NURSEMAID'S DIARY TELLS ABOUT HER MANY LOVERS

OMEN FAINT WHEN CROWD RUSHES COURT

naman Gave Janet Smith a Nightie and Two Camisoles

EVE, JOHN, CARL, ARTHUR LOVED HER

useboy Sing Takes the Chicken Oath Again; Phyllis Clears Him

ANCOUVER, Sept. 8.—Entries in diary of the dead girl, in which told of flirtations with numerous and of receiving gifts of a tdress and two camisoles, and radictory evidence by Wong Fung another Chinaman and a leading e in the case, featured the re- ption today of the second inquest the mysterious death of Janet th.

gain a frantic crowd stormed the eme court, and in the crush many en, for women formed the largest of the crowd, fainted.

roner Brydone-Jack said it was ssary to comply with the laws rding crowding, and that only e who could find seats could re- n. Over 200 were standing. Fire shal J. A. Thomas, Fire Warden DeGraves and Constable Cruik- nks ordered those out who had seats, and then the doors were and guarded.

"I'm a Terrible Flirt"

he diary notes were read by H. kler, K.C., counsel for Wong Fung houseboy in the same residence who has has been one of the ing figures in the case. At the e time Mary Jones, domestic, friend of the deceased, was ed on the stand.

he entries told of Janet Smith's ndships with young men. Five six young men were mentioned. se gave her various presents and t out with her.

one place Janet wrote that she ght she was a terrible flirt.

nother diary note referred to sents given her by Wong, a China- n employed by F. L. Baker's her—not the Wong Fung Sing, houseboy.

Wong's Gifts

Mr. Senkler read from Janet mith's diary:

"Poor Wong must be in love. le has just given me a silk ghtie and two camisoles."

Wong was employed at the ome of Mr. Baker's mother.

"The Nicest Man"

Again from the diary the coun- el read that Janet had met the nicest man" and had walked round the park with him and had fed the bears.

Again the diary said Janet had walked with the man through he trees and ate chocolates. She had written:

"I believe I am in love."

Later there was a note about "Carl," who told Janet, the diary said, that he loved her.

Mary Jones, the witness, did not ink it unusual that such entries ould be made in the diary.

"But this was before she met ng,"

"The Chinese boy at the Bakers," id counsel.

Later Janet wrote that she was owing tired of Carl. But she went t with him again and again.

Magnetic Carl

Later Janet wrote that Carl must magnetic, because she was fonder an ever of him.

Then John gave her a box of ocolates. She went to church with hn.

The diary told of her having met ur young men while she was feed- g the bears in Stanley park.

Steve bought her a powder box.

Janet wrote that she liked all of e boys, Steve, John, Carl and rthur. One day all of the boys oned her.

"Mistress doesn't like it, but I do," net wrote.

She wrote about shopping and hav- g dinner with Arthur.

"I believe Wong is in love," Janet rote.

A later entry in the diary said that net was terribly bored and felt ke throwing things around.

When Wong Fung, houseboy, was lled to the stand it was after he d taken the weird chicken oath. here was the suspicion the first. ken (two days ago, was only good

BANDITS SHOOT RESTAURANTEUR NEAR MONTREAL

Four Men, After Murder, Jump in Car and Drive Toward City

MONTREAL, Sept. 8.—Without a challenge or a word of warning, one of a party of four young bandits shot and fatally wounded Francois Xavier Beauvais, aged 33, in his restaurant and candy store in Verdun, a suburb of this city, tonight. Beauvais died half an hour later, shortly after police and doctor reached his side.

Four bandits ran from the store after the shooting and jumped in an automobile and drove away in the direction of Montreal.

Mrs. Beauvais, wife of the slain man, was unable to describe them, although she said she would recognize two of them if she saw them again.

The police think that drugs are responsible for the murder.

According to Mrs. Beauvais, when the four bandits entered the restaurant her husband was at work in the yard. She called him, and then went on with her work.

Startled by the sound of three revolver shots, she rushed into the restaurant, and saw the four men running away, while her husband was standing supporting himself by holding the counter. "It's all right," he said, and then staggered to the telephone. Sinking into a chair he lifted the receiver and called: "Doctor, doctor——"

Faints Phoning

He then lapsed into unconsciousness, from which he did not recover.

It was found later that he had been shot in the chest, the bullet striking a vital part. Two other bullets went wild, and one of them, piercing a beaverboard partition, nearly struck Beauvais' 2-year-old girl, Helen.

No arrests have been made.

MIDNIGHT SUN VIEWED WHITE MAN'S JUSTICE

Trial of Eskimo Killer Lasted Through Night; Rays Never Dimmed

YOUNG KILLER GOT SLAIN MAN'S SQUAW

Claimed Was Attacked; Appeal Taken Against Five-Year Sentence

OTTAWA, Sept. 9.—From the far north comes a story of love, jealousy, violence and finally justice administered under the midnight sun on the shores of the Arctic ocean.

The case is that of Ikalupiak, Copper Eskimo, who was charged with the murder of Havougach, another of the same race, 90 miles from Tree River, S. N. W. T. on November 15, 1921. His trial was held on July 5, of the present year, after a judicial party had traveled 2000 miles from Edmonton to Aklavik, on the delta of the Mackenzie river, to hold it.

The result was a sentence of five years in Stony Mountain penitentiary on a manslaughter conviction.

Although the court held a night sitting lasting from 8 o'clock until 2:30 the following morning, there was no difficulty about lighting arrangements. The midnight sun beamed broadly, providing daylight throughout the whole night, it is reported.

Some of the witnesses had travelled a thousand miles through the wilds to testify.

Age Jealous of Youth

The story told was briefly that Ikalupiak, a boy of 18, had been taken in as a member of their family by Havougach and his wife, Khattiah, that Havougah became jealous of the young man, to whom it is supposed, Khattiah was attracked; and that he gave Ikalupiak reason to fear an attack.

Finally one day when the two men had gone for several miles away from the snow houses of the family camp, to the frozen meat camp, the tragedy occurred.

It was claimed by the defence that the prisoner had gone out unarmed, while Havougach carried both knife and gun, and that the latter was surprised by Ikalupiak in the act of attacking him.

Whether or not this is the fact, Havougach was found with a bullet in his head. Ikalupiak, it is said, voluntarily accompanied Havougach's other relatives to the police department, a distance of from five to 10 day's journey, where he was placed under arrist.

Ikalupiak became the husband of the dead man's wife. He and Khattiah lived happily together, it is said, and a child was born to them which, however, died prior to the trial.

Appeal is being taken on behalf of the prisoner against the conviction.

THREATENER OF LIFE OF PRINCE LAID BY HEELS

Inhabitant of Hut in Woods Is Caught Boarding Train

IS RUSHED TO JAIL; ASYLUM FOLLOWS

Was in Canadian Army; Wanted Empire Wiped Out

WILLIAMSTON, N.Y., Sept. 8.—Marcus G. Geroy was arrested in his home here today charged with sending the Prince of Wales an alleged threatening letter received by the British heir last Thursday. Sheriff Vincent, who made the arrest, said Geroy admitted writing the missive. The sheriff added that Geroy denied threatening to kill the royal visitor, but said he "had no use for the British Empire and would just as soon see it wiped out."

Geroy was arrested as he was leaving his home to take up residence in northern Michigan.

Doctors Order to Asylum

Later Geroy was taken to Putaski for examination by physicians, and upon their decision that the man was mentally unbalanced he was ordered committed to the state hospital at Ogdensburg.

Sheriff Vincent said authorities had been seeking Geroy for some time but only today as he was about to board a train for Michigan were they able to approach him. They had watched the house he occupied in the woods near this village, but Geroy had managed to elude capture.

Lived In the Woods

Geroy was born at Boyleston, Oswego county, about 34 years ago, and since early youth has been roaming the world. In 1914 he enlisted in the Canadian army and served overseas, returning to take up his life in his woodland hut at the close of the war.

Since then he has been occupied with odd jobs about the countryside or simply roaming the woods.

PROVINCE ACCEPTS CROW'S NEST PACT

Will Line Up With Prairie in Attacking East Discrimination

VANCOUVER, Sept. 8.—British Columbia will cease all opposition to the Crow's Nest Pass freight rates agreement, and at the hearing of the railway commission in Montreal September 17 will ask that the rates be extended to allow shippers in this province to enter competitive districts on an equal footing with the east, G. G. McGeer, K.C., counsel for the province, stated today.

By offering no opposition to the Crow's Nest Pass rates British Columbia, it is believed, will retain the support of the prairie provinces which are benefitting by reduced rates.

AMBASSADOR OF BRITAIN TAKES WELCOME PART

Meets World Fliers at Mitchell Field; King Also Cables

PRINCE, NUNGESSER, ALSO ATTRACTIONS

Crowd Breaks Police Lines; Deserts Fliers to Follow Prince

MITCHELL FIELD, N. Y., Sept. 8.—The veteran army planes, piloted by Lieutenant Smith and Lieutenant Nelson, escorted by 11 planes under the command of Major-General Mason M. Patrick, chief of the army air service, taxied on to the field today, near the end of a successful around-the-world flight.

The planes appeared in the air at 3:29 p. m. today. The escorting planes parted company with the world fliers and circled the field, while the pioneers of the air dropped to the ground to receive an official welcome and the ovations of 15,000 persons who had been waiting for hours to welcome them. The fliers stepped from their planes at 3:44 p. m., after an uneventful flight from Boston.

A conspicuous figure in the crowd which welcomed the aviators was the Prince of Wales, who occupied a box with Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador, wo delivered the official welcome on behalf of the British government.

Also in the party was Captain Georges Nungesser, French hero.

Prince Cheers 'Em

The Prince of Wales stood with hat in hand, joining in the cheering from the time the fliers were sighted until the planes were rolled into the hangars.

With the boom of a 21-gun salute making itself heard over the cries of the crowd, the fliers walked up to the speakers' stand, and were presented to Senator Wadsworth, chairman of the senate military affairs committee, who greeted them in the name of New York state.

After presenting them with gold cigaret cases, the senator presented the aviators to the Prince of Wales, who leaned out of his chair and shook hands across the railing.

Lieutenant H. Smith, flight commander, was the only one who had more than a few formal words to say to the prince.

Smith Recalls London Talk

"How do you do, your highness?" he asked, in answer to the British heir's cordial welcome, and reminded him of their meeting in London. "I told you then I would see you again," he said, "and here we are."

The welcome was an unostentatious affair that ended too quickly for the taste of the crowd, which overrode police and soldier opposition, and was a crushed mass before the grandstand. It devoted its attention about equally between the prince and the fliers.

