ANOTHER MINE APPEAL IS WON FROM PROVINCE

Rosebery-Surprise Wins "in Part;" Costs Against the Government

News that a second big mining suit in the Kootenay in a few days has been won against the government of British Columbia, on appeal in the supreme court of Canada, is contained in a wire received Wednesday by Hamilton & Wragge, the Nelson legal firm, from their Ottawa agents.

The appeal of the Rosebery-Surprise Mining company, against its assessment for taxation, for certain years has been granted, "in part," with costs against the province in all courts.

May Be Depletion

In part at least, the claim of the mining company was that it was entitled to have the depletion of the company's property through the extraction of ore, considered, in levying taxes, a principle that the Dominion recognizes.

Whether the right of the government to levy retroactive taxes was involved in this case, is not known here, or in New Denver, which was communicated with yesterday on the resumption of telephone service, but it is known that the sum total of government taxes objected to by the company, and Senator William Kent, of California, former owner of the Surprise mine, on various grounds, was about $54,000.

Senator Kent, on June 6, won his appeal against some $21,500 of retroactive taxes levied a couple of years ago against him for profits made in 1915 and 1917, years in which he had already paid the taxes at the time collectable.

BACK DOWN ON LAKE TARIFFS

Government Amends Law Requiring Filing by Shipping Companies

OTTAWA, June 19.—Amendments to the great lakes freight rates passed last session, is announced by the minister of commerce, Hon. T. A. Low.

Under the present amendments, it will be no longer necessary for shipowners to file their tariffs with the board of grain commissioners, but instead shippers including corporations are to be required to file that body a copy of the charter party, bill of lading or contract made for the carriage of grain.

The act passed last year provided for the filing of tariffs by ship owners, and by shippers as well: but in the latter part of the season, filing of rates by the shipper alone was accepted as compliance with the law.

Winnipeg Watches for Cyclone but Is Disappointed

WINNIPEG, June 19.—A high wind, accompanied by heavy showers, blew across Winnipeg today, but there was no sign of the cyclone which, it was predicted by Minnesota weather officials, might strike Manitoba "at any instant." Rain has been general in the province during the past two days, and much benefit to the growing crops has resulted.

MONTREAL, June 19.—The newspapers in Montreal, which send thousands of copies of their publications by mail every day, were hampered in their deliveries by the postal strike today. Some of them dispatched papers by motor to nearby points, and it was reported that one of the bigger publications was negotiating for airplanes.

CONCILIATION CAN'T BE HAD SAYS MURDOCK

Men Offer to Return If Taken Under Industrial Disputes Act

CANADA'S MAIL MUST MOVE SAYS STEWART

Lamp Still Burns for the Strikers to Return, but Not for Long

OTTAWA, June 19.—(Canadian Press.)—There is no possibility of the government appointing a board of conciliation to investigate the postal strike. Hon. James Murdock, minister of labor, stated this positively this evening. Mr. Murdock said that even before the postal workers went out on strike the appointment of a conciliation board to investigate the wage dispute would not have been possible. Salaries of civil servants came under the Civil Service act, and the government could not appoint a board or commission to revise the conclusions of the civil service commission.

Men's Offer

TORON, June 19.—Midnight found tthe executive and members of the Canadian Federation of Postal Employees determined to continue the strike.

Long-distance conversations with Hon. Charles Stewart, acting postmaster-general, convinced the strike leaders, they state, that there would be no speedy ending of the strike unless at the government terms, which the postmen here decline to accept. This is borne out by the dispatches from Ottawa that the government will not grant a board of arbitration.

Reports from western Ontario indicate most of the strikers holding out, although Hamilton workers have decided to return and Guelph decided not to strike. The railway mail clerks in Toronto have decided to strike, and reports from North Bay indicate the same determination.

OTTAWA, June 19.—(Canadian Press.)—Two telegrams, one of which apparently requests that the striking postal workers be granted a board of conciliation under the Industrial Disputes act to investigate the differences between them and the government, have been received by Hon. James Murdock, minister of labor from G. R. Jackson, chairman of the railway mail clerks' federation, Toronto.

In the meantime," says one of the telegrams, "will accept the present present salaries, benefits, ante-dated April 18, 1924."

Mr. Jackson further asked that in view of the June 18 strike not being postponed in time, protection be given to such organizations that went out on strike on that date.

Mr. Murdock replied this evening by requesting Mr. Jackson to state definitely whether or not the men were on a strike "authorized by you and your associates." He informed Mr. Jackson that he would answer the questions contained in the telegram on receipt of a definite reply.

Toronto Optimistic

TORONTO, June 19.—Developments tonight indicate that an agreement will soon be reached between the striking postal employees and the Dominion government.

At a meeting of the strikers held here today, a resolution submitted by the executive of the Canadian Federation of Postal Employees was adopted, suggesting that the deadlock be broken by the government placing the postal employees under the Industrial Disputes act, by which they could demand a board of arbitration to investigate their claim for higher classifications than provided for by the recommendation of the civil service commission, under which all civil servants are at present placed.

The government has replied asking if the fedeeration throughout Canada is behind the executive, before it will bind itself by giving a definite answer.

The executive has not yet responded.

Service Badly Crippled

In the meantime the postal service in Ontario and Quebec is badly crippled. The confusion caused last night by postponing the date of the strike, then placing it back again to the original time of 5 o'clock in the afternoon, prevented uniformity in the men going out, but by noon today all branches of the service, with the exception of the railway mail clerks, were out in most parts of Ontario, and at Montreal.

Another order sent out today definitely calling the strike at 5 o'clock this afternoon for those not already out, seems to have brought very little response.

Stewart's Statement

OTTAWA, June 19.—(Canadian Press.)—"The mail service of Canada must move. I am going to take, so far as I can, every legitimate means to move it."

So declared Hon. Charles Stewart, acting postmaster-general, in the house, shortly before dinner recess tonight, when questioned on government plans in the postal strike.

Mr. Stewart reviewed the negotiations of yesterday, closing with a government offer to maintain the present rates for the lower paid men, with the addition of a promise to review the whole situation after the revision of rates had been concluded for the civil service as a whole.

The minister said that his personal sympathy was strongly with labor, but he felt that it was the govern-

FARMER-LABOR NAMES TICKET UNITED STATES

McDonald for President; Bouck for Vice; Communists Rule

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 19.—Driven to a conclusion in an eight-hour session, the National Farmer-Labor party convention adjourned tonight after nominating a provisional ticket, adopting the platform advocated by the Communists, and electing a national committee.

The Foster-Ruthenberg cohorts were in the saddle throughout the proceedings, voting down all attempts by Minnesota farmers to chang the nationalization planks in the platform, and hooting those who advocated modification.

Delegates trickled from the hall in small groups as item after item of the Communistic program was jammed through.

The national nominees are:

For president, Duncan McDonald, Illinois.

For vice-president, William Gouck, Washington.

POPE WANTS DOPE ON COAL RESERVES

Wants Special Senate Committee to Inquire Into Leases

OTTAWA, June 19.—(Canadian Press.)—Senator Pope in the senate today spoke on his inquiry in reference to the alienation of coal lands within the national coal reserves in Alberta, and also regarding the correspondence between the government of Canada and that of the United States insofar as the Issenberg lease in this area was concerned.

He gave notice of a special committee to inquire into the position of leases in the national coal reserve.

Dandurand Objects

Senator Dandurand said that there were 290,000 acres in this coal area, and but seven leases, amounting to 7500 acres, held by private parties. These leases were really in existence before the reserve had been created, or application made for them.

The government was not in a position to deal with the international phase of the situation, but he would give all other information asked for except that as regards the correspondence with the United States authorities. He could not see the necessity of a private special committee.

Senator Pope felt that the facts about this coal reserve were being concealed. These leases to private parties had been in arrears, and had not been cancelled, as had been done with the Issenburg lease. This discrimination had produced serious complications, and the country was in danger of losing the whole coal area.

MAIL STRIKE ON IN SPOTTY WAY IN EAST

Is Confined to Ontario and Quebec, and to Only Parts of Them

SOME STAFFS OUT, THEN RETURN AGAIN

Toronto Takes on Hundreds of New; Montreal Bans Strikers

OTTAWA, June 19. — (Canadian Press.)—Advices received by the post office department tonight indicate that the strike of postal employees is localized at points in Ontario and Quebec. In some cases men on strike have returned to work.

In the maritimes there are no defections, according to the official reports. At Moncton, N.B., some employees went out, but later returned.

The west is reported to be standing against the strike. Calgary postal workers have voted against it. In official circles here the impression is that the strike will not be of long duration.

How It Stands All Over

Late reports from principal points are:

Montreal—Half of the postal clerks remain on duty, but all the letter carriers are out. Situation said to be well in hand, with plenty of applications for the vacancies. Delivery to public from all postal stations will commence tomorrow.

Toronto—Five hundred men taken on. General delivery starts tomorrow.

Quebec City—Post office employees all on duty but railway mail service.

Hamilton—Postmaster reports that striking clerks have waited on him for permission to return to work. He has been notified by wire that the clerks must return unconditionally, and the government will treat them magnanimously if possible, but that no promises can be made.

St. Catharines—Entire staff returned to duty.

Sault Ste. Marie—All out except one.

Belleville—Striking postal clerks and letter carriers returned to duty this afternoon.

St. Thomas—Letter carriers out for a short time, but have returned to duty. Postal clerks remain on duty.

Western provinces—No men reported on strike.

Ontario Situation

Other reports received than those by officials of the post office department indicated that the strike is mostly confined to Ontario.

At Brantford, Windsor, Kitchener, Niagara Falls and Peterboro the men are practically all out on strike.

Ottawa, Chatham, Sarnia and Stratford postles have definitely refused to join the strike. At Guelph the men are holding a meeting tonight to decide on what action they will take.

Halifax—No men reported on strike.

St. John, N.B.—Business as usual, all employees working.

Winnipeg Disobeys Call

WINNIPEG, June 19.—The general strike call for 5 o'clock was not obeyed in Winnipeg, and all branches of the city's postal service are at work as usual tonight. According to local officials, the men have not decided to make a move.

There is dissatisfaction with conditions, however, an official of the clerks' association said late tonight, and a feeling that a meeting should be called is growing.

"While Winnipeg is still 'sitting on the fence,' developments in the east may precipitate matters," John Brown, president of the local organization, stated.

"As far as the railway mail clerks were concerned, no request came from the east today for a walkout here," said W. C. McPherson of the railway mail clerks.

In view of the possibility of Winnipeg postal employees remaining at work, the stand of the Canadian National express employees is said by an officer of their union to be pacific; that is, he said, he did not believe the mail clerks would refuse to handle the mail if handed to them by the present workers in the postal service. He did think, however, that if the present staff went out, the express staff would refuse to handle mail sent out by strike-breakers.

Montreal Won't Reinstate

MONTREAL, June 19.—None of the striking Montreal postal employees will be reinstated in their positions, Postmaster Victor Gaudet announced tonight.

"So far as the Montreal post office is concerned, we have finished with the strikers," Mr. Gaudet said.

"A number of strikers appeared at the main post office tonight and asked to be reinstated in their positions, but all were refused. All others who have left their employment will be dealt with in the same manner."

Vancouver Defers Action

VANCOUVER, June 19.—There will be no postal strike in Vancouver for the next 48 hours at least, if at all, the department employees of this city having passed a resolution, at a mass meeting here tonight, to defer action until further word is received of proposals made by the government.

Regina Expects No Strike

REGINA, June 19.—Charles Gardner, general secretary of the Amalgamated Civil Servants, tonight adhered to the opinion that there would be no postal strike in western Canada.

In the meantime the local Regina situation remains undefined, as neither the local branch of the Amalgamated Civil Servants nor its executive have held a meeting. It is predicted, however, that a general meeting of the local will be called some

DEMOCRATS IN A BABEL OVER CANDIDACIES

McAdoo and Smith, Dark Horses, Wet and Dry, Klan, a Mixture

NEW YORK, June 19.—McAdoo, Al Smith, "dark horse," two-thirds rule, wet and dry, Ku Klux Klan, these were some of the words that rose above the pre-convention babel of Democratic tongues in New York today.

The supporters of William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, are making the greatest show of confidence over the outcome for the balloting of presidential nominee in Madison Square Garden. Their stand on the abolition of the two-thirds rule for nomination charge of his campaign, and throughout the day was busy in conference with advisers.

