TURKEY DEMANDS EXPLANATION FROM ITALY

LEGAL BATTLE OPENS TO SAVE GILDED YOUTHS

Attorneys of Millionaires' Sons Get Them Away From the Police

KILLERS NOW IN SHERIFF'S CARE

Letter Found on Train Had Directions for Father of the Slain Boy

CHICAGO, June 2.—The legal battle of millions to free Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb, scholarly sons of two Chicago millionaires, and confessed kidnapers and slayers of 13-year-old Robert Franks, son of another millionaire Chicagoan, opened today, and at the end of the legal skirmish, state and defence attorneys each claimed victories.

Hearing on a writ of habeas corpus for release of the two youths was continued to Friday, but the defence succeeded in obtaining an order taking the boys from the custody of the police and remanding them to the care of the sheriff of Cook county.

The most important evidence unearthed today was a letter which Mr. Crowe said was written to Jacob Franks, father of the slain boy, by Leopold and Loeb, and which was found in a Michigan Central pullman car at New York.

Father Misunderstood

When young Franks disappeared May 21, Leopold and Loeb, according to Mr. Crowe, called the Franks home by telephone and notified the parents their son was held for ransom. Next day, their confessions said, they sent Mr. Franks a letter asking $10,000 ransom and in the afternoon shortly before the body of the boy had been identified, they made a second call to the father, who had the money waiting, telling him to go to a nearby drug store. He failed to understand the address and did not go.

Had he proceeded to the store, the boys said, he would have been instructed to buy a Michigan Central railroad ticket to Gary, Ind., and to sit in a certain rear car seat where the letter had been placed. The letter instructed him to watch for a large sign after passing a certain street, and to count four, and then toss the money out of the window, the boys said.

BEATTY INSPECTS SOO HEADQUARTERS

Tells Minneapolis Canada Expecting Widespread Prosperity This Year

MINNEAPOLIS, June 2.—Conditions throughout Canada point to a year of widespread agricultural and industrial prosperity, with greater progress toward real economic stabilization than in any year since the war, E. W. Beatty, Montreal, president of the Canadian Pacific railway, said here today.

Mr. Beatty reached the city at noon, and spent the afternoon in conference with officials of the Soo Line, which is affiliated with the Canadian Pacific system.

Mr. Beatty is en route to Montreal, via Sault Ste. Marie, after a survey of business, transportation and farming conditions which took him to the Pacific coast over the Canadian Pacific lines.

"Crop prospects all over Canada are excellent," Mr. Beatty said. "We have had a good spring, with plenty of rain, you know. The financial situation appears to be showing steady improvement. Business everywhere has a healthy tone. Industry on the whole is on the upgrade, and the manufacturing situation in several lines is entirely satisfactory."

Ottawa Ministers Will Help Oliver During Final Week

VANCOUVER, June 2.—Two, and perhaps three federal cabinet ministers are coming from the east to throw their weight behind Premier Oliver and his Liberal government in the provincial election campaign, according to party headquarters here.

Hon. Dr. H. S. Beland, minister of soldiers' civil reestablishment and Hon. A. B. Copp, secretary of state, are expected to reach this province about a week before the election.

Tolmie, Stevens, Too

VANCOUVER, June 2.—Beside Hon. Dr. Beland and Hon. A. B. Copp, who are coming to Vancouver in about a week before election, perhaps Hon. E. M. MacDonald will throw his weight behind the Oliver government campaign.

Hon. S. F. Tolmie and Hon. H. H. Stevens are coming to aid the Conservatives, and are expected in about a week.

Farmer Brings Suit Against Magistrate and Police Chief

VANCOUVER, June 2.—Malicious prosecution, false imprisonment, and conspiracy are charged against Magistrate J. W. Atkey, and Police Chief S. Fenton of Ladner, in a writ issued by J. H. L. Morgan of Point Roberts. Morgan is a farmer, residing near the boundary line, who was arrested May 23 on a selling charge yet to be heard. He claims $50,000 damages for being held for cash bail, the banks being closed over Victoria day.

Private Gamekeeper Charged With Murder

COOLIDGE SIGNS TAX BILL BUT PANS CONGRESS

Says Tax Reform Measure Changed Into Merely Tax Reduction One

WASHINGTON, June 2.—President Coolidge today signed the tax reduction bill but, declaring it unsatisfactory, announced he would bend all his energies to obtain enactment of a better measure at the next session of congress.

The bill, which decreases tax rates in most instances to the lowest levels since 1917, and which was the basis of the hottest legislative fight of the present session of congress, was declared by the president, in a 2500-word statement issued coincident with his approval of the measure, to represent merely "tax reduction, not tax reform."

"Unfortunate Influences"

"The bill does not represent a sound, permanent tax policy, and in its passage has been subject to unfortunate influences which ought not to control fiscal questions," the executive said. "Still, in spite of its obvious defects, its advantages as a temporary relief and a temporary adjustment of business conditions, in view of the uncertainty of a better law within a reasonable time, lead me to believe that the best interests of the country would be subserved if this bill becomes a law.

"A correction of its defects may be left to the next session of congress. I trust a bill less political and more truly economic may be passed at that time. To that end I shall bend all my energies."

Honors Even in Newfoundland on the Early Results

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., June 2.—(Canadian Press.)—Only meager election results were obtainable at midnight, the polls having been kept open late, and honors were evenly divided in the four seats heard from, two government and two opposition candidates having been returned.

Port Degreve district elected F. Bradley, opposition, by a majority of only four votes over R. J. Smith, the government candidate. Last election this constituency gave H. A. Winter, speaker of the last assembly, 300 majority. Harbor Main returns one member from each camp, and Carbonear elected the government candidate.

No comprehensive returns are expected before late tomorrow morning.

MILLERAND IS PERCHED UPON CONSTITUTION

Enemies Now Disposed to Treat For His Graceful Retirement

WILL LET HERRIOT FORM GOVERNMENT

Socialist Congress Gives Herriot Free Hand on the Premiership

PARIS, June 2.—President Millerand tonight is still sitting tight on top of the constitution, waiting for his enemies to find the way to force him off, and out of his presidential home in the Rue Faubourg Ste. Honore, according to those friends of his who have been in touch with him since the movement to eject him from office was put under way.

The president's adversaries tonight appeared disposed to substitute persuasion for threats. They declared they were now willing to allow Edouard Herriot, leader of the Radical party, to accept the mission to form a cabinet, from the hands of M. Millerand, on condition that the occupant of the Elysee retire gracefully as soon as the new govrnment is installed.

Endorse Herriot's Terms

PARIS, June 2.—The terms imposed by M. Herriott, leader of the Radical Socialists, for accentance of the premiership, were indorsed tonight by the Socialist congress, which unanimously adopted a resolution formally assuring him of their support.

As evidence of their loyalty, the congress relieved the parliamentary group of the obligation of voting against the budget as a whole.

A letter in friendly terms, conveying this assurance, was sent to Mr. Herriot.

LA FOLLETTE ASKS CONGRESS TO SIT

House Votes to Adjourn, but Senator Wants Farm Relief Yet

WASHINGTON, June 2.—By a vote of 221 to 157, the house today supported a concurrent motion to adjourn congress sine die on Saturday.

In the senate, Senator La Follette introduced a counter-resolution for an adjournment for four weeks, from June 7 to July 4. The house motion will come up for consideration by the senate probably tomorrow.

Senator La Follette would bring congress back to consider farm and railroad relief and reclamation bills.

Leaves Million to Saskatoon, But —No Proceeds!

SASKATOON, Sask., June 2.—According to the will of Allan Bowerman, one-time millionaire Saskatoon real estate operator, who died in Los Angeles, December 8, 1923, the income from his estate is to be divided, two-thirds to the city of Saskatoon, for benevolent purposes, and one-third to his wife, the capital to be conserved for 100 years and then distributed, two-thirds to the city of Saskatoon and the remainder to the University of Saskatchewan.

However, as the estate, which schedules at almost a million dollars, has against it net liabilities far exceeding the net worth, it is not expected that the beneficiaries will receive a dollar.

It has cost $4669 to maintain the Dawson station, and $3327 to maintain the Mayo station, during the past year. Revenues collected totalled $363 and $576, respectively.