When the former started to leave the grandstand at the close of the brief ceremony a great section of the crowd deserted the fliers to follow him to his car. The royal visitor's guard managed to keep the crowd from coming into actual contact with him.

Overwhelmed* With Messages

The fliers were overwhelmed with messages and telegrams of congratulations, one of the latter coming from King George.

The telegram from King George, addressed in care of Major-General Patrick, read as follows:

"Will you kindly convey to Lieutenant Smith and the other fliers my hearty congratulation on completing for the first time in history the circle of the world by airplane. I have followed with interest and admiration their heroic undertaking."

CLAIMS POLICE OF MONTREAL IN WITH CRIMINALS

Hochelaga Bank Car Left to Holdups; Tony Frank Vice Medium

MONTREAL, Sept. 8.—At the the meeting this afternoon of the city council, Alderman Dubreuil laid before his colleagues a scathing indictment of the Montreal police service.

Among the more outstanding allegations were the following:

"Tony Frank, one of the six bandits now waiting execution in connection with the Banque d'Hochelaga collection car looting and murder, up to his arrest was a collector of 'protection money' from certain houses of illfame, on behalf of the police."

"Some of the six condemned bandits were keepers of evil houses, and intimate friends of friends of certain police officers."

"Order was given to the police to stop supervising the Banque d'Hochelaga car when it was known that the holdup that actually took place was in preparation."

Received Money From Criminals

"Certain police officers received money for preventing or neglecting the arrest of alleged criminals in connection with recent crimes."

These were the points laid before the meeting by Alderman Dubrueil, in support of his motion for a royal commission to investigate the administration of the Montreal police.

It was finally decided that investigation into police affairs in this city should be undertaken by a committee of the alderman, instead of the wider system of inquiry by a royal commission or investigation by a judge of the superior court.

Troops of Britain, States, Japan, Italy to Take Charge

ALSO MOBILIZE THE VOLUNTEERS

Troops Making New Assault Are From Honan, Under Wu Pei Fu

SHANGHAI, Sept. 3 (5 a. m.)—Eleven hundred marines from foreign warships this morning were ordered to land at Shanghai at 4 p. m., and take up defensive positions on the boundaries of the international settlement.

The order for the landing of the marines followed a new assault in the railway sector directly west of the city, bringing the fighting nearer than it had been before in a week of fighting between troops of the rival tuchuns of Kiangsu and Chekiang.

Marines were to be landed as follows:

Great Britain, 360.
United States, 250.
Japan, 100.
Italy, 100.

At the same time the volunteer corps was ordered to mobilize at 6 a. m.

Wu Pei's Army

Headquarters of General Lu Yung Hsiang, commander of the Chekiang forces, admitted that the Kiangsu army had launched a heavy attack along the railway.

Troops making the attack, it was asserted, were from the province of Honan, and were ordered to the fighting front by Wu Pei Fu, military dictator for the Peking government.

If this report is true, it marks the first open participation by Wu Pei Fu, who recently was reported to be preparing to take part in the civil war.

Thrown Back on Hwangtu

Chekiang headquarters claimed that the Honanese troops, despite the weight of their attack, were thrown back on Hwangtu, the point at which the battle started.

Official circles in the international settlement do not expect any difficulty, but whatever happens, plan to be prepared to deal either with advancing or retreating soldiers.

Belligerents on both sides have been warned that armed forces will not be permitted to cross the settlement boundaries.

Prohibition also has been imposed on any armed activity in the Whangpoo river (the main harbor of Shanghai), where 22 foreign warships are anchored.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 8.—General Wu Pei Fu, chief of the military forces of the central government at Peking, and who also claims to have the support of a majority of the provinces, yesterday began active participation in the fighting which has been in progress for almost a week between the governors of Chekiang and Kiangsu provinces for the possession of this port.

Honanese troops controlled by Wu, it is claimed by the Chekiang headquarters, took part in a heavy attack which the Kiangsu army launched last night against the Chekiang left wing on the Shanghai-Nanking railway. The attack, the Chekiang leaders claim, was repulsed. The fighting was reported to be severe, a westerly wind carrying the sound of the firing to Shanghai, and leading to the belief that the Chekiang forces had been defeated and were retiring toward that city.

Success also was claimed by the Chekiang headquarters in an attack which one of their armies, under the leadership of General Chen Yao San, with the assistance of some Fukien troops, started against Kiangsu west of the Taihu lake district near the Chekiang-Kingsu border

General Chang Tso-Lin, dictator of Manchuria, who was defeated by Wu in 1922, has threatened to attack Wu from the north, thus hoping to prevent him from sending any of his Chihli army to the support of Kiangsu, Chang being allied with Lu Yung Hsiang, the tuchun of Chekiang.

There is also talk of Dr. Sun Yat Sen taking a hand on the side of Chekiang, but Sun has for some time been in low waters financially, and General Chen Chiung Ming, Kwangtung military leader, supported by Wu, has been awaiting an opportunity to enter Canton, Sun's city. The latter therefore probably has his hands full at home.

NUNGESSER AND PRINCE HAVE A CHAT IN FRENCH

Talk of When Latter Was Flier in France; Crowd Cranes Necks

SLOSSET, L.I., Sept. 8.—Sharing attention with the around the world fliers, whom he greeted on their arrival at Mitchell Field today, the Prince of Wales, for the first time on his present visit, sat directly facing a large crowd. With Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador and Lady Howard, he sat in a box of an improvised grand stand directly in front of which the army officers who had almost finished circling the globe by air, were formally welcomed.

After the speeches of the reception committee, the prince shook hands with the aviators.

As he entered the box, dressed in a light blue check suit, red tie with black stripe, blue shirt and a collar, gray felt hat, and the usual soft brown shoes, there was a commotion and a craning of necks, but no demonstration.

Captain Nungesser, the French ace, who had met the prince when both flew in France, entered the box and greeted the heir to the British throne. Both spoke in French.

The prince asked the captain how he happened to be there, and the captain said the prince looked no older than when he was in the royal flying corps.

Much Sporty

"He is very much sporty," the captain, who speaks English only slightly, added afterward.

The prince played polo again this afternoon, and went to a dinner and dance at the home of F. Ambrose Clark in Westbury tonight.

Captain Lascelles today characterized several current impressions of the royal visitor as myths. He said that the prince, far from being a "fancy dresser," paid no more attention to clothes than the average man, and that the prince's light diet, which had been interpreted as indicating indisposition, was normal.

The royal party will attend the first polo match between the British and United States teams at Meadowbrook tomorrow.

ARBITRATION IS TAKEN UP WITH DISARMAMENT

Mutual Guarantees Pact Is Also Part of the Single Scheme

SWEDEN ASKS CODE INTERNATIONAL LAW

Advises All Nations State What Topics Should Be Covered

GENEVA, Sept. 8.—With business-like directness, the disarmament commission of the League of Nations assembly began this afternoon its examination of all questions and all material touching the mutual plan of guarantees and assistance between states, and the general problem of disarmament. The commission decided at the outset that these two subjects could not be intelligently treated without also discussing obligatory arbitration.

Hence, compulsory arbitration, which is now regarded as the main foundation stone of all the projects to outlaw war, becomes an integral part of the discussion of disarmament, the final goal of which is the convocation of an international conference at Geneva for the reduction of armaments in all countries.

A new angle was given the debate today when the Swedish foreign minister, Baron von Wurtenburg, introduced a resolution in the assembly concerning the codification of international law.

Implements Original Plan

In a wide sense the Swedish suggestion supplements the immediate program of the assembly, of studying certain articles of the league covenant with a view to redrafting, and of examining the compulsory arbitration clause of the world court of justice with the hope of rendering it more precise, and thus, more acceptable to the great powers, such as Great Britain and France.

The Swedish proposal recommends that all members of the league inform the council as to what subjects and topics of international law may be usefully examined, with the object of their incorporation in international conventions to be concluded through the machinery of the League of Nations, and that invitations to forward suggestions should be addressed to all the world's most authoritative organizations which have been devoting themselves to the development of international law.

Baron Von Wurtemburg insisted that the development of international law by means of undertakings entered into between the various states is one of the most important pieces of work which the league has to do. He urged that the league lay down definite plans.

Cheer African Administrator

Another feature of the assembly today was the address of G. R. Hofmeyer, administrator of Southwest Africa, who endeavored to summarize what he termed the historic moral uplift and spiritual force given to international thought by the addresses last week of Premier MacDonald and Herriot and other orators.

Long applause greeted his remark that the League of Nations had reestablished the service of mankind as the true religion of the world, and the delegates listened respectfully to his next utterance: "May I humbly suggest that the churches will do well to take note of this."

Mr. Hofmeyer declared that the league had focused public opinion on the criminality of war, and turned men's thoughts to paths of peace. "All roads now lead to Geneva,' he continued, "and some states not yet members of the league are not only beginning to cast longing looks over the fence, but are already flirting with the league around the corner.

"The league," he said, "has invoked rational thought and conduct in the affairs of nations, and is gradually amassing behind its machinery an irresistible spiritual and moral fo in the cause of peace."

10,000 People 7 Million Dollars

It is difficult to make figures impressive. Last year $7,376,470 went away from here for products which could have been obtained her 10,000 people left British Columbia to live in the "States" because conditions seemed to be better there—more positions, more money about.

That seven millions—or half of it—spent on home products would have more than paid salaries to the 10,000 lost citizens. Such an exodus means lessened property values, more expensive government to those who remain.

OPENING OF NEW CHURCH TOMORROW

Fairview's First Church Comes Year After Declaration of Parish

NEW BUILDING ALMOST COMPLETE

Church of Redeemer Will Seat Two Hundred; Is a Modern One

Just a few days more than a year from its declaration as a parish, the congregation of the Church of the Redeemer in Fairview, will, tomorrow night, open the new Church of the Redeemer at the corner of Second and Davies streets.

The progress of Fairview's first church and the opening of the first real church building in that locality is being watched with keen interest by the people residing in that section of the city.

Just a Mission

Started as a mission two and three-quarter years ago, the Fairview congregation grew rapidly, and on September 1, 1923, the mission was declared a parish by the Bishop of Kootenay. Rev. N. D. B. Larmonth, who had charge of the church mission under the supervision of Ven. Archdeacon Graham, was appointed first vicar of the parish last September, and it is largely to his efforts that the present new edifice is being opened.

To the Women's Guild of the Church of the Redeemer goes a great deal of the credit for the new building, as practically all of the money raised for the church came through their hands.

Modern Building

Started last July the building is now nearly complete, but will need several new features before it is fully completed. The building is of Doric design and will seat some 200 people. It has a cement foundation and an up-to-date heating plant. Apart from the main building and to the south side is the clergy vestry and choir vestry. A memorial window donated by J. T. Andrews will be put in place shortly. The building when completed in every detail will have cost about $7000. The plans for the building were drawn by Ven. Archdeacon Laycock now of Vancouver Island.

