TRAIL SHIPS BROCKVILLE COPPER BARS

Furnaces Work on Rossland Ore and Melting Plant Starts Up

NOT TONNAGE FOR THE ROD MILL YET

First Shipment to Wire Cable Firm in Ontario Being Made

Between 200 and 300 tons of copper billets are being shipped by the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company of Canada at Trail, General Manager S. G. Blaylock admitted over the long-distance telephone last night, to the Phillips Wire Cable company, at or near Brockville, Ont., as a first shipment, for the purpose of being manufactured into wire.

The copper furnaces at Trail, long idle, were started up by the Consolidated some months ago, on accumulated Rossland ore, and the copper melting plant was started up a couple of weeks ago. The latter turns out the refined copper in the form of bars or billets four inches square and five feet long, in the form in which they are fed for rod mills, which squeeze and draw them into rods.

Rod Mill Waits

Under present conditions, with only the Rossland mines supplying copper tonnage, the output of the copper refinery is insufficient to justify the Consolidated in starting up its own big rod mill, built about four years ago but never operated, as its completion was contemporary with the slump in copper values, and the company is disposing of its copper product in this way for a time.

Should copper recover its old position in the metal realm, and Copper Mountain resume operation and send concentrates to Trail, those events would almost certain bring into being the delayed manufacture of copper rods at Trail, for sale to the wire mills of the country.

Bandits Compliment Plucky Vancouver Banker Who Fought

VANCOUVER, Aug. 27.—George Bonnaille, manager of the Bank of Commerce branch here, who made such a plucky fight against the bandits recently when $19,000 was taken from the bank, has received a letter from the gang bearing a Vancouver postmark. It states:

"We have made $19,000 in one day, while you, who have been working hard all your life, have probably not made that much altogether. But you are the bravest man we have met, though we were just a little bit braver."

The missive, which is being held secret, bears four signatures, all in the same handwriting.

ARREST GUARDS FOR SERAFINI

Two of Bordeaux Jail Staff Will Be Charged in Court Today

MONTREAL, Aug. 27. — Two guards of the Bordeaux jail are under arrest and a number of others have been suspended as a result of the almost successful attempt of Giuseppe Serafini to escape Monday morning.

Serafini, who is one of the six bandits condemned to be hanged October 24 for participation in the killing of the chauffeur of the Banque d'Hochelaga collection car when it was looted in April last, had sawn through the bars of his cell, and was later found in the jail yard trying to climb the walls.

The guards will be arraigned here tomorrow charged with criminal negligence.

McRae Behind Creery on Two-Thirds Count

VANCOUVER, Aug. 27.—Tally of the first eight divisions in the local election recount leaves General A. D. McRae 44 votes behind the lowest candidate, A. McC. Creery. Four divisions are yet to be counted.

McNiven Leaves for Unemployment Meet

VICTORIA, Aug. 27.—J. D. McNiven, deputy minister of labor, left for Ottawa tonight to attend the unemployment conference there next week. He will join representatives of the other provinces in opposing the dole system.

'MARS' SIGNALS RECORDED ON A 'RADIO' FILM

Thirty Feet of Celluloid Gives Graphic Record of Twenty-nine Hours

ONE SIDE REGULAR; OTHER IS JUMBLED

Dr. Todd Not Convinced the Waves Were Not From Planet

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Development of a photograph film record of radio signals, during a period about 29 hours while Mars was closest to the earth, has deepened the mystery of the dots and dashes reported heard at the same time by widely separated operators of powerful stations.

C. F. Jenkins of Washington, inventor of the device which he calls the "radio photo message continuous transmission machine," was induced by Dr. David Todd, professor of astronomy of Amherst, and organizer of the international "listening-in" for signals from Mars, to take the record.

Like Crudely Drawn Face

The film, 30 feet long, and six inches wide, disclosed a fairly regular arrangement of dots and dashes along one side, but on the other side, at almost evenly spaced intervals, are curiously jumbled groups each taking the form of a crudely drawn face.

"I don't think the results have anything to do with Mars," says Mr. Jenkins. "Quite likely the sounds recorded are the result of interference of radio signals."

Dr. Todd, however, takes a more serious view of the record.

"We now have a permanent record which can be studied," he pointed, "and who knows, until we have studied them, just what these signals may have been."

ISLAND SCHOONER A BATTERED HULK

Fear Crew of Six Drowned, From Evidence of Broken JollyBoat

HALIFAX, N.S., Aug. 27.—It is feared that Capt. W. A. Miller and his crew of five men were drowned when the schooner Anna Macdonald, 200 tons, owned in Charlottetown, P.E.I., by Hon. J. A. Macdonald, provincial minister of public works, was totally wrecked in this week's storm off Prospect, Halifax county.

While no bodies have been discovered, the belief that Captain Miller and his comrades met their death in the sea is strengthened by the presence on shore of battered pieces of the ship's jolly-boat.

Battered Mass Tosses on Shoals

The names of the crew are at present unknown. It is thought by those familiar with Captain Miller that, when overtaken by last night's hurricane, he sought shelter at Prospect, 20 miles from here, a part of the coast with which he was familiar. The entrance to the harbor is narrow and dangerous. The craft, it is believed, struck one of the shoals while the storm was at its height.

The Prospect shore is strewn with wreckage. On the Kittywitty shoals that are still being swept by angry seas is a storm-tossed battered mass, all that is left of the Anna MacDonald.

Ontario to Probe the Essex Border Liquor Scandals

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 27.—A thorough probe into the liquor export business along the Essex border will be instituted shortly by the government, it was learned here today. More stringent regulations are in prospect which will make the export business much less profitable than it is at present.

Prince Will Visit Toronto Privately

TRONTO, Aug. 27.—The Toronto Telegram today intimates that the Prince of Wales will visit Toronto in the latter part of September. "When he does come, it will be in the capacity of a private gentleman. He will stay at a hotel, and not at Government House, and will not be the guest of the crown, military or personal friends," says the newspaper.

HARVESTER KILLED BY OVERTURNING CAR

WILCOX, Sask., Aug. 27.—Albert Gray, a harvester, aged 35, from Sherbrooke, Que., was instantly killed one mile north of here this afternoon, when a truck driven by Henry Baker overturned near a culvert.

He Had Nine Wives and Now He's Crazy

KID McCOY

Former middleweight champion of the world, and in a cell charged with the murder of Mrs. Theresa Mors, with whom he had been living, is being studied by the alienists. The police believe him genuinely crazy, but at least one alienist holds that he is shamming.

PRINCE'S TEAM OF BRITISHERS LOSES WAR TUG

Heir to Throne Looks Like Potato Race Winner but Misplaces One

ON BOARD S.S. BERENGARIA, Aug. 27.—The Prince of Wales was on the losing side of the tug-of-war, one of the chief events of the sports meet held aboard the ship today. The prince and his British colleagues on one end of the rope put up a stubborn fight, but after see-sawing about the deck for about five minutes they were pulled over the line by the United States team, who did yeoman service on the other half of the rope.

Spectators Sigh

The prince took part in the potato race which followed, and looked like a winner, but was disqualified for misplacing one of the tubers. His ill-luck was accompanied by audible sighs from the spectators, but the heir to the British throne smiled, and stepped back into the space reserved for the spectators, where he watched the remainder of the sports, and applauded those lucky enough to find places on the winning end.

In anticipation of his afternoon's labors, the prince did not indulge in his usual morning exercise. Instead, he made a complete inspection of the ship, accompanied by the captain and other officers. In the evening, with the members of his party, he attended the charity concert.

NOTES OF THE STORM

Fear for Fleet on Banks

ST. JOHN'S Nfld., Aug. 27.—With a furious gale raging off the coast and over Newfoundland fears were expressed tonight for the safety of the fishing fleet on the Grand Banks.

Much minor damage had been caused today by the storm. Several vessels broke from their morrings in the harbor. Coastwise craft were unable to proceed. Trains were delayed by the storm.