HARBOR BOARD MUST SEPARATE ELEVATOR RATE

Cargo Rates a General Charge; Can't Assess on Other Elevators

VANCOUVER, June 2.—(Canadian Press.)—Justification for the proposed increase of cargo rates in Vancouver harbor, continued the subject of animated discussion before the royal grain commission here today. The position of those pressing the Van Allen charges is that harbor expenditures must be segregated, so it can be determined in scrutinizing those which contribute directly to the handling of grain, whether the proposed new tariff is justified.

The harbor commission maintains that cargo rates are a general charge or tax on all business passing through the port, and these new schedules will still be lower than those imposed in Montreal, the lakes, or other forts of the continent, and in the very nature of the situation it would be impossible to impose this rate on each commodity passing through the harbor on the strict basis of expenditures made for that particular commodity.

Chairman Turgeon's comment is that the charges for handling grain in the harbor board elevator must be considered a thing apart from these cargo rates, which apply on all shipping. Their profit or loss on the elevator operations must be considered alone, since other elevators under private management soon will be operating here, and grain handled in such elevators will not be assessed on the basis of harbor expenditures, or bear any relation to the revenues and expenses of the Vancouver harbor.

CHAPTERS BEAR SILKEN FLAGS AT CONVENTION

Daughters of Empire Open Sessions; Falconer Pays a Tribute

TORONTO, June 2.—Patriotic setting was afforded the formal opening of the 24th annual meeting of the Imperial Orders Daughters of the Empire here this afternoon. Shields bearing the coats-of-arms of the province, and ensigns worn by hundreds of delegates, and, most of all, the impressive procession of graceful silken Union Jacks carried by the standard bearers of the many Toronto chapters, were features.

That Canadians should be grateful to the Daughters of the Empire for what they had done since the time of the South African war to the present, was the statement of Lieutenant-Governor Cockshutt, who declared that women have a great part to play in the conduct of the nations, the greatest work being the bringing up of the country's children.

A Force to Vitalize

What the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire was going was defined by Sir Robert Falconer, president of the University of Toronto, as a force to vitalize and promote among people a realization of their privilege as one of the constituents in the nations of the Empire. The head of the university particularly congratulated the order on the fine educational work they were doing through the medium of their war memorial.

The national president, Mrs. Doolittle, presided, and in her address emphasized the responsibility which rested upon every member of the order, to strive for the right spirit, that which would give a wider outlook and a clearer conception of encouragement and endeavor in the many patriotic objects of the order.

The evening was given to a meeting of the regents, in which procedure and constitution were discussed, and to committees on constitution and the war memorial.

NIEGRI TURNS KING'S EVIDENCE IN BANDIT CASE

Prosecutor Asks Judge If Should Bring in All Conspirators

JUDGE ADVISES BROADEST SCOPE

Emma Leboeuf Describes Rehearsing of Crime; Long Planned

MONTREAL, June 2.—The full list of conspirators in the laying of plans for the Banque d'Hochelaga collection car holdup here on April 1, when $142,288 was stolen and two men shot dead, will be given, as far as he knows them, by Ciero Niegri, self-confessed conspirator, when the trial of Giuseppe Serafini, on a charge of having murdered the chauffeur of the collection car, recpens Wednesday morning, following the recommendation given by Mr. Justice Wilson, in the court of king's bench, to R. L. Calder, K.C., crown prosecutor, toward the close of this afternoon's proceedings.

Planned Last November

Mr. Calder had introduced Niegri as king's evidence, and had questioned him as to his association with Emma Leboeuf and Serafini, up to the point where witness stated he first heard of the plans to do the job against the bank in November, 1923.

Mr. Calder then put it to the court that he had two courses open before him—either to confine himself exclusively to Serafini's own connection with this plot, or to bring out from the witness the names of all the conspirators the witness knew. He asked the court to give him directions as to which course it was best to pursue.

His lordship declared he saw no reason why any names should be kept from the court and jury, even if someone else's case might be prejudiced by giving them.

Mr. Calder then decided, on the court's recommendation, to bring out from Niegri the names of all the conspirators the witness claimed to know. At this point the court adjourned until Wednesday morning.

Drew Thumb Across Throat

"If we are found, we shall be hanged," said Niegri, drawing his thumb across his throat as he said so, according to the evidence given by Emma Leboeuf, alias Lebau, at the murder trial this morning.

She gave evidence the better part of the day, as king's evidence, as to the plotting of the dramatic robbery of the pay car on the afternoon of April 1 in the Lincoln avenue department, where she lived with Niegri a month previous to the crime. She said the whole affair had been carefully rehearsed beforehand.

STAGE RUM WAR QUEBEC BORDER

American and Canadian Officers Line Up Against Bootleggers Force

QUEBEC, June 2.—Open warfare between bootleggers and Canadian and United States revenue officers is reported from the Quebec border townships of Sully, Escart and Riviere Bleu. Some of the United States officers have been cut off returning to their own side of the line, and are lining up with the Canadian officals in their fight against the bootleggers.

Tipped off that the rum runners were about to smuggle 1500 gallons of liquor into the state of Maine Saturday, the joint revenue forces prepared a reception committee. This fact became known, and the alleged ringleader of the bootleggers is reported to have imported 400 lumberjacks to assist him in defending his cargo.

Since Saturday both sides have been awaiting developments, and preparing for another clash.

TINNED LOBSTER IS DANGEROUS, EXPERTS STATE

Brief Boiling in Shell Does Not Kill All Bacteria, ..Says Biological Board

OTTAWA, June 2.—Lobster meat as prepared for canning is "enormously infected with bacteria," concludes the section of a report just issued of investigations made under the biological board of Canada. The boiling of the animals in the shell from seven to 10 minutes, as ordinarily carried out in the factories, does not as a rule destroy a very large number of intestinal bacteria in the gut of the animal, which probably makes the largest contribution of bacteria to the shelled meat, the report states.

The report, which contains the results of bacteriolcgical and chemical studies, made by G. B. Reed and J. D. McLeod, of certain problems in lobster canning, closes with recommendations for avoiding decomposition and discoloration of canned lobster.

How to Sterilize

It recommends the use of the autoclave for sterilization, and also the addition of acetic or citric acid, but states that "the primary objective should be to avoid the decomposition which causes the formation of the discoloration material."

An opinion is expressed that the time which boiled lobsters in the shells may be kept with safety is less than 24 hours, and the period that shelled meat may be kept is less than four hours.

Girl Turns Flapper; Enraged Lover Puts Bullet in Himself

LOS ANGELES, June 2.—Because the girl he loved forsook her rural ways, and adopted the bobbed-hair, rouge and lipstick of the city flapper, Dana Stewart, aged 30, a rancher, of Liberty, Sask., became so enraged he shot himself.

That is what police were told by 18-year-old Lillian Warnes, the girl, after a patrolman had hurried to her home, in response to a telephone call for assistance, only to see Stewart fall to the floor with a bullet through his chest.

The wound was self-inflicted, the policeman said. At the receiving hospital surgeons pronounced Stewart's condition serious.

Japanese Crowds Line Hills to See Yank Fliers Arrive

KAGOSHIMA, Japan, June 2.—Thousands of people lined the waterfront of Kagoshima, and the hills and waterfront, to witness the arrival of the United States around-the-globe fliers, here at 7:20 this evening, from Kushimoto.

The flight was a tiring and difficult one. It took six hours to cover the 425 miles.

Pitful winds and rain retarded the aviators, who had been delayed at Kushimoto by bad weather.

With good weather, the aviators hope to continue their flight to Shanghai, 500 miles across the Yellow sea, Tuesday.

Kagoshima is their last stopping plaace in Japan.

TURK COUNCIL SITS SIX HOURS DEBATING MOVE

Sees Sinister Import in Alleged Italian Concentration in Sicily

ORDERS MILITARY STEPS IN SMYRNA

Story That Landing in Rhodes Is Celebration Is Not Accepted

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 2.—The council of commissars held a six-hour discussion at Angora yesterday on the difficult situation which has arisen between Turkey and Italy.

The Turkish representative at Rome has been instructed to ask for an explanation for the alleged concentration of troops in Sicily and for other Italian military activities, while the military authorities in Smyrna have been ordered to take all the necessary precautionary measures.

According to the Turkish press, the Turkish government is dissatisfied with the explanation of the Italian charge d'affaires here that the few Italian soldiers who landed in Rhodes were only celebrating the anniversary of the annexation of the Dodecanese islands.