Tomorrow night's opening will be in charge of Ven. Archdeacon Graham, who will deliver the opening address. Besides the archdeacon there will be in attendance the members of the rural deanery of the jurisdiction of the Bishop of Kootenay. The choir has arranged a special musical program.

ASKS PERMIT FOR BUILDING

Victoria Street May Have New Auto Garage Shortly; in Hands of Warden

Nelson will shortly boast a new automobile garage on Victoria street. An application was made to the city council last night by John Burns & Son, local contractors, for permission to erect a one-storey and basement concrete garage on Victoria street, between Stanley and Ward streets, and backing the new building being erected by Green Bros, Burden & Co.

The building will be a one-storey affair with a cement floor in the basement and with a slow burning floor of two by fours on edge on the main floor. It will have a five-ply Barrett specific roof and the rear wall will be of corrugated iron to allow for extension if necessary.

After discussion the matter was referred to the fire wardens for approval. The request carries also that the sidewalk on Victoria street an added request from the council be not undermined in the construction of the building, should the wardens pass upon it.

Wycliffe Road House at Cranbrook Burned

The house occupied by Mrs. F. H. Abbott at Cranbrook was burned to the ground last Tuesday.

This was a wooden building, two stories high, and stood on the Wycliffe road near the St. Eugene hospital. The cause of the fire is unknown.

The insurance on the house and contents amounted to $3000.

QUEEN CONTEST HAS STARTED BIG

Twelve Young Ladies Entered for Queen of Fair Carnival

Yesterday the Gyro queen contest got under way at a good start when some 12 of the would-be queens were out looking for votes. The contest, which will be decided on the last day of the fair, will be a whirlwind one, and should prove most interesting.

The contest, under the supervision of the local Gyro club, is to decide the queen of the Nelson fair. The young lady receiving the largest number of votes will be crowned queen of the carnival at the midway on the last fair night. Second and third contestants will be the maids of honor. The Queen will also receive a $200 diamond ring and an elaborate evening gown. The second contestant will receive a $100 diamond ring. The third contestant will receive a gold wrist watch. In addition every purchaser of votes has a chance to win $50 in cash.

The contest got under way yesterday at a good start, and before next Thursday the votes will be away up in the thousands. Several of the would-be queens secured new booklets of votes yesterday afternoon.

RUTTLEDGE AND FARRINGTON TIE

Fight for First Place as Eggs Contest Reaches Forty-fourth Week

After losing its place at the top of the competition list by one egg last week, the pen of M. H. Ruttledge of Sardis has beaten that of Farrington Brothers of Central park, in the weekly total for the 44th week, by one egg, and thus brought its total even with that of the latter's pen. Each pen totals 2140 eggs, but Mr. Ruttledge's pen laid 44 eggs this week, and that of Farrington Brothers 43.

W. D. Bruce of Pitt Meadows, is owner of the pen coming next, with a total of 2101 eggs. The University of British Columbia, with its non-competing pen, he adds the list with a total of 2207 eggs.

'HUNGARIANS' BY MILLIONS NOW FILL ALBERTA

Guimont Believes This District Will Soon Have a Lot of These Birds

That he expected the Hungarian partridge to do very well here, was stated recently by J. F. Guimont, a member of the game commission. He based his belief largely on the Alberta records of the bird, and stated that in 1910 the authorities had imported 156 partridges and that now 14 years later, there were literally millions in the province.

One reason for this was that they are very hardy birds, another that the coveys are very large, there being from 18 to 24 in a brood; also they are very quick on the wing, thus being immune from amateurs, and for the same reason providing very good sport for the hunter.

Once established, said Mr. Guimont, they were not likely to be exterminated.

Thick in Boundary

They have come into the Kootenays of their own accord, he added, and were quite thick in the Boundary country.

"They are here in sufficient quantities to warrant the statement that in a few years they will provide real sport in our own district," he concluded.

They have been seen on the golf course, as well as in other parts of the district.

ROTARY DINNER CONFIRMS PLAN FOR THE FLOAT

Enters Friendly Competition With Gyros for the Fair Feature

Nelson Rotarians yesterday approved the report of a committee which arranged with the Gyros for the two service clubs to place floats in the big parade which is to be held on the opening day of the fair.

A committee to take charge of decorating the float is to be appointed by D. StDenis, president, on his return from Hoquiam, which will probably be today.

Neither service club is entering the comptition for the best decorated floats, but they have a little side bet of their own. The losers are to pay for a dinner for the winners.

Rotary education was the subject of discussion at yesterday's meeting. Addresses were delivered by C. F. Hunter and E. P. Dawson, both dealing with the ethics and practices of Rotary.

CRANBROOK CAR MEETS IDAHO ONE

George Ripley, Finds Hub Cap Off, Spring, Axle Bent, After Accident

George W. Ripley of Cranbrook had his car damaged when he collided with an Idaho car about 8 miles from Fort Steele, on the Fort Steele-Wasa road, last Saturday.

According to the report he made to the provincial police, he was climbing a hill when he saw the Idaho car approaching. He swung to the side of the road within a foot of the grade, allowing plenty of room for the other car to pass.

In spite of this it struck Mr. Ripley's car, knocking the hub cap off a front wheel and bending the front axle and spring. It then stopped about three lengths past Mr. Ripley's car. No one was hurt.

POWER PLANT HEADS RESIGNS

Thomas Needham Succeeded by Mr. Grayson, Former Operator

Thomas Needham, for many years superintendent of the city power plant at Bonnington falls, has resigned from that post, and has been succeeded by R. Grayson, formerly an operator under Mr. Needham.

Such was the information given in a report to the city council last night by J. F. Coates, city electrical engineer.

Mr. Coates stated Mr. Needham had resigned and left, and had taken with him his son, who was acting as an oiler. The city engineer stated that he had moved Mr. Grayson up to superintendent, and had reemployed Edward McGregor as operator. A. Coates had been placed on the staff as an oiler.

The report was referred to the fire, water and light committee.

Prince Sergius Obolenski, member of an old aristocratic Russian family, after being divorced by Princess Catherine Alexandrovna, daughter of the late Czar Alexander II., is now the husband of Alice Muriel Astor, daughter of John Jacob Astor, and has come with her to the Canadian west. They were recently in the Windermere, on part of their honeymoon tour around the world.

BOARD INVITES MINISTERS, TOO

Members of Cabinet Are Bidden to Dinner in Honor of Premier

Most of the cabinet ministers may spend Friday in town, if they accept the invitations sent them by the Nelson board of trade. E. F. Gigot, secretary, acting on instructions from the board, has sent the members of the cabinet an invitation to attend the banquet to be given under the auspices of the board in honor of the Premier Friday night.

Those to whom invitations were sent were Hon. A. M. Manson, attorney-general; Hon. E. D. Barrow, minister of agriculture; Hon. William Sloan, minister of mines; Hon. H. W. Sutherland, minister of public works; Hon. John D. MacLean, minister of education; Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands.

BRIDGE NOW MONEY MATTER

Cottonwood Creek Bridge Will Cost Thousand Dollars, Says Engineer

Whether or not there is sufficient money in the city treasury to complete the bridge across Cottonwood creek on Railway street, is the question confronting the city fathers.

At last night's meeting City Engineer J. A. Ferguson reported that the cost of a bridge over the creek at this point would be $1000.

Alderman J. P. Morgan, following the report, asked if there was money enough left to build the bridge.

Acting Mayor Horswill stated that a bridge was needed the city had been petitioned for i tand that it should be built.

City Clerk W. E. Wasson stated that he could tell if there was enough money for the bridge, providing the engineer could give him an estimate as to the amount of work he intended completing this year. The bridge question will be settled next week. It will be a 24-foot span construction of concrete and resting on stone and concrete foundations.

Equalize the High School Fees

The Daily News this morning publishes a letter from a non-resident parent with reference to high school fees.

This letter brings out clearly the sense of injustice under which non-residents of Nelson are suffering as a consequence of the charge of $50 to non-residents as compared with the $10 charge of resident pupils.

The fact that non-residents consider they are discriminated against is the vital point which Nelson has to consider.

It is essential that Nelson's out-of-town customers should feel that they are being fairly treated. Otherwise Nelson is bound to lose some of the business upon which it depends for its existence.

No doubt, the school board is thoroughly seized of the situation and the wise course to follow would be for the board to make the fees for both resident and non-resident pupils the same.

The scale established last spring to become effective this month was largely tentative and can easily be changed.

Canada Benefits From World Wheat Shortage

According to data available to the Dominion department of agriculture on the reports of 16 out of 45 countries which are grain producers, there is a world shortage of 375 million bushels of wheat and 122 million bushels of rye as compared with last year's crop. Europe accounts for 252 million bushels of the shortage and North America records 164 million bushels of the deficiency in bread grains, principally wheat.

Canada and the United States constitute the areas from which Europe must get supplies of wheat until the southern hemisphere crops are harvsted. If the latter do not repeat last year's cut-turn of a record crop, it seems certain that there will be an acute shortage of bread grains before August, 1925.

There is an increasing demand for wheat which should keep prices for the Canadian article stiff.

Why Not Use the Ouija Board?

It has come at last in the United States. Spiritualism has been invoked to free a convicted murderer on a sworn statement taken down from a ghost or dream lady.

Almost everything except the testimony of ghosts has already been accepted as evidence in murder cases.

Chicago has just been the scene of a disgraceful trial by oratory.

Spirit rappings and ouija-board records may yet be mighty defense weapons in the hands of expert American criminal lawyers.

With this rapid progress along so-called psychic lines the jump from the partly material to the wholly impressional—from the alienist to the medium—is easy enough.

What the Press Is Saying

Bishop and Prohibition

"Coercion is not a legitimate method of advocating morality," said the bishop of Durham, Dr. Hensen, speaking against prohibition at the Sunderland Rotary club recently.

"We are told," he continued, "we ought to identify the drinking of alcoholic beverages with an immoral act. As a moderate drinker from my youth up, and intending so to continue until the end, I passionately repudiate that. It is an absolutely cruel and false pervision of the truth to identify the temperance use of liquors with an immoral excess.

"Total abstinence from alcoholic beverages is no part of mortality, and the moderate use of alcohol is the tradition of Christendom from the example of the divine founder and his apostles through all the ages to this moment."—London Daily Mail.

Miss F.—How is broken glass mended?