Four Lost From Schoner

SYDNEY, N.S., Aug. 27.—Captain Devon of Sydney and the Anderson brothers, Fred and William, of North Sydney, and W. Gunlerson, are missing from the schoner Julia F.C., out of that port, which was reported this afternoon crippled and dragging her anchor 13 miles from Bird island at the entrance to St. Ann's bay during last night's storm.

SYDNEY, N.S., Aug. 27.—Two small schooners, the Gold Cup, and the Bridget and Freemans, sank at their moorings at North Sydney during the height of the gale last night. No lives were lost.

Concord Grapes Are Scarce at the Coast as Imports Barred

VANCOUVER, Aug. 27.—Concord grapes are scarce on the market here, and will be scarcer before the Niagara crop is received. The reason is that Concords from the United States have been barred out by the Dominion regulation demanding that they be packed in 10-lb. containers. The United States package is 6 lbs.

FIVE GREAT LINERS BATTLE WAY THROUGH THE HURRICANE SOME STREWN WITH WRECKAGE

Wave Hits Arabic Throwing Hundred Screaming People in Heap; Her Upper Cabins Are Wrecked; Boats Crushed

MUNARGO AND ORIZABA ARE FLOODED FROM STEM TO STERN

Homeric Has Wrecked Superstructure With Eight Persons Injured; Gale Hundred Twenty Miles an Hour

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Atlantic shipping paid heavy toll to the hurricane which raged over the seas from the south to the north Atlantic for the better part of the last three days. With the arrival in port late today of the White Sar liner Arabic, bearing more than 50 persons injured in the 100-mile gale, shipping officials learned that the hurricane had caught many vessels in its sweep.

At least five large liners, heavily loaded with home-coming passengers, fought their way through the gale that at times whipped the waves into battering hillocks between 40 and 50 feet in height.

The Arabic, her sick bay filled with injured, her decks stripped of lifeboats, and her portholes smashed in, was the hardest hit.

The Homeric, also of the White Star line, ran into the storm in its waning strength, but had eight injured, and suffered damage to her superstructure.

The Munson liner Munargo from Nassau, and the Orizaba of the Ward line, made port badly battered.

AMBULANCES TAKE ARABIC'S INJURED

Of the 52 persons aboard the Arabic who received injuries necessitating the doctors' care, seven were so badly hurt they had to be removed to hospitals. Ambulances awaited the ship at her north river pier. Of the Arabic's injured, 35 were passengers, nine of them in the third cabins, and 17 were members of the crew. A score or more of others suffered minor hurts.

One man was reported dead, a victim of the gale. The steamer Eliza Walker picked up a wireless message from the Danish steamer Nordfarer, en route here from South America, stating that a wave had swept the 2500-ton vessel, and swept her bridge and her master, Capt. J. Madsen, overboard.

A wireless request for an ambulance was sent tonight from the Munson ship Mundella, inward bound from San Pedro, saying the captain, J. F. Smith, was injured during the gale.

LIKE A CANOE AMID RAPIDS

The Arabic, which sailed from Hamburg with 616 passengers August 16, left Halifax for New York at 2:30 o'clock Monday. Captain Hickson reported ideal weather was encountered until noon of the next day, when the barometer dropped and the wind began to freshen.

By 3 o'clock, he said, the wind had attained a velocity of 120 miles an hour, and began to kick up veritable pyramids of water, which tossed the 16,000 tons of steel and wood about like a canoe in river rapids.

Shortly after 3 o'clock the hurricane lifted a great sea, which slapped the Arabic abaft the bridge on the starboard side, and piled 100 screaming, frightened men, women and children into a kicking heap in a corner of the main lounge. Mixed with the squirming human pile were articles of lounge furniture, paintings from the trembling walls, tapestries, hangings, and chunks of the half-inch glass smashed out of the portholes.

FLOOD SWEEPS ALL DECKS

The water rushed over the decks in a flood, sweeping all before it, crushed lifeboats, twisted heavy iron stanchions, and gushing geyser-like through portholes, smashing virtually every cabin on the two upper decks. Nine lifeboats were shattered and left in splinters. The deck companionways were washed and blown away.

The wireless aerial was incapacitated for several hours.

At the height of the storm, panic ruled the passengers on all decks. It was all the officers could do to calm the whimpering women and children, while some of the male passengers had to be accorded rough treatment before they could regain their composure.

Sleep in the Wet

The shaken and injured, many of them suffering pitiably from seasickness, had no dry places to sleep that night. Table tops were transformed into couches, deck chairs were utilized, and the decks themselves provided the night's lodging for a good portion of those aboard.

The Munargo was the next hardest hit. Her captain, as well as the Orizaba's master, declared it was the worst storm they have ever weathered. During the period nobody slept on board.

Both the Munargo and the Orizaba were flooded from stem to stern, and each bore ample marks of the thrashing handed them by the storm.

PICTURE BRIDES OFF THE ISLAND

Schooner With Two Hundred Brides Plans to Smuggle Them

VICTORIA, Aug. 27.—A five-masted Japanese schooner with a large number of Japanese picture brides seeking illegal entry into the United States, is reported to be off the northern coast of Vancouver island.

It is understood that the schooner has some 200 picture brides aboard and that it is the intention of the master of the vessel to smuggle them either to Canada, and over the border into the United States, or if possible, to get them ashore at some desolate part of the United States Pacific coast.

Coastwise vessels and freighters that have heard of the report are keeping a keen lookout for the schooner, and if she is sighted, position and description will be wirelessed to authorties here, and action taken.

Fireman Shields Child With Body When Wave Hits

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—There were no Canadians among the 50 more or less seriously injured passengers of the White Star liner Arabic which received a terrible drubbing in the hurricane which caught her between Halifax and New York. On the arrival of the much-battered liner at her dock here tonight a checkup failed to show any passengers from the Dominion suffering from dangerous injuries.

Among the more-severe casualties was Patrick Carney, fireman, who, to save a little girl from being smashed against the side of the dining saloon when the Arabic reeled under a gigantic wave, used his body as a buffer and probably suffered a fractured spine. A purse was collected for Carney.

MONEY! MONEY! YOUTHS KILLED TO GET LUCRE

States' Attorney Shows Loeb Had Gambling Debts to Pay

LEOPOLD HAD A HOLD ON LOEB

Knew of Black Incidents Tried Blackmail; Not His Slave

CHICAGO, Aug. 27. — Picking his way through a bewildering maze of technical terminology from pathologists and philosophical attorneys, State's Attorney Crowe continued today his argument for a sentence to the gallows for Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb. He planted beneath the ramparts of the defence plea of mercy and theory of mental sickness two big charges of verbal dynamite, one a mine and the other a hand grenade. And then he watched them explode.

Admit Ransom the Object

Mr. Crowe's mine was the Hulburt-Bowen report frequently referred to in the case. In a manner calculated to rock the carefully erected structure of the defence he read from the document quotations from the two youthful defendants themselves which tended in the view of the prosecutor to controvert much of the alienists' testimony concerning the inadequate emotional nature of Young Loeb and the superman Leopold. He found in it two quoted admissions by the youths that the $10,000 ransom was the object of their plot and opinions by defence alienists that heredity had nothing to do with the crime.

His second bombshell, less thunderous but apparently as unexpected as the first, was in the form of letters addressed to Loeb from relatives and friends treating of his gambling debts—the debts important to Mr. Crowe, he said, as supplying the money motive for the crime.

Made Many Deposits

Mr. Crowe asked where Loeb had got the money which he had deposited in various banks previous to the Franks affair. The prosecution did not answer his own question but read the bank records, which showed that Loeb had made deposits numbering a score or more and coming on dates when his allowance from his father was not due.

He spent much of his time in elaborating the theory that "money had everything to do with the crime."

"Money, money, money," he once shouted. "Money all through this evidence. Money for gambling debts, money for ransom. Money for a trip to Europe. Money for bribing jailers to help escape the just penalty of the crime. Money for defence, and money for teddy bears and cowboy suits."

Four Unrevealed Incidents

Mr. Crowe also found in the report references to A, B, C and D, four unrevealed episodes in Loeb's life. These, he contended, were known to Leopold, and used by the latter as blackmail to keep Loeb in subjection.