Al Smith went swimming today, after sending his campaign manager, Franklin D. Roosevelt, to the country for a holiday. Smith's supporters are quite as enthusiastic as the McAdoo men, while sinister rumors about innumerable dark horses are continually going around as rivals arrive.

In the meantime outstanding platform contest appears likely to develop over an effort to approve opened condemning the Ku Klux Klan.

Hertzog Party Have a Majority of Twenty-seven

CAPETOWN, South Africa, June 19.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—At a late hour tonight the state of the parties as a result of Tuesday's general election, was:

South African, 52.

Nationalists, 59.

Labor, 18.

Independent, 1.

The five remaining results are not expected for 48 hours, owing to the time required to collect the ballot boxes in widely scattered country districts.

It is now regarded as almost a certainty that the Nationalist-Labor coalition will have a majority of 27.

Death Sentence Imposed on Man Who Flogged Baby

CALGARY, June 19.—William Hilsabeck, farmer of Lone Butte, Alta., was sentenced to be hanged at Fort Saskatchewan, September 30, 1924, after a jury had returned a verdict of "guilty of murder," at Hanna tonight. The death sentence was imposed by Mr. Justice Tweedie.

Hilsabeck was convicted of the murder of his seven-year-old son, Archie, whom he whipped to death in a fit of rage at his home at Clivedale, Alta., January 3 this year.

Canadian Boat Beached Near Drydock; Montcalm to Pick Passengers Up

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., June 19.—Badly holed as a result of a collision with the Italian steamer Clara Camus, off Cape Race today, the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services liner Metagama reached the port of St. John's just before dusk.

The big liner had a very heavy list to port as she came through the narrows, and showed every sign of being in great difficulties, though she was making her way slowly under her own steam.

The Italian ship had her bows badly crumpled in, and presents all the appearance of a ship that has been in the very worst sort of a head-on impact

Off Cape Race

The collision occurred when the ships were about seven miles east-southeast of Cape Race. A dense fog prevailed at the time, and they struck. So thick was the weather that the Italian steamer was right on to the Canadian ship and crashed into her broadside before a warning could be raised from either craft.

The Rosalind, Kenbane Head and Canada responded to the S.O.S. signals, and the steamer Senef immediately got away from St. John's.

The Clara Camus got under way first, and reached port an hour before the Metagama, which arrived here escorted by the Rosalind and a couple of seagoing tugs.

Montcalm to Get Passengers

MONTREAL, June 19.—In a statement issued by the Canadian Pacific Steamship Services headquarters here tonight, the information is given that the steamship Montcalm, which is on her way from the United Kingdom to this port, has been instructed to change her course and call at St. John's, Nfld., in order to pick up the passengers of the Metagama. The passengers will be landed at Quebec with the least possible delay.

The statement adds that no less of life or injuries are reported.

AUSTRALIA SAYS IT ISN'T FINAL

Narrow Defeat of Preference at Westminster Gives Hope

MELBOURNE, June 19.—(Canadian Press Cable, via reuter's.)—Federal Premier Bruce, while regretting the decision of the British house with regard to the preference resolutions, expresses the opinion that the narrow majority shows the decision is not final, though it might be accepted for the present.

Economic Committee

Premier Bruce welcomes the intimation from Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, that the British government is now prepared to indorse the appointment of an imperial economic committee which could consider the matter of marketing and distributing Dominion produce.

Matthew Charlton, leader of the federal Labor party, says he realizes that it is a matter which concerns the British people.

"We have no right to criticize the conduct of Britain's internal affairs."

The Melbourne Age says:

"The little England supporters of the British Labor government take a regrettable, sordid, and narrow view of imperial relations."

FARMER-LABOR CANDIDATE HAS LARGE MEETING

George Turner Advocates Health Insurance for Working Man

SCORES MRS. BROWN FOR SPEECH HERE

Says McHardy Did Not Get All for Nelson, Houston Got Some Things

That the new Essondale hospital must have been built for the insane by the insane; that Mr. Bowser, when questioned about his past, says to forget it, his future is spotless; that the lady who spoke here for the Liberals made some remarks which, to put it mildly, were foolish; and that there was a "joker" attached to a great many of the acts which the Liberals prided themselves on passing, in the shape of a proviso that they would come into force when the other provinces adopted the same legislation, were statements made last night at the meeting held by the Farmer-Labor party, in the Memorial hall.

At the meeting, which was social-political, an attractive program was given by Mrs. Hedley Rendell, whose song was encored; little Miss Ruth Sindall, who also proved popular, and Mrs. Gordon Allen, who gave a recitation, encored twice. In addition, an orchestra played.

Alderman George Turner, the Farmer-Labor candidate, who was received enthusiastically, said in opening that he was not a politician and perhaps not a speaker. "We are handicapped considerably on account of not being able to have good speakers for our meetings," he said. "We do not specialize in raising speakers among the working men. We have no slush fund as the other parties have. They have been spending about $100 a day, since the campaign began. We have spent about $100 altogether—because we did not have any more to spend.

"You have heard a great deal about the freight rates. It is not such a big fight as we are led to believe. You know that this province owns a railway of its own. Naturally you would expect that on it the freight rates would be down to a moderate amount. But let me give you these figures.

Oliver's Freight Rates

"On the Pacific Great Eastern first-class freight rates for 50 miles per 100 pounds are 69 cents; on the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National the rate is 45 cents. The rate for 100 miles on the Pacific Great Eastern is $1.02; on the other two railways, 81 cents. For 200 miles on the Pacific Great Eastern it is $1.58; on the other two, $1.19. The government is running that Pacific Great Eastern, and it seems to be running it into a hole.

"Now to come to Mrs. Stanley Brown and some of the statements she made here recently. It is not pleasant to criticise a lady, but she made certain rather foolish statements, though I have heard it more strongly put.

"Mrs. Brown said, 'I can hardly see why you should have a Labor candidate here. The Liberal government has been exceedingly gracious to the labor element in British Columbia, and it seems ungracious to put up a Labor candidate here.' Apparently that lady thinks the labor section is not entitled to very much. Mr. Brown makes much of the fact that the Liberal government gave some legislation for labor. But an election was coming on, and a little bait had to be hung out.

"Now as to her statements that Major Burde is a supporter of the Liberal party. I know Major Burde is not a Liberal, and is not a supporter of the Oliver government except on rare occasions.

"Mrs. Brown also said, 'Unless the premier is reelected and permitted to carry on the freight rates fight, you will never get another chance to reduce them.' Apparently no other government would be listened to in Ottawa. (Laughter.)

Mrs. Brown's Logic

"The Conservative and Provincial parties say that they will lower taxes by cutting down expenditures,' said Mrs. Brown at another point. She believed that they would do this by closing Tranquille and Essondale, and by reducing workmen's compensation and mothers' pensions. Why didn't she go on and say they would close the penitentiary? It would have been just as reasonable.

"I'll give you just one more statement of hers. 'Unless you send Kenneth Campbell down, you will not get needed reforms for the next four or five years.' In other words, unless you send Kenneth Campbell down to Victoria, no one else will get anything for Nelson.

Eight Hours With String

"Some of the acts claimed by the Oliver government was not passed by them at all, and some of them were passed as good business propaganda, but they forgot to tell you that there was a joker attached to some of the legislation they passed, in the shape of a proviso that they would come into force when the other provinces adopted the same legislation. And as the other provinces adopt the same proviso, you can see you might wait some time for the enforcement of the act.

"The Oliver government is calling attention to the fact that it has increased the compensation under the Workmen's Compensation act from 55 to 62½ per cent on wage loss a man suffers when he is injured. Most men I know are not getting a living wage now. And yet the government offers him 62½ per cent of his wage when he is injured. I do not think I would care to take very much credit for that sort of legislation.

"The Oliver government also takes credit for raising the widows' pensions from $20 to $35 a month. You ladies in the audience will realize just how easy it would be to live on $35 a month. The allowance for each child is raised to $7.50 a month. I wouldn't like to have to raise my children on that.

"There is a Liberal act about the night employment of women. It reads well, but it is not enforced. Neither is the act concerning night work of young persons under 18. They have done some fine things, some very fine things, in the way of social and labor legislation, but not all of them are enforced.

He spoke of the very material increase in the debt of the province. "It is true that the condition calls for heavy expenditure, but if I went on the Liberal principle I would, if my house needed repairing, borrow more than I could hope to pay back in 50 years, instead of making the repairs I could afford."

Shoveling Election Gravel

Alderman Turner then took up the question of the jobs given to "every man and all the teams in the country, working on the roads. Probably they will all be fired June 21. I remember on a former occasion, just before election, seeing 18 teams of horses and dozens of men in one gravel pit, taking out what was called 'election gravel' in a section where gravel had not been put on the roads for years. The men on now are not building roads; they are not repairing them. The great idea is to keep the boys feeling good."

He discussed the Sumas reclamation scheme, and spoke of Merville, one of the soldier settlements. "Unfortunately," he said, "many of the men are in the United States now, and are not coming back. The government that produced the policy of running out of the country the very best men it has is not a good government to have."

Pattullo's Crofters

So as Mr. Pattullo was going to Europe, and taking Mary Ellen along just to make things pleasant, he developed a scheme to bring out Scotch crofters. "They were settled," said Mr. Turner, "these splendid types of settlers, in places where no one could make a living, and this winter these people will be in Victoria or Vancouver, probably in the bread lines, and you and I will have to feed them.

"Last year the government decided to make a timber cruise of the province. A firm at the coast offered to do it for $100,000. The government refused, ad had one of its good Liberal friends make the cruise for $200,000.

"Then there is the Campbell warehouse in Vancouver, where they make imported Scotch whisky and Jamaica rum," he went on. "You probably all know it cost the government $150,000 to buy, though it was assessed at $58,000. Mr. Campbell is a good Liberal, and perhaps helped to pay for some of the beautiful election posters.

Brewers Contribution?

"The statement has been made that the brewers contributed $100,000 to the campaign fund. I only know I did not get any of this. But Mr. Manson decided to increase the price of beer by $1.50 a barrel for the sake of the brewers, and what more natural, if they made an additional $300,000, than that they should return $100,000 for a campaign fund."

The speaker said he had heard Mr. Brewster, late premier, and M. A. MacDonald, promise in 1916 in the opera house here that if the Liberals were returned, the patronage system would be done away with.

"I believe the patronage evil is 100 per cent greater today than it was in 1916," Mr. Turner said, "and Mr. Bowser's idea of good government is to get into office and proceed to fire all these good Liberals, and put good Conservatives in their places."

In speaking of Major Burde, he said: "He is not a labor man, not even a working man. Major Burde has a lot of lumberjacks and sawmill men, and he caters to them to get into the house."

McHardy's Accomplishments

"Now to come to McHardy. I have known him pretty well for many years. I sat with him on the council for a couple of years. The amount of things he has done for this city is astonishing when you come to think of them (laughter). I have only been here about 17 years, so I do not know much about the early days, but I had an idea that John Houston did some of the things that apparently McHardy did for Nelson. I believe that John Houston got the power plant at Bonnington, and most of our public works, but apparently McHardy did almost everything.

"According to the staggering line of stuff in his window, he gave you good roads in the city. You gave yourself good roads here. You paid your taxes into the city hall, and we distributed them for you.

"You know Mr. McHardy was always getting the ear of the government. John Oliver we were told, used to pay a lot of attention to him. Now Mr. McHardy did not do this all out of the goodness of his heart. You paid for his trips, and for what he did."

For Health Insurance

Mr. Turner went fully into the question of health insurance, which he said he strongly favored, and would work for if he were elected, and quoted a personal experience of being on half-time when he was ill for almost five years.

"I believe that a man who performs useful service to a community is an asset to a community, and should be taken care of when he needs it," he asserted.

He gave an instance in the boundary country of a team running away down a hill with a heavy load and the driver being seriously injured. The foreman, when he was asked to send Bill into the hospital at once, said, with reference to the horses tangled up in the lines and wagon: "Never mind Bill. Get after that team before they kill themselves."

"It does not cost anything to kill or maim working men, as they can easily be replaced, and perhaps for less money," he said.

"If you will elect me I will try to get health insurance on the books, he said. "I feel that there should be certain amendments made to the income tax, too."

"Coming to education, I believe that all text books should be made uniform in the western provinces, and should be free. The school boards cannot rectify this kind of thing. The department of education is to blame in that respect. I believe the education act should be amended.

"I believe also that we should get along without the poll tax. But it is not the direct tax which is hurting the people; it is the indirect tax which they pay on every time they buy food or clothing.