Answer—Water Glass (sodium silicate) forms a cement (just as it comes in the bottle). Because of its transparency it makes a splendid cement for mending glass ware. Wash and dry the broken edges, then apply the water glass with a small paint brush, to both edges, and fit together carefully. Press together for several minutes before setting away to harden. Here is another good glass cement: Dissolve white shellac in enough alcohol to form a mixture of the consistency of molasses and apply this to both broken edges. Glass mended by either of these will resist ordinary wear, but will not resist hot water.

Newly Wed—Will you kindly tell me how to cook cabbage, green peas and sweet corn? Do I start them cold water or hot? And shall I salt them or wait until nearly cooked to do so?

Answer—Take off the outer leaves of the cabbage, cut in quarters, soak in cold water and cook uncovered in boiling salted water until tender. Cook corn in boiling water. Peas should be covered with cold water and allowed to stand for half an hour; then cook until soft in a small quantity of boiling water, adding salt during the last 10 minutes of boiling. Drain and season with butter.

Mrs. W.—Can you tell me how to make good Lentil soup?

Lentil Soup—Soak 1-2 pint of lentils for 12 hours with a little bicarbonate of soda in the water. Cut the following vegetables into small pieces: 3 onions, 2 small carrots, 1 small turnip, 2 potatoes and a bunch of herbs. Put these into a pan with 1 ounce of drippings and cook for 5 minutes, with the lid on. Add the lentils and one quart of water, with salt and pepper, and boil gently till reduced to pulp. Pass through a sieve and season to taste.

Distracted—Many articles have been published in this column on fighting the moth. Eternal vigilance is the best preventive, as the eggs once laid will hatch out, so do not let one mothmiller escape, and keep your upholstered set well-brushed and sprayed with gasoline.

Mrs. G. B. A.—Yill you tell me how to care for my new hardwood floor?

C. F.—Kindly give me a menu for a wedding breakfast.

E. H.—Have you a list of articles for the Hope-chest?

Answer—I have multigraphed articles on "The care of wood floors," "The Bride's Trousseau and Household Linen," and the "Wedding Breakfast." The latter includes menus also appropriate for anniversaries. These will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Tomorrow—Some Good Apple Recipes.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in charge of "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use your full name, street number, and the name of your city and province.

DID THE LASSIE REALLY LAUGH?

"No," Answers Erudite Scientist, Discussing Tickling Psychology

TORONTO, Sept. 8.—How are the reactions to tickling expressed in the terminology of psychology? What are those reactions and why do they manifest themselves?

Such was the ticklish subject that one afternoon engaged the erudite attention of the psychological section of the British Association for the Advancement of Science recently in session here. Dr. J. Drever, in discussing the psychological theories of laughter, started this discussion, but so far no answer has been forthcoming, which quite explains why Harry Lauder's lady in the song exclaimed amidst heart-felt gurgles, 'Stop yer ticklin', Jock!" According to Professor Drever, the young lady was not laughing at all.

He said, upon the postponed discussion of his address, that the ordinary characteristics of laughter do not manifest themselves when a subject is tortured with tickling. He said that in the past two theories had been advanced in the premises, both of which are unsatisfactory. One was that the reactions are those arising from a sense of engaging in a playful fight, the other being based upon some of the emotions connected with sexuality. He pointed out, however, that some subjects react to tickling, or the threat of tickling, with anger, fear, shrinking—anything but laughter.

Similarly, said Dr. Drever, the laughter, so called, often described as defensive, when one laughs to conceal other emotions, or when one laughs ironically, derisively, etc., the act is not that of laughter at all. What it is he did not say, and an anxious world is still in doubt upon this, as also upon the psychological mistake made by Sir Harry Lauder in making his young lady laugh. The world will probably still continue to believe that she did laugh.

EX-MOUNTY TO OPEN FISHERY NEAR ARCTIC

Will Feed the Prize Dogs of the Force From Sulphur Bay

SASKATOON, Sept. 8.—The inhabitants of the far northern territories follow varied occupations, but it has been left to S. S. Marshall, formerly a member of the Royal Canadian Mounted police, to inaugurate a new industry on the shores of Great Slave lake. He will open a fishery, but, unlike the average, it will be established for the benefit of dogs. It will not be for the mongrel canines of the trading posts nor of the northern Indian tribes, but for the highly prized and valuable Royal Canadian Mounted police dogs that carry members of the northern patrol during their arduous work among the Indians and Eskimos of the Mackenzie river country. The fishery will supply feed for the dogs, and Mr. Marshall also intends to open a trading station, where he will deal in furs with the Indians who hunt and trap around the lake shores.

This unique fishery will be established at Sulphur Bay, on the northwest shore of Great Slave lake—a paradise for hunters and trappers. The sulphur springs which empty into the lake at this point kill much of the fish, which is washed ashore, where it is sought by fox, bear and other forest animals.

Mr. Marshall, a veteran of the far northern regions, who claims to have been able to make the trip on snowshoes from Dawson to Fairbanks, Alaska, while a member of the mounted police, 30 years ago, has spent the past two years among the Indians and Eskimos of the Northwest Territories. When he left the "outside" two years ago he journeyed via Edmonton to Fort Norman and then by boat through Lake Athabaska to Great Slave lake. There he found he was too late to catch the last boat north, and consequently decided to travel by canoe down the Mackenzie to Aklavik, situated on the delta of the Mackenzie where it empties into the Arctic ocean. This was the month of October, and he encountered extremely cold weather.

He was able to guide his canoe over rapids and through the rapidly narrowing channel of open water to within 3 miles of the settlement of Aklavik. There the stream froze over, and he had to proceed on foot, carrying his pack over his shoulder, to the post. He returned to civilization last month, but will leave once more for Sulphur Bay before the freeze-up.

Mr. Marshall sat on the jury that tried the Eskimo Ikilupikim, July 5, self-confessed murderer of one of his countrymen. Owing to the fact that the murder was committed before any example had been made of those who violated British law in the north the jury brought in a verdict of guilty but recommended leniency.

The Eskimo was sentenced to five years' imprisonment in the Stony Mountain penitentiary. Mr. Marshall remarked that the prisoner belonged to a small race of Eskimos which lived around Coronation gulf.

"They look very similar to the Japanese, and are not reliable nor straightforward in their dealings," he said. On the other hand, the tribe living around the shore near the mouth of the Mackenzie river were a large race of men of splendid physique. They have dark eyes and hair, resembling more closely the Russians. They are friendly to the few white trappers and hunters that find their way so far north, Mr Marshall stated.

HAD A LIZARD IN HIS TUMMY

Winnipeg Bank Manager Fed It Twenty Years; Then It Died

WINNIPEG, Sept. 8.—Believe it or not, but surgeons in Winnipeg recently removed a lizard from the stomach of a man who until a year ago was manager of one of the local banks.

*For more than 20 years the para-*site is said to have lived in the man's stomach, sapping his vitality, and during the past year threatened his life.

The reptile, which measured almost six inches in length, was discovered only as a result of a fever attack, and had been killed from the effects of turpentine injections during that illness.

Medical men familiar with the case claim the lizard developed from an egg which entered the stomach during a visit to the "ole swimmin' hole" in boyhood days. It had kept him thin all his life.

Various examinations and operations had been performed, but it was not until an illness this summer that the parasite was discovered. It was removed by an operation, and since that time the patient has made remarkable physicial recovery, and has grown fat.

From boyhood, the patient is reported to have had a ravenous appetite, and afflicted also with terrific thirst. "He drank more water than anyone I ever knew," his father said, in speaking of the unusual case.

Styles BY LENORE

Only those who are impressed chiefly by abrupt and radical changes in fashion can complain that the styles launched for this season present no new tendencies. New and interesting tendencies there certainly are, but the changes are more subtly expressed and therefore require a subtler appreciation than is demanded by blatant and extreme differences of line or silhouette. A lengthened sleeve, a shortened skirt, a brilliant splash of "stained glass" blue, instead of the more reticent black and white effects of last season, and you will easily enough distinguish today's dress from that of yesterday.

The gown sketched above, with its yoked tunic and sleeve that narrows down to the wrist, is distinctly of today and for the tomorrows of the next few months. It is developed in crepe satin, in the new shade of vivid blue, with black, a combination which is charming for a rich complexion with gray or dark hair. A more subdued effect, of course, may be obtained by reversing the colors, using the blue as trimming.

That Body of Yours

Changing Your Habits

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright act.)

A celebrated physician made this statement many years ago:

"More than one-half of the diseases which embitters the middle and later part of life among the middle and upper classes of the population is due to avoidable errors in diet."

I believe you'll agree with this because most people, including physicians, have proven this to be true.

You see, as a growing boy or girl you needed lots of food. You needed every kind of food, including the proteids—meats and eggs—because you were growing and playing.

As you reached adult life you still needed plenty of food including proteids, because you were working hard mentally and physically, or perhaps engaged in athletics.

However, as you neared the 30 mark you still had your appetite for everything, but there was not the need for the same quantity of food, and little need particularly for the meats and eggs.

However, you still had your appetite, and you ate just about the same quantity, and of the same kinds of foods.

What is the result?

That digestive disturbances come first, and then as you get older, disturbances in liver and kidneys, and the circulatory organs.

You see the getting of the food into the body most of it digested, is not hard of accomplishment, but the getting rid of the excess waste is what puts the strain on the kidneys, and also on the liver.

A simple rule is to just gradually cut down on all your food after 30, and if not doing manual work or engaged in athletics cut down particularly on meat and eggs.

A good appetite is a healthy sign, but if not engaged in physical work it can get you into trouble.

As has been mentioned before, it isn't always because you don't know any better.

It has become a habit with you to eat the things you like, irrespective of your age or occupation.

Have the will to be wise in the matter.

RURAL PARENT ALLEGES FEES DISPROPORTION

Would Not Resent High School Charges on Equal Basis With City

To the Editor of The Daily News:

Sir—I read with interest and approval your editorial re discriminatory fees charged children of nonresident parents at Nelson high school.

I am glad to see that at least one resident of Nelson is alive to the damaging effects resulting from the shortsighted policy followed by the school board and city council; and, speaking as one of the victims of this policy, I have no hesitancy in averring that, for every dollar gained by these charges, Nelson loses many dollars and is building for herself in the surrounding country a feeling of animosity that has for some time been passively, and, with the increase in discrimination, is now becoming actively, inimical to her interests.

The people of the country districts feel keenly that they are being unjustly treated, and resent it.

Discrimination That Hurts

They pay common school taxes in their own school districts; and, were your charges for high school fees to country children in excess of the rates of city children, in proportion to the percentage of the city's school taxes that go to the maintenance of the high school, I do not think you would ever hear a murmur from the country parents, but your rates are far in excess of this and, in addition, are per capita, a system that savors offensively of a head tax.

