YOUTHS PLEAD NOT GUILTY TO MURDERS

Confessed Kidnaper's Trial Set for August; Crowds Attend Court

CHICAGO, June 11.—Before an impetuous crowd that broke a court room door from its hinges in an effort to see the confessed kidnapers and slayers of 13-year-old Robert Franks, Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb, millionaire's sons, today pleaded not guilty to charges of kidnaping for ransom and murder. August 4 was fixed as the date for their trial.

The youths, handcuffed, each answered, "Not guilty, sir," to each of the indictments, their only part in the proceedings.

The defence attorneys headed by Clarence Darrow pleaded that popular excitement had embarrassed their case but accepted the trial date set without objection except to stipulate that they will ask for a continuance. If it is impossible for them to be ready by that time.

Loeb's Birthday

Young Loeb made his appearance in court to answer to two crimes, each punishable by death. It was his 19th birthday. He had planned to sail to Europe today with Leopold. Standing near the young men when they faced the court was a brown-haired girl who smiled at them repeatedly. They did not glance at her. She is the girl who went to the state attorney's office yesterday and asked to see the boys but left when asked her name.

NO BOOTLEGGERS OR GRAFTERS IN PARTY

Provincials Do Not Boast Professional Politicians; Vancouver Campaign

VANCOUVER, June 11.—Provincial local campaign opened last night with three meetings, all of which were well attended. General McRae declared that the provincial debt total was now $132,000,000. Mrs. J. H. Hall, local woman candidate, declared her opposition to the sale of beer by the glass. W. J. Short stated that the Provincial party has no bootleggers, grafters or professional politicians.

BLAMES JAZZ FOR GOITRE INCREASE

High Powered Cars, Dances Too Much for Nervous System Says Doctor

CHICAGO, June 11.—Declaring that half of the women of the middle west are afflicted with goiter, Dr. G. W. Newell blamed "this generation of jazz" for the increase in the prevalence of the disease, in a paper read before the annual meeting of the American Medical association here today.

"High-powered motor cars, dances, theaters, cabarets, liquor and the other innumerable factors that play a part in the regular life of many of our urban adolescents today have set such a hectic pace that the human nervous system isn't equal to it," he said. "It results in complete fatigue which prevents natural elimination of the toxines of the body, resulting in goiter."

Something to Be Proud Of

The girl of today is something to be proud of, said Dr. Kathleen D. Manion, retiring president of the National Medical Women's association, meeting in connection with the American Medical association.

"The modern girl is the healthiest, happiest girl the world has ever known," she said, "and I wouldn't exchange the modern flapper, as you call her, for any other girl of any other time."

MEADOW CREEK MAN ENDS HIS LIFE WITH SHOT

Lardeau Rancher Becomes Despondent Through Illness

LEAVES PROPERTY TO KIND NEIGHBOR

Body Is Found by Three Neighbors Who Break Into Cabin

Leaving a note on the table in his cabin to say he was going to kill himself, and making disposition of his effects, Charles Campbell, a rancher at Meadow Creek, Lardeau district, put a rifle shot through his head at some unknown date about the end of May. Constable C. F. Oland, Kaslo detachment of the provincial police, has reported to Inspector W. R. Dunwoody here. The constable states that the finding of the coroner's inquiry was that the deceased had come to his death from hemorrhage caused by a gunshot wound in the head, and that the wound was self-inflicted.

When J. J. Barclay, M.D., and coroner, held his inquiry, Frank Carson, rancher and nearest neighbor, and John and Chris Marsden, two brothers, of Meadow creek, were the witnesses.

Carson Looks Up Him

Mr. Carson said, after not seeing the deceased for over a week, he went to his cabin to inquire after his health, as Campbell had been very ill with rheumatism for some time, and in poor health for almost a year. He had seen his dog outside when he approached the cabin, and knew Campbell could not be far away, as the dog never left him.

Mr. Carson said the screen door, was locked, but the door partially open, and he could see that someone was lying on the bed. As he felt something was wrong, he went away, and induced John and Chris Marsden to return with him. When they broke into the cabin, they found the body lying on the bed partially covered with a blanket, and partially dressed, with a gunshot wound in the head. Nearby lay a Winchester 303 rifle, containing three unexploded cartridges, and one empty shell in the chamber.

The cabin, said the witness was in its usual order, and there was no evidence of foul play.

He added, "Charlie had no enemies, and was a very good honest neighbor. I had known him for years."

The testimony of John and Chris Marsden confirmed his story.

The note left on the table said that Campbell was going to kill himself, and gave directions to Frank Carson as to the place of burial. It also told what seeds he had put in, this spring, how many cattle he owned, and concluded, as an unwitnessed will, leaving his ranch, stock and effects to Frank Carson.

Constable Oland reported that this disposition was only natural, as Frank Carson, who is a "fine type of settler and always ready to help his neighbors," had with his son, been the only person in the neighborhood who had done anything for the deceased during his long illness.

Campbell, who had a few cattle, had been worrying over the fact that he was having trouble in selling his beef, as well as over his health.

Will Appoint Customs Officer at New York When Need Arises

OTTAWA, June 11.—A Canadian customs officer will be appointed at New York when the department of customs "has been notified that Canadian goods have arrived there under special customs manifest as provided in the regulations."

This was the answer given today by the minister of customs in the house of commons to a question by Hon. H. H. Stevens. An order in council was passed some months ago authorizing the appointment of a Canadian customs officer at some port in the United States to permit the transport of merchandise between Atlantic and Pacific ports in Canada, via the Panama Canal, without payment of customs duties at the point of transshipment.

Mr. Stevens' question drew attention to a protest made by the Vancouver board of trade against the restriction of such privileges to goods transported in ships of British registry. The reply says that "no changes in present regulations are contemplated as a result of this protest."

Lloydminster Branch Line Bill Is Passed

OTTAWA, June 11.—A Canadian National railway branch line bill providing for construction of the Lloydminster, Sask., branch passed the railway committee of the senate this evening. The Canadian Pacific railway will have running rights over the line when completed, if it so desires.

Senator Borah Agreed On as Nominee for Vice-Presidency

CLEVELAND, June 11.—Senator Borah of Idaho was agreed upon by administration leaders here early this morning for the vice-presidential nomination.

Confessed Slayers Blame Each Other

RICHARD LOEB
NATHAN LEOPOLD JR.

The young Chicago university graduates who planned a kidnaping, ransome and murder for the sake of having a new thrill, are not on speaking terms. Each claims to have driven the murder car while the other was killing Robert Franks, schoolboy son of a millionaire like their own fathers. Leopold (below) got his story to the reporters first, but since then a chauffeur has testified to seeing Loeb at the wheel as the pair cruised around the school picking a victim.

DAMAGE HEAVY TO CROP IN PRAIRIE STORM

Lightning Kills Farmer; House and Granaries Are Demolished

GRAVELBOURG, Sask., June 11.—One killed, a house demolished several granaries rolled about fields in the district between here and La Fleche, and $50,000 damage to crops was the toll of the cyclone and electric storm which occurred this afternoon shortly before 6 o'clock. Edmond Demey, a farmer six miles south of here, was instantly killed when a bolt of lightning struck him as he walked from the barn to his house carrying a pail of milk.

Hail Covers Wide Area

About 5:15 o'clock a hail storm of cyclonic fury burst out and before stopping fully two inches of hail covered an area about five miles wide and 21 miles long. It was difficult to establish telephone communications with the southern section of the storm area, but meager reports indicated little damage was done there.

One mile north of La Fleche where the storm broke into a cyclone, the house of Fred Teed was lifted from its foundation, carried to a height of 50 feet and deposited 400 yards away in a heap of ruins. Mr. Teed was away at the time of the storm.

BRITISH SHIPS OFF FOR COAST FROM HONOLULU

Squadron to Cruise to Discovery Island; Will Arrive Next Week

VICTORIA, June 11.—Definite word has been received here as to the arrival of the British squadron on June 21 which left Honolulu today en route to British Columbia. The big warships and light cruisers, seven in all, will arrive off William Head on Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock, under command of Vice-Admiral Sir Frederick Field. The squadron then will cruise to Discovery island, affording the public an opportunity to view the fleet in battle formation. The ships will take up their berths at 12 o'clock noon.

H. M. S. Hood, largest warship in the world, and flagship of the squadron, will dock at Ogden point, as will H. M. S. Adelaide. The Repulse will anchor in the stream off the outer docks, while the four light cruisers will go to Esquimalt, two docking and two remaining in the stream.

Commander W. Hose, C.B.E.R.C.N., will reach here from Ottawa on Saturday to take charge of the fleet for the Canadian government.

MILLERAND STEPS DOWN FROM OFFICE

Again Private Citizen After Four Years as Chief Executive

PAINLEVE LEADING FOR VACANT POST

Republic a State of Political Conflicts; Leaders Threw Down Guarantee

PARIS, June 11.—The presidential tricolor dropped from the mast of the Elysee palace when M. Millerand, for nearly four years the chief executive of France, resigned and became a private citizen of the republic. Some time on Friday next the colors of a new president, elected by the 13th legislature, will be raised to the flagstaff of the presidential mansion. The new chief executive will immediately proceed to the formation of a cabinet to succeed the present ministry of 18 members. Of the presidential possibilities thus far mentioned M. Painleve, president of the chamber of deputies, tonight is declared to be leading for the post.

Will Remain Active

M. Millerand resigned only after exhausting every means at his command to overcome the opposition of a majority of the left which finally voted to have nothing to do with any government which he headed. In a manifesto issued following his resignation the retiring president served notice that he intended to remain active in the future political affairs of the nation and resume "the fight for liberty for the republic and for France."

He reviewed the situation left by the war, and reminded the people he was in accord with the different ministries directing the efforts to bring about real peace while watching over the execution of the Treaty of Versailles and the collection of reparations with which to offset part of the 100,000,000,000,000 francs France spent for reconstruction and pensions. The manifesto states that M. Millerand had intended to collaborate with the men who the recent elections indicated would run France's public affairs.

"To my offer," it added, "they replied by a refusal. They demanded my resignation, an unjustifiable proceeding violently opposed to the spirit and letter of the constitution and law. The decision was inspired by the partizanship of a few leaders who had thrown down the guarantee of the constitution of a seven-year term for the president.

"This is a redoubtable precedent which makes of the presidency of the republic a state of political conflicts and introduces a plebiscite by round-about means. It wrests from the constitution the only element of stability and continuity it contains. I would have committed a felony in making myself an accomplice in a situation so fraught with peril; I gave way only after exhausting all the legal means in my power."

M. Painleve, thought now to be the sole avowed candidate and most likely choice of the coalition of the left, at a caucus to be held tomorrow may have the opposition of many senators and a good many deputies who have declared for M. Doumergue, president of the senate. The leaders of the coalition of the left will endeavor to choke the Doumergue candidacy by invoking party discipline and limiting invitation to tomorrow's caucus to those deputies and senators who voted to oust M. Millerand.

MANSLAUGHTER IS VERDICT RETURNED

Teulon Woman Who Killed Husband With Ax Remanded for Sentence

WINNIPEG, June 11.—The jury in the trial of Katie Kadeniuk, charged with killing her husband at their home near Teulon, Man., on Mar., on March 9 last, today reduced the charge and brought in a verdict of "guilty of manslaughter" after 45 minutes' deliberation.

The woman and her children, according to evidence produced at the trial, had been badly treated by her husband, and, according to her confession to the police, he had often threatened to kill her. Kadeiuk died in the hospital from the effects of axe wounds. The woman, in her confession, admitted striking him with an axe as he lay asleep. She was remanded for sentence.