"I am not going to tell you that the changing of these things would cure the province. The trouble with the province, with Canada, and with the whole world, is that it is suffering from the eternal scramble for the almighty dollar, and just as long as you have this, you will have the same troubles, and you will have war. And you will suffer until goods are produced for the common good rather than for profit (hear, hear)."

Emigration was touched on by speaker, and he said in conclusio

"In view of the facts, if you you need a change in Victoria, if you consider I can at least in making one, I can assure you do my best.

"I am going to go after som these changes, and if you do like them, you had better mak your minds about it now."

Dock Dead Workers Later

When Mr. Turner spoke of road work being done just b the audience: "Yes, and they dock them a dollar a day, an the same as they did in 1921, the election is over, and at the time they increased their own aries as members of the le ture."

At the close of Mr. Turner's sp a woman in the audience asked Turner to give his views on the plebescite. Mr. Turner said he been asked to keep off what felt to be delicate matter, bu personally was going to vote ag beer by the glass (applause), an hoped that enough people in N would do the same to defeat plebescite. He had seen the bad sults of beer by the glass in Qu

Eaton Amazed at Waste

Dr. F. S. Eaton was also a sp er, and said in part:

"I was amazed at the public penditure when I arrived in the ince. It seems a pity that province with such wonderful ural resources there should b little care taken in expenditur public money.

"I find, however, that there lethargy among the people as election draws near, and they taking a real interest in wh going on.

"I have watched Mr. Turner a work here, and I think you chosen a suitable representative plause) not particularly as a man, but as a man."

Dr. Eaton went into the questi debt in 1917 and today, touche the taxes, and spoke of the "p gate expenditure" of the Oliver ernment. He instanced the we Oliver, McGeer's trip to O which cost $88,000, the Esso doors, and said of that instit that it was a "hospital built fo insane by the insane" (laughter

He said that when Mr. Oliver asked why he spent $600,000 court house in Prince Rupert said Mr. Bowser had promised the people.

Revelstoke Bridge

The bridge at Revelstoke, cost $250,000, was also mentione the speaker.

"These people should run our ernment as we in our small way run our own business," he said. Bowser when questioned about past, said to forget it, but tha future was spotless."

He stated that he had been that 100,000 ex-service men have from Canada to the United S in the last few years."

"They tell me, too," he said, over 250,000 people from C went to the States last year, and there are 2,000,000 Canadians in the States now. It is not cause the States is better sit reographically, but because Canadians were unable to ge crative employment in this try."

Mrs. J. E. MacKenzie was man, and opened the evening's gram with a short speech in of Mr. Turner.

Alderman A. I. Austin, who have spoken, was detained, spoke at a meeting in Trail night.

THE COACH'S JOB

Something of the taskmaster, the general and the diplomat, and a lot of the doctor must be hidden away in the man who would be the coach of a successful football or track team.

Emergencies of all kinds are his daily routine. A thorough knowledge of first aid is as essential as a knowledge of the game played by his men.

Bumps, bruises, strained ligaments and muscles are every day happenings, but the coach never becomes contemptuous of them. He knows that if neglected, they may result in anything.

Trainers everywhere keep Absorbine Jr. in their lockers. They use it not only for sprains, cuts and bruises, but for the skin and blood protection of its disinfecting properties. In one convenient container it combines the functions of a number of preparations.

It is the first of all the First Aid requisites in use in all of the leading athletic clubs.

And there are just as many everyday uses for Absorbine Jr. in the homes of Canada as there are in the training camps. Always keep it in the home where you can "jump to it" in case of emergency. $1.25 at your druggist.

MOVIE MAD

By HAZEL DEYO BATCHELOR

Copyright, 1924, by Public Ledger Company.

Gloria King comes to Hollywood with the idea of making good in the movies. She becomes hardened by the life and is foolish enough to marry Rolf Templeton, the great screen star, a man she despises but one who can further her career. Later she is so unhappy that she leaves him, and it is then that she discovers how wrong her ideas have been, for she makes good through talent alone. She plunges into a life of gayety but is brought to a realization of where she is drifting when she runs over a little boy in her car. Just as she makes plans for divorce she hears that Rolf is dangerously ill.

CHAPTER XXXVIII.
The Doctor's Verdict

"YES," Gloria's voice was still even, but this time she did not correct the speaker by saying "This is Gloria King," she let the "Mrs. Templeton" go.

"This is Dr. Irwin speaking."

"Yes, Dr. Irwin. Your nurse said you wished to speak to me."

"She told you, of course, that Mr. Templeton is very ill, threatened with pneumonia."

"Yes, she did."

"And she asked you to come over?"

"Yes, Dr. Irwin, and I told her it was impossible for me to come over tonight. I am sure Mr. Templeton has the best of care."

"You are his wife," the doctor answered quickly. "Your place is here beside him."

Gloria drew a long breath. She was suddenly furious at this man's determination, his attempt to criticize her.

"I don't think you understand, Dr. Irwin," she said icily. "Mr. Templeton and I are not living together. Under the circumstances it would be impossible for me to come to him."

"You mean you won't'"

"If you put it that way. Of course, if there is anything I can do ——" she amended quickly hastily, but there came the click of the receiver hung on the hook. She was cut off.

The color was hot in her face as she snapped on the lights in the sitting room. How dared he ring off like that. How dared he be so rude? She was justified in refusing to go out at this time of night. Why, it was after 2 o'clock. And, of course, the doctor exaggerated the symptoms. Doctors always did. Rolf had a cold, and they leaped to the conclusion that he would develop punemonia. No doubt, he would be very much better in the morning.

After a time, Gloria went back to bed. For a long time she lay there wide-eyed, unable to sleep, and when she finally did doze off, it was to dream unpleasantly and to wake the next day with a dull, insistent headache and a feeling of impending disaster.

Just before she left for the studio, she went to the telephone and called Templeton's number. A wait of a moment, and then the discreet voice of the Japanese butler at the other end.

"How is Mr. Templeton this morning?" she asked briskly. This time she would get the truth, and so sure was she that Kito would report Rolf better, that a little smile curved her lips.

"He velly sick man, velly sick man," the butler returned breathlessly. "Who is this please?"

But Gloria had not waited for more than Kito's first sentence. She had rung off.

As she drove to the studio, she was conscious of a strange feeling of unreality. Somehow she could not think of Templeton in the grip of any serious illness. He was so vital, so very much alive, so entirely sufficient unto himself. How he would chafe at restriction! She tried to visualize him prostrate in bed with two nurses in attendance and found it somehow impossible. She could not believe that he was in danger, and she tried to make light of the whole thing so as to dismiss it from her thoughts, but when she reached the studio Lucile came running up to her, her face very grave.

"Oh, Gloria, of course, you've heard about Rolf. They say he has pneumonia. He caught a terrible cold through playing that rain scene in "Tropical Love." Of course, he was careless and stayed too long in his wet clothes. Isn't it terrible?"

She eyed Gloria closely, her expression tinged with curiosity. Most of the film company had their own opinions about the separation of the Templetons, but no one really knew the truth.

GYPSIES PASS THROUGH CITY

Two Autos Carry Number to North Shore, Where Camp Is Established

Two automobile loads of gypsies passed through the city yesterday and went along the Balfour road, where it is presumed they are camping.

The bands did not stop in the city as was anticipated much to the relief of local police officers. They have been touring the district telling fortunes and originally hail from across the boundary line.

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., June 19.—A man who gave his name as Rev. H. R. James of Stittsville, Ont., was arrested here today charged with insulting Ethel Young, 19-year-old schoolgirl. James was arrested on a description furnished by the girl, who, it is alleged, told the police that a man had seized her by the arm but let her go when she screamed.

The police said tonight that James admitted he was the man wanted and said that he had walked to Fredericksburg from New York.

DAKOTA COUNTS TOLL OF TORNADO

Four Known to Be Dead; Property Damage Is Nearly Million

FARGO, N.D., June 19.—Bearing the brunt of one of the most severe wind, hail and electrical storms in this state late yesterday and last night western North Dakota today counted the toll—four dead, an estimated property damage of more than $600,000 and unestimated damage to telephone and telegraph wires and railroad lines which tonight are still disrupted.

Two men were drowned northeast of Bismarck and two were killed beneath an avalanche of building material when a lumber shed caved in at Dickinson.

Additional loss of life is feared. Two men are believed to have been killed when 20 Northern Pacific railway freight cars were thrown into a ditch near Dickinson. They were "riding the rods."

Vote Early Today

It will assist all three political parties in Nelson if their supporters will vote as early as possible today.

Workers in the committee rooms will have on their shoulders the burden of getting out what will probably be the largest vote in the history of the Nelson riding.

If too large a proportion of the vote is not polled until late in the day it will increase the work of the committees.

Every vote which is polled early will assist the workers of the party which the voter is supporting, by reducing the number of votes to be got into touch with during the afternoon.

So vote early in the morning if possible. If not, get down to the polls early in the afternoon. It will help the cause you want to see win.

Your Bus Is Not a Luxury

To those who are at the heart of the motor vehicle industry the periodical rumor of trade depression is always a surprise. The rumor itself is based on the fallacy that the motor vehicle is a luxury and therefore enjoys an uncertain sale, rising with prosperity born of other activities, falling when incomes are curtailed by business or industrial conditions elsewhere.

Those who have studied the motor vehicle industry know that the strength of its growth lies not only in the amazing speed with which it has developed but in the steady and consistent advance in consumption of product.

This consistent growth is based simply on the fact that the motor vehicle is not a luxury at all, but an approved and necessary factor in the transportation problem which itself is the foundation of the country's welfare. If by some improbable cataclysm all transportation could vanish overnight, the nation would starve, its commercial as well as industrial activities would plunge into bankruptcy and wretchedness of the worst kind would annihilate the people.

Transportation is the key to the nation's business, which is its life. And this transportation includes, in the most comprehensive manner, rail, road and waterway. The flexibility of the motor vehicle, its economy, its speed all have made it the favored medium and its increased use is limited only by the development of highways to care for the traffic. There is nothing abnormal or surprising in the volume of business the motor vehicle represents when its real basis is understood. It has become a necessity whose uses increase with each improvement which extends its availability. It cannot collapse unless the nation ceases from doing its business, a suicide no one is hair-brained enough to anticipate.

The Lighter Side

You're right, Ethel. The sun never sets on the tax collectors.

—o—

An old-fashioned man is one who considers twin beds almost equivalent to a divorce.

—o—

Yes, Ethel, the best place to carry your money is in the left-hand lower pocket of a good bank.

—o—

Why not add a confetti-throwing contest to the olympic program and let the society boys get in?

—o—

We've found the prize stingy woman. When she wears out a paper of pins she has them resharpened.

—o—

A woman doesn't settle down to housekeeping until she gets the habit of thinking she smells something burning.

—o—

The modern tendency is to keep the same apartment year after year. It's too much trouble to tear down the radio set.

—o—

It may reach the point where we'll hear this: "Look at that hussy! Of all the nerve! Wearing paint just like mine!"

—o—

If you're busy you don't have much time to be unhappy. And you don't have much time to be happy either, a cynic might add.

—o—

Ask a traveling man what kind of trip he had and he'll probably say, "Rotten. Didn't hear a single good joke while I was away."

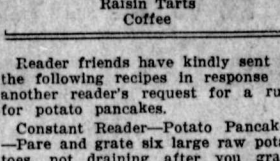
—o—

Modern definitions of home. Wife's: A place to change her clothes. Husband's: A place to keep his liquor. Child's: A free lunch counter.

—o—

The old method won't work these days. Tell her, "If you don't marry me I'll shoot myself," and she'll say, "Fine! That'll save me the trouble."

—o—



Poise is the quality that keeps a small-town man serene the first time he negotiates Main street with a walking stick.

—o—

A recent news dispatch told the story of a man who was run over by a hearse. He must have been slower than the proverbial snail with broken arches.

—o—

Too many girls in the modern chorus. You have to see the show twice—once to pick out the girl you want to watch, and the second time to watch her.

—o—

A friend tells us he doesn't go out much. He stays at home every night and listens to his wife or the radio, whichever happens to be broadcasting.

—o—

It's impossible to satisfy a critic. A critic kicks because novels aren't like real life, and in the same breath howls because real life isn't romantic like the novels.

—o—

Yeah, here's the way it goes. Detective: "I've a lurking suspicion that the person to whom this skeleton belonged is dead." Second ditto: "Wait! Don't be too hasty."