As you justly remark, the rural parent has the expense of maintaining the child in the city for 10 months of the year, and when you add on an extra $50 each the burden becomes very heavy, but this is not the sorest point.

The sting is the sense of injustice. I understand that about 25 per cent of the city's school taxes are apportioned to the maintenance of the high school. At that rate, each country parent is called on to pay the equivalent of a city school tax of $200 per annum, or, in the case of sending two children, the sum of $100 school fees equals a city school tax of $400 per annum, or the alternative of sending their children out into the world with the utterly inadequate rudimentary education obtained in our common schools.

Your deduction that the myopic policy is inimical to Nelson is more than true; it's a great understatement.

Doubts Charges Legal

Still, further, not only is it unjust, but, I believe, legally untenable.

These children, whether paying their board or working for it, for 10 months of the year are city residents, just as much as the teachers who are teaching them, the doctors who are preaching to them, the doctors who are dosing them, the dentists who treat their teeth at such moderate rates or any other of the host of people, professional or otherwise, who make up the city's population, and the only reason why the school board can claim that they are not residents is that they are underage and, being but children, they are not legally able to defend themselves and are easy prey.

Parents are ever willing to sacrifice themselves for their children, and some who had been valuable assets to Nelson had they remained on their ranches have moved into the city to make a precarious livelihood there while their children are being educated, while some, I know, have left this part altogether.

Whatever point of view one takes, certain it is that the feeling of animosity engendered is costing Nelson merchants many times the money collected by the school board.

Bings and Lamberts Bring Ten and Half Net to the Growers

PENTICTON, B.C., Sept. 8.—Returns obtained by local growers for cherries sold through the Penticton Cooperative Growers are considered very satisfactory.

The prices announced by the Cooperative are net to the grower, but from these deductions have been made on the checks issued to the growers for the deferred payments for capital, for which the growers will receive paid-up capital shares. Deductions have also been made in the checks to the extent of 5c per box margin over packing charges retained by the bank under the arrangements for financing the marketing of the crop. This money retained by the bank as additional security on the loan will be paid to the growers at the end of the fruit season.

Bings and Lamberts brought 10½c per pound after all packing and central selling charges were accounted for; Deacons, 10c per pound; Black Republican and Black Tartarian, 7½c per pound, and Royal Annes, 6c per pound.

REVENUE DROPS TWENTY MILLION IN FIVE MONTHS

Excise Decline of Seventeen Millions Is Chiefly Responsible

OTTAWA, Sept. 8.—Ordinary revenues of the Dominion of Canada for the five months of the present fiscal year ending August 31 show a decrease of approximately $20,000,000 when compared with revenue figures for the five-month period of last year. Ordinary expenditures for the five months show an increase of over $2,000,000 when the two periods are compared.

The monthly statement issued through the department of finance shows total ordinary revenue for the five months under review of $162,523,315 as compared with $182,153,286 a year ago.

Ordinary expenditure for the five months ending August 31 amounted to $11,3755,869 as against $111,432,011 in 1923. The net debt of the Dominion, which stood at $2,591,451,880 at the end of July, dropped to $2,387,517,638 at the end of August, or a decrease of $3,934,051.

Excise Collections Down

A decrease of over $17,000,000 in excise tax collection during the five months of the present year as compared with the same period a year ago is largely responsible for the total revenue decrease. Excise tax collections for the five months this year totalled $33,212,841. Last year they were $50,473,285.

Customs revenues decreased from $51,747,090 in the five months of 1923 to $46,985,794 this year. Income tax collections showed an increase for the five months from $44,300,775 last year to $47,126,138 at the end of August, 1924.

On the expenditure side of the sheet interest payments in public debt for the five months ended August 31 last totalled $53,667,659 as compared with $52,501,801 on August 31, 1923.

Pension payments during the five months amounted to $11,312,081, and soldiers' civil reestablishment to $3,020,279. In the same period of 1923 pensions totalled $10,958,692 and soldiers' civil reestablishment $3,595,153.

The decrease in total excise tax collections follows modifications in the sales tax introduced during the last session of parliament. The budget brought down at the last session provided for changes, which it is understood have been the chief factor in reductions noted during the present fiscal year.

INFERIOR CANTS OF SOUTH HURT

Calgary Condemns Luscious Melons Untried; Astrachans Green

J. A. Grant, markets commissioner, in the Markets Bulletin, says of "The Week in Calgary."

"The weather this week has been ideal for harvesting, which is general all over the prairies.

"The market for British Columbia cantaloupes has had a setback owing to imported cants of inferior quality selling retail at 15c. They are of a wilted appearance and lacking in flavor. This, of course, has retarded the sale of the luscious British Columbia melons coming in from Oliver and Osoyoos districts, as the public think that a melon is a melon and do not realize that they have to taste the fruit to know the wonderful flavor of the British Columbia cantaloupes.

"McIntosh Red apples have made their appearance, but are on the green side. Peaches and prunes are also in abundance in the store windows.

"The market has a more healthy tone this week, and fruit of all kinds is moving out more freely.

"The f.o.b. shipping point prices on McIntosh Red apples, fancy, $1.65; crates, $1.35."

WHAT WOULD A REAL KISS COST AT LONG BEACH?

Hard Hearted Magistrate Assesses Thirty Dollars for a Mere Peck

LONG BEACH, Cal., Sept. 5.—If $30 is the price in Long Beach for a near-kiss, just what would dance-hall sheiks have to pay for one of those long-drawn-out soul effusions that Messrs. Valentino, O'Brien, Navarro, etc., thrill film-struck maidens with?

Do not laugh, my brothers. 'Tis a question that now supplants in import that of Councilman Beck's age, for Judge Fred Helwig has established a precedent for all would-be dance-hall kissers to be governed by in the future. Now for the story.

The music in the Minnehaha dance hall was of the dreamy Viennese kind that writers rave about. George A. Teas, 20, and handsome in the natty blue of the coast guard service, and Mrs. Julia Dean, a nurse, also 20, and very pretty, waltzed to the entrancing strains of the music.

Policewoman on Job

Perhaps George was dreaming of far-away South Sea places of dusky maidens and the intriguing movements of their dances. Perhaps his pretty companion's eyes—well, anyhow, it happened right there in the middle of the dance-hall floor, much to the amazement of Mrs. Ethel Williams, policewoman.

Pursing his lips, on which the light down of youth was just appearing, Teas stretched forth his neck and pecked at the red lips of his dancing partner. Came then Mrs. Williams, her eyes and her badge glittering, and the sailor and the pretty nurse were soon at the police station.

"Book these for violation of dance-hall ordinance, sergeant," Policewoman Williams told Sergeant Miller.

The pair were booked, and released in the sum of $50 bail each, to appear in police court.

"I didn't kiss him, your honor, and I didn't let him kiss me."

Nurse Tearful

This tearfully from the pretty nurse, as she stood before Judge Helwig's bench, the target for the eyes of a room filled with court hangers-on. "He tried to kiss me, but I drew my face away. That is all the policewoman saw," she explained.

"That's right, judge," boomed the deep-sea voice of the young sailor, his sense of chivalry touched. "I'm the guy that done that kissing. We was dancing together, and she looked so nice and everything, that I couldn't help it. But I didn't get nowhere with that girl, judge. Honest, I didn't. She pulled her head away, just like she told you. It's all my fault."

The sailor's chivalry and his explanation fell on barren ground, however, for Judge Helwig found them equally guilty and assessed a fine of $15 on each of them.

All of which brings us back to the question of Long Beach prices for kisses. If a mere peck at a girl's lips costs $30 here, what would one of those—oh, well, bring plenty of money with you, if you get to feeling that way.

The new olympic record for the high jump is 6 feet 6 inches, established by Harold Osborne, Illinois Athletic club.

CANADIAN PRESS AND OPERATORS FAIL TO AGREE

Former Applies for Conciliation; Latter Orders Strike Vote

MEN REFUSE OFFER OF AN ARBITRATION

Conference at Toronto Brings to Head Increase or Decrease

TORONTO, Sept. 8.—A strike vote by the men, and a request to the Dominion department of labor for a conciliation board by the company, is the result of the meeting today here of the executive of the Canadian Press, and the general committee of its telegraph operators, in an effort to get together on the wage dispute separating them.

Just four years ago, as the company points out in its argument, the present wage agreement was negotiated, through a conciliation board, about the time when the peak of the high cost of living was reached, this being the month of July, 1920. Immediately after this settlement went into effect, giving the men a flat increase of $5 a week, the cost of living index figure started dropping, until now it is back to near what it was in 1917.

Men's Demand Brings It to Head

The agreement has continued unchanged, but two months ago the men gave notice of a demand for a considerable increase.

To this the company replied by notice of a decrease, aimed especially to help the situation in the smaller Canadian cities, where members of the Canadian Press receive their news service over leased wires, and where the minimum wage of $45 a week paid the Canadian Press telegraphers is, such members claim, out of all proportion to the wage paid other newspaper employees.

In opening the proceedings today, E. Norman Smith, president of the Canadian Press, pointed out the difficulties faced by Canadian daily publishers, due to loss of revenue consequent on the economic and industrial depression. On behalf of the company, he said they could not consider at this time a single dollar increase in the wage bill. A number of members were already finding the cost of the news service greater than they could carry, and from the smaller newspapers there had come for some time insistent demands for a cut in the cost of the telegraphic bill.

The chairman of the men's committee, James Clarke of Winnipeg, was equally insistent not alone that the men could not consider for a moment any decrease, but they must obtain an increase.

A deadlock thus being reached Norman Smith, on behalf of the company, proposed either an arbitration on a conciliation board under the department of labor.

Men Offer to Arbitrate Part

Mr. Schnur, international vice-president of the men's union, offered to arbitrate if the company would withdraw its proposals for a decrease; to arbitrate, that is to say, whether the wage should remain unchanged or should be increased.

To this the Canadian Press executive could not accede, but offered to submit the whole dispute to a board of conciliation.

Mr. Schnur declined to go before a board of conciliation at all, and declared he must take an immediate strike vote of the men.

The company has, therefore, applied for a conciliation board similar to that which is already dealing with the dispute between the commercial telegraphers and their employers, the same union, the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America being involved.

The company was further represented by W. J. Taylor of the Woodstock Sentinel-Review; A. R. Ford, London Free Press, and J. F. B. Livesay, general manager, while the other members of the men's general committee were R. H. Hope of Brantford, Ont., and J. A. MacDougall of Vancouver.