SASKATCHEWAN WHEAT POOL IS OVER THE TOP

REGINA, June 11.—"Reports received by telephone and telegraph today from various parts of the province indicate that the signup Tuesday was amply sufficient to put the Saskatchewan wheat pool over the top," declared George W. Robertson, director of the Saskatchewan Cooperative Wheat Producers, limited, tonight.

Police Officers, Lock Your Cars in Future; This One Disappeared

VANCOUVER, June 11.—"Pretty thick," said Provincial Constable Ramsay, today, when he discovered that his auto, which was used in police work, had been stolen from outside the police offices.

Killed to Provide Gilded Youths Thrill

ROBERT FRANKS

Fourteen-year-old son of a Chicago millionaire, kidnaped and killed by two sons of millionaires, the killers making demands on the father for ransom. The discovery of the stripped body in a culvert stopped the ransom scheme, and the discovery of a pair of glasses belonging to one of the killers led to their eventual arrest.

BANK ROBBED OF THOUSANDS BY BOOKKEEPER

New York Searches for the Clerk Who Used Unique System of Robbery

NEW YORK, June 11.—Countrywide search is being made today for James T. Rush, 26-year-old bookkeeper for the Farmers' Loan & Trust company, who, it is charged, robbed the bank of $130,000 through a system of manipulation said to be unique. The charge is made by James H. Perkins, president of the bank.

Rush has not been heard of since May 30.

Mr. Perkins said that Rush deposited forged checks against accounts at the Farmers' Loan & Trust company on personal accounts he opened under fictitious names at several banks in the city. When these checks reached Rush, he destroyed them, made no entry against the accounts, but enabled the banks where he maintained accounts to receive credit by raising the total of the ledger, thus forcing a balance with the general bank ledgers.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO MURDER CHARGE

True Bill Returned Against Joseph Vizneu of Fort Francis, Out.

FORT FRANCES, Ont., June 11.—A true bill was returned against Joseph Vizneau, charged with the murder of Mr. and Mrs. John Sward, April last, by a grand jury here today. When arraigned, Vizneau entered a plea of "Not guilty."

The evidence today dealt with the finding of the bodies on April 24. C. Wilson, a crown witness, told of finding empty shells at the home of the Swards and also at Vizneau's house. Wilson declared he was suspicious of Vizneau and "kept the shells to allay any suspicion for fear of lynching."

The trial continues tomorrow.

REPORT INACCURATE SAYS SENATOR TAYLOR

Statements Attributed to Him in Report by Temple a Cruel Distortion of Conversation

OTTAWA, June 11.—In the senate today Hon. J. D. Taylor, at the request of the government leader, consented to defer his statement on the Temple report on charges against the Canadian National railway administration at the Pacific coast so that the railway committee could expedite its work with the branch lines bill.

Senator Taylor accordingly adjourned the debate until tomorrow, but before doing so drew attention to personal reference made to himself in the report. Those he designated as entirely inaccurate. The reference, he said, to statements attributed to him regarding Captain Boyd were also inaccurate and a cruel distortion of a conversation he had had with Mr. Temple.

A further statement in the report regarding a conversation he was supposed to have had with a Mr. Butler was also inaccurate, as he did not know Mr. Butler.

VANCOUVER, June 11.—A scarcity of berry pickers is reported by J. H. McVey of the employment service of Canada office. A thousand berry pickers are need in the province.

AUTO BANDITS ESCAPE WITH COSTLY JEWELS

Hundred and Twenty-five Thousand Dollar Haul Is Made

CUSTOMS TRUCK IS WAYLAID IN CROWD

Driver Kidnaped as Crowd Held Back at Point of Pistols

NEW YORK, June 11.—In one of the most daring daylight holdups this city has known 10 automobile bandits today waylaid a customs truck on the outskirts of Greenwich Village, kidnaping the driver, terrorizing a score of spectators and then escaped with 20 packages of imported jewels and watches of an estimated value of $125,000. The loot, in a sealed mail bag, was consigned to Tiffany & Co., on Fifth avenue, and 27 importers in the Maiden Lane district of Lower Manhattan.

Truck Forced to Curb

While the traffic policeman on a nearby corner was issuing a summons to a law breaking taxi driver, another taxicab cut off the mail truck and forced it to the curb. At that moment a sedan drew up on the opposite side of the street. Two armed men leaped from the taxicab to the truck. Eight others issued from the sedan and with waving pistols awed spectators into voiceless immobility. Edward Fov, driver of the truck, was hauled to the sedan a prisoner, while his companion on the driver's seat, Daniel Keahon, vice-president of the trucking corporation which was transporting the government mail under contract, was brutally clubbed with pistol butts and flung into the gutter, unconscious.

Before the nearby traffic officer became aware of the scene being enacted behind his back, the bag of valuables was transferred to the taxicab, which sped off.

CHARGE IS MURDER SAYS WILLING TO DIE

Alberta Woman Slew Husband with Monkeywrench; Called Her Names

REDWATER, Alta., June 11.—Mrs. Zaska Kaminsky was committed for trial here today after a preliminary hearing upon a charge of murdering her husband. The preliminary hearing followed immediately after the coroner's inquest, the verdict being that Joseph Kaminsky came to his death at the hands of his wife and that the weapon used was a monkey wrench.

Mrs. Kaminsky is alleged to have confessed that she murdered her husband June 1, afterwards attempting death by poisoning.

She was found in the bush a mile away from the scene of the killing by the police, suffering from poison, but soon recovered.

Kaminsky, Mrs. Kaminsky told the magistrate at the hearing, used to call her "an Ukrainian pig" and treated her cruelly. Finally she resolved to end the brutal treatment, she said, and hit him on the head with the wrench.

"Seeing that it had knocked him out, I thought I had better finish the job, so I hit him some more," she continued. "Now I have nothing more to live for and I am ready to die."

OHIO FLOOD WATERS TAKE THEIR TOLL

COLUMBUS, O., June 11.—Two men are known to have been drowned in flood waters resulting from a heavy rainstorm which swept over sections of northeastern Ohio last night, according to reports received here today. Property damage, it was estimated, amounts to well over $1,000,000.

Greatest damage was reported at Mansfield and Akron. At the former city bodies of two negroes were found in flood debris late today.

More than 3 inches of rain fell at Akron within three hours.

POSTAL CLERKS DISAPPOINTED AT TORONTO

Ask for Resignations or Transfer to Another Department

TORONTO, June 11.—"Accept our resignations or allow us to transfer to another department where we will not be obliged to accept a decrease of $200 each year," was the declaration of a group of postal clerks engaged in the inspection branch of the Toronto post office, in a memorial sent to Ottawa tonight, bearing on the recent wage award of the civil service commission and approved by the Dominion government.

This memorial was the first official sign that all is not well at the Toronto post office over the wage awards, but whether there will be a general strike is another question. There are murmurings and a general feeling of dissatisfaction over the award, and there is a very definite demand for further negotiations with the government.

ASSEMBLY WINDS UP ITS BUSINESS

Work Planned and Committees Being Lined Up for City Canvas

OWEN SOUND, Ont., June 11.—Business before the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada moved with celerity at the closing sederunt of the assembly, and the proceedings were wound up at noon.

In connection with complaints of the Montreal branch of the Presbyterian Church association, embodied in a resolution carried at a recent meeting in which the integrity of salaried officials of the church was impugned, the charge being raised that despite their position they were openly working to bring about disruption in the ranks of Canadian Presbyterianism, the assembly by an unanimous vote gave an expression of unqualified confidence in the integrity and the warmest appreciation of the services of these officials in the church in Canada.

Influence Spreads

The widening sphere of influence of the Point aux Trembles schools was emphasized in a report presented today. "We have received over 400 applications during the year," the report points out, "from among whom 183 pupils have been enrolled, 89 boys and 94 girls. Over 100 of them came from Roman Catholic homes."

The assembly referred back to the presbyteries of the church for their consideration to overtures of the presbytery of Moose Jaw as to the desirability of permitting presbyteries to authorize ordained elders to administer baptism when ministers are not readily available.

ROTARIANS GATHER FOR TORONTO MEET

International Convention Opens Next Week; New Zealand Delegates Are Already There

TORONTO, June 11.—Local Rotarians are today making the last long breath before the opening next week of the international convention. The invasion commences today, and will again speed till it is expected the week-end arrivals will number several thousands.

The first delegate to reach the city today was Hon. George Fowler of New Zealand, and he was followed by Sir David Graf of South Africa. More are coming hourly. A British delegation reaches Montreal Saturday. Other European visitors are expected daily.

A day or so will see a steady stream of motors coming across the line, and every incoming train will carry its quota.

Word has been received that the western Canada squads are already on their way, and a Mexican deputation should reach Toronto before the end of the week.

Toronto is now officially the capital of Rotary.

COMEDIAN KEEPS COURT IN UPROAR

Follies' Star Sues Comedian for Hundred Thousand; Displays Battered Shins

NEW YORK, June 11.—"Broadway is on trial."

Thus Magistrate Levine in West Side court today summed up the situation in holding Frank Tinney, comedian, in $2500 bail for the grand jury on charges of assault brought against him by Imogene Wilson, "Follies" star.

Tinney kept the court room in an uproar all afternoon with an account of his difficulties with "Bubbles," as he called Miss Wilson. The tress, who also has filed suit $100,000 civil damages against defendant, charges him with sev beating her in her own apartme May 27 last.

"It was not Miss Wilson's a ment," Tinney said in court. was my apartment. 'Bubbles' k down the door and moved in trunks."

He charged the "Follies" star threatening his life on several sions, and gravely exhibited t crowded court room a pair of tered shins which, he said, bore ness to the plaintiff's assault.

Staged Suicide Party

The comedian testified that went to see Miss Wilson on the in question to remonstrate with for staging a fake suicide party to tell her that he wanted no licity of that sort. He became he said, when Miss Wilson's gave him a drink of Scotch and ger ale, "which never did mix," removed his clothes and went to Wilson's bedroom to rest.

In regard to the alleged assau testified that he used only force was necessary to keep th tress from using an ice pick on To prove his contention that juries were mutual, he display tattered suit of underclothes w he said, he had worn during th leged assault.

THE GUMPS—NO LIVES LOST

MOVIE MAD

By HAZEL DEYO BATCHELOR

Copyright, 1924, by Public Ledger Company.

Gloria King comes to Hollywood with the idea of making good in the movies. She becomes hardened by the life and is foolish enough to marry Rolf Templeton, the great screen star, a man she despises but whom she feels can help further her career. Later she discovers that her ideas are all wrong, for she makes good through talent alone. But her life with Templeton has changed her, and she is in danger of being spoiled.

Rolf Comes Home

CHAPTER XXXI

GLORIA had resolved never to see Barry Carr again, but because she was drifting dangerously these days and it was too much of an effort to avoid him, she accepted his apology and continued to play about with him. When Rolf returned from the east he learned immediately that Barry and Gloria were seen everywhere together. It was because of this that he went to see her, but he found her appallingly different.

Her complete poise was brilliantly hard. Even her face was different. When he had first known her, varied expressions had drifted across her small face, her eyes had dilated when emotion had swept over her, her mouth had been capable of a hundred changes of expression.

Now it seemed to him as if she wore a mask. Her laugh was sweet, but without warmth, her eyes narrowed and inscrutable, her mouth mocking and wreathed perpetually in a smile which the rest of her face did not reflect.

Manning had told him that Gloria was doing poor work, that remonstrance with her did no good, that the life had "got her." And Rolf had taken it singularly to heart because he felt himself largely to blame for everything.