Reader friends have kindly sent in the following recipes in response to another reader's request for a rule for potato pancakes.

Constant Reader—Potato Pancakes—Pare and grate six large raw potatoes, not draining after you grate them. Add four eggs, one teaspoon of salt, one large onion grated, and two tablespoons of flour (or enough to hold the mixture together in frying). Beat well and fry in a hot, greased pan, browning on both sides. This recipe may be changed so that only two eggs are used instead of four; but if this change is made, one level teaspoon of baking powder should be mixed with the flour.

Mrs. C. L.—Potato Pancakes—Wash four potatoes, pare, and grate them, adding one tablespoon of salt, one beaten and one well-beaten egg. Drop this mixture by tablespoonfuls into hot fat and fry on both sides. Serve with maple syrup, or with a dish of apple sauce.

Mrs. A. C.—Russian Potato Pancakes—Grate six large potatoes very fine. Mix with two eggs, six tablespoons of flour, one teaspoon of salt and a pinch of pepper, stirring until a smooth dough is formed. Drop by good-sized tablespoonfuls in hot fat or butter, and fry till golden brown. Serve plain or with preserves. This recipe is enough for six persons.

F. S. W.—Quick Potato Pancakes—Do not make these till ready to serve them, as they will turn black from standing. Grate one onion and eight pared, medium-sized raw potatoes into a bowl and add five eggs which have been whipped to a thick yellow foam. Season with a little salt and add enough flour to make a pancake batter (not too thick). Fry at once in hot fat till a rich brown color. (Never add milk to this recipe, as that makes them soggy.)

Mrs. C. M.—Potato Pancakes—Pare and grate six large raw potatoes; add two eggs, one pint of sweet milk, a little salt, one tablespoon of sugar, and one pint of flour sifted with one teaspoon of baking powder. Mix well before dropping by spoonfuls onto a hot, greased griddle as for any pancakes. Serve hot with butter and salt, or with stewed fruit.

Mrs. F. K.—Potato Pancakes—Mix together six large, raw, grated potatoes (pour off water after grating), two beaten eggs, one tablespoon of flour, one small onion cut fine, a pinch of salt and milk to moisten. Fry in plenty of fat.

Told in Rime

THE DESERTED VILLAGE

"What happened here, old-timer?
Where's the folks?
What struck the town—a famine or the flu?
That everyone should leave the trail
And leave the place to solitude and you?"

"Yes, stranger—'twas a famine cleaned us out.
When we located 40 years ago
The country 'round as far as you cud see
Was timbered jest as thick as trees cud grow.
Yes, sir, there was a sight o' folks here then;
Had we bin wiser they'd a' bin here still,
But all we thought about an' all we did
Was cut the timber out to feed the mill.
An' when we'd cut as far as we cud reach
An' nothing done to bring the young growth on
The mill shut down an' folks were forced to quit.
That's how it comes that all but me are gone.
I stick around because I named the place
That might ha' thriven had we only known
What we know now—jest that you can't keep on
For years areapin' where ye have not sown."

(In Canadian Forest and Outdoors)

A POET'S CONFESSION

I love the hour when soft withdrawn
The night reveals the purple dawn
And wakes a world of feathered things
To liquid notes and fluttering wings,
When soft the mellow sunlight steals
Across the woodland and the fields.

I love the early hours of morn
When silken mists the hills adorn,
When breezes kiss the quiet lake
And bid the water lilies wake,
When bluebells chime their morning praise
For starlit nights and summer days.

I love the sultry hours of noon
When insects hum and crickets croon;
I love its woods so still and deep,
Where cool refreshing shadows sleep
On mossy banks in shady nooks
By dreaming, murmuring water brooks.

I love the hour, to me 'tis sweet,
When twilight and the evening meet,
When back the deep rich clouds are rolled
In pink and purple fold on fold;
I love the closing of the day,
Soft as it came it steals away.

I love the calm and quiet night
When rests the world in yellow light,
When on the lake and in the streams
The moon has cast her silver beams
And stately groves and hills adore
Their shadowed forms along the shore.

I know not much
I know not which I love the best,
The dawning or the time of rest,
Or sunny noon, I cannot choose,
One fleeting hour I would not lose,
Or when the evening shadows fall;
I cannot tell—I love it all.

Even the evening wrap has been wooed and won by the flounce. Today's suggestion illustrates a stunning wrap of cherry colored chiffon velvet whose silhouette is given dramatic interest by the flounce. The deep collar fits into the scheme harmoniously, and may be draped into flattering folds about the neck. Gold cloth lines the cape up to the point of the flounce. In order to keep the latter soft, red and gold striped chiffon is used for lining.

Often, in the summer, an evening wrap is used for a merely decorative accessory to throw gracefully around the shoulders. In that case there are exquisite frivolities of unlined chiffon, which are given a collar of ostrich feathers and floating loops of ribbon. These usually repeat the color of, in fact are integral parts of the dress so far as color scheme and trimming are concerned. This is not necessary, however, and one cape in a splashy color, or in mysterious black may act as companion to unrelated but sympathetic frocks.

Vancouver Doctor Sues Another for Damages for Libel

VANCOUVER, June 19.—Action for $10,000 libel damages was launched today by Dr. P. A. McLennan against Dr. F. C. McTavish, as the result of a letter alleged to have been sent to E. S. H. Winn, chairman of the workmen's compensation board, by McTavish.

The alleged letter imputes malpractice, through dislike for the plaintiff, and dishonesty through dove of increased fees, in the treatment of injured workmen.

Twenty doctors are called as witnesses.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

Your Small Part in the Matter

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright act.)

You have been to see your physician and after examining you, he is frank enough to state that what you really need is a little exercise or work.

He suggests walking, golfing, gymnasium, or other exercise.

You perhaps think there is something in it, but after a trial, very brief trial as a rule, you think that a little medicine, a tonic of some kind might have really helped you more.

I have sometimes tried to restrain my self from thinking that if God had made pou a less perfect machine or animal perhaps it would have been better for you.

What do I mean?

Well, take any of your internal organs. There is the stomach for instance. You simply put some food and liquid in there, and immediately it starts business for you. Its walls made of muscle begin to churn up the food, so that its gastric juice (also being manufactured within its walls) can mix up well with it. This puts it in shape for the small intestine to manufacture from the food so prepared, the blood that builds up and keeps built up, all parts of your body.

And so with every organ in your body. The heart, lungs, digestive juices and kidneys, all of them, go right ahead about their work.

And what supervision do you need to give them?

None whatever, because fortunately they are not under the control of your will. Just imagine what a busy time you'd have on your hands if you had to watch and see that all these organs did their work properly.

Now what am I trying to show?

That when you just stop to consider all that is done for you inside that body of yours, and you have no worry or concern over it at all, doesn't it seem rather small, even ungrateful on your part, when you will not give the small amount of thought that is necessary to keep your body in perfect condition.

Because there are some things your body can't do for you.

It can't take on the food and water necessary. It needs your help also to get rid of some of the wastes. It can't regulate either your hours of rest or sleep.

But just think, all it asks you to do is to watch these three simple things.

To take into your system the proper amount and kind of food, to take five to 10 minutes exerice a day to use up the wastes, and keep your muscular system in good condition, and to get enough rest to renew your worn out parts—and no more. So when your doctor suggests a few minutes outdoor exercise daily, don't think of the little bit of work that means, but think of all the other parts of your body that are working for you all the time without any worry.

Coast Mills Get a Nice Windfall

VANCOUVER, June 19.—Local lumber mills are all working at capacity with unexpected orders for 10,000,000 feet of lumber. Ten boats are coming before July 10 for the material.

Sunlight—for your Washing Machine

A WASHING machine is made to wash your clothes without rubbing or boiling — and it succeeds just in proportion to the value of the soap you use.

Sunlight Soap dissolves quickly and completely in hot water and works up into an abundant suds. This is very necessary so that its rich cleansing ingredients may search through and through the meshes of the clothes and dissolve the dirt and soil spots. Then, when rinsing comes, all dirt and soapy matter runs entirely away, leaving your clothes sweet, fresh and snowy clean.

The pure lather of Sunlight Soap cleanses the clothes naturally, not chemically. The $5,000 Guarantee of Purity is stamped on every tablet of Sunlight Soap.

Pare half a cake of Sunlight into hot water in your machine and stir into generous suds. Put in the clothes and operate the machine—your clothes will be clean.

SUNNY SPAIN from time immemorial has furnished the world with certain tit-bits in the way of natural products and pastimes.

The Spanish dance, full of fire and dash and lurking passion—red and black always running through the picture — the toreador, the lady of the mantilla — these are the more spectacular conceptions.

Men and women with well-fed donkeys gathering olives and almonds and peanuts and tinkling along mountain roads to the market place however are more typical of the real Spain.

Moir's men have gone into Spain, to the Southern slopes where the almonds are at their best, and contracted for the choicest nuts with ancient dons in their haciendas, and for the most toothsome peanuts from the growers — kernels that roast with a flavor no others seem to have.

MRS. BROWN AND JOSEPH CLARKE ADDRESS KASLO

Former Addresses Women Voters; Latter Speaks on Freight Rates

KASLO, B.C., June 19.—A meeting of the Liberal party was held Monday evening in the Eagles' hall. W. Norman of Mirror Lake acting as chairman. The speakers were Mrs. Stanley Brown of Vancouver and Joseph Clarke, ex-mayor of Edmonton.

Mrs. Brown's message was addressed principally to the women voters. She dwelled on the advantages women had derived since receiving the franchise, which she claimed had not been granted by the Bowser administration.

At the close of Mrs. Brown's address she was presented with a bouquet of roses by Miss Irene La Belle.

Clarke Praises Oliver

Mr. Clarke, who has recently spent some time at the coast, spoke on the advantages this section of the country would gain by the reduction of freight rates, and claimed Premier Oliver's success in reducing grain rates had done more for the port of Vancouver than had been accomplished during 25 years by all other public men.

Although interrupted from the audience several times, Mr. Clarke made it plain he was not to be turned from the course he had set for his speech, and made several rapid-fire answers that brought applause from the audience.

In closing Mr. Clarke urged every elector to support the Oliver government by casting his vote for C. S. Leary.

NORCROSS ONLY CANDIDATE TO SEE GRAY CREEK

Has Heart-to-Heart Chat With Ranchers on Problems of Farm

GRAY CREEK, B.C., June 19.—There was a meeting called here to meet John Norcross and owing to some slight mistake over the dates the attendance was not as large as it might have been otherwise.

O. W. Humphry of South Slocan acted as chairman, and introduced Mr. Norcross as a farmer coming to meet other farmers.

That really was what the meeting was, a talk between men as to what was the best thing to do to help each other to better the condition of ranchers and dairymen and just along what lines help could be sought, as help was badly needed both to produce and market the produce.

G. A. Edgcumbe, Procter, also gave a very interesting speech on the helpful legislation relating to women' children and soldiers and other social reform work.

The meeting ended with a hearty vote of thanks to the first candidate of any government who has met the voters of this place in a public meeting and put his platform before them personally.

Evelyn Bilton and Jo Vingo Lead in the Music Examinations

Miss Evelyn Bilton of St. Joseph's academy distinguished herself as "local prize winner" of the London college of Music, when Dr. D. J. Jennings carried on examinations in music for the London college at the academy yesterday.

Joseph Vingo carried off the honors in the advanced intermediate grade, and Miss Annabelle Dunk in the elementary grade. The other pupils examined who won first class certificates were: Intermediate grade, Frances Kellogg; elementary grade, Serena Dawney and Dorothy Cam; primary grade, Olive Reid, Isabelle Rahal, Ella Desjardins and Jean Burns.

Dr. D. J. Jennings, who has examined at the academy for the past four years, expressed his great satisfaction with the progress of the pupils, who were all successful in passing their examination.

He left this morning on the Crow boat for Lethbridge and Calgary, where he will conduct other examinations.

LATE CONVERT IN THE RATE FIGHT

Lucas and Marshall Review Delinquencies of Government

SLOCAN CITY, B.C., June 19.—At the well-attended public meeting held Tuesday evening in the interests of the Conservative candidate, W. E. Marshall and F. G. T. Lucas of Vancouver were the speakers.

Debts Contrasted

Mr. Marshall compared the present provincial debt of $65,000,000, with the debt of $19,000,000 which the province owed when the Liberals went into office. He spoke of how taxes had increased under Liberal rule and of how the money had been extravagantly spent, mentioning amongst other extravagances the Prince Rupert court house, the building of a wagon road at Rossland costing $20,000 a mile in from 4 to 6 feet of snow and the bringing of a few settlers from India which cost the province over $1000 for each settler.