YANKEE CAMERA MEN CATCH THE PRINCE

Pictures of the heir to the British throne taken upon his arrival off Long Island, New York, are shown above. Left, the prince is seen holding a sextant in his hand, after he and Captain Irvine had been "shooting" the sun from the Berengaria's bridge. In the upper circle Wales is aboard the converted submarine chaser, the Black Watch, which carried him from the liner to the landing stage. Right is a view of the towering side of the liner, together with the Machigonne, which was used in effecting the transfer of the royal party from the Berengaria to the Black Watch, which is the smaller boat alongside the white steamer. Lower circle, the prince is again talking to the captain of the Black Watch while the speedy craft is rushing from the liner to the shore.

HER PARTING SHOTS FROM A REVOLVER

Bridegroom Seeks Relief From Bride of a Week at California

SANTA ANA, Sept. 5.—Faulty feminine markmanship by his bride of a week was assigned as the only reason for Claude Allen to be alive and able to file his suit for divorce recently in the superior court here.

Allen alleged in his complaint that when he left his bride in Portland, Ore., last December 22, her parting shots—both of them—were from a revolver. Allen's departure was more of an escape, he indicated, declaring that the two bullets whistled close to his ears as he fled from the house.

His bride, whom he had married seven days before, had told him that if he left the house the undertaker would carry him, he said. This made Allen nervous. He watched his chance and when his bride stepped into another room he made a dash for the door.

But she was watchful and quickly opened fire, he said. Her aim was poor, he said, so he evaded the undertaker.

When the Allens were wed, last December 15, they had been previously married to each other and divorced. Their first marriage had been must tumultuous and turbulent, Allen declared, and when they remarried the second time they took up the quarrel where it had been left off.

The wedding day was one of discord, and on the fourth day, to punctuate an argument, Mrs. Allen is said to have broken an umbrella on her husband's head. By the time the seventh day arrived Allen had concluded it was time to depart, discretion being preferable to valor, his complaint indicated.

LITTLE LESSONS IN Golf

On short approaches from the fairway, with no hazards intervening, hich is the safest and easiest shot—chip shot with backspin or a run-up shot? What clubs should be used on these shots?

Answered by
CLARENCE HACKNEY

Winner of the Canadian open championship in 1923-24. Also winner of the Philadelphia open championship in 1923-24 and the professional championship in 1924-25. Runner-up in many sectional tournaments, including the United States North and South championship four times in seven years.

A pitch-and-run shot is safest and most accurate. The best club to use is a mashie. The idea is to pitch the ball through the air to the edge of the green and let it roll the rest of the way to the cup. A chip shot to the cup, with backspin to stop it dead, is a stroke requiring the most expert control and a slight error in the swing may land you in a trap on the other side of the green. An air-line shot to the cup is a "good trick if you do it," but the pitch-and-run is much easier to control. A few experiments with both shots will convince you that this shot is the safer of the two.

POLYPHONTES IS A FAVORITE FOR ST. LEGER

Burslam, Bright Knight, and Hurshwood Are Scratched for Tomorrow

LONDON, Sept. 8.—The entries of Burslem, Bright Knight and Hurstwood for the St. Leger, to be run Wednesday at Doncaster, have been scratched.

A rearrangement of the jockey list has been made, with the result that Burns will ride Obliterate, and Childs, who was picked for Obliterate, will have a leg up on Arcade. O'Neil will ride Spalpeen instead of Straitlace, and Steve Donoghue has been transferred from Santorb to Greenfire. Jellish will ride Winalot.

Other probable starters with their jockeys are: Capehorn (Archibald), Irismond (Allemano), Parmenio (Elliott), Polyhontes (McLachland), Reggio (H. Beasley), St. Germans (Lane), Salmon Trout (Carslake), Sansovino (Weston), Transvaal II. (Terre), Walford (A. Smith).

Betting tonight was 5 to 2 against Polyphontes, offered, and 3 to 1 taken; 7 to 1 against Salmon Trout; 8 to 11 against Irismond; 100 to 12 against Sansovino; 100 to 9 against St. Germans; 25 to 1 against Winalot, and 33 to 1 against Transvaal II., taken and offered.

FIGHTERS ARE COMING WEST

Frankie Bull and Jack Reddick Both Will Appear in Western Rings

TORONTO, Sept. 8.—Frankie Bull, who disputes Clonie Tait's right to the Canadian lightweight title, will go west after his fight in St. John, N. B., with Johnny McIntyre on September 22. Bull will meet the best of the contenders while in the west.

Jack Reddick, Canadian light-heavyweight champion ,will also appear in a western ring some time in October, with Battling Siki, or some other well-known light-heavyweight. Reddick gave Jack McDonald a terrific beating in Syracuse Friday, flooring him eight times.

Jack Jarvis, manager of Reddick, has received an offer from England for Reddick to fight Phil Scott, who recently stopped Kid Moose in Liverpool. Jarvis states he cabled back that he must have a contract for three fights before leaving Canada.

Australian promoters have also asked terms for Reddick to go to that country.

REVERING 'POP' THOUSANDS SEE ANOTHER DEATH

Tommy Hinds Thrown on New York Track; a Former Driver

SYRACUSE, N. Y. Sept. 8.—In full view of several thousand persons who but an hour before had bared their heads and paid silent tribute to Edward N. (Pop) Geers, veteran driver, killed last week on a southern track, Tommy Hinds, himself a veteran of grand circuit racing, was thrown to his death in a collision between sulkies on the race track at the New York state fair grounds here late today.

At Eighth-Mile Turn

As he swung around the one-eighth mile turn of the track, guiding Bonnie Del to a leading position, Hinds' sulky collided with Tommy Murphy's Clyde the Great, and Hinds was thrown headlong over the wreckage. He fell on his head and right shoulder, probably fracturing his skull in the fall, physicians believed.

He died as he was being lifted into an ambulance.

Hinds was about 62 years old, and a native of Goshen, N. Y. He had been a racing driver for at least 25 years, and was rated as one of the leading drivers on grand circuit tracks.

RENAULT WINS A DECISION OVER GODFREY, NEGRO

Fans Dislike Verdict but Judges Unanimous; Bout Is Slow

PHILADELPHIA, Sept 8.—Jack Renault of Canada tonight won the judges' decision over George Godfrey, Philadelphia negro heavyweight, in a 10-round bout marked by much clinching.

It was the Canadian's second victory over Godfrey. He stopped the negro in the 11th round about a year ago. Renault said he hoped his next fight would be with the winner of the Wills-Firpo match.

Tonight's decision appeared unpopular with many at the ringside, but the judges were unanimous in their verdict.

In the early rounds Renault clinched repeatedly and seemed to tire under the body punches of the negro.

Godfrey scored the only knockdown in the first round with a blow to the stomach. From then until the seventh there were but few effective blows landed by either man, and the crowd frequently called for more action.

In the preliminary Joe Lynch, former bantamweight champion, lost the decision of the judges to Pete Sarmiento, a Filipino.

CEDARS WALLOP CALGARY AGAIN BUT STEP SOME

Athletics Make Mainland Team Go Fast in the Cup Series

VANCOUVER, Sept. 8.—The Hammond Cedars baseball team, champions of British Columbia, again demonstrated their superiority tonight, winning the second game of the Gale cup interprovincial series 10 to 6.

Are More Needed

Hammond Cedars are now within one game of entering the final series for the western Canada championship.

They stepped into the Calgary Athletics again tonight with the same gusto which gave them such an overwhelming victory on Saturday and though they were extended to make it two straight, they wound up on top in easy style.

Hammond pummelled the offerings of two moundsmen for 17 solid blows in eight rounds which were good for 10 runs. But the sweetest part of the Hammond victory was the convincing manner in which they broke away from the enemy after the visitors had shown a lot of fight by tying up the count.

GOLDSTEIN IS STILL CHAMP OF BANTAMS

Beats Tommy Ryan in Furious Fifteen-Round Go at Long Island

LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Abe Goldstein, world's bantamweight champion, successfully defended his title in a furious 15-round bout tonight against Tommy Ryan of McKeesport, Pa. The challenger narrowly escaped a knockout in the 13th round.

Goldstein had a wide margin on his opponent after the seventh round. Previous to this the title holder fought more of a defensive fight, working under wraps, and concealing the attack that later carried him to a sweeping victory.

In the thirteenth round Goldstein working from long range swung his battery of rights and lefts into action, and drove the reeling Ryan about the ring, punch drunk, and on the verge of a knockout.

Again in the fifteenth it looked like the shades for Ryan, but he gamely mustered enough resistanc to weather the storm, and remain upright until the bell.

The death occurred in Regina of William Arthur Begg, of the town planning department, Saskatchewan government, who was 42 years of age. He was born near Dundas, Ont., and was a 1907 graduate in engineering of Toronto university. He is survived by a widow and four children.

SHORTS COVER; STOCKS RALLY

Morning Selling Previously Carries List Off a Few Points

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Short-covering operations brought about a brisk rally in the latter part of today's stock market after a week of steadily decreasing prices. The morning selling, which carried a number of issues down 1 to 3 points, reflected the closing out of weakened marginal accounts and uneasiness over the outcome of the Maine election.

Confidence was restored later when it became evident that there was a scarcity in the floating supply of many issues which apparently had been oversold. The recovery continued throughout the late trading despite the efforts of bear traders to unsettle the list by attacking Allied Chemical, National Enameling, Sumatra Tobacco preferred and other vulnerable specialties. Closing prices of most of the popular industrials showed net gains ranging from small fractions to 2 points.

New low prices for the year were established by Union Bag & Paper, Park & Tilford, Standard Plate Glass and Chandler Motors. New 1924 highs were registered by Jewel Tea preferred, Utah Securities and Pittsburgh & West Virginia preferred.

One of the features of the session was the increased demand for the oils. Marland stood out, with a gain of 2 points at 34½, while Cosden, Atlantic Refining, Colorado Fuel, Houston, Mexican, Seaboard Oil and the certificates Standard Oil of California and Tidewater moved up 1 to 3 points.

United States Steel common closed ½ higher at 106⅝ after touching a new low on the movement at 105¾. Baldwin and American Can showed net gains of about 1 point each.

Motors were irregular, but good buying developed in Maxwell A, which closed nearly 2 points higher.

Call money receded to 3 per cent.

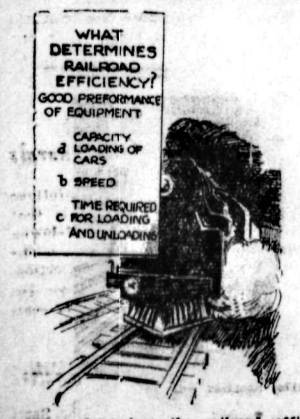
Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments



What determines the railroad efficiecy of the country?

The rail efficiency is determined by the adequacy of the rolling stock to handle the traffic. This adequacy depends not alone on the numbers and types of cars and locomotives, but upon the good performance of this equipment. Some of the factors which determine this performance of equipment are capacity loading of cars, speed train, time required for loading and unloading and time lost while equipment is in the repair shop.