If Rolf found Gloria changed, she found him also amazingly different. His arrogance of manner remained, but back of it there was more dignity. He seemed much older, and far more serious. Gloria would have preferred him as he was when she first met him. The change in him was vaguely disconcerting.

She seemed determined to avoid the serious in their conversation. Keeping up a running flow of small talk, she managed to skirt any reference to the personal, until at last Rolf pinned her down with a straightforward question.

"Gloria, do you still want to be free? The last time we talked you were to see your lawyers immediately."

Gloria's heart leaped strangely. It was true, and yet all these weeks she had done nothing about it. She had drifted, simply because she had been too listless to do anything. Now he was here, and no doubt behind this call from him, there was something he had not told her. He had probably met some one else, he wanted to be free. Oh, it was intolerable, and her cheeks were suddenly hot with shame.

"You certainly have changed," she exclaimed mockingly. "You're actually ready and willing to brave the scandalmongers in order to be free. Who is she, Rolf? Do tell me about her."

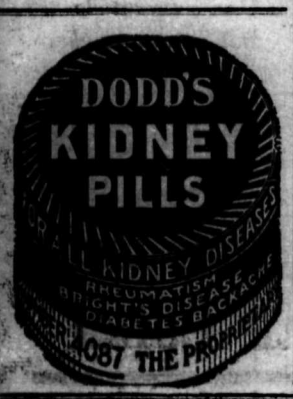
He did not answer her. He was suddenly raging with a cold fury at her attitude. He wanted to shake her into submission; he wanted to reach her at all costs, and yet he felt helpless. It was as if everything warm and human in her had been killed.

"I suppose you're finding me changed, too," she went on lightly, when he did not speak. "Oh, yes. I'm walking the path of least resistance now. I'm having a good time. That's all that matters, isn't it? You ought to be proud of me for being such an apt pupil."

"With Barry Carr!" Rolf flung out, and was sorry the minute the words had passed his lips, for Gloria's eyes suddenly flared!

"Well, what of it? Isn't he as good as you? There's no occasion for you to look down on him. You're all the same, you sham men in the colony, one is as good as another. However, let's keep to the subject. You came to see about your freedom, didn't you? I won't lose another day. I'll see my lawyer the first thing in the morning, and you doubtless won't be kept waiting too long, I hope not. I'm as eager to be free as you are."

Tomorrow—"The Critics Speak."



Nelson Women Seeks to Escape Jury Service

Sheriff J. H. Doyle reports that out of the 62 women women voters notified that they might be called upon for jury duty for the ensuing year, 51 have notified him that they do not care to serve.

Women voters are not required to serve as jurors if they do not care to, Sheriff Doyle stated.

ABSENT VOTERS MAY PICK POLL IN OWN RIDING

This Only Applies in the Rural Ridings, the Act States

NELSON, FAIRVIEW CANNOT SWITCH

In Nelson Votes for Other Ridings Only Accept at City Poll

With next week's provincial election, the provision of the British Columbia Elections act regarding absentee voting will be in effect for the second time.

Under this provision, voters who on election day are away from their polling division or their riding may cast their votes in whatever riding or polling division they may happen to be.

Signature on Envelope

Ballots so voted are dealt with specially and stringently. The voter's signature has to be affixed to the envelope in which the deputy returning officer encloses the duly marked ballot, and it also bears the deputy's certificate as to the circumstances. When the election is over and the ordinary votes counted, the returning officers forward the absentee votes to the ridings for which they are designated, "immediately," the act says.

When the absentee votes have all come in—the act setting a date limit for this—the returning officer assembles all the envelopes and scrutinizes them for irregularities. The original applications made by every voter, when applying to be placed on the list, will be available, as it will also be in the polling booth on election day, and the returning officer will compare the signature of the supposed absentee voter, with the original on his application. This test will rule out those never on the list, those removed from the list, any persons personating, and any others attempting to vote without qualification.

Finally all the envelopes that have passed muster will be opened and the folded ballots dropped into a ballot box, after the identifying counterfoil has been torn off. After that, every ballot will be counted provided it is not improperly marked.

Rural Voters May Switch Polls

In the case of all rural ridings, an elector qualified for one polling division may vote in another polling division of the riding. For instance, a resident of Creston could vote at South Slocan or Ymir if in one of those places on election day, or an Arrow lakes resident qualified in the Kaslo-Slocan riding might vote at one of the Slocan lake or Kootenay lake or Lardeau polls of that riding. If very large numbers of voters exercised this privilege, it would of course mean that results might be in doubt in a few close ridings, for some weeks.

The privilege of choosing one's own polling place within one's own riding, however, is strictly confined to the ridings that are rural or partly rural in character. Six cities that are purely urban are enumerated in the act as debarred from the privilege of choice of poll—Vancouver, Victoria, New Westminster, Nanaimo, Nelson and Kamloops. Thus, in Nelson riding, Fairview voters must vote in Fairview, and city voters must vote at Eagle hall. If switching were admissible, it can be seen that the absentee votes might reach an appalling number, and require a huge clerical staff, for casting a ballot as an absentee is a slow and complicated process.

Absentees at City Poll Only

In the case of Nelson riding, Returning Officer Samuel Fawcett has designated the city poll as the one at which absentee voters of other ridings must present themselves, if desiring to cast their votes here. The list at the city poll will be split up among a number of booths, and the "A" booth alone will receive the absentee ballots.

ELECTION QUIET FOR CRANBROOK

Candidates and Committees Are Active, but No Big Meetings Held

CRANBROOK, B. C., June 11.—The coming election promises to be one of the quietest ever known here. While both candidates are doing considerable quiet work assisted by their supporters no big meetings for this city have been announced. The Liberals have taken committee rooms on Baker street in the store recently vacated by Herity. E. Small is in charge of the rooms.

The Conservative rooms in the Hanson block are also a scene of activity every night. N. A. Wallinger, the Conservative candidate, has already held meetings in outside districts, including TaTa Creek and Skookumchuck, when he was well received, the attendance in each case being even more than the total vote represented in that district.

He is shortly to hold further meetings at Wardner, and will also attend a joint meeting with Dr. S. Bonnell, Conservative candidate for Fernie riding, at Fort Steele.

John Taylor, Liberal candidate, also addressed a ladies' meeting at Kimberley.

BALFOUR MAN MISSING FOR PAST MONTH

Charles Sheppard, Returned Man, Cannot Be Found by the Police

CAME TO CITY TO GET HIS OVERCOAT

Hospitals Queried for Tubercular Patient Without Result

Charles Sheppard of Balfour has been missing since May 6, according to a report from Chief Constable Ernest Gammon.

The missing man, who is a returned soldier and tubercular patient, came in to Nelson on Monday, May 5, and went back to Balfour that evening. As he had left an overcoat in town, he came in for it on Learmonth's stage the next morning, and has not been seen since.

Captain Shaw Writes in

The matter was first brought to the attention of the police by Capt. G. E. Shaw of Balfour, who wrote them to say that Sheppard had been missing for nearly a month. At the same time it was reported that he had not collected his June check for the full pension he received. It was shortly after receiving his check in May that he came to Nelson.

As he is subject to hemorrhages, Chief Constable Gammon feels that there is a possibility that he may have left Nelson and been taken into some hospital.

Send Out Circular

Diligent inquiries have been made, but so far no trace of him has been found. A circular in connection with his disappearance has been sent to all officers in the West Kootenay police district.

He is described as an Englishman, about 35 years old, 5 feet 8 inches in height, weighs 125 pounds. He was slim, pale and clean shaven. When last seen he was wearing a blue serge suit, a dark gray tweed overcoat, and a light grey cap. He had been a sailor most of his life.

SLOCAN VALLEY BERRY MEN PUT UP FIGHT

Must Have Coast Price for Jam Strawberries or Will Try Prairie

DOUKHOBOR OFFER BELOW PRODUCTION

Winlaw Man Urges Growers of District to Act in Concert

"It is a fight for existence with us," declared George Avis of Winlaw, last night, in explanation of the Slocan Valley Berry Growers' decision to stand out for eight cents a pound for jam strawberries, or, alternatively, to begin competing in the prairie market.

There is an area this year of 40 bearing acres in the confines of the association, and shipping will be general next week. That the strawberry growers of this district who sell for jam purposes should act together, and at once, in the matter of price, is Mr. Avis' contention.

Margin on Wrong Side

"Last year," said the Winlaw rancher, "our area had 18 acres of strawberries, and the berries shipped went wholly for jam, being sold to the Doukhobors, for their plant at Brilliant, at 9 cents a pound, the Doukhobors paying the railway charges. We had to pay two cents a pound for pickers, and this left us seven cents a pound for fertilizer, cost of production generally, and our margin of profit.

"This year we are offered by the Doukhobors only five cents a pound, and this is to be f.o.b. jam factory, which means half a cent for railway charges. After the picking cost of two cents a pound is met, we would have 2½ cents left, which is far below the cost of production.

"We can see no reason why we should not receive the same price for jam berries as the coast—eight cents a pound—and nothing less than that will enable us to get by. Whereas the coast jam berries are the culls, about 25 per cent of the crop, ours are the whole crop, the prime as well as the culls. If there is any difference in price, we should by rights get a higher price than the coast.

Cooperative With Them

"If we are not offered a price for our berries that will enable us to live, the only thing we can do is to dispose of our crop elsewhere. The Cooperative, which controls the output at the coast, is with us on this matter, and if a fair deal is not made with us, then we will ship all our crated berries to the prairie cities, selling through the Mutual."

Mr. Avis said it was reported that the Doukhobors had about 14 acres of strawberries of their own this season, and that they had put in a plant for canning.

He said the growers in the Slocan valley were now giving consideration to the possibility of canning, and that in a future season the strawberry growers of the Kootenay might decide to erect a cooperative cannery at Nelson.

APPLICATIONS ARE GRANTED BY JUDGE

Three Estate, a Payment of Money, and a Commission Involved

When Judge J. R. Brown of Grand Forks held chambers here Monday morning, five applications came up before him, four of which were granted.

In the case of Binish et al vs. Buchanan, E. C. Wragge of Hamilton & Wragge made an application for the defendent for an order for commission, to take the evidence out of the province, of J. C. Buchanan, Texas. W. Brown, of Brown & Dawson, appeared for the plaintiff. The order was not granted.

In the matter of the estate of Carl Oscar Jacobson, Eric P. Dawson, of Brown & Dawson, made an application for letters of administration, and the order was granted.

Mr. Dawson also made an application for the payment of monies out of court, in the case of Clarke vs. Oiynik, and it was granted.

H. Clifford Irving, of O'Shea & Irving, made an application for probate in the matter of the estate of Robert Walker Taylor, which was granted.

He also made an application in the matter of the estate of Frank E. Morrison, for the administratrix, Mrs. Morrison, of Nelson, for an order to accept certain monies from the Consolidated Mining & Smelting company of Canada, Trail, and to sign an easement. This was granted.

Fred Anderson of Erie had his application for naturalization papers approved by Judge J. R. Brown of Grand Forks in county court Monday.

TRAIL, B. C., June 11.—S. G. Blaylock, general manager of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada, is wearing a broad smile and hundreds of smelter employees and other friends were smoking long cigars today in celebration of the arrival of an heir in the family yesterday. This is Mr. Blaylock's first son.

Pacific Goes to the Country

We have a long letter from a Mrs. N., who says she is a friend of Pacific Milk from this time on. They moved into the "back country" where there is no fresh milk and she was prejudiced against canned milk. Every brand obtainable was tried in turn, but Pacific Milk is now their accepted standard. Mrs. N. says they use 1½ cases per month. During the extreme cold of the winter in the hills and the hot weather so far this year she has never found a can of Pacific Milk to be other than perfectly fresh.