EASTERN HOLDERS WANT MORE POWER

Winnipeg Electric Postpones Annual Meeting; Negotiations Pending

WINNIPEG, June 2.—(Canadian Press.)—That the annual meeting had been postponed until July 8, and that a dividend of 7 per cent had been declared on the preference stock of the company, was the only announcement contained in a brief official statement issued following a lengthy session of the Winnipeg Electric company directors here tonight.

"An official statement has been issued and I have nothing to add to it," said A. J. Nesbitt, of Montreal. Mr. Nesbitt came especially to attend the directors' meeting, and that of the shareholders which was to have been held today.

A. W. McLimont, president, declared the meeting had been an amicable one, and referred his questioner to the official report.

Not Seeking Control

The Manitoba Free Press states: "It is practically certain that Mr. Nesbitt's presence, backed by a large number of proxies, was to gain greater representation for the eastern interests, not it is said, with any desire of gaining control of the road, but merely as a matter of protection for the money involved. The postponement of the annual meeting may be significant of a desire on the part of the Winnipeg Electric to meet and acquiesce in the wishes. In fact, it is believed that the postponement is to be allowed, for negotiations in the interval, having in view the harmonizing of the various interests."

JAMMED!

Jammed doesn't half describe it. I've been in the sales business for a long time, but really and truly I've never seen such a thirsty bunch of bargain seekers. Why, they just simply pushed and shoved, pulled and hauled. They carried it away in armloads. I actually saw a woman wheeling a whole baby carriage load of bargain bundles out of the store the first day, with the little fellow walking alongside. And the best part of it all was that everyone I talked to as they were leaving the sale said: "I am coming back Monday." If you were one of the unfortunate ones who for some reason could not attend the first few days, for pity's sake get down here Thursday, Friday and Saturday. I am banking on you, and will be disappointed if you are not here.

Because in the first place we have given the people everything promised in our advertising, and the utter disregard for wholesale prices, the very timeliness of this great sale, coming as it does at the beginning of the summer season with all spring and summer goods being sold at such low prices, is it any wonder that the buying public stands aghast at our wonderful method of merchandising? In short, LOW PRICES do it, and the beauty of it is, it's getting better as it goes along.

MOVIE MAD

By HAZEL DEYO BATCHELOR

Copyright, 1924, by Public Ledger Company.

Gloria King comes to Hollywood with the idea of making good in the movies but becomes hardened by the life and is foolish enough to marry Rolf Templeton, the great screen star, whom she despises. He makes her his leading woman, and when the picture "Strangers Souls" is released Gloria is a hit. In fact, she has stolen the picture away from the star. Gloria has been miserable with Templeton and resolves to leave him. He tells her he loves her, but she doesn't believe it because of his treatment of her.

CHAPTER XXIII

A Gift

THE next day Gloria departed from Templeton's white stucco palace, taking with her only the clothes that she had bought with her own money. By night it was all over the colony that the Templetons had separated, but Gloria, almost delirious with her new freedom, cared nothing for the storm of gossip. Luckily her bungalow on the edge of the town happened to be empty. It was not easy to find a tenant for it because people complained of its being too far out. She was glad to settle down there, and looking around the living room that same evening, she tried to imagine that she had never left its small coziness. She tried to think of her marriage and Rolf Templeton as but a dream, but it wasn't easy to do this. Too much had happened. She could not forget. Was it because she had changed? Was it because he had left his mark upon her life?

One morning early when she was just finishing breakfast a mysterious gift arrived by messenger. It was a huge hamper, and when she opened it a black Persian cat leaped out. Gloria loved cats, but not a soul knew of this fact. She had made no close friends and at the thought of Templeton, her lips curled into a bitter smile. He would never choose such a gift. He would be more likely to select a diamond bracelet, something ornate and showy, just as his taste in flowers ran to orchids because they were expensive rather than to violets or roses because they were fragrant.

Gloria named the cat Ginger, and in a day or so when he had grown to knew her, he would run to meet her when she returned home each evening. When she threw herself into a chair he would leap up into her lap waving his long plumy tail proudly, and when she caught him in her arms, he would bump his velvet head against her chin and purr ecstatically, snuggling against her and stretching himself out in that divinely superior way cats have.

One day on her way to the studio she passed a shop where dog and cat accessories were on display. There were all kinds of fascinating collars, harnesses and braided leashes, and as Gloria stopped she saw that cats and dogs were for sale inside. Entering the shop on impulse, she examined a tray of imported suede collars and selected a bright scarlet one for Ginger. As she gave the purchase to the salesman to be wrapped, he She smiled at the man and made "You are Miss King, aren't you?"

Gloria nodded.

"Did you like the cat Mr. Templeton bought for you? I helped him select it. It was the finest cat we've ever had in the place."

Gloria experienced a sense of shock She smiled at the man and made some some remark about Ginger, although she couldn't remember afterward what she had said. Her one thought was that Rolf had sent her the cat. Unwittingly she had accepted a gift from him, one that she could not give up because she had grown to love Ginger too much to part with him. It made her furious, it was like a link binding her to the past.

That night when Ginger leaped lightly into her lap, she pushed him away. He sat at her feet looking up at her with great topaz eyes, but he made no attempt to come to her again .Gloria stood it as long as she could and then with a little sob she stooped and gathered the soft furry body into her arms. Holding him, she wondered if Rolf had done this thing deliberately, if it had been his idea to send her a gift that she would not be able to return once she discovered the sender. This thought made her wonder if Rolf really did care for her, but she shook her head at the idea.

"He's too self-centered to care for anything but himself" ran her thoughts. "He's incapable of feeling unselfish affection for any one."

INDIGESTION GAS ON STOMACH PAINS AFTER MEALS

Many people suffer terribly from gas and pains in the stomach after every meal, and are kept in constant misery.

For the past 44 years Burdock Blood Bitters has been bringing hope and joy to thousands suffering from various forms of stomach trouble, helping them to eat three square meals a day; helping them to eat anything they wish, without having to suffer for it after.

Mr. Fred Nielson, Moose Jaw, Sask., writes: "All last summer I was troubled with stomach trouble and indigestion, and also gas on the stomach. I could not eat anything except some light food, and even then I would be bothered with pains after each meal. I could not work a whole day without being done out. I had tried everything; doctors, medicines and pills, until I read about Burdock Blood Bitters. I have taken four bottles and it has nearly, if not completely, restored me to health again."

"The trouble lasted about a month. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they helped me and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. Leon Hallock, 104 Atkins St., Bellows Falls, Vt.

FARMER WRITES TO M'HARDY OF GRINDING TAXES

Pioneer of Nechacho Valley Finds Preemption in Danger of Seizure

SETTLEMENT BOARD PILES UP IMPOSTS

Government Brings in New Taxes Till Condition Unsupportable

In emphasizing the necessity for reducing taxation, C. F. McHardy, the Conservative candidate in Nelson, in his speech Saturday evening quoted the following letter from a rancher who had found taxes burdensome:

Dear Mr. McHardy—In answer to your inquiry for further information regarding the bad treatment I have received, I wish to tender the following:

Pioneered on Preemption

My wife and I went into the Nechaco valley in 1908, and took up a quarter section as a preemption. My wife was the first white woman in the country, and the only one for a year in a radius of 150 miles, so you see we were pioneers. Everything had to be freighted 220 miles, and packed the balance, 175 miles, freight costing 13 cents per pound. We cleared a lot of ground, and proved up in 1911, leaving there then for the outside to obtain work to make enough to crown grant.

I went to Penticton, where I stayed one year, then moving to Vernon, where I lived 10 years nearly. All my taxes, except this one year at Penticton in 1911, was sent from Vernon. My crown grant was applied for from Vernon, and all my taxes up to 1919 were paid yearly.

Now in 1920 I applied for crown grant, which included paying for land $1 per acre, surveying $40, bringing that up to $200, and the tax for that year bringing the cost up to nearly $250, which I forwarded.

Crown Grant Costly

I received a reply saying I owed nearly $100 for interest, which was on the time delayed in paying for the grant from 1911 to 1920. As a matter of fact it was just about $95 but I can't find the papers to fit the exact amount.

I sent that amount, and received a reply saying I had quite overlooked "school taxes," which had not been on my tax receipt. This came to another $40, or so, and $10 for the crown grant, and registration cost me the balance, which brought it up to nearly $400.

But the worst feature is this:

After paying all this, with the already heavy tax, and after all my taxes were paid for 1920, as the enclosed receipt proves, they struck a wild land tax on me for $56 per year, which I enclose. I knew nothing of this till a year after. The first notice I had was from Mr. Costerton, Vernon. I being away, the land settlement board had not notified me by letter, as required by the act, to turn my land over to them, as they sent their notice to Penticton in 1920 by their own admission, when, as I said before, I had been in Vernon 10 years. I never got that notice.