The fruit grower, he claimed, had been unfairly used by the Liberals who had placed a tax on fruit trees and he said in connection with this tax incompetent men had been appointed as assessors to value the trees. Some of these men knew so little about fruit trees, he said, that they thought trees which had been prepared for topgrafting had been eaten off by cattle.

District Neglected

The Slocan district had been neglected by the Liberals because they had elected an opposition member. This, he claimed, was unjust and contrary to British fair play.

He appealed to the electors for their support on the grounds that he thoroughly knew the requirements of the district, having been at different times in close touch with the different industries of the riding, and promised to do his utmost if elected to work for the best interests of the electors.

Mr. Lucas said John Oliver and the Liberal party were trying to take the credit for the freight rates fight when it really belonged to the boards of trade of British Columbia, and that the premier had only taken a hand after much pressure had been brought to bear on him and at a time when freight rate matter had reached a climax. His advent into the Ottawa conference had been like the entry of a wild bull into a china shop.

Threatened Confederation

He said Mr. Oliver had threatened, while in Ottawa, to advocate disruption of Confederation and of starting a revolution if the freight rate demands were not recognized. The freight rate question was not a political issue in any event but was being used by the Liberals to try to catch a few votes and take the electors' attention away from other matters which hey did not want to talk about.

The Liberals had collected enormous sums in taxes, $50,000,000 had been borrowed, and they had spent every cent and had very little to show for it outside of a few scattering public works.

He spoke of the reckless extravagance of the Liberal government in connection with the Essondale hospital, referring in particular to the $25,000 entrance, the mahogany doors inlaid with ebony and of the tiles having been imported from Belgium when they could have been procured in British Columbia.

He also referred to the Prince Rupert court house as another instance of reckless expenditure of the people's money.

The Sumas reclamation scheme he classed as an utter failure, and the government had imported an engineer from Holland to engineer the failure. This failure cost the people $3,000,000.

Canal Started Grain West

The Liberals were claiming great credit for the increase in the shipments of grain through the Vancouver elevators where no credit was due them. Grain was shipped first via Vancouver through the Panama canal as an experiment, and it was found it did not spoil in transit. After that the blockade in shipping on the Great Lakes had started the flow of grain this way; and, as facilities were improved for handling more grain, the grain shipments increased.

He gave the Provincial party credit for good work in bringing about the Pacific Great Eastern railway investigation, but said they were spoiling that good work by placing candidates in the field in opposition to the Conservative candidates. He feared that in a three-cornered fight the government candidate in a number of cases might be elected.

John Nelson, not General McRae, should have been chosen leader of the Provincial party.

Social Legislation

The Workmen's Compensation act was first introduced by the Conservative party, and an old age pension act was being advocated by them. The Conservative party wanted the Agricultural Credits act to help the farmer over hard times by loans. This act had been killed by the Liberal government.

He closed his address by asking support for the Conservative candidate and party in good, clean, economical government.

Wednesday morning the members of St. Joseph's high school, arrayed in bright class caps, embarked on the Nasookin at 6:30 for Crescent Bay, where their annual picnic and class day was staged. In spite of rather inclement weather everything went off beautifully. The day's program opened with a ball game and other like sports, including races. At noon lunch was served by the sophomores, after which all gathered around the camp fire and enjoyed an hour in community singing. A hike, car ride and boating, which was made possible through the kindness of Com. and Mrs. Rowland Bourke, were much enjoyed. Supper was served at 6 and the camp fire carefully put out. The party then made its way to the wharf, where it boarded the boat at 8:15, all thoroughly satisfied that this was the best picnic yet.

The wedding of Miss Muriel Young of Calgary, which took place there last week, was perhaps the largest social affair of its kind to be held in Calgary. The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Young of Calgary and formerly of Kaslo, where she was born, is the grandniece of Mrs. Gilbert Hartin, Vernon street, who traveled to Calgary to be present at the function. Another feature of interest to the people of the Kootenay is that Rev. J. T. Ferguson, D.D., of Calgary, formerly of St. Paul's church here, performed the ceremony, which took place in Knox church at 9 o'clock Wednesday.

The bride, who was given in marriage to George L. Bagnall of Brooklyn, N.Y., by her father, wore a soft lustrous gown of crepe eliza- beth, pearl and crystal ornaments marking the waistline. Her full court train made of oyster georget was finely shirred. Her dress, which fell the full length of the train, was of filmy tulle surrounded with a cap-shape coronet of rose point lace and the traditional orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of Madame Butterfly roses, orange blossoms and maiden hair fern.

Her attendants were Miss Francis Young as maid of honor, Miss Margaret Connacher and Miss Helen Young, while Edward Bagnall was best man. The bridesmaids' gowns were in three tones of pastel, firefly, sweet pea and mauve. All were designed in three tiers of tiny flounces, wearing hats of matching shades. They wore old-fashioned white lace mitts, and carried shower bouquets of sweet peas tied with huge bows of silk lace. The groom's gift to the bride was a magnificent sapphire and diamond ring.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mount Royal, at which 275 guests were present. The bride's mother wore a gown of madonna blue crepe trimmed with silver and green sequin. Her hat was a black model with transparent brim. Mrs. Gilbert Hartin wore a striking black gown of canton crepe with rope of pearls. She wore a large black picture hat and a corsage bouquet of iris.

The honeymoon will be spent in Winnipeg, Toronto, Montreal, Quebec and other points east, after which they will make their home in Brooklyn, where Mr. Bagnall is in business.

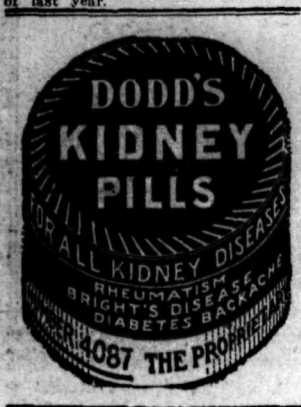
GILLETT'S 100% PURE FLAKE LYE

OTTAWA, June 19.—A cablegram received yesterday from the International Institute of Agriculture, Rome, stated that the latest official estimate of the 1923-24 wheat crop of Argentina is 247,000,000 bushels as against 259,000,000 previously reported and 196,000,000 bushels in 1922-23. The exportable stocks of wheat remaining in Argentina amount to 63,603,000 bushels. The production of flaxseed in Argentina is 58,580,000 bushels as against 63,241,000 last year and oats 76,643,000 against 55,116,000.

The total production of wheat of the 1924 crop in Belgium, Bulgaria, Spain, United States and India, the only countries for which official estimates have been received, is 1,241,000,000 bushels, against 1,361,000,000, the total for the same countries in 1923.

The weather in May was favorable for cereals in northern and central Europe and in the Balkans. There was drought in southern Italy, southern Russia and northern Africa. The general situation was inferior to that of last year.



FIXED PRICE FOR CONSUMER FROM GROWER

Necessary for Marketing of Apple Crop, Says Merchants' Representative

FILL EMPTY GRAIN CARS WITH APPLES

Interprovincial Trade Essential; Mr. Crowder Addresses Local Merchants

Plans under which the retail price of British Columbia apples in the prairie market would be fixed for the various grades by the Associated Growers were touched upon in a speech at a luncheon at the Hume hotel yesterday by J. T. Crowder, Dominion representative of the British Columbia branch of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada.

Mr. Crowder has just returned from a visit to Calgary, where he discussed the idea with representatives of the retail merchants of the three prairie provinces and gained their hearty approval of it.

If this experiment succeeds the idea is to extend the plan to soft fruits, canned fruits, etc.

At the luncheon yesterday he explained that there was no difficulty insofar as production was concerned. The growers produced the fruit; they had it packed by their organizations, and the railway companies transported it to the prairies, where the wholesalers distributed it to the retailers. It was, he thought, at the point of retail distribution that the trouble existed. Retailers would fix the price for the fruit, but could not convince the prairie public that the price was a fair one. The public was always waiting for a slump in the market, and this was bad for trade in fruit, because people kept on waiting for a drop in price and in the long run did not buy as many apples as they otherwise would. It also created uncertainty as to market conditions and sometimes demoralization owing to lack of stability in price.

Retailers at Fault

Incidentally, Mr. Crowder stated that he felt that retailers generally were in a measure responsible for lack of confidence on the part of the public in what retailers stated with regard to prices. If a customer went into a store and complained about the price of an article the retailer would immediately speak about the cost of the article to him, the heavy cost of overhead expense, depreciation, and so on, and rather than give the impression that he was doing business at a loss on the particular article concerned. This, of course, was ridiculous and resulted in loss of confidence in the retailer on the part of the public. Mr. Crowder made a plea in favor of tearing the veil from the retail costs, expenses and profits. Retailers, he pointed out, were not making exorbitant profits, and he urged that they should frankly admit to the public that they were endeavoring to make a profit and that they must do so in order to remain in business and continue to give adequate service to the public.

Growers Should Agree to Price

Returning to the question of building up a larger market for apples, Mr. Crowder explained that it would be inadvisable for the retailers of the prairie provinces to get together and fix a price. His suggestion was that the Associated Growers should agree upon a fair price to the producer; add packing, transportation and wholesale expenses, and then, after conference with the retailers of the prairies, establish a price to the consumer which would be fair to all concerned. If a price were established in this way and announced to the prairie public by the fruit growers, he felt that the people of the prairie provinces would have confidence in the fixed price as being a fair one to the purchaser.

Mr. Crowder pointed out that it was tremendously important to British Columbia to build up inter-provincial trade. He commented upon the stupendous growth in the export of wheat via Vancouver, but emphasized the point that at the present time the railway cars which carried the grain to the coast had to be returned empty to the prairie provinces. The consequence was that the freight rate on grain had to bear the expense of transportation of the grain to the coast and of the empty cars eastward. If these cars would be filled with apples and other British Columbia produce and manufactures it would have the effect of enabling the railway companies to reduce their freight rates for British Columbia. This would still further stimulate British Columbia business.

Personal Property Tax

Mr. Crowder touched upon some of the work which had been accomplished by the Retail Merchants' association, and pointed out that every member of the Retail Merchants' association could exercise marked influence upon legislatures by taking up matters with their local representatives or with cabinet ministers. As a case in point he mentioned the personal property tax. When the matter was brought before the government it was felt that the cabinet ministers and supporters did not really realize how strong the feeling was all through the province against this tax. In the case of Mary Ellen Smith, for example, she received the views of the Vancouver merchants through the Retail Merchants' association of that city, but it was not until she had been advised during a trip up country to visit local retailers and ascertain their sentiment that she became convinced that the sentiment was the same all over the province. The result was that in a speech in the legislature Mrs. Smith recounted her experience and told the house and the government that the merchants of Nelson, Cranbrook and other cities, felt just the same way about the matter as did the merchants of Vancouver and Victoria.

Chinese Immigration

He gave another example of this in the case of the efforts to restrict Chinese immigration. W. G. McQuarrie of New Westminster found that when he brought up this subject in the Dominion house the average number from the prairie provinces and the east went into the lobby to enjoy a smoke. The Retail Merchants' association got busy all over Canada and got all their branches to urge their local representatives to look into the matter of Chinese immigration. The result was that Mr. McQuarrie was able to secure a better hearing and legislation was brought down which resulted in marked restriction of Chinese immigration to Canada. In the eight months preceding the bringing of the act into operation 600 Chinese entered Canada; in the first four months after the act had come into effect only six Chinese were admitted. Mr. Crowder explained that Chinese immigration was restricted to merchants and students. The term "merchant" did not mean a Chinese who desired to enter into the shoe business or the drug business. It applied only to Chinese who wished to engage as merchants in import and export trade.

Favors Marketing Plan

J. J. Campbell, who is a director of the Associated Growers, was present during the luncheon and gave his hearty approval of Mr. Crowder's plan for increasing the market of British Columbia apples in the prairie provinces, and said that he felt sure that it would receive the favorable consideration of his fellow directors. Mr. Campbell expressed much pleasure at the manner in which businessmen and bankers were endeavoring to cooperate with the fruit growers in bringing about more satisfactory marketing conditions.

He thought that prospects for the coming season were excellent. The small fruit crop in Washington and Oregon was about 50 per cent of normal. The chief small fruit crop in British Columbia, which was cherries, was slightly below average. With regard to apples, the Oregon and Washington production would probably be about 65 per cent of normal. This would mean a reduction of about 7000 cars 7000 cars represented twice th tal production of British Colu it would readily be seen, said Campbell, that pressure on B Columbia's market would be much less during the coming than it was last year, and he th that the export problem therefore, not have to be w about.