We shall give more of her letter next time.

PENS TIE IN EGG CONTEST

Grant, Farrington, Rump and Sendall, All Have 60 Eggs During Week

In the 31st week of the British Columbia egg laying contest three people have tied for the highest number of eggs laid by their pens of 10 hens each, these being W. H. Grant of Edmonds, Farrington Brothers of Central Park and Rump Sendall of Sperling, all having 60 eggs to their pen's credit.

M. H. Ruttledge of Sardis, whose pen laid 52 eggs during the week, still leads in the grand total, with 1610. He is the only competitor in the 1600 class so far, and the only one in the 1500 class is the University of British Columbia pen, which has come up to within 61 eggs of the Sardis pen.

Good Morning!

"Good morning" is a simple salutation, pronounced with little meaning millions of times a month, yet it can be made to sound like the welcome of an angel. Did you ever start down the street and meet a business acquaintance who grunted "Morn'" at you as if he begrudged the time and energy it took to say it?

One almost wishes such a man wouldn't greet him at all, especially if one be meditating on the glory of the world newborn. Others there are who bid one "Good morning!" with an accent on the "good" and with a smile that is a very sunburst of good will, making the day brighter and the heart glad.

The art of saying "Good morning" with effect is not a matter of genius but of practice. It is not a gift, but the result of a persevering determination to make your fellowman know that you are genuine when you tell him you wish him well.

Government by Compromise Not Wanted in B.C.

Three-party politics has put a curse on government wherever it has been tried. British Columbia, saddled with no less than four parties, is flirting with a double curse, says the Vancouver Sun, in an editorial emphasizing the danger of group government.

In Vancouver, four full tickets are in the field. Liberals, Conservatives, Provincials and Laborites are all out after full representation.

Unless the people of this province retain their common sense and register their ballots strictly along two-party lines, British Columbia is going to have government by compromise instead of definite governmental authority at Victoria that will get results, continues the Sun.

Ontario's experience with third-party government was not a happy one. Between the wild ideas of Premier Drury, the doubtful financing of Peter Smith, and the weird road-building policy of Mr. Biggs, Ontario came pretty near financial collapse. And this was all under the regime of reformers, and in the highly moral atmosphere of Toronto the Good.

Out here in British Columbia there is developing a great western empire that requires clean-cut government authority to deal with big clean-cut programs. There is too much real business to be done to leave much time for political maneuvering and jockeying for position such as waste the energies and brains of statesmen in Europe.

If government by compromise is to be inflicted on British Columbia, so much time will be devoted to shuffling the deck and scrutinizing the cards that the actual business of getting the blue chips into play will never come off.

Theoretically, straight party government may have its faults. But up to date it is the only system that gets things done. And getting things done is the one big crying problem of the west.

Ian Campbell, son of J. J. Campbell of the Hall Mines smelter, who is attending the Royal Military college at Kingston, was selected as one of the team to compete against a Sandhurst team in revolver shooting. The matches were shot off in Canada and England simultaneously, and Mr. Campbell distinguished himself by heading the Canadian score. He has also proven himself a most excellent rifle shot.

What kind of a clothes line shall I buy? is a question which comes in to me frequently from bride readers.

Today we find in hardware stores various kinds of clothes lines, all of which are good. Some housewives like one kind, some another. I know of several old housekeepers who declare that a galvanized iron clothes line is the only kind they would have in their back yards. Of course, this is the most expensive type of line, but, as my housekeeper-friends say, it is very satisfactory and will last practically a lifetime. It will not rust the clothes. It never knots or gets out of place. And another advantage lies in the fact that frozen corners of clothes in cold weather will not stick to a galvanized iron line, as they will to a cotton or hemp line.

But other housewives maintain that there is no clothes line like a cotton one. In the first place, it is inexpensive—a most important consideration for young people starting out in housekeeping with limited means. Then, too, cotton lines are splendidly strong. Another good point is that clothes pins will stay firmly on a cotton line. But cotton lines should be taken down each week, after wash day, if they are to be kept dustfree and this is often neglected by busy housekeepers. If they cannot be taken down, they must at least be well wiped with a damp cloth before clothes are hung on them.

Hemp lines, too, are favorites with many housekeepers. They also yield easily to the pressure of the pins.

I have lately had complaints from several housekeepers that their "metal clothes lines" have rusted. These readers neglected to mention exactly what kind of line they use. Good grades of metal clothes lines sold today are rustproof. However, I may say in general that they can be freed of the rust as follows—Moisten a cloth in cold water, then dip it into powdered bath brick and rub on line. Or scour with powdered pumice wet with oil. Very obstinate rust on metal may be removed by being covered with kerosene oil, then left untouched for several hours before being scoured as above directed. If the rust resists this treatment it may be touched quickly with hydrochloric acid (a poison) followed by ammonia to neutralize the acid. After removing all the rust from the line, it is best to apply a coat of white paint or white enamel. A painted metal clothes line needs only to be wiped off with a damp cloth before using.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in charge of "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use your full name, street number, and the name of your city and province.

BENNY IS STUCK ON MOVIE ACTING

Leonard, lightweight champion, has become a theatrical business man and can see a greater income on the stage and in the pictures than he can in the ring.

His title is a valuable asset to him in his work, but Leonard's friends insist that he would be a theatrical success without the added drawing power of his ring title.

No one knows just when Leonard's next fight will be, but it looks like a bout with Walker for the welterweight title this summer.

FIRST BALL CIRCUIT WAS AT PITTSBURGH

The first organization of professional baseball clubs to bear the name of "International association" was formed at Pittsburgh in 1877.

Its circuit, which would make the baseball mogul of today open his eyes in wonder, was made up of clubs in Pittsburgh; Columbus, O.; Lynn, Mass.; Rochester, N.Y.; Manchester, N.H; and London and Guelph, in Ontario.

Among the hundreds of dogs recognized by the American Kennel club there are three breeds which have originated in the United States. The Malamute. Husky or Mushhound, developed by the Indians in Alaska for the specific purpose of hauling sleds over the ice; the Chesapeake Bay dog, used along the eastern shore, at first for duck shooting, and the Boston terrier.

Styles

BY LENORE

There are two ways of using color for becomingness. A woman may wear those that tone in with her natural coloring, or she may seek contrast. In either case, it is necessary to know something about the character of the different colors to insure becoming choice.

This season, for example, yellow, in two shades, is considerably featured. In the lighter shade, a clear canary tone, it is becoming to all brunettes, with the exception of those with very dark, blotchy or olive skins, and to the auburn-haired type. A slightly sallow skin, however, may be improved by yellow, as it will be made to look lighter. Only golden haired blondes may wear yellow, so may the gray haired woman, discretely, provided her hair is milky white. The darker, quite reddish yellow which you have seen, is best for the dark eyes types, with dark brown or black hair. It is also a good shade for olive skins, and especially for freckles, because it is so much brighter in hue than they are.

Of the reds, there is a bright yellowish red which is wonderful for just the right type, who should have light brown, dark brown or black hair, any color eyes, and almost any skin, providing it is not blotchy, or too dark. But the woman who wears this color must be able to support it with a distinguished bearing. Blondes are apt to be extinguished by such a vivid color. Then there is coral, a beautiful member of the red family. But the richness of this color requires a very clear skin, pale or pinkish, with dark hair and eyes. The various shades of pink, however, may be worn with complete success by all types, except those with creamy or sallow complexions. These complexions will find the rose shades less trying. A florid complexion, however, should avoid rose.

(Other colors will be analyzed tomorrow.)

A novelty that has had the usual Paris origin, is the "slave rope" choker. One idea, as sketched above, shows a single strand of pearls, with a short pendant strand finished with a drop pearl, which is matched in the earrings. The rope-like cord of pearls is wound twice around the neck, and knotted with tasselled ends.

Instead of participating in the olympic games in Paris in July Soviet Russia is holding its own international games in Moscow next month. Athletes from the proletarian sporting organizations of Germany, Sweden, Finland and Czecho-Slovakia also will compete.

Takes pills for years—finds first permanent relief in Kellogg's Bran

Have you found permanent relief from that terrible disease—constipation? The woman whose letter follows discovered—as thousands have discovered—that Kellogg's Bran succeeds when all else fails. This is because Kellogg's Bran is ALL bran. Nothing but ALL bran can be so effective. This is what she wrote:

"Dear Sirs:

I am so wonderfully happy over my discovery. I feel I must tell the world about it. For years I have been ill continually from constipation, always resorting to pills or the like, never having any permanent relief until I heard of your Krumbled Bran.

Every morning I take two tablespoonfuls before my breakfast—and since the latter part of August I must admit have not experienced one sick spell which I have had for years. I have started my little girl of four years on your Bran, and already I have noticed a change in her. I thank you."

(Name and address on request.)

If eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is guaranteed to relieve permanently the most chronic cases of constipation. Eat at least two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Money returned if not effective.

Notice the wonderful nut-like flavor. This flavor is delicious—so different from ordinary, unpalatable brans.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, made in Toronto, Canada, is served by Canada's leading hotels and clubs. Demand Kellogg's Bran. It will bring back your health. Start eating it to-day. Sold by all grocers.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

Is the X-Ray Always Right?

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright act.)

You have been suffering from stomach trouble, and so many different factors have entered into the condition that finally your physician suggests an X-ray meal.

Many physicians are of the opinion that the X-ray, insofar as the X-ray meal is concerned, has lead many of their brethren astray.

Perhaps your own physician has lost his faith in it as a court of last resort.

Why is this? Does the X-ray not tell the truth?

As a matter of fact the X-ray always tells the truth, but sometimes the physician and the X-ray operator have not read the plates correctly. To err is human you know.

For instance if there should be a delay in the movement of the intestinal contents at a certain point, say in the region of the appendix, and yet you've had no pain in that region, have had no vomiting spells, nor even a dull ache there, then certainly there should be no cause for an operation for appendicitis.

If in the stomach the food remains more than six hours, but the whole meal is slow in making its entire way through the canal, that doesn't necessarily point to stomach trouble. It would appear as if your entire intestine is just slow or sluggish. Sometimes there will be a little speeding up in one portion of the intestine, and a delay in other parts. And so physicians and X-ray operators see you every day for a number of days to watch the progress of the meal throughout your intestine.

Now the plates show the same pictures to both, but sometimes they do not agree as to what the plates signify.

What is my suggestion?

That an X-ray then is not of use in diagnosing conditions?

Not at all.

It is one of the most valuable aids that medical science has ever discovered. But if your physician and your X-ray man do not agree as to the findings it is usually safer to stick to your physician's advice.

Why?

Because with the X-ray operator, all he has to depend on is what his plates show him. Your physician has all the other symptoms in his mind. How your illness began, your diet, your loss of flesh, the location and kind of pain you suffer. He has all this at his disposal and the X-ray plates beside it. He really has the best opportunity of getting at your trouble.

Told in Rime

POOR OLD DAD

You can scarce pick up a paper
And its "Poets' Corner" scan;
But you'll see a pretty poem
Extolling Mother's day—a splendid plan;
But you'll have a time of searching
—And your eyes be aching bad,
Ere you'll ever see a poem
Writ in praise of poor old dad.

No, it isn't willful of them—
Those who write of mother dear
—That there is no notice taken
Of her "old man" sitting near;
No, it's never meant to slight him,
But it seems a little sad—
All the bonquets made for mother,
Not one bloom for poor old dad!