The new studies in loading, both as to speed and capacity, are expected to facilitate and cheapen freight movements somewhat and make for a more effective transportation system without increasing the expenses of the system greatly.

BENEFIT FROM TANLAC LASTING, HE ASSERTS

Ontario Man Says It Put Him in Such Fine Condition 2 Years Ago, He Hasn't Needed Any Medicine Since

"Well, sir, it looked like I was going to have to give up my job, but Tanlac kept me on the payroll and, of course, I'm strong for it," is the striking statement of Wm. Cranker, 84 Louis St., Brockville, Ont., who for 30 years past has been employed by the Canadian National railroad.

"My stomach went wrong 10 years ago and then I gradually got out of fix in lots of ways. I couldn't eat or sleep to do any good for nervousness and indigestion and had got to where I simply had to drag myself to the railroad yards in the mornings.

"I could feel the good effects of my very first few doses of Tanlac clean to my finger-tips. This was two years ago and three bottles put me in such good shape that I have not had to spend a cent for medicine since. I eat and sleep fine, never miss a day's work any more and feel fine. You just can't beat Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 Million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills for constipation, made and recommended by the manufacturers of TANLAC.

WOMEN FAINT WHEN CROWD RUSHES COURT

for 24 hours. He is only person known to have been in the house besides the deceased when she met her death and is the Chinaman of whom deceased girl's friends have sworn she was very much afraid, as he, it is alleged, had made advances to her.

Sing On Stand

Wong Fung Sing admitted he saw Janet Smith about 11 o'clock on the morning she died. She was carrying some clothes down to the basement. When first questioned he said he had not seen the girl from the time she had had breakfast. Later he amended this, under cross-examination by C. W. Craig, K.C.

He said he spent the morning doing housework. When he heard the shot he was peeling potatoes. He stood up, looked out the window and then hurried down to the basement. There he found Janet Smith, shot.

Sing did not speak to Janet as she went to the basement, he said.

He said he was 26 years old and married, and had come to Canada in 1913 or 1914.

Blood Spurted Out

He stated he left the girl's body in the same position as when he found it. He lifted her up, and when the blood spurted out he put her down again.

"So far as you know, was there any person on the Baker premises before you heard the revolver shot?" he was asked.

"No."

Proceeding, the witness told how Mr. and Mrs. Baker drove down town at about 9 a.m. He did not see Janet Smith. After Mr. and Mrs. Baker left he did not see them again until after the death of the girl.

"What was the next time you saw them?"

"After 12 o'clock."

"Why did you say you did not know whether she came down stairs that morning after breakfast?" asked Mr. Craig.

"How would I know? Sometimes I see her and sometimes I don't," snapped back Sing.

Remained In Basement

"How long did she remain down in the basement?"

"I didn't see her returning," was the reply.

"So far as you know, she was in the basement from 11 o'clock until you heard the revolver shot at about 12 o'clock?"

"Yes."

The witness proceeded to state that on hearing the shot he looked around outside through the window, then went to the basement.

"If anyone had come out of the basement door at that time, could you have seen them?"

"No."

Miss Phyllis Baker said the dead girl was cheery, not given to melancholia.

Girl's Clothing Intact

She said she examined the body of Janet Smith. There were no signs of the underclothing having been disarranged.

She had known Sing, the Chinese boy, for three years.

"I knew, naturally, that Sing would have nothing to do with it. I went to the first inquest, on Sing's behalf," she said.

Burn Sing's Story Again

VANCOUVER, Sept. 9.—When the second inquest on Janet Smith, found shot to death in the Shaughnessy Heights home of her employer, F. L. Baker, on July 26, last, was resumed this afternoon, the first business was a repetition of the chicken oath ceremony.

The oath was administered to Sing Friday last, but somebody since told the coroner that the chicken oath is only good for 24 hours. So it was necessary to go through the ceremony again.

Wong Fung Sing was taken out between the two court house buildings, where his story of the tragedy, written on yellow paper, was burned with the accompanying ceremonies, the burning of sacred candles, joss sticks, and the slaughtering of a second chicken.

Wong Sung Sing admitted he saw Janet Smith about 11 o'clock on the morning she met her death. She was carrying some clothes down to the basement.

Sing said he spent the morning doing house work. When he heard the shot he was peeling potatoes. He hurried down to the basement. There he found Miss Smith, shot.

Her Head Moved Slightly

The Chinese, speaking through an interpreter, told C. W. Craig, K.C., that he found the girl lying on the floor. No one else was there. He went to lift her head, he explained, and found that there was blood upon it. Still in reply to questions he asserted that the girl's head moved slightly. She did not speak or make any noise.

Seeing that she could not live, the witness said, he put her head down, and telephoned his employer, F. L. Baker.

Miss Phyllis Baker, a cousin of F. L. Baker, gave the Chinese a good character, having known him, she said, for three years as house boy.

Janet Expressed No Fear of Sing

She had seen him do many out-of-the-ordinary things, but they were always kindnesses. The witness gave the boy a good character.

Janet Smith never had indicated to her that she was afraid of Sing. Sing was difficult to understand. One could not make out Sing's English, she said.

GYROS WITNESS BOXING BOUTS

Wade and Curran Draw on Referee; Fair Reports Are Heard

J. Holland had charge of the program at the Gyro luncheon last night and he put up a novelty program with song and boxing bouts as the leading attractions.

In taking charge of the meeting, he stated that all good Gyros generally did what they were told when called upon and his question brought forth a a chorus of "Yes."

However, two Gryos didn't feel quite so gay a minute later when Dave Wade and Jimmie Curran were named as the headline attraction in a three-minute lightweight bout for the championship of the club.

However, the battlers donned the gloves. It was a battle royal with many knockdowns. Wade hit Curran so hard that it was impossible for him to find his collar buttons at the end of the bout. Thus Charlie Morris had to do business after hours in order to get the scribe off to city council meeting on time.

The climax of the bout came in the last round when both battlers got even on Mr. Holland by turning upon him and chasing him about the ring using the gloves to good advantage. The battle, after all was said and done, was a draw.

Young Parker and Alex Ionian put up three slashing rounds for the Gyros, which was greatly enjoyed by all concerned. This was a draw bout Referee Holland's decision proving popular.

Reports on the progress of the four committees and other fair attractions were received from R. D. Barnes, Dr. H. H. MacKenzie and the president, W. M. Myers. Excellent reports were received from the Gyro contest committee which stated that the contest had got away at a good start. A perfect attendance was recorded and the orchestra performed in its usual brilliant manner.

PRINCE GETS DIRT IN EYE IN THE POLO

Physician Treats Orb; Injury Painful but Not Very Serious

SLOSSET, N.Y., Sept. 8. — The Prince of Wales suffered a slight injury to his right eye this afternoon when in the midst of a rough polo game a piece of dirt hurled by the flying hoofs of a pony lodged under the lid of the eye of the royal athlete. The irritation caused considerable pain for half an hour until Dr. Medwin Leale, a Glencove physician, who was immediately called, removed the dirt.

The game was stopped at the end of the sixth period, and the prince drove to the James A. Burden home to await the physician.

It was said that the injury was not likely to prove serious, and the prince has decided not to allow the mishap to interfere with his presence at the dinner and dance party given tonight at the home of F. Ambrose Clark in Westbury.

Death Toll From Storm in Formosa Counts Up Thirty

TOKYO, Sept. 8.—Very severe rain and wind storms in Formusa have caused 30 deaths, while 312 persons have been seriously injured. Some 3200 houses were destroyed and 4600 damaged.

ITALY CHILLS THE GENEVA ATMOSPHERE

Only Accepts Arbitration Idea "With Reservations"; Restrict Scope

GENEVA, Sept. 8.—Italy's declaration today before the disarma*ment commission of the League of* Nations assembly that she accepted with reservations the idea that all disputes between states should be settled by obligatory arbitration, was the dominant subject of discussion in Geneva tonight.

It clearly caused a chill in the hopeful atmosphere which last week's memorable proceedings in the assembly had created.

Italy's position was presented by Signor Schanzer, former foreign minister, and many delegates tonight were comparing it with Italy's attitude at the last assembly, when she questioned the right of the council to pass upon the Corfu affair.

Keep World Court to Jurisdiction

Signor Schanzer's whole argument was that disputes of a political nature should be left to the council, and that only questions of jurisdiction should be submitted to the world court of justice which, in the pact proposed by the Americans, virtually decided which state was the aggressor.

Professor Shotwell, one of the authors of the United States plan, declined tonight to comment on Signor Schanzer's speech, but explained that in the project, an aggressor nation was conceived on a much narrower plan than is supposed, by those who fear it would involve the world court in international policies. He said that the question of aggression as envisaged in the scheme was simply that of determining by the court the materiality of an overt act.

MAINE IS STILL REPUBLICAN IN STATE POLITICS

In Spite of Klan Issue, the "Grand Old Party" Gets Usual Majority

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 8.—An apparently safe lead for Ralph O. Brewster, Republican candidate for governor, was shown in returns from today's election from 515 precincts out of 633 in the state, which gave Brewster 104,534 votes, to 69,714 for William R. Pattangall, Democrat. Pattangall late tonight conceded Brewster's election.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 8.—Ralph O. Brewster, Republican, was leading William R. Pattangall, Democrat, in the vote for governor in today's election in Maine by a margin of 15,855 votes in the state. These precincts gave Brewster 47,608 and Pattangall 31,753.

In the early returns all the Republican candidates for congress were in the lead.

Pattangall made the Ku Klux Klan the leading issue of his campaign for governor.

Because Brewster has the klan endorsement in his primary campaign which resulted in his nomination on a recount after the official count had shown Frank G. Farrington nominated by a narrow margin, the Democrats asserted that Brewster represented the klan.

*Brewster, who had previously de*nied that he sought klan support, made no reference to the klan in his election campaign.

RUSSIAN JUMPS OFF THE LINER

Deported Man Leaps Into St. Lawrence; Storm Swallows Him

QUEBEC, Sept. 8.—Making a last determined effort to remain in Canada, contrary to the laws of the country and of the high seas, probably cost S. Porffira Ivanoff, a Russian stowaway, his life, when he jumped from the deck of the Canadian Pacific railway freighter Brecon Saturday night as the steamer was passing Crane island.

Ivanoff, who was being deported, arrived in this country only recently. He was placed on board the vessel Saturday evening.

When the vessel reached Crane island he suddenly climbed to the railing and plunged into the St. Lawrence, and was immediately lost to view.

On account of the storm it was found impossible to launch a boat.