Protest to Premier Fails

When I found out what they had done, I took the matter up with Premier Oliver, and argued as follows:

(1) That the "wild land tax" was not intended to apply to pre-emptions.

(2) That I had done a big share in opening up that country.

(3) That I had applied twice to the board for a loan to go on the land, and was refused.

(4) "That I was not properly notified."

He turned it over to the board. They wrote saying, "All they would do was to take an option on my land at $7 per acre for two years, but I had to pay all they had put against it, and the $56 for 1923. This was in January, 1923, and their delays brought it into that month, so they could charge me another $56 which make it about $400 they have against it since I paid my taxes in 1920.

Can they expect to take away my land, and expect me to pay a tax as well?

How can a man make enough to do anything on the land, with such a tax? It is straight confiscation, as I told Oliver, and the board, too.

Mr. K. Campbell took the matter up and (for which I thank him), they would do nothing.

I enclose my first tax receipt under Mr. Bowser government, which is $1. I enclose also the notice I received through Mr. Costerton, which had jumped in a little over a year to $249.95. And they "refused to listen," as Mr. Campbell's letter proves.

Board Needs Settling

That board wants settling for all time, and I trust you will help settle it. Thanking you for taking this up, and letting the public know about this matter."

FRANK R. RICKARD

P.S.—Take the school tax of $27.75, or $110 per section. This school is a two-room affair, built at Vanderhoof, costing $3,740, and in the same township as my land. There are 36 sections all good first class land, and equally taxable, working out at $3950, without counting the town property at Vanderhoof, more than paying for the school the first year, but still the merry game of collecting the tax goes on.

Merry School Tax

And don't forget that Mr. Pattullo went to Europe on our money last year to get emigrants to occupy the lands illegally taken from settlers already here, and ones having the interest of the country at heart. These emigrants are Ruthenians, who will never be any good.

Trusting I have made myself clear, and thanking you, I am sending you this in case you might be called on to explain about the school tax. Please let me know if you will need any more tax receipts like the 1911.

I am going to have 'em all framed.

"F. RICKARD."

CHAUTAUQUA TENT STOLEN

Small Ticket Selling Tent Taken Some Time Sunday Night

A rather peculiar theft took place on Sunday night when the ticket selling tent used by the Chautauqua people disappeared. No trace of the missing tent has been found and the local police are on the case.

According to the caretaker of the Chautauqua tent, he had put the ticket tent in place and someone had taken it down on two occasions. The tent was put up each time. It was knocked over a third time and in order to save trouble it had been left lying in a heap on the ground. It was the intention of the caretaker to put it up Monday for use. On Monday morning the tent had disappeared altogether.

MOTORISTS OF FERNIE CRASH THEN ARGUE

Colton, Driving With Rizzuto, Gets Scalp Wound When Cars Meet

L. A. Doree and Al Rizzuto, both of Fernie, met in a collision on a hill about two miles east of Hosmer, Sunday week and now each, according to the report turned into provincial police headquarters in Nelson, blames the other for the accident.

L. A. Doree, in his account of the crash, says:

"On approaching the McLaughlin car (driven by Rizzuto) I took my side of the road and dimmed the lights, but I was unable to see ahead of me owing to the glare of the lights from the other car, and very shortly after dimming my lights and turning out, I felt the violent impact of the collision. I consider the accident was due to the driver of the McLaughlin car."

Rizzuto's Version

Al Ruzzuto says:

"Just before coming up the hill where the accident took place, I saw the lights of a car (Essex) coming toward me. I turned off my headlights and put on my dimmers, then I started for the incline. About half way up the cars met. The two front wheels of each car had passed nicely when the other car turned in distinctly too fast and caught the left rear wheel of my car with its left front wheel. The left rear fender of my car was badly damaged, and the transmission pulled clear from the engine.

"E. Colton, who was driving with me was thrown against the side, and received a bad cut on his head, above the temple."

EGYPT'S TOMBS ARE PICTURED AT CHAUTAUQUA

Lecturer Shows Slides and Exhibits Relics; Girls Give Musical Act

Part of the linen shroud of King Tutankhamen; an alabaster vase from his tomb; a piece of the three thicknesses of cloth, cemented together in some way, that covered the mummy; a cast of a hand that formed part of a mummy case, were among the interesting exhibits from the Valley of the Kings, all certified by the Cairo museum, shown by C. Vincent Hall, B.D., in connection with his lecture on the tomb of Tutankhamen at Chautauqua last night.

In addition to his lecture, Miss Gladys Ellis and Miss Katherine Lee, accompanied by Miss Elsie Kemper, gave a musical act.

King Tut's Tomb

Mr. Hall showed interesting slides of the tomb, the mummy of the king, the great figures on guard at the entrance, and the treasures, including the throne, covered with gold and inset with precious stones.

He also took the audience on a trip through Egypt, beginning with the Suez canal, which, he said, had first been planned in 660 B.C., and was finally opened on March 18, 1869.

He showed the little town of Rosetta, in which the famous Rosetta stone, which led to the deciphering of hieroglyphics, was found, and pictures of Memphis and Cairo.

He described the religion of Egypt in general terms, and showed pictures of the pyramids of Gizeh, of Cheops, who built the first one, and of the powerful king and builder, Rameses II.

When he showed a picture of the Sphinx, he explained that a great rock with the rough likeness of a face had been carved out into the present statue by the orders of the king who built the second pyramid.

Temple of Karnak

The temple of Karnak, on one of the columns of which is inscribed, almost literally, the 104th Psalm, was built 400 years before Christ, he explained. This was built by Ptolemies.

He also showed slides of the temple of Luxor, of the desert, and of the Cairo museum.

In showing his Egyptian relics, at the end of the lecture, he said the linen shroud was 4200 years old. He also showed the necklace taken from the mummy of a queen in the graveyard at Memphis, and the statuet of a man found in a tomb.

Portray Movie Girls

Miss Gladys Ellis, who played a violin with great skill, and Miss Katherine Lee, who sang very pleasingly, gave an attractive act, and varied their songs and music by an amusing parody of two talkative girls at a picture show, during the course of which one confided to the other that she was "kinda sweet on Arthur Gilker."

Miss Elsie Kemper proved an accomplished accompanist.

ROTARIANS AND GYROS TAKE UP 'A CHERRY DAY'

Wilkinson Suggests Boosting Late Cherry and Advertising Kootenay

ORGANIZATIONS NAME COMMITTEES

Territory Has Advantage Which Can Be Pressed to General Benefit

A proposition to hold a "Cherry day," in Nelson, was made by Thomas Wilkinson at yesterday's meeting of the Rotary club, and he was appointed as a committee to interview the Nelson Gyro club and the Nelson Women's institute to discuss the matter, with a view to a report later. In the evening he addressed the Gyros, who appointed a committee to look into the proposal.

Just as Portland is known for its roses, Fresno for its raisins, and Wenatchee for its big red apples, so could Kootenay be known for its cherries, said Mr. Wilkinson. Kootenay grew the best cherries in the world. No other district produced anything to touch its Bings and Lamberts.

He believed that a "Cherry day" would have the effect of advertising the Kootenay cherry to the outside world, and at the same time, of encouraging the planting of more cherry orchards, and the production of more cherries, to feed the market which is hungry for them.

Immune, Heavy Yielding

Cherries, he pointed out, seemed to be practically immune from diseases which adversely affected the production of other fruits. They gave a good and almost unfailing yield, and on account of their quality, their carrying qualities, and the fact that they reached the prairie market when it was bare of competing cherries, they were always in demand, at good prices.

Encouragement of cherry production would, he suggested, assist the district by the advertising which would result from it, it would assist farming by adding to the profits to be made from the land, and it would assist every city in the Kootenay which was the center of a cherry-producing area.

Incidentally, he mentioned as a possible new industry the canning of "Kootenay olives." The Kootenay olive, Mr. Wilkinson states, is a pickled cherry which had proved very popular wherever it had been made. He suggested that Kootenay olives could be produced on a commercial scale, which would increase cherry consumption, and add a new industry to those of the district.

Elect Candidates Who Reduce the Taxes

Sound and businesslike administration which will result in a reduction of taxation is the crying need of British Columbia.