True, our mother watched above us
Till her dear old eyes would ache,
But old dad he toiled to feed us
Till his back was fit to break.
Mother prayed above our cradle,
Gave devotion—all she had;
Still, it wasn't "milk and honey"
All the time for poor old dad.

Do not take one line from mother
When you write the soul-sweet song,
But if there's a word for father
Now and then—it won't be wrong.
Poor old soul! He's bent and wrinkled,
And I know 'twould make him glad
If, while you are praising mother,
You'd say a word for poor old dad.

Get Ostermoor quality that lasts guarded by a Simmons Label

A fancy "art" ticking and an attractive price-tag have caused many a woman to accept a "substitute" for the Ostermoor Mattress she fully intended to buy.

Not till later, when she began to pay the penalty of poor quality in broken sleep on a lumpy, uncomfortable bed, did she realize that her "substitute" had been an expensive economy, after all.

Not only expensive in some cases but actually dangerous to health. "Made-to-sell" mattresses, many of them filled with insanitary, germ-laden, re-worked materials, are a menace right now in thousands of Canadian households.

Of safe, new materials

The Ostermoor and all other Simmons-built mattresses — the Red Label, Green Label, White Label and so on — are held to one unvarying standard: only clean, safe materials are used throughout. Virgin cotton and other high-grade fillers are built up in thick layers to the required depth; inserted into clean new ticking; stitched and tufted; then shipped in sealed, dust-tight carton rolls that allow no hands to touch the finished mattress until delivered to the final owner.

Standard for 30 years

This guaranteed cleanliness, coupled with the Ostermoor's famous sleep comfort — for thirty years the Canadian standard of luxurious rest — is worth knowing about, wanting — and getting!

Look for the Simmons label and you can then be sure of every Simmons advantage — comfort, long service and sound restful sleep that builds up health and energy.

Best of all, you can make sure that, when you sleep, only the cleanest, fresh, new materials will come into intimate contact with your body.

Provincial Party Head Says People Are Looking for a Leader

POLITICS NOW A GAME OF PROFIT

General McRae Asks Why Oliver Does Not Collect Income Tax

TRAIL, B.C., June 11.—A meeting of the Provincial party was held Saturday evening in tht Knights of Pythias' hall, when W. Hasketh, chairman of the local branch, presided.

Gen. A. D. McRae gave an outline of the history of his party, stating it embraced farmers, business men, labor men and a large section of women, there being 500 women canvassers in Vancouver alone.

"We have reached the stage when the old shack must be torn down and rebuilt on sure foundations," the speaker said. Party affiliations and even personal friendships had to go.

He then made a survey of the old parties. Both said they had made no mistakes!

Electors Apathetic

The general complained of lack of support of the city press. The country press had been fair. The city press had seemed to have lost its sense of responsibility. He had addressed 700 meetings and thousands of Searchlights had been distributed owing to lack of press support.

Not Such a Crook!

A little lady in Nelson came to him after the meeting saying, after eyeing him a moment. "You don't look like a crook after all!" (Laughter.)

He recounted his experience at the "royal whitewash" commission, where he was asked no questions. It was the same with his supporters, the reason being that they came from both parties and knew too much.

Why did not officials try to collect his supposed income tax? The truth was he, just like others, was living on his capital, trusting to see the day when his investment in the Western Canada Lumber company would return a dividend, if it were not taxed out of existence. He owned 20 per cent of the stock. This company paid $40,000 in 1914, $200,000 last year, and would at this rate be burst up in five years. And still Oliver asked capital to invest in the province!

Big Personal Taxes

Of personal taxes General McRae said his check was for $50,000 per annum.

He had been specially asked to mention his connection with Port Mann by a well-known smelter foreman. To this he answered:

"Oliver has two planks—freight rates and Port Mann. Oliver said I made a huge sum out of the MacKenzie & Mann deal at Port Mann. I never made a dollar out of this deal, nor did I intend to.

Not a Cent From Port Mann

"Railway men generally buy in some other name, and they asked me to buy the property and register the title in my own name. I did so for my old friends, and the consideration of purchase was $1. How can Oliver accuse me of making $11,000 out of $1? It is true that the government subsequently valued the property at $571,000; it is equally true that the Canadian National railways, which is now the government of Canada, pays taxes on this sum. I made nothing; I paid no taxes on the purchase. It was purely a trust reposed in me as a measure of precaution to prevent the real object of the purchase being known so as to check any fictitious value which might be asked for the land. The seller had no business to know what my friends wanted to do with their purchase. This sort of agreement is made every day and is perfectly all right."

New Party Untrammelled

Trail was well off, thanks to an admirably managed industry, said the general. But the country was despondent, and was looking for a leader.

"I look on my politicial position as a solid trust," he said. There were 300 delegates at his convention, and no expenses were paid nor were there any proxies.

"The Conservatives and Liberals had no conventions; caucus was their rule—no popular opinion expressed through accredited delegates."

LISTER TELLS SOUTH SLOCAN ABOUT FOLLIES

Huge Rakeoff on Expensive Oliver Scheme; Sumas Still Under Water

CANDIDATE GIVES HIS PROPOSALS

Cheap Farm Loans; Help to Build Dairies; Aid in Fruit Marketing

SOUTH SLOCAN, B.C., June 11.—Lieut.-Col. Fred Lister and Maj. E. Mallandaine addressed a meeting of 100 electors at South Slocan Friday evening, T. A. Wheildon being chairman of the meeting.

Mr. Wheildon briefly spoke of local instances of injustices in the past of the government, particularly in the case of the farmers' institute, which was discriminated against.

Major Mallandaine said that in Colonel Lister the Conservatives had a candidate of excellent worth. He had fought with distinction through the Boer war and had a remarkable record in the great war. Colonel Lister was also a practical farmer. Born on a farm in Lincolnshire, England, he had practiced farming until he joined the colors for the Boer war. He came out to British Columbia after demobilization and took up a farm, which he worked with his own labor, in the settlement which was since named after him. No man could have worked harder for the welfare of the settlement and in fighting for redress of the wrongs which had been inflicted upon the soldier settlers. The speaker asked his hearers if a man with such a record both as a soldier and farmer was not likely to efficiently represent them in the house.

Colonel Lister, the candidate, said the election cry of the Liberal party had been "abolish patronage," and yet the first act of this government had been the appointment to the judiciary of W. A. Macdonald, a man who had been forced out of public life for contriving his election by plugged votes.

A Record of Prodigality

The record of the government was one of prodigality and waste. In 1916, at the end of the Bowser regime, the debt of the province was $25,000,000; and, today, this had increased to $73,000,000—this despite the fact that the annual revenue had increased during that time from $6,300,000 to $10,400,000.

An individual example of waste was the digging of a well in gravel at the town of Oliver, in the South Okanagan land development scheme, a depth of 14 feet at a cost of $3700, or $340 per cubic foot. The government had purchased this land, which consisted of a tract of gravel and sand, from one of their friends at a cost of $650,000. They had paid their agent a rakeoff of $50,000 in addition to a commission of 10 per cent on the sale, and when complaint was made and pressure brought to bear by the opposition the only action taken by the government was to dismiss him. This agent had hitherto been in receipt of a salary of $175 a month. He could well afford to exchange his job for a straight to exchange his job for a commission referred to.

Another government folly was the Sumas lake drainage project. Commenced as the result of a byelection promise the land had already cost $200 per acre, and was still under water.

At Camp Lister returned men had been induced to take up land on the promise of work clearing it at the rate of $5 a day. When the clearing was finished they were told that there was no more work for them and that the cost of clearing would be charged against the land. This, in many instances, brought the cost up to $500 or $600 an acre for the land.

Aid Farmer and Miner

Economy and efficiency were needed. If elected he would support a system of loans at a low rate of interest to farmers to tide them over the bad times, a live agrigultural department, assistance to dairymen to build creameries, and to fruit growers in the marketing and distribution of fruit.

The speaker gave instances of grossly unfair taxation of mining. Relief was needed, and help and encouragement should be extended to prospectors. They should, as was the case in the old days, be paid to build trails to prospects, where necessary, and these would be worth thousands more than the cost of construction for the purpose of fighting fire. The money so derived would grubstake the prospector for further efforts.

Colonel Lister said he favored complete cessation of oriental immigration, and that pressure should be brought to bear on Ottawa to this end.

The candidate was enthusiastically cheered at the close of the meeting, which was followed by several vocal solos, refreshments and a dance.

When people get too fresh they are apt to get in a pickle.

The following wedding of interest took place in Spokane Saturday evening, the groom being a timber operator in this district and well known in Nelson:

In the quiet simplicity of St. James' church and by candlelight the wedding of Miss Bonnie Prickett and Harold Acomb took place last night. The wedding unites two families prominent socially here and in the east. Miss Prickett is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jules L. Prickett of this city and Mr. Acomb comes from a well-known Minneapolis family.

The church was beautifully decorated. The aisle for the bridal pathway was lined with candelabra of three tapers each, and the whole church was lighted with candles. Sprays of white syringa flowers were used in artistic arrangement to drape the walls of the church, and the altar was a veritable bower. Pink roses were used in the altar and on either side were palms and pedestal bouquets of peonies and pink gladioli. A festooning of white peonies, pink gladioli and syringa was interlaced in the railing around the choir.

The two bridesmaids, Miss Helen Huntington and Miss Winona Veasey, wore bright gowns, harmonizing beautifully with the candlelight and the soft tones in the flowers.

Mrs. Frank Ashfield (Lois Prickett), who was matron of honor at the wedding, wore a gown of metal cloth with silvery sheen, and there were touches of orange and green in the little French roses on her gown. Mrs. Ashfield's bouquet and that carried by the two bridesmaids, Miss Huntington and Miss Veasey, were alike in torch effect. They carried Ophelia and butterfly roses, with iris to give a touch of lavender, and streamers of silk chiffon.

The bride was beautiful in a gown of white satin, with showers of lilies of the valley in lovely arrangement for its ornamentation. The long train of tulle was trimmed with orange blossoms and her veil of real lace was held in place with a wreath of orange blossoms. The bride's bouquet was of Easter lilies, arranged in an arm shower.

Little Miss Jean Ashfield, niece of the bride, as the flower girl, scattered rose petals along the bridal pathway.

Mrs. Prickett, the bride's mother, wore a beatiful gown of black lace. Mrs. Prickett's sister, Mrs. F. S. Moore of Portland, here for the wedding, wore a frost-crepe gown of black with jet trimmings. Mrs. W. S. Norman wore a gown of alice blue georget with trimming of silver beads, and Mrs. Cyrus Happy, another aunt of the bride, wore white georget with black lace.

Clifford Cowin was best man at the wedding. The ushers were Howard Brady, Conrad Gotzian, Harold Henneford, Frank Ashfield and Penrod Schofield.

The wedding processional and the wedding music was played by Harold Henneford and Rev. Leonard K. Smith officiated at the ceremony.

The wedding at the church was followed with an informal reception at the Prickett residence W825 Seventh avenue. The home was beautifully decorated in a color combination of pink and white to match that used at the church. In the dining room a color effect of white and green was used. Sixty of the younger set were included at the reception.

The bride has had her home here for many years, and received her early education at Brunot hall, going later to Miss Chapin's school in New York. Mr. Acomb came here a few years ago to take charge of the interests of the Western Lumber Products company, of which he is president. Following their honeymoon the couple will have the Prickett residence for the summer.