A hearty vote of thanks was ed to Mr. Crowder, on motio C. F. McHardy, and seconde K. Campbell and George T

I. G. Nelson, president of Nelson Retail Merchants' as tion, presided.

TUNING AND REPAIRING OF PIANOS

Honesty of Purpose and Conscientious Workmanship, and strongly endorsed by the best authority in Canada—piano manufacturers who are positively particular where they put their signature, as follows:

Toronto, December 21st, 1897.
To Whom It May Concern:
This is to certify that Mr. A. E. Perkins, Piano Tuner, is authorized by us to look after our pianos, as we consider him a competent tuner, and we are sure any piano placed in his charge will receive careful attention. Tuning a piano is not a trifling piece of work if you have regard for your piano.
Respectfully,
HEINTZMAN & CO.

Listowel, Ont., May 11th, 1898.
To Whom It May Concern:
Having a knowledge of the ability of Alvin E. Perkins to care for thoroughly and tune scientifically pianos of any make, we can recommend him to the patrons of the Morris Piano Co. as a conscientious man who will do justice to their instruments and to them in any branch of the tuning and repairing of pianos made by this firm.
Yours truly,
THE MORRIS AND KARN CO. OF LISTOWEL, LTD.

Bowmanville, March 22nd, 1898.
Mr. Alvin E. Perkins,
Toronto, Ont.
Dear Sir: We hereby authorize you to tune any pianos of ours in any part of the Dominion, and we have great pleasure in recommending you to all our patrons as being a first-class tuner and a man of splendid reputation. We find a great deal of harm being done by inexperienced tuners undertaking to tune pianos who should never be allowed to do so, as the instruments invariably suffer in their hands, and the public sometimes blame the instruments instead of putting the fault on the man without experience whom they often employ. We therefore have great pleasure in asking you to impress upon all parties having pianos of our make to request you to do the necessary tuning.
Yours truly,
DOMINION ORGAN & PIANO CO.

Toronto, October 5th, 1903.
To Gourlay Piano Customers and Agents:
The bearer, Mr. Alvin E. Perkins, has for years been tuning pianos satisfactorily in Western Ontario, and we have given him a list of customers containing the names of most Gourlay purchasers, so that, should he call upon any customers who may not have had their pianos attended to by any other tuner in connection with the house, it will afford us pleasure to learn that Mr. Perkins has been employed.
We are,
Yours truly,
GOURLAY, WINTER & LEEMING.

Toronto, April 11th, 1898.
We hereby authorize Mr. Alvin E. Perkins, Piano Tuner, to attend to any pianos of ours which require tuning in all towns on his route.
Yours very truly,
OCTAVUS, NEWCOMBE & CO.,
Toronto.

Vancouver, B.C., May 31st, 1912.
To Whom It May Concern:
We take this privilege of introducing the bearer, Mr. A. E. Perkins, with the full confidence that whatever work in connection with the piano you may give the bearer will be competently and satisfactorily completed. Mr. Perkins enjoys the reputation of doing all our work in Vancouver, and we heartily recommend him for any work you may have.
Thanking you in anticipation, we beg to remain,
Sincerely yours,
FLETCHER BROS., LTD.,
Gerhard-Heintzman Pianos.

Vancouver, March 5th, 1919.
Mr. Alvin E. Perkins:
Dear Sir: All the work you have done for us has been satisfactory. We have never had a complaint, and I presume you will feel quite proud to hear this.
MASON & RISCH, LTD.,
J. D. Kennedy,
B.C. General Manager.

Toronto, July 11th, 1892.
This is to certify that Mr. Alvin E. Perkins is positively a first-class tuner and repairer, and we have given him full charge of our Toronto Exhibition exhibit for several years. Why employ a man because he claims to be a tuner, and take chances in having a good piano ruined, when expert service is at your door?
Very truly yours,
H. & F. HERR,
Piano Manufacturers.

Vancouver, B.C., August 12th, 1913.
I have much pleasure in recommending Mr. Alvin E. Perkins to anyone requiring an expert piano tuner. Mr. Perkins, in addition to being a careful tuner, understands the construction of the instrument and is therefore all the more capable.
(Signed)
(Signed) PROF. J. D. A. TRIPP.

Winnipeg, Man., January 14th, 1903.
This is to certify that I have much pleasure in recommending Mr. A. E. Perkins to all, being a gentleman of the most rigid integrity and well known to me as the best piano tuner and repairer in Canada.
G. M. JAMES, B.A., LL.B.,
Principal, Winnipeg Business College and Art School.

Dundalk, Ont., April 20th, 1891.
This is to certify that I have known Mr. Alvin E. Perkins for some years. He is a first-class piano tuner and repairer, as he possesses great mechanical ability, together with a superior judgment of harmony. I can cheerfully recommend him as a first-class man in every respect to anyone requiring his services.
PROF. J. T. PARKS,
Magistrate and Bandmaster.

You attend a show when well recommended. What about your piano?
MR. PERKINS
has been delayed owing to Mrs. Perkins' illness and passing on; but will be in Nelson sometime in August, and will make his regular calls.

Eschew or Stew Both Mushrooms and Candidates

To the Editor of The Daily News:
Sir—The difficulty of choosing the best candidate for the 20th will strike many as being as hard as choosing between the good and bad varieties of mushrooms.
To eschew the worst and stew the good is what we all wish to do. What is poisonous in the mushroom is not in the flesh, but the juice with which it is impregnated. To get rid of this juice slice and cook the mushroom, either dried or fresh, in boiling water with a handful of salt, then drain in a colander and wash two or three times in cold water.
That done, one can prepare in any way he chooses.
In the matter of voting, opinions will differ; but the candidate who makes the fewest promises will afterward make the least excuses. Pity we can't boil them, too! F.M.H.

Mrs. De Pencier Finds Typographical Errors in Report of Speech

To the Editor of The Daily News:
Sir—On reading in your paper this morning an account of last evening's meeting under the auspices of the Kokanee chapter, Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire, I noticed in more than one place I was incorrectly reported as speaking of our order as the Independent Order of the Daughters of the Empire. I very clearly spoke of our order as the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire. I would be very grateful if you would make a correction of this in your columns as soon as possible. Also there are 60 collections, not six, of the war memorial pictures presented to the schools in the province of British Columbia.
Thanking you for your courtesy in placing my letter before your readers,
NINA DE PENCIER,
Provincial Organizing Secretary for British Columbia of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire.

The "forgotten man" whom Congressman Burton mentioned in his keynote speech was a favorite concept of the late Professor Sumner of Yale. If Burton's speech brings fruit it will be another example of Sumner's tremendous hidden influence on American life.

If those Chicago kidnaping morons had been negroes they would have lasted about seven seconds and the city would have had a combustious race war on the side.

BAREFOOT FREEDOM WITH HURLBUTS

When we were youngsters what a lot of fun we used to have running and playing around barefooted.

Somehow our feet never seemed to tire, no matter how arduously we played.

Of course the reason was that our feet were free, not clamped into a pair of hard shoes that bound the feet and often pinched around the toes, causing them to ache and quickly tire us out.

That's the beauty of Hurlbuts—they don't bind the little tot's feet. Instead of the child's foot being held as in a vise by the shoe, the child can bend the shoe to the movement of the foot, because it is as flexible as a kid glove.

In fact, with Hurlbuts the tots have all the comfort and freedom of being barefooted, with the protection of a shoe that conforms to every line of the little one's foot.

Another thing about Hurlbuts which is worth considering is that the little feet will not develop bunions and corns that prove a source of misery in after life to those whose feet have been deformed by ill-fitting shoes in their childhood.

What is a squeeze play?
Answered by
FRANK FRISCH
Second baseman, New York Giants; His timely hitting has made him known as "the game wrecker." Best second sacker in the National league.

A squeeze play occurs when there is a man on third base. The batter gives a sign to bunt toward first base and the runner starts home as soon as the pitcher starts to pitch.

The batter must have some sort of a sign with the runner on third that he is going to work a squeeze play. Without a sign things could not work out properly. The ball should always be bunted so as the pither will not be able to handle it because if the pitcher gets his hands on it he is usually in position to throw out the man at home and thus break up the entire object of the play—to score a run.

NOLAN COMING FOR BIG BOUT

Heavyweight Will Meet Joe Riece of Wallace, Idaho, Dominion Day

Jack Nolan, claimant of the heavyweight championship of western Canada, and who hails from Drumheller, will meet Joe Riece of Wallace, Idaho, in a 10-rcund boxing bout on the evening of July 1. Such was the announcement made by the management of the Recreation club last night.

Nolan needs no introduction to Nelson fans, as his fame has reached this city long before this time. Riece is a husky boy, a former sparring partner of Jack Johnson, former heavyweight boxer.

INSPECTORS OF BANKS WON'T BE CIVIL SERVANTS

Banking Committee Rejects Shaw Proposal Regarding Exports

OTTAWA, June 19.—(Canadian Press.)—As many as 200 Home bank depositors may be present when their deputation is received by the commons banking and commerce committee June 25. An intimation to this effect was given by Chairman Vien at the meeting today.

That patronage question came up again as soon as the committee resumed consideration of the resolution of Hon. J. A. Robb, acting minister of finance, for government bank inspection.

The resolution provided for exemption of the inspection staff from the Civil Service act, and J. T. Shaw, Independent, Calgary, moved to provide that "the clerical staff" should come under the civil service commission.

"There is no question of patronage," said Mr. Robb. "The department of finance is not run along the lines of patronage."

He added that the department considered it necessary to have full control of appointments to this staff.

"Why not come from under cover, and say we want to scrap the Civil Service act?" said R. B. Hanson, Conservative, York-Sunbury.

The vote followed, and the Shaw amendment was voted down, 27 to 10.

The Rob resolution passed, with one other important amendment. Under this amendment no bank, or any of its directors or officers, may make a loan to the inspector-general, or any member of this staff.

When these amendments are reported to the house, the minister of finance will introduce a bill embodying them.

William Jennings Bryan says that if Governor Al Smith is nominated by the Democrats he will have to vote some other ticket. Another gnash.

BOARD ADOPTS QUESTIONS ON TAXATION ACT

Three-Year Period for Profit Circulation for Income Tax Favored

ONTARIO RESOLUTIONS ARE WELL DISCUSSED

Limitation of Time for Assessments and Collections Is Adopted

Members of the Nelson board of trade, at an emergency meeting called last night, approved two resolutions in regard to taxation which had been approved by the council of the board at a meeting on Monday last. Accordingly the secretary has been instructed to draw up resolutions adopting those broadcasted by the Border chamber of commerce, comprising Riverside, Ford, Walkerville, Windsor, Sandwich and Ojibway, Ont. The first resolution adopted dealt with the three-year period for circulation of companies' profits for income tax purposes. The second resolution indorsed by the board dealt with the limitation of time for assessments and collections of taxes under the Income Tax act. Two other resolutions, one dealing with the revision of the income tax forms and the other to publication of taxation rulings, were voted down by the council and also by the board.

Three-Year Period

These resolutions are to be drawn up immediately and dispatched to the government at Ottawa. The first resolution approved by the board and dealing with the three-year period for calculation of companies' profits for income tax purposes, brought forth a resolution that the Dominion government be urged to adopt an income tax provision similar to the 1921 Income Tax act of the United States, which system was pointed out as fairer and sounder economically.

Limitation of time for assessments and collections of taxes under the Income Tax act brought forth a second resolution from the local board. At present time the act provides no limitation of time for determining and assessing income taxes of individuals and businesses under the present act. The resolution adopted canals for the presentation of the matter to the Dominion government with the view to amending the act to provide that the amount of income tax due under any return made under this act shall be determined and assessed by the commissioner within five years after the return is filed, unless both the commissioner and the taxpayer consent to a later determination, assessment and collection of the tax, and that no suit or proceeding for the collection of any such taxes due under this act shall be begun after the expiration of five years from the date of filing the return, and without prejudice to any action that may be instituted in the case of false or fraudulent returns or in the case of failure to make return under the act.

Termed Too Expensive

A resolution turned down by the council and the board asked for the adoption of some means whereby the rulings under the Income Tax act would be authorized and rendered available to the public in printing. The above resolution was thought to be too expensive to be placed in force, and it was stated that the value of the service rendered would be out of proportion to the cost.