The present government's policy, while no doubt worked out with the best of intentions, has resulted in loading this province with a burden of debt and a burden of annual administrative cost which is crippling the farmer, the business man, the worker, and industry generally.

This annual administrative cost can be cut down without impairing the efficiency of government. In fact, it can be reduced and permit greater efficiency in administration.

The Oliver government states that it can do no better.

As the Provincial party no longer has any hope of carrying the province, the only party from which a change in methods and a reduction in taxation can be expected is the Conservative party, which is pledged to a policy of economical and businesslike administration.

Three of Four Known Vitamins Are Isolated

Leo H. Baekeland, president of the American Chemical society and professor of chemical engineering at Columbia university, says that chemists are near the goal of discovering what vitamins really are. Announcement of the isolation of three of the four at present recognized vitamins have been made to the society.

"One of these comes from Japan," says Professor Baekeland, "one from Washington and one nearly simultaneously from chemists in Toronto and New York. Vitamin A has been separated from cod liver oil as a semi-crystalline product of aldehydic nature by the Japanese investigator Takahashi. Vitamin B has been isolated from brewer's yeast as a picrate by Dr. Atherton Seidell of the United States public health service in Washington. Vitamin D appears to be a mixture of three compounds which accelerate the growth of yeast."

Young Housekeeper—You recently mentioned short ribs of beef in your column. How are these cooked?

Answer—The short ribs are bones from which most of the meat has been cooked, therefore they are generally used for soups and stews. But many housekeepers steam them as follows:

Short Ribs of Beef with Dressing—Make a regular turkey stuffing with dry breadcrumbs, chopped raw onions, a pinch of salt and pepper, and some melted butter. Form this moist dressing into circular shape with the hands, then place around it several short ribs which your butcher has chopped in several places so as to permit the ribs to form a half-circle. Tie the ribs snugly in place around the outside of the dressing, and wrap cheesecloth over all, tying it in place with white thread or fine string. Put the little bundle into a deep pot (as if it were a pot-roast) add two cups of boiling water to pot-bottom, put on tight-fitting cover, and let simmer on top of the range for three or four hours. During this time the meat clinging to the bones will come off and adhere to the dressing. (It may be necessary to add a little more boiling water as the first boils away). When done, remove from pot, take off cheesecloth, gently remove the bones from the mass of dressing, let cool, and serve sliced and cold, like a meat loaf.

Hostess—I want to give a mah jongg party to a few friends and wish you would suggest something novel and appropriate in regard to cake for the occasion.

Answer—Why not frost the cakes with uncooked chocolate icing, then color some plain white, uncooked, icing yellow (by mixing with it the uncooked yolk of an egg) and make the Chinese characters (such as are on the mah jongg tiles) on the chocolate-iced cakes with this yellow icing? Use a toothpick dipped in the yellow icing to "paint" these characters on the chocolate cakes.

B. C. F.—I recently gave a fancy dress party which was a great success. I asked my guests to 'come in the costume of what you'd like to be.' Some came as artists, some as poets, some as movie actors, and one as a ghost! I thought your other readers might like to hear about it.

Answer—Indeed, we are glad to hear about it. Success in entertaining often depends upon just such original ideas. Thank you for writing us about it.

Mrs. Sullivan Rebukes Mr. Edwards for Views on the Foreign-Born

To the Editor of The Daily News:

Sir—In reply to Matt Edwards' letter in The Nelson Daily News of May 28 on the subject of so-called "bums" from middle Europe and the possibility of them immigrating to Canada to escape starvation in their own country—while quite sympathetic with Mr. Edwards' viewpoint concerning the difficulties in the way of British subjects making a decent living, both on the prairies and in British Columbia, I must say that I consider his contemptious allusions to those of another country as "bums" and "scum" quite unnecessary, decidedly uncharitable and altogether unbecoming from one who would doubtless have us believe him a Christian.

That Canada's best men were picked out to fight these people during a time of need surely does not mean that Canada is expected to keep up a continual hatred for the people she necessarily had to fight in what she no doubt considered to be a just cause.

In warfare all men's hands are stained with blood, but in times of peace does it not behoove the victorious nations to show mercy to the fallen?

Did not God make all men, and did not Christ condescend to come on earth and suffer death on the cross for all men?

God made the earth for all men to live in, and I humbly venture an opinion that he did not reserve Canada for a few narrow-minded British subjects to live in.

If Mr. Edwards is suspicious that men of an alien country should turn out to be "baby-killers" why is he so confident that the "flat-broke British subjects" he so evidently prides himself on feeding will not turn out to be the same? If his imagination and discernment leads him to trust his own race why not let his charity lead him to trust another and live and let live?

"Charity suffereth long, and is kind." I will not quote the rest, but if Mr. Edwards has a bowing acquaintance with his Bible he will not need the quotation.

(Mrs.) MARGARET SULLIVAN,
A British Subject.

FLOATS MARKED GRAND PARADE AT CRANBROOK

Sports Teams on Kimberley Branch on Program; Indian and Horse Races

CRANBROOK, B.C., June 2.—The 24th of May celebration this year was a great credit to those responsible for its success. From the school sports, which were held on Friday afternoon at the Great War Veterans' association grounds, down to the last dance on Saturday evening, each event scheduled to take place was thoroughly enjoyed by the huge crowds that thronged the streets.

The parade Saturday morning consisted of decorated cars, floats and bicycles, and was declared to be one of the best ever seen in this city. Prize winners in the parade were Aileen McQuaid, best decorated bicycle; Sheila Patterson, most original bicycle; Marshall MacPherson, best costume; C. Faukner, youngest boy; Suzanne Staples, youngest girl; special prize, Joe Ward and Jack DeWolf; best motor float, women's institute; second float, high school; best horse-drawn float, public school, second horse-drawn float, Sash & Door factory; best decorated motor, H. Wilson; second decorated motor car, gypsy girls; best Indian costume, chief. The city band led the parade.

At its conclusion speeches were heard from Mayor A. J. Balment and ex-Mayor W. F. Cameron in the park. Maj. H. B. Hicks acting as chairman.

Wycliffe Wins Baseball

During the day ball games were played between Kimberley and Wycliffe, the score being 6 to 2 in favor of Wycliffe. In the evening the game between Cranbrook and Wycliffe resulted in another win for Wycliffe, the score being 4 to 2.

The horse racing in the afternoon drew a large crowd, the squaw race being won by Mrs. Stanley, an old squaw over 70 years old. The band was in attendance during the whole afternoon, and its lively airs were very much enjoyed.

In the evening another dance was held in the auditorium, a local orchestra furnishing the music.

On Friday evening the Concentrator football team from Kimberley won the Great War Veterans' Association trophy, beating Cranbrook, 2 to 0.

Styles BY LENORE

You would call it a garden frock, I suppose, but this charming, wrap-around frock of festively flowered chintz is severe enough in outline to wear on the street. Indeed, in French fashions this year chintz has been promoted to quite conventional uses, from cut-out motifs appliqued on formal evening dress, to tailored coatees and summer coat linings.

As a matter of fact, the dress which I am presenting in today's sketch has been made to be worn under a blue cloth coat, for the plain borders are of navy blue twill. The chintz is a deep rose background, printed in blue. Of course, a plain cotton border may be substituted for the cloth. The kid belt repeats both the rose and blue.

DEBENTURE HOLDERS' COMMITTEE SKEPTICS

Reserve Comment on Announcement That Some Interest Earned the Past Year

LONDON, June 2 (By Canadian Press Cable)—The Grand Trunk Pacific debenture holders' committee is not yet in a position to comment on the recent official statement as to $322,803 out of $1,395,170 interest being available for partial payment of last year's interest on the Grand Trunk Pacific debentures made in the Canadian house of commons last week by Hon. George P. Graham, minister of railways and canals, according to a statement issued by the committee.

The promised figures representing the operations of the Canadian National Railways (Grand Trunk) in 1923 have not yet been received by the committee and in the meantime comment is being reserved.

It will be the business of the committee, the statement says, to take care that the whole net surplus of earnings has been set aside for the holders of Grand Trunk 4 per cent debentures.

Blood Pressure and the Time of Day

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright act.)