ARCHDEACON PAYS VISIT TO PROCTER

Decision Is Made to Have a Weekly Service; Social Program

PROCTER, B.C., June 11. — Ven. Archdeacon Fred H. Graham of Nelson visited Procter and was entertained by the Anglican Ladies' guild at a social evening in the Procter hall, loaned for the occasion.

There was a very pleasant gathering of members and friends of the church, and Archdeacon Graham gave an address in which grave and gay were mingled.

He spoke of the need to let the Christlike spirit inspire every act of his hearers' lives, whether work or pleasure, and showed how this spirit transformed and ennobled every action of life. He pleaded for cooperation among the members, and urged them to united work for the good of the church and their own betterment.

He was heartily thanked for his presence and help.

It was decided to hold an evening service every Sunday, the service to be read by the lay reader, Mr. Robinson, when the rector could not be present.

The remainder of the evening was spent in recreation—cards, musical numbers by the archdeacon and Captains Barwis and Smith, and by Mrs. Carne, who was also their accompanist. Refreshments were served by the ladies' Guild.

LONGBEACH NOTES

LONGBEACH, B.C., June 11.—Miss Dorothy Griffiths, who has been staying with Com. and Mrs. B. A. Smith, returned last week to her home in Cowichan, Vancouver island.

The Whitsunday service was conducted at All Saints' church here by Commander Smith, one of the lay readers, to a full congregation.

Heavens Ring in Alarm at Trail; Flash Sets Siren

TRAIL, B.C., June 11. — The heavens rang in a fire alarm at Trail today, a lightning flash setting off the alarm system and turning on the siren at 11:55 a.m. Driver Manson, the only permanent man stationed at the hall, was on the street with the motor fire truck in 20 seconds, and the last member of the volunteer brigade was in his place on the truck inside of 4 minutes, but there was no place to go. When it was apparent there was no fire the fire fighters chalked up this "new one" and dispersed.

GUARANTORS AT CRANBROOK PAY

Fifty Citizens Shoulder the Chautauqua Deficit of Six Hundred Dollars

CRANBROOK, B.C., June 11.—The Chautauqua closed on Monday evening, and those who have attended feel that the programs presented were quite the equal of those in any previous year.

In spite of this the interest taken was not sufficient to prevent it ending with a large deficit. It is understood that the 50 or so guarantors will be called on to contribute $12 each to make up the guarantee of $1500. Notwithstanding this an effort was being made on Monday by the Chautauqua representatives to have a contract signed up for another year, which the lady superintendent stated was on a fair way to success at that time.

Sunday evening a united service of Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist congregations was held at the Chautauqua tent which was very largely attended. An orchestra was in attendance, and the Junior Canadian Girls in Training were present in costume to assist in the singing. Miss Cline Gave a reading, followed by an address by W. T. Tapscott. Rev. B. C. Freeman also took part.

In the morning Miss Cline spoke in the Methodist church.

BOWSER WARS ON PROVINCIAL PARTY

Serious If Two or Three Elected; Small Ministry Would Then Control

VANCOUVER, June 11.—War has been declared upon the Provincials by W. J. Bowser, leader of the opposition, who in addressing a meeting here warned the electors that the election of two or three third party men would create a serious situation in the house, where a small majority would control the government, especially, he said, in the timber royalties in which General McRae is deeply interested.

"You will see some fine gun play in the legislature with McRae and two or three of his followers sitting across the benches holding a gun to the government's head. Can you trust a man who has given $60,000 to his campaign fund, to legislate on a three million dollar timber royalty?" asked Mr. Bowser.

About the only agreement that can be reached on taxes is an agreement to pass them on to the other fellow.

A SEVERE ATTACK OF HEART TROUBLE Was Relieved by MILBURN'S Heart and Nerve Pills

Mr. S. E. Barnes Athens, Ont. writes: "Four years ago I had a very severe attack of heart trouble I consulted my doctor; he treated me for some time, but I only seemed to be getting worse. I finally went to our druggist and purchased three boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and derived immediate relief from their use, and I can truthfully say they are a wonderful medicine. I always keep a box on hand, and if I feel out of sorts I take a few pills and feel all right again."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Alkali in Shampoos Bad For the Hair

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Do not use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, which is pure and greaseless, and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.

FRECKLE-FACE

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots. How to Remove Easily.

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable concern that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine, as this strength is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

M'KELVIE DID NOT SPARE SELF SAYS BURRELL

Yale Member, Earnest, Sincere, Likable, Worked Himself Out

HIS STANDARD OF PUBLIC LIFE HIGH

Former Minister Uses Career of Late Member as Pointing Moral

(By HON. MARTIN BURRELL)

By the sudden death of Mr. John A. MacKelvie, member for Yale, B.C., we are reminded once more of that continuous, that wearing strain which is the lot of those who take upon themselves the exacting cares of public life. The late member was happy in having secured the respect not only of his fellow-members, but of all those who were brought into contact with him in either his private or public capacity. I have known him for 20 years somewhat intimately, and, from that knowledge, can unhesitatingly say that here was a man who was incapable of either thinking or doing a dishonorable thing. He was one of those who took public life seriously, and who, as a representative of the source of final authority, the people, believed that it was not a light responsibility which rested on his shoulders. He held that it was his duty not to spare himself in forwarding, in season and out of season, the welfare of his country. To such men political life is full of harassments and wearing toil. They cannot divest themselves of their worries as can the men who look on politics as a game, or as a means of personal advancement.

Dwindling Roll

It has been said that "a confident man with a bloodshot voice and a gift for repartee is sure to make a success of politics, especially if he is not too particular." The late member for Yale was not of this type, but was like those who, by reason of their standards, suffer more keenly the mental and physical strain. How heavy that strain is few realize. I look back on the roll of those who were my colleagues in the government of 1911, and count seven who have passed away, and can number scores of men who were members or senators in 1308 when I first entered parliament, who have joined the great majority. As to those who, with shattered health, as a result of a political career, still live, one can only say their name is legion. We are living in days when, on this continent, partly owing to the turpitude of a handful of the baser sort, it has become an easy thing for the man in the street to fling gibes at those whom he calls "politicians." The attitude of contempt which such men assume is but a fouling of their own nest; a besmirching of the very institutions by virtue of which they enjoy a hundred privileges which they would otherwise be bereft of. Criticism of public men and public measures is the very salt which keeps that life sweet and clean, but there is a harsh and unsavory criticism which is destructive to the efforts of those who are, after all, carrying our burdens, and which should be frowned out of existence by all who value the permanence of those forms of government which have been evolved from the sweat and labor of the past.

No Rest in Public Life

Representative government is the machinery by which the principle of the sovereignty of the people becomes action. Most of us know something of its defects, its limitations, and failures, but, if we cannot substitute something better, it is a man's part to strengthen the machinery and not smash it. Something there is in Max Nordau's bitter saying that "In political life there is not rest or peace possible, every one is either fighting, hiding in ambush, lying, listening, hunting for trails, or removing the trace of his own; his hand against everybody and everybody's hand against him, slandered, traduced, badgered, provoked and wounded—in short, living like a trackless forest." Macaulay, with trenchant truth, spoke of the position of men in governments as "that gilded slavery mocked by the name of power." In his "Monody on the death of Sheridan," Byron wrote—

"Hard is his fate on whom the public gaze
Is fixed for ever to detract or praise.
Repose denies her requiem to his name,
And Folly loves the martyrdom of Fame."

Mr. MacKelvie was a party man. Party politics have somewhat waned of late. But there is obviously much to be said for party government. The worst that can be said was never more forcibly put than in Washington's and Hamilton's farewell addresses in 1796.

"The alternate domination of one faction over another, sharpened by the spirit of revenge natural to party dissension, serves always to distract the public councils and enfeeble the public administration."

Believed in Party Government

The member for Yale believed in party government. He was 'no slavish follower of a tradition, but had deeply studied the history of his country, and was firmly convinced that he was forwarding its best interests by pursuing the course he did. But he was entirely free from that bitterness which characterizes some men in their attitude towards their political opponents, and, as a result, counted amongst his personal friends many who differed from him politically. He served his party loyally, and not less loyally his country, and as editor and publisher he succeeded in impressing on his paper that reputation for fairness and a full knowledge of Canadian affairs which he himself possessed. No cause which made for better citizenship was left unsupported by him, and in that beautiful southern British Columbia country there will be many who will grieve at his passing. It is said, perhaps with truth, that democracy is still on its trial. If it survives the test of the years it will be by virtue of the wholehearted support of such men. Of him it can fairly be said that by his rectitude of life he left this world better than he found it, and no higher tribute can be paid to his memory.

MARTIN BURRELL.

CLASH RESULTS OVER SCORING TRACK EVENTS

United States Objects to French Scoring Method in Olympic Games

NEW YORK, June 11.—A clash between French and United States olympic authorities over the system of points scored for the track and field competitions at Paris in July, loomed today when Fred W. Rubien, secretary of the United States olympic committee, issued a statement declaring this country would not recognize the French decision to score events on the basis of 10 points for first place with the next five places graded from five points to one point.

The French committee, according to Mr. Rubien, is not empowered to fix arbitrarily any point scoring system at all for the olympics.

Five Points for First

He pointed out that none has been provided for by international authorities in charge of the games, but adds that so far as this country is concerned, "The winners in each event will be credited with five points, with three points for second, two for third, and one for fourth, which is recognized method of scoring track and field events in the United States.

Olympic officials base their objection to the French system on the belief that it favors countries which have a few outstanding stars, such as Finland, instead of nations which may have better balanced teams.

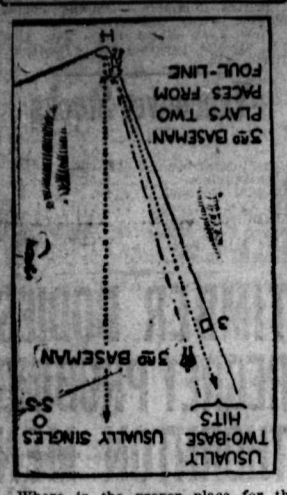
AS BIG LEAGUERS PLAY IT



Where is the proper place for the third baseman to play?

Answered by
HEINE GROH
Third baseman, New York Giants; user of the bottle bat, and slugged out a .474 average with it during the 1922 world's series.

The best spot in the whole diamond for a third baseman to play, under ordinary conditions, is two paces in from the foul line and about two paces back of the bag. The reason for this is that so many balls which usually go for doubles and triples are hit down close along the third base line, and if the third baseman is near this foul line he can very often turn these doubles and triples into putouts. The diagram makes this clearer and shows the exact position I use in playing the "hot corner."

How do you keep your arm in good shape?

Answered by
GROVER CLEVELAND ALEXANDER
Pitcher, Chicago Cubs: A major league leader for 17 years. Greatest pitcher in the National league.

After pitching a game I always get a "rub" with oil and make it a point not to strain my arm. During my rest days I just throw enough to keep the muscles well limbered without straining them. Oil rubs are "good medicine" if they are not taken too frequently or too strenuously. If you are going to pitch a good hard ball game, don't play golf the day before or on the morning of the day you are scheduled to pitch. Always remembered that your arm has just a certain definite number of pitched balls in it and every time you waste one foolishly you bring your pitching career that much nearer to an end.

What points should be remembered when bunting?

Answered by
JOE SEWELL
Shortstop, Cleveland Indians: The hardest hitting shortstop in either league. Batted .353 last year.

* * *

Always make your bunt as deceptive as possible. If some player could work out a perfect deceptive bunt he could probably run his batting average up enormously. Try not to signal the opposing players that you are going to bunt until the last possible moment. Then tap the ball lightly. There should be "give" in your muscles when the ball strikes the bat on a bunt—so as to deaden the force of the blow. If the opposing team should happen to have a left-handed third baseman, put your bunts down the third base line, as such a bunt is clumsy for a left-handed third sacker to handle and may give you the extra second necessary to get to first safely.