"They dispose of the king slave theory of the defence," he said.

Mr. Crowe said he would prove that these were "four major crimes committed by Loeb, but he did not reach that stage in his argument today.

"A, B, C, D—and the murder of Bobby Franks is E," he thundered to the court.

REICHSTAG IS BEHIND DAWES, BUT WANTING

Passes Bills on the Second Reading Strongly but Not by Two-thirds

COMMUNISTS BREAK UP THE SESSION

Middle Party Is Against an Election at Critical Time

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—Although the reichstag passed the second reading of the Dawes bills today by a general majority of 248 to 174, the balloting virtually leaves the government only a scant hope of obtaining the two-thirds majority required for final passage when the measure as a whole is up for its last reading, unless the Nationalists conclude to give it negative support by permitting defections of their reichstag delegation when the fateful vote is taken.

Balloting has been postponed until Friday, owing to prolonged interruptions at today's session by rioting Communists.

The Nationalists are holding a secret caucus tonight, at which the party's attitude when the critical vote is taken will be determined.

Exhibition of Fighting

Disturbances in the reichstag which terminated in a general exhibition of fighting finally compelled President Waller to call in a squad from police headquarters for the purpose of forcibly removing three of the Communists. The incident has measurably quickened the yearning among the bourgeoise parties for early dissolution of the reichstag, for which the Socialists are the most insistent clamorers.

The middle party, on the whole, believe the present international situation an awkward period for new elections, inasmuch as delayed ratification of the London pact through a new reichstag would precipitate the gravest economic and political convulsion within Germany, even if the Marx-Stresemann cabinet proceeds to ratify the pact before the end of the month.

The opponents of a new election argue that at least a month would be needed for a campaign on the Dawes report, thus forcing Germany to pass through an interim of insecurity, as she would be deprived in the meantime of every benefit accruing from the pact through immediate ratification.

It is also pointed out that such delay would in all probability result in modifications or restrictions which would seriously impair the present prospects for a loan credit.

and W. M. Davidson, editor of the Calgary Albertan, independent member for Calgary. Mr. Mitchell is said to have the support of Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, and the right wing of the Liberal party.

Mr. Davidson now sits on the cross-benches, although for some time in the Liberal ranks. He won a seat in a recent byelection, defeating a combination of the Liberals and Conservatives.

It is declared that he has the support of what are called the progressives in the party and, it is said, of a number of Liberal members of the legislature. He has given no indication that he is a candidate for the position.

George Webster, mayor of Calgary, is also mentioned, but at present he is not a member of the house.

The Liberals will probably hold a convention soon and appoint a leader, although some of the sitting members prefer to name a house leader, with a convention following the coming session of the legislature.

Call Convention at Once

EDMONTON, Aug. 27.—Within the present week there will be a convention of Liberal members of the Alberta legislature for the purpose of choosing a house leader for the party during the coming session of the legislature, the final selection of a successor to Hon. J. R. Boyle being left to a provincial convention which it is likely will be called early next spring. Local members concede that Hon. C. R. Mitchell is the almost certain choice of the sitting members, on account of his long experience in the Liberal cabinet, and his service as chief aid to the Liberal leader in opposition.

Within a few days a convention will be called to nominate a candidate to contest the constituency made vacant by the appointment of Mr. Boyle to the bench.

Tomorrow the executive of the Conservative association meets to discuss the same question.

Both Liberals and Conservatives are hurrying their preparations in anticipation that the government will bring on a byelection at the earliest possible date.

TEN THOUSAND FEWER AT WORK

First of August Saw Some Slackening Up of Employment

OTTAWA, Aug. 27.—(Canadian Press.)—More than 10,000 persons were released from employment, by 5727 firms making returns to the Dominion bureau of statistics, at the beginning of August. The firms making returns employed 775,759 workers, as compared with 786,378 at the beginning of July.

The employment situation, while not so good as on August 1, 1923, continues better than in 1921 or 1922.

Firms in the manufacturing division as a whole, notably in iron and steel, and in logging and railway construction, reported curtailment of activity.

Shipping, stevedoring, building and highway construction showed continued improvement. Canneries registered large additions to staffs.

British Columbia was the only province to record an increase in employment. In the prairie provinces, contraction in railway construction was partly offset by increase in employment in iron and steel and textile factories and in breweries. The result was a net reduction of 2975 workers in the staffs of 754 reporting firms, since their last report.

SAYS CANADA MAY FEED THE STATES

Sir Henry Thornton Pictures a Big Future Development

MONTREAL, Aug. 27.—That the tide of immigration was turning toward Canada, and that the time was coming when the people of the United States would have to look to this country for their daily sustenance, was the opinion expressed by Sir Henry Thornton, chairman on his return from his tour of inspection of the western lines of the railroad.

Sir Henry found optimism in the west, great possibilities for the two great Pacific ports of Vancouver and Prince Rupert, and estimated a crop of at least 300,000,000 bushels this year. He also referred to the ever-increasing tendency toward mixed farming in the west. He said a grain elevator at Prince Rupert would be a necessity before long.

Coast Cities Enterprising

"Vancouver is active and enterprising," said Sir Henry. "The traffic of the port, particularly in grain is constantly increasing, and everywhere I noticed indications of progress and enterprise. I believe there is much activity in the fish business, and as the grain shipments through the Pacific coast increase, Prince Rupert will benefit accordingly. A grain elevator ought to be established at this port, and will certainly be a necessity before very long."

MONTREAL, Aug. 27.—Replying to the argument of Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King in his address here Monday that the Liberal government was not in favor of free trade, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, at a meeting here tonight in favor of W. M. Birks, Conservative candidate in the St. Antoine byelection, to be held September 2, declared that the country had got freer trade in 1922, and a little more freer trade in 1923, more in 1924, and this would go on until the death-knell of protection had been sounded.

ARCTIC REPORTS BY RADIO SHE IS FARING HOME

Minnesota Amateur Picks Up Message; Did Not Meet MacMillan

OTTAWA, Aug. 27.—All is well aboard the Canadian government steamer Arctic now cruising in northern waters in the neighborhood of Ellesmere island. Nothing had been heard of the Arctic since August 10, but today an unknown amateur radio operator in Kenneth, Minn., picked up the Arctic and forwarded to the branch of the interior department the Arctic's message.

The Arctic does not report having met with the American MacMillan expedition which wintered in Refuge harbor, north of Etah Greenland; and, therefore, it is assumed it was unable to deliver mail for MacMillan's expedition which she has on board.

She reports having visited Craig harbor and Rice Strait on Ellesmere island, Ponds inlet on Baffin island and Dundas harbor in North Devon. She is now on her way back home, and states little ice has been encountered.

At Craig harbor, where the Royal Canadian Mounted police maintained the most northerly station in the world, some of the buildings were burned down during the winter, but the men are reported as well.

American Ship Boxer Is Ordered to Assistance of Distressed Vessel

VANCOUVER, Aug. 27. — Wireless word received from the auxiliary schooner Lady Kindersley by the Hudson's Bay company here gives the information that the situation of the imprisoned men remains the same. They are comfortably quartered on the ship, which is still locked in a field of pack ice miles from the nearest open lace. Loose broken ice cuts them off from an approach to the shore. The wind yesterday was northeast, and the ship is making a northward drift from her last position of Tangent point.

Boxer Ordered to Aid

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27. — The bureau of education's supply ship Boxer has been ordered to proceed to the assistance of the motor schooner Lady Kindersley caught in the ice 45 miles east of Point Barrow, Alaska. The Boxer last reported within 30 or 40 miles of the distressed vessel.

Deny Crew in Danger

VANCOUVER, Aug. 27.—Hudson's Bay company officials deny reports issued from Washington and Seattle stating the crew of the Lady Kindersley are in danger of losing their lives. C. H. French, manager of the fur department, states the chances of saving the ship are also excellent.

VANCOUVER, Aug. 27.—W. H. D. Ladner, well-known lawyer of Vernon, B.C., and a second cousin of Leon J. Ladner, M.P., of Vancouver, was killed at 8:30 o'clock last night, when the car in which he was driving overturned about a mile out of Vernon, on the Armstrong road.

