expended. He suggested that merchants could assist by eliminating as far as possible the importation of fruits and vegetables which could be raised in this district.

F. F. Payne touched upon some of the problems which both merchants and ranchers had to deal with, and suggested the desirability of measures for creating a larger public appetite for local ranch produce.

Keep Out Foreign Produce

J. Johnson urged that people should be encouraged to keep away from foreign produce, and that merchants should be asked not to overload themselves with imported produce which would interfere with the sale of local produce The women of the community could do much by insisting upon local fruits and vegetables.

David Kerr explained that he was not in the fruit wholesaling business, and touched upon the tremendous amount of strawberries which had been handled by the MacDonald Jam company in Nelson from ranchers of the district. The warehouse of this concern was filled with strawberry jam which he was afraid might have to be sold at a loss.

Eggs Important, Too

H. L. Foxlee pointed out that eggs should not be forgotten in any efforts which were made to increase consumption of the produce of the farms of the district.

Dr. A. P. McDiarmid mentioned that last year the Robson district had shipped 14 carloads of apples. To date they had not received a single cent in return. A little money might ultimately be secured, but it would at best be very small in amount. Something must come to pass or the industry would go to the dogs. It was a good indication of the desire of the business men of Nelson to assist that they had gone to Robson.

If Farmers Strike

Something must be done or he suggested the possibility of a continent-wide strike by farmers If the farmers all over the continent went on strike for one year and produced only enough to feed themselves the people would sit up and take notice. The farming industry held people in its grasp as did no other class of labor. At present the farmer got little or nothing for his produce and found that everything he had to buy was high in price. He said that a few days ago a Robson rancher ordered a barrel of oil sent out to him from Nelson. Accompanying it was a notice from the oil company stating that it had been decided that all farmers must pay cash. A few days ago he had read that the governor of South Dakota had declared that gasoline which was selling at 26 cents should sell at 16, and that the Standard Oil company was guilty of highway robbery. "After they have skinned the farmer until he hasn't any money they say he can't get oil unless he pays cash for it," said the doctor.

He repeated that it was a good sign that the business men of Nelson had proposed the discussion, and declared that unless the city and country people could get together and find a solution they would find themselves some day without the produce of the soil.

Would Change Shipping Rules

C. F. McHardy spoke in praise of the fine type of settlers at Robson and looked forward to the time when Robson would thrive. He thought a great deal could be done if the people of Kootenay were urged to consume local produce, while if shipping rules were revised to enable run of orchard apples to be shipped to the prairies it would increase the consumption in the grain provinces.

Mrs. S. S. McDiarmid delighted the gathering with a number of songs, Prof. Wright played accompaniments and Mr. Johnson played violin solos. Among others present were D. St.Denis, who led in singing "Allouette"; J. S. Carter, Gordon R. Brown, George Miller, G. C. Arneson, E. Watts, Stewart McDiarmid, W. T. Wickham, Frank Oborne, A. A. Perrier, A. Mitchell, T. J. Norman, J. A. Gibson, A. Hartford, H. H. McDiarmid, George Horstead, F. L. Jelfs, O. B. Ballard and James Fowler.

REPUBLICANS NOW HAVE A BIG FIELD

Death of Harding Brings More Candidates for Party Nomination Into Charmed Circle

A Washington dispatch to the Chicago Daily News says:

Despite the absence of formal comment it is clearly recognized that the death of Mr. Harding will, of course, result in a big field of candidates for the Republican nomination for president next year. It is assumed here that President Coolidge will be a candidate and will, if he makes a good president during the next 19 months, be a formidable contestant for the nomination. It is generally agreed that his geographical location is to his disadvantage, the new president hailing from Massachusetts, most observers being inclined to the belief that the Republican nominee next year will likely come from the interior of the country rather than from the New England section.

Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California will, it is almost taken for granted here, now become a candidate. The senator is in Washington, but, of course, will not discuss the matter at this time. Cognizance is also being taken of the possibility that Charles Evans Hughes, secretary of state, might resign his present post and enter the field. Senator William S. Kenyon of Iowa, now a United States judge, may be persuaded to become the candidate of what might be termed the moderate radicals within the party.

Committee to Meet

It is evident that not many weeks will pass until the new presidential field begins to develop. Politicians of influence within the Republican party are already on their way to Washington and practically the full membership of the Republican national committee is expected here by next Monday or Tuesday. This all means, of course, that the future of the party in power is to receive consideration.

Turning momentarily to the practical side of the situation presented by the death of President Harding, and reviewing the problems which confront the new president, Washington observers today pointed out that, first of all, Mr. Coolidge will have to deal with a political party that is not a unit on many of the questions of the day. Perhaps the sharpest division is over its international policy. A good many Republicans felt that President Harding drew away from his party when he urged America's participation in the international court of justice, and powerful efforts were made to dissuade Mr. Harding from the stand he took. Incidentally, it is believed in some quarters that this antagonism probably had not a little to do with the worries of the president which finally led to his breakdown.

President Coolidge will, it is certain, feel the same pressure which his predecessor felt; he will have to listen to arguments in favor of dropping the court proposal, and in some quarters the disposition today was to take the view that he might be influenced by New England sentiment, which appears to be anti-court, and refrain from renewing the Harding proposal in his message to congress in December. This, however, is purely speculative.

Extra Session Not Expected

A somewhat insistent demand that the president call a special session of congress to deal with the agricultural situation will have to be dealt with by President Coolidge. President Harding had definitely made up his mind, it seems, not to issue a call for a special session, and it is reasonable to assume that President Coolidge in this case will carry out his predecessor's policy.

President Coolidge's record in favor of law enforcement—the record which he made as governor of Massachusetts—gives full assurance that the country will witness no backward step as far as the enforcement of the Volstead act is concerned, in the opinion of observers here, and he is confidentially expected to continue the Harding policy with respect to the "wet and dry" issue.

COOLIDGE'S FIRST PUBLIC DOCUMENT

The first proclamation signed by President Calvin E. Coolidge was that appointing a day of mourning for President Harding. It was issued on Aug. 4 and read as follows:

PROCLAMATION

"By the president of the United States of America, a proclamation:

"To the people of the United States:

"In the inscrutable wisdom of Divine Providence, Warren Gamaliel Harding, twenty-ninth president of the United States, has been taken from us. The nation has lost a wise and enlightened statesman and the American people a true friend and councelor, whose whole public life was inspired with a desire to promote the best interests of the United States and the welfare of its citizens. His private life was marked by gentleness and brotherly sympathy and by the charm of his personality he made friends of all who came in contact with him.

"It is meet that the deep grief which fills the hearts of the American people should find fitting expression.

"Now, therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, president of America, do appoint Friday next, Aug. 10, the day on which the body of the dead president will be laid in its last earthly resting place, as a day of mourning and prayer throughout the United States. I earnestly recommend the people to assemble on that day in their respective places of divine homage and love and reverence to the memory of the great and good president, whose death has so sorely smitten the nation.

"In witness I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Dated at the city of Washington, the 4th day of August, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and forty-eighth.

CALVIN COOLIDGE,

By the president.

CHARLES E. HUGHES,

Secretary of State.