The other resolution turned down by the board was that pointing out the necessity for the revision of the income tax forms now in use. It was pointed out that the forms now in use were as simple as they could be made and that to change them would make matters much worse. The copies of resolutions indorsed will be sent to the premier and parliament members.

BOSWELL HEARS JOHN NORCROSS

Other Speakers Fail to Appear; Tells of Creamery Need

BOSWELL, B.C., June 18. — John Norcross, the Liberal candidate, addressed a meeting in the Memorial hall Monday evening which was very well attended. The chair was taken by A. Mackie.

Mr. Norcross spoke at length upon government finance for a local creamery and other needs.

At the conclusion of his address various questions were asked which he found very difficult to answer in a satisfactory manner, the meeting lasting to a late hour.

Mrs. Stanley Brown of Vancouver and C. F. Hayes of Creston, who were to speak, failed to make an appearance.

TRAIL HEARS SPEECHES BY PROVINCIALS

Dingwall, Candidate, Wilson, Ex-Member, and Austin of Nelson Speak

TRAIL, B.C., June 19.—At a meeting of the Provincial party held in the Knights of Pythias' hall here tonight with William Hasketh in the chair the speakers were George Dingwall, Provincial party candidate; W. D. Wilson, ex-M.P.P., and Alderman I. A. Austin of Nelson.

Mr. Wilson reviewed the history of the party briefly.

Mr. Dingwall spoke exceptionally well, and answered a statement in the Rossland Miner that he was involved in a Rossland strike in 1891 by saying that he was a soldier in the South African war at that time.

Alderman Austin, in a very witty speech, said there had been plundering all along by both parties. Now it was time to let the Labor party go in and have its plunder.

Regarding the Provincial party he said he knew the bad points of the other parties but did not yet know of the Provincial.

Mr. Dingwall was asked his attitude on the beer plebiscite, and declared he would not vote at any time for any further extension of the bar in this province.

Markets and Finance

SELLING FAILS TO HALT THE ADVANCE

Attacks on Oil and Rubber, and Rail Gains, Are Features

NEW YORK, June 19.—Heavy selling of the oil and rubber shares based on unfavorable trade reports failed to halt the general upward movement in today's stock market which was again featured by the heavy accumulation of the railroad shares, more than a dozen of which established new highs for the year. Uncertainty over the Democratic presidential nominee and platform continued to have a restraining effect on trading, the day's sales aggregating 750,000 shares.

Indications of a tire cutting-price war brought fresh selling into the rubber stocks, Kelly-Springfield common touching the lowest price ever recorded and a few shares selling at their bottom price for the year. United States rubber issues held firm on reports that the company's business other than tires was on a profitable basis.

Oils were offered down on publication of the weekly report of the American Petroleum institute showing another increase in crude output. Atlantic Refining fell nearly 7 points to 91½.

General Electric climbed 2½ to 235½. Independent strength also was shown by Coca Cola, Shulte, Mathieson, Maxwell A, National Lead and United States Industrial Alcohol, all up 1½ or more. American Smelting & Refining showed strength in the face of low metal prices.

Call money again was 2 per cent. Total stock sales, 775,000 shares.

TORONTO, June 19.—Canadian Pacific Railway stocks were active in today's stock exchange transactions, climbing 1⅛ to 150⅛. Duluth Superior shares were also active, with a high mark of 26. The price later receded to 25. The local market was generally steadier. Brazilian Traction held steady at 50 to 50⅛, and the close was 50 to 50⅛. Toronto Railway was inactive and slightly easier at 93¼. The weak spot in the utilities was Mexican Light & Power preferred, which lost 2 to 38. Pulp and paper issues were dull.

AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

The average retailer makes small profits, and many do not even earn wages.

By LAWRENCE A. ADAMS
Assistant marketing specialist, United States bureau of agricultural economics.

Profits are not large in retailing, due to competition and high expenses. Retailing is not a monopoly, and accordingly the price at which goods are sold is pretty well fixed. The expense of operating a store includes wages, rent, interest, depreciation, supplies and many other items. These expenses cannot be avoided. They must be paid before profits begin.

Individual cases of high profits occur in retailing, but they come only to those dealers who obtain some advantage over their competitors such as lower expenses, greater turnover, wiser purchasing or greater volume of sales. Exceptional profits exist only for the exceptional manager.

BALFOUR GIVES COLONEL LISTER BIG RECEPTION

Candidate Tells How Liberals Turned Down Anti-Dumping Clause

SUMAS WASTE VS. FARMERS' LOANS

McBride Policy Built Lumber Mills, Says Malladaine; Garland Speaks

BALFOUR, B.C., June 19. — The largest political meeting ever held in Balfour was addressed Wednesday evening by Lieut.-Col. Fred Lister, Maj. E. Malliandaine and Maj. C. B. Garland, of Creston, the hall being packed with the local residents and also others from Queen's Bay and Procter.

The chairman, Capt. G. E. Shaw, said what impressed him at the Conservative convention was the universal esteem in which Colonel Lister was held, and he considered him a very valuable asset, not only to his own riding, but to the province. Captain Shaw referred to the disaster which the introduction of a third party had occasioned to Ontario, and trusted the electorate of British Columbia would see that such was not repeated in this province.

Major Malliandaine said he was a strong supporter of Colonel Lister, and predited that Colonel Lister would without the shadow of a doubt head the poll.

He could remember prior to 1903 seven premiers in five years and the turmoil and continual complaint the state of affairs at that time caused. Now a third party was being injected into the politicis of the province, and he drew comparison as to what would occur in a reference to the minority rule at present in force in England. It was a good government, he said, but was in jeopardy from day to day. The introduction of a third party would simply produce chaotic government and get the province nowhere.

Says Norcross Opportunist

Mr. Norcross, the Liberal candidate, he characterized as an opportunist, and regarding him he had no more to say.

Premier Oliver said the issue in this election was the reduction of freight rates and nothing else, but freight rates were a red herring dragged across the trail to distract attention from the real issues.

Oliver said he was not responsible for the Pacific Great Eastern railway, but he would point out that during the four years he was administrator of the railroad there was a deficit of $1,300,000. Eventually the cabinet forced his resignation as railway minister in favor of Dr. MacLean. He would ask the meeting if they thought a doctor was likely to know any more about running a railroad than a farmer? But, even if he did not, he did better than Oliver, for there was a reduction of $250,000 in the deficit and $30,000 in the running expenses during the year following Oliver's relinquishment of the administration.

The premier claimed to have the ear of Mackenzie King. He would suggest that Oliver whisper in that ear for the Canadian National railways to lower its freight rates, and he would find the Canadian Pacific railway would at once lower its rates.

On the tax on fruit trees the speaker said, "The lord deliver us from John Oliver."

Hon. T. D. Pattullo said the desire for reduction of expenditure was all bunk. There were 94 employees in Mr. Pattullo's department, whose salaries were increased $12 per head, on an average, a total of $150,000. "All bunk" were these increases; "all bunk!" Mr. Pattullo took a "joy ride" to England without benefit to the province.

McBride Policy Built Mills

On the lumber question the speaker could remember that following upon Sir Richard McBride's placing of the embargo on the export of logs 16 mills started up in the following year. Now millions of logs were going across the line and young men were following them, as was the money which the manufacturing of the logs should have brought to the people of the province.

Their political opponents were saying things about Mr. Bowser. He asked if anyone loved Napoleon or Lord Kitchener? They were strong men, and for that reason they were not liked. Mr. Bowser's neighbors had returned him for 21 years and would hardly have done so if they did not esteem him as an able man.

Garland on Liberal Promises

Major Garland said three choices were before the electors. Were they prepared to indorse a government whose main efforts consisted in searching the country from end to end for means of further taxation? Were we prepared to support a wealthy capitalist who flooded the country with propaganda? Or should they indorse the man who for 21 years had represented them?

The Liberal government, in a pamphlet of 1920, "The Manifesto of John Oliver," proposed to enter into immediate negotiations with the federal government and the Canadian Pacific railway to take over the Pacific Great Eastern railway. They proposed to get the Dominion government to subsidize the Pacific Great Eastern railway so that it could be operated, and they suggested that the road would undoubtedly be completed by September, 1921. Was this promise kept?

Hon. John Hart promised a provincial bank so that the people's money should be retained in the province. There was no provincial bank today, perhaps because the people did not trust Mr. Hart.

Hon. William Sloan was now promising to remove the personal property tax overnight if the Liberals were returned.

The extravagance of the Liberal government was instanced in the Sumas lake project. The Conservative government was approached on this matter but turned it down after engineers had gone into it. Likewise was it turned down by the British Columbia Electric Railway company, but the Liberal government took it up and it has cost the province $4,000,000. Had this sum been split into small loans to farmers, of $500 or $1000, how much more profitable to everyone would have been the result?

The government had a habit of making gifts under the name of bonuses, retroactive gifts to contractors and brewers, without a word of excuse, for things already used and paid for.

Provincials Overlook Tides

The Provincial party platform appeared to cover everything the heart of man could desire and the mind devise except the rise and fall of the tides and the hanging-out of the moon at night, but he could find no mention of the anti-dumping clause. Possibly the marketing of small fruits and apples was of small interest to a wealthy capitalist, but it was a vital matter to the rancher.

Mr. Bowser pledged him in Nelson that a Conservative government would be behind the ranchers in the removal of this detriment on the marketing of fruit.

Independent candidates he would compare to the independent shipper in the fruit industry. History and experience showed that the only acceptable and constitutional method of government was the two-party system.

Major Garland closed with a reference to the royal commission, and asked if a man who suggested that all precedents in the rules governing the handling of evidence should be swept aside was the man to receive the support of the electorate.

Lister Gets Ovation

Colonel Lister, who was received with prolonged applause, referred to the Provincial party's candidate, Mrs. W. Garland Foster. He said he liked Mrs. Foster as a woman, but as a politician she was out of place.

He referred to Mr. Redman as an example of the Provincial party's candidates. He had endeavored to obtain the Conservative nomination in Kamloops in 1920 and having failed to do so had entered the ranks of the provincials, and now could say nothing too bad about his old party.

Regarding General McRae he would only suggest to the meeting that when he referred to his party's "slush fund" he hoped to get it back.

Colonel Lister quoted Col. W. W. Foster, Conservative candidate for Richmond, and Mr. Bronson, as deploring the entrance of a third party at the present time.

Mrs. Stanley Brown Insincere

He would like to correct the statements of Mrs. Stanley Brown anent the women's franchise, Tranquille sanitorium, Essondale asylum, the Mothers' Pension act and the Workmen's Compensation act. These things were as valuable in the eyes of the Conservatives as in the eyes of the Liberals, and her statements were misleading.

Nothing was further from the truth than that a Conservative government would do away with these if returned to power. And he felt sure that Mrs. Stanley Brown did not really think so herself.

The Liberals stated that the province was better off now than it had been. Why, after all the money that had been spent, the hunter that had been burned and the mines that had ceased to operate, was the province better off?

Premier Oliver compared his inability to borrow money in 1916 and 1917 with the present time, but he forgets that then the was calling for every cent the colonies and dominions could raise, and no one could borrow money while anyone could borrow now. No one could kick if they got value for their money, but did the people in this district get value for the millions that have been spent?

A voice—No!

The speaker dealt with the extravagant projects of the government, mentioning the Sumas lake reclamation the Southern Okanagan irrigation project, where many millions had been spent and the projects were failures and those who should have benefitted are left to bear the cost.

Soldier Settlement Failures

The soldier settlement areas had absorbed $1,500,000, and he maintained that there was not one contented satisfied settler left. At Camp Lister the government had repudiated every promise made; they were asking an impossible sum for the land from the returned men. The majority had left, and the pity was that they had gone to the United States.

While he was superintendent the government had a purchasing agent, whose income depended on the amount of his purchases. He got a commission on his sales—the more purchased, the better off he was. As an example of the maladministration Colonel Lister told of a brushbreaking plow he had ordered. He got a stubble gang plow, which was useless for the work intended and cost twice the price of the plow ordered.

Altogether $680,000 was spent on Camp Lister, but the minister of agriculture, who should have shown an interest in the settlement, had never visited it.

Liberals and Dumping

Colonel Lister explained why the anti-dumping clause was not favored by the agricultural committee of the house. With a Liberal government at Ottawa supported by a prairie farmer electorate which favored "cheap fruit" this committee apparently did not wish, by requesting a reinstatement of this clause, to antagonize their Liberal friends at Ottawa.