James Hopkins of Armstrong, who was with him, was seriously injured. An inquest was expected to be held today.

Mr. Ladner, who is survived by a widow and several children in Vernon, is the son of Rev. Charles Ladner of Kamloops, a pioneer Methodist preacher in British Columbia, and a leader in the early missionary work of the province. The family came originally from Penzance, Cornwall, England.

Mr. Ladner was the defence lawyer in the murder trial following the killing of Denoreaz, the prominent Argenta rancher, by his brother-in-law.

OLIVER REPEATS NELSON DENIAL

Says He Never Disclosed Nature of McLeod Report on Railway

VICTORIA, Aug. 27.—Negotiations between the Canadian National railways and the provincial government concerning the disposition of the Pacific Great Eastern railway have not reached a point yet where any statement concerning details is justified, Premier John Oliver and Hon. J. D. MacLean, minister of railways, stated tonight.

Premier Oliver denied that he had authorized any statement concerning the activity of M. H. McLeod, consulting engineer for the Canadian National here.

"I am not responsible for any statement published regarding the proposed disposal of the Pacific Great Eastern," he said. "I regard the whole matter as confidential, and it has not reached a point justifying any statement whatever."

Dr. MacLean said he expected that nothing definite would result from the Pacific Great Eastern negotiations for some time. He declined to confirm or deny the proposition as outlined in the dispatch.

Malcolm MacDonald, son of Ramsay MacDonald, prime minister of Great Britain, may address an audience in Calgary within the next month or six weeks, accoridng to information issued by officials of the Calgary branch of the Dominion Labor party.

That "Kruschen" Feeling

Even Jumbo sometimes feels like jumping for joy!

It's a glorious thing, this bubbling over with youthful vigour and light-hearted jollity. But even childhood's cast-iron optimism is not entirely proof against ill-health.

When friskiness gives place to fractiousness in your kiddies, you should recognize at once the danger signals. Sulky, listless, moping children are generally sick children. Often it's nothing serious, of course. Something may have upset the little insides, or possibly they are constipated. Whatever the cause of the trouble may be, until it is removed they can't regain their usual spirits.

The surest, simplest way to remedy all the small ills that bother the small ones is to stir a tiny dose of Kruschen Salts into their breakfast cup of milk, tea or cocoa, or bowl of porridge. The littlest pinch is enough — about "half a dimeful." Though they never know they're taking it, it gently, but thoroughly frees the little bodies of all the clogging waste matter that has been sapping their energy. The youngsters wake up next morning their bright cheery little selves again, brimful of "that Kruschen feeling," happy as the day is long.

Don't wait for the spectre of illness to invade the nursery. Every druggist sells Kruschen at 75c a bottle. Let your children have their own bottle to themselves, and be prepared for anything. But buy it now.

SCIENTISTS HEAR OF DRUG ADDICTS

Dr. Shrubsall Addresses the Scientists en Route to Revelstoke

GLACIER, B.C., Aug. 27.—(Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)—Statements have been made to Dr. F. C. Shrubsall, president of the anthropology section of the British association, who is now on tour here with the visiting scientists, to the effect that the drug traffic is on the increase in western Canada, and the dangerous situation is reported that addicts are not infrequent in secondary schools. Dr. Shrubsall, who is medical officer to the London county council, is making a study of the juvenille delinquency in Canada, taking him the rounds of juvenile courts and special schools for mental defectives.

"I have heard rumors that drug taking is increasing in the west. People have told me that pupils of secondary schools are concerned." Dr. Shrubsall admitted, in an interview with the Canadian Press. "I am not taking the stories seriously, however," Dr. Shrubsall said. "I believe that the accounts are exaggerated, due to jealousy between cities and between provinces."

"My informers told me that no relation appears between the prevalence of the drug habit, and liquor legislation," Dr. Shrubsall stated, in answer to a question.

By HAZEL DEYO BATCHELOR

Miriam Folwell, a young business woman, has an episode in her life which, although innocent, has caused scandal. She has almost forgotten it when a year later she becomes engaged to Anthony Breen, and then out of the past comes a woman who knows all about the episode and proceeds to make trouble. Anthony believes the worst, but offers to marry her anyway. Miriam, with her faith in men shattered, refuses his offer and accepts the offer of her firm to send her to Europe. She succeeds in avoiding Anthony until the moment of sailing.

CHAPTER XLV.

An Apparition

MIRIAM was roused from her sleep by the sound of someone speaking her name. She sat up, rubbing her eyes bewilderedly, for the moment forgetting where she was, and then as the rhythmical pound of the engines came to her ears that voice spoke again.

"Miriam Folwell!"

She turned, her heart beating wildly and looked into a pair of burning blue eyes, set in a face whose features she had almost forgotten. Then suddenly she remembered everything, that night in the mountains, this man's voice asking her to be his wife, her escape, and then—Anthony, Anthony who believed the worst of her.

"You!" she gasped. "You!"

"Will you let me sit down here a moment?" he was saying. "I want to talk to you. I want to tell you how I tried to find you, but the city had swallowed you up. To think of meeting you like this, to think of Fate taking a hand and throwing us together again on board the America."

In Miriam's heart there had always existed the feeling that if ever she set eyes on this man again she would hate him. He was the cause of all her heartache, of all her anguish and misery, he had come between Anthony and herself, and certainly, she had never wanted to see him again. But now that he had actually materialized, she found that she did not hate him. She felt curiously indifferent concerning the episode connected with him, and after the first shock of seeing him again, she was able to collect her thoughts and treat him as she would have treated any chance acquaintance.

But the personal kept cropping up in spite of anything she could do to prevent it. She could not chat with him casually without going into the past, and when he finally asked. "Have you been ill?" she shook her head and said deliberately, "Not physically ill, only mentally."

There was silence between them, and in that moment Miriam found her eyes wandering to his hand grasping the arm of her chair. It was a strong hand, a hand that one night long ago had stirred a strange feeling in her heart. It was a hand a woman might cling to, there was power in it, and suddenly Miriam found herself averting her eyes.

"I'm sorry," he said evenly, and at his words anger leaped up in Miriam's heart.

"I've lost my faith in human nature," she said suddenly. "I'll never believe in any one again. I have paid very dearly for that night we missed our train. It just happens that the slander followed me, that I could not shake it off. Just recently I met some one who remembered me, and who told the story of that night to the man I had promised to marry. He believed it, but he offered to marry me anyway. Naturally, I couldn't accept such a sacrifice. That's all, but I wanted you to know. I wanted you to realize why we can never be friends, why the very sight of you is obnoxious to me. I remember, you see, that you, too, offered me marriage. To you it was a way out of a sorry predicament, and I tried to forget it, but I realize now that I never have."

Miriam was carried away by her feeling. She was pouring out all her hot resentment in a burst of emotion. She had suffered, and she would make Warren Holmes suffer, too. At least, she would show him the contempt that she felt for him and after that perhaps he would take himself off and cease to bother her.

He listened to her in silence, and after she had finished talking he still did not speak. After a moment she stole a look at him, and saw that he was white to the lips.

PRINCE TO LEAVE THE LINER EARLY

Cutter or Yacht Will Rush Him to Shore; Government Welcome

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The liner Berengaria, bringing the Prince of Wales and his party to New York, is not expected to reach quarantine until about 5 o'clock Friday night, according to a radio message received by officers of the Cunard line today.

The royal visitor will be met at quarantine by J. Butler Wright, third assistant secretary of state, who will welcome him on behalf of the United States government, and Maj. Edward Dubley Metcalf, the prince's equerry, who came here several days ago to look after preliminary arrangements for the visit.

The prince will leave the liner an hour or more before she docks, proceeding ashore in a coastguard cutter or a private yacht. He had planned to go direct to the home of James A. Burden, near Syosset, Long island, which will be his home for about two weeks, but if the Berengaria arrives late Friday night he may go instead to the train that is to take him to Washington, where he will take luncheon with President Coolidge Saturday.

Returning to New York Saturday night, the prince will proceed to the Burden home and remain there for the rest of his stay.