STOCKS ESTABLISH NEW HIGH RECORDS

Short Interests Alarmed at Buying of Large Blocks; Money Continues Easy

NEW YORK, June 11.—Stock prices developed impressive strength in today's session of the stock market, one of the most active in recent weeks. Two dozen stocks established new highs for the year, including Union Pacific, Atchison, Texas & Pacific, Pere Marquette, Pittsburgh & West Virginia and Missouri Pacific common and preferred.

United States Steel common closed more than a point higher at 96⅞. General Electric and American Can each closed more than 3 points higher while net gains of 1 to 2¾ were recorded in such issues as American Sugar, American Woolen, Dupont, Maryland Oil, Tobacco Products, Studebaker and United States Industrial Alcohol.

Buying of large blocks of stock presumably for the account of large financial interests alarmed the short interests whose covering operations furnished impetus to the advance. Brokers also reported that several pools were operating, particularly in the low-priced rail and industrial specialties.

Oil shares apparently paid no attention to the 15 cents a barrel reduction in Smackover Crude Oil. Gains of a point or so were quite common in the oils at the close.

Call money held at 2 per cent all day.

Total sales, 865,500 shares.

Toronto Board

TORONTO, June 11.—Pulp and paper stocks, together with Toronto Railway continued today to supply the feature of the stock market. The former group, led by Spanish River common, showed the most strength, and closed at or close to the top. Toronto Railway started at 94½ and advanced to 94⅝, which was retained at the close.

In the newsprint stocks Spanish River common sold at 107. Abitibi was in active at 57½. Brompton closed at 31⅝ to 32 with no transactions.

The most active stock in the traction groups was Brazilian, which started at 49½ and sold off to 49.

City Dairy common was firm at 48. Bread common closed at 72½ for a loss of ½.

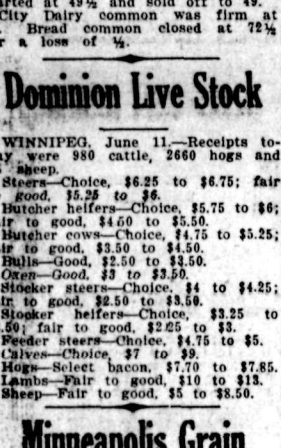
Money AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.



High wages cannot be maintained unless there is a corresponding increase in output.

"Money at Work" has previously pointed out that real wages are not money; they are what can be purchased with that money, such as food, clothing, shelter and luxuries.

If a man gets a higher wage in money without increasing his output, or whatever he produces for exchange, one of two things will happen. Either he is taking more than his share of the world's production so that some one else goes without or prices of all goods will rise, which would wipe out his wage increase.

In either case his raise cannot be maintained. It is not always easy to see how this economic law applies to each man, because the labor of the world is so divided and complicated in its relation to itself. However, when the results of all labor are viewed in one composite mass, the truth of this economic law is apparent. The only way for mankind to maintain a higher scale of wages is to produce more goods.

WHEAT CONTINUES TO SOAR IN PRICE

Nine Cents Bushel Higher Than First Week; Result of Bullish Views

CHICAGO, June 11.—Wheat soared today to nearly 9c a bushel higher prices than were touched on Monday before the government crop report was issued. The fresh advance today appeared to be largely a result of huge buying that developed after one of the leading authorities in the grain trade here had expressed decided bullish views regarding world supplies of bread material.

Wheat closed unsettled, 2c to 2¾c net higher, July $1.10⅝ to $1.10½ and September $1.12⅝ to $1.12½, with corn showing ¼c to ¾c net decline, oats unchanged to ½c up and provisions 10c to 22c lower.

TIMBER BODIES REGRET PROBING THORNTON MEN

Timber Industries Council and Lumber and Shingle People Resolve

VANCOUVER, June 11. — Strong protests have been forwarded to Ottawa regarding the attacks made in the senate, on the Pacific coast management of the Canadian government merchant marine, and the Canadian National railways.

The timber industries council, representing the largest business interests of the province, in a resolution states that in its opinion, the western departments of the Canadian government merchant marine and the Canadian National railways are "honestly and efficiently managed, and are capable of handling any situation which may arise or develop, for the benefit of business in British Columbia." The council views with regret attempts to bring the Canadian government merchant marine and the Canadian National railways into the sphere of politics.

Suggest Political Object

The British Columbia Lumber & Shingle Manufacturers association, representing 38 of the lumber companies operating in British Columbia, in a letter to the prime minister, outlines the views of its members as expressed at a fully attended meeting. It was the unanimous opinion that the purchasing department of the Canadian National was efficiently managed in the interests of the railway and the Dominion.

On the marine, the association says:

"We wish to state unqualifiedly that the lumber industry, which is the premier and most important industry in the province, has been greatly benefited through the cooperation of the Canadian government merchant marine, and various instances can be cited where orders have been secured through the instrumentality of this organization. Some of these orders were obtained at times when they were vitally necessary to the lumber industry of British Columbia, which means that they were vitally necessary to the working population of this province."

Stevens Arrives to Assist With Election Campaign

VANCOUVER, June 11.—Arriving here to take part in the provincial campaign, Hon. H. H. Stevens declares Ottawa shows strong signs of a disintegration in the Dominion government. Referring to an alliance with the Progressives, he says the tail is wagging the dog.

LA FOLLETE PLANK OUSTED IN CLEVELAND

Republicans Adopt Platform; Insurgents Are Beaten

COOLIDGE GIVEN DEMONSTRATION

Peacetime Taxation; Adherence to World Court Among the Planks

CLEVELAND, June 11.—In a brief session marked with prolonged demonstration for President Coolidge, the Republican national convention tonight adopted its platform as reported by the resolutions committee, and rejected the La Follette planks presented by the insurgent Wisconsin delegation.

The chorus of "nays" from the Wisconsin section when the questions were put on the adoption were almost lost in the great convention hall, which had not finished reverberating from a tornado of "ayes."

Warren Moves Support

Charles B. Warren, chairman of the resolutions committee, gave the platform as it was finally approved and moved its adoption. Representative Cooper of Wisconsin presented the La Follette platform and spoke in its support. Mr. Warren made no extended argument against the La Follette planks, merely reminding the convention that the platform as brought in from the committee had been approved by every member except the member from Wisconsin, and that the committee's action might be considered a fair cross-section of the sentiment of the convention.

Prosecution of Wrongdoers

Election of senators and representatives who believe in Republican principles and acknowledge party responsibility is urged in the platform adopted. The plank declares that the government functions best when the president is supported "by a majority in congress of the same political faith, united by party principles and able by concerted action to carry out in an ordinary way a definite consistent and well-balanced program." Other high spots in the platform are: United States adherence to the world court as recommended by President Coolidge; demand for speedy prosecution of all wrongdoers in official positions and condemnation of those who "strive indiscriminately to besmirch the names of the innocent and undermine the confidence of the public in the government."

Reduction of Taxation

A declaration for rigid enforcement of the law but without specific mention of prohibition. Scientific readjustment of railroad rate schedules with a view to the encouragement of agriculture and basic industries without impairment of railroad traffic; enactment of measures to place agriculture on a basis of economic equality with other industries and government assistance in the reorganization of the market system and in diversification of crops; progressive reduction of the taxes of all the people as rapidly as may be, and placing of the federal tax system on a sound, peacetime basis.

ELECTORS FOR TWO PARTIES SAYS BOWSER

Conservative Leader Sees a Landslide Coming for the Opposition

VANCOUVER, June 11.—The Liberal party has been much more careful with its own money than it has with public funds, if expenditures in the present election campaign are any criterion, says W. J. Bowser, K.C., leader of the Conservative party.

Mr. Bowser was in excellent spirits, and the news coming to him from all parts of the province was sufficiently encouraging to enable him to bear with philosophy an attack of hay fever which has bothered him all through the campaign. The fighting leader of the opposition is not suffering from cold feet, at any rate; and his references to the enemy were all in the old trenchant spirit.

"Like Premier John Oliver," said he, "I don't know where the Liberal campaign funds are coming from, but there is no doubt that they are there. Wherever I go I am confronted with those excellent, if unflattering, portraits of the Liberal candidates displayed without stint on all the hoardings. Somebody must be paying for them, but nobody knows who it is, of course."

Those Faithful Portraits

The Conservative leader was in great god humor about the likenesses of the Liberal standard-bearers as conceived by their own artists.

"I hope they recognize themselves at last," commented Mr. Bowser, "but what would they have said if I had ever suggested that that was sort of men they really were?"

"I suppose I must congratulate them upon the apparently flourishing condition of their party exchequer. Perhaps they have been more saving with their own money than they were with that of the province."

"The campaign, as I expected and predicted it would, is settling down into a straight fight between the Conservative party and the government forces," said Mr. Bowser, speaking of the political contest. "The fact that the nominees of the various parties are now before the people has settled the public mind. The Conservative declaration of policy has contributed to the process. The electors realize now that they are going to make an important decision in two weeks' time, and they are settling down to a serious consideration of their duty as citizens.

History Will Repeat

"I do not believe the people are going to make the mistake of returning the Oliver government to a further lease of office," continued Mr. Bowser. "My reception at all my meetings has been more than cordial, and I am heard with increased attention as the date of election approaches. From what I have seen of the voters at my meetings I am convinced that history will repeat itself; and we shall see the same landslide in British Columbia as there was in Ontario when the Drury government was replaced by the Conservatives."

Twelve carloads of supporters came to the city over the Nelson-Spokane highway Sunday from Metaline Falls to take in the ball game in which Nelson turned out victor. A feature of the large attendance was the row of cars which spread across the Recreation grounds. In all, 54 cars were in the lot, and several were parked outside the gate.

The score board was working good Sunday, and, thanks to Roy Sharp, the crowd could see for itself just how the game stood at the end of each inning.

CHURCH UNION BILL AMENDED; BEFORE HOUSE

Efforts Made to Rescind Authority Clause Ruled Out of Order

SUB-SECTIONS ADDED BY BILLS COMMITTEE

Minority Given Right for Vote; Must Certify Congregational Vote

OTTAWA, June 11.—The bill to provide for the Union of the Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregational churches has now been reported by the private bills committee and is again before the house of commons. The bill has been amended by the private bills committee in a number of particulars, but the change which caused most debate was that which provides that the act shall not come into operation until and unless, the court declares the Presbyterian general assembly had authority to agree to union.

Two efforts were made today to have this amendment rescinded, but both motions were ruled out of order. A motion was passed, however, to include the report of the committee, a record motion to rescind, and this will bring the whole issue before the house, where the effort to strike out the amendment is to be renewed.

Add Three Sections

Three additional subsections were added by the house private bills committee this afternoon, to section 9 of the church union bill dealing with nonconcurring congregations, as follows:

1. Allowing nonconcurring congregations to organize as a Presbyterian, Methodist or Congregational church so long as they do not use the name of any of the uniting churches, such as "The Presbyterian church in Canada."

2. Giving the minority of a certain size the right to demand a vote if the official board of the church does not provide for it.

3. Providing that the result of the congregational vote shall be certified within one week.

The section relating to the powers of the powers of the commission, which is to determine the equities of nonconcurring congregations, was passed after some discussion without including reference to the rights of compensation of "nonconcurring members" of concurring congregations.