You have been worrying about your blood pressure, because, although accepted for insurance, and further assured by your family physician that you were all right, you have learned that your blood pressure was a "little high," or "above the normal," for your age. Now, as I've said before, I would be the last one to belittle the importance of blood pressure, but there are so many factors that enter into it, that you may have a high blood pressure at one hour of the day, much above the average in fact, and a blood pressure actually below the average at another hour. For instance, a physician wishing to allay the fears of one of his patients who was worrying over his pressure, adopted a very simple method of accomplishing it. They were neighbors. Apparently, returning from an early professional call one morning, he dropped in on his friend while the latter was still in bed, to borrow a book they had been discussing the evening before. He sat down beside the bed, and said, "Oh, by the way, I'll just take that old blood pressure of yours while I'm here."

Chatting carelessly, he adjusted the arm band, and secured reading of his blood pressure, which was actually below the average. The patient was only half convinced, so the physician said, "Well, I'll see you later and we'll try it again. What about a game of golf this afternoon?" "All right."

The two played over the full course in the afternoon, and after a shower were sitting lounging in one of the smaller rooms of the club house. Again, apparently as a passing thought, the physician produced his instrument and said. "I might as well try your blood pressure once more." The reading was taken, again showed slightly under the average. The patient was astonished, but never again worried about his blood pressure.

Now, what about this? Well, early in the morning, before your heart gets going strong from food or exercise, the blood pressure is low. During exercise and after meals it is a little higher than the average. Toward evening, when you are tired, before your evening meal, it is down again.

My point is that your blood pressure is not a fixed thing, but simply shows what is going on in the body. If you are working hard, are excited, have just eaten, it will go up. If it is high at other than these times, there is a reason which may or may not mean something serious.

Twenty Years Ago

(From The Daily News, June 3, 1904)

The case of the Last Chance and the American Boy, two well known properties side by side at Sandon, came up in court yesterday. This is a case in which the owners of the Last Chance claim that the owners of the American Boy "knowingly and wilfully committed trespass on their property and removed a quantity of ore rightfully belonging to us." This ore, they claim, was valued at $12,310, and they are asking for a finding and accounting, and subsequent payment for damages, as well as the injunction. The defendants, while denying the plaintiff's claim generally, say that if any ore was taken by them, it did not exceed the value of $3500. E. V. Dodwell, K.C., with A. M. Johnson, appeared for the complainant, and S. S. Taylor, K.C., with James O'Shea, for the defendant.

PACIFIC MILK AND JAMS

A young lady who is calling at homes in different parts of the city to learn what women think of Made-in-B.C. products finds that Pacific Milk, certain jams and canned goods are in almost universal use.

One woman who has cooked with Pacific Milk for many years says she always found it superior even before we had found a process which improved it some two years ago. This lady was good enough to say that its fresh cream flavor and richness make it indispensable to her now.

NAKUSP PLANS DOMINION DAY SPORT PROGRAM

Special Train May Be Arranged From the Slocan; Tennis Courts Opened

NAKUSP, B.C., June 2.—The annual meeting of the Nakusp Sports association was held in Abriel's hall, Thursday evening, when there was a good attendance. It was decided to make the Dominion day sports an event to eclipse any of former years, with the possibility of arranging a special train from the Slocan and Kootenay lake points.

With the great increase of motor cars in the town and immediate district the opening parade will become an important feature, in addition to the aquatic and land sports.

The following were elected officers: President, E. Buhl; secretary, E. Vipond; treasurer, J. A. Parent; executive committee, E. Picard, L. J. Edwards, R. Islip, Dr. E. H. S. McLean; Dr. N. R. Carter, A. R. S. Stanley, H. Aalten, W. Rollar, Mrs. E. H. S. McLeon, Mrs. Maxwell, Mrs. E. Buhl, Mrs. Leveque, E. Leveque, F. Rushton and A. B. Giraud.

Open Public Courts

At the official opening of the first public tennis courts Thursday afternoon over 100 enthusiasts with their friends were present at the grounds, which were in excellent shape. Tea and refreshments were served, with Mesdames N. R. Carter and J. Dolman as hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Carruthers, Mrs. Ramsey and others.

Within a month perfect courts supplanted a thickly covered timber plot, water laid, street cleared and graded, trees trimmed for shade, transforming the spot into a beautiful parklike scene, in which seats had been installed for the visitors. Dr. N. R. Carter, the president, particularly, has been most enthusiastic.

The tea's proceeds were $20.

Cocoanut Oil Makes A Splendid Shampoo

Do not use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much free alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It is inexpensive and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified is all that is required. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.

NORCROSS GIVES LONGBEACH HIS CREAMERY PLAN

Says Roads All Want Rebuilding; Blames Engineer for Sumas Cost

LONGBEACH, B.C., June 2.—Last Monday evening John Norcross, Liberal candidate for Creston, motored out from Nelson with William Rutherford and addressed a meeting of voters at the Longbeach school house. Com. B. A. Smith was elected chairman.

Farmers' Political Movement

Mr. Norcros stated he had been 27 years in British Columbia, and for 25 years he had taken no active part in politicis. He had sunk all his money in land near Nelson, from which he made his living. He was a member of the farmers' institute and then the United Farmers, whose convention he had attended in Vancouver when a committee of 15 had been formed, of which he was one, called the "Farmers Policital Movement."

This committee worked on a platform to help agricultural and industrial matters. At a meeting in Vernon two strangers were present, by the chairman's invitation, and produced a cut and dried platform which the majority were inclined to adopt. But Mr. Norcross moved rejection on account of several unexplained statements which it contained. Finally, however, it was passed.

A month after all this the "Farmers' Political Movement" voted itself out of existence.

General McRae, John Cooper and some Vancouver lawyers then initiated the Provincial party. Of the three men Bowser, Oliver and General McRae, Mr. Norcross said Oliver was "the only one who 'measured up' to his standard of what a premier should be.

The candidate then told of the creamery he is trying to build up, the Kootenay Valley Milk Products association, of which he is president. The previous week, he said, he was talking over the project with Hon. E. D. Barrow, minister of agriculture, and asking the government to finance his creamery. he was told that it would be against the law for the government to put up more than 60 per cent of the money, and he was advised to approach the existing Curlew creamery, which might be able to sell its business.

The new creamery would greatly benefit the farmers, as, with two or three cows, they would be sure of a monthly check of $50, even in bad times for fruit, and, with a cold storage, eggs could also be dealt with.

The Wriggling Road

In connection with the bad quality and location of most roads in the province Mr. Norcross told the story of a greenhorn with a gun who vainly tried to make out the direction taken by the creatures he was hunting, and made up the rime:

"It wriggles in, it wriggles out;
It leaves the hunter still in doubt,
Whether the criter that made the track
Was goin out or coming back."

The roads all wanted building again, he said, in different places, where the timber would be sufficiently valuable to defray much of the cost of the road. The road between Taghum and Slocan Junction, where his house was, was only 8 miles long and had to be raised 1000 feet above water level.

He also spoke about the condition of the treasury during the Bowser regime and during that of Premier Oliver, and stated that now government bonds were selling for 97 as against 90¾ previously, whilst the Saskatchewan government bonds were only at 95. He also dealt with the Workmen's Compensation act, the proportion of salaries paid by the two governments and the Canadian Pacific railway question.

Mr. Norcross said he was no politician and had only yielded to the requests of his friends that he should go in and represent the farmers by trying to further their interests.

J. D. Kerr, after putting some questions about the revenue, wished to know what the government intended to do about the Sumas reclamation scheme, for which stretch of sand and gravel pits millions had been paid and which was incapable of giving any returns.

Mr. Norcross said it was the engineers' fault and the government would have to go on with the scheme, being unable to start a thing and leave it unfinished.

Champagne From Unsold Fruit

Asked what he thought of th beer by the glass plan the candidate said he was not personally in favor of prohibition, though a teetotaller, nor was he against it. "You cannot solve that problem by the law," he said. He recommended adoption here of the French plan, where unsold fruit was put in barrels, taken away in a government tank pressed and made into the finest champagne.

Mr. Rutherford spoke a few appreciative words, and the meeting broke up after the usual thanks were returned.

BEAR AND CUBS VISIT BOSWELL

Pay Call at Cummings' Ranch at Goat Creek; Are "Too Numerous"

BOSWELL, B.C., June 2.—S. J. Cummings reports an exceptionally large black bear with two cubs paying a visit to his ranch at Goat creek. These animals are getting too numerous to be pleasant on the local roads.

Mrs. A. R. Wilson of Nanaimo, at one time a resident in Boswell, will visit here this week, the guest of Mrs. Kennedy.

Miss Kennedy, R.N., of Cranbrook, is spending a short holiday with her parents here. She is accompanied by little Miss Agnes Grey of Cranbrook.