John W. Davis will call on the prince if the prince is still visiting Long island when the Democratic presidential candidate and former ambassador to Great Britain returns from his western campaign tour, on which he will start Sunday.

Mr. Davis praised the prince today as a "very likeable human being," and declared his tact "is truly remarkable."

INSPECTOR TRAPPED BY TAPPING WIRES?

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Postal inspectors tonight were silent as to methods by which proof of alleged complicity in the $2,000,000 Rondout, Ill., mail robbery had been obtained against William F. Fahy, one-time "ace" of the local force of inspectors.

They would not verify printed reports that $14,000 of the loot had been traced to Fahy as his share of the proceedings of the holdup, and that Fahy's downfall had been brought about through tapping the wires of his telephone.

The government officials tonight were continuing their checking of the two new angles of the situation. Fahy's alleged affairs with women and his reported intention to leave the government service and establish a private detective agency.

Fahy, in jail at Geneva, Ill., in default of $50,000 bail, asserts that his arrest is the result of a conspiracy against him, and that he is innocent.

ON BOARD U.S.S. RICHMOND, Icetickle, Labrador, Aug. 27.—Further postponement of one day in the departure of the United States army world fliers from Ivigtut, Greenland, to Indian Harbor, Labrador, was ordered this morning because of a storm which is reported moving north. Rear-Admiral Thomas P. Magruder notified the vessels of the naval patrol that the flight had been postponed until Friday at the earliest.

A further message stated that the fliers expect to hop off from Indian Harbor the day after their arrival there.

MILK TRUCK OVERTURNS ON GRANITE ROAD

Mr. and Mrs. Balding and Jack Roche Have Miraculous Escape from Death

Mr. and Mrs. J. Balding and J. Roche had a miraculous escape from death yesterday morning when the Balding car turned completely over on the Granite road just opposite the Dominion dairy.

In their two-ton truck, loaded with cans of milk, Mr. and Mrs. Balding were coming into town shortly after 8 o'clock and stopped to pick up Mr. Roche on the way. At 8:40 they were opposite the Dominion dairy, when the truck struck a stone on the right side of the road and turned completely over. The inmates, who were still in the car after it had overturned, were extricated by W. Calbick and his son, Elmer, and it was discovered that none of the three were injured, though both Mr. Balding and Mr. Roche had lame backs after.

Mrs. Balding's clothes were ruined through combined gasoline and mud, and the family cat, which was being taken from the ranch to the home in Fairview, was later discovered nearly all in and looking like a drowned rat through the same mixture.

The gasoline tank of the truck was broken, the steering gear locked and the front axle bent.

Brandon Section Cutting General; Crops Improved

WINNIPEG, Aug. 27.—Ideal ripening weather during the past few days throughout Manitoba has greatly advanced the crops, and farmers have commenced cutting in several districts. In the Brandon district wheat cutting is now general, and, according to reports, summer fallow fields will yield anywhere from 22 to 30 bushels to the acre, while that on fall or spring plowing may probably go under 20 bushels.

With rye cutting nearly completed in this district, it is expected the yield will be between 12 and 15 bushels an acre.

Barley is reported to be in excellent condition around Douglas, Man.

CRYSTAL CREEK TUMBLES WITH FAIRY DRAPERY

Haunt for Elves in the Hills About Nelson Described by Old-Timer

A TRIP TO FIND FORGOTTEN LEAD

Early Day Prospectors Muse in Old Tunnel as Lightning Plays

By OLD-TIMER

A few weeks ago I met a prospector, whose knowledge of geology, etc., ideas, aims, sedimentaries, Cambrian, pre-Cambrian and other periods, was uncanny. He had prospected for 30 years in this Kootenay district, with more or less success, but now had made up his mind to move on to another and newer mining district where some of his old-time friends were doing fairly well.

"Say, old-timer," said I, "I'll take you to an abandoned claim, where you can in three hours' work make a better showing, yet, far better, than in that granite hole of yours, with the jewelery shop look!"

Ye Empty Lard Pail

So one fine Sunday morning we started out with a lunch in our packs, the usual empty lard pail to boil tea in—Yes, we let the water boil, then throw in the tea and by the time we get the can from off the camp fire, the tea is ready—a prospecting pick, an ax, and a young Nelson native son, also a dog.

After walking some miles along the Ymir road, on the getting of which he and I did our little bits, and it was not published in any Baker street store window—we looked for the old trail made 33 years ago. The entrance was hard to find, but I noticed a spot where half of the bank had fallen down, leaving the other half of the trail entrance intact. Two weeks before our hunt for the trail, an old trapper with another old-timer tried to locate it, but without success. We made our way, however, by stooping low because the brush was growing over the top. After going for some time, we came upon some bear tracks, the old dog sniffed at them, but like his master, he had lost enthusiasm for bear.

"Say, didn't big——have a claim about seven miles from here?" said I to my companion.

"Yes," said he. "He gave it up because his health went back on him. Some years ago he packed a blacksmith outfit up this trail. Last summer he brought it down on a wheelbarrow." Some job said I.

"Yes," said he, "but he needed the money that——paid him for it."

"What about the claim?" said I.

"Another case of hope not giving values to ore," said he.

Climb Down Like Tarzan

We looked for the blaze of the location line of the old claim, but not finding it, we struck off from the trail, going toward a creek near which the lost claim was located. On we scrambled, through the brush, till we got to the banks of said creek, which were fully 300 to 500 feet to the bed. We switchbacked down, holding on the trees, like Tarzan of the Apes, and on the last lap slid to the bed of the creek.

Here was rushing water over huge boulders, and uneven bedrock. It seemed that at some time nature did its best to mix things up. My companion pointed out the lime strata, the replacement veins, the shear zones, and ledges or dykes that looked very promising for locating mineral claims, and say, gentle reader, how I wished I'd brought my kodak with me.

Oh, for a Camera

To see that creek bed was something never to be forgotten. In some places was a series of terraces over which was running water in fairylike drapery, over pitchblack rock, below which were fairylike pools, and one could imagine the elves and fairies having a delightful time in such surroundings.

In one of these pretty spots, the boy made fire, whilst my companion and the dog and I rested, looking on the pretty scene, with thoughts of what? We soon had the tea made, which under such conditions and surroundings, tastes like the nectar for the gods one reads about in books.

Just as our meal was finished, we heard thunder and lightning. Then how it rained, it did not take many pails of water to put the fire out. We hastened away looking for shelter. We found it under some huge trees, but soon had to seek further, and on our way we saw a clump of wild hollyhocks in full bloom. Some bird had carried the seed over the mountains from Nelson. The dog had no respect for the picture they made, for he tramped them down in following us to some place of shelter.

Soon we came upon a small tunnel, and by the condition of its timbers, the work must have been done over 30 years ago. The tunnel was driven in on a dyke of mineralized rock. My companion told me there were several in the district, but of no value.

The Spirit of the Tunnel

Now comes the strangest part of our trip, and amidst the noise of the storm, we sat there and dreamed dreams. I dreamed I spoke with the spirit of that old-timer, who, when he was in the solid, drilled and blasted in that tunnel, packed his supplies from Nelson, grubstaked by some Nelson old-time merchant, but the rock was low grade, and he could not carry on.

Not far from here is a shaft that has been hunted for considerably of late, but was never found since the second growth of timber. On the surface was a vein carrying good values in gold, but the prospector, on going down about 25 feet, struck a fault. The owner was so disappointed he committed suicide. It was my companion that spoke, not the spirit.

I then went on with my dream, and this is what the spirit said to me:

"How are things in Nelson, and what is that noise like the braying of an ass with a cold down there in the valley?"

"That must be the automobiles," said I, "on the Ymir road."

"Where do they go? Have they prospects to go to near the road?"

"No," said I, "they go somewhere and back, the drivers staring ahead as if they were trying to hypnotize somebody."

What's a Grubstake

"Are you fellows up on a grubstake?"

"No," said I, "The Johnnie Come Latelies know a beefsteak when it's set on a platter, but a grubstake, faugh, it's not fashionable."

"Say, old-timer," said the spirit, "did you come up the valley in one of those braying machines?"