Disregard Proposal

The subsection dealing with the membership of the commission—three members to represent each side—and three to be umpires—was also passed, the committee disregarding an antiunionist proposal that none of the umpires should be members of any of the negotiating churches.

A subsection was added to provide that the council of the nonconcurring congregations should be held in St. Andrews church, King street, Toronto, nine months after the act comes into force unless another place is fixed.

Section 21 of the bill to provide for the operation of the various church courts pending the organization of the United church was amended to exempt nonconcurring congregations, but a proposal to exempt nonconcurring members was rejected by the promoters of the bill and negativated.

A subsection was added to section 3 to give any member of the negotiating churches the right to give notices of his intention not to become a member of the United church.

A final amendment was passed to charge the Federal Commission on compensation with the duty of protecting the rights of all claimants on the benovelent funds of the voting churches.

Urges Adoption of Preamble

WINNIPEG, June 11.—A resolution requesting the house of commons and the senate of Canada to adopt "the original preamble of the church union bill without amendment and to empower the churches to consummate the union without further delay," was adopted by the Lay Association of the Manitoba Methodist conference in session here today.

CONNIE MACK IS CONFIDENT OF A WINNER

Last Saw Pennant in Nineteen-Thirteen; Is Still Tying

Connie Mack, lean and aging, still chasing the ghost of his long dead White Elephant—the awesome beast slain by the ruthless Boston Braves in that memorable world's series of 1914—Connie Mack, ever sangine, still trying to fashion another White Elephant out of clay. Such is the Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics of 1924, whose last fat year was just a decade ago, who is patiently experimenting, year in and year out, ever attempting to build an Athletic club on a par with the famous world's champions of 1913.

Seeing that his then high-priced stars had lost the urge to win, Connie Mack determined to rid himself of his descending meteors. He was confident that he would be equal to the task of replacing his wonder team with another younger, more spirited, with the will to do. He dedicated himself to the job of building such a club.

And Connie Mack is still building.

Wrecked Great Team

One by one he dispersed his coterie of scintillants. Some he sold, others he traded, to make room for promising youngsters. Year by year Connie Mack failed in his attempt to rebuild his world championship club, and the Athletics became synonymous with the last place in the American league.

Yet repeated failures have not daunted the lank Philadelphia leader. He still thinks that he can produce a winner in Shibe park. This in spite of the fact that, although during the last winter he went deep into his club's treasury for the purchase of new material the A's are already snugly ensconced in last place.

True, Connie Mack did not think, that he could win the 1924 American league pennant when the teams went to the post last month. Before the season got under way he had already conceded this year's flag to the Yankees. But he was of the firm opinion that the Athletics would do better than hug eighth position in the race—and even in the present disheartening slump of his club he is confident that before long his boys will pull themselves together and come through.

Bound to Do Better

"The Athletics have the stuff, he said, "and they are bound to do better than they have done thus far. They have not yet hit their true stride, I look for them to find themselves in short order, and when they do, they will rise out of the rut and be up there in the first division. Barring injuries, they should stay up among the first four until the end of the season.

Connie Mack, who spent nearly $150,000 for Al Simmons, Paul Strand and Max Bishop last winter, is certain that his money was not wasted. He is especially fond of Simmons, the young outfielder he purchased from Milwaukee in the American Association. Bishop, who last season burned up the International league as a member of Jack Dunn's champion Orioles, has been laid up, and Mack blames his defection to the second baseman's poor health.

"Al Simmons is a great ball player," opines the wily Connie. "He, along with Jack Hauser and Sammy Hale, are the only members of the team who have been hitting at their normal speed this spring. When Galloway, Perkins, Miller and Welch get going it will be a different story. Strand is capable of better work with the stick than he has flashed so far.

"None of the pitchers with the exception of Ed Rommel, have pitched winning ball. Rolly Naylor will win many a ball game for us when the weather gets warmer. Old Amos Strunk still has plenty of hits left in his bat bag, and I think the team has been strengthened greatly by the addition of such a good left-handed pinch hitter as this veteran."

Last season when Mack was all set to get somewhere with the Athletics, a series of injuries to his stars forced the club deep, deep into the second division after a great spurt during the early months of the season. The jinx has already caught him this year in the guise of Max Bishops's illness. If he can successfully shake it, his prediction that the Athletics will finish in the first division will probably come true.

WHEAT GRADES AND ELEVATORS BEFORE HOUSE

Forty-eight Grades Enter Elevators; Five Come Out, Says Member

ELEVATORS MAKING EXCESSIVE PROFITS

Freight Rates on the Great Lakes Too High, is the Commission's Opinion

OTTAWA, June 11.—(Canadian Press.)—Legislation to "curb" terminal elevators was urged in the house of commons tonight by O. R. Gould, Progressive, Assiniboia. Mr. Gould complained that the terminal elevators at Fort William were making excessive profits. The discussion arose while trade and commerce estimates were under review, a discussion which ranged from freight rates on the lakes to overages and marketing of live stock. The board of grain commissioners came in for considerbale reference. Touching on the inspection and weighing department of the commission, Robert Gardiner, Progressive, Medicine Hat, said that in the crop year 1317-18, 48 different grades of wheat had been shown as going into a Fort William elevator while only five came out.

"I hope," said Hon. T. A. Low, minister of trade and commerce, in reply, "to work out some plan that will remedy the evils complained of."

Dangerous Proceedings

On an item of $1,100,000 for the administration of the Canada Grain act, several Progressive members asked about the administration of the Vancouver harbor commissioners and their criticism was crystallized by Thomas Sales, Progressive, Saltcoats, who said it was a "dangerous proceeding" to create the harbor board there and give it full powers to regulate grain handling rates without the supervision of the Canadian grain commission.

A Speakman, Progressive, Red Deer, emphasized the importance of having supervision by the grain commissioners at all points where mixing was carried on.

Those Freight Rates

H. E. Spencer, Progressive, Battle River, asked if the grain commissioners had anything to do with the fixing of freight rates on the lakes.

Mr. Low replied that they had not. In the opinion of the grain commission the rates were too high, he said.

Mr. Spencer said that he was informed that between points where there was no competition, shippers were held up by high rates while where there was competition the rates were cut.

G. G. Coote, Progressive, MacLeod, asked Mr. Low whether he was prepared to recommend that the commissioners' fee be reduced in view of the fact that last year there had been a surplus over $400,000.

To this Mr. Low replied that he would be very glad to recommend such a reduction if he felt satisfied that there would be a surplus next year. He pointed out that the result of 14 years' operation was a surplus of but $94,000.

Why Charge for Inspector?

Mr. Coote remarked that the minister of agriculture inspected apples, butter, eggs and other things free of charge. Why should there be a charge for grain inspection?

Mr. Low replied that the western farmers had the benefit of using government elevators at different points in the prairies. The capital expenditure on these elevators was borne by the government without any cost to the farmer.

John Millar, Progressive, Qu'Appile, said a cargo of grain shipped recently from Vancouver had brought five cents a bushel more than grain shipped eastbound. He inferred from this that the mixing of grain at the head of the lakes had damaged the reputation of Canadian grain and he urged that the inspection of grain from Vancouver to Montreal should be put on a national basis so that Canadian wheat would be able to maintain a national reputation. In this connection he mentioned the firm of Davidson and Smith, stating that a cargo of grain from their elevator graded No 3 had been regarded at Buffalo and classified as No. 4. Later it had been discovered that "the Mahang spout" at No. 1 elevator at Vancouver used for mixing grain, was of the same type as equipment in the Davidson and Smith elevator. These facts, he said, had led him to lose faith in the elevator of that company.

Should Know Facts

Hon. Dr. Manion, Conservative, Fort William, said he had known Messrs. Davidson and Smith for a considerable time and had known of nothing shady proven against them.

Mr. Coote was of the opinion that some elevators "did very well by themselves" in the matter of mixing and overages. He mentioned particularly the overages in the elevators of Davidson and Smith.

Mr. Manion said that as Mr. Coote had stated that the Davidson and Smith elevator had made overages amounting to 68,000 bushels in a single year, he proposed to give the overages made by the Grain Growers' Grain company elevator for a number of years. Quoting from the report of Price, Waterhouse & Co., he said that the overages from this house in 1912-13 totalled 67,875 bushels. In 1913-14 they dropped to 33,360. The following year they mounted up to 54,758 bushels. In 1915-16 they were 105,699 bushels and in 1916-17, 156,901 bushels. This was much more than twice the overages in the Davidson and Smith elevator as quoted by Mr. Coote. Dr. Manion said that he was not opposing legislation which would help the western farmers but he thought that these facts should be before the house in view of what the other members had said.

SENATE ACTION CRITICIZED BY YUKON PEOPLE

DAWSON, Y.T., June 11.—A dispatch from the British embassy in Washington informing George MacKenzie, gold commissioner here, that the United States senate had failed to ratify the treaty permitting the shipment of liquor to Yukon via the port of Skagway, has caused keen disappointment to the government and people of the Yukon generally. A considerable portion of revenue necessary for carrying on the business of the territory is derived from profits at the government liquor stores. Money is sorely needed for building roads and trails to the new Beaver and Keno Hill silver camps. The Yukon council now in session has been marking time pending ratification of the treaty before making appropriations for public improvements. The action of the senate is bitterly criticised.

SWIFT JUSTICE OR WEAPON THE LYNCH LAW

So Says Crown Prosecutor in Trial of Five Holdup Men Charged Murder

MONTREAL, June 11.—"It's a holdup. We are all dead," were the last words spoken by Henri Cleroux, chauffeur of the Banque d'Hochelaga collection car which was rifled of $142,288 here on April 1, and charged with whose murder Giuseppe Serafini, Louis Morel, Tony Frank, Leo Davis, Mike Valentino and Frank Gambino are being tried in the king's bench court here. The above was the evidence given today by Lucien Brunett, one of the bank messengers in the car. He had warned Cleroux who had paid no attention to his warning. Another bank messenger in the car, Fortier, who suffered a bullet wound in the hand in the holdup, has since had to have a finger amputated, blood poisoning having set in, it was stated.

M. Thibodeau, another messenger, and Brunett failed to recognize any of the accused at the bar as the men in the holdup whom they stated were all masked.

Justice or Lynch Law?

At the opening of the hearing this morning H. L. Calder, K.C., crown prosecutor, warned that "if we cannot make it clear that in this city swift justice will be meted out to the innocent and guilty alike, then the only weapon which will be left in our hands against crimes of this sort will be lynch law." The crown will endeavor to prove that Tony Frank not only agreed to furnish protection to the participants in the holdup for a consideration but also gave them guns to carry out the crime.

The crown will also endeavor to prove that Louis Morel was seen by different witnesses at various stages in the holdup and its after events.

The wire cutters used by Harry Stone, the slain bandit, may prove a valuable piece of evidence as the house of Philbin bought two such pairs of cutters a couple of years ago, and were pleased to sell the second of the two pairs. Their sales staff will be given the opportunity to identify the purchaser of the others.

Hearing will be resumed tomorrow.

WOMEN SUPPORTERS OF LABOR ORGANIZE

Appreciation Shown Salaried Officers; School Work Encouraging

The women who have organized in support of the Farmer-Labor candidate, George Turner, here, are busy lining up committees and planning a routine for the proposed canvass of the city, stated Mrs. Jack Long, chairwoman of the organization meeting, when seen in the party rooms yesterday.

Those on the committees, she said, would make personal visits throughout the city, in order that the women voters may understand the aims and objects of the party, as well as the issues that are before the people in this coming election.

It is hoped to form, later, an organization of women that will study the legislation of both Dominion and provincial houses, and keep in intelligent touch with the questions of the day at all times.