The $3000 expenses of the minister of agriculture on his trip to Europe had not, so far as he could see, benefitted the fruit growers by three cents.

The suggestion to pull out fruit trees and to go into dairying was not possible, for, after the trees were out, there was no money to buy cows nor to build creameries. He was not in favor of the government buying out the Curlew creamery. All ranchers shipping there were satisfied, but he was in favor of the government building creameries in dairying districts where there were none.

Delta Does Well

As an example of the fairness of the government on the road question Colonel Lister quoted the following figures taken from certain loans and votes in certain districts, in the Delta riding, a Liberal constituency with under 40 miles of road, the expenditure being $1,387,471.35:

Delta (Liberal), 39.20 miles, $1,387,471.35; Newcastle (Socialist), 235, $5,746.07; Kamloops (Liberal), 1439, $366,701.93; Lillooet (Conservative), 1851, $38,033.38; Revelstoke (Liberal), 260, $586,915.43; South Okanagan (Conservative), 542, $61,356.54.

Turning to the lack of encouragement of mining shown by the government he pointed to the prospectors' trails kept open in the past by giving $25 or $30 to some prospector or miner. Now they were all blocked. Kept open, they were valuable when fires occurred as well as to the prospectors.

Capital Turned Away

Retroactive legislation in the mining industry hurt capital abroad, and was no only harmful but had been adjudged to be ultra vires by the supreme court of Canada.

He was in favor of the sale of beer by the glass, as he felt it would help to do away with the bootlegger and the use of "hard" liquor, but he was not going to vote for it because he had no intention of giving the government an additional control of booze. The enforcement of the Liquor act was not what it should be. One could go to the liquor store and obtain a wagon load and the vendor would not prevent one, but if the police pinched one the vendor was called upon to testify that he had got it. Was that control? asked colonel Lister.

"This province wanted a live agricultural department and the old credit system put back. The old-time settler and not the new deserved assistance. Irrigation was wanted, creameries where there were none, pressure on Ottawa on the fruit, an embargo on the export of logs, Britishers in and foreigners out," concluded Colonel Lister, "to make contented settlers who would be the best advertisement the province could have." (Cheers.)

Major Cherry, seconded by F. J. Sammons, proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the speakers.

William Lister Is Laid to Rest

The funeral of the late William Lister took place yesterday at 1:30 from the Church of the Redeemer, Fairview, Rev. Norman Larmonth officiating both at the church and at the graveyard. The pallbearers were H. Allen, Thomas Roynon, M. Watercus, T. S. Peake, A. Couch, S. Hillyard, L. L. Kerr and C. G. Simpson.

Floral offerings were received from Lilly Hillyard, Mary Smith, Mr. and Mrs. R. Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. E. Smith, Nelson Baseball club, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Thain and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. Wood, the Misses and J. D. Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. H. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Peake, Mr. and Mrs. S. Desireau, Mr. and Mrs. S. Hillyard, Mrs. Couch and family, Mr. and Mrs. M. Waterous and family, Mrs. A. Johnson.

DENIAL GIVEN BY SUTHERLAND TO CAMPBELL

Did Not Advise Nelson Member to Relegate the Eight-Hour Day

During the course of his speech at the Farmer-Labor meeting in the Memorial hall last night, Alderman George Turner, candidate for the party, said that during the last weeks he had been asked several times why he had not answered Mr. Campbell's explanation of his action in not voting for the eight-hour bill.

"Mr. Campbell says that he consulted T. L. Bloomer and Alex. Sutherland when they were down in Victoria, and they told him they thought it was much more important to vote for compensation than for the eight-hour day. I have a letter here to read you, which Mr. Sutherland asked me to read you tonight. I think it will explain the whole matter fully:

The letter read:

Sutherland Letter

"Kaslo, B.C., June 16, 1924.

"To the Chairman of the Farmer-Labor party
meeting, Nelson, B. C.

"Dear Sir—Would you kindly read the following at your meeting on Thursday:

"The Nelson News of June 10th contains a written statement by Kenneth Campbell wherein he refers to certain action he took on the 8-hour day and Compensation act. In the first place, outsiders should not be dragged into this political issue without substantial cause.

"I did not intend to take any action in regard to the above stated letter, but as I have had numerous inquiries as to what my position was and as the Kaslo Kootenian has placed the interpretation on this letter that I opposed the 8-hour day, which shows that it is all a political scheme at my expense, and I believe my friends in Nelson should know the true facts. Mr. Campbell states that he was satisfied that either the Workmen's Compensation amendment or the 8-hour day was going to suffer at that time and that he had no doubt in his mind as to the proper course to take. I think that should have been sufficient and that Mr. Campbell ought to be able to stand on whatever action he took.

"Mr. Campbell goes on to state that he conferred with representatives of the railwaymen's unions, and particularly refers to myself, and that I had made the statement that the Workmen's Compensation was more vital to the workman than the 8-hour day and that I was emphatic on this. I wish to take issue with Mr. Campbell on this statement. I did not state which of those two important measures was the most vital. I do not think any labor man is in a position to decide that question, as they can be considered of equal importance, but I did state to Mr. Campbell that the Workmen's Compensation was apparently more in favor and more likely to pass at that session, as it was mentioned in the speech from the throne, being a government measure which I think was quite in order.

Labor Disappointed

"I think I am safe in saying that labor was disappointed in the results of the amendment to the Workmen's Compensation act. We asked for only what they had in other provinces. The only change made was raising the compensation from 55 per cent to 62½ per cent; no inasked, 66 2-3 per cent; no increase given in widows' pension; no increase given for dependent children; no provision made such as is in force in other provinces for a foster mother to look after children of deceased workers whereby the home and those children can be kept together and properly brought up, as is in force in other provinces; also numerous other important provisions that the Oliver government would not even consider, which they enjoy in our other provinces. It should not be necessary for me to say that I never opposed the 8-hour day, as it is a well-known fact that I have advocated and worked for the 8-hour day and will continue to do so in the future.

(Signed) "Alex. Sutherland."

MAIL STRIKE ON IN SPOTTY WAY IN EAST

time during the next few days to consider the situation.

Representative members of the various branches of the postal service here are virtually unanimous that Regina men will not strike.

Ottawa Men Won't Participate

OTTAWA, June 19.—Ottawa postal employees will not participate in the strike.

"On account of having no support from the postal clerks, the letter carriers have decided not to strike," George Kelly, local secretary of the Letter Carriers' federation, announced tonight.

Calgary Men Stay on Job

CALGARY, Alta., June 19.—Calgary postal workers at a meeting held here today decided not to participate in the strike called from Toronto, at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Saskaton Against Strike

SASKATOON, Sask., June 19.—W. H. Smith, secretary of the Saskatoon postal group of the Amalgamated Civil Servants' association, stated tonight that his men voted against a strike and were standing to their first decision.

Railway Employees Neutral

OTTAWA, June 19.—Rumors that an order had been issued to members of the Brotherhood of Railway Employees to refuse to handle government mail, in the course of a strike of the postal employees, were denied by A. R. Mosher, president of the brotherhood. He stated that he had issued a suggestion to railway officials that railway employees should not be asked to act in the place of striking postal employees, or in other words, to act as strike breakers.

Toronto Votes for Executive's Offer

TORONTO, June 19.—Striking post office employees this afternoon indorsed the proposal of the executive of the Canadian Federation of Postal Employees for the settlement of the strike.

The proposal is that the government shall place the postal employees under the Industrial Disputes act immediately, to settle the salary schedule.

In the meantime the men will accept present salaries and all benefits antedating April 1, 1924. If the government accepts the proposal the strike will be ended.

Toronto Railway Clerks Join

TORONTO, June 19.—The railway mail clerks held a meeting in Toronto late tonight and decided to join the striking postal clerks and carriers at once. The meeting was attended by epresentatives from London district, who gave assurance that the men in the London district would act in sympathy with the railway mail clerks of the Toronto district.

Announcement was made at the Toronto headquarters tonight that 500 new men taken on the staff today to take care of the work of the strikers, and were being trained as rapidly as possible.

Edmonton Undetermined

EDMONTON, June 19.—The local post office employees have not made any further move in regard to the threatened general strike, it was learned tonight from E. Currey, secretary of the local postal workers. If necessary a strike vote will be taken tomorrow to decide the stand to be taken here.

CONCILIATION CAN'T BE HAD, SAYS MURDOCK

ment of Canada which must carry on business.

This statement was received with general applause in the chamber.

Sympathy Ended

He said he had told the men's committee that while he sympathized with the ingenuity he possessed to carry on the service.

As to whether the men who had gone out would be given their jobs back, he said that "while the light holds out to burn, the vilest sinner may return," but that this could not be continued indefinitely. The mail service must be kept moving, and he was going to take every legal means to move it.

H. C. Hocken, Conservative, West Toronto, in reply to whom Mr. Stewart had made his statement, asked further, whether the 400 men taken on in Toronto had been guaranteed their positions.

Mr. Stewart replied that a notice had been posted on the Toronto post office that those who had left their work would be read out of the service. The new men had, of course, been taken on temporarily as was required under the Civil Service act, but they would have to be protected.

Deplores Precipitation Action

"The public will deplore the precipitation action of the postal employees at Toronto, and a few other points, in going out on strike last night at the very time their representatives were in conference with the cabinet, and when they had been instructed to defer action for 24 hours until an independent commission could be appointed," said Mr. Stewart, in further reviewing the situation.

"I am very sorry at the hasty action of some of the postal employees, who disregarded the advice of their executive to withhold action for 24 hours until this could be considered.

"In case there has been some misunderstanding between the employees and their executive as to calling off the order to strike, the government has fixed a limited time within which the men may return to work. The door is thus still open.

"In the meantime, it is my duty to take immediate steps to ensure the forwarding of the mails. This I propose to do as efficiently and rapidly as possible, and to the public and business interests undoubtedly there will be some inconvenience, but we trust there will be no real distress.

Hope Men Will Reconsider

"I still have hope that the postal employees will, upon consideration, decide that their best interests will be served by returning to work, and will be willing to adjust matters by negotiations, rather than by hasty action in striking and attempting to tie up this most important service to the people of Canada.

"If better judgment does not prevail, then we will fill the positions of striking workers, and maintain a complete service. I do not anticipate that there will be any difficulty in doing this. Already we have hundreds of applicants for positions vacated by strikers."

POLLS OPEN FROM EIGHT TO SEVEN

All those casting their votes in Nelson today will do so in Eagle hall, where there arae 11 polling booths. All those casting their votes in Fairview will do so at Mason's store in Fairview, where there are two polling booths.

CROW'S NEST AGREEMENT DISCUSSED

Board of Trade Adopts Resolution Asking for Basic Commodity Cut

Members of the Nelson board of trade, by an unanimous vote last night, supported the council of the board of trade in its protest against any further suspension of the Crow's Nest Pass agreement, unless certain conditions were observed. The recommendation of the board's council was indorsed after a lengthy discussion, in which Fred A. Starkey, J. R. Hunter, I. R. Poole, George Brown, R. W. Hinton and J. T. Berrington took part.

The board adopted a resolution protesting against the suspension unless the railways interested state that the savings under the agreement be distributed on basic commodities such as coal, ores, forest products and grain moving both east and west in western Canada. Copies of the resolution so adopted will be sent to the premier and to the different members of parliament, as well as to the local district boards of trade.

Council's Findings

Before putting the question, I. R. Poole, president of the board, stated that the council of the board had taken up each item on the agreement and had first looked at it in a selfish mood, and the decision reached was that the only thing which would be materially affected would be the rates on green and fresh fruits. The committee's finding was that the people affected most were entitled to a reduction, and this reduction would, it was thought, have most effect on certain basic commodities.

Following the discussion on the Crow's Nest agreement, it was decided that the board would suspend regular meetings throughout the months of July and August, as has been customary in the past.

Memorial day in the United States was the biggest day in the history of sport in that country, when close to a million persons watched athletic contests. At the Indianapolis auto races alone there were 140,000 present, and the major league baseball games drew 260,000. It is estimated that 350,000 saw the holiday doubleheaders in the 30 minor leagues, and that 75,000 attended the college baseball games, in addition to the uncounted thousands who watch the many track and field, tennis, golf, polo, rowing, boxing, wrestling and marathon contests.

During the last 27 years, J. H. Brown of Woodstock, Ont., has attended every opening game of baseball by the Toronto International league team.

Forty ostriches, ridden by jockeys, are to be used in races at the fashionable Grunewald race course in Germany.