"No," said I, "we walked, for we are jay-walkers, and say, old-timer, jay-walkers must keep off Baker street, for now stump-pullers are not needed."

"Do you mean to tell me that you are to have the liberty of walking Baker street taken away from you?"

"Yes," said I.

"Is there no way of overcoming this?" said the old-time spirit.

"Yes," said I, with an inspiring thought. "Buy a used car, and make it into a bug."

"Come on, we must get out of this tunnel. I smell a stink bug," said my companion, and the lost claim is not found.

OLD-TIMER.

Where the Consumer Gets Fooled

Textile manufacturers at Fall River, Mass., are protesting against the heavy taxes imposed upon their plants. The municipality, however, has permitted enormous expenditures for public works, and it has regarded the manufacturers as well able to pay. That is the unfortunate thing in most taxation. Those who encourage extravagant practices in public life are not worried so long as there is some satisfactory place to impose the burden.

But the public pays in the end, no matter how greatly the load seems to have been shifted to prosperous individuals. In exposition of this, an American exchange says:

"That taxes are, in most cases, directly added to the cost of the goods produced, is not apparent to the average voter, who complains of the high cost of living which his own action, or neglect to favor wiser courses, has brought about. If with the bills that Mr. Average Citizen gets weekly or monthly there were included statements showing the extent to which taxes of all kinds figured in the total, there would be a prompt asking of questions as to whether some of these taxes could not be avoided, and when the time came around for approving new bond issues or an increased tax rate there would be more negative votes. In calling attention to what they consider the unfair taxation of their industry, the Fall River mill owners inevitably provoke the query: Why should productive industry, in general, be so heavily taxed?"

The Golden Rule in Business

L. N. Poulin's remark to the Retail Merchants' association of Ottawa that in business only the Golden Rule can succeed is one of those observations which time cannot wither nor custom stale.

Now, indeed, more than ever, when rivalry is knife-edged, and only the fittest survive, it has potency and point.

The smart trader, the dishonest advertiser, the man who brings to business the ethics of the gambling table, these may succeed for a time, but the end is always the same.

Soon or late the end must come, and while Nemesis often marches with halting footsteps, the transgressor invariably goes down.

And the Golden Rule does not embrace financial honesty alone. It includes fairness to the public, fairness to and consideration of employees, regard for the wider interests of the community, local and national patriotism, the desire to give one's country and one's fellow man a square deal.

In a word, the Golden Rule is citizenship in the highest and noblest sense.

Time was, in more pioneering days, when business was cold, harsh, merciless. The code of the clever horse trader, the creed of "every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost," too often permeated it and made it relentless and cruel.

Today, happily, despite harder competition, and despite necessity for vigilance, business is much more honest, much more mindful of citizenship, and, consequently, much more trusted and respected.

There is a much better feeling, a more admirable relationship, among business men themselves; a keener realization that the success of business depends upon service, upon the public's good will, a better comprehension of the truth that it is not profits, but how profits are got, that count.

It is a splendid thing: splendid for business, and spendid for a community, splendid for citizenship and the nation.

Styles

BY LENORE

Every mother naturally takes great deal of pride in dressing her children beautifully. For the woman in moderate circumstances, therefore, it should be encouraging to know that simplicity is the invariable characteristic of the smartest and most expensive clothes designed for young people, so that it is hardly a problem at all to dress children nicely at no great expense if only common sense and good taste are exercised.

As children, hardly less than grown-ups, are extremely influenced by what they and their associates wear, it is only fair that their clothes be planned as intelligently as an adult's with regard to such details as becoming colors, lines, and appropriateness to occasion.

Also, many women like to see their Gladys or Gwendolyn stand out from the crowd of other children. They like her to look "different." That is understandable and commendable, and it is always charming to see an individual looking child. At the same time there is the risk of making a little girl undesirably self-conscious by going to extremes in the direction of individuality. It is not at all an uncommon experience for years, even for life, merely because it was forced to wear eccentric-looking clothes which provoked the ridicule or snubs of her playfellows.

Children are nothing but young savages! Yes, even your dainty Gladys and pretty Gwendolyn; and they are just as brutal in their attitude toward those who deviate from their conventional ways. It is therefore safer, you may be sure, to keep the individuality of their clothes more or less within the mode, unless you are very certain just where picturesqueness ends and ecentricity ends.

A washable frock for the first term at school is made of powder blue cotton crepe with a deep hem and a wide bertha, embroidered with white interlocking rings and edged with white rick-rack braid. The cuffs are also edged with the braid.

Thoughts From an Observing Physician

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright act.)

A physician, of high standing, was asked what were the big factors in getting sick people well.

"Of course, the degree of illness varies with people and likewise their powers of resistance.

Scarlet fever attacks two children in the same home. One is only slightly ill, has but a faint rash, scarcely any throat trouble. The other is very ill, has a most brilliant rash, and has nose, throat, and perhaps heart complications.

But generally speaking where I know the family, from the father to the youngest child, I generally know what I'm up against and try to act accordingly.

The biggest help I have is where the patient has that very valuable assest—common sense.

I don't hesitate to discuss his case frankly with him, because the day of "mystery" in medicine is past. The physician of today knows vastly more than the physician of yesterday, and so likewise does the average layman.

I point out to him what has happened, and the necessity for his cooperation in the treatment.

The second thing is the "grit" in general. That desire to get on their feet and about their work again. One who is not satisfied to remain an "invalid."

I have to be careful with such cases, but it is certainly a help in getting well, to have him show this disposition, this desire to get on his feet again.

And the third thing I like, and that is of great help, is where the patient not only has common sense, and grit, but where he is willing to follow out your advice to the very letter.

This may mean a change in his own plans, a check on his desire to sit up too soon, but also some considerable inconvenience to him when he is beginning to get around again.

You may advise early hours, perhaps cutting down on his smoking, a change in his diet, a daily walk.

All this may be irksome, but your ideal patient will carry it out faithfully."

I just thought I would pass the thoughts of this physician along to you. It might help all of us.

The car was consigned to the lumber company but nothing is known as to the actual identity of the parties who were the real consignees. The value of the liquor is estimated to be about $20,000, and it is stated that at bootleg prices, it might be worth $35,000.

CRESTON ASKS A LONGER SEASON ON BLUE GROUSE

Fires on Flats Destroy Many Ducks' Nests, Department Is Told

RICE ON SLOUGHS IS DOING FINELY

Rod and Gun Club Will Plant Both Rice and Celery This Fall

CRESTON, B.C., Aug. 27.—When the Creston Valley Rod & Gun club met in August session, Friday night, amongst the many matters taken up was a resolution asking that the game conservation board extend the season for blue grouse only, to close at the same time as the deer season, these birds being usually found at the higher points which are only frequented by those in quest of deer, and thereby assuring no unusually heavy kill of these birds due to the extended season.

Watch Fires on Flats

The forestry department will be asked to exercise much closer supervision of fires on Kootenay flats, as it has been demonstrated that many duck nests have been destroyed due to these fires being allowed to spread unnecessarily.

As skunks are becoming a decided nuisance the government is being asked to put a bounty on them.

The committee in charge of rice planting on the flats sloughs reported that rice sown about a year ago is doing finely and will undoubtedly encourage more ducks to feeed in this district. The club decided to keep up the good work, and will this fall plant 25 pounds more of the rice and about 10 pounds of celery.

A notice board will be put up at a prominent place at the ferry, on which will be posted the laws governing the take of fish and the game regulations for each season.

Captain Crompton Leaving

The prospective removal of Captain Crompton, who has been secretary of the club since its organization, brought forth many expressions of appreciation of the good work unselfishly done by him; and a resolution giving expression to these sentiments, coupled with the regret felt by all sportsmen at his removal from Creston, will be inscribed on the club records.

Walter Hendy has consented to carry on the secretary's work for the balance of Captain Crompton's term.