Capt. F. J. Oatts and his sister Miss Oatts, while visitors at Gray Creek, Crawford Bay and Queen's Bay last Monday by motor launch, encountered some very heavy weather on the main lake during the return trip.

Mrs. Cobb of London, England, who has been visiting in Texas, arrived Thursday evening, being met at Kootenay Landing by Miss E. M. Oatts, who will be her hostess during her stay in Boswell.

The attendance at the Boswell public school is very small at the present time, three different families having children down with mild attacks of chicken pox.

F. J. Oatts held a court of revision at Skookumchuck, when eight names were added to the voters' list.

STOCKS ADVANCE ON ADJOURNMENT

Market Has Narrow Limits Until Late News From Capital

NEW YORK, June 2.—Stock prices today drifted within narrow limits until the final few minutes of trading, when the vote of the house of representatives to adjourn congress at the end of this week furnished the basis for a brisk upturn in the market leaders.

Predictions by the federal reserve board in its review for May of an early turn for the better in the business situation gave a firm undertone to the market despite narrow fluctuations.

Action of the foreign exchanges commanded more interest than usual in financial circles in view of apathetic stock trading. The French franc went below 5c but rebounded sharply when the French government issued an official communique upholding the operation and Edouard Herriot, potential premier, who denied making any attack on the bankers who aided France. At the close the franc had recovered all of its loss.

Rails and public utility shares displayed the most consistent strength throughout the day. Norfolk & Southern reached the year's best level at 16 on reports of a possible segregation of its lumber properties and publication of favorable earnings statement.

Pivotal shares, including Baldwin, American Can and Studebaker, went uncertainly until some scattered short covering carried prices above the previous close.

Selling was effective in a number of oil shares.

Call money held at 3 per cent all day.

Total shares sold, 309,600.

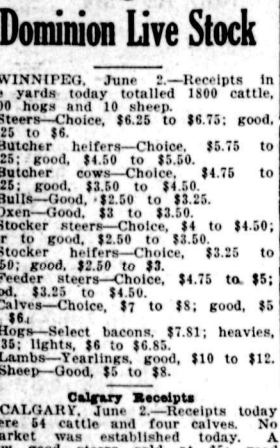
Money

AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.



There are at least four important points which determine whether or not a first mortgage bond is a good investment.

By A. W. WARNER

Veteran financial writer and newspaper man.

1. The amount of first mortgage bonds should not exceed 60 per cent of the sound appraised value of the property. This appraisal should be checked by disinterested experienced appraisers.

2. Income from the property should cover maximum annual interest charges on the bond about two and one-half times over. If these are estimated earnings they should be checked against actual figures of similar properties which are in operation.

3. The property should be in a location where values are advancing and not declining.

4. They should be sold by a bank or bond house of high repute so the property will have proper supervision and a market will be provided for the bonds.

MOTHER SAW TANLAC BUILD UP DAUGHTER

Mrs. Baker, Of Kingston, Gives Medicine Full Credit

"When I think of the wonderful change that has taken place in Kathleen's health, I just feel like praising Tanlac to everyone," recently said Mrs. G. Baker, 12 Earl St., Kingston, Ont., in describing the benefits her daughter, one of Kingston's most popular young ladies, received from the famous treatment.

"Before taking Tanlac, Kathleen was dreadfully weak and nervous and had such severe headaches she was almost frantic. Her sleep was broken and restless, she had deep circles under her eyes, and would hardly eat anything.

"But Tanlac has built her up until she is bubbling over with health and energy. She eats heartily, sleeps soundly, never seems to get nervous or have a headache, and enjoys life to the limit. Tanlac is indeed a grand medicine."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 Million bottles sold.

KING'S COLT IS TO START IN EPSOM DERBY

Diophon, However, Is Still the Favorite; Anybody's Race Tomorrow

LONDON, June 2.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—Knight of the Garter, His Majesty's candidate for the Derby, chief of the 3-year classics, which is to be run at Epsom Wednesday, will be a starter, it was definitely decided today. Two eruptions that caused one of his legs to swell were noticed Saturday, but today, after a gallop, the leg appeared to be no worse.

Everything points to a most interesting Derby, certainly the most open one in many years. The consensus of opinion seems to be that any of the candidates can win. H. H. Aga Khan's Diophon is installed favorite. His running mate, Salmon Trout, is also well up in the betting.

Lord Astor's horses, St. Germains and Bright Knight, are fourth and fifth in the betting.

Latest Odds

Following is the latest betting: 6 to 1 against Diophon; 8 to 1 against Tom Pinch; 100 to 9 against Sansovino and St. Germains; 100 to 8 against Gright Knight; 18 to 1 against Wood End; 22 to 1 against Hurstwood and Salmon Trout; 25 to 1 against Dawson City and Parmenio, taken and offered; 33 to 1 against Spaipeen, offered; 40 to 1 against Tippler and Optimist II, taken and offered; 40 to 1 against Polyphontes and Defiance, offered; 50 to 1 against Knight of the Garter, taken and offered; 50 to 1 against Obliterate, offered; 66 to 1 against Donzelon, taken and offered.

San Torb, Eagle Stone, Gurzil, Bob Flint and Renri have been scratched.

The list of riders has been amended and now stands: Wood End (Beary), Buck's Yeoman (——), Obliterate (Burns), Optimist II (McGee), Grand Joy (Ingham), Thunder Cloud (Ealing), Sky Flight (Richards).

JOHNNY DUNDEE CHECKS MARCH OF THE CHILEAN

Luis Vicentini Has Stiff Punch, but Grizzled Veteran Has Generalship

NEW YORK, June 2.—Johnny Dundee, grizzled veteran of more than 200 ring battles, defeated Luis Vicentini, sensational Chilean lightweight, tonight, at Madison Square Garden, and abruptly checked the march of the young South American toward a fight with Benny Leonard.

Dundee, calling on all his experience and speed to outgeneral his aggressive hard-hitting opponent, gained the judges' verdict after a closely fought but unexciting 12-round contest before a crowd of nearly 7000.

The dicision was greeted with disfavor by a large portion of the crowd that seemed to have the belief that the Chilean's stiffer punches had given him the edge, but ringside newspaper opinion showed that Dunde had an advantage in five rounds and the South American three, while four appeared even.

What is the one point to keep in mind when going after high fouls?

Answered by

RAY SCHALK

Catcher, Chicago White Sox; one of the greatest backstops of all time; Has caught in 100 or more games per season for the past 12 years.

When going after high fowls a bit of golf advice is the taing to keep in mind. Keep your eye on the ball: Do not allow yourself to be bothered by yells or anything else. If you think that you are coming pretty close to the grandstand in your effort to make the catch, stick out your gloved hand in front of you to break the force of any collision. Oftentimes by doing this you will save a collision and be able to snag the fly with the ungloved hand.

The funny thing about it is that you will often make a catch of this kind perfectly, although it looks pretty difficult from the grandstand.

What is the proper way to pitch an outshoot?

Answered by

GROVER CLEVELAND ALEXANDER

Pitcher, Chicago Cubs: A major league leader for 17 years. Greatest pitcher in the National league.

Grasp the ball with the two fingers and support it with the thumb, as shown in the illustration. Catch it along the seams as this will give it a more decided break. Use a straight over-arm delivery, getting the full sweep of the arm and shoulder muscles into the ball. Just as the ball leaves the hand it should be given a little snap of the wrist and arm. If you are a right-handed pitcher, this snap means that the back of the hand turns so that it is facing the ground. Having once attained a curve the next thing is to get it under control and make it "break" fast.

WALKER KEEPS WELTER TITLE; BEATS TENDLER

Mickey Has Edge of One Round in a Furious Ten-Round Battle

PHILADELPHIA, June 2.—Mickey Walker of Elizabeth, N.J., world's welterweight champion, successfully defended his title against Lew Tendler of Philadelphia in a furious 10-round bout here tonight. The challenger put up a strong fight against the youthful champion but was outpunched in the infighting.

Tendler's long left bothered Walker to some extent, but when champion got inside the challenger's guard he scored heavily to Tendler's body.

The Philadelphian was game, and met Walker at every turn.

The concensus of opinion at the rignside was that Walker won three rounds, Tendler two, and five were even.

It was a hard two-fisted battler against a clever boxer with a long reach, and the battler won.