APPEAL THE FIRPO CASE TO COOLIDGE

Canon Chase Has Appointment Today; President Can Revoke Bail

NEW YORK, Sept. 8. — President Coolidge will receive the evidence of Canon William Chase upon which he bases his demand for the deportation of Luis Angel Firpo, Argenuine heavyweight tomorrow. Three days hence Firpo is scheduled to meet Harry Wills.

Announcement that Canon Chase had obtained an appointment at the White House was made by his attorney, Bernard H. Sandler.

All the allegations against Firpo are based upon his alleged relations with Miss Blanca Picart, a passenger on the steamer which brought the Argentine to the United States.

"The president can revoke bail," Mr. Sandler said, "and if bail is revoked Firpo can be confined on Ellis Island until the hearing. The commissioner of immigration must approve Mr. Curran's act in permitting bail of $1000, as Firpo was arrested on a departmental warrant. Bail is not mandatory but discretionary, and the president may order it revoked through Secretary of Labor Davis.

"I think the issue is big enough for the president, as the whole country and foreign nations are interested in our immigration policy."

Sumas Reclamation Contractors May Sue Government

VICTORIA, Sept. 8.—The dispute over the Sumas reclamation scheme work has not been settled, and it looks as though the contractors, the Marsh company, may sue the government, through the land settlement board, for $18,000, the amount in dispute.

Pooley Says the Conservatives May Oppose MacDonald

VICTORIA, Sept. 8.—R. H. Pooley declared today that there is every likelihood that the vacant seat created by the appointment of Dr. K. C. MacDonald of North Okanagan to the cabinet, will be contested.

He believes that the Conservatives have a fine chance. Leading Conservatives will meet at Vernon Thursday night to decide the steps to be taken.

Dr. MacDonald has left for Vernon, the cabinet having felt sure that he would be elected by acclamation.

COUNCIL HEARS MANY REQUESTS FOR SERVICES

Water and Light and Sidewalk Extensions Sought; Engineer Reports

J. A. Ferguson, city engineer, reported to the city council last night that 4000 gallons of asphaltic road oil had been spread in the past two weeks, and that practically all of the macadam roads in the city had now been treated. Robson street and Front street had yet to be done. A new fence around the intake to the city water supply had cost $23.40, while the covering of 10 000 square yards of macadam road with oil had cost $734.35.

The city council confirmed the action of Alderman A. Austin and his committee in ordering a new shaft and journal for the steam roller. This will cost in the neighborhood of $178.

The matter of repairs to the fire hall heating plant was again before the council, when recommendations as to the necessary work were read from the B. C. Plumbing & Heating company. As no recommendations were received from the other plumbing firm in the city the matter was laid aside till Thursday and in the meantime recommendations will be asked from the other plumbers. The council as a whole will visit the hall Thursday to look into the necessities in regard to the heating plant there.

A request for the extension of light service to the residence of Mrs. E. M. Fleury of Fairview was referred to the fire, water and light committee, with power to act.

Mrs. H. L. Genest wrote to the council requesting a light on the alley between Vernon and Baker streets and between Falls and Kootenay streets. This roadway was used much and the people had difficulty in getting to their residences from Baker street. This matter was also referred to the fire, water and light committee, with power to act.

George Brant, as secretary of the congregation of the Church of the Redeemer, Fairview, requested that the council build a sidewalk from Nelson avenue down Davies street to the church property and thence along three lots to the church front. The above was also referred to the fire, water and light committee.

Seven residents of Selwyn, Pine and Union streets, Fairview, in a petition to the council, asked for a better water service to their premises. The service was described as inadequate to the present needs, no water at all being available on some days.

It was explained in council that the main serving these residents was only a small one, and that a new main should be run from Chatham street.

The matter was referred to the fire, water and light committee for inquiry and report.

W. Hedley Rendell of Victoria street asked for the use of a portion of the street fronting his residence for a garden. The council, while not officially consenting to the use of the street for a garden, told the gentleman that he would not be thrown off the ground if he so desired to beautify this portion of the street which was not suitable for a roadway.

Sawdust Complaints

A verbal report was made by Alderman J. E. Annable, stating that complaints were again being received that sawdust was again annoying the residents along Vernon street. This dust nuisance from the W W. Powell match block plant was abated some time ago by the use of water sprays. On Friday last the nuisance again cropped up under pressure of a high wind.

The council instructed the city clerk to get information from other centers where the sawdust menace was in existence, on the ways in which it was combatted.

The Recreation grounds will be put in first-class shape for the games during the fair, according to action taken. The Nelson Football association requested that the grass be cut.

Alderman I. A. Austin last night asked the question as to the ownership of the merry-go-round.

When informed by the city clerk that it was the property of the agricultural association Alderman Austin asked that the city clerk request the association to remove a motor which was at present stored in the car barns. This motor had been there for some time and was in the way.

Motion for two bylaws for the sale of lots on Lake street was made by Alderman Fleming. Two offers made to the council were accepted. The first was an offer of $325 cash for lot 3, block 67, and the second $300 for lot 5, in the same block. T. E. Martin made the first offer and Charles Shannon the second.

M. McDougal of High street, Fairview, was named as caretaker at the auto park for the balance of the season on the motion of Alderman J. E. MacKenzie. He will replace John Kerr, the late caretaker.

Alderman J. P. Morgan raised the question of the payment of money to the publicity committee for maps and literature gotten out early this year. He asked the city clerk if this money had been paid to the committee.

City Clerk Wasson replied that the money had not been paid as yet, and that it would not be paid until the committee fulfilled certain agreements entered into when the reqest for the grant was made.

A communication was read from Dr. G. M. Weir of the educational survey commission, who will be in this city on September 13, 17 and 18, asking that the members of the council place their opinions before the commission when here. A committee consisting of the mayor and city clerk was named to deal with this matter.

Water Restrictions in Force During Summer Now Off

Water restrictions which have been in force during the summer months in order to conserve the water supply were last night removed at the city council meeting.

The water supply has been back to normal for some time, and as the hot weather is considered about over the council decided to take off the restrictions.

Omar Rheaume, aged 24, of Valcartier, Que., was electrocuted at the tough Oaks Burnside substation when he stumbled against an open switch in the darkness Thursday night.

HANDCAR RIDER STRUCK BY TRAIN

Cranbrook Section Man Caught in Fog; Tries to Remove Car

John Nemcheck, a section hand, while riding on a handcar on the track near Cranbrook Saturday, was struck by a locomotive and seriously injured.

The report received by the provincial police states that Nemcheck, with W. Cupok, the section foreman was proceeding east on a hand car during a heavy fog. When the train was heard coming, Cupok jumped clear, and called to Nemcheck to do the same. The latter apparently attempted to get the hand car out of the way, and was struck.

He received serious injuries to his head and back, and was rushed to the Cranbrook hospital by special train.

CITY RECEIVES OFFER FOR LAND ON WATERSHED

St. Paul Lumberman Sets Price for Timber areas Above City

Alderman A. S. Horswill is acting mayor of the city in the absence of Mayor L. H. Choquette, and, as such, he presided at the regular council meeting held last night.

A communication was read from James Nowell of St. Paul, a lumberman with holdings on Cottonwood and Clearwater creeks. Mr. Nowell had been in consultation with the city council before in regard to the purchase of timber lands in the watersheds of the above-named creeks, from which the city gets the greater portion of its water supply. His letter contained blue prints and maps of the district, and his proposition was that if the city would purchase a certain acreage his firm would throw in a large acreage. His figures for 3100 acres of timber lands on the watersheds were at a price of $28,400.

Mr. Nowell asked the city to consider his offer, and stated that he would hold the land, if necessary, for the city.

The city fathers will investigate the matter, and the communication was placed on the table for reference at the next meeting.

Unless he can satisfactorily remedy the drainage in the washrooms of the auto camp building Contractor Frost, who constructed the building, will forfeit $13 held by the city.

The city recently had to install drains to take off the water in the washrooms, it being the opinion of the council that drains installed by Mr. Frost were not satisfactory.

It was the opinion of the aldermen that the contractor should not get any money until he properly finished the work.

A communication was read from the secretary of the school board stating that the department of education had approved of the plumbing in the new Hume school in Fairview.

The communication quoted a portion of a letter from the educational board which stated that in future the plumbing in the new schools here should be in accordance with the Vancouver bylaws.

The above remarks brought forth a storm of protests from the council members, who stated that the department should not dictate to this city as to its bylaws. It was pointed out that the plumbing bylaws, as amended, were as good, if not better, than those of Vancouver.

The city clerk was instructed to write to the local school board stating that the Nelson bylaw, as amended, was equal to that of Vancouver.

Power Plant Work

Work at the city power plant on the first unit is now completed, according to the report of Electrical Engineer J. F. Coates. This work of lining up and rebabbitting of bearings, together with labor, etc., had cost $738.18. He reported that No. 2 unit was in need of repairs, and that these would be done shortly after the fair and before the heavy winter load came upon the plant. He also reported that work should be done as soon as possible on the gate pins and gates.

NATIONAY ARRANGES ENGLISH LECTURES

Will Have Speakers Give Course to Intending Settlers; Find Jobs

LONDON, Sept. 8.—The Canadian National railways are inaugurating a series of winter lectures here for farm settlers emigrating to the Dominion in the spring of 1925. The lectures discuss the questions of Canadian soils, livestock, farm machinery, dairying and the merchandising of produce.

At the conclusion of the course, the student is guaranteed employment on a good Canadian farm, with an introduction to the nearest agricultural college. The students are being urged to take at least a year on a Canadian farm before taking charge of land for themselves.

CLAIM FOR DAMAGES GOES TO SOLICITOR

Fairview Lady Claims Five Hundred After Fall in Leaving Car

A claim for damages amounting to $500 by Mrs. E. C. Clark of Fairview against the city was last night referred by the council to the city solicitor.

Mrs. Clark, in alighting from a street car, fell and broke her arm. In her claim to the city she stated that the fall was the result of stepping off a street car onto a tie which was rotten and which turned under her weight, throwing her to the ground.

Alderman I. A. Austin, chairman of the street railway department, made an investigation, and found that all ties were in good shape and were of the square type. His report, he stated, was only in regard to the condition of the ties where the accident occurred.

Mrs. Clark claims $350 for doctors' bills and $150 as damages to property, etc., through her illness.

Pattullo Charges Is Misrepresented on the Watershed

VANCOUVER, Sept. 8.—Replying to criticism by members of the Vancouver council of his action in announcing the sale of timber limits in Capilano on Vancouver's watershed, after it had been understood when he was in Vancouver the matter would stand until a point committee should report, Hon. T. D. Pattullo asserted today that the whole matter had been misrepresented, and that he was preparing a statement.