FLATS TO HAVE A RECORD CUT

Hay Output Will Be Largest on Record if Weather Holds This Week

CRESTON, B.C., Aug. 27.—The streak of rainy weather that set in two weeks ago let up Friday, and haying operations have again been resumed on the flats; and, if the present fine weather holds, haying will be completed by the end of the week, with one of the biggest cuts in recent years put on both the open range and the Reclamation farm. The feature of this year's haymaking, as in the past, is the annual appearance here of J. G. Smith of Nelson, who is helping his son, Fred, with haying. Mr. Smith is over 80 years of age, and will celebrate his diamond wedding on Christmas of next year. At farm work he is the pioneer, probably, of the Kootenays, and goes the full 10-hour day in great shape.

An Eastern Woman Writes

A woman who recently moved from the East writes to tell us that Pacific Milk from British Columbia dairies is a superior product.

"At home," as she calls the East, "we used another brand, of course, and liked it. When I came West I sent on using it in the belief that it could not be surpassed. A neighbor gave me a can of Pacific Milk, and I was more than surprised to find that it tasted like fresh cream. It is now the only milk we use."

We are grateful for this frank statement. If all British Columbia women would feel the same way this would be a huge industry in the interest of our province.

You'll Get Rid of Blackheads Sure

There is one simple, safe, and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them. To do this, get two ounces of peroxine powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The peroxine powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.

Money
AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

Many a manor woman dreams of making a fortune by a turn of the stock market, and yet makes no consistent effort toward education in stock tracing.

In one home where there were two high school children the father was always being asked why he didn't "make a lot of money like other men."

One day he said: "I'm going to give each of you people $5000 in paper slips. You may invest it any way you like, on paper. Ask my advice, if you care to, and I'll tell you the very best I know. Keep your books; buy and sell as you think you should. Charge yourself the brokerage fees you would have to pay in eral business. And then see how you come out at the end of six months."

The market was studied; the family subscribed to the best financial journal; the financial page was more popular than the funnies, and stocks became daily conversation. The father gave very careful advice—when asked for it—and made exactly the sort of study he would have made had the transactions been made with dearly saved cash. Books were kept of all "transactions."

At the end of the six months it was found that the $10,000 had shrunk to $9200. If the money had been conservatively invested at 6 per cent there would have $10,300.

That one family learned that it could not afford to speculate.

EASTERNERS PAN NEW HOCKEY RULE

Declares Loose Practice of Changing Rules Will Kill the Game

MONTREAL, Aug. 27.—Professional hockey magnates in this city do not think much of the new rule adopted yesterday by the Western Canada league, which calls for no offsides on any section of the ice except when crossing from one section to another. Frank Calder, president of the National Hockey league, and Manager Leo Dandurand of the Canadiens today expressed the opinion that it would not benefit hockey.

On the contrary, Mr. Dandurand sees the death-knell of hockey in the loose way rules are being "tampered with" by western officials.

Make Game a Joke

"They will kill the game if they keep on with that sort of stuff," he declared. "Rules may be changed, but such drastic changes as are effected in the west will do no good in the end. It makes the game ludicrous, and when the thing becomes a 'joke' it cannot last very long."

Mr. Dandurand was certain that he would never be a party to adopting such a rule in the east. "In my opinion such a rule will cause a great deal of dispute when it comes to close decisions," was President Calder's remark.

WESTON BEATS CORINTHIANS

Dominion Champions Out-Score British, Who Have Most of Play

WINNIPEG, Aug. 27.—United Weston, Dominion football champions, triumphed over the famous Corinthians, 2 to 1, here tonight. A crowd of 4000 witnessed the game.

Weston was the better team in the initial half, and never allowed their more finished opponents to settle down. Due to poor generalship of Reid, a half-back, who was playing goal for the old country boys, the Dominion champions gained a two-goal lead in the first half.

Settling down in the second half, the Corinthians played a pretty game and did everything with the ball but put it into the net. The Corinthians were all over Weston, but could only locate the net on one occasion.

Get Two-Goal Lead

Slidders opened the scoring for Weston, when Grant dropped a high one into the goal, and when Reid ran out of his net Lang slipped the ball to the burly center, who headed it into the goal. Thirty-five minutes later Grant ran down the wing and cut in to drive a wicked shot which Reid misjudged, and the ball found a goal.

The Corinthians' lone goal came after 18 minutes of going in the second period, when Creek slipped the ball to Knight, who scored one of the best goals seen on a local pitch this season.

Morrison and Glenister were the bright stars for the Corinthians, while the King brothers and Matthews played a great game for Weston.

The lineups:

Corinthians—Reid, Ashton, Morrison, Chadders, Hunter, Blaxland, Barnard, Knight, Creek, Glenister and Davis.

United Weston—Derby, A. King, D. King, McNeill, Matthews, Foxon, Lang, Derby, Slidders, Clark and Grant.

Judges Declare Six-Round Bout a Draw; Stribling Had a Shade

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—W. L. (Young) Stribbling, Georgia heavyweight, and Paul Berlenbach, slugging New Yorker, fought to a draw tonight in a slashing battle between two of the ring's youngest and latest fistic sensations.

A shade of ringside newspaper opinion apparently favored Stribbling, but there was a l'ttle outburst of applause when the judges declared the match a draw after six rounds.

The fight, most critics agreed, was too short a test of the fighting ability of either boxer to be conclusive. It was made so, however, because of the New York law which prohibits boxers under 21 from engaging in more than six-round encounters. Stribbl ng is only 19. Both weighed 167 1-2 pounds.

Borotra and Kinsey Only Win After Going to Five Sets

FOREST HILLS, Aug. 27.—Jack Wright of Montreal was among the eight who advanced to the fourth round of the national singles tenn's championship by his defeat of Hugh Kelleher of New York, 6-2, 6-3, 0-6, 6-4. Willard Crocker, also of Montreal, entering the third round, was defeated by George Lott, Chicago, in straights sets 6-2, 6-4, 6-2.

William T. Tilden, began the defence of his national tennis crown by vanquish'ng his Spanish rival, Manuel Alonzo, in four sets, 6-2, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4.

Wood, Australia, Loses to Reid

Pat O'Hara Wood's downfall at the hands of Kirk Reid of Cleve*land, former Cornell crack*, in five sets, 2-6, 6-0, 7-5, 4-6, 11-9, was the biggest reversal of the day.

Scarcely less sensational than these were the close calls experienced by Borotra and Kinsey. The French star, ace of his country's Davis cup forces met an unexpected tartar in E. W. Feibleman of New York finally putt'ng out the match by scores of 6-3, 6-8, 6-3, 3-6, 7-5.

Kinsey likewise snatched victory from defeat when he staged a sudden rally in the fourth set against George King of New York to win by scores of 1-6, 6-4, 7-9, 8-6, 6-3.

The ranks of foreign stars were especially hard hit by the day's play.

Frenchmen, Aussies Out

Besides the defeat of Wood, two of his remaining three Australian Dav's cup team mates, E. Schlesinger and F. E. Kains, were eliminated, while the defeats of Jacques Brugnon, and Alaingerbault of France, removed half of France's representatives of the tournament.

PUTTING—

THE ONLY SHOT WHERE LEFT WRIST TURNS OUT ON THE BACK STROKE.

EXACTLY OPPOSITE TO DRIVING GRIP

How should the grip of the putter differ, if any, from the grip used on the driver?

Answered by
DAVID BROWN
Veteran tournament player, former British open champion. Noted especially for his short game and accuracy on approaches.

* * *

The grip on the putter is exactly opposite to the grip for other shots, in order to keep the face of the putter right. In gripping the putter the left wrist turns out on the back stroke, contrary to air shots. A player is often a good putter who is not good at other shots at all. This is because he grips the club wrong for air shots and is really putting all around the course.

ANGLICANS MAY ADMIT EVOLUTION

Modern Churchmen in Conference at Oxford Hear Prediction

LONDON, Aug. 27. — (Canadian Press Cable.)—The conference of modern churchmen at Oxford, at which Dean Inge of St. Paul's cathedral yesterday declared that the heresy of today would become the orthodoxy of tomorrow, is devoting much attention to evolution as a possible doctrine of the Anglican church.