LONDON, June 2 (By Canadian Press Cable).—The 20-round contest at Holland Park hall tonight for the featherweight championship of Britain was awarded to George McKenzie of Leith over Leach of Doncaster on points.

Leach, who is only 18, outpointed McKenzie in the early rounds and got home several lightninglike leads. For a time he outboxed his opponent.

The Scotsman frequently improved and landed left jabs and hooks to the body. In the last few rounds Leach was tired out, and McKenzie was fighting hard to the end. He won by a narrow margin.

At One in Morning Drayton Amendment Is Lost Without Recorded Vote

OTTAWA, June 2.—Sir Henry Drayton's amendment calling for a committee to consider estimates for the Canadian National marine, was declared lost, shortly after 1 o'clock this morning. There was no vote.

Sir Henry's Motion

OTTAWA, June 2.—Debate today on the railway "budget" brought a move from Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance, in the late government, for the appointment of a standing committee of the house to consider the estimates for the Canadian National railway system and the Government Mercantile Marine. To the committee would be referred all questions involving new capital commitments, and the disposition of properties and assets. It would have powers of inquiry similar to those now possessed by the public accounts committee.

The motion technically before the house was one to go into supply on the railway estimates, and Sir Henry's motion was in amendment thereto.

Should Know Position

Sir Renry stressed the need for a thorough understanding of the actual financial condition of the National lines. There should be no mystery, no concealment of the actual performance of the country's property. He cited the affair of the Hotel Scribe as illustrating the need for such a parliamentary committee as he advocated.

Robert Forke, Progressive leader, favored a standing committee, to sit in consultation with the president and board of the Canadian National, but thought that a committee of an inquisitorial character, on the lines of the public accounts committee, would not be in the interests of the country, nor of the Canadian system.

Hon. G. P. Graham, minister of railways, declared the government had nothing to hide, but he was not in favor of giving a committee power to place the officials of the Canadian National under oath.

Graham Reads Draft

He read a draft resolution providing for the creation of a committee on railways and shipping, to which the estimates of the Canadian National lines and Government Merchant Marine would be referred.

Subsequently Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the opposition, protested against an attitde which seemed to consider criticism of Sir Henry Thornton as an unpardonable sin, and like "laying hands on the ark of the covenant."

Turning to a discussion of the acquisition of the Scribe hotel in Paris, Mr. Meighen, described it as a "misappropriation of funds." He asked Mr. Graham whether or not Aronovici, who negotiated the deal, was not in the employ of the Canadian National railways when he took an option on the Paris hotel.

Mr. Graham merely replied that he had tabled all the documents.

This Mr. Meighen denied. He said a number of important documents were missing, among them the option which Aronovici had secured on the hotel.

Meighen Reviews Scribe Deal

Mr. Meighen reviewed correspondence which passd between Sir Henry Thornton, Commissioner Roy, and Aronovici in regard to the acquisition of the hotel. He referred to the method of payment as being circuitous, because the parties to the deal wanted to evade the law.

"The purchase was illegal from the very beginning," he said.

After the whole transaction had been completed, Sir Henry Thornton "deigned to write to the minister of railways and inform him of it," said Mr. Meighen.

He declared that if there was any way of getting a syndicate to take over the building at half or less than half what it cost the country, it would be much wiser to let it go.

Was this transaction one which would inspire confidence in the management? Mr. Meighen asked. For four years the Dominion government had been trying to get quarters in London at even the cost of a million dollars; then, without consulting the government, the president of the Canadian National railways had sunk double this sum in the Scribe hotel.

DEMONSTRATES ANALYZING OF THE CHARACTER

Georges Le Barr Gives Interesting Lecture and Demonstration

LEE AND ELLIS PUT OVER MUSIC, MIRTH

Chautauqua Afternoon Program Greatly Enjoyed by Crowd

"Why You Are What You Are," an address ably illustrated and delivered by Georges Henri LeBarr, B.Sc., and some excellent turns and impersonations by the two ladies, Lee and Ellis, was the afternoon program presented yesterday to the audience attending the second day's Chautauqua program. A large crowd greeted the performers and speaker.

Katherine Lee and Gladys Ellis, the peppy pair, provided the novelty prelude, and easily captured their hearers with their excellent music and impersonations. Opening with a soprano and contralto duet, "That Old Gang of Mine," the pair then gave a violin and guitar duet. Miss Lee daintily contributed an old English folk song, "No, John"; a Dutch impersonation and clog dance took favorably, and the pair brought their portion of the program to a close with an impersonation of two young school girls; a duet, "I Want a Mammie" and "It Ain't Goin' to Rain No Mo'," wound up their portion of the program.

Character Analyst Pleases

"Why You Are What You Are" proved an interesting address, and Georges LeBarr showed clearly that he was a master on the subject of character analyzing. Every person, he stated, had three characters. The first was what one thought one had; the second, what other people thought, and the third, what character one really had.

"You are where you are because of what you are," he stated, in relating the interest taken by the majority of people in scientific things. Character analyzing was the science of analyzing the human character at sight. Everyone was in a degree a character analyst, inasmuch as everyone tried to size up his fellow. If one was a blonde it would usually be placed that the person was original, enthusiastic, and apt to be quarrelsome. If a brunet, one was dependable, changeful, serious, and sometimes very slow. If a person was between a blonde and a brunet, there would be a 50-50 split.

Vocational Guidance

For vocational guidance, if the face was open and pointed at the chin, this signified the mental type, and that person was adapted by nature to do things intellectual. If the face was wide and the chin square, he was a man of action type, one who liked to do things. If the face was round, the person did not like to work at all, but had the ability to make others work. He was the "Let John do it" type.

The most desirable type was the balanced type, neither square nor round in appearance.

People are what they are because of their character, and the character of a person consisted of three parts. First, that obtained at birth from the parents; second, that obtained from the parents up to 10 years of age and, third, that obtained by oneself after the age of 10 years. There was no direct control over inheritance. The second part of the character which one acquired was from the influence of parents or guardians over the child. This, stated the lecturer, behooves that the child be studied by the parents.

Lack of Right Direction

In speaking of his extensive study of character analyzing, Mr. LeBarr referred to the great amount of study he had done in the prisons of the land, where, he stated, 65 per cent of the socalled crooks became really misunderstood in their childhood days. In his experiences in jail, the speaker stated that he had found that many were brainy and were mechanical geniuses. There was in these cases no lack in brains, but there was lack in direction. Parents, he stated, were responsible for one-third of a child's character.

The speaker told of an analysis conducted in Winnipeg, where 85 per cent of every 100 high school students did not know what they were to be when they graduated. Ten per cent had an idea what they would like to do, and only five knew definitely what they would like to do and were preparing for that end. This fact meant that every year hundreds of thousands of boys and girls were graduated unprepared for any vocational choice. In New York City there were today many college graduates who belonged to the dishwashers' union. For success in the long run, it was necessary to understand children.

Understand Right and Wrong

The third part of a person's character depended upon the understanding between right and wrong. Every thought had power and influence over one, and everything worked in cycles. If good was done, it worked in a cycle and came back to the door of the good, who benefited. The same happened in the case of evil being done.

When a person started to think, he started the strongest vibration known. Light traveled at the rate of 186,000 miles pe rsecond, but it had been ascertained that thought traveled just 25 times faster than light. To improve your character, think right, urged the speaker. Character changed the face; if a person thought right, he would do right, and would feel right.

Mr. LeBarr predicted that before long, before marriage licences were issued an analyst would be at the registrar's office. Three things led to a happy marriage—the first, congenial friendship; second, financial success, and third, the improvement of the race. A happy marriage came from the mutual understanding of character.

Following his address, which was followed with much interest, the speaker gave two demonstrations of character analysis on persons chosen by the audience.

EX-MEMBER PAYS BOWSER TRIBUTE

Pearson Summoned East to Live Parts With Chieftain With Regret

"I have lived in this province for 12 years, and it is with great regret that I have to leave it to return to Montreal, where I have been called by the firm I represent. Among the many associations which I am sorry to sever is that with W. J. Bowser, leader of the Conservative party," said Thomas Pearson, retiring member for Richmond riding, who was in Nelson yesterday on his way east, where he will reside in the future.

"Mr. Bowser has remarkable capacity as a statesmen and an administrator. He knows this province and its needs from end to end. He has confidence in its future, and has devoted the best years of his life to his work in the legislature. He is a man of broad vision, and if his party is returned to power, as I believe it will be, he will give this province good, economical and progressive administration," said Mr. Pearson.