Canon E. W. Barnes of Westminster, whose appointment recently to the Birmingham bishopric has caused the high church element in the Church of England considerable misgiving, his pronouncements being sometimes regarded by the more conservative clergy as unorthodox, declared at the conference today that the Church of England as a whole was rapidly accepting this doctrine of evolution.

Every Farm Machine Costs More Than Three Years Ago, Meighen

EXPORTS GROW IN SETTLERS' EFFECTS

Estimates Provide Wharves for Bootleggers on Great Lakes

OTTAWA, Aug. 27.—The present government was like creepervine after the walls to which it had clung had fallen, said Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, leader of the opposition, in addressing a crowd of 2000 people at the annual picnic of the Russell County Conservative association, at Russell this afternoon.

The King government could not long survive the loss of three such brilliant men as Hon. Charles Murphy, Sir Lomer Gouin, and Rt. Hon. W. S. Fielding. There has never been an administration that could afford to lose three such men, and today the government presented a sorry spectacle to parliament. In spite of the fact that the last three years had seen abundant crops, in spite of the fact that war expenses practically ended when gratuities were paid and hospitals built to take care of wounded soldiers, the King government, by its mismanagement, had increased the debt of the country by approximately $100,000,000.

Predicts More Debt Increase

Mr. Meighen predicted a big deficit this year, calculating that from the way money had been spent since March 10 last, the debt would be increased as much this year as it had been during the past two and a half years. "Does anyone doubt that taxation is higher?" he asked.

Mr. King had announced great tariff and tax reductions but if these were examined closely it would be found that he had but taken off part only of what he and his government had added since taking office.

As a result of the reduction in the tariff on farm implements, every machine used on the farm cost the Canadian farmer more now than it did three years ago. Twenty-four Canadian implement industries had been put out of business, and Canada last year had imported 60 per cent more implements from the United States than previously.

Canada Selling Her Forests

While exports had increased, they consisted chiefly of the products of the forests. Canada was selling her estate—her birthright.

Another great export, said Mr. Meighen, was one that amounted to $1,000,000 a month, was the export of settlers' effects—settlers who were leaving their adopted country because they had not received a square dal.

Mr. Meighen said there were no greater scandal than Canada's recent attempt to get on the main streets of Paris, or the recent estimates providing wharves for bootleggers on the great lakes, or the millions being spent for purely political ends.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 27.—The Shung Pao, a leading vernacular newspaper, received a dispatch today reporting an outbreak of warfare between the forces of Chi Shieh Yuan, military governor of Kiangsu province, and General Lu Yung Hsiang, Tuchum, of Che Kiang province.

M'LEOD MAKES THE PREMIER PROPOSITION

Canadian National Engineer Starts on a Motor Survey of the North

VANCOUVER, Aug. 27.—M. H. McLeod, consulting engineer for the Canadian National railways, returned here last night after having the same day made Premier John Oliver a proposition for the Pacific Great Eastern railway. Mr. McLeod was assisted in his negotiations with the government by D. A. Campbell, construction superintendent for the Canadian National railways, who came back after the conference with the premier.

Together these two leading officials of the railway will spend the next few days motoring over the Pacific Great Eastern railway territory. This morning they left Ashcroft, and will spend a week traveling through the towns of the Cariboo and sizing up the possibilities of the Pacific Great Eastern railway territory from a colonization standpoint. They will go as far as Prince George.

Engineering Parties in Field

Canadian National railways engineering parties are now in the field looking over the whole scheme.

Mr. McLeod is willing to take over the Pacific Great Eastern railway as its stands from Clinton to Quesnel and on to Prince George, but would join up with the Canadian National railways at Ashcroft by abandoning the Pacific Great Eastern railway for those sections east and west of Lilloet. These rails he would lay between Ashcroft and Clinton, and make a through connected line.

Quite the biggest feature of Mr. McLeod's proposal on behalf of the Canadian National railways, aside from the lure that it holds to lighten the burden of taxation which Pacific Great Eastern losses now charge up to the provincial government, is the fact that he is considering the Pacific Great Eastern situation in its relation to the development of the Peace River country. He will be ready shortly with a recommendation of what is in his opinion the best way to carry out the wheat of the Peace River country so that it can be brought to Vancouver over the Canadian National and Pacific Great Eastern lines.

PROMPT DELIVERY

NIGHBOR DEAL IS A GENUINE ONE

But Ottawa Must Guarantee by Monday That Star Will Report

CALGARY, Aug. 27.—That the trade in which Joe Simpson will go to Ottawa Senators and Frank Nighbor will join the Edmonton Eskimos is genuine, was vouched for by Kenny McKenzie, owner of the Eskimos, here tonight.

McKenzie, however, stated that the deal would be off unless the management of the Ottawa club guaranteed by next Monday that Nighbor would report.

"I will be very pleased to get a man of Nighbor's caliber, and certainly think he will be a valuable asset to the club and the Western Canada league. Personally I believe he is the greatest defensive forward in organized hockey, and as Simpson is the peer of western defence players, the deal is a fifty-fifty one. In fact, the Western Canada Hockey league would not stand for losing a player of Simpson's ability unless one was exchanged of equal caliber."

MUSIC LOVERS ENJOY OUTING

Sports, Concerts and Basket Picnic Enjoyed by Three Hundred

Music on upward and downward trips and at intervals during the day, sports and a picnic supper at Procter, and a sail on the main lake, were on the program for the 300 people who attended the music-lovers' picnic yesterday. The Nasookin left the city wharf at 2:30, and reached Procter about 4; and there the music lovers and their friends enjoyed a basket picnic, took part in the sports and listened to the excellent concert given on the verandah of the Outlet hotel by the Nelson city band.

At 6:30 the picnic party set sail for the main lake, where a beautiful sunset showing gorgeous colors in sky and water was seen. The Nasookin went as far as Ainsworth, where a concert was given by the Kootenay Kilties. It reached Procter again on the return trip at about 8 o'clock after having escorted the Crow boat, with music, to that point.

The Nasookin then came slowly down the West Arm, while the city band, which had played on the trip to Procter, gave its third concert of the day. The picnickers reached Nelson again after 11 at night.

The musical organizations taking part in the picnic were the Nelson Operatic society, the Nelson city band, the Nelson Symphony orchestra and the Kootenay Kilties.

MACDONALD SAYS MUST BE MUTUAL

Britain Wants to Disarm but Others Must Join in Process Too

FORRES, Scotland, Aug. 27.—Ramsay MacDonald, the British premier, in a speech here tonight, alluded to the heavy responsibilities of the people governing the extraordinary federation of self-governing nations comprising the British Empire. Mr. MacDonald said they sometimes had the feeling that human wisdom and strength were unequal to the task of enduring them.

"And yet," Mr. MacDonald said, "there is something so fine and so strengthening in it all, that the work can be done. The work itself makes its success almost inevitable."

Abbreviated Line

The premier referred to the recent review of the British fleet off Spithead. He remarked that many who viewed it thought the line of the battle fleet a very short one.

"That shortening was a great achievement," MacDonald declared. "Great Britain signed the compact of Washington, and Great Britain always shall and must carry out that compact, and honor its signature."

Remarking that he was going to Geneva shortly, but that he was unable to say what would be done there, Mr. MacDonald continued:

"But whatever happens, if we are to go on with this process of disarmament, we cannot do it alone. It must be mutual, with common consent. The other nations must stand alongside us. In London recently we managed—I do not want to exaggerate it— to make a bit of a beginning toward better things.

"So long as I hold the position I now occupy, all my energies will be directed toward making that beginning successful in further efforts and further steps."

FORD DENIES A KLAN INTERVIEW

DETROIT, Aug. 27.—Henry Ford, in a wireless dispatch to his office here, from his yacht en route from Montreal to Detroit, tonight, positively denied statements credited to him yesterday by the Montreal Star, wherein he was quoted as saying that the Ku Klux Klan was misunderstood.

Mr. Ford, in his message, not only denied the interview published by the Montreal Star, but asserted that he had given no interview to anyone while in Montreal, and also stated that he had not discussed the Klan.

The message further instructed the Ford offices here to make a positive denial of an absolutely false statement.
